

have our embassy located in its capital, except Israel. How can America claim support for Israel, and support for its sovereignty over Jerusalem, and not have our embassy located there?

As the peace process continues, it will be important for the Palestinian Authority and Israel to know where America stands. Mr. Speaker, Jerusalem is not negotiable. As Israel's closest ally, the United States has the responsibility to defend the permanent status of Jerusalem as the capital of Israel.

Most Members of Congress support Israel's right to exist, and most recognize that Jerusalem is its capital. Therefore, it is time not only to express our support for Israel, but to prove it by moving our Embassy to Jerusalem.

Mr. Speaker, this week Congress celebrated the 30th anniversary of the Six Days War. Israel was attacked by its neighbors on all sides. Yet, Israel's will to survive and establish itself as a young nation ruled the day. Now, 30 years later the time has come for America to recognize Israeli accomplishments and celebrate these accomplishments by declaring Jerusalem the true capital of Israel.

On this historic occasion, I feel America has the opportunity to send a clear message to Israel, and her new found friends in the Middle East, as well as her enemies, that we will always support Jerusalem as the proper capital of Israel, and will prove our support by moving our embassy there by 1999.

DANKE SCHOEN, HERR KRAFFT

HON. JAMES A. BARCIA

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 12, 1997

Mr. BARCIA. Mr. Speaker, in our lifetimes we have the privilege to meet some wonderfully unique and outstanding people. My wife, Vicki, and I have had that special pleasure in getting to know a fine gentleman who is an entrepreneur, a community leader, and an exemplary family man. Mr. Richard Krafft, Jr., of Frankenmuth, MI, is being honored next Tuesday for his 50 years of effort at Star of the West Milling Co., one of the finest operations in our great State. Forty-four of the years have been as the general manager or president.

During this time, Dick Krafft has seen great developments in the agricultural industry of our State. He has been a member and past president of the Michigan Bean Shippers Association, the Michigan Miller's Association, and the Michigan Feed and Grain Dealers Association. He has also been a member and past chairman of the Millers National Federation.

His business experiences have been tremendously varied as he has served on the boards of Michigan Millers Mutual Insurance Co., Monitor Sugar Co., St. Luke's Hospital Foundation, Saginaw Valley State University, and First of America Bank. If anyone has ever done business in Frankenmuth, they have without doubt dealt with Dick Krafft.

And his concern for his community led him to service on the city council for 28 years, plus 8 years as mayor pro-tem and 6 years as the mayor of Frankenmuth, a wonderful community known for its proud German heritage and its spirit of "Gemuetlichkeit"—welcome and happiness. He has also been a member and past president of the Frankenmuth Lions Club, the Frankenmuth Civic Events Council, and the Frankenmuth Chamber of Commerce.

While bringing Star of the West from a small mill to the 20th largest in the Nation today, he has held on to a strong sense of family. He and his wife Mary Ann have been married for a little over 46 years, and are the proud parents of three sons, Mike, Chuck, and John, and the grandparents of five grandchildren.

Mr. Speaker, if we want to see someone who represents an ideal American, an individual who has a devotion to family, community, and commerce, we need look no further than Richard Krafft, Jr. I urge you and all of our colleagues to join me in wishing him the happiest of retirements, and many fruitful challenges in the years to come.

STATEMENTS BY NEAL GAY AND ROBERT BURKE, CHAMPLAIN VALLEY UNION HIGH SCHOOL, REGARDING SCHOOL CHOICE

HON. BERNARD SANDERS

OF VERMONT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 12, 1997

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Speaker, for the benefit of my colleagues I would like to have printed in the RECORD this statement by high school students from Champlain Valley High School in Vermont, who were speaking at my recent town meeting on issues facing young people.

Mr. GAY. We are here today to discuss the benefit of school choice. We believe it is essential in a competitive world to have thoughtful, intelligent people. Granted, there are always winners and losers when competition is at hand, but that isn't to say that everyone cannot come out on top.

The world is competitive; that we have established, and that is why school choice is absolutely necessary in an ever-changing democracy. Would not a true democracy embrace the true individual's right to determining their own future?

If a student excels and finds joy in the vastness of literature, then the student shouldn't be restrained. If the student wishes and dreams in the analytical field of mathematics, the student shouldn't be shackled with other burdens.

This is not to say that all liberal arts obligations should be ignored. Students should still be held to the absolute highest standards. A well-rounded education should remain required as it contributes to the student's overall learning. What it boils down to is the intrinsic need to better ourselves.

If that student who loves literature sees that her school has no advanced placement English class, why cannot she take it somewhere else?

See, we do not propose that students should be allowed to puddle jump between schools. We ask that the student find the school that best suits their needs and take all of the classes within that school's walls. We propose that a federal grant be issued to the State of Vermont allowing schools to bask in the freedom of school choice. Schools need to produce the absolute highest quality caliber of students for the betterment of our society as a whole.

