EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

THE DANTE B. FASCELL NORTH-SOUTH CENTER

HON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN
OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, today Representative LEE HAMILTON and I are introducing H.R. 4757, to honor our esteemed former colleague, the former Chairman of the International Relations Committee Dante Fascell.

This bill will rename the educational institution known as the North/South Center, as the Dante B. Fascell North-South Center.

Chairman Dante Fascell was responsible for establishing this Center in 1991 to promote better relations between the United States and the nations of Latin America and the Caribbean and Canada through cooperative study training and research. Today, we recognize the significant contribution Dante Fascell has made to U.S.—Latin American relations and indeed to so many other aspects of our foreign policy. He was dedicated legislator and statesman. It is a privilege to sponsor this measure to provide a modest means of recognizing a truly great American.

Accordingly, I urge my colleagues to fully support this measure.

H.R. 4757

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION OF NORTH-SOUTH CENTER AS THE DANTE B. FASCELL NORTH-SOUTH CENTER.

Section 208 of the Foreign Relations Authorization Act, Fiscal Years 1992 and 1993 (22 U.S.C. 2075) is amended—

(1) by striking subsection (a) and inserting the following:

"(a) Short Title.—This section may be cited as the "Dante B. Fascell North-South Center Act of 1991";

(2) in subsection (c)—

(A) by inserting "known as the North/South Center," and inserting which shall be known as the Dante B. Fascell North-South Center;

(B) by striking "known as the North/South Center,"; and

(3) in subsection (d) by striking "North/South Center," and inserting Dante B. Fascell North-South Center."

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

(a) Center.—Any reference in any other provision of law to the educational institution in Florida known as the North/South Center shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Dante B. Fascell North-South Center".

(b) Short Title.—Any reference in any other provision of law to the North/South Center Act of 1991 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Dante B. Fascell North/South Center Act of 1991".

AUTHORIZING THE COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY TO INVESTIGATE WHETHER SUFFICIENT GROUNDS EXIST FOR THE IMPEACHMENT OF WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

SPEECH OF

HON. LOIS CAPPS
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 8, 1998

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of beginning a fair and focused impeachment inquiry. I will—as every member of the House should—cast a vote of conscience on this grave Constitutional matter.

Let me be clear. I have been appalled by the President's behavior in this matter. His affair with Monica Lewinsky was reckless and reprehensible. Lying to his family and the American people about it was outrageous. He has tarnished the office of the Presidency and his own positive record of accomplishment. President Clinton must be held accountable.

The question before us today is not whether or nor there will be an inquiry. The question before us is what kind of inquiry will there be. I support what the American people are calling for—an expeditious impeachment inquiry that will allow our country to being this issue to a close and to move on. I cannot in good conscience support an endless series of unfocused hearings that may distract Congress from dealing with the important issues facing the nation.

Of course, if the House is presented with further allegations from the Independent Counsel, the Judiciary Committee can examine them as well.

But today the House should take a step toward completing this inquiry—fairly, thoroughly and quickly. There is no reason we cannot finish this by the end of the year.

Mr. Speaker, I have heard from thousands of my constituents on this issue. Their comments and advice range from calling for the President's resignation or impeachment to insisting that the House drop the entire matter. While they may differ in their beliefs and positions, in the end their most common theme is that they want to see this matter come to an expeditious resolution.

We should follow their advice.

TRIBUTE TO GEORGE WIMBERLY

HON. MARION BERRY
OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. BERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a great friend, a great Arkansan, and great American. I speak of Mr. George Wimberly, who has served his community as a member of the City Manager Board for the City of Little Rock; Mayor of the City of Little Rock, Arkansas; and as a member of the Arkansas General Assembly. All of these positions are significant, but they are completely overshadowed by his accomplishments as a friend and servant to his fellow man.

Mr. Wimberly has owned and operated a neighborhood pharmacy, Buice Drug Store, in the Stiff Station area of Little Rock for over forty years. He is personally involved in the day to day care of each and every one of his customers. George provides not only medicine, advice and counsel, love, attention and service, but he also has a genuine concern for the well being of everyone he knows. Every person that comes in contact with George gets the same consideration.

When George Wimberly is your friend you know that there is one person in the world that you can count on. He has been my dear friend since childhood and has befriended generations of my family members. He is a wealth of knowledge about our heritage and when he reads this he will say, "What would Wimpy say about this?"

He has provided free medical advice, service, and products for anyone in need. He continues to check on shut-ins and the disabled in the community and is the only link to the outside world for many of them. He is from the school that thinks character and honesty are premier qualities and practices these beliefs.

Because he has lived and served among us for 78 years we are better for it and the world is a better place to live. As they say in the place I come from, the One Horse Store, he is a "good man" and I am proud to call him my friend.

A YEAR OF ACHIEVEMENTS

HON. JAMES A. BARCIA
OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. BARCIA. Mr. Speaker, efforts to promote equality, success, and opportunity are appreciated by all Americans. An organization, in my district, is truly dedicated to helping African-Americans succeed in the business community and sets a powerful example. It was formed to overcome hardships, and to support each other in furthering their success. This month the Saginaw African-American Minority Business Association (S.A.A.M.B.A) is celebrating a year of outstanding achievements by designating October as National Minority Business Month.

The weekend of October 23rd, S.A.A.M.B.A. will be hosting a Minority Business Conference. This conference will bring together Saginaw area minority business owners. The conference will offer the members of S.A.A.M.B.A. many different helpful workshops and motivational keynote speakers, in hopes of providing a solid foundation for the advancement of African-Americans in business.

S.A.A.M.B.A. advances the development of area African-American minority businesses to succeed in the community. This organization builds relationships with financial institutions in the area. S.A.A.M.B.A. also sponsors training workshops, seminars or conferences like this one, educates and answers questions of African-American business owners and other people with similar interests. This organization’s efforts to increase membership each year have been successful and its members look forward to many more years of building relationships and promoting business opportunities.

The first Civil Rights legislation was enacted in 1964, and the fight for equal treatment under the law continues today. Dr. Martin Luther King dreamed of a color-blind world, and organizations like S.A.A.M.B.A. are committed to supporting his ideal by helping African-Americans in business. They work to achieve equality for African-Americans, and are constantly changing attitudes in the business community. Our country has come a long way, but we have much work to do, and organizations like S.A.A.M.B.A. are paving the way for minorities in the business world.

Mr. Speaker, the Saginaw African-American Minority Business Association is a strong foundation for African-American adults, youth and the community. I urge you and our colleagues to join me in recognizing the outstanding contributions to the community and congratulating the President, Corrine S. Williams and the dedicated staff of S.A.A.M.B.A. on their accomplishments this year.

IN HONOR OF CAPTAIN JAMES SPRAYBERRY, WINNER OF THE CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL OF HONOR

HON. BOB BARR
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. BARR of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, today I honor a great American hero; Captain James Sprayberry, born in LaGrange, Georgia. As a soldier in Vietnam, Captain James Sprayberry selflessly risked his own life to repeatedly charge enemy machine gun nests to rescue pinned-down American soldiers. In the process, he personally saved many of their lives, while killing twelve enemy soldiers, destroying two machine-guns, and eliminating numerous enemy bunkers. For this extraordinary bravery, Captain Sprayberry was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, our nation’s highest military decoration. On October 26, 1998, a road in my district will officially be named after him.

In times of peace, it is far too easy to forget that freedom carries a high price. Captain Sprayberry was willing to pay that price. He deserves the undying gratitude of a grateful nation that enjoys peace today thanks to the sacrifices he and all of our other veterans have made over the years.

AGAINST HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 254

HON. DANNY K. DAVIS
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I take this opportunity to comment on House Concurrent Resolution 254 which passed the House on September 14, 1998. I inaccurately voted in favor of this bill when I should have voted “no.”

The bill calls upon the Government of Cuba to expatriate to the United States Ms. Joanne Chesimard as well as all other individuals who have fled the U.S. from political persecution and received political asylum in Cuba.

I wish to officially go on record as opposed to this measure. Unfortunately, the bill was placed on the suspension calendar, which is usually reserved for non-controversial measures. Furthermore, none of the many advocacy groups that monitor this vote informed my office of their concern.

I oppose H. Con. Res. 254 because I support the right of all nations to grant political asylum to individuals fleeing political persecution. The United States grants political asylum to individuals from all over the world. Other independent nations have the same right, including Cuba.

I strongly believe that the right for various governments to grant political asylum should not be disturbed. I am aware of the fact that this body often does not agree with the particular decisions made by other independent governments regarding political asylum. However, I have stood before this house many times defending and advocating for the rights of immigrants and refugees in the United States. Just as we maintain our right as a nation to welcome those from other shores, whether immigrant or refugee—we must respect the Cuban Government’s right to grant political asylum for individuals from the U.S. fleeing political persecution.

TRIBUTE TO MEREDITH BIXBY

HON. NICK SMITH
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Meredith Bixby from Saline, Michigan. On October 18, 1998, the Saline Culture and Commerce Center will open the Bixby Marionette Exhibit. This exhibit includes over 100 of Meredith Bixby’s hand-crafted marionettes which he gave to the City of Saline.

Meredith Bixby is affectionately known as the “Master of Marionettes.” His company “Meredith Marionettes Touring Company” toured the Midwest and South for more than 40 years, performing in schools, theaters and community centers.

I personally admire Meredith Bixby because his stated goal was, “to present programs that we [that is Meredith and his wife Thyr] thought were in good taste.” This is an element so often missing in theater productions of today.

I want to commend Meredith Bixby for his hard work and dedication. It is estimated that in 88 years, he has performed more than 20,000 marionette plays.

A TRIBUTE TO RICHARD CHERRY

HON. MARCY KAPTUR
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay special tribute to Richard Cherry, a member of the American Legion in my district. Dick is being feted by his comrades and friends at a special Appreciation Dinner to be held on November 14, 1998 at the Adams Township Post No 553 of the American Legion. I will be proud and humbled to participate in this well-deserved recognition.

Dick Cherry currently serves as National Committeeman for the more than 164,000 members of the Ohio American Legion. In his 29 years with the Legion, he has also served as Commander of the Department of Ohio, First Vice and Second Vice Commander of the Department of Ohio, Commander of the Greater First District of Ohio, Commander of Lucas County, Commander of the Adams township Post, and Delegate to Lucas County, the First District, Department of Ohio, and National Organization. He also diligently labors on countless committees on the County, District, Department of Ohio, and National levels.

A member of the United States Army, Dick is a veteran of the Korean War who served with the Second Division, 23 Infantry Battalion. With the deepest of understanding of the importance of remembering our nation’s veterans, he is an active member of the Toledo Soldiers Memorial Association, and the Lucas County Veterans Service Commission, and the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Association.

Listing his involvement in civic and veteran organizations only gives one a glimpse of the man. Dick Cherry is a man of the greatest compassion and empathy, with a sharp mind and a deep soul. He has been a trusted advisor to me on veterans issues, offering wise counsel regarding healthcare in our nation’s VA medical centers, compensation and pension benefits for veterans and their families, and the “veterans position” on national issues. In any forum, he conducts himself with dignity and grace, quietly but effectively conveying the message that we must never forget our veterans, their courage, or the sacrifices they made to bring us the freedom we know today.

If a measure of a man is the esteem in which others hold him, then Dick Cherry is a man beyond measure. I join his wife Carol, his family, friends, and colleagues in paying homage to a most down-to-earth yet most remarkable man.

IN HONOR OF THE SESQUICENTEN- NIAL OF FLOYD SPRINGS UNITED METHODIST CHURCH LOCATED IN FLOYD COUNTY, GEOR- IA

HON. BOB BARR
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. BARR of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Floyd Springs United Methodist Church of Floyd County, Georgia which is celebrating its Sesquicentennial anniversary this fall. For 150 years, since its founding in 1848, the church has been a focal point for the worship of God, religious education, and community service to the Floyd Springs area and beyond. The church is a part of the Rome-Carrollton District, North Georgia conference of the United Methodist Church, and is located at 1954 Floyd Springs Road, Armuchee, Georgia.

Institutions of faith have always provided a vital service to America; by encouraging moral behavior, assisting citizens in need, and guiding the spiritual development of millions. For 150 years, Floyd Springs United Methodist Church has been in the forefront of that cause. Now, in 1998, we need the spiritual Christian leadership and service this great church offers.

The congregation has planned special activities during October to commemorate this historic event, and I am proud to lend my voice to this effort.

IN HONOR OF ERIC DELUCIEN AND NEW DIRECTIONS, INC.

HON. LOIS CAPPS
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mrs. CAPPS, Mr. Speaker, I rise to bring to the attention of my colleagues a courageous 5-day journey passing through my district on the Central Coast today. Eric Delucien, an Americorps volunteer, is undertaking a 500 mile fundraising bike ride from San Francisco to Los Angeles, California, which will benefit New Directions, Inc.’s education fund. New Directions Inc., a nonprofit self-help program, provides free comprehensive rehabilitative services to homeless veterans with histories of chronic substance abuse and other disorders like Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder. Through this program, veterans receive the encouragement and job training they need to compete in today’s job market.

My late husband, Walter Capps, was empathetic to the plight of all veterans; I share his concern and commitment to this community. I hope that this bicycle fundraiser will increase public awareness to the problems facing many of our veterans today, and I would like to thank New Directions, Inc. for providing the opportunities and tools they need to succeed.

Mr. Speaker, I conclude that the On the Road for Homeless Vets bike ride is a noble cause, and commend Eric Delucien and New Directions, Inc. for their dedication to improving the lives of veterans in our country.

TRIBUTE TO LOUIS STOKES

HON. MAJOR R. OWENS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. OWENS, Mr. Speaker, over the past few months there have been many tributes to our departing colleague, Congressman LOUIS STOKES. The accolades have been lengthy because there is a great deal to be said about the thirty year record of Congressman STOKES. Unfortunately, the most senior Members have been accorded the privilege of speaking first, and thus, I have been deprived of my opportunity to also praise LOUIS STOKES. As a Member who has worked with LOUIS STOKES for sixteen of his thirty years, I feel I have known him long enough to speak with authority. I am not so long, and so close that I have lost my capacity for some objectivity. We are all familiar with the concept of the “Renaissance Man” with a broad array of talents. In the power arena LOUIS STOKES is a “Renaissance Political Man.” He possesses the unique ability to function as a deal maker; as a champion for issues; as program innovator; as a team player and institution builder.

STOKES, the “Renaissance Political Man” leaves very high standards for all future Members of Congress to utilize to measure their performance and their productivity. in my 5th District of Michigan, and particularly the leadership of the Saginaw City Council and City Manager Reed Phillips. In October 1998, at the 71st annual Water Environment Federation Conference in Orlando, the City of Saginaw was presented with the Environmental Protection Agency’s 1998 National Sewer Overflow Control Program Excellence Award. The award is presented for innovation and quality for their combined sewer overflow control measures.

As we in the 5th District well know, the Saginaw River is a major contributor to the health of problems in the Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron. During our communities’ long history in the region, we have struggled to reverse the degradation of the river and the lake from our cities and industry. A major role in that effort lies with city officials in our area. The Saginaw City Council and Mr. Phillips have provided a cutting edge example of how we can return our environment to the safe, healthy and productive resource whose beauty has made our region one of the largest tourist attractions in the Midwest.

Combined sewer overflows are a critically important problem in our country, particularly in the Northeastern, Midwestern and Northwestern United States. This 19th century engineering breakthrough represents an environmental nightmare for our cities of today. Periodic heavy rainfall can lead to releases which compromise our rivers, streams, lakes and oceans.

The efforts of Mr. Phillips to make me aware of this crisis in Saginaw, Bay City and other towns in our State led me to introduce H.R. 4242, the Combined Sewer Overflow Control and Partnership Act of 1998. Only massive expenditures of limited municipal resources can solve this problem today. With Reed’s help, I learned that a national grant program is essential to long term solutions to this problem.

This is why, Mr. Speaker, that the creativity and innovation of the City of Saginaw is so impressive. To gain national recognition for success in attacking a problem which seems to have no solution is truly a victory for our citizens and our environment. Instead of giving up in the face of nearly insurmountable odds, the City of Saginaw has dedicated itself to making progress, and has proven that dedication and effort can change the course of rivers.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you and our colleagues to join me today in applauding the City of Saginaw and City Manager Reed Phillips, and cherishing the environment which they so dutifully protect.

THIRD BAPTIST CHURCH TO CELEBRATE ITS 130TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. MARCY KAPTUR
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to give special recognition to the Third Baptist Church in Toledo, Ohio. Beginning November 11, 1998 and concluding November 15, 1998, the church will celebrate its 130th anniversary with a host of celebration activities. I am pleased to commemorate this anniversary. This milestone is a testament to faith, to the strength of community, and to the values of family and tradition. The 130 year long journey of Third Baptist Church has only come about through the faith and perseverance of its congregants. As their lives have been made richer by their faith, so, too, has our community been made richer by the church’s presence. This church in the heart of one of Toledo’s oldest neighborhoods has housed generations of souls uplifted by the strength of prayer and each other as God’s Word was celebrated each Sunday for 130 years.

Third Baptist Church has been a cornerstone of the community, and is strongly supported by its members. Generations worship together, in the truest sense of church and community. Third Baptist’s motto is “Celebrating Our Godly Heritage Through Worship and Praise.” Its members live this testament, coming together to offer joyful songs, inspirational prayers, and deep, personal worship.

As 130 years are celebrated through several days, I know that the spirit of the church’s ancestors will be felt, and they will join today’s membership in the commemoration. As we look back on the past, may we also direct our vision toward the future.

TRIBUTE TO THE FARMERS’ ADVANCE

HON. NICK SMITH
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Farmers’ Advance published in Camden, Michigan.

On October 13, 1898, the Farmers’ Advance and its precursor, The Camden Advance, will have served rural readers and advertisers for 100 years.

As a farmer, I rely on the Farmers’ Advance to keep me abreast of the weekly sales and prices of farm commodities, livestock and equipment. I also appreciate the excellent coverage of youth activities in 4-H and FFA shows and sales. In this rapidly changing time, the Farmers’ Advance continues to chronicle and celebrate traditional farm family values through its stories and photographs.

The Camden Advance was first published in 1898. Lee Graham, publisher and editor, set the type under lamplight and printed the paper on a hand press.

In 1953, its name was changed to the Farmers’ Advance. Today, the Farmers’ Advance reaches readers in every county in Michigan, northern Indiana, northern Ohio, and Ontario, Canada.

I want to commend this wonderful publication for its dedication to serving farms and rural areas and promoting farm family values for 100 years.

AUTHORIZING THE COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY TO INVESTIGATE WHETHER SUFFICIENT GROUNDS EXIST FOR THE IMPEACHMENT OF WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

SPEECH OF
HON. DANNY K. DAVIS
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 8, 1998

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to the resolution presented by my colleague from Illinois, Mr. HYDE, to initiate an open ended, unlimited impeachment inquiry of the President of the United States of America.

This resolution is an attempt to do through parliamentary means what could not be done in the last two elections: unseat the President of the United States of America.

Let me state here on the floor of the House what most Americans already know.

This inquiry is not about sexual indiscretion. We have allegations of Presidential sexual indiscretions, some going back 200 years and involving slave women who certainly had no defense against predatory relationships. But no such impeachment inquiry has been initiated before.

This is not about lying. We have had allegations of Presidential lying about the trading of munitions for covert foreign aid and Presidential lying about personal federal income taxes. But no such impeachment inquiries were initiated in response.

Mr. Speaker, there are some in this House who have campaigned for the impeachment of this President for more than six years. Their campaign, fueled by $40 million spent by the Office of Special Council, tens of millions spent by private sources, and millions more spent by assorted Congressional Committees, and the inevitable accompanying leaks have yielded us only a sad, sordid marital infidelity and an endless supply of headlines.

These relentless campaign to impeach the President now hold their sponsors hostage to political rhetoric. Having failed to find an impeachable offense, there is now relentless pressure to make do with the $60 million scandal—to make the scandal fit the bill.

Mr. Speaker, our Constitution contains a number of examples of purposely ambiguous language in addition to the phrase “high Crimes and Misdemeanors.” Consider such language as “due process.”

It is precisely such elegant and flexible language which has enabled our democracy to develop, to encompass ever broader sectors of Americans, in ever deeper and more empowering ways.

It is reasonable to expect that as the process of electing our chief executive has become more and more democratic, enfranchising more Americans, more and more directly, that the process for removing that chief executive, of undoing the will of the people, would demand higher and higher standards. It is reasonable to expect that the Congress should not take into itself the power to limit a President, in James Madison’s words “…at the will of the Senate.”

When we “dumb down” the Constitution to meet the needs of partisan politics we inflict deep and lasting harm on our political and Constitutional system. This is the real Constitutional crisis. I do not believe it is accidental that all of our nation’s encounters with Presidential impeachment come following periods of great national turmoil—either the executive or legislative branch attempting to use extra-constitutional means of imposing its will on the policy of the nation. Like the attempt to impeach President Johnson in the wake of the Civil War and the debate over how to incorporate African Americans into the body politic or the attempt of President Nixon to undermine the institutions in the closing days of the War in Vietnam; current attempts to undo the results of two Presidential elections will leave deep, lingering wounds on our nation, but, in the long run, will fail in their attempt to make an end run around the will of the people.

Undoing our Constitution will not advance the search for solutions to the great national and international problems facing America: global economic crisis and growing economic inequality, the undoing of decades of struggle for racial equality in America; the resurgence of national strife around the world, the need to address fundamental problems in health care, education, environment and housing, preserving social security and a host of other critical issues.

I urge my colleagues to oppose this insidious attempt to use, or rather misuse, the power of impeachment.

RETIREMENT OF ARKANSAS STATE REPRESENTATIVE JOHN MILLER

HON. MARION BERRY
OF ARKANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. BERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize one of Arkansas’ dedicated citizens, on the event of his retirement. It is my privilege to recognize the accomplishments and achievements of Representative John Miller, as he is retiring from the Arkansas State House of Representatives.

State Representative John Miller has served the people of Izard County and portions of Independence and Sharp Counties in the Arkansas General Assembly for 36 years and is retiring this year. As former speaker of the House, John ranks third in seniority in the 100-member House of Representatives.

Before becoming a member of the Legislature, John served as county and circuit clerk in Izard County, chairman of the state Developmental Disabilities Planning Council, as a member of the Melbourne Lions Club and of the chambers of commerce in Melbourne, Batesville, Calico Rock and Horseshoe Bend. He also served on the boards of directors for the Calico Rock Medical Center, the Arkansas Easter Seals Society, North Arkansas Human Services Systems, Inc., Lions World Services for the Blind, the White River Planning and Development District, and Advocacy Services, Inc.

In the 1st District of Arkansas, we say “he is a good man.” When you get to Izard County, the roads get wider, the people are happier, life is better and the future is brighter because of John Miller. He is a credit to public service and humanity and the world is better because he is here. I am proud to call him my friend.

CARLOW COLLEGE’S CONTINUING EDUCATION PROGRAMS

HON. WILLIAM J. COYNE
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. COYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Carlow College for its efforts in making education available to more working adults. Carlow College, located in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, was founded in September 1929, as a Catholic institution primarily for women. Education is very important in today’s rapidly changing society. For the past twenty years, Carlow College has continued to make education accessible throughout the Pittsburgh region with the Carlow Weekend College program, started in 1976, and the Carlow Accelerated Program, which began in 1988. These programs give students the choice of either evening courses in the Accelerated Program or weekend classes in the Weekend College. Classes are offered during times that are convenient for most working adults, so that they may continue their education without quitting their regular jobs. This enables many working adults to complete a bachelor’s degree. Students may also attend courses designed to upgrade their technical and management skills.

