Whereas Turkey is scheduled to begin accession negotiations with the European Union on October 3, 2005;

Whereas in 1993 the European Union defined the membership criteria for accession to the European Union at the Copenhagen European Council, obligating candidate countries to have achieved certain levels of reform, including stability of institutions guaranteeing democracy, the rule of law, and human rights, and respect for and protection of minorities;

Whereas under the terms of the draft European Union constitution, current and prospective member states should have the goal of eliminating discrimination based on any ground, such as sex, race, color, ethnic or social origin, genetic features, language, religion or belief, political or any other opinion, membership of a national minority, property, birth, disability, age, or sexual orientation;

Whereas the Government of Turkey refuses to recognize the Ecumenical Patriarch's international status;

Whereas the Government of Turkey has limited to Turkish nationals the candidates available to the Holy Synod for selection as the Ecumenical Patriarch and reneged on its agreement to reopen the Theological School at Halki, thus impeding training for the clergy;

Whereas the Government of Turkey has confiscated 75 percent of the Ecumenical Patriarchal properties and has placed a 42 percent retroactive tax on the Balukli Hospital which is run by the Ecumenical Patriarchate;

Whereas in October 2004, the European Commission recommended opening accession negotiations with Turkey if Turkey continued to make progress on democratic and human rights reforms; and

Whereas in December 2004, the European Council agreed to open accession negotiations with Turkey in October 2005, conditional upon the continuation by Turkey of reform processes to increase protection and support for human rights and civil liberties: Now, therefore, be it
