Are you a representative of a State or local unit of government, Indian tribe, public or private nonprofit organization, educational institution, or community development corporation looking for grant assistance to enhance your opportunities for economic development? If so, these regulations of the Economic Development Administration (EDA) of the U.S. Department of Commerce may be of help. These regulations tell you the purpose of EDA and outline the program requirements, project selection process, project evaluation criteria, and other relevant matters. The information in these regulations covers grant programs of EDA that provide financial awards for the following:

- Public Works and Development Facilities;
- Planning;
- Research, Evaluation, Training and Technical Assistance;

(b) What is the Purpose of the Economic Development Administration?

- High unemployment;
- Low income;
- Underemployment;
- Outmigration;
- Sudden economic changes due to the restructuring or relocation of industrial firms;
- Closing or realignment of defense bases or cutbacks in defense procurement;

- Economic impact of natural disasters or other emergencies;
- Actions of the Federal government (such as environmental requirements) that curtail or remove economic activities; and
- Impacts of foreign trade.

(2) The purpose of the Economic Development Administration is to address economic problems affecting economically distressed rural and urban communities; by helping them:

(i) Develop and strengthen their economic development planning and institutional capacity to design and implement business outreach and development programs; and

(ii) Develop or expand public works and other facilities, financing tools, and resources that will create new job opportunities, save existing jobs, retain existing businesses, and support the development of new businesses.

(3) To promote a strong and growing economy throughout the United States, EDA works in partnership with State and local governments, Indian tribes and local, regional, and State public and private nonprofit organizations. With them EDA develops and carries out comprehensive economic development strategies that address the economic problems of distressed communities.