These programs today have 1,100 students and 12 majors. Classes are now offered at nine locations, and the College is currently working to take advantage of the Internet by offering courses on-line.

I want to call national attention to these innovative programs at Carlow College. As Congress works to expand the knowledge and skills of the American work force, it should look at some of the ground breaking programs that are already underway at institutions like Carlow. Thank you.

TRIBUTE TO VIRGINIA HAYES

HON. LOIS CAPPs
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the memory of Virginia Hayes of Oceano, California. Stricken with Parkinson’s disease, Virginia never denied the reality of her diagnosis, living her life with courage and facing her death with dignity; and in so doing truly symbolized the silent struggle of every person afflicted with Parkinson’s.

There are at least one million Americans living with Parkinson’s, a chronic neurological disorder affecting muscle movement. Its relentless progression systematically robs its victims of every aspect of their lives—a process that dramatically impacts the lives of spouses, families and other loved ones.

When it is commonly accepted that Parkinson’s disease is not fatal, one can tell that to the Hayes family. To the end, Virginia’s spirit was strong and brave, but after 23 years of fighting, her otherwise healthy body was exhausted and eventually overcome, her struggle to live defeated by the ravages of Parkinson’s.

Just a few months before her death, Virginia took part in the production of an advocacy video designed to educate about Parkinson’s disease and promote increased research funding. Titled “The Faces of Parkinson’s,” the video is a dramatic presentation of Parkinson’s effect on individuals and their families. With husband Paul at her side, Virginia allowed us an unflinching look at how Parkinson’s shapes her independence and her life.

Through her courage, she has left a legacy which serves to inform and inspire us all, and hopefully will in some way lessen the burden on those who share her struggle.

Undoubtedly, this public contribution is but one small piece of the legacy Virginia has left her family and friends—those who stood by her throughout her battle with Parkinson’s, as well as other circumstances of life that challenge and reward us all. While Parkinson’s disease took her life, it clearly did not define it. It revealed the strength it takes daily with resolve and wit is found deep inside. Virginia found and nurtured that place inside herself and understood that love is stronger than death.

I am honored to pay tribute to Virginia Hayes, and to offer our sincerest condolences and best wishes to her husband and her entire family.

CLAY HIGH SCHOOL IN OREGON, OHIO TO REDEDICATE THE CLAY MEMORIAL STADIUM

HON. MARCY KAPTUR
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to recognize the administration, faculty, staff, students and families of Clay High School in Oregon, Ohio. On October 9, 1998, the Clay High School community will re dedicate the Clay Memorial Stadium.

In December, 1941, America was confronted with the greatest conflict in human history. Young people from all walks of life served in our armed forces. Many soldier, sailors, airmen and marines came from the Oregon, Ohio, area and served with honor and distinction as we freed the world of Axis terror and fascism. Some of these young people never returned. They gave their lives for freedom with the hope that our nation and their community would always cherish the gifts that America offers.

It was in this spirit that the Oregon, Ohio community dedicated the Clay Memorial Stadium, in 1948, to the young men and women who gave their lives in defense of liberty. This year marks the 50th Anniversary of the stadium. The Clay High School family and the Oregon community at large are now embarking on a renovation project to make the stadium an unflinching look at the faces of Parkinson’s, the video is a dramatic presentation of Parkinson’s effect on individuals and their families. With husband Paul at her side, Virginia allowed us an unflinching look at how Parkinson’s shapes her independence and her life. Through her courage, she has left a legacy which serves to inform and inspire us all, and hopefully will in some way lessen the burden on those who share her struggle.

Undoubtedly, this public contribution is but one small piece of the legacy Virginia has left her family and friends—those who stood by her throughout her battle with Parkinson’s, as well as other circumstances of life that challenge and reward us all. While Parkinson’s disease took her life, it clearly did not define it. It revealed the strength it takes daily with resolve and wit is found deep inside. Virginia found and nurtured that place inside herself and understood that love is stronger than death.

I am honored to pay tribute to Virginia Hayes, and to offer our sincerest condolences and best wishes to her husband and her entire family.

CLAY HIGH SCHOOL IN OREGON, OHIO TO REDEDICATE THE CLAY MEMORIAL STADIUM

HON. MARCY KAPTUR
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to recognize the administration, faculty, staff, students and families of Clay High School in Oregon, Ohio. On October 9, 1998, the Clay High School community will rededicate the Clay Memorial Stadium.

In December, 1941, America was confronted with the greatest conflict in human history. Young people from all walks of life served in our armed forces. Many soldier, sailors, airmen and marines came from the Oregon, Ohio, area and served with honor and distinction as we freed the world of Axis terror and fascism. Some of these young people never returned. They gave their lives for freedom with the hope that our nation and their community would always cherish the gifts that America offers.

It was in this spirit that the Oregon, Ohio, community dedicated the Clay Memorial Stadium, in 1948, to the young men and women who gave their lives in defense of liberty. This year marks the 50th Anniversary of the stadium. The Clay High School family and the Oregon community at large are now embarking on a renovation project to make the stadium an unflinching look at the faces of Parkinson’s, the video is a dramatic presentation of Parkinson’s effect on individuals and their families. With husband Paul at her side, Virginia allowed us an unflinching look at how Parkinson’s shapes her independence and her life. Through her courage, she has left a legacy which serves to inform and inspire us all, and hopefully will in some way lessen the burden on those who share her struggle.

Undoubtedly, this public contribution is but one small piece of the legacy Virginia has left her family and friends—those who stood by her throughout her battle with Parkinson’s, as well as other circumstances of life that challenge and reward us all. While Parkinson’s disease took her life, it clearly did not define it. It revealed the strength it takes daily with resolve and wit is found deep inside. Virginia found and nurtured that place inside herself and understood that love is stronger than death.

I am honored to pay tribute to Virginia Hayes, and to offer our sincerest condolences and best wishes to her husband and her entire family.
Memorial it gives me much pride to represent the citizens of Oregon, Ohio in this great House. They and the nation will never forget the sacrifice of the millions of men and women who gave their lives to freedom in the victory over tyranny that defined world history for the 20th century.

Our community extends warm appreciation to the citizens of Oregon, Ohio as they rededicate the Clay Memorial Stadium.

IN HONOR OF PAT PEACOCK

HON. MARION BERRY
OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. BERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Pat Peacock, a lady who means a lot to my family and the community she lives in. Ms. Peacock is from Stuttgart, AR, the “Duck and Rice Capital of the World.” It is partly because of Ms. Peacock and her ambassadorial role that Stuttgart and the Grand Prairie are known far and wide as the only place to be, for a least a few days, during duck hunting season. She has worked tirelessly to promote her community and Stuttgart has reaped the rewards of all her hard work.

Ms. Peacock was instilled with a sense of willingness to serve others. Her love of the outdoors and appreciation for the need to preserve the precious heritage where she grew up, has defined her lifetime commitment to conservation and wildlife organizations. She has given countless hours to ensure that our children will inherit and appreciate what our generation has paid to enjoy. Her many awards include: Arkansas Conservationist of the Year, Arkansas and Women’s Champion Duck Caller, Arkansas Outdoor Hall of Fame, member of the Game and Fish Commission, Outstanding Volunteer of the Year for Arkansas and Women’s Champion Duck Caller.

Pat Peacock for many years owned and operated a small business in Stuttgart called Majestic Inc. She began as a salesperson while in high school. From that time, Ms. Peacock helped build the business into one with a fine reputation throughout the state. The competition from chain department stores in nearby cities and discount stores that hurt Main Street were tough on her small business but Pat worked hard and fine tuned her business successfully.

Pat has turned another page now. She has moved on to new challenges and opportunities. I wish her well and want to express my thanks for what she has done for the community of Stuttgart, Arkansas and Arkansas County.

RECOGNIZING THE WORK OF THE AIR, LAND AND EMERGENCY RESCUE TEAM

HON. SAM JOHNSON
OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to the Congress’ attention the work of 17 young men who served the people of Russia from March 3–April 14, 1998, by remodeling an orphanage in Moscow to improve the living conditions. These young men paid their own way and learned the lessons of sacrifice, hard work and commitment to their fellow man. You know the Bible says, “Whatever you did for one of the least of these, you did for me.” These young men should be commended for their willingness to serve others: Daniel Falkenstine, Texas; David Franzen, Wisconsin; Peter Franzen, Wisconsin; Rob Gray, Indiana; Nathan Hoggatt, Texas; Bill Moore, Texas; Benjamin Moore, Alabama; Samuel Mills, Texas; Brendan Newsom, Florida; Brian Biddle, Ohio; William Braden, Arizona; Jacory Brady, Colorado; Jesse Brown, Venezuela; Trevor Cangelosi, Los Angeles; Michael Chapman, Michigan; Patrick Chapman, Michigan; Thomas Chapman, Michigan; James Connelly, California; Stephen Copu, Illinois; Jason Dandurand, Washington; Steve Danskis, Wisconsin; Breese, Illinois; Daniel Buhler, California; Samuel Dandurand, Washington; Robert Matlack III, Mississippi; Jeremy Jansen, Kansas; Andres Johansson, Sweden; Dan Riddle, Arizona; Jacory Brady, Colorado; Richard Tututepec, Oaxaca invited these men to Mexico; Joshua Irving, Texas; Aaron Jongsma, Ontario; Nathan Jongsma, Ontario; Caleb Kaspar, Oregon; Justin King, Michigan; Jason Kingston, Texas; Robert Matlack III, Mississippi; Gay Outlaw, Delaware; Bill Moore, Texas; Benjamin Moore, Iowa; Marc Moore, Iowa; Nathanahel Nazario, Puerto Rico; Robert Niculato, Ohio; David Hens, Nebraska; David Hansen, Oregon; Ben Hardbuck, Texas; David Hens, Nebraska; Daniel Ness, Nebraska; Nathan Hoggatt, Texas; Joshua Horvath, Texas; and Geary Howell, Mississippi.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — Extensions of Remarks

October 10, 1998

Mr. Speaker, I want to commend 147 men who spent nearly a month helping those of Birmingham, Alabama last spring to help clear debris and remove trees uprooted by a tornado. Working under the direction of the Rock Creek County Emergency Management Agency, these men gave their time and talent, from April 10-May 13, 1998, to help their fellow citizens.

I believe that at a time when so many in our society put themselves first, these men sacrificed for others and in the process learned valuable lessons about hard work and dedication: Jeffrey Achenbach, Tennessee; Samuel Alexander, California; Joseph Amis, Indiana; Chad Anderson, California; Aaron Berg, Ontario; Nathan Beskow, Oregon; Daniel Boyd, Texas; Caleb Boyette, Florida; Jacob Braddy, Arizona; Jacory Brady, Colorado; Ryan Breese, Illinois; Daniel Buhiher, California; John Butler, Alabama; Rodian Cabeza, New York; Daniel Chiew, Singapore; Aaron Childress, Arkansas; Frederick Cohrs, Washington; Abram Dafer, Washington; Jason Dandurand, Washington; Samuel Dandurand, Washington; David Davis, Indiana; Jeremy Davis, New Jersey; Brandon Davis, Missouri; David De Haan, Kentucky; Brandon LeDoden, Arkansas; Benjamin Downey, Colorado; Nathan Downey, Colorado; Randolph Doyer, Texas; Reuben Dozeman, Michigan; Olof Ekstrom, Oregon; Jonathan Elam, Indiana; Paul Elliott, Wyoming; Paul Ellis, Mississippi; and Michelle Montemayor.

Andrew Farley, California; Gilbert Fernandez, California; David Fishback, Ontario; Scott Forrester, Tennessee; James Frasure, Ohio; Jeremy Fugleberg, North Dakota; Ronald Fuhrman, Michigan; Jhareme Fuller, Michigan; Joel George, Colorado; Elvio Gross, New York; Michael Hadden, Georgia; James Harry, Michigan; Matthew Harry, Michigan; Zechariah Hamilton, Florida; Adam Hawkins, Arizona; Scott Hayes, New York; David Hens, Ohio; William Hicks, California; Mario Henschel, Pennsylvania; Jordan Jaeger, Iowa; Jeremy Jansen, Kansas; Andres Johansson, Washington; Joshua Johnson, Washington; Michael Jones, Texas; Aaron Jongsma, Ontario; Nathan Jordan, Louisana; Kevin Kelleher, Alabama; Clayton Kelleher, Alabama; Michael Kelleher, Alabama; Lindsay Kimbrough, Illinois; Jason Kintson, Texas; Joshua Knaak, Alberta; Richard Knight, Michigan; James Kimball, North Carolina; Luke Kujaczinski, Michigan; Jeremy Kuvik, New York; Joshua Lachmann, Indiana; Aaron Larid, Utah; Daniel Land, Alabama; Rodian Cabeza, New York; Lucas Long, Washington; and Brandon Loverde, New York.

James Lovett, Washington; Jason Luksa, Texas; Joshua McDonald, Florida; James Marsh, North Carolina; Paul Matthewson, Washington; Kirk McCutcheon, California; Charles Mead, Arizona; Christopher Millard, New York; Timothy Mirecki, Ontario; Jason Monnin, Florida; Timothy Moye, Georgia; Nathan Nazario, Washington; Barry Newom, Arizona; Jonathan Nix, Michigan; Patrick O’Brien, California; Jonh Offertatt, Texas; Jeffrey Ogren, Alabama; Jason Orcutt, Alabama; Stephen Parrish, Tennessee; Sean Pelletier, Virginia; James Penner, Ohio; Jason
THE "YEAR 2000 INFORMATION AND READINESS DISCLOSURE ACT"

HON. HENRY J. HYDE
OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. HYDE. Mr. Speaker, the Year 2000 Information and Readiness Disclosure Act (S. 2392) is intended to promote the voluntary sharing of information needed to discover, avoid, or fix problems with year 2000 calculations in our nation's software, computers, and technology products. In all civil litigation including certain antitrust actions, the Act limits the extent to which year 2000 statements can be the basis for liability and it prevents certain evidentiary uses, against the maker, of a subset of such statements. However, the Act ensures that only responsible, good faith information-sharing gets such protection.

In particular, the Act protects good faith sharing of "two categories of year 2000 information: a broad category called "year 2000 statements," and a narrower subcategory called "year 2000 readiness disclosures." Year 2000 statements and readiness disclosures can include any year 2000 related subject matter, but year 2000 readiness disclosures must be in writing, be clearly labeled, and concern one's own products or services. Certain already-existing year 2000 statements may be designated as year 2000 readiness disclosures and receive the protections applicable to year 2000 readiness disclosures under the Act. The Act does not create any duty to provide notice of all matters relating to year 2000 processing. In addition, the Act protects against disclosure and use in civil actions year 2000 information voluntarily provided to the government under a "special data gathering requirement." Further, the Act provides a temporary exemption to the antitrust laws for sharing of year 2000 information, unless it results in an actual agreement to boycott, allocate markets, or fix prices.

The Act does not create new causes of action or expand any existing causes of action, nor does it create new obligations or duties. The Act does not create any duty to provide notice about a year 2000 processing problem. The intent of this legislation is to promote sharing of year 2000 information. This would not be frustrated if any year 2000 statement were the sole basis for any finding of liability on the part of the maker. Furthermore, it is not the intent of this legislation to hold the maker of a year 2000 readiness disclosure liable for the adequacy or sufficiency of its disclosure where such disclosure is not otherwise required by law. The Act also does not affect existing contracts, tariffs, intellectual property rights or consumer protections applicable to solicitations or offers to sell consumer products.

The Act's protections are limited. The Act does not change or add in any way liability for a year 2000 processing failure; does not change or reduce any underlying duty, standard of care or liability for a year 2000 failure; does not apply to certain consumer transactions; does not prevent any underlying facts regarding finality of the creditor's attention to the year 2000 or any violations of such information, nor does it prevent any governmental entity from requiring the disclosure of any information, and does not preclude any claim to the extent it is not based on a year 2000 statement.

The Act prevents the use as evidence against the maker of any narrow range of year 2000 statements—year 2000 readiness disclosures—to prove the truth of the disclosure. They can, however, be put into evidence to prove the truth of matters other than their truth. Further, year 2000 readiness disclosures can be used to establish liability in or to mitigate any liability. A judge may or may not totally abrogate this protection in order to prevent an abusive or bad-faith use of the disclosure contrary to the purposes of the Act.

Year 2000 statements other than year 2000 readiness disclosures can be brought into evidence against the maker, except where the maker knew the statement was false, made it with intent to deceive, or made it with reckless disregard as to its truth or falsity. In cases of alleged trade defamation, product disparagement, and the like, year 2000 statements generally can be the basis of liability only if the maker knew the statement was wrong or was reckless about the statement's truth or falsity. The Act's website notice is generally deemed adequate. Important exceptions exist, however, and Internet website notice alone is not deemed adequate in cases of personal injury or serious property damage. In specified circumstances, in order to obtain the benefits of the Act, manufacturers of year 2000 remediation products or services must inform their customers about the effects of this Act during the course of solicitations or offers to sell.

For purpose of actions brought under the Act, year 2000 statements contained in filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission or Federal banking regulators or disclosures or writings that, when made, accompanied the solicitation of an offer or sale of securities are not covered by the Act.

The following section-by-section analysis illustrates important details of the Act.

Section 1. Short Title. This section entitles the Act the "Year 2000 Information and Readiness Disclosure Act.

Section 2. Findings and Purposes. This section lays out the findings underlying the bill and the board purposes the bill is intended to serve.

Potentially millions of pieces of technology cannot recognize certain dates around the year 2000. Because year 2000 processing problems could incapacitate government, commerce, and utilities, correcting the year 2000 problem is a matter of national and global interest.

Prompt, candid, and thorough disclosure and exchange of information about year 2000 readiness would enhance year 2000 readiness. Concern about liability is impeding the sharing of such information. Uniform legal standards regarding year 2000 information are in the national interest.

Enacted under the Commerce Clause power, this Act's purpose is to promote disclosure and exchange of year 2000 information by establishing uniform legal principles. This section defines various terms.

The term "consumer" means an individual who acquires a consumer product for purposes other than resale.
The term "consumer product" means any personal property or service that is normally used for personal, family, or household purposes.

The term "covered action"—used to define the types of litigation subject to the Act—is intentionally broad. It means a civil action of any kind arising under Federal or State law, except one brought by a Federal or other government entity, agency, or authority acting in its regulatory, supervisory, or enforcement capacity, in other words, "covered action" does not include litigation, enforcement, and criminal actions brought by government entities.

The term "person" means each person or entity, including a State or subdivision thereof, that issues or publishes any year 2000 statement. It also means each person or entity that approves, or publishes any year 2000 statement. The term is defined very broadly to ensure that all entities, public or private, may benefit from the Act, including all those who help to make a year 2000 statement or readiness disclosure by reviewing, advising on, or commenting on it. Fairness requires that anyone who is present in the formulation of the year 2000 statement should receive the same protection given to the entity that actually issues or publishes the statement. The term "year 2000 statement" means a statement, action, or inquiry of a different person or entity than the maker that contains a year 2000 remedy product or service if it states that the product or service it provided, or if it sells a product that essentially replaces an existing product or service (regardless of who makes or sells the new product or service). In contrast, a person or entity that sells products or services for the purpose of detecting or correcting year 2000 processing problems in another entity's products (including program in microchips, software, and "firmware"), does offer year 2000 remediating products or services within the meaning of this definition.

The term "year 2000 statement" mean any communication or other conveyance of information concerning capabilities, concerning plans to verify year 2000 processing capabilities, concerning testing of year 2000 processing by products, or services utilizing products, or relating to year 2000 processing. A year 2000 statement may contain a very broad array of information potentially useful to anyone seeking to discover year 2000 processing problems. Year 2000 statements may be in any format, oral or written, and address year 2000 processing or readiness in any way. The term "year 2000 readiness disclosure" means any written year 2000 statement (a "year 2000 statement that the maker has not reprinted, republished, or a similar claim against the maker. A claim for anticipatory breach, repudiation, and similar contract remedies are, thereby, not admissible in an action related to a subsequent year 2000 processing problem. Under this subsection, the narrow category of year 2000 readiness disclosures is given greater protection than year 2000 statements. Year 2000 readiness disclosures may not be admitted into evidence against the maker to prove the truth of any matter asserted in them. This is meant to provide protection for disclosure of all information, including accurate and helpful information, about year 2000 problems, solutions, and readiness.

Subsection 4(a) does not create any new cause of action, expand or reduce any existing cause of action, develop any new right or obligation. Neither does this subsection change or reduce any liability for a year 2000 failure, restrict alternative means of obtaining information, or prevent any fact underlying a claim related to failed year 2000 processing from being dem tected in court other than year 2000 readiness disclosures. This section does not prevent the maker of the year 2000 statement within a year 2000 readiness disclosure from using its own year 2000 readiness disclosure in litigation for any purpose.

For example, in a breach of warranty action against a manufacturer based on damages arising from a failed computer system, a year 2000 readiness disclosure issued by the manufacturer that the system had year 2000 processing problems could not be introduced against the manufacturer to prove that the system had year 2000 processing problems. A year 2000 readiness disclosure included a statement that the system had no year 2000 processing problems, that statement could be admitted (along with evidence that the maker knew it was false) to show that the maker intended to mislead. In both cases, any information provided by the manufacturer out of context may be admissible, as long as it is obtained in discovery during the litigation would be admissible to prove the existence of year 2000 processing problems.

Second, a judge may limit (but not totally abrogate) this subsection's evidentiary protection in order to prevent a fraudulent, bad faith, abusive, or similar use of the year 2000 readiness disclosure contrary to the purposes of the Act. The term "year 2000 readiness disclosure" does not apply to bad faith or fraud or was well beyond what was a republication, the maker may be liable for its accuracy. The term "reckless disregard" was derived from the public figure standard established by the Supreme Court in Gertz v. Robert Brandenburg v. Robertson, 401 U.S. 524 (1971). If the maker made the year 2000 statement of its year 2000 readiness disclosure, send them mark all of its year 2000-related documents as year 2000 readiness disclosures, send them to a business partner, and claim that they are, thereby, not admissible in an action related to a subsequent year 2000 processing problem.

Section 4(b). Liability for False, Misleading, and Inaccurate Year 2000 Statements. To the extent an action is based on a false, inaccurate, misleading, or year 2000 statement, as defined generally above. If it was not a republication, the maker may be liable if the statement was material and if the maker made the year 2000 statement with actual knowledge that it was false, inaccurate, or misleading, with intent to deceive or mislead; or with reckless disregard for its accuracy. The term "reckless disregard" was derived from the public figure defamation standard established by the Supreme Court in New York Times Co. v. Sullivan, 376 U.S. 254 (1964). If the year 2000 statement was material and if the maker made the year 2000 statement with actual knowledge that it was false, inaccurate, or misleading, with intent to deceive or mislead; or without notice in such year 2000 statement that the maker has not verified the contents of the republication, or that the maker is not the source (in which case the source must be identified in the year 2000 statement or the republication). In addition to other elements of the action, each of these elements must be established by clear and convincing evidence.

Subsections 4(e) addresses the treatment of year 2000 statements alleged to be untrue in litigation. If a year 2000 statement is made on an Internet website, notice provided on that website can be deemed adequate for this purpose where the website contains clearly identified links to websites maintained by the original source.

