

DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS

The Department of State, the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), and other international programs support strategic investments in instruments of national security, diplomatic power, and development priorities. The 2017 Budget supports the President's signature initiatives in global health, food security, and climate change; deepens our cooperation with Allies and regional partners; continues America's leadership in the United Nations and other multilateral organizations; supports democratic societies and advocates for human rights; and invests in and protects U.S. diplomatic personnel and facilities abroad. International programs also support economic development and job creation in the U.S. by increasing trade and expanding access for U.S. businesses to international markets. The 2017 Budget also advances our national security priorities by supporting efforts to destroy the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL) as well as by supporting regional partners and providing humanitarian assistance; continuing the transition in Afghanistan; countering Russia's aggressive actions; and advancing security, prosperity and economic growth in the Central America Region to address the root causes of immigration. At a time when the demand for U.S. leadership and engagement has never been greater, the 2017 Budget provides America's diplomats and development professionals with the tools they need to advance our nation's interests and build a safer and more prosperous world.

Diplomatic and Consular Programs (D&CP) are financed by this appropriation, fees for services, and reimbursements from other agencies (including for administrative and other services provided by the Department of State). As in previous years, two-year funding is requested for this account, except for funds requested for Worldwide Security Protection (WSP) and Conflict Stabilization Operations (CSO), which are to remain available until expended. D&CP is the Department of State's primary operating account and funds a broad range of activities from policy setting, planning and design, to implementation and operations and maintenance. The 2017 request includes base funding for the State Department operations in Iraq, Afghanistan, and Pakistan. The balance of the funding requested for operations in Iraq, Afghanistan, and Pakistan is included in the Overseas Contingency Operations (OCO) account request for the D&CP account.

Funds are requested in the following categories:

Human Resources.—This category supports American salaries at overseas and domestic United States diplomatic missions, including Department of State employees carrying out security protection activities. Professional development and training is a continuous process by which the Department ensures that its professionals have the skills, experience and judgment to fulfill its functions at all levels. Training programs are designed to provide employees with the specific functional area and language skills needed for the conduct of foreign relations in the Department and abroad. This activity also supports the management, recruitment, and performance evaluation of Foreign and Civil Service employees (including efforts to attract a diverse applicant pool) and locally employed staff.

Overseas Programs.—This category provides funding for the operational programs of all the regional bureaus of the Department of State, which are responsible for managing United States foreign policy through bilateral and multilateral relationships. Funds made available for 2017 will support 275 United States embassies, consulates, and other diplomatic posts worldwide. Resources for this activity are used to provide for: the political and economic reporting and analysis of interests to the United States; the representation of U.S. diplomatic and national interests to countries abroad; and the bilateral and multilateral negotiation of U.S. foreign policy objectives, including the hosting of and participation in various international conferences, meetings and other multilateral activities in the United States and abroad. Resources in this appropriation support the conduct of international informational programs of the United States. These resources are used to define, explain and advocate U.S. policies abroad and to seek to increase knowledge and understanding among foreign audiences of U.S. society and its values. This activity also encompasses medical programs for the Department of State, the Foreign Service and other U.S. Government departments and agencies overseas. Centralized funding for travel and transportation of effects associated with the assignment, transfer, home leave and separation of the Department's personnel and dependents is also included in this activity. This category also supports reconstruction and stabilization activities of the Conflict Stabilization Operations (CSO) Bureau.

Diplomatic Policy and Support.—This category supports the operational programs of the functional bureaus of the Department of State, which includes providing overall policy direction, coordination, and program management among United States missions abroad in pursuit of regional and global foreign policy objectives, including the hosting of various international conferences and meetings in the United States and abroad. Resources also fund the management of U.S. participation in arms control, nonproliferation, and disarmament negotiations and other verification and compliance activities, in addition to funds otherwise available for such purposes. The information management activity in D&CP includes resources that are used for the creation, collection, processing, use, storage, and disposition of information required for the formulation and execution of foreign policy and for the conduct of daily business. Components of the information management activity include: telecommunications, information security, information system services, pouch, mail and publishing services for both unclassified and classified information. These activities include domestic and overseas execution of Department programs, such as budget and financial management, contracting and procurement, domestic facilities and vehicles, and rental payments to GSA. These funds also provide for the development, lease, or exchange to foreign governments or international organizations of property owned by the United States at the International Center located in Washington, D.C. Funds also provide for operation of the Federal facility located at the International Center, for maintenance and security of those public improvements that have not been conveyed to a government or international organization and for surveys and plans related to development of additional areas within the Nation's Capital for chancery and diplomatic purposes.

Security Programs.—This category provides for the operation of security programs, including for Worldwide Security Protection (WSP) and the Bureau of Diplomatic Security, to protect diplomatic personnel, overseas diplomatic missions, residences, domestic facilities and information. The salaries paid to Department employees who carry out the security protection function worldwide are included in the Human Resources program activity. This activity identifies resources that are used in meeting security and counterterrorism responsibilities, both foreign and domestic. Programs covered in this activity include but are not limited to: security operations; engineering services, which are related to the technical defense of U.S. Government personnel and establishments abroad against electronic and physical attack; homeland security related activities; protection of Department personnel and foreign dignitaries; and physical security operations. Effective October 1, 2017 the Department intends to seek the establishment of a standalone Worldwide Security Protection (WSP) account. WSP has grown considerably since it was first created, and now represents a sizeable percentage of the total D&CP appropriation. The Department has taken steps over recent years as part of its Security Realignment Initiative to consolidate all DS funding under the WSP umbrella, and the transfer of all DS domestic staff from D&CP to WSP in the FY 2017 request represents the final step toward complete realignment.

The Consular and Border Security Programs account (CBSP) uses revenue from consular fees and surcharges to fund programs and activities, consistent with applicable statutory authorities. These fees and surcharges include Machine Readable Visa (MRV) fees, Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative (WHTI) surcharges, Passport Security surcharge, Immigrant Visa Security surcharge, the Diversity Visa Lottery fee, the Affidavit of Support fee, and the Expedited Passport fee. In FY 2016 and prior years, these fees were credited in the Diplomatic and Consular Programs account as spending authority from offsetting collections. The FY 2017 President's Budget proposes a new standalone account to display fee-funded consular programs independent of the larger Diplomatic and Consular Programs account beginning in Fiscal Year 2018. This change will enable the Department to make financial reporting and budget estimates for these fees and surcharges more easily available to users of budget information and other stakeholders. Section 7048 of the general provisions provides the legislative language to establish the new account and transfer authority to accounts under the heading Administration of Foreign Affairs.

These consular fees and surcharges support an array of activities that play a vital role in ensuring U.S. border security remains strong, including routine and emergency services for American citizens overseas; the issuance of secure passports to American citizens at 29 passport facilities and a partner network of more than 8,000 passport acceptance facilities domestically; the adjudication of visa applications; the prevention and detection of fraud involving visas and passports; and the Department's information technology programs. Together with the Department of Homeland Security, the Department of Justice, the Intelligence Community, Department of the Treasury, and the law enforcement community, the Department has built a layered visa and border security screening system that rests on training, technological advances, biometric innovations and expanded data sharing.

This appropriation provides funding for international exchange programs authorized by the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961, as amended, to support U.S. foreign, economic, and security policy objectives and to assist in the development of friendly, sympathetic, and peaceful relations between the United States and other countries. These goals are addressed by building increased mutual understanding through international exchange and professional development activities. Programs under this appropriation include:

Academic Programs.—Includes the J. William Fulbright Educational Exchange Program, which provides U.S. and foreign students, teachers, scholars, and administrators the opportunity to pursue degrees, teach, and conduct research in foreign and U.S. universities. Academic Programs also include English language programming and educational advising services. English language programs help train and develop foreign teachers of English, send Americans overseas to teach English and train instructors, teach English to disadvantaged students, and provide language learning materials and resources. Educational advising programming supports outreach to foreign students across the world to assist in the process of applying to U.S. universities and supports the President's 100,000 Strong educational exchange initiatives in the Americas and China. Additional academic programs such as the Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship Program provide opportunities for American participants with financial needs to study abroad.

Professional/Cultural Exchanges.—Includes exchanges linking U.S. and foreign participants in multiple fields directly tied to U.S. foreign policy goals. The International Visitor Leadership Program brings thousands of foreign leaders to the United States for intensive short-term professional exchanges to meet and confer with their American counterparts, gaining first-hand knowledge about U.S. society, culture and democratic values. Citizen Exchanges Program participants partner with an extensive network of organizations and experts from across the United States to conduct professional fellowships as well as arts, sports, and high school exchange programs focused on current and future leaders.

Youth Leadership Initiatives.—Includes three signature presidential priorities targeting young private, public, and civil sector leaders, including the Mandela Washington Fellowship for Young African Leaders, the Young Southeast Asian Leaders Initiative, and a new Young Leaders in the Americas Initiative.

Program and Performance.—Provides resources and opportunities to ECA exchange program alumni to build on participant exchange experience, developing growing and active alumni association networks. Funds also support on-going program performance measurement and independent evaluations.

