GPO WINS AWARDS FOR DESIGN SERVICES TO FEDERAL AGENCIES

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO) has won seven Graphic Design Awards from Graphic Design USA magazine. After reviewing more than 8,000 entries, Graphic Design USA magazine selected GPO to win awards for the following work:

- Dayton Aviation Vehicle Wrap, U.S. National Park Service
- Dragonfly Mercury Project Character Design, U.S. National Park Service
- Custom Illustration, National Library Service for the Blind and Print Disabled
- Teacher Resources Brochure, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Boulder
- PRISM Magazine, National Defense University
- Spinal Cord Injury Center Logo, Veterans Affairs Long Beach, CA
- Congressional-Executive Commission on China 2023 Annual Report

“It comes as no surprise that the work of our Creative Services team has stood out amongst private and public sector designers nationwide,” said GPO Director Hugh Nathaniel Halpern. “This team always works to ensure our Federal agency customers receive a top-notch product and a first-rate customer experience. Congratulations to our team on winning these well-deserved awards.”

GPO Creative Services serves as an innovative design studio in the Federal Government that is committed to raising the bar for Government design. The design team offers branding, print design, and digital design services and has an extensive history working with Federal agencies, bureaus, and commissions of all sizes.
