Vol. 148

WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 2002

No. 52

House of Representatives

The House met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. GUTKNECHT).

DESIGNATION OF THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, May 1, 2002.

I hereby appoint the Honorable GIL GUTKNECHT to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

J. DENNIS HASTERT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRAYER

The Reverend Jim Congdon, Pastor, Topeka Bible Church, Topeka, Kansas, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we pause this morning to give You thanks.

We thank You for another day to live and work in the United States.

We thank You for Your Word, which teaches us righteousness and justice and equity.

We thank You for giving us a system of government that honors our dignity and checks our depravity.

We repent for the spirit of self-sufficiency that tells us we do not need You and the spirit of arrogance that tells us we do not need others.

On this first day of May, dear Father, we make a new commitment to live our Nation's motto, In God We Trust.

For You are the rock of our salvation.

You are our hiding place in times of terror.

You are the truth in whom we can rely.

Our Nation needs a third great spiritual awakening. May it begin here with each of us.

Bless these men and women who represent America. Bless them in their deliberations to seek and find Your wisdom, that Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

Hear our prayer, for You are our Lord and savior. Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from New York (Mr. McNULTY) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. McNULTY led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

WELCOMING PASTOR JIM CONGDON, PASTOR, TOPEKA BIBLE CHURCH

(Mr. RYUN of Kansas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. RYUN of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, I rise this morning to welcome my good friend, Pastor Jim Congdon, to the floor of the House of Representatives. It was my distinct honor to invite Pastor Congdon to deliver our opening prayer this morning, and I am grateful for his willingness to do so.

Pastor Congdon is from Topeka, Kansas, and pastors the Topeka Bible Church, which my family and I attended for several years. It was a privilege to call Jim my pastor, and I am grateful for his continued friendship and dedication to the ministry.

I also want to welcome Jim's wife, Melody, to the House Chamber. I know she came with Jim and she speaks for a lot of different people in the church. She is a constant source of strength and support in the ministry at the Topeka Bible Church.

Finally, I want to welcome the 62 students from Cair Paravel Latin School that are seated in the gallery. Pastor Congdon teaches philosophy at Cair Paravel, and these 9th and 10th graders are in D.C. for part of their studies. I thank them all for being here.

I thank Jim and Melody for their presence, and God bless them.

CONGRATULATING FLORIDA INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING

(Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, keeping in mind the national nursing shortage that health care experts cite could become pervasive, I would like to congratulate the School of Nursing at my two-time alma mater, Florida International University, for its commitment to the future of nursing.

The school recently celebrated its 20th year of existence and already has produced exceptional nurses, nurse practitioners and nursing leaders who contribute to the health and well-being of south Florida. Its prominent faculty includes as director Dr. Divina Grossman; Dr. Kathleen Blais; Dr. Marie-Luise Friedemann; Paula Alexander-Delpech; and Dr. John McDonough.

By reaching out to high school and first year college students, focusing on underrepresented minority groups and retraining foreign doctors for nursing, the school is working toward a slogan of Solving the Nursing Shortage Through Excellence and Opportunity.

Mr. Speaker, the FIU School of Nursing has come a long way, and I ask that my colleagues join me in congratulating it for 20 years of unparalleled excellence for our community and indeed our Nation.

APRIL IS SEXUAL ASSAULT AWARENESS MONTH

(Mr. DAVIS of Illinois asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, April is Sexual Assault Awareness Month, and I join with all of those across the country who are taking the opportunity to raise this issue, and that is the issue of sexual assault that occurs far too often, often goes unreported, often leaves individuals feeling shameful and feeling that they have no place to turn.

That is a kind of terror and a kind of terrorism that our country must rid itself of. So I urge all of us to join together to make sure that we can reduce the incidences of sexual assault.

ASTHMA AWARENESS DAY

(Mr. FOLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FOLEY. Mr. Speaker, today is Asthma Awareness Day, and as a former suffering asthmatic, I want to commend this Congress for the work and research efforts that have been undertaken by the National Institutes of Health.

I want to give my colleagues a few of the statistics that are startling: 4.8 million children have asthma; 10.6 million people have experienced an asthma attack or episode in the past 12 months; 3.9 million asthma-related outpatient visits to private physicians; and another 2 million asthma-related visits to emergency departments. Over 12,288 people died of asthma-related symptoms. The cost, of course, is staggering, $12.7 billion. Missed school days, 10.1 million annually, and missed work days, over 3 million.

Much work needs to be done, but the first most important work is to continue to promote asthma awareness and research, hopefully to bring a breath of life to young children and cure this disease.

RADIOACTIVE MATERIAL MOVING ACROSS AMERICA

(Mr. GIBBONS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, do my colleagues recognize this symbol here, the national symbol for dangerous radioactivity? I hope so. Because these signs, and we should get used to them, will soon be in our neighborhoods, our communities, near our schools and parks, along our highways and railroads in our districts.

The most dangerous toxic type of radioactive material known to man, spent nuclear fuel, is very close to being carried through 44 States, 703 counties and 109 major metropolitan areas, and probably through my colleagues' own neighborhood. If this Congress votes to pass the resolution designating Yucca Mountain as the Nation's nuclear waste dump, we will see this symbol driving by our homes, schools and churches for at least the next 38 years.

Mr. Speaker, are our constituents prepared to live near a nuclear shipping route that leads to Yucca Mountain? Are the 123 million Americans living near these routes prepared for a nuclear disaster? Let us protect our rail and highways and, more importantly, our American families. Vote no on House Joint Resolution 87.

SEXUAL ASSAULT AWARENESS MONTH

(Ms. KILPATRICK asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. KILPATRICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the over 260,000 women who are sexually assaulted in America every year. We just concluded sexual assault month last month as we ended the month of April.

Today, May 1, I want to make sure that Americans know that sexual assault will not be tolerated. There are programs in our government, both public and private, that help sexual assault victims reach their potential if they have been horrendously assaulted. This is a better country than that. We are better people than that. There are programs both for the assaulter, as well as the woman or man who has been assaulted.

It is our responsibility as families, as leaders, to work with these people who need additional assistance. Mr. Speaker, I would hope that we as American citizens reach out to those people, support the programs and move this country forward.

TEN COMMANDMENTS AND CHILD PORNOGRAPHY

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, a week ago hundreds of my constituents watched something very sad in my district. A work crew placed a piece of sheet metal over a plaque depicting the Ten Commandments that hung on the wall of the Chester County Courthouse for over 80 years. The county commissioners did not want to do it, but a Federal judge ordered it.

This week, a newspaper, the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, all the way on the other end of the State, said the court's order was reminiscent of the Taliban and the Buddha statues, but I find it more disturbing than that.

Last week, the Supreme Court ruled that computer child pornography was perfectly legal as long as real kids were not used making it. We can turn on the TV at 4:00 in the afternoon, watch Jerry Springer interview people about their most disgusting sexual activities. The American Nazi Party is told they have a constitutional right to march through a Jewish neighborhood in Illinois, but a plaque of the Ten Commandments is so offensive we have to cover it up.

I am not exaggerating. The woman who sued our county said she was offended every time she went to the courthouse seeing the plaque. Mr. Speaker, something is very, very wrong with America's court system when child pornography is protected, can be viewed on computers, but the Ten Commandments have to be covered up.

MAKE EVERY MONTH SEXUAL ASSAULT AWARENESS MONTH

(Ms. SCHAKOWSKY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, the month of April, which was Sexual Assault Awareness Month, has come to an end. However, I propose that we make every month sexual assault awareness month until there is no longer a woman in this world who fears being raped or assaulted.

We are devoting extensive resources to ending terror around the world, while at the same time 1 in 6 women continue to be terrorized by sexual assaults in their lifetime. Sadly, this is not new or shocking news as each year the statistics change very little.

It is time to take a stand. It is time that we make ending violence against women a national priority. It is time that we devote the same amount of resources to ending a form of violence that terrorizes over half the population of this globe as we provide to the war on terrorism.

We can do something about it today. There will be a motion to instruct today introduced by the gentleman from Colorado (Ms. DEGETTE) which will instruct conferees to agree that we should strengthen the Violence Against Women Office and make it independent within the Department of Justice. This will make sure that we put the kind of attention and resources that we need to stop violence against women.

RECOGNIZING THE GOODWILL AND ALTRUISM AT THE PLACENTIA TRAIN ACCIDENT

(Mr. GARY G. MILLER of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GARY G. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, on April 23, a terrible train accident occurred in my district in Placentia, California. Tragically 2 people lost their lives while hundreds of others were injured.

I rise today not to add commentary to the unfortunate accident, but rather to recognize the goodwill and altruism that is very much a part of America in a post-September 11 world.

Mr. Speaker, the fire, police and ambulance services, along with the local hospitals, all reacted swiftly to the accident. There were bystanders who rushed to the scene to offer aid and comfort to those who were hurt. One of those bystanders, a convenience store owner, rushed to the scene with cases of bottled water. Another grabbed a first aid kit from her car and rushed to help. Employees from a local telephone company brought dozens of cell phones to the emergency center so people could call their loved ones.

Despite the tragedy of the situation, average Americans rose to the occasion to help strangers and friends alike.

Mr. Speaker, if there is anyone who wonders what makes an American an American, they need only look at the simple acts of kindness and charity that citizens everywhere engage in when something terrible happens. America is the same today as it was in the wake of September 11. It is strong and will remain so regardless of whatever hardships are thrown our way.

GROWTH IN THE ECONOMY

(Mr. PENCE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, we heard about the Bush recession on this floor months ago, even though the recession in which we found ourselves had begun a matter of weeks after George Bush became President of the United States. So I am waiting, Mr. Speaker, to begin to hear about the Bush recovery on this floor from our friends on the other side of aisle.

The Department of Commerce announced the economy grew by 5.8 percent in the first quarter of 2002, and even The Washington Post credited tax cuts in part for fueling this recovery.

There is more that needs to be done. There is not yet good news in the area of unemployment, so we must practice fiscal discipline and additional tax relief to certify the Bush recovery. We must make last year's tax cuts permanent, Mr. Speaker, and we must not spend one penny more than the President's request in the upcoming defense supplemental.

Tax relief, fiscal discipline, the cornerstone of the Bush recovery.

BRING OUR CITIZENS HOME

(Mr. LAMPSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMPSON. Mr. Speaker, well, here we are at the beginning of May 2002. Ludwig Koonz was taken to Italy in 1994. Jeff Koonz, his father, won court cases prior to that giving him custody. Jeff continues to fight the fight to get his son returned, the U.S. citizen's son returned, to the United States of America.

The mother who took the child, Ilona Staller is still doing her pornography. She still has her Web site up. She is still doing exotic sex shows all over the world, raising her son in that environment. We have not heard from our State Department. We do not know exactly what they are doing about this to fight to bring every U.S. citizen who is outside of this country and who wants to be here in the United States home, where they belong.

All I can ask is that you consider, my colleagues, what you would do if it were your child. Would you sit by complacently, like we are doing; or would you be standing on the shores of our country demanding that every child taken out of our country be returned? Help us bring our children home.

STRENGTHEN WELFARE REFORM

(Mr. HERGER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HERGER. Mr. Speaker, I am honored to be part of the effort to strengthen the historic 1996 welfare reform law, TANF, or Temporary Assistance to Needy Families.

Since 1996, nearly 3 million children have been lifted from poverty. Nine million citizens have left the welfare rolls altogether. And the black child poverty rate is at its lowest point in history.

Mr. Speaker, over the past 6 years, we have found that a paycheck is the best path from poverty to self-sufficiency. The Republican plan and the President's plan will help even more low-income parents know the dignity that comes from a paycheck instead of a welfare check.

Through welfare reform, we can assist even more low-income Americans improve the quality of their lives for themselves and their children.

PRAYERS FOR MARTIN AND GRACIA BURNHAM

(Mr. TIAHRT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Speaker, today marks the 340th day that Martin and Gracia Burnham have been held captive by Muslim terrorists in the Philippines.

Today is May Day, traditionally a festive day to celebrate spring time. This May Day will not be festive for Martin and Gracia. It will be a day of terror, as each of the past 339 days has been. Unfortunately, it will not be a joyous day for their children either, Jeff, Mindy, and Zach. It will another day these children are without their beloved parents.

America has the personnel, the necessary tools, the training, and the ability to rescue Martin and Gracia Burnham from the Islamic terrorists that hold them hostage. All we lack is the political will to do it.

I ask my colleagues: What would you want if you were held captive today by terrorists? I can answer that for you. You would want your government to do everything it possibly could as quickly as it could to get you free. That is exactly what we should encourage our administration to do.

As always, I ask you to join me in prayer for Martin and Gracia and for their loved ones that this nightmare may soon be over.

EXPORT-IMPORT BANK REAUTHORIZATION ACT OF 2001

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 402 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 402

Resolved, That any time after the adoption of this resolution the Speaker may, pursuant to clause 2(b) of rule XVIII, declare the House resolved into the committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for consideration of the bill (H.R. 2871) to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank of the United States, and for other purposes. The first reading of the bill shall be dispensed with. All points of order against consideration of the bill are waived. General debate shall be confined to the bill and shall not exceed one hour equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Financial Services. After general debate the bill shall be considered for amendment under the five-minute rule. It shall be in order to consider as an original bill for the purpose of amendment under the five-minute rule the amendment in the nature of a substitute recommended by the Committee on Financial Services now printed in the bill. The committee amendment in the nature of a substitute shall be considered as read. All points of order against the committee amendment in the nature of a substitute are waived. No amendment to the committee amendment in the nature of a substitute shall be in order except those printed in the report of the Committee on Rules accompanying this resolution. Each such amendment may be offered only in the order printed in the report, may be offered only by a Member designated in the report, shall be considered as read, shall be debatable for the time specified in the report equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, shall not be subject to amendment, and shall not be subject to a demand for division of the question in the House or in the Committee of the Whole. All points of order against such amendments are waived. At the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendment the Committee shall rise and report the bill to the House with such amendments as may have been adopted. Any Member may demand a separate vote in the House on any amendment adopted in the Committee of the Whole to the bill or to the committee amendment in the nature of a substitute. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill and amendments thereto to final passage without intervening motion except one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

SEC. 2. After passage of H.R. 2871, it shall be in order to take from the Speaker's table S. 1372 and to consider the Senate bill in the House. All points of order against the Senate bill and against its consideration are waived. It shall be in order to move to strike all after the enacting clause of the Senate bill and to insert in lieu thereof the provisions of H.R. 2871 as passed by the House. All points of order against that motion are waived. If the motion is adopted and the Senate bill, as amended, is passed, then it shall be in order to move that the House insist on its amendment to S. 1372 and request a conference with the Senate thereon.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GUTKNECHT). The gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. MYRICK) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, for the purposes of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS); pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

Yesterday, the Committee on Rules met and granted a structured rule providing for consideration of the bill H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act of 2001. The rule waives all points of order against consideration of the bill and provides for 1 hour of general debate equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking member of the Committee on Financial Services.

The rule further provides the amendment in the nature of a substitute recommended by the Committee on Financial Services now printed in the bill shall be considered as an original bill for the purpose of amendment and shall be considered as read. It waives all points of order against the bill as amended and makes in order only those amendments printed in the report of the Committee on Rules accompanying the resolution.

H. Res. 402 provides that the amendments printed in the report shall be considered only in the order printed in the report, may be offered by a Member designated in the report, shall be considered as read, shall be debatable for the time specified in the report equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, shall not be subject to an amendment, and shall not be subject to a demand for division of the question in the House or in the Committee of the Whole.

The rule also waives all points of order against the amendments printed in the report and provides one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

Finally, it provides that after the passage of H.R. 2817, it shall be in order to take from the Speaker's table S. 1372, consider it in the House, and move to strike all after the enacting clause and insert the text of H.R. 2871 as passed by the House. It waives all points of order against consideration of the Senate bill and the motion to strike and insert.

If the motion is adopted and the Senate bill, as amended, is passed, then it shall be in order to move that the House insist on its amendments and request a conference.

H. Res. 402 is a bipartisan, fair rule; and it allows for four Democrat amendments.

Mr. Speaker, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act of 2001 reauthorizes the bank for 4 years and has important provisions that encourage small business transactions; and it allows other key changes that will improve the operations of Ex-Im.

The mission of Ex-Im is to support export financing of U.S. goods and services. Ex-Im is designed to help U.S. exporters match competition from foreign export credit agencies in Japan, Germany, France, and other countries.

By law, Ex-Im is intended only to fill gaps in commercially available financing for U.S. exports by serving as a lender of last resort and not competing with private lenders. Ex-Im is also required by law to work towards securing international agreements to reduce government-subsidized export financing, thereby promoting free and fair trade.

I want to commend my colleague, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), for responding to concerns about the dumping of steel products on the U.S. markets. He has included a provision that directs Ex-Im to reevaluate the adverse-impact test it performs. This bill now seeks to ensure the bank takes into account the interest of U.S. industries before approving a transaction.

H.R. 2871 is a strong piece of legislation that will help American manufacturers, American workers, and the American economy. This bill was crafted with substantial Democrat input and was reported out of the Committee on Financial Services on a bipartisan vote. I urge my colleagues to support this rule and to support the common-sense legislation that it underlies.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I would like to thank my good friend, the gentlewoman from Charlotte, North Carolina (Mrs. MYRICK), for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, this bill reauthorizes the Export-Import Bank of the United States through fiscal year 2005. It mandates changes in bank programs and creates a new division in the Bank for Africa. And I would like to personally extend my thanks to my colleague and good friend, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), for enhancing this bill through working with our colleagues to provide that provision.

The Export-Import Bank operates under a renewable charter, the Export-Import Bank Act of 1935, and was last fully authorized in 1997 through September 30, 2001. A short-term extension through April 30, 2002, was passed by voice vote on March 19. I supported that measure in 1997 and likely will support the base bill today.

But, Mr. Speaker, although some amendments were permitted, five, and I think each of them highlights concerns that our Congress Members have, certainly I do, of the many amendments that were not accepted, one in particular, in my judgment, should have been. That amendment, authored by the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY), represented the creation of a Human Rights Impact Assessment Office within the bank. That office would have been tasked to ensure that the bank identify human rights' concerns when projects were considered for financing.

In addition, the amendment would have directed that the new office would report to the President and the Congress on the potential human rights impact of every proposed project of $10 million or more.

Mr. Speaker, if the bank is using taxpayer dollars to fund projects, it should also have at its disposal the tools to ensure that those projects do not violate human rights. In my view, this should be a minimum expectation.

On the subject of human rights, one amendment has been permitted to be considered. It was also authored by the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY). It states the sense of the Congress that the bank should have available to them an assessment of each financed project's potential impact on human rights.

This is a good start, Mr. Speaker; but it does not direct the bank to report on the human rights impacts of its projects, nor does it identify where the bank will get this data.

Mr. Speaker, another important amendment accepted for consideration with this bill was introduced by the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS). This incredibly thoughtful amendment would prohibit companies from receiving future Export-Import Bank assistance if they lay off a greater percentage of workers in the United States than they lay off in foreign countries.

Mr. Speaker, the original bill was introduced in 1935 to create jobs in the midst of the Great Depression. We need to make sure that the bank fulfills that mission, and does not simply finance large corporations with little or no thought to American workers.

An investigation in the other Chamber recently revealed that over $650 million loans were given to Enron. We still do not know if those loans will be defaulted at the taxpayers' expense. Once again, a major corporation, Enron, had a party, and the American people may have a hangover.

Mr. Speaker, this bill does take some positive steps, but in my view it does not go nearly far enough. These two amendments that I just mentioned address human rights and American workers issues which are critical to the original intent of the bill. I urge my colleagues to support these amendments, and give active attention to the debate as it progresses today.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), the chairman of the Subcommittee on International Monetary Policy and Trade.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H. Res. 402, which is a rule under which the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act of 2001 will be debated, and I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me this time, and for the effort of the gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS) as well. And the whole Rules Committee and especially the chairman and ranking member of the committee, the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) and the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FROST) and their staff are owed great credit and appreciation for their assistance in crafting the rule.

The gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS) is exactly right, as the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. MYRICK) also recognized, that the legislation covered by this Rule comes to the House through a bipartisan effort, with substantial input from numerous members. In fact, I think the very complete input from both sides of the aisle, and the democratic process certainly had its positive impact at both the subcommittee and the committee level.

The Export-Import Bank is an independent U.S. Government agency that creates and sustains American jobs by providing direct loans to buyers of U.S. exports, guarantees to commercial loans to buyers of U.S. products, and insurance products which greatly benefit short-term small business sales. The Export-Import Bank finances exports such as civilian aircraft, electronics, engineering services, vehicles, agricultural equipment, and so on. It is also important to note that the Export-Import Bank charges risk-based interest and fees on the users of its credit products. As a result, last year, the Export-Import Bank generated $1 billion of net income to the U.S. Government.

To illustrate the importance of the bank, in fiscal year 2000, they supported $15.5 billion in U.S. exports through an appropriation of $759 million. Moreover, in the past 60 years, the Export-Import Bank has supported more than $300 billion in U.S. exports. It also needs to be noted that the Ex-Im Bank is only intended to be the lender of last resort, and the Bank is not intended to compete with private lenders.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation is not simply a reauthorization. While the executive branch, regardless of who is in the White House, always seems simply to want a straightforward reauthorization of everything, this committee has taken the time and made the effort to give us some basic reforms.

For example, we provide in greater detail how the following subjects will be addressed, to enhance the role of small and medium-sized businesses in using the bank, to have a dramatic outreach program, and to increase the percentage of the total resources that go to small and medium-sized businesses. The gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS) has mentioned our special effort with respect to Africa, both the reauthorization of the advisory committee for Sub-Saharan Africa, and the creation of an Office of Africa within the bank, and the latter comes from one of our Member's initiatives.

The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. TOOMEY) has taken the controversial Ex-Im Bank transaction for American exporters to Benxi Iron and Steel firm, and he has given us some very important reform legislation which is a part of the bill today. It relates to American exports to those businesses abroad that are parts of sectors for which a 201 case has been made under the International Trade Commission or where dumping is formally ruled to be taking place.

Finally, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS) made one point about the initiative of the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY), a distinguished member of the subcommittee and committee. The only disagreement this Member has had with her approach is that she would mandate a special human rights report to be made by the Export-Import Bank. In fact, the State Department issues such country human rights reports, and we have in this legislation recognized it the key agency to provide human rights information to all of the agencies of the Federal Government.

The gentlewoman's alternative amendment, which is made in order, certainly is one I can support. And, in fact, we can strengthen it by insisting that the State Department's human rights country report for the particular country that would be the destination for an American export be considered by the Export-Import Bank by report language during a House-Senate Conference.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support of the legislation.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 1 minute.

Mr. Speaker, to respond to the gentleman with reference to the amendment offered by the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY), my feeling is that the human rights division of the State Department does cover many of these measures; but I do believe that they would have to rely upon the information that they receive from the Export-Import Bank. If the Export-Import Bank does like some agencies do, then they very well may not have a full report.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. I yield to the gentleman from Nebraska.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, maybe I was not clear. I expect to support and urge support for the gentlewoman's amendment that has been made in order, and to strengthen provisions of her amendment by the report language.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS), the former mayor of Burlington, Vermont, who has particularly keen insight into the matter the gentleman is about to discuss.

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Committee on Rules for making my amendment in order which we will be debating later today, and I especially thank the subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), who promised me that he would support getting that amendment on the floor, and he did.

Mr. Speaker, I rise as the ranking member of the relevant subcommittee, and I must say, unlike many others, and perhaps as one of two independents in the House of Representatives, I have some very, very strong concerns about the direction of the Export-Import Bank. It is my belief that unless we make fundamental changes in that bank and the way that it functions, that we should eliminate it because as presently constituted, it amounts to huge corporate welfare for some of the largest multinational corporations in America.

The truth of the matter is, and I think it is high time Congress woke up to it, and this goes well beyond the Export-Import Bank, the trade policy of the United States is a failure.

Mr. Speaker, we have a $300-plus billion trade deficit. It is not just steel, it is not just textiles. All over America, in rural America, in my State, small manufacturing plants are going out of business because they cannot compete with imports that come into this country made in China where workers are being paid 20 cents an hour. The big untold story of trade policy is that corporate America has sold out American workers, sold out the American people, laid off millions of American workers in search of cheap labor all over the world. We have a $360 billion trade deficit, tell me how our trade policy is successful. The mythology out there is we do not have to worry about old manufacturing jobs, steel, textiles, cars, those are not good jobs. All of our young people are going to have high tech, computer jobs, minimum $50,000 a year, let the Mexicans and the Chinese have those other jobs. What a terrible thing to say to millions of workers.

The result is that high school graduates today who go into the job market are making 20 percent less than was the case 25 years because the factory jobs are not there, and what is there are McDonald's and Burger King, low wages, part-time, no benefits. We have to rebuild manufacturing in this country and create decent paying jobs for our working people.

Export-Import Bank is part of the problem, not the cause. Check the record. Over 80 percent of the money that comes from Export-Import Bank goes to large, Fortune 500 corporations. We give them the money, and General Electric and Motorola and Boeing say thanks, taxpayers. By the way, we are laying off American workers because we are off to China and Mexico; but give us some more money.

Some of us have a radical idea. We think before we give taxpayer money out to large, multinational corporations, maybe, just maybe, we might want to insist that they do something about creating jobs in the United States of America. I know that that is a very radical idea, that taxpayer money be used to create jobs in America. The bottom line is that if we are going to give these Fortune 500 companies money, let them sign on the line and work on ways to create jobs in America. The major companies that have received Ex-Im money are the major job cutters in America. I want somebody to explain that to the workers in America that have been laid off, that their tax dollars go to precisely the companies that are laying off more workers than anyone else. It is absurd on the surface.

Mr. Speaker, I have an amendment that will address it, and I hope we will get strong bipartisan support. It is time that we change the trade policy in America. This is a good way to start.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mrs. MYRICK). Pursuant to House Resolution 402 and rule XVIII, the Chair declares the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill, H.R. 2871.

IN THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill (H.R. 2871) to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank of the United States, and for other purposes, with Mr. GUTKNECHT in the chair.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to the rule, the bill is considered as having been read the first time.

Under the rule, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. OXLEY) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. OXLEY).

Mr. OXLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I rise today to urge my colleagues to support H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act of 2001. This is an extremely important piece of legislation for American manufacturers, American workers and the American economy. By reauthorizing the Export-Import Bank, we will demonstrate our commitment to promoting U.S. goods throughout the world. This legislation reauthorizes the Export-Import Bank for 4 years, and makes several important changes in how Ex-Im operates.

This is the first major piece of legislation relating to international trade to come out of the Committee on Financial Services. H.R. 2871 was reported by voice vote with strong bipartisan support on October 31 of last year. I am proud of all of the hard work by the committee on this bill, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank the chairman of the subcommittee on International Monetary Policy and Trade, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), for his leadership and dedication in crafting this bill. The gentleman has invested a lot of time and energy ensuring that Export-Import Bank remains true to its mission of supporting U.S. exports and sustaining U.S. jobs.

Mr. Chairman, reducing the trade deficit is critical to aiding the economic recovery of the United States. Our manufacturers currently face stiff competition from foreign companies seeking to expand the sale of their goods overseas.

There is little argument that goods made in the U.S. are of the highest quality and are in great demand. At the same time, however, foreign companies are getting lots of assistance from their export credit agencies in finding markets and negotiating prices for their goods. Without Ex-Im, U.S. importers would be forced to compete in this international marketplace with one hand tied behind their backs. Ex-Im levels the playing field of international trade by allowing U.S. companies to compete on the quality of their product.

In a perfect world we would not need export credit agencies and the free market would operate without market distortions. However, because foreign governments are in the practice of aiding their manufacturers through export credit agencies, the United States must fight fire with fire. Ex-Im works to ensure that U.S. manufacturers receive equal treatment and serves to promote U.S. exports overseas. Currently some 70 governments around the world have export credit agencies like Ex-Im providing about $500 billion a year in government-backed financing.

Mr. Chairman, as long as foreign governments are financing export credit agencies, we must support Ex-Im to ensure that our manufacturers and workers remain competitive in the global marketplace.

Increasingly, financing is a key to winning export sales. In many emerging markets, where the greatest export growth opportunities now exist, commercial banks are often unwilling to provide financing, even for credit-worthy customers. In those cases, government export credit agencies step in to finance the sales, either through direct loans to the customer or through guarantees and insurance that a commercial lender will be repaid by the customer. With guarantees and insurance, commercial banks are willing to provide financing. A key role that Ex-Im plays is to help open markets to U.S. exporters and promote follow-on sales. Ex-Im has led the way in several markets, resulting in a return of commercial financing for transactions.

A good example is the efforts Ex-Im undertook in Asia after the currency crisis that that region experienced in the 1990s. When commercial banks saw that Ex-Im was able to effectively transact business in this region, they reentered this market, which contributed to Asia's economic recovery.

Many critics of Ex-Im claim that it is a giveaway for large corporations. That is simply not accurate, for several reasons. First, approximately 90 percent of Ex-Im's transactions are with small businesses. Those businesses rely on Ex-Im to help them reach overseas markets that they would otherwise not be able to reach.

Secondly, while many of Ex-Im's higher dollar transactions go to larger companies, we should remember that those large companies utilize supplies from many small and medium-sized businesses in order to create their products.

Finally, Ex-Im serves as the lender of last resort for U.S. exporters when commercial financing is not available for export sales and when the U.S. exporter is confronted with foreign competitors with financing available from their own government.

Ex-Im charges interest on its direct loans and premiums for its guarantees and insurance costs that the U.S. exporter usually passes through to its overseas customer. Those charges usually range from 5 to 17 percent of the financing obtained, depending on the risk.

From the exporters' and customers' point of view, the bank does not subsidize the cost of financing an export transaction. Ex-Im is no less expensive to use than a commercial bank or other financial intermediary.

I will defer to my colleague, the gentleman from Nebraska (Chairman BEREUTER), to describe the details of this legislation. However, I would like to highlight some of the key provisions.

First, in this bill we seek to greatly expand the use of Ex-Im by small businesses. That is achieved by expanding the required volume of small business transactions from 10 percent to 18 percent, which will ensure that more Ex-Im-related funds are getting to more local businesses. The bill also authorizes more funds to be used to increase small business outreach efforts and improve technology so that more people can effectively use Ex-Im.

Second, H.R. 2871 contains strong provisions relating to U.S. trade laws that will ensure Ex-Im adheres to U.S. policies and does not contribute to overcapacity or dumping of goods on U.S. markets.

Third, this measure modifies a Tied Aid Credit Program by renaming it the Export Competitiveness Program and Fund and outlining its operation. The Secretary of the Treasury is empowered to establish how this fund will operate and the Ex-Im Bank Board will have the final determination of when the fund is used, thus maintaining the co-equal roles of Treasury and Ex-Im.

The fund will be used to combat tied aid, untied aid and market windows, all of which are tools that have been commonly used by foreign governments to subvert export pricing agreements.

Finally, H.R. 2871 makes many important policy changes to Ex-Im's charter. The bill contains provisions encouraging renewable energy programs and efforts to combat corruption and terrorism, and requires the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, as adopted by the UN, to be the standard by which Ex-Im's transactions are reviewed.

The committee held its first hearing on the reauthorization of Ex-Im one year ago tomorrow. At that hearing the administration submitted its authorization request for a basic 4-year reauthorization. After an additional hearing and intensive investigation, the gentleman from Nebraska (Chairman BEREUTER) crafted H.R. 2871 to reauthorize Ex-Im and make important changes in how the bank operates.

This past fall the subcommittee and the full committee reported this bill by voice vote with strong bipartisan support. Since that time, the committee and the gentleman from Nebraska (Chairman BEREUTER) have been working diligently to remedy some concerns the administration had with the original text. The results of these discussions is the manager's amendment, which makes several technical changes requested by the administration.

Mr. Chairman, Ex-Im provides assistance to both large and small corporations across the United States. Without the guarantees, insurance and direct loans provided by Ex-Im, many of those businesses would not reach high risk or emerging markets with their products. As a result, production levels would be lowered, the U.S. trade deficit would be larger and fewer Americans would be employed in high paying manufacturing jobs.

Mr. Chairman, I strongly urge my colleagues to vote in favor of U.S. manufacturers, in favor of U.S. workers, and in favor of the U.S. economy by voting yes on H.R. 2871.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. LAFALCE asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased that the Committee on Financial Services, under the able leadership of my friends, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. OXLEY) and, on this particular bill, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) was able to complete its work on H.R. 2871 and bring it to the floor of the House, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act. One difficulty with it is its title, of course, because it has nothing to do with imports, it only has to do with exports, and one of these days we ought to change the name of the bank to the Export Bank of the United States, or the United States Export-Other Countries Import Bank. It would avoid needless confusion.

The bill, very importantly, reauthorizes Ex-Im Bank for 4 years. We have to get over the 30 days, we have to get over the 1 year, 2 year. We need a multiyear reauthorization, and 4 years is a good time frame. But, most importantly, it also contains very important provisions that could better define and guide Ex-Im's policies and programs.

Before I go into that, I want to give credit to another individual, and that is the ranking Democrat on the relevant subcommittee, the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS), who has attempted to even better define its mission, its policies and its programs so that it could work in the best interests of working Americans.

While we may agree or disagree on a specific prescription, we surely agree on his intent and motivations, and I am hoping that, to the maximum extent possible, Ex-Im Bank officials will work to implement the existing and future laws in a manner that will effectuate those shared goals.

Some individuals suggest that Ex-Im transactions are nothing more than corporate subsidies, no better than some of the worst corporate handouts contained in the Tax Code. That is not quite true.

First, Ex-Im operates in a very competitive international environment, an environment in which export credit agencies in other countries have become increasingly aggressive in supporting the exports of the companies from their countries, our competitors. So it is critical to have Ex-Im to counter those transactions, and, in doing so, to provide leverage for the United States to negotiate a gradual reduction in export subsidy activities amongst OECD Members. That must work hand in hand. The United States must become ever more aggressive in negotiating those reductions in subsidies, but, of course, this must be done on a multilateral basis.

In short, absent the United States Ex-Im Bank, U.S. exporters would find themselves competing at a significant disadvantage against foreign exporters, who do enjoy government subsidies. With the loss or diminution of key export markets would also come the loss of export-oriented jobs in the United States, jobs which pay 18 percent more on average than non-export jobs.

Ex-Im also has the charge of providing critical export financing in cases where there is a market failure in private lending. Frequently these failures relate to the nature of the exporter; very often, for example, small businesses who face difficulties obtaining private credit for export transactions. As a result, Ex-Im has been a very important source of support for small business exporters nationwide. With the advent of the Internet and Internet marketing, this becomes ever more important for the small business person.

Market failures also relate to the nature and vocation of export markets. Markets in Sub-Saharan Africa and elsewhere in the developing world are frequently overlooked by private export credit, and Ex-Im goes where private lenders are unwilling to go, to the ultimate benefit of not only our exporters, but to the ultimate benefit of these developing countries.

That Ex-Im is charged to go into underserved markets is particularly relevant today when economic engagement with other countries is an essential element of foreign policy and national security. In the months since last September we have had to move very quickly to determine how best to reach out to countries and people who were previously of too little interest to the United States and other wealthy industrialized countries. Certainly much has been achieved already in the war on terrorism by high level engagement between the Bush administration and foreign leaders, but top level diplomacy will ultimately fail if it is not supported by bottom-up engagement in the political, the social, and the economic spheres. It is here where institutions like the Ex-Im Bank have a critical role to play.

With each export transaction supported by the bank, we have made a new connection. We have developed a new familiarity with a market, a people, and a country that had been previously slightly more foreign to us. With thousands of these transactions, we can take 1,000 steps forward toward a world of interdependence and prosperity; in short, a world in which terrorism would find it much more difficult to exist.

Let me describe just a few of the key elements of H.R. 2871. I am particularly pleased that the reauthorization bill emphasizes the need to expand outreach to small businesses. We spent a great deal of time assessing the barriers to Ex-Im assistance for small business, and I became convinced that technology enhancements, as I mentioned earlier, would be critical to any meaningful effort to expand services for that sector.

For Ex-Im's large clients, user-friendliness is not a significant issue. Large corporations have adequate resources and knowledge in-house to interact with Ex-Im rather smoothly. But for small businesses, working with Ex-Im could be a daunting prospect, so we drafted the legislation, convinced that Ex-Im could go even further toward bringing in new small businesses and serving them better by expanding the use of technology throughout the transaction process. As a result, the legislation expands the budget authority for technology upgrades, and provides guidance to Ex-Im on the implementation of new technologies.

But the bill creates important improvements on bank policies in a number of other areas, too. In drafting the legislation, we took very seriously concerns about the condition of the United States steel industry and Ex-Im activities that may have exacerbated problems in the industry.

So the bill establishes meaningful standards to ensure that Ex-Im does not support transactions that would contradict existing countervailing duty or anti-dumping orders. The bill also raises the bar of scrutiny for transactions that may have the effect of contributing to any material injury of a U.S. industry.

Finally, I would like to emphasize that the bill increases authorizations for the bank's administrative expenses and for the allotment ceiling on the total amount of lending and credit the bank is authorized to have outstanding. As we require the bank to expand its assistance and outreach to small businesses, we must, in turn, be providing more, not less, funding for the administrative expenses that necessarily come with this effort.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. OXLEY. Mr. Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) who has undertaken a very difficult task and done it superbly.

(Mr. BEREUTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act of 2001.

Mr. Chairman, I want to particularly thank the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. OXLEY), the chairman of the full committee, and the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE), the ranking minority member, for their assistance in bringing this legislation to the floor. It has not been easy, but we have, of course, attempted to do something that is not always done around here, and that is to make some basic reforms in the authorizing legislation. It is oftentimes resisted by the executive branch. But I think it is true that the members of the subcommittee and committee have worked together in trying to bring the necessary reforms to that agency in order to help our business sector and, particularly, to help the employees of our business sectors that are involved in exports. We have done that with this bill.

Both Members, the chairman and ranking member, are quite familiar with this program. They have outlined very, very well and in excellent fashion the provisions of the bill, particularly those that are new or which are reform measures.

I would say, thinking back about the comments of the gentleman from New York about the title of the agency, that he is absolutely right. We would be better off to call it the Export Agency, because that is the only part of the trade subject for which they have authorization. It is easy to make the statutory change of the agency's name, but not so easy to make all the legal changes necessary to change the name. He and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. FRANK), are probably the 2 Members that, along with me, have worked the longest on legislation on this bank over the years. But to the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS), the ranking member of the subcommittee, I want to particularly thank him for his role in crafting this legislation, as we have worked together from the beginning on it. I am also appreciative of all of the members of the subcommittee, and the committee as well, who have offered their ideas about how to make this legislation better.

I would reiterate that the Export-Import Bank is an independent U.S. Government agency that creates and sustains American jobs by providing direct loans to buyers of U.S. exports, guarantees to commercial loans to buyers of U.S. products, and insurance products which greatly benefit short-term small business sales. For example, with respect to small business, already 86 percent of the transactions of the Ex-Im Bank in FY 2000 are with small or medium-sized American export firms. This bill pushes the envelope even farther for even more assistance to small business exporters through the efforts of the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS), this Member, the chairman, and ranking minority member of the committee, and others.

The bill has been well explained already, particularly the new parts of it, but I would just briefly summarize six provisions of this legislation. First, of course, it reauthorizes the program and administrative budgets and it moves them along towards implementing greater information and office technology in the Export Import Bank, and that would be a particular benefit to small businesses as they do not always have the capability to take advantage of the programs of the Export Import Bank without improved information access.

Secondly, it reauthorizes the Sub-Saharan Africa Advisory Committee and provides additional emphasis on our businesses' interest in exporting to Africa.

Third, it provides for small business increases, pushing them to require at least 20 percent of the financial resources to go to small and medium-sized businesses.

Fourth, it increases the Ex-Im Bank's statutory ceiling for loans, grants and insurance assistance.

Fifth, it addresses the Tied Aid War Chest, and this is, of course, the most contentious part of the bill as far as the administration was concerned. In this bill we have made necessary changes so that ideologues in Treasury, Ex-Im or OMB, regardless of what administration is in office, do not misuse the fund, but to instead focus it on really helping our exporters and consistently doing that.

Sixth, it addresses the Ex-Im Bank transaction with Benxi Iron and Steel Company in China. American exporters provided exports to that company which undoubtedly increased that Chinese firm's efficiency in making steel. The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. TOOMEY) has given us an amendment for part of the bill that is a very important advance.

This bill, of course, reauthorizes the bank through September 30 of 2005. As a result of this provision, the program budget which supports loans, guarantees and insurance products of Ex-Im Bank, is effectively authorized for such sums as are appropriated through fiscal year 2005.

During the subcommittee's first hearing on the subject, the Ex-Im Bank personnel testified that they were in desperate need of technology upgrades which would particularly benefit small business users of the Ex-Im Bank. As a result, this legislation authorizes $80 million for the administrative budget, which includes funding for information technology for fiscal year 2002, and indexes this authorization level for inflation between fiscal year 2003 through fiscal year 2005. Also, as I mentioned, among other changes, we make important changes to focus the Ex-Im Bank even more on exports to Africa. More detail on that will come out in the ensuing debate on this legislation.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to support this legislation. It is reform legislation. It moves us in the right direction.

Mr. OXLEY. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) be permitted to control the time for general debate on our side.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE).

(Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I thank the distinguished ranking member for yielding me this time.

Mr. Chairman, let me congratulate the committee and its chairman and subcommittee chair and full committee chair and full committee ranking member, and certainly the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE), the full committee ranking member, and also as well, the ranking subcommittee member, whose leadership we appreciate greatly. Let me add my support to this legislation today. I think in coming to Congress, coming from Houston, Texas that has one of the largest numbers of consular offices, it has an enormously international community and, as well, it is a community that believes in the opportunities for creating vehicles to create American jobs and, as well, to insist and to help American businesses. That is what Ex-Im Bank, I think, is most successful at. Supporting U.S. jobs through exports is Ex-Im Bank's core mission.

I also want to congratulate the new chairman, Eduardo Aguirre from Houston who I believe will foster that mission and help small and minority businesses access Ex-Im Bank.

Ex-Im Bank is an independent Federal agency that helps to finance the export of American products and services that would otherwise not go forward, and I think that is an important statement, because there is great concern when we begin to talk internationally, it is important for the Nation to understand that this is an advocate for jobs going to Americans, but products and services going internationally. And in its 68-year history, Ex-Im Bank has supported over $400 billion of U.S. exports, sustaining and creating millions of jobs.

One of the other important points is that it sustains and creates thousands and tens upon thousands of jobs, so jobs that are here, it helps to hold them.

It is a great supporter of small businesses, and that is one of the reasons I rise today, because my community, the 18th congressional district, is a community that thrives with small businesses and it is also a community in which I encourage small business to utilize services such as OPIC and Ex-Im Bank.

Ex-Im Bank authorized more than $1.6 billion in support of small business exports, nearly 18 percent of total dollar value of its authorization, and they supported $4 billion in exports during this same time. Ex-Im Bank's dedication to small businesses becomes even more dramatic when we look at the Ex-Im Bank's finance transactions for the year. Ex-Im Bank approved 2,124 small business transactions in fiscal year 2001, 90 percent of their total number of transactions.

That is why I would like to support and agree with the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) on the expanded help that this new legislation gives to small businesses, by giving them access to technology resources, giving more funding for technology resources to help small businesses. Then again, I appreciate the fact that there is language that prevents the dumping of foreign products in conflict to our laws, particularly with respect to the steel industry.

Let me just simply say, Mr. Chairman, that this is a bill that helps the continent of sub-Saharan Africa, also with greater investment for those countries. This is a bill that I believe will help create more jobs.

Might I just conclude by saying that I do believe the amendments by the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. DEFAZIO), the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH), the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS) and the gentleman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY) will be helpful in the debate and I will be rising to support those amendments as well.

Corporations that benefit from the Ex-Im Bank should not engage in corruption.

Mr. Chairman, I ask my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, it is my pleasure to yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. KELLY), a small businesswoman herself.

Mrs. KELLY. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Nebraska for yielding me this time.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support for H.R. 2871, the Export Import Bank Reauthorization Act. This legislation needs to be passed for one simple reason: saving U.S. jobs.

The core mission of the Ex-Im Bank is support for U.S. jobs. The bank does this by providing credit guarantees for U.S. exports deemed too risky by private lenders. In addition, Ex-Im will make loans, offer financing, and offer insurance on U.S.-made products.

In our global economy, companies must constantly be seeking new markets for our products, and our government must support these efforts, because it supports U.S. jobs. Unfortunately, we do not live in a world in which our trading partners play fair with U.S. businesses and our U.S. businesses must compete with nations which directly subsidize their competitors. In order to add some level of fairness, we created the Ex-Im Bank.

Last year, Ex-Im supported $12.5 billion of U.S. exports. In my area of New York, this translated to over $70 million, which benefited a total of 12 large and small businesses involving thousands of jobs in my district alone, and tens of thousands of jobs in New York State.

As we have heard today, 90 percent of the total number of Ex-Im Bank's transactions were in support of small businesses. This is good, but we must also work to increase the amount of funds which are used by small businesses. In this committee's review of the Ex-Im's performance, we determined that a greater effort must be made to increase the amount of funds which go to these small businesses. Hence, this legislation requires a 10 percent increase in the volume of funds going to small businesses, and that is good for our small businesses in the United States. Ex-Im Bank cannot stop there, however. We have challenged them to go even further.

I strongly support the committee's work to improve the operation of the Tied Aid Credit Program. I believe the changes the committee has made to this program in this bill will permit the program to operate more efficiently and effectively, while maintaining the coequal role of Ex-Im and the Treasury Department.

Ex-Im provides an invaluable service to U.S. workers. Many U.S. products and services would never have been able to find new buyers in the global marketplace without the assistance of the Ex-Im. The international market presents many new problems for the U.S. businesses that are seeking new opportunities, and we have to work to alleviate these problems for U.S. employers, or the incentives to move jobs overseas will only grow and the pressure will be strong. One way we ensure that more products bear the "made in the USA" label abroad is by supporting this legislation. I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support this legislation.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Texas (Mr. HINOJOSA).

Mr. HINOJOSA. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) for yielding me this time.

I rise in support of H.R. 2871, the Export Import Bank Reauthorization Act. As a businessman from the United States-Mexico border region, I know how important exports are to our economy and to businesses, both large and small and medium. The Export Import Bank has been an important partner in helping companies find foreign markets and to export their goods.

In the 15th congressional district of Texas that I represent, the Export-Import Bank has provided over $145 million of assistance in the form of loan guarantees, insurance, and working capital. Access to capital means expansion of business firms who create many jobs in neglected regions like mine where the unemployment rate was in double digits for over 3 decades.

The Export-Import Bank is partially responsible for helping reduce the rate from 20 percent to only 10.5 percent in Hidalgo County in south Texas. One company, for example, Hermes Trading Company in Pharr, Texas, is a small company that sells musical instruments. The assistance from the Ex-Im Bank has allowed them to expand their business into new markets, and they have doubled their sales. I agree with the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE), the ranking member, in his efforts to raise the level of awareness and importance of this important bank.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to support this bill and reauthorize the Export Import Bank.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HINOJOSA. I yield to the gentlewoman from Texas.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Chairman, the gentleman mentioned his community that the Export-Import Bank has impacted. I represent a district that has a large percentage of minority businesses and I have seen the impact there.

Does the gentleman believe that this legislation will help generate more opportunities for minority businesses?

Mr. HINOJOSA. Yes, Mr. Chairman, I agree with the gentlewoman. I can tell my colleague that in south Texas, three out of every four businesses are owned by minority businesses and they are benefitting a great deal from this bank.

□ 1115

My region is one of the areas that has grown 48 percent from 1990 to 2000, and has created, with the help of the bank and the Small Business Administration, the Women's Development Center, hundreds of new small businesses, creating four and five jobs in each one, and that is what is helping drive down the unemployment rate to my region.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I know the work the gentleman has done, and I think this new emphasis on small businesses will be very helpful to encourage our minority businesses to utilize this.

I do want to note that the President selected Eduardo Aguirre from my congressional community to be the chairperson, who has a sensitivity to expanding the outreach to small businesses.

I hope that, with the passage of this legislation, we will be able to do more outreach to small businesses and minority businesses to take advantage of helping to create this income trail, if you will, internationally. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. HINOJOSA. I thank the gentlewoman for helping us crystallize the importance of this bank in areas like ours, Houston, and, of course, San Antonio, and the Rio Grande valley of south Texas.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, it is my pleasure to yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Washington (Ms. DUNN), a member of the Subcommittee on Trade of the Committee on Ways and Means and a person very much involved in exports.

Ms. DUNN. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act. It is a vital program that helps United States exporters compete overseas.

For most United States companies, access to foreign markets is no longer an optional business practice, but it is a necessity in order to survive. To compete and succeed in a global market, U.S. companies must have access to financing resources.

This is exactly why the Export-Import Bank is very important to us. By providing guarantees, loans, and insurance to American companies, the Export-Import Bank helps to reduce the risks involved in exporting and ensure that our exporters have access to credits that may not be available in the private sector.

The Export-Import Bank helps both small and large businesses, as we have already heard in this debate. In 2001, 90 percent of the tax credits, representing 18 percent of the Ex-Im Bank's dollar volume, directly benefited small business; and in my State of Washington, Ex-Im Bank helped 56 small companies export $16.8 million in goods and services over the past 5 years.

Large exporters, like the Boeing Company in Washington State, also benefit from Export-Import Bank. Over the past 5 years, Boeing and its workers have benefited from $19.5 billion of loans for the sales of our aircraft overseas. Traditionally, half of the Boeing aircraft sales are for overseas customers, and this is a trend that will continue, if not increase, in the future.

Of the planes that are sold to foreign airlines, over 20 percent are financed by the Export-Import Bank. This program not only benefits Boeing, but it also benefits thousands of other United States companies that provide supplies and parts needed to manufacture commercial aircraft.

In a State like mine, where one out of three jobs are related to trade, the Ex-Im Bank is critical in keeping Puget Sound businesses competitive overseas while helping to create jobs, those jobs that are so dearly needed to stimulate our economic recovery.

I ask my colleagues to support this fine legislation to reauthorize the Ex-Im Bank.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, it is my pleasure to yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO), chairman of the Committee on Small Business and a member of the Committee on Financial Services, very much committed and interested in trade issues.

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Chairman, our Nation's small manufacturer exporters are hurting across the Nation. The main city in the district I represent, Rockford, Illinois, has an economy based on 35 percent manufacturing, double the average of most U.S. cities. They already experience thin profit margins from stiff foreign competition, both here at home and in markets abroad.

They have a problem with the strong American dollar; and in addition, those who use steel in their production now have to pay up to 30 percent more for the price of this raw material.

There are very few banks that extend international finance; and for those that do, credit standards have tightened over the past year. This is on top of the huge regulatory and tax burden that they already face.

Ex-Im Bank was one of the few government programs that actually serve small businesses. The number of small business exporters increased by more than three-fold between 1987 and 1999, going from 66,000 to 224,000. I am proud the Committee on Financial Services has greatly enhanced more of these loans that will be going to small businesses.

This is not just about money going directly to Boeing to help that company; but when money goes for Boeing aircraft, it goes to 60 subcontractors in the district that I represent that provide $232 million worth of goods and services. That is good news for the employees at Dip Seal Plastics; Wells Manufacturing; Eclipse, Incorporated; and Ipsen International.

There are also some new aspects of Ex-Im financing. United Parcel Service, which has the Midwest hub in Rockford, Illinois, owns a bank, and they are one of the largest volume dealers of export-import financing. UPS helps make the match between the foreign manufacturer and the American company. They do the documentation for financing, if necessary. They will do domestic financing and then factor in the international agreement. If international financing is necessary, they will provide the Ex-Im Bank. They do the collection, and then they do the transportation.

So the Ex-Im Bank provides a very useful tool by which small businesses across the Nation, especially those involved in manufacturing, really have the opportunity in this tremendous economy that we have. With regard to the challenges that face small business people, Ex-Im provides that opportunity to get involved in more exports.

I would respectfully request that the Members will take a look at what is going on with Ex-Im in their home districts and then vote to reauthorize the bill.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, it is my pleasure to yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. TOOMEY), who has taken an issue, a controversial issue, addressed it by amendment, and dramatically improved this bill.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. TOOMEY).

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. TOOMEY) is recognized for 4 minutes.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Chairman, I thank the distinguished gentlemen for yielding time to me. I also thank the full committee chairman and the full committee ranking member for their important work on this bill.

I really want to commend the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) for crafting a very good bill, making Export-Import Bank more accountable to taxpayers.

Specifically, I thank the gentleman from Nebraska for working with me to be sure Export-Import Bank does not reward foreign industries and companies that are in violation with U.S. trade law with money from the pockets of U.S. taxpayers.

As most of us appreciate, the domestic steel industry has simply been devastated by a global steel overcapacity. Since 1997, at least, perhaps further back, the domestic steel industry has been overwhelmed by a flood of imports. Foreign governments subsidize their steel production. That creates overcapacity, which in turn leads to a glut of steel on the international markets. That, of course, depresses prices; and the result has been devastating.

Nobody disputes that this has happened. Our own Commerce Department and the ITC have confirmed this, and the result has been that over 33 American steel companies have been forced into bankruptcy since 1997. Bethlehem Steel, headquartered in my district, filed Chapter 11 last year and joined that long list of companies devastated by this phenomenon.

Of course, the result of all these bankruptcies is an uncertain future, at best, for over 72,000 steelworkers, their communities, and their families. But it has also jeopardized the retirement security of hundreds of thousands of steel retirees, who are also dependent on the continued success of American steel companies for their health care benefits, for their pension. There are tens of thousands of such steel retirees in my district about whom I am very concerned.

Well, despite the recognized problem, widely acknowledged problem of global overcapacity, in early 2000, in the midst of this entire crisis Export-Import Bank granted a loan to a Chinese steel producer, which further increased by 1.5 million metric tons the world's excess steel capacity.

In taking this action, the Export-Import Bank ignored on-the-record objections from the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Commerce, the Steel Caucus, the entire steel industry. What this tax credit really amounted to was the Ex-Im Bank using American taxpayer dollars to subsidize a foreign company, making a serious American economic problem worse.

That is why I offered my amendment in the Committee on Financial Services, and I am delighted the committee adopted my amendment. The language is in this bill.

What the amendment is is a bipartisan, long-term solution to prevent a similar situation to that loan guarantee that went to the Benxi Iron and Steel Company from ever recurring in steel or any other industry. Specifically, it would prohibit the Export-Import Bank from extending loans to foreign companies that are in violation of U.S. trade law. It would do that by prohibiting the extension of financial assistance to an entity for the production of a product that is subject to a countervailing duty or antidumping order, and it would also prohibit the extension of a loan or guarantee to any entity subject to a definitive conclusion by the ITC under section 201 of our trade laws.

In other words, we would not grant loans to companies that are already proven to be violating U.S. laws and harming American industries.

I think this is a very balanced approach. We worked this out in the committee, discussed various ways of addressing the difficult and challenging issue. We have set a significant hurdle that has to be overcome before this prohibition would be invoked, and I think we have reached a very reasonable conclusion on this.

I appreciate the cooperation on both sides of the aisle, especially from the subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER). I would also like to thank the American Iron and Steel Institute, the United Steelworkers of America, and the Congressional Steel Caucus for their support of this provision.

Mr. Chairman, I include for the RECORD their letters of support, and I urge my colleagues to support this bill, because this does not merely extend authorization for the Export-Import Bank, but it makes substantive, positive reforms in that authorization.

I would like to commend my colleagues for a job well done.

The material referred to is as follows:

UNITED STEELWORKERS OF AMERICA,
Washington, DC, October 30, 2001.
HOUSE FINANCIAL SERVICES COMMITTEE,
U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE: The United Steelworkers of America wishes to express its support for an amendment to the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Bill which will be marked up in the Financial Services Committee tomorrow.

This amendment addresses a very serious issue which affects the economic recovery and viability of the America steel industry. First, the amendment would prohibit Ex-Im Bank loans and guarantees to companies found to be in violation of U.S. trade laws. Second, the amendment would prohibit any transaction which adds to the production of a product in oversupply where the U.S. government has determined that there is a glut of imports causing serious domestic injury.

In December, 2000, the Ex-Im Bank approved a loan guarantee for a project which will increase China's hot-rolled steel capacity at the Benxi Iron and Steel Company by 1.5 million metric tons. This action was taken by the Bank at a time when the Organization for Economic Co-Operation and Development (OECD) has found over 300 million tons of excess steelmaking capacity worldwide. China is already the largest steel producer in the world.

The American steel industry and our steelworkers are reeling from a collapse in domestic steel prices directly attributable to the flood of foreign steel being imported to the U.S., including foreign steel which has been "dumped" into the U.S. market in violation of our trade laws. Since 1998, 23 American steel companies have filed for bankruptcy. Six of these have ceased operations. Some 27,000 steelworkers have lost their jobs.

The Ex-Im Bank's loan to China is an example of gross insensitivity to the plight of American steel companies and steelworkers. We urge you to vote for the amendment when it comes up for a vote.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM J. KLINEFELTER,
Assistant to the President, Legislative and Political Director.

AMERICAN IRON AND STEEL INSTITUTE,
Washington, DC, September 19, 2001.

PLEASE SUPPORT THE TOOMEY AMENDMENT TO H.R. 2871, THE EXPORT-IMPORT REAUTHORIZATION BILL.

TO: MEMBERS OF THE SUBCOMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL MONETARY POLICY AND TRADE.

Background: In December 2000, the Export-Import Bank (EXIM) approved a loan guarantee for a project that will increase by 1.5 million tons the hot-rolled steel capacity of China. At a time of massive world steel overcapacity and crisis in the U.S. and world steel industry, EXIM made their decision—over the strong objection of the Commerce Department, many Members of Congress and the U.S. steel industry—to provide $18 million in official financing support. While ill-advised, misguided and almost certainly harmful to U.S. industry, the decision was technically permissible under the Bank's authorizing law and its rules of practice.

Situation: On Friday, September 21, the House Subcommittee on International Monetary Policy and Trade will be marking up H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Reauthorization Bill. Representative Pat Toomey (R-PA) will offer an amendment to establish reasonable and adequate safeguards to ensure that the EXIM take into account any serious adverse effect its loans and guarantees would have on U.S. industry and employment.

Argument: While the AISI position on steel project EXIM requests has been shaped by the crisis in the steel sector and by the role of world steel overcapacity in helping to cause the crisis, it is important to understand that AISI is not anti-EXIM. To the contrary, we have always supported—and we continue to support—the authorization and appropriation of adequate EXIM resources to help U.S. manufacturers compete worldwide. We do however have a recognized, persistent problem, which is massive world steel overcapacity, perpetuated and exacerbated by governments assistance for additional, unneeded steel capacity buildups. AISI cannot support taxpayer dollars being used to harm U.S. industry and employment.

Action Requested: Please support Rep. Toomey's amendment to be offered this Friday (September 21) at the Subcommittee markup of H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Reauthorization Bill. Please contact Gregg Richard in Rep. Toomey's Office (x5-6411) for more detailed information.

Thank you for your continued support on behalf of the American steel industry.

ANDREW G. SHARKEY III,
President and CEO.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 15 seconds.

Mr. Chairman, just one clarification or point for emphasis. The credit instruments of the Export-Import Bank can only go to American exporters in any case; but in the case of the Benxi Steel, the kind of assistance that went to an American exporter ended up helping Benxi Steel. That is something the gentleman's amendment has stopped for all time.

Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. ROHRBACHER), a distinguished member of the House who may have a different view on this.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. ROHRBACHER).

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from California (Mr. ROHRBACHER) is recognized for 3 minutes.

Mr. ROHRBACHER. Yes, I do, Mr. Chairman, have a different view. I rise in strong opposition to reauthorizing the Export-Import Bank.

We in Congress have had little hesitation to get ordinary American citizens off of welfare after 5 years, but we cannot seem to get our biggest corporations off of welfare after 5 years. We authorize the Export-Import Bank.

We just heard an example a moment ago of how our tax dollars were going to destroy American jobs. The last time we reauthorized the Export-Import Bank, we were told that was impossible, that is not what is going on; we are actually subsidizing exports of American goods, and we were not putting people out of work.