Exchanges Support.—Includes all domestic staff and support costs managed by ECA; as well as government-wide exchanges coordination.

East-West Center.—For FY 2017, the Administration's request of $10,800,000 for the East-West Center is proposed within the Educational and Cultural Exchange Programs heading.

Under the direction of the Secretary of State, the overall mission of the Bureau of Overseas Buildings Operations (OBO) is to provide U.S. diplomatic and consular missions abroad with safe, secure, and functional facilities that support the foreign policy objectives of the United States. Specific program functions include: providing guidance to posts, the regional bureaus and other foreign affairs agencies on the renovation, construction and operations of facilities; providing expert space and facilities planning; managing and overseeing the design, construction, and renovation of mission facilities; incorporating security features into overseas and domestic facilities; and ensuring the security of facilities during construction or renovation. In addition, OBO is responsible for establishing standards and policies for overseas housing, developing, in conjunction with posts, effective maintenance programs for post facilities, and monitoring and reporting the inventory of maintenance and backlog requirements. OBO also ensures the safety of the building occupants through the development of fire/life safety and accessibility compliance programs.

In 2017, the Department will manage the thirteenth year of the Capital Security Cost Sharing (CSCS) Program. This program has two main goals: accelerating the construction of new safe, secure and functional embassy and consulate compounds, and providing an incentive for all United States Government agencies to right-size their presence overseas through the use of cost-sharing. The $2.2 billion program is consistent with the Benghazi Accountability Review Board's recommended funding level for the construction of new secure facilities overseas. Funding sources include ESCM regular base and OCO appropriations, interagency contributions, and consular fee revenues.

The 2017 request continues the Maintenance Cost Sharing (MCS) Program to provide critically needed renovation, construction and repair of overseas facilities, to provide adequate working conditions for multi-agency staffs, and protect the U.S. taxpayer investment. Including cost sharing from other sources, MCS will be funded at $400 million to maintain overseas facilities in 2017.

The objective of the Asset Management Program is to obtain the best use of diplomatic and consular properties overseas through sale of surplus or underutilized properties and reinvestment of the proceeds in properties that provide a greater return to the U.S. Government and/or improve the safety of mission personnel. In lieu of appropriated resources, OBO uses asset sales proceeds for long-term capital investment to minimize the growth of U.S. Government leasehold requirements (through property acquisition) or to address a high-priority need for new construction or fit-out of leased space.

This appropriation also provides for capital expenditures necessary to preserve, maintain, repair, and plan for buildings owned or leased by the Department of State overseas or in the United States, including the renovation of the Harry S Truman building where required.

The Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96-8) requires programs with respect to Taiwan to be carried out by or through the American Institute in Taiwan (AIT). AIT supports U.S. interests by promoting U.S. exports, economic and commercial services, and cultural and information exchange; facilitating military sales; providing consular related services for Americans and the people on Taiwan; and on behalf of the Department of State and various U.S. Government agencies, carrying out liaison with Taiwan's counterpart organizations.

The Department contracts with AIT to conduct commercial, cultural, and other relations with the people of Taiwan. The 2017 request includes funding for the American Institute in Taiwan that sustains previous increases provided to offset revenue loss due to Taiwan's entry into the visa waiver program. Consular related expenses for AIT are funded with fee revenue from the Border Security Program.

The current appropriation finances any unfunded liability created by new or liberalized benefits, new groups of beneficiaries, and salary increases. The 2017 permanent appropriation provides a supplemental payment to the fund for disbursements attributable to the Foreign Service Pension System; and unfunded interest along with liability from military service for the Foreign Service Retirement and Disability System. In addition, the appropriation also finances the annual balance of the Foreign Service normal cost not met by employee and employer contributions. The amount of the appropriation is determined by the annual evaluation of the Fund balance derived from current statistical actuarial data, which includes inflationary cost-of-living adjustments.

The Foreign Service National Defined Contributions Fund (FSN DCF) is an after-employment benefit plan for Locally Employed Staff (LE Staff) working for the Department of State and other Foreign Affairs agencies. The purpose of the fund is to accumulate and distribute U.S. Government (USG)-funded contributions for end-of-service benefits for LE Staff in countries where U.S. missions have determined that participation in the local social security system (LSSS) is not in the public interest of the USG. The Department determines which countries are eligible to participate in the fund. Upon separation, payments under this Plan shall be made consistent with the host country law, including any court order affecting payments to participants, unless decided otherwise by the Department.

This fund, authorized by sections 13 and 23 of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (22 U.S.C. 2684), finances on a reimbursable basis certain administrative services, such as printing and reproduction, editorial material, motor pool operations and dispatch agencies operations, inter-agency cooperative administrative support services, acquisition services, information technology desktop support, medical services, aviation services, and expenses of carrying out the Foreign Missions Act, including any acquisitions of property under the authority of the Foreign Missions Act.

Using the Working Capital Fund, the International Cooperative Administrative Support Services (ICASS) program was fully implemented in 1998. ICASS restructures overseas administrative support activities to allow more decision-making and managerial participation by all participating agencies, more equitable cost distribution, and incentives for efficient provision of services. Under ICASS, each agency represented at an overseas post chooses the services it wishes to receive and pays a proportional share of the cost of those services. Working through inter-agency councils at each overseas post, all agencies have a say in determining post administrative budgets and defining service standards, as well as reviewing costs and vendor performance.

This appropriation provides the U.S. share of operating expenses for ten treaty-based international fisheries commissions and organizations, two international marine science organizations, one whaling commission, the Arctic Council and the Antarctic Treaty Secretariat, as well as funding regional sea turtle and shark conservation, and travel expenses of non-government U.S. commissioners and their advisors. These commissions and organizations coordinate scientific studies of shared fish stocks and other living marine resources and their habitats and establish common management measures to be implemented by member governments based on their results. Many also oversee the allocation of fishing rights to their members. In addition, the Great Lakes Fishery Commission carries out a program to eradicate the invasive, parasitic sea lamprey. The marine science organizations coordinate international research on valuable fisheries, oceanography, and marine ecosystems and the results are publicly disseminated and used to advise member governments on fisheries and marine science policy.

The first phase of the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR), from 2004 to 2008, was the largest ever global public health initiative by a single country to fight the HIV/AIDS epidemic. Funding was appropriated in the Global HIV/AIDS Initiative account for this purpose through 2007. Beginning in 2008, funds were appropriated in the Global Health and Child Survival (now Global Health Programs) account, and will continue to be requested in that account.

The Global Health Programs account funds health-related foreign assistance for the Department of State (DOS) and the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), representing the majority of funds provided for the President's Global Health Initiative (GHI). GHI seeks to improve health outcomes by adopting a women, girls, and gender-equity approach to health; increasing impact through strategic integration and coordination; strengthening and leveraging multilateral institutions; encouraging country ownership and investing in country-led plans; building sustainability through health systems strengthening; improving metrics, monitoring and evaluation; and promoting research, development and innovation.

Global Health Programs-State.—Within GHI, the Global Health Programs (GHP-State) account supports the goal of creating an AIDS-free generation through the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR). The 2017 Budget requests over $5.6 billion in the GHP-State account, representing the bulk of PEPFAR funding. PEPFAR is led by the Office of the Global AIDS Coordinator in DOS, which draws upon the expertise and experience of other USG partners such as the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), the Department of Health and Human Services, the Department of Defense, and the Peace Corps to bring the full force of our government's capacity to the fight against global AIDS. Programs work through expanded partnerships to build capacity for effective, innovative, country-led, and sustainable services, and to create a supportive and enabling policy environment for combating HIV/AIDS, including as part of the broader USG and country-level health and development approach. In addition, PEPFAR supports implementation of strong monitoring and evaluation systems to set benchmarks for outcomes and programmatic efficiencies through regularly assessed planning and reporting processes to ensure goals are being met. PEPFAR programs support strategic, scientifically sound investments to rapidly scale up core HIV/AIDS prevention, care, and treatment interventions within the context of strengthened health systems, particularly in terms of human resources in nations with severe health worker shortages and lack of service delivery capacity. As part of GHI, PEPFAR integrates its efforts with important programs in other areas of global health as well as other areas of development, including the areas of education, gender equity, and economic development. A contribution of $1.35 billion to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria is included in the GHP-State request.

Global Health Programs-USAID.—The 2017 Budget requests $2.9 billion in the GHP-USAID account for a comprehensive and integrated approach to improve global health outcomes as outlined in GHI. USAID, working in partnership with foreign governments, local private sector and non-governmental organizations, and public-private partnerships, will build capacity, strengthen health systems, and promote sustainable integrated health care for vulnerable populations. Funding includes activities that support the goal of ending preventable child deaths, and—in synergy with the Feed the Future Initiative—support nutrition activities, addressing such issues as micronutrient deficiencies and community management of acute malnutrition. GHP-USAID funding will also promote voluntary family planning/reproductive health, pursue polio eradication, support activities directed at vulnerable children, reduce HIV transmission and the impact of the global HIV/AIDS epidemic in high-burden countries, and address the threat of other infectious diseases such as tuberculosis and multi-drug resistant tuberculosis, malaria, influenza and other pandemic diseases, and neglected tropical diseases in developing countries.

