

Mr. Speaker, this is a pretty sad commentary on the current state of the IRS.

We now have a unique opportunity, and in fact an obligation, to begin a serious national debate on how best to fundamentally reform our Nation's broken tax system. It is a system where we spend simply too much time filling out too much paperwork to send too much money to Washington.

Under the current tax code the Federal Government simply has too much power and control over peoples' lives.

Since the income tax was first established, politicians have talked about reforming, fixing, or replacing the system, only to end up making it more unfair, more complex, and more intrusive. The New York Times, in a 1909 editorial opposing the very first income tax, predicted, "When men get in the habit of helping themselves to the property of others, they cannot easily be cured of it."

Eighty-eight years later, this prediction has proven disturbingly true. For the time being, however, let us implement the reforms included in the IRS Customer Service Improvement Act as we move toward further discussions over replacing the current Tax Code.

THE ISSUE OF PARTIAL-BIRTH ABORTION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 7, 1997, the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. NEUMANN] is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. NEUMANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise this evening to speak about a topic I do not want to generally talk about on the floor. And to my colleagues who follow C-SPAN on the afterhours quite regularly, I have never spoken on this particular topic before, and frankly, I would rather not speak on the topic, because I do not think we should even be talking about this topic in the U.S. of America. It should be an issue that was dealt with a long time ago. It should be an issue we do not even need to talk about, because it is so simple and straightforward in terms of how wrong it is.

Two years ago, three years ago, when the good people from southeastern Wisconsin elected me to this office and gave me the privilege of serving here in the U.S. House of Representatives, one of the first things that happened out here in Washington, as I swore to uphold the Constitution of the United States of America, part of that Constitution guarantees life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness to every American citizen.

When I think about the topic, and we dealt with this here in the House today, and it is the reason for being here this evening to talk about it, when I think about this issue and how it relates to our Constitution, and equally more important is how it relates to the moral values in the United States of America, and how we could let this continue in this great Nation we live in.

So I rise tonight to speak on partial-birth abortions, and I am going to spend a portion of the hour allocated here this evening on this topic. Again, it is a topic that I would rather not talk about, because I do not think the issue should even be discussed. It should very simply be solved. There should be no partial-birth abortions in the United States of America, or in any civilized society.

I think one thing that happens in our society is we take very difficult topics and we say they should be shoved under the rug. We would rather not see them and not know them, because if we do not know them, we do not have to be upset about them.

To be perfectly honest, when I was sworn in 2 years ago, I had no idea that partial-birth or live birth abortions were going on in this great Nation we live in. Some people gradually from the pro-life community forced me to focus on this particular topic. They forced me to focus on what a partial-birth or live birth abortion actually was.

What happened to me as I learned about this topic and learned what was actually happening is it became harder and harder and harder to not specifically address the topic, because it is so wrong. We cannot turn our backs on it. It does not go away by hiding the fact. It is an issue. It is a fact that partial birth or live birth abortions are going on in the United States of America today.

I have to say that if this was done to a dog or if it was done to an animal, the Humane Society, the people that protest these sorts of things, they would be standing out on the Capitol steps today protesting that this was being done to animals. Yet, we continue to do it in America to live babies.

I want to describe what a partial-birth abortion is. I want to show Members just how outrageous this process is. Again, I know most people in America do not want to know about it. They cannot believe this sort of thing is going on thousands of times in the United States of America each year. I think it is important, and it is something we as a society cannot turn our backs on.

What happens in a partial-birth abortion is a doctor takes a forceps and reaches into the womb of a pregnant woman. He finds the leg of the baby or the ankle of the baby, and he literally pulls the ankles and arms of the baby out of the woman.

At this point, with the ankle and the arms actually out of the woman and the legs moving around, the doctor sticks a scissors or a forceps in the back of the head of the baby, so just before the head is delivered the baby is killed. That is what a partial-birth abortion is. I have to tell the Members, back home when I talk about this topic, the room gets dead silent. Any time I am in a room talking about it there is dead silence, because people do not want to talk about it.

What is really amazing to me is they call me radical. I am willing to say we should end this practice in the United States of America. I am the one they call radical because I say this is wrong. Killing a baby whose arms and legs are moving around, putting a scissors in the back of the head of that child, makes me radical when I say that practice should be stopped? What kind of a Nation is it that we live in that would consider my position on this, that this practice should be stopped today, as radical, and the people that say it is OK if we go ahead and do this, for whatever excuse they want to, those are the normal people in this country? Wrong. Those are the radical people in this country.

It is about time it was brought to the attention of the American people just exactly what is going on in a partial-birth abortion or live birth abortion, and the process should be banned. I would like to bring folks up to speed on what is happening on this particular issue.

We have brought a bill to the floor of the House of Representatives to ban this outrageous practice. As a matter of fact, in the House of Representatives we have from the State of Wisconsin nine elected Representatives here in the House. Some are Democrats, some are Republicans, some are pro-choice, some are pro-life.

All nine elected Members from the House of Representatives from the State of Wisconsin voted to end this practice. Whether we were pro-life or pro-choice, wherever they are on that particular discussion, they all understand that this topic is far beyond normal, and it should be ended immediately, and all nine of us voted the same way on this issue again today.

As a matter of fact, in the House of Representatives 297 out of 435 of us looked at this picture and said this is outrageous. I know there are some others over there who said, well, we probably should end it in most cases but maybe sometimes it is all right.

And again the bill did make the exception for the life of the mother, but they want to add things like the