Surprise, surprise. After all these years, we find out right here in the debate an example of how Export-Import money has eliminated U.S. jobs. Let me contend that that will still go on and go on.

We keep hearing that the money is going to be going to small businesses, and that never changes. Apparently only 18 percent of the Export-Import Bank loans go to small businesses, or their funds go to small businesses.

Time Magazine suggests that the top five recipients of the Export-Import Bank subsidies receive 60 percent of all funds. Just to let Members know, of those five major recipients, they, in total, have reduced their workforce by 38 percent over the last decade.

Now, why is that? That is because much of the money that we are being told is creating jobs here, that is not creating jobs here. What we are doing is subsidizing and guaranteeing loans for American businesses to set up factories in other countries. That is what is going on.

Many of these loans about so-called selling our own products end up with little clauses in them. They say, yes, we will buy your product, and the Export-Import Bank will actually subsidize it or guarantee the loan, but you are going to have to, in order to sell us the product, build a factory in our country. This is common practice.

So what do we have here? We have a situation where, in the name of selling vacuum cleaners or whatever it is to a country like China, we end up subsidizing the creation of a vacuum factory in China.

And then what do they do? They do not sell those vacuums, by the way, just in China. They end up exporting them to the United States and putting our people out of work. And we just heard an example of how that was happening just a few moments ago by a proponent of this legislation. But that has all been cleared up now. That has not been cleared up. You can mark my words that has not been cleared up. Five years from now we will find lots of other examples of just that very same thing, maybe not the steel industry but other industries.

Come on. It is time to realize that when the government starts giving away money in terms of subsidies and loan guarantees, you are going to have very wealthy and powerful interests manipulating that for their own benefit. And that is what is happening with the Export-Import Bank. Yes, there are a few little guys who get help but the vast majority of funds, not the vast majority of loans, goes to the very wealthiest corporations to create jobs overseas. I am against the Export-Import Bank. Let us not reauthorize it.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, how much time is remaining?

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) has 13½ minutes remaining.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER).

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the gentleman's courtesy in permitting me to speak on this bill.

Mr. Chairman, I take modest exception with my colleague from California. Over time the majority of the loans have gone to small business, but at issue for me is not small business, large business, it is whether or not we are going to be able to help American companies penetrate difficult markets around the world. I have had an example in my own community.

We have a company, a freight liner, that is the largest manufacturer of heavy trucks in the country. It employs all union employees, primarily machinists. They are paid family wages in order to do their work. But they are undergoing tough times in Oregon. They have been involved with significant layoffs. They have benefitted from a loan from the Ex-Im Bank to be able to transact a shipment of 10 trucks to Chile, it would not have happened without that loan. It would have gone to somebody else. It kept people in my community working and it helped us penetrate the market.

There are lots of subsidies that we know around the world. In fact, that is one of the problems that American companies face as they attempt to compete internationally, that other countries have subtle ways of subsidizing activities for other companies. This is a way for us to be able to give access to capital for American companies going into tough markets to be able to secure their place in the market place. I would rather, frankly, have the Chinese dealing with Boeing than Airbus. I understand that there is some difficult issues that are going on there.

I listen to some of my friends from the other side of this issue, but it is pretty stark. We are going to be a lot worse off if we are not able to penetrate those markets around the world. I strongly urge that we reauthorize the Ex-Im Bank.

I hope that each year as we come up with issues here that raise questions, there are areas of refinements. I think we ought to increase their sensitivity in terms of the application of those loans to the environment, to worker rights, to be able to make sure that we are targeting where we want it the most. But the Ex-Im Bank, OPIC, these are tools that have made a difference in my community. I have seen it for small and medium size businesses, I have seen it for large businesses that are struggling, when we are trying to compete around the world when we are facing some difficult economic times at home. This is not the time to turn our back on it. I strongly urge support for the legislation.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Texas (Mr. PAUL), a member of the committee.

(Mr. PAUL asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding me time.

Mr. Chairman, we are here today to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank, but it has nothing to do with a bank, do not mislead anybody. This has to do with an agency of the government that allocates credit to special interests and to the benefit of foreign entities. So it is not a bank in that sense. To me it is immoral in the fact that it takes from some who cannot defend themselves to give to the rich who get the benefits. And I just do not see that as being a very good function and a very good program for the U.S. Congress. Besides, I would like to see where somebody gives me the constitutional authority for doing what we do here and we have been doing, of course, for a long time.

But I do not want to talk about the immorality of this so-called bank or the unconstitutionality of it. I want to talk just a second or two about the economics of it. It is really bad economics. It is pointed that it helps a company here or there, but what it has never talked about what you do not see. This is credit allocation.

In order to take billions of dollars and give it to one single company, it is taken out of the pool of funds available. And nobody talks about that. There is an expense. Why would not a bank loan when it is guaranteed by the government? Because it is guaranteed. So if you are a smaller investor or a marginal investor, there is no way that you are going to get the loan. For that investor to get the loan, the interest rates have to be higher.

So it is a form of credit allocation, and it is also a form of protectionism. We do a lot of talk around here about free trade. Of course, there is a lot of tariff activity going on as well, but this is a form of protectionism. Because some argue, well, this company has to compete and another government subsidizes their company so, therefore, we have to compete. So it is competitive subsidization of special interest corporations in order to do this.

Now, it seems strange that we here in the Congress are willing to give the beneficiary China the most number of dollars. They qualify for nearly $6 billion worth of credits. And that just does not seem like the reasonable thing for us to do. So I strongly urge a no vote on this bill.

Mr. Chairman, Congress should reject H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Reauthorization Act, for economic, constitutional, and moral reasons. The Export-Import Bank (Eximbank) takes money from American taxpayers to subsidize exports by American companies. Of course, it is not just any company that receives Eximbank support; the majority of Eximbank funding benefit large, politically powerful corporations.

Enron provides a perfect example of how Eximbank provides politically-powerful corporations competitive advantages they could not obtain in the free market. According to journalist Robert Novak, Enron has received over $640 million in taxpayer-funded "assistance" from Eximbank. This taxpayer-provided largesse no doubt helped postpone Enron's inevitable day of reckoning.

Eximbank's use of taxpayer funds to support Enron is outrageous, but hardly surprising. The vast majority of Eximbank funds benefit Enron-like outfits that must rely on political connections and government subsidies to survive and/or multinational corporations who can afford to support their own exports without relying on the American taxpayer.

It is not only bad economics to force working Americans, small business, and entrepreneurs to subsidize the export of the large corporations: it is also immoral. In fact, this redistribution from the poor and middle class to the wealthy is the most indefensible aspect of the welfare state, yet it is the most accepted form of welfare. Mr. Speaker, it never ceases to amaze me how members who criticize welfare for the poor on moral and constitutional grounds see no problem with the even more objectionable programs that provide welfare for the rich.

The moral case against Eximbank is strengthened when one considers that the government which benefits most from Eximbank funds is communist China. In fact, Eximbank actually underwrites joint ventures with firms owned by the Chinese government! Whatever one's position on trading with China, I would hope all of us would agree that it is wrong to force taxpayers to subsidize in any way this brutal regime. Unfortunately, China is not an isolated case: Colombia and Sudan benefit from taxpayer-subsidized trade, courtesy of the Eximbank!

At a time when the Federal budget is going back into deficit and Congress is once again preparing to raid the Social Security and Medicare trust funds, does it really make sense to use taxpayer funds to benefit future Enrons, Fortune 500 companies, and communist China?

Proponents of continued American support for the Eximbank claim that the bank "creates jobs" and promotes economic growth. However, this claim rests on a version of what the great economist Henry Hazlitt called, the "broken window" fallacy. When a hoodlum throws a rock through a store window, it can be said he has contributed to the economy, as the store owner will have to spend money having the window fixed. The benefits to those who repaired the window are visible for all to see, therefore it is easy to see the broken window as economically beneficial. However, the "benefits" of the broken window are revealed as an illusion when one takes into account what is not seen: the businesses and workers who would have benefited had the store owner not spent money repairing a window, but rather had been free to spend his money as he chose.

Similarly, the beneficiaries of Eximbank are visible to all. What is not seen is the products that would have been built, the businesses that would have been started, and the jobs that would have been created had the funds used for the Eximbank been left in the hands of consumers.

Some supporters of this bill equate supporting Eximbank with supporting "free trade," and claim that opponents are "protectionists" and "isolationists." Mr. Chairman, this is nonsense, Eximbank has nothing to do with free trade. True free trade involves the peaceful, voluntary exchange of goods across borders, not forcing taxpayers to subsidize the exports of politically powerful companies. Eximbank is not free trade, but rather managed trade, where winners and losers are determined by how well they please government bureaucrats instead of how well they please consumers.

Expenditures on the Eximbank distort the market by diverting resources from the private sector, where they could be put to the use most highly valued by individual consumers, into the public sector, where their use will be determined by bureaucrats and politically powerful special interests. By distorting the market and preventing resources from achieving their highest valued use, Eximbank actually costs Americans jobs and reduces America's standard of living!

Finally, Mr. Chairman, I would like to remind my colleagues that there is simply no constitutional justification for the expenditure of funds on programs such as Eximbank. In fact, the drafters of the Constitution would be horrified to think the Federal Government was taking hard-earned money from the American people in order to benefit the politically powerful.

In conclusion, Mr. Chairman, Eximbank distorts the market by allowing government bureaucrats to make economic decisions in place of individual consumers. Eximbank also violates basic principles of morality, by forcing working Americans to subsidize the trade of wealthy companies that could easily afford to subsidize their own trade, as well as subsidizing brutal governments like Red China and the Sudan. Eximbank also violates the limitations on congressional power to take the property of individual citizens and use it to benefit powerful special interests. It is for these reasons that I urge my colleagues to reject H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I yield 4 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from New York (Mrs. MALONEY).

Mrs. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Chairman, I thank the ranking member from the great State of New York for giving me the time and for his leadership on this important bill.

Mr. Chairman, after a successfully passing two 30-day reauthorizations of the Ex-Im Bank in the last month, I am pleased to rise today to support the reauthorization of the Ex-Im Bank through 2005.

As my colleagues have stated, the Export-Import Bank is a successful government entity that facilitates and supports American business and worker interest by making exports possible to areas of the world that would otherwise be closed to U.S. companies. Through its loan guarantee, insurance and direct lending programs, the Ex-Im Bank supported over $15.5 billion in U.S. exports on a subsidy of $759 million in fiscal year 2000.

While a small fraction of U.S. exports, the bank acts very much as a lender of last resort supporting U.S. exports and U.S. jobs that otherwise would fail to, would go to foreign competitors. The Ex-Im allows U.S. exporters to match competition from foreign export credit agencies. Japan, Germany, France, Canada, and other countries. This support is especially critical in today's global economy which is increasingly dependent on trade.

While the bank is a proven success, the changes in the reauthorization will make a positive impacts on its future. The reauthorization contains new provisions ensuring that Ex-Im complies with U.S. anti-dumping and countervailing duty laws. It includes an amendment I offered in the Committee on Financial Services giving the bank explicit authority to turn down an application for Ex-Im bank support for companies that have a history of engaging and fraudulent business practices. The reauthorization also continues the banks commitment to small business and to working with African countries.

Across the country, Ex-Im Bank support goes to businesses both large and small. In my district, the bank has supported over 70 different businesses with exports valued at over $1 billion since 1995. The work of the Ex-Im Bank is highly complex, and shepherding this reauthorization to the House floor has proven very challenging. I want to compliment the leaders of the Committee on Financial Services for moving the bill to this point today.

The ranking member, the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) has been an extremely thoughtful and effective leader on the Democratic side. My good friend and subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BERREUTER) and his staff likewise have worked tremendously hard to produce this bill today.

In the hearings we heard testimony from the bank, the business community, labor and environmental organizations. The final product that we are considering today benefitted from all of this input and puts the bank on solid footing for the next 4 years. I further appreciate the work in making sure is that we have a fair rule today, that the Republican party did allow important amendments from the ranking member, the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS) and the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH). I believe that that is fair and I support the rule and I support the bill.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair would announced that the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) has 2¼ minutes remaining. The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) has 7 minutes remaining.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. GARY G. MILLER) a distinguished member of the committee.

Mr. GARY G. MILLER of California. Mr. Chairman, I would like to acknowledge the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) for his efforts on H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act.

Mr. Chairman, in my opinion, many government programs do not work. However, that is not the case with the Export-Import Bank. Specifically, the Export-Import Bank benefits California. During the fiscal years 1996 to 2000, 722 California companies benefitted, 225 communities benefitted. The value of exports was $8.5 billion from California and there were 120,403 jobs sustained.

Some try to make you believe this only benefits large businesses but that is not the fact. 72 percent of the transactions benefitted small businesses and those are nice figures but let us put a face on those figures.

ZMG Enterprises in Walnut, California owned by Mr. Joe Gomez is a longstanding user of the bank's short term multi-buyer insurance policy to cover to sale of nearly $11 million in annual sales of canned vegetables, fruits and table sauces, primarily to Mexico. Mexico has benefitted on this and we have because our products are going there. Mexico has been a traditional COD country, and the insurance policy backed by the bank enables Mr. Gomez to offer short-term credit to Mexican supermarkets so the grocers can purchase more of his products in a single sale.

That benefits small businesses. And there is an old saying that I really believe in and it boils down to the simple fact that when you help small businesses, you help American.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to make about three points in reference to comments that have been made by members in opposition.

First of all, there is no credit assistance extended by the Ex-Im Bank to a foreign country. They are extended only to American exporters. It happens, in fact, that we have huge market potential in China, so a large number of our people want to export to China, and the kind of products that can be exported is controlled under the Export Administration Act.

Secondly, I would note that 86 percent of all transactions go to small and medium-sized businesses. That is about 18 percent of the total financial assistance from its Ex-Im Bank and we are pushing them to do more and they will.

Finally, I want to say, the gentleman from California (Mr. ROHRBACHER) has kind of turned the argument on the Ex-Im Bank purposes on its head either unintentionally or cleverly. American and other countries' corporations are really footloose today. What this legislation does is give an incentive to Americans to continue to produce the exports here. Instead of moving plants and jobs abroad, they will continue to have an opportunity, under the Export-Import Bank, to compete with foreign countries for those exports and that will keep American jobs here, not send them abroad. It will help keep them here.

We reduce the incentives for American firms to export part of their operations abroad by the passage of this legislation. I ask for my colleagues to give this bill a strong vote of support.

Re: House action on H.R. 2871, Ex-Im Bank Reauthorization

Hon. DOUG BEREUTER,
2184 RHOB, Washington, DC.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE BEREUTER: As the House prepares to consider H.R. 2871, to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank, we write to reiterate our strong support for the Bank. Our collective members include many of the U.S. exporters and financial institutions that rely on the Bank as the lender of last resort in meeting the fierce competition for export opportunities in world markets. In FY 2001 alone, the Bank financed some 2,300 export transactions, 90 percent of which were for small and medium-sized firms.

Ex-Im Bank plays a crucial role in supporting the export of American-made goods and American-provided services in markets where commercial financing is difficult to obtain and when foreign competitors have the active support of their governments' export credit agencies. In 2000 alone, the most active export credit agencies worldwide financed more than $500 billion in exports. Ex-Im Bank financed $15.5 billion in U.S. exports that year.

To deal with this increasingly aggressive foreign competition, H.R. 2871 would authorize the Bank to respond to new export financing programs offered by foreign governments, including so-called "market windows". The bill also provides the Bank with clear authority to use the tied-aid war chest to respond aggressively to foreign governments' use of foreign assistance to supplement their export credit activities (so-called "tied-aid").

It is important to note that Ex-Im charges risk-based interest, premiums and other fees for its loans, loan guarantees and insurance. These fees are paid by exporters, banks and overseas customers. Last year, the Bank's revenues generated a $1 billion net income for the U.S. government. Moreover, the Bank maintains some $10 billion in reserves to protect against the risk of loss. The Bank's conservative lending policies and aggressive loss-recovery efforts have resulted in a very low 1.9 percent historical loss rate.

Amendments of concern

Two amendments may be offered which, in our judgement, would impede the ability of U.S. exporters to effectively utilize the Bank, thus weakening the Bank's programs and causing a loss of U.S. exports and the jobs of American workers. We urge you to oppose these amendments if offered during House floor action:

(1) Rep. Sanders may offer an amendment to deny Ex-Im Bank financing for U.S. companies that are growing internationally. It would make the Bank completely unusable for any U.S. exporter that is succeeding in world markets. The proposal runs contrary to U.S. trade policy and market-based economic growth. It would make no sense for the Congress to seek open world markets, but then deny U.S. firms access to one of the key tools to take advantage of these new opportunities. Since Ex-Im Bank only finances U.S.-origin goods and services, shutting off the Bank would only result in making the Bank less effective in creating and keeping U.S. jobs here at home.

(2) Rep. Schakowsky may offer an amendment to require a human rights assessment of about 600 export transactions supported by the Bank annually. This proposal is unnecessary because the Export-Import Bank Act already includes a procedure under which the Bank relies on the U.S. State Department for human rights analysis. The amendment would require the Bank to establish an unnecessary new bureaucracy that would duplicate the long-established State Department human rights office. The amendment would require U.S. exporters to submit any proposed transaction over $10 million to a costly and time-consuming notice and comment period, which inevitably would lead to the loss of export sales to our foreign competitors. The current, long-established, process works well to ensure that human rights issues are analyzed by the State Department's experts and included in the Bank's consideration of export transactions.

We urge the House to approve H.R. 2871 and to oppose amendments that would weaken the Bank and impede U.S. exports.

Re: Support H.R. 2871, Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act

As the House prepares to consider H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act, we write to urge you to vote for the bill and oppose any amendments that would impede the Bank's ability to assist American exports. The Export-Import Bank is vitally important to our members that finance the sale of U.S. products and services for their exporter customers.

The Export-Import Bank supports only American-made goods and American-supplied services. It is one of the few tools available to help sustain export-related jobs in the United States. Without the Export-Import Bank, the ability of U.S. companies to compete for export sales would be reduced.

Our exporter customers need the Export-Import Bank because overseas companies and banks are aggressively using their export credit agencies to take sales from the United States. Every major trading nation has a government export credit agency. Those agencies together issue more than $500 billion a year in export financing. By contrast, the U.S. Export-Import Bank is small, supporting only $12-15 billion a year in U.S. exports.

The Export-Import Bank is a fee-for-service agency. Fees and interest are paid for the Export-Import Bank support. In the last two years, the Export-Import's revenues have generated a net $1.3 billion surplus for the U.S. Treasury. The Bank has a very low 1.9 percent historical loss rate and has $10 billion in reserves to protect the U.S. taxpayer.

Please support passage of H.R. 2871 so Congress can complete the reauthorization of the Export-Import Bank and help thousands of exporters compete on a more level playing field in world markets.

Mr. RANGEL, Mr. Chairman, H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Reauthorization Act, strengthens an important tool to promote U.S. exports and U.S. jobs. By law, the Export-Import Bank finances only exports made in the United States. In other words, the Bank supports American jobs. Last year, the Bank supported $12.5 billion in U.S. exports, which in turn supported tens of thousands of American jobs. In the 67 years of its existence, the Bank has supported more than $400 billion of U.S. exports and the hundreds of thousands of jobs that depend on those exports.

I would like to note my support for many of the important provisions in the reauthorization. First, I am pleased to see the substantial increase in the Bank's aggregate loan, guarantee, and insurance authority. Second, I am particularly happy to see the new provisions creating an Office of Africa within the Bank to promote exports to sub-Saharan Africa. The Export-Import Bank's role in recent years in strengthening the role and expanding the opportunities for U.S. business in sub-Saharan Africa, particularly in the wake of passage in 2000 of the African Growth and Opportunity Act, has been critical. Third, I am pleased to see the required increases in the Bank's lending to small businesses, which often have difficulty accessing foreign markets.

The Export-Import Bank is also important to help U.S. companies compete abroad. The export banks in many other countries—including Canada, the European countries, and Japan—often provide much higher levels of assistance to exporters from those countries. If U.S. firms and their workers did not have the Export-Import Bank, they would be at a real disadvantage when competing in the international marketplace. Moreover, the Export-Import Bank does its job efficiently. It is a fee-for-service agency. In the last two years, the Bank's revenues have generated a net $1.3 billion surplus for the U.S. Treasury.

In conclusion, the Export-Import Bank helps American exports and it helps American jobs. We can debate about whether or not there are some things wrong with U.S. trade policy, but the Export-Import Bank is not one of them. I support its activities and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. BLUMENAUER, Mr. Chairman, one of my priorities in Congress is strengthening the economies of my community and of nations around the world. By supporting HR 2897, I support an institution that provides assistance to businesses who often operate in riskier markets where financing is not available from private banks.

The Bank has a strong record of supporting U.S. businesses. In FY2001, Export-Import Bank (Ex-Im Bank) supported over $12.5 billion in U.S. exports to markets worldwide. Some critics argue that these loans primarily benefited large multinational corporations, however, in reality the majority of the Bank's transactions—9 out of 10—benefited small businesses.

The fact is that each year more than 2,000 American companies—large, medium, and small—in almost every state utilize Ex-Im Bank services. One of these small businesses in my district is Oxix International, Inc.—a manufacturer of medical diagnostic equipment used to test levels of therapeutic drugs in the blood. Oxix used Ex-Im Bank's multibuyer short-term insurance policy for almost five years, and the company's exports grew from one-third to approximately one-half of sales. According to Jon Pitcher, chief financial officer of Oxix International, Inc. "As a result of using Ex-Im Bank's insurance policy, we have been able to increase our sales, and these exports are now the fastest-growing part of our business."

In another instance, Pacific/Hoe Saw and Knife Company of Portland, a manufacturer of saw blades, industrial saws, and wholesale sawmill equipment, has used Ex-Im Bank's multibuyer short-term (up to 180 days) insurance policy for 10 years to increase sales to South America, Africa, Asia, Australia, and New Zealand. Following this successful trend, last September Portland's Calbag Metal Company recently paid off their $50 million loan to the Ex-Im bank on schedule. Finally Freightliner LLC—a heavy-duty truck manufacturer that employs 14,000 people—benefited from a guarantee that made it possible for Freightliner to transport ten trucks to Santiago, Chile where they were sold. The prices for these trucks would have likely been undercut, the trucks never shipped, and the jobs associated with building the trucks never allocated, if Ex-Im Bank did not assist Freightliner.

Overall, the past five years Ex-Im Bank has supported $190 million in exports for companies like Freightliner, Oxix, Calbag Metals, Pacific/Hoe Saw and Knife Company that are based in Oregon. A closure of the bank would feasibly reduce these companies' exports, jeopardize the jobs that are associated with those sales, and make them unable to counter export financing packages provided by foreign governments to their own exporters.

I withhold my support of the Sanders Amendment. This provision naively assumes that firms produce only one product when in reality many corporations produce a variety of products that affect employment levels across product lines in different ways. Because Freightliner, for example, is a subsidiary of DaimlerChrysler, the amendment would make Freightliner ineligible for Bank funding if a greater percentage of their truck machinists are laid off in Portland than those who build Mercedes-Benz's in Brazil. Clearly the semi-truck market and the luxury automobile market are not related and should not be irrationally penalized.

I urge my colleagues to support the overall bill. It helps strengthen American businesses, create jobs, and improve critical trade relations with foreign markets.

Mr. WATTS of Oklahoma, Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of H.R. 2871 the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act. I would like to commend Mr. OXLEY, the Chairman of the Financial Services Committee, and Mr. LAFALCE, the Ranking Member, and also the sponsor, Mr. BEREUTER, for crafting a bill that reauthorizes the Export-Import Bank, with several significant improvements, and thereby enhances American competitiveness in the global marketplace.

It is our responsibility in the U.S. Congress to foster an environment where business, and therefore the nation's economy, can flourish. The importance of foreign trade to the U.S. economy and its impact on American jobs is clear. The Export-Import Bank plays a critical role in enabling our businesses to compete more effectively overseas. In fact, according to USA Exports, a Coalition for Employment through Exports, "Ex-Im Bank returns to the U.S. economy an average of $18 of export value for every $1 appropriated by the U.S. Congress—a true "bang for the buck."

One element of this bill that I strongly support is the emphasis on small business. Small business is the major job creator in America, and it is where minorities and women are making their greatest economic advances. In Oklahoma we call Small Business—Big Business. Enabling such companies to engage in foreign trade benefits the nation.

In addition, Mr. Chairman, I strongly support the provision to create an Office for Africa at the Export-Import Bank. Africa faces daunting challenges. But during my two trips to the region last year, with representatives of more than 30 U.S. companies, under the auspices of the Trade-Aid Coalition, we witnessed significant efforts in several countries to build an economic infrastructure. This foundation is essential to future growth, and is based on their evolving appreciation for the principles of open markets, free trade, and private enterprise. Fostering this appreciation is the goal of the Trade-Aid Coalition. And the efforts of U.S. business, supported by the Export-Import Bank, to trade with these nations reinforce these positive developments.

I do understand that there is not unanimous agreement on all aspects of this bill. It is my understanding that the current bill language would remove the Treasury Department's ability to direct how funds for the Tied Aid War Chest should be used. The Treasury Department has used the Tied Aid War Chest since 1986 to successfully reduce subsidies by other governments.

This has saved taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars and has helped increase U.S. exports by an average of over $1 billion dollars a year. It is my understanding that the Senate bill preserves the Treasury's role in using the Tied Aid War Chest. I would urge that in conference we find a satisfactory compromise that protects the interests of U.S. taxpayers and does not undermine the Treasury's ability to fight foreign subsidies or other trade distorting measures.

Mr. Chairman, as our nation adjusts to a changing world after September 11th, we face two inescapable facts: First, we must focus on economic security, by working to ensure a strong economy that creates jobs for the American people. Second, we must reach out to developing nations across the globe, often beset by forces of terror, and demonstrate how free markets, open trade, and private enterprise under the rule of law can lead to prosperity for their citizens. Our national security improves when global stability prevails.

Reauthorizing the Export-Import Bank helps accomplish both of these goals, and I encourage my colleagues to vote "yes."

Ms. VELAZQUEZ. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization act of 2001.

When people think of American exports, most think of the cars, computers, machinery and agricultural products made by major American corporations. But this perception is only part of the reality. Just as small businesses set the pace for the American economy, they also are pioneers in international trade.

In fact, 88 percent of American exporters are small businesses with fewer than 100 employees. That statistic, while impressive, does not tell the whole story. The Department of Commerce also estimates that only 2 percent of small manufacturers with export potential actually engage in trade. Clearly, a great potential for expanding trade opportunities exists with the many small businesses that may want to export but are intimidated by those prospects.

The Export-Import Bank is one of the most powerful tools that we have for growing the number of small business exporters. The export loans and insurance programs provided by the Ex-Im Bank help to reduce both anxiety and economic risk for potential small business exporters.

Since the Bank was established in 1945, it has supported billions of dollars in small business exports. Last year, the Bank supported $1.6 billion in small business exports in 2,124 transactions. This represented almost 18 percent of the total export loan volume and over 90 percent of total trade transactions. More importantly, the Bank supported over $32 million in exports by women-owned businesses and $34 million in exports by minority-owned businesses.

While these are impressive achievements, more can—and should—be done. The bill that we are considering this afternoon is a step in the right direction. It would increase the target for small business loan volume from 10 percent to 20 percent and create an office within the Bank that is dedicated to making small business loans. Lastly, H.R. 2871 would authorize an additional $1 million to increase its small business marketing activities.

Ex-Im Bank has had great success marketing its programs to small businesses. This bill will go even further by recognizing those gains while providing the Bank with a renewed small business emphasis and additional resources to expand this mission.

While this bill will go a long way to increasing the Bank's focus on small business exporters, it is only one step in the right direction. We need to work with the Bank to improve service on small business transactions.

Small businesses are particularly sensitive to delays in closing deals. A three-week delay in obtaining transaction financing can be the difference between a successful sale and a missed opportunity. Through the creation of a small business office in the Bank, we will need to continue to monitor how well small business needs are met.

To this end, we will need to harmonize the Capital Guarantee programs of both the Ex-Im Bank and the Small Business Administration. There is no reason that these programs, which can operate as one, should be crushed by the weight of different rules, applications, uses, and lenders. Two similar but competing programs only will confuse the small business exporter. In the coming year, I hope to resolve the twin problems of expedited service and harmonization of the capital guarantee programs.

I appreciate the opportunity to speak in favor of this important legislation. It is hard to underestimate the impact that small businesses have in both the domestic and international marketplace, and this bill is a huge leap in the right direction toward supporting further small business participation in the global marketplace.

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 2871, the Export-Import (Ex-Im) Bank Reauthorization Act. As a senior member of the House Financial Services Committees, I believe we need to act to ensure that Ex-Im bank can continue to operate to ensure the U.S. companies can export their products and services to foreign countries. I believe that this legislation is necessary to ensure the American companies enjoy the same export financing that other nations provide for their companies.

In 2000, the Ex-Im bank helped to provide $12.6 billion in loans, guarantees, and insurance for the export of the U.S.-made goods and services which is equal to approximately 2 percent of U.S. exports annually. In my congressional district, the Ex-Im bank has helped to finance more than $130 million in projects during the past five years. I am particularly pleased that this financing has helped many small businesses in my district to sell their products and services to foreign nations. For example, Hickham Industries in LaPorte, Texas is using an Ex-Im bank loan and guarantees to sell $226,000 worth of their products to other nations. I also believe it is important to highlight that none of these financial mechanisms are available through our capital markets. By law, the Ex-Im bank is the leader of last resort, when no other commercial entity will help with a project.

I also want to highlight several reforms included in this legislation to improve the Ex-Im Bank. For instance, this legislation would establish an Office of Small Business Exporters so small businesses could go directly to one location within the Ex-Im bank to explore financing options. This Office would be required to conduct outreach to small businesses. In addition, this bill requires the Ex-Im bank to provide at least 8 percent of their financing to small businesses with less than 100 employees and encourages the Ex-Im bank to increase its percentage of small business transactions from 10 percent to 20 percent. In addition, this legislation direct the Ex-Im bank to make certain technology improvements so small businesses can better access information about the Ex-Im bank using the Internet and other technologies.

This measure also included critically important provisions to ensure that Ex-Im bank financing is not used in industries which are subject to a countervailing duty or anti-dumping duty under U.S. trade laws. We must ensure that the taxpayers funds are not used to supersede our trade laws. This bill also encourages the Ex-Im bank to evaluate whether a nation has been helpful in our efforts to eradicate terrorism. I believe that all of these reforms will enhance the Ex-Im bank.

By targeting financing gaps and officially supported competition, the Ex-Im Bank supports export sales that otherwise could not move forward. These export sales expand employment in sectors where jobs are among the highest paid in the country, and has an important effect on the overall strength of our economy. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation which helps to create jobs and expands the markets for U.S.-made products.

Mr. ROUKENA. Mr. Chairman, I have been a strong supporter of the Ex-Im Bank since coming to Congress in 1981. The Bank plays a very significant role in US trade policy. It ensures that US businesses will not be denied access to overseas markets because of market imperfections that prevent them from obtaining financing from the private sector or because of unfair competition from foreign export agencies. Ex-Im has initiated thousands of transactions in foreign markets that commercial banks deem too risky to enter. Because of the Ex-Im, U.S. businesses export more goods and develop new and stronger trading relationships abroad. More intense need now in our global income and with Trade Promotion Authority currently ready for authorization.

The world of finance and the international trading system are changing fast. Other countries are finding more sophisticated ways of assisting their exporters and new financing mechanisms are being developed. Instead of placing restrictions on the Ex-Im and cutting its funding, we should be working to enhance the banks capabilities to assist business abroad by making sure they have the tools necessary to assist US exporters in this changing global economy.

In fiscal year 2001 Ex-Im Bank financed nearly $12.5 billion of US exports world wide which supported millions of US jobs. Nearly 90 percent of Ex-Im Bank's transaction in fiscal year 2001 was on behalf of small businesses.

In New Jersey alone, the Ex-Im Bank has supported over 214 companies and 138 communities. It is estimated that over 44,974 jobs are sustained by Ex-Im efforts. For example, JB Williams Company located in Glen Rock, New Jersey, is a small, 45-employee manufacturer of specialty soaps and bath products that has been using Ex-Im Bank's short-term export credit insurance sine 1998 to expand its exports to Saudi Arabia, Poland, Korea, Colombia, and other countries.

H.R. 2871, the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act of 2001, extends the charter of the U.S. Export-Import Bank for 4 years and creates offices on Small Business Exporters and on Africa within the Bank. The legislation also increases the value of transactions that the Bank can hold in its portfolio at any time, raises the percentage of small business transactions the Bank should pursue, and improves the operation of the Tied Aid Credit Program. This measure further mandates that the Bank take into consideration U.S. trade laws when considering a transaction, examine whether a recipient company has been involved in any corrupt practices prior to a transaction's approval, and assess whether a country has been helpful or unhelpful in U.S. efforts to combat terrorism.

The Financial Services Committee authorized an increase in the administrative expenses of Ex-Im to $80 million adjusted annually for inflation. This budgetary increase was deemed necessary for Ex-Im to retain qualified staff, to improve its technology infrastructure and increase outreach to small businesses. The mandate for small business activity will be raised from 10 percent to 20 percent of the total value of Ex-Im transactions, with 8 percent of the total going to businesses with less than 100 employees. H.R. 2871 also raises the level of total Ex-Im portfolio (loans guarantees, and insurance) outstanding at any one time from the current level of $75 billion to $130 billion by FY 2005.

Consistent with and supplemental to the trade bills we have "Fast Track" better known as Trade Promotion Authority.

The Ex-Im Bank improves America's competitiveness overseas promotes small business and creates and sustains U.S. jobs. I urge my colleagues to support HR 2871, the Export Import Bank Reauthorization Act.

Mr. SHAYS. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of reauthorizing the Export-Import Bank.

Exports are an extremely vital part of our nation's economic well-being. The Export-Import Bank is a relatively modest investment that promotes U.S. businesses abroad and creates jobs back home.

With financing moving across borders faster and faster and more frequently than at any time in history, and with every corner of the world touched by globalization, Ex-Im helps U.S. businesses stay connected to emerging markets they would otherwise have difficulty reaching.

For a variety of reasons, from currency devaluation to political instability, U.S. firms find it difficult to secure financing for these markets. Private-sector lenders, perceiving a risk, are oftentimes reluctant to provide long-term financing to emerging markets and to support small business exports. This is unfortunate because nearly 90 percent of the world's population is in these countries, and this is where the greatest increase in economic growth will occur.

That's where the Ex-Im Bank steps in. The agency acts as a "lender of last resort," allowing U.S. goods to access hard-to-reach markets. It places an emphasis on small business exports, and today's legislation raises the statutory requirement for small business financing from a minimum of 10 percent of Ex-Im's activities to 20 percent.

Mr. Chairman, last year, Ex-Im Bank authorized $9.2 billion in loans, guarantees and export credit insurance, supporting $12.5 billion of U.S. exports. I urge my colleagues to support this reauthorization bill, so we can continue to expand U.S. exports and promote economic growth.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIRMAN. All time for general debate has expired.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 402, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER).

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume to explain the manager’s amendment.

(Mr. BEREUTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, the changes in the manager’s amendment are to the Tied Aid War Chest section of the legislation and are the result of negotiations with the administration.

As a way of background, this legislation would make important clarifications in the administration of the Tied Aid War Chest which finances tied aid transactions. The Tied Aid War Chest was intended to be used by the Ex-Im Bank to protect American exporters by matching the concessionary financing of foreign export credit agencies. The Tied Aid War Chest has been grossly underutilized, which is due in part to the disagreements between the Ex-Im Bank and the Department of Treasury over the years on how to use the funds.

These past problems would be addressed in this legislation by the creation of a new definitive step-by-step process to be followed by the Ex-Im Bank and the Treasury Department regarding how the Tied Aid War Chest is to be administered. The manager's amendment would make the following changes to how the Tied Aid War Chest is administered.

Number 1, under the bill as reported, the Secretary of the Treasury would set the process and standards on how the amounts in the Tied Aid War Chest can be effectively used and efficiently used, and it would do this in consultation with the Ex-Im Bank. In the manager's amendment, the word "principles" is inserted before the word "process." This change is made throughout the manager's amendment where applicable.

Number 2, the Ex-Im Bank would be allowed to jointly set the principles, process and standards which govern the use of the Tied Aid War Chest with the Secretary of the Treasury.

Three, the Tied Aid War Chest also must be used in accordance with the purposes described in section 10(a)(5) of the Ex-Im Bank charter. This reference to section 10(a)(5) is in current law.

Number 4, adds a new standard which will govern the use of the Tied Aid War Chest in the interim period before the Secretary of the Treasurer and the Ex-Im Bank submit their principles, process and standards to Congress. This new standard states that the Tied Aid War Chest should be used to leverage multilateral negotiations in such places as the OECD in Paris to restrict the scope of aid-financed trade distortions and to police existing rules. This new standard is added to the six existing standards in the bill as reported.

Number 5, under H.R. 2871, as reported, an applicant for the Tied Aid War Chest is given an opportunity for an expeditious reconsideration by the Ex-Im Bank board within 3 months of the denial of an application for assistance. Under this legislation, as reported, the applicant may, but shall not be required to provide any information for the application to be reconsidered. That is at the suggestion of the administration. The manager's amendment states that the applicant may be required to provide new information in order for the application to be reconsidered.

Number 6, under the bill, as reported, the Tied Aid War Chest can be used to combat untied aid and market windows. Under the current law, the Tied Aid War Chest can only be used to combat tied aid from foreign export credit agencies. The manager's amendment does not allow the Tied Aid War Chest to be used for market windows. Market windows are defined as export financing that claims to operate on a commercial basis while benefiting directly or indirectly from some level of government support.

This change was made at the request of the administration because the Ex-Im Bank is still trying to understand how countries such as Germany and Canada use the market windows device. As a result, this Member believes that we should not legislate an issue until we fully understand how the market windows device actually functions.

Number 7, finally, the manager's amendment also makes other minor technical corrections.

Mr. Chairman, in summary, as a result of the manager's amendment, the Export-Import Bank will administer the Tied Aid War Chest in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury in accordance with both the principles, process and standards developed jointly by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Ex-Im Bank and in accordance the purposes which are currently listed in the Ex-Im charter. This Member believes that the changes in the manager's amendment are essential to further clarify the administration of the Tied Aid War Chest.

Mr. Chairman, in conclusion, this Member would urge his colleagues to support the manager's amendment to H.R. 2871.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

The CHAIRMAN. Who rises to claim the time in opposition?

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I claim the time in opposition.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I am very pleased to rise in support of the gentleman from Nebraska's (Mr. BEREUTER) amendment which attempts to meet objections to the bill raised by the Treasury Department, and I know that the gentleman from Nebraska has negotiated in great faith with Treasury officials.

Unfortunately, they have withheld support for the bill, primarily due to the tied aid credit fund provisions within it, and I am appreciative of the gentleman's enormous efforts to address Treasury's concerns during the past 5 months over what is essentially a territorial dispute.

The manager's amendment represents his best effort to accommodate Treasury. To that end, I fully support it. I only regret that it has taken 5 months for the Republican House leadership to decide that the U.S. Treasury Department does not set the schedule in the House of Representatives.

Having said that, let me also add that I did support a 6-month extension of the authorization for Ex-Im Bank last year, and then I supported an additional 30-day extension, and yesterday I supported an additional 30-day extension. We have until the Memorial Day recess to reconcile the differences between the House Ex-Im reauthorization bill and the Senate Ex-Im reauthorization bill.

The differences are not that great. We should be able to resolve them at one meeting which could take place this week or next week. Most of the issues, I should not say this, could be settled by a flip of the coin between the House and Senate. Treasury might still oppose, and if Treasury is allowed to hold up the conference report, I just tell them now that I will not support another extension.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of the time, and I want to thank the distinguished gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) for his patience and his support through this process. I actually welcome the statement the gentleman made about the upcoming House-Senate conference, and his suggestion is exactly the method that I am going to try to advance, with the Chairman's help, if, in fact, we have an opportunity to go to conference today, as I expect.

I would like to say to the gentleman that he and I have shared frustration for so many years over the lack of use of the war chest when it is appropriate, and in part, that failure or deficiency is because of the subject that I think we are addressing in the manager's amendment.

Again, I thank the gentleman for his support and his patience through this long consultation process with the administration. We have made as many accommodations as we possibly can without making the ultimate one because we understand what they want is not consistent with what this body, as a legislative body, should do.

I urge support of the manager's amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER).

The amendment was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 2 printed in House Report No. 107-423.

AMENDMENT NO. 2 OFFERED BY MR. DEFAZIO

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 2 offered by Mr. DEFAZIO:
At the end of the bill, add the following:

SEC. ____ . BAN ON ASSISTANCE FOR PROJECT INVOLVING PRIVATIZATION OF GOVERNMENT-HELD INDUSTRY OR SECTOR.

Section 2(b) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945 (12 U.S.C. 635(b)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(13) BAN ON ASSISTANCE FOR PROJECT INVOLVING PRIVATIZATION OF GOVERNMENT-HELD INDUSTRY OR SECTOR.—The Bank may not guarantee, insure, or extend (or participate in the extension of) credit in connection with the export of any good or service for a project that involves the privatization of a government-held industry or sector if—

“(A) the privatization transaction is not implemented in a transparent manner;

“(B) the privatization transaction is not implemented in a manner that adequately protects the interests of workers, small investors, and vulnerable groups in society to the extent that they are affected by the privatization transaction; or

“(C) appropriate regulatory regimes have not been established to ensure the proper function of competitive markets in the industry or sector.”.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 402, the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. DEFAZIO) and a Member opposed each will control 15 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. DEFAZIO).

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume. We will not use all of the time here.

The amendment which I drafted is based substantially on language which will be included in legislation to come up later today, H.R. 2604, the Multinational Development Bank Reauthorization. It is a bipartisan piece of legislation which the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) as the Chairman of the Subcommittee on International Monetary Policy and Trade introduced and was cosponsored by the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE), ranking member, and the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS).

I looked at that legislation, and although I will admit that the issue before us here, the Ex-Im Bank, is not normally the principal source of funding for potential privatization efforts, but there are instances where Ex-Im Bank has followed in acquisitions and has essentially been linked to privatization efforts.

Oftentimes there may well be nothing wrong with the U.S. firm being involved in a privatization effort overseas, as long as there is a regulatory structure in place, as long as the government or the taxpayers of that country get full value in a process which is transparent in terms of the bidding, but unfortunately, there have been a number of cases, a couple of which involved the Enron corporation in Panama and the Dominican Republic, where that was not the case. In fact, a study after the fact in the Dominican Republic found that the assets were undervalued by $907 million, and the Panama case, there was a problem with basically some corruption within the government which had led to a low bid and an improper acquisition.

I think putting in place some basic rules is needed to make sure that the Ex-Im Bank either in the first instance or in follow-on to U.S. acquisition, in supplying follow-on to that, does not become involved in improper privatization efforts.

The standards are quite simple: That the assistance should only go to projects that are implemented in a transparent manner; that they are implemented in a manner that protects the interests of workers, small investors, vulnerable groups in society; or, if appropriate, the regulatory regimes have been established to ensure properly functioning competitive markets.

It is further my understanding that the Chairman has some concerns about the capability of enforcing this and statutory language but would perhaps be willing to support this as a sense of Congress within the conference.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DEFAZIO. I yield to the gentleman from Nebraska.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding. I would have claimed the time in opposition, but the gentleman has accurately described the derivation of this language, and there is certainly nothing wrong with the intent.

He is also right in recognizing that the primary entities that could have an impact on such a situation, as described in this amendment, are multinational development banks, but if the gentleman would withdraw this amendment, I will do my best to assure that language like this, probably exactly like it, would be included as sense of the Congress language or, at least that if we have problems with the Senate conferees, it be included in report language. But it would be my intent to attempt to add such language as sense of the Congress language, as the gentleman has offered it.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for his support and his great work on the legislation to come up later today. I believe these are essential reforms and limitations that should be put into the law, and I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw my amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oregon?

There was no objection.

The CHAIRMAN. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 3 printed in House Report No. 107-423.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 OFFERED BY MR. KUCINICH

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 3 offered by Mr. KUCINICH:
At the end of the bill, add the following:

SEC. ____ . REQUIREMENT THAT APPLICANTS FOR ASSISTANCE DISCLOSE WHETHER THEY HAVE VIOLATED THE FOREIGN CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT; MAINTENANCE OF LIST OF VIOLATORS.

Section 2(b)(1) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945 (12 U.S.C. 635(b)(1)) is further amended by adding at the end the following:

“(M) The Bank shall require an applicant for assistance from the Bank to disclose whether the applicant has been found by a court of the United States to have violated the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, and shall maintain a list of persons so found to have violated such Act.”.

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 402, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH) and a Member opposed each will control 15 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH).

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, my amendment will require the Ex-Im Bank to gather information relating to compliance by applicants with the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, as amended.

The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977 makes it unlawful for any domestic corporation to corruptly bribe a foreign official in order to obtain or retain business. It also requires those companies that are required to register with the Securities and Exchange Commission to keep detailed and accurate books, records, and accounts of corporate payments and transactions.

Under my amendment, Ex-Im would request that applicants report whether or not they had been found guilty by a U.S. court to be in violation of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, and importantly, the Ex-Im Bank would also independently keep a list of companies that had violated the Act.

Mr. Chairman, this amendment is based upon the following premise: That taxpayers should not subsidize the venture of companies that use corrupt methods to obtain business or deceive taxpayers with false financial reports.

Recently, a large multinational energy corporation based in the United States was revealed to have intentionally misled the public about its finances and its profits, leading to drastic consequences for shareholders and its employees. In part, Enron accomplished this deception by concealing the complex corporate transactions that allowed it to inflate its profits.

Now, what if a company like this one used similar practices in order to cover up its bribery of a foreign official? How would this affect its application for financing from the Ex-Im Bank?

Under current practice, applicants for Ex-Im financing are required to certify they have not violated and will not violate the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act. That is good, and this amendment is not meant to stop the Ex-Im Bank from doing this. But the Ex-Im Bank is not required on its own to compile a list of FCPA violators. So a company that lied about its Foreign Corrupt Practices Act history on its application would not be in danger of discovery by the Ex-Im Bank.

Is such a scenario out of the realm of possibility? Our experience with Enron should make it clear that it is not. A recent Enron loan application to the Ex-Im Bank for a natural gas plant in Venezuela included the company's 1998 annual report, which Enron admitted was falsified. Did Ex-Im discover this? No. Has the Ex-Im taken any action against Enron for submitting falsified materials? Not that I know of. In a recent column by Bob Novak this matter is detailed.

In fact, Ex-Im loaned Enron nearly $200 million for this project, according to this report by the Institute for Policy Studies. Overall, Ex-Im has financed Enron projects to the tune of $826 million.

Now, ideally, this amendment should be passed in conjunction with another amendment I submitted to the Committee on Rules. The second amendment would have barred Ex-Im from providing financing to any company that violated the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act. Unfortunately, the rule for this bill did not make the second amendment in order. Nevertheless, the current amendment makes an important contribution by codifying Ex-Im's current practice of requiring applicants to certify their compliance with the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and, further, by requiring the Ex-Im Bank to independently compile a list of companies that are in violation of this act. I encourage my colleagues to support this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I rise to claim the time in opposition.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore (Mr. SIMPSON). The gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) is recognized for 15 minutes.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume, and I do not intend to oppose the gentleman's amendment. Actually, I think it is quite appropriate.

The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act does regulate the practices of American businesses doing business abroad. It requires them to keep accurate books, records and accounts. It requires issuers to register with the Securities and Exchange Commission to maintain a responsible and internal accounting control system, and it prohibits bribery by American corporations of foreign officials.

In the way of background, the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act was a U.S. initiative and we have tried very hard, through the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development in Europe, OECD, to have other countries adopt similar kinds of national legislation. Until recently, many of our west European export competitors have actually permitted their corporations to have their bribes as tax deductible, incredible as that may seem. We have recently had positive action by many of these countries in that respect, but now the proof is in the pudding. That is to say, will they, in fact, have enforcement to make sure that no such bribery is not encouraged or permitted under their tax codes.

In any case, the gentleman's amendment, I think, is highly appropriate. This kind of information should be made available and, in fact, generated, if necessary, within the Export-Import Bank. And it is my expectation that as a result of having that information and being encouraged to give it careful consideration the Ex-Im Bank will be able to avoid providing any kind of transaction assistance to an American firm that would be in violation of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act.

Mr. Chairman, my hope is that in fact something like the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act can be applied internationally by actions of national legislative bodies. So I do speak in support of the gentleman's amendment, and I thank him for his initiative in offering it.

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume to thank the gentleman for his expression of support for transparency and integrity in international transactions.

Mr. Chairman, I submit for the RECORD the article by Bob Novak I referred to earlier:

[From the Chicago Sun-Times, Apr. 29, 2002]

ENRON'S CORPORATE WELFARE

(By Robert Novak)

A bipartisan Senate Finance Committee investigation has found that Enron Corp., no paragon of free-market deregulation, gorged itself on corporate welfare. The Clinton administration gave more than $650 million in Export-Import Bank loans to Enron-related companies. While the Senate now probes whether the bankrupt energy company falsified loan requests, the bigger question is why Enron was subsidized at all.

Export-Import officials early this year, expressing confidence in the accuracy of information provided by Enron in its loan applications, were not interested in an investigation. However, Ex-Im Vice Chairman Eduardo Aguirre sang a different tune in his April 23 letter to Sen. Chuck Grassley of Iowa, the Finance Committee's senior Republican. "Please let me assure you that Ex-Im Bank takes very seriously potential violations of law . . . and works very closely with the Department of Justice," Aguirre wrote.

Finance staffers have found that Ex-Im, as well as the Overseas Private Investment Corp., in a Democratic administration routinely approved loan requests from a supposedly Republican company. Lavish bipartisan political contributions may have helped, as well as a top Enron executive sitting on Ex-Im's Advisory Committee.

Actually, one official of the agency informed a Senate investigator that all Ex-Im really monitors is loan repayment. Ironically, it is unclear whether Enron loans will be defaulted at American taxpayer expense. While the rationale for the Export-Import Bank's existence is to give U.S. businesses a level playing field against government-subsidized foreign competition, the Enron loans merely buttressed questionable projects where the company often was both producer and exporter.

The classic case is a September 1994 Ex-Im direct loan of $302 million ($175 million of which remains unpaid) to Dabhol Power Co. in India, then 80 percent owned by Enron. In this deal, Enron was the "foreign" company, and its allies, Bechtel Group and General Electric, were the exporters. With an Indian utility that could not pay its bills (and was pressured by the Bush administration to do so) as its only customer, Dabhol went bankrupt even before Enron.

A less-publicized loan scrutinized by Senate investigators provided $135 million (only $4 million of which has repaid) to the Accroven partnership for a natural gas plant in Venezuela. Nearly half the company's stock was owned by Enron while Enron also was the exporter. Thus, the U.S. taxpayer was paying Enron money so that Enron could buy gas from Enron.

Enron's loan application for the Accroven project included the company's 1998 annual report, which the company has admitted was falsified. "I'm troubled by the Ex-Im's seeming lack of interest in this matter," Grassley wrote Aguirre on April 2.

Ex-Im lent $250 million to Trakya Elektrik of Turkey, owned 50 percent by Enron, which was buying goods and services from Enron. Ex-Im insured a $3.6 million Citibank loan to Promigas in Colombia, owned 42.3 percent by Enron. Whether or not these loans were based on misleading information, it is difficult to see how any of these deals fulfills the Export-Import Bank's avowed purpose of promoting American competition against the world.

While Democratic Sen. Ernest F. Hollings delivered his memorable judgment that Enron benefitted from the Bush presidency on a cash-and-carry basis, the symbiosis between big business and the purveyors of corporate welfare is bipartisan. Just as Enron gave to both parties, Bechtel has contributed $820,000 to Republicans and $730,000 to Democrats since the 1992 elections. Rebecca A. McDonald, CEO of Enron Global Assets, was on Ex-Im's Advisory Committee under President Clinton in 2000 and remained there under President Bush in 2001. How can it be that a major recipient of government largess is advising the agency handing it out?

Except for a fitful effort to trim it down in the early months of the Reagan administration in 1981 and some by the current Bush administration, the Export-Import Bank has sailed through governments of both parties—hardly noticed and never critically examined. A broader scrutiny of the agency's global pursuits is still wanting.

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH).

The amendment was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 4 printed in House Report 107-423.

AMENDMENT NO. 4 OFFERED BY MR. SANDERS

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 4 offered by Mr. SANDERS:

At the end of the bill, add the following:

SEC. ____ INFORMATION AND CERTIFICATIONS REQUIRED FROM COMPANIES SEEK-ING OR RECEIVING NEW ASSIST-ANCE.

Section 2 of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945 (12 U.S.C. 635) is further amended by adding at the end the following:

“(g)(1) As a condition of providing assistance to a company in connection with a transaction entered into on or after the date of the enactment of this subsection, the Bank shall require the company to submit to the Bank the following information on an annual basis:

“(A) The number of individuals employed by the company in the United States and its territories.

“(B) The number of individuals employed by the company outside the United States and its territories.

“(C) A description of the wages and benefits being provided to the employees of the company in the United States and its territories.

“(2)(A) Beginning 1 year after the Bank provides assistance to a company in connection with a transaction entered into on or after the date of the enactment of this subsection, the company shall, on an annual basis, provide the Bank with a written certification of—

“(i) the percentage of the workforce of the company employed in the United States or its territories that has been laid off or induced to resign from the company during the preceding year; and “(ii) the percentage of the total workforce of the company that has been laid off or induced to resign from the company during the preceding year.

“(B)(i) If, in the certification provided by the company, the percentage described in subparagraph (A)(i) is greater than the percentage described in subparagraph (A)(ii), then the company shall be ineligible for further assistance from the Bank until the company provides to the Bank a new written certification in which, for the year covered by the new certification, the percentage described in subparagraph (A)(i) is not greater than the percentage described in subparagraph (A)(ii).

“(ii) If the company does not provide a certification required by subparagraph (A), or provides a false certification under this paragraph, then 60 days thereafter the Bank shall withdraw all assistance from the company, and the company shall thereafter be ineligible for assistance from the Bank.”

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 402, the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS) and a Member opposed each will control 15 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS).

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I hereby submit for the RECORD a letter sent to the Speaker of the House, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. HASTERT), by every large multinational corporate trade organization in the country, people who contribute hundreds of millions of dollars into the political process, because they are opposed to the amendment.

AEROSPACE INDUSTRIES ASSOCIATION, AMERICAN BUSINESS COUNCIL OF THE GULF COUNTRIES, AMT—THE ASSOCIATION FOR MANUFACTURING TECHNOLOGY, BANKERS ASSOCIATION FOR FINANCE AND TRADE, COALITION FOR EMPLOYMENT THROUGH EXPORTS, EMERGENCY COMMITTEE FOR AMERICAN TRADE, INTERNATIONAL ENERGY DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS, NATIONAL FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL, SMALL BUSINESS EXPORTERS ASSOCIATION, U.S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, U.S.-CHINA BUSINESS COUNCIL, U.S. COUNCIL FOR INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS, April 16, 2002.

Hon. DENNIS HASTERT,
Speaker of the House,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: As the House Republican leadership considers scheduling floor action on H.R. 2871, to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank, we write to reiterate our strong support for the Bank. Our collective members include many of the U.S. exporters and financial institutions that rely on the Bank as the lender of last resort in meeting the fierce competition for export opportunities in world markets. In FY 2001 alone, the Bank financed some 2,300 export transactions, 90 percent of which were for small and medium-sized firms.

Ex-Im Bank plays a crucial role in supporting the export of American-made goods and American-provided services in markets where commercial financing is difficult to obtain and when foreign competitors have the active support of their governments' export credit agencies. In 2000 alone, the most active export credit agencies worldwide financed more than $500 billion in exports. Ex-Im Bank financed $15.5 billion in U.S. exports that year.

To deal with this increasingly aggressive foreign competition, H.R. 2871 would authorize the Bank to respond to new export financing programs offered by foreign governments, including so-called “market windows”. The bill also provides the Bank with clear authority to use the tied-aid war chest to respond aggressively to foreign governments' use of foreign assistance to supplement their export credit activities (so-called “tied-aid”).

It is important to note that Ex-Im charges risk-based interest, premiums and other fees for its loans, loan guarantees and insurance. These fees are paid by exporters, banks and overseas customers. Last year, the Bank's revenues generated a $1 billion net income for the U.S. government. Moreover, the Bank maintains some $10 billion in reserves to protect against the risk of loss. The Bank's conservative lending policies and aggressively loss-recovery efforts have resulted in a very low 1.9 percent historical loss rate.

AMENDMENTS OF CONCERN

Two amendments may be offered which, in our judgment, would impede the ability of U.S. exporters to effectively utilize the Bank, thus weakening the Bank's programs and causing a loss of U.S. exports and the jobs of American workers. We urge you to oppose these amendments if offered during House floor action:

(1) Rep. Sanders may offer an amendment to deny Ex-Im Bank financing for U.S. companies that are growing internationally. It would make the Bank completely unusable for any U.S. exporter that is succeeding in world markets. The proposal runs contrary to U.S. trade policy and market-based economic growth. It would make no sense for the Congress to seek open world markets, but then deny U.S. firms access to one of the key tools to take advantage of these new opportunities. Since Ex-Im Bank only finances U.S.-origin goods and services, shutting off the Bank would only result in making the Bank less effective in creating and keeping U.S. jobs here at home.

Rep. Schakowsky may offer an amendment to require a human rights assessment of about 600 export transactions supported by the Bank annually. This proposal is unnecessary because the Export-Import Bank Act already includes a procedure under which the Bank relies on the U.S. State Department for human rights analysis. The amendment would require the Bank to establish an unnecessary new bureaucracy that would duplicate the long-established State Department human rights office. The amendment would require U.S. exporters to submit any proposed transaction over $10 million to a costly and time-consuming notice and comment period, which inevitably would lead to the loss of export sales to our foreign competitors. The current, long-established, process works well to ensure that human rights issues are analyzed by the State Department's experts and included in the Bank's consideration of export transactions.

We urge the House to approve H.R. 2871 and to oppose amendments that would weaken the Bank and impede U.S. exports.

Sincerely,

Don Carlson, President, AMT-The Association For Manufacturing Technology; Calman J. Cohen, President, Emergency Committee For American Trade; Timothy E. Deal, Senior Vice President, U.S. Council for International Business; John W. Douglass, President, and CEO, Aerospace Industries Association; John Hardy, Chairman, Standing Committee, International Energy Development Council; Robert Kapp, President, U.S.-China Business Council; James Morrison, President, Small Business Exporters Association; John Pratt, Chairman, American Business Council of the Gulf Countries; William Reinsch, President, National Foreign Trade Council; Edmund B. Rice, President, Coalition For Employment Through Exports; Consider W. Ross, Executive Director, Bankers Association for Finance and Trade; Franklin J. Vargo, Vice President, National Association of Manufacturers; Willard A. Workman, Senior Vice President, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Chairman, these gentlemen, representing the largest multinational corporations in this country, are opposed to this amendment. And why not? They are receiving huge amounts of corporate welfare. They think it is a good deal. So, yes, they will be opposed to the amendment. And I would hope that gives Members a good reason why they should think about voting for this amendment.

I am very proud that this amendment is cosponsored by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. PAUL) and the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. DEFazio), and we are united, along with many other Members here, to protect American workers and to fight corporate welfare.

Mr. Chairman, some of my colleagues will say that the Ex-Im Bank has helped businesses and workers throughout the United States. They are right. But that should not be a great surprise for an agency that has a budget of some $1 billion and has the capability of guaranteeing some $15 billion in loans a year. If we stood outside on street corners all over America and gave out money, we would do some good. We would help people. We would create jobs.

The question that we want to ask is: Given the amount of money that we are spending, are American taxpayers and are American workers getting good value for their dollars? And I think any objective analysis of Ex-Im would suggest that we are not.

At the present moment, Ex-Im is wasteful, it is inefficient, and it is a major example of corporate welfare. If we cannot make fundamental changes in the way that program is run, it should be killed.