The Complex Crises Fund provides funding to support rapid response capabilities for assistance activities to prevent or respond to emerging or unforeseen complex crises. The funds will target countries or regions that demonstrate a high or escalating risk of conflict or instability, or present an unanticipated opportunity for progress in a newly-emerging or fragile democracy. Projects aim to address and prevent root causes of conflict and instability through a whole-of-government approach and can include the participation of host governments and other partners.

Established by the Millennium Challenge Act of 2003, the Millennium Challenge Corporation (MCC) has the statutory goal of providing assistance to the poorest countries in the world to promote economic growth, eliminate extreme poverty, and strengthen good governance, economic freedom, and investments in people. Since its inception, MCC has signed 32 compacts and 26 threshold program agreements, totaling nearly $12 billion. These investments help foster stability through economic growth and poverty reduction in partner countries. MCC encourages policy reforms by working with only those countries that have created the conditions for growth by ruling justly, investing in their people, and committing to economic freedom, with a particular emphasis on fighting corruption and maintaining democratic rights. Countries develop their poverty reduction proposals in broad consultation with their own civil society and MCC. MCC's evidence-based approach leads to compacts that specifically define the implementation responsibilities of partner countries, including financial accountability and transparent and fair procurement practices, and require measurable results to ensure that MCC assistance is used responsibly and effectively.

This account supports U.S. foreign policy objectives by providing economic assistance to allies and countries in transition to democracy, supporting Middle East peace efforts, increasing stability in conflict/post-conflict environments, and financing economic growth and stabilization programs, frequently in a multi-donor context. Key objectives include:

1) Supporting strategically significant friends and allies through assistance designed to increase the role of the private sector in the economy, reduce government controls over markets, enhance job creation, and improve economic growth.

2) Developing and strengthening institutions necessary for sustainable democracy. Typical areas of assistance include technical assistance to administer and monitor elections, capacity-building for non-governmental organizations, judicial training, and women's participation in politics. Assistance is also provided to support the transformation of the public sector to encourage democratic development, including training to improve public administration; to promote decentralization; and to strengthen local governments, parliaments, independent media and non-governmental organizations.

3) Strengthening the capacity of partner governments to manage the human dimension of transitions out of instability and to help sustain the neediest sectors of the population during the transition period.

This account also includes funding for alternative development programs.

The Global Security Contingency Fund (GSCF) permits the Department of State and the Department of Defense to pool funding and expertise to address emergent challenges and opportunities. The GSCF can be used to provide military and other security sector assistance to enhance a country's national-level military or other security forces' capabilities to conduct border and maritime security, internal defense, and counterterrorism operations, or to participate in or support military, stability, or peace support operations, consistent with U.S. foreign policy and national security interests. The GSCF can also be used to provide assistance to the justice sector (including law enforcement and prisons), rule of law programs, and stabilization efforts in cases where civilian providers are challenged in their ability to operate. Assistance programs under this account are collaboratively developed by the Department of State and the Department of Defense. The fund allows direct contributions from each Department to be transferred into the fund for implementation by the most appropriate agency in a given situation, be it State, Defense, the U.S. Agency for International Development, or others.

The Foreign Military Financing Direct Loan Program (FMFDLP) Account is a program account established pursuant to the Federal Credit Reform Act (FCRA) of 1990, as amended, to provide the funds necessary for the subsidy element of loans. As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, this non-budgetary account records all cash flows to and from the Government resulting from direct loans for foreign military financing obligated in 1992 and after. The foreign military financing credit program provides loans that finance sales of defense articles, defense services, and design and construction services to foreign countries and international organizations. The amounts in this account are a means of financing and are not included in budget totals. Expenditures from this account finance the subsidy element of direct loan disbursements and are transferred into the Foreign Military Financing Direct Loan Financing (FMFDLF) Account to make required loan disbursements for approved FMS or commercial sales. The FMFDLF is a financing account used to make disbursements of Foreign Military Loan funds for approved procurements and for subsequent collections for loans after September 30, 1991. The account uses permanent borrowing authority from the U.S. Treasury combined with transfers of appropriated funds from the Foreign Military Financing Direct Loan Program (FMFDLP) Account to make required disbursements to loan recipient country borrowers for approved procurements. Receipts of debt service collections from borrowers are used to repay borrowings from U.S. Treasury.

The Foreign Military Loan Liquidating Account (FMLLA) is a liquidating account that records all cash flows to and from the Government resulting from direct loans obligated and loan guarantees for foreign military financing committed prior to 1992. This account is shown on a cash basis and reflects the transactions resulting from loans provided to finance sales of defense articles, defense services, and design and construction services to foreign countries and international organizations. No new loan disbursements are made from this account. Certain collections made into this account are made available for default claim payments. The Federal Credit Reform Act (FCRA) provides permanent indefinite authority to cover obligations for default payments if the liquidating account funds are otherwise insufficient. All new foreign military financing credit activity in 1992 and after (including modifications of direct loans or loan guarantees that resulted

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, the Military Debt Reduction Financing (MDRF) Account is a non-budgetary financing account that records all cash flows to and from the Government resulting from restructuring foreign military loans. The amounts in this account are a means of financing and are not included in budget totals. It is an account established for the debt relief of certain countries as established by Public Law 103-87, Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 1994, Section 11, Special Debt Relief for the Poorest, Most Heavily Indebted Countries. The MDRF buys a portfolio of loans from the FMLLA, thus transferring the loans from the FMLLA Account to the MDRF Account.

The Clean Technology Fund (CTF) is a multibillion dollar effort to reduce the growth of greenhouse gas emissions in developing countries by catalyzing large-scale private and public investments through financing the additional costs of commercially available cleaner technologies over dirtier, conventional alternatives. By funding the extra cost of the cleaner technology, the CTF incentivizes cleaner projects that leverage development bank financing and attract new investor capital into low-carbon sectors. The CTF, one of the two multilateral Climate Investment Funds (CIFs), leverages the capital bases and country program expertise of the multilateral development banks (MDBs). To receive funding, eligible countries must first develop credible national investment plans that identify key high-emissions sectors where targeted projects could stimulate low-carbon growth and the scalable uptake of clean technologies. Since 2009, the CTF's governing committee has endorsed 17 investment plans and programs with a combined CTF funding envelope of nearly $6.1 billion and total planned investments of over $49 billion. As of June 2015, the CTF has approved 84 individual projects using $4.2 billion in funding. The 84 approved projects are expected to attract $28.2 billion in co-financing from the private sector, governments, bilateral agencies, and other sources, with the MDBs providing a further $10.5 billion to CTF projects. A further $1.9 billion of CTF projects are under development. By the beginning of 2017, the United States will have fulfilled its $2.0 billion pledge to the CIFs, including the CTF.

The Strategic Climate Fund (SCF) is a suite of three programs to pilot innovative approaches and scaled-up activities aimed at addressing specific climate change-related challenges in developing countries. The SCF is one of the two multilateral Climate Investment Funds (CIFs). By the beginning of 2017, the United States will have fulfilled its $2.0 billion pledge to the CIFs.

The Pilot Program for Climate Resilience (PPCR) helps the most vulnerable populations in very poor countries better prepare for and respond to the effects of climate change through innovative development plans, strategies, and projects. The PPCR pilot programs are for Bangladesh, Bolivia, Cambodia, Mozambique, Nepal, Niger, Tajikistan, Yemen, Zambia, the Caribbean region (Dominica, Grenada, Haiti, Jamaica, Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines), and the Pacific region (Papua New Guinea, Samoa, and Tonga). The value of currently planned PPCR investments is over $1.1 billion. Ten other countries have been invited to develop programs.

The Forest Investment Program (FIP) helps protect our global forests by reducing deforestation in developing countries through improved governance and forest management, and by addressing the drivers of deforestation. The FIP pilot programs are for Brazil, Burkina Faso, Democratic Republic of Congo, Ghana, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Mexico, and Peru. The value of currently planned FIP investments is $490 million. Fifteen other countries have been invited to develop programs.

The Program for Scaling Up Renewable Energy in Low Income Countries (SREP) helps demonstrate the economic, social, and environmental viability of low-carbon development pathways in very poor countries. The SREP pilot programs are for Armenia, Bangladesh, Ethiopia, Ghana, Haiti, Honduras, Kenya, Liberia, Maldives, Mali, Mongolia, Nepal, Nicaragua, Rwanda, Solomon Islands, Tanzania, Uganda, and Vanuatu. The value of currently planned SREP investments is $604 million. Nine other countries have been invited to develop programs.

Treasury requests $23 million for the Global Agriculture and Food Security Program (GAFSP), a multi-donor trust fund called for by G-20 leaders at the November 2009 Pittsburgh Summit. GAFSP is the multilateral component of the President's Feed the Future initiative.