See, here is where it gets kind of tricky because we think that a lottery could be instilled making it fair to all students who feel that their school can suit their needs and to get to this lottery a lot of kids could say I do not like my school, I want to go somewhere else, but that is where an application process would be brought forth because the student would have to have a need. Like I go to CVU and to graduate from CVU you have to do a graduation challenge. So the sole reason for a student to want BHS instead of CVU shouldn't be because I just do not want to take the challenge.

Mr. BURKE. The grant would be used to support a study and to make changes based on the study's outcome. We cannot stress the point enough that we live in a competitive place. Competition doesn't mean that there are winners and losers; it gives a chance for everyone to do better.

Mr. GAY. We aren't proposing that the parents get a check for $6,000; that is what the other group proposed, something along the lines of that. We are proposing the student picks the school that best suits their need that is a public school because as they said, there is a separation between church and state. The federal grant comes into play because the federal grant would be given to the schools that have the highest caliber of classes and the highest amount of students leaving the loser schools is the easy way to phrase that and the loser schools would get the grant to become winner schools. That is why no one comes out on top. Poor schools would take the money to become the best schools.

I take pretty much anywhere from mild to hard classes, I excel more in literature and not all that much in math, and I think I would be better educated at a different school that would offer more perhaps history courses. We have essentially four history courses at my school and we never discuss, we never seem to discuss other parts of the world; essentially, it is all western philosophy courses, and I think I could do better somewhere else.

But I think overall in a public system there has to be the best and the worse have to come together so where we are it is pretty good, but I have heard concerns from other students here today and it sounds like maybe we are pampered where I go to school. CVU is a pretty rich school; we have resources and a lot of them.

I think it could be better. I think when it comes to education you always have to strive to do better because the future of this entire country and the future of preserving democracy depends on a group of intelligent people and you have to maintain that.

Mr. BURKE. I am the opposite of Neal, I excel in math and not so well in literature. I feel I could do better because we do not really have any type of like accelerated program at CVU. Most of the mathematics department, if you do really well in one class you still have to be there for the full time you take the course even if you might be accelerated enough that you could take it in less time or maybe a school that offers more courses in math, not just the basic languages.

Mr. GAY. We are not a part of the educational process at CVU. To do that you have to be either—I think it is you have to be an elected official and at CVU the elected officials are essentially the same people that are on HS and all those higher track programs. I vent my frustrations toward my own school, I write for the ed section of the Burlington Free Press. I use that as my own stomping grounds to perhaps lock my opinions because I am not that well heard as a member of the student government. Seeing that it is our education and I think a lot of the time parents do not always know best, so I think the students should play a more active role in the hiring of teachers and perhaps the firing of teachers.

Mr. BURKE. I feel the same way as far as if the students had a say. I believe right now there are one or two students involved with the actual planning of curriculum and stuff and the way courses are, but they do not have much say because they are students.

Mr. GAY. Thank you for hearing our concerns, Congressman Sanders.

TRIBUTE TO MARCIA NELSON

HON. MICHAEL PAPPAS

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 12, 1997

Mr. PAPPAS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to acknowledge Marcia Nelson, a constituent of mine who has been an outstanding member of her community for a number of years. Soon, Marcia will leave New Jersey and head west to settle in Kansas City.

In today's society, community involvement is of extreme importance, but rarely is given ample recognition. Sometimes we take for granted the special individuals who devote their lives to the advancement of those around them. A community is shared by a group of people who each contribute in their own way. Many individuals involve themselves in one aspect of the community, but we must applaud those who go beyond this by serving many of its facets.

Marcia Nelson, a former mayor of Delaware Township, has served the community in political, educational, and social roles. Since 1989, she has committed herself to this community and its progress. She served for 8 years as the executive secretary of the Delaware Township Municipal Utilities Authority and for 6 years as a member of the township committee. She served as an educator of mathematics and acted as a research assistant for a variety of community organizations. She was an active fundraiser for her local high school and developed many programs for educational improvements. These activities in addition to many others have formed a contribution which will not soon be forgotten.

Marcia's efforts are deeply appreciated by her entire community. She has served as a role model and mentor to many of its citizens. It is for this, Mr. Speaker, that I applaud her efforts. Marcia Nelson represents the community involvement which we do not praise enough. The example which she has set is the gateway to bettering our community in the 12th district of New Jersey.

I want to wish Marcia and her husband Bob well. New Jersey will miss them both.

INTRODUCTION OF THE HOME TELECOMMUTER TAX POLICY ACT OF 1997

HON. DAVID E. PRICE

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 12, 1997

Mr. PRICE of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I am introducing legislation today to help a growing segment of our work force—telecommuters. This legislation supports new flexibility in the workplace by providing tax incentives for telecommuters. Specifically, this bill allows employees to deduct employer-provided telephone lines for telecommuting purposes.