Mr. Chairman, let us be clear about who the major beneficiaries of Ex-Im are. My colleagues have heard a lot about how small businesses are benefiting. The reality, however, is that 80 percent of the real dollars goes to the Fortune 500, some of the largest corporations in America. Now, let us hear who those tiny small businesses are who receive this corporate welfare from the American people.

Well, they are Boeing, General Electric, Caterpillar, and Mobile Oil. They are a struggling small company. Westinghouse and AT&T. Another little tiny mom and pop company. Motorola, Lucent Technologies, Enron, IBM, FedEx, General Motors, Haliburton, Siemens, Raytheon, and United Technologies. The list goes on and on.

Workers in this country, working 50, 60 hours a week to keep their heads above water, veterans not getting the benefits they are entitled to, but, hey, all these little tiny companies they are on the welfare line. Name the largest multinational corporation in America, many of whom make substantial campaign contributions, and there they are getting their money from Ex-Im.

Further, many of these companies pay exorbitant salaries and benefits to their CEOs. One example, which I have experience with, IBM, on the welfare line, gave their former CEO Lou Gerstner, over $260 million in stock options, while they cut back on pensions and retirement health benefits of their workers and retirees and they are opening plants in China. No doubt, no doubt that the American taxpayers should be giving them their welfare check.

Now, even more importantly, what else do these companies have in common? What they have in common is that company after company that receive Ex-Im money are some of the largest job cutters in America. In the name of job creation, we are giving huge amounts of money to large corporations who are laying off hundreds of thousands of American workers, and they are moving their plants to China, where they are paying desperate people there 20 cents an hour; moving to Mexico, moving to Vietnam, moving anyplace in the world where they can get cheap labor. Well, that is a smart public-policy move on our part.

Let me give a couple of examples. General Electric has received over $2.5 billion in direct loans and loan guarantees from Ex-Im Bank. And what was the result? From 1985 to 1995, GE reduced its workforce from 243,000 to 150,000. A real success story for the Ex-Im Bank.

General Motors. They received $500 million in direct loans and loan guarantees from Ex-Im. The result, GM has shrunk its U.S. workforce from 559,000 to 314,000. Congratulations Ex-Im.

Motorola. They have reduced their workforce; only 56 percent of their workers are from the United States.

Now, if a company wants to receive taxpayer support, fine. But what that company has got to do is say we pledge to protect American jobs. And the amendment that I am offering is very, very simple. What it says is that if a company is going to lay off workers, then they cannot lay off more American workers than they lay off people abroad. Now, I do not think that is too much to ask for companies that receive subsidies from the American taxpayer.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I claim the time in opposition, and would be glad to allow the gentleman from Vermont to continue to yield.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. The gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) is recognized for 15 minutes.

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR), who has been one of the strongest fighters in the U.S. Congress for American workers.

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of this Sanders amendment. It is eminently reasonable and aims to protect the jobs of American workers and strike a blow against the corporate welfare state.

This amendment is beautifully simple. It says no more Export-Import Bank help for corporations that lay off a greater percentage of workers in America than in other countries where they employ workers, including Mexico or China and other low-wage platforms. No more Export-Import Bank help for General Electric when it cans workers in Bloomington, Indiana, and exports all their jobs to Mexico.

Why cut workers' throats in our country with their own taxpayer dollars? Eighty percent of Ex-Im subsidies go to the biggest boys on the block, the Fortune 500 countries with global reach. And how do they return the favor to the American taxpayer? Well, General Motors gets more than $.5 billion from Ex-Im and then shrinks its U.S. workforce from 559,000 to 314,000 workers. That is almost a quarter million lost jobs in America. Motorola took $.5 billion from the taxpayers in the form of Export-Import Bank help and then slashed the American percentage of its workforce down to 56 percent.

Here is how I see it: if we cannot have the Ex-Im Bank for American workers, then at least we should stop cutting our own throats with this giveaway to the runaway multinational companies that export jobs and leave American workers, American families, and American communities holding the bag.

Say "no" to this abuse of taxpayer dollars and this betrayal of American communities. Stand up for the Sanders amendment. Vote "yes" on the Sanders amendment, which actually says, "Do not hurt America first." If we have to take cuts, at least make those cuts equal globally to other countries. It does not say only serve America, it only says be fair to all concerned.

Support the Sanders amendment.
Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee do now rise. The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly, the Committee rose; and the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. BEREUTER) having assumed the chair, Mr. SIMPSON, Chairman pro tempore of the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union, reported that that Committee, having had under consideration the bill (H.R. 2871) to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank of the United States, and for other purposes, had come to no resolution thereon.

(2) BASE ACRES.—The term “base acres”, with respect to a covered commodity on a farm, means the number of acres established under section 1101 with respect to the covered commodity on the election made by the owner of the farm under subsection (a) of such section.

(3) COUNTER-CYCLICAL PAYMENT.—The term “counter-cyclical payment” means a payment made to producers on a farm under section 1104.

(7) EXTRA LONG STAPLE COTTON.—The term “extra long staple cotton” means cotton that—

(A) is produced from pure strain varieties of the Barbados species or any hybrid thereof, or other similar types of extra long staple cotton, designated by the Secretary, having characteristics needed for various end uses for which

United States upland cotton is not suitable and grown in irrigated cotton-growing regions of the United States designated by the Secretary or other areas designated by the Secretary as suitable for the production of the varieties or types; and

(B) is ginned on a roller-type gin or, if authorized by the Secretary, ginned on another type gin for experimental purposes.

Subtitle A—Direct Payments and Counter-Cyclical Payments

SEC. 1101. ESTABLISHMENT OF BASE ACRES AND PAYMENT ACRES FOR A FARM.

(a) ELECTION BY OWNER OF BASE ACRES CALCULATION METHOD.—

(1) ALTERNATIVE CALCULATION METHODS.—For the purpose of making direct payments and counter-cyclical payments with respect to a farm, the Secretary shall give an owner of the farm an opportunity to elect 1 of the following as the method by which the base acres of all covered commodities on the farm are to be determined:

(A) Subject to paragraphs (3) and (4), the 4-year average of the following:

(i) Acreage planted on the farm to covered commodities for harvest, grazing, haying, silage, or other similar purposes for the 1998 through 2001 crop years.

(ii) Any acreage on the farm that the producers were prevented from planting during the 1998 through 2001 crop years to covered commodities because of drought, flood, or other natural disaster, or other condition beyond the control of the producers, as determined by the Secretary.

(B) Subject to paragraph (3), the sum of the following:

(i) The contract acreage (as defined in section 102 of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C. 7202)) used by the Secretary to calculate the fiscal year 2002 payment authorized under section 114 of such Act (7 U.S.C. 7214) for the covered commodities on the farm.

(ii) The 4-year average of eligible oilseed acreage on the farm for the 1998 through 2001 crop years, as determined by the Secretary under paragraph (2).

(2) ELIGIBLE OILSEED ACREAGE.—

(A) CALCULATION.—For purposes of paragraph (1)(B)(ii), the eligible acreage for each oilseed on a farm during each of the 1998 through 2001 crop years shall be determined in the manner provided in paragraph (1)(A), except that the total acreage for all oilseeds on the farm for a crop year may not exceed the difference between—

(i) the total acreage determined under paragraph (1)(A) for all covered commodities for that crop year; and

(ii) the total contract acreage determined under paragraph (1)(B)(i).

(B) EFFECT OF NEGATIVE NUMBER.—If the subtraction performed under subparagraph (A) results in a negative number, the eligible oilseed acreage on the farm for that crop year shall be zero for purposes of determining the 4-year average.

(C) OFFSET OF CONTRACT ACREAGE.—The owner of a farm may increase the eligible acreage for an oilseed on the farm by reducing the contract acreage determined under paragraph (1)(B)(i) for 1 or more covered commodities on an acre-for-acre basis, except that the total base acreage for each oilseed on the farm may not exceed the 4-year average of each oilseed determined under paragraph (1)(B)(ii).

(3) INCLUSION OF ALL 4 YEARS IN AVERAGE.—For the purpose of determining a 4-year average under this subsection for a farm, the Secretary shall not exclude any crop year in which a covered commodity was not planted.

(4) TREATMENT OF MULTIPLE PLANTING OR PREVENTED PLANTING.—For the purpose of determining under paragraph (1)(A) the acreage on a farm that producers planted or were prevented from planting during the 1998 through 2001 crop years to covered commodities, if the acreage that was planted or prevented from being planted was devoted to another covered commodity in the same crop year (other than a covered commodity produced under an established practice of double cropping), the owner may elect the commodity to be used for that crop year in determining the 4-year average, but may not include both the initial commodity and the subsequent commodity.

(b) SINGLE ELECTION; TIME FOR ELECTION.—

(1) NOTICE OF ELECTION OPPORTUNITY.—As soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall provide notice to owners of farms regarding their opportunity to make the election described in subsection (a). The notice shall include the following:

(A) Notice that the opportunity of an owner to make the election is being provided only once.

(B) Information regarding the manner in which the election must be made and the time periods and manner in which notice of the election must be submitted to the Secretary.

(2) ELECTION DEADLINE.—Within the time period and in the manner prescribed pursuant to paragraph (1), the owner of a farm shall submit to the Secretary notice of the election made by the owner under subsection (a).

(c) EFFECT OF FAILURE TO MAKE ELECTION.—If the owner of a farm fails to make the election under subsection (a) or fails to timely notify the Secretary of the election made, as required by subsection (b), the owner shall be deemed to have made the election described in subsection (a)(1)(B) to determine base acres for all covered commodities on the farm.

(d) APPLICATION OF ELECTION TO ALL COVERED COMMODITIES.—The election made under subparagraph (A) or (B) of subsection (a)(1), or deemed to be made under subsection (c), with respect to a farm shall apply to all of the covered commodities on the farm.

(e) TREATMENT OF CONSERVATION RESERVE CONTRACT ACREAGE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall provide for an adjustment, as appropriate, in the base acres for covered commodities for a farm whenever either of the following circumstances occurs:

(A) A conservation reserve contract entered into under section 1231 of the Food Security Act of 1985 (16 U.S.C. 3831) with respect to the farm expires or is voluntarily terminated.

(B) Cropland is released from coverage under a conservation reserve contract by the Secretary.

(2) SPECIAL PAYMENT RULES.—For the crop year in which a base acres adjustment under paragraph (1) is first made, the owner of the farm shall elect to receive either direct payments and counter-cyclical payments with respect to the acreage added to the farm under this subsection or a prorated payment under the conservation reserve contract, but not both.

(f) PAYMENT ACRES.—The payment acres for a covered commodity on a farm shall be equal to 85 percent of the base acres for the covered commodity.

(g) PREVENTION OF EXCESS BASE ACRES.—

(1) REQUIRED REDUCTION.—If the sum of the base acres for a farm, together with the acreage described in paragraph (2), exceeds the actual cropland acreage of the farm, the Secretary shall reduce the base acres for 1 or more covered commodities for the farm or the base acres for peanuts for the farm under subtitle C so that the sum of the base acres and acreage described in paragraph (2) does not exceed the actual cropland acreage of the farm.

(2) OTHER ACREAGE.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the Secretary shall include the following:

(A) Any base acres for peanuts for the farm under subtitle C.

(B) Any acreage on the farm enrolled in the conservation reserve program or wetlands reserve program under chapter 1 of subtitle D of title XII of the Food Security Act of 1985 (16 U.S.C. 3830 et seq.).

(C) Any other acreage on the farm enrolled in a conservation program for which payments are made in exchange for not producing an agricultural commodity on the acreage.

(3) SELECTION OF ACRES.—The Secretary shall give the owner of the farm the opportunity to select the base acres or the base acres for peanuts for the farm under subtitle C against which the reduction required by paragraph (1) will be made.

(4) EXCEPTION FOR DOUBLE-CROPPED ACREAGE.—In applying paragraph (1), the Secretary shall make an exception in the case of double cropping, as determined by the Secretary.

(5) COORDINATED APPLICATION OF REQUIREMENTS.—The Secretary shall take into account section 1302(f) when applying the requirements of this subsection.

(h) PERMANENT REDUCTION IN BASE ACRES.—The owner of a farm may reduce, at any time, the base acres for any covered commodity for the farm. The reduction shall be permanent and made in the manner prescribed by the Secretary.

SEC. 1102. ESTABLISHMENT OF PAYMENT YIELD.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT AND PURPOSE.—For the purpose of making direct payments and counter-cyclical payments under this subtitle, the Secretary shall provide for the establishment of a payment yield for each farm for each covered commodity in accordance with this section.

(b) USE OF FARM PROGRAM PAYMENT YIELD.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, the payment yield for each of the 2002 through 2007 crops of a covered commodity for a farm shall be the farm program payment yield established for the 1995 crop of the covered commodity under section 505 of the Agricultural Act of 1949 (7 U.S.C. 1465), as adjusted by the Secretary to account for any additional yield payments made with respect to that crop under section 505(b)(2) of that Act.

(c) FARMS WITHOUT FARM PROGRAM PAYMENT YIELD.—In the case of a farm for which a farm program payment yield is unavailable for a covered commodity (other than soybeans or other oilseeds), the Secretary shall establish an appropriate payment yield for the covered commodity on the farm taking into consideration the farm program payment yields applicable to the commodity under subsection (b) for similar farms, but before the yields for the similar farms are updated as provided in subsection (e).

(d) PAYMENT YIELDS FOR OLSEEDS.—

(1) DETERMINATION OF AVERAGE YIELD.—In the case of soybeans and each other oilseed, the Secretary shall determine the average yield per planted acre for the oilseed on a farm for the 1998 through 2001 crop years, excluding any crop year in which the acreage planted to the oilseed was zero.

(2) ADJUSTMENT FOR PAYMENT YIELD.—The payment yield for a farm for an oilseed shall be equal to the product of the following:

(A) The average yield for the oilseed determined under paragraph (1).

(B) The ratio resulting from dividing the national average yield for the oilseed for the 1981 through 1985 crops by the national average yield for the oilseed for the 1998 through 2001 crops.

(3) USE OF PARTIAL COUNTY AVERAGE YIELD.—If the yield per planted acre for a crop of an oilseed for a farm for any of the 1998 through 2001 crop years was less than 75 percent of the county yield for that oilseed, the Secretary shall assign a yield for that crop year equal to 75 percent of the county yield for the purpose of determining the average under paragraph (1).

(e) OPPORTUNITY TO PARTIALLY UPDATE YIELDS USED TO DETERMINE COUNTER-CYCLICAL PAYMENTS.—

(1) ELECTION TO UPDATE.—If the owner of a farm elects to use the base acres calculation method described in section 1101(a)(1)(A), the owner shall also have a 1-time opportunity to elect to use 1 of the methods described in paragraph (3) to partially update the payment yields that would otherwise be used in calculating any counter-cyclical payments for covered commodities on the farm.

(2) TIME FOR ELECTION.—The election under paragraph (1) shall be made at the same time and in the same manner as the Secretary prescribes for the election required under section 1101.

(3) METHODS OF UPDATING YIELDS.—If the owner of a farm elects to update yields under this subsection, the payment yield for a covered commodity on the farm, for the purpose of calculating counter-cyclical payments only, shall be equal to the yield determined using either of the following:

(A) The sum of the following:

(i) The payment yield applicable for direct payments for the covered commodity on the farm.

(ii) 70 percent of the difference between—

(I) the average yield per planted acre for the crop of the covered commodity on the farm for the 1998 through 2001 crop years, as determined by the Secretary, excluding any crop year in which the acreage planted to the crop of the covered commodity was zero; and

(II) the payment yield applicable for direct payments for the covered commodity on the farm.

(B) 93.5 percent of the average of the yield per planted acre for the crop of the covered commodity on the farm for the 1998 through 2001 crop years, as determined by the Secretary, excluding any crop year in which the acreage planted to the crop of the covered commodity was zero.

(4) USE OF PARTIAL COUNTY AVERAGE YIELD.—If the yield per planted acre for a crop of the covered commodity for a farm for any of the 1998 through 2001 crop years was less than 75 percent of the county yield for that commodity, the Secretary shall assign a yield for that crop year equal to 75 percent of the county yield for the purpose of determining the average yield under paragraph (3).

(5) APPLICATION OF ELECTION AND METHOD TO ALL COVERED COMMODITIES.—The owner of a farm may not elect the method described in paragraph (3)(A) for 1 covered commodity on the farm and the method described in paragraph (3)(B) for other covered commodities on the farm.

SEC. 1103. AVAILABILITY OF DIRECT PAYMENTS.

(a) PAYMENT REQUIRED.—For each of the 2002 through 2007 crop years of each covered commodity, the Secretary shall make direct payments to producers on farms for which payment yields and base acres are established.

(d) TIME FOR PAYMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall make direct payments—

(A) in the case of the 2002 crop year, as soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act; and

(B) in the case of each of the 2003 through 2007 crop years, not before October 1 of the calendar year in which the crop of the covered commodity is harvested.

(2) ADVANCE PAYMENTS.—At the option of the producers on a farm, up to 50 percent of the direct payment for a covered commodity for any of the 2003 through 2007 crop years shall be paid to the producers in advance. The producers shall select the month within which the advance payment for a crop year will be made. The month selected may be any month during the period beginning on December 1 of the calendar year before the calendar year in which the crop of the covered commodity is harvested through the month within which the direct payment would otherwise be made. The producers may change the selected month for a subsequent advance payment by providing advance notice to the Secretary.

(3) REPAYMENT OF ADVANCE PAYMENTS.—If a producer on a farm that receives an advance direct payment for a crop year ceases to be a producer on that farm, or the extent to which the producer shares in the risk of producing a crop changes, before the date the remainder of the direct payment is made, the producer shall be responsible for repaying the Secretary the applicable amount of the advance payment, as determined by the Secretary.

SEC. 1104. AVAILABILITY OF COUNTER-CYCLICAL PAYMENTS.

(a) PAYMENT REQUIRED.—For each of the 2002 through 2007 crop years for each covered commodity, the Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments to producers on farms for which payment yields and base acres are established with respect to the covered commodity if the Secretary determines that the effective price for the covered commodity is less than the target price for the covered commodity.

(b) EFFECTIVE PRICE.—For purposes of subsection (a), the effective price for a covered commodity is equal to the sum of the following:

(1) The higher of the following:

(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law and as soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commodity Credit Corporation shall amend part 1436 of title 7, Code of Federal Regulations, to establish a sugar storage facility loan program to provide financing for processors of domestically-produced sugarcane and sugar beets to construct or upgrade storage and handling facilities for raw sugars and refined sugars.

(b) ELIGIBLE PROCESSORS.—A storage facility loan described in subsection (a) shall be made available to any processor of domestically-produced sugarcane or sugar beets that (as determined by the Secretary)—

(1) has a satisfactory credit history;

(2) has a need for increased storage capacity, taking into account the effects of marketing allotments; and

(3) demonstrates an ability to repay the loan.

(c) TERM OF LOANS.—A storage facility loan described in subsection (a) shall—

(1) have a minimum term of 7 years; and

(2) be in such amounts and on such terms and conditions (including terms and conditions relating to downpayments, collateral, and eligible facilities) as are normal, customary, and appropriate for the size and commercial nature of the borrower.

SEC. 1403. FLEXIBLE MARKETING ALLOTMENTS FOR SUGAR.

Part VII of subtitle B of title III of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 (7 U.S.C. 359a et seq.) is amended to read as follows:

“PART VII—FLEXIBLE MARKETING ALLOTMENTS FOR SUGAR

“SEC. 359a. DEFINITIONS.

“In this part:

“(1) MAINLAND STATE.—The term ‘mainland State’ means a State other than an offshore State.

“(2) OFFSHORE STATE.—The term ‘offshore State’ means a sugarcane producing State located outside of the continental United States.

“(3) STATE.—Notwithstanding section 301, the term ‘State’ means—

“(A) a State;

“(B) the District of Columbia; and “(C) the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

“(4) UNITED STATES.—The term ‘United States’, when used in a geographical sense, means all of the States.

“SEC. 359b. FLEXIBLE MARKETING ALLOTMENTS FOR SUGAR.

“(a) SUGAR ESTIMATES.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than August 1 before the beginning of each of the 2002 through 2007 crop years, the Secretary shall estimate—

“(A) the quantity of sugar that will be consumed in the United States during the crop year;

“(B) the quantity of sugar that would provide for reasonable carryover stocks;

“(C) the quantity of sugar that will be available from carry-in stocks for consumption in the United States during the crop year;

“(D) the quantity of sugar that will be available from the domestic processing of sugarcane and sugar beets; and

“(E) the quantity of sugars, syrups, and molasses that will be imported for human consumption or to be used for the extraction of sugar for human consumption in the United States during the crop year, whether such articles are under a tariff-rate quota or are in excess or outside of a tariff-rate quota.

“(2) EXCLUSION.—The estimates under this subsection shall not apply to sugar imported for the production of polyhydric alcohol or to any sugar refined and reexported in refined form or in products containing sugar.

“(3) REESTIMATES.—The Secretary shall make reestimates of sugar consumption, stocks, production, and imports for a crop year as necessary, but no later than the beginning of each of the second through fourth quarters of the crop year.

“(b) SUGAR ALLOTMENTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—By the beginning of each crop year, the Secretary shall establish for that crop year appropriate allotments under section 359c for the marketing by processors of sugar processed from sugar beets and from domestically produced sugarcane at a level that the Secretary estimates will result in no forfeitures of sugar to the Commodity Credit Corporation under the loan program for sugar established under section 156 of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C. 7272).

“(2) PRODUCTS.—The Secretary may include sugar products, whose majority content is sucrose for human consumption, derived from sugarcane, sugar beets, molasses, or sugar in the allotments under paragraph (1) if the Secretary determines it to be appropriate for purposes of this part.

“(c) PROHIBITIONS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—During any crop year or portion thereof for which marketing allotments have been established, no processor of sugar beets or sugarcane shall market a quantity of sugar in excess of the allocation established for such processor, except to enable another processor to fulfill an allocation established for such other processor or to facilitate the exportation of such sugar.

“(2) CIVIL PENALTY.—Any processor who knowingly violates paragraph (1) shall be liable to the Commodity Credit Corporation for a civil penalty in an amount equal to 3 times the United States market value, at the time of the commission of the violation, of that quantity of sugar involved in the violation.

“(3) DEFINITION OF MARKET.—For purposes of this part, the term ‘market’ shall mean to sell or otherwise dispose of in commerce in the United States (including the forfeiture of sugar under the loan program for sugar under section 156 of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C. 7272) and, with respect to any integrated processor and refiner, the movement of raw cane sugar into the refining process).

“SEC. 359c. ESTABLISHMENT OF FLEXIBLE MARKETING ALLOTMENTS.

“(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall establish flexible marketing allotments for sugar for any crop year in which the allotments are required under section 359b(b) in accordance with this section.

“(b) OVERALL ALLOTMENT QUANTITY.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall establish the overall quantity of sugar to be allotted for the crop year (in this part referred to as the ‘overall allotment quantity’) by deducting from the sum of the estimated sugar consumption and reasonable carryover stocks (at the end of the crop year) for the crop year, as determined under section 359b(a)—

“(A) 1,532,000 short tons, raw value; and

“(B) carry-in stocks of sugar, including sugar in Commodity Credit Corporation inventory.

“(2) ADJUSTMENT.—The Secretary shall adjust the overall allotment quantity to avoid the forfeiture of sugar to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

“(c) MARKETING ALLOTMENT FOR SUGAR DERIVED FROM SUGAR BEETS AND SUGAR DERIVED FROM SUGARCANE.—The overall allotment quantity for the crop year shall be allotted between—

“(1) sugar derived from sugar beets by establishing a marketing allotment for a crop year at a quantity equal to the product of multiplying the overall allotment quantity for the crop year by 54.35 percent; and

“(2) sugar derived from sugarcane by establishing a marketing allotment for a crop year at a quantity equal to the product of multiplying the overall allotment quantity for the crop year by 45.65 percent.

“(d) FILLING CANE SUGAR AND BEET SUGAR ALLOTMENTS.—

“(1) CANE SUGAR.—Each marketing allotment for cane sugar established under this section may only be filled with sugar processed from domestically grown sugarcane.

“(2) BEET SUGAR.—Each marketing allotment for beet sugar established under this section may only be filled with sugar domestically processed from sugar beets.

“(e) STATE CANE SUGAR ALLOTMENTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The allotment for sugar derived from sugarcane shall be further allotted, among the States in the United States in which sugarcane is produced, after a hearing (if requested by the affected sugarcane processors and growers) and on such notice as the Secretary by regulation may prescribe, in a fair and equitable manner as provided in this subsection and section 359d(b)(1)(D).

“(2) OFFSHORE ALLOTMENT.—

“(A) COLLECTIVELY.—Prior to the allotment of sugar derived from sugarcane to any other State, 325,000 short tons, raw value shall be allotted to the offshore States.

“(B) INDIVIDUALLY.—The collective offshore State allotment provided for under subparagraph (A) shall be further allotted among the offshore States in which sugarcane is produced, after a hearing (if requested by the affected sugarcane processors and growers) and on such notice as the Secretary by regulation may prescribe, in a fair and equitable manner on the basis of—

“(i) past marketings of sugar, based on the average of the 2 highest years of production of raw cane sugar from the 1996 through 2000 crops;

“(ii) the ability of processors to market the sugar covered under the allotments for the crop year; and

“(iii) past processings of sugar from sugarcane, based on the 3-year average of the 1998 through 2000 crop years.

“(3) MAINLAND ALLOTMENT.—The allotment for sugar derived from sugarcane, less the amount provided for under paragraph (2), shall be allotted among the mainland States in the United States in which sugarcane is produced, after a hearing (if requested by the affected sugarcane processors and growers) and on such notice as the Secretary by regulation may prescribe, in a fair and equitable manner on the basis of—

“(A) past marketings of sugar, based on the average of the 2 highest years of production of raw cane sugar from the 1996 through 2000 crops;

“(B) the ability of processors to market the sugar covered under the allotments for the crop year; and

“(C) past processings of sugar from sugarcane, based on the 3 crop years with the greatest processings (in the mainland States collectively) during the 1991 through 2000 crop years.

“(f) FILLING CANE SUGAR ALLOTMENTS.—Except as provided in section 359e, a State cane sugar allotment established under subsection (e) for a crop year may be filled only with sugar processed from sugarcane grown in the State covered by the allotment.

“(g) ADJUSTMENT OF MARKETING ALLOTMENTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall, based on reestimates under section 359b(a)(3), adjust upward or downward marketing allotments in a fair and equitable manner, as the Secretary determines appropriate, to reflect changes in estimated sugar consumption, stocks, production, or imports.

“(2) ALLOCATION TO PROCESSORS.—In the case of any increase or decrease in an allotment, each allocation to a processor of the allotment under section 359d, and each proportionate share established with respect to the allotment under section 359f(c), shall be increased or decreased by the same percentage that the allotment is increased or decreased.

“(3) CARRY-OVER OF REDUCTIONS.—Whenever a marketing allotment for a crop year is required to be reduced during the crop year under this subsection, if, at the time of the reduction, the quantity of sugar marketed exceeds the processor's reduced allocation, the allocation of an allotment next established for the processor shall be reduced by the quantity of the excess sugar marketed.

“(h) SUSPENSION OF ALLOTMENTS.—Whenever the Secretary estimates or reestimates under section 359b(a), or has reason to believe, that imports of sugars, syrups or molasses for human consumption or to be used for the extraction of sugar for human consumption, whether under a tariff-rate quota or in excess or outside of a tariff-rate quota, will exceed 1,532,000 short tons (raw value equivalent) (excluding any imports attributable to reassignment under paragraph (1)(D) or (2)(C) of section 359e(b)), and that the imports would lead to a reduction of the overall allotment quantity, the Secretary shall suspend the marketing allotments established under this section until such time as the imports have been restricted, eliminated, or reduced to or below the level of 1,532,000 short tons (raw value equivalent).

“SEC. 359d. ALLOCATION OF MARKETING ALLOTMENTS.

“(a) ALLOCATION TO PROCESSORS.—Whenever marketing allotments are established for a crop year under section 359c, in order to afford all interested persons an equitable opportunity to market sugar under an allotment, the Secretary shall allocate each such allotment among the processors covered by the allotment.

“(b) HEARING AND NOTICE.—

“(1) CANE SUGAR.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall make allocations for cane sugar after a hearing, if requested by the affected sugarcane processors and growers, and on such notice as the Secretary by regulation may prescribe, in such manner and in such quantities as to provide a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of the allocations under this paragraph. Each such allocation shall be subject to adjustment under section 359c(g).

“(B) MULTIPLE PROCESSOR STATES.—Except as provided in subparagraphs (C) and (D), the Secretary shall allocate the allotment for cane sugar among multiple cane sugar processors in a single State based on—

“(i) past marketings of sugar, based on the average of the 2 highest years of production of raw cane sugar from among the 1996 through 2000 crops;

“(ii) the ability of processors to market sugar covered by that portion of the allotment allocated for the crop year; and

“(iii) past processings of sugar from sugarcane, based on the average of the 3 highest years of production during the 1996 through 2000 crop years.

“(C) TALISMAN PROCESSING FACILITY.—In the case of allotments under subparagraph (B) attributable to the operations of the Talisman processing facility before the date of enactment of this subparagraph, the Secretary shall allocate the allotment among processors in the State under subparagraph (A) in accordance with the agreements of March 25 and 26, 1999, between the affected processors and the Secretary of the Interior.

“(D) PROPORTIONATE SHARE STATES.—In the case of States subject to section 359f(c), the Secretary shall allocate the allotment for cane sugar among multiple cane sugar processors in a single State based on—

“(i) past marketings of sugar, based on the average of the 2 highest years of production of raw cane sugar from among the 1997 through 2001 crop years;

“(ii) the ability of processors to market sugar covered by that portion of the allotments allocated for the crop year; and “(iii) past processings of sugar from sugarcane, based on the average of the 2 highest crop years of crop production during the 1997 through 2001 crop years.

“(E) NEW ENTRANTS.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding subparagraphs (B) and (D), the Secretary, on application of any processor that begins processing sugarcane on or after the date of enactment of this subparagraph, and after a hearing (if requested by the affected sugarcane processors and growers) and on such notice as the Secretary by regulation may prescribe, may provide the processor with an allocation that provides a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of the allocations from the allotment for the State in which the processor is located.

“(ii) PROPORTIONATE SHARE STATES.—In the case of proportionate share States, the Secretary shall establish proportionate shares in a quantity sufficient to produce the sugarcane required to satisfy the allocations.

“(iii) LIMITATIONS.—The allotment for a new processor under this subparagraph shall not exceed—

“(I) in the case of the first crop year of operation of a new processor, 50,000 short tons (raw value); and “(II) in the case of each subsequent crop year of operation of the new processor, a quantity established by the Secretary in accordance with this subparagraph and the criteria described in subparagraph (B) or (D), as applicable.

“(iv) NEW ENTRANT STATES.—

“(I) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding subparagraphs (A) and (C) of section 359c(e)(3), to accommodate an allocation under clause (i) to a new processor located in a new entrant mainland State, the Secretary shall provide the new entrant mainland State with an allotment.

“(II) EFFECT ON OTHER ALLOTMENTS.—The allotment to any new entrant mainland State shall be subtracted, on a pro rata basis, from the allotments otherwise allotted to each mainland State under section 359c(e)(3).

“(v) ADVERSE EFFECTS.—Before providing an initial processor allocation or State allotment to a new entrant processor or a new entrant State under this subparagraph, the Secretary shall take into consideration any adverse effects that the provision of the allocation or allotment may have on existing cane processors and producers in mainland States.

“(vi) ABILITY TO MARKET.—Consistent with section 359c and this section, any processor allocation or State allotment made to a new entrant processor or to a new entrant State under this subparagraph shall be provided only after the applicant processor, or the applicable processors in the State, have demonstrated the ability to process, produce, and market (including the transfer or delivery of the raw cane sugar to a refinery for further processing or marketing) raw cane sugar for the crop year for which the allotment is applicable.

“(vii) PROHIBITION.—Not more than 1 processor allocation provided under this subparagraph may be applicable to any individual sugar processing facility.

“(F) TRANSFER OF OWNERSHIP.—Except as otherwise provided in section 359f(c)(8), if a sugarcane processor is sold or otherwise transferred to another owner or is closed as part of an affiliated corporate group processing consolidation, the Secretary shall transfer the allotment allocation for the processor to the purchaser, new owner, successor in interest, or any remaining processor of an affiliated entity, as applicable, of the processor.

“(2) BEET SUGAR.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph and sections 359c(g), 359e(b), and 359f(b), the Secretary shall make all locations for beet sugar among beet sugar processors for each crop year that allotments are in effect on the basis of the adjusted weighted average quantity of beet sugar produced by the processors for each of the 1998 through 2000 crop years, as determined under this paragraph.

“(B) QUANTITY.—The quantity of an allocation made for a beet sugar processor for a crop year under subparagraph (A) shall bear the same ratio to the quantity of allocations made for all beet sugar processors for the crop year as the adjusted weighted average quantity of beet sugar produced by the processor (as determined under subparagraphs (C) and (D)) bears to the total of the adjusted weighted average quantities of beet sugar produced by all processors (as so determined).

“(C) WEIGHTED AVERAGE QUANTITY.—Subject to subparagraph (D), the weighted quantity of beet sugar produced by a beet sugar processor during each of the 1998 through 2000 crop years shall be (as determined by the Secretary)—

“(i) in the case of the 1998 crop year, 25 percent of the quantity of beet sugar produced by the processor during the crop year;

“(ii) in the case of the 1999 crop year, 35 percent of the quantity of beet sugar produced by the processor during the crop year; and “(iii) in the case of the 2000 crop year, 40 percent of the quantity of beet sugar produced by the processor (including any quantity of sugar received from the Commodity Credit Corporation) during the crop year.

“(D) ADJUSTMENTS.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall adjust the weighted average quantity of beet sugar produced by a beet sugar processor during the 1998 through 2000 crop years under subparagraph (C) if the Secretary determines that the processor—

“(I) during the 1996 through 2000 crop years, opened a sugar beet processing factory;

“(II) during the 1998 through 2000 crop years, closed a sugar beet processing factory;

“(III) during the 1998 through 2000 crop years, constructed a molasses desugarization facility; or “(IV) during the 1998 through 2000 crop years, suffered substantial quality losses on sugar beets stored during any such crop year.

“(ii) QUANTITY.—The quantity of beet sugar produced by a beet sugar processor under subparagraph (C) shall be—

“(I) in the case of a processor that opened a sugar beet processing factory, increased by 1.25 percent of the total of the adjusted weighted average quantities of beet sugar produced by all processors during the 1998 through 2000 crop years (without consideration of any adjustment under this subparagraph) for each sugar beet processing factory that is opened by the processor;

“(II) in the case of a processor that closed a sugar beet processing factory, decreased by 1.25 percent of the total of the adjusted weighted average quantities of beet sugar produced by all processors during the 1998 through 2000 crop years (without consideration of any adjustment under this subparagraph) for each sugar beet processing factory that is closed by the processor;

“(III) in the case of a processor that constructed a molasses desugarization facility, increased by 0.25 percent of the total of the adjusted weighted average quantities of beet sugar produced by all processors during the 1998 through 2000 crop years (without consideration of any adjustment under this subparagraph) for each molasses desugarization facility that is constructed by the processor; and

“(IV) in the case of a processor that suffered substantial quality losses on stored sugar beets, increased by 1.25 percent of the total of the adjusted weighted average quantities of beet sugar produced by all processors during the 1998 through 2000 crop years (without consideration of any adjustment under this subparagraph).

“(E) PERMANENT TERMINATION OF OPERATIONS OF A PROCESSOR.—If a processor of beet sugar has been dissolved, liquidated in a bankruptcy proceeding, or otherwise has permanently terminated operations (other than in conjunction with a sale or other disposition of the processor or the assets of the processor), the Secretary shall—

“(i) eliminate the allocation of the processor provided under this section; and “(ii) distribute the allocation to other beet sugar processors on a pro rata basis.

“(F) SALE OF ALL ASSETS OF A PROCESSOR TO ANOTHER PROCESSOR.—If a processor of beet sugar (or all of the assets of the processor) is sold to another processor of beet sugar, the Secretary shall transfer the allocation of the seller to the buyer unless the allocation has been distributed to other sugar beet processors under subparagraph (E).

“(G) SALE OF FACTORIES OF A PROCESSOR TO ANOTHER PROCESSOR.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraphs (E) and (F), if 1 or more factories of a processor of beet sugar (but not all of the assets of the processor) are sold to another processor of beet sugar during a crop year, the Secretary shall assign a pro rata portion of the allocation of the seller to the allocation of the buyer to reflect the historical contribution of the production of the sold factory or factories to the total allocation of the seller.

“(ii) APPLICATION OF ALLOCATION.—The assignment of the allocation under clause (i) shall apply—

“(I) during the remainder of the crop year during which the sale described in clause (i) occurs (referred to in this subparagraph as the ‘initial crop year’); and “(II) each subsequent crop year (referred in this subparagraph as a ‘subsequent crop year’), subject to clause (iii).

“(iii) SUBSEQUENT CROP YEARS.—

“(I) IN GENERAL.—The assignment of the allocation under clause (i) shall apply during each subsequent crop year unless the acquired factory or factories continue in operation for less than the initial crop year and the first subsequent crop year.

“(II) REASSIGNMENT.—If the acquired factory or factories do not continue in operation for the complete initial crop year and the first subsequent crop year, the Secretary shall reassign the temporary allocation to other processors of beet sugar on a pro rata basis.

“(iv) USE OF OTHER FACTORIES TO FILL ALLOCATION.—If the transferred allocation to the buyer for the purchased factory or factories cannot be filled by the production of the purchased factory or factories for the initial crop year or a subsequent crop year, the remainder of the transferred allocation may be filled by beet sugar produced by the buyer from other factories of the buyer.

“(H) NEW ENTRANTS STARTING PRODUCTION OR REOPENING FACTORIES.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided by clause (ii), if an individual or entity that does not have an allocation of beet sugar under this part (referred to in this paragraph as a ‘new entrant’) starts processing sugar beets after the date of enactment of this subparagraph, or acquires and reopens a factory that produced beet sugar during previous crop years that (at the time of acquisition) has no allocation associated with the factory under this part, the Secretary shall—

“(I) assign an allocation for beet sugar to the new entrant that provides a fair and equitable distribution of the allocations for beet sugar; and

“(II) reduce the allocations for beet sugar of all other processors on a pro rata basis to reflect the new allocation.

“(ii) EXCEPTION.—If a new entrant acquires and reopens a factory that previously produced beet sugar from sugar beets and from sugar beet molasses but the factory last processed sugar beets during the 1997 crop year and the new entrant starts to process sugar beets at such factory after the date of enactment of this clause, the Secretary shall—

“(I) assign an allocation for beet sugar to the new entrant that is not less than the greater of 1.67 percent of the total of the adjusted weighted average quantities of beet sugar produced by all processors during the 1998 through 2000 crop years as determined under subsection (b)(2)(C), or 1,500,000 hundredweights; and

“(II) reduce the allocations for beet sugar of all other processors on a pro rata basis to reflect the new allocation.

“(J) NEW ENTRANTS ACQUIRING ONGOING FACTORIES WITH PRODUCTION HISTORY.—If a new entrant acquires a factory that has production history during the period of the 1998 through 2000 crop years and that is producing beet sugar at the time the allocations are made from a processor that has an allocation of beet sugar, the Secretary shall transfer a portion of the allocation of the seller to the new entrant to reflect the historical contribution of the production of the sold factory to the total allocation of the seller.

“SEC. 359e. REASSIGNMENT OF DEFICITS.

“(a) ESTIMATES OF DEFICITS.—At any time allotments are in effect under this part, the Secretary, from time to time, shall determine whether (in view of then-current inventories of sugar, the estimated production of sugar and expected marketings, and other pertinent factors) any processor of sugarcane will be unable to market the sugar covered by the portion of the State cane sugar allotment allocated to the processor and whether any processor of sugar beets will be unable to market sugar covered by the portion of the beet sugar allotment allocated to the processor.

“(b) REASSIGNMENT OF DEFICITS.—

“(1) CANE SUGAR.—If the Secretary determines that any sugarcane processor who has been allocated a share of a State cane sugar allotment will be unable to market the processor's allocation of the State's allotment for the crop year—

“(A) the Secretary first shall reassign the estimated quantity of the deficit to the allocations for other processors within that State, depending on the capacity of each other processor to fill the portion of the deficit to be assigned to it and taking into account the interests of producers served by the processors;

“(B) if after the reassignments the deficit cannot be completely eliminated, the Secretary shall reassign the estimated quantity of the deficit proportionately to the allotments for other cane sugar States, depending on the capacity of each other State to fill the portion of the deficit to be assigned to it, with the reassigned quantity to each State to be allocated among processors in that State in proportion to the allocations of the processors;

“(C) if after the reassignments the deficit cannot be completely eliminated, the Secretary shall reassign the estimated quantity of the deficit to the Commodity Credit Corporation and shall sell such quantity of sugar from inventories of the Corporation unless the Secretary determines that such sales would have a significant effect on the price of sugar; and “(D) if after the reassignments and sales, the deficit cannot be completely eliminated, the Secretary shall reassign the remainder to imports.

“(2) BEET SUGAR.—If the Secretary determines that a sugar beet processor who has been allocated a share of the beet sugar allotment will be unable to market that allocation—

“(A) the Secretary first shall reassign the estimated quantity of the deficit to the allotments for other sugar beet processors, depending on the capacity of each other processor to fill the portion of the deficit to be assigned to it and taking into account the interests of producers served by the processors;

“(B) if after the reassignments the deficit cannot be completely eliminated, the Secretary shall reassign the estimated quantity of the deficit to the Commodity Credit Corporation and shall sell such quantity of sugar from inventories of the Corporation unless the Secretary determines that such sales would have a significant effect on the price of sugar; and “(C) if after the reassignments and sales, the deficit cannot be completely eliminated, the Secretary shall reassign the remainder to imports.

“(3) CORRESPONDING INCREASE.—The allocation of each processor receiving a reassigned quantity of an allotment under this subsection for a crop year shall be increased to reflect the reassignment.

“SEC. 359f. PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO PROCESSORS.

“(a) PROCESSOR ASSURANCES.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—If allotments for a crop year are allocated to processors under section 359d, the Secretary shall obtain from the processors such assurances as the Secretary considers adequate that the allocation will be shared among producers served by the processor in a fair and equitable manner that adequately reflects producers' production histories.

“(2) ARBITRATION.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Any dispute between a processor and a producer, or group of producers, with respect to the sharing of the allocation to the processor shall be resolved through arbitration by the Secretary on the request of either party.

“(B) PERIOD.—The arbitration shall, to the maximum extent practicable, be—

“(i) commenced not more than 45 days after the request; and “(ii) completed not more than 60 days after the request.

“(b) SUGAR BEET PROCESSING FACILITY CLOSURES.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—If a sugar beet processing facility is closed and the sugar beet growers that previously delivered beets to the facility elect to deliver their beets to another processing company, the growers may petition the Secretary to modify allocations under this part to allow the delivery.

“(2) INCREASED ALLOCATION FOR PROCESSING COMPANY.—The Secretary may increase the allocation to the processing company to which the growers elect to deliver their sugar beets, with the approval of the processing company, to a level that does not exceed the processing capacity of the processing company, to accommodate the change in deliveries.

“(3) DECREASED ALLOCATION FOR CLOSED COMPANY.—The increased allocation shall be deducted from the allocation to the company that owned the processing facility that has been closed and the remaining allocation shall be unaffected.

“(4) TIMING.—The determinations of the Secretary on the issues raised by the petition shall be made within 60 days after the filing of the petition.

“(c) PROPORTIONATE SHARES OF CERTAIN ALLOTMENTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—

“(A) STATES AFFECTED.—In any case in which a State allotment is established under section 359c(f) and there are in excess of 250 sugarcane producers in the State (other than Puerto Rico), the Secretary shall make a determination under subparagraph (B).

“(B) DETERMINATION.—The Secretary shall determine, for each State allotment described in subparagraph (A), whether the production of sugarcane, in the absence of proportionate shares, will be greater than the quantity needed to enable processors to fill the allotment and provide a normal carryover inventory of sugar.

“(2) ESTABLISHMENT OF PROPORTIONATE SHARES.—If the Secretary determines under paragraph (1) that the quantity of sugarcane produced by producers in the area covered by a State allotment for a crop year will be in excess of the quantity needed to enable processors to fill the allotment for the crop year and provide a normal carryover inventory of sugar, the Secretary shall establish a proportionate share for each sugarcane-producing farm that limits the acreage of sugarcane that may be harvested on the farm for sugar or seed during the crop year the allotment is in effect as provided in this subsection. Each such proportionate share shall be subject to adjustment under paragraph (7) and section 359c(g).

“(3) METHOD OF DETERMINING.—For purposes of determining proportionate shares for any crop of sugarcane:

“(A) The Secretary shall establish the State's per-acre yield goal for a crop of sugarcane at a level (not less than the average per-acre yield in the State for the 2 highest years from among the 1999, 2000, and 2001 crop years, as determined by the Secretary) that will ensure an adequate net return per pound to producers in the State, taking into consideration any available production research data that the Secretary considers relevant.

“(B) The Secretary shall adjust the per-acre yield goal by the average recovery rate of sugar produced from sugarcane by processors in the State.

“(C) The Secretary shall convert the State allotment for the crop year involved into a State acreage allotment for the crop by dividing the State allotment by the per-acre yield goal for the State, as established under subparagraph (A) and as further adjusted under subparagraph (B).

“(D) The Secretary shall establish a uniform reduction percentage for the crop by dividing the State acreage allotment, as determined for the crop under subparagraph (C), by the sum of all adjusted acreage bases in the State, as determined by the Secretary.

“(E) The uniform reduction percentage for the crop, as determined under subparagraph (D), shall be applied to the acreage base for each sugarcane-producing farm in the State to determine the farm's proportionate share of sugarcane acreage that may be harvested for sugar or seed.

“(4) ACREAGE BASE.—For purposes of this subsection, the acreage base for each sugarcane-producing farm shall be determined by the Secretary, as follows:

“(A) The acreage base for any farm shall be the number of acres that is equal to the average of the acreage planted and considered planted for harvest for sugar or seed on the farm in the 2 highest of the 1999, 2000, and 2001 crop years.

“(B) Acreage planted to sugarcane that producers on a farm were unable to harvest to sugarcane for sugar or seed because of drought, flood, other natural disaster, or other condition beyond the control of the producers may be considered as harvested for the production of sugar or seed for purposes of this paragraph.

“(5) VIOLATION.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Whenever proportionate shares are in effect in a State for a crop of sugarcane, producers on a farm shall not knowingly harvest, or allow to be harvested, for sugar or seed an acreage of sugarcane in excess of the farm's proportionate share for the crop year, or otherwise violate proportionate share regulations issued by the Secretary under section 359h(a).

“(B) DETERMINATION OF VIOLATION.—No producer shall be considered to have violated subparagraph (A) unless the processor of the sugarcane harvested by such producer from acreage in excess of the proportionate share of the farm markets an amount of sugar that exceeds the allocation of such processor for a crop year.

“(C) CIVIL PENALTY.—Any producer on a farm who violates subparagraph (A) by knowingly harvesting, or allowing to be harvested, an acreage of sugarcane in excess of the farm's proportionate share shall be liable to the Commodity Credit Corporation for a civil penalty equal to one and one-half times the United States market value of the quantity of sugar that is marketed by the processor of such sugarcane in excess of the allocation of such processor for the crop year. The Secretary shall prorate penalties imposed under this subparagraph in a fair and equitable manner among all the producers of sugarcane harvested from excess acreage that is acquired by such processor.

A processor that is alleged to have failed to fill at least 82.5 percent of its allocation shall be allowed to fully participate in the appeal.

“(a) IN GENERAL.—Through the 2007 calendar year, the Secretary shall formulate and carry out a conservation reserve program under which land is enrolled through the use of contracts to assist owners and operators of land specified in subsection (b) to conserve and improve the soil, water, and wildlife resources of such land.

“(b) ELIGIBLE LAND.—The Secretary may include in the program established under this subchapter—

“(1) highly erodible cropland that—

“(A)(i) if permitted to remain untreated could substantially reduce the agricultural production capability for future generations; or

“(ii) cannot be farmed in accordance with a plan that complies with the requirements of subtitle B; and

“(B) the Secretary determines had a cropping history or was considered to be planted for 4 of the 6 years preceding the date of enactment of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (except for land enrolled in the conservation reserve program as of that date).

“(2) marginal pasture land converted to wetland or established as wildlife habitat prior to November 28, 1990;

“(3) marginal pasture land to be devoted to appropriate vegetation, including trees, in or near riparian areas, or devoted to similar water quality purposes (including marginal pastureland converted to wetland or established as wildlife habitat);

“(E) enrollment of the land would facilitate a net savings in groundwater or surface water resources of the agricultural operation of the producer;

“(5) the portion of land in a field not enrolled in the conservation reserve in a case in which more than 50 percent of the land in the field is enrolled as a buffer, if—

“(A) the land is enrolled as part of the buffer; and

“(c) ANNUAL RENTAL PAYMENTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—In determining the amount of annual rental payments to be paid to owners and operators for converting highly erodible cropland normally devoted to the production of an agricultural commodity to less intensive use, the Secretary may consider, among other things, the amount necessary to encourage owners or operators of highly erodible cropland to participate in the program established by this subchapter.

“(2) METHOD OF DETERMINATION.—The amounts payable to owners or operators in the form of rental payments under contracts entered into under this subchapter may be determined through—

“(A) the submission of bids for such contracts by owners and operators in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe; or “(B) such other means as the Secretary determines are appropriate.

“(3) ACCEPTANCE OF CONTRACT OFFERS.—In determining the acceptability of contract offers, the Secretary may—

“(A) take into consideration the extent to which enrollment of the land that is the subject of the contract offer would improve soil resources, water quality, wildlife habitat, or provide other environmental benefits; and

“(B) establish different criteria in various States and regions of the United States based on the extent to which water quality or wildlife habitat may be improved or erosion may be abated.

“(4) HARDWOOD TREE ACREAGE.—In the case of acreage enrolled in the conservation reserve established under this subchapter that is to be devoted to hardwood trees, the Secretary may consider bids for contracts under this subsection on a continuous basis.

“(d) CASH OR IN-KIND PAYMENTS.—

“(A) by delivery of the commodity involved to the owner or operator at a warehouse or other similar facility located in the county in which the highly erodible cropland is located or at such other location as is agreed to by the Secretary and the owner or operator;

“(B) by the transfer of negotiable warehouse receipts; or

“(C) by such other method, including the sale of the commodity in commercial markets, as is determined by the Secretary to be appropriate to enable the owner or operator to receive efficient and expeditious possession of the commodity.

“(3) CASH PAYMENTS.—

“(A) COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION STOCKS.—If stocks of a commodity acquired by the Commodity Credit Corporation are not readily available to make full payment in kind to the owner or operator, the Secretary may substitute full or partial payment in cash for payment in kind.

“(B) SPECIAL CONSERVATION RESERVE ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM.—Payments to an owner or operator under a special conservation reserve enhancement program described in subsection (f)(4) shall be in the form of cash only.

“(e) PAYMENTS ON DEATH, DISABILITY, OR SUCCESSION.—If an owner or operator that is entitled to a payment under a contract entered into under this subchapter dies, becomes incompetent, is otherwise unable to receive the payment, or is succeeded by another person that renders or completes the required performance, the Secretary shall make the payment, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary and without regard to any other provision of law, in such manner as the Secretary determines is fair and reasonable in light of all of the circumstances.

“(B) CORPORATIONS AND STOCKHOLDERS.—The regulations promulgated by the Secretary on December 18, 1970, under section 101 of the Agricultural Act of 1970 (7 U.S.C. 1307), shall be used to determine whether corporations and their stockholders may be considered as separate persons under this subsection.

“(3) OTHER PAYMENTS.—Rental payments received by an owner or operator shall be in addition to, and not affect, the total amount of payments that the owner or operator is otherwise eligible to receive under the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002.

“(4) SPECIAL CONSERVATION RESERVE ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The provisions of this subsection that limit payments to any person, and section 1305(d) of the Agricultural Reconciliation Act of 1987 (7 U.S.C. 1308 note; Public Law 100-203), shall not be applicable to payments received by a State, political subdivision, or agency thereof in connection with agreements entered into under a special conservation reserve enhancement program carried out by that entity that has been approved by the Secretary.

“(B) AGREEMENTS.—The Secretary may enter into such agreements for payments to States (including political subdivisions and agencies of States) that the Secretary determines will advance the purposes of this subchapter.

“(g) OTHER STATE OR LOCAL ASSISTANCE.—In addition to any payment under this subchapter, an owner or operator may receive cost share assistance, rental payments, or tax benefits from a State or subdivision thereof for enrolling land in the conservation reserve program.

“SEC. 1235. CONTRACTS.

“(a) OWNERSHIP OR OPERATION REQUIREMENTS.—

(C)(i) the manner in which differential per acre payment rates potentially impact the types of land (by productivity) enrolled;

(ii) changes to the per acre payment rates that may affect that impact; and

(iii) the manner in which differential per acre payment rates could facilitate retention of productive agricultural land in agriculture; and

(D) the effect of enrollment on opportunities for recreational activities (including hunting and fishing).

SEC. 3209. SENSE OF CONGRESS CONCERNING FOREIGN ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) the international community faces a continuing epidemic of ethnic, sectarian, and criminal violence;

(2) poverty, hunger, political uncertainty, and social instability are the principal causes of violence and conflict around the world;

(3) broad-based, equitable economic growth and agriculture development facilitates political stability, food security, democracy, and the rule of law;

(4) democratic governments are more likely to advocate and observe international laws, protect civil and human rights, pursue free market economies, and avoid external conflicts;

(5) the United States Agency for International Development has provided critical democracy and governance assistance to a majority of the nations that successfully made the transition to democratic governments during the past 2 decades;

(6) 43 of the top 50 consumer nations of American agricultural products were once United States foreign aid recipients;

(7) in the past 50 years, infant child death rates in the developing world have been reduced by 50 percent, and health conditions around the world have improved more during this period than in any other period;

(8) the United States Agency for International Development child survival programs have significantly contributed to a 10 percent reduction in infant mortality rates worldwide in just the past 8 years;

(9) in providing assistance by the United States and other donors in better seeds and teaching more efficient agricultural techniques over the past 2 decades have helped make it possible to feed an additional 1,000,000,000 people in the world;

(10) despite this progress, approximately 1,200,000,000 people, one-quarter of the world's population, live on less than $1 per day, and approximately 3,000,000,000 people live on only $2 per day;

(11) 95 percent of new births occur in developing countries, including the world's poorest countries; and

(12) only ½ percent of the Federal budget is dedicated to international economic and humanitarian assistance.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) United States foreign assistance programs should play an increased role in the global fight against terrorism to complement the national security objectives of the United States;

(2) the United States should lead coordinated international efforts to provide increased financial assistance to countries with impoverished and disadvantaged populations that are the breeding grounds for terrorism; and

(3) the United States Agency for International Development and the Department of Agriculture should substantially increase humanitarian, economic development, and agricultural assistance to foster international peace and stability and the promotion of human rights.

SEC. 3210. SENSE OF THE SENATE CONCERNING AGRICULTURAL TRADE.

(a) AGRICULTURE TRADE NEGOTIATING OBJECTIVES.—It is the sense of the Senate that the principal negotiating objective of the United States with respect to agricultural trade in all multilateral, regional, and bilateral negotiations is to obtain competitive opportunities for the export of United States agricultural commodities in foreign markets substantially equivalent to the competitive opportunities afforded foreign exports in United States markets and to achieve fairer and more open conditions of agricultural trade in bulk and value-added commodities by—

(1) reducing or eliminating, by a date certain, tariffs or other charges that decrease market opportunities for the export of United States agricultural commodities, giving priority to United States agricultural commodities that are subject to significantly higher tariffs or subsidy regimes of major producing countries;

(2) immediately eliminating all export subsidies on agricultural commodities worldwide while maintaining bona fide food aid and preserving United States agricultural market development and export credit programs that allow the United States to compete with other foreign export promotion efforts;

(3) leveling the playing field for United States agricultural producers by disciplining domestic supports such that no other country can provide greater support, measured as a percentage of total agricultural production value, than the United States does while preserving existing green box category to support conservation activities, family farms, and rural communities;

(4) developing, strengthening, and clarifying rules and effective dispute settlement mechanisms to eliminate practices that unfairly decrease United States market access opportunities for United States agricultural commodities or distort agricultural markets to the detriment of the United States, including—

(A) unfair or trade-distorting activities of state trading enterprises and other administrative mechanisms, with emphasis on—

(i) requiring price transparency in the operation of state trading enterprises and such other mechanisms; and

(ii) ending discriminatory pricing practices for agricultural commodities that amount to de facto export subsidies so that the enterprises or other mechanisms do not (except in cases of bona fide food aid) sell agricultural commodities in foreign markets at prices below domestic market prices or prices below the full costs of acquiring and delivering agricultural commodities to the foreign markets;

(B) unjustified trade restrictions or commercial requirements affecting new agricultural technologies, including biotechnology;

(C) unjustified sanitary or phytosanitary restrictions, including restrictions that are not based on scientific principles, in contravention of the Agreement on the Application of Sanitary and Phytosanitary Measures (as described in section 101(d)(3) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3511(d)(3)));

(D) other unjustified technical barriers to agricultural trade; and

(E) restrictive and nontransparent rules in the administration of tariff rate quotas;

(5) improving import relief mechanisms to recognize the unique characteristics of perishable agricultural commodities;

(6) taking into account whether a party to negotiations with respect to trading in an agricultural commodity has—

(A) failed to adhere to the provisions of an existing bilateral trade agreement with the United States;

(B) circumvented obligations under a multilateral trade agreement to which the United States is a signatory; or

(C) manipulated its currency value to the detriment of United States agricultural producers or exporters; and

(7) otherwise ensuring that countries that accede to the World Trade Organization—

(A) have made meaningful market liberalization commitments in agriculture; and

(B) make progress in fulfilling those commitments over time.

(b) PRIORITY FOR AGRICULTURE TRADE.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) reaching a successful agreement on agriculture should be the top priority of United States negotiators in World Trade Organization talks; and

(2) if the primary export competitors of the United States fail to reduce their trade distorting domestic supports and eliminate export subsidies in accordance with the negotiating objectives expressed in this section, the United States should take steps to increase the leverage of United States negotiators and level the playing field for United States producers, within existing World Trade Organization commitments.

(c) CONSULTATION WITH CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) before the United States Trade Representative negotiates a trade agreement that would reduce tariffs on agricultural commodities or require a change in United States agricultural law, the United States Trade Representative should consult with the Committee on Agriculture and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry and the Committee on Finance of the Senate;

(2) not less than 48 hours before initialing an agreement relating to agricultural trade negotiated under the auspices of the World Trade Organization, the United States Trade Representative should consult closely with the committees referred to in paragraph (1) regarding—

(A) the details of the agreement;

(B) the potential impact of the agreement on United States agricultural producers; and

(C) any changes in United States law necessary to implement the agreement; and

(3) any agreement or other understanding (whether verbal or in writing) that relates to agricultural trade that is not disclosed to Congress before legislation implementing a trade agreement is introduced in either the Senate or the House of Representatives should not be considered to be part of the agreement approved by Congress and should have no force and effect under United States law or in any dispute settlement body.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Agriculture shall conduct a review of the effects that payments under production flexibility contracts and market loss assistance payments have had, and that direct payments and counter-cyclical payments are likely to have, on the economic viability of producers and the farming infrastructure, particularly in areas where climate, soil types, and other agronomic conditions severely limit the covered crops that producers can choose to successfully and profitably produce.

(b) CASE STUDY RELATED TO RICE PRODUCTION.—The review shall include a case study of the effects that the payments described in subsection (a), and the forecast effects of increasing these or other fixed payments, are likely to have on rice producers (including tenant rice producers), the rice milling industry, and the economies of rice farming areas in Texas, where harvested rice acreage has fallen from 320,000 acres in 1995 to only 211,000 acres in 2001.

(c) REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS.—

(1) REPORT.—Not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate a report describing the information collected for the review and the case study and any findings made on the basis of the information.