The GAFSP is a multilateral mechanism that funds projects supporting the agricultural investment plans of poor countries. The GAFSP, which is administered by the World Bank, leverages the expertise and implementing structures of other multilateral institutions such as the International Fund for Agricultural Development, the World Bank, and the regional development banks. Since its inception in 2010, the GAFSP public sector window has awarded $ 1,019 million in grant financing to 30 low-income countries in Africa, Asia, and Latin America. These investments are expected to help smallholder farmers and their families increase their income and strengthen their nutritional outcomes. These grants were funded from contributions from Australia, the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, Canada, Ireland, South Korea, Spain, the United Kingdom, and the United States. The private sector window, which provides financing to small and medium-sized agribusinesses, has approved $192.1 million of investments to date, funded from contributions from Canada, Japan, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

In October 2012, the United States pledged to commit $1 for every $2 from other donors up to a total U.S. contribution of $475 million during the pledge period. The United States is the largest of 10 donors to GAFSP, having contributed $591.8 million since GAFSP's inception. Treasury continues to work closely with GAFSP's leadership and other donors to encourage additional contributions. In FY 2015, Australia, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, and Germany made new contributions to GAFSP. During the course of FY 2016 Treasury also expects significant new financial commitments from new and existing GAFSP donors.

The Green Climate Fund (GCF) is a recently established multilateral fund designed to foster resilient, low-emission development. The GCF will advance its mission by using a range of financial instruments to support projects and programs in developing countries that promise the greatest impact in reducing greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions and building climate resilience. It will also advance its mission by mobilizing private sector capital and fostering stronger policy environments that better address the challenges of a changing climate.

The GCF will fund activities across a variety of sectors, including transport; water and other infrastructure; energy generation and efficiency; and land use, including agriculture and forestry. Through these investments, the GCF will support development that is resilient and resource-efficient and that minimizes the potential negative impact on citizens' health and well-being. The 2017 Budget includes $250 million through Treasury toward the U.S. pledge to the GCF.

Treasury requests $6 million for the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (IBRD) to address shortfalls from FY 2013 appropriations that, if not paid, will result in a loss of U.S. shareholding at the IBRD.

The IBRD is the arm of the World Bank that provides financing to creditworthy middle-income countries to promote inclusive economic growth and reduce poverty. Middle-income countries—home to over 70 percent of the world's poor—rely on the IBRD for financial resources and strategic advice to meet their development needs.

Working across a range of sectors, including agriculture, sustainable infrastructure, health and nutrition, and education, the IBRD supports long-term human and social development needs that private creditors do not finance. During its 2015 fiscal year, the IBRD approved $23.5 billion to support 112 projects. The largest share of this lending went to countries in the Europe and Central Asia region ($6.7 billion) and the Latin America and Caribbean region ($5.7 billion), followed by countries in the East Asia and Pacific region ($4.5 billion).

The United States is the largest shareholder in the IBRD, with a 15.8 percent share of total voting power, followed by Japan and China. The United States is the only country with veto power over amendments to the Articles of Agreement.

Global Environment Facility

The Global Environment Facility (GEF) is the largest funder of projects to improve the global environment, providing grants to address issues related to biodiversity, climate change, oceans, land degradation, and chemical pollution. The GEF supports innovative, cost-effective investments that can be replicated and scaled up by the public and private sectors. In 2015, the GEF approved 130 new projects totaling $1.1 billion. Since its establishment in 1991, the GEF has allocated $14.5 billion, supplemented by more than $75 billion in co-financing, to fund almost 4,000 projects in 165 developing countries. The sixth replenishment to the GEF (GEF-6) began on July 1, 2014 and will conclude on June 30, 2018. The 2017 Budget requests $146.6 million for the GEF, which includes $136.6 million for the third of four annual installments to GEF-6 and $10.0 million to help meet our earlier GEF-6 annual installment.

International Finance Corporation

The International Finance Corporation (IFC), a member of the World Bank Group, is the largest global development institution exclusively focused on the private sector. It was established in 1956 to promote private sector development in developing countries by making loans and equity investments in private sector projects, mobilizing private capital alongside its own resources, and providing advisory and technical assistance services. In its 2015 fiscal year, the IFC approved $10.5 billion from its own resources, and mobilized an additional $7.1 billion from other sources, for 406 projects. The poorest countries (those eligible for funding from the World Bank's International Development Association (IDA)) received 36 percent of IFC projects in 2015. IFC investments in 2015 were spread across the globe, with the largest recipient regions being Latin American and the Caribbean (23 percent), East Asia and the Pacific (22 percent), and sub-Saharan Africa (17 percent). The top sectors for IFC investment in 2015 were Financial Markets (45 percent), Infrastructure (20 percent), and Agribusiness and Forestry (13 percent).

The 2017 Budget requests $12.5 million for a contribution to the Central America and Caribbean Catastrophe Risk Insurance Program multi-donor trust fund, which has been established at the World Bank to support the expansion of sovereign catastrophe risk insurance coverage to Central America under the CCRIF Segregated Portfolio Company (formerly known as the Caribbean Catastrophe Risk Insurance Facility (CCRIF)) and to support related technical assistance. This contribution will support the availability of affordable insurance against natural disaster to as many as six Central American countries and the Dominican Republic, by expanding coverage under the CCRIF model. Parametric insurance coverage for natural disasters can be a sustainable and cost-effective way to increase financial resilience in vulnerable countries and to help countries quickly access emergency liquidity in the aftermath of major natural disasters, enabling an effective post-disaster response.

Treasury requests $1,384 million for the International Development Association (IDA). This amount includes $1,290.6 million for the third of three annual installments to the seventeenth replenishment of IDA and $93.5 million to pay down unmet commitments to IDA.

IDA is the part of the World Bank that supports the growth and development of the world's 77 poorest countries, home to 2.8 billion people, in every region of the world. IDA works across a wide range of sectors including education, basic health, clean water and sanitation, the environment, infrastructure, and agriculture. Because countries receiving IDA financing are too poor to attract sufficient capital to support their urgent development needs, they depend on low-cost loans and grants to create jobs, build critical infrastructure, increase agricultural productivity, provide energy, and invest in the health and education of future generations.

IDA's goal is to help countries reduce poverty and achieve higher levels of growth and institutional capacity. Over time, IDA's support helps countries finance their development needs through domestic revenues and borrowing at non-concessional rates. To date, 33 countries once eligible for IDA assistance have graduated and no longer receive support from IDA.

Of the $19 billion approved in IDA's 2015 fiscal year, more than half—$10.4 billion—went to countries in sub-Saharan Africa. Countries

CONTRIBUTION TO THE INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION—Continued in the South Asia region received $5.8 billion, and $1.8 billion went to countries in the East Asia and Pacific region. Thirteen percent of IDA's resources are provided as grants to fragile states and other countries at risk of debt distress.

Multilateral Debt Relief Initiative

Launched in 2006 at the urging of the United States, the Multilateral Debt Relief Initiative (MDRI) provides 100 percent cancellation of eligible debt to the concessional financing windows of the World Bank and the African Development Bank. Countries become eligible for MDRI after completing the Heavily Indebted Poor Countries (HIPC) Initiative and demonstrating a track record of improved economic policy performance. The purpose of this debt reduction is to free up more resources in well-performing low-income countries for poverty-reducing expenditures in areas such as health, education, and rural development.

MDRI requires donors to compensate IDA for the cancelled debt on a dollar-for-dollar basis according to the payment schedules of the original loans. IDA calculates donors' MDRI commitments at the start of each three-year replenishment cycle according to a burden-sharing percentage. Each donor's commitments to MDRI at IDA must be met within the three-year replenishment period to avoid a negative impact on IDA's commitment capacity. With a 20.1 percent burden share, the U.S. share of the cost of MDRI under IDA-17 is $565 million. In addition to these current commitments, the United States has $246 million in unmet MDRI commitments from IDA-16. Altogether, the United States faces total commitments of $811 million for MDRI at IDA over the FY 2015-FY 2017 period.

The Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency (MIGA) is a member of the World Bank Group. MIGA is designed to encourage the flow of foreign private investment to and among developing countries by issuing guarantees against non-commercial risks and carrying out investment promotion activities. In 2015, MIGA issued a total of $2.8 billion in guarantees for projects in developing countries. Negotiations on MIGA's first general capital increase (GCI) were completed in 1998. The United States committed to contribute a total of $30 million in paid-in capital and nearly $140 million in callable capital over three years. The GCI decision included commitments from MIGA on a range of policy issues of substantial importance to the United States, including environment, information disclosure, labor, and creation of an inspection function for greater accountability and transparency. In 2000, the Administration sought and received congressional authorization for the United States' full participation in the MIGA GCI.

Treasury is seeking $22 million to address unmet commitments to the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB).

The IDB is the largest source of development financing for 26 countries in Latin America and the Caribbean, a strategically significant and economically important region for the United States and a region where 66 million people live in extreme poverty. In 2015, the IDB approved $11.3 billion in financing for 172 projects. About 47 percent of commitments targeted small and vulnerable borrowing countries, such as El Salvador, Guyana, Honduras, and Jamaica.

