MICHAEL F. DiMARIO, Public Printer.
Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Goodling), chairman of the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. I rise to again indicate that the President did not win on education in this legislation, the chairman of the Committee on Education and the Workforce did not win in this legislation. The children in this country won in this legislation. Above all, the children who are most disadvantaged won, thanks to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. PORTER) and the gentleman from Florida (Mr. YOUNG).

When we were able to show the administration that 50 percent of teachers in many of the states including New York are not certified or qualified, agreed there is no reason to send not one more teacher into that area, we better improve the teachers that are there. This happens all over the country. Therefore, they decided that 100 percent of this money, they agreed with us, could go for teacher preparation and teacher training for those that are already existing.

We also indicated that overall, 25 percent of the money could be flexible for teacher preparation. We also indicated that to those schools, 7,000 of them in title I that are in schools improvement who have not improved even in 4 years' time, the parents have the opportunity to say, we go to another public school within that district where they are not a failing school.

I want to also include that we wipe out Goals 2000 in the year 2000. We wipe out Goals 2000 in the year 2000. We wipe out Goals 2000 in the year 2000. We wipe out Goals 2000 in the year 2000. We wipe out Goals 2000 in the year 2000. "I am very pleased, Mr. Speaker, that H.R. 3427 is also enacted by this Act. It is the product of our Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights. It is in essence, a bill passed by both Houses.

Mr. Speaker, addressing the abortion compromise on Monday in Ankara, Turkey, our distinguished Secretary of State, Madeleine Albright, said, "We do believe" it will have a "minimal effect on family planning" and that it, the compromise, "will allow the president to carry out—U.S. family planning policy around the world." The agreement wholeheartedly with Secretary Albright. In fact, the pro-life side has always argued that the Mexico City policy has no effect on those family planning organizations who divest themselves from the gristy business of abortion. It is not about changing abortion laws. It is simply a compromise but it is significant. The effect of the waiver is that up to $15 million would then be able to go to foreign organizations that did not make the Mexico City certifications with respect to performing abortions, violating abortion laws in foreign countries, from groups, but promote and/or perform abortions in other countries.

Let me reiterate in the strongest terms possible, this controversy has been, and is, all about the performance and promotion of abortion overseas, and not about family planning per se. The compromise provides that at least 96% of all the money used for population purpose—that's about $370 million—will be subject to the Mexico City safeguards that prohibit foreign nongovernmental organizations from performing abortions in foreign countries, from violating abortion laws of those countries, or from engaging in activities in efforts to change or alter those laws. If the President chooses, he can waive the restrictions on up to $15 million in the account (4%). The abortion compromise, if implemented, is far from perfect, it is a compromise but it is significant. The effect of the waiver is that up to $15 million would then be able to go to foreign organizations that did not make the Mexico City certifications with respect to performing abortions, violating abortion laws in foreign countries, from groups, but promote and/or perform abortions in other countries.

Mr. Speaker. H.R. 3427 ensures that as the United Nations' agency is folded into the State Department, the international information programs of USAID will not be converted into domestic press offices or propaganda organs. It requires that U.S. educational and cultural exchange programs provide safeguards against the inclusion of thugs and spies from dictatorial regimes and to increase the opportunities for human rights and democracy advocates to participate in these programs. (One of the requirements is that we conduct no further police training programs for members of Royal Ulster Constabulary until we have in place vetting procedures to exclude participation by RUC officers who participated in or condoned serious human rights violations, such as the murders of defense attorneys Patrick Finucane and Rosemary Nelson.)

Mr. Speaker, this bill makes clear that Congress expects important reforms in our Vietnam veterans' health care less than I believe the House is prepared to accept. We just get the job done. We believe that we have produced a good product here that would be acceptable to the American people and should be acceptable to the Representatives in the House.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FORBES. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from New York (Mr. Forbes), a member of the committee. (Mr. Forbes asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FORBES. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. I come to the floor today severely grieved and sad because the old ways of Washington continue to prevail. We tried to reform this system. Yet the President did the right thing. The President tried to reform this system. Yet the Republican leadership in this House refuses to allow free trade in our own country. There is only one product, milk, only one product in this entire economy where the price of the product is dependent upon what it is made. That is milk. So, we should be ashamed of that.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. Barrett). Mr. BARRETT of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill. I just have to comment on the dairy part of this bill. We have people in this chamber who sing the praises of free trade with countries all over this world. Yet, the House refused to allow free trade in our own country. There is only one product, milk, only one product in this entire economy where the price of the product is dependent upon what it is made. That is milk. So, we should be ashamed of that. We should be ashamed.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield my-conference with instructions that House managers not agree to any provision whatsoever which would reduce or rescind appropriations for veterans medical care. In other words, it would eliminate the $72 million reduction in the fiscal year 1999 budget for veterans health care. It would restore that $72 million. I would urge Members to vote "yes" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the hard-working, straight-talking, straight-shooting Speaker of the House, a great leader, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. KUBEL). Mr. HASTERT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Florida for yielding me this time.

I do not have to tell my colleagues that it has been a long and often challenging road to get to this point today. We have before us a good bill, a fair bill, a bill that reflects our priorities as a Congress and reflects our priorities as a Nation.

When I took on this job a little less than a year ago, I said the appropriations process needed to be a process that we sent the 13 bills. After we moved through the process of the committee and we sent them to the White House and the President has the chance of signing those bills or vetoing those bills, and if he chooses to veto, give us the message and send the bill back and we will work it.

We have done that. Every one of these bills have gone through the process. Now we are back. We are dealing with the five bills that the President decided to veto. And over a long period of time, and working with the White House and working with our colleagues on the other side of the aisle, we have pieced together what we need in this Nation to make this Nation work on an appropriations process for the next fiscal year.

For the past 30 years, our government has taken money out of the pockets of seniors and spent it on more wasteful Washington spending. Last February, our majority pledged to stop this trend on Social Security Trust Funds, and in this bill we have. Stopping the raid on Social Security is not just good news for our seniors, it is good news for our children who unfairly have been burdened with the national debt and paying the interest on that debt year after year, not only way into the future.

With this bill's passage today, we will be on target to pay down $131 billion on the cost of this fiscal year. When I arrived in Congress in 1981, the idea of passing a budget that would actually pay down $130 billion worth of debt would have been laughable, and even 5 years ago the thought of debt reduction was pleasant, that, a thought, but now it is a reality.

This bill also represents a huge victory for those in this chamber who have spent many years fighting for local control of Federal education dollars. We had a long debate with the White House, and the White House wanted more teachers, and we put $300 million more in for education than the White House had asked for. With that, when we asked, let us give our local school districts, let us give our parents, let us give teachers and let us give superintendents and those people we ask to take care of our local schools the flexibility to do the work that they have to do.

We did that in this bill. Working with the White House and the good work of the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. GOODLING), we eliminated the $72 million reduction in the teacher bill, so teachers would be there, we would have the people to do the discipline and do the teaching and do the work, but if we did not need teachers, we could use that money to lift up the bursars and capability of the teachers we already have.

The debate over education has now changed. Instead of arguing about whether there should be local control of education dollars, we are now debating about how parents, parents, that there should be. There is money in this bill that can be used to hire more teachers and lower classroom size, but there is also flexibility in this bill. Parents and teachers will have more freedom to use this money as they see fit. Keeping more dollars and decisions in our classrooms is a victory for this Congress and a victory for our children.

This bill also takes a very important first step in significantly curtailing the outrageous waste. Every year, our government spends billions and billions of dollars, and we are saying in this bill, let us take 38 cents out of every $100 that the Federal Government spends and find waste and abuse. I think that is doable, and I think next year we ought to do more, get more dollars and less waste, and abuse, and we could have saved over the next five years, increasing premiums over the next five years, increasing premiums about a dollar a month. It spends about $16 billion of the Social Security surplus over the next five years, increasing premiums about a dollar a month. It spends about $16 billion of the Social Security surplus over the next five years, increasing premiums about a dollar a month.

And, I want to commend Chairman THOMAS for a bill which did not give away the future of Medicare. The lobbying pressures have been enormous. It would have been easy to bring forth a $30 or $40 billion bill. The bill is limited and generally—with some exceptions—directly spending to the areas where there is the most evidence that some adjustment is needed.

Nevertheless, I voted against the bill when it first passed the House, because it was not paid for and thus should not have been paid from the Medicare Trust Fund about a year, and increased beneficiary Part B premiums by at least 50 cents a month.

It is amazing to think about what this bill actually does. It stops the raid on Social Security, it keeps the budget balanced, it pays down our national debt and it gives parents and teachers more control and better benefits to our children. It was not that long ago that these accomplishments were nothing more than bold goals.

So I encourage my colleagues to vote for this agreement, and let the American people know that this Congress is focused on fiscal discipline and sound policy, and as we open up the new millennium, the Year 2000, we can promise our seniors that their pension funds are secure, that their Social Security funds are secure, and our children are not going to have to pick up the interest on our debt that we have piled on their shoulders over the past years.

I ask for support on this bill. As a Speaker, the DC Appropriations bill is the shell in which the Republican leadership has chosen to place the legislative kitchen sink, so the speak. This bill includes a myriad of provisions that have nothing to do with the District of Columbia—Interior Appropriations, Ocean acidification, National Park Service, and generallyÐwith some exceptionsÐdirects Medicare. The lobbying pressures have been enormous. It would have been easy to bring forth a $30 or $40 billion bill. The bill is limited and generally—with some exceptions—directly spending to the areas where there is the most evidence that some adjustment is needed.

Nevertheless, I voted against the bill when it first passed the House, because it was not paid for and thus should not have been paid from the Medicare Trust Fund about a year, and increased beneficiary Part B premiums by at least 50 cents a month.

It is still not paid for—and now reduces solvency by more than a year, and increases beneficiary Part B premiums by at least 50 cents a month.

It is amazing to think about what this bill actually does. It stops the raid on Social Security, it keeps the budget balanced, it pays down our national debt and it gives parents and teachers more control and better benefits to our children. It was not that long ago that these accomplishments were nothing more than bold goals.

So I encourage my colleagues to vote for this agreement, and let the American people know that this Congress is focused on fiscal discipline and sound policy, and as we open up the new millennium, the Year 2000, we can promise our seniors that their pension funds are secure, that their Social Security funds are secure, and our children are not going to have to pick up the interest on our debt that we have piled on their shoulders over the past years.

I ask for support on this bill.
I am most disappointed about the budget games that were played on the 5.7 percent hospital outpatient department issue—which is a $4 billion gift to hospitals. When the BBA passed, we meant to reduce payments to hospitals which had been shifting overhead costs to outpatient departments. It is the richest Orwellian revisionist history to claim otherwise. But revisionist history is what has happened. So that neither the White House nor the Congress would be charged for the $4 billion gift, there has been an exchange of letters in which no one is ‘scored’ for the cost of spending $4 billion. It is a classic 1+1=3. But, like all such political tricks, the reason is simple: a miracle for which no one is responsible and no one has to pay.

Mr. Speaker, it is all phony, it is all a distortion of the budget process. The give-away to hospitals does cost money; $1 billion will come from seniors. Therefore, we should have been honest and paid for it. It is money that will not be available to save Medicare. It is money that comes out of the Social Security surplus. And that is the truth.

Mr. Speaker, this kind of dishonest budget game does nothing to extend the life of Social Security. And for far too long Congress has just been rolled by lobbyists. Providers need more money. In many cases, the Congress impact of such schemes rolled by lobbyists and major contributors.

Standards for Medicare managed care plans have been weakened. We continue to grossly overpay HMOs. The HMO industry that we believe in the Patient Bill of Rights has crept in the backdoor of this bill to weaken consumer protections and receive $4 billion in overpayments. I would vote no if this were a free-standing bill based on is merits alone. That decision is made even easier by the process used here today which compiled all of these unrelated, important bills into one gant package in order to try to force members of Congress to vote yes. Well, that theory doesn’t work on everyone. I vote no.

Mr. CROWLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to talk about the DC Appropriations/Omnibus budget Conference Report. This conference report is a vast improvement over previously vetoed appropriations bills, yet in some instances fails, in my opinion, short of where we should be. I will support this legislation as it is a true compromise and will bring many benefits to the citizens of this country, funding valuable programs while having the small 0.38 percent across the board budget cut. While I believe this bill to be fiscally responsible, it does nothing to extend the life of Social Security. I strongly encourage the Republican leadership to continue their legislation early next year to extend the life of Social Security by ensuring its solvency.

The Omnibus covers much ground and I would like to touch on several important issues to my constituents. In the areas of Health, Human Services and Education, I feel it is important to highlight the support this Omnibus gives to our nation’s teachers and our education system; to AIDS funding and NIH research in general; to family planning programs; and to Medicare payment relief for our hospitals. Overall, the Omnibus provides $39 billion for education programs. This is a 7 percent increase over Fiscal Year 1999. Importantly, the Class Size Reduction Initiative remained intact. The controversy about this program led to the President’s veto of previous Labor/HHS appropriations bills. However, the $1.3 billion appropriated for class size reduction will in large part remain designated for that purpose. School districts are permitted to use up to 25 percent of the funds for professional development, an increase over last year. Nonetheless, the majority of funding will remain targeted for its intended purpose—reducing the sizes of our children’s classes. This funding was imperative for schools in my district and New York City. In fact, New York City used its funding under the class size reduction initiative to fund the full salaries of 808 new teachers and to partially fund the salaries of an additional 788 early grade teachers. Had there been no funding for class size reduction, the city would have been unable to retain more than 1500 teachers. This is important in my district, which contains the most overcrowded school district in the city, CSD 24, operating at 119 percent over capacity. Overall, the funding New York City receives will result in an approximate increase of 90,000 students—27 percent of its K–3 enrollment. While this is nowhere near enough—it is an important first step in improving the education for all K–3 children in New York City and across the country.

Another notable program that this Omnibus funds is the 21st Century Community Learning Centers. This agreement appropriates $453 million for after-school centers, $253 million more than last year. After school centers are vital to our children’s off the street needs.

Our communities and schools are facing the fact that most families need to have two parents working full time to provide for their children. This leaves as many as 15 million school-aged children without supervision from the time school ends until the time their parents arrive home from work. After-school programs provide school-age children whose parents both work a supervised environment providing constructive activities. Such a structured setting makes these students less likely to use alcohol and drugs, commit crimes, receive poor grades, and drop out of school. No one in my district, or in the nation, wants to see children go home to empty houses or apartments, or worse yet, succumb to anti-social activities on the street.

The 21st Century Community Learning Centers program allows schools to address the educational needs of its community through after-school, weekend, and summer programs. After school programs enable schools to stay open longer, providing a safe place for homework centers, drug and violence prevention programs, and recreational activities. Additionally, after school programs enhance learning, increase community responsibility, and decrease youth crime and drug use. I fully support the increase in Fiscal Year 2000 funding for the 21st Century Community Learning Centers program. My only disappointment was that there was no more funding to enable more schools to provide this much needed service to our communities.

The Omnibus also increases funding for Start Head Start programs bringing new funding. As you know, Mr. Speaker, the Head Start Program was instituted in 1965 and has been re-authorized through 2003. Head Start funds are provided directly to local grantees and the programs are locally designed and administered by a network of 1600 public and private non-profit agencies. Head Start has been an unequivocal success. A 1995 report by the Packard Foundation presented evidence that high quality early childhood education for low-income children enhances very early child development, education, health, nutrition, social and other services to low income preschool children and their families. I applaud the leadership for continuing to support this essential early education and development program.

Under Health and Human Services programs, we once again expressed our support for the research being done by the National Institutes of Health, as well as AIDS programs and family planning. Overall, the Omnibus provides $2.8 billion for AIDS programs in Fiscal Year 1999 for NIH, bringing its funding to $17.9 billion. This majority of this money will be seen by NIH researchers this year, rather than being until September 29, 2000, as originally reposed by the Republican leadership. Imagery of the impact of not funding research projects for almost an entire year. A year without cancer research, diabetes, lupus, this list goes on and on. Every day important break-throughs happen, and I am happy the Republican leadership did not sacrifice research health to balance the budget.

I am also heartened by the support for Ryan White AIDS program, which will received $1.6 billion in funding, a 13 percent increase from the last year, and $44 million more than the last Labor/HHS bill. We all know the battle we face against AIDS an HIV, the virus that causes AIDS. In 1998, the Center for Disease Control reported that 665,357 persons were living with the AIDS virus and CDC estimates that 650,000-900,000 American live with the HIV virus. Sadly, so far 401,028 individuals have not survived their battle with AIDS. However, we all know that data lack of reporting or lack of knowledge on the part of individuals and states, that these numbers are low. Representations of the actual number of those living with HIV and AIDS.

In 1998, there were 129,545 thousand reported AIDS cases and 80,408 reported AIDS death. New York City AIDS cases represent over 85 percent of the AIDS cases in New York State and 17 percent of the national total with 109,392 AIDS cases and 67,969 AIDS related deaths as reported in 1998. My own Congressional District spans two Boroughs in New York City with rapidly growing AIDS cases. In the Bronx, the Pelham and Throggs Neck area covered by the 7th Congressional District has report 3,045 AIDS cases and 1,957 deaths due to the AIDS virus in 1998. In Queens, a Borough with a rapidly growing population, there are 6,982 AIDS cases and 4,082 known dead from AIDS related causes as reported in 1998.

Sadly, this horrible disease has disproportionately affected minorities. The majority of individuals living with AIDS in New York City are people of color. African Americans are more than eight times as likely as whites to have HIV and AIDS, and Hispanics more than four times are likely. The most stunning fact I have read comes from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in October of 1998, when they reported that AIDS is the leading killer of black men age 25-44 and the second leading cause of death of black women age 25-44. Together, Black and His- panic women represent one fourth of all women in the United States and account for more than three quarters of the AIDS cases among women in the country.

I know this may be a difficult subject, Mr. Speaker. The number of AIDS cases reported each year in Queens and the Bronx is on the de- cline. This is in large part to the bipartisan commitment by the House of Representatives to funding research at NIH and programs through the department of Health and Human Services. Now that we have had break- throughs in treatment of HIV and delaying the onset of full blown AIDS, we must concentrate more of our effort on prevention and treatment programs. These programs are especially im- portant for minorities, who are so disproportionally affected by this disease.

Steinway’s CAPE program (Case Manage- ment, Advocacy, Prevention & Education) of- fers services to people who have contracted HIV, increases general public awareness of the methods of HIV transmission, and pro- vides targeted outreach services to people considered “at risk.” Steinway’s Scattered Site Housing program located dwellings in Queens for homeless persons with AIDS and their families. It is currently the largest program of its type in the country. I am proud that this Omnibus bill includes $65,000 in funding for Steinway’s CAPE program.

The arts also help to break down barriers, and away from the lure of drugs and crime. Projects targeted at urban youth will greatly help keep these young people of the streets, and away from the lure of drugs and crime. The arts also help to break down barriers, bring communities together, and offer hope.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, the positive funding increases outweigh the short amount of time and offsets of this Omnibus bill. There- fore, I support the measure and urge its pas- sage by the House of Representatives.

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the conference report to H.R. 3194, the FY2000 District of Columbia Appropriations Act. This legislation encompassing the five remaining appropriations bills for fiscal year 2000—the Commerce, Justice and State appropriations bill, the District of Columbia appropria- tions bill, the Foreign Operations appropria- tions bill, and the Labor, Health and Human Services and education appropriations bill—is a good compromise that will address our Nation’s do- mestic and foreign policy priorities while re- taining fiscal discipline.

While I am concerned with the budget gimmicks that are being used to mask the size of the overall spending in this package, I will support the legislation because I believe that overall, this legislation will maintain a balanced budget and provide surplus in years to come. I also believe that by reducing spending we will be able to maintain a balanced budget and provide surplus in the future. This legislation rep- resents an attempt to do something that other Congresses never attempted to do. By resist- ing the historic temptation to spend the Social Security trust fund surplus, we have changed the terms of debate in Washington. The Congresses will now work to maintain a balanced budget and protect all of the Social Security trust fund surplus.

Following the 1994 election, Congress in- herited a projected four-year budget deficit of $500 billion. In response, Congress with a Re- publican majority in both the House and the Senate reduced the growth of Federal spending and the President joined us in the 1997 balanced budget agreement. Limit- its on the growth of Federal spending and the continued strong performance of our economy helped to produce a net surplus of $63 billion in the Federal budget in fiscal years 1996 through 1999. In fiscal year 1999 the Federal Government enjoyed a $123 billion surplus, and the surplus is growing as we begin fiscal year 2000. Congress has ended the trillion dollar deficit spending frenzy of the late 1980's and early 1990's and Federal spending is more responsible today.

With the goal of protecting the Social Security trust fund surplus, Congress is holding the line on expending Government programs and is finally starting to pay down the national debt. We are accomplishing these goals while still meeting basic governmental responsibilities such as increasing Medicare payments to our hospitals and nursing homes by approximately $12 billion over five years, increasing funding or education and health care programs, and paying the United States overdue commitments to the United Nations. This legislation meets the basic needs of our country in a responsible manner.

To help meet our goal of limiting the growth of Federal spending, this legislation includes a 0.38 percent across-the-board spending reduction which applies to all thirteen annual appropriations bills, saving taxpayers about $1.3 billion. I support this type of "belt tightening." The Federal Government should find savings in every area that Delaware's air and water. The judicial system is fully equipped to give these companies their due process while experts consider a better way to identify and treat problems before they become a threat to their health, their fertility or their lives.

I am disappointed that the compromise language in this bill does not reflect the Senate position on community health centers and the prospective payment system, as these organizations play an important role in the delivery of health care in Delaware. That said, I believe these changes are an improvement on current law and I hope that we can continue to move legislation to strengthen the delivery of services to our most at-risk populations.

This bill also goes a long way toward restoring protections for the environment that were absent when the Interior appropriations conference report was released without my support. Seven of the twenty-four anti-environmental riders added by the Senate were stripped and the remaining riders were significantly changed to reduce their threat to the environment. The congressional leadership was responsive to concerns I raised that Congress should not attempt to prevent EPA enforcement action against midwest electric utility companies whose emissions are polluting Delaware's air and water. The judicial system is fully equipped to give these companies their day in court to defend their actions. I am extremely pleased that the remaining rider was not included in the bill. Furthermore, the Interior appropriation bill increases funding for our national parks, our national wildlife refuges, and restoration efforts in the everglades. Finally, the Interior bill contains funding for a program of particular interest to Delaware—the state side land and water conservation fund, which provides Delaware with funding for its state parks and environmental land acquisition programs.

Mr. Speaker, this is not a perfect piece of legislation. It contains compromises that were necessary to meet the President's demands and to reach agreement between Republicans and Democrats in Congress. Despite these compromises, this legislation maintains our ongoing commitment to fiscally responsible and a balanced budget. This commitment to fiscal responsibility and a balanced budget. This commitment to fiscal responsibility and a balanced budget. This commitment to fiscal responsibility and a balanced budget. This commitment to fiscal responsibility and a balanced budget. This commitment to fiscal responsibility and a balanced budget. This commitment to in turn would distribute 100 percent of this funding to school districts, for (1) activities to provide assistance to schools which are failing academically, and (2) public school choice for all children in schools which are identified as “schools in school improvement” under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. While I support this provision, I am concerned about its impact on Title I and our nation’s schools.

The statutory language of this provision does not specify how funds are distributed from district to school district level. Presently, 98.5 percent of Title I funds are distributed directly to the local level. In addition, Title I funds designated for the local, or school district level, have always been distributed via a targeted formula that provides the bulk of funding to the most disadvantaged areas. This provision’s departure from the current statutory focus opens the door to the elimination of targeting funds to the local level—a dangerous step towards taking precious Federal funds away from those who instruct our children on a day to day basis. I expect the Department of Education to issue regulations or guidance which will target these funds to either the school districts with the highest numbers of schools in school improvement or through the existing Title I formula.

I also have concerns over the mandate in this provision on designating public school choice. I do want to make clear that I support public school choice as one of several tools which local school districts may implement in their efforts to improve student achievement. H.R. 2, legislation passed by the House earlier this year and which I also recognize the need to include public school choice provisions in Title I, also recognized the need to include public choice provisions in Title I, but contained important provisions that would (1) tie the requirement to implement public school choice to local school board policy, and (2) ensure that school districts had adequate time to properly design public school choice plans by providing 18 months to implement such plans. In contrast, the provisions contained in this legislation would become effective immediately and are vague on whether local school boards can supersede it. I expect that the Department of Education will issue guidance or regulations which ensure that school districts can responsibly implement this mandate in adequate time.

It is my hope that we can continue to refine the policy that will be implemented through the enactment of this provision as we finish our work on ESEA.

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation.

This legislation addresses a number of critical national and local priorities of which I will only highlight a few. It provides funding to continue putting 100,000 more teachers in our classrooms. It will also allow school districts to use some of that money to meet other critical educational needs like teacher training if those needs are more pressing. The bill also continued our commitment to put 50,000 more police officers on our streets to fight crime. I have been a strong supporter of the COPS program, seeing the benefits in numerous Central Coast cities like Santa Maria, Lompoc, Atascadero, and the way.

This bill also provides more money to the hospitals, doctors, home health agencies and nursing homes that take care of seniors in the Medicare program. Cuts imposed by the 1997 Balanced Budget Act threaten the ability of critical Central Coast health care providers to serve our seniors and this bill restores some of that funding. The bill also contains some changes to the Medicare HMO program to encourage more coverage in underserved areas like the Central Coast and support these local provisions, they don’t go far enough and I will continue to push for legislation to raise reimbursement rates in rural counties like San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara.

Mr. Speaker, there are three provisions of particular importance to my district that I would like to highlight. First, this legislation contains $100,000 for Santa Barbara’s Computers for Families organization. Run by the highly respected Santa Barbara Industry Education Council and the Santa Barbara Office of Education, DFF refurbishes old computers and gets them into the homes of low-income families. This valuable program helps open the doors of opportunities for all in our community and this expansion will enable CFF to bring this critical technology to more needy families.

Second, the bill provides $50,000 for the San Luis Obispo County Medical Society which, in conjunction with the Volunteers in Health Care program and pharmaceutical companies, will provide prescription drugs for some under-served seniors. Ensuring seniors’ access to the prescription of medicine is essential and this small program will help many needy seniors obtain the drugs they need to live a quality life.

Finally, this legislation authorizes a study of the beautiful Gaviota Coast in Santa Barbara and the beautiful Gaviota Coast, and I am concerned with the involvement of local preservation groups, to determine how we can best protect one of the last undeveloped stretches of California’s coast. This provision is based on the Gaviota Coast Act of 1999, which I introduced earlier this year.

I must note, however, that there are items in this legislation that I do not support. For example, the bill inappropriately restricts funding to international family planning organizations. While I support this provision will keep life saving family planning services from poor women around the world.

While the bill does increase funding at the National Institutes of Health and continues us on a track to double the agency’s overall funding, it still delays some $4 billion in NIH funding until the end of the fiscal year. This delay will actually have the effect of cutting the increase in NIH funding and could slow critically important medical research.

I am also deeply disappointed in the process that has resulted in a bill that funds nearly half of the government programs at one time. This process does not allow Members to properly study the details of the legislation. I fear that over the next several days and weeks we will be appalled at special provisions that have been tucked into this bill for special interests. Taxpayers deserve more respect from Congress in the way it spends their money. This is not the way the House should do business. I urge the leadership of this House to begin work today on a bipartisan basis to ensure that we do not end up in this position again next year.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is far from perfect. I have serious reservations about the process and I oppose certain provisions in the bill. But, on balance, it represents a good compromise and I urge its adoption.

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, I will vote against the Omnibus Budget Agreement because it causes a continuing pattern of budgeting which I feel undermines the confidence and credibility of the American public in one of the most important congressional responsibilities we have—managing the people’s money.

I opposed the 1997 Balanced Budget Agreement because it was clear there was no intention of implementing it. It was a ruse. Last year, there was $36 billion in unobligated spending at the last minute omnibus bill. This year, there is no more time for analysis, and the amount of money that is being ginned, manipulated and spent in violation of the budget rules is up to $45 billion.

While there is much in the bill that I support, and while it has been made better due to heroic efforts on the part of the Administration and the House Democratic leadership, it still falls far short of the mark to which Congress should be accountable. I continue to hope that the day will come when the budget process is transparent and not something that is done in secret and spending decisions and is done in a fashion that both Congress and the people we represent can follow what we’re doing. Until that day, I feel it appropriate to vote no.

Mr. SERRANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the conference report, and, in particular, of the final agreements on the programs of the Commerce, Justice, and State Departments, the Judiciary, and the related agencies under our Subcommittee’s jurisdiction.

This has been a difficult process. Mr. Speaker, with more perils than Pauline, but at each step of the way the Commerce-Justice bill has been improved, first under the capable leadership of our Chairman, the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. ROGERS) and finally in negotiations with the Administration.

I must repeat what others have already said, that the Committee and Subcommittee chairmen and ranking Democrats, our staff, and the President’s staff have worked long and hard, day and night, weekday and weekend. But it is only right that we not forget to tell the people that the staffs often stay hours longer when members go home. We owe the staff an enormous debt of gratitude.

Mr. Speaker, Chairman ROGERS has explained our part of this package, but I will just note that there is more money for COPS, for SBA, for NOAA, for various civil and employment rights activities, and that most of the President’s funding priorities have been addressed.

Of special importance, in my view, is that the resources and authority are provided to let the U.S. pay a substantial portion of the arrears due the UN. This avoids loss of our vote in the UN General Assembly and enhances our leverage over both UN policies and activities in the world and the management of the UN itself.

But the price for this victory may be the lives and health of women all over the world. This is very troubling.

We were not able to include a Hate Crimes provision, but I hope this issue can be taken up next year.

Mr. Speaker, the procedure used to create this wrap-up bill was most unusual, and while I know there are very positive provisions in the bigger package, there are also sins of both omission and commission that have been discovered. But I wonder what sins may still be hidden from view since few have had the chance to read it through.

For my part, however, I believe that our work has mostly been well done and I intend to support the report.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today, as a member of the Judiciary Committee, to express my support for the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999, which is included as Title IV of the Intellectual Property and Communications Omnibus Reform Act. This Act is included in the Omnibus spending package, H.R. 3194, that we are considering today.

This patent reform measure includes a series of initiatives intended to protect the rights of inventors, enhance patent protections and reduce patent litigation. Perhaps most importantly, subtitle C of Title IV contains the so-called “First Inventor Defense.” This defense provides a first inventor (or “prior user”) with a defense in patent infringement lawsuits, whenever an inventor of a business method (i.e., a practice, process or system) uses the invention but does not patent it. Currently, patent law does not provide original inventors with any protections when a subsequent user, who patents the method at a later date, files a lawsuit for infringement against the real creator of the invention.

The first inventor defense will provide the financial services industry with important, need- ed protections in the face of the uncertainty presented by the Federal Circuit’s decision in the State Street case. State Street Bank and Trust Company v. Signature Financial Group, Inc., 149 F.3d 1363 (Fed. Cir., 1998). In State Street, the Court did away with the so-called “business methods” exception to statutory patent- enable subject matter. Consequently, this de- cision has raised questions about what types of business methods may now be eligible for patent protection. In the financial services sec- tor, this has prompted serious legal and prac- tical concerns. It has created doubt regarding whether or not particular business methods used by the industry—including processes, practices, and systems—might now suddenly become subject to patent claims under the patent law. In terms of every day business prac- tice, these types of activities were considered to be protected as trade secrets and were not viewed as patentable material.

Mr. Speaker, the first inventor defense strikes a fair balance between patent law and trade secret law. Specifically, this provision creates a defense for inventors who (1) acting in good faith have reduced the subject matter to practice in the United States at least one year prior to the patent filing date (“effective filing date” of the invention) and (2) have used the invention in the United States before the filing date of the patent. Commercial use does not require that the particular invention be made known to the public or be used in the public marketplace. This provision includes wholly internal commercial uses as well.