JOINT EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The Managers on the part of the House and the Senate at the conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 2646) to provide for the continuation of agricultural programs through fiscal year 2011, submit the following joint statement to the House and the Senate in explanation of the effect of the action agreed upon by the managers and recommended in the accompanying conference report:

The Senate amendment struck out all of the House bill after the enacting clause and inserted a substitute text.

The House recedes from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate with an amendment which is a substitute for the House bill and the Senate amendment. The differences between the House bill, the Senate amendment, and the substitute agreed to in conference are noted below, except for clerical corrections, conforming changes made necessary by agreements reached by the conferees, and minor drafting and clarifying changes.

(Section 1001)

SUBTITLE A—FIXED DECOUPLED PAYMENTS AND COUNTER-CYCLICAL PAYMENTS

(3) Payments to Eligible Producers

The House bill provides that beginning with the 2002 crop year, the Secretary will make fixed decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments to eligible producers, including producers that would have been eligible for an AMTA contract payment in 2002 and other producers of a covered commodity on a farm in the United States as described in section 103(a).

Defines a producer eligible to share in a fixed, decoupled and counter-cyclical payment as "an owner, operator, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper who shares in the risk of producing a crop and who is entitled to share in the crop available for marketing from the farm, or would have shared had the crop been produced. In determining whether a grower of hybrid seed is a producer, the Secretary shall not take into consideration the existence of a hybrid seed contract and shall ensure that program requirements do not adversely affect the ability of the grower to receive a payment under this title".

Requires the Secretary to protect the interests of tenants and sharecroppers in carrying out this title.

Sharing of Contract Payments.—The Secretary shall provide for the sharing of fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments among the eligible producers on a farm on a fair and equitable basis.

The Senate amendment provides that the Secretary shall offer to enter into a contract with an eligible owner or producer on a farm containing eligible cropland under which the eligible owner or producer will receive direct and counter-cyclical payments under sections 113 and 114, respectively.

For each of the 2002 through 2006 fiscal years, the Secretary shall make direct payments available to eligible owners and producers on a farm that have entered into a contract to receive payments under this section.

For each of the 2002 through 2006 crop years, the Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments to eligible owners and producers on a farm of each contract commodity that have entered into a contract to receive payments under this section.

An eligible owner or producer on a farm, subject to the provisions for share-rent tenants, cash-rent tenants and cash-rent owners, shall be eligible to enter into a contract.

Share-rent Tenant.—A producer on eligible cropland that is a tenant with a share-rent lease of the eligible cropland shall be eligible to enter into a contract, regardless of the length of the lease, if the owner enters into the same contract.

Cash-Rent Tenant.—Contracts With Long-Term Lease.—A producer on eligible cropland that cash rents the eligible cropland under a lease expiring on or after the termination of the contract shall be eligible to enter into a contract.

Contracts With Short-Term Lease.—A producer that cash rents the eligible cropland under a lease expiring before the termination of the contract shall be eligible to enter into a contract in addition to the owner. Provides that the owner must consent if a producer elects to enroll less than 100 percent of the eligible cropland in the contract.

Cash-Rent Owner.—An owner of eligible cropland that cash rents under a lease that expires before the end of the 2006 crop year shall be eligible to enter into a contract if the tenant declines to do so, however the Secretary shall not make contract payments to the owner under the contract until the lease held by the tenant terminates.

Requires the Secretary to protect the interest of tenants and sharecroppers in carrying out this subtitle.

Requires the Secretary to provide for the sharing of contract payments among the eligible producers on a farm on a fair and equitable basis. (Section 111)

The Conference substitute deletes both the House and the Senate provisions, except provides in section 1105 for the protection of the interest of tenants and sharecroppers and requires the sharing of direct and counter-cyclical payments among the producers on a farm on a fair and equitable basis. (Section 1105)

The Managers intend that the Secretary will consider acreage and production data from producers' federal crop insurance records, as well as records provided to the Farm Service Agency to qualify for market assistance loan benefits during the relevant crop years.

(4) Establishment of Payment Yield

The House bill requires the Secretary to establish payment yields for each farm for each covered commodity. The yield for a farm will be the payment yield in effect for the 2002 crop of the commodity as provided under section 505 of the Agricultural Act of 1949. If no yield is available, the Secretary shall establish an appropriate payment yield taking into account the payment yields applicable to the commodity for similar farms in the area.

Relative to soybeans and other oilseeds, the Secretary will establish a yield for a farm by determining the average yield from 1998 through 2001, excluding years where the acreage planted to the oilseed was zero. If a farm would have satisfied disaster eligibility requirements under the FY1999 Agriculture Appropriations Bill in any of the 1998 through 2001 crop years, the Secretary will assign a yield to the farm equal to 65 percent of the county yield for that year in determining the 4-year average.

The payment yield for a farm for an oilseed shall be equal to the product of the following: (A) the average yield for the oilseed determined under paragraph (1). The ratio resulting from dividing the national average yield for the oilseed for the 1981 through 1985 crops by the national average yield for the oilseed for the 1998 through 2001 crops. (Section 102)

The Senate amendment provides that subject to subsection (h), an eligible owner or producer that has entered into a contract under this subtitle may make a 1-time election to have the payment yield for each of the contract commodities for a farm be equal to an amount that is the greater of: (1) the average yield per harvested acre for the crop of the contract commodity for the farm for the 1998–2001 crop years, excluding any crop year for which the producers on the farm did not plant the contract crop and, at the option of the producers, 1 additional crop year or the farm program payment yield adjusted for any additional yields. If no yield records are available for a contract commodity, including land devoted to oilseed under a conservation reserve contract, the Secretary shall establish an appropriate payment yield taking into account the payment yields applicable to the commodity for similar farms in the area. (Section 111)

The Conference substitute requires the Secretary to establish payment yields for each farm for each covered commodity. The yield for a farm will be the payment yield in effect for the 2002 crop of the commodity as provided under section 505 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as adjusted by the Secretary to account for any additional yield payments. If no yield is available, the Secretary shall establish an appropriate payment yield taking into account the payment yields applicable to the commodity for similar farms in the area, but before the yields for the similar farms are updated to reflect the actual yield per planted acre for the period 1998 through 2001.

Relative to soybeans and other oilseeds, the Secretary will establish a yield for a farm by determining the average yield from 1998 through 2001, excluding years where the acreage planted to the oilseed was zero.

The payment yield for a farm for an oilseed shall be equal to the product of the following: (A) The average yield for the oilseed for the 1998 through 2001 crops. (B) The ratio resulting from dividing the national average yield for the oilseed for the 1981 through 1985 crops by the national average yield for the oilseed for the 1998 through 2001 crops.

If the yield per planted acre for a crop of an oilseed for a farm for any of the 1998 through 2001 crop years was less than 75 percent of the county yield for that oilseed, the Secretary shall assign a yield for that crop year equal to 75 percent of the county yield for purposes of determining the average yield for the 1998 through 2001 crop years.

If the owner of a farm elects to update the crop acreage base for all covered commodities using the average of the planted and prevented from planting acreage for 1998 through 2001, the owner shall also have a 1-time opportunity to elect to partially update the payment yields that would be used in calculating any counter-cyclical payments for covered commodities on the farm. If yields are updated for counter-cyclical payments for one covered commodity, they must be updated for all covered commodities on the farm.

If the owner of a farm elects to update yields for payments, the counter-cyclical payment yield for a covered commodity on the farm shall be equal to the yield determined using either of the following: (A) The sum of the payment yield applicable for direct payments for the covered commodity on the farm and 70 percent of the difference between the average of the yield per planted acre for the crop of the covered commodity on the farm for the 1998 through 2001 crop years and the payment yield applicable for direct payments for the covered commodity on the farm, or (B) 93.5 percent of the average yield per planted acre for the crop of the covered commodity for the farm for the 1998 through 2001 crop years.

If the yield per planted acre for a crop of the covered commodity for a farm for any of the 1998 through 2001 crop years was less than 75 percent of the county yield for that commodity, the Secretary shall assign a yield for that crop year equal to 75 percent of the county for the purpose of determining the average yield.

Owners electing to partially update yields are required to have the partially updated yield determined on the average yield per planted acre, excluding any year in which the crop was not planted. The Managers intend that the Secretary recognize that those producers planting crops for grazing that will be included as base acreage are unable to furnish production evidence similar to that furnished by producers that harvest crops for grain. For those owners intending to partially update a crop's counter-cyclical yield that have this situation, the Managers intend for the Secretary to equitably determine the yield on the grazed acreage to be used for purposes of proven yields by either assigning a yield based on the actual production for that year on similar farms that harvested for grain or other method determined appropriate by the Secretary. (Section 1102)

(5) Establishment of Base Acres and Payment Acres for a Farm

The House bill provides that the Secretary will give producers a choice in determining their base acres. Producers may choose base acres reflecting the four-year average of acreage planted or prevented from being planted to the commodity for harvest, grazing, haying, silage, and other similar purposes during the 1998 through 2001 crop years. Alternatively, producers may choose base acres reflecting contract acreage that would otherwise be used to calculate the fiscal year 2002 production flexibility contract payments.

Producers may make an election of base acres only once and provide notice of the election to the Secretary no later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act. If a producer fails to make an election of base acreage, or fails to timely notify the Secretary of the selected base acreage, the producers shall be deemed to have chosen base acres reflecting the production flexibility contract acreage.

The election made by the producer shall apply to all covered commodities on the farm.

In the case of producers on a farm that elect as their base acreage the contract acreage used by the Secretary to calculate the fiscal year 2002 payment, the Secretary will restore base acres when land under a conservation reserve contract expires, is voluntary terminated, or is released by the Secretary. (Conservation Reserve Program Sign-up 1-14)

For the fiscal year and crop year in which a base acre adjustment is first made, the producers on the farm shall elect to receive either fixed decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments with respect to the acreage added to the farm or a prorated payment under the conservation reserve contract, but not both.

In the case of producers on a farm that elect as their base acreage the contract acreage used by the Secretary to calculate the fiscal year 2002 payment, the Secretary will restore base acres when land under a conservation reserve contract expires, is voluntary terminated, or is released by the Secretary. (Conservation Reserve Program Sign-up 15 and greater)

Payment acres for both the fixed decoupled and the counter-cyclical payment shall be equal to 85% of the base acres.

The sum of base acres, peanut acres and acreage enrolled in CRP, WRP, or other programs in which a producer agrees not to produce a commodity on acreage in exchange for a payment, cannot exceed the actual cropland acreage on the farm. The Secretary shall give producers on the farm the opportunity to select base acres or peanuts acres against which the reduction will be made. The Secretary shall make an exception in the case of double cropping. (Section 103)

The Senate amendment provides that land shall be considered to be cropland eligible for coverage under a contract only if the land has with respect to a contract commodity, contract acreage attributable to the land and a payment yield or was subject to a conservation reserve contract with a term that expired, or was voluntarily terminated on or after the date of enactment.

Provides that an eligible owner or producer may enroll as contract acreage under this subtitle all or a portion of the eligible cropland on the farm.

Provides that an owner or producer that enters into a contract may subsequently reduce the quantity of contract acreage covered by the contract.

Subject to subsection (h) the Secretary shall provide eligible owners and producers on the farm with an opportunity to elect 1 of the following methods as the method by which the contract acreage for the 2002 through 2006 crops of all contract commodities for a farm are determined: (1) the 4-year average of acreage planted or considered planted to a contract commodity for harvest, grazing, haying, silage, or other similar purposes during the 1998 through 2001 crop years or (2) contract acreage that would be used to calculate the fiscal year 2002 production flexibility contract payments and the 4-year average for each oilseed produced on the farm.

In making the contract acreage and yield elections, eligible owners and producers on a farm shall elect to update the contract acreage using the 4-year 1998 through 2001 average acreage and the 1998 through 2001 average yield per harvested acre (adjusted for years with no planted acreage and at the option of the producer, 1 additional crop year) or the 2002 production flexibility contract crop acreage plus the 4-year average of oilseeds and the farm program payment yield for current contract crops and for oilseeds, the 1998 through 2001 average yield per harvested acre (adjusted for years with no planted acreage and at the option of the producer, 1 additional crop year).

At the beginning of each fiscal year, the Secretary shall allow an eligible owner or producer on a farm covered by a conservation reserve contract that terminated after 180 days after the enactment of this Act to enter into or expand a contract to cover the eligible cropland of the farm that was subject to the former conservation reserve contract.

For the fiscal year and crop year for which a contract acreage adjustment is made as a result of the termination of a conservation reserve program contract the eligible owners and producers on the farm shall elect to receive direct payments and counter-cyclical payments with respect to the acreage added to the farm or a prorated payment under the conservation reserve contract.

The sum of the contract acreage, peanut acres and acreage enrolled in CRP, WRP, or other acreage on a farm enrolled in a voluntary Federal conservation program under which production of any agricultural commodity is prohibited, cannot exceed the actual cropland acreage on a farm. The Secretary shall give owners and producers on the farm the opportunity to select contract acreage or peanut acres against which the reduction will be made. The Secretary shall take into account additional acreage as a result of an established double-cropping history on a farm. (Section 111)

The Conference substitute provides that for the purpose of making direct and counter-cyclical payments to a farm, the Secretary shall give an owner of the farm an opportunity to elect the method by which the base acres of all covered commodities on the farm are to be determined. Subject to the provision requiring the base acreage to be determined based on a 4-year average, including the years in which the crop was not planted, and the treatment of multiple plantings or prevented planting on the same acreage, owners may choose the farms crop acreage base by either: (1) using the acreage planted on the farm to covered commodities for harvest, grazing, haying, silage, or other similar purposes for the 1998 through 2001 crop years including any acreage on the farm that the producers were prevented from planting to covered commodities because of drought, flood, or other natural disaster, or other condition beyond the control of the producers, as determined by the Secretary or (2) contract acreage that would be used to calculate the fiscal year 2002 production flexibility contract payments and the 4-year average for each oilseed produced on the farm for the 1998 through 2001 crop years. The eligible acreage for each oilseed on a farm shall be the average of each oilseed for the 1998 through 2001 crop years, except that the total acreage for all oilseeds on the farm for a crop year may not exceed the difference between the total acreage determined for all covered commodities for that crop year and the total contract acreage used by the Secretary to calculate the fiscal year 2002 production flexibility contract payment.

The owner of a farm may increase the eligible acreage for an oilseed on the farm by reducing the production flexibility contract acreage for one or more covered commodities on an acre-for-acre-basis, except that the total base acreage for each oilseed on the farm may not exceed the 4-year average of each oilseed.

The Secretary shall not exclude any crop year in which a covered commodity was not planted for purposes of determining a 4-year acreage average.

For the purposes of determining the 4-year average of acreage planted or prevented from being planted during the 1998 through 2001 crop years to covered commodities, acreage that was planted or prevented from being planted that was devoted to another covered commodity in the same crop year may only be used in the base calculation after the owner determines whether the initial commodity or the subsequent commodity, but not both, will be used.

As soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall provide notice to owners of farms regarding their opportunity to make the applicable base election. The notice shall include: (1) notice that the opportunity of an owner to make the election is being provided only once and (2) information regarding the manner in which the election must be made and the time periods and manner in which notice of the election must be submitted to the Secretary.

The owner may make an election of base acres only once and must provide notice of the election to the Secretary within the time period and in the manner prescribed by the Secretary. If an owner fails to make an election of base acreage, or fails to timely notify the Secretary of the election made, the owner shall be deemed to have chosen base acres reflecting the production flexibility contract acreage, plus oilseeds if applicable.

The election made by the producer shall apply to all covered commodities on the farm.

The Secretary shall provide for an appropriate adjustment in the base acres for covered commodities for a farm whenever land under a conservation reserve contract expires, is voluntary terminated, or is released by the Secretary.

For the crop year in which a base acre adjustment is first made, the owner on the farm shall elect to receive either direct payments and counter-cyclical payments with respect to the acreage added to the farm or a prorated payment under the conservation reserve contract, but not both.

Payment acres for both the direct and the counter-cyclical payment shall be equal to 85% of the base acres.

The sum of base acres, base acres for peanuts and acreage enrolled in CRP, WRP, or other conservation programs which restrict or prohibit the production of an agricultural commodity cannot exceed the actual cropland acreage on the farm. The Secretary shall give producers on the farm the opportunity to select base acres or base acres for peanuts against which the reduction will be made. The Secretary shall make an exception in the case of double cropping.

The owner of a farm may reduce, at any time, base acreage for any covered commodity for the farm provided the reduction of base acreage is permanent.

In implementing Section 1101, the Secretary shall also allow owners of a farm who did not hold a production flexibility contract under the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 to elect to calculate base acreage for planting history on the farm for crop years 1998-2001. The intent of this section is to provide the opportunity to owners to update base acreage to reflect a more recent planting history, to allow owners not holding a production flexibility contract to receive farm program benefits under this Act, and to allow owners holding production flexibility contracts the opportunity to retain their base acreage and add oilseeds in a limited manner.

The Managers expect the Secretary to recognize that although the owner of the farm will be allowed the opportunity to make the applicable base election under Section 1101, it is important that other producers on the farm are notified of the acreage options available to the owner. In addition to providing notice to the owner of the farm, the Managers expect the Secretary to provide notice to operators or producers on a farm of the owner's opportunity to elect the method in which to calculate base acres at the time the Secretary provides notice to the owner.

The Managers are aware that production flexibility contract acreage was not protected on acreage enrolled into the Conservation Reserve Program during CRP signup number 15 and later. The Managers intend that the Secretary develop a method that provides for the restoration of base acreage on farms that permanently reduced contract acreage because of enrollment in CRP. Since soybeans and other oilseeds did not have contract acreage prior to this Act, the Managers expect the Secretary to treat soybeans and other oilseeds in a manner that is similar and consistent with other covered commodities. (Section 1101)

(5) Elements of Contracts

The Senate amendment provides the Time for Contracting—

(1) Commencement.—To the extent practicable, the Secretary shall commence entering into contracts not later than 45 days after the date of enactment of this title.

(2) Except as provided in paragraph the Secretary may not enter into a contract after the date that is 180 days after the date of enactment.

(3) At the beginning of each fiscal year, the Secretary shall allow an eligible owner or producer on a farm with a conservation reserve contract that terminated after the final date to enroll eligible cropland in a direct and counter-cyclical payment contract to enter into or expand a contract to cover the eligible cropland that was subject to the former conservation reserve contract.

Duration of Contract.—The term of a contract shall begin with the 2002 crop or in the case of acreage that was subject to a conservation reserve contract that is subsequently terminated, the date the contract was entered into or expanded to cover the terminated acreage. Unless earlier terminated by eligible owners or producer, the contract shall extend through the 2006 crop. (Section 111)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(6) Availability of Fixed, Decoupled Payments

The House bill provides that the Secretary shall make fixed decoupled payments to eligible producers for each of the 2002 through 2011 crop years at a payment rate of $0.53 per bushel for wheat, $0.30 per bushel for corn, $0.36 per bushel for grain sorghum, $0.25 per bushel for barley, $0.025 per bushel for oats, $0.0667 per pound for upland cotton, $2.35 per hundredweight for rice, $0.42 per bushel for soybeans, and $0.0074 per pound for other oilseeds.

The amount of the fixed, decoupled payment will be equal to the product of the payment rate of the applicable base crop, the payment acres, and the payment yield.

Fixed decoupled payments shall be paid no later than September 30 of fiscal years 2002 through 2011, except that in fiscal year 2002 payments may be made on or after December 1, 2001.

A producer may elect to receive 50 percent of the fixed decoupled payment in advance anytime on or after December 1 of a fiscal year. The producer may change the selected date for a subsequent fiscal year by providing advance notice to the Secretary.

If a producer who receives an advance fixed decoupled payment ceases to be an eligible producer by the time final fixed decoupled payments are to be made, the producer must repay the advance amount.

The Senate amendment provides that the Secretary shall make direct payments available to eligible owners and producers that have entered into a contract at a payment rate as follows:

	2002-03	2004-05	2006
Wheat (bu)	$0.45	$0.225	$0.113

	2002-03	2004-05	2006
Corn (bu)	0.27	0.135	0.068
Barley (bu)	0.20	0.100	0.050
Oats (bu)	0.05	0.025	0.013
Cotton (lb)	0.13	0.065	0.0325
Rice (cwt)	2.45	2.400	2.400
Soybeans (bu)	0.55	0.275	0.138
Other oilseeds (lb)	0.01	0.005	0.0025
Grain sorghum (bu) ...	2002-0.31	0.135	0.068
	2003-0.27

The amount of direct payment will be equal to the product of the payment rate for the contract crop for the applicable year, contract acreage and the payment yield.

A final direct payment (less the amount of any initial payment made to the producers on the farm of the contract commodity) shall be made not later than September 30 of the fiscal year.

A producer may elect to receive 50% of the direct payment in advance anytime on or after December 1 of the fiscal year. (Section 111)

The Conference substitute provides that the Secretary shall make direct payments to eligible producers for each of the 2002 through 2007 crop years at a payment rate of $0.52 per bushel for wheat, $0.28 per bushel for corn, $0.35 per bushel for grain sorghum, $0.24 per bushel for barley, $0.024 per bushel for oats, $0.0667 per pound for upland cotton, $2.35 per hundredweight for rice, $0.44 per bushel for soybeans, and $0.008 per pound for other oilseeds.

The amount of the direct payment will be equal to the product of the payment rate of the applicable base crop, the payment acres, and the payment yield.

For 2002, the Secretary is directed to make payments as soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act and for 2002 through 2007, but not before October 1 of the calendar year in which the crop of the covered commodity is harvested.

A producer may elect to receive up to 50 percent of the direct payment in advance in any month after December 1 of the calendar year before the calendar year in which the crop of the covered commodity is harvested. The producer may change the selected month for a subsequent crop year by providing advance notice to the Secretary.

If a producer who receives an advance fixed decoupled payment ceases to be a producer or changes share before the date the remainder of the direct payments are to be made, the producer must repay the applicable amount of the advance payment.

The Managers are aware that producers that elect to receive up to 50 percent of an advance direct payment might cease to be a producer on the farm before the date the remainder of the direct payment is made. The Managers assume the Secretary recognizes that different reasons exist for a producer ceasing to be a producer on a farm. These reasons would include bankruptcy, foreclosure and other similar situations that would preclude the producer from repaying the advance direct payment. Specifically, the Managers would not intend for this provision to apply in situations where a producer with winter wheat harvested a crop or failed to harvest the crop for weather related reasons beyond their control and the acreage was subsequently under the control of another producer that intended to plant a subsequent crop, or other similar situations. Conversely, the Managers expect there are a number of situations where the producer receiving the advance direct payment ceases to be a producer on the farm and should refund the advance direct payment. (Section 1103)

(7) Availability of Counter-Cyclical Payments

The House bill provides that the Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments relative to a covered commodity whenever the effective price is less than the target price.

The target price is $4.04 per bushel for wheat, $2.78 per bushel for corn, $2.64 per bushel for grain sorghum, $2.39 per bushel for barley, $1.47 per bushel for oats, $0.736 per pound for upland cotton, $10.82 per hundredweight for rice, $5.86 per bushel for soybeans, and $0.1036 per pound for other oilseeds.

The effective price is equal to the sum of (1) the higher of the national average market price during the 12-month marketing year for the commodity or the national average loan rate for the commodity, and (2) the payment rate for fixed decoupled payments for the commodity.

The payment rate for counter-cyclical payments is equal to the difference between the target price and the effective price for the commodity.

The payment amount for counter-cyclical payments is the product of the payment rate, the payment acres, and the payment yield.

The Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments for a covered commodity as soon as possible after determining that such payments are required.

The Secretary may provide a partial payment up to 40 percent of the projected counter-cyclical payment to producers upon completion of the first 6 months of the marketing year for that crop.

The producer must repay the amount, if any, by which the partial payment exceeds the counter-cyclical payment to be made in that crop year.

If the Secretary uses the authority to designate another oilseed for counter-cyclical payments the Secretary may modify the target price in subsection (c) (9) that would otherwise apply to that oilseed.

For purposes of calculating the effective price for barley the Secretary shall use the loan rate in effect for barley under section 122(b)(3) except in the case of producers who received the higher loan rate provided under such section for barley used only for feed purposes, the Secretary shall use the that higher loan rate. (Section 105)

The Senate amendment provides that the Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments relative to a contract commodity to owners and producers on a farm that have entered into a contract to receive such payments.

The income protection price is $3.4460 per bushel for wheat, $2.3472 per bushel for corn, $2.3472 per bushel for grain sorghum, $2.1973 per bushel for barley, $1.5480 per bushel for oats, $0.6793 per pound for upland cotton, $9.2914 per hundredweight for rice, $5.7431 per bushel for soybeans, and $0.1049 per pound for other oilseeds.

The payment rate for counter-cyclical payments shall equal the difference between the income protection price and the total of the higher of (1) the average price of the contract commodity during the first 5 months of the marketing year of the contract commodity or the loan rate for the commodity, and (2) the direct payment for the contract crop for the fiscal year that precedes the date of payment under this section.

The payment amount for counter-cyclical payments is the product of the payment rate for the contract crop, the contract acreage, and the payment yield.

The Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments not later than 190 days after the beginning of the marketing year for the applicable contract crop. (Section 114)

The Conference substitute provides that the Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments to producers on farms for which payment yields and bases acres are established with respect to a covered commodity whenever the effective price is less than the target price.

The effective price is equal to the sum of (1) the higher of the national average market price during the 12-month marketing year for the commodity or the national average loan rate for the commodity, and (2) the payment rate for direct payments for the commodity.

For the 2002 and 2003 crop years, the target price is $3.86 per bushel for wheat, $2.60 per bushel for corn, $2.54 per bushel for grain sorghum, $2.21 per bushel for barley, $1.40 per bushel for oats, $0.724 per pound for upland cotton, $10.50 per hundredweight for rice, $5.80 per bushel for soybeans, and $0.098 per pound for other oilseeds.

For the 2004 and 2007 crop years, the target price is $3.92 per bushel for wheat, $2.63 per bushel for corn, $2.57 per bushel for grain sorghum, $2.24 per bushel for barley, $1.44 per bushel for oats, $0.724 per pound for upland cotton, $10.50 per hundredweight for rice, $5.80 per bushel for soybeans, and $0.1010 per pound for other oilseeds.

The payment rate for counter-cyclical payments is equal to the difference between the target price and the effective price for the commodity.

The payment amount for counter-cyclical payments is the product of the payment rate, the payment acres, and the payment yield or updated payment yield, depending on the election of the owner of the farm.

If the Secretary determines that a counter-cyclical payment is required to be made for a covered commodity, the Secretary shall make the counter-cyclical payments for the crop as soon as practicable after the end of the 12-month marketing year for the covered commodity.

If the Secretary estimates counter-cyclical payments will be required, the Secretary shall give producers the option to receive partial payments.

When the Secretary makes partial payments for any of the 2002 through 2006 crop years, the first partial payment for the crop shall be made not earlier than October 1 and to the maximum extent practicable, not later than October 31, of the calendar year in which the crop is harvested. The second partial payment shall be made not earlier than February 1 of the next calendar year and the third and final partial payment shall be made as soon as practicable after the end of the 12-month marketing year for the covered commodity.

For the 2002 through 2006 crop years, the first partial payment may not exceed 35 percent of the projected counter-cyclical payment for the covered commodity for the crop year. The second partial payment may not exceed the difference between 70 percent of the revised projection of the counter-cyclical payment for the crop of the covered commodity and the amount of the payment made under clause (i). The final payment shall be equal to the difference between the actual counter-cyclical payment to be made to the producer and the amount of the first and second partial payment.

For the 2007 crop year, the first partial payment shall be made after completion of the first 6 months of the marketing year and the second and final partial payment shall be made as soon as practicable after the end of the 12-month marketing year for the covered commodity.

For the 2007 crop year, the first partial payment may not exceed 40 percent of the projected counter-cyclical payment. The final payment shall be equal to the difference between the actual counter-cyclical payment to be made to the producer and the amount of the partial payment.

The producer must repay the amount, if any, by which the partial payment exceeds the counter-cyclical payment to be made in that crop year. (Section 1104)

(8) Producer Agreement Required as Condition on Provision of Fixed, Decoupled Payments and Counter-Cyclical Payments

The House bill provides that before producers on a farm may receive fixed, decoupled payments or counter-cyclical payments with respect to the farm, the producers shall agree, in exchange for the payments to comply with applicable conservation requirements, applicable wetland protection requirements, planting flexibility requirements, and to use the land on the farm, in an amount equal to the base acres, for an agricultural or conserving use, and not for a non-agricultural commercial or industrial use, as determined by the Secretary.

The Secretary may issue such rules to ensure compliance with these requirements.

A producer may not be required to make repayments to the Secretary of fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments if the farm has been foreclosed on and the Secretary determines that forgiving the repayments is appropriate to provide fair and equitable treatment. This subsection shall not void the responsibilities of the producer to comply with conservation, wetlands protection, planting flexibility and agriculture land use requirements if the producer continues or resumes operation, or control of the farm. On the resumption of operation or control over the farm by the producer, the above noted requirements in effect on the date of the foreclosure shall apply.

A transfer of (or change in) the interest of a producer in base acres for which fixed decoupled or counter-cyclical payments are made shall result in the termination of the payments with respect to bases acres, unless the transferee or owner of the acreage agrees to assume all obligations under conservation, wetland, planting flexibility or agriculture land use provisions. The termination shall be effective on the date of the transfer or change.

There is no restriction on the transfer of base acres or payment yield as part of a change in the producers on the farm.

At the request of the transferee or owner, the Secretary may modify the conservation, wetlands protection, planting flexibility and agriculture land use requirements if the modifications are consistent with the objectives of such subsection, as determined by the Secretary.

If a producer entitled to a fixed, decoupled payment or counter-cyclical payment dies, becomes incompetent, or is otherwise unable to receive the payment, the Secretary shall make the payment, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

Requires a producer who receives fixed decoupled payments, counter-cyclical payments, or marketing loan assistance to submit acreage reports to the Secretary.

A determination of the Secretary under this section shall be considered an adverse decision for purposes of availability of administrative review. (Section 106)

The Senate amendment provides that under the terms of a contract, the owner or producer shall agree, in exchange for annual payments to comply with applicable highly erodible land conservation requirements, applicable wetland conservation requirements, planting flexibility requirements and to use a quantity of land on the farm equal to the contract acreage, for an agricultural or conserving use, and not for a nonagricultural commercial or industrial use, as determined by the Secretary. (Section 111)

The Conference substitute provides that before producers on a farm may receive direct payments or counter-cyclical payments with respect to the farm, the producers shall agree, in exchange for the payments to comply with applicable conservation requirements, applicable wetland protection requirements, planting flexibility requirements, to use the land on the farm in a quantity attributable to the base acres for an agricultural or conserving use and not for a nonagricultural commercial or industrial use, as determined by the Secretary and on noncultivated land attributable to the base acres, control noxious weeds and otherwise maintain the land in accordance with sound agricultural practices.

The Secretary may issue rules to ensure compliance with these requirements.

At the request of the transferee or owner, the Secretary may modify the requirements of this subsection if the modifications are consistent with the objectives of such subsection, as determined by the Secretary.

A transfer of (or change in) the interest of a producer in base acres for which direct or counter-cyclical payments are made shall result in the termination of the payments with respect to bases acres, unless the transferee or owner of the acreage agrees to assume all obligations under conservation, wetland, planting flexibility, agriculture land use provisions and controlling noxious weeds provisions. The termination shall take effect on the date determined by the Secretary.

If a producer entitled to a direct payment or counter-cyclical payment dies, becomes incompetent, or is otherwise unable to receive the payment, the Secretary shall make the payment, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

A producer who receives direct payments, counter-cyclical payments, or marketing loan benefits is required to submit annual acreage reports with respect to all cropland on the farm to the Secretary.

The Secretary shall provide adequate safeguards to protect the interests of tenants and sharecroppers.

The Secretary shall provide for the sharing of direct payments and counter-cyclical payments among the producers on a farm on a fair and equitable basis.

When there is a transfer (or change in) the interest of a producer in base acres for which direct or counter-cyclical payments are made, the Managers intend for the Secretary to provide a time frame for the succession to occur that is farmer-friendly.

Acreage reports provide important information such as assisting in determining the eligibility of land to be accepted into the Conservation Reserve Program. The Managers are aware that in prior years, the Secretary has imposed penalties on producers that submit acreage reports that the Secretary later determines to be inaccurate. The Managers understand that under prior acreage limiting and acreage reduction programs there was a need for very accurate reporting. However, under this Act, with the exception of determining the amount of fruits, vegetables, and wild rice planted on base acreage, there is no such need or requirement for the level of accuracy. Therefore, under this provision the Managers do not intend for any penalty to be applicable to inaccurate acreage reports on covered commodities or peanuts, provided the producer has made a good faith effort to accurately report acreage. (Section 1105)

(9) Violations of Contracts

The Senate amendment is the same as current law except for amending language in existing law to add a provision for a planting flexibility violation. Makes corrections to add:

Planting Flexibility.—In the case of a first violation of the planting flexibility provisions by an eligible owner or producer that has entered into a contract and that acted in good faith, in lieu of terminating the contract under subsection (a), the Secretary shall require a refund or reduce a future contract payment under subsection (b) in an amount that does not exceed twice the amount otherwise payable under the contract on the number of acres involved in the violation. (Section 112)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(10) Planting Flexibility

The House bill provides that all rules concerning planting flexibility are unchanged with the exception of adding wild rice as a prohibited crop.

Subject to the limitations in subsection (b), any commodity may be planted on base acres on a farm.

The planting of fruits, vegetables (excluding lentils, mung beans, and dry peas) and wild rice are prohibited on base acres.

The 3 exceptions to this rule in current law are also unchanged.

(1) Fruits, vegetables or wild rice may be planted on base acres in a region where the Secretary determines there is a history of double cropping of covered commodities with fruits, vegetables or wild rice.

(2) Fruits, vegetables or wild rice may be planted on base acres on a farm that the Secretary determines has a history of planting fruits, vegetables or wild rice on base acres, except that fixed decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments will be reduced for each acre planted. Fruits and vegetables also may be planted by a producer who the Secretary determines has an established planting history of a specific fruit, vegetable or wild rice, except that the quantity planted may not exceed the producer's annual planting history of such agricultural commodity from the 1991 through 1995 crop years, as determined by the Secretary, and fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments will be reduced for each acre planted. (Section 107)

The Senate amendment provides that all rules concerning planting flexibility are unchanged with the exception of adding chickpeas as a permitted exception, wild rice as a prohibited crop for 2003 and beyond, and by changing the base period from 1991 through 1995 to 1996 through 2001 to establish a planting history for a producer.

Limitations.—The planting of the following agricultural commodities shall be prohibited on contract acreage: (A) Fruits. (B) Vegetables (other than lentils, mung beans, dry peas, and chickpeas). (C) In the case of the 2003 and subsequent crops of an agricultural commodity, wild rice”:

Same as current law except for the change in base period (for a producer) as noted directly below.

Sec. 118(b)(2)(C) by striking “1991 through 1995” and inserting “1996 through 2001”. (Section 113)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that provides that the planting of fruits, vegetables (other than lentils, mung beans and dry peas) and wild rice shall be prohibited on base acreage unless the commodity, if planted, is destroyed before harvest.

The planting of fruits and vegetables produced on trees and other perennials shall be prohibited on base acres.

The Secretary shall establish a producer planting history for fruits, vegetables and wild rice planted by the producers on the farm in the 1991 through 1995 or 1998 through 2001 crop years.

For the 2002 crop year, if the calculation of base acres results in total base acres for a farm in excess of the contract acreage for the farm that was used to calculate the fiscal year 2002 payment, the planting of fruits, vegetables and wild rice on new base acres is allowed, provided the direct and counter-cyclical payments for the 2002 crop year are reduced on an acre-for-acre basis. (Section 1106)

(11) Relation to Remaining Payment Authority Under Production Flexibility Contracts

The House bill provides authority to make production flexibility contract payments for the 2002 fiscal year is terminated upon enactment. If a producer receives an PFC contract payment for the 2002 fiscal year before enactment of this legislation, the amount of the producer's fixed decoupled payment for fiscal year 2002 will be reduced by the amount of the PFC contract payment. (Section 108)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that terminates the authority of the Secretary to make production flexibility contract payments on the date of the enactment of this Act, unless requested by the producer. Any direct payments due a producer under this Act would be reduced by any fiscal year 2002 payments made under a production flexibility contract. (Section 1107)

(12) Payment Limitations

The House bill provides fixed decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments are subject to the payment limitations contained in sections 1001 through 1001C of the Food Security Act of 1985 as amended. Limitations are based on a crop year and the fixed, decoupled limitation is $50,000 and the counter-cyclical limitation is $75,000. (Section 109)

The Senate amendment amends Section 1001 of the Food Security Act of 1985. The total of direct and counter-cyclical payments that an individual or entity may receive during any fiscal year for program commodities shall not exceed $75,000. The total of marketing loan gains, forfeiture gains, gains from marketing certificates and loan deficiency payments that a person is entitled to receive for program crops, peanuts, honey and wool is $150,000 per crop year.

During a fiscal and corresponding crop year, the total amount of payments and benefits that a married couple may receive from direct, counter-cyclical and marketing loan is $75,000 and $150,000 respectively, plus a combined total of an additional $50,000.

Provides that an individual or entity shall not be eligible for a direct, income-protection and marketing loan program benefits if the average adjusted gross income of the individual or entity exceeds $2.5 million. (Section 169)

The Conference substitute provides the total direct and counter-cyclical payments to a person for corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, wheat, soybeans, minor oilseeds, cotton and rice may not exceed $40,000 and $65,000, respectively. The total marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payments for corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, wheat, soybeans, minor oilseeds, cotton, rice, lentils, dry peas and small chickpeas that a person is entitled to receive is $75,000.

Provides for a separate direct and counter-cyclical payment limitation for peanuts of $40,000 and $65,000, respectively. Provides for a separate marketing loan gain and loan deficiency payments limitation for peanuts, wool, mohair and honey of $75,000.

Retains current rules on husband and wife, 3-entities, actively engaged, generic certificates and adopts the $2.5 million adjusted gross income means test.

The Conference substitute refers to levels of adjusted gross income or comparable measures of income. The Managers intend that the comparable measure provision be utilized when necessary and in cases of applicants for whom, because of their status under the Internal Revenue Code, adjusted gross income is not measured or reported. For example, participants who are organized as C Corporations, S Corporations, or as non-profit organizations, the Managers intend for the Secretary to use this direction to adopt alternative income measurements that compare most closely to adjusted gross income. The Managers expect the Secretary to implement this provision in a manner that provides equitable treatment, to the maximum extent practicable to all producers regardless of the legal structure of their farming operation.

For purposes of subsection (b), the Managers expect the Secretary to determine the individual or entity to be ineligible only if the adjusted gross income or similar equivalent exceeds $2.5 million and less than 75 percent of the adjusted gross income is derived from farming, ranching or forestry operations as determined by the Secretary. (Section 1603)

(13) Period of Effectiveness

The House bill provides that the subtitle is effective from the 2002 crop year through the 2011 crop year. (Section 110)

The Senate amendment provides that the term of a contract shall extend through the 2006 crop, unless earlier terminated by the eligible owners or producers on a farm. (Section 111)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that the subtitle is effective through the 2007 crop year. (Section 1109)

(14) Pilot Program for Farm Counter-Cyclical Savings Accounts

The Senate amendment amends Subtitle B of title I of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C 7211 et seq.) to authorize and fund a pilot program for farm counter-cyclical savings accounts. Eligible producers may establish such accounts in the name of the producer in a bank or financial institution selected by the producer and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture. A savings account shall consist of B contributions of the producer; matching contributions of the Secretary; and interest earned on account balances.

To be eligible, a producer must share in the risk of producing an agricultural commodity for the applicable year; have filed a farm business-related federal income tax return during each of the previous 5 years, or be a beginning farmer or rancher, and have at least $50,000 in average adjusted gross farm revenue, except for limited resource farmers as determined by the Secretary.

An eligible producer may deposit such amounts in the account of the producer as the producer considers appropriate. The Secretary shall provide a matching contribution on the amount deposited by the producer into the account, except that matching contributions may not exceed 2 percent of the producer's average adjusted gross farm revenue, or $5,000 for any applicable fiscal year. The Secretary shall provide the required matching contributions for a producer as of the date that a majority of the commodities grown by the producer are harvested.

In any year, a producer may withdraw funds from the account in an amount up to the difference between 90 percent of the producer's average adjusted gross revenue and the producers adjusted gross revenue in that year. A producer that ceases to be actively engaged in farming, as determined by the Secretary, may withdraw the full balance from, and close, the account; and may not establish another account.

The Secretary shall administer this program through the Farm Service Agency and local, county, and area offices of the Agriculture Department. For each of fiscal years 2003 through 2005, the Secretary shall establish a farm counter-cyclical savings account pilot program in 3 States, as determined by the Secretary. The total amount of matching contributions in a State may not exceed $4 million per State for each of fiscal years 2003 through 2005. (Section 114)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

SUBTITLE B—MARKETING ASSISTANCE LOANS AND LOAN DEFICIENCY PAYMENTS

(15) Availability of Nonrecourse Marketing Assistance Loans for Covered Commodities

The House bill provides that the Secretary shall make available to producers on a farm nonrecourse marketing assistance loans for covered commodities produced on the farm, including extra long staple cotton, for each of the 2002 through 2011 crop years.

Any production of a covered commodity on a farm is eligible for a marketing assistance loan.

Producers that would otherwise be eligible for the assistance, but for the fact the covered commodity is commingled with covered commodities of other producers in facilities unlicensed for the storage of commodities, if the producer obtaining the loan agrees to immediately redeem the loan collateral.

Producers are required to comply with applicable conservation requirements and applicable wetland protection requirements as a condition to receiving marketing loan assistance.

Extra long staple cotton is defined.

Marketing assistance loans for the 2002 crop of covered commodities shall not be made under subtitle C of title I of such Act. (Section 121)

The Senate amendment provides that the Secretary shall make available to producers on a farm nonrecourse marketing assistance loans for loan commodities produced on the farm through the 2006 crop.

The FAIR Act is amended by striking the definition of eligible production and redefining as: Eligible Production.—The producers on a farm shall be eligible for a marketing loan under subsection (a) for any quantity of a loan commodity produced on the farm.

Sec. 169 may restrict quantity. (Section 121)

The Conference substitute provides that the Secretary shall make available to producers on a farm nonrecourse marketing assistance loans for loan commodities produced on the farm, including extra long staple cotton, wool, mohair, honey, dry peas, lentils and small chickpeas for each of the 2002 through 2007 crop years.

Any production of a loan commodity on a farm is eligible for a marketing assistance loan, however loan commodities harvested for hay and silage, and unshorn pelts are eligible only for a loan deficiency payment.

The Secretary shall make loans to producers that would otherwise be eligible for the assistance, but for the fact the loan commodity is commingled with loan commodities of other producers in facilities unlicensed for the storage of commodities, if the producer obtaining the loan agrees to immediately redeem the loan collateral.

Producers are required to comply with applicable conservation requirements and applicable wetland protection requirements as a condition to receiving marketing loan assistance.

Marketing assistance loans for the 2002 crop of loan commodities shall not be made under subtitle C of title I of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996.

Beginning with the 2002 crop, the Managers intend for marketing loan and loan deficiency program benefits to be made available for all farms producing loan commodities, regardless of whether the farm does or does not have base acreage. (Section 1201)

(16) Loan Rates for Nonrecourse Marketing Assistance Loans

The House bill provides loan rates (per bushel or pound, as applicable) are maintained at not more than $2.58 for wheat, $1.89 for corn and grain sorghum, $1.65 for barley except not more than $1.70 for barley used only for feed purposes, $1.21 for oats, $0.5192 for upland cotton (and not less than $0.50), $0.7965 for extra long staple cotton, $4.92 for soybeans, and $0.087 for other oilseeds, and equal to $6.50 per cwt. for rice.

Amends section 162(b) of the FAIR Act by striking "this title" and inserting "this title and title I of the Farm Security Act of 2001". (Section 122)

The Senate amendment provides loan rates are $2.9960 per bushel for wheat, $2.0772 per bushel for corn and grain sorghum, $1.9973 per bushel for barley, $1.4980 per bushel for oats, $0.5493 per pound for upland cotton, $0.7965 per pound for extra long staple cotton, $6.4914 per hundredweight for rice, $5.1931 per bushel for soybeans, $0.0949 per pound for other oilseeds, $6.78 per hundredweight for dry peas, $12.79 per hundredweight for lentils, $17.44 per hundredweight for large chickpeas and $8.10 per hundredweight for small chickpeas.

Sec. 132(b)(1) of the FAIR Act. No change from existing law except instead of referencing "commodity", "loan commodity" is referenced.

Sec. 132(b)(2) of the FAIR Act is consistent with Sec 162(b) of existing law. Sec. 123(b) Repeals Sec. 162(c) of current law, but Sec. 171(b)(2) repeals Sec. 123(b). (Section 123)

The Conference substitute provides for loan rates for the 2002 and 2003 crop years that are different than loan rates for the 2004 through 2007 crop years for most crops.

Loan rates for the 2002 and 2003 crop years are $2.80 per bushel for wheat, $1.98 per bushel for corn, $1.98 per bushel for grain sorghum, $1.88 per bushel for barley, $1.35 per bushel for oats, $0.52 per pound for upland cotton, $0.7977 per pound for extra long staple cotton, $5.00 per bushel for soybeans, $0.096 per pound for other oilseeds, and $6.50 per hundredweight for rice, $6.33 per hundredweight for dry peas, $11.94 per hundredweight for lentils and $7.56 per hundredweight for small chickpeas.

Loan rates for the 2004 through 2007 crop years are $2.75 per bushel for wheat, $1.95 per bushel for corn, $1.95 per bushel for grain sorghum, $1.85 per bushel for barley, $1.33 per bushel for oats, $0.52 per pound for upland cotton, $0.7977 per pound for extra long staple cotton, $5.00 per bushel for soybeans, $0.093 per pound for other oilseeds, and $6.50 per hundredweight for rice, $6.22 per hundredweight for dry peas, $11.72 per hundredweight for lentils and $7.43 per hundredweight for small chickpeas.

Loan rates for the 2002 through 2007 crop years are $1.00 per pound for graded wool, $0.40 per pound for ungraded wool and unshorn pelts and $4.20 per pound for mohair.

Loan rate for the 2002 through 2007 crop years for honey is $0.60 per pound.

The Managers anticipate the Secretary will take advantage of the change in national average loan rates to review and adjust as appropriate the county loan rates.

To the extent practicable, for purposes of making loans and loan deficiency payments, the Secretary should designate loan rates in those units that are consistent with the units in common usage in the industry.

It is the intention of the Committee that the provision for non-graded wool be made available for wool that has not been objectively measured for fiber diameter (micron) and yield. Documentation of objective measurement is commonly known as a core test, which is available through laboratory analysis. It is the intent of the Managers that the Secretary provide the graded wool loan rate to wool that meets the terminology used by the wool industry to define graded wool, such as core tested. (Section 1202)

(17) Term of Loans

The House bill provides that the term for marketing assistance loans is unchanged. For all covered commodities except upland cotton and extra long staple cotton, the term of the loan is nine months beginning on the first day of the first month after the month in which the loan is made.

For upland cotton and extra long staple cotton, the term of the loan is 10 months beginning on the first day of the month in which the loan is made.

Prohibits extension of a marketing assistance loan for a covered commodity. (Section 123)

The Senate amendment provides that the term for marketing assistance loans for all commodities shall be 9 months beginning on the first day of the first month after the month in which the loan is made. (Section 124)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with respect to the term of loans and adopts the House provision with respect to the prohibition on extension of loans. (Section 1203)

(18) Repayment of Loans

The House bill provides repayment of marketing assistance loans is unchanged. The Secretary will permit producers of wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, soybeans, and other oilseeds to repay a marketing assistance loan at a rate that is the lesser of the loan rate for the commodity plus interest or a rate that the Secretary determines will minimize forfeitures, accumulation of stocks, storage costs, and allow the commodity to be marketed freely and competitively.

The Secretary will permit producers of upland cotton and rice to repay a marketing assistance loan at a rate that is the lesser of the loan rate for the commodity plus interest or the prevailing world market price (adjusted to U.S. quality and location), as determined by the Secretary.

The Secretary will permit producers of extra long staple cotton to repay a marketing assistance loan at the loan rate plus interest.

The Secretary will prescribe by regulation the formula to determine the prevailing world market price and a mechanism to periodically announce this price.

The adjustment of the prevailing world market price for upland cotton is unchanged.

In the case of a producer that marketed or lost beneficial interest before repaying the loan, the Secretary shall permit the producer to repay the loan at the lowest repayment rate that was in effect for the covered commodity under this section as of the date that the producer lost beneficial interest. (Section 124)

The Senate amendment amends Section 134(a) of the FAIR Act by striking the reference to wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats and oilseeds and inserting "a loan commodity (other than upland cotton, rice, and extra long staple cotton)" (in effect, adding wool, honey, dry peas, lentils and chickpeas to the list of commodities) and adding "minimize discrepancies in marketing loan benefits across State boundaries and across county boundaries" to the other 4 factors the Secretary is required to use in determining a loan repayment rate.

Amends Sec. 1001 of the Food Security Act of 1985. Sec. 1001(c) Limitations on marketing loan gains, loan deficiency payments, and commodity certificate transactions and Sec. 1001(d) Settlement of certain loans may restrict the eligibility of some producers to repay loans at a lower repayment rate.

Amends Sec. 134(e)(1) of the FAIR Act by authorizing the program through July 31, 2007. (Section 125, 121, and 169)

The Conference substitute permits producers of wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, soybeans, other oilseeds, dry peas, lentils, small chickpeas, wool, mohair, and honey to repay a marketing assistance loan at a rate that is the lesser of the loan rate for the commodity plus interest or a rate that the Secretary determines will minimize forfeitures, accumulation of stocks, storage costs, allow the commodity to be marketed freely and competitively, and minimizes discrepancies in marketing loan benefits across State boundaries and county boundaries.

The Secretary will permit producers of upland cotton and rice to repay a marketing assistance loan at a rate that is the lesser of the loan rate for the commodity plus interest or the prevailing world market price (adjusted to U.S. quality and location), as determined in accordance with section 163 of the FAIR Act.

The Secretary will permit producers of extra long staple cotton to repay a marketing assistance loan at the loan rate plus interest as determined in accordance with section 163 of the FAIR Act.

The Secretary will prescribe by regulation the formula to determine the prevailing world market price for upland cotton and rice and a mechanism to periodically announce this price.

The adjustment of the prevailing world market price for upland cotton is unchanged.

For the 2001 crop, in the case of a producer that marketed or lost beneficial interest before repaying the loan, the Secretary shall permit the producer to repay the loan at the appropriate repayment rate that was in effect for the loan commodity under as of the date that the producer lost beneficial interest, if the Secretary determines the producers acted in good faith.

The Managers intend that in determining loan repayment rates for loan commodities other than upland cotton and rice, the Secretary will consider alternative methodologies, including establishing the Posted County Prices for grains and oilseeds at levels that reflect market prices at both terminal markets for counties with two terminal markets. The Managers expect the Secretary to determine whether assigning equal weight to two terminal markets will better reflect local market prices than the current system of using the higher of the two terminal markets to establish the Posted County Price.

In implementing the marketing assistance loan program for minor oilseeds, the Managers expect the Secretary to establish a single sunflower loan rate in each county for oil-type, confection and other-type sunflowers combined. Managers also expect the Secretary to continue to announce weekly loan repayment rates for sunflowers reflecting local market prices that minimize potential loan forfeitures. Accordingly, sunflower seed loan repayment rates should reflect oil-type sunflower seed local market prices.

The Conference substitute established a marketing assistance loan program for pulse crops—dry peas, lentils and small chickpeas. The loan rate for dry peas is based on U.S. feed pea prices; the loan rate for lentils is based on the price of U.S. No. 3 lentils; and the loan rate for small chickpeas is based on the price of chickpeas that drop below a 20/64 screen. Accordingly, the Managers expect the Secretary to calculate regional pulse loan rates and repayment rates based on the prices of feed peas, No. 3 lentils, and chickpeas that drop below a 20/64 screen. (Section 1204)

(19) Loan Deficiency Payments

The House bill provides loan deficiency payments are maintained. The Secretary will make loan deficiency payments available to producers who, although eligible for a marketing assistance loan, agree to forgo a loan in favor of receiving a payment.

The loan deficiency payment is determined by multiplying the loan payment rate by the quantity of the covered commodity produced, excluding any commodity for which the producer obtained a loan.

The loan payment rate is the amount by which the loan rate exceeds the rate at which the loan may be repaid.

Loan deficiency payments do not apply to extra long staple cotton.

The Secretary shall make a loan deficiency payment on the earlier of the date the producer marketed or lost beneficial interest in the commodity, or the date the producer requests the payment.

Provides for loan deficiency payments on crop year 2001 covered commodities on farms that do not have an AMTA contract. (Section 125)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 135 of the FAIR Act. Makes loan deficiency payments available to producers on a farm that, although eligible to obtain a marketing assistance loan with respect to a loan commodity, agree to forgo obtaining the loan in return for payments under this section.

Strikes subsections (e) and (f) of section 135 of the FAIR Act and inserts language comparable to the House provision except the provision is applicable for the 2001–2006 crops. The Secretary shall make a loan deficiency payment only if the producer has beneficial interest in the loan commodity as of the earlier of the date on which the producers on the farm marketed or otherwise lost beneficial interest in the loan commodity or the date the producers on the farm request the payment.

Amends section 135(a)(2) to provide for loan deficiency payments on crop year 2001 contract commodities on farms that do not have a production flexibility contract. (Section 126)

The Conference substitute provides for the continuation of loan deficiency payments. The Secretary will make loan deficiency payments available to producers who, although eligible for a marketing assistance loan, agree to forgo a loan in favor of receiving a payment.

Unshorn pelts, hay and silage derived from a loan commodity are not eligible for a marketing assistance loan, however the commodities are eligible for loan deficiency payments when unshorn pelts, hay or silage are derived from a loan commodity.

The loan deficiency payment is determined by multiplying the payment rate by the quantity of the loan commodity produced, excluding any commodity for which the producer obtained a loan.

The payment rate is the amount by which the loan rate exceeds the rate at which the loan may be repaid.

Provides that the loan deficiency payment for unshorn pelts is based on the rate in effect for ungraded wool and the loan deficiency payment for hay and silage is based on the loan commodity from which the hay and silage is derived.

Loan deficiency payments do not apply to extra long staple cotton.

The Secretary shall make a loan deficiency payment on the date the producer requests the payment.

Provides for loan deficiency payments on crop year 2001 loan commodities on farms that do not have an AMTA contract.

For the 2001 crop, the Secretary shall make a loan deficiency payment on the earlier of the date the producer marketed or lost beneficial interest in the loan commodity, or the date the producer requested the payment. (Section 1205)

(20) Payments in Lieu of Loan Deficiency Payments for Grazed Acreage

The House bill provide that the Secretary will make payments in lieu of loan deficiency payments for grazed acreage to producers that would be eligible for such a loan deficiency payment for wheat, barley, or oats but elects to use the acreage planted to the crops for livestock grazing.

To receive a payment, the producer must agree to forgo any other harvesting of the commodity on that acreage.

The payment amount is determined by multiplying the loan deficiency payment rate by the payment quantity, which is determined by multiplying the quantity of grazed acreage in which the producer elects to forgo harvesting by the payment yield.

The time, manner, and availability of these payments are to be consistent with the general loan deficiency payment and marketing assistance loan provisions for wheat, barley, and oats.

Producers who receive a loan deficiency payment under this section are ineligible for crop insurance or noninsured crop assistance as to that acreage. (Section 126)

The Senate amendment adds Sec. 138 to Subtitle C of the FAIR Act. The Secretary will make payments in lieu of loan deficiency payments for grazed acreage to producers that would be eligible for such a loan deficiency payment for wheat, grain sorghum, barley, or oats but who elect to use the acreage planted to the crops for livestock grazing.

To receive a payment, the producer must agree to forgo any other harvesting of the commodity on that acreage.

The payment amount is determined by multiplying the loan deficiency payment rate by the payment quantity, which is determined by multiplying the quantity of grazed acreage in which the producer elects to forgo harvesting by the payment yield.

The time, manner, and availability of these payments are to be consistent with the general loan deficiency payment and marketing assistance loan provisions for wheat, grain sorghum, barley, and oats.

Producers who receive a loan deficiency payment under this section are ineligible for crop insurance or noninsured crop assistance as to that acreage. (Section 127)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that provides payments to producers with triticale for grazing when the producer agrees to forgo any other harvesting of the acreage.

For purposes of determining the loan deficiency payment to be used in calculating the payment for the grazing of triticale acreage only, the Managers intend for the Secretary to take into account the predominate class of wheat grown in the county in which the farm is located. (Section 1206)

(21) Special Marketing Loan Provisions for Upland Cotton

The House bill provides that the special marketing loan provisions for upland cotton remain unchanged, including provisions relating to cotton user marketing certificates, the special import quota, and the limited global import quota for upland cotton.

Authorizes through July 31, 2012. (Section 127)

The Senate amendment amends section 136(a) of the FAIR Act by adding language that removes the 1.25-cent threshold for Step-2 cotton payments beginning on the date of enactment of this paragraph and ending on July 31, 2003.

Amends Sec. 136 of the FAIR Act by authorizing program through July 31, 2007. (Section 121 and 128)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that accepts the Senate provision removing the 1.25-cent threshold for cotton Step-2 payments through July 31, 2006. (Section 1207)

(22) Special Competitive Provisions for Extra Long Staple Cotton

The House bill provides that the special competitive provisions for extra long staple cotton remain unchanged, including provisions relating to the competitiveness program, payments under the program, eligibility, and the amount and form of payment. (Section 128)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 136(A)(a) of the FAIR Act by authorizing the program through July 31, 2007. (Section 121)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provisions through July 31, 2008. (Section 1208)

(23) Availability of Recourse Loans for High Moisture Feed Grains and Seed Cotton and other Fibers

The House bill provides that the availability of recourse loans for high moisture feed grains and seed cotton remains unchanged. Authority under the FAIR Act to provide this assistance for the 2002 crop year is terminated. (Section 129)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 137 of the FAIR Act by authorizing the loans through the 2006 crops. Otherwise retains current law. (Section 121)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that provides that a loan under this subsection shall be made on a quantity of acquired grain determined by multiplying the acreage in a high moisture state on the farm by the lower of the farm program payment yield used for counter-cyclical payments under subtitle A or the actual yield on a field, as determined by the Secretary. (Section 1209)

(24) Availability of Nonrecourse Marketing Assistance Loans for Wool and Mohair

The House bill provides that the Secretary will make nonrecourse marketing assistance loans available to producers of wool and mohair for the 2002 through 2011 marketing years.

The graded wool loan rate is not more than $1.00 per pound. The non-graded wool loan rate is not more than $0.40 per pound. The mohair loan rate is not more than $4.20 per pound.

The term of the loan is one year beginning on the first day of the first month after the month in which the loan is made.

Producers may repay the loan at a rate that is the lesser of the loan rate established for the commodity plus interest or at a rate that the Secretary determines will minimize forfeitures, accumulation of stocks, storage costs, and that allows the commodity to be marketed freely and competitively.

Loan deficiency payments are also authorized to those producers who agree to forgo obtaining a loan.

The loan payment rate shall be the amount by which the loan rate in effect for the commodity exceeds the rate at which a loan may be repaid.

The Secretary shall make a loan deficiency payment on the earlier of the date the producer marketed or lost beneficial interest in the commodity or the date the producer requests the payment.

The marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payment a producer may receive under the wool and mohair program is subject to a separate but equal payment limitation than other covered commodities receiving marketing loan benefits. (Section 130)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 132 of the FAIR Act. Loan rates are $1.00 per pound for graded wool, $0.40 per pound for non-graded wool and unshorn pelts. The Senate amendment contains no provisions for mohair.

Amends Sec. 133 of the FAIR Act to establish a 9-month loan term for all loan commodities.