The IDB works in a range of sectors and commits roughly half of its funding to support infrastructure and the environment through projects in water and sanitation, transportation and energy. The other half is split between capacity building, including reform of government operations and financial markets, and the social sector, including social investment, health, and education.

Given the IDB's significant response to the global financial crisis, in 2010, shareholders approved GCI-9 to ensure that the IDB had the resources necessary to assist countries that suddenly found themselves shut off from global capital markets. As part of the GCI-9 resolution, the IDB established a special grant facility for Haiti that will receive income transfers of $200 million annually from the IDB through 2020. This facility provides Haiti with critical resources to support a long-term development agenda. Establishing this facility was a critical U.S. objective of GCI-9.

The United States is the largest shareholder in the IDB, with 30 percent of total shareholding, enabling the United States to wield significant influence over major decisions about the direction of the IDB.

Inter-American Investment Corporation

The Inter-American Investment Corporation (IIC), a member of the Inter-American Development Bank Group established in 1984, promotes development of private small- and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) in Latin America and the Caribbean. It is a legally autonomous entity whose resources and management are separate from those of the Inter-American Development Bank itself. Through direct loans and equity investments in SMEs, as well as through lending to private financial intermediaries, the IIC helps SMEs in the region access the medium- and long-term capital necessary to start up, expand, or modernize operations. In 2015, the IIC approved 79 projects totaling $347 million. Since its inception, the IIC has approved a total of $6 billion in financing.

The Asian Development Bank (AsDB) Group promotes broad-based sustainable economic growth and development, poverty alleviation, and regional cooperation and integration in the Asia-Pacific region. It has two main financing windows: 1) the Asian Development Bank's "hard-loan" window (known as the Ordinary Capital Resources (OCR) window); and 2) the Asian Development Fund's (AsDF) "soft-loan" window, which provides grants and lends at concessional rates to the region's poorest nations. Effective January 2017, AsDB will provide concessional loans to eligible countries through the OCR window. The AsDF will only provide grants to the region's poorest countries that are at moderate or severe risk of debt distress.

Asian Development Bank

The AsDB provides long-term loans at market rates to 23 middle-income Asian countries that lack the resources to finance their national economies and build critical infrastructure. The AsDB also supports private sector development with technical assistance, loans, guarantees, and direct equity investments in viable private sector projects with strong development impacts. In 2015, the AsDB approved $13.2 billion worth of direct financing for projects and leveraged another $10.1 billion in co-financing from official and commercial sources.

Through its lending, both for projects and for policy reforms, the AsDB supports the construction of critical economic infrastructure, the expansion of private enterprise, and environmentally-sustainable economic growth.

The majority of AsDB assistance is for investments in transportation, energy, finance, and industry and trade, with other sectors such as water supply, municipal infrastructure, agriculture and natural resources, and public sector management also receiving significant funding.

The AsDB is financed through capital contributions from donors, income earned on its loan and investment portfolios, public bond issues, and private placements. In April 2009, donors approved the AsDB's fifth general capital increase (GCI-V), which tripled the AsDB's capital base to $165 billion. GCI-V was necessary to enable the AsDB to maintain an adequate level of lending after it stepped in with a significant increase in lending to assist developing Asian countries to withstand the effects of the global financial crisis.

Asian Development Fund

Treasury requests $99.1 million for the AsDF. This amount includes $89.9 million for the third of four installments to the AsDF's Tenth Replenishment (AsDF-11) and $9.3 million to pay down unmet commitments to the AsDF.

The AsDF currently provides concessional loans and grants to the 29 poorest countries in Asia, including Afghanistan and Pakistan. It focuses on supporting inclusive, environmentally sustainable economic growth, and regional cooperation and integration. Specific sectors of focus include clean energy, sustainable transportation, and access to reliable water and sanitation. The AsDF also invests in cross-cutting activities, such as connecting entrepreneurial training with financing for SMEs. In 2015, the AsDF approved an estimated $2.9 billion of loans and grants for AsDF-eligible countries. Historically, the AsDF has provided over $50 billion for projects in developing member countries of the AsDB. Effective January 2017, AsDF will provide only grants.

Water, energy, and transportation infrastructure comprise 62 percent of all AsDF projects, while financial sector deepening, agriculture, and health projects make up the remainder of AsDF activities. In recent years, with U.S. encouragement, the AsDF has focused on countries where support strengthens U.S. national security priorities.

The African Development Bank Group comprises 1) the African Development Bank (AfDB), which lends at market-linked rates to middle-income African countries and Africa's private-sector; and 2) the African Development Fund (AfDF), which provides grants and concessional loans to the poorest African countries. The AfDF account includes a portion of the U.S. commitment to the Multilateral Debt Relief Initiative (MDRI).

African Development Bank

Treasury requests $32.4 million for the sixth of eight installments for the AfDB's Sixth General Capital Increase (GCI-6).

The AfDB provides public sector financing at market-linked rates to 17 middle-income African countries, and provides loans, equity investments, lines of credit, and guarantees to the private sector in all 54 African member countries.

The AfDB had close to $6.15 billion in lending approvals in 2015, two-thirds of which was for public sector projects and one-third for private sector projects. Almost half of AfDB approvals are for infrastructure (including sector support in energy, transportation, communication, and water and sanitation), 22 percent in the financial sector, 10 percent in agriculture, and the remainder in governance and social sectors.

The United States is the largest non-regional shareholder at the AfDB, with 6.5 percent of total shareholding, and the second-largest shareholder overall, after Nigeria.

African Development Fund

Treasury requests $214.3 million for the AfDF. This amount includes $195 million for the third of three installments to the thirteenth replenishment of the AfDF (AfDF-13) and $19.3 million to partially pay down U.S. unmet commitments to the AfDF.

The AfDF is the AfDB Group's concessional lending window, providing grants and highly concessional loans to the poorest countries in Africa, of which nearly half are fragile or conflict-affected states. In 2015, the AfDF provided $2.16 billion in financing, technical assistance, and capacity-building activities to the 39 countries that it serves. Many AfDF recipient countries are growing African economies that are becoming new, emerging markets and U.S. trading partners, while other AfDF recipient countries remain trapped in fragility, conflict, and poverty, are highly vulnerable to both internal and external shocks, and are in need of special assistance to achieve basic levels of service delivery.

The AfDF is the largest official financier of infrastructure in sub-Saharan Africa, committing over half of its funding to national and regional infrastructure projects, in sectors such as energy, transport, and water and sanitation. The remainder of its funding is devoted to governance, agriculture and food security, and human capital development (e.g., health and education). The AfDF also sets aside special funding for fragile and transitioning states and regional projects.

Multilateral Debt Relief Initiative

Launched in 2006 at the urging of the United States, MDRI provides 100 percent cancellation of eligible debt to the concessional financing windows of the World Bank and the AfDB. Countries become eligible for MDRI after completing the HIPC Initiative and demonstrating a track record of improved economic policy performance. The purpose of this debt reduction is to free up more resources in well-performing low-income countries for poverty-reducing expenditures in areas such as health, education, and rural development.

MDRI requires donors to compensate AfDF for cancelled debt under MDRI on a dollar-for-dollar basis according to the payment schedules of the original loans. Similar to IDA, AfDF calculates donors' MDRI commitments at the start of each three-year replenishment cycle according to a burden-sharing percentage. Donor commitments must be met within the three-year replenishment period to avoid a negative impact on the AfDF's commitment capacity.

At 11.8 percent burden share, the U.S. share of the cost of MDRI under AfDF-13 is $55 million. The United States also has over $29 million in unmet MDRI commitments from AfDF-12. Altogether, the United States faces total commitments of $84 million for MDRI at the AfDF over the FY 2015-FY 2017 period.

The European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD) supports market-oriented economic reform and democratic pluralism predominately through private-sector lending and investments. Its original field of operation in the countries of Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union was expanded in 2012 to aid in the transitions of key countries in the Middle East and North Africa. The United States and other shareholders signed the Agreement Establishing the EBRD on May 29, 1990, and the Bank officially began operating on April 15, 1991. In April 1996, shareholders approved a doubling of the EBRD's capital base from EUR 10 billion to EUR 20 billion (approximately $24 billion), which went into effect in April 1997. In 2012, the United States provided $1.25 billion in callable capital to support increased resource demands that resulted from the 2008 financial crisis.

Treasury is seeking $45 million for the second of five installments of the first North American Development Bank (NADB) general capital increase. NADB finances environmental infrastructure projects that have been certified by the U.S.-Mexico Border Environmental Cooperation Commission (BECC). BECC is NADB's sister institution and is designed to assist border states and local communities in identifying projects on both sides of the U.S.-Mexico border. To enhance efficiency and strengthen the environmental mandate of the NADB, the BECC is in the process of merging with the NADB.

Under its charter, the United States and Mexico contributed equally to NADB's capital—$450 million in paid-in capital and $2.55 billion in callable capital for a total capital base of $3 billion. The proposed general capital increase would double NADB's capital base to $6 billion.

As of September 2015, NADB had approved $2.6 billion in loans and grants.