Subsection 4(f) is premised on existing government power to request voluntary submission of detailed company-specific information in order to ascertain the year 2000 readiness of an industry or economic sector. The government may request that the information be submitted to a non-governmental entity that agrees to coordinate such data gathering, including providing analyses of that data. The subsection protects any and all information provided to the government or such third party voluntarily acting at the request of the government, either entity or individual without the consent of the provider.

This immunity is accomplished in three ways: (a) All information provided pursuant to this process is deemed exempt from disclosure under FOIA. (To the extent that such provided data could be said to be held by the government acting through a third party, FOIA would still not require the release of such data without the submitting entity’s permission.); (b) Neither the government nor a third party may disclose such data without the permission of the providing entity; and (c) Neither the government nor any third party may use the information, either directly or indirectly, in any civil litigation.

However, to ensure that this protection is not misused, the subsection provides that information can be used by anyone for any purpose if it has been voluntarily made public or if it is obtained by independent legal means. These two exceptions are lawful means to obtain information directly from the providing entity, or from any recipient other than the recipient under the special year 2000 data gathering request.

Section 5. Temporary Antitrust Exemption. Consistent with recent year 2000-related Business Action Letters issued by the Department of Justice, this section provides that the antitrust laws shall not apply to conduct or communications solely for the purpose of correcting or avoiding year 2000 problems, except to the extent necessary to achieve such purposes. This broad exemption has certain limitations.

First, the exemption protects only conduct occurring in connection with preparation of the Act and july 14, 2001 (inclusive) (as provided in subsection 7(a)). It does not protect conduct occurring thereafter, though the certainty of the statute itself need not affect the position taken by the Department of Justice in Business Action Letters. Second, this exemption does not apply to conduct that involves agreements to boycott any person, allocate markets, or fix prices.

Section 6. Exclusions.— Subsection 6(a). Effect on Information Disclosures. The Act does not affect the authority of any government to require provision or disclosure of any information. The Act clarifies that the intent of Congress is not to limit the ability of a Federal or State entity, agency, or authority to act in an enforcement capacity with respect to any Federal or State statute or regulation governing the disclosure or non-disclosure of information.

Subsections 6(b) and 8. Subsections 6(b) and 8. The Act does not alter any right under contract or tariff. In an action brought by a consumer against another party—such as a manufacturer or provider of year 2000 re-medication, or a re-seller of consumer products—such information, and otherwise promote the purposes of this Act. Congress expects that the Council shall engage outside organizations to address matters relating to the taxation of residents of Puerto Rico that will not wait. Congress must address issues of fiscal equity and responsibility for the 3.8 million U.S. citizens of Puerto Rico, without being held hostage to the going-on political status debate.

Despite the ongoing political status debate.
Congress never intended to make Puerto Rico a permanent haven from Federal taxation. If the commonwealth system of local government under Federal powers is to continue, the current commonwealth system will need Congress to consider imposition of some part or all of those Federal taxes that are currently not collected in Puerto Rico.
In simple fairness to the taxpayers of the nation as a whole, continued subsidization of the current commonwealth relationship will require Congress to consider issues of fiscal equity and responsibility for Puerto Rico. Ultimately, subsidization must end one way or the other, and phasing in Federal taxes should lead to tax rates for citizens of Puerto Rico as full integration into the national economic and fiscal system are achieved and currently very high local taxes are reduced.

For now, the purpose of this measure is simply to ensure that Congress will be prepared to address these issues in an informed manner. We need to begin planning now rather than waiting until the urgent need for a plan arises. This provision will require the Secretary of Treasury to provide Congress with a recommended course of action in the event that introduction of Federal taxes not currently collected by the IRS is determined by Congress to be in the best interests of Puerto Rico and the nation as a whole.

HONORING THE DISTINGUISHED CAREER OF JAMES "BOOTS" DONELLY

HON. BART GORDON
OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. GORDON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate James "Boots" Donnelly on a successful career as head coach of the Middle Tennessee State University football team.

Boots' 22-year career record as a collegiate head coach stands at 151–92–1. He recently announced he will be stepping down at the end of the 1998 season, after a 20 year career as head football coach at MTSU, his alma mater.

Boots' record and awards are impressive: the eighth winningest coach in Division 1–AA history, 1997 Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame inductee, recorded 12 straight winning seasons between 1981 and 1992, four Ohio Valley Conference championships, 10 national top 25 finishes and five Coach of the Year awards. Fourteen of Boots' players have gone on to play in the National Football League.

MTSU has Boots to thank for the opportunity to begin Division 1–A play in 1999.

The hallmark of Boots' success has been his interaction with his players. When recruiting players, he not only assessed their athletic ability, but also their character, integrity and intelligence. Once a recruit joined the Blue Raiders, Boots taught him the importance of team spirit and discipline, traits that would remain with the player throughout his life. He has always had the respect and admiration of his players and assistant coaches.

Boots is a keen judge of character. He knows to stay away from people with "big hats and no cattle" and those who can "find a bone in ice cream."

His teams were always well-prepared and disciplined. When game time came, they "stepped up to the licking block, stayed in the buggy when the horse rared up and never spit on the bit."

Although Boots always desired to win, and usually did, he took loses with his usual good humor. He understood that "sometimes you get the chicken, and sometimes you get the feathers."

Again, Boots, congratulations on 22 years as a winning collegiate head football coach. Thank you for the contributions you have made to your players, fans and the MTSU community.

CONGRATULATING FAYETTE COUNTY 4-H AWARD RECIPIENTS

HON. RON PAUL
OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to offer congratulations to several fine young men and women from my district who have distinguished themselves in the Fayette County 4–H. As my colleagues know, 4–H is one of the finest youth-oriented organizations in our nation, developing character in our future leaders.

Fayette County 4–H will be recognizing with special awards the following young people on Saturday night, October 9, and I know my colleagues join me in congratulating them and wishing them the best for the future.

Receiving the Gold Star award are Michelle Cornoch, Ashleigh Dittert, and Vickie Sanders. Receiving the Silver Star award are Bradley Kiesle and Billie Jo Murphy. Receiving the "I Dare You" award are Heather Woelfel and Shayne Markwardt. Receiving the "Outstanding Jr." award are Jennifer Kiesel, Melanie Cornoch and Kelly Orsak. And receiving the "Outstanding Sub Jr." award are Adam Mayer, Jodie Kristynick, and Brandon Otto.

A TRIBUTE TO LUCAS COUNTY MENTAL HEALTH BOARD

HON. MARCY KAPTUR
OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Lucas County Mental Health Board in Northwest Ohio. The year 1998 marks the 30th anniversary of the Lucas County Mental Health Board, and the agency is celebrating a commemorative event on September 9, 1998 to recognize the achievement.

The Lucas County Mental Health Board ably and effectively has served thousands of our most vulnerable citizens through three decades which have seen monumental change and a complete overhaul in the treatment of mental basis. Through it all, the Lucas County Mental Health Board has adapted, grown to meet the changing needs of its clients and their families. The agency administers sites throughout the county which handle the unique needs of children with mental illness, people with milder forms of illness, those who are most severely disabled, families, and people needing short term help to get them through the rough spots of their lives. Always, the people of Lucas County Mental Health Board strive to provide these services remembering the dignity of those they counsel, providing both caring treatment and advocacy.

I am pleased to take this opportunity to salute the men and women, past and present, of the Lucas County Mental Health Board whose careers have been dedicated to lifting the stigma and the suffering of mental illness from so many. Their efforts and their victories large and small are commendable, and are truly making a difference to the quality of life of its residents a better place. For their unsung efforts, we offer a grateful thank you.
Methodist Church was restored and transformed in a 300-seat Cultural Arts Center in 1985. Amtrak passenger rail and Metrolink commuter services came to Simi Valley under his reign.

New businesses have come in, providing a needed equilibrium in the community. Potholes have been a base closed issue. So it has been discouraged. Gang activity has decreased.

Greg exhibited true leadership when a trial was thrust upon the community that threatened to unfairly soil its name and again when the Northridge earthquake devastated much of the city. It is a leadership that will be sorely missed.

However, Greg’s legacy will live on. In 1995, he launched the Vision 2020 Project, a strategic planning process designed to lead the city’s evolution well into the next millennium. It was launched as a community project, ensuring its endurance even as Greg moves on.

Mr. Speaker, Greg is retiring from public office, but I have no doubt he and his lovely wife, Ede, will continue to make their presence known in all aspects of the Simi Valley community. I know my colleagues will join me in wishing him goodspeed in any endeavors he wishes to tackle.

SANTA BARBARA COMES TO WASHINGTON: THE CAPITAL CONFERENCE

HON. LOIS CAPPS OF CALIFORNIA IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Friday, October 9, 1998

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, on September 16, I was proud to welcome 35 community leaders from my home town of Santa Barbara, California, to Washington for a Capitol Conference. It was an honor to host a distinguished group of educators, business leaders, community activists, and elected officials for a series of discussions with leading Federal policy makers.

The Capitol Conference focused on some of the most important issues facing Santa Barbara and our nation, including technology, education, business, and the media. We talked with William Kennard, the Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission about the e-rate, cable rates, and telecommunications issues. We had very fruitful discussions with Minority Leader RICHARD GEPHARDT and Secretary Richard Riley about education. Monterey Congressman SAM FARR and noted political commentator Eleanor Clift spoke at lunch. At the White House, we discussed a range of issues with several senior aides, including Press Secretary Mike McCurry.

Throughout the day, my neighbors from Santa Barbara had the opportunity to learn first-hand about efforts underway in Washington to deal with critical policy issues. But even more important was the chance for my colleagues in government to hear directly from the grassroots about how Federal initiatives are working or not working.

The day concluded with a reception at the Library of Congress and a lecture by Santa Barbara’s own noted poet and philosopher Noah benShea. I was pleased to co-host the evening’s events with the Santa Barbara News-Press, the Santa Barbara County Board of Education, and the McClure Foundation. Noah’s talk, entitled “Creating a Caring Society,” was enlightening and enjoyable, and I would like to commend some selected passages to my colleagues.

EXCERPTS FROM “CREATING A CARING SOCIETY”

(By Noah benShea)

I am generally of the opinion that most of us don’t lack for insight but the character to act on what we know. Character is insight’s chariot.

Greatness is not what you reach but what you reach for. In the Bible it is written that “justice, justice, shall you pursue.” It is the pursuit of justice that is noble. It is the other that is caring . . . justice and caring are targets that we are no less for not reaching but much less for not chasing.

To be indifferent to the fate of others is to live outside the passions of love and hate. A society that is indifferent is uncaring. A society that is indifferent is, by definition, neither passionate nor compassionate. Now is a time for forward looking people to stop and look backward. Look at those who looked beyond themselves. Listen to those who heard higher voices . . . People with power are required to care about those without power. And how people with power treat those without power is the defining profile of a society.

Caring is not a political issue except as our politics fails to make caring an issue. Caring is not a matter of left and right but looking out for those who are on both our left and right. Caring is not a matter of left and right but who is left out and who is right.

BUD MANSFIELD TESTIMONIAL

HON. BART STUPAK OF MICHIGAN IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. STUPAK. Mr. Speaker, it is often clear in retrospect that an individual’s lifetime of varied jobs and experiences were but preparation for a task that would allow him utilize all the skills and wisdom he had accumulated. There is such a man in my Congressional District, and as Bud Mansfield retired from his post as Executive Director of the Sault Area Chamber of Commerce, I’d like to take this opportunity to reflect on his fine career.

What qualities might we seek in a chamber director? We would look for someone with genuine business experience, someone who has deep roots in the area and involvement in the community, and someone who knows both the upside and downside of business ventures. We would look for someone with the salesperson’s skills to sell the community to a developer and sell a developer to the community, and someone with such a work ethic that, as his last day of employment approaches, says that he doesn’t plan to really retire, ever.

It’s quite clear, Mr. Speaker, that I have been describing Francis “Bud” Mansfield, who has devoted his life to work and to volunteer efforts in the Sault Ste. Marie area on the eastern end of Michigan’s Upper peninsula.

Bud earned his stripes in the world of business early, delivering messages for Western Union on his bicycle at the age of 12, as area residents were reminded in a recent article in the Sault Evening News. He earned his stripes, literally, in the Michigan National Guard. He worked in the men’s department of a local department store, started his own cleaning business, joined the sales force of a local General Motors vehicle dealership, and eventually acquired that dealership. Bud, however, soon became one of the economic victims of the closing of Kincheloe Air Force, one of the local base closings that affected my district and an event that later presented Bud Mansfield, the chamber director, with special challenges.

Let me take a moment to state, for the record, several of almost 50 organizations which Bud Mansfield has helped shape, guide or support in his role as chamber director.

A program like Habitat for Humanity would be familiar to you, Mr. Speaker, but there are other programs, such as Artrain and Rails to Trails, that are special Michigan success stories.

Sault St. Marie has a unique location. It is an important border crossing into Canada and it is the site of the Soo Locks, which link Lake Superior with Lake Huron. These geographical features ensured that Bud would have a role to play with the Joint International Committee, which oversees the Internal coordinating Committee for Joint Relations, and with a Soo Locks operations committee.

Bud also served on the board of local Catholic schools, and as he said in his recent Evening News interview, he weathered the closing of that school system in the late 1970s with great sorrow. He later served on the board of the Sault Area Public Schools.

It’s clear that Bud won’t stop moving, working and traveling after he leaves the chamber. He and his wife Mary have eight children, all of whom, according to Evening News, have moved back to Michigan. In the interview with Bud, he also stated he has considered doing some writing.

So maybe, Mr. Speaker, a life of varied jobs wasn’t just shaping Bud for his chamber work. Maybe the real adventure for this 71-year-old lies just around the corner. I ask my colleagues to join me in wishing the best for Bud Mansfield, a dedicated community servant.

HONORING MONROE TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL

HON. MICHAEL PAPPAS OF NEW JERSEY IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. PAPPAS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Monroe Township High School, who will host the Twelfth Congressional District’s “hi-tech” fair on October 19, 1998. More than 20 companies, agencies and universities will exhibit their latest technology to high school students from across the district. Among those attending is Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory, who will demonstrate their medical “arm wrestling” machine; the FBI, who will demonstrate a new DNA patrolling program; and Rutgers University, who will display their computer-based visualization of feed digestion called the “electric cow.” Other attendees include U.S. Army CECOM, the Sarnoff Corporation, NASA, the University of Medicine and Dentistry, Lucent Technologies, Lockheed Martin and Princeton University.

In the last decade, New Jersey has become home to many technological companies. With the increase in computer usage, our children have become more technologically advanced than their parents and many other adults. The “hi-technology” fair is a unique opportunity which will greatly benefit not only the students who attend it, but the companies and universities that participate. By creating an early interest in technology, we can encourage our younger people to consider scientific and technological fields for future careers and ensure that our state remains a leader in these areas.

I salute Monroe Township High School for hosting this event and for recognizing the improved technological education curriculum. It is my honor to have this great high school within the borders of the twelfth congressional district.

GLOBAL WARMING TREATY

HON. KEN CALVERT
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. CALVERT. Mr. Speaker, yesterday I submitted a portion of a study performed by the Business Roundtable which details the devastating consequences that could occur if the United States ratified the global warming treaty negotiated in Kyoto last December. Today I am submitting the introduction of a similar study performed by the CONSAD Research Corporation, one of the foremost economic research organizations. I would urge all my colleagues to consider this analysis as the debate surrounding the Protocol continues.

Finally, I would encourage all Members to review a report the Department of Energy’s own Energy Information Administration released today. The report is just one more warning of the possible disastrous consequences of ratifying the Protocol. The report can be found on the Internet at www.eia.gov.

THE KYOTO PROTOCOL: A FLAWED TREATY
PUTS AMERICA AT RISK
SECTORAL AND REGIONAL ECONOMIC IMPACT ANALYSIS
INTRODUCTION

CONSAD Research Corporation, one of the Nation’s leading economic forecasting firms, conducted a May 1998 economic analysis of the proposed Kyoto Protocol. Their analysis parallels findings by other leading economic research organizations. I would urge all my colleagues to consider this analysis as the debate surrounding the Protocol continues.

Finally, I would encourage all Members to review a report the Department of Energy’s own Energy Information Administration released today. The report is just one more warning of the possible disastrous consequences of ratifying the Protocol. The report can be found on the Internet at www.eia.gov.

The Kyoto Protocol will be a direct result of this treaty (assuming high permit fee range).

U.S. Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in the year 2020 will decline by the least $172 billion and perhaps by as much as $338 billion.

Key strategic industries (aluminum, pulp and paper, chemical, and others) will experience persistent employment losses as well as losing market share for these products in international markets;

Every region of the U.S. will experience increased unemployment due to the treaty, with the greatest losses occurring in California, Arizona, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas;

The highest job losses will be in high-skilled, high-wage employment sectors, with many U.S. workers being forced to take employment in low-paying jobs in service-related industries rather than facing prolonged periods of unemployment; and

The U.S. standard of living will decrease as working families are forced to reduce consumption of goods and services in every major category—food, energy, and health care.

POWMIA RECOGNITION DAY IN LOUISIANA

HON. JOHN COOKSEY
OF LOUISIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. COOKSEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the proclamation of Governor Mike Foster declaring September 18 as “POW/MIA Recognition Day” in Louisiana.

I served in the Air Force during the Vietnam War and I know very well that far too many of our brave soldiers did not return from this war. We owe those who have served and those who gave the ultimate sacrifice an unyielding debt. While this debt is impossible to repay, we can begin by giving all the families the peace of mind that has been missing along with their loved ones and provide them the fullest possible accounting for those still missing.

Mr. Speaker, I submit the text of the proclamation for printing in the RECORD.

STATE OF LOUISIANA PROCLAMATION

Whereas, 2,086 Americans are still missing and unaccounted for from the Vietnam War, including 26 from the state of Louisiana, and their families, friends and fellow veterans still endure uncertainty concerning their fate; and

Whereas, U.S. Government intelligence and other evidence confirm that Vietnam could unilaterally account for hundreds of missing Americans, including many of the 446 still missing in Laos and the 75 still unaccounted for in Cambodia, by locating and returning identifiable remains and providing archival records to answer other discrepancies; and

Whereas, the President has normalized relations with Vietnam, believing such action would generate increased unilateral accounting for Americans still missing from the Vietnam War, and such increased results have yet been provided by the government of Vietnam; and

Whereas, the state of Louisiana calls on the President to reinvigorate U.S. efforts to press Vietnam for unilateral actions to locate and return to our nation remains that would account for hundreds of America’s POW/MIA’s and records to help obtain answers on many more.

Now, therefore, I, M.J. “Mike” Foster, J.r., Governor of the state of Louisiana, do hereby, by proclamation September 18, 1998, as “POW/MIA Recognition Day” in the state of Louisiana, in honor of all American POW/MIA’s, in particular the 26 from Louisiana, and encourage all citizens to observe this day with appropriate ceremonies.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB OF SYLVANIA, OHIO TO CELEBRATE ITS CENTENNIAL

HON. MARCY KAPTR
OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. KAPTR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Ladies Literary Club of Sylvanian, Ohio in my district. The club proudly celebrates its centennial this year, with a special event on October 14, 1998. Members past and present will celebrate the 100th year of active study of the fine arts, with a luncheon and historical presentation.

In October of 1898, four women who lived in Sylvanian met in the home of Mrs. Walter Cutler, a woman of a Congregational Minister, to begin the study of Oliver Wendell Holme’s “The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table.” Regularly since that day, the ladies of Sylvanian continued to gather to discuss works of literature. They meet once a month. September through May, with the membership by invitation only remaining at thirty.

The purpose of the club since its inception has been “to read, listen, share, and be aware of the world around us.” The ladies of the club live by words from Audobon: “Use the talents you possess: the woods would be silent if no birds sang but those who could sing best.” In keeping with the group’s first study, a message from an 1884 Address given by Oliver Wendall Holmes carries this motto a step further, and captures the spirit of the Ladies Literary Club of Sylvanian, Ohio. Holmes noted, “life is action and passion, it is required of a man that he should share the passion and action of his time at peril of being judged not to have lived.” Through what is certainly lively discussion not only of arts and literature but also the events of the day, the ladies of the club have celebrated and participated in their times, their discussions weaving their way through the fabric of each of their lives in ways both big and small and perhaps even they didn’t always realize. Their discussions may have helped shape their actions, and their actions may have helped shaped their times.

It is truly a gift that the Ladies Literary Club of Sylvanian, Ohio have continued for 100 years. It is a privilege to be among members of an organization which, in the words of one of its members, “will have touched three centuries.” I wish both past and present members of the Ladies Literary Club of Sylvanian, Ohio my heartiest congratulations on this momentous achievement, and wish them well as they are poised to begin a new century.

HONORING RICHARD CHAMBERS OF ALMA HIGH SCHOOL—ALMA, MICHIGAN “PRINCIPAL OF THE YEAR”

HON. DAVE CAMP
OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride that I rise today to recognize Mr. Richard Chambers as “Principal of the Year.” From the great State of Michigan. As the Principal and Chief Administrator of Alma High School, in Alma, Michigan, Richard has promoted and maintained a solid system of education for eight-hundred students and eighty faculty over the past six years. Prior to his position at Alma High School, Mr. Chambers fulfilled several roles as principal, and business associate for many great institutions throughout Michigan. Certainly, his participation with groups such as the local rotary club, the Michigan Department of Education Review Committee, the North Central Association evaluation team, and the National Association of Secondary School Principals, demonstrate the strong and influential leader Mr. Chambers is within his community. With a successful career beginning in 1964—when he started as a high school teacher and interim principal—Richard has enriched the lives of thousands of students.

Based in a small town of roughly ten-thousand citizens, Alma High School has been selected a Class B, Michigan Exemplary School. Of the eight-hundred students who attend classes at Alma High School, 75 percent are expected to continue their education at some level of a post-secondary institution. This multiplicity of success is a direct result of Dick’s interaction with his students and faculty. Today’s society invests incredible merit in school to work, and the broad curriculum offered at Alma High produces great incentive for post-secondary education.

Much of the success of today’s public school system depends on strong leadership from both teachers and the administration. The honor of “Principal of the Year” establishes a sense of security for the community to know such a special person is leading their school. This is the type of leader every school district needs. Alma High School is blessed to have the strength of Richard Chambers as their Principal. We know the parents, students, and faculty associated with Alma High School, join me in recognizing Mr. Richard Chambers for his outstanding accomplishment.

THE BAHAI’S IN IRAN
Hon. Joseph R. Pitts
Of Pennsylvania
In the House of Representatives
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, I am deeply concerned about recent reports that the government of Iran has executed a member of the Bahai faith, and imprisoned and persecuted others to death solely because of their religious beliefs. In addition, reports suggest that Iranian officials arrested 32 Bahai teachers in a crackdown against those on the Bahai faith. The recent execution of Mr. Ruhollah Rowhani for proselytism is the first execution of a Bahai in six years and, unfortunately, it was accompanied by the death sentence of other Bahais. Just last week, two of these sentenced men had their death sentence confirmed. Mr. Soroush Nashgh hadam and Mr. Hedayat Kashifi Najafabadi were arrested in the fall of 1997 for holding meetings for religious “family life.” Reports reveal that after no legal representation at secret trials at the beginning of 1998, the two men were sentenced do death. Unfortunately, there are other Bahais in similar situations.