The Fourth District of North Carolina includes Research Triangle Park, a hotbed of economic, business, and intellectual development. In my visits to RTP companies, management and employees alike have expressed their support for telecommuting. As more families rely on two incomes to make ends meet and as technology continues to allow more creative work environments, telecommuting is quickly becoming a more popular and more viable work option for working families. In addition, studies have shown that telecommuting employees record fewer sick days and demonstrate increased work satisfaction, two factors that contribute to higher worker productivity.

Under current law, employers can provide additional telephone lines to employees who telecommute, but these benefits are considered taxable income to the worker. My bill would create another category under the "qualified transportation fringe", a provision in the Tax Code that allows employers to provide incentives for carpooling and mass transit. This new transportation fringe would allow employers to provide up to $60 per month in tax-exempt telecommuting benefits, most notably an additional telephone line. Telecommuting is simply another form of environmentally friendly transportation to work, and our Tax Code should reflect these priorities.

My bill would give families more control over their work, increase worker productivity for participating businesses and encourage environmentally friendly work patterns. Passage of this bill would give working families another tool to help with their balancing act between family and career. I urge my colleagues to co-sponsor the Home Telecommuter Tax Policy Act.

TRIBUTE TO MINNIE COX

HON. BENNIE G. THOMPSON

OF MISSISSIPPI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 12, 1997

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the late Mrs. Minnie Cox. Mrs. Cox was one of only five African-Americans in Mississippi to supervise a third-class postal facility.

In 1891, Mrs. Cox, was appointed Postmistress of the Indianola Post Office in Indianola, MI, by President Benjamin Harrison. Mrs. Cox served at this position until 1893, only later to regain the post in 1897. Being a person of color, Mrs. Cox's appointment was followed by scrutiny and criticisms not because of her performance, but because of the color of her skin. Mrs. Cox dedicated her life to making sure that the people in Indianola received their mail on a timely basis. She worked 7 days a week and she even paid the rent for delinquent boxes to avoid harassment of her customers.

Mrs. Cox held this position during a time when it was not popular to have African-Americans in an authoritative position. She was an educated, aspiring, and inspiring woman during her time. Along with being a Postmistress, Mrs. Cox and her husband started one of the first African-American-owned banks in the Mississippi Delta as well as one of the first African-American-owned insurance agencies in the South. In 1904, the Cox's organized the Delta Penn Savings Bank. Four years later, the couple organized the Mississippi Beneficial Insurance Co., which had an income of more than $500,000 and a staff of 400 employees. During the 1910's and 1920's, she was reputed to be one of the richest African-American women in the world.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you to join me in saluting Mrs. Cox for her courage to take her place in society as a trailblazer and role model for many future generations of African-Americans.

BUILDING A MARITIME TEAM

HON. CHET EDWARDS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 12, 1997

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. Speaker, in my role as an administrative cochair of the bipartisan National Security Caucus, I had the honor of participating in a very special awards luncheon last week. I was joined by the House Democratic Leader, Congressman RICHARD GEPHARDT, and my fellow Caucus cochair, Congressman RANDY "DUKE" CUNNINGHAM, in presenting the 1997 International Security Leadership Award to U.S. Secretary of the Navy John H. Dalton.

The luncheon was attended by over 200 representatives of the national security community, and the establishment of a John H. Dalton Congressional Fellowship in Maritime Strategy Studies was also announced. The International Security Leadership Award has been presented to only one individual each year since 1979, and all of the past recipients have made significant contributions to the national security interests of the United States. Past honorees include President George Bush, Secretary of Defense William Perry, Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick, and Senator John C. Stennis. John Dalton is a worthy addition to the distinguished list.

The award was presented to Secretary Dalton " * * * in recognition of his leadership, courage and vision in promoting American sea power and a national maritime strategy. The outstanding performance of the U.S. Navy from the Caribbean to the Persian Gulf, in missions as diverse as evacuating non-combatants to enforcing no-fly zones, is a tribute to Secretary Dalton's tremendous dedication and distinguished service to the Navy and Marine Corps and to the nation they serve." The award was conferred on Secretary Dalton on behalf of the 290 lawmakers in the bipartisan National Security Caucus.

As someone who has the privilege of knowing John Dalton for more than 20 years, I want to once again emphasize how deserving I feel he is of this honor for his fine work as Secretary of the Navy. The Secretary's remarks at the presentation ceremony described in considerable detail some of the tremendous work he has done to make our Navy more effective and efficient. Also, Mr. GEPHARDT's introductory comments lucidly describe why Secretary Dalton is so deserving of his award. I ask unanimous consent to have both Mr. GEPHARDT's and Secretary Dalton's remarks entered in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

STATEMENT OF HOUSE DEMOCRATIC LEADER RICHARD A. GEPHARDT—PRESENTATION OF THE INTERNATIONAL SECURITY LEADERSHIP AWARD TO NAVY SECRETARY JOHN DALTON

I am pleased to join you today to give tribute to Secretary of the Navy John Dalton. I