The Multilateral Investment Fund (MIF), administered by the Inter-American Development Bank, provides grants and loans to support private-sector development, as well as financial and labor sector reforms, in Latin America and the Caribbean. Special consideration is given to reforms that promote privatization and encourage private foreign direct investment. Grants and loans are used for technical assistance to identify and resolve investment constraints, for investment in human capital, and for business infrastructure and development. In 2015, the MIF approved 85 projects totaling $87 million. Since its inception in 1992, the MIF has approved over 1,750 projects, for which the MIF contribution totaled approximately $2 billion.

The United States made a $500 million commitment to the MIF in 1992. Negotiations were completed in early 2005 for the first replenishment of the MIF (MIF-II), with a U.S. commitment of $150 million to be paid annually in six equal installments. The United States achieved its key objectives in these negotiations: strengthening the commitment to measurable results, increasing efficiency, maintaining a focus on grants, allocating resources to maximize innovation, and reforming IDB procurement.

Treasury requests $20 million for the Global Infrastructure Facility (GIF). The GIF will catalyze private investment in public infrastructure projects by addressing constraints arising from countries' legal and regulatory regimes, project design and implementation, and project financing structures. In doing so, the GIF will seek to develop and promote best practices for infrastructure investment, particularly with regard to social and environmental standards. The GIF will seek to support at least four significant and three to six smaller infrastructure projects across a range of countries and sectors during its initial, three-year pilot phase. GIF resources will be recovered through reimbursements or fees collected when an infrastructure project receives its financing through private investments.

As the global focus on infrastructure investment continues to grow, the United States must maintain its leadership in multilateral infrastructure initiatives like the GIF to ensure infrastructure projects around the world

IFAD was established in 1977 as a multilateral financial institution focused on promoting rural agricultural development and food security in poorer countries. IFAD's specific mandate is to help rural small-scale producers and subsistence farmers increase their productivity and incomes, improve food security, and integrate them into larger markets.

Pursuant to OTA's authorizing statute, OTA provides technical assistance to facilitate the implementation of policy, management, and administrative reforms in the areas of budget, revenue, government debt, financial institutions and financial enforcement to developing and transition countries. This assistance supports U.S. foreign policy and national security objectives.

The 2017 Budget includes $33.5 million to fund full-time resident technical assistance advisors, intermittent advisors, and program-related administrative costs. The appropriation will support technical assistance programs in Asia, the Middle East, Africa, Latin America, and the Caribbean. It will enable the provision of technical assistance to developing and transition countries to strengthen the capacity of finance ministries, central banks, and other government institutions to manage public finances and oversee the financial sector. Technical assistance projects support efficient revenue collection, well-planned and executed budgets, judicious debt management, sound banking systems, and strong controls to combat corruption and economic crimes, including terrorist financing. The appropriation will also support Treasury's work to strengthen the financial underpinnings for infrastructure development. OTA will continue to coordinate its activities with the Department of State, USAID, and other relevant U.S. Government agencies as well as international financial institutions, and other bilateral donors when determining where its technical assistance program can have the greatest positive impact.

Funds for debt restructuring are periodically needed to help countries remove the burden of unsustainable debts, thereby establishing a sounder footing for economic growth. Debt relief and restructuring can be fundamental to helping countries stabilize their economies, restart economic growth, and reduce poverty and instability. Through programs such as the Heavily Indebted Poor Countries (HIPC) Initiative, the Multilateral Debt Relief Initiative (MDRI), as well as through the Paris Club, countries that have demonstrated a commitment to economic reforms and poverty reduction can benefit from debt restructuring. These programs have provided authority and appropriations to reschedule and/or reduce the debt repayments to multilateral institutions and/or the U.S. Government, allowing beneficiary countries to increase poverty reduction expenditures in areas such as health, education, and rural development. Debt relief can also be used to promote other U.S. Government priorities. No funding is requested for the Debt Restructuring account in 2017, though the Budget includes authorization to transfer up to $275 million to cover the cost of HIPC debt relief for Sudan, should the Secretary of State determine that Sudan has made sufficient progress along the various fronts the U.S. has identified as pre-conditions for any U.S. support, including implementing the agreement reached by the Governments of Sudan and South Sudan under the Comprehensive Peace Agreement, and any other legislative requirements.

Development Assistance Programs.—The U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) uses Development Assistance (DA) funding as one of its primary tools in meeting its mission by investing in partnerships that support ending extreme poverty and promoting resilient, democratic societies around the world. Achieving these goals requires enabling inclusive, sustainable growth; promoting free, peaceful, and self-reliant societies with effective, legitimate governments; and building human capital and creating social safety nets that reach the poorest and most vulnerable populations. USAID uses DA funds to apply proven solutions to the world's greatest development challenges through a focus on monitoring, evaluation, and results and by leveraging innovation, science, technology, partnerships, and local leadership. DA funds help drive progress toward meeting the global development vision and priorities adopted in the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

Approximately 40 percent of DA funding supports the Presidential Initiatives on Global Climate Change and Feed the Future. In Global Climate Change, DA programs support investments both in climate change adaptation as well as in clean and sustainable economic development and land use. These programs assist developing countries to adapt to climate change and to build the resilience of vulnerable populations to its negative impacts. They also help these countries to speed their transition to climate-resilient, low emission, sustainable economic growth and to implement their nationally determined contributions (NDCs) for reducing greenhouse gas emissions. The Feed the Future (FTF) initiative strives to invest in inclusive agriculture-led growth through improving agricultural productivity, expanding markets and trade, and increasing the economic resilience of vulnerable rural communities. Funding supports efforts to unleash the potential of agricultural producers and the private sector to connect smallholders to markets, and to reduce poverty and stunting by an average of 20 percent in targeted geographic regions. The FTF initiative also supports improving nutrient quality and food supply safety across the agricultural value chain.

DA funds furthermore support lines of effort under the U.S. Strategy for Engagement in Central America, an inclusive, whole-of-government approach to promoting prosperity, improved governance, and security in the region. In addition, funds support Power Africa activities to increase electricity access in sub-Saharan Africa, as well as the strategic rebalance to the Asia-Pacific to strengthen regional economic integration and trade that advance democratic and economic development.

DA also funds programs in the areas of governing justly and democratically, promoting economic growth, advancing basic and higher education, expanding efforts in the areas of innovation, science and technology, and empowering women and girls. Funding in these areas responds to longer-term challenges of human and economic security and helps protect U.S. national security in the long-run.

Prior to 2008, funds were appropriated to the Child Survival and Health Programs account to support activities that address family planning/reproductive health; child survival and maternal health, including activities directed at vulnerable children and the primary causes of morbidity and mortality, polio, micronutrients and iodine deficiency; preventing and treating infectious diseases such as malaria and tuberculosis; and reducing HIV transmission and the impact of the HIV/AIDS pandemic in developing countries. Additional funding for HIV/AIDS was appropriated in the Global HIV/AIDS Initiative account for this purpose through 2007. Beginning in 2008, funds for these activities were appropriated in the Global Health and Child Survival (now Global Health Programs) account, and will continue to be requested in that account.

The purpose of the Assistance for Europe, Eurasia and Central Asia (AEECA) account was to support programs to foster the democratic and economic transitions of the countries of Southeastern Europe and the independent states that emerged from the dissolution of the Soviet Union, as well as related efforts to address social sector reform and combat transnational threats in these countries. From 2013 through 2015, funding for the programs formerly funded through AEECA were included in the Economic Support Fund (ESF), International Narcotics Control and Law Enforcement (INCLE), and Global Health Programs (GHP) accounts. In 2016, Congress reinstated the AEECA account for those programs funded with ESF and INCLE; however the 2017 request proposes funding all of these programs through the ESF, INCLE, and GHP accounts.

The International Disaster Assistance (IDA) account provides funds to save lives, reduce human suffering, and mitigate and prepare for natural and complex emergencies overseas. Specifically, these funds provide for the management of humanitarian assistance, rehabilitation, disaster risk reduction, and transition to development assistance programs. Humanitarian relief interventions include, but are not limited to, shelter, emergency health and nutrition, and the provision of safe drinking water.

IDA programs target the most vulnerable populations who are affected by the shock of a disaster, including those who are internally displaced.

This request also funds emergency food interventions such as local and regional purchase of food near crises, food vouchers, or cash transfers.

The Transition Initiatives (TI) account addresses opportunities and challenges facing conflict-prone countries and those countries making the transition from the initial crisis stage of a complex emergency to sustainable development and democracy. Programs are focused on advancing peace and stability, including promoting responsiveness of central governments to local needs, civic participation programs, media programs raising awareness of national issues, addressing underlying causes of instability, and conflict resolution measures. Recent country examples where TI funds were used include Pakistan, Honduras, Lebanon, Libya, Syria, Burma, and Macedonia.

TI funding provides core operational funds for the Office of Transition Initiatives within the U.S. Agency for International Development Bureau for Democracy, Conflict, and Humanitarian Assistance.