Mr. Speaker, the government of Iran must be held accountable for violating the fundamental human right of religious liberty for the Baha’i and other religious minority believers in Iran. If the leadership of Iran desires to play a role in the international community, they must uphold religious liberty and all fundamental human rights for all people.

I, along with other Members of Congress, Senators and the American people will be watching closely to see whether or not the Iranian government protects the rights of its people, or continues to blatantly violate international human rights norms.

IN MEMORY OF THE HONORABLE FRANK PIOMBO
Hon. Anna G. Eshoo
Of California
In the House of Representatives
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. ESHOO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today before the House to celebrate the life of a most distinguished citizen and incomparable friend. Mr. Frank Piombo, retired Superior Court Judge Frank Piombo, who passed away peacefully at his home in Redwood City, California, on September 21, 1998. A Memorial Mass was held at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church in Judge Piombo’s parish on September 25th.

Born and reared in San Francisco, Frank Piombo was a resident of Redwood City for 51 years, making the Bay Area his lifelong home. For this decision we, the residents of San Mateo County, are very grateful because we shall forever remember the contributions he made both to our community and our country.

To his country, Frank gave years of dedicated and courageous service. During World War II, he served in the 100th U.S. Infantry, earning a Bronze Star and a Purple Heart. After the War, he continued to serve in the Army Reserves, achieving the rank of Colonel.

A distinguished graduate of the California educational system, Judge Piombo did undergraduate work at Stanford and the University of California at Berkeley, graduating from U.C. at Hastings College of the Law in 1948. To his community, Frank Piombo devoted himself to a career in public service. He was a Deputy District Attorney for San Mateo County, as well as City Attorney for the City of Millbrae. In 1971, he was appointed a Municipal Court Judge, and later that year Governor Ronald Reagan elevated Frank Piombo to the Superior Court.

His devotion to the community extended beyond his judicial duties. He was active in the Elks, the Eagles, and the Sons of Italy. He was known for contriving some of the best practical jokes of his colleagues and these stories are now legendary. His love of card games was a well established fact, and he was known to show up at a moment’s notice. Unfortunately, the photography photographer forgot about their wedding and only showed up at the end of their ceremony. Ironically, Al and Irene knew they had a special bond. Irene was the oldest of eight daughters and, in the early days of their courtship, usually had a difficult time getting rid of her sisters when Al would come calling. From the beginning, they were a tight-knit couple. Unfortunately, the wedding photographer forgot about their wedding and only showed up at the end of their ceremony. Ironically, Al and Irene knew they had a special bond. Irene was the oldest of eight daughters and, in the early days of their courtship, usually had a difficult time getting rid of her sisters when Al would come calling. From the beginning, they were a tight-knit couple.

While Al and Irene are officially married, one could not know it from watching them. Like many people half their age, these two are always on the go. In recent years, they have traveled to Hawaii, England, Scotland, Florida, and their favorite destination, Las Vegas. In all of our days, we have rarely seen a Catholic woman like Irene with such a serious afflication for gambling on the nickel slot machines! Al tells us the reason he and Irene enjoy their travel so much is because they are casually spending their kids’ inheritance. Al, himself, has a tremendous reputation and has made local headlines for his marvelous garden where he produces garlic, parsley, lettuce, beans, and even tomatoes to feed the entire tire state. In fact, Al has shared seeds with us both and his reputation continues to grow. He also enjoys spending time at the local Elks Lodge and VFW Hall in Dover.

Mr. Speaker, we ask that you join us and our colleagues in recognizing the 50th anniversary of these two very special people. Al and Irene Dalpiaz are among the kindest people we know and it is only fitting that the House of Representatives pay tribute to them today.

SPEECH OF HON. MAJOR R. OWENS OF NEW YORK IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Thursday, October 8, 1998

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, on the occasion of the historic vote to launch an impeachment inquiry I have joined with the overwhelming majority of Democrats to vote for an alternative compromise. This action has allowed us to avoid destructive fragmentation and continue our united leadership of the majority of Americans. At the end of this statement I will attach my original position on this matter which remains as my present position. We are dealing with sins, not high crimes and misdemeanors. Government should not invade the jurisdiction of religion and the clergy.

Leadership for a difficult and thorny national situation is the challenge faced by minority Democrats who can do nothing to completely halt the abuses of the Republican majority. Despite the Democratic alternative, an impeachment process that is highly partisan and vicious will go forward. But now the Republicans can never say that they have bi-partisan support. Joining with fellow Democrats I voted for an alternative compromise in order to continue the process of cementing our position with that of the majority of Americans. I wanted to personally just say no; to drop the impeachment inquiry. Reluctantly I left the highest ground; however, the Democratic compromise call for time limits and scope limits on the Judiciary Committee process still represents high ground. On October 8th the record will show that Democrats sacrificed some credibility in order to contribute to a resolution and enough tomatoes to feed the entire tire state. In fact, Al has shared seeds with us both and his reputation continues to grow. He also enjoys spending time at the local Elks Lodge and VFW Hall in Dover.

I wish to offer my congratulations to her people and her leaders. Taiwan has had a remarkable record of accomplishment in recent years, and deserves recognition as a model for other nations and our thanks for its constructive partnership with our nation.

Taiwan is a model for other nations in two ways especially. It has re-established, in living proof that democracy works. Not only were the current leaders of Taiwan elected in free and fair elections, but they have not flinched from the most difficult moments emerging democracies face: turning over offices to others when their own party loses, and sometimes even allowing open competition for office, but have promoted open discussion of the full range of issues facing their nation. Despite intense pressures, they have insisted that the people of Taiwan have the right to determine their nation's future.

Second, Taiwan is a model of a stable economy. Just two years ago, it was grouped with other Asian nations with successful economies. Today, it stands virtually alone, while those other nations are in turmoil.

Unfortunately, however, when Taiwan's example and its assistance could be most beneficial to the world community, it continues to be isolated from that community. Restoration of its membership in the United Nations would end that isolation. It would make sense to invite Taiwan to be a full and willing partner in international activities. Now more than ever we especially need its economic resources and expertise in dealing with today's crises, and I am convinced that its Asian neighbors and other developing nations could benefit greatly from its counsel.

I also hope that the leaders of mainland China will have the wisdom to learn from Taiwan's example, and to see that democracy works. We must also let them know that aggression and coercion, whether implicit or explicit, do not work.

I wish also to take this occasion to congratulate President Lee Teng-hui on his accomplishments as the Republic's leader, and his success in steering his country through difficult economic and political waters. As we know, President Lee is an alumnus of Cornell University in my district in Ithaca, New York. The people of Ithaca were delighted to have him as a guest, and would all be delighted to see him again.

Finally, I would like to thank Stephen Chen for his service as Taiwan's chief representative in Washington. Those of us who have had the honor and pleasure of meeting Mr. Chen and working with him appreciate his service in maintaining and improving the bridge between us and his country.

IN RECOGNITION OF JOHN DORIN,
MAYOR OF THE YEAR

HON. JOSEPH M. McDADE
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. McDADE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a public servant whose devotion to his community is renowned, Mayor John Dorin of Montoursville, Pennsylvania. Mayor Dorin has been a pillar of fairness. He has been a leader in an organization of mayors of the Boroughs of Pennsylvania as the tenth recipient of the Outstanding Mayor Award.

John Dorin has accomplished much in the 16 years he has served as mayor of Montoursville Borough. A leader in the true sense of the word, Mayor Dorin has been able to bring together service organizations, business people and citizens to undertake and complete necessary community projects. He was instrumental in organizing the Montoursville Chamber of Commerce, Montoursville Crime Watch, the DARE program, and Montoursville Senior Citizens Organization.

In 1996, Montoursville suffered through a tragic loss of family, friends and young people in the crash of TWA Flight 800, which carried members of the Montoursville High School French Club and their chaperones on an educational trip to France. As news of the crash reached Montoursville, Mayor Dorin quickly came forward to help the families of the victims. He tirelessly advocated on behalf of the families to get information and services, and helped coordinate the efforts of the community and the school district as Montoursville mourned and coped with the tragedy.

John Dorin has always been ready and willing to help his neighbors, and his long and successful tenure as mayor has been marked by compassion, leadership and efficiency. His selection as Pennsylvania Outstanding Mayor is well-deserved, and is endorsed by the Montoursville Borough Council and the Borough's police chief, school superintendent, and borough secretary.

Mr. Speaker, Mayor John Dorin has touched the lives of many people in Montoursville and in Pennsylvania's 10th Congressional District. I ask that you and our colleagues join me in congratulating John Dorin on being selected as Pennsylvania Outstanding Mayor, and in commending him for his shining example of citizenship and public service.

IN HONOR OF LOUIS ANTHONY TRANGHESE
HON. RICHARD E. NEAL
OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to invite my colleagues to join me in recognizing my friend, Louis Anthony Tranghese, who is retiring after 49 years with the Construction and General Laborers' Local Union No. 999 in Springfield, Massachusetts. A leader in his profession, a devoted family man, a friend to many Louis has served his community with pride and distinction. On Friday, October 16, 1998, a testimonial dinner will be held in his honor, "is a tribute long overdue."

Born and raised in the historic South End of Springfield, Lois Tranghese learned at an early age the importance of organized labor in our society. At age 14, he watched as his father Carlo, Arthur Coia and James Merloni played active roles in a newspaper strike. It was a defining moment, and from that point Louis knew that he wanted to dedicate his life to the concerns of working men and women.

In 1948, the graduated from Technical High School and soon joined Local Union No. 999. It was the beginning of a remarkable career that would last a half-century. From his humble start as a waterboy to Business Manager, a position which he held for over twenty years, Louis Tranghese became a leader in an organization he cared deeply about. He was always proud to call himself a laborer.

While Louis was busy with his professional career, he also found time to start a family. In 1956, he married the former Jodie Monette, his wife and partner of nearly 40 years. The couple had four daughters: Carla, Gina, Lisa and Trisha who today own and operate the Dance Connection in East Longmeadow, Massachusetts. The Tranghese's are equally proud of their six grandchildren and three granddaughters.

Mr. Speaker, I ask all the Members of the United States House of Representatives to join me in offering our sincere gratitude to Louis Tranghese. His service, dedication and commitment to the Local Union No. 999 has been extraordinary. He has been a reflection of what is best about America. As he prepares to retire, let us wish him health, happiness and nothing but the best in the years ahead.

TRIBUTE TO THE HONORABLE GERALD SOLOMON

SPEECH OF
HON. NORMAN SISISKY
OF VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, October 6, 1998

Mr. SISISKY. Mr. Speaker, JERRY SOLOMON has been a friend of mine for a long time. We are not friends because we always agree with each other. We don't. Where we do agree is that JERRY SOLOMON has a rock solid commitment to national security.

There have been many times over the last few years when I have gone to him, as the Rules Committee chair, on critical national security issues. He has stood up for our young men and women in uniform every single time. And I have also had a chance to travel with him overseas.

We have both played a part in the North Atlantic Assembly, the parliamentary arm of NATO.

I have attended North Atlantic assembly meetings for 15 years, and I can assure you JERRY SOLOMON is one of the most highly respected American participants.

And this is coming from members of parliament throughout Europe. Believe me, one thing I've learned over the years is: our counterparts in Europe have high standards and long memories.

Their respect for JERRY SOLOMON is built on many years of experience in government and diplomacy.

In a world where the most valuable common currency is one's word, one's integrity, and one's honor, JERRY SOLOMON is a very wealthy man.

He has been a pillar of fairness. He has been a staunch advocate of national security. And he will be hard to replace.

My wife and I wish JERRY and his wife the very best as they begin the next stage of their life together.

I am honored to have served with you, and even more honored to have you as a friend.
HON. THOMAS M. BARRETT
OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. BARRETT of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, The Black Health Coalition of Wisconsin will celebrate tonight its 10th anniversary and its commitment to improving the health status of African-Americans in the state of Wisconsin.

Since 1988, the Black Health Coalition has dedicated itself to insuring that all people in Wisconsin enjoy equitable and comprehensive health. At its inception, twelve organizations that shared a common commitment bonded together to forge a partnership in health. Their efforts have translated into today’s Black Health Coalition which reaches the lives of thousands of people in Wisconsin.

Today’s celebration has an appropriate theme: “And Still We Rise.” It is appropriate because it speaks to the commitment of the Black Health Coalition of Wisconsin to continue its important work. It is appropriate because it indicates the Black Health Coalition’s pride in its work. And it is appropriate because it conveys the message that the Black Health Coalition works on behalf of everyone and excluded no one.

I congratulate the Black Health coalition on its ten years of remarkable achievements and fantastic efforts on behalf of the people of Wisconsin, and especially the people of my home city of Milwaukee.

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to James J. Deice, the 1998 Person of the Year of the Italian-American Association of Luzerne County. I am proud to have been asked to participate in the Association’s annual Columbus Day Dinner on October 11.

Jim played both football and track as a student at West Pittston High School. He majored in English at the University of Scranton and graduated with a B.A. in Education in 1969. He later obtained his Master’s degree from West Chester University, Penn State University and University of Scranton.

After graduating from college, Jim took a teaching job in Royersford, Pennsylvania but in 1972, he returned to Northeastern Pennsylvania to teach English at Pittston Area Senior High School. Jim also coached Pittston Area’s track, football and wrestling teams. He coached the wrestling team to its first-ever District Title in 1996–97. For this achievement, he was honored by his fellow coaches as Coach of the Year. He retired from coaching in 1997. That same year, Jim received the Gerard M. Musto Teacher of the Year Award from the National Honor Society at Pittston Area.

In addition to teaching and coaching, Jim has made his commitment to our community clear by his involvement in numerous activities outside of school. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, UNICO, and the Serradifalco Society. He is Chairman of the Pittston City Parking Authority and is active with the Pittston Tomato Festival Committee, co-chairing the parade for that yearly event. For five years, Jim chaired the track-and-field events for the Special Olympics of Luzerne County. During the 10 years Jim has been a member of the Italian-American Association, he has served as President and chaired several committees. He is currently the Chairman of the Association’s Board of Director.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to bring to the many accomplishments of Jim Deice to the attention of my colleagues. Jim is a community leader and outstanding role model for the youths he helps to shape each day. I applaud the Italian-American Association for their choice of honoree this year and send my best wishes to Jim and his family as he accepts this prestigious honor.

TRIBUTE TO THE HONORABLE GERALD SOLOMON
SPEECH OF
HON. JOHN D. DINGELL
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, October 6, 1998

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize my good friend and colleague who has served his constituents and the United States well during his tenure in Congress. He has served this great institution for the last 20 years as a Member of the United States House of Representatives, and a total of 31 years as a public servant.

Congressman SOLOMON and I have worked together on many issues sometimes on opposite sides, but we have remained friends and always strived for bipartisanship on issues of importance to our constituents and to the people of the United States.

My friend, “Cod-ruler” SOLOMEN’s service on the Rules Committee is exemplary and he will be missed.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring an extraordinary man who has spent his career as a public servant helping others. I will miss his wisdom, but I know that he will not be far away. I salute him and his accomplishments. I have enjoyed working with him in the House of Representatives.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. MICHAEL DOSIK OF JOHN T. MATHER HOSPITAL
HON. MICHAEL P. FORBES
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. FORBES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in the U.S. House of Representatives to join my voice with the John T. Mather Hospital community as we honor Dr. Michael Dosik for his many years of outstanding service and leadership, including his tenure as the chief of Mather Hospital’s Division of Hematology/Oncology since 1981.

On Friday evening, October 23, hundreds of friends, volunteers and staff will gather for Mather Hospital’s 33rd annual “One Enchanted Evening” fundraising dinner. At this year’s gala, Dr. Dosik will be honored with the “Theodore Roosevelt Award” for his dedicated volunteer service to Mather Hospital and the community it serves. This year, in recognition of October as National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the proceeds from Mather Hospital’s annual benefit will go to the Fortunato Breast Health Center and Breast Cancer Treatment.

It is fitting that Dr. Dosik should be honored on the same evening that Mather Hospital will raise money for breast cancer treatment. Since receiving his medical degree from Cornell University in 1966, Dr. Dosik has dedicated his professional career to the treatment of malignant diseases. As an oncology-ologist, Dr. Dosik is recognized for his continuing efforts to introduce innovative therapeutic interventions to his patients. He is greatly respected by peers and patients alike for his medical insight and compassionate, humane approach to treating the person, as well as the disease.

That Mather Hospital’s October 23, benefit for the Fortunato Breast Health Center and Breast Cancer Treatment is of particular importance to Dr. Dosik, for he serves as the Center’s Co-Medical Director and chairs the weekly breast cancer conference. He has also made significant contributions as an active member of the American Cancer Society and Long Island Cancer Council. He resides in Setauket, Long Island with his wife Lyn and their Daughter Diana. He and Lyn also have a 23-year-old daughter, Lia.

So, Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives to join the entire John T. Mather Hospital community as we honor Dr. Michael Dosik, a very deserving recipient of the “Theodore Roosevelt Award” for his dedicated service to the hospital and our entire Long Island community.

THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA’S NATIONAL DAY
HON. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my congratulations to the Republic of China, Tomorrow, October 10, 1998, is Taiwan’s National Day. Taiwan is a country fondly known as the “Little Tiger.” Rightfully so, Taiwan has a strong economy and is an excellent trading partner for countries like the United States. In fact, Taiwan is our sixth largest trading partner.

In the last few years, Taiwan’s economy has grown at a spectacular rate and has become one of the wealthiest nations in the world. Taiwan’s wealth can be seen in their strong manufacturing industry and in their citizens’ commitment to make Taiwan an effective trading partner. Taiwan has done remarkably well during the Asian financial crisis, and I hope that Taiwan will continue to prosper.

I wish President Lee Teng-hui, Vice President J. Vincent Siew, Minister Jason Hu and Ambassador Stephen Chen of the Republic of China continued success in leading Taiwan and their citizens.
IN RECOGNITION OF JAMES F. McCONNELL UPON HIS RETIREMENT AS PRESIDENT AND CEO OF THE FLUSHING SAVINGS BANK

HON. GARY L. ACKERMAN
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. ACKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to join with my constituents of the Fifth Congressional District of the State of New York and the staff of the Flushing Savings Bank as they honor James F. McConnell upon his retirement as the bank’s president and CEO.

Mr. McConnell’s background is both diverse and effective. Prior to his election as president of the Flushing Savings Bank he held prominent management positions with AMBAC Industries of Garden City, New York and the EDO Corporation of College Point. He joined the Flushing Savings Bank in 1974 as Vice-president and Treasurer. Realizing his keen sense of leadership and a most effective approach to getting things done, the bank appointed him president in 1981, appointed him to its board of directors in 1983 and elected him Chief Executive Officer in 1990.

Mr. McConnell’s multiple leadership talents reach far beyond the Flushing Savings Bank. He has served on the Board of Directors of the Community Bankers Association of New York State from 1987 to 1997 and served as the Association’s Chairman from 1990–1991. He was highly instrumental in negotiations which led to the successful merger of the Savings Bank of New York State with the New York League of Savings Institutions, thereby creating the Community Bankers Association.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues in the House of Representatives to join with me and honor the memory of James F. McConnell, who has imparted a sense of professionalism, leadership and community responsibility. His record is one of dynamism and productivity which readily emerges as a yardstick by which all future efforts are measured.

TRIBUTE TO DR. TOM GIUGNI

HON. STEPHEN HORN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. HORN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Dr. Tom Giugni, who is retiring as Executive Director of the Association of California School Administrators. Dr. Giugni’s retirement marks the end of a 40-year career of service in public education.

Public schools are filled with dedicated people whose main objective is to make life better for the students and the communities which they serve. But on occasion, there are those who outshine even the brightest educators. Dr. Giugni is such a person. Teachers, parents, administrators, and the business community have consistently looked to him for ideas, direction, and inspiration in serving students of our community.

Dr. Giugni’s career began proudly in 1956 as a substitute teacher in St. Helena, California. Five years later, he had worked his way up to the level of principal in the St. Helena Unified School District, and he has never looked back. He has served six different California school districts, including four as Superintendent. I had the pleasure of working with Dr. Giugni when, during his tenure as Superintendent of the Long Beach Unified School District, he served on the Education Advisory Committee to the School of Education at California State University, Long Beach, where I was president.

He was a dynamic Superintendent. Under his leadership, the Long Beach district became one of the most decentralized in the United States. The bureaucracy was cut back. Creativity and innovation became the watchwords in the schools. Parent councils were created. Parents played an increasing role. Principals worked to encourage the best ideas and performance from their faculty.

For the first time in California the elementary and secondary schools were closely linked with a major university, California State University, Long Beach. Many post-secondary institutions have their education majors intern in the schools. But the CSULB Long Beach Unified School District was a true partnership in which university students and faculty members as well as student organizations across the university involved themselves with the schools and their students.

Dr. Giugni has further served California through active participation in numerous civic and professional organizations, including as a member of area Chambers of Commerce and Industry Education Councils, an advisor to California colleges and universities, and an advocate of events to fight cancer and drug abuse. His knowledge and expertise have been recognized by several respected educational journals who have published his articles, and he has received countless awards honoring his leadership.

Dr. Giugni committed his career to improving education. His genuine concern for students, his vision, and his ability to rally support for public schools will be greatly missed. All of us who know him wish him well and doubt that he will be inactive in retirement.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. HARISH MALHOTA OF JOHN T. MATHER HOSPITAL

HON. MICHAEL P. FORBES
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. FORBES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in the House of Representatives to join with the staff and patrons of John T. Mather Hospital as they honor Dr. Harish Malhota of Shoreham, Long Island, with the “Theodore Roosevelt Award” for his dedicated service to Mather Hospital and the Long Island community.

On Friday evening, October 23, hundreds of friends, volunteers and staff will gather for Mather Hospital’s 33rd annual “One Enchanted Evening” fundraising dinner. This year, in recognition of October as National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the proceeds from Mather Hospital’s annual benefit will go to the Fortunato Breast Health Center and Breast Cancer Treatment.

A native of India, where he earned distinction as a “Gold Medal” doctor at the University of New Delhi for his work in surgery, Dr. Malhota has achieved great success as a surgeon because he remains an avid student of his craft. A voracious reader, Dr. Malhota is dedicated to the continual development of his talent for saving the sick and injured. “If you don’t read a lot and keep constant,” Dr. Malhota said, “you can’t take care of your patients.” Because of his lifelong pursuit of knowledge and inner desire to make the absolute most of his skills, Dr. Malhota is able to take very good care of his patients.

It was while researching innovative surgical technologies that Dr. Malhota learned of the bold, new bone marrow and stem cell transplants. Moved by the positive results of these surgical techniques, Dr. Malhota founded the first Bone Marrow and Peripheral Blood Stem Cell Transplantation Program in Suffolk County, one of the most successful programs of its kind in the United States.

Whereas not working with his patients or reading up on the latest surgical techniques, Dr. Malhota is usually found on the golf course, or spending time with his wife Maureen and six-year-old son Kiran.

So, Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives to join the entire John T. Mather Hospital community as we honor Dr. Harish Malhota as a deserving recipient of the “Theodore Roosevelt Award” for his dedicated service to the hospital and our entire Long Island community.

CITIZENS’ VOICE CELEBRATES 20TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the Citizens’ Voice newspaper of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, which is celebrating its twentieth anniversary on October 9, 1998. Despite tremendous obstacles, the Citizen’s Voice has survived and grown to publish a newspaper in a competitive market.

In the fall of 1978, 205 employees of the Wilkes-Barre Publishing Company who were on strike decided to create their own paper. That decision led to the publishing of the first edition of the Citizens’ Voice. Since then, the paper has grown to a circulation of approximately 38,000. During that time, the Voice has received numerous awards from local and state professional organizations.

