

106TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

S. 600

To combat the crime of international trafficking and to protect the rights of victims.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

MARCH 11, 1999

Mr. WELLSTONE introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations

A BILL

To combat the crime of international trafficking and to protect the rights of victims.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “International Traffick-
5 ing of Women and Children Victim Protection Act of 6 1999”.

7 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

8 Congress makes the following findings:

9 (1) The worldwide trafficking of persons has a 10 disproportionate impact on women and girls and has

1 been and continues to be condemned by the inter-
2 national community as a violation of fundamental 3 human rights.

4 (2) The fastest growing international traffick-
5 ing business is the trade in women, whereby women
6 and girls seeking a better life, a good marriage, or 7 a lucrative job abroad, unexpectedly find themselves
8 in situations of forced prostitution, sweatshop labor,
9 exploitative domestic servitude, or battering and ex-
10 treme cruelty.

11 (3) Trafficked women and children, girls and 12 boys, are often subjected to rape and other forms of 13 sexual abuse by their traffickers and often held as 14 virtual prisoners by their exploiters, made to work in 15 slavery-like conditions, in debt bondage without pay 16 and against their will.

17 (4) The President, the First Lady, the Sec-
18 retary of State, the President's Interagency Council
19 on Women, and the Agency for International Devel-
20 opment have all identified trafficking in women as a
21 significant problem.

22 (5) The Fourth World Conference on Women
23 (Beijing Conference) called on all governments to 24 take measures, including legislative measures, to 25 provide better protection of the rights of women and

1 girls in trafficking, to address the root factors that 2 put women and girls at risk to traffickers, and to 3 take measures to dismantle the national, regional,
4 and international networks on trafficking.

5 (6) The United Nations General Assembly, not-6 ing its concern about the increasing number of 7 women and girls who are being victimized by traf-
8 fickers, passed a resolution in 1998 calling upon all 9 governments to criminalize trafficking in women and 10 girls in all its forms and to penalize all those offend-
11 ers involved, while ensuring that the victims of these 12 practices are not penalized.

13 (7) Numerous treaties to which the United 14 States is a party address government obligations to 15 combat trafficking, including such treaties as the 16 1956 Supplementary Convention on the Abolition of 17 Slavery, the Slave Trade and Institutions and Prac-
18 tices Similar to Slavery, which calls for the complete
19 abolition of debt bondage and servile forms of mar-
20 riage, and the 1957 Abolition of Forced Labor Con-
21 vention, which undertakes to suppress and requires
22 signatories not to make use of any forced or compul-
23 sory labor.

1 SEC. 3. PURPOSES.

2 The purposes of this Act are to condemn and combat
3 the international crime of trafficking in women and chil-
4 dren and to assist the victims of this crime by—

5 (1) setting a standard by which governments
6 are evaluated for their response to trafficking and 7 their treatment of victims;

8 (2) authorizing and funding an interagency task
9 force to carry out such evaluations and to issue an 10 annual report of its findings to include the identi-
11 fication of foreign governments that tolerate or par-
12 ticipate in trafficking and fail to cooperate with 13 international efforts to prosecute perpetrators;

14 (3) assisting trafficking victims in the United 15 States by providing humanitarian assistance and by 16 providing them temporary nonimmigrant status in 17 the United States;

18 (4) assisting trafficking victims abroad by pro-
19 viding humanitarian assistance; and

20 (5) denying certain forms of United States for-21 eign assistance to those governments which tolerate
22 or participate in trafficking, abuse victims, and fail
23 to cooperate with international efforts to prosecute
