Failing eyes and the need for cataract surgery brought the saxophonist home and unfortunately resulted in losing his eyesight. Waters' never-failing buoyancy and upbeat spirit brought him to the attention of the "Statesmen of Jazz" Tour, and he was invited to become a founding member. Through his performance, he achieved fame and prominence in America. Waters, along with his fellow "Statesmen," contributed his time to Arbors Records for the "Statesmen" CD, and its sales are donated to perpetuate the nationwide and international tours. His most recent recording was "Birdland Birthday--Live at 95."

In blindness, he persevered, averaging 100 dates a year until this year, making a second-floor apartment in Holls, Queens—a suburban town in my district—his home base. Jazz historians indicate that Benny was one of only six survivors of jazz recording artists of the late 1920s who were still active, along with Claude "Fiddler" Williams, Benny Carter, Lionel Hampton, Spiegel Wilcox and Rosy McHargue. Benny will be missed by his family, friends, colleagues, fans and communities across the world.

A TRIBUTE IN MEMORY OF BENNY WATERS

HON. GREGORY W. MEEKS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. MEEKS of New York. Mr. Speaker, it is with a great sense of loss that I pay tribute to Mr. Benny Waters, a jazz legend and the oldest touring jazz musician, who died on August 11.

Benjamin Arthur Waters was born the youngest of seven children to Edward and Francis Waters on January 23, 1902 in Bright- ton, Maryland. Mr. Waters started his musical education at age 5 with organ lessons, and he soon moved to reed instruments. While in high school, still in the pre-jazz era, he played sym- copated music with Charlie Miller's band. In his late teenage years he attended the Boston Conservatory of Music, where he studied theory and arranging and gave private clarinet lessons. Among his pupils was Harry Carney, who went on to play baritone saxophone with Duke Ellington.

In 1952, a turning point came in Waters' life when he was asked to join Jimmy Archey's Band for a European tour. The saxophonist decided to stay on in Paris and remained there making it his home while touring festivals and giving concerts in Europe for the next 42 years. Last year, the French government presented Waters with its distinguished "Cheva- lier Legion d'Honneur." enough time to fit George Washington law school into the picture, where she graduated first in the graduating class of 1960. Within five years, Pat was appointed by President Lyndon Johnson as the first black female ambassador to Luxembourg. She also later became the first black female U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under President Jimmy Carter.

Pat had a tremendous professional career, as well as a style unlike anyone else in public office. She had a unique way or organizing and formulating policy strategies effectively. Pat’s expectations were high, but she took every turn and situation in life head on. This was evident as professor, ambassador, public official and particularly when she served as co-chair for President Kennedy’s National Women’s Committee for Civil Rights in 1963. She not only played an essential leadership role in this position, she garnered support for the enactment of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. In 1985, Pat passed away. She bequeathed part of her will to a public affairs program named in her honor at her alma mater of Howard University. Pat wanted to make sure that future generations would have the same opportunities as she, and continue to pursue her goals through government internships. This demonstrates just how dedicated Pat Harris was to the African-American community and spreading the influence of public service to others.

Mr. Speaker, it is an honor to recognize Pat Harris as the commemorative campaign continues organizing her postal stamp, and as Mr. Calhoun completes writing her childhood biography on this great public official. I wish the organization, and Mrs. Calhoun, my very best wishes and future success as they finish highlighting the many accomplishments of Pat Harris.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. MINAL KUMAR

HON. PATSY T. MINK

OF HAWAII

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mrs. MINK of Hawaii. Mr. Speaker, I take this opportunity to give thanks for the life of Minal Kumar, an extraordinarily dedicated and effective advocate for the health of women and children in the State of Hawaii. As the only public health nutritionist on the island of Kauai, Mrs. Kumar, in the span of only six years, managed to triple the number of clients served by the State Department of Health’s Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) programs and for the first time extended WIC programs to the latest Native Hawaiian, Kauai.

Minal Kumar’s special mission was to encourage women to breast-feed their infants because of the significant health benefits breast-fed babies enjoy and because of the special bond that breast-feeding promotes between mother and child. Mrs. Kumar is remembered with great fondness by the people of Kauai for her commitment to the health of women and children and for her personal contribution to relief efforts after Hurricane Iniki devastated the island.

It has been almost a year since Minal Kumar’s passing, but she has not been forgotten by her many friends and admirers on Kauai. A garden at the Kauai office of the Hawaii Department of Health was dedicated this past summer and a memorial fund benefiting Hawaii Mothers’ Milk has been established in her name. I send my heartfelt aloha to Minal’s loving family—her husband Dr. Krishna Kumar, daughter Roshni, and son Akash—and I ask all of my colleagues to join me in honoring the memory and special contributions of Minal Kumar.

THE HOUSEPARENT PROTECTION ACT

HON. JOSEPH R. PITTS

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing legislation to provide an exemption from Department of Labor (DOL) wage and hour regulations to employees of private, non-profit institutions who serve as houseparents.

Houseparents are men and women who work and live in certain institutions and care for and supervise residents of the institution. Usually in compensation for their services, houseparents receive a fixed annual salary, food, lodging, and transportation.

Mr. Speaker, I ask all of my colleagues to join me in honoring the memory and special contributions of Minal Kumar.

Mr. Speaker, it is an honor to recognize Pat Harris as the commemorative campaign continues organizing her postal stamp, and as Mr. Calhoun completes writing her childhood biography on this great public official. I wish the organization, and Mrs. Calhoun, my very best wishes and future success as they finish highlighting the many accomplishments of Pat Harris.

TRIBUTE TO ROBERT P. GAJDYS

HON. BENJAMIN L. CARDIN

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 9, 1998

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Robert P. Gajdys, who is retiring after 8 years as executive director of the Community Assistance Network, Inc., Baltimore County’s non-profit community action agency. The Community Assistance Network (CAN) operates over three dozen programs that serve the diversified needs of more than 50,000 low-income families.

An outspoken advocate for the poor and disadvantaged, Bob Gajdys turned CAN from an agency with a $100,000 deficit to one with a $250,000 surplus. Because of his leadership and exceptional abilities, CAN has built and strengthened regional partnerships, worked to develop statewide anti-poverty strategies, and received national recognition for program excellence.

Before his tenure at CAN, Bob spent 32 years working for the Federal Government. He has served as Director of Personnel at NOAA,
