So the resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider the vote whereby said resolution was agreed to was, by unanimous consent, laid on the table.

¶27.20 PRIVILEGES OF THE HOUSE—
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES “BANK”

Mr. EDWARDS of Oklahoma, rose to a question of the privileges of the House and submitted the following privileged resolution (H. Res. 397):

Whereas, disclosure of the banking activities of House Members who held accounts in the House Bank during the period under investigation by the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct should be full and complete; and

Whereas, full disclosure is not possible now because not all accounts have been adequately reconstructed to reflect action taken by the account holder and by Bank officials and tellers; and

Whereas, the Report of the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct to accompany H. Res. 393 cited irregular and unprofessional practices by House Bank employees that may have contributed to the frequency of overdrafts; and

Whereas, a full accounting is needed of official House Bank policies, routine informal practices of House Bank employees that deviated from or were not covered by official rules, and each case in which employees failed to follow official or informal procedures, and the effect of such failures on Members' balances; and

Whereas, Members of Congress are now being denied access to their own personal bank records: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That (1) immediately upon passage of this resolution, the Speaker shall direct the House Sergeant at Arms, the General Accounting Office, and any other body under his control with information relevant to Members' House Bank account histories, to reconstruct the complete account histories of all Members and former Members who had accounts for the 39 month period beginning July 1, 1988 and ending October 3, 1991 that have not already been reconstructed in coordination with the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, and

(2) that, after giving each Member an opportunity to be heard by the subcommittee which conducted the inquiry and 20 days after passage of this resolution, the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct is authorized to publicly disclose the reconstructed account history of every Member of the House, and

(3) that, within 20 days of passage of this resolution, the Speaker of the House shall direct the House Sergeant at Arms, the General Accounting Office, and any other body under his control with information relevant to Members' House Bank account histories or House Bank practices, to provide a full and complete report of the official policies of the House Bank over the 39 month period in question; a full and complete account of the procedures that were not official but were informally and routinely followed by bank employees (including instances where informal practices deviated from official policies), and a full and complete account of every instance in which the Bank failed to follow either its own official procedures or routine and regular informal procedures, and a case by case report of the effect that such deviations have had on Members' account balances, and.

(4) that, within 48 hours of the passage of this resolution, the Speaker of the House, through the House Sergeant at Arms, the GAO, and any other body under his control with information relevant to Members' account histories, provide to each Member of the House a full disclosure of that Member's account history with the House Bank.

Mr. GEPHARDT moved to refer the resolution to the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct.

After debate,

On motion of Mr. GEPHARDT, the previous question was ordered.

The question being put, viva voce,

Will the House refer said resolution?

The SPEAKER pro tempore, Mr. BONIOR, announced that the yeas had it.

Mr. EDWARDS of Oklahoma demanded a recorded vote on agreeing to said motion, which demand was supported by one-fifth of a quorum, so a recorded vote was ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device.
