

majority leader. The majority leader, BOB DOLE, is to be commended for his leadership. Once again, Senator DOLE has delivered for the American people. I personally express my gratitude to our distinguished majority leader.

I also want to acknowledge the work of Chairman HENRY HYDE over in the House, and my fellow conferees, Senators THURMOND, SIMPSON, BIDEN, and KENNEDY. Senators NICKLES and INHOFE deserve mention, too, because they never let this institution forget who this bill was for. All of the survivors from the Oklahoma tragedy and the Pan Am disaster were critical to this bill's passage. So they all deserve our thanks.

I want to mention a few of the other people who worked on this bill, as well—in particular, the staffers who worked long hours out of deep commitment to public service. Jeanne Lapatto, Christina Rios, Nick Altree, Mike Ashburn, John Gibbons, and Ed Richards were invaluable. Ashley Disque—a young woman who came to the committee as an L.C. and has not looked back—epitomized initiative. Mike Kennedy, an attorney who is going to go places, in my opinion, worked around the clock. Finally, I want to commend Mike O'Neill, our crime counsel. Mike is going to be leaving here in a few weeks to clerk for Justice Thomas over at the Supreme Court. Our loss is the Supreme Court's gain. Quite simply, Mike O'Neill, more than any other staffer, made this bill happen. Manus Cooney, our committee staff director and senior counsel is also to be commended.

Some of Senator BIDEN's staff should be mentioned as well—Demetra Lambros and Chris Putala are true professionals. Also, I would like to thank Valerie Flappan of the legislative counsel's office.

I also want to compliment the other House conferees and, in particular, Congressmen HYDE, MCCOLLUM, SCHIFF, BUYER, and especially BOB BARR from Georgia, who worked very hard on this bill and has provided an awful lot of input on this bill. Another staffer who should be mentioned here is Pat Murray, HENRY HYDE's able and dedicated counsel who, in working with our staff, helped craft a true terrorism bill. Paul McNulty also deserves credit. There are so many others I would like to commend at this point. But I will end at this point and thank all of these good people for the good work they have done.

I pay respect to my distinguished colleague, the minority leader on the Judiciary Committee. He is a tough, tough opponent. He is a very good advocate. It is one of the privileges in my life to be able to work with him on the Judiciary Committee and to be able to have this type of a relationship, and still to occasionally fight each other on the floor and, hopefully, walk away still friends.

In particular, I want to make all those congratulations.

I yield the floor.

HISTORIC 70 WINS FOR THE CHICAGO BULLS

Mr. SIMON. Mr. President, Senators often make statements on the floor to inform the Senate and the Nation about the accomplishments of their constituents, and today I wish to acknowledge some folks back in Illinois who have achieved a historic feat unequaled by their peers. My colleagues may be familiar with this group of Chicagoans. I am speaking of the Chicago Bulls, who last night defeated the Milwaukee Bucks in a hard-fought, 86 to 80 game, to become the first National Basketball Association [NBA] team to win 70 games in a season.

In the nearly 50-year history of the NBA, 70 wins has been a mythical, seemingly unattainable goal. The 1971-72 Los Angeles Lakers came close with 69 wins, but now the Bulls have secured their place in the history books with 70, and with 3 games left in the season, that record could be higher.

Of course this achievement would not have been possible without the return of Michael Jordan, unarguably the game's greatest player ever. But we cannot overlook the efforts of his star teammates, from Scottie Pippen, Toni Kukoc, and Dennis Rodman, to the less publicized but invaluable players like Ron Harper, Luc Longley, Steve Kerr, and Bill Wennington, to name just a few. The talent of individuals however can only take you so far. A true champion needs a great leader, and coach Phil Jackson has fulfilled that role throughout his career, having guided the Bulls to three previous championships.

Should the Bulls go on to win the championship in June—their fourth of the decade—there is little doubt that they would be considered the greatest team in the history of professional basketball. I am proud to represent this group of individuals and congratulate them on their unprecedented accomplishment. I wish them the best of luck as they head into the playoffs.

CHICAGO BULLS WIN 70 GAMES

Ms. MOSELEY-BRAUN. Mr. President, I want to take this opportunity to commemorate a historic moment for the city of Chicago and the State of Illinois. Over the years, the members of this greatest deliberative body have engaged in some of the most compelling debates the world has ever heard: issues of States' rights, war and peace, and individual liberty. But as of last evening, one debate need no longer be considered: which is the greatest NBA team of all time, at least through the regular season. By recording their unprecedented 70th win of the regular season, the 1995-96 Chicago Bulls are one of the best teams of all time, and when they go on to secure an NBA championship, they will be without question, the greatest team in the history of professional basketball.

In the 49-year history of the National Basketball Association, no team has won 70 games in one season until the Chicago Bulls accomplished that remarkable feat—I am sad to say to my dear friend and colleague from Wisconsin, Senator KOHL—by defeating the Milwaukee Bucks last night 86 to 80. By winning their 70th game in 79 tries, the Bulls eclipsed a 24-year-old record set by the Los Angeles Lakers and now stand alone on the other side of what once was considered an impregnable barrier.

This year's Bulls team has elevated itself to an elite level in the history of sports. This team deserves to be ranked on the same level as the 1927 New York Yankees, the 1972 Miami Dolphins, and the 1977 Montreal Canadiens—all teams that embodied perfection in sports. It might also be noted that with this 70th win, Chicago now holds the distinguished honor of having or sharing three of the four major sports records for most wins in a regular season—the 1906 Cubs in baseball, 116 wins, the 1985 Bears in football, 15 wins and now, the Chicago Bulls. I know I speak for Bulls fans across the country in saying that we are energized and excited by the zealous pursuit of victory exhibited by our team this year.

It is no coincidence that the greatest team of all time is being propelled by the greatest player of all time—Michael Jordan. Michael Jordan has a combination of power and panache unmatched in the history of the NBA. He refuses to lose and his competitive nature, floor leadership, and will to win lifts the playing level of all those around him.

Mr. President, we all know that in team sports, true greatness cannot be achieved alone. Michael Jordan is surrounded by outstanding players in their own right—Scottie Pippen, Dennis Rodman, Toni Kukoc, and the rest of the lineup. Coach Phil Jackson has been able to skillfully mesh all the personalities of this team into an extraordinary combination of teamwork and individual achievement. The result is the 70-win accomplishment that has eluded basketball's best players and teams for decades.