The Fund, authorized by section 635(m) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, finances on a reimbursable basis the costs associated with providing administrative support to other agencies under the International Cooperative Administrative Support Services (ICASS) program overseas. Under ICASS, each agency pays a proportional share of the cost of those services they have agreed to receive. Working through inter-agency councils at post, all agencies have a say in determining which services the USAID mission will provide, defining service standards, reviewing costs, and determining funding levels. The Fund is also used for deposit of rebates from the use of Federal credit cards, the deposits then being made available for start-up costs at new ICASS service- provider missions and technical support to missions currently providing services.

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, this account records, for the Development Credit Authority, the subsidy costs associated with direct loans obligated and loan guarantees committed in 1992 and beyond (including modifications of direct loans or loan guarantees that resulted from obligations or commitments in any year), as well as administrative expenses of this program and legacy USAID credit programs. The subsidy amounts are estimated on a net present value basis; the administrative expenses are estimated on a cash basis.

In 2017, the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) will use the Development Credit Authority (DCA) transfer authority to support DCA projects in every region of the globe and every economic sector targeted by USAID. DCA augments grant assistance by mobilizing private capital in developing countries for sustainable development projects. Credit assistance under DCA is principally intended for use where a development activity is financially viable, where borrowers are creditworthy, and where there is true risk sharing with private lenders.

In 2017, the request for $60 million in DCA transfer authority will continue to support the flow of credit to microfinance institutions, small and medium enterprises, and agribusinesses. DCA will also take advantage of more developed municipal capacity and capital markets to expand successful sub-sovereign financing models developed in Asia and Eastern Europe. The request for $10 million in credit program administrative expenses will fund the total cost of development, implementation, and financial management of the DCA program, as well as the continued administration of USAID's legacy credit portfolios.

The Overseas Private Investment Corporation encourages the participation of United States private sector capital and skills in the economic and social development of developing countries and emerging market economies. Its credit program is investment financing through loans and guaranteed loans.

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, the Program Account records the subsidy costs associated with the direct loans obligated and loan guarantees committed in 1992 and beyond (including modifications of direct loans or loan guarantees that resulted from obligations or commitments in any year), as well as administrative expenses of this program. The subsidy amounts are estimated on a present value basis; the administrative expenses are estimated on a cash basis.

The Peace Corps will provide direct and indirect support to Americans serving as Volunteers in approximately 64 countries worldwide in 2017, including the necessary safety and security provisions for Volunteers, trainees, and staff. The 2017 budget supports recruitment, screening, and placement of Peace Corps trainees and sustains new and existing Volunteers to have approximately 7680 Americans enrolled in the Peace Corps by the end of 2017. The Volunteers help fill the trained manpower needs of developing countries and encourage self-sustaining development of skilled manpower. The Peace Corps also promotes mutual understanding between the peoples of the developing world and the United States and focuses the attention of the American people on the benefits of community service. Peace Corps Volunteers work primarily in the areas of agriculture, community economic development, education, environment, health and HIV/AIDS, and youth.

The Peace Corps Office of Inspector General provides independent oversight in accordance with the Inspector General Act of 1978, as amended. Through audits, evaluations and investigations the office prevents and detects waste, fraud, abuse and mismanagement; provides advice and assistance to agency management; and promotes efficiency, effectiveness and economy in agency programs and operations.

This account transfers funds to the operating expense account for the Peace Corps to finance upward adjustments of recorded obligations because of foreign currency fluctuations. Transfers are made as needed to meet disbursement requirements in excess of funds otherwise available for obligation adjustment. Net gains resulting from favorable exchange rates are returned to this account and are available for subsequent transfer when needed. The account is replenished through the utilization of a special transfer authority that allows the Peace Corps to withdraw unobligated balances from the operating expenses account from prior years as long as the authorized limit of $5 million is not exceeded at the time of the transfer.

The Inter-American Foundation's (IAF) mission is to promote and invest in citizen-led grassroots development in Latin America and the Caribbean to help communities thrive. Communities that are productive, secure, inclusive and democratic are better able to address their own problems, including emigration of their children and young people. IAF funds self-help ideas and priorities articulated by poor communities in the region. Grantee partners invest their own resources and mobilize contributions from others. This approach is cost-efficient and results in effective, community-led development that is consistent with U.S. foreign policy goals in the region: to expand access to economic opportunities, enhance social inclusion, build citizen engagement in democratic processes at the grassroots level, and strengthen resilience to crime and violence.

The IAF's specialized expertise and experience investing in citizen-led development, its extensive network with Latin American civil society organizations, and its robust evaluation system complement the assets of other U.S. government agencies. The IAF uses these tools in collaborating and sharing lessons in development with public and private sector partners. As part of the U.S. Strategy for Engagement in Central America, the IAF invests in the organized poor so that they develop the capacity to advance their own communities, addressing the root causes of migration by improving economic opportunity, citizen security and civic participation. IAF investments help grassroots groups take advantage of large-scale investments, new markets and trade opportunities. Seventy-eight percent of IAF grantee partner respondents to a recent survey by the Center for Effective Philanthropy stated that working with the IAF had positively affected their opinion of the United States.

Development Grants: IAF works in 20 countries in Latin America and the Caribbean and maintains a portfolio of approximately 265 active projects, including agriculture and food production, enterprise development, education and training, cultural expression, environmental stewardship, and health programs. Advancing the inclusion of women, children and youth, indigenous peoples and African descendants, and persons with disabilities in economic and civic life are over-arching priorities.

In 2016, the IAF plans to award at least 120 new and supplemental grants. All grants are audited by an independent audit firm. In addition, the IAF conducts an end-of-project assessment of the results of every grant and an ex-post assessment on a sample of projects completed for at least five years.

Focus on Central America: The IAF has significantly increased its focus on Central America, with investments to address root causes of migration, consistent with the U.S. Strategy for Engagement. In FY15, 37 percent of the IAF's new grant funding went to Central America, up from 24 percent in FY11. The IAF's portfolio includes 91 active projects in the region for a total investment value of $42.5 million, of which $21.6 million is counterpart resources committed by grantee partners. The IAF is operating in over 900 communities and 16 percent of all municipalities in the northern triangle. Ninety percent of funding actions in Central America are in agriculture and food production, education and training, enterprise development and environment. Forty-five percent of the IAF's activity in El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras benefits young people directly.

Leveraging of Resources: Grantee partners invest their own resources and mobilize contributions from others in the local public and private sector; on average over the last five years, counterpart commitments have represented $136,000 for every $100,000 invested by the IAF. U.S. based hometown associations are also supporting IAF-funded grassroots development projects in their communities of origin. In addition, members of RedEAmérica, an IAF-initiated business sector alliance, commit to match IAF grant funds for projects at a three-to-one ratio. The IAF also manages resources from other public or private sources when objectives coincide and the partner wishes to take advantage of the efficiency and effectiveness of the IAF's investment platform.

Program Implementation Activities: The IAF complements and extends the impact of its development grants program with other investments designed to enhance the capabilities of grassroots organizations in the region as a learning and collaboration network. This includes investments in a robust evaluation system that prioritizes learning by our grantee partners; targeted training, technical assistance and peer-to-peer exchanges; and field research on relevant grassroots development topics by Ph.D. candidates at U.S. universities that also contributes to building a cadre of U.S. and Latin American specialists in the field.

The U.S. African Development Foundation (USADF) works directly with Africa's marginalized population to secure economic development and growth among the most vulnerable communities. As an independent agency of the U.S. Government, USADF's development priorities contribute to the overall U.S. foreign policy agenda by impacting 1,500,000 people each year in underserved communities across Africa. USADF's innovative small grants program (less than $250,000 per grant) supports sustainable, community-driven enterprises that improve food security, generate jobs, and increase family incomes. Additionally, the Agency maintains African staff and offices in each country where it works. This enables on-the-ground program management and accountability, while establishing a network of in-country technical service providers with expertise critical to advancing the local community's long term development needs.

USADF operates in Africa using a cost-effective African-led and managed development model that "right sizes" efforts, directing development resources to rural areas of greatest need and potential for impact. By directing small amounts of development resources to disenfranchised and vulnerable groups in hard to reach, sensitive regions across Africa, USADF ensures that critical U.S. development initiatives such as Trade Africa, Feed the Future, Power Africa, and the Young African Leaders Initiative reach beyond urban areas to Africa's underserved rural populations. USADF programs also leverage funds from other donors. By matching U.S. Government funds with those from host African governments and/or other private sector foundations, USADF increases the development impact of each tax dollar appropriated. USADF's size and low-cost operating model makes it a highly flexible, innovative, and effective foreign assistance provider to Africa.

The United States participates in the International Monetary Fund (IMF) through a quota subscription, denominated in Special Drawing Rights (SDRs). Under reforms to IMF quotas decided in 2010, the U.S. quota at the IMF is increased by SDR 40,871,800,000 (approximately $57 billion) to SDR 82,994,200,000 (approximately $115 billion). Quotas are the main metric used by the Fund to assign voting shares and to determine countries' contributions to the IMF's general resources and access to IMF financing.