As used in this legislation, the term “meth- od” is intended to be construed broadly. The term “method” is defined as meaning “a method of doing or conducting business.” Thus, “method” includes any internal method of doing business that is not reflected in the form of doing or conducting business, or a method for conducting business in the public marketplace. It includes a practice, process, activity, or system that is used in the design, formulation, testing, or manufacture of any product or service. The defense will be applicable against method claims, as well as the claims involving machines or articles the manufacturer used to practice such methods (i.e., apparatus claims).

New technologies are being developed every day which involve techniques that employ both methods of doing business and physical apparatus design to carry out a method of doing business. The first inventor defense is intended to protect both method claims and apparatus claims.

When viewed specifically from the stand- point of the financial services industry, the term “method” includes financial instruments, financial products, financial transactions, the ordering of financial information, and any system or process that transmits or transforms infor- mation with respect to investments or other types of financial transactions. In this context, it is important to point out the beneficial effects that such methods have brought to our soci- ety. These include the encouragement of home ownership, the broadened availability of capital to small businesses and the develop- ment of a variety of pension and investment opportunities for millions of Americans.

As the joint explanatory statement of the Conference Committee on H.R. 1554 notes, the provision focuses on methods for doing business, for methods that are used in connection with internal commercial operations as well as those used in connection with the sale or transfer of useful end re- sults—whether in the form of physical prod- ucts, or in the form of services, or in the form of some other useful result; for example, re- sults produced through the manipulation of data or other inputs to produce a useful re- sult.” H. Rept. 106–464, p. 122.

The language of the provision states that the defense is not available if the person has actually abandoned commercial use of the subject matter. As used in the legislation, abandonment refers to the cessation of use with no intent to resume. Intervals of non-use between such periodic or cyclical activities such as seasonal factors or reasonable in- tervals in contracts, however, should not be considered to be abandonment.

As noted earlier, in the wake of State Street, thousands of methods and processes that have been and are used internally are now subject to the possibility of being claimed as patented inventions. Previously, the busi- nesses that developed and used such meth- ods and processes thought that secrecy was the only protection available. As the con- ference report on H.R. 1554 states: “(U)nder established law, any of these inventions which are not patented—purposely or se- cret—for more than one year cannot now be the subject of a valid U.S. patent.” H. Rept. 106–464, p. 122.

Mr. Speaker, patent law should encourage innovation, not create barriers to the develop- ment of innovative financial products, credit vehicles, and e-commerce generally. The pat- ent law was never intended to prevent people from doing what they are already doing. While I am very pleased that the first inventor’s de- fense is included in this legislation, it should be viewed as just the first step in defining the appropriate role of the State Street decision. This legal defense will provide important protections for companies against unfair and unjustified patent infringement ac- tions. But, at the same time, I believe it is time for Congress to take a closer look at the State Street decision. I hope that next year the Judiciary Committee will consider holding hearings on the State Street issue, so that Members can carefully evaluate its con- secquences.

Mr. CLAY. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased this Omnibus bill rejects the devastating cuts on seniors, children, and young adults proposed only last month by the Republican majority. The Labor/HHS portion of this bill, which adds $7.3 billion over last year’s bill, more appro- priately reflects the overall public sup- port for increased investment in education and fairness in the workplace.

I am particularly pleased that the Congress decided to continue funding the Clinton/Clay Class Size Reduction Program, which will hire 100,000 new, highly qualified teachers nation- wide. I am particularly pleased that the Congress rejected the Republican plan to divert class size funds into block grants, which could have been used for private school vouchers and purposes unrelated to class size reduc- tions.

The Conference report provides an increase from $1.2 billion to $1.3 billion for class size reduction, it continues class size reduction as a separate program, and it ensures that such funds are targeted to the neediest public schools. The agreement also includes the Democratic plan to ensure that all teachers become fully certified, and it continues the program’s flexibility to use funds for teacher recruitment and professional development in order to reduce class sizes.

It also provides new provisions, strongly ad- vocated by President Clinton, that allows $134 million in Title I funds to be used to improve low-performing schools.

The conference report also increases invest- ment in critical education and labor initiatives above the last conference agreement. It pro- vides $454 million for After School Centers, an increase of $154 million over the vetoed bill and $254 million over 1999. It provides $8.6 billion for Title I grants for the disadvantaged, an increase of $144 million over the vetoed bill and $276 million over 1999. It provides $136 million for Historically Black Colleges and Universi- ties, an increase of $7.25 million over the vetoed bill and $12.7 million over 1999. It also provides $7.7 billion for Pell Grants to fund a maximum award of $3.300—the same as the vetoed bill and a $175 increase over 1999.

In the Labor area, the bill provides $11.3 bil- lion—$54 million over the vetoed bill, and $389 million over 1999.

I urge support for the bill.
the flexibility to establish and serve large service areas by utilizing cost efficient branch offices.

My district includes many rural areas which are experiencing access problems due to the Health Care Financing Administration's (HCFA) policies which allow branch offices to create access problems affecting time/distance limitations and on-site supervision requirements. In many cases, these requirements do not recognize technology advances. In order to ensure that senior citizens in rural areas have access to quality home care, it is vital that any regulations on home care offices be reevaluated by the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) evaluate the offices by quality of outcome instead of arbitrary administration requirements and restrictions.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I reiterate my support for the report language accompanying H.R. 3075 urging the use of outcome instead of arbitrary requirements and restrictions, to determine a home health care agency's ability to establish and supervise branch offices.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to the Grenada Reciprocity Bill of 1999. This bill is a travesty, a massive symbol of the failure of this Congress to accomplish its most basic goal—passage of the 13 appropriations bills by September 30, the end of the fiscal year—on time and in order. It has lumped together numerous pieces of legislation, as well as five appropriations bills, and slapped them together like a giant Thanksgiving turkey to present to the American people.

The process which we are about to vote on this House is over a foot high, hundreds of pages thick and in its final form with only a few copies available to all 435 members—was filed at 3:00 a.m. this morning. Members of this Chamber have not had the opportunity to read or even review this legislation. No one knows what kind of special-interest boondoggles lie in the text of this bill, and no one will know for days to come.

The majority in this House even voted to suspend the rules that govern the budget process by forbidding the Congressional Budget Office to review this bill, which would let members know just how much all of these provisions will cost the taxpayers. According to the last CBO estimate of this bill, the majority would pass a bill that breaks their promise to leave untouched the Social Security Trust Fund. CBO recently said this bill would use $15 to $17 billion of the Trust Fund—and who knows just how much this Congress will raid from the Trust Fund once this bill in its final form is enacted.

Finally, it exceeds all of the budget caps put into place in 1997 to balance the federal budget, stretching credibility and the imagination by declaring things like the Head Start program—begun in 1964—as an 'emergency,' along with the census, operations of the Pentagon and other basic functions of government. If we intend to "bust the budget caps" and declare them obsolete now that we have a budget surplus, we should do so in an honest way and be straight with the American people.

There are some good provisions in this legislation, along with the bad provisions. It provides: A President with his priorities of 100,000 new officers and tools to create smaller teacher/students classrooms; 50,000 more police on America's streets; and a much-needed pay raise for military personnel.

However, there is no reason why this Congress could not have passed these initiatives in a deliberative manner with full debate in this House, instead of in this format. Instead, the majority has cobbled together a massive Thanksgiving turkey of a bill, to present to the American people in one whole form to avoid the scrutiny that would mean the death of some of the more controversial provisions in this legislation. These are the same leaders that told the American people that if they were in charge they would pass a budget on time, with 13 appropriations bills debated separately, rather than lumping them together like the Social Security Trust Fund. Their failure to keep their word has resulted in this bill, which I urge my colleagues to oppose.

Ms. STABENOW. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to this bill and the process that brought it to the floor. My primary concerns are that we have not received sufficient guarantees that the Social Security surplus is protected, and we have not extended the Social Security Trust Fund for even one day. Prior to consideration of this package, the Congress voted that these amounts should be spent—was on pace to spend $17 billion from the Social Security Trust Fund in Fiscal Year 2000. Given that these offsets in this bill do not reach this level, and that this bill relies on numerous questionable budget gimmicks geared to mask the overall effect on Social Security, I cannot support it. At the same time, there are numerous examples of wasteful, unnecessary spending projects—money that would be better spent on Social Security and Medicare.

What makes the above problem all the more tragic is that there are many positive aspects to this measure. As a sponsor of the COPS 2000 legislation, which will authorize the placement of 50,000 additional police officers on our streets, I am especially pleased that a down payment on this funding is included in this bill. In addition, money to add 100,000 new teachers to our schools to reduce class size is also included, as well as an increased commitment to the Lands Legacy Initiative, which will protect our natural areas. I voted for funds to help implement the Wye River Agreement, which I considered previously, and I would like to be able to vote for them today. This bill restores resources, at least modestly, to our hospitals, nursing homes, and home health facilities that have been negatively impacted by the Balanced Budget Act of 1997, but it does not do enough to solve the long term problems with Medicare reimbursement levels. I have been a leader of this effort, and I voted for similar provisions when they passed the House a few weeks ago. But I said at that time that more needed to be done to adequately address uninsured cuts in Medicare. This budget puts pork barrel projects before funding for home health care, hospitals and nursing homes, and this is wrong.

Mr. Speaker, this Congress opened with a bipartisan commitment to preserving the integrity of the Social Security system. This budget does not live up to that commitment. Protecting and strengthening Social Security and Medicare are top priorities for the families I represent and this budget does not pass the test. I urge my colleagues to oppose this legislation.

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the conference report on the omnibus Fiscal Year 2000 Appropriations Bill for the District of Columbia, the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, Commerce, Justice, State, Interior, and Foreign Operations.

Unfortunately, Mr. Speaker, the process which brought about this omnibus bill makes a mockery of regular order in this House. Over seven weeks into the new fiscal year, and requiring an array of accounting gimmicks purporting to stay within the budget caps, my colleagues on the other side of this aisle should be ashamed of themselves for bringing such a monstrosity forward at this eleventh hour. Filing conference reports at three in the morning and then insisting that we pass legislation which no one has had the opportunity to comprehensively review serves no useful purpose other than to convey to the American people how incapable the majority is of effectively governing. Their display of ineptitude is, however, a perfect ending to a session of Congress that will long be remembered as one of missed opportunities to address the needs of Americans. Included in this graveyard of dead issues and important initiatives as a patients' bill of rights, prescription drugs for the elderly, and substantive reform of Medicare and Social Security.

This bill caps this Congress' departure from the 1997 Balanced Budget Act which I helped write and supported. Because of that bill and previous actions, the Nation today enjoys both a budget surplus and good economic times. Early in the year, however, the Republican Leadership determined to increase funding for defense, agriculture, education; each of it justified, but in excess of the 1997 caps. Rather than honestly explaining this to the American people, the Republican Leadership chose instead to engage in budget gimmicks and subterfuge as is evident today. Unfortunately, at this late hour, they have held hostage must-pass initiatives related to health care, general government, foreign policy and education. Because of that fact, and the fact that we continue to maintain a balanced budget and dedicated to the vast majority of the projected surplus to debt reduction, I will support this conference report. Many of the items contained in the bill are too important to be allowed to lapse.

For instance, this bill includes clarifications and corrections to the Medicare changes contained in the 1997 Balanced Budget Act which exceeded spending reduction targets at the expense of our seniors and teaching hospitals. This bill provides $12.8 billion over five years in new funding for Medicare reforms which are necessary and vital to the health of our nation's senior citizens.

Specifically, these provisions include a section based upon legislation, H.R. 1224, which I have sponsored, along with Representative CARVIN, to ensure fair and equitable Medicare funding for residents being trained to be physicians. Section 541 of Title V of this bill would, for the first time, ensure that teaching hospitals, such as those at the Texas Medical Center, will receive higher Medicare reimbursements for their physician residents. Under current law, these graduate medical education resident payments are based upon hospital-specific costs. As a result, teaching hospitals in Texas currently receive as much as six times less than those paid to hospitals in New York. This provision would fix this equity by establishing three new tiers of payments for residencies. For those teaching hospitals whose payments are more than 40 percent above the national average, their GME payments would be frozen for Fiscal Year 2001 and 2002. From Fiscal Year 2003 to 2005, their payments would be reduced by a factor of market basket minus 2 percent. For those hospitals whose payments are less than 40 percent of the national average, their payments would be increased to at least 70 percent of the national average. This is a modified version of legislation, H.R. 1483, which I have sponsored, along with Representative CRANE, to provide graduate medical education funding for nursing and paramedical education programs. Under existing law, Medicare payments for nursing and paramedical graduate medical educational programs are based upon the number of traditional Medicare patients seen at these teaching hospitals. As more Medicare patients enroll in Medicare managed care plans, fewer of the patients are seen at these facilities. As a result, teaching hospitals receive less funding for these nursing and paramedical programs. H.R. 1483 would carve out a portion of the payment paid to Medicare managed care plans and transfer these funds to those hospitals with these teaching programs similar to the manner in which physicians training programs are paid. Under this conference report, teaching hospitals with nursing and paramedical teaching programs would receive $60 million in new funding. Regrettably, this funding will not come from Medicare managed care plans. Rather, this funding would be transferred from physicians training programs. As a result, teaching hospitals with both physician and nursing training programs would receive no new funding. I will continue working to restore to original funding stream so that Medicare managed care plans contribute toward the cost of the training programs.

Other important Medicare provisions include adjustments to the highest costs of training our nation’s physicians. This provision would increase Medicare reimbursements for Indirect Medical Education (IME) costs. The conference report provides an IME reimbursement of 6.5 percent in Fiscal Year 2000, 6.25 percent in Fiscal Year 2001, and 5.5 percent thereafter. Under existing law, these IME payments would be reduced to 5.5 percent. These provisions are estimated to save hospitals $700 million over five years.

I am also pleased that this conference report includes language to provide higher reimbursements for pap smears. Under existing law, Medicare reimbursements for pap smears are $7.15 each. This bill would increase this reimbursement level to $14.60 per pap smear. This reimbursement level has not been increased for many years and will help to ensure that senior citizens receive this important preventive health test. This provision also covers the new pap smear technology so women would be eligible to receive these state-of-the-art tests. These better results are needed to diagnose ovarian cancers. The Congressional Budget Office estimates that this provision will cost $100 million over five years and $300 million over ten years. I am pleased that Congress has decided to provide the investment for many women whose lives will be saved by this test.

This conference report also includes a provision to ensure that the State of Texas can keep $27 million to help states conduct outreach to identify Medicaid eligible children. The State of Texas has the highest uninsured rate of 24.5 percent of its population. The Texas Department of Health has determined that 800,000 of the 1.4 million uninsured children in Texas are eligible for Medicaid. Under existing law, the State of Texas and other states would lose up to $500 million on December 31, 1999 because of a sunset provision in the Welfare Reform Act of 1995. This measure eliminates this deadline while measuring what needs to happen if states get the resources it needs to identify and enroll Medicaid-eligible children.

The conference report further includes $150 million in Medicare reimbursements for immunosuppressive drugs. Under existing law, Medicare beneficiaries can only receive three years of immunosuppressive drugs following a lifesaving transplant operation. However, all of these patients must take these drugs indefinitely. I have cosponsored legislation, H.R. 1115, to eliminate this 3-year restriction. The conference report would provide eight months of additional coverage for these life-sustaining drugs in Fiscal Year 2001 and 2002. In addition, this funding permits the Secretary of Health and Human Services to extend this coverage up to $150 million over five years. Although the 3-year restriction was not eliminated, I voted for this important amendment because it means that Medicare beneficiaries can receive the prescription drugs they need. For many Medicare beneficiaries, these immunosuppressive drugs are extremely expensive and a financial burden. Many of these transplant patients have no insurance at all. Under existing law, these treatments would be considered medicaid. This is truly a good news for our children and for their future. We know that school enrollments are exploding and that record numbers of teachers are retiring. Every parent and teacher in America knows that a child in a second-grade class with 25 students means as much as much as her or he needs and deserves. Overall, this amendment means more teachers with higher educational credentials—and for students, more individual attention and a better foundation in the basics. I am also pleased that this budget doubles funds for after school and summer school programs while supporting greater accountability for results by helping communities turn around or close failing schools.

This omnibus measure also strengthens America's role of leadership in the world by providing a larger share of the appropriated monies, by meeting our commitments to the Middle East peace process, and by making critical investments in debt relief for the poorest countries of the world. Of critical importance is the $1.8 billion to fund the United States' commitment to the Wye River Agreement. For decades, the U.S. has worked with Israel—our most consistent Middle East ally—to provide the aid and military equipment necessary to defend itself against hostile neighbors. The funds appropriated in this year's budget send the message that the United States is a full partner in securing a lasting peace in the Middle East.

This budget continues the Administration's COPS program by including funding to help local communities hire up to 50,000 police nationwide. This program has been tremendously effective, and will continue to be so. The COPS program has been a real asset for our community, and I will continue to support its efforts. This bill also includes important funding for the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) to combat illegal immigration and administer legal immigration both functions of government terribly important to the people of the 25th District. The bill also funds the upcoming
Mr. Speaker, this is by no means a perfect bill and the process has been deplorable. However, this bill does meet important priorities in health care, education, crime control, immigration enforcement, and budgetary affairs. Furthermore, this bill ensures that we maintain a balanced budget, dedicating the surplus to debt retirement and preserving its use for strengthening Social Security and Medicare in the future. On that basis, I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. BLYLEY. Mr. Speaker, I also want to take this opportunity to explain to my colleagues an important change made to the Satellite Home Viewer Improvement Act of 1999 since the Conference Report was considered on the floor last week. As my colleagues know, I had been concerned that sections 1005(e) and 1011(c) of the Conference Report could unfairly discriminate against Internet and broadband service providers and, in doing so, would stifle the development of electronic commerce. I was particularly concerned that these provisions could be interpreted to expressly and permanently exclude any "online digital communication service" from retransmitting a transmission of a television program or other audiovisual work pursuant to a compulsory or statutory license.

Unfortunately, the provisions embodied in the bill before us, these provisions were deleted, and rightly so. They were essentially added after agreement had been reached on the fundamental parameters of the Satellite Home Viewer Improvement Act, without any consultation with the Committee on Commerce and, equally important, without any record evidence submitted about their necessity. The committees of jurisdiction will now have an opportunity to give deliberate and careful consideration to the application of the Copyright Act to the Internet and broadband service providers. The importance of the Internet and other online communications technologies for enhancing consumer access to information and programming cannot be overstated. Online technology has transformed the way consumers receive information, in traditional audiovisual works, as cause rapid technological changes are having an ever more positive impact on our economy, it is thus essential that we give full attention to this issue early next year.

Mr. STENHOLM. Mr. Speaker, as with any compromise legislation, the final budget agreement has both very positive aspects and very troubling features. The agreement provides funding for several high priority spending items, particularly rural health care and education. In addition, the agreement preserves increased spending for veterans, defense and other priority areas. However, it fails short of the standards of fiscal responsibility that were set forth in the Blue Dog budget and will create serious problems for the budget process that will begin next year.

This package provides much-needed relief for rural hospitals, nursing homes, community health centers, rural health clinics, home health agencies, and other health care providers who have struggled to cope with the impact of the Medicare payment reductions included in the Balanced Budget Act of 1997. Along with my colleagues in the House Rural Health Care Coalition, I introduced the Triple A Rural Health Improvement Act, legislation intended to help rural health care providers continue to provide vital services to rural seniors.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased that this package includes a number of the important rural health provisions that we included in our legislation.

Specifically, this bill includes protection for low-volume, rural hospitals from the disproportionate impact of the hospital outpatient prospective payment system, an alternative payment system for community health centers and rural health clinics, reforms of the Medicare Rural Hospital Flexibility/Critical Access Hospital program, expansion of Graduate Medical Education opportunities in rural settings, Rebasing for Sole Community Hospitals, Extension of the Medicare Dependent Hospital program, and permitting certain rural hospitals in urban-defined counties to be recognized as rural for purposes of Medicare reimbursement.

The most significant accomplishment of the budget process this year is the success of fiscally responsible Members to block efforts to spend the projected surpluses over the next ten years on tax cuts or new entitlement spending. The bulk of the projected surpluses over the next ten years are preserved for debt reduction. I intend to join with my fellow Blue Dogs next year to renew our efforts to lock up half of these projected surpluses for debt reduction. In spite of all of the budget gimmicks and other fiscal shortcomings of this budget agreement, efforts to reduce the surpluses will result in a reduction of at least $130 billion in debt held by the public, following on the $123 billion in debt reduction achieved in fiscal year 1999.

Sadly, this particular budget agreement is a product of this flawed process. Instead of spending the first eight months of the year debating a fiscally irresponsible tax cut that was destined to be vetoed, Congress should have been working with the administration to develop a responsible budget plan for the next five years. We should have set realistic spending caps and establish a framework for protecting the Social Security surplus and paying down the debt over the next five years.

The negotiating process did establish a very valuable precedent as a result of the administration's commitment to offset all increased spending they requested. Since the administration's commitment to offset all increased spending, any spending increases in programs affecting agriculture, veterans, defense and other priority areas.

The outcome of the budget process this year underscores the critical importance of developing a responsible budget plan that addresses the long-term problems of Social Security and Medicare and provides for a reduction in the national debt in addition to providing room for tax cuts and new programs. I am committed beginning work early next year with the administration and Congressional leadership on a bipartisan budget framework.

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I want to explain why I voted the way I did on this bill.

First, I had very serious concerns about the way in which this bill came before the House. It was a far-reaching measure, rolling into one oversized package not just five appropriations bills but also several important authorization bills. It was filed in the early hours of this morning. I am confident that very few if any Members were able to read it all. Yet that is how it was, and we had to vote it up or down, with only limited time for debate and no chance to change it.

This is not the way we should do our work. While we are already more than two weeks late, today we passed yet another continuing resolution to keep the agencies covered by this bill operating. So we had some time—and we should have taken the time to do things the right way.

Unfortunately, the Majority leadership decided to reject that more orderly way of proceeding. We had to choose a simple yes or no. And, after careful consideration, I decided to vote against this bill.

This was not an easy decision. In reaching it, I was conscious of many good things that were in the five appropriations bills and the other measures that were rolled into this one large, indigestible lump.

The bill has many provisions that are good for the country—and, in fact, some of particular benefit for Colorado as a whole and my own district in particular. Many of them were things that I have long sought.

For example, under the bill the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) will receive an appropriation of $2.3 billion, up 8% from last year and nearly 20% more than in the House-passed bill. This is something that I worked to achieve, and something I strongly support.

Further, the National Institute of Standards and Technology is funded at $639 million, which is about 1.3% less than in fiscal 1999 but an increase of 46% above the amount in the House-passed bill. This includes funding for the Advanced Technology Program (ATP), which has been zeroed out in the House-passed bill. These appropriations are very important. Their inclusion is something I worked to achieve and I have liked to have been able to support them.

I also would have liked to have been able to support the amounts the bill provides for the Department of the Interior and the Forest Service. Again, I have been working to provide these resources they need to properly manage our federal lands and to help in the crucial job of protecting our open spaces against growth and sprawl.

And I very much would have liked to have been able to vote for the bill's funding for education and its provisions to improve health care for seniors and other Americans. Nothing is more important for our society, and nothing is more important for me. And the bill includes other good things as well.

However, on balance, I decided that the bill's virtues were outweighed by its faults. They were outweighed by the fact that the bill includes an arbitrary reduction across many departments and agencies which is not only totally unnecessary and also very unbalanced—even unfair. And, of course, it won't happen in the way it's structured. It isn't really across-the-board; for example, in the defense department it will not apply to protected pork-barrel items and thus will fail on operations and maintenance that are really the key to our national security. And, apparently just to make it even worse, it does not apply to Congressional pay, so that come the first of the year we will get a cost-of-living increase—something that I voted against—without any reduction. That was something I could not support.

The bill's virtues were also outweighed by the way it offends against fiscal candor and public accountability. It is loaded with accounting gimmicks and transparent fictions—things like calling the constitutionally-required census an “emergency,” delaying some payments so they will technically fall into the next fiscal year, or use the most convenient estimates of costs. The effect of these gimmicks and ruses is to pretend that more than $30 billion that’s in the bill isn’t really there.

“Peevish” is something that’s fun to play with toddlers, but I don’t think we should be trying to pull it on the taxpayers.

So, as I said, Mr. Speaker, my decision was not an easy one. But I think it was the right one. I hope that next year the choice will be different. I hope that the House will do its work the way it used to do it, on time and in keeping with the best principles of fiscal responsibility and public accountability. Let us learn, and let us change.

Mr. McIntyre, Mr. Speaker, for the record, this is to clarify that the “no” vote I cast today against H.R. 3194, the District of Columbia Omnibus Appropriations Conference Report for FY 2000, is by no means an indication that I am opposed to the Medicare Balanced Budget Act (BBA) in general. The conference report includes provisions included in this legislation. Indeed, I voted for the Medicare relief package when it came before the U.S. House on November 9, 1999, and passed overwhelmingly by a vote of 388 to 25. As Co-Chairman of the Rural Health Care Coalition, I supported this legisla-

The American public time and again has rated education as a top priority . . . above tax cuts, above foreign affairs, above Pentagon spending, even above gun safety and protecting social security. While I am not discrediting the need for Congress to address all of these issues, it is important for us to listen to what constituents are saying. Republican rhetoric boasts a strong commitment to education, claiming funding levels exceeding last year's appropriations and above the president's requests. However, I have concerns about the methods used; this legislation resembles a pea and shell game, shifting funding responsibility and using advance FY2001 appropriations. This bill is in terms of actual FY2000 funding the agreement actually provides less than last year's appropriations and bodes problems for FY2001 education budgeting.

However, I will concede that this final compromise is certainly a bit more palatable than the original legislation. I am pleased that additional funds have been designated for President Clinton’s class size reduction program which just last year was agreed to, but denied funding by the GOP up and to the Administration's insistence, the increased flexibility for the use of these funds fractionaliza-tion is a plus. Important programs such as Goals 2000, School-to-Work, Education Technology, and 21st Century Community Learning Centers have been sufficiently funded. Additionally, I am supportive of the innovative funding for student aid. These investments in education are the smartest spending that our national government can make.

Although I would have preferred to see more funds dedicated to the President’s initiative to hire new community police officers in FY 2000, I was pleased to see increased funding for a program to address violence against women.

This bill provides necessary relief to alleviate some of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 (BBA) cuts on health care providers in my dis-tric and throughout the nation. I am particularly pleased that a clerical error which would have severely underfunded Minnesota hos-ter facilities for disproportionate share of low-income individuals has been corrected. Also, this measure recognizes the importance of National Institutes of Health (NIH) research in addressing public health issues such as cardiovascular diseases, Alzheimers and dia-

Regrettably, overall Medicare reform, prescription drug coverage and the imbalance in Medicare payment levels which adversely impacts seniors in Minnesota have not been addressed this session. I am also disappointed that the bill will continue a pattern of cuts to the Social Services Block Grant program which provides important social services to the elderly, poor and developmentally disabled.

I am pleased that I can, in good conscience, look favorably upon the provisions contained in the interior funding portion of this legislation. Although it does not resolve all concerns regarding many of the anti-environmental riders, the Democratic conferees and the Administration were successful in thwart-ing the most egregious of the riders to preserve the quality of our lands. Specifically, I commend the conferees for choosing to keep the authority of the Clean Water Act intact regarding mountaintop mining, allowing the Bureau of Land Management to cancel, modify or suspend grazing permits after their environmental review is complete and delaying the new formula for oil royalty valuation only until March 15, thus permitting implementation after nearly three years of GOP stalling to the benefit of the oil companies. In addition, I am also pleased to see that additional funds have been added to the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) for high priority land acquisitions. Both the federal and state-side portion of this program have been woefully under-funded for years. Hopefully this signals the end of that era and a renewed commitment to this vital LWCF law.

I would like to express my displeasure with Congress’ inability to fund important clean air programs for fear that somehow the Administration will secretly implement the clean air agreement reached under the Kyoto Protocol. It is vitally important that this nation put the health and welfare of its citizens before the profit of utilities and big business. The costs associated with protecting the public will save this nation money and lives.

After three years of holding up UN arrears by linking an increase in family planning organizations, the President was forced to capitulate and prohibit funding for preventive family planning. The choice: lose the U.S. vote in the UN or pay the dues with restrictive, unworkable conditions. Unfortunately, this policy will lead to an increase in unintended pregnancies, maternal deaths, and in abortions abroad. I will point out, however, that the President can waive these “Mexico City” provisions on the condition that overall family planning assistance would then be cut by $12.5 million. No doubt the President will find it necessary to do so to the predictable howls of protest by the proponents of these limits. Some it would seem want a political issue, not a workable policy.

I am pleased that the President’s request of $1.8 billion to help implement the Wye River peace accords between Israel, the Palestinian Authority and Jordan was included. With this important funding, Israel and Palestine can move ahead with the Wye agreement and final status negotiations. This financial assistance is vital for peace processes that are all more critical for the United States to do its part in meeting its commitments and obligations. The United States has a deep commitment to Israel and its Arab partners in the peace process to facilitate the ongoing negotiations. Our continuing support now is both the right thing to do and serves to promote stability in the Middle East.

Moreover, I especially applaud the inclusion of debt relief for the world’s poorest countries.

Debt relief is one of the most humanitarian and no-brainers of our time. The agreement is very similar to the final product of H.R. 1095, which passed out of the Banking Committee earlier this month. Although the agreement deleted regrettable several amendments to the bill, including my amendment which requires the President to take into account a nation’s record on children and worker’s rights before granting debt relief.

Specifically, the agreement would authorize U.S. support for an IMF proposal to sell some of its gold reserves to finance debt forgiveness and participate in the HIPC initiative. The re-evaluation of the IMF’s gold reserves and the profits from these sales, roughly $3.1 billion, could only be used for debt relief. In addition, H.R. 3194 includes $123 million for bilateral debt relief, which is about equal to the President’s original request. Unfortunately, the first of four $250 million in payments for multilateral debt relief was not included, thus delaying action on the President’s pledge with other industrial nations to forgive $27 billion in foreign debt owed by HIPC countries.

In regards to the Home Viewer Act provisions included in this agreement, I am pleased that this measure has finally dropped language which would have authorized $1.25 billion in loan guarantees for satellite companies to provide local-info-local service in rural areas and coastal concerns due to the fact that this loan provision was not cleared through the Banking Committee, which led me to vote against the original conference agreement of the Satellite bill last week.

In conclusion, this bill provides essential increases in education, law enforcement, and public health initiatives; reaffirms our commitment to the UN, Israel and Palestine, authorizes debt relief for the world’s poorest, and seeks to protect the environment. At the same time, this measure is a budgetary bag of tricks which offsets requires across the board cuts that will do mischief into necessary and fundamental federal commitments and consists of clever gimmicks to paper the promise of breaking the Republicans majority to protect investors in the Social Security Trust Fund. But, considering the Republican control of Congress and the state of denial for the past 10 months more work and time would not likely cure the objections I harbor to this funding policy. The Clinton Administration and Democrats in Congress have balanced most of the adverse impacts of this Omnibus budget bill and I shall reluctantly cast a “yes” vote and urge its passage.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, well here we go again. Another year and another last minute, take-it-or-leave-it, catch-all budget that funds most of the government. The Republican Leadership didn’t do its homework all year and now they expect a gold star because they got a C on the final exam.

