

Knives in a locked cabinet

Weapons in Kitchens and Interiors

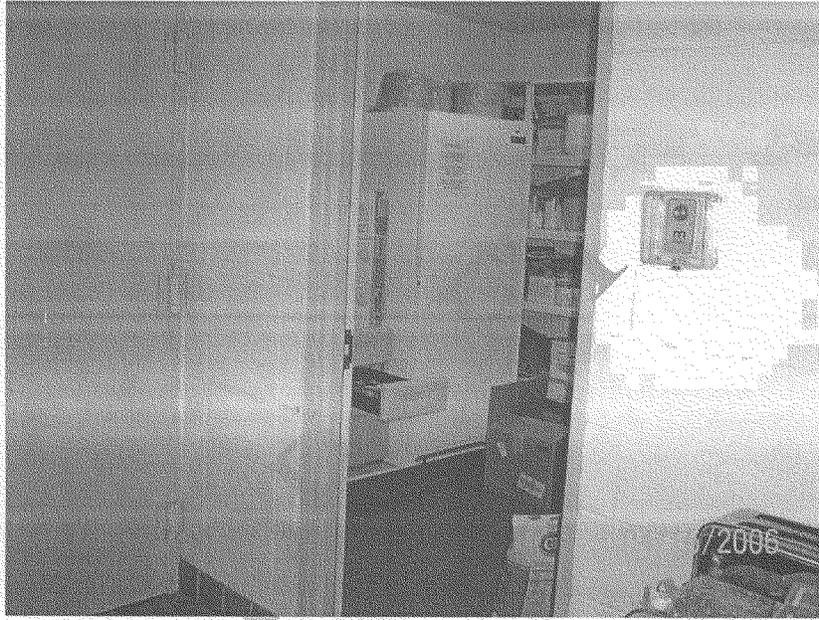

Potential weapon left hanging

Weapons in Kitchens and Interiors

And other potential weapons left in the unlocked drawer

Illusion of a secured drawer with sharp objects, located in a pantry. The contents of the drawer are noted in a later picture.

Weapons in Kitchens and Interiors

However the pantry door is propped open with bins of flour and a sack of sugar

Weapons in Kitchens and Interiors

The sacks had been there for a while to keep the pantry door propped open

Weapons in Kitchens and Interiors

Illusion of security with potential weapons in the drawer located in the pantry

Weapons in Kitchens and Interiors

A hack saw for cutting frozen meat and plastic dish washing tub secured in a pantry

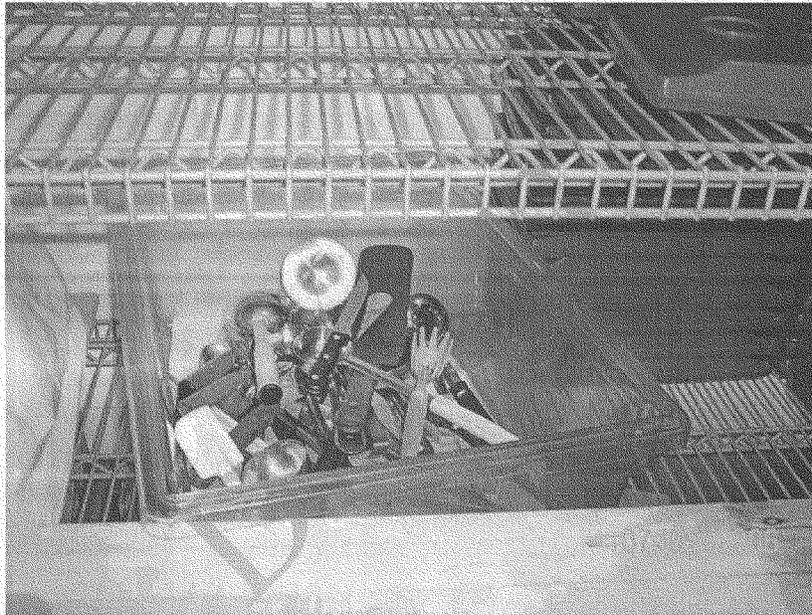

Close-up of the contents of the plastic washtub

However another plastic tub was left in the kitchen, outside the secured pantry – found about 4:30 am next morning. Instructions were given to the cook the previous evening to assure that this tub was also secured in the pantry before she leaves for the night.

Weapons in Kitchens and Interiors

Early morning review indicated that the tub was left out all night. Contents of the potential weapons in the tub are as deadly as the one secured in the pantry.

Weapons in Kitchens and Interiors

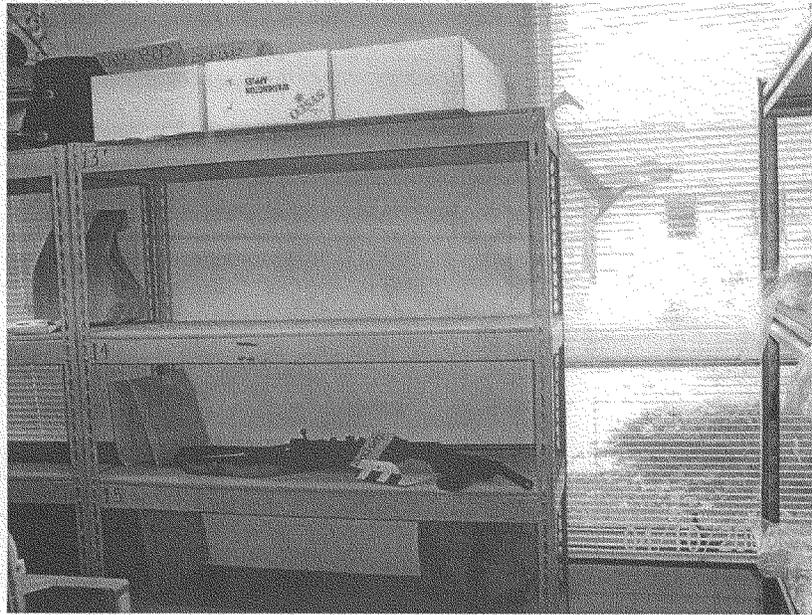

But the pantry was secured for the night with a lock – as instructed.