The Voice’s first “home” was a building for demolition by the Redevelopment Authority on North Main Street in Wilkes-Barre. In early 1979, the Voice moved to the mezzanine of the Hotel Sterling in the heart of downtown Wilkes-Barre. In June of 1984, the Voice moved to its present headquarters on North Washington Street in Wilkes-Barre.

Mr. Speaker, not too many cities the size of Wilkes-Barre have two daily newspapers anymore, but I think the presence of both papers is good. As competition, the economy of coverage provided to area residents. I applaud the Citizens’ Voice for its twenty years of excellence and wish the paper future success.
CONGRATULATIONS TO POLISH AMERICAN VETERANS’ CLUB OF WILBRAHAM, MA ON ITS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. RICHARD E. NEAL
OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I would like to today congratulate the Polish American Veterans,' (PAV) Club of Wilbraham, Massachusetts on its 50th anniversary.

The PAV in Wilbraham has for half a century played a vital role in its community. In celebration of this noteworthy occasion, I take this opportunity to express my personal congratulations to each and every member of the Club, and to enter the complete history of the Polish American Veterans’ Club of Wilbraham, Massachusetts into today’s CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

The History

The hostilities of World War II had come to a close and the veterans were returning to their homes where their families were anxiously waiting for them to come home. At this time, local Organizations and merchants also combined their efforts to extend their greetings throughout the “Home Day.”

In most foreign nations and women who were being honored at these events formed a new segment in our community, “Veterans of the Armed Forces of the United States.” The loose social association of these men held in the months following their return coupled with their similarity of interests, ambitions and background inspired the idea for the formation of an organizational segment in the welfare of the local veterans.

Uniting any group into a functioning organization required the leadership of a person who was familiar with the aspirations and problems of the group, along with a deep interest in their progress. The Veterans of the Tri-Town area were fortunate in having a man who qualified in every respect as an organizer. His interest in the welfare of this body must have had a great influence on leading them into organization. The man, Father Hrycak, was a member of the Order of the Immaculate Conception Parish. His unity efforts during these important organizational meetings resulted in the formation of a strong “Polish American Veterans’ Club.”

Father called the first meeting on February 23, 1947, where various types of Veteran’s groups were discussed. A committee, headed by Edward Haluch, was formed to do research into an organization that would function best in this area. The new club was to be founded by the Veterans of Polish extraction from the Indian Orchard, Ludlow and Wilbraham area to encourage social acquaintances among members for the advancement of social, educational and economic interests, ambitions and background inspired the idea for the formation of an organizational segment in the welfare of the local veterans.

The first meeting was held in the Holy Family Catholic Church on Main Street in Wilbraham. The initial meeting was attended by 20 members who signed the club’s application. The club’s first business was to choose a name. It was decided “Polish American Veterans Club of Wilbraham.”

Founded on the principle of social unity and community service, the club prospered in the ensuing years. From its inception, a vigorous athletic program was sponsored, the most outstanding was the baseball team which drew an enthusiastic following. They identified the organization throughout the Western Massachusetts area as they captured the Knights of Columbus Tournament in 1949 and were runner-up for the Western Massachusetts Amateur Baseball Championship in 1950. The basketball team captured the 1954 championship playing against other clubs throughout the area.

In addition to the organized athletic activities, the intramural basketball program was initiated to provide a venue for games or golf matches filled what spaces remained in the sports calendar. Trophies representing championships in every major sport are held by the club.

In 1949, the Club Members remade the old dairy building on 1⁄2 Action Street as their temporary home and for ten years it served as an informal home for members. The Good management of the small club house plus the aid of the members had placed the organization in a financial position to build the new quarters which was possible. The purpose of this venture was to house all the club activities and to serve as a meeting place for the community.

A building committee was appointed and in January 1959 at a specially called meeting, the plans for the new building were accepted by a vote of the body. The dedication of the “Polish American Veterans Club” was held on January 30, 1960.

The membership broadened its scope in community services and expanded our sports program to include the youth in the area by sponsoring baseball, girls’ softball, hockey, soccer and basketball. We also sponsored a visit of the West Point Glee Club for a performance at the Springfield Auditorium. Many Club Members and their families had the pleasure of meeting the cadets personally by sharing their homes for an evening stay.

The Polish American Veterans were instrumental in the renovation of the Kosciusko Education and Training Academy. The Sunshine Village and many charitable organizations receive annual donations. The Ludlow Hospital accepted a sizable donation for their fund drive. The cost of a classroom was given to Christ the King Social Center. A new Church Altar was presented to the Immaculate Conception Church. The Fire and Police Departments in the Tri-Town area received life-saving and communication equipment. The area libraries are given hard cover books periodically. The annual United Polish Clubs Scholarship Dinner-Dance is held in the Veterans’ Ballroom. Biannual bus trips to the Holyoke Soldiers Home for Members, the Auxiliary, Polish pierogi’s, rye bread, horseradish, kielbasa and home baked pastries plus prize winning money for Bingo Games which is shared with the resident patient veterans. The Post also adopted a wing at the Holyoke Soldiers Home for which we funded interior decorations and supplies.

The greatest highlight in the Club history was the founding of the “Polish American Auxiliary.” The women organized in 1952 under the same policy and the same aims as the Veterans. They too have been indispensable in providing assistance to the Club. They have been a mainstay in devising fund raising methods. Our major fund raisers are the Fish Day, the Auxiliary’s “Minute Men” mascot in the parade, the Labor Day Weekend Picnic and the Annual Breakfast-Brunch.

The Auxiliary was the founding of the “Polish American Auxiliary.” The women organized in 1952 under the same policy and the same aims as the Veterans. Our major fund raisers are the Fish Day, the Auxiliary’s “Minute Men” mascot in the parade, the Labor Day Weekend Picnic and the Annual Breakfast-Brunch.

In June 1962, the Wilbraham Post became affiliated with the Polish American Veterans of Massachusetts. Our Post hosted State Conventions in 1964, 1970, 1976 and 1984. The most outstanding was the 100th Anniversaries Convention and Parade complete with 15 State Posts and their Marching Bands. The march was led by our “Minute Men” dressed in Revolutionary War Uniforms. Some of our contributions to the year-long celebrations of the United States 200th Birthday Party. Many of our Club Veterans and Auxiliary Members served as officers in the State Department of the Polish American Veterans of Massachusetts. At this date, 6 Club Veterans have been elected State Commanders and Auxiliary Members were elected State Presidents.

The Town of Wilbraham generously deeded to the Polish American Veterans surplus Pine School land along with a parcel which was taken from the Polish American Veterans by eminent domain for School purposes. This enabled the Club to construct additional paved off-foacs parking, an outdoor pavilion and open land for recreational activity.

Socially we continue to celebrate the annual Dinner-Dance; the Joint Installation of Officers; a Spring-Fling; a Steak Barbecue; a Hawaiian Night; the Membership and Auxiliary Men’s Night; the Auxiliary Women’s Night; Bowling and Golf Tournament Banquets. This gives all our members and their friends additional opportunity for continued fellowship in a most friendly atmosphere.

There is a more serious side to this organization. Annually, the Members and the Auxiliary gather in their Parade Dress for a march to church to pray for the souls of the deceased Members and Comrades who passed in battle. The Gold Star Mothers were always revered at the ceremonies. Services and wreath placing were also conducted at “Our Lady of Peace” monument adjacent to the Immaculate Church, at the 1967 dedicated “Polish American Veterans Triangle” and concluding at our quarters “Memorial Monument Green.” The Full Military Honors given the deceased are witnessed by the many who gather to join in prayer for their souls.

Many of our Members serve or have served the Community and State in various capacities: Town Councils, Community Council, Senior Councils, in elected Political Offices and other service areas. The Polish American Veterans have been a guiding influence in our community.

CELEBRATION OF THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BUTTS COUNTY COURTHOUSE IN JACKSON, GEORGIA

HON. MAC COLLINS
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. COLLINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the 100th Anniversary of the Butts County Courthouse in Jackson, Georgia. The anniversary celebration is being held tomorrow, and I wish to submit the remarks I prepared for the occasion for the Congressional Record.

I want to express my deep appreciation to the citizens of Butts County for inviting me to be a part of the 100th Anniversary celebration for our county courthouse. During the long and rich history of our county, this beautiful building has endured the test of time. It has long out-lived its predecessors which were all destroyed by fire.

And over the past century, it has seen many fine men and women elected by their fellow citizens to honorably serve Butts County. It is good to see so many of those who have served here today for this celebration. I myself had the honor to have served as Chairman of the County Commission.

It was 22 years ago Julie, my family and I began our public service. But I had public service running through my veins long before I ran for office. As most of you know, I was born here in Jackson at the O.B. Howell Clinic. In fact, I was spanked to life by three-term Commission Chairman O.B. Howell himself. I was raised by a mother who was a Flovilla City Councilwoman and a father who always said he wanted to serve on the County Commission.

But my career in public service would never have occurred without the support, hard work and endurance of my wife, Julie, and my children. I began that career right here at home as Chairman of the Butts County Commission. I then moved to the Georgia State Senate where I served two terms.

Today, I have the honor of serving as a United States Representative in the peoples' house in our nation's capitol. I would not have been able to persevere unless my family had been at my side through all of those years and all those campaigns. I also owe the people of Butts County a debt of gratitude for the support you have given me. I regret that state politics prevents me from representing you in the United States Congress.

I have often been asked, "Is it worth the time, the effort and the money?" My answer is always, "Yes." I have always had a strong desire to give something back to the community, the state and the country that have been so good to me. And, at each step of the way, I have grown a little more.

In many respects, the most challenging and rewarding office I have held is County Commissioner. I was young, energetic and a known- it-all. Serving as a Commissioner taught me the importance of public service running through my veins long before I ran for office.

During my four years there, I had the opportunity to participate in shaping the laws on issues of great importance to us all—education, taxes, crime, the economy and many others.

In 1983, I took on a new challenge—United States Representative for Third Congressional District of Georgia. I have found that many of the issues and concerns in which I was involved as a Butts County Commissioner and as a Georgia State Senator are also issues that concern the Congress—only on a national scale. But while we in Congress engage in great debates over our national defense, the direction of our government, the fate of the President and the future of our children, I am always reminded from where I come.

Shortly after my election to Congress in 1992, I received a letter from my childhood friend, Frank Duke. In that letter Frank wrote, "It is a long way from Flovilla, Georgia to Washington, D.C." He also enclosed a photograph of the town of Flovilla. We are now grown and gone our separate ways. But Frank's letter and photograph remind me of the hopes and ambitions we had.

And it reminds me of the values and principles we were taught by our parents, our teachers, and the wonderful people of a small town. I have kept that letter and photograph to this day. They are a daily reminder of the lessons learned with Frank and the others so many years ago.

As I conclude, I would like to read to you the quote by the great poet Longfellow which is printed in the dedication of the History of Butts County Georgia. It is worthy of reflection by all those who are elected to serve. It reads:

Each one performs his work and then leaves it
Those that come after him estimate
His influence and the eternal work he leaves.

Thank you and God Bless You.

AUTHORIZING THE COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY TO INVESTIGATE WHETHER SUFFICIENT GROUNDS EXIST FOR THE IMPEACHMENT OF WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

SPEECH OF
HON. JERRY LEWIS
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 8, 1998

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Speaker, the House of Representatives will today make one of the most solemn decisions it can make next to a declaration of war—whether to proceed with a full and fair photographic inquiry into allegations that the President's actions warrant his removal from office. A bipartisan majority of the House, including members of the President's own political party, will support the resolution to hold hearings and further investigate the President's conduct.

The historical significance of today's action does not escape me. This is only the third time in our nation's history that Congress has voted to proceed with an impeachment inquiry. Today, particularly, I feel a burden of responsibility as never before during my years of public service.

Like most Americans, I have weighed very carefully the evidence presented thus far by the Independent Counsel. From the very beginning, I have wanted to give the President every benefit of the doubt. I have wanted to believe that he was telling the truth. But it is now clear that he has not been truthful with the American people, with the Congress, with his staff, and with his own wife and family.

No man, even the President, is above the truth or above the law. Each man and woman must be held accountable to the duly established laws of the United States. In this matter before us, it is very important that the legal process, as outlined in our U.S. Constitution, continue to its conclusion. It means that the Congress, and more specifically, the House Judiciary Committee, will now hold hearings to determine if the President's actions warrant his impeachment.

The time this investigation has taken, and the toll it has taken on our country, is a direct result of the President's efforts to deny the truth and delay the process. He could have—and should have—told the truth from the very beginning but instead he chose repeatedly to lie. Anyone who has served in a court providing knows the importance of taking an oath to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. A violation of that oath is perjury. It is now evident that the President has lied under oath. To maintain the fundamental integrity of our system of government, he must be held accountable for his actions.

These actions have not taken place in a vacuum. From the Oval Office to the President's Cabinet, the President has had a dramatic effect upon our responsibilities at home and abroad. While it is still too early to predict the outcome of this crisis, one thing has become increasingly clear: by his own evasion of the truth, the President's effectiveness and the standing of the United States throughout the world has been severely diminished.

Meanwhile, the work of this Congress is continuing. While the media is focused primarily on the Judiciary Committee's work, Congress continues to address the enormous challenges facing our country and the world. The United States now faces enormous tests on both the domestic and world stage—terrorist bombings, of our embassies, Saddam Hussein's thumping his nose at UN inspections, North Korea's development of nuclear weapons, and an increasingly fragile peace in Northern Ireland. Closer to home, we are addressing real challenges before us—the future of Social Security, improving education, reducing taxes on American families, and averting a government shutdown.

In closing, President Clinton's careful and calculated legal response has not served him or our country well. This is a sad day in our nation's history. The President and the President's staff, and with his own wife and family, and averting a government shutdown.

In closing, President Clinton's careful and calculated legal response has not served him or our country well. This is a sad day in our nation's history. The President and the President's staff, and with his own wife and family, and averting a government shutdown.

TRIBUTE TO HENRY A. SCHMITT

HON. ANNA G. ESHOO
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. ESHOO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Henry A. Schmitt, a widely-known and respected leader of the transportation industry for over 35 years, on the occasion of his retirement from CNF Transportation Inc. at the end of this year. He began his CNF career with a background as a trucking security analyst, working for several Wall Street financial firms in New York City for more than 15 years.

As Vice President of Corporate Relations, Mr. Schmitt manages CNF’s communications with the Wall Street financial investment community. His other responsibilities include CNF’s government and corporate relations, including oversight of the company’s extensive scholarship and charitable contributions activities.

Mr. Schmitt joined CNF from Wall Street in 1978 as Assistant Vice President of Investor Relations. He later became Assistant Vice President and Director of Corporate Relations, and was subsequently named Assistant Vice President and Director of Corporate and Financial Relations. Mr. Schmitt was elected a Vice President in 1988. He is a member of the company’s Executive Administrative Committee and Chairman of the CNF Transportation Inc. Political Action Committee.

Throughout his career, Mr. Schmitt has been active in a number of industry and professional associations. In addition to participating on many special industry task forces and committees, he served on the Executive Committee and was a member of the Policy and Finance Committee of the American Trucking Associations. The Western Highway Institute elected him as President in 1994 and Chairman in 1995. He also served as both President and Chairman of the Cargo Airline Association (when it was the Air Freight Association).

Mr. Schmitt has long been an active member and rose to become chairman of the Public Affairs Council of the Conference Board. He is a past director of the U.S. National Investor Relations Institute, and the founder/chairman of the NIRI’s Silicon Valley Chapter as well as an active member of both the New York and San Francisco Securities Analyst Societies, affiliates of the Financial Analysts Federation.

A past member of the Advisory Board of the California Institute, he also served as CNF’s deputy to both the California Business Roundtable and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce from 1985–1996, and was a member of the California Chamber of Commerce Public Affairs Council. When on Wall Street, he served as chairman of the Motor Carrier Analysts Group, the association of senior security analysts with responsibility for trucking industry securities.

The Citizens Scholarship Foundation of America elected him to serve on its National Advisory Board of Trustees for the period 1995–2001. In 1996, he was appointed a trustee of the Charles Armstrong School, an elementary school in Belmont, California that educates children with problems of dyslexia. He assumed the additional post of school treasurer in 1998. A native of Rochester, New York, Mr. Schmitt attended Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, earning a bachelor’s degree in finance in 1963.

I’m very proud to have the Schmitt family as constituents. I’m grateful for the countless contributions Mr. Schmitt has made throughout his career. Few have contributed as much to their industry and by doing so California’s 14th Congressional District has been enhanced as well.

I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring this exceptional individual who has given so much to his industry, his community, and his country. We wish Henry Schmitt and his wife a happy, healthy and rewarding retirement.

A TRIBUTE TO MR. VINCENT BOVE
OF JOHN T. MATHER HOSPITAL

HON. MICHAEL P. FORBES
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. FORBES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in the House of Representatives to join with the John T. Mather Hospital community as they pay special honor to Vincent Bove of Belle Terre, Long Island, for his 25 years of outstanding leadership in the Hospital’s Board of Directors.

On Friday evening, October 23, hundreds of friends, volunteers and staff will gather for the hospital’s 33rd annual “One Enchanted Evening” fundraising gala. This year, in recognition of October as National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the proceeds from the annual benefit will go to the Fortunato Breast Health Center and Breast Cancer Treatment.

At the gala, Vinny Bove will receive the inaugural “Mather Special Recognition Award” for his tireless efforts to create the hospital’s Ambulatory & Inpatient Surgical Pavilion.

As the owner of Laurel Hill Nurseries, Vinny Bove brought an entrepreneurial spirit and energy to Mather Hospital 25 years ago when he joined the Board of Directors. He has focused that energy on expanding Mather’s medical services while nurturing its financial health. As the Chairman of the Hospital’s Board of Directors, Vinny Bove was instrumental in the successful campaign to raise funds for hospital expansions in 1973 and 1983, as well as separate efforts to finance a new Emergency Room and the Ambulatory & Inpatient Surgical Pavilion.

His efforts to make Mather Hospital the best it can be would make its namesake proud. As Vincent Bove has said, if John T. Mather were to visit his hospital today, “we could show how we’ve cared for this hospital, and how it’s grown over the years. We’ve really done it right.”

Vincent Bove’s efforts to grow John T. Mather Hospital into one of Long Island’s leading health care providers seem almost Herculean to his friends and admirers. But for him, it was truly a labor of love. Mather grew on me over the years, Vinny has said, “It plays a very important part of my life because it’s so important to the community, and I’m a very community-minded person.”

Vincent Bove’s love and selfless dedication to the community is also evident in this public service as the Mayor of the Village of Belle Terre.

So, Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives to join the entire John T. Mather Hospital community in honoring Vincent Bove, a very deserving recipient of the inaugural “Mather Special Recognition Award” for his 25 years of service to the hospital.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD Ð EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

Extensions of Remarks

HON. MICHAEL R. McNULTY
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, October 6, 1998

Mr. McNULTY. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from Massachusetts for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, when I get up in the morning, the first two things I do are to thank God for my life and thank veterans for my way of life. Because if it had not been for the sacrifices of the men and women who wore the uniform of the United States military through the years, I would not have the privilege—as a citizen of the United States—of going around bragging about how we live in the freest and most open democracy on the face of the earth. Freedom is not free. We have paid a tremendous price for it.

I shall always be grateful to those who, like my brother Bill, made the supreme sacrifice. And to people like that man right there, JERRY SOLOMON, who served with distinction in the United States military and then came back to our home region in upstate New York, because a successful businessman, and—more importantly in my eyes—entered a career in public service. From his local government roles to his national leadership role today, he has rendered such outstanding service to us all.

I have been in the United States Congress for half of JERRY SOLOMON’s tenure. And what a privilege it has been, JERRY, over these past 10 years, to serve with you, as a team. Together we have accomplished a great deal for the Capital Region of the State of New York, but I will not go into those items right now.

One day on the House steps, I think I was in my first or second term, we were having pictures taken with our respective constituents. JERRY grabbed me and asked the photographer to take a picture of the two of us. He later inscribed that photo and sent it over to my office and it is on my office wall today—and it will stay there. It says, “Mike—thanks for being part of the one-two-punch for the Capital District.” Let me acknowledge, there was never any doubt about who was number 1 and who was number 2.

But I want to say to my friend, JERRY, what a great honor it has been to be number 2 on that team with you. And today I want to look you in the eye and say thank you for your service to our country, for the tremendous service you gave to your constituents throughout your long and distinguished career, and most importantly, to thank you for what you gave to me. You have been a true and loyal friend. And while you are leaving here—and I regret that deeply—the one thing I take comfort in knowing is that our wonderful friendship will continue.
Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, this is a highly grueling time for the American people and our system of government. Congress is being asked to consider a constitutional issue that has significant ramifications for the President, Congress, and the nation. It is important to consider the seriousness of the allegations and the constitutional process of impeachment.

The House is considering whether to proceed with an impeachment inquiry. Under the Constitution, the House has the sole power to impeach the President. If the House votes in favor of impeachment, an inquiry will be launched. The inquiry will investigate whether there is sufficient evidence to warrant a full impeachment trial in the Senate.

Mr. Speaker, this is a moment of grave import. The President is in a position of great power, and the nation’s trust in the government is at stake. We must proceed with caution and a commitment to the rule of law. The House has a duty to investigate the allegations and determine the facts.

As a Member of Congress, I believe that we must adhere to the principles of fairness and due process. The President is entitled to a fair hearing and the opportunity to defend himself against the charges. The House should not rush into a decision without considering all the evidence.

I urge my colleagues to proceed with the inquiry in a responsible and bipartisan manner. The nation deserves a thorough and impartial investigation. Let us ensure that the process is carried out in accordance with the Constitution and the principles of liberty and justice.

Let us not rush into a decision without due consideration of the evidence and the constitutional implications. The President deserves to have his rights protected and his case heard in a fair and impartial manner. The House has a solemn duty to act in the best interest of the nation.
Mr. CUNNINGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to speak in honor of John D’Amelio, the president of the California School Boards Association of 1998 of his continuous efforts on behalf of children and education throughout his community and throughout the state of California.

John D’Amelio, a retired teacher, has been a board member of the Escondido Union High School District in San Diego County for eight years. In 1996 he was appointed by Governor Pete Wilson to serve on the Commission for the Establishment of Academic Content and Performance Standards. D’Amelio has been an active contributor to CSBA, and has served as a member of the association’s Delegate Assembly since 1990 and as a regional director since 1992. In addition he has served on a number of CSBA committees, including the Legislative Network, Education Legal Alliance Committee, Nominating Committee, Annual Conference Committee and Assessment Task Force.

Throughout his many years of serving the community as a teacher and board member, D’Amelio also found time to volunteer outside of these roles. He founded a community organization for at-risk minorities, served as a director on a preschool board, and became a classroom “grandpa.”

Mr. Speaker, I wish to publicly thank John D’Amelio for his dedication to the youth of California. He is one who understands the value of education and has had the generosity to sacrifice much of his life to such a noble cause.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. CHRISTOPHER BEATTY OF JOHN T. MATHER HOSPITAL

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. FORBES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in the House of Representatives to join my voice with the John T. Mather Hospital community as they honor Dr. Christopher Beatty of East Setauket, Long Island, for his many years of outstanding service and leadership, including his tenure as the chief of General Surgery at Mather Hospital.

