

make sure that this awful, awful tragedy does not go totally without anyone paying a price and they want to do that.

Yet, for them to come to Colorado is expensive for them, to stay in Colorado is expensive. The amazing thing that has been happening in Colorado is, as we hear these stories, the number of people, churches, community centers and everyone that have said we will open our doors. People can stay here. We will try and help fund folks who want to come and be here to help them through this grieving period and to try and make sure that they can witness this system that we call justice and we hope ends up being that I think is very moving.

So the saga of what Oklahoma City has done for Americans continues. It continues in my district by people continuing to reach out and try to help those who were struggling to deal with this as we are all struggling to deal in our own way with this. But I must say we also need to not only just tend to the wounds that came. Let us look at what caused those wounds to come, and it is the cynicism that has been unleashed in an unchecked manner in this country. Until we get that cynicism under control, there are no guarantees that this cannot happen again.

So, yes, continue to reach out, but also I hope everybody starts looking into what they have been doing and have they been contributing to the cynicism or have they been really trying to get on to constructive criticism. There is a huge difference between those two things. Somehow I think in the 1990's we forgot that distinction. Let us revitalize it.