19 - Weapons in Storage

Lack of appropriate armories provides an illusion of security as these weapons are stored behind two locked doors.

DRAFT

Weapons in Storage

These weapons are stored in this makeshift storage behind two locked doors if entered through the main entrance – except that this room is also accessible to the public with one blow to the glass window on the exterior wall

Weapons in Storage

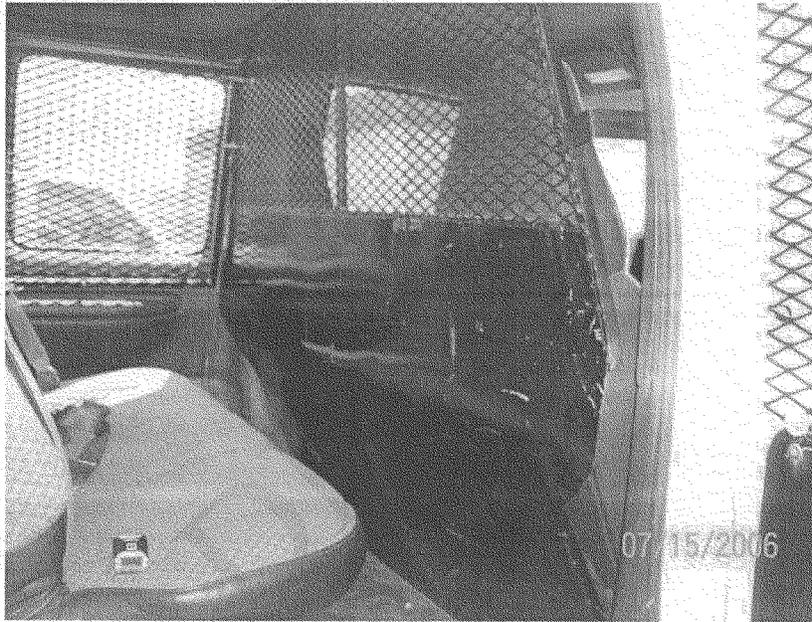

Other items in the makeshift evidence storage that can be accessed through the window noted in the picture above.

20 - Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

Vehicles used for the transportation of inmates may inadvertently carry items, accessible to the inmates – which may become a potential weapon and used against the lone officer transporting the inmates.

DRAFT

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

Older method of providing a metal security screen around the space occupied by the inmates

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

The locking safety pin with the red handle and the vehicle jack are accessible to the inmates on the back seat.

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

Close-up of the safety pin, with the red handle. The red handle provides a grip and the end of the pin is ground to a sharp point making it a deadly weapon.

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

Other emergency tools that are accessible and could serve as potential weapons

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

A transportation van at a different facility that is used to transport inmates

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

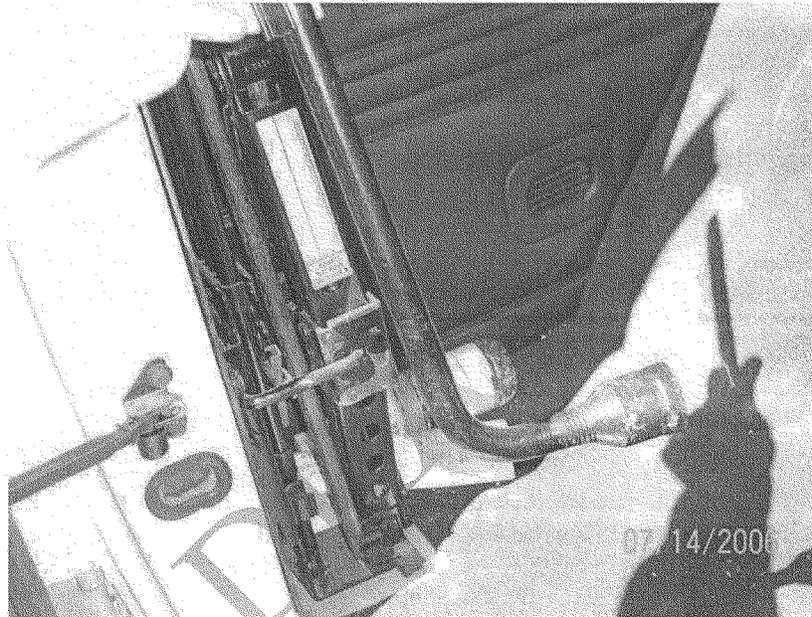

There are no barriers between the inmates and the officer

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

Emergency tool kit behind the backseat that is accessible to the inmates

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

Contents of the tool kit include the lug-nut wrench and the vehicle jack both of which are deadly weapons

Weapons in Transportation Vehicles

Close-up of the lug-nut wrench indicating the flat head screw driver used to remove hubcaps, but a deadly weapon as well