On Friday evening, October 23, hundreds of friends, volunteers and staff will gather for Mather Hospital’s 33rd annual “One Enchanted Evening” fundraising dinner. At this year’s gala, Dr. Beatty will be honored with the “Theodore Roosevelt Award” for his dedicated volunteer service to Mather Hospital and the community it serves. This year, in recognition of October as National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the proceeds from Mather Hospital’s annual benefit will go to the Fortunato Breast Health Center and Breast Cancer Treatment.

For Dr. Beatty, winning Mather Hospital’s “Theodore Roosevelt Award” has become somewhat of a family affair. His father also won the award in 1965 for his own many years of service as a member of the Hospital’s Board of Trustees. Dr. Beatty received his medical degree from Georgetown University and completed his internship at Roosevelt Hospital in New York. Following a five-year surgical residency, Dr. Beatty served his country as a Major in the U.S. Army Medical Corps for two years in Stuttgart, West Germany.

A truly gifted surgeon, Dr. Beatty relishes his chosen field because of the genuine satisfaction he derives from being able to use his talents to cure a sick patient. “Surgery is the only branch of medicine where you can actually put your hands on the disease, take it out and see the good results in a relatively short period of time,” Dr. Beatty has said.

The only thing more important than surgery in Dr. Beatty’s life is his family, his wife, Lindsey, and their daughters Shannon, Allison and Devon. When not in surgery or spending time with his family, Dr. Beatty tends to his many rose bushes and is an avid tennis player and runner.

So, Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives to join the entire John T. Mather Hospital community as we honor Dr. Christopher Beatty, a very deserving recipient of the “Theodore Roosevelt Award” for his dedicated service to the hospital and our entire Long Island community.

MARY MCAFEE WINS MILKEN AWARD

HON. HEATHER WILSON

OF NEW MEXICO

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, during a time when the kids of this nation search for role models, Mary McAfee has become one to her students. Zuni Elementary School principal Mary McAfee was recently awarded $25,000 from the Milken Family Foundation. The Milken award is given to only 160 educators from the Milken Family Foundation.

During her six years as Zuni Elementary’s principal, Mary has improved curriculum, focusing on the enhancement of her school’s technology, and for adapted learning to “real world” situations. Teachers at Zuni think she is an exceptional and caring principal, and one of New Mexico’s best.

Mary McAfee is a role model for us all. She has put in countless hours and effort to improve our future by improving the schools our children attend. Mary was nominated by her co-workers to recognize the hard work she has done to improve our children’s education. And, she is just one of the great educators in New Mexico.

Thanks to the Milken Foundation for recognizing one of New Mexico’s best, and thanks to Ms. McAfee for her dedication to her students and teachers.
The program centers on four basic principles: praise people; give up put-downs; notice hurts and right wrongs; and, seek wise people. When PeaceBuilders praise people, they notice and express sincere appreciation when someone demonstrates acts of kindness or caring, giving attention to positive rather than negative behaviors. By giving up put-downs, program participants recognize and avoid what has become a mainstay of negative interaction in our culture. They also learn non-violent ways to respond when they are put-down. PeaceBuilders who notice hurts and right wrongs learn ways to make amends when they have caused another person pain, or merely to help another person in need. Finally, when they seek wise people as friends, mentors, and role models, PeaceBuilders surround themselves with the tools they need for continued success and an even brighter and more positive future.

Mr. Speaker, with so much attention today given to the negative, I want to shine the spotlight on the positive. I applaud the Paramount Unified School District not only for adopting this policy but for fully embracing it. Paramount was declared the “Outstanding PeaceBuilders District of the World for 1997–1998” by Heartstrings, Inc., the home of PeaceBuilders. The proclamation states that they ‘have been instrumental in the design of a K through 8 model which will henceforth be known as the ‘Paramount Model.’ May you continue to be a Model for the World to follow.’ Congratulations to paramount on this great accomplishment, and may you spread your positive message to all of our nation’s schools.

AUTHORIZING THE COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY TO INVESTIGATE WHETHER SUFFICIENT GROUNDS EXIST FOR THE IMPEACHMENT OF WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

SPEECH OF HON. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON OF TEXAS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Thursday, October 8, 1998

Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition of the Republican impeachment inquiry. The way the House proceeds on an impeachment inquiry is very serious and must be considered in a deliberative manner. Unfortunately, the proposal before us does not create a focused inquiry with realistic time limits on the length and scope. Instead of offering a proposal that is sound and has reasonable standards on what impeachable offenses are, the Republican leadership is rejecting a focused inquiry and is forcing us to vote on a proposal that is endless and causes damage to a fair and just process.

Mr. Speaker, the question at hand is not whether or not to proceed with a formal impeachment inquiry. The question is how do we proceed? We considering such an important matter, will we place such a vote in the hands of election year politics or do we place this vote and process in the hands of fairness, the tenets of our Constitution and good judgement?

Mr. Speaker, it is my hope that my colleagues base their vote on the latter. We have a chance to send this proposal back to the judiciary committee and instruct them to develop a plan that is focused and fair.

However, the lines seem to be drawn and the Republican leadership has convinced their members to vote along party lines. The last chance for a pragmatic approach is lost.

Therefore, I encourage my colleagues of both parties to join together and defeat the Republican proposal. In the name of fairness, the Republican majority’s effort will move forward with an open-ended process designed not to follow the path of truth, but to simply embarrass the President one month before the congressional elections. All of us in Congress should be committed to searching for the truth, not political points. But if we choose to forego the search for truth, we do so with a blatant disregard for principles of fairness and justice.

Mr. Speaker, if we move with a process based on those ideas, then as a lawmaking body, we can get back to the important issues that have evaded us this session. In the waning days of the legislative session, we still have a chance to save Social Security, pass a real patients’ bill of rights, improve the quality of education and protect our environment. I plan to fight and oppose this arbitrary measure, and support a fair process that will put an end to this investigation in a timely fashion and gets the House of Representatives back on track to work on the issues that truly matter to this great nation.

Tribute to Reid Chapel A.M.E. Church of Sumter, South Carolina

HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN OF SOUTH CAROLINA IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the Reid Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church of Sumter, South Carolina. The Reid Chapel A.M.E. Church was organized as a Mission in the spring of 1952. The original founders were: Rosa Bell Guess, Carlos Guess, Julia Banding, Evons Banding, Hester Jenkins, David Jenkins, Robin Cabbagestalk, Herbert Isaac Sr., Alice Gaines and Willie Gaines.

After meeting every Sunday for approximately two years, Mr. and Mrs. Guess approached the Presiding Elder of the Sumter District, the late Rev. Marcellus F. Robinson and then pastor of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church in Sumter, former Bishop of the Seventh Episcopal District the Rt. Rev. Frederick Calhoun James, who took their wishes to purchase property for a church to Bishop Frank Madison Reid, Sr. Bishop Reid agreed and shortly thereafter purchased the land and had a ground breaking ceremony. Within a year, the church was built and the dedicatory service was held in October 1955.

The first stewards were Rosa Guess, Julia Banding and Robina Cabbagestalk and Hester Jenkins. The first trustees were Carlos Guess, Evons Banding, David Jenkins and Gus Allen. The first superintendent of the Sunday School was Gus Allen. The first church sextons were Ben and Blanding children. Rosa Guess served as the church secretary. Thelma Guess and James Linton were the musicians and Choir directors. The first Sunday School teachers were Margarette Guess, LeAnn Jenkins, and Annie Lee Green. The first pastor to be assigned to the church was the late Rev. Ben L. Burroughs of Kingstree, S.C.

During the first revival services held at the church, nineteen youths came to Christ. Vacation Bible School was held during the summer. The first teachers were Marjorie Robinson, E. Milt Pringle, Ruth Robinson, Deloris Ham and a few others. Softball games were sponsored by Reid Chapel, and sewing classes were conducted by Rosa Guess and the late Hallie B. Hampton.
All Sunday School books and the other materials were donated by Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church. The piano, which is still being used, was given to the church by the late Elder Robinson. Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church family under the leadership of Rev. F.C. James donated the first set of pews and hymnals. During the 1970’s, the church’s attendance declined to less than five, and it became impossible to maintain a full time pastor. The church doors were closed. In the 1980s, Reid Chapel’s doors were reopened. And in 1987, the Annual Conference elected Reid Chapel and St. Michael to form a circuit under the pastorate of Rev. Vermell Humes. After Hurricane Hugo in 1989, the mission closed again.

At the 1991 Annual Conference, Bishop F.C. James appointed Rev. Eliza E. Black to pastor the closed mission. This new “Venture of Faith” began on September 19, 1991. The doors of Reid Chapel opened at 8:30 AM. Arriving with the new pastor was her faithful and supporting spouse Theodore, her youngest daughter Antonia Black, two of her grandsons Michael and Renard Black, and a niece Amanda Johnson. By ten o’clock, twenty odd adults and children had come to welcome the new pastor and to share the first morning service ever in the 39 year old history of the mission. When membership to membership was extended, Reid Chapel received its first member, Willie M. Martin.

In the Spring of 1994, Reid Chapel purchased a house adjacent to the church’s property. Isaac Wims, a member of the community and supporter of Reid Chapel, completely renovated the two bedroom home as a special gift to the church. This property became Reid Chapel’s Resource Center. Ground was broken for the Educational Building. It took the congregation only two years to complete the 2560 square foot edifice.

The worship service was moved from the small original block sanctuary to the multipurpose room to the new Educational Building in November, 1995. Church records reveal that there were times that more than 100 worshipers packed into the pews of that little chapel. Many conversions, baptisms, weddings and funerals are logged in the church files. It took less than one conference year to complete the work on the sanctuary.

Officially, Pastor Black was the contractor on record and provided the administrative functions. Her son Randolph Black, a Trustee of the church, a highly skilled brick mason and supporter of Reid Chapel, completely renovated the two bedroom home as a special gift to the church. This property became Reid Chapel’s Resource Center. Ground was broken for the Educational Building. It took the congregation only two years to complete the 2560 square foot edifice.

TRIBUTE TO JIM RUPP

HON. GLENN POSHARD

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. POSHARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to my constituent and dear friend Mr. “Jolly” Jim Rupp of Decatur, Illinois who has recently passed. He was a devoted public official and my condolences and best wishes go to his family and all who will miss him.

Some of my Illinois colleagues may remember Jim as Decatur’s mayor from 1966 to 1976 and state senator until 1986. But anybody who knew Jim, knew him as “Jolly Jim.” He was always happy, rarely ever down in spirit. His smile would warm you up on the coldest of mornings, and his personality was genuine. Jim got along with anybody and everybody. This was his best quality not only as a politician, but as a person. He was cut from a different type of political cloth. Jim realized that politics relied on personal qualities, and paying attention to the grass roots. He would make visits just about everywhere he represented to improve relations between the United States, the world’s oldest democracy, and the United States, the world’s largest democracy, and the United States, the world’s oldest democracy. The Caucus has been a forum for important discussions between the Caucus Members and senior politicians, diplomats and industrialists from India. Outside Washington has been very active, traveling to cities around the United States where he has met with hundreds of Indian American community leaders.

Jim grew up in New Jersey, and served in World War II and the Korean War proudly for this nation. He married Florence Reineke in 1944, who unfortunately passed away last December. He moved to Decatur in the 1950’s and became partner and later sole owner of Creighton-Jackson Insurance Agency. Jim was then elected mayor several years later in 1966. He also offered much of his time outside of public office in the Decatur community. Jim was a member of the Rotary International, VFW Post 99, Decatur Shriners Club and the American Legion Post 105. Moreover, Jim was a devout Christian and a charter member of Woodland Chapel Presbyterian Church. He is survived by his sons James and Jeffrey and their families.

Mr. Speaker, please join me in recognizing Mr. Jim Rupp, whose dedication to his community has had a profound impact on those who knew him, including myself. It has been an honor to represent him in the United States Congress. I will miss “Jolly Jim” immensely. His style was so unique and he was so humble. Many of our national and local leaders need to follow in his footsteps to succeed in politics and in life as he did.

A TRIBUTE TO FRANK PALLONE

HON. GARY L. ACKERMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. ACKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, earlier today at a meeting of the Congressional Caucus of India and Indian Americans a number of our colleagues honored me by electing me Co-Chairman of the Caucus. In doing so, I am being asked to fill a pair of big shoes by succeeding the Caucus’s founder and first Co-Chairman, Frank Pallone.

Mr. Speaker, the Caucus on India and Indian Americans was founded more than five years ago by Frank. Since this district has a large and vibrant Indian American community, and Frank decided their voice needed to be heard in the Congress. What began as a handful of Members five years ago has been transformed into a thriving Caucus of more than one hundred Members, one of the largest ethnic Caucuses in the Congress.

Mr. Speaker, much of this success and growth is a tribute to Frank Pallone’s leadership and energy. During his term as Co-Chairman, he has worked tirelessly in the House to improve relations between India, the world’s largest democracy, and the United States, the world’s oldest democracy. The Caucus has been a forum for important discussions between the Caucus Members and senior politicians, diplomats and industrialists from India. Outside Washington has been very active, traveling to cities around the United States where he has met with hundreds of Indian American community leaders.

Mr. Speaker, please join me in recognizing Mr. Jim Rupp, whose dedication to his community has had a profound impact on those who knew him, including myself. It has been an honor to represent him in the United States Congress. I will miss “Jolly Jim” immensely. His style was so unique and he was so humble. Many of our national and local leaders need to follow in his footsteps to succeed in politics and in life as he did.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to introduce with Representative Jim Saxton and Majority Whip Tom Delay a resolution calling on President Clinton to publicly and unequivocally state that the United States will actively oppose a unilaterally declared Palestinian state and that any such action would have severe negative consequences for Palestinian relations with the United States. Though the United States has traditionally opposed a unilaterally declared Palestinian state, recent statements by the Administration have been ambiguous, and contradictory to its previous policy. This shift in the attitude by the U.S. government has been followed by recent announcements by the Palestinian Authority of their intention to declare a Palestinian state whenever they judge the situation appropriate. Since these statements by the U.S. government, Palestinian Authority Chairman Yasser Arafat, his cabinet and the Palestinian legislature have repeatedly threatened to unilaterally proclaim the establishment of a Palestinian state by May 4, 1999. In mid-July, Chairman Arafat stated that “there is a transition period of 5 years and after 5 years we have the right to declare an independent Palestinian state.” Even more recently, on September 24th, Chairman Arafat’s cabinet threatened to unilaterally declare a Palestinian state that would encompass a portion of Jerusalem: “At the end of the interim period, it (the Palestinian government) shall declare the establishment of a Palestinian state in all Palestinian land occupied since 1967, with Jerusalem as the eternal capital of the Palestinian state.” (The Columbian, Mark Lavie, Associated Press, September 25, 1998.) Chairman Arafat continued his push for statehood on September 28th in a speech before the United Nations, calling upon world leaders to support an independent Palestinian state.

I would like to call upon all of you from this place—the source of international legitimacy and peacemaking, the guardian of freedom, security and stability, and the source for the achievement of justice and prosperity for humankind—to stand by our people, especially as the five-year transitional period provided for in the Palestinian-Israeli agreements will end by the end of May, 1999 and our people demand of us to shoulder our responsibilities, and they await the establishment of their independent state.

A unilateral declaration of statehood would be a renouncement of the Oslo Accords and could ignite hostilities. The Oslo Accords make no provision for the creation of a Palestinian state and, in fact, prohibit the Palestinian Authority from taking any actions that would affect the sovereignty of the Israeli-administered territories. Earlier this week Assistant Secretary of State Indyk said that a declaration of statehood "becomes almost an immediate confrontation ..." (Hillel Kuttler, Jerusalem Post, October 4, 1998). in recognition of the service of Robert E. Chase

HON. JANE HARMAN
of California
in the House of Representatives
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. HARMAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to join the family and friends of Robert E. (Bob) Chase and commend him on his retirement at the end of this month as Assistant City Administrative Officer for the City of Los Angeles.

Bob, is retiring after 41 years of distinguished service during which he served the citizens of Los Angeles and four mayors—Norris Poulson, Sam Yorty, Tom Bradley and Richard Riordan. Soon after he first joined the city in 1957, Bob rapidly rose in the city administrative office, being named to the position of assistant city administrative officer and executive officer in 1971 in recognition of his management skills. These same skills earned him recognition within the Metropolitan Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration, which elected him president in 1975.

Bob’s record tenure as Executive Officer of the city administrative office has been a source of stability and reassurance to the city’s residents. Indeed, the office has been at the center of all of the major events and changes which have shaped the city of Los Angeles. Most importantly, the administrative office enjoys a nationally-recognized reputation overseeing the fiscal affairs of the nation’s second largest city—due, undoubtedly, to Bob’s talents and those of the fine staff he assembled.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud that Bob Chase is a constituent. He is an example of the high quality of public servants who serve the city and one of many who devote considerable time and effort to build a strong and stable community.

I know Bob is looking forward to spending more time with his wife, Sallie, and their family, from time to time, I understand he will also honor his already formidable skills at golf. In all the years I knew Bob, I can say that he is the very best, and, again, in thanking him for his service to the residents of the City of Los Angeles.

Celebrating Burbank Middle School’s 50th Anniversary

HON. GENE GREEN
of Texas
in the House of Representatives
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. GREEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to congratulate and pay tribute to Burbank Middle School on their 50th anniversary. This wonderful school has been serving the community of Houston, Texas faithfully for 50 years, and is well deserving of recognition and praise.

Burbank Middle School is truly a model school that has a distinguished student body and staff.

Burbank was dedicated on September 20, 1949, with 1,700 students, parents, teachers, and school administrators in attendance.

The building’s original cost was $2,250,000. This was a large investment in those days and demonstrates the commitment that the residents had for quality education. The dedication of the cornerstone was performed by past school board president Ewing Warlein. During the ceremony, he said: “This great structure is dedicated to education in the finest sense of the word and is not only a monument to education, but a monument to the American way of life, to free enterprise and our constitutional form of government. This building is dedicated not only to the education of the children in this district but also to the boys and girls of generations yet unborn.”

Education is the key to our children’s future and the key to our country’s continued success. The teachers and staff at Burbank Middle School also believe this and have worked hard to ensure that all their students have an opportunity for quality education.

The twenty-first century will bring new challenges for our young people, and we have an obligation to educate them to deal with these challenges. With the leadership of the parents, teachers, and staff of Burbank Middle School, we can accomplish anything.

For years, families have known this school as a living monument in the community, making it a good place to study and learn. I am certain that the strength of this community would not be what it is today without the commitment of this school. I am honored to congratulate the members of the Burbank Middle School for making it a source of community pride for the past 50 years.
Puerto Rico in their time of need. We need to continue to seek disaster relief funding for FEMA before Congress adjourns.

HONORING CLIFFORD R. HOPE

HON. JERRY MORAN
OF KANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. MORAN of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce legislation naming the post office in Garden City, Kansas after former Congressman Clifford R. Hope.

Mr. Hope represented the 7th Congressional district in Kansas from 1927 to 1957. During those 30 years, Mr. Hope rose in prominence in the House and eventually became the Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture. In fact, he was the last Republican of the Agriculture Committee prior to the Republican party gaining control of the House in 1994.

During Mr. Hope’s political career, he rose first in the Kansas House of Representatives becoming the Speaker of the Kansas House. Following his election to Congress, Mr. Hope became the Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and was deeply involved in establishing major new agricultural programs still in existence today. In addition to his work on behalf of agriculture, Mr. Hope was a strong advocate for defense programs and was heavily involved in the military programs essential to the war efforts of World War II.

Mr. Speaker, as a fellow Kansan I am proud that I associate myself with Mr. Hope and I am honored to introduce this legislation.

A TRIBUTE IN MEMORY OF BENNY WATERS

HON. GREGORY W. MEEKS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. MEEKS of New York. Mr. Speaker, it is with a great sense of loss that I pay tribute to Mr. Benny Waters, a jazz legend and the oldest touring jazz musician, who died on August 11.

Benjamin Arthur Waters was born the youngest of seven children to Edward and Francis Waters on January 23, 1902 in Brightontown, Maryland. Mr. Waters started his musical education at age 5 with organ lessons, and he soon moved to reed instruments. While in high school, still in the pre-jazz era, he played synthesized music with Charlie Miller’s band. In his late teenage years he attended the Boston Conservatory of Music, where he studied theory and arranging and gave private clarinet lessons. Among his pupils was Harry Carney, who went on to play baritone saxophone with Duke Ellington.

In 1952, a turning point came in Waters’ life when he was asked to join Jimmy Archey’s Band for a European tour. The saxophonist decided to stay on in Paris and remained there making his home while touring festivals and giving concerts in Europe for the next 42 years. Last year, the French government presented Waters with its distinguished “Chevalier Legion d’Honneur.”

Failing eyes and the need for cataract surgery brought the saxophonist home and unfortunately resulted in losing his eyesight. Waters’ never-failing buoyancy and upbeat spirit brought him to the attention of the “Statesmen of Jazz” Tour, and he was invited to become a founding member. Through his performance, he achieved national fame in America. Waters, along with his fellow “Statesmen,” contributed his time to Arbors Records for the “Statesmen” CD, and its sales are donated to perpetuate the nationwide and international tours. His most recent recording was “Birdland Birthday—Live at 95.”

In blindness, he persevered, averaging 100 dates a year until this year, making a second-floor apartment in Hollis, Queens—a suburban town in my district—his home base. Jazz historians indicate that Benny was one of only six survivors of jazz recording artists of the late 1920s who were still active, along with Claude “Fiddler” Williams, Benny Carter, Lionel Hampton, Spiegel Willcox and Rosy McHargue.

Benny will be missed by his family, friends, colleagues, fans and communities across the world.

AUTHORIZING THE COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY TO INVESTIGATE WHETHER SUFFICIENT GROUNDS EXIST FOR THE IMPEACHMENT OF WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

SPEECH OF
HON. GARY L. ACKERMAN
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 8, 1998

Mr. ACKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to voice my strong objections over the Republican resolution ordering an impeachment inquiry against President Clinton. This has become a one-sided, all-out and disgraceful witch hunt into the private life of the President, and I strongly disagree with its objectives and methods.

Although I believe that the President’s behavior with Ms. Lewinsky was indefensible and disgraceful, and I certainly do not condone it, it is in no way an impeachable offense. Given the existing evidence, I believe that there is no basis for impeachment of the President. Lying about an extramarital affair, regardless of to whom, does not rise to the level of an impeachable offense, as defined by the Constitution: “* * * the President shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.” While the President’s behavior was offensive, I believe that it does not fit this definition. I sincerely doubt that the farmers of the Constitution had Kenneth Starr’s report—which focused on private sexual behavior—in mind when drafting the impeachment clause.

It is time for us to put this issue behind us and move on to matters that are vital to our nation. Our country has many challenges to confront, and it is imperative that Congress give its attention to the very important issues that affect the daily lives of all Americans—such as improving our education system, protecting Medicare and Social Security, and strengthening the world economy. Over the course of the 105th Congress, we have witnessed an abuse of power.

And it is this Congress that is guilty of the abuse. You see, Mr. Speaker, we abuse the power we have when children go to bed hungry, and we do little or nothing about it. We abuse our power when Social Security is in trouble and we sit idly by; We abuse our power when we don’t address the problems of the environment, such as polluted waterways and dirty air; We abuse our power when our health care system is ill, and we don’t cure it; We abuse our power when we allow the tobacco companies to poison our children without regard.

