

FOR PLANNING PURPOSES ONLY: April 14, 2011

No. 11-20

MEDIA CONTACT: GARY SOMERSET 202.512.1957, 202.355.3997 cell gsomersset@gpo.gov

GPO'S PUEBLO PUBLIC DOCUMENTS DISTRIBUTION CENTER TO BE RENAMED AFTER LATE CONGRESSMAN

WHO:

Frances Evans-Maytum, Daughter of the late Congressman Frank Evans
John Salazar, Commissioner of Agriculture, State of Colorado
Jim Bradley, Assistant Public Printer, U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO)
David McClure, Associate Administrator, General Services Administration's Office of Citizen Services and Innovative Technologies
Pueblo County Commissioners

WHAT:

Renaming ceremony of GPO's Public Documents Distribution Center in honor of the late Congressman Frank E. Evans in accordance with an act of the 111th Congress as signed by President Barack Obama. Congressman Evans' widow, daughter and extended family will join Federal, state and local officials at the unveiling ceremony to commemorate his achievements and contributions to Colorado's Congressional 3rd district. Senator Mark Udall, Senator Michael Bennet and former Congressman John Salazar led the legislation through both the House and Senate as a tribute to Congressman Evans, who passed away in June of 2010.

WHEN:

April 18, 2011
11:00 a.m.

WHERE:

GPO's Public Documents Distribution Center
31451 East United Avenue
Pueblo, CO 81009

ABOUT:

As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, Congressman Evans led the effort to establish the GPO's Public Documents Distribution Center in Pueblo, CO. The Center opened its doors for business in 1971 and serves as the distributor for the publications of the Federal Citizen Information Center, a unit of the General Services Administration. Since its inception 40 years ago, the Center has processed and distributed more than 800 million publications.