Most Americans will probably little fault with many of the major provisions of this legislation which we are considering today. Although the Republican Majority bought it every step of the way, most Americans support our initiative to hire 100,000 new teachers to reduce class size in our schools. They support the President’s program to put more police on the streets in our communities. They support our efforts to strip the harmful anti-environmental riders that threatened the ecological health of our land, water and air. The American people support our efforts to preserve access to health care in the face of the health care collapse, to block campaign finance reform, a much needed raise in the minimum wage and sensible gun safety measures. In addition, this Congress should have done more to help low-income working families. Despite the good economy, the number of people with health insurance has declined and the number of children going hungry has actually increased. We should have taken action on all these fronts this year.

Finally, despite the repeated claims of the Majority that they are not spending even one dime of the Social Security surplus, the fact is that this agreement falls short of their rhetoric. As with the previously adopted appropriations bills, the budget package before us contains numerous accounting gimmicks whose only purpose is to disguise the real cost of this legislation. I don’t think anybody is fooled by all the smoke and mirrors. What is the point of having a budget process when the Leadership of this body consistently refuses to follow it? I will vote for this agreement, but I do so reluctantly. At the end of the day, the lasting legacy of this session of Congress will be shaped more by what we failed to accomplish than by what we’re doing in this legislation today.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, once again a more curious process has produced an omnivorous end-of-session spending bill. It is fair and accurate—to say that most Members of this body would fail a pop quiz on the contents of this legislation, given that it only became available for review late this morning, replete with handwritten additions, deletions and ellipses.

Almost in spite of itself, this Congress has written legislation that does some good.

For instance, one of the many extraneous provisions included in this package is the Satellite Home Viewer Act. Consumers will greatly benefit from this bill. They will finally be legally entitled to receive their local broadcast stations when they subscribe to satellite television service. No longer will consumers be required to bolt on rabbit ears, or erect a huge antenna on their rooftops to view their local network television stations. The satellite dish many consumers buy this holiday season finally will be able to provide them with a one-stop source for all their television programming.

The bill also will allow satellite companies to compete more effectively with cable systems, and provide a real-market check on the rates they charge their consumers. If cable rates continue to climb, as they have done for the past several years, consumers will be able to fight back: they will have a real choice for their video programming service.

I am also pleased that this legislation rectifies some of the consequences of the 1997 Balanced Budget Act for Medicare beneficiaries and providers. Nonetheless, the fact remains that we are voting on a matter of great importance to the 38 million Americans covered by Medicare, yet most members have had only hours to examine all of the provisions in this bill. Doubtless, there are secret little provisions in this bill that help special interests and are known only to Republicans.

Our Republican friends have also made a great effort to protect the Social Security surplus, but the bill they are offering is not paid for. Preliminary estimates show that the Medicare provisions of this bill cost almost $16 billion. Unpaid for, the bill will shorten the life of the Medicare Trust Fund and increase premiums to seniors. Apparently, fiscal responsibility only suits the Republican Party when it is convenient.

I am also concerned that in some areas, we may not have done enough. In the area of quality, this bill moves backward rather than forwards. They have yet to hold their first meeting, managed care plans from oversight and some quality requirements. They have even exempted some plans from the requirements entirely. Who knows what other nefarious provisions lurk within the dark corners of this bill?
The Florida Community Health Centers is a good beginning, but a permanent solution is needed. I applaud the willingness of the Republican leadership to work with us to find a middle ground on assistance for these providers who serve a large number of America’s uninsured and lower-income families.

For women with breast or cervical cancer, however, this bill is inadequate. We had the opportunity to include a bill by my colleague Ms. ESHOO that would have provided great assistance to women with breast and cervical cancer, but this evidently was not a priority for the Republican leadership.

The Republican leadership is at least consistent in its coddling of managed care companies. While the conferences on the Patients’ Bill of Rights have yet to hold their first meeting, this legislation gives nearly $5 billion to managed care plans, despite considerable evidence from the General Accounting Office that these plans are already overpaid. At the same time, the Republican leadership has not paid the slightest importance that Congress could offer to Medicare beneficiaries: relief from the high cost of prescription drugs. Seniors should not be forced to choose between food and needed medicines.

Mr. Speaker, my modest experience as a legislator teaches me that even the best legislation inevitably contains flaws and compromises. But the entire process by which the Republican leadership produced this massive package and brought it to the floor today is a travesty, and I hope to never again see it repeated.

In addition, Mr. Speaker, the BBA contains a study by GAO of the Community Health Centers payments under which the conferences intend that the GAO should look at all State programs including those with 1115 waivers. Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, is this a perfect bill? The answer is no. There are several provisions contained in this measure that I do not and did not support in the past. However, there are also many provisions contained in this funding bill that I do support. They are as follows.

The give-backs to Medicare that are included in H.R. 3624 are tremendously important to the people in my district. I want to commend the conferences of the Committees on Commerce, Ways and Means and the Senate Finance Committee who worked so diligently to reach an agreement to ensure that Medicare beneficiaries have access to health care services. This measure will be of assistance to those who rely on Medicare for their health care needs.

I have worked closely with Chairman BLU-RAKIS and BILEY to ensure that Medicare+Choice receives an increase in funding because we need to make sure that seniors have more choices available to them as other Americans.

H.R. 3624 restores funding to the Medicare+Choice program. It also makes some positive changes that will offer Medicare beneficiaries more flexibility in a number of ways. First and foremost, it authorizes incentives for health care providers to enter counties that do not currently offer managed care plans. This is a key provision because I represent a rural area with very few HMOs.

It also allows Medicare+Choice beneficiaries an open enrollment period when they learn their plan is ending its contract. In addition, it would slow down the implementation of Medicare+Choice payment rates to reflect the differences in enrollees’ costs. Lastly, it would provide beneficiaries more time to enroll in Medicare+Choice when health plans withdraw from the market.

The bill is also endorsed by many organizations including the National Rural Health Association and the American Hospital Association. The bill contains specific provisions to correct issues on time and beneficiaries of the BBA that have adversely affected the rural communities.

It also strengthens the Medicare rural hospital critical access hospital program and expands Graduate Medical Education opportunities in rural settings.

Another important provision provides payments for orphan and cancer therapy drugs and new medical devices. I have focused on the issues my constituents said they wanted fixed, but there are certainly other improvements that I have left on the table.

The Medicare Balanced Budget Refinement Act will provide much-needed relief to Medicare beneficiaries and providers alike. It may not provide everything that has been requested, but it does address the issues with which my constituents have greatest concern.

This appropriation package also provides for a study to be conducted on the role of Ft. King in the Second Seminole war. This is something I have tried to accomplish for several years and I am pleased that it is moving forward. Ft. King is an important historical site located in Ocala, Marion County, Florida. I also want to thank Chairman REGULA for his help in getting this language included in the Interior bill.

I also was successful in securing funding for an aircraft training at an Aviation/Aerospace Center of Excellence project operated by the Florida Community College at Jacksonville utilizing resources at Cecil Field. This is an important instructional program that will prepare students to take the appropriate certification exams which are required by the Federal Aviation Administration in aircraft maintenance. This is tremendously valuable since there is no such training program currently available in Northeast Florida.

Another important provision that I was able to help get included is the prohibition on the Public Broadcast Stations from sharing their donor lists with political parties or outside parties without the donors consent. We must ensure that taxpayer dollars are not misused for political purposes. This measure also contains language allowing consumers choices when it comes to getting their television signals. As a member of the Telecommunications Subcommittee I worked to ensure that consumers can receive local television stations and further worked to ensure that they will not lose their distance signals.

Notwithstanding all these things that are good within the bill, I am concerned about the process. This bill forward funds much too much money. Also, I am concerned with the whole process of not being able to read the five (5) bills. Putting all five bills together in one omnibus spending bill is not good and does not serve this House well.

Mr. KLECZKA. Mr. Speaker, we have apparently not learned from history. Only Omnibus Appropriations Bill. House is considering today is very similar to the budget-busting, catch-all bill that Congress passed last year. This time the bill, which was filed at 3:00 a.m. this morning in the cloak of darkness, measures one foot tall. It is impossible for Members to know all that is contained in this massive measure, including the type and amounts of pet projects inserted without debate. Sadly, this omnibus bill comes to us after we heard the Republican Leadership maintain their commitment to make the trains run on time and send the President 13 separate appropriations bills.

Although this bill contains many favorable provisions, such as increased nursing home funding for the most vulnerable seniors in the Medicare program and an agreement to permit satellite TV carriers to transmit the signals of local broadcast stations back to subscribers in the same local market, the negative aspects outweigh the good and therefore I must oppose this legislation.

The Republican Leadership made a hand-shake agreement that they would not include dairy legislation on any appropriations bill. They have gone back on their word by attaching language that will maintain the depression-era milk pricing system and stop the Department of Agriculture’s modest milk market dairy reforms. This provision will hurt Wisconsin dairy farmers and consumers nationwide.

I am also concerned that this bill does not go far enough to prevent the implementation of the Department of Health and Human Services organ allocation rule. The HHS proposal changes the current much-needed organs away from Wisconsin and threatens the very existence of our nation’s smaller transplant centers. While I welcome any delay of this ill-conceived policy, I am extremely disappointed that Congress was unwilling to postpone the restructuring of the organ allocation system until we can address this issue in a more comprehensive manner.

Perhaps the most egregious parts of this bill are the accounting gimmicks used to “pay for” the programs within the bill. The .38% across-the-board spending cut allows the individual agencies and departments to determine which programs and accounts shall be subject to the spending reduction. However, no project can be cut by more than 15%. This means that wasteful and inappropriate pork-barrel spending projects, such as Naval ships not even requested by the Navy, cannot be targeted for elimination.

Another troubling gimmick is the bill’s use of forward funding. Delaying payments for defense equipment, deferring veterans medical care obligations, and rescinding Section 8 housing program funds are just a few of these accounting gimmicks which add up to over $4 billion. Further so-called “savings” are achieved by delaying the paychecks of our military personnel and payments made to recipients of social services block grants.

Furthermore, roughly one-third of all education funding being spent this fiscal year is counted against next year’s spending caps. This will spend nearly $12.4 billion that will not be counted until next year, subverting the budget caps. Even though this spending is within the Budget Caps, it still results in a Fiscal Year 2000 outlay that taps into Social Security funds. To top it off, $4.5 billion of the Census funding is classified as emergency spending and thus does not count against the spending caps. This too, spends funds from the Social Security Trust Fund—for an activity the government has performed like clockwork for every ten years for over 200 years! Not only is the Census called an “emergency,” but also included in the long list of surprise spending by this administration for the Head Start program and the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance program.

Finally, even though this bill contains everything but the kitchen sink, it does nothing to extend the life of Social Security or to modernize our health care system. This budget bill also does not offer a plan to allow seniors to buy prescription drugs at an affordable cost, nor does it contain legislation to allow patients and doctors to make medical decisions instead of HOMO bureaucrats.

For these reasons Mr. Speaker, I must oppose this bill.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H.R. 3194, a $385 billion omnibus appropriations bill for fiscal year 2000. Although the bill includes many beneficial provisions that I strongly support and I want to advance, I also strongly believe that they have been tied to a package that is deeply flawed in both procedure and substance.

This bill violates a rather simple rule of good legislating—members ought have the opportunity to review legislation before they are asked to cast their vote. They clearly have not had that opportunity here. This mammoth bill, more than a foot thick and thousands of pages long, was filed after 3 a.m. this morning. It became available to view only a few short hours ago. I, like one member of the House who knows all of what is in this bill. All we know for certain is that there are a multitude of provisions here that would never have survived the normal legislative process.

Second despite all the rhetoric of the majority party, this bill spends at least $17 billion of the Social Security surplus. The Congressional budget Office, like all of us, has not had the opportunity to review this legislation, and, as a result, we are voting without the benefit of an official cost estimate. The previous CBO report, however, that did not include the additional spending added in negotiations with the White House, estimated that the surplus generated by Social Security will be tapped for $17 billion.

This bill is stuffed full of accounting gimmicks to create that illusion that it does not spend Social Security surplus. The gimmick of choice was to artificially postpone spending just beyond fiscal year 2000 into 2001. Unfortunately, this gimmick results in even more money spent from the Social Security surplus. If you add all the spending that has been pushed into the next fiscal year and subtract the total from the expected budget surplus in 2001, you’ll find that not only does this bill spend Social Security surplus in 2000, but it spends more than $20 billion from Social Security in 2001.

As I said earlier, Mr. Speaker, I regret that this bill is so flawed in certain important respects, because in many other areas it deserves strong support. For instance, I strongly support the increase in funding for federal education programs in this legislation, including the class size reduction initiative. Last year, the class size reduction initiative provided North Dakota schools with over $5 million in additional resources, and I am pleased that this legislation increases funding for that program by 10 percent. This legislation fulfills the promise to our children made last year by ensuring that schools in North Dakota and across the country can continue to pay the dedicated teachers next year.

Second, I am pleased that Congress has addressed the unintended financial consequences of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 (BBA) on health care providers. As a member of the Congressional Rural Health Care Coalition, I have long and hard worked to address these problems on behalf of the hospitals, home health agencies and nursing homes in North Dakota. These health care providers have done their best to maintain a high standard of care, even under the constraints of the BBA. I believe it is time that Congress provide them with the relief they desperately need.

I was pleased to have voted for H.R. 3075, the Medicare Balanced Budget Refinement Act, in the House of Representatives. This measure, which was passed by an overwhelming bipartisan majority, was an important first step toward addressing the problems of the BBA. I look forward to working with health care providers in my state to come to an agreement on further relief.

Finally, this measure also fulfills the promise we made to America’s communities, by continuing funding for the COPS program. The dedicated community police officers funded through this program, many of whom serve my constituents in North Dakota, have helped keep our families safe, and I treasure our support.

In summary, Mr. Speaker, this bill contains many laudable provisions that have, unfortunately, been attached to legislation I simply cannot support. For this reason I urge my colleague to vote “no” so that we can advance the positive features of this bill in legislation that is fiscally sound and protects Social Security.

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my disappointment with this omnibus appropriations bill.

While this appropriations bill is good for education and does make good on our commitment to the United Nations, this bill also contains a provision that compromises women’s rights around the world.

Republican extremists, in their zeal to limit women’s rights, left the President no choice but to accept a budget compromise that links the payment of the United Nations dues with restrictions on international family planning. That is wrong.

This compromise is a bad deal for women around the world.

Family planning shouldn’t be linked to United Nations dues. It has nothing to do with family planning. This is about our fundamental responsibility as the remaining superpower to support the United Nations. This is not a trade-off.

Mr. Speaker, women are not negotiable.

The Republicans need to stop attacking women’s rights and they need to start living up to our international obligations—no strings attached.

By adopting this appropriations language linking the payment of our United Nations dues to restrictions on family planning, we set a dangerous precedent.

Once legislative language is adopted, it will be hard to remove. Further, the waiver provision will be meaningless in the future if there’s an anti-choice President in the Oval Office. The waiver is only as strong as the President who would sign it.

For every step backward that we are forced to take on family planning, we will have to take two steps forward to maintain progress.

The D.C. Appropriations Act was a good start, but to accept a budget compromise that links the payment of the United Nations dues with restrictions on international family planning is a bad deal for women. But make no mistake about it, the women of this House are as committed as ever to protecting the rights of women around the world.

Ms. DAVIS of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, this is the 6th time the D.C. Budget has been on the floor in the last 6 months. Let’s hope our collective “sixth sense” will carry the day.

Way back in July the D.C. Appropriations Act was heralded with virtual unanimity. It was one of the first appropriation bills to hit the floor, and I joined many others on both sides of the aisle in showcasing Chairman ISTOOK with well-deserved praise.

That was two vetoes and three conference reports ago. Ironically, the D.C. Budget became a necessary vehicle for other matters.

The D.C. Budget incorporates all appropriations for the District of Columbia. This includes not only federal funds, but all locally generated revenue as well, which accounts for most all of the Budget. This local part of the D.C. Budget was passed in consensus form by the city’s elected leaders and the Control Board.

When Congress did its constitutional duty and passed the D.C. Budget, not once but twice, I joined others in urging the president to approve it. I compliment the appropriators and conferees for their patience and persistence in continuing to refine the bill following the vetoes. I am particularly pleased by the addition of needed resources to address the environmental necessity of cleaning up the old Lorton Correctional Complex.

The resources in this budget will help the Nation implement its ongoing reform efforts.

While much progress has been made in the District, there are still enormous problems which must be addressed. The D.C. Subcommittee chair will hold a hearing on December 14 to gather information on many of these questions. A substantial number of city functions remain in receivership, including foster care and offender supervision. A recent audit and the Annual Report submitted by the Control Board... to Congress highlights the crisis we are facing in this area. Our Congressional review can be particularly helpful in working through these concerns. The D.C. Budget funds the local court system. These courts are going through an important process right now that demands our constant interest. The GAO, at our request, has been supplying very helpful background material.

The House passed this month legislation I sponsored with ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON and others that expands college access opportunities for D.C. students. I commend the president for signing that bill. Just this week it was officially designated as Public Law 106-98. I’m very proud of that. I thank the appropriators for working with me to make the money for that landmark new law subject to the authorizing enactment.

There is additional much-needed money in this budget for public education, including charter schools. This budget contains the largest tax cut in the city’s history, which is central to our goal of retaining and attracting economic development.

There is money in this budget to clean up the Anacostia River, open more drug treatment programs, and study widening of the 14th Street Bridge.

We’ve worked long and hard together to turn this city around. The D.C. Budget before us is another step in helping to keep us moving in the right direction.

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, today represents the culmination of a multi-year-long process and the House is on the verge of enacting legislation to update the copyright licensing regimes covering the retransmission of broadcast signals. When the Satellite Home Viewer Act was first passed in 1988, satellite dishes were a rare sight in communities across America, and the dishes that did exist were almost all large, "C-band" dishes. Today, the satellite dish has become ubiquitous, and the dishes that most people use are now much smaller—only 18 inches across. The small dish industry alone has more than 10 million subscribers, with nearly two million other households still relying on larger dishes. With this massive change in the marketplace, we are overdue for a fresh look at the laws governing retransmissions of television station programming.

The existing provisions of the Satellite Home Viewer Act allow satellite carriers to retransmit copyrighted programming for a set fee to a narrowly defined category of customers. The Act thus represents an exception to the general principles of copyright—that those who create works of authorship enjoy exclusive rights in them, and are entitled to bar others from retransmitting their works, including copyrighted works. In almost all other areas of the entertainment industry, those bedrock principles work well. Indeed, virtually all of the programming that we enjoy on both broadcast and nonbroadcast stations is produced under that free market regime. Because exclusive rights and marketplace bargaining are so fundamental to copyright law, we should depart from those principles only when necessary and only to the most limited possible degree. Statutory licenses represent a departure from these bedrock principles, and should be construed as narrowly as possible.

Reflecting the need to keep such departures narrow, the existing Satellite Home Viewer Act permits network station signals to be retransmitted only to a narrowly defined group of "unserved households," i.e., those located in places, almost always remote rural areas, in which over-the-air signals are simply too weak to be picked up with a correctly oriented, properly functioning conventional rooftop antenna. The "unserved households" continue to be the same as it is in the current statute, i.e., a household that cannot receive, through the use of a properly working, stationary outdoor rooftop antenna that is pointed toward the transmitter, a signal of at least Grade B intensity as defined in Section 73.683(a) of the FCC's rules. The courts have already interpreted this provision and nothing in the Act changes that definition. The "Grade B" intensity standard is and has always been an "objective" signal strength standard—not, as some satellite carriers claimed, a subjective picture quality standard. (In fact, as the courts have discussed, Congress expressly rejected a subjective standard in first enacting the statute in 1988.) The objective Grade B intensity standard has long been used by the FCC and the television engineering community to determine the level of signal strength needed to provide an acceptable television picture to median, unbiased observers. Few, if any, subscribers in urban and suburban areas qualify as "unserved" under this objective, easy-to-administer definition.

The existing compulsory license for "unserved households" was not, however, designed to enable local TV stations to be retransmitted to their own local viewers. Congress has never before been asked to create a license that extends copyright protection to essentially all of the television stations that exist. The Satellite Home Viewer Act was written in 1988 and even in 1994, when Congress passed the first extension of the Satellite Home Viewer Act. Today, however, local-to-local service is no longer unthinkable. In fact, two satellite companies, DirecTV and EchoStar, stand ready to offer that service, at least in a limited number of markets, immediately.

To help local viewers in North Carolina and across the country, and to assist satellite companies in competing with cable, I have worked closely with Congressman ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON to fashion a new copyright statutory license that will enable local-to-local retransmissions. Today, we can finally celebrate the fruits of our efforts over many months of hard work and negotiation. The bill before the House reflects a carefully calibrated set of provisions that will, for the first time, authorize TV stations to be retransmitted by satellite to the viewers in their own local markets.

The bill will also extend, essentially unchanged, the current distant signal compulsory license in Section 119 of the Copyright Act. The only significant changes to that provision are that (1) the mandatory 90 day waiting period for cable subscribers will no longer be part of the law; (2) royalty rates for distant signals will be reduced from the marketplace rates currently in effect; (3) a limited, specifically defined category of subscribers subject to recent court orders will have delayed termination dates under the bill; (4) the bill will limit the number of distant signals that a satellite carrier may deliver even to "unserved households"; and (5) the bill will require satellite carriers to purchase rooftop antennas for certain "unserved" households. These changes were added to the bill by court order. Except for these specific changes in Section 119, nothing in the law we are passing today will take away any of the rights and remedies available to the plaintiffs in copyright infringement litigation against satellite carriers. Nor will anything in the bill (other than the specific provisions I have just mentioned) require any change whatsoever in the manner in which the courts have enforced Section 119.

I trust that the courts will continue to vigorously enforce the Copyright Act against those who seek to pretend it does not apply to them, including any satellite companies that have not yet been subject to injunctive relief for infringing past or present commitments. Indeed, the very premise on which Congress creates statutory licenses is that the limitations on those licenses will be strictly respected; when satellite carriers go beyond those limitations, they not only infringe copyrights, but destroy the very premise on which Congress agreed to create the statutory license in the first place.

I want to say a word about the "white area" problem and about the delayed terminations of certain categories of subscribers. In particular, I want to express my extreme displeasure with the conduct by the satellite industry over the past few years. It is apparent, and at least two courts have found in final judgments (one affirmed on appeal), that satellite companies have purposely and deliberately violated the Copyright Act in selling these distant network packages to customers as objectively and obviously unqualified. Those decisions have correctly and properly applied the Copyright Act. Whether or not satellite companies like the law, they have no right to merely disregard it. The "turnoff" crisis was caused by the satellite industry, not the Congress, and I do not appreciate having an industry take innocent consumers as hostages, which is what has happened here.

Now we as members of Congress, have been asked to fix this problem created by the satellite industry lawbreaking. The bill reflects the conferees' best effort to find a solution to a problem that the satellite industry has created by signing up millions of ineligible customers. Unfortunately, the solution the conferees have devised—temporary grandfathering of certain categories of ineligible—may amount to rewarding the satellite industry for its own wrongdoing. I find this very troubling, even though I understand the impetus to protect consumers who have been misled by satellite companies into believing that essentially everyone is eligible for distant network signals. In any event, let me be very clear: with the exception of delayed termination dates for certain subscribers, nothing in this bill in any way relieves any satellite company from any remedy whatsoever for any lawbreaking, past or future, in which they may engage. I will list just a few, nothing in the bill will relieve any satellite carrier from any court order (a) requiring immediate termination of ineligible small-dish subscribers predicted to receive a signal A intensity signals from any station of the relevant network, (b) requiring strict compliance with the Grade A intensity standard for all signups after the date of the court order, (c) requiring the payment of attorney's fees pursuant to Section 5.5 of the Copyright Act or payment for testing costs pursuant to Section 119(a)(9), or (d) imposing any statutorily mandated remedy for any willful or repeated violation of the Copyright Act. Indeed, the bill has purposely and deliberately violated the Copyright Act in selling these distant network packages to customers as objectively and obviously unqualified. need not entertain an arguments for additional grandfathering. And I should emphasize that the only subscribers that may have service restored pursuant to the grandfathering provisions of this Act are those that have had their service terminated as a result of court orders, and not by any other means.

As Chairman of the Subcommittee on Courts and Intellectual Property of the House Judiciary Committee, I also want to make clear that Congress is not in any way finding fault with the manner in which the federal courts have enforced the Satellite Home Viewer Act. To the contrary, the courts (including the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina, the Fourth Circuit, and the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida) have done an admirable job in correctly carrying out the intent of Congress which established a strictly objective eligibility standard that applied to only a tiny fraction of American television households. Although the conferences have reluctantly decided to deal with the unlawful signups by postponing cutoffs of certain specified categories of consumers, that prospective legislative decision—to which Congress is resorting because of the no-win situation created by past satellite industry lawbreaking—does not reflect any criticism whatsoever of the federal courts. And I should emphasize that we have re-enacted the procedural and remedial provisions of Section 119, including, for example, the “burden of proof” and “pattern or practice” provisions that have been important in litigation under the Act.

The problem, then, is with satellite carriers that have turned off ineligible subscribers pursuant to court decisions under section 119 to provide those subscribers with a free rooftop antenna enabling them to receive local stations over the air. This provision may redress, to some degree, the unfairness of appearing to reward satellite carriers for their own lawbreaking. The free-antenna provision is a matter of fairness to consumers, who were told, falsely, that they could receive distant network signals based on saying “I don’t need an antenna to receive a particular station” (which is what the courts assumes), there are at least 359 ways wrong to do so as one moves in a circle away from the correct orientation. A court-headed approach is already in the face of the text of the Act, which makes eligibility depend on whether a household “cannot” receive the signal of particular stations. The Act is clear: if a household could receive a signal of Grade B intensity with a properly oriented stationary rooftop antenna of a particular network affiliate station, the household is not “unserved” with respect to that network.

The Copyright Act amendments also direct courts to continue to use the accurate consumer-friendly prediction and measurement tools developed by the FCC for determining whether particular households are served or unserved. I understand that the parties to court proceedings under Section 119 have already developed detailed protocols for applying those procedures, and nothing in today’s legislation requires any change in those protocols. If the Commission is able to refine its already very accurate “ILLR” predictive model to make it even more accurate, the courts should apply those further refinements as well. But in the meantime, the courts should use the accurate, FCC-approved tools that are already available in which they are doing now. As I mentioned, nothing in the Act requires any change whatsoever in the manner in which the courts are using those FCC-endorsed scientific tools.

The Act does authorize the Commission to make nonbinding suggestions about changes to the definition of Grade B intensity. (The definition of Grade B intensity is, of course, separate from FCC decisions concerning particular methods of measuring or predicting eligibility to receive network programming by satellite, since a change in the Act would require an order and discuss in detail.) Any suggestions from the FCC about the definition of Grade B intensity will have no legal effect whatsoever until and unless Congress acts on them and incorporates them into the Copyright Act.

The conferences and many other members of this body have worked hard to achieve the carefully balanced bill now before the House. We have spent the better part of four years working with representatives of the broadcast, cable and satellite industries fashioning legislation that is ultimately best for our constituents. The legislation before us today is not perfect, but it is a carefully balanced compromise. The real winners are our constituents, who can expect to enjoy local-to-local satellite delivery of their own hometown TV stations in more and more markets over the next few years.

I want to thank the chairman of the committee on the Judiciary, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. HYDE), the ranking member, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS), as well as the subcommittee ranking member, the gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN) for their support and leadership throughout this process. I also want to recognize the contributions of the leadership of the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman BULEY); the ranking member, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DINGELL); the subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. TAUTIN); the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. OXLEY); and the ranking member, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MANKOFF) for their service on the committee of conference. I urge all Members to support this constituent-friendly legislation.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I intend to vote against the omnibus appropriations bill that is before us today. No respectable business would operate this way—and neither should our government.

I did not come to Congress to engage in business as usual. The people of Kansas’ Third District expect more of us. As Congress has done for too many years, today it will be voting on a bill estimated at 2,000 pages, which no one in this chamber has read, or even permitted the opportunity to read. We are asked to vote based upon sketchy summaries of a huge piece of legislation that was filed as a conference report at 3:00 a.m. this morning. Is it too much to ask that we have 24 hours to review and consider the conference report on appropriation voting? This bill has not even been printed or placed on-line for our review or for the public’s examination. This is wrong and none of us should be a party to it.

But, more bothersome is that while the bill contains many programs which I have fought for and for which I would vote under normal circumstances, the bill is a lie and a cruel hoax on the American people. The majority claims they have not spent Social Security funds. Just the opposite is true.

There are many things in this bill which I support: increased funding to reduce public school class sizes by hiring qualified teachers and funding teacher training; funding for the National Institutes of Health; payment of the United States’ outstanding debt to the United Nations; increased funding for the hiring of new community police officers; additional funds to preserve and acquire open spaces and ecologically important lands; funds to help implement the Y2K River Accord between Israel, the Palestinian Authority and Jordan; and funds for development in the world’s poorest nations and supports an IMF proposal to revalue some of its gold reserves to finance debt forgiveness.

There also, however, are a number of provisions in this bill which I oppose: a cut of $100 million in veterans’ benefits; payment of the United Nations arrears is linked to unwaranted restrictions on international family planning funding; funding for the Army’s School of the Americas, which has a dismal record of training personnel supporting past military dictators in Latin America, who have been engaged in gross human rights violations; and most importantly, this package has not been scored by the Congressional Budget Office; despite the majority’s unsupported claims to the contrary, we really do not know what the ultimate impact will be upon Social Security and Medicare. Finally, in this conference report, only one actually reduces expenditures. The other two—expediting transfers from the Treasury to the...
Federal Reserve and delaying payments to our military personnel— are accounting gimmicks which start us in a hole in next year’s budget process. This is not fiscally responsible and it does not protect Social Security.

Additionally, other non-appropriations measures have been included in this omnibus package: a Presidential waiver at the last possible minute; I would gladly support several of these bills if I had the opportunity to vote on them individually, under regular order. These bills include measures to: increase Medicare payments to hospitals, nursing homes, home health care agencies and rural providers; provide some financial relief from the Medicare cuts imposed by the Balanced Budget Act of 1997; allow satellite carriers to transmit the signals of local broadcast stations back to subscribers in the same local market and allows satellite subscribers to lose their distant signals at the end of the year to continue receiving them for five years; and preserve local, low power television stations when the broadcast industry upgrades to digital service.

Under the rules of the House, Congress is supposed to pass thirteen appropriations bills for each fiscal year. Under normal procedures, those bills should come before the House individually, with opportunities for amendment and debate. After a conference report is negotiated, the House should then have the opportunity to vote on each bill, standing alone. Unfortunately, Congress has refused to follow its own rules.

I have only been a member of this body for eleven months, but I understand that the rules and procedures of the House were put in place to protect the rights of all Members to represent fully the interests and concerns of our constituents. We cannot do so when we are confronted with an omnibus conference report which I am told is estimated at 2,000 pages, carries an overall price tag of $395 billion in fiscal year 2000 appropriations, and countless other provisions whose consequences we cannot possibly know at this time.

I will vote against this package today and I urge my colleagues to do likewise.

Mr. Speaker, I rise reluctantly against H.R. 3194, the District of Columbia Appropriations Conference report. While I support many of the provisions of this legislation, I cannot support any legislation which perpetuates the Northeast Interstate Dairy Compact and does not allow for the modest federal milk marketing order reforms which start us in a hole in next year’s budget process.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my disappointment in the so-called compromise worked out between the White House and the Republican leadership on the payment of U.S. arrears to the United Nations.

Do not be fooled by this slight of hand, there is no compromise. All this does is codify the Smith Mexico City policy in legislation for the first time and include a Presidential waiver that will result in a funding reduction. A funding reduction which will affect the healthcare of women and children around the world.

Mr. Speaker, let me be clear. I support payment of our financial obligation to the United Nations one hundred and ten percent. In fact, I am ashamed that the United States has lost so much prestige in an institution that helped create, an organization instilled with many of the values we in this country hold so dear.

