The Permanent Bureau of the Hague Conference is preparing a report for the special commission that will set out in more detail the issues to be before it during the April session. A preliminary draft version of that report is available for consideration at the Study Group meeting.

The United States is not currently a party to any treaties or conventions addressing the enforcement of family support obligations, which are ordinarily a matter of state law in the United States. Many of the states of the United States do have nonbinding, reciprocal arrangements with foreign countries on the enforcement of family support obligations. Moreover, under the Welfare Reform Act of 1996, authority to enter into reciprocal arrangements on a bilateral basis has also been given to the federal government. 42 U.S.C. 659A. A new, multilateral convention would most likely require additional statutory authority for implementation.

Persons interested in the Study Group or in attending the January 29 meeting in Washington may request copies of the documents under consideration at the meeting, including the conventions listed above and the draft report in preparation by the Permanent Bureau. Documents may be requested from Ms. Rosie Gonzales by fax at 202-776-8482, by telephone at 202-776-8420, or by email to <pilddb@his.com>, attention Study Group on Family Support Enforcement. Please note the documents requested, name, telephone number, and mailing address.

The meeting of the study group is open to the public up to the capacity of the meeting room. Because access to the State Department building is controlled, any person wishing to attend should provide Ms. Gonzales the following information no later than Friday, January 22, 1999: name, Social Security number, date of birth, affiliation, address, phone, fax numbers, and email address. Participants must use the main entrance of the State Department building, on C Street between 21 and 23rd Streets, NW, where someone will be available to assist their entry. Persons who cannot attend but nevertheless wish to be included on the Department's mailing list of interested persons may also provide Ms. Gonzales with their company's or organization affiliations, mailing and email addresses, and fax and telephone numbers.

Any person who is unable to attend, but who wishes to have his or her views considered, may send comments to Ms. Gonzales at the above fax or email address, or may address them to Office of the Assistant Legal Adviser for Private International Law (L/PIL), Suite 203, South Building, 2430 E Street, NW, Washington, DC 20037-2800.