The use of the U.S. quota resources by the IMF constitute an exchange of monetary assets and does not result in net budget outlays. When the United States transfers dollars or other reserve assets to the IMF under the U.S. quota subscription, the United States receives an equal, offsetting, and interest-bearing claim on the IMF, which is reflected as an increase in U.S. international monetary reserves. The U.S. reserve position in the IMF is readily available to meet a U.S. balance-of-payments financing need.

In 2010, G-20 Leaders and the IMF membership decided on a set of quota and governance reforms designed to enhance IMF effectiveness. The United States successfully achieved its negotiating priorities during this process: (1) a U.S. quota increase with a corresponding equivalent rollback in U.S. participation in the IMF's New Arrangements to Borrow (NAB) for no change in overall U.S. financial participation in the IMF; and (2) preservation of U.S. veto power in the IMF.

Title IX of The Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2016 (Public Law 114-113) directs that the budgetary authority and outlays of the 2016 quota increase be recorded on a present value basis with a fair value premium added to the discount rate. In addition, under the Act, the 2009 quota increase is also now executed on a present value basis.

For additional information, see the account entitled "United States Quota IMF Direct Loan Program Account", which addresses the 2009 appropriation, and on the budgetary treatment of the IMF, including the use of present value, see the Budget Concepts chapter of Analytical Perspectives volume.

The Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2009 (Public Law 111-32) provided authorization and appropriations for an increase in the U.S. quota to the IMF by the dollar equivalent of SDR 4,973,100,000 (about $6.9 billion as of December 31, 2015). This increase in the U.S. quota entered into effect on March 25, 2011.

While the U.S. quota in the IMF is not a credit program, the Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2009 directed that the 2009 appropriation to increase the U.S. quota in the IMF be scored on a credit reform basis, per the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, as amended (FCRA), with an additional adjustment to the discount rate for market risk. The application of FCRA by operation of law to the 2009 quota appropriation was a significant change in the budgetary treatment of the U.S. quota to the IMF that only applied to the 2009 appropriations. Pursuant to Title IX of The Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2016 (Public Law 114-113), the 2009 direction to apply FCRA rules no longer applies to the 2009 quota appropriation, and the account will be closed in 2016.

As directed by the Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2009 (Public Law 111-32), this non-budgetary account recorded all cash flows to and from the Government resulting from the 2009 increase in the U.S. quota in the IMF, consistent with Federal Credit Reform Act (FCRA) rules. The amounts in this account are a means of financing and do not affect the deficit and are not included in the budget totals.

While the U.S. quota in the IMF is not a credit program, the Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2009 directed that the 2009 appropriation to increase the U.S. quota in the IMF be scored on a FCRA basis, with an additional adjustment to the discount rate for market risk. The application of FCRA by operation of law to the 2009 quota appropriation was a significant change in the budgetary treatment of the U.S. quota to the IMF that only applied to the 2009 appropriations. Pursuant to Title IX of The Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2016 (Public Law 114-113), the 2009 direction to apply FCRA rules no longer applies to the 2009 quota appropriation, and the account will be closed in 2016.

5114 New Arrangements to Borrow (PL 114-113)		30,628
5115 New Arrangements to Borrow, total	10,563	41,191	41,191

The General Arrangements to Borrow (GAB) were established in 1962 by 10 industrial countries, including the United States, as a means of supplementing the IMF's quota resources to forestall or cope with an impairment of the international monetary system. GAB participants decided in early 1983 to increase their financial commitments to the GAB from approximately SDR 6.3 billion to SDR 17 billion (about $17.9 billion at that time), with the U.S. share rising from SDR 1.9 billion to approximately SDR 4.25 billion (about $5.9 billion as of December 31, 2015).

In January 1997, the Executive Board of the IMF approved the creation of the New Arrangements to Borrow (NAB), which is a standing arrangement among certain IMF members to supplement the IMF's quota resources as needed to forestall or cope with an impairment of the international monetary system or to deal with an exceptional situation that poses a threat to the stability of the system. The NAB became effective on November 17, 1998, and was activated for the first time in December 1998 to finance an IMF arrangement for Brazil. The IMF repaid the NAB participants in March 1999. From 1999 through March 2011 the NAB was not activated.

In 2015, forty countries and institutions participated in the NAB for a total of SDR 370 billion (about $513 billion as of December 31, 2015), of which the U.S. share in 2015 was approximately SDR 69 billion (about $96 billion as of December 31, 2015). After the activation period from October 2014 expired on March 31, 2015, the IMF activated the NAB for two additional six-month periods in 2015, commencing on April 1 and October 1. As of end 2015, the IMF had accessed SDR 6.7 billion (about $9 billion) of the U.S. arrangement under the NAB.

The sum of U.S. resources made available to the IMF under the NAB and GAB cannot exceed the total U.S. NAB participation.

With respect to this account, resources provided by the United States under the GAB and NAB constitute an exchange of monetary assets and do not result in any net budgetary outlays because such transactions result in an equivalent increase in U.S. international reserve assets in the form of an equal, offsetting, interest-bearing claim on the IMF. U.S. claims on the IMF under the GAB and NAB are readily available to meet a U.S. balance-of-payments financing need.

In 2010, G-20 Leaders and the IMF membership decided on a set of quota and governance reforms designed to enhance IMF effectiveness. The United States successfully achieved its negotiating priorities during this process: (1) a U.S. quota increase with a corresponding equivalent rollback in U.S. participation in the IMF's NAB for no change in overall U.S. financial participation in the IMF; and (2) preservation of U.S. veto power in the IMF.

Title IX of The Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2016 (Public Law 114-113) rescinds SDR 40,871,800,000 from U.S. participation in the NAB. The Act also directs that the budget authority and outlays of the NAB rescission be recorded on a present value basis with a fair value premium added to the discount rate. In addition, under the Act, the 2009 NAB increase is also now executed on a present value basis.

For additional information, see the account entitled "Loans to IMF Direct Loan Program Account", which addresses the 2009 appropriation, and for the budgetary treatment of the IMF, including the use of present value, see the Budget Concepts chapter of Analytical Perspectives volume.

At the G-20 Leaders' Summit in London in April 2009, the President secured agreement to expand participation and increase the size of the New Arrangements to Borrow (NAB) by up to $500 billion to restore global confidence and ensure the IMF has adequate resources to play its central role in resolving and preventing the spread of international economic and financial crises. As part of this agreement, the United States committed to increase its participation in the NAB by up to $100 billion, which required congressional action. The Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2009 (Public Law 111–32) provided authorization and appropriations for an increase in the United States participation in the NAB by up to SDR 75 billion. This SDR amount was subject, as a practical matter, to the public commitment to an increase by up to $100 billion. This increase in the U.S. participation in the NAB, equivalent to SDR 62.4 billion, entered into effect on March 11, 2011.

While the U.S. participation in the NAB is not a credit program, the Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2009 (Public Law 111–32), directed the 2009 increase in the U.S. participation in the NAB to be scored on a Federal Credit Reform Act (FCRA) basis, including an adjustment to the discount rate for market risk. The application of FCRA by operation of law to the 2009 NAB appropriation was a significant change in the budgetary treatment of the U.S. participation in the NAB that only applied to the 2009 appropriations. Pursuant to Title IX of The Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2016 (Public Law 114–113), the 2009 direction to apply FCRA rules no longer applies to the 2009 quota appropriation, and the account will be closed in 2016.

For additional information about NAB, see the account entitled "Loans to International Monetary Fund". See also the discussion of the IMF budgetary treatment in the Budget Concepts chapter of the Analytical Perspectives volume.

As directed by the Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2009 (Public Law 111-32), this non-budgetary account recorded all cash flows to and from the Government resulting from the 2009 increase in U.S. participation in the New Arrangements to Borrow (NAB), consistent with Federal Credit Reform Act (FCRA) rules. The amounts in this account are a means of financing and do not affect the deficit and are not included in the budget totals.

While the U.S. participation in the NAB is not a credit program, the Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2009 directed that the 2009 appropriation to increase the U.S. participation in the NAB be scored on a FCRA basis, with an additional adjustment to the discount rate for market risk. The application of FCRA by operation of law to the 2009 NAB appropriation was a significant change in the budgetary treatment of the U.S. participation in the NAB that only applied to the 2009 appropriations. Pursuant to Title IX of The Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2016 (Public Law 114-113), the 2009 direction to apply FCRA rules no longer applies to the 2009 NAB appropriation, and the account will be closed in 2016.

The Special Defense Acquisition Fund (SDAF) helps to better support coalition and other U.S. partners participating in U.S. overseas contingency and other operations; and expedite the procurement of defense articles for provision to foreign nations and international organizations. The FY 2017 request reflects $900 million in new SDAF obligation authority, to be funded by offsetting collections. In FY 2017, offsetting collections will be derived from SDAF sales of stock as well as other receipts consistent with section 51(b) of the Arms Export Control Act. The FY 2017 request will support advance purchases of high-demand equipment that has long procurement lead times, which is often the main limiting factor in our ability to provide coalition partners with critical equipment to make them operationally effective in a timely manner. Improving the mechanism for supporting U.S. partners is a high priority for both the Departments of State and Defense.