I am ashamed, Mr. Speaker, because the United States, which should be a respected leader in that world body has squandered its authority not by upholding its commitments. My Republican colleagues, as they’ve said so often, believe in moral leadership. Well, I ask them, where is the United States’ moral leadership when we do not pay our fair share?

Mr. Speaker, paying our U.N. dues is an important national security concern; almost no one disputes this. Former Secretaries of States, former Presidents and former Senate Majority Leaders have all expressed the critical need to pay our arrears. Sensing this urgency, some in this House have placed partisan political considerations above the very real and necessary benefits that it allows us to provide institutions which are in compliance with its own countries abortion laws to receive U.S. funds; and, it bars family planning aid from organizations which are in violation of their country’s laws on lobbying or advocacy activities.

As I stated, a majority in the House supported this compromise, but the Republican leadership chose to ignore it. By ignoring the will of the House and codifying the Smith Mexico City policy, we set a dangerous precedent that will only serve to hurt women and families around the world.

Mr. Speaker, it is a shame that this provision was included in the Omnibus package which has so many other worthwhile programs. Funding for 100,000 teachers help reduce class size, money for the COPS program which keeps kids off the streets and crime down, as well as other critical priorities supported by myself, my colleagues and a majority of Americans. Because of the inclusion of this key priorities, which will benefit the lives of every American, I will support this Omnibus package. However, I plan to work with my colleagues next year to restore the funding cuts that will result from this so-called compromise.

As part of the compromise, the administration won the right to waive this restriction if it chooses. But even with the waiver, no more than $25 million in American assistance will be available. For the 104 members of Congress who voted to support debt relief to Sub-Saharan Africa, this is a major victory. By giving the Administration the flexibility it needs, we have taken a major step toward solving this global crisis.

The vote in Congress was an important milestone in the long struggle to achieve debt relief for Sub-Saharan Africa. The Jubilee 2000 Movement, which has emphasized that “closely linked with the moral challenges of our time” (John H. Thorn- ton, President of the Jubilee 2000 Movement, including the United Church of Christ, which has termed debt relief “one of the moral challenges of our time” (John H. Thorn-ston, President of the Jubilee 2000 Movement, including the United Church of Christ), has pressed consistently and effectively for “moral hazard” when they forgive the debts of countries that have severely restricted debt relief efforts, have been defeated. All of these achievements reflect priorities and emphases of the bill reported by the Banking Committee.

While we should enjoy this victory, we must not lose sight of the fact that much more remains to be done. The agreement does not contain money for the HIPIC Trust Fund, nor are such funds authorized. While the agreement provides for $123 million for bilateral debt relief for FY 2000, the Administration had requested $570 million, and is seeking $570 million for next four years. We need to fully meet that standard. Finally, the agreement provides for use of a large portion of the resources coming from revaluation of the IMF gold for debt reduction, but still only a portion. I am fully committed to pressing the Congress to begin early next year to meet these needs and finish the good work we have started.

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to support H.R. 1095, the “Debt Relief for Poverty Reduction Act of 1999.” This legislation has strong bipartisan support with over 130 cosponsors. Providing debt relief for Heavily Indebted Poor Countries (HIPC) (i.e. countries with debt 220% higher than their annual exports or debt greater than 80% of their GNP), is a crucial form of foreign aid desperately needed by the citizens of these countries.

The United States won the Cold War not only through military expenditures, but also through foreign aid to countries that were targeted by pro-communist forces. Many of these countries were, at best, only beginning to evolve toward democracy and some were governed by autocrats who wasted these U.S. funds. Now future generations in these countries are saddled by these overwhelming debts making it difficult to provide for their basic human needs—food, clothing, medicine, and shelter. There is a consensus in the global community and among creditors that some sectors of the developing world now enjoys certainly imposes a concomitant obligation to help the less fortunate. But this debt relief agreement is also sound and prudent economic policy. The severe economic and social dislocation, and resulting political instability in the world’s poorest countries will inevitably impact the developed world if it is not addressed.

Evener since the LDC debt crisis of the early 1980s, I have authored and pressed for passage of debt relief legislation. As part of those efforts, I have repeatedly urged and authorized bills to mobilize the resources inherent in IMF gold holdings. Today I am particularly pleased because the debt relief provisions of the omnibus bill substantially reflect the Banking Com-the future. However, in this circumstance, it is important to distinguish that the debt burden these countries face is so great that it would be impossible for them to repay. This is a form of international bankruptcy for these countries. The international community has recognized that creating government programs must be carefully structured to maximize efficiency and minimize waste in solving a problem. As originally drafted, H.R. 1095 contained measures conditioning debt relief on economic reforms in these countries. History has proven time and gainage that free market capitalism maximizes efficiency and economic growth better than any other market system. Helping these countries move to a free market capitalistic system is its own form of foreign aid in addition to foreign aid grants or debt relief. In fact, broader reforms that the market is the most efficient way to allocate scarce resources is the only form of foreign aid that is truly lasting. Transitioning to a new market system is never easy. Change is always resisted by those empowered by the status quo. If a debt relief program can be used to overcome the status quo in these countries in order to guide them to lasting relief, then Congress should structure this debt relief program to accomplish this goal. Unfortunately, these economic conditions were amended out of the original text during the House Banking Committee Markup.

Mr. Speaker, although I continue to support H.R. 1095, it is my intention to support efforts to restore the economic reform conditions before it leaves the House.

Mr. Coble. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise in support of S. 1948, which will be enacted by reference upon the enactment of H.R. 3194. S. 1948, the “Intellectual Property and Communications Omnibus Reform Act of 1999,” is a very important piece of legislation.

We spent considerable time balancing the interests of our constituents, intellectual property owners, satellite carriers, local broadcasters, and independent inventors in formulating this legislation. We have spent the past four years on this legislation, and I say can without hesitation that this is a very good bill. This legislation will have a tremendously beneficial affect on the citizens of this country, whether they are subscribers to satellite television, inventors, brand owners, or Internet users. Title I of S. 1948, “The Satellite Home Viewer Improvements Act,” creates a new copyright license for local signals over satellite and makes necessary changes to the other television copyright licenses. We have all been concerned about a lack of competition in the multi-channel television industry and what that means in terms of prices and services to our constituents. This bill gives the satellite industry a new copyright license with the ability to compete on a more even playing field, thereby giving consumers a choice. With this competition in mind, the legislation before us makes the following changes to the Satellite Home Viewers Act.

1. It reauthorizes the satellite copyright compulsory license for five years.
2. It allows new satellite customers who have received a network signal from a cable system within the past three months to sign up immediately for satellite service for those signals. This is not allowed today.
3. It provides a discount for the copyright fees paid by the satellite carriers.
4. It allows satellite carriers to retransmit a local television station to households within that station’s local market, just like cable does.
5. Protects existing subscribers from having their distant network service shut off at the end of the year and protects all C-band customers from having their network service shut off entirely.
6. It allows satellite carriers to rebroadcast a national signal of the Public Broadcasting Service.
7. It empowers the FCC to conduct a rulemaking to determine appropriate standards for satellite carriers concerning which customers should be allowed to receive distant network signals.

The satellite legislation before us today is a balanced approach. It is not perfect, like most pieces of legislation, but is a carefully balanced compromise. I am extremely disappointed the rural loan guarantee program was deleted from this legislation. We included those provisions in our original Conference Report to accompany H.R. 1554 to ensure all citizens, particularly those who live in rural areas, that they receive the benefit of the new local-to-local service. I pledge I will do everything I can to ensure those provisions are acted upon early in the next session of Congress.

Additionally, language clarifying the application of the satellite compulsory licenses has also been deleted from this version of the legislation. This is not to be interpreted to indicate any change in the application of the cable or satellite compulsory licenses as they applied before the enactment of this legislation. The copyright compulsory licenses were created by Congress to address specific needs of a specific industry. Any further application of a compulsory license will be decided by Congress, not by an industry or a court. I am incorporating in this statement letters from the Register of Copyrights, Marybeth标注的引用和Ranking Members of the Judiciary Committee and the Subcommittee on Courts and Intellectual Property and from Professor Arthur R. Miller of the Harvard Law School which accurately restate the eligibility and interpretation of the copyright compulsory licenses. I am also enclosing extended remarks which express my views concerning the legislative history for the “Intellectual Property and Communications Omnibus Reform Act of 1999.”

On balance, this is a very good piece of legislation and I urge all Members to support this constituent-friendly legislation.

Hon. Tom Bliley, Chairman, Committee on Commerce, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. Dear Chairman Bliley: Thank you for your letter concerning sections 1005(e) and 1011(c) of the conference report on the Intellectual Property and Communications Omnibus Reform Act (“IPCOR”).

We do not believe there is any question about the current state of the law: Internet and similar digital online communications services are not, and have never been, eligible to claim the cable copyright compulsory license or satellite copyright compulsory license created by sections 111 and 119 of the Copyright Act, respectively. The cable copyright license was created in 1976 specifically to apply to the nature of the cable industry. The satellite license was created in 1988 specifically to apply to the nature of the satellite industry. It should be noted that the cable industry could not use the cable license, because that license was created specifically for cable. It had to seek its own government license. The Internet service sector of the cable industry is not a cable service. It provides a new type of service which has not been considered by the Congress for purposes of a copyright compulsory license. Consequently, the Internet digital online communications service may not avail itself of the cable copyright license or the satellite copyright license. If such a government imposed license is to apply to such services, it must be created by Congress specifically for those services.

To my knowledge, no court, administrative agency, or authoritative commentator has ever held or even intimated to the contrary. The Copyright Office, which administers these compulsory licenses, studied this issue exhaustively in 1997 and came to the same conclusion, which it reaffirmed in a letter to me last week. The other provisions to which you object simply codify this well-established principle, nothing more.

Compulsory licenses constitute government regulation of private ownership, and therefore, like any other restriction on property, must be extended only with specific congressional action after considered deliberation. They are not flexible, nor are they to be interpreted to evolve to accommodate new situations. Government regulation of property is not to be decided by a court, but rather by Congress. Any restrictions on property or preserving an “opportunity” for someone to make a case to an agency or court to take property without authority is not proper under the law, or is it proper in the context of this conference.

A compulsory license is not an entitlement, but a specific public policy determination by Congress in response to a specific demonstrated need. When Congress administers these compulsory licenses, studied this issue exhaustively in 1997 and came to the same conclusion, which it reaffirmed in a letter to me last week. The conference provisions to which you object simply codify this well-established principle, nothing more.

The other it is essential that we spell out unambiguously what the law now is. To do otherwise would sow confusion and risk encouraging defiance of the law, and would undermine the well-established property rights of the key sector of the U.S. economy, the copyright industries. Most significantly, it would also be a disservice to our common goal of encouraging worldwide respect for the copyright of copyrighted material through all available technologies. We stand ready to work with you to avoid that outcome.

Sincerely,

Henry J. Hyde,
Chairman.

Hon. Howard Coble,
Chairman, Subcommittee on Courts and Intellectual Property Committee on the Judiciary, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Congressman Coble, I am writing to you with regard to pending proposals regarding the Satellite Home Viewer Act, and particularly the compulsory copyright licenses addressed in that Act. As the director of the Copyright Office, I am responsible for implementing the compulsory licenses, I have followed the actions of the Congress with great interest.

Let me begin by thanking you for all your hard work and dedication on these issues, and by congratulating you on your success in achieving a balanced compromise. Taken as a whole, the Conference Report on H.R. 1554, the Intellectual Property and Communications Omnibus Reform Act of 1999, Committee's conclusions that it would be far too premature to extend a compulsory license to Internet retransmission services. That conclusion is supported by the fact that there is no ambiguity as to the correct construction of the Cable Act...
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 9 of rule XX, the Chair will reduce to a minimum of 5 minutes the period of time within which a vote by electronic device, if ordered, will be taken on the question of agreeing to the conference report.

The vote was taken electronically, and there were—yeas 212, nays 219, not voting 4, as follows:

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. YOUNG OF FLORIDA

Mr. YOUNG of Florida, Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment at the desk be agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will report the amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Pursuant to House Resolution 386, the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 83) making further continuing appropriations for the fiscal year 2000, and for other purposes, is adopted by the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.
Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. OBEY. I yield to the gentleman from Florida.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. The purpose of the amendment will address the issue of the previous continuing resolution. The CR that we passed earlier today would have authorized continuing appropriations from today until November 23. Because of the concern in the Senate that they may need a little extra time in dealing with this proposal and to give the President sufficient time to adequately review the appropriations agreement, this amendment would change the date from November 23 to December 2 to today until December 2.

Mr. OBEY. Further reserving the right to object, would the gentleman explain the amendment that strikes November 23 and inserts November 18?

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. November 18 is today, and we are amending this resolution so that it begins today and runs until December 2.

Mr. OBEY. So it is purely technical?

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, let me simply take 10 seconds to thank the staff on both sides of the aisle for all of the work that they have done. Even when that work sometimes produces turkeys as a result, it is not the fault of the staff; it is at the direction of the politicians themselves.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. OBEY. I yield to the gentleman from Florida.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I would like to join the gentleman in that commendation of the appropriators and their staff, with our clerk Jim Dyer and your clerk Scott Lilly, with the front office staff, John Mikel and Chuck Parkinson and all of the members of the Committee on Appropriations staff. When we finished at 2:00 or 3:00 in the morning, they worked until 5:00 or 6:00 in the morning and they have worked almost every weekend for the last 2 months. They have done a really dynamic job, and I appreciate the gentleman raising that issue.

There are many more staff on the Committee on Appropriations that I would like to now recognize for the excellent work that they do.

Mr. OBEY. I yield to the gentleman from Florida.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, to explain both the amendment that he is proposing and the resolution.

from the President of the United States; which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, without objection, referred to the Committee on Science:

To the Congress of the United States:

I am pleased to transmit this report on the Nation's achievements in aeronautics and space during Fiscal Year (FY) 1998, as required under section 206 of the National Aeronautics and Space Act of 1958, as amended (42 U.S.C. 2476).

Aeronautics and space activities involved 14 contributing departments and agencies of the Federal Government, and the results of their ongoing research and development affect the Nation in many ways.

A wide variety of aeronautics and space developments took place during FY 1998. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) successfully completed five Space Shuttle flights. There were 29 successful Expendable Launch Vehicle (ELV) launches in FY 1998. Of those, 3 were NASA-funded missions, 2 were NASA-funded/Department of Defense (DOD)-funded missions, and 14 were DOD-licensed commercial launches. Scientists also made some dramatic new discoveries in various space-related fields such as space science, Earth science, and remote sensing, and life and microgravity science. In aeronautics, activities included work on high-speed research, advanced subsonic technology, and technologies designed to improve the safety and efficiency of our commercial airlines and air traffic control system.

Close international cooperation with Russia occurred on the Shuttle-Mir docking missions and on the ISS program. The United States also entered into new forms of cooperation with its partners in Europe, South America, and Asia.

Thus, FY 1998 was a very successful one for U.S. aeronautics and space programs. Efforts in these areas have contributed significantly to the Nation's scientific and technical knowledge, international cooperation, a healthier environment, and a more competitive economy.

WILLIAM J. CLINTON.

REMOVAL OF NAME OF MEMBER AS COSPONSOR OF H.R. 2699

WAIVING POINTS OF ORDER AGAINST CONFERENCE REPORT ON H.R. 1180, TICKET TO WORK AND WORK INCENTIVES IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1999

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 387 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. Res. 387

Resolved, That upon adoption of this resolution it shall be in order for the Conference Committee to consider the conference report to accompany the bill (H.R. 1180) to amend the Social Security Act to expand the availability of health care coverage for working individuals with disabilities, to establish a Ticket to Work and Self-Sufficiency Program in the Social Security Administration to provide such individuals with meaningful opportunities to work, and for other purposes. All points of order against the conference report and against its consideration are waived. The conference report shall be considered as read.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Washington (Mr. HASTINGS) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, for the purposes of debate only, may I have 30 minutes to the distinguished gentlewoman from New York (Ms. Slaughter), pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purposes of debate only.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, H.Res. 387 would grant a rule waiving all points of order against the conference report to accompany H.R. 1180, the Ticket to Work Improvement Act of 1999, and against its consideration. The rule further provides that the conference report shall be considered as read.

Mr. Speaker, the conference report to accompany H.R. 1180 establishes a ticket to work program for recipients of Social Security disability benefits to seek vocational rehabilitation and employment services as well as enabling those individuals to work while keeping their health insurance. This legislation also creates new options for States to allow disabled individuals to purchase Medicaid insurance. The conference report also provides approximately $15.8 billion in tax relief over 5 years, $18.4 billion over 10 years, by extending certain tax credits. This tax extenders package includes renewal of several expiring tax credit provisions, including the R&D Tax Credit, the Work Opportunity Tax Credit, and the Welfare-to-Work Tax Credit as well as providing tax relief for individuals and families by protecting at least 1 million families from higher taxes under the AMT.

In the final analysis, the measure includes approximately $2.6 billion in revenue offsets over the next 5 years and $2.9 billion over the next 10 years.

Mr. Speaker, I applaud the gentleman from Texas (Chairman Archer) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. Rangel), ranking member, for their leadership in resolving the many complex issues contained in this legislation and urge my colleagues to support both the rule and the conference report itself.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield for the 1-hour time that I may consume, and I want to thank the gentleman from Washington (Mr. HASTINGS) for yielding me the time.

Ms. SLAUGHTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I have heard it said that human beings exhibit their most creative potential when they are kindergarten age. Well, whoever said that probably needs to spend a little time around here at the end of a session. There is some very creative work being done.

Vexing problems which have been around for months and may be even years are suddenly solved when the sand starts running out of the congressional sand glass, or they are suddenly turned into bargaining chips. Witness what is happening with reproductive rights and the payment of our UN debts.

Major issues which have languished unattended are addressed and then tossed abroad whenever the legislative vehicle is leaving the station. Meanwhile, many others, such as the bill of rights protecting people from their HMOs or efforts to fight gun violence never get their tickets punched.

But rest assured, Mr. Speaker, the American people want a Patients' Bill of Rights, they want us to do better on gun violence, and they will be watching when we return in the year 2000.

As for the rule which is currently before us, H. Res. 387, it provides for the consideration of several disparate issues which have been corralled under a single bill title.

Part A of the bill is the Work Incentives Improvement Act, a bill to modernize our woefully outdated national disability policies.

When policies on Medicaid and other programs for the disabled were first developed decades ago, having a disability often meant that an individual was confined to home or an institution. Today, however, with advances in technology, training, and rehabilitation, many individuals with disabilities are allowed to hold good jobs and live very full lives in the mainstream of society.

The Work Incentives Improvement Act will allow persons with disabilities to continue receiving certain benefits, particularly health coverage, while returning to work. The proposal also provides for more State flexibility and allowing individuals with disabilities through health programs, associated services like transportation assistance, and training.
This legislation does not benefit only persons with disabilities, it also has major benefits for the Federal Government and the taxpayer. If an additional one-half of 1 percent of the current Social Security Disability and Supplementation Income recipients were to cease receiving benefits as a result of employment, the savings and cash assistance would total $3.5 billion over the worklife of the individuals.

This worthy legislation was passed by the House overwhelmingly earlier this week and I expect it will enjoy similar support today.

Part B of the underlying bill is a collection of tax extenders. I am pleased that this agreement includes a 5-year extension for research and development tax credit. Science and technology are critical for our future development, our knowledge about the world around us, and our understanding of ourselves.

I have long been a strong supporter of incentives to encourage businesses to invest in the development of new technologies and products. Through its existence, the R&D tax credit has served as a fundamental component of our Nation’s competitiveness strategy by increasing the amount of research undertaken by the private sector.

One key provision which I would have strongly supported had it been allowed to remain in the bill would have entitled workers to better pension benefits through what is known as section 415 of the tax code. But, regrettably, this provision was left at the station.

In addition, the bill includes a delay in the implementation of rules proposed by the Department of Health and Human Services to restructure organ allocation in our Nation. While this delay is not likely to please people on either side of this emotional issue, it should at least allow the Congress to debate this matter more fully when we return in January.

Mr. Speaker, my main regret on the legislation is that we are dealing with what should have been several bills and are, instead, forced to consider them as a single package. This approach limits debate and prohibits many Members from exercising their right to discuss the legislation. It is unfair and it is unnecessary. There is no reason why these bills should not have been brought up earlier under open rules with full debate. This is to say nothing of the many, many worthwhile bills that are being pushed aside altogether in the majority’s rush to adjourn.

But we are coming back with renewed energy and commitment to passing the Patients’ Bill of Rights, increasing the minimum wage for working families, and halting the violence and gunfire which threatens our homes and our communities.

Mr. Speaker, by all accounts, this will be the final rule to be considered this Congress and also the final rule of the millennium. Those of us who serve on this important committee are keenly aware of its historical and institutional role in this Congress on behalf of the American people. Grounded by that tradition and honored by the opportunity, we are thankful to the Members who have gone before us, and we look forward to the new millennium and meeting the challenges facing the American people in the 21st Century. I am grateful for my colleagues on the Committee on Rules.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. ARCHER) for noting that this is the last rule of this millennium. From my perspective, I had forgotten about that, and I thank the gentlewoman for bringing it up.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered. The resolution was agreed to. The Clerk will report the resolution.

ELECTION OF MEMBER TO CERTAIN STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE HOUSE

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution (H. Res. 391), and I ask unanimous consent for its consideration in the House.

The Speaker pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER)?

There was no objection. Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, today I rise in strong support of H.R. 1180, the Ticket to Work and Work Incentives Act, which also contains an important package of tax relief for American workers and families.

First, let me discuss the Ticket to Work and Work Incentives Act. Most of those receiving disability benefits today, due to the severity of their impairments, cannot attempt to work. Today, however, the Americans with Disabilities Act, along with advances in technology, medicinal and rehabilitative, are opening doors of opportunity never thought possible to individuals with disabilities. Now people can telecommute to work. There are voice-activated computers. And, as technology provides new ways to clear hurdles presented by a disability, government should be helping people to work, not building barriers to independence and freedom.

This is one more victory in a string of health care achievements that the Republican Congress has guided into law. We strengthened Medicare, we made health insurance more portable, we passed tax breaks for long-term health care, and we cut health insurance costs for people who buy their own health insurance, unfortunately, only to see all those vetoed by the President.

And now we have modernized a key program for people with disabilities, to establish a Ticket to Work and Self-Sufficiency Program in the Social Security Administration to provide such individuals with meaningful opportunities to work, and for other purposes. The Clerk read the title of the bill. The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. PEASE). Pursuant to House Resolution 387, the conference report is considered as having been read. (For conference report and statement, see proceedings of the House of November 17, 1999, at page H12174.)

The Speaker pro tempore. The gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) has the floor, and the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) each will control 30 minutes.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the conference report H.R. 1180.

The Speaker pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texa (Mr. ARCHER)?

There was no objection. Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

a perfect example of an out-of-control Tax Code. Under the AMT, taxpayers are not allowed to claim the full child tax credit, the dependent care tax credit, the Hope Scholarship tax credit, and other tax credits which Congress passed because both Republicans and Democrats wanted to meet. So the Tax Code was giving on one hand while quietly taking away with the other. This bill, today, fixes that for middle-income families, hundreds of thousands of them, for the next 3 years.

This bill also helps American companies maintain their cutting edge of research and development which will lead to new products, better medicines and a higher standard of living for consumers because it extends the most important R&D tax credit. For the first time in a long while, we have extended the tax credit for 5 years instead of hand-to-mouth year after year, on which no one can fully depend. Now businesses can plan for the future.

Another important achievement of this bill is that Congress convinced the President that American taxpayers are paying too much and deserve some of their money back. Yes, it is only a small portion, but any amount of tax- payer funds that can be gotten out of Washington is money that cannot be spent on making government bigger.

And that is exactly what this bill does. This is one more achievement for a Congress that keeps delivering for the American people. We have made historic progress in paying down the debt, $140 billion alone in the last 2 years. We are locking away the Social Security surplus so it cannot be spent on other things, and we are working on a long-term plan to save Social Security for all time. And now we have agreed to start returning a portion of the non-Social Security surplus to the taxpayers who send it here, and that is real progress.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I was hoping that on this last bill, that the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) and I have worked on together, that we might have found a more bipartisan tone than the one which the gentleman has just expressed today.

The gentleman talks about the accomplishments and what has been done for those people that are disabled and put the American people, that is us, on the other side. He does not talk about what he has done for the disabled. He talks about what he has done for the rich. He does not talk about what he has done for the poor.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume simply to say that I think that it is unfortunate that the gentleman from New York has sought to try to portray this bill as some debate on some degree of partisanship. I would have liked to have given him far more credit on this bill. Much of what is in here are things that he wanted, but he would not sign the conference report. And, frankly, that does take away from bipartisanship.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. RAMSTAD), a member of the committee.

Mr. RAMSTAD. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time, and I also thank him for his strong leadership on this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this important bill. Helping people with disabilities live up to their full potential has been a top priority of mine ever since being elected to Congress, in fact, 10 years before as a State senator as well. I also strongly support the tax extender provisions in this bill.

I must say that I was disappointed, however, that the administration insisted that an important revenue-rais- ing provision be dropped from the final agreement. This provision was based on legislation I sponsored, H.R. 3082, which was cosponsored by a strong bipartisan majority on the Committee on Ways and Means. This legislation would have protected employees’ stock ownership plans, ESOPs, for shareholders and employees by preventing the abuse of tax rules that would help them build retirement savings and equity in their company. But unfortunately, the administration wanted to impose a draconian provision that would have effectively killed ESOPs; would have killed this savings opportunity for thousands of American workers.

Thanks to the leadership of the gent- leman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) and the bipartisan support for S-Corpora- tion ESOPs in Congress on the Commit- tee on Ways and Means and in the full body, the administration’s mis- guided proposal was soundly rejected in negotiations over this extenders pack- age for this bill. This was a victory for American workers and a victory for boosting America’s dangerously low savings rate. Although these ESOPs S-Corporation legislation was not enacted in this bill this session, I am pleased that Con- gress resisted the administration’s plan to dismantle ESOPs, because they are highly effective retirement savings programs.

We are going to be back with this next year, and again I thank the chair- man for his leadership.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the bill before us. Helping people with disabilities live up to their full potential has been one of my top priorities ever since I was first elected to public office.

I also strongly support the important tax ex- tender provisions which will save families from being unfairly penalized by the Alternative Minimum Tax and will keep U.S. businesses competitive, innovative and job-creating.

Unfortunately, I was disappointed the Administration insisted that an important revenue-raising provi- sion be dropped from the final agreement. This provision was based on legislation I intro- duced (H.R. 3082) which is cosponsored by a strong bipartisan majority of the Ways and Means Committee.

H.R. 3082 would protect employee stock ownership plans (ESOPs) for S corporation workers by preventing the abuse of tax rules that helped them build retirement savings and equity in their company. But unfortunately, the Administration’s proposal to dismantle these savings programs that would have effectively killed this savings opportunity for thousands of American workers.

Thanks to the leadership of Chairman Archer, there is bipartisan support for S corporation ESOPs in Congress, the Administration’s misguided proposal was soundly rejected in negotiations over this extenders package. That was a victory for American workers, and a victory for boosting America’s dangerously low savings rates.

Although H.R. 3082 was not enacted in this session, I am pleased Congress resisted the Administration’s plan to dismantle these ESOPs, which are a highly effective retirement savings program. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I can’t tell you how long I have waited, along with many of my friends with disabilities, for the day. As many of my colleagues know, I have been working hard to help people with disabilities live up to their full potential since my election to this body in 1990, and as a Minnesota State Senator for 10 years prior. In fact, in 1993, Rep. Pete Stark and I introduced legislation to achieve the same goal we seek today.

As I have reminded my colleagues before, it was nine years ago that many of us enacted the ADA. It was nine long years ago that President Bush signed it into law and said, “Many of our fellow citizens with disabilities are unemployed. They want to work and they can work. . . . This is a tremendous pool of people who will bring to jobs diversity, loyalty, low turnover rate, and only one request: the chance to prove themselves.”

Mr. Speaker, despite the remarkably low unemployment rate in this country today, many of those with disabilities are still asking for this chance to prove themselves in the workplace.

Despite all the good that the ADA has done to date, there is still room for improvement. The ADA did not remove all the barriers within current federal programs that prohibit people with disabilities from working. It’s time to eliminate work disincentives for people with disabilities.

Eliminating work disincentives for people with disabilities is not just humane public policy, it is sound fiscal policy. It’s not only the right thing to do; it’s the cost-effective thing to do.

Discouraging people with disabilities from working and making them dependent on welfare for a regular paycheck, paying taxes and moving off public assistance actually results in reduced federal revenues.

People with disabilities have to make decisions based on financial reality. Should they consider returning to work or even making it through vocational rehabilitation the risk of losing vital federal health benefits? Often becomes too threatening to future financial stability. As a result, they are compelled not to work. Given the sorry state of present law, that’s generally a reasonable and rational decision.

We must transform these federal programs into spring-boards to the workforce for people with disabilities. This important bill does just that.

As I have said many times, preventing people from working runs counter to the American spirit, one that thrives on individual achievement and the larger contributions to society that result. I implore my colleagues to vote for this important legislation before us today.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume, and would just like to say to the chairman that I understand that my signature was expected at midnight last night, and I am sorry I could not be with him. But, thank you, Mr. Speaker, you might have treated me more gently this evening.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CARDIN).

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, this is a very important bill. It contains some very important provisions. I want to applaud the Clinton Administration for the initiative and bringing forward the Ticket to Work legislation. It removes impediments from disabled individuals being able to return to work. It will save us money. If we get people off of disability to work, as they want to work, this legislation is very important.

Secondly, the tax extenders are very important. We all want to extend the tax provisions that would otherwise expire, whether it be for research and development or some of the other provisions that are in the bill.

But, Mr. Speaker, I must express my concern about a provision that was added that deals with the fair allocation of organs that would block HHS’s regulation in this area. I believe that that provision will jeopardize the health of critically ill patients, and it is also inconsistent with our last vote on the budget omnibus bill.

The HHS regulation went through a process. It listened to the public; it listened to the Institute of Medicine and came forward with recommendations that tries to take geographical politics out of organ distribution and do it to people who are the most critically in need.

I hope we can follow the compromise that was in the last bill because that was a fair compromise that was reached that requires HHS to go out and explain the regulations to the public. It is inconsistent with the provisions that are in this bill.

I hope that HHS will not have to follow the language because it is inconsistent with the intent of this bill. Otherwise, I think we are going to jeopardize the health of the critically ill individuals.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. Lazio).

Mr. LAZIO. Mr. Speaker, let me begin by thanking the distinguished gentleman from Texas (Mr. Archer), the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, for his fine work and for his leadership in getting this to the floor. Let me thank the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Bliley), the chairman of my committee, for holding hearings immediately and being the first to actually move the Work Incentives Improvement Act.

This has been a remarkable achievement. I think there are many who believe that we would never get to this day. But, in fact, we are here.

I want to thank my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Mrs. Johnson), the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. Ramstad), the gentleman from California (Mr. Matsui), and the gentleman from California (Mr. Waxman) for working in a bipartisan fashion on the Work Incentives Improvement Act.

Today, Mr. Speaker, we have the privilege of taking the most significant stride forward for rights of disabled people since the Americans with Disabilities Act. We are about to confer the next great frontier when it comes to fully integrating disabled Americans into society, giving them the same economic opportunities that the rest of us enjoy.

Mr. Speaker, many Americans with disabilities rely on Federal health care and social services, assistance that makes it possible for them to lead independent and productive lives. But, unbelievably, we continue to subject such people, who are disabled, to inefficiencies and inequities in their entitlements. People with disabilities must get poor and stay poor if they are going to retain their health care benefits. They have got to choose between working and surviving.