Amends Sec. 134(a) of the FAIR Act to provide loan repayment rate criteria for wool and other loan commodities. (Section 123, 124 and 125)

The Conference substitute accepts the House provisions with an amendment that adds unshorn pelts as a commodity eligible for a loan deficiency payment. In addition, all marketing loan and loan deficiency provisions for wool and mohair are integrated into the same sections in subtitle B as for other loan commodities.

(25) Availability of Nonrecourse Marketing Assistance Loans for Honey

The House bill provides that the Secretary will make nonrecourse marketing assistance loans available to producers of honey for the 2002 through 2011 marketing years.

The honey loan rate shall be equal to $0.60 per pound.

The term of the loan is one year beginning on the first day of the first month after the month in which the loan is made.

Producers may repay the loan at a rate that is the lesser of the loan rate established for the commodity plus interest or at the prevailing domestic market price for honey.

Loan deficiency payments are also authorized to those producers who agree to forgo obtaining a loan.

The loan payment rate shall be the amount by which the loan rate in effect for the commodity exceeds the rate at which a loan may be repaid.

The Secretary shall make a loan deficiency payment on the earlier of the date the producer marketed or lost beneficial interest in the commodity or the date the producer requests the payment.

The marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payment a producer may receive under the honey program is subject to a separate but equal payment limitation than other covered commodities receiving marketing loan benefits.

This section shall be carried out in a manner as to minimize forfeitures of honey. (Section 131)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 132 of the FAIR Act. Loan rate is $0.60 per pound.

Amends Sec. 133 of the FAIR Act to establish a 9-month loan term for all loan commodities.

Amends Sec. 134(a) of the FAIR Act to provide loan repayment rate criteria for honey and other loan commodities. (Section 123, 124, and 125)

The Conference substitute accepts the House provisions with an amendment that includes honey in the same marketing loan and loan deficiency sections as for other loan commodities in subtitle B.

(26) Availability of Nonrecourse Marketing Assistance Loans for Dry Peas, Lentils and Chickpeas

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 132 of the FAIR Act. Loan rate for dry peas is $6.78 per hundredweight, loan rate for lentils is $12.79 per hundredweight, loan rate for large chickpeas is $17.44 per hundredweight, and loan rate for small chickpeas is $8.10 per hundredweight.

Amends Sec. 133 of the FAIR Act to establish a 9-month loan term for all loan commodities.

Amends Sec. 134(a) of the FAIR Act to provide loan repayment rate criteria for dry peas, lentils, chickpeas and other loan commodities. (Section 123, 124, and 125)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that provides a loan rate for the 2002 and 2003 crop years at $7.56 per hundredweight for small chickpeas, $11.94 per hundredweight for lentils and $6.33 per hundredweight for dry peas.

The House bill provides that neither the Secretary nor CCC shall require producers in Erie County, Pennsylvania, to repay 1998 and 1999 loan deficiency payments and marketing loan gains erroneously paid or determined to have been earned. In the case of a producer who has already made repayment, CCC shall reimburse the producer the full amount of the repayment. (Section 132)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Section 1618)

SUBTITLE C—OTHER COMMODITIES

Chapter 1—Dairy

(28) Milk Price Support Program

The House bill provides that the Milk Price Support Program is authorized through December 31, 2011 at a rate of $9.90/cwt on a 3.67% milk fat basis. The Secretary is authorized to purchase butter, nonfat dry milk powder or cheese at established prices in order to maintain the $9.90/cwt support price. The purchase prices for butter and nonfat dry milk powder may be allocated so as to minimize expenditures from the Commodity Credit Corporation. The Secretary may modify purchase prices for butter and nonfat dry milk not more than 2 times per year. (Section 141)

The Senate amendment amends the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 extending the price support program through December 31, 2006. It also retains provisions of the 1996 Act to provide that at the program's termination, it shall be considered to have expired notwithstanding section 257 (relating to the baseline) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (2 U.S.C. 907). (Section 131)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision (including an enduring budgetary baseline) with an amendment providing for the program's operation through December 31, 2007.

(29) Repeal of Recourse Loan Program For Processors

The House bill provides that the Recourse Loan Program for Processors (7 U.S.C. 7252) is repealed (Section 142)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision. P.L. 107-76 repealed the Recourse Loan Program.

(30) Extension of Dairy Export Incentive and Dairy Indemnity Programs

The House bill provides that the Dairy Export Incentive Program (15 U.S.C. 713a-14(a)) is extended through 2011. The Dairy Indemnity Program (7 U.S.C. 4501) is extended through 2011. (Section 143)

The Senate amendment extends the Dairy Export Incentive Program and the Dairy Indemnity Program through 2006. (Section 133)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to extend both programs through 2007.

(31) Fluid Milk Promotion

The House bill provides that the Fluid Milk Processor Promotion Program (7 U.S.C. 6402) is amended to repeal the termination of authority, and to make technical changes to the definitions of "Fluid Milk Product" and "Fluid Milk Processor." (Section 144)

The Senate amendment is similar with technical amendments within the definition of fluid milk processor regarding exclusion for products delivered directly to the place of residence of a consumer. (Section 134)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision.

(32) Dairy Product Mandatory Reporting

The House bill provides that the Dairy Product Mandatory Reporting (7 U.S.C. 1637a(1)) is amended to make technical corrections regarding products to be reported. (Section 145)

The Senate amendment is similar with technical amendments regarding the definition of manufactured dairy products. (Section 135)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision.

The managers want to ensure the enforcement of federal standards of identity that apply for fluid milk products purchased by the federal government for distribution in all federally supported feeding and nutrition programs. If the Secretary of Health and Human Services determines that the federal standards are not being enforced, the Secretary is urged to develop and implement procedures for the enforcement of federal standards of identity for fluid milk products purchased by the federal government within 1 year of enactment of this legislation.

(33) Funding of Dairy Promotion and Research Program

The House bill provides that the Dairy Promotion Program (7 U.S.C. 4502) is amended to require dairy importers to pay an assessment equivalent to domestic dairy producers. Importers would be eligible to vote in referenda and would have representation on the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board. (Section 146)

The Senate amendment is the same (Section 136)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with amendments to authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to reappropriate the representation levels of domestic producers and importers to reflect a proportion of domestic production and imports supplying the United States market; to make clear that assessments from importers will not be used for foreign export promotion purposes; to clarify when the importer must pay the assessment; to make clear that the domestic milk rate shall be applied to imports on a milk-equivalent basis; to make clear that national dairy promotion program and order must promote milk and dairy products without regard to origin; and to require that in implementing an order under this section, the Secretary consults with the United States Trade Representative in order to ensure consistency with the international trade obligations of the United States.

The Conferees note that since 1990, the provisions of 7 U.S.C. 2278 have been in effect and apply generally to research and promotion programs administered by the Department of Agriculture. Those provisions require that the Secretary consult with the U.S. Trade Representative when research and promotion orders are modified or implemented to apply to imported products, and take steps to ensure that international trade obligations are met. The Conferees intend that the similar provision included specifically in the conference substitute with respect to assessments on imports for the dairy promotion program not be regarded as being in conflict with current law.

(34) Study of National Dairy Policy and Studies of Effects of Changes in Approach to National Dairy Policy and Fluid Milk Identity Standards

The House bill requires the Secretary of Agriculture to conduct an economic analysis of various options for a National Dairy Program and report to Congress not later than April 30, 2002. (Section 147)

The Senate amendment requires studies of the effects of terminating all Federal dairy programs and establishing regional compacts, and a study of the effects of establishing minimum protein standards to be reported to Congress not later than September 30, 2002. (Section 137)

The Conference substitute adopts the both the House and Senate provisions with an amendment to require that each report be issued one year after the date of enactment of this Act.

(35) National Dairy Program

The Senate amendment creates a national dairy support program with two components. The National Dairy Market Loss Assistance Program is authorized from December 1, 2001, through September 30, 2005. The program covers producers in states not included in the Northeast Dairy Market Loss Payment program. Payment is calculated by taking 40% of the difference between the all-milk price and the historical five-year average multiplied by eligible production. Eligible production is based on taking the lesser of (A) the average quantity of milk marketed for commercial use in which the producer has had a direct or indirect interest during each of the 1999 through 2001 fiscal years, (B) 8,000,000 pounds, or (C) actual production for the time period. The program is capped at $1.5 billion.

The Northeast Dairy Market Loss Payment program is authorized from December 1, 2001 through September 30, 2005. The program covers the states of Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and West Virginia. Payment is based on a target price of $16.94. Eligible production is based on the lesser of (A) the average quantity of milk marketed for commercial use in which the producer had a direct or indirect interest during each of the 1999 through 2001 fiscal years, (B) 8,000,000 pounds, or (C) actual production for the time period. The program is capped at $500 million. (Section 132)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision to create a single national program using the payment formula established under the proposed Northeast Dairy Market Loss Assistance Program. Under this program, participating dairy producers will receive monthly payments equal to 45 percent of the difference between $16.94 and the price per hundredweight of Class I fluid milk in Boston under the applicable federal milk marketing order. No payments will be made for months during which the fluid milk price in Boston is $16.94 or higher. Payments will be made not later than 60 days after the end of the month for which a payment is made. Producers, on an operation-by-operation basis, may receive payments on no more than 2.4 million pounds of milk marketed per year. Retroactive payments will be made covering market losses due to low prices since December 1, 2001. The program is authorized through September 30, 2005.

The Managers understand that previous Dairy Market Loss Assistance Programs provided discretion to the Secretary to limit payments to individual dairy operations. It is the intent of the Managers that this program shall be administered in the same manner, thereby limiting payments on an operation-by-operation basis. Accordingly, a producer might qualify for separate limits on separate operations.

The managers intend that in carrying out this section, the Secretary utilize information available through the Agricultural Marketing Service monthly milk marketing's by producers.

Chapter 2—Sugar

(36) Sugar Program

The House bill subsection (a) reauthorizes the sugar program through the 2011 crop year.

Subsection (b) terminates the marketing assessment on sugar effective October 1, 2001.

Subsection (c) provides the Secretary of Agriculture the discretion to reduce loan rates for U.S. sugar producers in the event that support for foreign competitors is reduced beyond that required under the Agreement on Agriculture.

Subsection (d) ensures that notification requirements do not frustrate the purposes of the nonrecourse loan program.

Subsection (e) authorizes nonrecourse loans on in-process sugars.

Subsection (f) requires the Secretary of Agriculture to administer the sugar program at no net cost to the federal government to the maximum extent practicable. The subsection also authorizes the CCC to accept bids from processors for the purchase of sugar inventory in exchange for reduced production.

Subsection (g) establishes reporting guidelines for producers and importers relative to yields and acreage planted and amounts imported. Requires reporting by sugar cane producers in proportionate share states.

Subsection (h) makes section 163 of the FAIR Act inapplicable to sugar. (Section 151)

The Senate amendment subsection (i) reauthorizes the sugar program through the 2006 crop year.

Subsection (c) terminates the marketing assessment on sugar effective October 1, 2001.

Subsection (a) provides the Secretary of Agriculture the discretion to reduce loan rates for U.S. sugar producers in the event that support for foreign competitors is reduced beyond that required under the Agreement on Agriculture.

Paragraph (2) of subsection (b) ensures that notification requirements do not frustrate the purposes of the nonrecourse loan program.

Subsection (e) authorizes nonrecourse loans on in-process sugars.

Subsection (f) requires the Secretary of Agriculture to administer the sugar program at no net cost to the federal government to the maximum extent practicable and subject to subsection (e)(3) (which bars the Secretary from imposing pre notification requirements as a condition to forfeiture). The subsection also authorizes the CCC to accept bids from processors for the purchase of sugar inventory in exchange for reduced production.

Subsection (g) establishes reporting guidelines for producers and importers relative to yields and acreage planted and amounts imported. Loan assistance is conditioned on reporting by sugar cane producers located in proportionate share states.

Subsection (j) makes section 163 of the FAIR Act inapplicable to sugar.

Subsection(b)(1) modifies provisions to assure that loan benefits are passed through to producers by allowing beet producers to contract minimum payments and by providing for the use of CCC funds to compensate producers in the event of bankruptcy or insolvency of the processor.

Subsection (h) allows substitutability of all refined sugar for re-export. (Section 141)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate sugar provisions, with technical and clarifying amendments, except that the provision providing for the use of CCC funds to compensate producers in the event of processor bankruptcy or insolvency is excluded.

(37) Reauthorize Provisions of Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 Regarding Sugar

The House bill subsection (a) repeals repetitive reporting provisions.

Subsection (b) requires the Secretary to establish marketing allotments for domestically grown sugar to eliminate forfeitures through 2011.

Subsection (c) updates the allotment formula to take into account current U.S. import obligations. The subsection also assigns allotments between sugarcane and sugar beets. Finally the subsection authorizes the Secretary to suspend allotments whenever imports exceed a certain level.

Subsection (d) updates the base periods and other factors applicable to the allocation of sugarcane and sugar beet allotments among sugarcane and sugar beet processors, respectively.

Subsection (e) establishes procedures for the Secretary to reassign allotments if a processor cannot meet the allocation.

Subsection (f) prescribes the manner in which allotment disputes are settled and provides for certain adjustments in the event a processor closes.

Subsection (g) allows the Secretary to preserve certain acreage base history for a longer period and also defines the term "off-shore states".

Subsection (h) lifts the suspension on allotments for the 2002 crop. (Section 152)

The Senate amendment subsection (a) repeals repetitive reporting provisions.

Subsection (b) requires the Secretary to establish marketing allotments for domestically grown sugar to eliminate forfeitures through 2006.

Subsection (c) updates the allotment formula to take into account current U.S. import obligations. The subsection also assigns allotments between sugarcane and sugar beets. Finally the subsection authorizes the Secretary to suspend allotments whenever imports exceed a certain level.

Subsection (d) updates the base periods and other factors applicable to the allocation of sugarcane and sugar beet allotments among sugarcane and sugar beet processors, respectively. Adds provisions for new entrant states. Provides formula for beet sugar allocation.

Subsection (e) establishes procedures for the Secretary to reassign allotments if a processor cannot meet the allocation.

Subsection (f) prescribes the manner in which allotment disputes are settled and provides for certain adjustments in the event a processor closes.

Subsection (g) allows the Secretary to preserve certain acreage base history for a longer period and also defines the term "off-shore states".

Sec. 165(2)(A) strikes the suspension of price support authority for sugar. (Section 143)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate sugar provisions, with technical and clarifying amendments.

Subsections (b)(1)(D) and (b)(2)(C) of section 359(e) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended by section 1403 of the conference agreement, provide for the reassignment of unused marketing allotments for cane sugar and beet sugar, respectively to imports of sugar under certain specified conditions. It is the intent of the conferees that in the event that any allotments are reassigned to imports, the appropriate agency shall accommodate the allotted imports by increasing the tariff-rate quota for sugar in an amount equal to the total amount of the allotments reassigned to imports. By doing so, the market balance sought by the allotment system should be maintained and will not result in a reduction in the overall allotment quantity, a suspension of the allotments, or any increase in the prospect of the forfeiture of domestically produced sugar to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

(38) Storage Facility Loans

The House bill subsection (a) requires the CCC to amend the Code of Federal Regulations to establish a sugar storage facility loan program. Subsection (b) requires the CCC to make such loans to processors of domestically produced sugar that have satisfactory credit history, that need increased storage, and that demonstrate an ability to repay the loan. Subsection (c) provides for a 7-year term for the loan. Subsection (d) requires the program be administered using the services, facilities, and funds of the CCC. (Section 153)

The Senate amendment subsection (a) requires the CCC to amend the Code of Federal Regulations to establish a sugar storage facility loan program. Subsection (b) requires the CCC to make such loans to processors of domestically produced sugar that have satisfactory credit history, that need increased storage, and that demonstrate an ability to repay the loan. Subsection (c) provides for a 7-year term for the loan. (Section 142)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision.

(39) Reallocation of Sugar Quota

The Senate amendment requires the U.S. Trade Representative in consultation with the Secretary, by June 1 of each year, to determine the amount of the quota of cane sugar used by each qualified supplying country for that country for that fiscal year. The Trade Representative may reallocate the unused quota. (Section 144)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate amendment with technical amendments.

Chapter 3—Peanuts

(40) Definitions

The House bill defines terms necessary for implementation of this act, including counter-cyclical payment, effective price, historic peanut producer, fixed, decoupled payment, payment acres, peanut acres, payment yield, peanut producer, Secretary, State, target price, and United States. (Section 161)

The Senate amendment defines terms necessary for implementation of this act, including counter-cyclical payment, direct payment, effective price, historical peanut producers on a farm, income protection price, payment acres, peanut acres, payment yield, and peanut producer. (Section 151)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that clarifies the definition of "producer", changes the term "peanut acres" to "base acres for peanuts", changes the term "fixed, decoupled payment" to "direct payment", and provides 2002 transitional payment language under the term "payment acres". (Section 1301)

(41) Establishment of Payment Yield, Peanut Acres, and Payment Acres for a Farm.

The House bill provides that the Secretary shall determine, for each historic peanut producer, the average yield for peanuts on each farm on which the historic peanut producer produced peanuts for the 1998 through 2001 crops years, excluding any crop year in which the producer did not produce peanuts.

If, for any of these four crop years in which peanuts were planted on a farm by the producer, the farm would have satisfied the eligibility criteria established to carry out section 1102 of the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act 1999, the Secretary shall assign a yield for the producer for that year equal to 65 percent of the county yield, as determined by the Secretary. (Section 162)

The Secretary shall determine, for each historic peanut producer, the four-year average of acreage actually planted in peanuts by the historic peanut producer for harvest on one or more farms during crop years 1998, 1999, 2000, and 2001 and any acreage that the producer was prevented from planting to peanuts during such crop years because of drought, flood or other natural disaster, or other condition beyond the control of the producer, as determined by the Secretary.

If more than one historic peanut producer shared in the risk of producing the crop on the farm, the historic peanut producers shall receive their proportional share of the number of acres planted (or prevented from being planted) to peanuts for harvest on the farm based on the sharing arrangement that was in effect among the producers for the crop.

The Secretary shall make the determinations required by this subsection not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act. In making such determinations, the Secretary shall take into account changes in the number and identity of persons sharing in the risk of producing a peanut crop since the 1998 crop year, including providing a method for the assignment of average acres and average yield to a farm when the historic peanut producer is no longer living or an entity composed of historic peanut producers has been dissolved.

The Secretary shall give each historic peanut producer an opportunity to assign the average peanut yield and average acreage determined under subsection (a) for the producer to cropland on a farm.

The average of all of the yields assigned by historic peanut producers to a farm shall be deemed to be the payment yield for that farm for the purpose of making fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments under this chapter.

Subject to subsection (e), the total number of acres assigned by historic peanut producers to a farm shall be deemed to be the peanut acres for a farm for the purpose of making fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments under this chapter.

The opportunity to make the assignments described in subsection (b) shall be available to historic peanut producers only once. The historic peanut producers shall notify the Secretary of the assignments made by such producers under such subsections not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

The payment acres for peanuts on a farm shall be equal to 85 percent of the peanut acres assigned to the farm.

If the sum of the peanut acres for a farm, together with the base acres for the farm under subtitle A, any acreage on the farm enrolled in the conservation reserve program or wetlands reserve program, and any other acreage on the farm enrolled in a conservation program for which payments are made in exchange for not producing an agricultural commodity on the acreage, exceeds the actual cropland acreage of the farm, the Secretary shall reduce the quantity of peanut acres for the farm or base acres for one or more covered commodities for the farm as necessary so that sum of peanut acres and other covered acreage does not exceed the actual cropland acreage of the farm. The Secretary shall give the peanut producers on the farm the opportunity to select the peanut acres or base acres against which the reduction will be made.

In applying paragraph (1), the Secretary shall make an exception in the case of double cropping as determined by the Secretary (Section 162)

The Senate amendment provides that the Secretary shall determine, for each historical peanut producer, the average yield for peanuts on all farms of the historical peanut producer for the 1998 through 2001 crop years, excluding any crop year during which the producers did not produce peanuts.

If, for any of the crop years in which peanuts were planted on a farm by the historical peanut producer, the historical peanut producer has satisfied the eligibility criteria established to carry out section 1102 of the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1999, the Secretary shall assign to the historical peanut producer a yield for the farm for the crop year equal to 65 percent of the average yield for peanuts for the previous 5 crop years.

Except as provided in paragraph (3), the Secretary shall determine, for the historical peanut producer, the 4-year average of acreage planted to peanuts on all farms for harvest during the 1998 through 2001 crop years, and any acreage that was prevented from being planted to peanuts during the crop years because of drought, flood or other natural disaster, or other condition beyond the control of the historical peanut producer, as determined by the Secretary.

If a county in which a historical peanut producer is located is declared a disaster area during 1 or more of the four crop years, for purposes of determining the 4-year average acreage for the historical peanut producer, the historical peanut producer may elect to substitute, for not more than 1 year of the crop years during which a disaster is declared (A) the State average of acreage actually planted to peanuts; or (B) the average of acreage for the historical peanut producer determined by the Secretary under paragraph (2)

The Secretary shall make the determinations required by this subsection not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this section. In making the determinations, the Secretary shall take into account changes in the number and identity of historical peanut producers sharing in the risk of producing a peanut crop since the 1998 crop year, including providing a method for the assignment of average acres and average yield to a farm when a historical peanut producer is no longer living or an entity composed of historical peanut producers has been dissolved.

The Secretary shall provide each historical peanut producer with an opportunity to assign the average peanut yield and average acreage determined under subsection (a) for the historical peanut producer to cropland on a farm

The average of all of the yields assigned by historic peanut producers to a farm shall be considered to be the payment yield for the farm for the purpose of making direct payments and counter-cyclical payments under this chapter.

Subject to subsection (e), the total number of acres assigned by historic peanut producers to a farm shall be considered to be the peanut acres for the farm for the purpose of making direct payments and counter-cyclical payments under this chapter

Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this section, a historical peanut producer shall notify the Secretary of the assignments described in subsection (b).

The payment acres for peanuts on a farm shall be equal to 85 percent of the peanut acres assigned to the farm.

If the total of the peanut acres for a farm, together with the contract acreage for the farm under subtitle B, any acreage on the farm enrolled in the conservation reserve program or wetlands reserve program, and any other acreage on the farm enrolled in a conservation program for which payments are made in exchange for not producing an agriculture commodity on the acreage, exceeds the actual cropland acreage of the farm, the Secretary shall reduce the quantity of peanut acres for the farm or contract acreage for one or more covered commodities for the farm as necessary so that the total of the peanut acres and other covered acreage does not exceed the actual cropland acreage of the farm. The Secretary shall give the peanut producers on the farm the opportunity to select the peanut acres or contract acreage against which the reduction will be made.

In applying paragraph (1), the Secretary shall take into account additional acreage as a result of an established double-cropping history on a farm, as determined by the Secretary. (Section 151)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment. The amendment allows the historic peanut producer to elect to substitute for a farm, for not more than 3 of the 1998 through 2001 crop years in which the producer planted peanuts on the farm, the average yield for peanuts produced in the county in which the farm is located for the 1990 through 1997 crop years.

The amendment requires the historic peanut producer to assign average base acreage and average yield to a farm by March 31, 2003. In addition, the amendment sets a series of criteria that a historic peanut producer must meet for them to assign average base acreage and average yield across state lines. The Secretary shall provide notice to historic peanut producers regarding their opportunity to assign average peanut yields and average acreages to farms. The amendment states that the notice shall include: notice that the opportunity to make the assignments is being provided once, a description of the limitation of assigning average acres and average yields across state lines, and information regarding the manner in which the assignments must be made and the time periods and manner in which the notice of the assignments must be submitted to the Secretary.

The amendment further states the Secretary shall provide for an adjustment in the base acres for peanuts for a farm whenever a conservation reserve contract with respect to the farm expires or is voluntarily terminated, or the Secretary releases cropland from coverage under a conservation reserve contract. Also included is a provision to allow the owner of a farm to reduce at any time the base acres for peanuts assigned to the farm. (Section 1302)

The Managers are aware that AMTA contract acreage was not protected on acreage enrolled into CRP during CRP signups 15 and later. The Managers intend that the Secretary develop a method that provides for the restoration of base acreage on farms that permanently reduced contract acreage because of enrollment in CRP. Since soybeans and other oilseeds did not have contract acreage prior to this Act, the Managers expect the Secretary to treat soybeans and other oilseeds in a manner that is similar and consistent with other covered commodities. (Section 1302)

(42) Availability of Fixed, Decoupled Payments for Peanuts

The House bill provides that for each of the 2002 through 2011 crop years, the Secretary shall make fixed, decoupled payments to peanut producers on a farm. The payment rate used to make fixed, decoupled payments with respect to peanuts for a crop year shall be equal to $36 per ton.

The amount of the fixed, decoupled payment to be paid to the peanut producers on a farm for a covered commodity for a crop year shall be equal to the product of the payment rate, the payment acres and the payment yield.

Fixed, decoupled payments shall be paid not later than September 30 of each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2011. In the case of the 2002 crop, payments may begin to be made on or after December 1, 2001.

At the option of a peanut producer, 50 percent of the fixed, decoupled payment for a fiscal year shall be paid on a date selected by the peanut producer. The selected date shall be on or after December 1 of that fiscal year, and the peanut producer may change the selected date for a subsequent fiscal year by providing advance notice to the Secretary.

If a peanut producer that receives an advance fixed, decoupled payment for a fiscal year ceases to be a peanut producer before the date the fixed, decoupled payment would otherwise have been made by the Secretary, the peanut producer shall be responsible for repaying the Secretary the full amount of the advance payment. (Section 163)

The Senate amendment provides that for each of the 2002 through 2006 fiscal years, the Secretary shall make direct payments to peanut producers on a farm with peanut acres under section 158B and a payment yield for peanuts under section 158B. The payment rate used to make direct payments with respect to peanuts for a fiscal year shall be equal to $0.018 per pound.

The amount of the direct payment to be paid to the peanut producers on a farm for peanuts for a fiscal year shall be equal to the product obtained by multiplying the payment rate, the payment acres, and the payment yield.

The Secretary shall make direct payments in the case of the 2002 fiscal year, during the period beginning December 1, 2001, and ending September 30, 2002; and in the case of each of the 2003 through 2006 fiscal years, not later than September 30 of the fiscal year.

At the option of the peanut producers on a farm, the Secretary shall pay 50 percent of the direct payment for a fiscal year for the producers on the farm on a date selected by the peanut producers on the farm. The selected date for a fiscal year shall be on or after December 1 of the fiscal year. The peanut producers on a farm may change the selected date for a subsequent fiscal year by providing advance notice to the Secretary.

If any peanut producer on a farm that receives an advance direct payment for a fiscal year ceases to be eligible for a direct payment before the date the direct payment would have been made by the Secretary, the peanut producer shall be responsible for repaying the Secretary the full amount of the advance payment. (Section 151)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to clarify payment rules for the 2002 crop year by directing the Secretary to make direct payments to historic peanut producers for the 2002 crop year. For each of the 2003 through 2007 crop years for peanuts, the Secretary shall make direct payments to the producers on a farm to which a payment yield and base acres for peanuts are assigned under section 1302.

The payment rate used to make direct payments with respect to peanuts for a crop year shall be equal to $36 per ton. (Section 1303)

(43) Availability of Counter-Cyclical Payment for Peanuts

The House bill provides that during the 2002 through 2011 crop years for peanuts, the Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments with respect to peanuts whenever the Secretary determines that the effective price for peanuts is less than the target price.

The effective price for peanuts is equal to the sum of higher of either (A) the national average market price received by peanut producers during the 12-month marketing year for peanuts, as determined by the Secretary; or (B) the national average loan rate for a marketing assistance loan for peanuts in effect for the same period under this chapter; and the payment rate in effect under section 163 for the purpose of making fixed, decoupled payments.

The target price for peanuts is $480 per ton. The payment rate for counter-cyclical payments is equal to the difference between the target price for peanuts and the effective price for the peanuts.

The amount of the counter-cyclical payment to be paid to the peanut producers on a farm for a crop year shall be equal to the product of the payment rate, the payment acres, by the payment yield.

The Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments for a peanut crop as soon as possible after determining that such payments are required for that crop year.

The Secretary may permit, and, if so permitted, a peanut producer may elect to receive, up to 40 percent of the projected counter-cyclical payment, as determined by the Secretary, to be made under this section for a peanut crop upon completion of the first six months of the marketing year for that crop. The peanut producer shall repay the Secretary the amount, if any, by which the partial payment exceeds the actual counter-cyclical payment to be made for that crop. (Section 164)

The Senate amendment provides for each of the 2002 through 2006 crops of peanuts, the Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments with respect to peanuts if the Secretary determines that the effective price for peanuts is less than the income protection price for peanuts.

The effective price for peanuts is equal to the total of the greater of either (A) the national average market price received by peanut producers during the 12-month marketing year for peanuts or (B) the national average loan rate for a marketing assistance loan for peanuts under section 158G in effect for the 12-month marketing year for peanuts under this chapter; and the payment rate in effect for peanuts under section 158C for the purpose of making direct payments with respect to peanuts.

The income protection price for peanuts is $520 per ton.

The amount of the counter-cyclical payment to be paid to the peanut producers on a farm for a crop year shall be equal to the product obtained by multiplying the payment rate, the payment acres, by the payment yield.

The payment rate used to make counter-cyclical payments with respect to peanuts for a crop year shall be equal to the difference between the income protection price for peanuts and the effective price for peanuts.

The Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments to peanut producers on a farm under this section for a crop of peanuts as soon as practicable after determining under subsection (a) that the payments are required for the crop year.

At the option of the Secretary, the peanut producers on a farm may elect to receive up to 40 percent of the projected counter-cyclical payment to be made under this section for a crop of peanuts on completion of the first six months of the marketing year for the crop. The peanut producers on a farm shall repay to the Secretary the amount, if any, by which the payment received by producers on the farm (including partial payments) exceeds the counter-cyclical payment the producers on the farm are eligible for under this section. (Section 151)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to clarify payment rules for the 2002 crop year by directing the Secretary to make counter-cyclical payments to historic peanut producers for the 2002 crop year. For each of the 2003 through 2007 crop years for peanuts, the Secretary shall make counter-cyclical payments to the producers on a farm to which a payment yield and base acres for peanuts are assigned under section 1302.

The amendment changes the effective price definition to state the effective price for peanuts is equal to the sum of the higher of (a) the national average market price for peanuts received by producers during the 12-month marketing year for peanuts or (b) the national average loan rate for a marketing assistance loan for peanuts in effect for the applicable period under this subtitle; plus the payment rate in effect under section 1303 for the purpose of making direct payments.

If before the end of the 12-month marketing year, the Secretary estimates that counter-cyclical payments will be required under this section for a crop year, the Secretary shall give producers on a farm (or, in the case of the 2002 crop year, historic peanut producers) the option to receive partial payments of the counter-cyclical payment projected to be made for that crop.

When the Secretary makes partial payments for any of the 2002 through 2006 crop years the first partial payment for the crop year shall be made not earlier than October 1, and, to the maximum extent practicable, not later than October 31, of the calendar year in which the crop is harvested; the second partial payment shall be made not earlier than February 1 of the next calendar year; and the final payment shall be made as soon as practicable after the end of the 12-month marketing year for that crop.

When the Secretary makes partial payments available for the 2007 crop year the first partial payment shall be made after completion of the first 6 months of the marketing year for that crop; and the final partial payment shall be made as soon as practicable after the end of the 12-month marketing year for that crop.

In the case of the 2002 crop year, the first partial payment to an historic peanut producer may not exceed 35 percent of the projected counter-cyclical payment for the crop year, as determined by the Secretary. The second partial payment may not exceed the difference between 70 percent of the revised projection of the counter-cyclical payment for the 2002 crop year and the amount of the first partial payment. The final payment shall be equal to the difference between the actual counter-cyclical payment to be made to the historic peanut producer and the amount of the partial payment already made to the historic peanut producers under clauses (i) and (ii).

For each of the 2003 through 2006 crop years, the first partial payment to the producers on a farm may not exceed 35 percent of the projected counter-cyclical payment for the crop year, as determined by the Secretary. The second partial payment may not exceed the difference between 70 percent of the revised projection of the counter-cyclical payment for the 2002 crop year and the amount of the first partial payment. The final payment shall be equal to the difference between the actual counter-cyclical payment to be made to the producers for that crop year and the amount of the partial payment already made to the producers under clauses (i) and (ii) for that crop year.

For the 2007 crop year, the first partial payment to the producers on a farm may not exceed 40 percent of the projected counter-cyclical payment for that crop year, as determined by the Secretary. The final payment for the 2007 crop year shall be equal to the difference between the actual counter-cyclical payment to be made to the producers for that crop year and the amount of the partial payment made to the producers under clause (i).

The producers on a farm (or, in the case of the 2002 crop year, historic peanut producers) must repay the amount, if any, by which the partial payment exceeds the counter-cyclical payment to be made in that crop year. (Section 1304)

The target price for peanuts shall be equal to $495 per ton. (Section 1304)

(44) Producer Agreement Required As Condition On Provision of Fixed, Decoupled Payments and Counter-Cyclical Payments

The House bill provides that before the peanut producers on a farm may receive fixed, decoupled payments or counter-cyclical payments with respect to the farm, the peanut producers shall agree, in exchange for the payments to comply with applicable conservation and wetland protection requirements, to comply with the planting flexibility requirements, and to use the land on the farm, in an amount equal to the peanut acres for an agriculture or conserving use.

The Secretary may issue such rules as the Secretary considers necessary to ensure peanut producer compliance with the requirements of paragraph (1).

A peanut producer may not be required to make repayments to the Secretary of fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments if the farm has been foreclosed on and the Secretary determines that the forgiving the repayments is appropriate to provide fair and equitable treatment.

This subsection shall not void the responsibilities of the peanut producer under subsection (a) if the peanut producer continues or resumes operation or control of the farm.

On the resumption of operation or control over the farm by the producer, the requirements of subsection (a) in effect on the date of foreclosure shall apply.

Except as provided in paragraph (4), a transfer or change in the interest of a peanut producer in peanut acres for which fixed, decoupled payments or counter-cyclical payments are made shall result in the termination of the payments with respect to the peanut acres, unless the transferee or owner of the acreage agrees to assume all obligations under subsection (a). The termination shall be effective on the date of the transfer or change.

There is no restriction on the transfer of a farm's peanut acres or payment yield as part of a change in the peanut producers on the farm.

At the request of the transferee or owner, the Secretary may modify the requirements of subsection (a) if the modifications are consistent with the objectives of such subsection, as determined by the Secretary.

If a peanut producer entitled to a fixed, decoupled payment or counter-cyclical payment dies, becomes incompetent, or is otherwise unable to receive payment, the Secretary shall make the payment, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

As a condition on the receipt of any benefits under this chapter, the Secretary shall require peanut producers to submit to the Secretary acreage reports.

In carrying out this chapter, the Secretary shall provide adequate safeguards to protect the interests of tenants and sharecroppers.

The Secretary shall provide for the sharing of fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments among the peanut producers on a farm on a fair and equitable basis. (Section 165)

The Senate amendment provide that before the peanut producers on a farm may receive direct payments or counter cyclical payments with respect to the farm, the peanut producers on the farm shall agree during the fiscal year or crop year, respectively, for which the payments are received, in exchange for payments to comply with applicable highly erodible land conservation requirements, to comply with applicable wetland conservation requirements, to comply with planting flexibility requirements, and to agree to use a quantity of the land on the farm equal to peanut acres for an agriculture or conserving use.

The Secretary may promulgate such regulations as the Secretary considers necessary to ensure peanut producer compliance with paragraph (1).

The Secretary shall not require the peanut producers on a farm to repay a direct payment or counter-cyclical payment if a foreclosure has occurred with respect to the farm and the Secretary determines that forgiving the repayment is appropriate to provide fair and equitable treatment.

This subsection shall not void the responsibilities of the peanut producers on a farm under subsection (a), if the peanut producers on the farm continue or resume operation, or control, of the farm.

On the resumption of operation or control over the farm by the peanut producers on the farm, the requirements of subsection (a) in effect on the date of the foreclosure shall apply.

Except as provided in paragraph (5), a transfer of or change in the interest of the peanut producers on a farm in peanut acres for which direct payments or counter-cyclical payments are made shall result in the termination of the payments with respect to the peanut acres, unless the transferee or owner of the acreage agrees to assume all obligations under subsection (a). The termination takes effect on the date of the transfer or change.

The Secretary shall not impose any restrictions on the transfer of the peanut acres or payment yield of a farm as part of a transfer or change described in paragraph (1).

At the request of the transferee or owner, the Secretary may modify the requirements of subsection (a) if the modifications are consistent with the purposes of subsection (a), as determined by the Secretary.

If a peanut producer entitled to a direct payment or counter-cyclical payment dies, becomes incompetent, or is otherwise unable to receive the payment, the Secretary shall make the payment, in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Secretary.

As a condition on the receipt of any benefits under this chapter, the Secretary shall require the peanut producers on a farm to submit to the Secretary acreage reports for the farm.

In carrying out this chapter, the Secretary shall provide adequate safeguards to protect the interests of tenants and sharecroppers.

The Secretary shall provide for the sharing of direct payments and counter-cyclical payments among the peanut producers on a farm on a fair and equitable basis. (Section 151)

The Conference substitute provides that before producers on a farm may receive direct payments or counter-cyclical payments with respect to the farm, the producers shall agree, in exchange for the payments to comply with applicable conservation requirements, applicable wetland protection requirements, planting flexibility requirements, to use the land on the farm in a quantity attributable to the base acres for an agricultural or conserving use and not for a nonagricultural commercial or industrial use, as determined by the Secretary and on noncultivated land attributable to the base acres, control noxious weeds and otherwise maintain the land in accordance with sound agricultural practices.

The Secretary may issue rules to ensure compliance with these requirements.

At the request of the transferee or owner, the Secretary may modify the requirements of this subsection if the modifications are consistent with the objectives of such subsection, as determined by the Secretary.

A transfer of (or change in) the interest of a producer in base acres for which direct or counter-cyclical payments are made shall result in the termination of the payments with respect to bases acres, unless the transferee or owner of the acreage agrees to assume all obligations under conservation, wetland, planting flexibility, agriculture land use provisions and controlling noxious weeds provisions. The termination shall take effect on the date determined by the Secretary.

If a producer entitled to a direct payment or counter-cyclical payment dies, becomes incompetent, or is otherwise unable to receive the payment, the Secretary shall make the payment, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

A producer who receives direct payments, counter-cyclical payments, or marketing loan benefits is required to submit annual acreage reports with respect to all cropland on the farm to the Secretary.

The Secretary shall provide adequate safeguards to protect the interests of tenants and sharecroppers.

The Secretary shall provide for the sharing of direct payments and counter-cyclical payments among the producers on a farm on a fair and equitable basis.

When there is a transfer (or change in) the interest of a producer in base acres for which direct or counter-cyclical payments are made, the Managers intend for the Secretary to provide a time frame for the succession to occur that is farmer-friendly.

Acreage reports provide important information such as assisting in determining the eligibility of land to be accepted into the Conservation Reserve Program. The Managers are aware that in prior years, the Secretary has imposed penalties on producers that submit acreage reports that the Secretary later determines to be inaccurate. The Managers understand that under prior acreage limiting and acreage reduction programs there was a need for very accurate reporting. However, under this Act, with the exception of determining the amount of fruits, vegetables, and wild rice planted on base acreage, there is no such need or requirement for the level of accuracy. Therefore, under this provision the Managers do not intend for any penalty to be applicable to inaccurate acreage reports on covered commodities or peanuts, provided the producer has made a good faith effort to accurately report acreage. (Section 1305)

(45) Planting Flexibility

The House bill provides that generally, producers may plant any commodity on the peanut acres of a farm, except fruits and vegetables (other than lentils, mung beans, and dry peas), and wild rice.

Paragraph (1) shall not limit the planting of an agriculture commodity in (A) any region in which there is a history of double-cropping of peanuts with agriculture commodities specified in paragraph (1), as determined by the Secretary, in which case the double-cropping shall be permitted; (B) on a farm that the Secretary determines has a history of planting agriculture commodities specified in paragraph (1) on peanut acres, except that fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments shall be reduced by an acre for each acre planted to such an agriculture commodity; or (C) by a peanut producer who the Secretary determines has an established planting history of a specific agriculture commodity specified in paragraph (1), except that the quantity planted may not exceed the peanut producer's average annual planting history of such agriculture commodity in the 1991 through 1995 crop years (excluding any crop year in which no plantings were made); and fixed decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments shall be reduced by an acre for each acre planted to such agriculture commodity. (Section 166)

The Senate amendment provides that generally, producers may plant any commodity on the peanut acres of a farm, except fruits and vegetables (other than lentils, mung beans, and dry peas), and in the case of the 2003 and subsequent crops of an agriculture commodity, wild rice.

Paragraph (1) shall not limit the planting of an agriculture commodity in (A) any region in which there is a history of double-cropping of peanuts with agriculture commodities specified in paragraph (1), as determined by the Secretary, in which case the double-cropping shall be permitted; (B) on a farm that the Secretary determines has a history of planting agriculture commodities specified in paragraph (1) on peanut acres, except that direct payments and counter-cyclical payments shall be reduced by an acre for each acre planted to the agriculture commodity; or (C) by the peanut producers on a farm that the Secretary determines has an established planting history of a specific agriculture commodity specified in paragraph (1), except that the quantity planted may not exceed the average annual planting history of the agricultural commodity by the peanut producers on the farm during the 1996 through 2001 crop years (excluding any crop year in which no plantings were made), as determined by the Secretary and direct payments and counter-cyclical payments shall be reduced by an acre for each acre planted to the agriculture commodity. (Section 151)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that provides that the planting of fruits, vegetables (other than lentils, mung beans and dry peas) and wild rice shall be prohibited on base acreage unless the commodity, if planted, is destroyed before harvest.

The planting of fruits and vegetables produced on trees and other perennials shall be prohibited on base acres.

The Secretary shall establish a producer planting history for fruits, vegetables and wild rice planted by the producers on the farm in the 1991 through 1995 or 1998 through 2001 crop years. (Section 1306)

(46) Marketing Assistance Loans and Loan Deficiency Payments for Peanuts

The House bill provides that for each of the 2002 through 2011 crop of peanuts, the Secretary shall make available to peanut producers on a farm non-recourse marketing assistance loans for peanuts produced on the farm. Any production of peanuts on a farm shall be eligible for a marketing assistance loan.

In carrying out this subsection, the Secretary shall make loans to a peanut producer that is otherwise eligible to obtain a marketing assistance loan, but for the fact the peanuts owned by the peanut producer are commingled with other peanuts in facilities unlicensed for the storage of agricultural commodities by the Secretary or a State licensing authority, if the peanut producer obtaining the loan agrees to immediately redeem the loan collateral in accordance with section 166 of the Federal Improvement and Reform Act of 1996.

A marketing assistance loan and loan deficiency payments may be obtained at the option of the peanut producer through a designated marketing association of peanut producers that is approved by the Secretary; or the Farm Service Agency.

The loan rate for a marketing assistance loan for peanuts shall be equal to $350 per ton.

A marketing assistance loan for peanuts under subsection (a) shall have a term of nine months beginning on the first day of the first month after the month in which the loan is made. The Secretary may not extend the term of a marketing assistance loan under subsection (a).

The Secretary shall permit producers to repay a marketing assistance loan for peanuts at a rate that is the lesser of the loan rate for the commodity plus interest; or a rate that the Secretary determines will minimize loan forfeitures, accumulation of stocks, storage costs, and allow peanuts produced in the United States to be marketed freely and competitively.

The Secretary may make loan deficiency payments available to peanut producers who, although eligible to obtain a marketing assistance loan for peanuts, agree to forgo obtaining the loan for the peanuts in return for payments.

A loan deficiency payment shall be computed by multiplying the loan payment rate and the quantity of the peanuts produced by the peanut producers, excluding any quantity for which the producers obtain a loan under subsection (a).

The loan payment rate shall be the amount by which the loan rate exceeds the rate at which a loan may be repaid.

The Secretary shall make a payment under this subsection to a peanut producer with respect to a quantity of peanuts as of the earlier of (A) the date on which the peanut producer marketed or otherwise lost beneficial interest in the peanuts or (B) the date the peanut producer requests the payment.

As a condition of the receipt of a marketing assistance loan, the peanut producer shall comply with applicable conservation and wetland protection requirements, during the term of the loan.

To the extent practicable, the Secretary shall implement any reimbursable agreements or provide for the payment of expenses under this chapter in a manner that is consistent with such activities in regard to other commodities.

This section terminates section 155 of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996, which provided superseded price support authority. (Section 166)

The Senate amendment provides that for each of the 2002 through 2006 crops of peanuts, the Secretary shall make available to peanut producers on a farm non-recourse marketing assistance loans for peanuts produced on the farm. The producers on a farm shall be eligible for a marketing assistance loan under this section for any quantity of peanuts produced on the farm.

In carrying out this section, the Secretary shall make loans to peanut producers on a farm that would be eligible to obtain a marketing assistance loan, but for the fact the peanuts owned by the peanut producers on the farm are commingled with other peanuts of other producers in facilities unlicensed for the storage of agricultural commodities by the Secretary or a State licensing authority, if the peanut producers on a farm obtaining the loan agree to immediately redeem the loan collateral in accordance with section 158E.

A marketing assistance loan and loan deficiency payments may be obtained at the option of the peanut producers on a farm through (A) a designated marketing association of peanut producers that is approved by the Secretary, (B) the Farm Service Agency, or (C) a loan servicing agent approved by the Secretary.

The loan rate for a marketing assistance loan for peanuts shall be equal to $400 per ton.

A marketing assistance loan for peanuts under subsection (a) shall have a term of nine months beginning on the first day of the first month after the month in which the loan is made. The Secretary may not extend the term of a marketing assistance loan for peanuts under subsection (a).

The Secretary shall permit peanut producers on a farm to repay a marketing assistance loan for peanuts at a rate that is the lesser of the loan rate for peanuts plus interest or a rate that the Secretary determines will minimize forfeitures, accumulation of stocks, storage costs; and allow peanuts produced in the United States to be marketed freely and competitively.

The Secretary may make loan deficiency payments available to the peanut producers on a farm that, although eligible to obtain a marketing assistance loan for peanuts under subsection (a), agree to forgo obtaining the loan for the peanuts in return for payments under this subsection.

A loan deficiency payment shall be obtained by multiplying the loan payment rate by the quantity of the peanuts produced by the peanut producers on the farm, excluding any quantity for which the producers on a farm obtain a loan under subsection (a).

The loan payment rate shall be the amount by which the loan rate exceeds the rate at which a loan may be repaid.

The Secretary shall make a payment under this subsection to the peanut producers on a farm with respect to a quantity of peanuts as of the earlier of (A) the date on which the peanut producers on the farm marketed or otherwise lost beneficial interest in the peanuts, as determined by the Secretary or (B) the date the peanut producers on the farm request the payment.

As a condition of the receipt of a marketing assistance loan under subsection (a), the peanut producers on a farm shall comply during the term of the loan with applicable conservation and wetland protection requirements.

To the maximum extent practicable, the Secretary shall implement any reimbursable agreements or provide for the payment of expenses under this chapter in a manner that is consistent with the implementation of the agreements or payment of the expenses for other commodities.

This section terminates Section 155 of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 is repealed. (Section 151)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment modifying the options the producer has for obtaining a marketing assistance loan and loan deficiency payments to not only include a designated marketing association and the Farm Service Agency, but also a marketing cooperative of producers.

Effective for the 2002 through 2006 crop of peanuts, to ensure proper storage of peanuts for which a loan is made under this section, the Secretary shall use the funds of the Commodity Credit Corporation to pay storage, handling, and other associated costs. This authority terminates beginning with the 2007 crop of peanuts. Also included is nondiscriminatory language for individuals or entities seeking approval to store peanuts for which a marketing loan is made.

The amendment added language that a marketing association or cooperative may market peanuts for which a loan is made under this section in any manner that conforms to consumer needs, including the separation of peanuts by type and quality.

The amendment added language on good faith exemptions to the beneficial interest requirement for the 2002 crop of peanuts. In the case of the producers on a farm that marketed or otherwise lost beneficial interest in the peanuts for which a marketing assistance loan was made under this section before repaying the loan, the Secretary shall permit the producers to repay the loan at the appropriate repayment rate that was in effect for peanuts under this subsection as of the date that the producers lost beneficial interest, as determined by the Secretary, if the Secretary determines the producers acted in good faith.

The amendment establishes a special rule for the 2002 crop year loan deficiency payments. For the 2002 crop year only, the Secretary shall determine the amount of the loan deficiency payment to be made to the producers on a farm with respect to a quantity of peanuts using the payment rate for peanuts as of the earlier of the following: the date on which the producers marketed or otherwise lost beneficial interest in the crop, as determined by the Secretary, or the date the producers request the payment.

The loan rate for a marketing assistance loan for peanuts shall be equal to $355 per ton. (Section 1307)

The Managers encourage the Department to continue its traditional practice of accounting for all commingled peanuts such that all peanuts stored commingled with peanuts covered by a marketing assistance loan are graded and exchanged on a dollar value basis unless it is the determination of the Secretary that the beneficial interest in peanuts covered by the marketing assistance loan have been transferred to other parties prior to demand for delivery.

(47) Quality Improvement

The House bill peanuts placed under a marketing assistance loan under section 167 shall be officially inspected and graded by Federal or State inspectors. Peanuts not placed under a marketing assistance loan may be graded at the option of the producer.

This section terminates the Peanut Administrative Committee and the Secretary is directed to establish a Peanut Standards Board for the purpose of assisting in the establishment of quality standards for peanuts. The authority of the Board is limited to assisting in the establishment of quality standards for peanuts. The members of the Board should fairly reflect all regions and segments of the peanut industry.

This section shall take effect with the 2002 crop of peanuts. (Section 168)

The Senate amendment provides that all peanuts placed under a marketing assistance loan under section 158G shall be officially inspected and graded by a Federal or State inspector. Peanuts not placed under a marketing assistance loan may be graded at the option of the peanut producers on a farm.

The Senate amendment provides that this section terminates the Peanut Administrative Committee. The Secretary shall establish a Peanut Standards Board for the purpose of assisting in the establishment of quality standards with respect to peanuts. The Secretary shall appoint members to the Board that, to the maximum extent practicable, reflect all regions and segments of the peanut industry. The Board shall assist the Secretary in establishing quality standards for peanuts.

This section shall apply beginning with the 2002 crop of peanuts. (Section 151)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment requiring all peanuts marketed in the United States to be officially inspected and graded by Federal or Federal-State inspectors.

The amendment clarifies the composition of the Peanut Standards Board, the terms for members, and provides language to transition from the Peanut Administrative Committee to the Peanut Standards Board. (Section 1308)

It is the Managers' intention that the definition of "peanut industry representatives" includes, but is not limited to, representatives of the manufacturers, shellers, buying points, marketing associations and marketing cooperatives.

The Managers expect the Secretary, when developing inspection and grading standards, to encourage the use of the latest technology and evaluation systems to eliminate costs and increase efficiency in the inspection and grading process. The Secretary should also encourage the use of the latest research and technology to assist in the elimination and prevention of aflatoxin.

(48) Payment Limitations

The House bill provides that separate payment limitations shall apply to peanuts with respect to fixed, decoupled payments, counter-cyclical payments, and limitations on marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payments.

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision in Chapter 3.

The Conference substitute provides the total direct and counter-cyclical payments to a person for corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, wheat, soybeans, minor oilseeds, cotton and rice may not exceed $40,000 and $65,000, respectively. The total marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payments for corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, wheat, soybeans, minor oilseeds, cotton, rice, lentils, dry peas and small chickpeas that a person is entitled to receive is $75,000.

Provides for a separate direct and counter-cyclical payment limitation for peanuts of $40,000 and $65,000, respectively. Provides for a separate marketing loan gain and loan deficiency payments limitation for peanuts, wool, mohair and honey of $75,000.

Retains current rules on husband and wife, 3-entities, actively engaged and generic certificates.

Adopts the $2.5 million adjusted gross income means test.

The Conference substitute refers to levels of adjusted gross income or comparable measures of income. The Managers intend that the comparable measure provision be utilized when necessary and in cases of applicants for whom, because of their status under the Internal Revenue Code, adjusted gross income is not measured or reported. For example, participants who are organized as C Corporations, S Corporations, or as non-profit organizations, the Managers intend for the Secretary to use this direction to adopt alternative income measurements that compare most closely to adjusted gross income. (Section 1309)

The Managers expect the Secretary to implement this provision in a manner that provides equitable treatment, to the maximum extent practicable to all producers regardless of the legal structure of their farming operation.

For purposes of subsection (b), the Managers expect the Secretary to determine the individual or entity to be ineligible only if the adjusted gross income or similar equivalent exceeds $2.5 million and less than 75 percent of the adjusted gross income is derived from farming, ranching or forestry operations as determined by the Secretary.

(49) Termination of Marketing Quota Programs for Peanuts and Compensation to Peanut Quota Holders for Loss of Quota Asset Value

The House bill repeals the marketing quota for peanuts, part VI of subtitle B of title III of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938.

The marketing quota as in effect the day before the date of enactment of this Act, shall continue to apply with respect to the 2001 crop of peanuts.

The Secretary shall offer to enter into a contract with eligible peanut quota holders for the purpose of providing compensation for the lost value of the quota on account of the repeal of the marketing quota program for peanuts. Under the contracts, the Secretary shall make payments to eligible peanut quota holders during fiscal years 2002 through 2006. The payments required under the contracts shall be provided in five equal installments not later than September 30 of each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2006.

The amount of the payment for a fiscal year to a peanut quota holder under a contract shall be equal to the product obtained by multiplying $0.10 per pound by the actual farm poundage quota (excluding seed and experimental peanuts) established for the peanut quota holder's farm for the 2001 marketing year.

The provisions of section 8(g) of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, relating to the assignment of payments, shall apply to the payments made to peanut quota holders under the contracts. The peanut quota holder making the assignment or the assignee, shall provide the Secretary with notice, in such a manner as the Secretary may require, of any assignment made under this subsection.

This section defines peanut quota holder as a person or enterprise that owns a farm that was eligible, immediately before the date of the enactment of this Act, to have a peanut quota established upon it; if there are not quotas currently established, would be eligible to have a quota established upon it for the succeeding crop year; or is otherwise a farm that was eligible for such a quota at the time the general quota establishment authority was repealed.

The Secretary shall apply this definition without regard to temporary leases or transfers or quotas for seed or experimental purposes. (Section 170)

The Senate amendment provides the effective beginning with the 2002 crop of peanuts, part VI of subtitle B of title III of the Agriculture Adjustment Act of 1938 is repealed.

This section and the amendments made by this section apply beginning with the 2002 crop of peanuts.

The Secretary shall offer to enter into a contract with peanut quota holders for the purpose of providing compensation for the lost value of quota as a result of the repeal of the marketing quota program for peanuts. Under a contract, the Secretary shall make payments to an eligible peanut quota holder for each of fiscal years 2002 through 2006. The payments required under the contracts shall be provided in 5 equal installments not later than September 30 of each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2006.

The amount of the payment for a fiscal year to a peanut quota holder under contract shall be equal to the product obtained by multiplying $0.11 by the actual farm poundage quota (excluding any quantity for seed and experimental peanuts) established for the farm of a peanut quota holder for the 2001 marketing year.

The provisions of section 8(g) of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, relating to assignment of payments, shall apply to the payments made to peanut quota holders under the contracts. The peanut quota holder making the assignment, or the assignee, shall provide the Secretary with notice, in such a manner as the Secretary may require, of any assignment made under this subsection.

This section defines peanut quota holder as a person or entity that owns a farm that (I) held a peanut quota established for the farm for the 2001 crop of peanuts; (II) if there was not such a quota established for the farm for the 2001 crop of peanuts, would be eligible to have such a quota established for the farm for the 2002 crop of peanuts; (III) is otherwise a farm that was eligible for such a quota as of the effective date of the amendments made by this section.

The Secretary shall apply the definition of peanut quota holder without regard to temporary leases, transfers, or quotas for seed or experimental purposes. (Section 152)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with clarifying language to the quota holder definition. The quota compensation payment shall be $0.11 per year for a total of five years. The amendment gives an option to eligible peanut quota holders entitled to payments under a contract to receive the entire payment in a single lump sum.

The amendment adds disposal language to allow the Secretary to ensure that the disposal of peanuts for which a loan for the 2001 crop was made is carried out in a manner that prevents price disruptions in the domestic and international markets for peanuts.

The amendment adds language on the effect of termination on crop insurance policies. The subsection shall apply for the 2002 crop year only notwithstanding any other provision of law or crop insurance policy. The nonquota price election for segregation I, II, and III shall be 17.75 cents per pound and shall be used for all aspects of the policy relating to the calculations of premium, liability, and indemnities. For the purposes of quality adjustment only, the average support price per pound of peanuts shall be a price equal to 17.75 cents per pound. Quality under the crop insurance policy for peanuts shall be adjusted under procedures issued by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. (Section 1310)

(e) ADJUSTMENT AUTHORITY RELATED TO URUGUAY ROUND COMPLIANCE.—If the Secretary determines that expenditures under subtitles A, B, and C that are subject to the total allowable domestic support levels under the Uruguay Round Agreements (as defined in section 2(7) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3501(7))), as in effect on the date of the enactment of this Act, will exceed such allowable levels for any applicable reporting period, the Secretary may make adjustments in the amount of such expenditures during that period to ensure that such expenditures do not exceed, but in no case are less than, such allowable levels. (Section 181)

The Senate amendment provides that:

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Agriculture may promulgate such regulations as are necessary to implement this Act and the amendments made by this Act.

(c) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW OF AGENCY RULE-MAKING.—In carrying out subsection (b), the Secretary shall use the authority provided under section 808 of title 5, United States Code.

Amends Section 161 of the FAIR Act to allow the Secretary to adjust the amount of domestic support to assure compliance with Uruguay Round obligations.

Requires the Secretary to report to Congress of intent to make adjustment and allows adjustment unless a joint resolution disapproving the adjustments is enacted by both Houses of Congress within 60 days.

Requires annual reports on domestic support by April 30 of each year. (Section 164 and 1099)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that provides for the Secretary, to the maximum extent practicable, make adjustments in the amount of such expenditures during that period to ensure that such expenditures do not exceed such allowable levels.

Before making any adjustment, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate and the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives a report describing the determination made and the extent of the adjustment made.

The Conference has made it a priority to craft a program that provides assistance to producers in a way that is consistent with our obligations under the Uruguay Round Agreement on Agriculture. (Section 1601)

(51) Extension of Suspension of Permanent Price Support Authority

The House bill amends Section 171 of the FAIR Act.

(a) AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT ACT OF 1938.—Section 171(a)(1) of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C. 7301(a)(1)) is amended by striking "2002" both places it appears and inserting "2011".

(b) AGRICULTURAL ACT OF 1949.—Section 171(b)(1) of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C. 7301(b)(1)) is amended by striking "2002" both places it appears and inserting "2011".

(c) SUSPENSION OF CERTAIN QUOTA PROVISIONS.—Section 171(c) of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C. 7301(c)) is amended by striking "2002" and inserting "2011". (Section 182)

The Senate amendment amends Section 171 of the Fair Act. Section 171 of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C. 7301) is amended—

(1) by striking "2002" each place it appears and inserting "2006"; and

(2) in subsection (a)(1)—

(A) by striking subparagraph (E); and

(B) by redesignating subparagraphs (F) through (I) as subparagraphs (E) through (H), respectively. (Section 165)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment. (Section 1602)

(52) Commodity Purchases

The Senate Amendment provides new mandatory spending for commodity purchases with a specific amount for specialty crops, for the Department of Defense nutrition program and for the Emergency Food Assistance Program. (Section 166)

The House Bill contains no similar provision.

