

New York, the Senator from New Mexico, and others.

There will be some amendments. Some of them, as my colleagues know, I support. The statute of limitations, I support that. My colleague from New York wants that. I wanted to keep that in the bill.

We will be together on a few of these things. When we deal with the legislative process, it is darn near impossible to strike that perfect balance all the time.

The Senator from Maryland is correct. Anyone who sits here and says with absolute certainty they know what will happen as a result of legislation they pass, has not been here very long, or never been in the legislative process. We know the system is not working well. We are trying to correct it.

Obviously, how the markets respond, what happens down the road in many ways, we will have to deal with as it occurs. Maybe we have not gone far enough. Maybe we have gone far in some areas.

No one here claims perfection. Clearly, we need to address a present situation that is not working. My hope and desire over the next 2 or 3 days, we have the four, five, six amendments that I think we will have, that possibly we can address some of these issues, modify the bill if that is necessary, in a few areas to accommodate some of these interests, but move the process along so we have a chance to address the underlying concerns people have raised about the present situation.

I thank my colleague for listening. I yield the floor.