That is why I introduced the Work Incentives Improvement Act, and that is why we have over 250 cosponsors from both sides of the aisle to end this perverse system of allowing Americans with disabilities to enter the workforce without endangering their health care coverage.

Mr. Speaker, a 1998 Harris survey found that 72 percent of Americans with disabilities want to work, but the fact remains that only one-half of one percent of dependent disabled Americans successfully move to work. Each percentage point of Americans moving to work represents 80,000 Americans who want to pay all or part of their own way but cannot; 80,000 Americans who are forced by a poorly designed system to sit on the sidelines while American businesses clamor for qualified workers.

This bill, in the end, Mr. Speaker, is about empowering people, people like a 39-year-old Navy veteran from my district who used to work on Wall Street, and hoped to become a stockbroker but an accident in 1983 left him a quadriplegic. And even though he requires assistance for even the most basic daily activities, he never gave up on himself. And when I met him at an accident, he passed the grueling stockbroker licensing exam. But, like most disabled Americans, he cannot afford to lose his health care benefits. If it were not for the current Federal rules, he would be a practicing, taxpaying stock broker today.

The Work Incentives Improvement Act ends this injustice. It rips down bureaucratic walls that stand between people with disabilities and regular paychecks. It is important to remember that a paycheck means a lot more than just money. For a disabled American or any American, it means self-sufficiency. It means pride in a job well done. It means dignity.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that we have come a long, long way since the time when Americans with disabilities were shunted off to the farthest corners of our communities. Many Americans have been waiting for us to give them a chance to pursue the American dream. Today let us tell them that the wait is over. Let us get the Work Incentives Improvement Act passed today.

Mr. Rangel. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. FOLEY), the ranking member, has taken so much time to work on this. It is important that we support employer-supported tuition reimbursement plans. In this day and age, when the best educated workforce means they will be competing in the best paying jobs, we need to continue to keep education is essential.

Again, I am happy to support this extension, and I look forward to extending this to graduate education. I thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) whose understanding and support of high-tech issues in this bill comes through loud and clear. He really followed through on the commitments he made when he came and visited the Michigan Valley and really understood the issue of competitiveness and technology and education.

So kudos to the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) for his wonderful work. I look forward to taking both of these provisions just a little bit farther in this Session.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. FOLEY), a member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

This week, Mr. Speaker, I do want to correct a statement made by the prior speaker when she described their efforts to extend permanently the R&D tax credit.

We can tell our colleagues from negotiations that Mr. Summers, the Treasury Secretary, vehemently opposed that permanent extension. So that, if that is the position of the party, we would like the Secretary of the Treasury be clear on that position so that it would be unnecessary for the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means to accomplish something he tried to do at the very outset of deliberations.

I want to also suggest to my colleagues how proud I am to stand up and support this bill. Credits to Puerto Rico and U.S. possessions, minimum tax relief for individuals, permitting full use of personal nonrefundable credits, welfare-to-work tax credits, work opportunity tax credits, a number of initiatives that I think will stimulate the economy, continue us on our road to prosperity, continue to see additional revenues to the Treasury so we can continue to reduce the debt of the American taxpayer, increase and enhance investment in America.

I commend the gentleman from California (Mr. ARCHER), the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, for seeing this bill to the successful conclusion. It is important for taxpayers to increase and enhance investment in America.

On the other hand, there has been a very important project here.

The legislation before us contains a moratorium of 90 days on any allocation regulation. This delay has a huge cost. The regulation calls for broader organ sharing. This is consistent with the conclusion of the National Academy of Sciences, which studied the allocation system.

HHS has stated that approximately 300 lives per year could be saved through broader sharing. The math is simple. There is a difference between a 42-day delay and a delay of almost 90 days.

Two more points to be made. First, blocking HHS oversight amounts to privatization of Medicare and Medicaid expenditures attributable to organ transplants. If my colleagues want to privatize Medicare, let them do it in the open and the proper fashion.

Second, blocking HHS oversight continues the proliferation of State organ allocation statutes, at least 12 by last count. That is directly in conflict with the federal allocation criteria and with good sense.

The same Members who decry political or bureaucratic involvement in organ allocation policy when they have HHS in mind are stunningly silent when politicians and bureaucrats involved in this are State officials.

A lack of leadership on the issue is creating immense fragmentation of organ allocation policies, just the opposite direction of where IOM said the allocation policies should go.

In like fashion, the Work Incentives Act of 1999 is a large step in the correct fashion. It will ensure that the disabled no longer have to choose between health care and their jobs. The bill also includes a demonstration project to provide health coverage to people who have serious conditions but are not fully disabled, these people who have multiple sclerosis or cerebral palsy. This would enable them to remain as working members of society.

Thanks to hard work and dedication on the part of the administration and the disability community, additional funding has been secured for a very important project here.

During the past few weeks, controversy has swirled around proposed offsets in the bill. Parties from both sides have agreed to remove some of the most contentious payors. However, I have heard objections from my colleagues about two offsets that remain, a provision to change the way that students loans are financed and a tax on payments to attorneys who represent Social Security claimants.

Although I am going to vote for this bill, I have substantial concerns for these offsets. And, very truthfully, the things that are done here are wrong.

The Work Incentives Act has overcome many obstacles in its legislative history. This bill is different today because it is based on good policy and because it will make a difference of lives of people with disabilities. For that reason, I support it.
Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. SHAW), the respected chairman of the Subcommittee on Social Security of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation is about work. Its goal is to help individuals with disabilities work and support themselves and their families.

Today, in ten adults with disabilities work, compared with eight in ten adults without disabilities. A big reason is Government programs take away cash and medical benefits if disabled individuals find and keep jobs. That must change. And it will change under this bill that is before us today.

No one should be afraid of losing benefits if they do the right thing and try to work. We should reward and help especially those who struggle to overcome their disabilities. That is why we are offering the new tickets disability individuals can use to obtain whatever they need in order to work. Its idea behind the bill is simple. If individuals want to work, let us help them work.

For many disabled individuals, the ability to work hinges on reliable health care. Yet, under current law, work means losing access to that care. By providing continued access to Medicare and Medicaid, this Work Incentives Improvement Act enables individuals to leave the disability roles and go back to work.

H.R. 1180 taps into the tremendous human potential that all of us have and takes us closer to a time where equal opportunity for disabled people is no longer an objective, it is a fact.

Nothing is perfect. This bill could have been much closer to that ideal if the Republican leadership had not concluded it with a moratorium on the organ allocation bill. And there is a user fee provision that may reduce the number of attorneys willing to represent disabled clients. It is not a particularly well thought out provision. But overall, Mr. Speaker, the bill is a particularly well thought out provision.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Connecticut (Mrs. JOHNSON), the respected chairman of the Subcommittee on Ways and Means.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. I urge all Members to support this bill.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL), the ranking member of the Committee on Health and Environment of the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. RANGEL of New York. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BROWN), the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Health and Environment of the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE).

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE).
Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. WATKINS), another respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

(Mr. WATKINS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the Work Incentives Improvement Act of 1999. First and foremost, I say to my committee chairman and ranking minority member that the provision here is one that is going to be of great assistance and help to be able to continue moving the economy forward. The R&D for 5 years is a great need for business and industries that do a lot of research. I would like to bring out a couple of things that are not highlighted, but I have had a chance of working personally with a number of individuals concerning this. One, the conference agreement would provide a 2-year open season beginning January 1 for clergy to revoke their exemption from Social Security coverage. This is something that a lot of ministers and I have been associated with a lot of them through the fact that my former father-in-law was a minister, he is deceased now, but it is something I know he was concerned about back years ago.

The other provision is even a little closer. My wife and I have had our house cleared for children over the years; and I have worked with a lot of foster children. In this bill we have had a simplification of the definition of foster child under the earned income credit program. It provides for the simplification. Under this particular provision, a foster child would be defined as a child who is cared for by the taxpayer as if he or she were the taxpayer’s own child; two, has the same principal place of abode as the taxpayer for the taxpayer’s entire taxable year; and, three, either is the taxpayer’s brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister or descendant, including an adopted child, of any such relative.

This is something that has been focused. I don’t know many of you have ever tried to work with a lot of the situation dealing with foster children, but it is a very cumbersome problem. This will help eliminate that.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. WELLER), another respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

(Mr. WELLER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, let me begin my comments by just again praising the leadership of our committee chairman for putting together this good package that we are voting on today, a package that deserves bipartisan support, as well as the good ranking member for his efforts in making this a bipartisan effort to help people.

Mr. Speaker, this is a big victory for a lot of folks back home. The disabled are big winners with the ticket to work provisions in this bill, legislation that helps the disabled enter the workforce and keep their health care benefits. I really want to commend the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Hulshof) for his hard work and efforts on this.

It is also a victory for the taxpayers. This Congress said no to the President’s $230 billion in tax increases. This Congress said no to the President’s plan to raid the Social Security Trust Fund by $340 billion. I do want to express my biggest disappointment for this year and that is when the President vetoed our efforts to help 28 million disabled Americans. I’m happy when the President vetoed our efforts to eliminate the marriage tax penalty.

This legislation is good legislation. It helps folks back home in Illinois. There are three provisions I would like to highlight. Of course, the 5-year extension of the research and development tax credit. That is so important in Illinois, a multiyear commitment to providing this incentive for research into cancer, research into biotechnology, to increase food productivity, to increase the opportunity to grow our new economy, particularly in high technology since Illinois ranks fourth in technology. I also would note that Puerto Rico is included with this extension of the R&D tax credit, extension of the work opportunity tax credit.

We want welfare reform to work. If we want welfare reform to work, of course we want to ensure that there is a job for those on welfare. The work opportunity tax credits help contribute to a 50 percent reduction in the welfare rolls in Illinois. We extend it for 2½ years.

Third and last, I want to note the brownfields tax incentive, a provision that many of us worked on to include in the 1997 budget act. This is successfully working. Of course we extend it. I would point out that the district I represent on the South Side of Chicago, this is the former Republic Steel property, the largest brownfield in Illinois, the largest new industrial park in Illinois benefited from this brownfields tax incentive. This is good legislation, and it deserves bipartisan support.
have had major policy differences, he has always been a gentleman, he has been fair, he has been honest, and above all he has been sincere. I want to thank Mr. Singleton and the entire majority staff as well as J anice Mays. We have probably some of the best staffs in the House and they have worked hard and they have worked with us.

While it is my opinion that we did not accomplish too much in this first year, I look forward to working with the gentleman side by side, hand in hand, and I think we can do extraordinary things, if we work hard and they have worked with us.

I submit that this is a work in progress and it extends that coverage for 8 1/2 years. But, in 10 years, while the bill before us today makes no sense. Allowing disabled people to maintain their health insurance through Medicare when they return to work is something that should have always been law, not something we can do now.

I support that component of this bill which we are here considering today. I am unhappy that it has been weakened from the version that originally passed the House. In that bill, we would have given individuals the availability to maintain their Medicare insurance for up to 10 years, while the bill before us today only extends that coverage for 8 1/2 years. But, there is no question that this would be a significant improvement from the status quo.

However, there is much more to this bill than the title would suggest. Through late night negotiations, this bill changed. In addition to the provisions relating to the Work Incentive Improvement Act, the bill includes two completely unrelated provisions. The first of these is a 90-day moratorium preventing the implementation of a regulation to improve our organ allocation program in the U.S. Also included is a package of tax extenders that is not fully paid for.

The moratorium on the organ allocation regulation is especially egregious. The regulation is a product of negotiations with the transplant community, patients, and the general public and ensures the sickest patients get organs first—instead of basing life and death decisions on geography.

Republicans included this same 90-day delay of the HHS organ allocation regulations in legislation earlier this year. The President vetoed that bill and cited the organ allocation moratorium as "a highly objectionable provision. After that veto, Congressional budget negotiators and the White House agreed to the 90-day moratorium, but not related to the new regulation. This moratorium is a pork barrel project for members of Congress who either represent the federal contractor, or small transplant centers with poorer outcomes who stand to lose under the new regulation. The President's moratorium will save lives. This moratorium will cause people to die. Which side do you think is right?

Just like every other bill the Republicans have tried to push through this Congress, the tax extenders provisions in the bill break tax breaks to big business. It includes tens of millions of rifle-shot give-aways to GE—certainly not one of the neediest taxpayers in this country. It also spends $13 billion to give corporations money for research. Most companies would conduct research on their own regardless of whether or not taxpayers foot the bill. Do you really think corporations like Schering-Plough would have halted research for their highly profitable drug Claritin if Congress had denied a research tax credit? Companies conduct research in order to make profits. They don't need tax incentives from Congress to make a profit.

In addition, this bill throws money to the wind through the highly unsuccessful windmill tax credit. There are windmills up and down the coasts of California that they might produce effective forms of electricity. Once again, we're extending $3 billion in tax breaks to energy companies so that they can continue pouring money into a lofty goal. Coupled with this tax break is one that will provide the research community with tax incentives to energy companies who can produce energy from poultry droppings. Why stop at energy? We should give them tax incentives to produce gold from chicken droppings!

Because of these unrelated provisions that were snuck into an otherwise very worthy bill, I am forced to vote against this bill today.

Mr. SENSENIBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 1180, the Work Incentives Improvement Act of 1999. As Chairman of the Committee on Science, I would like to highlight the provision of the bill that is particularly important to our nation's research base: the Research and Development Tax Credit (R&D tax credit).

H.R. 1180 includes the longest ever extension of the R&D tax credit. While I support a permanent extension of the R&D credit, this five-year extension is a step in the right direction. As federal discretionary spending for R&D is squeezed, incentives must be used to maximize private sector innovation and maintain our global leadership in high-tech, high-growth industries that help keep our economy the strongest in the world.

A long-term extension of the credit will aid the research community by creating incentives for private industry to fund research projects. Congress has extended the R&D Tax Credit repeatedly over a period of 18 years. The credit was again expanded on June 30th of this year. This five-year extension will put an end to the start-and-stop approach that has characterized this extension process.

A 1998 Coopers & Lybrand study found that U.S. companies would invest an additional $21 billion (in 1998 dollars) on R&D as a result of extending the credit. This in turn would lead to greater innovation from additional R&D investment and would begin to improve productivity. of the witnesses emphasized the need for this legislation. They noted that the current system unfairly forces people to choose between work and health care.

H.R. 1180 was introduced in March by our colleagues RICK LAZIO and HENRY WAXMAN, and this bill underscores the positive power of bipartisanship.

The bill removes barriers for individuals who want to work. By encouraging work over welfare, it also promotes personal dignity and self-sufficiency.

Two federal programs—Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI)—provide cash benefits to people with disabilities. By qualifying for these benefits, individuals are also eligible for health coverage through Medicare and Medicaid. These programs provide comprehensive services that people with disabilities value and need.

Ironically, individuals with disabilities risk losing these health protections if they enter the workforce. Under current law, earnings above a minimal amount trigger the loss of both cash benefits and health coverage under Medicare and Medicaid.

H.R. 1180 would allow states to expand the Medicaid buy-in option to persons with disabilities through two optional programs. The bill also creates a trial program to extend Medicare Part A benefits to SSDI recipients. Further, it provides infrastructure and demonstration grants to assist the states in developing their capacity to run these expanded programs.

Finally, the bill creates a new payment system for vocational rehabilitation programs that serve individuals with disabilities. Similar provisions were passed by the House of representatives last year.

As I have emphasized before, H.R. 1180 will help people help themselves. Approval of this bill by the House of Representatives today is an important step in improving the quality of life for millions of Americans who live with disabilities.

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the conference report of H.R. 1180, the Ticket to Work Act. This bill includes three separate bills, including the conference report for H.R. 1180, the tax extenders legislation, and a provision related to organ transplantation regulations. I strongly support all three of these proposals and urge my colleagues to support this bill.

I am pleased that the conference report for H.R. 1180 does not include certain provisions related to school-based health services. An earlier version of this bill, as approved by the House, included Section 407 to help offset the costs associated with the school-based health services. This section would be detrimental to our local schools districts who have worked to screen children for disabilities last year.

I urge my colleagues to support this legislation, which is an important step toward helping individuals with disabilities be independent, and to become a vital part of the workforce.

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 1180, the Work Incentives Improvement Act of 1999. I am a cosponsor of this important legislation and was proud to expeditiously move this proposal through my Subcommittee and support its passage through the House Commerce Committee.

My Subcommittee held a hearing at which we heard from federal, state and local officials, as well as individuals living with disabilities. All strongly committed to seeing it enacted, from his call to the Congress to enact this program in his State of the Union message last January to the final negotiations to bring this bill here today. And I want to particularly note the contributions of RICK LAZIO, who I was pleased to join as the original sponsor of the bill, NANCY JACOBSON, SCC MatsuUr from the Ways and Means Committee, and JOHN DIN- GELL and CHARLIE RANGEL who served on the conference committee.

We can all be proud of its enactment. I am especially pleased that the conference report increased the funds available to support demonstra- tions by States to provide health serv- ices to persons with potentially serious disabili- ties in order to keep their health from deteriorating and to allow them to continue to work. Surely, this is one of the most sensible and cost-effective things we can do.

But it is unfortunate that this exemplary piece of legislation has been used in the closing days of this session to pursue other agendas. The conference report includes a rider added to H.R. 1180 through stealth and political exortion which delays vital reforms of our national organ allocation system.

The one-year moratorium on the Depart- ment of Health and Human Services' Final Rule expires last month. Last week, the Admin- istration and the appropriators, including Chairman YOUNG and Mr. OBEY, agreed to a final compromise 42-day comment period on the Final Rule's implementation.

But the defenders of UNOS and the status quo weren't satisfied. They twisted arms behind closed doors. They blocked enactment of critical medical edu- cation payments for children's hospitals. And they subverted the authority of the committees of jurisdiction.

Now, the compromise is being abandoned by the Republican leadership. The commit- ments made to the Administration and to Members have been broken in bad faith.

And what's the result? The 42 days be- comes 90 days.

Mr. Speaker, enough is enough.

There is no excuse for this action. The Final Rule is the result of years of deliberation. It embodies the consensus that organs should be shared more broadly to end unjust racial and geographical disparities.

Every day of delay is another day of unconsci- onous, preventable deaths in transplant and survival rates across the country—disparities which the Final Rule address- es.

Every day delays action on the Institute of Medicine's recommendation "that the Final Rule be implemented" because broader shar- ing "will result in more opportunities to trans- plant sicker patients without adversely affect- ing less sick patients."

And every day condones a status quo of gross racial injustice and unjust, parochial self- interest.

Mr. Speaker, the status quo is slowly killing patients who deserve to live, but are deprived of that right by a system that stacks the odds against them. But in spite of this rider, in spite of the delay and the back-room politics, re- forms will come. Therefore, I urge my col- leagues to support the Final Rule and to oppose the organ allocation rider.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the tax relief provisions which have been attached to H.R. 1180.

This tax relief package renews several tempo- rary tax relief provisions and addresses other time sensitive tax items.

For example, we give at least one million American families relief from an increase in their alternative minimum tax that would occur when they take advantage of the child tax credit, the dependent care tax credit, or other tax credits. In addition, we will now and extend the exclusion from income for employer-pro- vided educational assistance.

For businesses, we are extending the very valuable research and experimentation (R&E) tax credit for five years while we extend the credit to Puerto Rico and the other U.S. ter- ritories for the first time. The R&E credit will allow U.S. companies to continue to lead the world in innovative, cutting-edge technology.

In an effort to help get Americans off gov- ernment assistance and into the workplace, we are extending the Work Opportunity Tax Credit and the Work- to-Work Tax Credit through the end of 2001.

One item that I was particularly grateful to have included in this package is an increase in the rum excise tax cover-over to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands from the current $18.60 per proof gallon to $30.00 per proof gallon. I was, however, disappointed that the provision did not include language to specifically state that a portion of Puerto Rico's in- crease is designated for the Conservation Trust Fund of Puerto Rico.

Instead, I understand that an agreement has been reached with the Governor of Puerto Rico to provide one-sixth of the increase to the Trust Fund during the time of the increase of the cover-over (July 1, 1999 through De- cember 31, 2001). I appreciate the support of the Governor in this endeavor. The Conserva- tion Trust Fund, which enjoys tremendous support from the people of Puerto Rico, plays an important role in the preservation of the natural resources of the island for the benefit of her future generations.

Mr. Speaker, I applaud the efforts of our Chairman, BILL ARCHER, in putting together this tax relief package and I urge my col- leagues to support it.

Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in sup- port of the tax extender and Ticket to Work package. I commend the Chairman and my colleagues RICK LAZIO of New York and KENNY HULSHOF of Missouri for their leader- ship on this issue.

So many people with disabilities want to work, and technological as well as medical ad- vances now make it possible for many of them to do so. Unfortunately, the current Social Se- curity Disability program has an inherent num- ber of obstacles and disincentives for people to leave the rolls and seek gainful employment because they will lose cash and critical Medi- care benefits.

This proposal before us today is designed to eliminate those obstacles and allow bene- ficiaries to select from a wider choice of reha- bilitation and support services. It also extends health benefits for disabled people returning to work, which has been one of the single big- gest challenges for helping people to make this transition.

Specifically, it expands state options under the Medicaid program for workers with disabili- ties, and it extends Medicare coverage for SSDI beneficiaries.

Importantly, this bill not only will well serve the disabled, and also will save millions of So- cial Security dollars in the coming years. The key to this bill is that it will provide people with the opportunities and means they have asked us for to become productive members of soci- ety. This is a good and fiscally responsible bill.

I'd also like to express my support for the important package of tax extenders contained in this legislation. These extenders—like the R&D tax credit and others—are essential ele- ments in our effort to maintain our strong economy.

I urge my colleagues to support this respon- sible package.

Mr. KLINK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in op- position to the inclusion of the provision that stops the Department of Health and Human Services from improving the system of organ allocation in this country. The organ provision was only thrown into this bill at the last minute, and it has no place in this bill.

The current system for organ sharing is not fair and needs to be improved. Organ sharing is a matter of life and death. The problem is that every year people die unnecessarily because the current organ allocation system is broken. We can do better and I urge my col- leagues not to let parochial interests get in the way of fixing the problem.

Whether or not you get the organ that will save your life should not depend on where you live. Organs do not and should not belong to any geographical or political entity. But, under the current system, depending on where the organ was harvested, it could be given to someone with years to live—while someone in the next town across the wrong border may die waiting for a transplant.

The most difficult organ to transplant is the liver. Pioneered at the University of Pittsburgh, upwards of 90% of all the liver transplant sur- geons today were either trained at Pittsburgh or by doctors who were trained there. Yet fa- cilities like Pittsburgh, Mt. Sinai, Cedars-Sinai, Stanford and other highly regarded transplant centers which take on the most difficult and riskiest transplant patients are struggling with the longest waiting times in the country.

While these centers are highly regarded, many of their patients do not come to them because of their reputations. The fact is that many of their patients only seek them out after having been turned down by their local trans- plant centers. There is strong evidence to sug- gest that many smaller transplant centers avoid the riskier transplants on the sicker pa- tients because they are more difficult and would adversely impact their reputations should they not be successful.

This isn't right. Whether you live or die should not depend on where you live.

This debate is not about pitting big trans- plant centers against small ones, or about pit- ting one region against another. It is about making sure that the
The Pennsylvania–Ohio line.

There is no room in this country for this to continue. We must put an end to this craziness. There is no geographic reason for an organ to be allocated to a patient in another state.

When other centers avoid the sicker patients in order to go to school, or even play golf while patients elsewhere are near death without any opportunity to receive that organ because they have the misfortune of being on the wrong side of the Pennsylvania–Ohio line.

Nowhere do we allow a monopoly like this to continue. It is not just a problem in our region, but a national issue. We need to standardize the criteria for listing patients and for determining their medical status, and (2) ensure that medical urgency, not geography, is the main determinant for allocating organs.

Toomey

The last time I voted on a resolution like this, I was told that it was not a matter of life and death. I disagree. If I passed away while attending the Superbowl in New Orleans that my liver was going to be used, why would I want to share my organs? Nowhere else in society would we allow a monopoly like this to continue. It is not just a problem in our region, but a national issue. We need to standardize the criteria for listing patients and for determining their medical status, and (2) ensure that medical urgency, not geography, is the main determinant for allocating organs.

States and is an infringement of the privileges of this House and that such bill be respectfully returned to the Senate with a message communicating this resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PEASE) of the House, by unanimous consent acting as Speaker, announces that the resolution constitutes a question of the privileges of the House under rule IX.

The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. WELLER) is recognized for 30 minutes.

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. SPEAKER. The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. WELLER) is recognized for 30 minutes.

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, this resolution is necessary to return to the Senate the bill S. 4, which contravenes the constitutional requirement that revenue measures shall originate in the House of Representatives.

Section 202 of the bill authorizes members of the Armed Forces to participate in the Federal Thrift Savings Plan and permits them to contribute any part of a special or incentive pay that they might receive. However, it also effectively provides that the limitations of Internal Revenue Code section 425 will not apply to those extra contributions. The provision allows certain members of the uniformed services to avoid the negative tax consequences that would otherwise result in their extra contributions to the TSP. Accordingly, the provision is revenue-affecting in a constitutional sense.

There are numerous precedents for this action I am requesting.

I want to emphasize that this action speaks solely to the constitutional prerogative of the House and not to the merits of the Senate bill. Proposed action today is procedural in nature, and it is necessary to preserve the prerogatives of the House to originate revenue measures, makes clear to the Senate that the appropriate procedure for dealing with revenue measures is for the House to act first on a revenue bill and for the Senate to accept it or amend it as it sees fit.

This resolution is necessary to return to the Senate the bill S. 4, the "Soldiers', Sailors', Airmen's, and Marines' Bill of Rights Act of 1999." S. 4 contravenes the constitutional requirement that revenue measures shall originate in the House of Representatives.

S. 4 would provide a variety of benefits to members of the Armed Forces. I strongly support these provisions and agree that we need to modernize our military and compensate our officers and enlisted personnel fairly. However, S. 4, as passed by the Senate, would not only increase the compensation of members of the Armed Forces. It would also modify the tax treatment of some of their compensation. This change in tax treatment causes S. 4 to violate the Origination Clause of the United States Constitution.

Section 202 of the bill generally authorizes members of the Armed Forces to participate in the Federal Thrift Savings Plan. In particular, section 202 adds a new section 8440e to Title 5 of the United States Code. New section 8440e generally permits members of the uniformed services or Ready Reserves who are authorized to participate in the Thrift Savings Plan to contribute up to 5 percent of their basic pay to the Thrift Savings Plan. In addition, subsection (d) of new section 8440e permits members of the uniformed services to contribute to the Thrift Savings Plan in addition to their operation incentive pay they receive under section 308, 308a through 308h, or 318 of title 37. The subsection further provides in effect that the limitations of Internal Revenue Code section 415 will not apply to such contribution. Code section 415 generally provides limitations and contributions under qualified employee benefit plans.

Thus, the effect of subsection (d) of new section 8440e is to override the limits on the Thrift Savings Plan contribution imposed by Internal Revenue Code section 415. By overruling the existing tax laws, and therefore their tax liabilities. However, the reduction in Federal revenue is viewed as an indirect effect of the provision since the provision does not attempt to specify or modify the tax rules that would otherwise apply and thereby does not offend the constitutional requirement. Rather, new subsection (d) offends the Origination Clause because it directly amends the internal revenue laws. Subsection (d) overrules the limitations imposed by Code section 415, thereby altering the income tax liability of individuals who would otherwise be subject to its limits. Such a provision is plainly revenue-affecting and therefore constitutes a revenue measure in the constitutional sense. Accordingly, I am asking that the Senate insist on its constitutional prerogatives.

There are numerous precedents for the action I am requesting. For example, on July 21, 1994, the House returned to the Senate S. 1030, containing a provision exempting certain veteran payments from taxation. On October 7, 1994, the House returned to the Senate S. 1216, containing provisions exempting certain settlement income from taxation. On September 27, 1996, the House returned to the Senate S. 1311, containing a provision that overrode the Federal income tax rules governing recognition of tax-exempt status.

I want to emphasize that this action speaks solely to the constitutional prerogative of the House and not to the merits of the Senate bill. The proposed action today is procedural in nature and necessary to preserve the prerogatives of the House to originate revenue measures. It makes clear to both the Senate and the Appropriations Committee that revenue measures are revenue-affecting in a constitutional sense.

Mr. SPEAKER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. SKELTON).

Mr. SKELTON. Mr. Speaker, the bill of which the gentleman speaks, has that been previously passed here in the House?

Mr. WELLER. Yes, Mr. Speaker. Mr. SKELTON. And the purpose of this is to comply with the Constitution to state that it originates in the House; is that correct?

Mr. WELLER. Yes. This resolution does not address the merits of the legislation, which many Senators on both sides of the aisle support. What it does is preserve the prerogatives of the House revenue-affecting measures originating in the House under the Constitution.

Mr. SKELTON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I have no other speakers, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Making Further Continuing Appropriations for Fiscal Year 2000

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to consider and pass House Joint Resolution 84, making further continuing appropriations for fiscal year 2000.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I think the House needs to understand exactly what it is we are doing, and I yield to the gentleman for the purpose of explaining what is happening again.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for yielding.

Earlier this afternoon, we passed a continuing resolution taking us to December 2, 1999. Our colleagues in the Senate have asked that we extend that by one day, mainly because they need a clean vehicle over there, and that is exactly what this is, it extends continuing spending authority from December 2 to December 3, and it gives our colleagues in the Senate a clean vehicle that they need to conduct their business.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, continuing under my reservation, I would simply note two things and then ask a question.

When we were debating how dairy would be handled, we were told that it had to be on the budget because we did not have any other vehicles. Now, in the space of about 15 minutes, the House has created two additional vehicles. I am beginning to think that we are making the Keystone cops look like Barinshikov.

Mr. Speaker, I do not understand what the magic difference is between December 2 and December 3. Perhaps we could reach a compromise on December 2½. I do not know what is going on.

I mean, I have heard of continuing resolutions for a year, an hour, but not...
Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will yield further, my response to his question is rather simple. I have been advised that if we do not provide an extra vehicle for the Senate, it may be necessary for the House to either stay in session or reconvene tomorrow or the next day in order to complete legislative business. I am also advised that if they have a clean vehicle, it is very likely that we would not have to be back here sitting as the House.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, continuing under my reservation, I would say that is what we were told a few minutes ago, that we needed to pass the last one so we would not be in session.

I hope that sooner or later, we get things right.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will yield further, I would like to say that we have worked so well together throughout this year that in my opinion, we have done things right here; and I cannot answer for any other venue.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, continuing under my reservation, I do not quarrel with that statement with respect to the committee, but I do think that this process, I have to say, has been the most chaotic that I have seen in the 31 years that I have been privileged to be a Member of this body. I do not think what is happening is the fault of the gentleman from Florida, it certainly is not mine, but I would hope that when we return in the first of the year in the next millennium, we will have a different set of arrangements that will enable us to do things in a quite different fashion.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the joint resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That the bill of the Senate (S. 1232) entitled the "Federal Erroneous Retirement Coverage Corrections Act" in the opinion of this House, contravenes the first clause of the seventh section of the first article of the Constitution of the United States and is an infringement of the privileges of this House and that such bill be respectfully returned to the Senate with a message communicating this resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, the resolution constitutes a question of the privileges of the House under rule IX.

The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. WELLS) is recognized for 30 minutes.

(Mr. WELLS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this resolution is necessary to return to the Senate the bill S. 1232 which contravenes the constitutional requirement that revenue measures shall originate in the House of Representatives. Section 401 of the bill provides that no Federal retirement plan involved in the corrections under the bill shall fail to be treated as a tax-qualified retirement plan by reason of the correction. The bill also provides that no amounts shall be includable in the income of any individual for Federal tax purposes because of fund transfers or government contributions made pursuant to the bill. Therefore, the bill violates the origination requirement.

