

Since his return, President Aristide has facilitated this change by preaching a message of reconciliation and peace. The Haitian people are responding. They are rebuilding their lives—not resorting to revenge against their former oppressors. Unlike Somalia, our soldiers are greeted with hugs—not rock throwing mobs.

Our mission to Haiti is one of the great military success stories of our time. Our troops have done a miraculous job. As our troops liberated Dachau and Auschwitz some fifty years ago, tho not as horrific the men and women of our armed forces liberated an island concentration camp in the Carribean.

We have done the right thing in Haiti. You can see it in the neighborhoods, in the schools, you can see it in the churches and most of all you can see it on the smiling faces of the people of Haiti, for they are no longer afraid.

EFFECTS OF THE RESCISSION BILLS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from New York [Mr. NADLER] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I am here today to protest the mean-spirited and draconian rescissions that have been reported out of the Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education and the VA/HUD and Independent Agencies Appropriations Subcommittees.

An excellent statement released yesterday by ACT-UP expresses quite directly the severity of these cuts.

Two House Subcommittees voted to rescind funding for AIDS programs that is already in the pipeline. The VA/HUD Appropriations Subcommittee voted to eliminate all $188 million allocated for HOPWA, the Housing Opportunities for People with AIDS Program, eliminate all 3,000 Section 8 rental assistance vouchers set-aside for HIV-positive people, and cut $2.7 billion in general Section 8 vouchers. The Labor/HHS Appropriations Subcommittee cut $13 million from the Ryan White CARE Act, which pays for medical care and services for people with HIV, and cut $23 million from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's HIV prevention program.

The HUD funding cuts alone mean that New York City will lose $41.7 million, Upstate New York $2.2 million and Long Island $1.2 million. In New York City, 700 units now housing over 1,000 people with AIDS and HIV disease and their family members will be lost.

Mr. Speaker, these severe slashes in housing funding will touch a wide range of American people—families, children, and seniors—but perhaps the most striking examples of heartlessness is putting sick and dying people out on the streets. It is, Mr. Speaker, nothing but immoral. I am absolutely appalled at the insensitivity to human life that I have seen over the past 50 or so days here in the Congress. We must put an end to this slashing and burning of America's middle and low-income people and families, and of the most needy members of our society.

For more than a decade, the devastation of the AIDS pandemic has affected every American community and has touched most Americans in some way personally. AIDS cuts across gender, ethnic, racial, and socio-economic lines. The rate of increased infection is alarming. Ryan White CARE funding is essential for AIDS service providers to keep pace with the pandemic to continue and provide effective and cost-efficient HIV-related medical and social services.

Mr. Speaker, according to a recent and very disturbing, New York Times article, AIDS has become the leading cause of death among all Americans aged 25 to 44. . . this number has surpassed unintentional injury, which dropped to second place in this age group.

Since AIDS was first identified in the early 1980's, more than 440,000 cases have been documented and more than 250,000 AIDS-related deaths have resulted in the United States. More than 1 million people in the United States are believed to be HIV-positive, but have not yet contracted AIDS.

The Congressional district I represent in New York City is among the hardest hit by AIDS. With over 65,000 cases of AIDS—the highest number of any city in the country—in fact, more than 40,000 more cases than the next highest city, New York City has been the city most affected. Additionally, New York State, has approximately 20 percent of the Nation's AIDS cases, 81,386 cases. Ryan White funding is absolutely vital to many New Yorkers living with HIV/AIDS.

But the AIDS crisis goes far beyond New York—Americans in communities across the Nation have felt the effects of AIDS in some way.

Mr. Speaker, the impact of the AIDS epidemic is felt by everyone, from all walks of life. As the number of people living with HIV and AIDS continues to rise and access to private health care remains an obstacle to treatment, Ryan White Comprehensive AIDS Resources Act and Housing Opportunities for People with AIDS funds are more critical than ever. Slashing these programs will interrupt early intervention and health care to thousands of Americans living with AIDS and will merely escalate the pain and suffering that millions of people with AIDS experience.

I call on my good colleagues in Congress to unite against these immoral attacks by the big bad wolf. If we are not careful they will come and huff and puff and blow our houses down. We can not allow our Nation's seniors, children, families and people with AIDS to be put out in the streets.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to take a leadership role and join me in speaking out and working to oppose these Draconian, and mean-spirited cuts.

THE MORAL IMPLICATIONS OF ASSAULT ON AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 4, 1995, the gentleman from New York [Mr. OWENS] is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, all of the members of the Congressional Black Caucus are very concerned about the latest development with respect to an announcement that affirmative action and the elimination of all aspects of affirmative action has been placed on the agenda of the Republican Party.

That concern is expressed in many different ways. Several of my colleagues were here yesterday, and they talked about the details of affirmative action from a very legalistic perspective. Several of them are lawyers and they understand the legal wranglings related to affirmative action, some are very familiar with the history of affirmative action laws, and they gave an interesting and useful background on affirmative action.

They make their contribution in their way, and I am, on the other hand, concerned about affirmative action from another point of view, the moral implications of the assault on affirmative action that is being projected by the Republican Party, by their leadership.

I am concerned about the fact that when you couple an assault on affirmative action with the nastier parts of the Contract With America, and the Contract With America is just beginning to manifest itself in all of its barbarity, and I use that word deliberately, because the aspects of the Contract With America which are going forward now have to do with taking school lunch programs away, limiting school lunch programs, and denying the entitlement to a free lunch to children in need.
