INTRODUCTION OF STEWARDSHIP EDUCATION, RECREATION, AND VOLUNTEERS FOR THE ENVIRONMENT ("SERVE") ACT OF 1999

HON. MARK UDALL

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 18, 1999

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, together with my colleague and cousin, Mr. UDALL of New Mexico, I am introducing a bill to encourage greater cooperation between the public—especially young people—and the federal government to enhance the stewardship of the natural and cultural resources of the federal lands and the recreational, educational, and other experiences they provide for so many people.

The bill is called the Stewardship Education, Recreation, and Volunteers for the Environment Act—the "SERVE Act" for short.

Mr. Speaker, this bill reflects the joint effort of my office and that of my cousin and colleague, Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. It is truly a Udall-Udall bill, and it's only at my cousin's suggestion that my name is listed first—for once, I decided to accept one of his ideas.

Mr. Speaker, the lands that belong to the American people—the National Parks, national forests, wildlife refuges, recreation areas, and the lands managed by the Bureau of Land Management—are enjoyed by literally millions upon million of visitors each year. People visit them for sightseeing, wildlife watching, hunting, fishing, hiking, and camping opportunities.

In Colorado alone visitors can experience a wide range of outdoor recreation and education opportunities. From the isolated tundra and towering peaks of Rocky Mountain National Park to the city-surrounded greenery of the Two Ponds National Wildlife Refuge, to the sparkling mesas and sandstone arches of BLM lands on the western slope and all the wonderful areas in between, we are blessed with an incomparable heritage that we gladly share with people from across the country and around the world.

But the visitors often don't realize how much they owe to the efforts of the many volunteers who have selflessly given their time and expertise to help the professional personnel of the land-managing agencies. Without the hard work, dedication and enthusiasm of these volunteers, it would be impossible for the Federal agencies to come as close as they do to meet the demands for adequate maintenance and sound management of these lands.

We think it's in the national interest to properly recognize their contributions, and our bill is intended to do that. It's also intended to provide greater authority for the land-managing agencies to cooperate with volunteers, and to encourage those agencies to reach out to young people to help them learn about the resources and values of the federal lands as well as about the importance of proper stewardship of those resources and values and the opportunities for careers with agencies concerned with the management of natural or cultural resources.

There were some efforts along these lines in the past. Some of the land-managing agencies have been given authority to recruit and recognize individuals who donated their energy, time and expertise to enhance our federal and public lands for all Americans to enjoy. However, there is more that can and should be done.

Our bill would direct the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Interior to establish a national stewardship award program to recognize and honor individuals, organizations and communities who have distinguished themselves by volunteering their time, energy and commitment to enhancing the Nation's parks, forest refuges and other public lands.

As a minimum, the program would include a system of special passes for free admission to and use of federal lands that would be awarded to recognize volunteers for their contributions.

The bill would also encourage an attitude of stewardship and responsibility towards public lands by promoting the participation of individuals, organizations and communities in developing and fostering a conservation ethic towards the lands, facilities and the natural and cultural resources. Specifically, it calls on the Federal land managing agencies to enter into cooperative agreement with academic institutions, State or local government agencies or any partnership organization. In addition, the Secretaries would be enabled to provide matching funds to match non-Federal funds, services or materials donated under the cooperative agreement.

Further, the bill encourages each Federal land management agency to cooperate with States, local school districts and other entities to (1) promote participation by students and other young people in volunteer programs of the Federal land management agencies, (2) promote a greater understanding of our Nation's natural and cultural resources, and (3) to provide information and assistance to other agencies and organizations concerned with the wise use and management of our Nation's natural and cultural resources.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to have this opportunity to extend my own appreciation to the federal land managing agencies and the many volunteers who assist them. The point of this bill is to extend that recognition on a formal and national basis, and to build on the sound foundation that they have laid. I hope we can send it to the President for signing into law soon after we reconvene next year.

TRIBUTE TO COLONEL CARL J. LEININGER

HON. PETER J. VISCLOSKY

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 18, 1999

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to pay tribute to an outstanding American, an outstanding soldier, and an outstanding officer who has contributed immeasurably to the good relations between the Army and the House of Representatives. On December 31, 1999, Colonel Carl J. Leininger retires after over 28 years of dedicated service to America and our great Army. Throughout his career, Carl Leininger has provided forward-looking leadership characterized by a unique intellect and strategic vision. He has served with distinction in positions of increasing responsibility from platoon to the Office of the Secretary of Defense, always demonstrating the highest degree of leadership and professionalism, while making lasting contributions to Army readiness and mission accomplishment.

As we honor his retirement, we note that Colonel Leininger's distinguished career has stretched nearly three decades, culminating in his service as Chief of the Army's Congressional Activities Division. In this position, Colonel Leininger has served as principal advisor to the Army's senior leaders for their personal meetings with Members of Congress, and for their testimony before committees of this House. He has ensured that the Army's senior leaders provide a coherent, cohesive and meaningful message to the Congress. Colonel Leininger has also contributed to the increasingly effective relations between the Army and the House with his active sponsorship of an annual Congressional Briefing Conference for the Army's Congressional Actions Contact Officers, allowing Members to connect with those managing the planning and programming of Army resources.

Colonel Carl Leininger was born in Pennsylvania, but grew up Indiana. Carl and I graduated together from Andrean High School in 1967. There our paths diverged, I staying home to attend Indiana University, and Carl heading to the banks of the Hudson to attend the United States Military Academy. While there, he played basketball for someone who has since become an Indiana institution, Coach Bob Knight. Graduating from West Point in 1971, Carl was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry. After receiving his Airborne wings and Ranger tab, Carl's first assignment was as an infantry platoon leader in the 4th Infantry Division at Fort Carson, Colorado.

Colonel Leininger then transferred to Military Intelligence, serving in intelligence assignments at battalion, division, the Army's Intelligence Threat and Analysis Center, and Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers Europe. Carl also received a masters in political science from Yale, taught social science at West Point, and served as an Army congressional fellow to another Indiana legend, Representative Lee Hamilton.

For the last decade, Carl Leininger has served at the highest levels of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Army, and the Defense Department. He served as a speech writer to the SACEUR, the Army Chief of Staff, and the Secretary of Defense. He also served