The Conference Substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to provide a minimum of $200 million per year from Section 32 funds for the purchase of fruits, vegetables and other specialty food crops. A minimum of $50 million per year of these funds is to be spent on the Department of Defense Fresh Program. And the Secretary shall submit a report not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, to the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate that analyzes by type the commodities purchased under this section as well as by type the commodities purchased using all other Section 32 funds. (Section 10603)

The Managers intend that the funds made available under this section are to be used for additional purchases of fruits and vegetables, over and above the purchases made under current law or that might otherwise be made without this authority. The Managers expect the $200 million to be a minimum amount for fruit and vegetable purchases under Section 32 funds; it is not intended to interfere with or decrease from Agricultural Marketing Service's historical purchases of fruits and vegetables [e.g. $243 million in 2001; $232 million in 2000] or to decrease or displace other commodity purchases. It is the Managers' further intention that tree nuts may be included in the Secretary's definition of "other specialty food crops" purchases for this section. The Managers intend that none of the amounts made available under this section for the purchases of fruits, vegetables, and other specialty food crops may be used to purchase apples for 2002 and 2003. The Secretary may continue to purchase apples under other existing authority.

The amendment requires that a minimum of $50 million from the $200 million made available under section 10603 be used exclusively for additional purchases of fresh fruits and vegetables for the schools through the "DoD Fresh" program. The Department of Agriculture currently provides $25 million in funding each year for the purchase of fresh fruits and vegetables for the schools, pursuant to existing authority under the School Lunch Act. Through a 1995 memorandum of agreement between the Agricultural Marketing Service, the Food & Consumer Service, and the Defense Personnel Support Center, the Department of Defense serves as the servicing agency for the procurement of these fresh fruits and vegetables through the "DoD Fresh" program. The Managers strongly support efforts to fully utilize this program to assist small businesses, specialty crop producers, and schools in providing greater quantities of fresh fruits and vegetables in USDA feeding programs, and expects the Secretary to review the effectiveness of the program in meeting these goals on an ongoing basis.

(53) Hard White Wheat Incentive Payments

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 193 of the FAIR Act. For crop years 2003 through 2005, this section requires the Secretary to use $40 million of funds of the Commodity Credit Corporation to provide incentive payments to producers of hard white wheat. The program offers wheat producers an alternative crop to meet a growing international market opportunity. (Section 167)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that provides for the 2003 through 2005 crop years, a total of $20 million in hard white wheat incentive payments to growers that demonstrate that buyers and end-users are available for the wheat to be covered by the incentive payment. (Section 1616)

(54) Limitations

The House bill amends section 1001 of the Food Security Act of 1985 to delete the references to production flexibility contract and AMTA and include fixed, decoupled and counter-cyclical payment limitations. The total fixed, decoupled payments and counter-cyclical payments to a person may not exceed $50,000 and $75,000, respectively. The total of marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payments that a person is entitled to receive is $150,000.

Peanuts, honey and wool and mohair have limitations for the applicable programs separate from other commodities. (Section 183)

The Senate amendment amends Section 1001 of the Food Security Act of 1985. The total of direct and counter-cyclical payments that an individual or entity may receive during any fiscal year for program commodities shall not exceed $75,000. The total of marketing loan gains, forfeiture gains, gains from marketing certificates and loan deficiency payments that a person is entitled to receive for program crops, peanuts, honey and wool is $150,000 per crop year.

During a fiscal and corresponding crop year, the total amount of payments and benefits that a married couple may receive from direct, counter-cyclical and marketing loan is $75,000 and $150,000 respectively, plus a combined total of an additional $50,000. (Section 169)

The Conference substitute provides the total direct and counter-cyclical payments to a person for corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, wheat, soybeans, minor oilseeds, cotton and rice may not exceed $40,000 and $65,000, respectively. The total marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payments for corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, wheat, soybeans, minor oilseeds, cotton, rice, lentils, dry peas and small chickpeas that a person is entitled to receive is $75,000.

Provides for a separate direct and counter-cyclical payment limitation for peanuts of $40,000 and $65,000, respectively. Provides for a separate marketing loan gain and loan deficiency payments limitation for peanuts, wool, mohair and honey of $75,000.

Retains current rules on husband and wife, 3-entities, actively engaged, generic certificates and adopts the $2.5 million adjusted gross income means test.

The Conference substitute refers to levels of adjusted gross income or comparable measures of income. The Managers intend that the comparable measure provision be utilized when necessary and in cases of applicants for whom, because of their status under the Internal Revenue Code, adjusted gross income is not measured or reported. For example, participants who are organized as C Corporations, S Corporations, or as non-profit organizations, the Managers intend for the Secretary to use this direction to adopt the use of income measure terms that compare most closely to adjusted gross income. The Managers expect the Secretary to implement this provision in a manner that provides equal treatment, to the maximum extent practicable across all producers regardless of the legal structure of their farming operation.

For purposes of subsection (b), the Managers expect the Secretary to determine the individual or entity to be ineligible only if the adjusted gross income or similar equivalent exceeds $2.5 million and less than 75 percent of the adjusted gross income is derived from farming, ranching or forestry operations as determined by the Secretary. (Section 1603)

(55) Adjustments of Loans

The House bill extends current authority to adjust loans so, to the maximum extent practicable, the average loan level for a commodity will be equal to the level of support determined appropriate under this Act. (Section 184)

The Senate amendment retains current law as section 162 of the FAIR Act with "loan commodity" reference. (Section 171)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Section 1606)

(56) Personal Liability of Producers for Deficiencies

The House bill amends Section 164 of the FAIR Act by striking "this title" and inserting "this title and title I of the Farm Security Act of 2001". The liability of a producer is limited if the collateral securing any non-recourse loan is sold as long as the sale was not fraudulent. (Section 185)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The House bill requires the Secretary to review the effects that payments under production flexibility contracts and market loss assistance payments have had, and that fixed, decoupled and counter-cyclical payments are likely to have, on the economic viability of producers and the farming infrastructure. The review shall include a case study on the effects these payments are likely to have on rice producers, millers and the economies of rice farming areas in Texas. (Section 187)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Section ???)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Section 10104)

(64) Restriction of Commodity and Crop Insurance Payments, Loans and Benefits to Previously Cropped Land

The Senate amendment restricts commodity and crop insurance payments to previously cropped land. To be eligible for benefits, land must have been planted, considered planted or devoted to an agricultural commodity (excluding forage, livestock, timber, forest products, or hay) at least 1 of the 5 crop years preceding the 2002 crop year, or at least 3 of the 10 crop years preceding the 2002 crop year, or at least 1 of the 20 crop years preceding 2002 crop year if the land has been maintained, using long-term crop rotation practices.

There are exceptions for land enrolled in the conservation reserve program and land under the jurisdiction of an Indian tribe. (Section 170)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(65) Reports of Equitable Relief and Misaction-Misinformation Requests

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to submit to the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry of the Senate a report that describes the requests for equitable relief. (Section 172)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that provides State Executive Directors of the Farm Service Agency and State Conservationists with the Natural Resource Conservation Service authority to grant relief in special circumstances. In addition, a report is required to be provided annually that describes for the previous calendar year, the number of requests for equitable relief and the disposition of the requests. (Section 1613)

(66) Estimates of Net Farm Income

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to include—

“(1) an estimate of the net farm income earned by commercial producers in the United States; and

“(2) an estimate of the net farm income attributable to commercial producers of each of—

The amount of payments or assistance shall not exceed the amount of payments or assistance the person would have been eligible to receive under Public Law 107-25.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute accepts the Senate provision with an amendment to also include producers participating in 1998, 1999, 2000 or 2001 economic or disaster assistance programs that have not been paid. (Section 1617)

SUBTITLE E—PAYMENT LIMITATION COMMISSION

(69) Establishment of Commission

(70) Duties

The Senate amendment requires the commission to conduct a comprehensive review of payment limitations. (Section 182)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall submit a report containing the results of the study, including such recommendations as the Commission considers appropriate.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with amendments to provide $94 million to apple producers for the loss of markets during the 2000 crop year, payment quantity parameters are retained, the Secretary shall not establish a payment limitation or an income eligibility limitation with respect to payments made on the payment quantity of 5 million pounds of apples produced on the farm; and promulgation of regulations and administration of this section will be exempt from the rulemaking requirements and Paperwork Reduction Act. Also provides $10 million as a grant to the State of New York to be used to support current onion producers in Orange County, New York, who have suffered losses to onion crops during one or more of the 1996 through 2000 crop years. (Section 10105)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

TITLE II—CONSERVATION

SUBTITLE A—CONSERVATION SECURITY PROGRAM

(1) Conservation Security Act

The Senate amendment establishes the Conservation Security Program (CSP) and provides the applicable definitions. (Section 201 (Section 1238))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification. The Managers expect the Secretary to implement the CSP to encourage the widest participation possible at a level that ensures resources are protected at a non-degradation level. (Section 201)

(2) Conservation Security Program

The Senate amendment establishes the CSP for fiscal years 2003 through 2006 to assist producers in implementing various conservation practices as applicable for each individual operation. Eligible lands include private cropland, grassland, prairie land, pasture land and rangeland and private forest land in agro-forestry practices.

The Senate amendment establishes three tiers of conservation contracts that provide flexibility to farmers. Eligible practices may include the continuation of some practices combined with the adoption of new practices. Producers must adopt or maintain practices to address a resource concern of the operation, such as soil or water quality.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification. The CSP, which is open to all producers for maintaining or adopting practices on private agricultural land, will be established from fiscal years 2003 through 2007. Only private agricultural lands and forested land that is incidental to an agricultural operation is eligible for enrollment. Lands enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), the Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP), or the Grasslands Reserve Program (GRP) and not eligible for enrollment, nor are lands that have not been cropped for more than four out of the past six years. This change is to help discourage producers from using the program as an inducement to cultivate land. Because this is a working lands program, producers will be allowed economic use of the land, in a manner consistent with the program. (Section 2001)

Agricultural producers are longtime stewards of America's lands. In establishing the CSP, the Managers recognize the need to support ongoing stewardship by providing incentive payments for producers to maintain and enhance conservation practices at a non-degradation level.

The Managers intend to assist agriculture producers to concentrate on resource problems, including soil, air, water, plant and animal (including wildlife) and energy conservation, on their particular operation using a broad array of conservation practices. Participation does not require a producer to address a locally-identified priority. Instead, a producer may receive an enhanced payment for addressing locally-identified priorities which will be determined by the state technical committees working with local working groups and agricultural producers. Overall, the Managers intend that the enhanced payments be used to ensure and optimize environmental benefits. The enhanced payments should reward producers who go beyond the minimum requirements of the program to address additional resource concerns.

The Managers intend that the Secretary shall provide base payments based on the average national rental rate for the specific land use type. The Managers encourage the Secretary to look at alternative approaches for a base payment that is not based on rental rates. In applying another appropriate rate to ensure regional equity, the Secretary shall not provide a rate lower than the national average rental rate.

The Managers intend the Secretary will not employ an environmental bidding or ranking system in implementing CSP and approve should approve a producer's contract that meets the standards of the program. The Managers are aware that many agricultural producers who want to adopt conservation practices have not had access to conservation program funding. Together, with the overall increase in funds for all conservation programs, agriculture producers who chose to employ conservation practices should have access to funding.

The Secretary should provide cost-share payments at a rate not exceeding 75 per cent. The Secretary should provide cost-share assistance at a comparable rate as that provided under the Environmental Quality Incentives Program for the same practices. In limiting cost-share for land-based structures, payments should be limited to those structures that are integral to the land-based conservation system.

The Managers expect the Secretary to implement the CSP in a manner that will allow all agricultural producers, including fruit and vegetable producers and livestock producers, to participate equitably in the program. The Managers also direct the Secretary to begin CSP at the full national level as soon as practicable.

While CSP is directed toward practices on working agricultural lands, the Managers recognize that some land use practices may involve alternative uses of the land, such as providing for wildlife habitat or the corners on center-pivot irrigation systems, and expect the Secretary to include these parcels, when incidental to the operation, as part of the CSP contract.

The Managers are aware of the unique conservation and production practices utilized by specialty crop growers throughout the United States. The Managers expect the Department to ensure that adequate resources are made available for specialty crop conservation practices under CSP. They also expect that, in carrying out the financial assistance provisions of various conservation programs the unique production practices involved in fruit and vegetable production, are taken into account when drafting and implementing regulations to carry out those programs.

(3) Partnerships and Cooperation

The Senate amendment allows the Secretary to designate special projects and enter into agreements with nonfederal entities to provide enhanced technical and financial assistance to be used by owners to meet the purposes of the Clean Water Act, Safe Drinking Water Act and Clean Air Act, and other Federal, state or local laws, and to address environmental issues associated with watersheds of special significance or other geographic areas of environmental sensitivity such as wetlands.

It also allows the Secretary to provide incentive payments to producers participating in special projects to encourage partnerships and sharing of technical and financial resources among owners, producers, government and non-governmental organizations and to adjust the application of eligibility criteria, approved practices, innovative conservation practices and other elements of the conservation programs to better reflect unique local circumstances, if consistent with environmental enhancement and purposes and requirements of the title. Participating parties must submit a plan to the Secretary. The purposes of the special projects include the installation of systems affecting multiple agricultural operations and innovative techniques. This provision directs the Secretary to use 5 percent of the funds made available for the EQIP to carry out special projects consistent with the purposes of EQIP. (Section 203) The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification. The Secretary may enter into agreements to enhance technical and financial assistance provided to owners, operators, and producers to address natural resource issues related to agricultural production. The Secretary may provide incentives for special projects to encourage partnerships and enrollments of optimal conservation value. (Section 203)

The Managers intend for the Secretary to use this authority to help producers avoid the need for further federal and state regulation to protect clean water and air. The Secretary is strongly encouraged to be proactive in establishing partnerships in critical areas such as the Chesapeake Bay.

(4) Administrative Requirements for Conservation Programs

(a) Good-faith reliance

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to provide relief to owners, operators or producers injured by good faith reliance based on an action or on the advice of an employee of the Secretary.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision due to the adoption of a general good faith reliance provision covering both the commodity and conservation titles. (Section 204)

(b) Education, assessment and evaluation

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to provide education, outreach, training, monitoring, evaluation, and technical assistance to agricultural producers. Allows Secretary to enter contracts with nonfederal entities to provide these services.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. The Secretary has been providing education and outreach to agricultural producers, beginning farmers and ranchers and Indian tribes. The Managers intend that education, monitoring, and assessment of the programs under Subtitle D of the 1985 Food Security Act be conducted as a part of the technical assistance for these programs. In carrying out these activities, the Managers would also expect the Secretary to utilize the experience and expertise of outside entities such as, states (including state agencies and local units of government), educational institutions, and non-profit groups with a demonstrated history of working with agricultural producers. The Managers expect $10 million per year from technical assistance funds for the conservation programs to be used for these purposes.

(c) Beginning and limited-resource farmers

The Senate amendment allows the Secretary to provide beginning farmers and ranchers and Indian tribes and limited-resource producer incentives to participate in conservation programs.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision for beginning farmers and ranchers. (Section 2004)

(d) Maintenance of conservation data

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to maintain data concerning conservation plans and programs.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. (Section 2004)

(e) Mediation

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to provide aggrieved producers mediation services or an informal hearing on the matter.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. (Section 2004)

(f) Privacy

The Senate amendment directs the Secretary to ensure the privacy of individual information provided to USDA to secure technical or financial assistance for conservation programs. Information may be released to the Attorney General to enforce programs. (Section 204)

The House bill amended the Freedom of Information Act to provide similar protections for producer-provided information.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification.

(g) Cooperation with tribal governments

The Senate amendment directs the Secretary to cooperate with the tribal government of Indian tribes when administering lands under the jurisdiction of an Indian tribe.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes this provision due to the adoption of similar provisions in the Miscellaneous Title. (Section 2004)

(5) Reform and Assessment of Conservation Programs

The Senate amendment directs the Secretary to develop a plan for coordinating conservation plans and programs to facilitate implementation and delivery of conservation programs and provide a report to Congress within 180 days after enactment of this Act. (Section 205)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification. (Section 2005)

(6) Conservation Security Program Regulations

The Senate amendment states that the Secretary may promulgate regulations for implementation of the CSP upon enactment of this Act. (Section 206)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 2702)

(7) Conforming Amendments

The House bill reauthorizes the Environmental Conservation Acreage Reserve Program (ECARP) through 2011 and removes provisions establishing conservation priority areas. (Section 201)

The Senate amendment renames the ECARP the Comprehensive Conservation Enhancement Program (CCEP), reauthorizes the CCEP programs through 2006, and directs the Secretary to give priority to areas in which designated land would facilitate the most rapid completion of projects that are ongoing as of the date of the application. (Sections 207 and 211)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, with a modification that removes priority areas from CCEP as well as the reference to priority being given to the most rapid completion of projects. Also, the substitute extends the program to 2007. (Section 2006)

The Managers find that bobwhite quail are a valued traditional symbol of farmed landscapes, but their populations have declined by two-thirds since 1980. The Managers further find that the success of the Southeast Quail Study Group's new "Northern Bobwhite Conservation Initiative" is largely dependent upon land management actions by agricultural producers and non-industrial private forestland owners. The Managers further find that many conservation programs of this farm bill have large potential to contribute to bobwhite quail habitat objectives and encourage the Secretary to support the goal of restoring habitat for this species.

The Managers intend that the CRP, the CREP, the Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program (WHIP), the EQIP, the WRP, the GRP, the CSP and other USDA programs could be helpful in supplementing the Comprehensive Everglades Restoration Program. The Secretary is encouraged to work with appropriate state and federal officials to develop and implement a coordinated plan toward this end.

SUBTITLE B—CONSERVATION RESERVE PROGRAM

(1) Reauthorization

The House bill reauthorizes the CRP through 2011 and adds conservation and improvement of wildlife resources to the scope of the program's purpose. (Section 211)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the CRP through 2006. (Section 212(a))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with a modification that extends the program to 2007. (Section 2101)

(2) Enrollment

The House bill modifies language on land eligibility to add: (1) marginal pasturelands devoted to natural vegetation in or near riparian areas or for similar water quality purposes, (2) land that the Secretary determines will contribute to the degradation of soil, water or air quality or poses an environmental threat if permitted to remain in production, (3) land where soil, water and air quality objectives cannot be achieved under the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP), and (4) land where enrollment would contribute to the conservation of ground or surface water. (Section 212(a))

The Senate amendment modifies language on vegetative cover, providing that in the case of marginal pastureland, an owner or operator shall not be required to plant trees if the land is to be restored as a wetland or with appropriate native riparian vegetation. (Sec. 212 (g))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with a technical change. Marginal pastureland should be devoted to appropriate vegetation, including trees, in or near riparian areas or for similar water quality purposes, including marginal pastureland converted to wetlands or established as wildlife habitat. (Section 2101)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision on land which would contribute to degradation of soil, water or air quality if permitted to remain in production. The substitute also adopts the provision on land where enrollment would contribute to the conservation of ground or surface water, with modification that land may only be enrolled where the measure would provide a net savings in ground or surface water resources on the agricultural operation of the producer. This is a new factor, under CRP, that should not be given a significant increase in points under the Environmental Benefits Index. (Section 2101)

(3) Eligibility and Cropping History

The House amendment modifies the language on eligibility to limit enrollment of land that has not been in production for at least four years.

The Senate amendment modifies language on eligibility of highly-erodible cropland that cannot be farmed in accordance with a conservation plan, and requires that the land have a cropping history or be considered to have been planted for three of the six years preceding the enactment of this legislation, and modifies language on land eligibility to add: (1) the portion of land in a field in cases where more than 50 percent of the land in the field is enrolled as a buffer, and (2) land (including land with no cropping history) enrolled through the continuous sign-up program or Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program (CREP). (Section 212 (b))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, with modification requiring that land have a cropping history or be considered to have been planted for four of the six years preceding the enactment of this legislation to be eligible. The Managers are concerned about reports that producers are planting crops on non-cropped lands as a means of being eligible to participate in CRP. This language is intended to prevent the enrollment of these lands under CRP. (Section 2101)

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision on land, other than cropland, being enrolled in the continuous sign-up program. However, the Managers understand the Secretary is currently reviewing the land eligibility criteria, including the eligibility of non-cropland that could be restored to serve as buffers. The Managers expect the Secretary to do this examination expeditiously. (Section 212(b)) (Section 2101)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification on the eligibility of partial fields. The provision allows producers to enroll entire fields through the continuous CRP as buffers in cases in which more than 50 percent of the field is eligible for enrollment and the remainder of the field is infeasible to farm. The modification restricts payments on the remaining acreage to general sign-up rates. (Section 212 (b)(1)(B)) (Section 2101)

The Managers intend the USDA to allow prescribed burning and other measures that are intended to enhance forage for the benefit of pheasants and other wildlife species on land enrolled in the CRP.

In carrying out the CRP, the Managers direct the Secretary to evaluate qualifications and criteria relating to spring wind erosion of sandy soils not currently recognized by the Wind Erosion Equation.

The Managers expect the Secretary to develop ways to make land prone to frequent seasonal flooding, such as 3 out of the last 5 years, eligible for enrollment in the CRP, including, but not limited to, designating the area as a conservation priority area.

(4) Acreage Limitations

The House bill increases the acreage cap to 39.2 million acres. (Section 212(b))

The Senate amendment increases the acreage cap to 41.1 million acres. (Section 212 (c))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision on raising the acreage cap to 39.2 million acres. (Section 2101)

(5) Priority Areas

The House bill deletes priority areas and requires that on the expiration of a CRP contract the land shall be eligible to be considered for re-enrollment in the program. (Section 212)

The Senate amendment modifies language regarding priority areas to direct the Secretary to give priority to areas in which designated land would facilitate the most rapid completion of projects that are ongoing and that meet the purposes of the program.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision that retains priority areas. The Managers recognize that conservation benefits may increase from cumulative enrollment and encourages the Secretary to consider these cumulative benefits by enrolling lands in areas where land is currently enrolled. (Section 2101)

The Managers expect the Secretary to revisit the issue of how the CRP national priority area for the Prairie Pothole Region was determined and direct the Secretary to utilize the Prairie Pothole Joint Venture Implementation Plan map as the area to be considered the national CRP priority area for the Prairie Pothole Region.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision on requiring land to be considered for re-enrollment in CRP. It is the intent of the Managers not to provide an automatic re-enrollment of these lands, but instead require that these lands go through the normal application process. (Section 2101)

(6) Balance of Natural Resources

The House bill requires the Secretary to do a rule making that balances CRP contracts between soil erosion, water quality and wildlife habitat. (Section 212)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision to conduct a rulemaking to achieve a balance between natural resource purposes. (Section 2101)

The Managers are concerned that a general sign-up has not taken place for several years. The Managers expect the Secretary to hold a general sign-up as soon as practicable.

(7) Hardwood Trees

The Senate amendment permits the Secretary to extend the duration of CRP contracts for an additional 15 years in the case of land devoted to hardwood trees. The Secretary may provide rental payments in an amount not exceeding 50 percent of the applicable rental payment before the contract was extended. For new CRP contracts with hardwood trees, the Secretary may allow 30-year contracts at reduced rates. The bill provides a one-year extension on 15-year contracts required to be terminated by statute. (Section 212 (d))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute strikes the Senate provision regarding longer-term contracts for hardwood trees, but the substitute adopts the Senate provision regarding one-year extensions. (Section 2101)

It has come to the attention of the Managers that CRP offers that include the planting of longleaf pines may not be receiving a weight equal to those assigned to other softwoods planted on CRP contract acres. The Managers encourage the Secretary to take such measures as may be necessary to ensure that a portion of land accepted for CRP contracts devoted to pine trees include longleaf pines.

(8) Irrigated Land Rates

The Senate amendment makes irrigated land eligible for enrollment at irrigated land rates unless the Secretary determines that other compensation is appropriate. (Section 212(f))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. (Section 2101)

(9) Signing and Practice Incentive Payments

The Senate amendment directs the Secretary to provide signing and practice incentive payments for landowners who implement a practice under the conservation buffer or CREP programs at the highest rate currently provided. (Section 212(i))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. (Section 2101)

The Managers are concerned that the payments for practices may not reflect the conservation benefits of the practices. Grass wind strips, shelterbelts, living snow fences and wellhead protection are particular activities that should receive serious consideration for signing and practice incentive payments. The Managers strongly encourage the Secretary to re-examine the procedures used to determine the incentive payment. The Managers intend that the Secretary should continue current signing and practice incentive payments throughout the duration of this legislation.

(10) Payment Limits for Conservation Buffers and CREP

The Senate amendment creates an exception to the CRP payment limit for payments received for conservation buffers and the CREP. (Section 212(j))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. (Section 2101)

(11) County Acreage Limitation

The Senate amendment exempts land enrolled under continuous sign-up from the limitation on the percentage of land in a county eligible for enrollment. (Section 212(k))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. (Section 2101)

(12) Report on Economic and Social Impacts

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to submit a report to the House and Senate Agriculture Committees about the economic and social impacts on rural communities resulting from the CRP within 270 days from the date of enactment of this legislation. (Section 212(l))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modifications that require the Secretary to submit the report within 18 months and require the Secretary to consider the economic value from recreational opportunities (including hunting and fishing). (Section 2101)

(13) Duties of Owners and Operators

The House bill permits landowners to maintain existing cover where practicable. In addition, it authorizes the Secretary to permit managed haying and grazing, wind turbines and biomass recovery as long as these activities are consistent with the conservation of soil, water quality and wildlife habitat. Finally, the House bill deletes the environmental use and alley-cropping provisions. (Section 213)

The Senate amendment permits owners of marginal pasture land not to plant trees if native prairie grass may be retained or restored or if land is restored as a wetland; directs the Secretary to permit harvesting or grazing for maintenance purposes, without a reduction in rental payment, on acres that are enrolled to establish conservation buffers and acres enrolled into the CREP in a manner that is consistent with the purposes of the CRP; allows the Secretary to permit an owner of CRP land, other than that enrolled under continuous sign-up, to install wind turbines on the land at a reduced rate; and modifies language regarding duties of participating landowners to say that an owner also agrees not to produce a crop for the duration of the CRP contract on any other highly erodible land without a cropping history that the owner owns or operates with exemptions of land used as a homestead or building site. (Section 212(g), (h))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision to permit landowners to continue with existing cover where practicable and consistent with wildlife reserve benefits of CRP. (Section 2101)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision on managed haying (including for biomass) and grazing and wind turbines, with modification. USDA will permit, consistent with the conservation of soil, water quality and wildlife habitat, managed harvesting and grazing on the land at a reduced rate. Harvesting and grazing or other commercial use of the forage is permitted in response to a drought or other emergency. In addition, the Secretary shall ensure that all precautions are taken to protect against overgrazing or haying or use of land during a period that may adversely impact wildlife habitat or wildlife directly, especially ensuring that activities take place after nesting season is completed. USDA, with the State technical committees, will develop appropriate vegetation management requirements including appropriate harvesting and grazing periods. In determining the appropriate use of CRP lands for haying and grazing (including the frequency and time period), the Secretary shall require the State Technical Committees to consider the type of grass (shrubs, forbs or bushes) on the land as well as the local ecosystem. (Section 2101)

The Secretary shall permit wind turbines on CRP land, whether commercial in nature or not, in a manner that does not interfere with wildlife. In so doing, the Secretary may restrict the number and location of wind turbines that may be installed on a tract of land. The Secretary shall take special care when allowing wind turbines on small parcels of land, especially buffers, so that turbines are spaced in a manner that does not interfere with wildlife habitat, flyways or movement. (House Section 213(1)(C)) (Section 212(h)(f))

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision requiring an owner to agree not to produce a crop for the duration of the CRP contract on any other highly erodible land without a cropping history that the owner owns or operates. (Section 2101)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision to delete the environmental use and alley-cropping provisions.

(14) Reference to Conservation Reserve Payments

The House bill replaces the term rental payment with conservation reserve payment. (Section 214)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision. (Section 2101)

(15) Expansion of Pilot Program to All States

The House bill reauthorizes the project through 2011, directs the Secretary to carry out a project in each state and limits enrollment to not more than 150,000 acres in any state.

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the pilot program through 2006 in Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota. Expands the maximum size of any wetland enrolled to 10 contiguous acres with not more than 5 acres being eligible for payment. (Section 212(e))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification. The Secretary shall carry out a nationwide program, limiting enrollment to 100,000 acres in any state and a million acres nationwide. After three years the Secretary may reallocate another 50,000 acres to interested states, based on their original allocation. The provision also expands the maximum size of any wetland enrolled to 10 contiguous acres with not more than 5 acres being eligible for payment. This change was made to facilitate enrollment of lands that meet the eligibility of the program and will achieve the goals of this program. The Secretary shall ensure that changes to regulations to the program do not have a significant impact on the original 6 states involved in the pilot program. (Section 2101)

In expanding the CRP Wetland Pilot nationwide, the Managers recognize that the playa lakes found throughout the Southern Great Plains states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas, are also worthy of protection as they function as recharge points for the Ogallala Aquifer, help in containing flood waters and provide habitat for hundreds of bird species. Playa lakes are the most significant topographical and hydrological attribute in the Southern Great Plains. Playa lakes are often dry enough to be farmed due to the annual precipitation rates and high evaporation rates that occur in the high plains.

(16) Water Conservation

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to provide up to 500,000 acres for CREP for water conservation measures in California, Maine, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oregon, and Washington. (Section 215)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute strikes the Senate provision. (Section 2101)

The Managers encourage the Secretary to allow states to have flexibility in creating CREP programs.

SUBTITLE C—WETLANDS RESERVE PROGRAM

(1) Enrollment

The House bill allows the Secretary to enroll an additional 150,000 acres per year. Any acres not enrolled may be carried over to subsequent years. (Section 221)

The Senate amendment clarifies that technical assistance is provided under the WRP and allows the Secretary to raise the acreage cap to 2.225 million acres. Of this acreage, the Secretary may enroll not more than 25,000 acres per year in the Wetlands Reserve

Enhancement Program (WREP). (Section 214 (a) and (b))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification to increase the acreage cap up to 2.275 million acres. Also, the substitute requires the Secretary to enroll 250,000 acres per year to the maximum extent practicable. (Section 2202)

(2) Easements and Cost-Share Allocations

The House bill strikes language requiring the Secretary to enroll acres with numeric allocations to particular methods. Directs the Secretary to enroll acres through easements, restoration cost share agreements or both. (Section 221)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute strikes the House provision. It modifies current law to clarify that land can be enrolled with 30-year or permanent easements, restoration cost share agreements or both. The Conference substitute also continues to require the Secretary to enroll lands in proportion to landowner interest. (Section 1237(b)(2)(B)). (Section 2203)

(3) Reauthorization

The House bill extends the WRP through 2011. (Section 221)

The Senate amendment extends the WRP through 2006. (Section 214 (c))

The Conference substitute extends the WRP through 2007. (Section 2201)

(4) Wetlands Reserve Enhancement Program

The Senate amendment creates a WREP under which the Secretary may enter into cooperative with state or local governments, and with private organizations, to conduct wetland restoration activities that address critical environmental issues. (Section 214 (d))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. (Section 2202)

(5) Technical Assistance, Monitoring and Maintenance

The Senate amendment clarifies that technical assistance includes monitoring and maintenance of the terms and conditions of the easement and the plan. (Section 214 (e))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. (Section 2203)

(6) Easements and Agreements

The House bill consolidates the language defining prohibited activities to prohibit the alteration of wildlife habitat and other natural features of such land, unless specifically permitted by the plan. Consolidates the language describing the length of a WRP easement to say that easements shall be consistent with applicable state law, and strikes redundant language stating that the Secretary can enroll land into the WRP using restoration cost-share agreements. (Section 222)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provisions on prohibited activities and length of easements. In addition, it strikes the redundant provision in current law regarding restoration cost-share agreements. (Section 2203)

(7) Duties of the Secretary

The House bill deletes a provision that requires the Secretary to give priority to obtaining permanent conservation easements and easements designed to protect and enhance habitat for migratory birds and other wildlife. (Section 223)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision. (Section 2203)

(8) Changes in Ownership: Agreement Modification; Termination

The House bill amends the language regarding changes in ownership to provide that no easement can be created on land that has changed ownership in the past 12 months unless: (1) the new ownership was acquired by will or succession as a result of the death of the previous owner, (2) the ownership change occurred due to foreclosure on the land and the owner of the land exercises a right of redemption from the mortgage holder in accordance with state law, or (3) the Secretary determines that the land was acquired under circumstances which give adequate assurances that such land was not acquired for the purposes of placing it in the WRP. (Section 223)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with a modification to replace the section on changes in ownership due to a foreclosure with new language. (Section 1237E(a)(2)) (Section 2204)

SUBTITLE D—ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY INCENTIVES PROGRAM

(1) Purposes

The House bill strikes language describing the purpose of the EQIP as combining four previous conservation programs into a single program; strikes language regarding carrying out a program to maximize the environmental benefits per dollar expended; and rewords language about assisting farmers and ranchers who face the most serious environmental threats to providing assistance to farmers and ranchers to address environmental needs; adds air to the list of resources to be addressed; and replaces the terms farmers and ranchers with producers. (Section 231)

The Senate amendment rewrites the purposes of the EQIP to promote agricultural production and environmental quality as compatible national goals and to: (1) assist producers in complying with federal, state and local environmental laws, (2) avoid the need for regulatory programs, (3) provide assistance to producers for installing and maintaining conservation systems, (4) assist producers in making certain conservation changes, (5) facilitate partnerships between producers, government and nongovernmental organizations, and (6) consolidating and streamlining conservation planning; retains language regarding a program goal to maximize the environmental benefits per dollar expended; and includes air in the purposes of the EQIP. (Section 213(a))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on the purposes of the program with a modification to subsection (1) stating that the purposes of EQIP are to promote agricultural production and environmental quality as compatible goals and to optimize environmental benefits by assisting producers in complying with local, state and national regulatory requirements concerning soil, water, and air quality, wildlife habitat, and surface and ground water conservation. (Section 1240) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a modification changing the phrase conservation systems to conservation practices. (Section 1240(3)) (Section 2301)

The Managers expect the Secretary to continue carrying out EQIP with the goal of optimizing environmental benefits. (Section 213(a))

(2) Definitions

The House bill adds the term non-industrial private forestland to the definition of eligible land. Further, the House bill changes the definition of eligible land by striking reference to land that poses a serious threat and inserting that provides increased environmental benefits to air, soil, water or related resources, and adds the term non-industrial private forestland to the definition of producer. (Section 2302)

The Senate amendment defines the term eligible land to include private non-industrial private forestland, defines producer with the same meaning given to the term in the Agricultural Market Transition Act.

The definition section includes definitions for: beginning farmer and rancher, comprehensive nutrient management, eligible land, innovative technology, land management practice, livestock, maximize environmental benefits per dollar expended, practice, producer and structural practice. (Section 213(a))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate definition of beginning farmer, land management practice, livestock, structural practice, and practice. (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate definition of eligible land with an amendment that adds air to the list of protected resources but excludes specific threatening conditions. (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provisions defining innovative technology and comprehensive nutrient management plan. (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provisions defining managed grazing, innovative technology, producer, and program. The substitute also deletes the Senate provision defining the term "maximize environmental benefits per dollar expended," thus striking the provision throughout the program. (Section 1240(A)(8)) (Section 2301)

(3) Establishment and Administration

The House bill re-authorizes the EQIP through 2011; amends the permissible term of EQIP contracts to allow for agreements ranging from one to ten years; amends language governing the selection process for structural practice applications. Strikes references to priorities established in the EQIP and factors to maximize the environmental benefits per dollar expended replaces with language directing the Secretary to base the selection process on achieving the purposes established under this subtitle; removes prohibition on large confined livestock operations getting cost-share assistance to build waste management facilities; and replaces the language regarding incentive payments with new language directing the Secretary to make incentive payments to encourage producers to perform multiple land management practices and to promote the enhancement of soil, water, wildlife habitat, air and related resources. Permits the Secretary to give great weight to practices that include residue, nutrient, pest, invasive species and air quality management. (Section 233)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the EQIP through 2006; directs the Secretary to provide conservation education; amends the permissible term of EQIP contracts to allow for agreements ranging from three to ten years; prohibits a producer from entering into more than one contract for structural practices relating to livestock nutrient management from fiscal years 2002 through 2006; directs the Secretary to develop an application and evaluation process for awarding assistance that maximizes the environmental benefits per dollar expended; prohibits the Secretary from assigning a higher priority to an application based solely on the reason that it presents the least cost to the program; cost-share payments shall not exceed 75 percent of the cost of the practice; cost-share payments to limited resource and beginning farmers shall not exceed 90%; removes prohibition on large confined livestock operations getting cost-share assistance to build waste management facilities; directs the Secretary to make incentive payments in an amount and rate determined to be necessary to encourage a producer to perform 1 or more practices; directs the Secretary to give incentive payments to producers to be used to obtain technical assistance associated with the development of any component of a comprehensive nutrient management plan from certified providers. (Section 213(a)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification providing incentive payments for producers who develop a comprehensive nutrient management plan. (Section 1240B(a)(2)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision on education. (Section 1240B(a)(3)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification on the application and term of contracts. At a minimum, the contract should have a term of one year beyond the date of completion of the project. (Section 1240B(b)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on incentive payments with modification, by including a special rule for priority under incentive payments. (House Section 233(e)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision by striking the provision on the application and evaluation process for awarding assistance that maximizes the environmental benefits per dollar expended. (House Section 233(c), Senate 213(a) (1240B(c))) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision to remove the bidding down procedure that assigns a higher priority to an application because it costs less. (Section 1240B(c)(4)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on increased cost-share payments for beginning and limited resource farmers. (Section 1240B(d)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision on technical assistance in EQIP. All technical assistance will be addressed in Subtitle E in the Administration and Technical Assistance section. (Section 1240B(f)) (Section 2301)

(4) Evaluation of Offers and Payments

The House bill strikes existing language. Replaces with language directing the Secretary to give a higher priority to EQIP offers that: (1) aid producers in complying with federal and state environmental laws, (2) promote the use of animal manure or other similar soil amendments, and (3) encourage the utilization of sustainable grazing systems. (Section 234)

The Senate amendment directs the Secretary to give priority to applications that: (1) maximize the environmental benefits per dollar expended, (2) national conservation priority areas, (3) are provided in conservation priority areas, (4) are provided in special projects, or (5) include an innovative technology in connection with a structural practice or land management practice. (Section 213(a)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification on giving higher priority to applications that use cost-effective conservation practices and address national conservation priorities. (Section 1240C(a)(2)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision on special projects and innovative technology. (Section 2301)

Inhibitor Technology.—To make efficient use of urea and ammonium fertilizers, reduce nitrate run-off and leaching, and the emission of ammonia and greenhouse gases, the incorporation of urease inhibitors and nitrification inhibitors into urea and ammonium containing fertilizers should be recommended as a best management practice.

Nutrient Management.—Since enactment of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990, Congress has been concerned about the impact federal, state and local environmental laws eventually would have on U.S. agricultural producers and their ability to maintain viable farming and ranching operations.

In the past few years, those laws, regulations and court orders have been focused on agriculture. Those provisions reflect a disconnect between regulators and agricultural producers as well as rural communities. In this posture, U.S. farmers and ranchers feel as though they are pressed against an inflexible wall of legal and environmental requirements. These requirements are issued from Washington in a top-down management style that attempts to fit all areas of the country into a national program. Congress has responded with financial and technical assistance implemented through the USDA.

In 1996, Congress created the EQIP to help farmers and ranchers meet environmental laws. The Managers believe EQIP is a valuable tool to help producers avoid the need for future regulation, and the Secretary shall manage the program to maximize this purpose. As legislation was developed to improve EQIP and provide additional resources to it, Congress was specifically concerned about how the U.S. livestock industry would meet new Clean Water Act requirements on animal feeding operations. In that regard, the Managers agree that nutrient management, especially animal waste management, is both a problem to address and a resource to be used. To that extent, the Managers encourage the Secretary to evaluate EQIP contract offers on their use of animal manures and other similar soil amendments that improve soil health, tilth, and water-holding capacity.

Managed Grazing.—The Managers further encourage the use of grazing systems, such as year-round, rotational or managed grazing systems, that enhance productive livestock operations.

(5) Duties of Producers

The Senate amendment requires producers to implement a conservation plan; not conduct any practices that defeat the purposes of the program; take actions upon termination of a contract and supply information to determine compliance, and submit a list of all confined livestock feeding operations wholly or partially-owned or operated by the applicant. (Section 213(a))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a modification removing the requirement to submit a list of all confined livestock feeding operations wholly or partially-owned or operated by the applicant. (Section 2301)

(6) Environmental Quality Incentives Program Plan

The House bill strikes language regarding practices and principles that the Secretary deems necessary. Replaces with language requiring the producer to submit a plan that provides or will continue to provide increased environmental benefits to air, soil, water or related resources. (Section 235)

The Senate amendment requires a producer to submit an EQIP plan that describes conservation and environmental purposes to be achieved through 1 or more practices that are approved by the Secretary. Confined livestock feeding operations with an animal waste system must develop and implement comprehensive nutrient management plans if applicable. (Section 1240E(a))

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to eliminate duplication, to the maximum extent practicable, of planning activities under EQIP and other conservation programs. (Section 1240E(b))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification. All livestock producers that receive funding for animal waste manure systems must have a comprehensive nutrient management plan. The Managers believe that there will be few cases in which a comprehensive nutrient management plan will not be required. The Managers recognize the importance of comprehensive nutrient management plans for the proper use and storage of animal waste and for that reason require these plans. (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute also adopts the Senate provision on eliminating duplication. (Section 1240E(a), (b)) (Section 2301)

(7) Duties of the Secretary

The House bill requires the Secretary to provide technical assistance and cost-share payments for developing structural practices or land management practices. (Section 236)

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to provide cost-share assistance and incentive payments for developing and implementing one or more practices. (Section 213 (a) (1240F))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 2301)

The Managers are aware of the unique conservation and production practices utilized by specialty crop growers throughout the United States. The Managers expect the USDA to ensure that adequate resources are made available for specialty crop conservation practices under the EQIP. The Managers also expect that, in carrying out the financial assistance provisions of the various conservation programs, the unique production practices involved in fruit and vegetable production are taken into account when drafting and implementing regulations to carry out those programs. In particular, the Managers would direct the Secretary when enrolling a producer who is already undertaking activities related to integrated pest management, make those ongoing activities eligible for financial assistance after the date of enrollment.

(8) Limitation on Payments

The House bill raises the payment limits to $50,000 in any fiscal year and $200,000 for any multi-fiscal year contract, strikes reference to the phrase "maximization of environmental benefits per dollar expended" in discussion of exceptions to the annual limit, and strikes prohibition on payment in the same fiscal year in which the contract is entered into. (Section 237)

The Senate amendment raises the payment limitations to $30,000 in any fiscal year and $150,000 for any multi-year contract of four or more years and permits payment during the first year of the contract. The Secretary may waive the annual limit. (Section 213 (a))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification. A producer may receive, directly or indirectly, up to $450,000 in any combination of contracts over the life of the farm bill. The Managers recognize that the Secretary may need to adjust cost-share percentages provided under a contract to maximize participation and optimize environmental benefits. (Section 2301)

(9) Ground and Surface Water Conservation

The House bill replaces the entire section with a new program within the EQIP providing cost-share, low-interest loans and incentive payments to encourage ground and surface water conservation, and funds at $30 million in fiscal year 2002, $45 million in fiscal year 2003 and $60 million for fiscal years 2004 through 2011. (Section 238)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification. Water conservation activities that are eligible for incentive payments and cost-share include the lining of ditches and installation of piping, tail water return systems, low-energy precision irrigation systems, low-flow irrigation systems, off-stream and groundwater storage, and conversion from gravity or flood irrigation to higher efficiency systems. In addition, the Secretary may provide cost-share and incentive payments under this section only if the assistance will facilitate a conservation measure that results in a net savings in ground or surface water resources on the agricultural operations of the producers. (Section 2301)

Of the $600 million in funding made available for this program, the Secretary should make available $50 million per year to assist producers in the Klamath Basin.

In providing funding for water conservation incentives, the Managers recognize that the High Plains Aquifer underlying the states of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, South Dakota, Wyoming, and Nebraska is a critical source of groundwater for agricultural and municipal uses. The Managers encourage the Secretary to give producers in the High Plains Aquifer the highest priority for funding under this program. The communities on the High Plains depend on the Aquifer as their major water supply. Due to the scope and significance of this geological feature, there is a need for regional efforts to address groundwater management in the High Plains Aquifer. The Managers urge the Secretary to work with state water or conservation agencies and agricultural producers in the High Plains region to coordinate federal assistance with state programs and to encourage cooperation between states in implementing conservation incentives and water reduction practices.

(10) Desert Terminal Lakes

The Conference substitute directs the Secretary to transfer $200 million to the Bureau of Reclamation to be used to provide water to at-risk natural desert terminal lakes. These funds cannot be used for the purchase or lease of water rights. (Section 2507)

(11) Conservation Grants

The Senate amendment allows the Secretary to use up to $100 million in each of fiscal years 2003 through 2006 for competitive grants that are intended to stimulate innovative approaches to leveraging federal investment in environmental enhancement and protection through the use of the EQIP. Funds not obligated by April 1st of the fiscal year shall be used to carry out other activities under EQIP. (Section 213 (a) (Section 1240H)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision by authorizing the Secretary to provide innovation grants. The Managers encourage the Secretary to allow funding for these grants, including for practices that foster markets for nutrient trading and for the continued implementation and acceleration of programs for demonstrating innovative nutrient management technology systems for animal feeding operations. (Section 2301)

This section has been included as a discretionary use of EQIP funds to foster the adoption of innovative, cost effective approaches to addressing a broad base of conservation needs.

This Managers intend that these grants be used to provide for the use of incentives to farmers—as opposed to regulations—to address some of the nation's most difficult conservation needs. By establishing market-based incentives, an efficient mechanism is created to improve water quality and create environmentally beneficial income alternatives for farmers.

By leveraging Federal funds through competitive grants, the Managers expect other sectors of the economy, such as States, and the conservation and philanthropic communities will be engaged in helping find and deliver the best solutions to environmental needs.

(12) Southern High Plains Aquifer Groundwater Conservation

The Senate amendment creates a southern High Plains Aquifer groundwater conservation program. Directs the Secretary to provide cost-share payments, incentive payments and groundwater education assistance to producers that draw water from the southern High Plains Aquifer. Funds at $15 million for fiscal year 2003, $25 million for fiscal years 2004 and 2005, $35 million for fiscal year 2006 and $0 for fiscal year 2007. Funds not expended by April 1st of each fiscal year shall be made available for other states under EQIP. (Section 213(a) section 1240I)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision, but recognizes the importance of providing producers access to funds to aid their efforts in water conservation. (Section 2301)

(13) Pilot Programs

The Senate amendment creates a drinking water suppliers pilot program in selected watersheds to allow the Secretary to work cooperatively with local water utilities to improve water quality. The Secretary shall also carry out a nutrient reduction pilot program in the Chesapeake Bay watershed for fiscal years 2003 through 2006 to reduce nutrient loads in the Chesapeake Bay. Funds at $10 million for fiscal year 2003, $15 million for fiscal year 2004, $20 million for fiscal year 2005, $25 million for fiscal year 2006 and $0 for fiscal year 2007. Funds not obligated by April 1st shall be made available under EQIP. (Section 213(a) (Section 1240J(a), (b))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision on the drinking water suppliers pilot program. In so doing, the Managers believe that coordination with third parties, including drinking water suppliers should be encouraged. Any projects which involve drinking water suppliers and EQIP participants should be encouraged. (Section 1240J(a)) (Section 2301)

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision on the nutrient reduction pilot program.

(14) Section 11

The Senate amendment amends Section 11 of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) Charter Act to exclude transfers and allotments for conservation technical assistance from the current limitation. (Section 213(c))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference deletes the Senate provision. The Managers understand the critical nature of providing adequate funding for technical assistance. For that reason, technical assistance should come from each individual program. (Section 2301)

(15) Water Benefits Program

The Senate amendment states that the Secretary shall establish a Water Benefits Program, run through the Natural Resources

Conservation Service (NRCS), in Nevada, California, New Mexico, Oregon, Washington, Maine and New Hampshire for cost-share payments for practices, including irrigation efficiency infrastructures and conversions from a water-intensive crop to a crop that requires less water, aimed at conservation of water to benefit fish and wildlife, with special emphasis on threatened and endangered species. (Section 1240R)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

SUBTITLE E—FUNDING AND ADMINISTRATION

(1) Reauthorization

The House bill reauthorizes these programs through 2011. (Section 241)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute reauthorizes the CCEP programs through 2007. (Section 2701)

(2) Funding

The House bill funds EQIP at $1.025 billion in fiscal years 2002 and 2003, $1.2 billion in fiscal years 2004, 2005 and 2006, $1.4 billion in fiscal years 2007, 2008 and 2009, and $1.5 billion in fiscal years 2010 and 2011. (Section 242)

The Senate amendment funds EQIP at $500 million in fiscal year 2002, $1.3 billion in fiscal year 2003, $1.45 billion in fiscal years 2004 and 2005, and $1.5 billion in fiscal year 2006 and $850 million in fiscal year 2007. (Section 213(b))

The Conference substitute funds EQIP at $400 million in fiscal year 2002, $700 million in fiscal year 2003, $1 billion in fiscal year 2004, $1.2 in fiscal years 2005 and 2006, and $1.3 billion in fiscal year 2007. (Section 2701)

(3) Allocation for Livestock Production

The House bill extends the allocation of 50 percent of the EQIP funding to livestock through 2011. (Section 243)

The Senate amendment removes the allocation formula.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification to allow 60 percent for practices related livestock and 40 percent for practices related to crops through fiscal year 2007. (Section 2701)

(4) Administration and Technical Assistance

The House bill broadens the exception to the acreage limitation by striking the requirement that operators in the county be having difficulties complying with a conservation plan, and requires the Secretary to reevaluate the provision of and amount of technical assistance made available under CRP, WRP and EQIP. (Section 244)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification. The Managers provide that funds for technical assistance shall come directly from the mandatory money provided for conservation programs under Subtitle D. (Section 2701)

In order to ensure implementation, the Managers believe that technical assistance must be an integral part of all conservation programs authorized for mandatory funding. Accordingly, the Managers have provided for the payment of technical assistance from program accounts. The Managers expect technical assistance for all conservation programs to follow the model currently used for the EQIP whereby the Secretary determines, on an annual basis, the amount of funding for technical assistance. Furthermore, the Managers intend that the funding will cover costs associated with technical assistance, such as administrative and overhead costs.

(5) Third-Party Providers

The House bill requires the Secretary to develop a system for approving third-party providers to give technical assistance within six months of the enactment of this subsection. (Section 244)

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to establish provisions for increased technical assistance by nonfederal providers, including certification of providers (without undermining private certification organizations). The Secretary may also enter cooperative agreements with state, local and non-governmental groups to provide technical assistance. The Secretary shall require certification (including payment of a fee) for providers of technical assistance and offer waivers for both certification and fee payment. The Secretary shall establish an advisory committee with federal, state, local and private representatives charged with advising the Secretary on third-party technical assistance. (Section 204(f))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification. The Managers strongly encourage the Secretary to design a certification program for approving individuals and entities to provide technical assistance that includes individuals currently providing technical assistance through agreements or contracts, including cooperative agreements and memorandums of understanding. Persons that have provided technical assistance through a previous agreement such as a memorandum of understanding contract or cooperative agreement with the Secretary may continue to provide technical assistance. Their certification should be evaluated according to the criteria established by the regulations. In addition, the Secretary may request the services of, and enter into a cooperative agreement or a contract with, non-federal entities, a state water quality agency, a state fish and wildlife agency, a state forestry agency, a state conservation agency or conservation district, a land grant institution or other institutions of higher learning, or any other governmental or non-governmental organization. (Section 2701)

Today there is considerable interest in both the private and public sectors to provide technical assistance for USDA conservation programs. In the past, USDA has been the primary provider of technical assistance to conservation program participants. However, it will be difficult to meet the increased demand for technical services as financial assistance increases over the life of the farm bill. The potential volume of many new, as well as returning, USDA conservation program participants may overwhelm the assistance available through existing resources. To meet this demand, assistance from third-party providers will be needed.

It is the intent of the Managers that the third-party technical assistance certification program will result in a pool of individuals and organizations and agencies that are qualified to provide technical assistance to producers related to the development and implementation of conservation practices. The Managers intend for the Secretary to seek to optimize the delivery of technical assistance through public and private sources, and in conjunction with USDA staff, to effectively, efficiently, and expeditiously deliver conservation programs.

The Managers intend that third-party vendors accepting federal technical assistance payments will follow all the applicable Federal laws. Furthermore, the Managers intend for third parties to accept the appropriate liability for the adequacy of their plans, practice designs, and implementation procedures, and to comply with all appropriate privacy and confidentiality requirements.

It is the Managers intent in this section that third-party private providers may certify that the technical assistance meets USDA standards, but it is not intended as a certification for approval of program payment.

SUBTITLE F—OTHER PROGRAMS

(1) Private Grazing Land and Conservation Assistance

The House bill adds sustainable grazing systems to the list of activities eligible for assistance. (Section 251)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes program to 2006. (Section 217 (Section 1240P))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, with a modification to remove the findings section. The substitute reauthorizes the program through 2007. (Section 2501)

(2) Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program

The Senate amendment allows the Secretary to provide cost-share payments and technical assistance to landowners to develop and enhance wildlife habitat. Funds the Wildlife Habitat Incentive Program (WHIP) at $50 million in fiscal year 2002, $225 million for fiscal year 2003, $275 million for fiscal year 2004, $325 million for fiscal year 2005, $355 million for fiscal year 2006, and $50 million for fiscal year 2007. The amendment reserves at least 15 percent of funds for projects to benefit endangered, threatened and sensitive species, allows the Secretary to establish a pilot program using up to 15 percent of the funds to enroll lands for at least 15 years for essential habitat, and allows the Secretary to provide grants to individuals or nonprofit groups that lease public lands for enhancing wildlife habitat, if the work on the public land if it directly benefits private land. (Section 217)

The House bill funds WHIP at $25 million in fiscal year 2002, $30 million in fiscal years 2003 and 2004, $35 million in fiscal years 2005 and 2006, $40 million in fiscal year 2007, $45 million in fiscal years 2008 and 2009, and $50 million in fiscal years 2010 and 2011. (Section 252)

The Conference substitute adopts the House amendment with modification. Cost-share payments will be made to landowners to develop upland wildlife, wetland wildlife, threatened and endangered species, fish and other types of wildlife habitat. Up to 15 percent of annual funds under this section may be for increased cost-share payments to producers to protect and restore essential plant and animal habitat using agreements with a duration of at least 15 years. The Managers strongly encourage the Secretary to continue using at least 15 percent of funds for threatened and endangered species. (Section 2502)

The Conference substitute funds the program as follows: $15 million for fiscal year 2002; $30 million for fiscal year 2003; $60 million for fiscal year 2004; $85 million for each of fiscal years 2005 through 2007. (Section 2502)

Where private lands adjoin public lands that are leased by the same producer, the Secretary may provide WHIP assistance if the conservation purpose directly benefits the adjacent private lands.

(3) Farmland Protection Program

(a) Acreage and eligibility

The House bill strikes the acreage limitation, and makes agricultural land that contains historic or archaeological resources eligible for enrollment. (Section 253)

The Senate amendment strikes the Farmland Protection Program (FPP) from the 1996 FAIR Act and moves to the 1985 Farm Bill, strikes the acreage limitation, expands the definition of eligible land, and makes agricultural land that contains historic or archaeological resources eligible for enrollment. (Section 218)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 1238H(1)) (Section 2503)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with clarification that forested land can only be enrolled if it is an incidental part of the agricultural operation. (Section 1238H(2)) (Section 2503)

FPP has been a successful program and the Managers' intent is that it continue to protect the nation's best working agricultural lands. Although the name of the FPP shall remain the same for the purpose of continuity, the purpose of the program has been expanded to also include grazing, pasture, range, and forestland that is a part of an agricultural operation.

In order to ensure that all states can participate in the program, the Managers have added non-profit organizations as eligible entities. In addition, the Managers recognize the need to protect important historic and archaeological resources located on farms and ranches.

(b) Funding

The House bill increases funding to $50 million per year in FY 2002 through 2011. (Section 253)

The Senate amendment increases FPP funding to $150 million in fiscal year 2002, $250 million in fiscal year 2003; $400 million in fiscal year 2004, $450 million for fiscal year 2005, $500 million in fiscal year 2006, and $100 million for fiscal year 2007. (Section 218)

The Conference substitute funds the program as follows: $50 million for fiscal year 2002, $100 million for fiscal year 2003, $125 million for fiscal years 2004 and 2005, $100 million for fiscal year 2006, and $97 million for fiscal year 2007. (Section 2503)

(c) Purchase of conservation easements

The House bill clarifies entities that are eligible to receive funding for the purchase of conservation easements. (Section 253)

The Senate amendment clarifies entities that are eligible to receive funding for the purchase of conservation easements. (Section 218)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 2503)

The Managers expect the Secretary to utilize funds out of the FPP to protect from development the farm operated by American Airlines Captain John Ogonowski, the pilot of AA Flight 11 that was hijacked on September 11, 2001. The Managers direct the Secretary to work with the Dracut Land Trust, Incorporated, in Dracut, Massachusetts, to preserve this prime farmland as a working memorial to Captain Ogonowski. The Managers understand that the Dracut Land Trust would intend to keep a portion of the farm available for the New Entry Sustainable Farming Project that assists immigrant farmers from Cambodia, a project that Captain Ogonowski was deeply involved with from its inception.

(d) Market viability grants

The Senate amendment allows the Secretary to use up to $10 million annually to provide matching market viability grants. The grantee must provide matching funds, limits federal cost-share to 50 percent of the appraised fair market value of the easement. (Section 218)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification allowing for authorization of funding for market viability grants. (Section 218(b)) (Section 2503)

(4) Resource Conservation and Development Program

The House bill provides permanent authorization for the Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) program and makes technical and conforming changes necessary to the program. (Section 254)

The Senate amendment provides permanent authorization for the RC&D program and makes technical and conforming changes necessary to the program. (Section 216)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with the modification that Senate amendment section 1532(e) will be struck, thereby disallowing an RC&D Council from using another person or entity to assist in developing and implementing an area plan. (Section 2504)

(5) Grassland Reserve Program

(a) Establishment

The House amendment establishes a Grasslands Reserve Program (GRP) under which the Secretary may enroll up to 2 million acres (1 million acres of restored grassland, 1 million acres of virgin (never cultivated) grassland) using ten, fifteen and twenty-year contracts as well as thirty-year and permanent easements.

The Senate amendment establishes a GRP under which the Secretary may enroll up to 2 million acres of natural grassland or land that was historically natural grassland using thirty-year rental agreements, easements or permanent easements.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification that the total number of acres shall not exceed 2 million acres of restored, improved, or natural grassland, rangeland and pastureland, including prairie. The Secretary shall enroll not less than 40 contiguous acres of land using ten-year, fifteen-year, twenty-year and thirty-year contracts as well as thirty-year and permanent easements. The Secretary may provide a waiver for smaller tracts of land in the case of exceptional acreage that meets the purposes of the program. (Section 2401)

The Managers expect the Secretary to use 40 percent of the funds to conduct the sign-up and enrollment for the ten, fifteen, and twenty-year GRP contracts in a manner similar to the method currently used by the Secretary for the CRP. This should allow for enrollment competition that will limit the cost per acre but encourage the producer to maintain or initiate sound grazing practices commonly used in the local area. For long-term agreements and easements, the Managers intend that the sign-up be conducted in a manner similar to the WRP. The standards for grazing should be no more stringent than those used in the CRP, the CSP or the FPP. All grasslands should receive equitable treatment in the sign-up and enrollment process.

(b) Funding

The House amendment provides $254 million in funding. Not more than one-third of this money may be used to acquire permanent easements.

The Senate amendment directs that funding shall be provided through the CCC.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification that 60 percent of this money may be used to enter into thirty-year agreements and acquire thirty-year and permanent easements. (Section 2401)

(c) Eligible practices

The House bill permits common grazing practices where consistent with maintaining the viability of natural grass and shrub species indigenous to that locality, allows for haying, mowing or haying for seed production except during the nesting season for birds in the local area which are in significant decline or are conserved pursuant to state or federal law as determined by NRCS. The bill also permits the construction of firebreaks and fences. The House bill prohibits the production of any agricultural commodity (other than hay) and any other activity that would disturb the surface of the land covered by the agreement.