Section 401 of the bill provides generally that no government retirement plan shall fail to be treated as a tax-qualified plan under the Internal Revenue Code for any failure to follow plan terms, or any actions taken under the bill to correct errors in misclassification of Federal employees into the wrong Federal retirement system. In general, Federal retirement plans are subject to the same rules that apply to tax-qualified retirement plans maintained by private employers. Federal retirement plans that are tax-qualified are afforded special tax treatment under the Code. These advantages include the fact that plan participants pay no current income tax on amounts contributed on their behalf, and the fact that earnings of the plans are tax-exempt.

Because of Section 401 of the bill, Federal retirement plans and participants in those plans would retain these advantages even if actions are taken pursuant to the bill that would create new tax consequences. Section 401 of the bill would permit the Federal government to make-up contributions on behalf of an employee without violating applicable limits on contributions and benefits in which the make-up contribution was made.

Section 401 also provides that no amounts shall be includable in the taxable income of participants in Federal retirement plans because of fund transfers or government contributions made pursuant to the bill. Without this provision, amounts transferred from fund to fund or otherwise contributed by the government could be subject to income tax under the Internal Revenue Code.

Accordingly, Section 401 is revenue-affecting in a constitutional sense.

There are numerous precedents for the action I am requesting. For example, on July 21, 1994, the House returned to the Senate S. 1216, containing provisions exempting certain veteran payments from taxation. On October 7, 1994, the House returned to the Senate S. 1216, containing provisions exempting certain settlement income from taxation. I want to emphasize that this action speaks solely to the constitutional prerogative of the House and not to the merits of the Senate bill.

The proposed action today is procedural in nature and is necessary to preserve the prerogatives of the House to originate revenue measures. It makes clear to the Senate that the appropriate procedure for dealing with revenue measures is for the House to act first on a revenue bill, for the Senate to accept it or amend it as it sees fit.

The resolution is necessary to return to the Senate the bill S. 1232, which contravenes the constitutional requirement that revenue measures shall originate in the House of Representatives. The bill provides that no Federal retirement plan involved in the corrections under the bill shall fail to be treated as a tax-qualified retirement plan by reason of the correction.
Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PEASE). Without objection, the previous question is ordered on the resolution.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the resolution.

The resolution was agreed to.

CHIPPEWA CREE TRIBE OF THE ROCKY BOY'S RESERVATION INDIAN RESERVED WATER RIGHTS SETTLEMENT AND WATER SUPPLY ENHANCEMENT ACT OF 1999

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's desk the House Resolution 438 to provide for the settlement of the water rights claims of the Chippewa Cree Tribe of the Rocky Boy's Reservation, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alaska?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, if the gentleman would take a moment to explain the bill.

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, will the CILDEE yield?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I yield to the gentleman from Alaska.

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, last month the House passed H.R. 795, the Rocky Boys Water Rights Settlement Act. Today we have before us S. 438, a companion bill to H.R. 795. The only difference between these bills is a small change regarding the treatment of tribal water rights off reservation. This change has been agreed upon by all parties involved in the legislation.

The Rocky Boy's Water Rights Settlement Act process has been an important number of reasons. I congratulate the gentleman from Montana (Mr. Hill), the State of Montana, the tribe has spent a good deal of time working on the issues in a constructive fashion, taking steps to minimize the impact on other affected water users.

Furthermore, there has been minimal emphasis in some of the outmoded bases for calculating Federal reserved Indian water right claims. This process has allowed the parties to look to newer, more flexible negotiations that find solutions which provide tribes with real opportunities without making demands that may have little to do with the states Department of the Interior or the Department of Justice. Additionally, this process has brought new solutions and introduced private sector expertise into the tribes efforts to utilize these water supplies once the settlement is authorized.

By approaching these Indian water right settlements in more creative ways, Congress and the Federal Government can narrow the divergent expectations of the parties as they enter negotiations and attempt to correct problems that have existed for decades. It is important for Congress to modernize the process and bases for settling these claims. It is taking far too long to arrive at a settlement. Often tribes receive water and money under circumstances that do not ultimately help them realize the benefits of the broader economy. It is the intention that this settlement will help the tribe reach their goal of self-determination. I urge my colleagues to support the legislation.

Mr. HILL of Montana. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of S. 438, the Chippewa Cree Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act, introduced by Senator CONRAD BURNS.

I am the sponsor of the House companion to this bill which passed the House on October 18th. I thank Subcommittee Chairman JOHN DOOLITTLE and his staff Bob Faber and Josh Johnson for their tireless efforts to work with all parties involved to move this important piece of legislation.

This is truly a historic day. This bill is the culmination of many years of technical and legal work and many years of negotiations involving the State of Montana, and representatives of the United States Departments of the Interior and Justice. The bill will ratify a settlement qualifying the water rights of the Tribe and providing for their development in a manner that will help the Chippewa Cree Nation while helping their neighbors, local communities, farmers and ranchers.

It provides Federal funds construction of water supply facilities and for Tribal economic development, and defines the Federal Government’s role in implementing the settlement. This Settlement Act has the full support of the Tribe, the State of Montana, the Department of Justice and the Department of the Interior, the Administration, and the water users who farm and ranch on streams shared with the Reservation.

The bill will effectuate a settlement that is a textbook example of how State, Tribal, and Federal governments can work together to resolve differences in a way that meets the concerns of all.

It is also a settlement that reflects the effectiveness of Tribal and non-Tribal water users in working together in good will and good faith with respect for each other’s needs and concerns.

It is not an overstatement to say that the Chippewa Cree Tribe of the Rocky Boys Reservation Indian Reserved Water Rights Settlement Act is a historic agreement. This is truly a great occasion for all of those who have worked so hard to get us to this point.

I again want to thank Chairman DOOLITTLE, Chairman YOUNG, and the House leadership for scheduling this bill today. I also want to thank Congressman KILDEE for his sponsorship and help in moving this bill forward.

I urge the adoption of S. 438. Mr. Speaker, I yield.

Ms. MILLER of California. I yield to the gentleman from Alaska.

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of S. 438, a bill that would implement the settlement of the water rights of the Chippewa Cree Tribe of Montana. I am a cosponsor of a similar bill passed by the House earlier this year. This bill makes the 16th Indian Water Rights Settlement presented to Congress in 10 years. I recall a time when in the late 1980s and early 1990s Congress regularly sanctioned and implemented state/tribal water agreements. I am encouraged by the resolution (No. 98–029) from the National Governors’ Association endorsing the policy of negotiating Indian water rights settlements.

During a recent hearing before the Water and Power Subcommittee, Representative RICK HILL, sponsor of the bill, described this settlement as a textbook example of how state and tribal governments can work together with off-reservation local ranchers and farmers to resolve their differences. I concur with that characterization of this bill. I want to commend the state of Montana and the Tribe for working almost 15 years to reach an agreement. It is important understanding that the parties worked sub-basin by sub-basin and even farm by farm until they had resolved the concerns of all affected parties. I also want to commend the Interior and Justice Departments—particularly Interior’s Acting Deputy Secretary, David Hayes—for the role he and his colleagues played in reaching this accord.

One of the things I have learned over the years is that we must defer to the wishes of the states and tribes that bring these settlements to us. We all will have a tendency to want to micro-manage legislation of this nature and contend that it is really not the case. A settlement in Montana may have little to do with the status of negotiations in New Mexico. While instream flows for fishery habitat may be vital to a tribe in the Pacific Northwest, it may have little application in Arizona. I say this because I have heard that certain members of the Senate who are not from Montana are examining this bill to determine if it is consistent with the laws of their state. Mr. Speaker, if a negotiated settlement is overturned by the states or even just the western states, we would never have another Indian water rights... settlement. So again, I hope we can agree that the individual States, Tribes and the Federal government must be given great deference in negotiating settlements that are consistent with the laws and policies of the given State and Tribe and which do not violate federal law.

Finally, I say to my colleagues that we and the Administration must follow up and ensure that funds are made available to implement the Chippewa Cree/Montana settlement. We must do so in a manner that does not take funds away from basic ongoing tribal programs, which are the idea of creating a permanent settlement fund for these types of State/Tribal agreements that is comparable to the Justice Department's settlement fund and which is not scored against the BIA's allocations. Again, my congratulations to the Chippewa Cree Tribe of the Rocky Boy's Reservation, to the state of Montana, and to the members of the Federal Negotiating Team that helped bring this to fruition.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California.
Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alaska?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Utah?
S. 28 simply establishes the Four Corners Interpretive Center to provide a unique collection of cultural, historical and archeological specimens for the millions of people who visit the only geographic location in the nation where the boundaries of four States, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Utah come together.

The Four Corners Monument Tribal Park is located on lands that fall within the Navajo Reservation and Ute Mountain Reservation. In 1996, these tribes entered into a memorandum of understanding governing the future development of the park. S. 28 and H.R. 1384 reflect that agreement, providing the initial facility of base communities to lead to full development of the park. This bill represents the cooperation of Federal, State and local and tribal governments in an effort to reaffirm the ties of our past while extending those ties to the future. I urge support for this bill.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Utah?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

FALLEN TIMBERS BATTLEFIELD AND FORT MIAMIS NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE ACT OF 1999

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Resources be discharged from further consideration of the Senate bill (S. 548) to establish the Fallen Timbers Battlefield and Fort Miamis
National Historical Site in the State of Ohio, and ask for its immediate con-consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate
bill.

THE SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the acceptance of the gentleman from Utah?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California.
Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do so for the purposes of yielding the gentleman so he may explain the bill.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California.
I yield to the gentleman from Utah.
Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman yielding.
Mr. Speaker, S. 548 introduced by Senator
MIKE DeWINE from Ohio and the gent-tlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR), who have worked so diligently on this bill, authorizes the establishment of the Fallen Timbers Battlefield and Fort Miamis National Historical Site in Ohio.

The historical site shall be established as an affiliated area of the national park system and shall be administered in a manner consistent with the National Park Service.
The Metropolitan Park District of the Toledo area would be established as the management entity and is responsible for developing a management plan for the site. The Secretary of the Interior will provide both financial and technical assistance to implement the management plan and develop programs to preserve and interpret the historical, cultural, natural, recreational and scenic resources of the site.
The National Park Service completed a special resource study in October of 1998 of the site, which is already designated as a national historic landmark, and recommended affiliate status.

The bill has support from the National Park Service and the minority, and urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California.
I yield to the gentleman from Ohio, who has worked so very, very hard on this legislation.

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to, as we close out this first session of the 106th Congress, and we close out this century, extend my deepest appreciation on behalf of the people of Ohio and, by affiliation, the people of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois to the chairman, the gentleman from Utah
(Mr. HANSEN), who could not have not been more diligent in working with us, and the ranking member, the gentleman from California (Mr. GEORGE MILLER), to permit the people of our region of the United States to tell the full story of our history, the battle that occurred on this site and the assumption of the northwest territory of the future of our entire region of the Nation to settle.

I cannot thank the gentleman enough on behalf of the people of the Buckeye State and our adjoining sister States for making this possible, before this century ends.

Mr. Speaker, the bill before us today is a matter of great significance to the American Midwest and to the 9th District of Ohio in particular. The bill under consideration today, Senator DeWine's S. 548, is the companion legislation I have introduced in the House.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for its immediate con-
Consideration in the Senate.

Some authorities place the Battle of Fallen Timbers among the three most important battles in the formation of the United States, alongside the battles of Yorktown and Gettysburg. We should note that the Battle of Fallen Timbers did secure and open a large territory—now embracing parts of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois—for new settlements in our fledging nation.

Another, contemporary battle should also be recognized here today. That is the struggle for national recognition of the Battle of Fallen Timbers as a keystone in the Maumee Valley and the Midwest.

In 1991, I was able to secure authorization in the Interior Appropriations bill for the National Park Service to assess the Maumee River Heritage Corridor for historically significant sites. The first site assessed was the Fallen Timbers battlefield.

We will hear later this morning from two people who have served in that more recent battle, Dr. G. Michael Pratt from Heidelberg College and Jean Ward, Director of Metroparks of the Toledo Area. Mr. Pratt and Ms. Ward have worked so diligently on this bill.

In 1974, the line of control between British forces and their Native American allies and the forces of the United States lay across the “Foot of the Rapids” on the Maumee River.
On August 20, 1794, General Anthony Wayne led his legion down the Maumee River valley from near what is now Waterville, Ohio. Coming to an area where a recent storm had toppilled much of the forest, Wayne's leading elements were engaged by about 1,100 warriors from a confederacy of Ohio and Great Lakes tribes. The U.S. soldiers fell back to their main lines and a pitched battle surged back and forth over the “fallen timbers.” Finally, a concerted charge by the entire legion drove the Native Americans back to within sight of Fort Miami to the northeast, and their resistance dissipated.

The Native American coalition included members of the Wyandot, Miami, Ottawa, Delaware, Mingo, Shawnee, Potawatomi, and
The battle was a clear victory for the United States, a policy failure for the British, and a disaster for the Native American Confederacy. The resultant Treaty of Greenville in 1795 gained control of the fallen Timbers, then the domain of the Maumee, on the Great Lakes and secured much of the Northwest Territory for the growing United States.

I am holding here a typical U.S. Department of Defense sketch of the Battle of Fallen Timbers that I've seen widely displayed in Army installations across our nation for decades.

In addition to the battlefield, the Historic Site would include the nearby site of Fort Miamis, which played a role not only in the Wayne campaign but also in the War of 1812. In the spring of 1813, British forces landed troops and artillery on the site of the deteriorated Fort Miamis on the lower Maumee River. Together with Shawnee Chief Tecumseh, the British twice attacked the American garrison at Fort Meigs—another military outpost along the Maumee. These U.S. victories at Fort Meigs frustrated British attempts to regain the Northwest Territory and were a prelude to the victory of Commodore Perry's Battle of Lake Erie victory later in 1813, a large mural of which hangs just outside the House chamber.

The people of northwest Ohio have long held a strong interest in the history of our region and, in particular, in the battle that won the territory for the United States. In the mid-1930's, a 9-acre site on the banks of the Maumee River was thought to be the location of the Battle of Fallen Timbers was dedicated and a statue commemorating the battle erected. As interest in preserving both our local history and natural areas grew earlier this decade, I was able to secure the authorization for a resource study of the Fallen Timbers area by the National Park Service as part of a possible Maumee River Valley Heritage Corridor that lies between Toledo, Ohio, and Fort Wayne, Indiana. It remains one of the most scenic and bucolic stretches in the Midwest.

Beginning in 1995, an archaeological investigation led by Dr. Pratt set out to identify the exact location of the battle. Dr. Pratt's excellent work has proven conclusively that the battle actually took place some distance from the existing Fallen Timbers Monument. Development is beginning to encroach on the battlefield site, but a significant portion of the core battlefield is still in agricultural use and owned by the City of Toledo.

It is that site, along with the Monument site and the Fort Miamis site, that this legislation would establish as a National Historic Site and an interpretive locus for the entire heritage corridor.

Most impressive, however, has been the outpouring of grassroots interest in the Battle of Fallen Timbers and the preservation of its sites. Our office has received hundreds of letters supporting preservation of these sites including this batch of drawings of Fort Miamis sent by the students at the Fort Miami School in Maumee, Ohio. Local press coverage has also been extensive.

We should particularly note the efforts of Marianne Duvendack and the Fallen Timbers Battlefield Commission. The Commission has produced a flyer describing the battle and its historic significance. It has also produced an excellent video presentation in support of preservation.

Another person whose efforts must not be forgotten is the former Mayor of the City of Maumee, Steve Pauken. His tireless efforts contributed as much as anyone's to saving Fallen Timbers.

Others that have contributed financial, individual, and organizational resources to the effort include the Ohio Historical Society, the City of Maumee, the City of Toledo, the Maumee Valley Heritage Corridor, Heidelberg College, Toledo Metroparks, and the College of Wooster Blade and its editorial staff, particularly Ralph Johnson.

The Fallen Timbers Battlefield was listed as number two on the 1996 list of the ten most endangered National Historic Landmarks in a report by the National Park Service. It was included in the 1959 National Survey of Historic Sites and Buildings as one of 22 sites representing the national historic theme "The Advance of the Frontier, 1763-1830." It was designated a National Historic Landmark in 1960 as one of the battle sites which demonstrated the tenacity of the American people in their efforts of western expansion through the struggles for dominance in the Old Northwest Territory.

The National Park Service Resource Study concluded that the Fallen Timbers Battlefield site would be "eligible, suitable, and feasible for recognition as an affiliated area of the National Park System if the 185-acre core battlefield can be acquired for preservation purposes." The House should know that we have the commitment of the State of Ohio, the City of Toledo, the City of Maumee, the Ohio Historical Society, the city of Maumee, the Maumee Valley Heritage Corridor, the Fallen Timbers Battlefield Commission, Heidelberg College, the city of Toledo, and the Metropark District of the Toledo area, to implement the management plan.

owned land that lies outside of the State park. This property was incorrectly incorporated within the unit, and it is appropriate to properly adjust the boundaries of DE-03P. Furthermore, this legislation adds approximate 223 acres of land to the Coastal Barrier Resources System.

Mr. SAXTON. Mr. Speaker, the House version of this legislation was the subject of a subcommittee hearing. It was carefully considered by the full Committee on Resources. It was adopted by the House of Representatives with the passage of H.R. 1431.

In addition, the other body unanimously adopted S. 574 as introduced by Senator Biden of Delaware on April 22. During our hearing, the administrative witnesses testified that the “modification of the boundary constitutes a valid technical correction that conforms to the boundaries of the OPA to the boundaries of the State park, which the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Department supports.”

Mr. Speaker, I urge an aye vote.

Mr. SAXTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of S. 574, a bill to correct the boundary of the Coastal Barrier Resources System Map in the State of Delaware.

Back in 1990, when the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service was drawing the boundary for this map, the service inadvertently included the Cape Shores Development and the Barcroft Corporation in the system. The Fish and Wildlife Service had intended to follow the boundary of Cape Henlopen State Park, but followed the wrong line on the map. As a result, this has made it difficult for Barcroft and the homeowners in Cape Shores to obtain affordable flood insurance.

This year, the House passed an identical bill introduced to correct this problem as a subtitl to H.R. 1431, a comprehensive bill to reauthorize the Coast Barrier Resources Act. Due to time constraints, the Senate was not able to pass its own comprehensive reauthorization bill.

Therefore, in order to expedite the legislative process and make sure Barcroft Corporation and the residents of Cape Shores can obtain affordable flood insurance before winter storms strike Delaware, it is essential that we pass this legislation before the session ends.

I want to thank the Resources Committee Chairman, DON YOUNG; the Resources Fisheries Subcommittee Chairman, Jim SAXTON; and their staff for their tremendous efforts on this bill. The citizens of Delaware truly appreciate your assistance not just because it provides relief for Barcroft and Cape Shores, but also because it extends the protection of the Coastal Barrier Resources System to 245 additional acres in Cape Henlopen State Park.

I commend your work and urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. SAXTON. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentletman from New Jersey?

S. 574

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Rep-

SECTION 1. CORRECTIONS TO MAP.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior shall adjust the boundary of the area described in map 3503 note; Public Law 101±591)) to the Cape Heno-lopen State Park boundary to the extent necessary—

(1) to exclude from the otherwise protected area the adjacent property leased, as of the date of enactment of this Act, by the Barcroft Company and Cape Shores Associates (which are privately held corporations under the law of the State of Delaware); and

(2) to restore the boundaries of the otherwise protected area the northern part of Cape Henlopen State Park seaward of the Lewes and Rehoboth Canal.

(b) MAP DESCRIBED.—The map described in this subsection is the map that is included in a set of maps entitled “Coastal Barrier Resources System”, dated October 24, 1990, as revised October 15, 1992, and that relates to the unit of the Coastal Barrier Resources System entitled “Cape Henlopen Unit DE-03P”.

JOHN H. CHAFEE COASTAL BARI-
R RESOURCES SYSTEM ACT

Mr. SAXTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Resources be discharged from further consideration of the Senate bill (S. 1866) to reauthorize the Coastal Barrier Resources System as the “John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System,” and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentle-
tman from New Jersey?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as folds:

S. 1866

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System Act”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) during the past 2 decades, Senator John H. Chafee was instrumental in the creation of this program in 1982, and he remained one of the program’s biggest supporters until his untimely death earlier this year.

The late Senator Chafee, in his role as ranking member and later chairman of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, was a guardian of this System’s integrity, and worked tirelessly to prevent any unnecessary encroachment into the System.

Senator Chafee served the people of Rhode Island with great distinction for over 20 years. It is a fitting tribute to his name to name the Coastal Barrier Resources System in his honor. I urge my colleagues to vote aye on this measure.

(Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, further reserving my right to object, with the recent passing of Senator John H. Chafee, Congress has lost a compassionate individual whose legislative actions and support of the Endangered Species Act to only name a few, leave a legacy of accomplishment that is both daunting and admirable. As many people know, Senator Chafee deeply loved the coastal barrier beaches and islands of his beloved Ocean State. Perhaps this lifelong affection explains why Senator Chafee worked so tirelessly to create the Coastal Barrier Resources System in 1982, and why he fought so strenuously to protect it in the intervening years.

If there really is a way to pay tribute to this modest and self-effacing man, I can think of no better testimonial than to re-name the Coastal Barrier Resources System in his honor. It will serve as a lasting tribute to the man, and a reminder to us all of the important work that still remains unfinished in order to protect our Nation’s environment. I support this bill and urge all Members to vote for it.

Mr. Speaker, finally,
Senate for 22 years, influencing every major piece of environmental legislation enacted during that time; (3) Senator Chafee led the fight for clean air, clean water, safe drinking water and cleanup of toxic wastes, and for strengthening of the National Wildlife Refuge System and protections for endangered species and their habitats; (4) millions of people of the United States breathe cleaner air, drink cleaner water, and enjoy more plentiful outdoor recreation opportunities because of the work of Senator Chafee; (5) in 1982, Senator Chafee authored and succeeded in enacting into law the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3503 et seq.) to minimize loss of human life, wasteful expenditure of Federal revenues, and damage to fish, wildlife, and other natural resources associated with the coastal barriers along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts; and (6) to reflect the invaluable national contributions made by Senator Chafee during his service in the Senate, the Coastal Barrier Resources System should be named in his honor.

SEC. 3. REDESIGNATION OF COASTAL BARRIER RESOURCES SYSTEM IN HONOR OF JOHN H. CHAFEE.

(a) In general.—The Coastal Barrier Resources System established by section 4(a) of the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3503(a)) is redesignated as the “John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System”.

(b) References.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Coastal Barrier Resources System shall be deemed to be a reference to the John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System.

(c) Conforming amendments.—

(1) Section 2(b) of the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3503(b)) is amended by striking “Coastal Barrier Resources System” and inserting “the John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System”.

(2) Section 3 of the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3502) is amended by striking “Coastal Barrier Resources System” each place it appears and inserting “the John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System”.

(3) Section 4 of the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3503) is amended—

(A) in the heading, by striking “COASTAL BARRIER RESOURCES SYSTEM” and inserting “JOHN H. CHAFEE COASTAL BARRIER RESOURCES SYSTEM”;

(B) by striking “each place it appears and inserting “the John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System”;

(4) Section 10(c)(2) of the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3503(c)(2)) is amended by striking “Coastal Barrier Resources System” and inserting “the John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System”;

(5) Section 1321 of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (42 U.S.C. 4002) is amended—

(A) in the section heading, by striking “COASTAL BARRIER RESOURCES SYSTEM” and inserting “JOHN H. CHAFEE COASTAL BARRIER RESOURCES SYSTEM”;

(B) by striking “each place it appears and inserting “the John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System”;

(6) Section 1251 of the Coastal Barrier Improvement Act of 1990 (12 U.S.C. 1441a-3(c)(2)(B)(i)) is amended by striking “Coastal Barrier Resources System” and inserting “the John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System”;

(7) Section 1253 of the Coastal Barrier Improvement Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 3503 note; Public Law 93-530) is amended—

(A) in the section heading, by striking “COASTAL BARRIER RESOURCES SYSTEM” and inserting “JOHN H. CHAFEE COASTAL BARRIER RESOURCES SYSTEM”;

(B) by striking the section heading and inserting the following:

“JOHN H. CHAFEE COASTAL BARRIER RESOURCES SYSTEM”;

(8) by striking “Coastal Barrier Resources System” each place it appears and inserting “the John H. Chafee Coastal Barrier Resources System”.

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, passed, the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

FOSTER CARE INDEPENDENCE ACT OF 1999

Mrs. Johnson of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration in the House of the bill (H.R. 3443) to amend part E of title IV of the Social Security Act to provide States with more funding and greater flexibility in carrying out programs designed to help children make the transition from foster care to self-sufficiency, and for other purposes.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Mrs. Johnson).

Mrs. Johnson of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding to me under his reservation.

Mr. Speaker, my colleagues may recall that the House acted on the Independent Living bill, H.R. 1802, in June and approved it overwhelmingly by a vote of 380 to 6. Every provision of this bill has been developed and written on a bipartisan basis. In this regard, I want to once again thank the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. Cardin) for his exceptionally capable work on this legislation.

I also want to thank the administration, especially Secretary Shakala, for their timely help with this legislation. In addition, I thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. DeLay), the Majority Whip, who testified in the House and Senate as a foster parent and who has been instrumental in securing passage of this legislation. Indeed, we would not be here today without his help.

We have been working with our colleagues in the other body over the last several days to resolve differences and have agreed upon the version of the bill before us. It is essential that we pass this consensus text. I want to especially acknowledge the work of Senators Lott, Roth, Grassley, Nickles, Moynihan, and Rockefellar on this bill.

Since the House is expected to concur in its own version, I am taking this action in order to expedite consideration in the other body and move the bill to the President’s desk.

This bill will provide, for the first time, realistic support for our most unfortunate children, those who have been in foster care for many years and who reach adulthood essentially alone. Unfortunately, research shows that these children have terribly high levels of unemployment, mental illness, school failure, teen pregnancy, and homelessness, and are frequently the victims or predators of crime. These young Americans need our help to have the opportunity in life that all Americans deserve.

This bill contains only nine changes to the original legislation, all of them minor.

I close by commending the other body for commemorating the life of the great Senator, the life and work of the great Senator from Rhode Island, the incomparable John Chafee. Senator Chafee was a wonderful friend to many of us here in this House and a diligent worker for children. He was full of enthusiasm for this legislation and worked tirelessly to secure its progress through his committee, looking toward its passage in the Senate. In fact, we have been told that his last actions as a senator were to lobby for this bill. Thus, it is highly fitting that we should rename this program the “John H. Chafee Foster Care Independence Program.”

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, further recognizing my right to object, let me quickly point out how pleased I am that we were able to reach a bipartisan agreement and get this legislation moving, the Foster Care Independence Act. This represents a real victory for the 20,000 children who age out of foster care every year.

I want to especially congratulate the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Mrs. Johnson), chair of the Subcommittee on Foster Care Resources, who has done.

I would also like to express my appreciation to the Clinton Administration for their help in drafting this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, although we are acting on this bill, H.R. 3443, it started as H.R. 671 back in February of this year and became H.R. 1802 in the work of our subcommittee.

I finally want to acknowledge the fine work of our staff Ron Haskins and Nick Wynn in the Committee on Ways and Means, the work that they have done.

I also want to join in recognizing Senator John Chafee for the work that he did in regards to this bill along with Senator Rockefellar. He and Senator Chafee were incredible in seeing this legislation pass.

Senator Chafee’s untimely death is a loss to all of us. Senator Chafee’s unyielding commitment to improving the well being of all children and his willingness to reach beyond party and ideology will sorely be missed.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation is very important. As I indicated earlier, it is commitment by this body and by the Congress to say to children aging out of foster care that they are not going to be lost at the age of 18.

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 791 because it is necessary so that they start off on the right foot. I rise today in support of S. 791 because it is necessary so that they start off on the right foot.

Mr. Speaker, Women's Business Centers contribute to the success of thousands of women entrepreneurs by offering the critical community support necessary for them to succeed in today's business world. As more and more women decide to be their own boss, Women's Business Centers will provide them with the resources and training they need. I commend the spirit and innovation of all those whose entrepreneurial spirit has made America great and I urge my colleagues to support passage of the Women's Business Center Sustainability Act.

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 791 because it is necessary so that they start off on the right foot. I rise in support of S. 791 because it is necessary so that they start off on the right foot.

Mr. Speaker, Women's Business Centers Sustainability Act. Women entrepreneurs are an increasingly significant part of the U.S. economy. Women own more than 8 million businesses and account for approximately one-third of all U.S. businesses and are starting businesses at twice the rate of men. Shorn of these striking statistics, is the fact that women encounter numerous obstacles trying to start, maintain or expand a business—obstacles which must be eliminated if we are ever to realize the full potential of this dynamic sector of our economy.

In my particular District, there exists several entities that help women's small businesses expand, in some instances, get started. I am very proud of these organizations for their dedication and hard work. In a very orderly and organized way, without a lot of overhead, with a dedicated business center, such as the St. Louis Women's Business Center, they are helping women who have an idea about a small business, providing them with technical assistance, in some instances to provide micro loans, and in all instances to provide the key to the knowledge and wherewithal and planning that is necessary so that they start off on the right foot.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all members to vote for this mindfall, well thought out legislation.

On her experience in San Mateo, Justice O’Connor was quoted as saying the job “influenced the balance of my life because it demonstrated how much I did enjoy public service.” She then spent 3 years in Frankfurt, Germany, as a civilian lawyer for the Quartermaster Corps while her husband was serving in the United States Army Judge Advocate General Corps. In 1957, Sandra Day O’Connor and her husband returned to the United States.
and settled in Maricopa County, Arizona. While maintaining a partnership in her law firm and raising her three children, O'Connor wrote questions for the Arizona bar exam, helped start the State's lawyer referral service, sat on the Arizona Board of Education, served on the Arizona Board of Corrections, and represented Arizona on the Federal-State Relations Committee.

In 1981, Justice O'Connor became an assistant State attorney general and continued her volunteer work. In 1989, she was appointed to fill a vacant seat in the Arizona Supreme Court on the Arizona State Hospital, was an attorney for the Salvation Army, and volunteered for the Arizona American Indian Youth Project for African American and Hispanic children.

In 1965, Justice O'Connor was elected as the first female justice to sit on the Supreme Court. President Ronald Reagan appointed her to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. She was confirmed 99 to 0 by the Senate as the United States Court of Appeals.

In 1981, while serving in the Court of Appeals, Ronald Reagan fulfilled his campaign pledge of nominating a female justice to sit on the Supreme Court and nominated Sandra Day O'Connor. O'Connor was confirmed 99 to 0 by the Senate as the Supreme Court's first female justice.

Justice O'Connor has had a major impact on the court and has distinguished herself as a justice, a public servant, volunteer, and mother. This naming is a fitting honor to a person who has dedicated her life in so many ways to public service. I support the bill and urge my colleagues to support it as well.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, further, the bill was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

I want to thank the chairman of the committee, the ranking member of the committee, and all those involved in this effort. By unanimous consent of the Senate, the bill was ordered to be considered as the "Sandra Day O'Connor United States Courthouse".

Amid all these accomplishments, Justice O'Connor has also been a devoted wife and mother. She and her husband, John, have been married almost 50 years and have three sons.

In addition to her outstanding legal career and dedication to judicial excellence, Justice O'Connor also devotes many hours as a volunteer for various charitable organizations, and she has a long history of participation in numerous civic and legal organizations.

Justice O'Connor has spent her career serving the public trust. She began her public career in legislative positions, including serving in the Arizona State Senate from 1969 until 1975, during which time she served as majority leader and a member of the Arizona Advisory Council on Intergovernmental Relations. Earlier in her career, from 1952 to 1953, Justice O'Connor served the public in California as the Deputy County Attorney in San Mateo County, and as Assistant Attorney General in Arizona from 1965 until 1969.

