Procurement Realignment –
Purchase Division Update

As shared in Circular Letter 1173 - Government Publishing and Print Procurement Realignment, GPO Government Publishing and Print Procurement recently realigned the print procurement teams across our business unit in order to strengthen and streamline our internal operations.

PURCHASE DIVISION UPDATE

Effective October 1, 2026, Government Publishing and Print Procurement's Purchase Division will no longer be divided into sections A, B, C, and D.

To place new orders with the Purchase Division, it is recommended to use Publish.gpo.gov. If unable to utilize this system, please send the order to the Requisitions Team at Requisitions@gpo.gov.

For any other communication about current or future orders, please contact the Purchase Division at PurchaseDivision@gpo.gov.

Note: Correspondence and print orders related to term contracts should continue to be sent to TermContracts@gpo.gov. Correspondence and print orders related to SPA should continue to be sent to SPA@gpo.gov. Correspondence related to contracts and task orders for On-Site Contract Solutions should continue to be sent to OCS@gpo.gov.

REALIGNMENT OVERVIEW

No action is required on your part. We have moved from having individual regionally based offices to a single, nationwide GPO contracting team with four separate procurement divisions, each focusing on various types of specialized contracting. Most orders and contracts will continue to be handled by specialists you have previously worked with.

Agency customers doing business with any Print Procurement division, can also find an updated list of contact information at this URL <https://www.gpo.gov/how-to-work-with-us/agency/services-for-agencies/procurement-services-team>.

As always, we will continue to serve you with the same devotion to quality, cost savings, and expertise that you have come to expect from GPO. We believe the new structure will reinforce these GPO core values.

If you have any questions about information contained in this Circular Letter or are not sure how to submit an order, please contact your GPO National Account Manager at nam@gpo.gov.

Sincerely,

JAMIE FOWLER

Managing Director,
