GPO AWARDS FEDEX OFFICE GPOEXPRESS PROGRAM CONTRACT

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO) announces that it has awarded FedEx Office the re-competed contract for the GPOExpress program. This is one of the many procurement programs GPO offers to Federal agencies to help with their printing and digital needs. GPOExpress has achieved more than 250,000 orders since the relationship with FedEx Office began in 2005.

GPOExpress provides Federal agencies with discounted services to meet their small and short turnaround printing and binding needs. By enrolling in the program, Federal agency employees receive a GPOExpress card that allows them to take advantage of pre-negotiated prices that are substantially below FedEx Office retail rates. GPOExpress currently has more than 3,000 Federal Government employees enrolled.

The program utilizes the FedEx Office network of more than 2,100 locations nationwide to provide Federal agencies with convenient, low-cost professional services, including printing, binding, and finishing; banner and sign production; and direct mail services. The new contract provides cardholders with improved online print ordering and document management tools including a no-cost online catalog where documents can be accessed and printed on demand by authorized users.

Federal agency employees can sign up at https://www.gpo.gov/how-to-work-with-us/agency/services-for-agencies/gpoexpress.

Some of the Federal Agencies that use GPOExpress are:

- Department of Defense
- Department of Transportation
- Department of Interior
- NASA
- Department of Homeland Security

NEWS RELEASE Keeping America Informed for 160 Years | 1861–2021

"GPO continues its commitment of providing our Federal agency customers cost-effective options for their printing and digital needs, while getting the best value for the American taxpayer," said GPO Director Hugh Nathanial Halpern. "I'm so excited that we get to continue GPO's 16-year relationship with FedEx Office, and I'm looking forward to increased orders and innovation from this valuable program."

"For the last 16 years, FedEx Office team members have been committed to providing outstanding experiences to Federal agencies with their expertise in printing solutions and the extensive printing and digital content management capabilities of the FedEx Office network. We are privileged to continue to provide these affordable and professional solutions to Federal agencies and their programs," said Aimee DiCicco, Senior Vice President of Commercial Business Development, FedEx Office.

GPO is the Federal Government's official, digital, secure resource for producing, procuring, cataloging, indexing, authenticating, disseminating, and preserving the official information products of the U.S. Government. The GPO is responsible for the production and distribution of information products and services for all three branches of the Federal Government, including U.S. passports for the Department of State as well as the official publications of Congress, the White House, and other Federal agencies in digital and print formats. GPO provides for permanent public access to Federal Government information at no charge through www.govinfo.gov and partnerships with approximately 1,100 libraries nationwide participating in the Federal Depository Library Program.