Her civic activities are numerous and reflect her broad interests and public services. She is a member of the National Board of the Smithsonian; she is President of the Board of Trustees of the Heard Museum; and she serves on the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army.

Justice O'Connor has been President of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and a member of the Board of Trustees of her alma mater, Stanford. She has worked with the Arizona Academy, Arizona Junior Achievement, the Phoenix Historical Society. Justice O'Connor has been active in the training and education committees for the judicial conference, and holds memberships in the America Bar Association and several state associations.

Her life has been filled with challenge, hard work, and promise. It is with great pleasure that I support S. 1595 in honor of Justice O'Connor, and urge my colleagues to join me.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to further add to the comments of the gentleman from Arizona who listed a number of women who serve in public office. The State of Arizona is very privileged to have my cousin, Rose Oberstar, serve as its governor.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Louisiana?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

SEC. 1. DESIGNATION OF SANDRA DAY O'CONNOR UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE.

The United States courthouse at 401 West Washington Street in Phoenix, Arizona, shall be known and designated as the "Sandra Day O'Connor United States Courthouse".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the United States courthouse referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Sandra Day O'Connor United States Courthouse".

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

ROBERT C. WEAVER FEDERAL BUILDING

Mr. COOKSEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 67) to designate the headquarters building of the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington, District of Columbia, as the "Robert C. Weaver Federal Building", and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Louisiana?

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, and I shall not object, but take this reservation for the purpose of an explanation of the bill.

Mr. COOKSEY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'BRIEN. I yield to the gentleman from Louisiana.

Mr. COOKSEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding to me.
Mr. Speaker, S. 67 designates the headquarters building of the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington, D.C. as the Robert C. Weaver Federal Building.

Robert C. Weaver was born on December 23, 1907 in Washington, D.C. He attended Harvard University and earned three degrees, including a doctorate in economics. In the 1930s and 1940s, Dr. Weaver was involved in many government agencies, where he advocated for racial equality.

In the early 1960s, President Kennedy appointed Dr. Weaver administrator of the Housing and Home Financing Agency, the predecessor to the Department of Housing and Urban Development. President Johnson designated its first Secretary, the first African-American to hold a Cabinet-level position. Dr. Weaver led a rich, full life marked by professional accomplishments and excellence. His legacy in public service is a model for all of us. It is fitting and proper to honor Dr. Weaver with this designation and I join with the gentleman from New York, Mr. Rangel, the sponsor of the House's companion bill, in supporting S. 67.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Louisiana?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

SEC. 1. DESIGNATION OF ROBERT C. WEAKER FEDERAL BUILDING.

In honor of the first Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, the headquarters building of the Department of Housing and Urban Development located at 451 Seventh Street, SW., in Washington, District of Columbia, shall be known and designated as the "Robert C. Weaver Federal Building".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the building referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Robert C. Weaver Federal Building".

The Senate bill was ordered to be considered and laid on the table.

Mr. COOKSEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to object to the request of the gentleman from Louisiana.

There was no objection.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. OBERSTAR. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding to me.

This bill creates a new Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration within the Department of Transportation and makes significant safety improvements. It is a good bipartisan bill that will improve safety on our Nation's highways.

Mr. Speaker, this bill will make our roads safer for everyone. We owe it to the driving public to ensure that the trucks with which they share the road are safe.

Without hampering honest operators, this bill will ensure that the authorities will have the resources they need to keep unsafe buses and trucks off the road. It closes loopholes and imposes tough penalties on repeat offenders.

This bill doubles the number of State truck inspectors and puts more inspectors on the Mexican border to ensure that income Mexican trucks meet all U.S. safety standards.

This is a time-sensitive bill because trucking safety currently does not have an organizational home at the Department of Transportation.

It is temporarily housed in the Office of the Secretary. This bill will create a new Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration effective January 1, 2000.

If Congress does not enact this bill, truck safety will remain in limbo at the Department. This is truly a comprehensive bill that reforms Federal motor carrier safety efforts.

This new agency will be dedicated to truck and bus safety. In the past, motor carrier safety oversight was housed in the Federal Highway Administration, where it had to compete with large Federal infrastructure programs for attention.

The complexity and growth of the trucking industry justifies the creation of an agency with a clear, preeminent safety mission focused on truck and bus safety. Truck safety will now have the same status within the Department as aviation safety, automobile safety, pipeline safety, and maritime safety.

When this bill passed last month, some in the media said the bill would overturn NAFTA. Amazingly enough, they were wrong. This bill gives the Secretary the power to shut down unsafe Mexican trucks coming into the U.S.—that is it. To ensure this bill has no effect on NAFTA, we have included language that states that nothing in today's bill will over-ride NAFTA.

This is the most significant motor carrier safety legislation since 1986. This bill was developed between the House and the Senate. It is very similar to the truck safety bill passed earlier this year by the House of Representatives by the overwhelming margin of 415 to 5.

It is my hope that if the House passes this bill today that the Senate will pass it before the Congress adjourns.

This bill is a pro-safety bill that will improve highway safety for all Americans. I urge passage of the bill.
Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I am very pleased with this bill. The Motor Carrier Safety Improvement Act of 1999 is a good bill. It preserves all the strong provisions of the bill that passed the Senate and adds a number from the Senate bill that will further enhance safety. A strong House bill has been made even stronger.

I just want to express my great appreciation to my chairman, my partner, and the chairman of the subcommittee, Mr. Wolf, from Wisconsin (Mr. PETRI), the ranking member, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), and especially to our chairman for championing this legislation. This is a good legislation. It will only add to the gentleman’s distinguished record of achievement in this House, especially one in the safety arena where he has been so strong an advocate.

Mr. SHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would further yield, I am also submitting an explanatory statement of the bill to be printed in the Record. This document has been worked out by the Members on the House and Senate sides, by myself, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. PETRI), the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. OBERSTAR), the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), as well as Senators Mccain and Hollings.

I would particularly like to emphasize that the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. WOLF) certainly played a key role in serving as a catalyst to bring this legislation to our attention, and I certainly want to commend him for that.

I would also like to report to the House, as we close this session of the Congress, that the 104 bills signed into law by the President thus far, 19 came from our committee. So approximately 20 percent of the bills which made their way through to law have come from the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure. Additionally, another 50 bills, in fact this one will be 51 bills, will make their way through the House, and we look forward to many of them becoming law in the next session.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Reclaiming my time, under my reservation, Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman and concur in that observation.

Mr. SHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would further yield, I would be derelict in not noting the tremendous contribution of our staff, Jack Schenendorf, Mike Strachn, Roger Nober, Chris Bertram, Patti Doersch, Jess Sharp; and on the gentleman’s side, Clyde Woodle, Rosalyn Millman, and now acting administrator of NHTSA.

Everyone worked so hard to bring this bill to where it is today, and I want to commend the gentleman and thank him once again for the tremendous bipartisan support which we have had on our committee.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time under my reservation of objection, I thank the gentleman and am certainly glad he cited the staff, because they certainly have worked hard and cooperatively all the way through this legislation.

The gentleman’s statement underscores the strong support on this committee of Transportation and Infrastructure. In a Congress that has been getting a bad rap for gridlock, this committee has worked together and achieved an extraordinary record of accomplishment. Just before the August break, it was 26 percent of the legislation that had passed the House enacted into law were bills from this committee.

Our percentage has dropped only because other committees have awakened and have risen to the challenge and the examples set by the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure. But again, it is due to the partnership and cooperation we have achieved. I think, at the level of the chairman and ranking member.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the Motor Carrier Safety Improvement Act of 1999. We originally passed this bill on October 14, but the Senate completed work on its version of the bill. In order to make it possible to send a bill to the President before we adjourn, we have worked with the Senate Commerce Committee on a bipartisan basis to develop a bill that combines the best features of our bill and the companion motor carrier safety bill introduced in the Other Body.

Our aim is to pass this compromise legislation in both Houses prior to adjournment and to send it to the President for his signature.

I am very pleased with the Motor Carrier Safety Improvement Act of 1999. This is a good bill. It preserves all the strong provisions the Senate bill and adds provisions from the Senate bill that will further enhance safety. A strong House bill has been made even stronger.

I want to commend our Committee Chairman, Mr. OBERSTAR, Chairman PETRI of the Ground Transportation Subcommittee, and Subcommittee Ranking Member RAHALL for their diligent efforts in developing this bill. This important legislation will give federal government the direction, the incentives, and the resources needed to improve the safety of large trucks on our highways.

Every year, crashes involving large trucks kill more than 5,300 people and injure about 130,000 people. On average, there are 14 deaths and 350 injuries every day of the year. Unless the federal safety program is significantly improved, there will be more deaths and injuries as the number of miles traveled by large trucks increases. This is not acceptable.

The Inspector General of the Department of Transportation, the General Accounting Office, and Norm Mineta, a former Chairman of our Surface Transportation Subcommittee and Full Committee, have concluded that the federal government’s program to ensure the safety of motor carriers has major deficiencies. Their studies found that DOT has not been conducting enough commercial vehicle and driver inspection and compliance reviews, eliminating the backlog in rulemaking and enforcement cases, improving the quality and effectiveness of databases, and increasing inspection resources at the border. An official’s progress toward meeting the goals is to be given substantial weight when bonuses and other performance awards are dispersed within the Department.

The bill will give the Administration the resources it will need to do a better job. The bill provides a significant increase in guaranteed and authorized funding for motor carrier safety programs. Funding for personnel and resources of the new Administration will be 70 percent higher (an average of $38 million per year) than current staffing for the Office of Motor Carrier Safety. The additional funding will enable the Motor Carrier Administration to hire more federal inspectors, and more attorneys to complete rulemakings. The bill also provides an additional $55 million per year of guaranteed funding for motor carrier safety grants. In addition, the bill authorizes $75 million per year to improve the safety performance of motor carrier safety grants above the guaranteed level.

The bill makes numerous programmatic changes to improve safety by keeping dangerous companies and endangered drivers out of the market. The bill improves the consistency of Commercial Driver’s Licenses by closing loopholes in record keeping, establishing tougher penalties for crashes that cause fatalities, and authorizing DOT to decertify the CDL programs of States that do not comply with national requirements.

Trucks entering the United States will face more comprehensive oversight when DOT implements new staffing standards for inspectors at our international borders. Violators of safety laws and regulations will face penalties high enough to deter future violations. The maximum fines will be assessed for repeat offenders as well as a pattern of violations of our safety laws and regulations.

A comprehensive study of crash causation along with an enhanced data collection effort will help DOT and the States use their education, oversight, and enforcement activities to address the most serious contributors to crashes.

I want to again commend Chairmen Shuster and Oberstar and Ranking Member Rahall, for their efforts to develop this strong motor carrier safety bill. I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I include for the RECORD the following statement from Secretary Slater supporting the committee’s action and supporting this bill:

STATEMENT OF U.S. TRANSPORTATION SECRETARY SLATER SUPPORTING THE MOTOR CARRIER SAFETY IMPROVEMENT BILL

I am gratified that the Congress is moving swiftly to pass the ‘Motor Carrier Safety Improvement Act of 1999’ (H.R. 3419). This bill would give the U.S. Department of Transportation new tools to significantly improve commercial motor carrier safety across the country and at our borders. President Clinton has made clear that safety is the highest priority for the Department of Transportation. The Administration strongly supports passage of H.R. 3419.

The leadership of House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee Chairman Bud Shuster and Ranking Member Jim Oberstar, and Senate Commerce Committee Chairman John McCain and Ranking Member Ernest Hollings, deserve credit for this agreement. This legislation is truly a broad-based, bipartisan effort and, if enacted, will reduce motor carrier crashes and save lives. It incorporates initiatives from Senate and House proposals; the Administration’s proposal; a safety audit by the Department’s Inspector General, Kenneth M. Mead; a review conducted for the Department by former House Public Works and Transportation Committee Chairman Norman Y. Mineta; and recommendations from labor, safety groups, industry, and state and local governments.

The bill would create a new Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration focused on safety, efficiency, and productivity. I support that safety emphasis wholeheartedly and applaud other provisions to increase resources and regulatory and enforcement tools. Among the significant provisions are:

Sec. 1. Short Title; Table of contents

This Joint Explanatory Statement will provide legislative history for interpreting this important safety legislation.

The provision provides that this Act may be cited as the ‘Motor Carrier Safety Improvement Act of 1999’ (MCSIPA).

The provision defines the term ‘Secretary’ to mean the Secretary of Transportation.

The provision makes eight findings on motor carrier safety. Among other findings, Congress finds that the current rate, number, severity, and frequency of crashes for motor carriers are unacceptable; the number of Federal and State motor carrier compliance reviews and commercial motor vehicle inspections is insufficient; civil penalties for violent must be utilized to deter future violations; and meaningful measures to improve safety must be implemented expeditiously to prevent increases in motor carrier crashes, injuries, and fatalities.

Congress further finds that proper use of Federal resources is essential to the Department of Transportation’s ability to improve its research, rulemaking, oversight, and enforcement activities.

Sec. 4. Purposes

The provision lists the purposes of this Act and includes the administration of the Federal motor carrier safety program by establishing a Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration in the Department of Transportation and by enacting measures to reduce the number and severity of large truck-involved crashes through increased inspections and compliance reviews, stronger enforcement measures, greater scientific and scientific sound research, and improvements to the commercial driver’s license program.

TITLED—FEDERAL MOTOR CARRIER SAFETY ADMINISTRATION

The provision includes a new section 101 (a) adding a new section 113 to title 49, United States Code, to establish, as a separate administration within the Department of Transportation, the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA).

The provision provides that, in exercising its duties, the Administrator shall consider the assignment and maintenance of safety as the highest priority. This subsection is modeled on provisions of the Federal Aviation Administration and the Secretary of Transportation’s responsibilities.
for the regulation of air transportation. See 49 U.S.C. 40101(a)(1) & (d) and 49 U.S.C. 47101(a)(1). The Managers intend that new section 101 be interpreted and implemented in the light of the above-quoted provisions in the laws governing aviation.

The Administration is headed by a Presidentially appointed, Senate-confirmed Administrator; a Deputy Administrator appointed by the Secretary with the approval of the President, and a Chief Safety Officer appointed in the competitive service. In addition to any duties and powers prescribed by the Secretary, the Administrator shall carry out the duties and powers related to motor vehicle safety regulations. The FMCSA was established in October 1999. It includes the relocation of a second section 110, concerning the commercial motor vehicle safety regulations, to the Department of Transportation. See 49 U.S.C. 31131. The Managers intend that new section 101 be interpreted and implemented in the light of the above-quoted provisions in the laws governing aviation.

Subsection (a) requires the Secretary to promulgate safety standards for commercial motor vehicles, to designate persons to enforce motor carrier safety, and to establish and implement a long-term strategy, including public affairs officers, congressional liaison representatives and other officials. The FMCSA must maintain its spending for MCSAP-eligible activities at a level equal to the average level of expenditures for MCSAP activities in fiscal years 2001 and 1999. The Managers intend that new section 101 be interpreted and implemented in the light of the above-quoted provisions in the laws governing aviation.

Subsection (b) requires the Secretary to establish a Motor Carrier Safety Advisory Committee to expedite rulemakings in order to achieve the goals set out in subsection (a).

Subsection (c) establishes the Secretary's authority to withhold funds for the failure to comply with a safety standard, to establish a performance appraisal system, and to assess the progress of the Administration toward achieving the goals set out in subsection (a).

Subsection (d) permits the Secretary to provide emergency grants of up to $1 million to States that have difficulty in meeting the requirements associated with the commercial driver's license program and in danger of having its program suspended due to noncompliance.

Subsection (e) provides that if a State is not in substantial compliance with each requirement of 49 U.S.C. 31311, concerning commercial driver's licensing, the Secretary may refuse to accept the State's MCSAP funds authorized under this section. The Managers intend that new section 101 be interpreted and implemented in the light of the above-quoted provisions in the laws governing aviation.

Subsection (f) requires the Administrator of the FMCSA to designate a regulatory ombudsman to expedite rulemakings in order to meet statutory and internal departmental deadlines.

Sec. 105. Commercial motor vehicle safety advisory committee

The provision permits the establishment of a commercial motor vehicle safety advisory committee to make recommendations on a range of commercial motor vehicle safety issues. Members are appointed by the Secretary and include representatives of industry, drivers, safety advocates, manufacturers, safety enforcement officials, representatives of law enforcement agencies from border States, and other individuals affected by motor vehicle crashes. The Managers intend that new section 101 be interpreted and implemented in the light of the above-quoted provisions in the laws governing aviation.

Sec. 106. Savings provision

The savings provision is intended to provide for the orderly transfer of personnel and property from the Office of Motor Carrier Safety to the FMCSA. The provision is also intended to ensure that legal documents and requirements that had been in effect on the date of enactment and that continue in effect, will continue as if the Act had not been enacted. The savings provision also provides that lawsuits commenced against the Office of Motor Carrier Safety, by or on behalf of its employees, on their official function, continue as if this Act had not been enacted. Further, the provision assures the authority of officials of the FMCSA to continue the functions and performances that had been previously performed by officials of the Office of Motor Carrier Safety, and deems any reference to the Office of Motor Carrier Safety, or its predecessors, to apply to the FMCSA.

Sec. 107. Effective date

Subsection 107(a) provides that this Act shall take effect on the date of its enactment; except that the amendments made by section 101 which establish the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration, shall take effect on January 1, 2000.

Subsection (b) requires that the President's budget submission for fiscal year 2001 and each fiscal year thereafter reflect the establishment of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration in accordance with this Act.

TITLE II—COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLE AND DRIVER SAFETY

Sec. 201. Disqualifications

Subsection 201(a) amends section 31301 of title 49, United States Code, to make a single violation of driving a commercial motor vehicle with a revoked, suspended, or canceled commercial driver's license, or driving while disqualified a lifetime disqualifying offense, and to make a conviction for causing a fatality through the negligent or criminal operation of a commercial motor vehicle a one-year disqualification. This subsection also makes the commission of more than one violation of driving a commercial motor vehicle with a revoked, suspended, or canceled commercial driver's license, or driving while disqualified, a lifetime disqualifying offense, and to make a conviction of more than one offense of causing a fatality through the negligent operation of a commercial motor vehicle a lifetime disqualifying offense.

Subsection (b) amends section 31310 to give the Secretary disqualifying authority to revoke the commercial driving privileges of an individual upon a determination by the Secretary that allowing the individual to operate a commercial motor vehicle would create an imminent hazard. The Secretary can disqualify an individual under this provision for no more than 30 days without providing notice and an opportunity for a hearing.

Subsection (b) also amends section 31310 to require the Secretary to issue regulations establishing disqualification periods for operating a commercial motor vehicle an individual who holds a commercial driver's license and who has been convicted of a serious or related offense that had been committed while driving a commercial motor vehicle (CMV) resulting in the revocation, cancellation, or suspension of the individual's license, or has been convicted of a serious or related offense involving a motor vehicle other than a commercial motor vehicle. The behavior of a CDL holder in operating vehicles other than CMV's and the CDL holder's ability to operate a commercial motor vehicle; therefore the Secretary is directed to conduct a rulemaking to determine the appropriate disqualification periods for which a CDL holder should be disqualified, but in no case shall the time periods for which CDL holders are disqualified for such offenses be more stringent than the disqualification periods for periods for offenses involving a commercial motor vehicle.

Subsection (c) amends section 31301 of title 49, United States Code, to add three offenses to the list of serious traffic violations for which a CDL holder can be disqualified under subsection 31301 of title 49. These offenses include: driving a CMV without obtaining a CDL; driving a CMV without a CDL in your possession; and driving without a required endorsement by Permitting the conviction of a CDL holder for a CMV violation if a driver cited for operating a CMV without a license in his or her possession can produce proof, before the time to appeal the suspension or revocation, that he or she did have a valid CDL at the time of the citation.

Sec. 202. Requirements for State participation

Subsection 202(a) amends section 31311(a)(6) of title 49, United States Code, to require a State to request, before renewing an individual's CDL, all information about the driving record of such individual from any other State that has issued a driver's license to the individual.

Subsection (b) amends section 31311(a)(8) of such title to require a State, when notifying the Secretary, the operator of CDLIS, and the issuing State, of revocation, restriction, suspension, or cancellation of a CDL holder's commercial driver's license, to also notify such entities of the underlying violation that resulted in such disqualification, revocation, suspension, or cancellation.

Subsection (c) revises 31311(a)(9) of such title to require a State to notify a CDL holder of any violations of traffic laws committed by the CDL holder, not just violations involving a commercial motor vehicle. The subsection also requires a State to notify any State that has issued a driver's license (non-CDL) to an individual of any violation committed while the individual is operating a CMV.

Subsection (d) amends section 31311(a)(10) of such title to provide that a State may not issue any form of special license or permit, including a provisional or temporary license, to the CDL holder of the CDL holder to drive a CMV during a period in which the CDL holder's license is revoked, suspended, canceled, if the CDL holder is disqualified from operating a CMV.

Subsection (e) revises 31311(a)(13) of title 49 to provide that a State may establish penalties for noncompliance with Federal regulations, that are consistent with chapter 313, for violations committed by an individual operating a commercial motor vehicle.

Subsection (f) adds a new paragraph 31311(a)(18) to title 49 to require the State to maintain, as part of its driver information system, a record of each violation of motor vehicle laws by a person who has obtained a CDL, and to make to such record available upon request to the individual driver, the Secretary, employers, prospective employers, State licensing and law enforcement agencies, and their authorized agents.

Subsection (g) adds a new paragraph 31311(a)(19) to title 49 to prohibit both consecutive and non-consecutive violations by requiring every State to keep a complete driving record of all violations of traffic control laws (including CMV and non-CMV violations) associated with the operation of a CDL, to issue a CDL, to make to such each such complete driving record available to all authorized persons and governmental entities having a need for such record, and to provide that a State may not allow information regarding such violations to be masked or withheld in any way from the record of a CDL holder.

Subsection (g) also adds a new paragraph 31311(a)(20) to title 49 to require each State to establish a procedure for the payment of civil penalty issued under 3130(g) of such title.

Sec. 203. State noncompliance

Section 203 clarifies the Secretary's authority to shut down a State's CDL program if a State is not substantially complying with federal CDL requirements. The section provides that if a CDL holder go to another State for licensing or renewal if his/her home state program has been shut down for noncompliance. The provision also provides that if a CDL holder go to another State for licensing or renewal if his/her home state program has been shut down for noncompliance. This provision does not permit the Secretary to otherwise affect commercial driver's licenses issued by a State before the State's CDL program was found to be noncompliant and shut down.

Sec. 204. Checks before issuance of driver's licenses

Section 204 amends section 3003(c) of title 49, United States Code, to require a State, before issuing or renewing any motor vehicle operator's license to an individual, to query both the National Driver Register (NDR) and the commercial driver's license information system (CDLIS). The intent of this provision is to close a loophole in the CDL program that prevents drivers from spreading multiple convictions over multiple out-of-state jurisdictions. The provision also amends section 31311(a)(6) to require that before issuing or renewing a commercial driver's license, the State shall request from any other State that has issued a driver's license to the individual all information about the driving record of the individual.

Sec. 205. Registration enforcement

The provision adds new subsection 13902(e) to authorize the Secretary to put a carrier or broker, or freight forwarder, or owner of a commercial vehicle who is operating without authority or beyond the scope of its authority, foreign vehicle carriers, and non-CDL holders to go undetected, thus defeating the fundamental purpose of the code’ principle behind the CDL program that prevents carriers from spreading multiple convictions over multiple out-of-state jurisdictions. The provision also amends section 31311(a)(6) to require that before issuing or renewing a commercial driver's license, the State shall request from any other State that has issued a driver's license to the individual all information about the driving record of the individual.

SFC. 206. Delinquent payment of penalties

Subsection (a) amends section 30505(c) of title 49, United States Code, to provide that payment of a carrier, or broker, or freight forwarder may be suspended, amended, or re- voked for failure to pay civil penalty, or ar- range and abide by a payment plan, within 90 days of the time specified by order of the Secretary for the payment of such penalty. This provision does not apply to a person unable to pay assessed penalties because a person is a debtor in a case under chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code.

Subsection (b) amends section 52(b) of title 49, United States Code, to provide that an owner or operator of a commercial motor vehicle who fails to pay an assessed civil penalty or fails to arrange and abide by an acceptable payment plan for such civil penalty may be suspended, amended, or revoked for failure to pay such penalty, or arrange and abide by a payment plan, within 90 days of the time specified by order of the Secretary for the payment of such penalty. This provision does not apply to a person unable to pay assessed penalties because a person is a debtor in a case under chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code.
Sec. 207. State cooperation in registration enforcement

The provision amends section 2102(b) of title 49, United States Code, to clarify that State motor carrier plans shall ensure State cooperation in the enforcement of registration and financial responsibility requirements in sections 13002, 13006, 31138 and 31139 of such title.

Sec. 208. Imitative hazard

Sec. 228. DOT authority

This section clarifies Congressional intent with respect to the DGAC investigation authority of the Department of Transportation Inspector General (IG).

When the Office of Motor Carrier Safety finds evidence of criminal violations of motor carrier safety regulations through their regulatory compliance efforts, NHTSA may conduct an investigation. Recently, a U.S. District Court concluded that an investigation undertaken by the IG exceeded its jurisdiction, see In the Matter of the Search of Northland Trucking Inc. (D.C. Arizona), finding that the motor carrier involved was not a grantee or contractor of the Department, nor was there evidence of collusion with DOT employees. This narrow construction of the IG's authority is not well grounded in law, and the managers are concerned about the adverse impact this may have on DOT inspections.

This provision, therefore, clarifies Congressional intent with respect to the authority of the IG, reaffirming the IG's authority and authorizing it to conduct criminal investigations of parties subject to DOT laws or regulations, whether or not such parties receive Federal funds from the Department. Mr. COFFETTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 3419, which incorporates H.R. 2679, the Motor Carrier Safety Act. I am specially pleased to see that this bill includes provisions for Foreign Motor Carrier penalties and disqualifications.

Mexican-domiciled trucks are operating improperly in the United States and violate U.S. statutes by either not obtaining operating authority or operating beyond the scope of their authority. About 98% of these trucks are limited to operating within the commercial zones along the four southern border states, but Mexican trucks have been found as far away as Washington, New York and my home state of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, in FY98, there were almost 24,000 safety inspections performed on drivers and/or vehicles of Mexico domiciled trucks. Forty one percent of these trucks failed to meet U.S. safety requirements, and were placed out of service for safety violations. Clearly, it is imperative that we keep these unsafe trucks off our highways.

Current law provides for only $500 fine for those trucks operating where they are not suppose to. This bill will increase penalties for those trucks that operate without authority, raising the fines to a $10,000 fine and six month suspension maximum for the first of-

nent suspension for subsequent offenses, a measure I strongly support.

I believe that this will minimize the number of unsafe trucks on our highways, ensuring safer roads for everybody. By moving the Office of Motor Carrier Safety to the Federal Highway Administration, it is my hope that the Office will have the power to enforce compliance to this legislation.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this bill.

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the bill offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania. The Motor Carrier Safety Improvement Act of 1999 forms a new motor carrier safety administration that is charged with improving motor carrier safety from its current deplorable state. This bill also includes a number of needed changes to the commercial drivers license program and the commercial motor operator regulations along our southern border. This is a good beginning.

For the past year, the House Appropriations Committee, and the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, have been reviewing a variety of truck safety issues. What we found was appalling. The Office of Motor Carriers, which has been housed within the Federal Highway Administration, has allowed motor carrier safety to decline dramatically. Last year 5,374 people died in truck related accidents. The year before that, 5,398 people died—a decade high. During this same period, safety reviews on trucking companies dropped from 5 per month to one per month, and civil penalties declined to $1,600. Because of this, and other problems, the Department of Transportation Inspector General, the chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, trucking representatives, the law enforcement community, and safety advocates all agree that the Office of Motor Carriers has been ineffective in reducing trucking accidents and fatalities.

The bill before you will address many of the problems found by Congress and these groups. It will strengthen truck safety activities both at the federal and at the state levels. As noted, it creates a new safety administration, which as its name implies, will be focused on safety. It is critical Mr. Speaker, that the Secretary appoint a good and decent person to this position. This person, who will focus on safety first, making it their daily goal to reduce the number of truck related fatalities on our nation’s highways. This person should not only be knowledgeable in the area of truck safety but be free of any conflicts of interest.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I’d like to express my appreciation, and that of the nation, to the gentleman from Pennsylvania for moving this bill. Because of his efforts, along with those of the gentlemen from Wisconsin, Minnesota and West Virginia, thousands of families across the country have been informed by a letter that the Department has been housed within the Federal Highway Administration, has allowed motor carrier safety to decline dramatically. Last year 5,374 people died in truck related accidents. The year before that, 5,398 people died—a decade high. The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

CONTINUING REPORTING REQUIREMENTS OF SECTION 2519 OF TITLE 18, U.S.C., BEYOND DECEMBER 21, 1999

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 1769) to continue the reporting requirements of section 2519 of title 18, United States Code, beyond December 21, 1999, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

Mr. Speaker, the SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from North Carolina?

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. COBLE), the chairman of the subcommittee, for a brief explanation of the bill.

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from California (Ms. LOFGREN) for yielding thebalay.

Mr. Speaker, the Federal Reports Elimination and Sunset Act of 1995 provided that all periodic reports provided to Congress will sunset on December 21, 1999, unless reauthorized by the Congress. The intent of the Act was to spur Congress to reexamine all the periodic reports it receives and eliminate the obsolete ones.

After careful review, the Committee on the Judiciary determined that about 40 reports out of the thousands of reports subject to sunset are required for the committee to perform its legislative and oversight duties.

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 1769) to continue the reporting requirements of section 2519 of title 18, United States Code, beyond December 21, 1999, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.
Examples include the United States Department of Justice's annual report on crime statistics and the Immigration and Naturalization Service's annual statistical report.

The bill passed the House on the suspension calendar. The companion Senate bill adds two more reports which the Senate has asked to be continued. The motion which I will make will continue all the reports contained in the House bill and the two additional reports contained in the Senate bill into one bill and send it back to the Senate for passage and presentment to the President.

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, continuing to reserve the right to object, I would like to note that the Senate Act itself forces Congress to reexamine the usefulness of the reports. But, as the chairman has pointed out, there are some of these reports that are very important. And I am pleased to report that there has been a bipartisan effort to identify the very same reports the chairwoman has mentioned today.

We believe, on a bipartisan basis, that the reports identified and preserved under this Act will continue to provide information important to legislative and to oversight processes and, in particular, that it will allow the Congress to make sure that privacy is protected. And for that reason, if no other, we do need to act today.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to add finally a note of thanks to the Committee's minority staff that worked on this measure, my own special counsel John Flannery; Cassandra Butts in the office of the minority leader, the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. GEPhardt); and finally, the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. GEPhardt) himself, who really was very passionate in making sure that the privacy issues that will be protected by this bill were brought to the forefront so that we could be here today on this bipartisan basis to make sure that this is enacted.

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentlewoman will continue to yield, I think she commented about staff. I want to add the name of Jim Wilson. Jim did great work on this matter, as well.

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from North Carolina?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

AMENDMENT IN THE NATURE OF A SUBSTITUTE FOR HOUSE AMENDMENT No. 1.

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment in the nature of a substitute.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment in the Nature of a Substitute Offered by Mr. COBLE. "Strike out all after the enacting clause of the Senate bill and insert:

SECTION 1. EXEMPTION OF CERTAIN REPORTS FROM AUTOMATIC ELIMINATION AND SUNSET.

