

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: September 22, 2026

No. 26-09

GPO MEDIA CONTACT: GARY SOMERSET 202.512.1957 | mb 202.355.3997 | gsomerset@gpo.gov

GPO NAMES UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO BOULDER LIBRARIES WITH BEST FEDERAL DEPOSITORY WEBSITE

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO) honors the University of Colorado Boulder Libraries for having the best website in the Federal Depository Library Program \(FDLP\) for 2026. The award recognizes creativity and the ways libraries are providing easy access to Federal Government information on their websites.

University Libraries’ “Keeping Colorado Informed” guide brings together an engaging collection of Government information as part of the USA 250 and Colorado 150 celebrations. The website presents Government documents in clear, easy-to-navigate categories covering topics ranging from history and military affairs to weather, technology, recipes, literature, comics, and plays and skits. It also highlights resources of particular interest to Colorado residents and explains materials featured in the library’s display cases.

“The University of Colorado Boulder Libraries have found a creative and engaging way to connect people with Government information,” said GPO Superintendent of Documents Scott Matheson. “Their ‘Keeping Colorado Informed’ guide shows that Government documents can tell stories, spark curiosity, and help people better understand the history and communities around them. GPO congratulates the University Libraries on this well-deserved recognition.”

“I like to say that if you give me five minutes, I can point you to a Government document you’ll love. Government information touches nearly every part of our lives, and one of my favorite parts of this work is helping people see the history and human effort behind it,” said University Libraries Depository Coordinator Phil Wrede. “Keeping Colorado Informed grew out of my desire to humanize

U.S. GOVERNMENT PUBLISHING OFFICE

732 North Capitol Street, NW | Washington, DC 20401-0001

www.gpo.gov | facebook.com/usgpo | twitter.com/usgpo | instagram.com/usgpo

Government information, so it's especially meaningful to have that work recognized by GPO."

The University Libraries have a long history of promoting and collecting Government documents, dating to its designation as a Federal Depository Library in 1879.

University Libraries' FDLP website: <https://libguides.colorado.edu/benfranklins>

About GPO

GPO is the Federal Government's resource for publishing trusted information for the Federal Government to the American people. The GPO is responsible for producing and distributing information products and services for all three branches of the Federal Government, including U.S. passports for the Department of State and the official publications of Congress, the White House, and other Federal agencies in digital and print formats. GPO provides permanent public access to Federal Government information at no charge through www.GovInfo.gov and partnerships with approximately 1,100 libraries nationwide participating in the Federal Depository Library Program. For more information, please visit www.gpo.gov.

###