DIANNA FROBEL LeGRAND SMITH
SCHOLARSHIP WINNER

HON. NICK SMITH
OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 10, 1996

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, let it be known that is with great respect for the outstanding record of excellence she has compiled in academics, leadership, and community service, that I am proud to salute Dianna Frobela, winner of the 1996 LeGrand Smith Scholarship. This award is made to young adults who have demonstrated that they are truly committed to playing important roles in our Nation's future.

As a winner of the LeGrand Smith Scholarship, Dianna is being honored for demonstrating that same generosity of spirit, intelligence, responsible citizenship, and capacity for human service that distinguished the late LeGrand Smith of Somerset, MI.

Dianna Frobela is an exceptional student at Reading High School and possesses an impressive high school record. Dianna was the president of the National Honor Society and has earned the DAR Good Citizen Award, and was listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students." She was the senior class vice-president, and the quizbowl captain. She has been involved with SADD and has spent much of her time volunteering for a variety of other local activities.

In special tribute, therefore, I am proud to join with her many admirers in extending my highest praise and congratulations to Dianna Frobela for her selection as a winner of a LeGrand Smith Scholarship. This honor is also a testament to the parents, teachers, and others whose personal interest, strong support, and active participation contributed to her success. To this remarkable young woman, I extend my most heartfelt good wishes for all her future endeavors.

TRIBUTE HONORING BRUSHPRIDE
DAY

HON. PAUL E. GILLMOR
OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 10, 1996

Mr. GILLMOR. Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pleasure to rise today and bring attention to a civic event being held in Elmore, OH, on June 13. This is the 10th annual BrushPride Day sponsored by the Brush Wellman Corp. The theme for this year's event is "BrushPride—Community Wide."

This Ohio company and its subsidiaries supply worldwide markets with beryllium products, alloy products, ceramic products, precious metal products, and speciality metal systems. As their mission statement so aptly states:

We are committed to on time delivery of defect free competitive products and services to all of our customers by always performing to requirements.

The company is not only a world class performer on the international stage, but a model citizen in its own community.

BrushWellman is a company renowned for its civic pride and commitment to service. This year's event will highlight the good works BrushWellman employees contribute to their community. Anniversaries are a time to reflect upon a steadfast tradition of service. The 10th annual BrushPride Day is also a time to look toward new horizons. BrushWellman employees have made it their responsibility to serve those in need by keeping pace with the ever increasing challenges facing mankind.

Mr. Speaker, it is obvious that Ohio has greatly benefited from the efforts of the employees of BrushWellman. I ask my colleagues to join me today in recognizing the achievements of these dedicated achievers and encourage them to continue to uphold what has become the standard for excellence in Ohio.

WES PRUDEN ON A HERO FROM KANSAS

HON. ROBERT K. DORNAN
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 10, 1996

Mr. DORNAN. Mr. Speaker, I commend the following editorial to my colleagues. Wes Pruden always seems to hit the mark.

[From the Washington Times, May 9, 1996]
SOMEWHERE THERE'S A HERO FROM KANSAS
(By Wesley Pruden)

Now that someone from Kansas has to stand up to the wizard behind the curtain, where's Dorothy?

The wizard, without even popping a sweat, has sent the Republicans into a tailspin a lot like the crash of George Bush in 1992, when his eye-popping poll numbers fell from 92 percent in the wake of the war in the Gulf to 38 percent in the ruins of November.

One loud "boo!" from the nation's most famous draft dodger and the entire regiment of Republicans who only yesterday imagined they should be posing for recruiting posters, went flying for cover, crawling up under the nearest front porch to hide with the dogs. Bill Clinton, who's never met a woman he didn't run after or a man he didn't run from, was the most astonished pol in town.

When the president found someone to throw the first punch at New Gingrich, he never imagined that nobody would strike back. When he found someone to throw the second punch, he never imagined that the Republicans themselves would join in piling on.

The campaign to demonize the speaker was simple and brutish: Throw out lies and distortions and scream even louder when the Republicans fire back. The lies got louder, but the Republicans never fired back.

The speaker's aims were not radical, unless most of us are radical: Cut down the size of government, shrink the budget on which big government feeds, crack down on criminals, throttle welfare cheaters, strengthen the military, roll back the regulatory bureaucracy, cut the throat of the trial-lawyer lobby before everyone but the lawyers are bankrupt, limit the terms of congressmen so they can return home to productive jobs, take the necessary steps to preserve the medical-care safety net—and cut taxes. Some radicalism.

So radical, in fact, that President Clinton adopted most of these goals himself, beginning with his assertion that "the era of big government is over." None of his own troops, liberals all, believe he really means it. Sen. Bob Kerrey of Nebraska, the Vietnam war hero whose contempt for the organizer of Vietnam anti-war rallies is obvious, calls him "an accomplished liar," and in this case the president's big-government allies feel reassured.

Some the speaker's erstwhile allies in the bravura of the morning after the November '94 blowout likened their mighty victory to the D-Day landings at Normandy. The analogy, for a bunch of guys who mostly spent the Vietnam war at the Student Union, sounded a little farfetched to some aging ears, but if some of these warriors had been barreling across France in the summer of '44 they would have braked cold on hearing Axis Sally's first diatribe against that ol' meanie Georgie Patton, and looked for a barn to hide in. Second Lt. Al D'Amato would have wanted the Germans to understand that he never really liked that Patton fella, anyway.

Who can be surprised that the clouds of pink and baby blue floating over the White House are made of gauze and giddiness? Bill Clinton hasn't had a stroke of luck like the Republican collapse since Monroe Schwarzklose, a turkey farmer so obscure that even Mrs. Schwarzklose wasn't sure who he was, turned up as his only serious opponent in a Democratic gubernatorial primary back home. (Mr. Clinton won, but not by much.)

The moral is that the Republicans can make a race of it in '96, too, if they can figure out which end of the gun you shoot with, and how to tell a foot from foe.

For weeks everyone in Washington was trying to figure out whether Bob Dole was asleep, or merely dead, and now they're trying to figure out whether Al D'Amato is the hit man from Cleveland, dispatched by Mr. Dole, or whether he's just a slap-happy, showing off.

What the Republicans seem to have lost sight of—and Bill Clinton hasn't—is that the conservative tide is still running, and gaining momentum. The great risk to Republican fortunes is that the voters will conclude that the Grand Old Partypoopers never had the convictions it seemed to have the courage of only a few months ago. Bill Clinton has no convictions, either, but he knows better than anyone else how to fake it.

Mike McCurry, his press agent, remarked yesterday that the pendulum measuring the Clinton fortunes is groaning against the rope, close to reaching its apogee. Soon everything that has been breaking in the president's favor may begin breaking the other way.