Section 3003(a)(1) of the Federal Reports Elimination and Sunset Act of 1995 (32 U.S.C. 1113 note) does not apply to any report required to be submitted under any of the following provisions of law:
agency making the application and the person authorizing the order.

Mr. COBLE (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment be considered as read and printed in the Record.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from North Carolina?

There was no objection.

The amendment in the nature of a substitute was agreed to.

The Clerk read the title of the bill (H.R. 3456) to amend statutory damages provisions of title 17, U.S. Code, and asked for its immediate consideration in the House.

Mr. COBLE, the chairman of the subcommittee, to just describe the legislation.

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California for yielding.

H.R. 3456 is very similar to H.R. 1761, which was considered under suspension of the rules and agreed to by voice vote on August 2, 1999.

It makes significant improvements in the ability of the Copyright Act to deter copyright infringement by amending it to increase the statutory penalties for infringement. Copyright piracy, Mr. Speaker, is flourishing in the world. With the advanced technologies available and the fact that many computer users are either ignorant of the copyright laws or simply believe that they will not be caught or punished, the piracy trend will continue.

One way to combat this problem is to increase the statutory penalties for copyright infringement so that they will be an effective deterrent to this conduct.

Another significant aspect of H.R. 3456 addresses a problem on regarding the sufficiency of prosecuting crimes against intellectual property. It instructs that within 120 days on enactment of this act or within 120 days after there is a sufficient number of voting members to constitute a quorum, the United States Sentencing Commission shall promulgate emergency guideline amendments to implement the sentencing mandate in the No Electronic Theft, popularly known as the NET Act, which became law in the 106th Congress.

It is vital that the United States recognizes intellectual property rights and provides strong protection and enforcement against violation of those rights.

This legislation, Mr. Speaker, makes significant and necessary improvements to the Copyright Act. The Subcommittee on Courts and Intellectual Property and the Committee on the Judiciary support H.R. 3456 in a bipartisan manner, and I urge its adoption today.

If I may, Mr. Speaker, at this time I have one more bill and possibly two more. I would be remiss as we conclude the first session of the 106th Congress if I did not convey my personal expressions of thanks to the distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. Berman), the ranking member of the subcommittee; to each Democrat and Republican member of the subcommittee; to our very fine chairman, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Hyde); and to the staff on both the Democrat and Republican side of the aisle.

Pardon our immodesty, but I think we have realized accomplishments during this first session.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Speaker, continuing my reservation of objection, first let me just respond to the last comment of my friend.

As he knows, and I have discussed this privately, but it was a real pleasure to be his ranking member this past year. We did get things done. We did it, I think, on a bipartisan basis on almost every single issue we faced and accomplished quite a bit. Probably not as much as the Transportation and Infrastructure, but a substantial network product, much of which was in the legislation that passed as part of the non-omnibus appropriations bill.

I also want to express my appreciation to the staff both of the subcommittees and the full committees and to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Hyde) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Conyers) as well for their support.

On this particular legislation which is an important bill, it comes under our obligations under the intellectual property provisions of Article 1 of the Constitution to reassess the efficacy of our laws in protecting copyright. Toward that end, earlier this year the Committee on the Judiciary in both Houses resolved to address several concerns which have been brought to our attention regarding the deterrence of copyright infringement and penalties for such infringement in those instances where it, unfortunately, occurs.

While I support the bill that we previously passed, I concur in the passage of the bill before us tonight.

There are two key features in the legislation. First, it provides an inflation adjustment for copyright statutory damages. It has been well over a decade since we last adjusted statutory damages for inflation. Our purpose must be to provide meaningful disincentives for infringement, and to accomplish that, the cost of infringement must substantially exceed the cost of the compliance so that those who use or distribute intellectual property have incentive to comply with the law.

Secondly, passage of this bill is important to expedite the Sentencing Commission’s adoption of a revised Intellectual Property sentencing guidelines. The newly confirmed Sentencing Commissioners will have 120 days to revise the Intellectual Property guideline to increase the deterrence.

In 1997, when we adopted the NET Act, we directed the Sentencing Commission to increase criminal penalties for Intellectual Property crimes. Thus, current IP sentencing guidelines include perverse incentives that allow pirates to avoid significant prison terms. U.S. Attorneys refuse to bring copyright or trademark criminal cases because of the current weak guidelines. This bill will rectify that situation.

The new Commissioners will be required to focus on this important problem immediately. The increasing threat of intellectual property theft both in the on-line and off-line world will thus be fought with all available weapons.

Mr. Speaker, I continue my reservation of objection, and I yield to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. Cobble).

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

While I was praising all my colleagues on the Judiciary and on the subcommittee and, of course, intellectual property, inevitably omissions are committed and I inadvertently failed to mention the distinguished gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Conyers), the ranking member of the full committee.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from North Carolina?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill, as follows:

Res. 254) expressing the sense of the House of Representatives condemning recent hate crimes in Illinois and Indiana, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SIMPSON). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from North Carolina?

H. Res. 254

Whereas diversity and tolerance are essential principles of an open and free society;

Whereas all people deserve to be safe within their communities, free to live, work and worship without fear of violence and bigotry;

Whereas crimes motivated by hatred against African-Americans, Jews, Asian-Americans, or other groups undermine the fabric of our Nation;

Whereas the communities of Skokie, the West Rogers Park neighborhood of Chicago, Northbrook, and Urbana, Illinois, and Bloomington, Indiana, were terrorized by hate crimes over the Fourth of July weekend, a time when our Nation celebrates its commitment to freedom and liberty;

Whereas fear at the fabric of American society, leave scars on victims and their families, and weaken our sense of community and purpose;

Whereas Ricky Byrdsong, at age 43, was a loving husband and father, an inspiring community leader, and a former basketball coach at Northwestern University;

Whereas Ricky Byrdsong was a man of deep religious faith who touched the lives of countless people and whose death is mourned by his family, friends, and community, and by that nation;

Whereas Won-j oon Yoon, at age 26, was the only son in a family of 6, and was soon to become a doctoral student in Economics at Indiana University;

Whereas Won-j oon Yoon was a man who, through his demeanor and firmly-held Christian beliefs, positively influenced those who knew him, and whose death is mourned by his family, friends, and community, and by the citizens of the United States and Korea;

And Whereas individuals who commit crimes based on hate and bigotry must be held responsible for their actions and must be stopped from spreading violence: Now, therefore, be it

SENSE OF CONGRESS THAT CHINESE GOVERNMENT SHOULD STOP PERSECUTION OF Falun Gong PRACTITIONERS

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on International Relations be discharged from further consideration of the concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 218) expressing the sense of the Congress that the Government of the People's Republic of China should stop its persecution of Falun Gong practitioners, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the concurrent resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SIMPSON). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from New York to explain the bill.

Mr. GILMAN. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H. Con. Res. 218, calling on the People's Republic of China to stop persecuting Falun Gong practitioners, which was introduced by my colleague on the Committee on International Relations and chairman of the Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) and congratulate him on his good work.

Peaceful Americans, as well as peaceful Falun Gong practitioners, have the right to practice their faiths such as Buddhism and Taoist teachings. Adherents of this meditation form have done nothing more than express their humble belief that people should be kind to one another and work on themselves to change their own lives. They are non-violent and have not adopted any so-called foreign beliefs. They do not promote nor do they use drugs. They are not a cult. They only want to meditate, take their lives into their own hands and attempt to live productive and peaceful lives.

What in the world can be wrong with that? What sort of government finds that so threatening that it would have these good citizens arrested, tortured, dismissed from their job? What sort of government sends religious practitioners to labor camps and creates such circumstances whereby some of them felt that they had to take their own lives?

The answer to those questions is that the government of the People's Republic of China is doing just that. The same government that earlier this week threatened the State of Israel if its leaders had the audacity to meet with its holiness, the Dalai Lama. It is the same government that the Clinton administration so desperately wanted to be accepted as a member of the WTO. And it is the very same government that the State Department continues to promote military exchanges with.

Mr. Speaker, the government of China is led by those who do not share our beliefs in what is right and what is wrong. They have an agenda that is not moral. They have a purpose that is not peaceful. By their persecution of Falun Gong, they demonstrate that they will use any means and methods to promote their effort to stay in power.

The repression of religion in China is a serious threat to all that civilized people hold dear. If our government and other democracies around the world continue business as usual with such a regime, we will have only ourselves to blame for the ultimate consequences.

Accordingly, I urge my colleagues to support H. Con. Res. 218.

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I rise in strong support of this resolution which was introduced by my colleague on the Committee on International Relations and chairman of the Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) and congratulate him on his good work.

illustration why we need to radically alter our relations with that dictatorship. Because when Beijing decided to make practicing Falun Gong a capital offense, which is exactly what the rubber-stamp Chinese congress did before the visit to Beijing of our trade representative Charlene Barshasky, we are seeing that life in the People's Republic is not much different from 10 years ago when the People's Liberation Army turned its tanks and machine guns on the people in Tiananmen Square. Nothing of the sort in the very same political liberty that lets us stand here tonight and debate this resolution.

As I speak there are thousands of men and women in China who are being beaten and killed for choosing to believe in ideals we take for granted in this country, whether it is our faith in God, our right to vote or simply wanting to belong to Falun Gong. As we consider, Mr. Speaker, permanent NTR next year to China, let us not forget what the Communist Chinese are doing to the Falun Gong.

Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Smith.)

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, 2 weeks ago I introduced H. Con. Res. 218 which already has more than 70 bipartisan cosponsors, and I am delighted to commit the gentleman from New York (Mr. Gilman); the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi); the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Wolf); the gentleman from California (Mr. Lantos); the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Brown); the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Pitts) and many others, condemning the crackdown of the Falun Gong spiritual movement by the government of the People's Republic of China. As we all know by now, the Chinese government which has long been brutal in its suppression of religious practice that is not state-controlled. Tibetan Buddhists, Catholics loyal to the Pope, Uighur Muslims in Xinjiang Province and Protestant House Church members have all borne the brunt of a systematic and brutal persecution by the Chinese government which often includes torture. In recent months, the Chinese government has embarked on a new campaign, an attempt, in its own words, to smash Falun Gong, a peaceful and nonviolent form of spiritual practice.

A meditative spirituality that blends elements of Buddhism and Taoism, Falun Gong has millions of adherents in China including ourselves. Since the group was banned in July of this year, thousands of ordinary citizens from all over China have been jailed for refusing to give up their practice. There have been many credible reports of torture among our workers. We have learned of detained practitioners, including a report that a 42-year-old woman was tortured to death by Chinese thugs. Numerous practitioners, Mr. Speaker, have been sentenced to labor camps without trial and thousands have lost their jobs or have been expelled from schools.

The Chinese government has also enacted laws criminalizing Falun Gong. This past Friday after a single, 7-hour closed-door session, China handed down the first sentences against Falun Gong practitioners. Three men and one woman received sentences ranging from 2 to 12 years for "using an evil cult to obstruct the law." It is feared that the worst of what will become many trials aimed at stamping out the practice of Falun Gong. According to press reports, China will begin a new series of approximately 300 trials starting on Sunday with the trial of a 63-year-old retired schoolteacher kicking that off. This is an absolute outrage. Thankfully the House, I hope, will soon go on record condemning it.

The fact that this rash of trials follows so closely on the heels of the Beijing-visit of the Secretary-General Kofi Annan demonstrates the failure of his visit to advance the cause of human rights in China. I could not believe my eyes, Mr. Speaker, reading yesterday's press reports of the Secretary-General's report. Mr. Annan stated that the Chinese foreign minister had given him a "better understanding of some of the issues involved" in the Falun Gong crackdown. He also parroted the Chinese official line, stating that, and I quote, "in dealing with this issue, the fundamental rights of citizens will be respected, and some of the actions they are taking are for the protection of individuals.

Certainly Mr. Annan cannot be ignorant of the credible reports to the contrary that have been pouring out of China in recent weeks. I fear that the Secretary-General's failure to empathize with and to speak out on behalf of Falun Gong practitioners and his willingness to give the Chinese oppressors the benefit of an unjustified doubt has only emboldened them in their efforts to crush Falun Gong.

The suppression of Falun Gong in China has been brutal, it has been systematic, and it continues as we meet here tonight. Two days ago, during the Secretary-General's visit, the authorities arrested 20 more people who were practitioners of Falun Gong who were meditating in Tiananmen Square. The police used force against the group, reportedly kicking and jumping on the peaceful protesters before removing them from the square in a van.

In response to this further suppression of fundamental human rights by the Chinese dictatorship, H. Con. Res. 218 expresses the sense of the Congress that the government of the PRC should stop persecuting Falun Gong practitioners and other religious believers and reassess our belief that the U.S. Government should continue to rely on the appropriate forum to urge the PRC to release all detained Falun Gong practitioners; allow those practitioners to pursue their beliefs in accordance with the Chinese constitution; and to abide by the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Given this Chamber's commitment to freedom of conscience, religious freedom and the undisguised severity of the persecution against Falun Gong, I strongly urge support of this resolution.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield? Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from Nebraska.

Mr. BEREUTER. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I wanted to report to my colleagues that this resolution introduced by the distinguished gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Smith) with many other cosponsors was reported to the Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific only lastly because it was introduced on November 2. We took a look at it, made very slight rhetorical changes, cleared it with the gentleman from California (Mr. Lantos) and the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. Gekas) the minority side who were also cosponsors along with the gentleman from New York (Mr. Gilman) and other distinguished members of the Congress, including some on our committee, the Committee on International Relations, and we thought it was entirely appropriate that it was reported to the floor.

The gentleman from New Jersey has highlighted some of the concerns that obviously we have with the way the Falun Gong is being treated in China. It only hurts their credibility. I think it speaks unfortunately to their legitimacy. I would hope that this is a message that they will take to heart. I urge support of the resolution.

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York? There was no objection. The Clerk read the concurrent resolution, as follows:

H. CON. RES. 218

Whereas Falun Gong is a peaceful and non-violent form of religious belief and practice with millions of adherents in China and elsewhere;

Whereas the Government of the People's Republic of China has forbidden Falun Gong practitioners to practice their faith;

Whereas this prohibition violates China's own Constitution as well as the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights;

Whereas thousands of ordinary citizens from all over China have been jailed for refusing to give up their practice of Falun Gong and for appealing to the government for protection of their constitutional rights;

Whereas there are many credible reports of torture and other cruel, degrading and inhuman treatment of detained Falun Gong practitioners, including a report that a 42-year-old woman, Zhao Jinhua, was tortured to death by Chinese government officials;

Whereas the People's Republic of China has enacted new criminal legislation that the government's official newspaper hailed as a "powerful new weapon to smash evil cultist organizations, especially Falun Gong";

Whereas some of the detained Falun Gong members have been sentenced to labor camps, apparently under administrative procedures allowing such sentences without trial;

Whereas Chinese authorities in recent months have reportedly confiscated, burned, or otherwise destroyed millions of Falun Gong books and tapes;

Whereas this prohibition violates China's "official state secrets" law, and under the new legislation Falun Gong practitioners will be chargeable with such offenses as murder, fraud, and endangering national security;

Whereas other Falun Gong members have been sentenced to labor camps, apparently under administrative procedures allowing such sentences without trial;

SPECIAL ORDERS
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 6, 1999, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

DISTURBING PATTERN OF PAKISTANI ACTIONS DEMANDS SERIOUS SCRUTINY BY THE ADMINISTRATION AND CONGRESS
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentle- man from New Jersey (Mr. Pallone) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, last Tuesday in this House we approved on a bipartisan basis a resolution congratulating the people of India and their government for the successful parliamentary elections recently concluded by that thriving democracy. I was pleased to support that resolution and to speak in favor of it. Unfortunately, action on another resolution that has been approved by the Committee on International Relations and is ready for consideration on this floor has been delayed. That other resolution would express the strong opposition of Congress to the recent military coup in Pakistan that overthrew the civilian government. While individual members of Congress, including me, have spoken out against the Paki-stani coup, it is important for the House of Representatives to go on record collectively stating that we do not tolerate the overthrow of an elected government.

I am very disappointed, Mr. Speaker, in the Republican leadership for the continued delay in bringing up this resolution. Since we are about to adjourn, it is likely the resolution is dead for this year.

Last month, Mr. Speaker, the military coup in Pakistan was one of a series of disturbing actions that deserve very close scrutiny and clear condemnation by the U.S. government, the Congress, as well as the administration. One of the most shocking of these was last week's rocket attacks against American and UN targets in the Paki-stan capital of Islamabad. Those rockets were aimed at buildings in the heart of the capital, including the U.S. Embassy, a library and cultural center known as the American Center, and an office tower housing several UN agencies. Thank God, no one was killed, although one person was injured, a Pakistani guard at the American Center.

Mr. Speaker, the attacks came 2 days before UN sanctions were scheduled to go into effect against the Taliban redress in neighboring Afghanistan unless that country turns over bin Laden, the international terrorist who has masterminded attacks against American and western targets in various countries. There has been solid evidence in the past linking bin Laden's operation with Pakistan, so this connection is extremely plausible.

As the New York Times reported last Saturday, November 13, the list of possible culprits is short. Apart from the Taliban itself, Pakistan is home to several well-armed paramilitary groups sympathetic to the Taliban and hostile to the United States, in addition to thousands of Pakistani militants, who, over the years have trained side-by-side, with Taliban Members in Islamic schools.

I should add, Mr. Speaker, that Paki-stan has for years been identified with the violent separatist movement in India's state of Jammu and Kashmir, causing the deaths of thousands of civilians and the displacement of hundreds of thousands from their homes. Pakistan's role in supplying death and de-struction in Kashmir was exposed to the world earlier this year when Pakistani military leaders, many of the same elements who carried out last month's coup d'etat, precipitated a major crisis by unleashing an attack against Indian positions in the area of Kargil, along the line of control that separates India and Pakistan controlled areas of Kashmir.
Pakistan's actions were condemned by the U.S. and the international community, and Pakistan was forced to essentially withdraw. But the attacks by Pakistani forces on India army positions continued day-to-day, causing casualties on both sides and threatening the stability of the entire south Asia region.

You have to wonder, Mr. Speaker, why the U.S. continues to try to win the favor of the Pakistani regime, given its continued collaboration between Pakistan and the fundamentalist Talibam militia in Afghanistan, and with bin Laden. Bin Laden and the Taliban represent the height of violent anti-Americanism, and yet here is the Pakistani regime tolerating, if not directly supporting, the operations of these movements in their country.

We have recently seen another example of the lack of respect for democracy and the rule of law on the part of the new Pakistani military regime with the invidical dismissal of Prime Minister, Sharif, on trumped up charges of treason and hijacking, charges which carry the death penalty.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to get carried away singing the praises of Mr. Sharif, who was deeply involved in the ill-fated military campaign in Kashmir earlier this year. But he was the recognized legitimate leader of the nation. He had apparently attempted to dismiss the army's Chief of Staff, General Musharraf, instead, the general turned the tables and dismissed the prime minister, indicating who is really in charge in Pakistan. The turn of events indicates that the notion of democratic civilian leadership and the rule of law are not well developed in Pakistan.

Reports in the last day out of Pakistan indicate that Prime Minister Sharif, who has been in military custody since he was deposed in the October, has been moved to the port city of Karachi in a military aircraft in preparation for a court appearance.

Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, there are some who seem to welcome the seizure of military power by the military in Pakistan as a recipe for stability. I believe this is misguided thinking. First, as the rocket attacks against American targets last week indicate, the military regime is no better at maintaining security than the previous civilian government. Furthermore, this year's Pakistani attack on India in Kashmir demonstrates behavior that is highly destabilizing and could lead to a wider war that would devastate much of South Asia.

It was the military brass, not in charge of the country who precipitated that conflict, and who continue to promote the ongoing border incidents. Finally, the fact that Pakistan has been under military dictatorship for approximately half of its 52 years of independence indicates an urgent need for a return to civilian rule. Pakistan is a recipe for stability. I believe that the notion of democratic civilian leadership and the rule of law are not well developed in Pakistan.

Pakistan is a recipe for stability. I believe that the notion of democratic civilian leadership and the rule of law are not well developed in Pakistan.

Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, there are some who seem to welcome the seizure of military power by the military in Pakistan as a recipe for stability. I believe this is misguided thinking. First, as the rocket attacks against American targets last week indicate, the military regime is no better at maintaining security than the previous civilian government. Furthermore, this year's Pakistani attack on India in Kashmir demonstrates behavior that is highly destabilizing and could lead to a wider war that would devastate much of South Asia.

It was the military brass, not in charge of the country who precipitated that conflict, and who continue to promote the ongoing border incidents. Finally, the fact that Pakistan has been under military dictatorship for approximately half of its 52 years of independence indicates an urgent need for a return to civilian rule. Pakistan is a recipe for stability. I believe that the notion of democratic civilian leadership and the rule of law are not well developed in Pakistan.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to get carried away singing the praises of Mr. Sharif, who was deeply involved in the ill-fated military campaign in Kashmir earlier this year. But he was the recognized legitimate leader of the nation. He had apparently attempted to dismiss the army's Chief of Staff, General Musharraf, instead, the general turned the tables and dismissed the prime minister, indicating who is really in charge in Pakistan. The turn of events indicates that the notion of democratic civilian leadership and the rule of law are not well developed in Pakistan.

Reports in the last day out of Pakistan indicate that Prime Minister Sharif, who has been in military custody since he was deposed in the October, has been moved to the port city of Karachi in a military aircraft in preparation for a court appearance.

have been helping as well. Certainly, the Red Cross and Salvation Army have been at work. Business enterprises have stepped forward with their support. Individual citizens from across the Nation have helped. The church community is doing its part and will do more. In fact, on December 19, the church community across the country will hold a nationwide effort to gather support from various denominations to help with the housing needs, especially for those who are the working poor, displaced seniors and veterans.

Mr. Speaker, I believe those Members and staff now understand why this Congress must indeed pass an emergency rebuilding and reconstruction package when we return in January.

When Congress returns, I and others will put before the Congress a comprehensive and constructive bill. At that time, we will seek the support of our colleagues in the House and Senate, as well as the support of the administration.

One aspect of the legislation we will introduce will be the provision of grants rather than loans for those homeowners and business owners who simply cannot be helped by loans alone. Unless we are able to provide grants, there are many, many who owned homes before the storm will not be able to afford replacement houses after the storm. Unless we are able to provide grants, there are many businesses, especially small farmers who were in business before the storm, but will not be able to return or remain in business because of the storm.

Over the years, America has come to the aid of many in foreign countries, as we should and as we must continue to do. We have helped to rebuild Europe. We have helped to rebuild the economy of Japan. We have come and will continue to come again and again to the aid of Kosovo. Surely, Mr. Speaker, we can come to the aid of our fellow citizens in eastern North Carolina.

Mr. Speaker, America is at its best when conditions of our fellow citizens are at their worst. America was at its best on November 6 when those Members and staffters gave of their hearts and time and hands to those storm-torn communities and to the flood victims.

In the budget agreement we just voted on, Congress did indeed provide some immediate relief, for which I am very appreciative, although I was forced to vote against the bill because it did not contain $11 million promised by the Senate leadership for the agriculture cooperative that would have aided our tobacco farmers, our peanut and cotton farmers. There were indeed provisions that will provide a response to the Housing needs and additional resources for agriculture and loans and grants. I also want to thank the administration for its support.

With this budget, we have made a significant step, but only a step. Much, much more is needed before we can say that Congress has done its part. We must, indeed, do more.

TRAGEDY AT TEXAS A&M

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SIMPSON). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BARTON) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, as one of the last speakers to speak in this chamber in this century in terms of other than the purely procedural motion, it is with great sadness that I rise this evening to talk of a terrible tragedy that happened early this morning in College Station, Texas.

The university where I graduated from in 1972 and where my father graduated from in 1947, my grandfather graduated from in 1927, my daughter graduated from in 1997, my son graduated from in 1993, and my daughter-in-law graduated from in 1972 and where my father graduated from in 1919, Texas A&M is located in, flew down to College Station this morning at Texas A&M. It is my hope that the A&M administration, President Bowen, who is an excellent academic leader and faculty leader at Texas A&M, will conduct a full investigation of this accident. If there is a way to find a cause and to prevent it from happening in the future, I know that he will do that, but I also hope that we do not cancel the bonfire in the future.

Again, hundreds of thousands of former students of Texas A&M have participated in the bonfire. With almost no exceptions, those who have participated have nothing but the warmest, fondest memories. We need to grieve for our students who lost their lives early this morning; we need to support the investigation to find the cause of that catastrophic accident, and hopefully we can come up with safety procedures so that the bonfire can continue in the future.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that all of my colleagues pray for the families of those students who lost their lives early this morning at Texas A&M.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from New Mexico (Mr. UDALL) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. MYRICK) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mrs. MYRICK addressed the House. Her remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. UDALL) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. UDALL of Colorado addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, today I rise on behalf of the children of America, more than 13.7 million of whom suffer from severe mental health disorders. When we think of the tragedies we have discussed over the past year, the hateful acts of students allegedly in Cleveland, Ohio; the tragedy of a killing of a middle school youngster in my own community; the enormous tragedy of Columbine; the killings in Fort Worth, Texas and Jonesboro, we do know that our children need help, need aid, need nurturing and intervention.

Mr. Speaker, more than 13.7 million children in America suffer from severe mental disorders. I have long been an advocate for children's mental health services because I believe that good mental health is indispensable to overall good health.

Mr. Speaker, today I introduce Give a Kid a Chance Omnibus Mental Health Services Act of 1999. H.R. 3455 was offered and filed with over 42 original co-sponsors. I believe that all children need access to mental health services. Whether these services are provided in a private therapy session or in a group setting, in our communities, or available as an intervention method in our schools, Mr. Speaker, will provide mental health services to children, adolescents and their families in our schools and communities. By making these services more readily available, more accessible and more affordable, we can spot mental health issues in children early before we have escalated these incidences into violence.

Mr. Speaker, at least one in five children and adolescents has a diagnosable mental, emotional or behavioral problem that can lead to school failure, substance abuse, violence or suicide. However, 75 to 80 percent of these children do not receive any services in the form of specialty treatment or some form of mental health intervention.

Mr. Speaker, it is not always the kind of specialized treatment that is needed, but just to be able to give the family and parents access to some form of counseling that will be readily available that would not be distant, that would not be overly exorbitant in cost, that would not be beyond their reach. I believe that the implementation of mental health services has resulted in an increase of children dropping out of school, becoming involved in delinquent or criminal activity and becoming involved in the juvenile justice or protective child systems.

In light of the Columbine tragedy and other violent events of the past 7 months, our children need us to pay close attention to the early signs of mental disorders. Clearly there are warning signs of trouble in young people that point to the possibility of emotional and behavioral disorders. These warning signs include isolation, depression, alienation and hostility. But if they have no access either through the school or their family services or their parents do not know where to go, these terrible warning signs can turn into actions of violence. Recognizing these signs is the first step to ensuring that we give our youngsters the attention they need early to address their mental health needs before it is too late.

Although the problem of youth violence cannot be traced to a single cause or source, unrecognized or unaddressed mental health disorders in children can be catastrophic. The current mental health system fails to provide a refuge for these children before they are dropped into the juvenile justice system. Two-thirds of the children who are in the juvenile justice system need mental health intervention. I believe that prevention and intervention from an early age are critical to stemming the tide of youth violence. We must put something in place to intervene in a child's life. This bill provides for a comprehensive, community-based, culturally competent and developmentally appropriate prevention and early intervention program that provides for the identification of early mental health problems and promotes the mental health and enhances the resiliency of children from birth to adolescence and their families.

It incorporates families, schools and communities in an integral role in the identification of behavioral and emotional problems. Mr. Speaker, interventions and support in traditional and nontraditional settings and, finally, it provides a continuum of care for children from birth through adolescence along with their families.

Let me close simply, Mr. Speaker, by saying that I hope that all of my colleagues, Republicans and Democrats, will join in a unified voice in support of this legislation. Quickly, because we are in great need of providing the kind of comfort and support of our children, intervention, support, mental health services accessible to all.

I rise today on behalf of the children—the more than 13.7 million that suffer from severe mental health disorders. I have long been an advocate for children's mental health services because I believe that good mental health is indispensable to overall good health. Today I introduce a bill, "Give a Kid a Chance Omnibus Mental Health Services Act of 1999," H.R. 3455 with forty-two (42) Original Co-Sponsors. I believe that all children need access to mental health services. Whether these services are provided in a private therapy session or in a group setting in the schools, we need to make these services available.

My bill will provide mental health services to children, adolescents and their families in the schools and communities. By making these services more readily available, we can spot mental health issues in children early before we have escalated incidents of violence.

At least one in five children and adolescents has a diagnosable mental, emotional, or behavioral problem that can lead to school failure, substance abuse, violence or suicide. The current mental health system fails to provide a refuge for these children before they are dropped into the juvenile justice system. Although the problem of youth violence cannot be traced to a single cause or source, unrecognized or unaddressed mental health disorders in children can be catastrophic.

In light of the Columbine tragedy and other violent events of the past seven months, our children need us to pay close attention to the early signs of mental disorders. Clearly, there are warning signs of trouble in young people that point to the possibility of emotional and behavioral disorders. These warning signs include isolation, depression, alienation and hostility.

Recognizing these signs is the first step to ensure that troubled youngsters get the attention they need early to address their mental health needs before it is too late.

Although the problem of youth violence cannot be traced to a single cause or source, unrecognized or unaddressed mental health disorders in children can be catastrophic. The current mental health system fails to provide a refuge for these children before they are dropped into the juvenile justice system. I believe that prevention and intervention from an early age are critical to stemming the tide of youth violence. We must put a system in place that can intervene in a child's life early on, long before the first act of violence is ever committed.

However, there is a greater need to address the mental health needs of all children, not just those who end up in the juvenile justice system. We need to address the mental health needs of all children before they become at-risk or troubled youth. Our children need to feel more comfortable about seeking help for their problems.

In preparing this legislation, I worked with a coalition of mental health professionals—psychologists, counselors, social workers and others to create comprehensive mental health legislation that will benefit all children and their families.

Mental health is indispensable to personal well-being, family and interpersonal relationships. Mental health is the basis for thinking and communication skills, learning, emotional growth, resilience and self-esteem.
There were several issues that we considered—access to services, the issue of stigma and the cultural and ethnic barriers to treatment. This bill addresses each of these concerns. Access to mental health services is key to saving this generation from self-destructive behavior.

In addition to access, there is the significant issue of stigma, particularly among the various cultural groups in this country. As we all know, there is already a significant stigma attached to mental health services for adults.

Adults need to realize that mental health is not separate from physical or bodily health. Good physical health is all encompassing, inclusive of the mind and body. As adults, we need to feel more comfortable about our own issues. We cannot continue to believe in the stigma of mental help.

We must also explore the cultural and ethnic barriers to making mental health services available to all children. In certain ethnic cultures, the issue of mental health is almost a non-issue. For example, in some cultures, a person may complain of physical discomfort when the real issue is of a psychological nature.

In addition to internal cultural barriers to mental health treatment, there are cross-cultural barriers that must be overcome. Mental health professionals must be culturally savvy and have an understanding of various cultural and ethnic backgrounds.

People from various cultural backgrounds are often mistrustful of seeking professional mental health services because of a lack of trust in the system, economic constraints, and limited awareness of the value of good mental health. The challenge to the mental health profession is to overcome these barriers to provide comprehensive treatment.

This silence ultimately harms our children. For example, in the African-American community mental health is rarely discussed and it often goes untreated in both adults and children. Depression is the most common mental health disorder affecting 10 percent of the population, yet we still do not engage in a public dialogue about this issue.

The progress we make now in terms of mental health access and treatment, erasing the stigma and overcoming the cultural barriers will be long reaching.

I urge my colleagues to add their names to the list of cosponsors of this legislation. In the next session, I look forward to this bill passing.