We abuse our power when our campaign financing system needs reform and we ignore it. We abuse our power when our students are lagging behind those of other nations and we don’t address the issue properly;

I think it has become painfully obvious that the Republican leadership wants simply to ignore the priorities that remain important to the general public, while insisting on following through with a purely partisan and never-ending investigation into the private life of our President. This is something that I simply cannot be a party to and that I strongly oppose.

PATRICIA ROBERTS-HARRIS

HON. GLENN POSHARD
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. POSHARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize one of Illinois’ most prominent government officials and a dear constituent of Maunto, Illinois, Mrs. Patricia Roberts-Harris. It is an honor to acknowledge one of the 19th congressional districts own as Mrs. Fran Philips-Calhoun and the Patricia Roberts-Harris Commemorative Campaign celebrate and organize their energy on a U.S. postal stamp and a biographical book on Pat Harris.

As many of my colleagues may remember, Pat was a distinguished official in both the United States government and the arena of international diplomacy. But before she became the first black female U.S. cabinet member and the first black female ambassador, she was one of Illinois’ favorite daughters. A native of Maunto, she was proud of Illinois and wanted to do more for the United States and the African-American community. Pat was the only daughter born to Bert Fitzgerald an Hildren Brodie Roberts of Maunto. During her early childhood, Pat’s family owned a farm and she attended the local elementary and middle school in Maunto. By high school age, her family moved to Chicago, where she finished at Englewood High School. Pat later attended Howard University in 1942 and graduated within three years, summa cum laude. She wanted to return to the back in the white and get involved in the Chicago community as an activist at the Young Women’s Christian Association (YWCA).

However, it was in Washington where Pat became so well known in the legislative sphere. In 1949, she worked for Delta Sigma Theta Sorority as executive director and with Howard University as dean of students and professor of law. She even had enough time to fit George Washington law school into the picture, where she graduated first in the graduating class of 1960. Within five years, Pat was appointed by President Lyndon Johnson as the first black female ambassador to Luxembourg. She also later became the first black female U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under President Jimmy Carter.

Pat had a tremendous professional career, as well as a style unlike anyone else in public office. She had a unique way or organizing and formulating policy strategies effectively. Pat's expectations were high, but she took every turn and situation in life head on. This was evident as professor, ambassador, public official and particularly when she served as co-chair for President Kennedy's National Women's Committee for Civil Rights in 1963. She not only played an essential leadership role in this position, she garnered support for the enactment of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. In 1985, Pat passed away. She bequeathed part of her will to a public affairs program named in her honor at her alma mater of Howard University. Pat wanted to make sure that future generations would have the same opportunities as she, and continue to pursue her goals through government internships. This demonstrates just how dedicated Pat Harris was to the African-American community and spreading the influence of public service to others.

Mr. Speaker, it is an honor to recognize Pat Harris as the commemorative campaign continues organizing her postal stamp, and as Mr. Calhoun completes writing her childhood biography on this great public official. I wish the organization, and Mrs. Calhoun, my very best wishes and future success as they finish highlighting the many accomplishments of Pat Harris.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. MINAL KUMAR

HON. PATSY T. MINK
OF HAWAII
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mrs. MINK of Hawaii. Mr. Speaker, I take this opportunity to give thanks for the life of Minal Kumar, an extraordinarily dedicated and effective advocate for the health of women and children in the State of Hawaii. As the only public health nutritionist on the island of Kauai, Mrs. Kumar, in the span of only six years, managed to triple the number of clients served by the State Department of Health's Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) programs and for the first time extended WIC programs to the island of Niihau. Matters of her special mission was to encourage women to breast-feed their infants because of the significant health benefits breast-fed babies enjoy and because of the special bond that breast-feeding promotes between mother and child. Mrs. Kumar is remembered with great fondness by the people of Kauai for her commitment to the health of women and children and for her personal contribution to relief efforts after Hurricane Iniki devastated the island.

It has been almost a year since Minal Kumar's passing, but she has not been forgotten by her many friends and admirers on Kauai. A garden at the Kauai office of the Hawaii Department of Health was dedicated this past summer and a memorial fund benefiting Hawaii Mothers' Milk has been established in her name. I send my heartfelt aloha to Minal's loving family—her husband Dr. Krishna Kumar, daughter Roshni, and son Akash—and I ask all of my colleagues to join me in honoring the memory and special contributions of Minal Kumar.

THE HOUSEPARENT PROTECTION ACT

HON. JOSEPH R. PITTS
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing legislation to provide an exemption from Department of Labor (DOL) wage and hour regulations to employees of private, non-profit institutions who serve as houseparents. Houseparents are men and women who work and live in certain institutions and care for and supervise residents of the institution. Usually in compensation for their services, houseparents receive a fixed annual salary, food, lodging, and transportation.

Mr. Speaker, Minal Kumar's special mission was to encourage women to breast-feed their infants because of the significant health benefits breast-fed babies enjoy and because of the special bond that breast-feeding promotes between mother and child. Mrs. Kumar is remembered with great fondness by the people of Kauai for her commitment to the health of women and children and for her personal contribution to relief efforts after Hurricane Iniki devastated the island.

It has been almost a year since Minal Kumar's passing, but she has not been forgotten by her many friends and admirers on Kauai. A garden at the Kauai office of the Hawaii Department of Health was dedicated this past summer and a memorial fund benefiting Hawaii Mothers' Milk has been established in her name. I send my heartfelt aloha to Minal's loving family—her husband Dr. Krishna Kumar, daughter Roshni, and son Akash—and I ask all of my colleagues to join me in honoring the memory and special contributions of Minal Kumar.

HONORING AURORA METALS ON ITS 100TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. J. DENNIS HASTERT
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. HASTERT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the management and workforce of a firm in my District which is celebrating its one hundredth year of operation. On October 18, 1899, the Aurora Metal Company was formed to reclaim metallic lead for the manufacture of hardware and decorative items. In the ensuing years, the company grew and prospered, pioneering the new technology of vacuum casting.

In World War II, the Aurora Metal Company, along with industries across this nation, put its skills and determination to helping our Nation win the war, and received the prestigious Army-Navy E Award for outstanding production of war materials. In fact, the Aurora Metal Company was the smallest firm west of the Alleghenies to receive the honor.

Today the company, now known as Aurora Metals Division LLC, located in Montgomery, IL, employs 160 people and maintains a state-of-the-art foundry, machine shop and tool and die manufacturing facility. And the talent, hard work and diversity of its workforce has contributed greatly to its success. The firm's dedication and commitment to providing high quality products at a fair price represent the ideals that have made our nation great, and are, in no small part, what have enabled Aurora Metals to grow and prosper.

Mr. Speaker, I urge you and my colleagues to join me in honoring the workers and management of Aurora Metals on reaching this centennial milestone and wish them continued success for the future.

TRIBUTE TO ROBERT P. GAJDYS

HON. BENJAMIN L. CARDIN
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Robert P. Gajdys, who is retiring after 8 years as executive director of the Community Assistance Network, Inc., Baltimore County's non-profit community action agency. The Community Assistance Network (CAN) operates over three dozen programs that serve the diversified needs of more than 50,000 low-income families.

An outspoken advocate for the poor and disadvantaged, Bob Gajdys turned CAN from an agency with a $100,000 deficit to one with $250,000 surplus. Because of his leadership and exceptional abilities, CAN has built and strengthened regional partnerships, worked to develop state anti-poverty strategies, and received national recognition for program excellence.

Before his tenure at CAN, Bob spent 32 years working for the Federal Government. He has served as Director of Personnel at NOAA, Director of Administration at the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and Deputy Director of the Office of Program Development and Accountability at the Department of Labor. A Native American of the Mohawk tribe, Bob also served as Deputy Director of Indian and Territorial Affairs at the Department of the Interior. He was both a charter member of the Senior Executive Service.

I invite my colleagues to join me in honoring Robert P. Gajdys for his dedication and commitment to the poor and disadvantaged. Although he has retired as Executive Director of CAN, we know that he will continue to be a voice for those who cannot speak out for themselves.

HONORING TWO EAGLE SCOUTS

HON. BOB ETHERIDGE
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. ETHERIDGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor two young men in my district who have earned the distinguished rank of Eagle Scout. Mr. Joshua Westly Robinson and Mr. Loren Christopher Robinson. The Robinson brothers from Coats, North Carolina exemplify leadership and community service, serving as a bright hope for the future of America.

Joshua Westly Robinson began his Scouting career as a member of Cub Scout Pack 779 in 1989. As a Cub Scout, Joshua earned the God and Me and God and Family Religious Awards, his WEBELOS Badge, and nineteen Activity Badges. In January of 1993, he earned his Arrow of Light Cub Scout Badge and bridged over to Boy Scout Troop 779. He has served as a Troop Guide, Patrol Leader, and Senior Patrol Leader as a member of Troop 779. To date, he has earned a total of 56 Merit Badges. Joshua is currently a Brotherhood Member in the Order of the Arrow, and Honor Camper’s Organization.

Joshua embodies the idea of a student athlete, earning many academic awards while participating in four team sports at Erwin Triton High School. Currently, Joshua is a junior at the North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics. He earned his Eagle Scout Award on December 12, 1997 and is currently eligible to wear a Gold Palm.

Loren Christopher Robinson also began his Scouting career as a member of Cub Scout Pack 779 in 1989. He earned both the God and Me and God and Family Religious Awards, and nineteen Activity Badges on his way to becoming a WEBELOS Scout in 1992. He became a Boy Scout in 1993 after achieving the Arrow of Light Award. As a member of Troop 779, Loren has served as Patrol Leader and as Assistant Senior Patrol Leader. To date, Loren has earned 50 Merit Badges and is currently a Brotherhood Member of the Order of the Arrow.

Loren is currently a Junior at Erwin Triton High School where he excels in the sport of swimming. He has won many state and local awards, including representing the state of North Carolina in national competition. Loren earned his Eagle Scout Award on August 17, 1998.

As a former Scout leader myself and a recipient of the Silver Beaver Award, I know the difference that Scouting can make in young lives. I congratulate Joshua Westly Robinson and Loren Christopher Robinson on their momentous achievements. I wish them both all the best in their future endeavors.

HON. TOM LANTOS
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of my distinguished colleagues in the House to an outstanding exhibition entitled “Art of the Gold Rush,” which will be on display at the Smithsonian Institution’s National Museum of American Art from October 30, 1998 until March 7, 1999. I am pleased that this exhibition is chosen to celebrate the 150th anniversary of this defining moment in the history of Northern California and in the development of the American West in such an appropriate manner.

On January 24, 1848—nine days before California was admitted as a State of the United States by Mexico—an obscure laborer and European immigrant named James W. Marshall discovered a few nuggets of gold in the South Fork of the American River at Sutter’s Mill. He presented his find to his employer, Captain John A. Sutter, who joined Marshall in a fruitless attempt to keep news of the treasure secret.

Slowly, but with unabashed excitement inspired by the hope of a quick fortune, reports of the discovery leaked throughout the Bay Area. Proclaimed the Californian newspaper on May 29: “The whole country from San Francisco to Los Angeles, and from the sea shore to the base of the Sierra Nevadas, resounds with the sordid cry of GOLD, GOLD, GOLD!”

Before long, the gold euphoria spread across the entire country and around the world. Declared President James K. Polk in a message to Congress on December 5: “The accounts of abundance of gold are of such an extraordinary character as would scarcely command belief were they not corroborated by the authentic reports of officers in the public service.”

The following year, tens of thousands of adventurers and dreamers descended upon San Francisco, hoping for a “lucky strike” and a lifetime of wealth. In the process, the City by the Bay swelled from a small fishing village to a bustling city of 20,000 in 1849 and 100,000 by the end of the following year. The first public schools, representative government bodies, and cultural institutions in the State of California evolved from this unplanned invasion of explorers, immigrants, and deserting seamen.

“Art of the Gold Rush” highlights the social and cultural transformation wrought by these extraordinary changes. Taking place just a few years after the invention of the daguerreotype (photograph), the Gold Rush was the first major event to make photography. The “Art of the Gold Rush” captures this historical coincidence skillfully, as emotions such as ambition, disappointment, hope, and confusion can be observed in the 150 rare images featured in the exhibition. Each of the subjects of these pictures presents a unique and evocative perspective of this turbulent time, from the mourning mother and child wearing blank expressions of loneliness and fear to the macho miner whose tough exterior hides his pain as both a failed miner and a sufferer of cholera, “500 miles away from my wife and not a person about me who would do anything without pay.”

Mr. Speaker, these photographs, along with the sixty-five significant paintings, watercolors, and drawings that also make up this beautiful exhibition, represent the true, lasting gold of the 49ers. The outstanding and talented curators of “Art of the Gold Rush,” Drew Heath Johnson and Marcia Eymann, deserve the gratitude of all who love the history of our great land and all who appreciate and cherish the city of San Francisco.

I urge my colleagues to see Art of the Gold Rush at the National Museum of American Art where it will be on display from October 30, 1998, to March 7, 1999, and in celebrating the 150th anniversary of Northern California’s Gold Rush.

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mrs. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to St. Elias Post 1618 of the Catholic War Veterans on the occasion of their 50th anniversary.

For the record, October 7, 1948 is very significant for members of St. Elias Church and the Catholic War Veterans community. On this date, St. Elias Post 1618 was installed as a Catholic War Veterans Post under the leadership of George Kudlak as Commander and Rev. Demetrius Yackanich as Chaplain. Stephen J. Zipay was a member of the initial Officers Roster and Charter Membership.

Throughout the years, veterans of World War I and World War II were joined by veterans of the Korean and Vietnam conflicts to create a unified veterans organization in Greenpoint, Brooklyn. These veterans combined their Catholic heritage and patriotism as veterans of the United States Armed Forces.

With the establishment of a headquarters building, many visitors joined in annual events sponsored by the St. Elias Post 1618. Special guests included sports figure Stan Musial and Bishop Fulton Sheen. St. Elias Post sponsors annual parades throughout the streets of Greenpoint.

On November 15, 1998, St. Elias Post 1618 will celebrate the 50th anniversary of their post and of the installation of their officers. Stephen J. Zipay will maintain the exclusive honor of having been installed for the 50th time. He has maintained every position in St. Elias Post 1618 throughout his tenure, including an entire decade as post commander.

Mr. Speaker, I am humbled to bring to your attention this important anniversary in the history of St. Elias Post 1618 of the Catholic War Veterans. I am proud to have such a dedicated veterans organization in my district.
Mr. SALMON. Mr. Speaker, I extend my best wishes and greetings to the Republic of China on Taiwan on the 87th anniversary of the founding of their nation.

Under Presidents Chiang Kai-shek, Teng-hui and Vice President Lien Chan's leadership, the Republic of China continues its excellent record of economic growth and its historic democratization. Since I lived in Taiwan in the 1970's, we have seen a different Republic of China emerge. It is now a major trading nation, and its GDP is one of the world's largest. Its growth in per capita income has improved the lives of the 21 million hardworking men and women of Taiwan. Furthermore, the rapid democratization and constitutional reforms on Taiwan in recent years have made Taiwan a model for many nations.

I also applaud President Lee for resuming bilateral discussions between Taiwan and the Chinese mainland.

Happy Birthday to Taiwan.

HON. BOB ETHERIDGE
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. ETHERIDGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor the life of Ronald L. Mace, a North Carolina who worked to make the world a more accessible place for persons with disabilities. Mr. Mace was an architect who envisioned environments that were accessible and comfortable for everyone. He was a pioneer in the fight for the rights of millions of disabled Americans and by removing architectural barriers.

Mr. Mace cannot be recognized enough for his contributions. His innovative ideas about incorporating accessible design into the North Carolina building code eventually became the backbone of many State and Federal accessibility laws, including the Americans With Disabilities Act. Mr. Mace coined the term "universal design" for his concept.

Mr. Mace was a mentor to thousands of persons with disabilities, himself disabled by polio at the age of 9. By his example and through his work, Mr. Mace instilled confidence and purpose and encouraged many to be proud members of the disability community and to contribute to the cause of disability rights. Life, to Mr. Mace, was to be lived with dignity and integrity. He believed that we should celebrate our differences and tear down the artificial barriers that place unnecessary constraints on our interactions with one another.

When Ronald L. Mace passed away on June 29, 1998, North Carolina and the Nation lost an outstanding citizen. As Americans, we owe a debt of gratitude because disabled and non-disabled alike benefit from his life's work. It is our responsibility to continue to work toward making his vision of a world of accessible and comfortable environments a reality for everyone.

Dr. Carol Grant Potter, a colleague, friend, and protege of Mr. Mace who continues to be inspired by him, offered the following eloquent tribute to Mr. Mace in the Raleigh News and Observer. Dr. Potter, herself remarkable and born with phocomelia (shortening of the extremities), has contributed immeasurably to efforts to remove architectural barriers. She holds a doctoral degree in rehabilitation from Southern Illinois, in Galesburg, where she served on the Governor's Study Commission on Architectural Barriers, was appointed by President Carter to serve on the national Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board, and is currently a planner with the North Carolina Council on Developmental Disabilities.

I encourage my colleagues to read Dr. Potter's moving tribute.

N.S.'S GIFT TO BARRIER-FREE LIVING
(By Carol Grant Potter)

Raleigh—For once, the 5-year-old was tall enough to do whatever she wanted to do. She didn't have to stand on tiptoe or be lifted up to "the adult" height, as was usually the case. Some day she will know that the man who played a major role in making that happen was the one who was gazing at the child in the casket, set on a low-bred stand a foot off the floor.

As the child touched the man's shirt lightly, her mother directed her attention to the side of the casket.

"See his wheelchair, honey. That's how he got around. It's motorized and it can go fast!"

Ronald L. Mace, the Raleigh architect and disability rights leader who died June 29, dreamed of environments that were accessible and comfortable for everyone, regardless of age or ability. He coined the term "universal design" for the concept. All of us at Ron's funeral could reach his body and share equally in the grief of his death and celebration of his life. We gathered as a community, people who use wheelchairs, guide dogs, interpreters and other means of accommodation, along with just as many folks who have no disabilities.

People came here to share memories filled with humor, tears, gratitude, respect and love for a man who touched so many lives.

I first met Ron when he consulted with Governor's Study Commission on Architectural Barriers in 1972. We on the commission gained tremendously from his innovative ideas about incorporating accessible design into the North Carolina building code. Who could have known then that his designs would shape the landscape of the entire country? Eventually they became the backbone of many State and Federal accessibility laws, including the Americans With Disabilities Act.

Personally, Ron taught me a lot about living—really living—with a disability. He encouraged me, by example, to be a proud member of the disability community to contribute my individual strengths, whatever they may be, to the cause of disability rights.

Ron reached out to thousands of people with disabilities, instilling confidence and purpose by sharing his knowledge and expertise with everyone. Being a mentor was second nature to him, although he probably never realized he was "mentoring." He had a way of promoting others rather than himself, a quality that made him a leader in the truest sense of the word.

Ron's life was not about heroism or inspiration. It was about having the courage to be true to your beliefs and experiences, living with integrity, dignity and respect for everyone, and celebrating differences among us without the constraints of unnecessary, artificial barriers. His life challenge to the community is to continue building community among people with disabilities and our families, and use our collective strength for the common good. As Ron did, we who are older must share our disability experience, both the struggles and victories, with the next generation who will be tomorrow's disabilities rights leaders. Finally, Ron would expect us to keep the Americans with Disabilities Act strong and meaningful in North Carolina and our nation so that everyone benefits—disabled and non-disabled alike.

At Ron's funeral, parked on the street was a long line of modified, accessible vans, some with wheelchair lifts extended, bringing the community together once again. Like the 5-year-old girl, I also gazed at the man in the casket and felt deeply the blessing of his life. I didn't have to stand on tiptoe or be lifted up to tell him goodbye. That day, the little girl and I could do what we wanted to do.

REMARKS OF UN DEPUTY SECRETARY GENERAL LOUISE FRÉCHETTE AT RECEPTION MARKING 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS

HON. TOM LANTOS
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, this year marks the 50th anniversary of the signature of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which was promulgated on December 10, 1948, after its adoption by the General Assembly of the United Nations without a dissenting vote.

Mr. Speaker, the Universal Declaration sets forth fundamental human rights for women and men everywhere, and it is "a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations." It has become the most widely accepted international statement of fundamental human rights. It is frequently referred to in resolutions and covenants adopted by international organizations, bilateral treaties, and in laws and decrees of many nations.

Earlier this year, this House adopted H. Con. Res. 185, a resolution which I introduced with the support of our colleagues John Edward Porter of Illinois, the co-chairman of the Congressional Human Rights Caucus, and Christopher Smith of New Jersey, the Chairman of the Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights of the House Committee on International Relations. That resolution notes the important 50th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights this year and recommissions the United States to the principles expressed in the Universal Declaration.

As I shared earlier this week, the distinguished Deputy Secretary General of the United Nations, Louise Fréchette, represented the United Nations and spoke at a reception here on Capitol Hill in honor of the 50th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. The reception was given by the United Nations in cooperation with the Congressional Human Rights Caucus. On that occasion, Mr. Speaker, Mme. Fréchette delivered an excellent statement.
The main principles of the Declaration have inspired the constitutions of many countries which have become independent since it was written. Conceived as a "common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations" the Declaration has become a yardstick by which to measure the respect for, and compliance with, international human rights standards.

Hand in hand with human rights come obligations and good governance. Increasingly across the world, it has become an established norm that military interventions be accompanied by humanitarian efforts to protect and promote human rights and freedoms.

The first article of the Declaration is quite simple. Let me quote it to you: "All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in a spirit of brotherhood."

For the United Nations, that makes all the more compelling our duty to translate into practice our commitment to human rights. For decades, the primary focus in human rights was on establishing international norms and standards. That work was largely successful. In the 1990s, the emphasis has shifted to implementation. Human rights monitors are often attached to peacekeeping operations. We run advisory services to strengthen the judiciary. Special rapporteurs are investigating torture, child labor and child prostitution, religious intolerance and violence against women. I am pleased to report that we now have more staff working on human rights in the field than at Headquarters.

And, of course, the United Nations provides global leadership on human rights in the person of Mary Robinson, who, as High Commissioner for Human Rights, has raised the profile of the issue around the world.

In hand with human rights come responsibilities and good governance. Increasingly across the world, it has become an established norm that military coups by self-appointed juntas against democratically-elected governments are simply not acceptable. The United Nations is receiving more requests for electoral assistance than ever before. In the past five years, we had no such requests. The United Nations helps teams of international observers assess the legitimacy of an electoral process and its outcome. We guide, monitor and sometimes run elections in various countries.

The Declaration of Human Rights is not a legally binding document. Yet, it has been a fundamental source of inspiration for national and international efforts to protect and promote human rights and freedoms.

The main principles of the Declaration have inspired the constitutions of many countries which have become independent since it was written. Conceived as a "common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations" the Declaration has become a yardstick by which to measure the respect for, and compliance with, international human rights standards.
Mr. N ADLER , stated in essence: "This matter heavy heart that I rise today to support this resolution. I have an obligation and responsibility to be some are trying to depict this as. Mr. Speaker, too many Americans have faced since Vietnam. While I do not question the gentleman from New York's belief that he believes this to be true, I do take exception to the comparison and respectfully disagree. Here is why—during the Vietnam War, as has been the case with every war or military conflict since our Nation's birth, men and women were sent overseas with a willingness to die for freedom, liberty and to defend the rule of law. In the case before us, the President of the United States has been charged with vio-lating the rule of law that so many Americans have died for and are still willing to die for at a moment’s notice all over the globe. The same rule of law that we must ensure applies equally to every single American, including the President of the United States.