The Senate amendment permits common grazing practices where consistent with maintaining the viability of natural grass, shrub, forb and wildlife species indigenous to that locality and allows for haying, mowing or haying for seed production except during the nesting or brood-rearing season for birds in the local area which are in significant as determined by NRCS. It permits the construction of firebreaks and fences and gives emphasis to support for native grassland and land containing shrubs or forb, grazing operations, and plant and animal bio-diversity under the threat of conversion. The Senate amendment prohibits the production of any agricultural commodity (other than hay) and any other activity that would disturb the surface of the land covered by the agreement. The Secretary together with the State technical committee shall establish criteria for ranking applications, but shall emphasize support for grazing operations, biodiversity and lands under greatest threat of conversion.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification. (Section 2401)

The Managers intend that the Secretary shall permit common grazing practices. In permitting such activities, the Managers intend that the Secretary will allow for maintenance and necessary cultural practices common to grazing systems utilized throughout the various regions of the country. These management practices may include such things as: controlled burning, aeration, over-seeding, reseeding, planting of new native species or any other practice as determined by the Secretary to be necessary for grazing management. Beyond maintenance, the Managers intend that the Secretary will permit haying, mowing, or harvesting for seed production, subject to appropriate restrictions for completion of the nesting season for birds in the local area which are in significant decline or are conserved pursuant to state or federal law, as determined by the NRCS state conservationist.

(d) Payments

The House amendment directs that contract payments shall be made annually in an amount that is not more than 75 percent of the grazing value of the land. Easement payments may be made as a single payment or a series of annual payments. In the case of a permanent easement, the payment shall be equal to the fair market value of the land less the grazing value of the land encumbered by the easement. With respect to a thirty-year easement, the payment shall be equal to 30 percent of the fair market value of the land less the grazing value of the land for the period that the land is encumbered by the easement. In addition to incentive payments, the Secretary is authorized to provide cost-share assistance for restoration projects. In the case of virgin grassland, these payments may not exceed 90 percent of the restoration costs. With respect to restored grasslands, these payments may not exceed 75 percent of such costs. (Section 255)

The Senate amendment establishes payments for permanent easements that shall equal the fair market value of the land less the grazing value and for 30-year easements, 30% of the fair market value of the land less the grazing value. 30-year rental agreements shall be equal, to the maximum extent possible, to the payment for 30-year easements. The Secretary shall provide up to 75% of cost-share for restoration of grassland. The Secretary may permit an eligible private organization or state agency to hold and enforce an easement. (Section 219)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with modification to use the Senate formula for thirty-year agreements as well as thirty-year and permanent easements. (Section 2401)

(6) Farmland Stewardship Program

The House bill establishes a new program to use federal conservation programs in conjunction and cooperation with state and local conservation efforts, and enables the Secretary to implement or combine together the features of the WRP, WHIP, FPP, the new Forest Land Enhancement Program (FLEP) or other conservation programs where feasible. (Section 256)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision. (Section 2502)

(7) Small Watershed Rehabilitation Program

The House bill authorizes appropriations to fund the program at $15 million annually for fiscal year 2002 and each succeeding fiscal year. (Section 257)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, providing $275 million over the length of this legislation and reauthorizes the program. (Section 2505)

(8) Provision of Assistance For Repaupo Creek Tide Gate and Dike Restoration Project, New Jersey

The House bill directs the Secretary, acting through NRCS, to provide assistance for planning and implementation of the Repaupo Creek Tide Gate and Dike Restoration Project. (Section 258)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision. (Section 2501)

(9) Conservation Corridor Demonstration Program

The Conference substitute adopts a new provision not contained in either bill that requires the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a conservation corridor demonstration program on the Delmarva Peninsula in the states of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia located on the east side of the Chesapeake Bay. A state, local government or combination of states must submit a plan and commit resources in order to participate in the program that is designed to demonstrate local conservation and economic cooperation using existing agriculture and forestry conservation programs of the Department of Agriculture.

The Managers intend that this new program may use only conservation program funds for which they are authorized and annually appropriated by the Congress.

SUBTITLE G—MISCELLANEOUS

(1) Grassroots Source Water Protection Program

The Senate amendment authorizes $5 million annually from fiscal years 2002 to 2006 for a national grassroots water protection program to more effectively use technical capabilities of each state rural water association that operates a well-head or groundwater protection program. (Section 217 (Section 1240Q))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision.

(2) Underserved States

Each state shall be provided $5 million from EQIP and a minimum of $7 million from other conservation programs administered by the Secretary. Any funds not obligated under this provision by April 1 of the fiscal year shall be available to carry out activities under Subtitle D. (Section 241)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with modification. Before April 1 of each fiscal year, priority for funding for conservation programs, excluding CRP, CSP and WRP, shall be given to approved applications in any state that has not received cumulative conservation funding for the fiscal year of at least $12 million. The Managers understand that only participants who qualify under the individual program from which funds will be provided shall be eligible to receive this priority under this program.

(6) Watershed Risk Reduction

The Senate amendment states that the Secretary, acting through NRCS, shall cooperate with landowners and land users to conduct projects (including the purchase of flood plain easements) to safeguard lives and property from floods, drought, and the products of erosion on any watershed. Priority shall be given to any project or activity that is carried out on a flood plain adjacent to a major river and there is authorized to be appropriate $15 million for each of fiscal years 2002 through 2006. (Section 217 (Section 1240N))

There is an authorization of appropriations of $5 million for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2006. (Sec. 12400)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate amendment.

(8) Cranberry Acreage Reserve Program

The Senate amendment states that the Secretary shall establish a program to purchase permanent easements on wetlands or buffer strips adjacent to a wetland that is environmentally sensitive and has or is used for cultivation of cranberries. The purchase price should reflect the range of values for agricultural and non-agricultural lands. The section authorizes appropriations of $10 million. (Section 261)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision and moves the item to the Miscellaneous Title of this legislation.

(9) Klamath Basin

The Senate amendment provides that the Secretary shall, in coordination with the Secretary of the Interior, establish the Klamath Basin Interagency Task Force composed of relevant federal agencies to use conservation programs to address the environmental and agricultural needs of the Klamath Basin. (Section 262)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision, however, funding is provided to assist producers in the Klamath Basin under the new section 1240I, Ground and Surface Water Conservation.

The Managers encourage the U.S. Department of Agriculture to make full use of specific funding of $50,000,000 for the Klamath Basin contained in the new water conservation program to help farmers and ranchers with cost-share assistance, incentive payments and technical assistance.

(10) State Technical Committees

The Senate amendment expands and updates membership of State Technical Committee to include NRCS (instead of the Soil Conservation Service) as chair, Farm Service Agency, land grant colleges and universities, and forestry experts. (Section 1261)

The House bill contains no comparable provision

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

The Managers strongly encourage updating the involvement of interested experts, including those with expertise in forestry and land grant colleges. Also, the Managers are concerned about reports that in some states, members of state technical committees are not fully included. The Managers strongly encourage the Secretary to ensure that chairpersons of the committee strive to increase involvement.

SUBTITLE H—REPEALS

(1) Provisions of the Food Security Act of 1985

The House bill repeals various authorities including the wetlands mitigation-banking program (1222(k)), environmental easement program (chapter 3 of subtitle D), conservation farm option (chapter 5 of subtitle D) and tree planting initiative (1256). Repeals various provisions of the CRP and WRP. (Section 261)

The Senate amendment has no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision.

(2) National Natural Resources Conservation Foundation Act

The House bill repeals subtitle F of Title III of the 1996 FAIR Act. (Section 262)

The Senate amendment permits the Secretary to authorize the Foundation to use, license or transfer symbols, slogans and logos of the Department. Requires that all revenues be transferred to NRCS account to carry out conservation operations. (Section 221)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a modification to authorize the Foundation to license logos of the Foundation and explicitly prohibits the licensing of any symbol or logo of a government entity. (Section 2506)

TITLE III—TRADE

(1) Market Access Program

The House bill reauthorizes the Market Access Program through 2011 and increases funding to $200 million. (Section 301)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes MAP through 2006, and increases MAP funding to: $100 million in 2002, $120 million in 2003, $140 million in 2004, $180 million in 2005, and $200 million in 2006. It also establishes priority for new program participants and programs in emerging markets for amounts above $90 million and authorizes the new Quality Export Initiative to identify high quality U.S. agricultural products. This initiative will be subject to appropriations. (Section 322)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on reauthorization through 2007, at the following annual funding levels: $100 million in 2002, $110 million in 2003, $125 million in 2004, $140 million in 2005, and $200 million in 2006 and subsequent years. It establishes that proposals submitted by new program participants and programs in emerging markets shall receive consideration equal to that given to current program participants for new funds made available. It includes no provision dealing with the Quality Export Initiative program. (Section 3103)

(2) Food for Progress

The House bill includes the following: reauthorizes Food for Progress through 2011; increases the limits on Commodity Credit Corporation funding for administrative costs to $15 million; increases the limits on Commodity Credit Corporation funding for transportation costs related to distribution of commodities to $40 million; excludes from the limitations on tonnage in Section 1110(g) of Food for Progress those commodities furnished on a grant basis or on credit terms under title I of the Agricultural Trade Development Act of 1954; increases limits on amounts of commodities to 1,000,000 metric tons; encourages the President to approve agreements that provide commodities to be made available for distribution or sale on a multi-year basis; allows for the use of U.S. dollars and other currencies for the monetization of commodities by authorizing the President to use "proceeds"; adds a new provision that encourages the Secretary to finalize program agreements and requests before the beginning of the relevant fiscal year; and requires the Secretary to provide the House Committee on Agriculture, House Committee on International Relations and the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry a list of approved programs, countries and commodities, and the total amounts of funds approved for transportation and administrative costs related to Food for Progress by November 1 of the relevant fiscal year. (Section 302)

The Senate amendment includes the following: rewrites Food for Progress as a new Title VIII of the 1978 Agricultural Trade Act called "Food for Progress and Education Programs," authorized through 2006; permits USDA to provide agricultural commodities to support introduction or expansion of free trade enterprises in recipient country economies; defines eligible commodities as "agricultural commodities (including vitamins and minerals) acquired by the Secretary or the Corporation for disposition in a program authorized under this title"; provides that not more than $55 million of the funds made available may be used to cover non-commodity costs, of which not more than $12 million may be used to cover administrative costs; establishes a 400,000 MT minimum tonnage per year for the program; allows multi-year PVO agreements and certified institutional partners status for PVO's; allows monetization in U.S. dollars; encourages timely and streamlined approval programs; directs the Secretary to make program announcements before the beginning of the fiscal year; requires eligible organizations with agreements under this title to submit reports to the Secretary containing such information as is required relating to the use of commodities and funds provided for said agreements; requires that assistance under this title shall be coordinated with other forms of foreign assistance under the mechanism designated by the President; requires the Secretary to ensure that each eligible organization is optimizing the use of donated commodities, as follows: (1) taking into account the needs of target populations in recipient countries; (2) working with recipient countries and institutions or groups within those countries to design mutually acceptable programs; (3) monitor and report on distribution and sale of eligible commodities using accurate and timely reporting methods; (4) periodically evaluate the eligible organization's program effectiveness; and (5) consider means of improving program operation.

Agricultural commodities shall be made available under this title without regard to political, geographic, ethnic, or religious identity of the recipient. The Secretary is barred from providing commodities under any agreement that requires or permits the distribution or handling of those commodities by any military forces, except when non-military channels are not available and the Secretary deems that conditions require such distributions occur.

The Senate amendment also authorizes the appropriation of such sums as may be necessary to carry out the title, plus permits the use of P.L. 480 Title I funds; Provides that all commodities related expenses must be in addition to any other P.L. 480 assistance. (Section 325)

The Conference substitute adopts the House bill provisions in the following areas: (1) the program is reauthorized through 2007; (2) an exclusion from the limitation on tonnage for those commodities furnished on a grant basis or on credit terms under title I; (3) encouragement of the President to finalize agreements before the beginning of the relevant fiscal year, and provision by the President to the relevant Committees a list of approved programs, countries, and commodities by December 1 of the relevant fiscal year; (4) definition of eligible commodities, and (5) funding levels for the program, both for non-commodity costs and administrative expenses.

The Conference substitute adopts the following House provisions with modifications. The President was encouraged to approve agreements on a multi-year basis; the provision was expanded to include all eligible organizations rather than just PVO's and to encourage multi-country agreements as well, subject to the availability of commodities.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provisions on monetization of commodities in U.S. dollars, on minimum tonnage. In recognition of the Senate provision on certified institutional partners, the Conference substitute adopts language to streamline, improve and clarify the application, approval, and implementation processes pertaining to agreements under the Food for Progress program. It also requires the Department to undertake consultation with the relevant Congressional Committees within one year of enactment of the Act on the Department's progress in achieving streamlining. Unlike the certified institutional partners provisions, the streamlining provisions will apply equally to all eligible organizations, whether or not they have previously participated in the program.

The Conference substitute amends the existing Food for Progress Act of 1985, rather than establishes a new Title VIII of the Agricultural Trade Act of 1978. Out of the Senate amendment, it incorporates a definition section in the statute, establishes quality assurance requirements, and requires the President to ensure that each eligible organization is optimizing the use of donated commodities, as follows: (1) taking into account the needs of target populations in recipient countries; (2) working with recipient countries and institutions or groups within those countries to design mutually acceptable programs; (3) monitor and report on distribution and sale of eligible commodities using accurate and timely reporting methods; and (4) periodically evaluate the eligible organization's program effectiveness. It also establishes the purposes of the program. (Section 3106)

The Managers are aware of the Food Aid Review conducted by the Administration, which is a continuing process of review of all foreign food aid programs. The Administration plans to make several changes beginning in FY 2003, which include USDA administering all government-to-government programs as a result of funding Food for Progress programs through Title I and USAID administering most private voluntary programs through Title II.

Under the current Food for Progress statute, eligible organizations include private voluntary organizations, cooperatives, other non-governmental and intergovernmental organizations, as well as foreign governments. In providing additional resources and establishing a minimum tonnage requirement for the Food for Progress program under this section, the Managers wish to see the program accessible to all eligible organizations submitting proposals. The Administration's ongoing food aid review should take this into consideration. In many circumstances, the institutional experience of private voluntary organizations and other organizations may be crucial in determining the success or failure of projects in emerging markets under the Food for Progress program.

(3) Surplus Commodities for Developing or Friendly Countries

The House bill authorizes the use of U.S. dollars and other currencies for the monetization of commodities and requires the Secretary to publish in the Federal Register by October 31 of each fiscal year an estimate of the total commodities available under this section for that fiscal year and encourages the Secretary to finalize agreements by Dec. 31. (Section 303)

The Senate amendment authorizes the use of U.S. dollars and other currencies for the monetization of commodities, strikes subparagraph 416(b)(8)(A), allows direct delivery of commodities to milling or processing facilities in recipient countries, with proceeds of transactions going to eligible organizations to carry out the approved project, permits PVO's to apply to become certified institutional partners, and provides that PVO's may submit multi-country proposals. (Section 334)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with respect to monetization and requiring the Secretary to report by October 31 the commodities available under this section for that fiscal year. The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with respect to encouraging submission of multi-country proposals, expanded to include all eligible organizations rather than just PVO's, and to encourage multi-year agreements as well, subject to the availability of commodities. The conference substitute omits the Senate provision on direct delivery of commodities.

The Conference substitute also adopts the Senate provision on certified institutional partners, with the following changes: within 270 days, the Secretary shall review and, as necessary, make changes in regulations and internal procedures designed to streamline, improve, and clarify the application, approval, and implementation processes pertaining to agreements under Section 416(b). It also requires the Secretary to undertake consultation with the relevant Congressional Committees within one year of enactment of the Act on the Secretary's progress in achieving streamlining. These new procedures will apply equally to all eligible organizations, whether or not they have previously participated in the program. (Section 3201)

The Managers believe that the use of donated American agricultural commodities to support rural electrification overseas is a highly appropriate use of surplus commodity monetization, particularly where the USDA's own rural electrification expertise can be added to the on-going efforts of American electric cooperatives to "export" the successful rural electrification model that was established with the Rural Electrification Administration. The Conferees encourage the Secretary of Agriculture to direct a more aggressive rural electrification development effort as part of USDA's monetization programs under section 416(b) of the Agricultural Act of 1949, including collaboration with other international development agencies in leveraging funds to build on the successful experience of American electric co-op projects in less developed countries.

(4) Export Enhancement Program

The House bill extends the Export Enhancement Act through 2011 at the current funding level. (Section 304)

The Senate amendment extends the Export Enhancement Act through 2006 at the current funding level and expands definition of unfair trade practices to include (1) pricing practices by an exporting state trading enterprise that "are not consistent with sound commercial practices conducted in the ordinary course of trade," or (2) changing U.S. "export terms of trade through a deliberate change in the dollar exchange rate of a competing exporter." (Section 323)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with respect to reauthorization of the program through 2007. The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on unfair trade practices, with the following changes: amends paragraph (2) to clarify the type of state trading enterprise covered by this definition, drops the exchange rate reference, and inserts the following list of activities: subsidies that decrease market opportunities for United States exports or unfairly distort agricultural markets to the detriment of the United States; unjustified trade restrictions or commercial requirements, such as labeling, that affect new technologies, including biotechnology; unjustified sanitary or phytosanitary restrictions, including those not based on scientific principles in contravention of the Uruguay Round Agreements; other unjustified technical barriers to trade; rules that unfairly restrict imports of United States agricultural products in the administration of tariff rate quotas; and the failure of a country to adhere to the provision of already existing trade agreements with the United States or by the circumvention by that country of its obligations under those agreements. (Section 3104)

(5) Foreign Market Development Cooperator Program

The House bill includes the following: reauthorizes the Foreign Market Development Cooperator Program through 2011; authorizes such sums as may be necessary to carry out this title, and in addition to any sums appropriated, authorizes $37 million from the Commodity Credit Corporation for each of fiscal years 2002 through 2011 to carry out the program; directs the Secretary to carry out the Foreign Market Development Cooperator

Program with a significant emphasis on the importance of exporting value-added agricultural products to emerging markets; specifies that the Secretary shall report to the House Committees on Agriculture and International Relations, and the Committees on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry and Foreign Relations of the Senate, on the funding and success of the Foreign Market Development Cooperator Program. (Section 305)

The Senate amendment contains the following: reauthorizes Foreign Market Development Cooperator Program through 2006; authorizes, from the Commodity Credit Corporation: $37.5 million for 2002, $40 million for 2003, and $42.5 million for 2004, 2005 and 2006; establishes priority for new program participants and programs in emerging markets for amounts above $35 million. (Section 324)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on reauthorizing the program through 2007, and establishes that proposals submitted by new program participants and programs in emerging markets shall receive consideration equal to that given to current program participants for additional funds made available. The substitute authorizes, from the Commodity Credit Corporation, $34.5 million for each fiscal year between 2002 and fiscal year 2007.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with respect to a significant emphasis on value-added products, with clarification that the emphasis required is a 'continued significant emphasis', to recognize that USDA already places a significant emphasis on value-added, accounting for about one-third of the program. It also requires a report on funding and success of the Foreign Market Development Cooperator Program to the relevant Congressional Committees. (Section 3105)

(6) Export Credit Guarantee Program

The House bill reauthorizes the Export Credit Guarantee Program through 2011, and continues for fiscal years 2002 through 2011 the current requirement that not less than 35 percent of the export credit guarantees issued be used to promote the export of processed or high-value agricultural products. (Section 306)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes Export Credit Guarantee Program through 2006, continues for fiscal years 2002 through 2006 the current requirement that not less than 35 percent of the export credit guarantees issued be used to promote the export of processed or high-value agricultural products; extends terms of repayment for the supplier credit guarantee program from 180 days to 12 months, and requires Secretary to provide a report, one year after enactment of the law, on the status of multilateral export credit negotiations at the WTO and OECD. (Section 321)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision and reauthorizes the program through 2007. It changes the subsection that requires the Secretary to provide a report on multilateral export credit negotiations to requiring the Secretary and the United States Trade Representative to regularly consult with the relevant House and Senate Committees on that issue. The substitute also changes the new terms of repayment for the supplier credit guarantee program from 12 months to 360 days, if an authorization of appropriations to fund loan terms greater than current length of 180 days is provided. (Section 3102)

(7) Food for Peace Program and the International Food Relief Partnership Act

The House bill reauthorizes the Food for Peace Program and the International Food Relief Partnership Act through 2011, and adds conflict prevention as a program objective. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the Food for Peace Program and the International Food Relief Partnership Act through 2006, and adds conflict prevention as a program objective. (Section 311)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, reauthorizing the program through 2007. Program approvals should be based on the potential benefits of the program on food security and the choice of the appropriate commodity for the intended use. (Section 3011)

(8) Non-emergency Assistance

The Senate amendment adds a new provision under "(b) Nonemergency Assistance" requiring the Administrator to foster program diversity by encouraging eligible organizations to propose and implement plans that address 1 or more aspects of Food for Peace and incorporate a variety of program objectives to assist development in foreign countries. (Section 302)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, with an amendment clarifying that plans shall address program objectives specified in Section 201 of the Agricultural Trade, Development and Assistance Act of 1954. (Section 3002)

(9) Funding

The House bill provides that the funding for transportation, storage and handling of P.L. 480 commodities shall be not less than 5 percent and not more than 10 percent of the funds made available under title II in each fiscal year. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment provides that the funding for transportation, storage and handling of P.L. 480 commodities shall be not less than 5 percent and not more than 10 percent of the funds made available under title II in each fiscal year. (Section 302)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 3002)

(10) Private Voluntary Organization Authority (PVO)

The House bill grants PVO's authority to submit multi-country proposals. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment grants PVO's authority to submit multi-country proposals. Also requires US-AID or USDA, as applicable, to establish a process enabling PVO's and cooperatives that can demonstrate their capacity to carry out the programs, to qualify as "certified institutional partners," which would entitle them to use streamlined application procedures, including expedited review, to receive commodities. (Section 302)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with the following changes: the inclusion of all eligible organizations rather than just PVO's and to encourage multi-year agreements as well.

The Conference substitute also adopts the Senate provision with the following changes: within one year after enactment of this Act, requires the Administrator to establish streamlined guidelines and application procedures for programs under Title II, to be effective for fiscal year 2004, to the maximum extent practicable, for resource allocation for existing projects and for new project proposals. It also requires US-AID to undertake stakeholder consultation using statutory procedures, as well as consultation with the relevant Congressional Committees, within six months of enactment, on the Agency's progress in achieving streamlining. A report is to be submitted within 270 days on progress achieved in modernizing US-AID's information management, procurement, and financial management systems to accommodate Title II needs. (Section 3002)

(11) Use of U.S. Dollars

The House bill allows PVO's to use U.S. dollars when monetizing commodities in foreign countries. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment allows the use of U.S. dollars when monetization is done in foreign countries. (Section 303)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on permitting eligible organizations to monetize commodities in U.S. dollars in foreign countries. (Section 3003)

(12) Minimum Level of Commodities

The House bill increases the minimum level of commodities available to 2,250,000 metric tons. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment increases the minimum level of commodities available from 2,025,000 MT to: 2,100,000 metric tons for 2002; 2,200,000 metric tons for 2003; 2,300,000 metric tons for 2004; 2,400,000 metric tons for 2005; and 2,500,000 metric tons for 2006. It also adds crude degummed soybean oil to list of value-added commodities under Title II. (Section 304)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, with a change to 2,500,000 metric tons per year as the minimum level of commodities beginning in fiscal year 2002.

The Conference substitute adopts a new provision, changing the sub-minimum requirement for non-emergency programs to 1,875,000 tons annually (Section 3004)

The Managers ask the Administrator to examine the commodities currently shipped under Title II non-emergency programs, and determine which ones qualify as value-added products to satisfy the sub-minimum requirement under Section 204(b) of the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 (7 U.S.C. 1724).

(13) Food Aid Consultative Group

The House bill reauthorizes the food aid consultative group through 2011. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the food aid consultative group through 2006. (Section 305)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, reauthorizing the consultative group through 2007. (Section 3005)

(14) Title II Spending

The House bill eliminates the $1 billion cap on spending for Title II. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment raises the cap on Title II spending from $1 billion to $2 billion annually. (Section 306)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Section 3006)

(15) Duties of the Administrator of US-AID

The House bill requires that the Administrator of US-AID make decisions on program proposals, received from PVO's, not later than 120 days after receipt. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment requires that the Administrator of US-AID make decisions on program proposals, received from PVO's, not later than 120 days after receipt, requires the Administrator to treat proposed policy determinations the same as guidelines, and allows direct delivery of commodities to milling or processing facilities in recipient countries, with proceeds of transactions going to eligible organizations to carry out the approved project. (Section 307)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, with the technical change that the 120 day period begins after submission of the proposal to the Administrator rather than receipt of the proposal by the Administrator, and that to the maximum extent practicable, the Administrator is encouraged to make decisions on program proposals within that period. The annual policy guidance letter issued by the Administrator shall be subject to notice and comment requirements. The conference substitute omits the Senate provision on direct delivery of commodities. (Section 3007)

The Managers note that at present, milling or processing facilities located in or near countries receiving food aid are occasionally unable to process commodities or arrange for the monetization of commodities because the non-governmental organizations coordinating or arranging the food aid delivery do not interact on a timely basis with the milling or processing facilities. This often leads to delay and inefficiencies in the food aid program.

The streamlining of procedures and regulatory requirements, and acceleration of the approval and review of projects involving food aid programs administered by USDA and US-AID are a priority in this legislation. It is equally important that participating non-governmental organizations also expedite the delivery of their projects by consulting with milling or processing facilities prior to filing project applications with USDA or US-AID. It is necessary for USDA, US-AID, and participating non-governmental organizations to act in concert to streamline and expedite procedures and activities to achieve a more effective and timely food aid delivery process.

(16) Funding for Stockpiling and Rapid Transportation, Delivery, and Distribution of Shelf-Stable Prepackaged Foods

The House bill reauthorizes at current funding level through 2011. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes at current funding level through 2006. (Section 308)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, reauthorizing the funding through 2007. (Section 3008)

(17) Sale Procedure

The House bill adds a new subsection, (l), to section 403 that provides that (b) and (h) shall apply to titles II and III of Food for Peace, section 416(b) of the Agricultural Act of 1949, and section 1110 of the Food and Security Act of 1985. It also allows for monetization in the sales to generate proceeds under these designated sections and titles. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment adds a new subsection, (l), to section 403 that provides that (b) shall apply to section 416(b) of the Agricultural Act of 1949, and title VIII of the Agricultural Trade Act of 1978. It also allows for monetization in the sales to generate proceeds under these programs, and defines reasonable market price for purposes of monetization of commodities. (Section 310)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with respect to sale procedure and adopts the Senate provision with respect to reasonable market price. (Section 3009)

The reasonable market price provision requires that commodities be sold at a reasonable market price in the economy where the commodity is to be sold. This would generally be the locally prevailing price for the same or a similar commodity.

The Managers understand that, as with commercial sales, the actual sales price will be affected by product quality and delivery and payment terms. There are two primary purposes for this provision. The first is to ensure that commodities are sold at the prevailing local market price, rather than imposing an arbitrary formula approach.

The Managers believe that a relatively inflexible formula approach is undesirable because in situations in which local prices are above the formula value, the formula does not maximize proceeds from sales of commodities. Conversely, in cases in which the formula produces a price significantly above locally prevailing prices, no sales are likely to result, to the possible detriment of program operations in recipient countries.

The second reason for this provision is to bring consistency to the approaches currently used by US-AID and USDA. The Managers understand that although the two agencies generally operate in different countries at different times, some monetization programs may overlap. The Managers expect that, should this occur, the two agencies will consult to ensure that, to the extent possible, a uniform sales price is established. More generally, the Managers expect the two agencies to adopt methodologies for determining a reasonable market price that will tend to produce similar results in determining sales prices.

Finally, the Managers note that this provision is intended to be consistent with the goal of maximizing proceeds from commodity sales. In deciding whether to approve a proposed sale of commodities at the local market price, the Managers expect that both agencies will take into account the prevailing U.S. and world market prices of a commodity, including U.S. acquisition costs, transportation costs, and any localized factors that might result in significant differences between prevailing local market prices and those prices that would be expected to prevail in a pure free market. In cases in which high-quality U.S. agricultural products are purchased for the program, it should be noted that the market in the recipient country may not be sufficiently sensitive to fully reflect quality premiums.

(18) Lamb Program

The Senate amendment permits the Secretary to establish a program to provide live lamb on an emergency food relief basis to Afghanistan. (Section 309)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute incorporates the Senate provision into another section of this title dealing with a report on use of perishable commodities in food aid programs. (Section 3207)

(19) Reauthorize Limits on Funding for Prepositioning

The House bill reauthorizes limits on funding for prepositioning through 2011. (Section 307)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes limits on funding for prepositioning through 2006. (Section 311)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, reauthorizing the funding through 2007. (Section 3010)

(20) Authority for Paying Transportation Costs Under Title II Non-Emergency Program

The House bill adds a provision providing the authority for the US-AID Administrator to pay for transportation costs for non-emergency assistance under Title II, and only to least developed countries. (Section 307)

The Senate bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Section 3012)

(21) Expiration Date

The House bill extends the expiration date to December 31, 2011. (Section 307)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, reauthorizing the program through fiscal year 2007. (Section 3011)

(22) Reauthorize Farmer-to-Farmer Program

The House bill reauthorizes the Farmer-to-Farmer Program through 2011 at the current funding level of 0.4 percent of the funds made available under titles I and II of P.L. 480 (Section 307)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the Farmer-to-Farmer Program through 2006 and increases the share of P.L.-480 title I and title II funding which can be diverted for support of the program from 0.4 to 0.5 percent. (Section 314)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, reauthorizing the program through 2007 and the Senate provision that increases funding for the program. (Section 3014)

(23) Micronutrient Fortification Pilot Program

The Senate amendment re-authorizes the micronutrient fortification pilot program. (Section 313)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with technical corrections, also adding folic acid as a fortifying element that can be used under the program. The US-AID sponsored "Micronutrient Assessment Project" study (report issued in 1999), found significant quality problems in fortified food aid commodities, including low micronutrient levels and the loss of highly labile vitamins. A US-AID-sponsored "Micronutrient Compliance Review of Fortified P.L. 480 Commodities" (report issued in 2001) found that while progress has been made, additional follow-up is needed to assure adequate micronutrient levels in the fortified commodities and to standardize procedures used to test and monitor for compliance. Additional concerns, such as lack of shelf-life information, bioavailability and package durability have also been reported. The organization that conducted the 1999 and 2001 assessments uses an effective approach of engaging technical experts from food industries to improve the quality and nutritional content of food products for developing countries. This provision calls on the Administrator, in consultation with the Secretary, to use the same mechanism to follow-up on the 2001 compliance review recommendations to improve and assure the quality of fortified food aid commodities. (Section 3013)

(24) Emerging Markets

The House bill reauthorizes the Emerging Markets program through 2011, and increases the amount of assistance the Secretary shall provide for the Agricultural Fellowship Program from $10 million to $13 million. (Section 308)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the Emerging Markets program at current levels through 2006, but does not increase the amount of assistance. (Section 332)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision reauthorizing the program through 2007. (Section 3203)

(25) Bill Emerson Humanitarian Trust

The House bill extends the Bill Emerson Humanitarian Trust Act through 2011. (Section 309)

The Senate amendment extends the Bill Emerson Humanitarian Trust Act through 2006. (Section 331)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, reauthorizing the program through 2007. (Section 3202)

(26) Technical Assistance for Specialty Crops

The House bill establishes an export assistance program to address barriers to the export of United States specialty crops; provides direct assistance through public and private sector projects; and technical assistance to remove, resolve, and/or mitigate sanitary or phytosanitary and related barriers to trade. It also gives priority to time sensitive and market access projects based on the trade effect and trade impact and authorizes $3 million annually from the Commodity Credit Corporation. (Section 310)

The Senate amendment directs USDA to assist U.S. exporters harmed by "unwarranted and arbitrary" barriers to trade due to marketing of biotechnology products, food safety, disease, or other SPS concerns and authorizes appropriations of $1 million annually through 2006. (Section 333)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, with funding provided at $2 million per year from the Commodity Credit Corporation. (Section 3205)

(27) Farmers From Africa and Caribbean Basin Program

The House bill authorizes $10 million for the President to establish and administer bilateral exchange programs whereby U.S. farmers and farming specialists provide technical advice and assistance to eligible farmers in Africa and the Caribbean Basin countries. (Section 311)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, to be incorporated into the existing Farmer-to-Farmer program, authorizing appropriations, while allowing the Administrator to use up to five percent of those appropriated funds to cover administrative expenses in operating the program. (Section 3014)

(28) George McGovern-Robert Dole International Food for Education and Child Nutrition Program

The House bill authorizes the President to direct the provision of U.S. agricultural commodities and financial and technical assistance for foreign preschool and school feeding programs to reduce hunger and improve literacy (particularly among girls) and nutrition programs for pregnant and nursing women and young children. It also authorizes the appropriation of such sums as may be necessary each year through FY2011. The President has the authority to designate the administering federal agency. For this program, eligible recipients are PVO's, cooperatives, governments and their agencies, and other organizations. Funds may be used to pay commodity transportation and storage costs, in-country activities that enhance the programs, and certain providers' administrative expenses. The House bill specifies a list of priorities for program funding and provides guidelines for application process, encourages multilateral involvement and private sector involvement, and requires assurances that local production and marketing in recipient countries are not disrupted. Annual reports to Congress are required. (Section 312)

The Senate amendment requires the establishment of an International Food for Education and Nutrition Program, as a separately funded program within the new Food for Progress title, whereby USDA may provide commodities and technical and nutrition assistance for programs that improve food security and enhance educational opportunities for preschool and primary school children in the recipient countries. USDA is authorized to use not more than $150 million per year for four years to carry out this program. Eligible organizations are PVO's, cooperatives, nongovernmental organizations, or foreign countries, as determined by USDA. Permitted uses of funds, and various other requirements not specified here are the same as those that apply to Food for Progress activities generally. The Senate amendment includes a "graduation requirement" to provide for continuation of the program when funding terminates. It also encourages other donor and private sector involvement and requires an annual report to Congress. (Section 325(c))

The Conference substitute adopts the House bill provisions, with the following modifications: (1) accepts Senate provisions on graduation; (2) accept Senate language on availability of funds for internal shipping, transportation, and handling costs, and (3) provides $100 million in mandatory funding for fiscal year 2003 to continue existing pilot projects. The program is to be named the McGovern-Dole International Food for Education and Child Nutrition program. (Section 3107)

The Managers expect that mandatory funds provided for fiscal year 2003 will be utilized to continue the operation of projects approved under the pilot program.

(29) Study on Fee for Services

The House bill instructs the Secretary to report to Congress on the feasibility of instituting a program charging fees to cover the costs of services performed abroad on matters within the authority of the Department of Agriculture administered by the Foreign Agriculture Service. (Section 313)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with the clarification that the report would address the feasibility of a program that charged fees would be assessed only for services performed beyond those already provided by the Foreign Agricultural Service as part of an overall market development strategy for a particular country or region. (Section 3208)

(30) National Export Strategy Report

The House bill directs the Secretary to prepare a long-range comprehensive agricultural trade strategy and to report to the House Committees on Agriculture and International Relations, and the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry, on the activities the Department of Agriculture has undertaken to implement the National Export Strategy Report. (Section 314)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision, changing the report to consultations with relevant Congressional Committees which will occur within six months of enactment, and every two years subsequently. (Section 3206)

(31) Exporter Assistance Initiative

The Senate amendment authorizes development of a federal website to assist aspiring exporters to learn all they need to know about getting started. An authorization of appropriations is provided at the following levels: $1 million for each of 2003 and 2004 and $500,000 for 2005 and 2006. (Section 326)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, amended to instruct the Secretary to maintain a website to assist exporters or potential exporters of U.S. agricultural products. No appropriations are authorized. (Section 3101)

The Managers observe that knowledge about legal and regulatory requirements that apply to the export of an agricultural product is basic to any transaction. This applies to the country in which the exporter is located and the importing foreign country. Many countries already provide at least this much assistance to private exporters. In the United States, a small exporter that cannot afford to hire a trade consultant has been forced to navigate among numerous Federal laws and regulations that impact an export transaction. Today, the Internet provides a propitious vehicle for making such information accessible. The Foreign Agricultural Service at USDA has developed a website that provides information about USDA programs that may affect the exporter, recommendations on how to develop a marketing plan, and tariff and sanitary/phyto-sanitary requirements of several countries.

However the website does not alert the small exporter to U.S. laws such as, for example, the Corrupt Practices Act that may impact the export. Linkage to the website of the Treasury Department for detailed information about the Corrupt Practices Act is also necessary. A new Government website, 'FirstGov', provides access to the Department of the Treasury's website, but the FAS website does not provide a link to FirstGov.

Other U.S. agencies such as the Treasury Department's Office of Foreign Assets Control and the Commerce Department's Bureau of Export Administration enforce laws and regulations which bear on international business transactions involving agricultural products. Access to the websites of these agencies is also necessary to ensure that a potential or current exporter has access to a maximum amount of information relevant to the international commercial transaction. A small exporter needs more than just information about U.S. laws and regulations. Information about tariff and non-tariff regulations of importing countries is needed. Information about private companies in this country and abroad that may impact a marketing plan and decision to proceed with the export transaction is also necessary. A new website established by USDA, the Export Directory of U.S. Food Distribution Companies, provides a good start. The Secretary of Agriculture is directed to improve and maintain the FAS website consistent with the requirements of this provision and to coordinate the content of this website with the agency responsible for the FirstGov website. The Secretary is further directed to improve the FAS website so that an exporter may connect to links with overseas governmental, private sector, and non-profit sector websites that provide information on market opportunities, marketing requirements and restrictions, product preferences, foreign legal considerations, and other information that may assist the exporter with marketing an agricultural product in a foreign market.

(32) Biotechnology and Agriculture Trade Program

The Senate amendment requires USDA to establish a program to assist exporters facing problems with biotech-based agricultural products. The Senate amendment requires $15 million of CCC funding per year through 2006. (Section 333)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision establishing a stand-alone program, providing an authorization of appropriations. The provision is also revised to reflect a narrower purpose than the original Senate provision, focusing on technical assistance in addressing barriers to trade. (Section 3204)

(33) Agricultural Trade with Cuba

The Senate amendment strikes restrictions on private financing of sales of food and medicine to Cuba that were established in the FY 2001 Agricultural Appropriations bill. (Section 335)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(34) Sense of Congress Regarding Agricultural Trade

The Senate amendment establishes Congressional priorities and concerns for bilateral and multilateral agricultural trade negotiations. (Section 336)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, changing it to reflect the Sense of the Senate rather than the Congress. Similar priorities are also reflected in the Trade Promotion Authority bill (H.R. 3005) passed by the House in 2001. (Section 3210)

(35) Report on Use of Perishable Commodities in Food Aid

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to report on transportation, storage, and funding deficiencies that limit the use of perishable and semi-perishable commodities in USDA international food aid programs. (Section 337)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, with technical changes and adds a requirement to examine the cost of shipping live lambs and other animals for use in U.S. food aid programs. (Section 3207)

(36) Sense of Senate Regarding Foreign Assistance Programs

The Senate amendment notes past success of U.S. foreign assistance in helping democratize developing nations and create U.S. commercial customers, and urges increased role of such programs in countries with impoverished and disadvantaged populations that are the breeding grounds for terrorism. (Section 338)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision, changing it to reflect the Sense of the Congress rather than the Senate. (Section 3209)

TITLE IV—NUTRITION

(1) Short Title

The Senate Amendment names Title IV the Food Stamp Reauthorization Act of 2001. (Section 401)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4001)

SUBTITLE A—FOOD STAMP PROGRAM

(2) Simplified Definition of Income

The House bill adds new types of income exclusions: at state option, education assistance that is required to be excluded under its Medicaid rules; "state complementary assistance program payments" that are excluded under Medicaid rules; and at state option, any income the state does not consider when determining eligibility for cash assistance under its Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program or eligibility for medical assistance under its Medicaid program. Under the third exclusion authority, states are specifically not permitted to exclude earned income, various Social Security Act payments (e.g., Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Social Security disability and retirement benefits, and foster care and adoption assistance payments), or other types of income the Secretary judges essential to equitable eligibility determinations. (Section 401)

The Senate amendment adds new income exclusions: education assistance, "state complementary assistance program payments," same as the House bill with technical differences and at state option; any types of income the state does not consider when determining eligibility for or the amount of cash assistance under its TANF program or eligibility for medical assistance under its Medicaid program. Under the third exclusion authority, states are specifically not permitted to exclude wages or salaries, various Social Security Act payments, regular payments from a government source (such as unemployment benefits and general assistance), workers' compensation, child support payments (for the recipient), or other types of income the Secretary judges essential to equitable eligibility determinations. It is the intent of this provision to align, to the extent possible, with Medicaid and TANF rules and that the Secretary will only add additional types of income that are judged to be absolutely essential to make equitable determinations of eligibility in the food stamp program. (Section 412)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4102)

The Managers intend that this provision will allow states to eliminate consideration of any types of income they do not consider when judging eligibility for temporary assistance to needy families (TANF) cash assistance or those required to be covered by Medicaid. It does not include items that are included in the definition of income but part of which are disregarded for the purposes of TANF and Medicaid by state agencies.

(3) Standard Deduction

The House bill establishes multiple standard deductions equal to 9.7 percent of the federal poverty income guideline amounts used for food stamp income eligibility determinations in FY2002. The new standard deductions would remain fixed over time. It also requires that the new standard deductions not be less than the current amount for each jurisdiction or greater than 9.7 percent of the FY2002 poverty guideline amounts for a 6-person household. In the case of the Virgin Islands, the new standard deductions would be similar to those for the 48 states and the District of Columbia. In the case of Guam, a special rule would maintain standard deduction levels at about twice the levels for the 48 states and the District of Columbia. (Section 402)

The Senate amendment establishes multiple standard deductions equal to an increasing percentage of the inflation-indexed federal poverty income guideline amounts used for food stamp income eligibility determinations: for FY2002–FY2004, the new standard deductions would equal 8 percent of each year's poverty guideline amounts; for FY2005–FY2007, the new standard deductions would equal 8.5 percent of each year's poverty guideline amounts; for FY2008–FY2010, the new standard deductions would equal 9 percent of each year's poverty guideline amounts; and for FY2011 and each following year, the new standard deductions would equal 10 percent of each year's poverty guideline amounts. The Senate amendment also requires that the new standard deductions not be less than the current amount for each jurisdiction or greater than the applicable percentage (noted above) of the poverty guideline amounts for a 6-person household. In the case of the Virgin Islands, the new standard deductions would be similar to those for the 48 states and the District of Columbia. In the case of Guam, a special rule would maintain standard deduction levels at about twice the levels for the 48 states and the District of Columbia. (Section 171(c)(2), replacing Section 413)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that sets the standard deduction equal to 8.31 percent of the inflation-indexed federal poverty income guideline used for food stamp income eligibility determinations and includes comparable provisions for the Virgin Islands and Guam. (Section 4103)

(4) Transitional Food Stamps for Families Moving From Welfare

The House bill provides, at state option, for 6 months of transitional food stamp benefits for families no longer eligible to receive Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF). Households could receive transitional benefits for up to 6 months after termination of cash assistance, regardless of whether their certification period expires during the transitional period. The transitional benefit amount would be equal to the monthly allotment households received in the month immediately prior to termination. Households receiving transitional benefits could apply for food stamps under regular rules at any time during the transitional period. In the final month of the transitional period, states could require a household to cooperate in a re-determination of eligibility in order to receive continued benefits.

Transitional benefits would not be allowed for (1) households sanctioned under food stamp rules for intentional program violations, failure to cooperate, failure to meet work requirements, transferring assets to gain eligibility, failure to perform an action required under a federal, state, or local means-tested public assistance program, multiple receipt of food stamp benefits, or failure to fulfill child-support-related requirements and (2) households sanctioned for failure to perform an action required by federal, state, or local law relating to TANF cash assistance. (Section 403)

The Senate amendment permits states to provide transitional food stamp benefits to households who cease to receive TANF cash assistance. Under this option, households could receive transitional benefits for up to 6 months after termination of cash assistance, without regard to normal eligibility reviews or termination of an eligibility review period. During the transitional period, food stamp benefits generally would be frozen, without required reports of changed circumstances. Transitional benefits would be equal to the monthly allotment received in the month immediately prior to termination adjusted for (1) the change in household income because of termination of cash assistance and (2) any changes in circumstances that could increase household benefits (if the household elects to report them). In the final month of the transitional period, states could require a household to cooperate in a re-determination of eligibility in order to receive continued benefits.

Transitional benefits would not be allowed for households (1) losing eligibility under food stamp rules for intentional program violations, failure to cooperate or meet work-requirements, post-secondary students, transferring assets to gain eligibility, failure to perform an action required by a means-tested assistance program, receipt of multiple benefits, fleeing felons, or failure to fulfill child-support-related requirements, (2) sanctioned for failure to perform an action required by a federal, state, or local TANF law, or (3) in any state-designated category. (Section 429)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that allows households to receive transitional benefits for up to 5, instead of up to 6, months after termination of cash assistance, without regard to normal eligibility reviews or termination of an eligibility review period. In addition, transitional benefits are equal to the monthly allotment received in the month immediately prior to termination, adjusted for the change in household income because of termination of cash assistance but not adjusted for any other changes in circumstances that could increase household benefits and which the household may report. The Conference substitute retains the House bill language that enables households receiving transitional benefits to apply for food stamps under regular rules at any time during the transitional period. (Section 4115)

(5) Quality Control Systems

The House bill reforms the food stamp quality control program to require the Secretary to use a 95 percent statistical probability (lower bound) in calculating state error rates. States with a total payment error rate (lower bound) between 6 percent and the national performance measure (plus 1 percentage point) receive no special treatment, but have to develop and implement corrective action plans to reduce errors. The bill provides that, in determining sanctions against states for high error rates, sanctions are delayed until the third consecutive year in which a state's error rate (lower bound) exceeds the national average error rate by more than 1 percentage point.

Sanctions are figured as follows: First, the state's potential total liability amount is calculated. This is the difference between its total payment error rate (point estimate) and the national performance measure plus one percentage point, multiplied by the dollar value of benefits issued in the state for the year. Then, the state's actual penalty/sanction is calculated. This assessment is "scaled" according to how far above 10 percent the state's total payment error rate (point estimate) is.

The House bill also requires the Secretary to measure states' performance with respect to (1) compliance with deadlines for prompt determinations of eligibility and issuance of benefits and (2) the percentage of negative eligibility decisions that are made correctly for each of fiscal years 2002 through 2007. It provides for "excellence bonus payments" of $1 million each to (1) the 5 states with the highest combined performance in the 2 measures noted above and (2) the 5 states whose combined performance in the 2 measures noted above is most improved for each of fiscal years 2002-2007. (Section 404)

The Senate amendment reforms the system that measures the degree to which states make erroneous eligibility and benefit decisions so that only states with serious, persistent problems would be sanctioned. For states with error rates below 6 percent, enhanced federal matching is reduced for 2001 and then discontinued in subsequent years. States with a total payment error rate between 6 percent and the national average plus 1 percentage point would receive no special treatment. All states are required to develop and implement corrective action plans to reduce payment errors. Each year, the Secretary is required to investigate the administration of the food stamp program in states with a total payment error rate above the national average plus one percentage point, unless sufficient information is already available to review the state's administration. A "good cause" exception is provided. If the investigation/review results in a determination that the state has been "seriously negligent" (under standards promulgated by the Secretary), the state has to pay a fine ("initial sanction") that reflects the extent of negligence (again, under standards promulgated by the Secretary) not to exceed 5 percent of the federal match for state administrative costs. States with a total payment error rate above the national average plus 1 percentage point are assessed fiscal penalties if they have been the subject of an investigation/review or sanctioned for high error rates in each of the 2 preceding years. This effectively sanctions states with a payment error rate above the national average plus 1 percentage point for 3 consecutive years, in the third year as in the House bill. Sanctions are figured in the same way as is done in the House bill.

Beginning with error rates calculated for FY2002, the Senate amendment establishes in law a requirement that the Secretary adjust states' total payment error rates to take into account any increases in errors because a state serves high percentages of households with earnings or households containing non-citizens. The adjustments are similar to those carried out under current policy for states subject to penalties/sanctions; however, they are somewhat more liberal in the measurement standard they use to identify states with "high" proportions of error-prone households, likely qualifying more states for an adjustment. For error rates figured for FY2003 and later years, additional adjustments to states' total payment error rates are permitted, as the Secretary determines consistent with achieving the purposes of the Food Stamp Act. (Section 431)

The Senate amendment beginning with FY2002, requires the Secretary to measure states' performance with respect to the proportion of households with children having (a) income below 130 percent of the federal poverty income guidelines and (b) annual earnings of at least half the full-time minimum wage equivalent who receive food stamps. Beginning with FY2002, it also requires the Secretary to measure states' performance with respect to four additional measures established by the Secretary in consultation with the National Governors Association, the American Public Human Services Association, and the National Conference of State Legislatures. The additional four measures must be established not later than 180 days after enactment, and at least 1 measure must relate to the provision of timely and appropriate services to food stamp applicants and recipients.

In FY2003 and each following year, it requires the Secretary to make "high performance bonus payments" totaling $6 million for each of the 5 measures noted above. For each measure, payments (allocated by caseload size) are to be made to the 6 states with (1) the greatest improvement in performance, (2) the highest level of performance, or (3) a combination of greatest improvement and highest performance. Among the 6 states chosen for payments under each measure, payments are allocated according to caseload size.

The Senate amendment prohibits bonus payments to states subject to a quality control system sanction for that fiscal year and it provides that the Secretary's determinations relating to whether and in what amount bonus payments are made are not subject to judicial review. (Section 433)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provisions with amendments. In general, the new system eliminates features of current law under which approximately half the states must be assessed sanctions each year, reconfigures the formula for determining sanction amounts, delays any sanctions until a state has shown a persistently high error rate, explicitly recognizes a policy for new investment in improved administration by states with high error rates, places some limits on the Secretary's ability to excuse payment of sanctions, and replaces the current system for rewarding states with very low error rates with a requirement to pay bonuses to states that exhibit exemplary administrative performance. The major features of the Conference substitute are as follows.

Threshold for potential sanctions: The threshold for sanctions is set at 105 percent of the national average, rather than the national average as under current law.

Calculation of state error rates: A state is not considered to be above the threshold unless there is a 95 percent statistical certainty that the state's error rate is truly above the threshold.

Sanction Notification and Method of Payment: When the Secretary determines that a state must pay a sanction, the state agency, the Governor, and the state legislature must be notified. The Chief Executive Officer of the state subject to a sanction must remit the amount of the sanction or the state's letter of credit will be reduced.

Corrective action plans: States with combined error rates of 6 percent or more are required to provide a corrective action plan to the Secretary.

Time period for sanctions: States will not have a sanction amount calculated until the second consecutive year in which their error rates exceed the threshold. If, in the following year, they still exceed the threshold, they will be required to pay an amount the Secretary has determined to be at risk.

State liability: States' potential liability amounts will equal dollar issuance multiplied by ten percent of the amount by which a state's error rate exceeds a six percent threshold. Under the Conference substitute, the Secretary has the authority to resolve the liability (calculated for the second consecutive year in which the state exceeds the threshold) in one of three ways: require the state to reinvest up to 50 percent of the liability; hold up to 50 percent of the liability "at risk," to be paid as a sanction by the state the following year only if the state's error rate continues to exceed the threshold; or to waive any amount that is not reinvested or held at risk. If a state fails to reduce its error rate to below the threshold for a third consecutive year, it must pay its 'at-risk' amount to the federal government. The Secretary may settle amounts required to be reinvested.

Waivers, Adjustments and Appeals: The Secretary retains the authority to waive any amount of a state's potential liability and to make adjustments to claims against states. States continue to have the full right to appeal liability amounts.

Enhanced funding and bonus payments: Enhanced funding is eliminated for Fiscal Year 2003 and beyond and replaced by bonuses to states. The Secretary must issue regulations regarding the criteria for bonus awards for FY2005 and succeeding years. Performance criteria specified in legislation include those related to actions taken to correct errors; reduce rates of error; and improve eligibility determinations, including in the area of service delivery (such as timeliness and a low rate of improper denials). The Secretary is directed to solicit concrete ideas within these general areas from state agencies and organizations that represent state interests prior to issuing proposed regulations. For FY2003 and FY2004, the Secretary is provided the authority to issue guidance to the state regarding criteria for bonus awards.

Effective dates: The new policy is effective for error rates measured in FY 2003 and sanctions and enhanced funding laws and regulations are unchanged for FY2002 and prior years. (Sections 4118 and 4120)

(6) Simplified Application and Eligibility Determination Systems

The House bill requires the Secretary to spend up to $9.5 million to provide grants to states to develop and implement programs that improve the food stamp application and eligibility determination process. (Section 405)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to establish a program of grants to states and other eligible entities to simplify food stamp application and eligibility determination systems and to improve access to the food stamp program. The Secretary would be required to fund grants totaling up to $5 million per year for projects: to coordinate application and eligibility procedures; establish methods for applying and determining eligibility that use electronic alternatives; otherwise improve program administration; or improve access to the Program. Grants could not be made for on-going costs and preference would be given to government/non-government partnerships.

In addition to the types of projects described in the amendment, the Managers believe that other types of projects may be permissible under this section. These projects include but are not limited to:

(a) establishing a single site at which individuals may apply for food stamp benefits, supplemental security income, Medicaid, states' children's health insurance program benefits, WIC benefits and benefits under other programs as determined by the Secretary;

(b) developing systems to enable increased participation in the provision of benefits under the food stamp program through farmers' markets, roadside stands, and other community-supported agriculture programs, including wireless electronic benefit transfer systems and other systems appropriate to open-air settings where farmers and other vendors sell directly to consumers;

(c) encouraging consumption of fruit and vegetables by developing a cost-effective system for providing discounts for purchases of fruit and vegetables made through use of electronic benefit transfer cards; or,

(d) reducing barriers to participation by individuals, with emphasis on working families, eligible immigrants, elderly individuals, and individuals with disabilities.

The Conference substitute repeals existing grant authority (Section 17(i)), dependent on appropriations, in the expectation that similar grants may be made under this new authority. (Section 4116)

(7) Authorization of Appropriations: Employment and Training Programs

The House bill reauthorizes the existing food stamp employment and training program through FY2011. It sets the annual amount of unmatched federal funds at the current FY2002 level of $165 million. It also preserves the current requirement to use at least 80 percent of unmatched federal funding for able-bodied adults without dependents (ABAWDs). (Section 406(a))

The Senate amendment extends the requirement for unmatched federal funding for employment and training programs through FY2006; and sets the basic amount of unmatched federal funding at $90 million a year for FY2002–FY2006.

In addition to the basic $90 million a year, the Senate amendment requires the Secretary to allocate up to $25 million a year for FY2002–FY2006 to reimburse states for services to able-bodied adults without dependents (ABAWDs). In order to be eligible for a share of this unmatched funding, a state must (1) exhaust its basic funding allocation and (2) make and comply with a commitment to offer an employment/training placement ("position") to all applicant/recipient ABAWDs who are in the last month of their 6-month eligibility period under ABAWD work rules and not eligible for an exemption.

The Senate amendment rescinds any unmatched federal funding provided through FY2001 unless obligated by a state before enactment. However, the new $90 million basic grant money would remain available until expended, while the new $25 million ABAWD grant money would not. It also provides that the basic $90 million a year in unmatched federal funding be allocated among states according to a formula established and adjusted by the Secretary that takes into account their ABAWD populations; and eliminates the requirement to use at least 80 percent of unmatched federal funding for ABAWDs.

The Senate amendment eliminates the "maintenance of effort" requirement, whereby states must maintain expenditures on employment and training programs at a level not less than FY 1996 spending in order to receive a portion of their allocation of unmatched federal funding; and eliminates the authority for the Secretary to set reimbursement levels for each qualifying employment and training slot that a state offers or fills. (Section 434)

The Senate amendment eliminates the $25 per-month limit on the amount that states provide to participants in employment and training programs for transportation and other costs (other than dependent care costs) that are reasonably necessarily and directly related to their participation. (Section 169(c)(3)) It also eliminates the limit on federal matching payments for these costs. (Section 169(c)(4))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with technical changes, and amendments to: provide unmatched funding through FY2007, reduce the allocation from "up to $25 million a year" to "up to $20 million a year" to reimburse states for services provided only to ABAWDs, and eliminate the requirement that states must exhaust their basic funding allocation before being eligible for a share of this unmatched funding. (Section 4121)

(8) Authorization of Appropriations: Cost Allocation

The House bill extends the required reduction in federal matching payments to states for administrative costs through FY2011. (Section 406(b))

The Senate amendment extends the required reduction in federal matching payments to states for administrative costs through FY2006. (Section 435(a))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to reauthorize the required reduction in federal matching payments to states for administrative costs through FY2007. (Section 4122)

(9) Authorization of Appropriations: Cash Payment Pilot Projects

The House bill extends the authority for cash payment projects through FY2011, if the state requests. (Section 406(c))

The Senate amendment extends authority for cash payment projects through FY2006, if the state requests. (Section 435(b))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to extend the authority for cash payment projects through FY2007, if the state requests. (Section 4122)

(10) Authorization of Appropriations: Outreach Demonstration Projects

The House bill extends the authority for outreach demonstration projects through FY2011. (Section 406(d))

The Senate amendment extends the authority for outreach demonstration projects through FY2006. (Section 435(c))

The Conference substitute repeals the authority for outreach demonstration projects and replaces it with new grant authority found in Section 4116. (Section 4122)

(11) Authorization of Appropriations

The House bill extends the authorization of appropriations for the Food Stamp Act through FY2011. This includes the food stamp program as well as the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations. (Section 406(e))

The Senate amendment extends the authorization of appropriations for the Food Stamp Act through FY2006. This includes the food stamp program as well as the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations. (Section 435(d))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to extend the authorization of appropriations for the Food Stamp Act through FY2007. This includes the food stamp program as well as the

Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations. (Section 4122)

(12) Puerto Rico and Territory of American Samoa

The House bill extends Puerto Rico's nutrition assistance block grant through FY2011, retaining annual indexing for food-price inflation using changes in the cost of the Thrifty Food Plan. It also authorizes the use of up to $6 million to pay for upgrading and modernizing electronic data processing systems and implementing systems to simplify eligibility determinations without regard to the regular 50 percent administrative cost matching requirement. (Section 406(f))

The House bill extends American Samoa's nutrition assistance grant through FY2011 and increases the size of the annual grant to $5.75 million in FY2002 and $5.8 million a year for FYs 2003–2011. (Section 406(g))

The Senate amendment consolidates funding for Puerto Rico's nutrition assistance block grant and American Samoa's nutrition assistance grant and establishes the consolidated "mandatory" grant through FY2006. The base consolidated grant amount would be $1.356 billion (FY2002), which would then be adjusted for food-price inflation using changes in the cost of the Thrifty Food Plan starting with FY2003. Under the terms of the consolidated grant, Puerto Rico would receive 99.6 percent of the annual total. Of the amount paid to Puerto Rico in FY2002, up to $6 million could be used to pay for upgrading and modernizing electronic data processing systems, implementing systems to simplify eligibility determinations, and operating electronic benefit transfer systems without regard to the regular 50 percent administrative cost matching requirement. Not later than 270 days after enactment, the Senate amendment requires the GAO to develop and submit a report to Congress that: describes the similarities and differences (in program administration, rules, benefits, and requirements) between the regular Food Stamp program and Puerto Rico's nutrition assistance program; specifies the costs and savings associated with each similarity and difference; and? states the recommendation of the GAO as to whether additional funding should be provided to carry out Puerto Rico's nutrition assistance program. Effective on the date of submission of the report, it authorizes additional appropriations for the new consolidated nutrition assistance block grant at a level of $50 million a year.

