MEMORANDUM OF THE UNITED STATES
IN RESPONSE TO MOTION BY DEFENDANT MITCHELL FOR IN CAMERA INSPECTION BY THE COURT OF
RICHARD M. NIXON'S TESTIMONY

The United States submits this memorandum in response to the motion by defendant John N. Mitchell for (a) an in camera inspection by the Court of the transcript of the recent testimony of Richard M. Nixon and (b) the disclosure to defendant's counsel of "all of such testimony which relates in any way to any of the issues litigated in the trial of United States v. Mitchell, et al." Since defendant has not presented any theory or authority to support his request, and since the government is not aware of any, the United States opposes disclosure of any of Mr. Nixon's testimony to defendant or his counsel. The government has no objection, however, to submitting the testimony to the Court, in camera, if the Court believes that inspection by the Court is warranted.

Defendant Mitchell's motion is unusual in several respects. As noted above, it does not state the basis for the relief which it seeks, nor does it cite any authority in support of such relief. In addition, although the caption of defendant's motion indicates that it is made in connection with the "Watergate cover-up" trial, United States v. Mitchell, D.D.C. Crim. No. 74-110, that case presently is on appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, see United States v. Haldeman, et al., Nos. 75-1381-1384. Thus, it is exceedingly doubtful whether the district court has jurisdiction to entertain defendant's request. See, e.g., Berman v. United States, 302 U.S. 211, 214 (1937); United States v. Mack, 466 F.2d 333, 340 (D.C. Cir.), cert. denied, 409 U.S. 952 (1972); 9 Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 203.11 (2d ed. 1973).

More important, defendant's motion is substantively defective. The deposition given by Richard M. Nixon on June 23 and 24, 1975, was a proceeding ancillary to the grand jury^{1/} and, as such, is protected from unauthorized disclosure by Rule 6(e) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. While Rule 6(e) allows disclosure "when so directed by the court preliminary to or in connection with a judicial proceeding," there must be a showing of a "compelling necessity" for the disclosure, which showing must be made "with particularity." United States v. Proctor & Gamble Co., 356 U.S. 677, 681 (1958). See also Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. v. United States, 360 U.S. 395, 399 (1959); Allen v. United States, 390 F.2d 476 (D.C. Cir. 1968).

In view of the termination of the "Watergate cover-up" trial and the pendency of the appeal, it is far from clear for what judicial proceeding disclosure of Mr. Nixon's testimony is sought. It is settled that a defendant does not have any post-trial discovery rights. The language of Rule 16, F.R.Cr.P, clearly indicates that the criminal discovery process is to operate in the pre-trial stage, "to help a defendant prepare for trial," Hawkes v. Internal Revenue Service, 467 F.2d 787, 793 (6th Cir. 1972), and is thus unavailable to a defendant, such as Mr. Mitchell, who has been convicted.^{2/} Moreover, nothing in the Nixon deposition could be relevant to the appeal, since the legal issue in that proceeding will be whether the trial judge, on the basis of facts then before him, properly exercised his discretion in denying a continuance at the request of defendants Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman, and John D. Ehrlichman for the purpose of obtaining Mr. Nixon as a trial witness.^{3/}

^{1/} See In re January 7, 1974 Grand Jury, D.D.C. Misc. No. 75-104 (Order dated June 27, 1975, attached as Exhibit A); United States v. Krogh, 366 F. Supp. 1255, 1256 (D.D.C. 1973).

Since defendant has presented no theory by which the testimony of Mr. Nixon could afford him a basis for relief from his conviction, he has failed to show a "compelling necessity" or "particularized need" for disclosure as required by Rule 6(e). Indeed, an examination of the transcript would show beyond peradventure that there is nothing in Mr. Nixon's testimony, which focused primarily on pending grand jury investigations, that "might have led the jury to entertain a reasonable doubt about [defendant's] guilt" in the Watergate cover-up case, see Levin v. Katzenbach, 363

2/ See Hawkes v. Internal Revenue Service, supra; Farnell v. Solicitor General, 429 F.2d 1318 (5th Cir. 1970); United States v. Kessler, 253 F.2d 290, 292 (2d Cir. 1958).

3/ Although defendants made conclusory allegations at trial that Mr. Nixon's testimony would be exculpatory, the Court noted that "[t]here has been no showing by way of a statement, affidavit, or otherwise from Mr. Nixon that he would, in fact, testify along the lines the defendants have predicted." Memorandum Opinion and Order, United States v. Mitchell, D.D.C. Crim. No. 74-110 (December 5, 1974).

F.2d 287, 291 (D.C. Cir. 1966); United States v. Bowles, 488 F.2d 1307, 1313 (D.C. Cir. 1973), cert. denied, 415 U.S. 991 (1974), and, thus, that there is no theory under which defendant would be entitled to production of the transcript.

CONCLUSION

In sum, although the government has no objection to producing the transcript of Mr. Nixon's examination to the Court if the Court believes that an in camera review would be productive, we contend that on the basis of the complete lack of any showing of need by the defendant, Rule 6(e) is an absolute bar to the release of any part of these grand jury materials to defendant or his counsel.