This matter goes to the very heart and soul of what America is all about. This matter will determine whether we defend the Constitution, or destroy it. I hope and pray that each distinguished Member of this body places America first and that each Member sees through the clouds of rhetoric to uphold the rule of law.

It is the rule of law that unifies this country. It is the rule of law that allows each American the opportunity to enjoy and to pursue what our Founding Fathers and every generation of Americans since have always hoped for—that each American be entitled to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. If we, indeed, cherish the notions of personal freedom and individual liberty granted to every single American, then we will seek to vindicate the rule of law and proceed with this matter with all deliberate speed and an unbreakable bond with each other toward fairness, equity and justice for each party involved, including the President of the United States.

Mr. Speaker, too many Americans have died to defend these principles we hold so sacred. Too many generations of Americans have given so much to wish reluctantly that this matter just disappear. Just as important, Mr. Speaker, with the Almighty blessing, genera-tions of Americans yet unborn will look back to this day and claim this to be one of America's finest hours, not as a sideshow that some are trying to depict this as.

Each Member of this body still must maintain an obligation and responsibility to be bound to our oath of office. The same oath of office voluntarily taken by the President of the United States. Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I support this resolution.

THE GOOD FRIDAY TRADE AND INVESTMENT ACT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998
Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce legislation that targets a trade and investment initiative toward Northern Ireland and the border counties of the Irish Republic. My view is that using existing trade and investment tools to stimulate economic hope and opportunity in the Irish region is the best chance we have for ensuring the Good Friday Peace Agreement is fully implemented.

Over the past few months, my thoughts, hopes, and concerns have fixed upon the Irish region. From the peaks of Omagh, hope for that troubled land have twisted and turned with events seemingly bey-

On the very edge of undertaking their governmental duties and offices as sets forth in the Good Friday Peace Agreement, the political leaders face one final conciliation—the decommissioning issue—that stands between the decommissioning issue and the promise of a democratic and prosperous government for both communities. b. New Technology Fund: No less than $10 million shall be dedicated to investment in projects emanating from new technologies.

(3) increased funding for the international fund for Ireland (IFI) by $30 million a year and that U.S. contribution to IFI shall not fall below $40 million/year through 2003. The President shall ensure that enhanced contribution levels are targeted in severely economically deprived areas.

a. 50% of annual U.S. contribution should go to four projects: (1) to produce jobs and economic expansion. The projects funded shall be selected by the Directors of the IFI in consultation with members of the Cross Border Economic Committee of Northern Ireland Assembly, and members of the Cross Border Economic Committee from the Republic of Ireland. The President shall notify Congress of the IFI's suggested projects for FY '99 following the projects shall be given first consideration.

i. $8 million in financing for Omagh Memorial and other Science Parks. The UK plans to set aside $16 million to support the creation of Science Parks in Northern Ireland to bring to the marketplace the fruits of the scientific research undertaken in Northern Ireland's two universities. The IFI should consider leveraging this investment by allocating funds to establish 5 science parks in Belfast, Coleraine, Magee College, Armagh, and Omagh—each of which are located near existing research centers and campuses. It is the hope that these parks could attract additional private sector investments and jobs between 20 and 30 viable businesses over a 5-year period.

ii. $1 million in co-financing to the $8 million Innovation Fund established by the UK to provide support for technology-transfer start-ups with commercial potential.

iii. $250,000 for executive development. One of the key weaknesses in the Northern Ireland economy is relatively low levels of skills and competency at the middle management level. U.S. firms can help by providing training and executive development programs for their Canadian counterparts, and offering executive development training programs for up to 50 executives drawn from local government and private sector offices, where a stunning one-third of personnel have fewer than 12 years' experience, according to a study of 20 large organizations conducted by Coopers & Lybrand. The President shall direct the IFI to cooperate with the British government in providing executive development programs for up to 50 executives from Northern Ireland.

v. $13 million for Springvale Project to tackle twin problems of urban economic regeneration and the growth of further and higher education. Springvale would be a university campus in a very deprived area of higher education. Springvale would be a university campus in a very deprived area of Northern Ireland. The President shall encourage co-finance the project with the University of Ulster and Belfast Institute of Further and Higher Education. IFI support would be conditional upon a significant level of confidence for this important initiative.

(4) Department of Commerce initiatives for NI and IR shall emphasize the awareness of U.S. businesses and the Irish government of joint ventures in the region. DOC shall consolidate its current activities and focus on promoting awareness of regional business opportunities, encouraging joint ventures, and emphasizing the development of women-owned businesses.

(5) Department of Commerce, in coordination with the IFI, shall develop a system of preferences amended to allow NI & IR Border Counties to qualify as a "beneficiary developing country" through 2008 or 10 years after receipt of $40 million from IFI.

(6) Definitions of eligible counties and fair employment principles (MacBride principles of H.R. 1757 conference report).

[From USA Today, May 5, 1998]

DERRY, NORTHERN IRELAND—One in every seven jobs in this city is with a U.S. company, the legacy of a friendly financial invasion. America's investment in the past 20 years or so is critical. If the economy doesn't produce more jobs, last month's historic peace deal could be stillborn.

Despite 30 years of sectarian conflict, Northern Ireland's economy in the 1990s has grown jobs faster than any other part of the United Kingdom. But early hopes for a peace boom likely are unfounded. Instead, job growth threatens to stall—just when it is most needed to bolster political stability. An overvalued currency is pinching exporters. Budget cuts promise pink slips in government offices, where a stunning one-third of personnel have fewer than 12 years' experience, according to a study of 20 large organizations conducted by Coopers & Lybrand.

Boosting trade with USA

So, Northern Ireland officials are accelerating efforts to promote trade and investment with the USA.

U.S. companies already are prominent fixtures here. DuPont has produced synthetic materials at a giant plant outside this city since 1960. Seventy miles southeast in Belfast, Ford Motor employees 650 workers making water pumps and other car parts. The fast food workers here account for more than 53% of foreign investment in Northern Ireland. The USA is a key part of the province's economic strategy—and nowhere more so than in Derry.

In July, local officials expect to welcome a 60-member Silicon Valley delegation, including executives from Hewlett-Packard and Intel, and East Coast likely [Abbott Labs] and [Sens. Connie Mack, R-Mass., and Tom Harkin, D-Iowa]. This fall, a half-dozen would-be entrepreneurs from Derry and San Jose will switch cities for six months as part of a joint U.S.-British development officer with Derry Investment Initiative, a public-private partnership.

The U.S. participants will get access to the local business community and experience, though inexperienced, computer whizzes. Those headed to the USA are hoping Silicon Valley's Midas touch rubs off. "There is a risk they'll develop the business and stay over there," Toal says. "At the same time, we're hoping some Americans stay here.

But if they do, they will be living in a city founded in 546, which more than a millenium later gave birth to the Catholic civil rights movement. Early clashes in the late 1960s drew the world's attention to British rule. When British paratroopers shot 13 demonstrators to death in January 1972, the killing of a child was the catalyst for the next two-and-half decades was fixed.

A major issue in those early marches was economic discrimination against the city's mostly Catholic majority. But then came the Troubles, as locals know simply as "The Troubles," worked in helping clean up the broken glass," she says. Today, Gallagher, 33, an accountant, and her engineer husband work here for Seagate Technology, the U.S. disk-drive maker. The Gallaghers are among the beneficiaries of a flood of foreign cash.

From Shipyards to Seagate

For much of its 77-year existence, the province was a heavy manufacturing arm of the British economy. But recent years have seen changes that would be familiar to residents of the fast-changing Bay Area. The USA's contribution to IFI shall not fall below $40 million/year through 2003. The President shall notify Congress of the IFI's suggested projects for FY '99 following the projects shall be given first consideration.

factory, he was chosen. "It's changed everything for me," says McIntyre, 45, who was born and raised in the Catholic ghetto here known as the Bogside.

Derry's efforts to cultivate U.S. economic links began 20 years ago. On frequent trips to the USA, Derry's John Hume, an architect of the peace agreement as leader of the Social Democratic Labor Party, tapped an extensive network of Irish-American political contacts, including Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. Hume pitched Northern Ireland to companies looking for a European foothold. "There had been a substantial amount of violence coming from America," Hume says. "I told them the real help they could give us was economic."

In those days, when car bombs and bullets appeared to fill Northern Ireland's streets, the province was a tough sell. Declan O'Hare, who ran the investment promotion office in New York in the late 1960s, says, "You'd have doors slammed in your face. You'd say you were from Northern Ireland and people didn't want to see you."

Now, with U.S. investment last year of $620 million, vs. about $50 million 10 years ago, the Derrymen get a different reception. In March, more than 500 U.S. executives on a tour of Boston, New York and Washington—several times the number he attracted during previous visits—told him they think Northern Ireland is synonymous with random violence? Says Allen: "I feel a lot safer in Derry than in Minneapolis or Chicago or many other American cities."

POVERTY IN REPUBLIC IS SECOND IN UN REPORT
(By Paul Cullen)

The Republic has the highest concentration of poverty among Western countries outside the U.S., according to a United Nations report published today. In spite of growing wealth and improving social services, the Human Development Report 1998 reveals wide disparities in the distribution of wealth within the State.

Irish women are worse off economically than in any other industrialised country. They are also less likely to hold positions of influence in business or politics. Functional illiteracy here is higher than in the 16 other industrialised countries covered by the survey, and Irish long-term unemployment ranks second-highest.

The report, from the UN Development Programme, echoes the annual report of the Combat Poverty Agency published earlier this week. This said that up to one-third of the population is at risk of poverty, while 9 to 15 percent live in persistent poverty.

Most of the data in the UN report comes from 1995, before the Celtic Tiger phenomenon took effect. Some indicators, such as unemployment, have improved since then, while others have remained static.

The Human Poverty Index (HPI) ranks Ireland 16th out of the 17 countries, with 15.2 percent of the population in poverty. Only the U.S., with 16.5 percent in poverty, is worse. The UK comes 13th and top of the list is Sweden with a rating of 6.8 percent.

The HPI was included in the report for the first time this year to expose internal disparities in wealth within the richer countries.

In the main measure of quality of life contained in the report, the Human Development Index, the State comes 17th out of 175 countries. This is the same as last year, and marks the end of a period of steady improvement in the rankings.

Since it was first compiled in 1990, HDI has become a widely accepted measure of quality of life and is based not only on income levels, but also on life expectancy and education levels.

For the fifth year in a row, Canada tops this index, followed by Switzerland, the USA, and Ireland. Canada has the highest overall standard of living. France and Norway follow in second and third places.

African countries such as Botswana are at the bottom 15 places in the index. Sierra Leone comes last, but other politically unstable countries such as Rwanda are not listed this year because of the difficulties in gathering information.

The report says consumption, if properly regulated and directed, offers a route out of poverty for the world's poor. "For the more than one billion people living at or near the margin, increased consumption is essential.

For those at the top, it has become a way of life," says the UNDP administrator, Mr. Gus Speth.

Speth says massive increases in consumption often place at risk those who benefit least in the first place. Thus, global warming caused by increases in carbon dioxide emissions primarily threaten the poor of low-lying developing countries such as Egypt and Bangladesh.

While consumption increases have proved the life-blood of human advances," spending is misdirected. Europe spends $8 billion a year on tobacco, which would provide water and sanitation for all. Almost $12 billion is spent annually on pet food in Europe and the U.S., when $9 billion would provide basic health and nutrition for the poor.

According to the wealth of the world's 225 richest people is equal to the annual income of half the world's population. The richest three people are wealthier than the poorest 48 countries.

RURAL AREAS COMPLAIN OF PITIFUL NEGLECT—TOWNS SUCH AS BALLINA IN COUNTY MAYO TYPIFY THE REGION'S POOR RELATION STATUS
(By Kieran Cooke)

The town of Ballina lies on the western edge of County Mayo, a bleak but hauntingly beautiful landscape of County Mayo. The Moy, one of Europe's finest salmon rivers, flows by churches and old warehouses. The Atlantic wind whips down streets lined with fishing tackle shops and pubs.

Mention of the Celtic tiger brings a wry smile to the face of Terry McCole, a Ballina college principal and former head of the local turf betting council. "People round here say Ireland's economic tiger must have run out of steam on its journey to the west from Dublin. The politicians and planners have largely ignored this part of the country. Dublin and the east have been grabbing the bulk of investment and benefits of economic growth—we're left to fight over the crumbs."

Mr. McCole's views are echoed all along Ireland's Atlantic seaboard—from County Donegal in the northwest to County Clare in the southwest. Ireland, say the government's critics, is fast becoming a two-nation state. On the eastern side of the country, the first are the increasingly wealthy areas around Dublin and Cork, sucking up inward investments and EU funding. On the other are the disadvantaged border, midland and western counties, bereft of investment and facing serious population declines.

Ballina, County Mayo's biggest town with a population of 8,000, has an unemployment rate of more than 25 percent—over twice the national average. In the early 1970s Asahi, the Japanese group, opened a synthetic fibres plant near the town with the promise of 1,100 jobs. At its peak, employment reached 500—the plant was forced to close down last year due to worldwide overcapacity for its product.

"The government does not have any proper regional policy," says Mr. McCole. "The whole system is designed for the cities. The one place in the west that is really thriving is Galway, which has attracted millions in investment, and is now the fastest growing city in Europe. But we have had to fight very hard to achieve some progress."

Ballina's efforts have met with some success. A €110m hotel and apartment complex is being built in central Ballina. The tourism industry is flourishing; in 1998 the town attended a recent festival there—attractions included an animal olympics, with heavy betting on the duck and pig races.

A number of small industries, including a seed potato enterprise, have been established. A computer company is creating 100 jobs. Coca-Cola recently invested a multi-million pound investment in a research facility in the town which will employ 150 people. And there are plans to set up a small university institution, specializing in theological studies.

"There's no doubt there's a confidence that was absent five years ago," says Terry Reilly, editor of the local Western People newspaper. "But in comparison with what's going on in the east of the country, development in this area is still slow. The great worry is when the economic downturn comes—as it inevitably will—what will happen here? The west has always been the last area to receive the benefits of economic growth and the first to be hit by a decline."

Many schools, hospitals and police stations in the area have been forced to close. The road and rail network is in dire need of updating. Graduates are forced to migrate to the east in search of jobs—the west is a declining skill pool in the west and problems of overcrowding and rapidly increasing house prices in the east, primarily in Dublin. More than a third of Ireland's population now lives in the Dublin area.

Next year Brussels is due to review Ireland's Objective One status, under which the country has received millions of pounds of EU development funding. Mr. Reilly and many others say the government won't bother spending EU funds due to the underdeveloped state of the west of the country—but then proceeded to spend the bulk of the Brussels money in the east.

Due to the rapid growth of its economy, Ireland is almost certain to lose its Objective One status. However, many in the west are determined to fight for its retention in their region.

"So far we've had lots of government reports and initiatives but no real action," says Mr. McCole. "What's encouraging is that local people are now getting on with developing the area, with or without government help. Perhaps we'll breed our own Celtic tiger."
Mr. CONVYERS. Mr. Speaker, I am inserting into the Record two insightful and useful editorials from The Nation magazine. The first one, titled “Clinton, Starr and the Constitution” points out that “this inquiry has been driven by politics from the start.” The Nation, which has been a stringent critic of Bill Clinton and has been, almost from the beginning of his Presidency, states that “Kenneth Starr’s impeachment report represents an assault not merely on Bill Clinton but, more significant, on the presidency, the Constitution and our democracy.”

It also rightly points out that “What the conservatives failed to develop by election they have thwarted by investigation. This Congress saw no important legislation passed on tobacco and children, education, childcare, minimum wage or campaign finance reform.”

The second editorial points out that the tactics of this investigation have amounted to “sexual McCarthyism.” In drawing a powerful historical analogy, the Nation points suggest that “the Enemy Other is sexual rather than historical.” Thus, the Nation points out that “the Nation points suggest that the independent counsel’s office, that no one will ever again be vested with the power that has so effectively misused. Inquiries, sexual, or otherwise, are inappropriate in a constitutional democracy.

“STARRISM”

Everyone from Alan Dershowitz to a front-page classified advertiser in the New York Times has sounded the alarm about “sexual McCarthyism” in connection with Kenneth Starr’s report and the rest.

The word “McCarthyism,” as many have pointed out [see Navasky, “Dialectical McCarthyism(s),” July 20] is a misnomer since it describes a phenomenon that began because the junior senator from Wisconsin arrived on the scene and persisted after he was retired from it. And each time this umbrella term for the excesses of the Red Scare crusade is recycled as a metaphor for the latest political mugging, it loses something of its original power and precision as a description of a sociopolitical pathology.

Moreover, in the case of Starr & Co. the metaphor seems inexact because McCarthy was notorious for the sloppiness of his methods, the manipulation of numbers (first there were 205, then fifty-seven, then eighty-one card-carrying Communists in the State Department) and, as often as not, getting the wrong guy. Whereas the investigations against Clinton appear to be well documented, and Starr seems obsessively precise and meticulous (although the closer one looks at his report the less confidence one has in its integrity).

Is “sexual McCarthyism” a misleading metaphor for what is happening? Not really. Though there are obvious differences, there are at least three significant similarities between them and now. It’s important to identify what they are before we too many reputations and too many democratic values violated, too many dangerous precedents established, too much privacy invaded.

First and foremost, there is the attempt to demonize a political target as the Enemy Other. Historians like the late Frank Donner have demonstrated how great the Red hunt of the fifties exploited the nativist impulse, which identifies the foreign with the radical and the immoral. In the days of the domestic cold war it meant HUAC, McCarthy, Nixon, PUAC, et al.—cheered on by such as the Rev. Billy Graham and the American Legion—arguing that the target (or fellow traveler) was to be a “dirty Red,” an agent of an international conspiracy, a spy. The reason Arthur Miller’s play The Crucible, about the Salem Witch Trials of the 1600s, sparked so fervently to the hysteria that resulted in the wholesale invasion of the rights and liberties of citizens. Today we have independent counsel Kenneth Starr, Representatives Henry Hyde and Newt Gingrich, with Chief Justice William Rehnquist waiting in the wings to preside over impeachment proceedings in the Senate—cheered on by such as the Christian Coalition and William Bennett—arguing in effect that to have (dirty) sex in the Oval Office may result in one’s being thrown out of office. The Enemy Other is sexual rather than political, however, the target of opportunity is the President rather than the CP. Arthur Miller’s play The Crucible, which hunt fueled by repressed sexuality leading to a form of cultural hysteria survives from the fifties to link to two Coaches.

Second, the Red hunters of the fifties succeeded in deploying the legal process to punish people for activities that may have been politically and culturally anathema, but in and of themselves were not crimes. During the fifties, that meant summoning accused members of the Communist Party (a legal organization one should be thrown out of office). The Enemy Other that was sexual rather than political, the target of opportunity was the President rather than the CP. Arthur Miller’s play The Crucible, which hunt fueled by repressed sexuality leading to a form of cultural hysteria survives from the fifties to link to two coaches.

Today Starr uses Clinton’s unwillingness to testify about the intimate details of his (perfectly legal) sex life, and his inability—for reasons of Realpolitik—to invoke his Fifth Amendment right to incriminate himself, to try to trap him into the crimes of perjury, obstruction of justice and the abuse of power. When is the last time a “target” was forced to answer questions, especially intimate ones, before a grand jury?

Third, in the fifties, under the rubric of national security and other legislative agencies routinely violated the privacy and civil liberties of alleged subversives via legally dubious wiretapping, bugging, the use of infiltration and other intrusive interrogatory means. Today, Linda Tripp, acting in tandem with the independent counsel and perhaps lawyers for Paula Jones, tries to induce Monica Lewinsky to say things that can be used to entrap the President in contradictory testimony. This may or may not qualify as perjury or grounds for impeachment but is calculated tobery, speech and political embarrassment and shame.

The parade of analogies marches on. There were secret grand jury leaks then: now the special counsel, in league with the Republican majority, arranges for the entire grand jury transcript to be circulated on the World Wide Web. The press then was complicit with the White House in leak. It is the sense that it positively reported irresponsible charges on the front page and didn’t get around to publishing corrections until days later, usually on page 47. These days the conglomerated and highly technologized media are anything but passive. They are leading the posse, attempting to bring about a political hysteresis that this far the public seems disinclined to indulge. We are lucky in that, for it would be a disastrous precedent—far beyond what McCarthy and Starr envisage—were a President out of office as a result of a public hubbub over his private conduct.

My own study of the McCarthy era led me to conclude that the purpose of the congressional and other investigations of those years was not to write legislation or to develop new information (HUAC, for example, already had obtained from undercover agents all the names it was insisting witnesses recite in public). Rather, the hearings and trials and investigations of those years were for the most part degradation ceremonies. One shudders at the prospect of congressional hearings or a Senate trial that recycles the pornographic materials Starr claims was necessary to assemble. In the long run history has decided that it was not HUAC’s or McCarthy’s targets that were degraded. It was the country itself. Let us not let it happen again.—VICTOR NAVASKY
Dimitrios and Georgia Kaloids, who have no children of their own, have more than exemplified the characteristics of the Phidippides Award. Their involvement in education plays a substantial role in the growth of future generations of the Hellenic community.

Mr. Speaker, I am honored to bring to your attention the important charitable work Georgia and Dimitrios Kaloids have done for the Hellenic community. I am proud to have such citizens in my district.

TRIBUTE TO DR. ELIZABETH KARLIN

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON
OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, Dr. Elizabeth Karlin, a physician and humanitarian, who possessed uncompromising compassion and belief in humane medical treatment for women, died of a brain tumor on July 27, 1998. She was 54 years old. Elizabeth Karlin was a mother of two children, an impresario of folk music, a general practitioner of medicine in rural Tanzania, an internist specializing in endocrinology, an abortion provider, and a national leader in the movement to provide access to abortion as part of a full range of health services for women and families.

Dr. Karlin served as Director of the Women’s Medical Center in Madison, Wisconsin. She was a founding member of the Board of Directors of Physicians for Reproductive Choice and Health and a Clinical Assistant Professor in the Department of Internal Medicine at University Hospitals in Madison. She received her BA from Antioch College and graduated with honors from the University of Wisconsin Medical School. The American Medical Women’s Association awarded her its Reproductive Health Award in 1993 and its highest honor, the Elizabeth Blackwell Award in 1996.

Because of her outspoken belief in providing the best possible care for women faced with unintended pregnancies, Elizabeth Karlin was targeted by extremists, who stalked her in her neighborhood and staged protests in front of her home. In a New York Times article in 1995, Dr. Karlin explained why she had chosen such a courageous, but difficult path when she said: “I don’t do abortions because it’s a filthy job and somebody has to do it. I do them because it is the most challenging medicine I can think of. I provide women with nurturing, preventive care to counteract a violent religious and political environment. I hope to do it well enough to prevent repeat abortions . . . My job is to stop the next abortion. To do this we expect our patients to leave us empowered, more informed, healthier, and, yes, happier than when they came in.”

Dr. Karlin testified before the Congressional Women’s Caucus in October 1997, urging the importance of American women’s access to contraception and new contraceptive research. Following the hearing, the Congressional Women’s Caucus, pressed for the full range of contraceptive coverage for federal employees in their benefit plans.

A role model for many and an apologist to no one, Dr. Karlin set a high standard for doctors who strive to provide women with the best medical care possible under the worst of circumstances.