Under the terms of the consolidated grant, American Samoa would receive .4 percent of the annual total. (Section 439)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a number of amendments: authorizing the consolidated grant through FY2007; deleting reference to the report and authorization for appropriations; increasing the base consolidated grant amount by (approximately $10 million per year for Puerto Rico) to $1.401 billion in FY2003; allowing carryover of up to two-percent of funds; allowing the one-time authority to use $6 million for upgrading and modernizing electronic data processing systems, implementing systems to simplify eligibility determinations, and operating electronic benefit transfer systems without regard to the regular 50 percent administrative cost matching requirement, in either FY2002, FY2003 or in both years. (Section 4124)

(13) Authorization of Appropriations: Assistance for Community Food Projects

The House bill extends the authority for community food project grants through FY2011 and increases the amount reserved to $7.5 million a year, beginning in FY2002. (Section 406)

The Senate amendment extends the authority for community food project grants through FY2006; and maintains the amount reserved at $2.5 million a year. It also increases the federal share of projects' costs to 75 percent.

The Senate amendment broadens the list of projects that must be given preference by: modifying the 4th preference category to projects that encourage long-term planning activities and multi-system, interagency approaches with multi-stakeholder collaborations, that build the long-term capacity of communities to address their food and agriculture problems (such as food policy councils and food planning associations); and adding a 5th preference category of projects that meet (through grants not exceeding $25,000 each) specific neighborhood, local, or state food and agriculture needs including: needs for infrastructure improvement and development (purchase of equipment for production, handling, or marketing of locally produced food), needs for planning for long-term solutions, or needs for the creation of innovative marketing activities that mutually benefit farmers and low-income consumers. (Section 440)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with amendments to increase funding for the projects to $5 million per year, extend the authority for community food project grants through FY2007, and add additional language describing other purposes for community food projects which must meet specific state, local, or neighborhood food and agriculture needs, including needs for infrastructure improvement and development; planning for long-term solutions; or, the creation of innovative marketing activities that mutually benefit agricultural producers and low-income consumers.

The Conference substitute includes language from former Senate section 443 ("Innovative Programs for Addressing Common Community Problems") as a new subsection (h) and provides funding for additional years such that not later than 90 days after enactment, and on October 1 of each of fiscal years 2003 through 2007, the Secretary must allocate $200,000 out of the funds made available under this section, to implement subsection (h), and to remain available until expended. The Conference language permits the Secretary in selecting a non-governmental organization (NGO) to carry out this provision to either contract with that NGO or provide a grant to that NGO indicating the responsibilities to be completed for the $200,000. (Section 4125)

As was the case with the Senate amendment, the Managers intend that the NGO selected by the Secretary to carry out this subsection shall: be experienced in gathering relevant information about successful innovative programs; be experienced in working with other targeted entities (NGOs, federal agencies, states, and political subdivisions) and be experienced in providing information about such innovative programs; and be experienced in operating a national information clearinghouse. In addition, the Managers intend that the NGO selected under subsection (h) shall contribute in-kind resources toward implementation of any contract or grant and should be prepared to coordinate with targeted entities and with the Community Food Security Coalition.

(14) Authorization of Appropriations: Availability of Commodities for Emergency Food Assistance Programs

The House bill extends the requirement to purchase commodities for The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP) through FY2011 and increases to $140 million a year through FY2011 the amount of commodities the Secretary must purchase for TEFAP. Beginning in FY2002, the House bill requires the Secretary to use $10 million a year of the TEFAP funds to pay for direct and indirect costs related to processing, storing, transporting, and distributing commodities, including gleaned commodities. (Section 406(i))

The Senate amendment extends the requirement to purchase commodities for TEFAP through FY2006 and increases the amount reserved for TEFAP to $110 million a year for FY2002–2006. The provision setting aside $10 million a year is the same as the House bill, but through FY2006. (Section 441)

The Conference substitute adopts the House funding level of $140 million a year with an amendment extending the purchasing requirement through FY2007, eliminating the $10 million a year set-aside, and increasing the authorization of appropriations from $50 million to $60 million a year for direct and indirect costs related to processing, storing, transporting, and distributing commodities, including gleaned commodities. (Section 4126)

SUBTITLE B—COMMODITY DISTRIBUTION

(15) Distribution of Surplus Commodities to Special Nutrition Projects

The House bill extends this requirement through FY2011. (Section 441)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the commodity distribution program through FY2006. (Section 451(c))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to reauthorize the program through FY2007. (Section 4203)

(16) Commodity Supplemental Food Program

The House bill reauthorizes the commodity supplemental food program through FY2011. (Section 442)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes the commodity supplemental food program through FY2006. (Section 451(a))

The Senate amendment also replaces the current rule limiting administrative payments to 20 percent of the Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) appropriation with a requirement for "grants per caseload slot." The amendment requires the Secretary to provide each state CSFP agency (from discretionary funds for the current year or carried over) an administrative grant per assigned caseload slot, as follows: for FY2003, the grant would be $50 per assigned caseload slot adjusted for the percentage change in the state and local government price index of the Bureau of Economic Analysis between the 12-month period ending June 30, 2001, and the 12-month period ending June 30, 2002. For later years, the per-slot grant would be adjusted in the same manner. (Section 451(b))

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with amendments reauthorizing the program through FY2007; requiring the Secretary to use the FY2001 fiscal year grant-per-assigned slot as the baseline from which the administrative cost grant per assigned caseload slot is calculated, rather than using $50 as the base; requiring the Secretary to spend the amount necessary to permit all states that began to participate in the Commodity Supplemental Food Program in the FY2000 caseload cycle to participate at a caseload level not less than their originally assigned caseload through the FY2002 caseload cycle, as determined by the Secretary. Funding from the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) is provided to permit the Secretary to alleviate an unusual situation that has arisen in two states that have recently implemented the CSFP. This is a one-time emergency use of CCC funds and is not intended as a precedent for drawing on the CCC to supplement appropriations for the CSFP. (Section 4201)

(17) Emergency Food Assistance

The House bill reauthorizes TEFAP administrative cost appropriations through FY2011

and revises the definition of costs to be covered to include the costs to the states related to the processing, storage, transporting, and distributing commodities. (Section 443)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes TEFAP administrative cost appropriations through FY2006 and revises the definition of costs to be covered to include the costs to the states related to the processing, storage, transporting, and distributing commodities. (Section 451(d))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to reauthorize TEFAP administrative costs through FY2007. (Section 4204)

SUBTITLE C—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

(18) Hunger Fellowship Program

The House bill establishes an independent agency of the Legislative Branch of the U.S. government, the Congressional Hunger Fellowships Program. (Section 461)

The Senate amendment establishes a Congressional Hunger Fellowship. This formalizes an internship program already being carried out by the Congressional Hunger Center and funded under annual appropriations bills. (Section 462)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision but deletes a reference to "a commitment to social change" as a required attribute for fellows. In addition, it directs the program to make available to the General Accounting Office the salaries of the Executive Director and personnel, in addition to the other materials already included, to carry out audits. (Section 4404)

(19) General Effective Date

The House bill designates that the amendments made by this title shall take effect on October 1, 2002, unless otherwise specified. (Section 462)

The Senate amendment designates that the amendments made by this title shall take effect on September 1, 2002, except that a state agency may elect to implement any or all of the amendments on October 1, 2002. (Section 464)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Section 4405)

(20) Payment limitations; Nutrition and Commodity Programs

The Senate amendment increases the cap on the amount that may be claimed as an excess shelter expense deduction. For FY2003, the cap would be $390 a month for the 48 states and the District of Columbia, $624 for Alaska, $526 for Hawaii, $458 for Guam, and $307 for the Virgin Islands. For FY2004–FY2009, amounts would be annually adjusted for changes in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U). Effective, FY2010, the cap is eliminated. (Section 169(c)(2))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(21) Encouragement of Payment of Child Support

The Senate amendment permits states to (1) exclude completely from a household's counted income any legally obligated child support payments made by a household member (before calculating any deductions) or (2) continue to deduct them in the calculation of net income (as under current law). Regardless of a state's exclusion or deduction choice, the Senate amendment requires the Secretary to establish simplified procedures that allow a state option to determine the amount of child support paid. These must include procedures that permit states to rely on information from state child support enforcement agencies about payments made in prior months in lieu of obtaining current information from the household. The amendment also allows states to freeze the amount of any child support payment exclusion or deduction until the eligibility of the household is re-determined. (Section 411)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a technical amendment and an amendment that deletes the state option to freeze the amount of child support payment exclusion or deduction. In addition, states are allowed to rely on information from child support enforcement agencies about payments made in prior months. (Section 4101)

(22) Simplified Determination of Housing Costs

The Senate amendment mandates that states treat any required payment to a landlord as a housing or shelter cost when determining a household's shelter expenses for application of the excess shelter expense deduction. The payments are included without regard to the specific charges they cover. It also permits states to allow homeless households not receiving free shelter throughout the month to choose a standard shelter deduction from income (set by law at $143 a month) in lieu of any excess shelter expense deduction. States could deny this deduction to households with extremely low shelter costs. Homeless households would continue to be permitted to choose the regular excess shelter expense deduction that is based on actual shelter costs. (Section 414)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that strikes the section mandating that states treat any required payment to a landlord as a housing or shelter cost when determining a household's shelter expenses for application of the excess shelter expense deduction. It does, however, permit states to allow homeless households not receiving free shelter throughout the month to receive a standard deduction from income in lieu of any excess shelter expense deduction.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision that allows all required payments to landlords to count as eligible shelter costs for the purpose of calculating a food stamp excess shelter expense deduction. The Secretary should review current rules governing allowable shelter costs and their implementation and identify any means, within existing authority, to modify or communicate these rules in a manner that makes the determination of eligible shelter costs less complicated and error prone for food stamp participants and eligibility workers. (Section 4105)

(23) Simplified Utility Allowances

The Senate amendment allows states choosing to make standard utility allowances (SUAs) mandatory to do so without regard to the current metered public housing and prorating rules. SUAs could be used in lieu of actual costs for all households incurring a heating or cooling expense and covered by a mandatory SUA without having to determine their utility metering status or prorated expenses. (Section 415)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4104)

(24) Simplified Procedure for Determination of Earned Income

The Senate amendment allows states to elect to determine monthly-earned income by multiplying weekly income by 4 and bi-weekly income by 2. The amendment requires states making this election to adjust the earned income deduction (normally 20 percent of earnings) downward for all households with earnings to the extent necessary to prevent the election from resulting in increased benefit costs consistent with standards promulgated by the Secretary. (Section 416)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(25) Simplified Determination of Deductions

The Senate amendment establishes a state option to disregard most types of changes in household circumstances that affect the amount of those deductions until the next determination of eligibility. The amendment makes clear that states are not permitted to disregard (1) any reported change in residence or (2) under standards prescribed by the Secretary, any change in earned income. (Section 417)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. States will be able to disregard changes in: household size; the costs for dependent care; the amount of child support payments; medical expenses for elderly or disabled individuals; and shelter costs, unless they were the result of a move. (Section 4106)

(26) Simplified Definition of Resources

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to promulgate regulations under which a state may exclude any types of financial resources that it does not consider when determining eligibility for cash assistance under its TANF program, or medical assistance under its Medicaid program. This authority would not allow the exclusion of cash, vehicles (except to the extent states already are allowed to use their TANF standard to exclude vehicles), and readily available amounts in any account in a financial institution, or any similar type of resource the Secretary judges essential to equitable determinations of eligibility. The intent of this provision is to align with, to the extent possible, Medicaid and TANF rules. The Secretary will only count types of resources that are required by law or judged to be absolutely essential to equitable determinations of eligibility in the food stamp program. (Section 418)

The Senate amendment also adds households with disabled members to those covered by the current $3,000 liquid asset limit applied to the elderly. (Section 171(c)(1))

The House bill contains no comparable provisions.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provisions. (Section 4107)

(27) Alternative Issuance Systems in Disasters

The Senate amendment allows the Secretary to adjust issuance systems in disaster situations to take into account any conditions that make reliance on EBT systems impracticable, effectively permitting the issuance of cash or other forms of benefits. (Section 419)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4108)

The Managers expect the authority provided in this section for alternative issuances in disaster programs will only be used in the most extreme circumstances, after the Secretary, working with the state, has exhausted all other means of benefit delivery and determined that electronic systems cannot be restored in a timely fashion and that the use of food coupons is impractical.

(28) State Option to Reduce Reporting Requirements

The Senate amendment allows states to establish semi-annual reporting requirements for any household, independent of the presence of earners or other characteristics. However, households required to report less often than once each 3 months are required to report, in a manner prescribed by the Secretary, if their income exceeds the food stamp gross income eligibility limit (130 percent of the federal poverty income guidelines). (Section 420)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4109)

(29) Benefits for Adults Without Dependents

The Senate amendment changes the "3-months-out-of-36 months" rule to make able-bodied adults without dependents (ABAWDs) ineligible if, during the preceding 24 months they received benefits for 6 months while not meeting work-related requirements. ABAWDS ineligible under this new "6-months-out-of-24-months" rule may become eligible during any period in which they work 20+ hours a week, participate in a work program 20+ hours a week, or participate in a workforce program. In implementing the new "6-months-out-of-24-months" rule, states are required to disregard any period before enactment during which an individual received food stamps.

The Senate amendment changes the definition of a qualifying work program to include job search or job search training programs if (1) they meet standards set by the Secretary to ensure that participants are continuously and actively seeking private-sector employment and (2) no position is available for the participant in another employment or training program. (Section 421)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(30) Preservation of Access to Electronic Benefits

The Senate amendment requires that no benefits provided through EBT systems be taken "off-line" (or otherwise made inaccessible) because of inactivity until at least 180 days have elapsed since the recipient household last accessed the account. Where benefits are taken off-line or made inaccessible, it requires that the household be sent a notice that explains how to reactivate benefits and offers assistance if the household is having difficulty doing so. These requirements apply to states as they enter into EBT contracts. (Section 422)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(31) Cost Neutrality for Electronic Benefit Transfer Systems

The Senate amendment eliminates the current requirement that EBT systems not cost the federal government more than the prior paper issuance systems. (Section 423)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4110)

The Managers encourage the Department to continue its cost containment and competition efforts and its efforts to work with the states on this issue. Information about these efforts will be provided in the report detailed in Section 4110.

(32) Alternative Procedures for Residents of Certain Groups' Facilities

The Senate amendment provides a state option that allows the provision of an inflation-adjusted standardized monthly benefit to residents of group homes, rather than going through the individualized benefit calculation for each resident. The group homes that are eligible include those for the disabled; shelters for battered women/children or the homeless, and substance abuse treatment centers. Recipients' benefits are calculated according to standardized procedures established by the Secretary and take into account benefits typically received by recipients in these group living facilities.

States shall issue benefits to the facility (as an authorized representative), and the Secretary shall establish procedures to ensure that the facility does not receive a greater proportion of a recipient's monthly benefits than the proportion of the month during which the recipient lived there.

Group living facilities are required to (1) notify the state when a recipient departs and (2) notify the recipient that the recipient is eligible for continued benefits and should contact the state about continuation of benefits.

On receiving notification that a recipient has departed a group living facility, the state is required to issue the recipient a benefit allotment covering the remainder of the month (calculated in a manner prescribed by the Secretary) unless the recipient re-applies for food stamps or the state cannot locate the recipient. The state also is permitted to issue a benefit allotment for the month following departure calculated under the standardized procedures used to set the amount received while the departed recipient lived in the group living facility. Recipients who have left group facilities and re-apply for food stamps will have their benefits determined under regular food stamp rules. (Section 424)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to convert this provision to a pilot program that tests, at the request of a state agency or state agencies, the feasibility of the alternative procedures for determining allotments for residents of groups living in certain group facilities. If an insufficient number of pilot projects are proposed by state agencies or the Secretary concludes that this is not in the best interest of the food stamp program, the Secretary must inform the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry and the House Committee on Agriculture, and will not implement this provision nationwide. (Section 4112)

(33) Redemption of Benefits Through Group Living Arrangements

The Senate amendment allows the Secretary to authorize group living facilities to redeem food stamp benefits through direct use of EBT cards, if they are equipped with "point-of-sale" devices. This provision allows authorized group living facilities to continue a practice they have been carrying out using waiver authority. (Section 425)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4113)

(34) Availability of Food Stamp Program Applications on the Internet

The Senate amendment requires states to make food stamp applications available on their agencies' Internet websites in each language in which printed applications are available. (Section 426)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to change the effective date for this provision to 18 months after enactment of this Act. Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act requires state agencies to make their web sites accessible to people with disabilities. The requirement includes ensuring that documents are in a format in which browsers for the visually impaired can read them, and that they can be converted to Braille documents; that graphic elements that convey meaning have text explanations available; and that English language text is also available in other languages, as appropriate. Many states have already adopted standards that comply with this requirement. States should, therefore, not incur additional costs to put their food stamp application forms on their web sites. (Section 4114)

(36) Simplified Determinations of Continuing Eligibility

The Senate amendment provides for procedures for re-determining recipient households' continuing eligibility that are consistent with re-determination procedures in other programs serving low-income families. It replaces assigned certification periods and the rules governing recertification with new "eligibility review periods" under which states periodically review the eligibility status of recipient households. Eligibility review periods are up to 12 months (or 24 months if all adult household members are elderly or disabled), and states are required to have at least 1 contact with each household every 12 months. Eligibility review periods are not necessarily assigned to each household when their eligibility is established. Instead, states are mandated to periodically require each household to cooperate in a re-determination of eligibility. Each re-determination is based on information supplied by the household and has to conform to standards established by the Secretary, and the interval between redeterminations cannot exceed 12 or 24 months. Where households are found ineligible (or eligible for a reduced amount) in their re-determination, they can continue to receive benefits until the conclusion of any fair hearing process. (Section 427)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(37) Clearinghouse for Successful Nutrition Education Efforts

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to (1) ask states for descriptions of successful nutrition education programs for the food stamp and other nutrition assistance programs, (2) make them available on the Agriculture Department's website, and (3) inform states of their availability on the website. (Section 428)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. In March 2002, the U.S. Department of Agriculture unveiled a Website that features a clearinghouse for nutrition education efforts described in the Senate amendment.

(38) Delivery to Retailers of Notices of Adverse Action

The Senate amendment permits notices of adverse action against retailers to be delivered by any form of delivery that the Secretary determines will provide evidence of delivery. (Section 430)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4117)

(39) Improvement of Calculation of State Performance Measures

The Senate amendment changes the deadline for completion of error-rate determinations and arbitration of state-federal differences to May 31st; it also changes the deadline for the determination of final error rates and claims against states to June 30th. (Section 432)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4119)

(40) Coordination of Program Information Efforts

The Senate amendment permits states to use Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) funds to conduct food stamp information informational activities. (Section 436)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

The Managers understand that, to further the purposes of TANF, it is current policy to allow states to use TANF (and "maintenance of effort") funds for food stamp informational activities directed to families, long as they do not also charge these same costs to the food stamp program. The Managers expect the Secretary and the Secretary of Health and Human Services to issue guidance that clearly informs states of this policy.

(41) Expanded Grant Authority

The Senate amendment extends the Secretary's waiver authority to cover any and all contracts and grants authorized under this section. (Section 437)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4123)

(42) Access and Outreach Pilot Programs

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to make grants to states and other entities to pay the federal share (75 percent) of the cost of projects to improve access to food stamp benefits or outreach to eligible individuals. It authorizes appropriations totaling $3 million for FY2003-FY2005 for pilot programs and requires the Secretary to evaluate funded projects, but limits spending on evaluations to no more than 10 percent of funds made available. Criteria for selecting grantees are to be developed by the Secretary and include a record of serving low-income individuals, ability to reach hard-to-serve populations, innovative proposals in the application, and the development of public-private partnerships and community linkages. Preference is required for project partnerships between states and private/public entities (e.g., food banks, community-based organizations, public schools and health clinics, nonprofit health or welfare agencies). At least 1 grantee has to be selected from each Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) region and additional rural or urban areas chosen by the Secretary. The Secretary is not required to select grantees where an insufficient number of applications have been received. (Section 438)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute combines Section 405 of the House Bill with Section 438 of the Senate amendment, as described in Section 4116: "Grants for simple application and eligibility determination systems and improved access to benefits."

(43) Use of Approved Food Safety Technology

The Senate amendment bars the Secretary from prohibiting the use of "any technology that has been approved by the Secretary or the Secretary of Health and Human Services" in acquiring commodities for distribution through TEFAP, the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR), the Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP), and programs under the Richard B.

Russell National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act. This bar is effective on enactment. (Section 442)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a technical amendment that clarifies that the Secretary cannot prohibit the use of any technology to improve food safety that has been approved or is otherwise allowed by the Secretary or the Secretary of Health and Human Services. In implementing this provision, the Secretary is not expected to set aside established, well-founded procurement practices. (Section 4201)

The Managers expect the Secretary to continue to make commodity purchases, taking into consideration the acceptability by recipients of products purchased and considering the relative costs of products available for purchase.

(44) Innovative Programs Addressing Common Community Problems

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to offer a contract to a non-governmental organization to coordinate with federal agencies, states, political subdivisions, and nongovernmental organizations ("targeted entities") to develop, and recommend to the targeted entities, innovative programs for addressing "common community problems" including loss of farms, rural poverty, welfare dependency, hunger, the need for job training, juvenile crime prevention, and individuals' and communities' need for self-sufficiency. The organization must be selected competitively and must (1) be experienced in working with targeted entities and organizing workshops that demonstrate programs to targeted entities, (2) be experienced in identifying programs that effectively address "common community problems," (3) agree to contribute in-kind resources and provide targeted entities information free of charge, (4) be experienced in and capable of receiving information from (and communicating with) targeted entities throughout the U.S., and (5) be experienced in operating a national information clearinghouse that addresses "common community problems." It also makes available to the Secretary mandatory funding totaling $400,000 to carry out the contract in two installments effective on enactment.

This Senate provision was based in part on a project (called "Reinvesting in America") in which a non-profit group headquartered in New York, called World Hunger Year, gathered information about successful innovative local programs and then advised other NGOs, communities, or city, state or federal agencies (targeted entities) about these successful projects and about how to replicate them. This turned out to be a very efficient approach because other communities or agencies would be aware of the lessons learned by the community that originated the idea. World Hunger Year held "replication workshops" in which they advised these targeted entities about how to replicate those successful programs in other areas. World Hunger Year officials also provided information about some of these programs to the Community Food Security Coalition and to federal Departments. (Section 443)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision. The Conference substitute includes a variation of this provision in House Section 440, as described in Section 4125.

(45) Report on Use of Electronic Benefit Transfer Systems

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to submit a report to Congress on (1) difficulties relating to use of EBT systems,

(2) the extent of fraud and the types of fraud that exist, and (3) the efforts being made by the Secretary, retailers, EBT contractors, and states to address difficulties and fraud in EBT systems. The report is due no later than one year after enactment. (Section 444)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that changes the elements to be included in the report. The report will include: a description of the status of statewide EBT implementation in the food stamp program; an indication of the number of vendors that currently hold an EBT-related contract with the states; information on the number of states that are working with multiple vendors and a description of how responsibilities are divided among the various vendors and other organizations within a given state; an explanation of the reasons any state is not operational statewide by October 1, 2002, how these issues are being addressed, and the expected date for statewide EBT operations; a description of the issues faced by any states that have awarded a second EBT contract in the last two years and the steps taken to resolve them; a description of the issues faced by any states that will award a second EBT contract within the next two years and strategies they are considering to address these issues; initiatives being considered or taken by USDA, food retailers, EBT vendors, and client advocates to address any outstanding issues with respect to EBT systems; and an examination of areas of potential advances in electronic benefit delivery in the next 5-10 years including but not limited to access to electronic benefits in farmers' markets, increased use of EBT transaction data to identify and prosecute fraud, and the fostering of increased EBT vendor competition to ensure cost-containment and optimal service. (Section 4111)

(46) Vitamin and Mineral Supplements

The Senate amendment adds dietary supplements that "provide exclusively 1 or more vitamins or minerals" to the food items that may be purchased with food stamp benefits.

Not later than April 1, 2003, the amendment requires the Secretary to contract with a scientific research organization to study and develop a report on technical issues, economic impacts, and health effects associated with allowing individuals to use food stamp benefits to purchase dietary vitamin-mineral supplements. The report is to be submitted to the Secretary no later than 2 years after the contract is entered into. The Senate amendment authorizes $3 million for the report. At a minimum, the report is to examine: the extent to which problems arise in the purchase of vitamin-mineral supplements with EBT cards; the extent of any difficulties in distinguishing vitamin-mineral supplements from herbal and botanical supplements (for which food stamp benefits may not be used); whether recipients spend more on vitamin-mineral supplements than non-recipients; the extent to which vitamin-mineral supplements are substituted for other foods purchased with food stamp benefits; the proportion of the average food stamp allotment that is being used to purchase vitamin-mineral supplements; and the extent to which the quality of recipients' diets has changed as the result of allowing them to use food stamp benefits to purchase vitamin-mineral supplements. (Section 445)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(47) Partial Restoration of Benefits to Legal Immigrants

The Senate amendment makes legal permanent residents under age 18 eligible for food stamps without regard to date of entry. It also exempts them from requirements that their sponsors' financial resources be deemed to them in determining food stamp eligibility. The Senate amendment also reduces the work history requirement for legal permanent residents' eligibility for food stamps to 16 quarters (4 years); removes the 7-year limit on eligibility for refugees and people seeking asylum, Cuban/Haitian entrants, certain aliens whose deportation is being withheld for humanitarian reasons, and Vietnam-born Americans fathered by U.S. citizens; and makes eligible legal permanent residents receiving government disability benefits regardless of date of entry so long as they meet any non citizen test applied by the program under which they receive benefits. (Section 452)

Effective April 1, 2003, the Senate amendment makes eligible individuals who have continuously resided in the U.S. as "qualified aliens" for a period of 5 years or more beginning on the date on which the qualified alien entered the U.S. However, eligibility based on this new 5-year residence rule would not apply in the case of an alien who enters the country illegally and remains illegally for a period of one year or more (or has been an "illegal alien" for one year or more) unless the alien has continuously resided in the U.S. for a period of 5 years or more as of the "date of enactment." (Section 170(b) and (c))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that eliminates the provision that restricts application of the new 5-year residence rule by denying it to aliens who enter the country illegally and remain illegally for a period of one year or more. The substitute also eliminates the provision that changes the work history requirement provision for legal permanent residents' from 40 quarters (in current law) to 16 quarters and the removal of the 7-year limit on the length of time that refugees and people seeking asylum may participate in the program. The Managers note that application of the new 5-year residence rule to refugees and asylees has the same effect as lifting the 7-year limit. (Section 4401)

(48) Commodities for School Lunch Programs

The Senate amendment extends, until FY2004, provisions of current law that remove a mandate that any "bonus" commodities acquired for agricultural support purposes and donated to schools be counted toward a minimum requirement that 12 percent of all school lunch assistance be in the form of commodities. The provision, therefore, mandates that only entitlement commodities count toward the 12 percent requirement through FY2003. (Section 453)

The House bill contains no comparable provisions.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4301)

(49) Eligibility for Free and Reduced-Price School Meals: Military Housing

Effective on enactment and through FY2003, the Senate amendment requires that, in cases where military personnel live in "privatized" housing, their housing allowance not be counted as income in determining eligibility for free and reduced-price school meals. (Section 454)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4302)

(50) Eligibility for Assistance Under the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program From Women, Infants, and Children

Effective on enactment, the Senate amendment adds an option for states to exclude any housing allowance in cases in which military personnel live in "privatized" housing whether on base or off base. (Section 455)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4306)

(51) Report on Conversion of the WIC Program Into an Individual Entitlement Program

The Senate amendment requires, no later than December 31, 2002, a report from the Secretary to the House Committee on Education and the Workforce and the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry that analyzes the conversion of the WIC program from a discretionary program into an individual entitlement program. It also requires the Secretary to use funds made available to carry out the WIC program to fund the cost of the report. (Section 456)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate amendment.

The Managers expect that, in preparation for child nutrition programs' reauthorization in FY2003, the Department will work with the Congressional Budget Office, the Office of Management and Budget and others to review the current WIC funding approach and alternative approaches to ensure an appropriate level of funding is available throughout the fiscal year. Also in preparation for this legislation, the Managers encourage the continued development, refinement, and testing of a national standard for WIC electronic benefit transfer (EBT) transactions. The Managers encourage the completion of work on a national standard for WIC EBT transactions prior to WIC reauthorization.

In addition, the Managers understand that several states differentiate between 100 percent fruit juice and blended 100 percent fruit juices in formulating an approved WIC list. The Managers are aware that a number of factors are considered by a state when selecting products for its approved WIC list. The Managers encourage states not to limit the availability of eligible food choices of WIC participants, and strongly urge states to evaluate objectively the merits of WIC-eligible food products. The Managers encourage the Department to provide guidance to the states, making them aware that blended 100 percent fruit juices are permissible WIC products.

(52) Use of Commodities for Domestic Feeding Programs

The Senate amendment provides that, notwithstanding any provision of law concerning commodity donations, any commodities acquired in the conduct of CCC operations and any "Section 32" commodities may be used for any domestic feeding program involving acquisition and use of commodities. This authority applies to the extent that the commodities involved are in excess of quantities needed to carry out other obligations (including quantities otherwise reserved for a specific purpose). The domestic feeding programs covered by this authority include TEFAP, and programs authorized under the Richard B. Russell National School Lunch Act, the Child Nutrition Act, the Older Americans Act, or other laws the Secretary determines appropriate. (Section 457)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 4202)

The Managers recognize that, under current law, the source of funding for the purchase of a particular commodity can limit the eligible recipient programs. As a result, distribution of commodities to the Department's School Nutrition Programs and other domestic programs has sometimes been difficult or prevented entirely. The limitation in the current law has stymied the two-fold purposes of commodity purchases—to support American agriculture and to provide nutritious foods through our domestic feeding programs. For purposes of this distribution authority, the Managers consider eligible excess commodities to be those that are purchased by the Commodity Credit Corporation or by the Secretary and remain available after all other authorized distributions, including distribution of specific quantities reserved for specific purposes, have been satisfied. This section allows more efficient, expeditious and direct distribution of excess commodities by expanding the Secretary's existing distribution authorities.

(53) Purchase of Locally Produced Foods

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to: encourage institutions participating in the School Lunch and Breakfast programs to purchase locally produced foods, to the maximum extent practicable and appropriate and in addition to other food purchases; advise these institutions of the locally produced food policy; and provide start-up grants to up to 200 institutions to defray initial costs of equipment, materials, storage facilities, and similar costs incurred in carrying out the locally produced food policy. Also it authorizes appropriations of $400,000 a year for FY2002-FY2006. (Section 458)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision.

The intent of the Managers is to authorize the Secretary to award modest start-up grants for equipment, materials and similar costs associated with purchasing locally produced foods. It is not the intent to create a geographical preference for purchases of locally produced foods or purchases made with grant funds. All purchases are to be made competitively, consistent with federal procurement laws and regulations.

The Conference substitute also includes an amendment that treats Puerto Rico in the same way as Hawaii is treated under the Buy America provision in the National School Lunch Act. It extends, to the extent practicable, an advantage of domestic grown or produced products over foreign products, to Puerto Rico for purposes of the School Lunch Program. The Buy America provision originally applied only to the 48 contiguous states with the later addition of Hawaii.

The Managers want to make clear that school food authorities are still required to follow federal procurement rules calling for free and open competition and limit local product purchases to those that are practicable. Furthermore, while products from Puerto Rico will have an advantage over foreign products, this provision will not give an advantage to products produced or grown in one of the 48 contiguous states or Hawaii. (Section 4303)

(54) WIC Farmers' Market Nutrition Program

The Senate amendment makes available an additional $15 million in mandatory funding for the WIC farmers' market nutrition program no later than 30 days after enactment. (Section 460)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment providing that funding for the program is made available out of the Commodity Credit Corporation. This emergency allocation of CCC funding to the WIC farmers' market nutrition program is made to meet a one-time shortfall and is not intended to set a precedent for the use of CCC resources to support the WIC farmers' market nutrition program. (Section 4307)

(55) Fruit and Vegetable Pilot Program

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to use "Section 32" funds to conduct a pilot program to make free fruits and vegetables available to students in 25 schools in each of four states and students in schools on one Indian reservation, in the 2002-2003 school year. It also requires an evaluation of the pilot to determine whether students take advantage, whether interest increased or lessened over time, and what effect the pilot has on vending machine sales and sales of school meals. The Secretary is required to use $200,000 in "Section 32" funds to carry out the evaluation. The evaluation is to be conducted through the Economic Research Service and submitted to the House Committee on Education and the Workforce and the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry not later than one year after implementation of the pilot program. (Section 461)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with amendments: The pilot will begin in July 2002 and last one year; free fresh and dried fruits and fresh vegetables will be made available throughout the school day in one or more areas designated by the school; not later than one year after the implementation of the pilot program, the Secretary (acting through the Economic Research Service) shall report to the Committee on Education and the Workforce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate, the results of the pilot program; $6 million of Section 32 funds shall be made available to carry out this pilot program. (Section 4305)

The Managers agree that the intent of the pilot program is to determine the feasibility of carrying out such a program and its success as determined by the students' interest in participating in the program. The Managers encourage USDA to work with the schools to collect information on the types of schools that ultimately participate in the program, how schools choose to implement the program (including information on whether or not they incorporate nutrition education), and reasons for different implementation approaches. The Department is encouraged to find out from the schools about lessons learned and whether or not (and why) they are interested in continuing to participate in a similar program. To the extent practical, the Department is also asked to find out from teachers and/or students about students' attitudes and actual behavior over the course of time. The Managers recommend the selection of the following four states to participate in the pilot: Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Ohio. The Secretary will select the Indian reservation and the schools within each of the states that will participate in the pilot project.

(56) Nutrition Information and Awareness Pilot Program

The Senate amendment authorizes the Secretary to establish—in not more than 15 states—a pilot program to increase domestic consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables and convey related health messages. It authorizes appropriations of $25 million a year for FY2002-FY2006. The federal share of project costs is 50 percent and funds are not available to any foreign for-profit corporation. Where practicable, the amendment requires the Secretary to: establish the program in states where production of fresh fruits and vegetables is a significant industry; and base the program on "strategic initiatives," including health promotion and education interventions, public service and paid marketing activities, and health promotion and social marketing campaigns. In selecting states, the Senate amendment requires the Secretary to take into account the state's experience in: carrying out similar activities and its ability to be innovative, conduct marketing campaigns to promote produce consumption, track increases in levels of produce consumption, and to optimize the availability of produce. (Section 463)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with amendments: establishing in not more than 5 states, and for a period not to exceed 4 years for each participating state, a pilot program for the purpose of increasing the domestic consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables and conveying related health promotion messages; funds may not be used to disparage any other agricultural commodities and funds made available to states under this program may not be provided by a state to any foreign for-profit corporation; regarding the Secretary selecting states to participate in the program, the funds may be used to enhance existing state programs that are consistent with the purposes of this section, and the Secretary shall take into consideration states' experience in carrying out similar projects or activities, innovative approaches, and the ability of the state to promote and track increases in levels of produce consumption; participating states shall establish eligibility criteria under which the states may select public and private sector entities to carry out demonstration projects under this program; authorizing to be appropriated $10 million per fiscal year 2002 through 2007 to carry out this section. (Section 4403)

TITLE V—CREDIT

(1) Eligibility of Limited Liability Companies for Farm Ownership Loans, Farm Operating Loans, and Emergency Loans

The House bill includes limited liability companies as entities eligible for USDA farmer loan programs. (Sec. 501)

The Senate amendment is identical to the House provision. (Sec. 521)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision and also includes trusts as eligible entities. (Sec. 532)

(2) Suspension of Effectiveness of Certain Provision

The House bill provides that Sec. 319(b) of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (ConAct) limiting loan eligibility of borrowers with Farm Service Agency loan guarantees will have no effect through December 31, 2006. (Section 501)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 311(c) of the ConAct by adding new provisions—(1) to require the Secretary to waive the direct OL loan eligibility limitations to a farmer or rancher who is a member of an Indian tribe and whose operation is within an Indian reservation; and (2) to authorize the Secretary, on a case-by-case basis, to grant a waiver for a direct OL loan to a borrower one time for a period of two years if the borrower demonstrates, a) he has a viable farm or ranch operation; b) he has applied for commercial credit from two commercial lenders; c) he was unable to obtain a commercial loan, including a loan guarantee; and d) he has completed successfully or will complete within one year a borrower's training course required under Sec. 359 of the ConAct. (Section 502(b))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with regard to loan eligibility under Section 319 (b) of the ConAct. (Sec. 512)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with regard to the case by case determination on the one time waiver of two years. The substitute also permits the Secretary to waive limitations with respect to direct loans for farmers and ranchers who farm land subject to the jurisdiction of an Indian Tribe, or when applicable security interests are subject to such jurisdiction, if commercial credit is not generally available. (Sec. 511)

(3) Administration of Certified Lenders and Preferred Certified Lenders Programs.

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 333A(g)(1) to increase the loan amount of the guaranteed program using a simplified short form to $100,000. (Sec. 526)

The Conference substitute sets the loan amount at $125,000. (Sec. 537)

(5) Elimination of Requirement That Secretary Require County Committees To Certify in Writing That Certain Loan Reviews Have Been Conducted

The House bill strikes Sec. 333(2) of the ConAct to remove the requirement that county committees must certify in writing annually that farmer program borrowers' business operations and credit histories have been reviewed for the borrowers to continue to be eligible for the loan program. (Sec. 505)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 333(2) by removing the requirement that local or area FSA committees must certify in writing that they have reviewed the credit histories, business operations and continued eligibility of all borrowers. The amendment retains language requiring that these annual reviews be conducted. (Sec. 525)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 536)

(6) Authority To Reduce Percentage of Loan Guaranteed if Borrower Income Is Insufficient to Service Debt

The House bill amends Sec. 339(c)(4)(A) and (d)(4)(A) of the ConAct dealing with the certified and preferred guaranteed lending program to authorize the Secretary to guarantee less than 80 percent of farm program loans even though the borrower does not show adequate income as described in current law. (Sec. 506)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision.

(7) Timing of Loan Assessments

The House bill strikes language in Sec. 360(a) of the ConAct to conform to a provision of the 1994 USDA Reauthorization Act that eliminated a requirement for the local county committee to approve a borrower's eligibility for farmer program loans. (Sec. 507)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 360(a) of the ConAct by striking the words, "established pursuant to section 332". (Sec. 552(d))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Sec. 546)

(8) Making and Servicing of Loans by Personnel of State, County or Area Committees

The House bill amends Subtitle D of the ConAct to add a new section 376 to require the Secretary to use Farm Service Agency state, area or county office employees to make and service farmer program loans if the personnel are trained to do so. This authority overrides the 90-day finality rule of FSA state, area or county office employees in Sec. 281(a)(1) of the USDA reorganization act. (Sec. 508)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 281(a)(1) of the Department of Agriculture Reorganization Act so that the finality rule does not apply to an agricultural credit decision made by a state, area or county FSA employee. (Sec. 551)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Sec. 549)

This section would enable the Secretary to employ personnel of a State, county or area committee to make and service USDA farm loans to the extent the personnel are trained to do so. The Managers believe that the Secretary should provide that these individuals have been adequately trained in these areas in a comparable manner as USDA Farm Service Agency employees with the same job responsibilities. Furthermore, the Secretary should ensure that the credit decisions of these individuals are subject to the same USDA loan review as any USDA employee making credit decisions, including internal control review, and disciplinary action to protect against the misuse of government funds.

(9) Eligibility of Employees of State, County, or Area Committees for Loans and Loan Guarantees

The House bill Amends Subtitle D of the ConAct to add a new section 377 to make eligible Farm Service Agency local county office employees and USDA employees for farmer program loans so long as a local county office other than the applicant's home office approves the loan application. (Sec. 509)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment providing that when applying for loans, local/county employees apply to the State level and State employees apply to the federal level. (Sec. 550)

This section would allow employees of a State, county or area committee to be eligible for USDA farm loans as long as these loans are approved at a higher level within the Farm Service Agency, either at the state office or national level. The Managers believe it is important for these employees, many of whom are farmers in their communities, to have access to the same farm loan programs as other producers. Nevertheless, the Managers believe that a higher level of review is appropriate to alleviate concerns regarding the eligibility of these individuals for the farm loan programs.

(10) Emergency Loans in Response to an Economic Emergency Resulting From Sharply Increasing Energy Costs

The House bill amends: (1) Sec. 321(a) of the ConAct to include among natural disasters economic disasters caused by high energy costs and crop and livestock quarantines for which farmers, ranchers or persons engaged in aquaculture may be eligible for disaster loans; (2) Sec. 323 of the ConAct to conform disasters or emergencies referred to in this section caused by plant or animal quarantines or sharply rising energy costs; (3) Sec. 329 of the ConAct by adding a new subsection (b) requiring the Secretary to make financial assistance available when energy costs for any three-month period is at

(Sec. 510)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision only on providing new authority to make emergency loans for plant or animal quarantines. (Sec. 521)

(11) Extension of Authority To Contract for Servicing of Farmer Program Loans

The House bill reauthorizes the program in Sec. 331(d) of the ConAct through 2011 to allow the Secretary to contract with regulated financial institutions to service farmer program loans under the ConAct and removes the "temporary" designation of this program. (Sec. 511)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 331 by striking subsections (d) [loan servicing pilot program for farm loans] and (e) [authority for the Secretary to use private debt collection agencies] and provides that any existing contracts are unaffected by this provision. (Sec. 523)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 534)

The House bill amends Sec. 346(b)(1) by reauthorizing the farmer loan programs at such sums as may be necessary. (Sec. 512)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 346(b)(1) of the ConAct by providing not more than $3,796,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2006.

Of the above amount in each fiscal year, $770,000,000 shall be for direct loans of which—

(1) $205,000,000 shall be for farm ownership loans; and

(2) $565,000,000 shall be for operating loans. Of the remainder of the above amount in each fiscal year, $3,026,000,000 shall be for guaranteed loans of which—

Further, in addition to funds made available under Agricultural Appropriations, the Secretary shall use $5,000,000 of funds of the CCC for fiscal year 2002 to make loans described in section 346(b)(2)(A)(i). (Sec. 529(1)(B))

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to provide the authorization from fiscal years 2002 to 2007. (Sec. 542)

gram for farmer program loan guarantees through 2011. (Sec. 514)

(Sec. 530)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that retains current law on the interest rate, but reserves 15% of funds in a fiscal year for beginning farmers and ranchers until March 1st and provides for a permanent authorization of $750 million annually. (Sec. 543)

(15) Increase in Duration of Loans under Down Payment Loan Program.

The House bill amends Sec. 310E (b)(3) of the beginning farmer and rancher down payment loan program by increasing the loan repayment period to 15 years and makes a conforming amendment to Sec. 310E (c)(3)(B). (Sec. 515)

Losses could be from mares having failed to conceive, or miscarried, aborted or otherwise failed to produce a live healthy foal. Mares could be owned by a breeder or boarded on a farm owned, operated or leased by a breeder; b) who, during the period Jan. 1, 2000, and ending on Sept. 30, 2002, were unable to meet financial obligations in connection with breeding, boarding, raising, training, or selling horses; (c) who were unable to obtain sufficient credit elsewhere (within the meaning of Sec. 321(a) of the ConAct; (4) directs the Secretary shall determine the amount of the loan based on the amount losses suffered by a breeder but a loan may not exceed $500,000; (5) directs the Secretary shall determine the duration of the loan but any loan may not exceed 15 years; (6) establishes the interest rate shall be at a rate prescribed by Sec. 324(b)(1) of the ConAct; (7) directs the Secretary shall take a security interest in the loan; (8) establishes that a breeder must submit a loan application by Sept. 30, 200; (9) directs the Secretary shall carry out this section using funds made available for the emergency loan program under subtitle C of the ConAct; and (10) establishes the authority for this loan program expires on Sept. 30, 2003. (2) The first study shall cover the one-year period that begins one year after enactment. The second study shall cover the one-year period that begins three years after enactment. (3) At the end of the period covered by each study, the Secretary shall submit reports to Congress that contains an evaluation of the results of the study, including an analysis of the effectiveness of the loan programs in meeting the credit needs of agricultural producers. (Sec. 517)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Sec. 531)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Sec. 544)

(20) Horses Considered To Be Livestock Under the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act

(21) Temporary Suspension of Foreclosure on Certain Real Property Owned by, and Recovery of Certain Payments From, Borrowers With Shared Appreciation Arrangements

The House bill directs the Secretary upon enactment of the bill and through Dec. 31, 2002, to suspend foreclosure on real property secured by a shared appreciation arrangement and not attempt to recover payments on the terms of any shared appreciation arrangement entered into between the Secretary and a borrower. (Sec. 522)

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 353(e)(7) to provide alternatives to repaying the recapture amount of a shared appreciation arrangement by—(1) financing the recapture agreement; or (2) granting the Secretary an agricultural use protection and conservation easement on the secured property which is subject to the shared appreciation arrangement.

An agricultural use protection and conservation easement shall—(1) be for all of the real security property subject to the shared appreciation arrangement in lieu of payment of the recapture amount; (2) be for a term of 25 years; (3) require that the property subject to the easement be used or conserved for agricultural or conservation purposes in accordance with sound farming and conservation practices; and (4) provide that the borrower who is financing the recapture amount may replace the financing with an agricultural use protection and conservation easement.

The amendments shall apply to a shared appreciation arrangement that—(1) matures on or after the date of enactment; or (2) matured before the date of enactment if—(a) the recapture was reamortized under sec. 353(e)(7) or (b)(1) the recapture amount had not been paid before the date of enactment because of circumstances beyond the control of the borrower; and (b)(2) the borrower acted in good faith in attempting to repay the recapture amount. (Sec. 531)

The Conference substitute provides that the Secretary may modify a recapture loan on which a payment has become delinquent by using loan servicing tools if the default was beyond the control of the borrower and the borrower acted in good faith in attempting to repay the recapture loan. A reamortized loan may not exceed 25 years from the date of the original amortization agreement or provide for reducing the outstanding principal or unpaid interest due on the loan.

The Managers expect the Secretary to review USDA appeal policies regarding appraisals used for shared appreciation agreements. The Managers expect the Secretary to establish policies that will result in the use of the most accurate appraisal of assets, including the use of independent appraisals provided on appeal by the borrower that are consistent with Federal appraisal standards.

(22) Authority To Make Business and Industry Guaranteed Loans for Farmer-Owned Projects That Add Value to or Process Agricultural Products

The House bill amends Sec. 310B(a)(1) by expanding the Secretary's loan making authority in the business and industry loan program to larger than rural communities if a majority of the project involved is owned by individuals who reside and have farming operations in rural communities and the project adds value to or processes agricultural commodities. (Sec. 523)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision.

(23) Direct Loans

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 302(b)(1) to authorize the Secretary to make direct farm ownership loans to farmers and ranchers who have "participated in the business operations of" a farm or ranch for not less than three years. (Sec. 501)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 501)

The Managers are aware of the limiting impact of the requirement for 3 years of operating experience on the eligibility of qualified beginning farmers and ranchers for farm ownership loans. The Managers intend for the Department to examine potential borrowers comprehensively in terms of their participation in the business operations of a farm or ranch, whether or not the potential borrower was the primary or senior operator. In making these determinations, the Department should ensure the borrower fully meets the training and experience requirement of section 302(a). The Department should also place considerable weight on whether the borrower has enrolled and will successfully complete the borrower training program.

(24) Financing of Bridge Loans

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 303(a)(1) to add a new purpose authorizing the refinancing of short-term temporary bridge loans made by a commercial or cooperative lender to a beginning farmer or rancher for the acquisition of a farm or ranch if—the Secretary approved an application for a direct farm ownership loan for acquisition of the land and the funds for direct farm ownership loans were not available at the time the application was approved. (Sec. 502)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to refinance bridge loans made by commercial or cooperative lenders to borrowers who have a direct ownership loan approved and for which funds are available. (Sec. 502)

(25) Limitation on Amount of Farm Ownership Loans

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 305(a) to limit the unpaid indebtedness of any borrower to the lesser of—(1) the value of the farm or other security; or (2) in the case of a direct loan to a beginning farmer or rancher $250,000 (adjusted for inflation) or $200,000 to other farmers or ranchers; or in the case of a guaranteed loan, $700,000 (adjusted for inflation and reduced by the amount of any unpaid indebtedness on guaranteed operating loans of the borrower). (Sec. 503)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(26) Joint Financing Arrangements

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 307(a)(3)(D) to require the Secretary to charge a rate of interest to beginning farmers or ranchers that is 50 basis points less than the rate charged to other farmers and ranchers on a direct loan that is part of a joint financing arrangement. (Sec. 504)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(27) Guarantee Percentage for Beginning Farmers and Ranchers

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 305(h)(6) to require the Secretary to guarantee 95 percent of a farm ownership loan to a beginning farmer or rancher participating in the down payment loan program or an operating loan to a beginning farmer or rancher who is participating in the down payment loan program during the period the borrower has an outstanding direct farm ownership loan. (Sec. 505)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(28) Guarantee of Loans Made Under State Beginning Farmer or Rancher Programs

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 309 by adding a new subsection to authorize the Secretary to guarantee loans made under a state beginning farmer or rancher program, including a loan financed by the net proceeds of a qualified small issue agricultural bond pursuant to the federal tax code. (Sec. 506)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 504)

(29) Down Payment Loan Program

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 310E (b)(1) to increase the principal amount of the down payment loan to be equal to 40 percent of the purchase price of the land acquisition. (Sec. 507(1)(A))

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 505)

The Managers are aware that on an average per dollar basis, funds used for down payment loans serve over 3 times as many borrowers as regular farm ownership loans, and thus help to stretch limited loan funds and increase new farming and ranching opportunities. The Managers encourage the Secretary to widely publicize the availability of loans under this section as amended among potentially eligible recipients of the loans, retiring farmers and ranchers, and applicants for farm ownership loans under this subtitle and to coordinate the loan program established by this section with State programs that provide farm ownership or operating loans for beginning farmers and ranchers. The Managers strongly encourage the Secretary to establish performance goals for each state with a significant volume of real estate loans under this subtitle, with a goal of attaining down payment loan volumes consistent with the loan reservation percentage for down payment loans.

(30) Beginning Farmer and Rancher Contract Land Sales Program

The Senate amendment adds a new Sec. 310F to the ConAct to require the Secretary to carry out a pilot program by Oct. 1, 2002, in at least 10 geographically dispersed states. The Secretary is required to guarantee at least five loans per state in each of the fiscal years 2003 through 2006 made by a private seller of a farm or ranch to a qualified beginning farmer or rancher on a contract land sale basis, if the loan meets the applicable underwriting standards and a commercial lending institution agrees to serve as escrow agent. The Secretary shall start the program on making a determination that guarantees of contract land sales present a risk comparable to the risk presented in the case of guarantees to commercial lenders. (Sec. 508)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment requiring a pilot program in not fewer than 5 states to guarantee loans made by a private seller to a beginning farmer or rancher on a contract land sale basis commencing once the Secretary makes a determination and authorizing the program through 2007 if it is carried out. (Sec. 506)

The Managers are aware that contract land sales are prevalent in many states and encourage the Secretary to create a pilot program for guaranteeing the financing of such contract land sales. The Managers intend for the Secretary to approve any loan guarantee under this pilot program using its normal underwriting criteria. The Managers envision that land contracts between the seller and buyer will contain a side escrow agreement that outlines the duties and responsibilities of the escrow agent.

(31) Direct Loans

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 311(c)(1)(A) to delete the requirement that a direct loan may not be made to a farmer or rancher who has operated a farm or ranch for five years or more. (Sec. 511)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 511)

(32) Amount of Guarantee of Loans for Tribal Farm Operations; Waiver of Limitations for Tribal Operations and Other Operations

The Senate amendment adds a new paragraph (7) to Sec. 309(h) requiring the Secretary to guarantee 95 percent of operating loans made to a farmer or rancher who is a member of an Indian tribe whose farm or ranch is within an Indian reservation. (Sec. 512(a))

(33) Debt Settlement

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 331(b)(4) by deleting the provision that the Secretary may not release a borrower from a debt obligation on more favorable terms than that recommended by the county committee under Sec. 332. Note: Sec. 332 was repealed by the 1994 USDA reorganization act. (Sec. 522)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to change the role of local or area Farm Service Agency committees in debt settlement to consultation only regarding a potential debt settlement agreement. (Sec. 533)

(34) Interest Rate Options for Loans in Servicing

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 331B to require the Secretary, when restructuring a farmer program loan, to charge the lowest of (1) the rate of the original loan; (2) the rate being charged when the borrower applies for restructuring the loan; or (3) the rate being charged when the borrower restructures the loan. (Sec. 524)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 535)

(35) Inventory Property

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 335(c) dealing with the sale of inventory property by—(1) providing a greater number of days that the property must be held by the Secretary and offered for sale to beginning farmers and ranchers; (2) authorizing the Secretary to bundle or parcel real estate in such ways as to maximize the sale of such real estate to beginning farmers and ranchers; (3) authorizing the Secretary to sell farm real estate that has been acquired and leased before April 4, 1996, to beginning farmers and ranchers within 60 days of the expiration of the lease arrangements; and (4) authorizing the Secretary, for purposes of farmland preservation and in consultation with the State Conservationist, to sell or grant easements, restrictions or development rights to states, political subdivisions within states or private nonprofit organizations of real estate held in inventory. (Sec. 527)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to extend the period of time inventory property must be offered to beginning farmers and ranchers and to maximize the purchase of inventory property by combining or dividing parcels of property as appropriate. (Sec. 538)

(36) Definitions

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 343(a)(11)(F) to replace the 25 percent limitation on ownership of the median ownership acreage within a county for purposes of determining a beginning farmer or rancher with a 30 percent acreage limitation. (Sec. 528(a))

The House bill contains no comparable provisions.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 540)

(37) Waiver of Borrower Training Certification Requirement

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 359(f) by authorizing the Secretary to waive the educational training requirements of Sec. 359 if the Secretary determines that the borrower demonstrates adequate knowledge in financial and farm management. The Secretary shall establish standards for this waiver that is implemented consistently in all counties. (Sec. 532)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 545)

The Managers are aware that waivers have not always been applied consistently and are concerned that in many areas waivers are exceptionally high, exceeding the 50% level. The Managers intend for the Secretary to issue clear and transparent criteria for waivers as quickly after enactment as possible and to re-assert the importance of borrower training to the success of borrowers and the effectiveness of the direct lending programs.

(38) Repeal of Burdensome Approval Requirements

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 3.1(11)(B) to delete a provision that restricts without prior approval the loan participation activities of a bank for cooperatives in the lending territory of a Farm Credit Bank or association. The Senate amendment also amends Sec. 4.18A to make conforming changes to loan participation activities of banks for cooperatives and FCS institutions that operate under separate titles of the Farm Credit Act. (Sec. 541)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 551)

The Managers understand that although this provision eliminates certain territorial concurrence requirements on Farm Credit System lenders so that lenders may participate in loan syndications or other multiple-lender arrangements for "similar entity" loans originated in other Farm Credit System geographic territories without seeking the permission of the Farm Credit System lender in that territory. Current law requires System institutions to obtain permission from one another when participating in similar entity transactions in which a commercial bank originates the loan and then sells the loan to a group of lenders (including the System institution). The change eliminates these requirements only as they pertain to similar entity loans that the System does not originate. Territorial concurrence for loans other than similar entity loans are not affected by this change. The Managers are expressing no opinion with this provision on pending litigation regarding participation regulations issued by the Farm Credit Administration on April 25, 2000.

(39) Banks for Cooperatives

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 3.7(b) of the Farm Credit Act to replace the words "farm supplies" with "agricultural supplies" and to add a definition of an agricultural supply to include farm supply, agriculture-related processing equipment, agriculture-related machinery and other capital goods related to the storage or handling of agricultural commodities or products. (Sec. 542)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Sec. 552)

(40) Insurance Corporation Premiums

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 5.55 of the Farm Credit Act to include government sponsored enterprise-guaranteed loans or credits and establishes the rate at which these loans or credits in accrual or non-accrual status are used to fund the Insurance Fund. (Sec. 543)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision and makes it applicable to calendar year 2002. (Sec. 553)

(41) Board of Directors of the Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 8.2(b) to increase the board to 17 members. The two new members of the board shall be elected by Class A (commercial banks and other financial institutions) and Class B (Farm Credit System institutions) stockholders, and the two new members shall be the chief executive officer and another executive officer of Farmer Mac. The Senate amendment also amends Sec. 8.2(b)(9) to provide for the election of the chairperson from among the board members instead of by appointment by the President. (Sec. 544)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provisions. (Sec. 561)

(43) Effective Date

The Senate amendment makes for the amendments made by this title, except for subsection (b) of this section and section 543(b), take effect on Oct. 1, 2002. (Sec. 553)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

The Senate amendment contain no comparable provision

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to provide $80 million for loan guarantees from the date of enactment through December 31, 2006, without fiscal year limitation. (Section 6404)

It is the view of the Managers that funding dedicated to providing access to signals of local television stations should be made available by the Secretary for rural broadband deployment either upon expiration of the LOCAL TV Act on December 31, 2006, or when the RUS Administrator certifies that the goals of the program have already been met.

(2) Expanded Eligibility for Value-Added Agricultural Product Market Development Grants

The House bill amends the Agricultural Risk Protection Act of 2000 to allow $60 million ($50 million plus $10 million from Sec. 943) to be used for value-added grants for each of the fiscal years 2002-2011. This section is designed to increase the participation in the Value-Added Agricultural Products Market Development Grants by allowing broader standards of eligibility for this specific grant category only so that public bodies and trade association can compete along with non-profit institutions and universities for grants designed to develop value-added products for foreign markets. Extends the current program with increased mandatory spending. (Section 602)

The Senate amendment amends ARPA, Section 231, to spend $75 million each year 2002-2006. Eligible independent producers and nonprofit entities may receive grants with a priority given to proposals requesting less than $200,000. Defines value added as undergoing a change in the physical state or produced in a manner that enhances its value to consumers. No less than 5% of the funding shall be used to assist producers of certified organic agricultural products. The Senate amendment provides 7.5% of the $75 million per year be allocated to the established Agricultural Marketing Resource Center authorized in ARPA. (Section 606)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to make technical corrections, expand eligibility, strike the priority designations and reserve, and modify funding for the established innovation center. This provision provides $40 million each fiscal year 2002 through 2007. Of this amount, five percent of the funds will be used for the Agricultural Marketing Resource Center. (Section 6401)

The Managers intend that the Department, in administering the program, will seek to fund a broad diversity of projects that help increase agricultural producers' share of the food and agricultural system profit, including projects likely to increase the profitability and viability of small and medium-sized farms and ranches. The Managers intend for the Department to consider a project's potential for creating self-employment opportunities in farming and ranching and the likelihood that the project will contribute to conserving and enhancing the quality of land, water and other natural resources.

When making these grants, the Managers expect the Secretary to consider applications from a variety of agricultural sectors, such as renewable energy, wineries, high value products from major crops, agri-marketing ventures, and community supported agricultural projects. The inclusion of renewable energy includes farm or ranch based wind, solar, hydrogen, and other renewable energy.

An exception from the normal rural area requirement is made for majority controlled producer based business ventures. It is the Managers intent that the Department award grants, to the maximum extent practicable, to projects located in rural areas. However, state rules and regulations and other circumstances may hinder some worthy value-added agricultural projects from meeting the Department's specific definition of "rural". One such example is wineries in certain areas. In this instance, the Managers expect the Department to consider the importance and value of the project to area agriculture producers who will be the ultimate beneficiaries of the project, including the consistency of the project with the intent of the program.

(3) Agriculture Innovation Center Demonstration Program

The House bill provides that the Secretary shall make grants to establish centers to provide producers with technical assistance, marketing, and development assistance for value-added agricultural businesses. The Secretary shall use not less than $5 million for fiscal year 2002 and not less than $10 million for fiscal years 2003 and 2004. This money is part of the $50 million being used for Section 602 activities. The Secretary shall use $300,000 of the funds made available each year to support research at a university on the effects of value-added projects on producers and commodity markets. The Secretary shall submit a report to the House and Senate Agriculture Committees on the effectiveness of this demonstration program. (Section 603)

The Senate amendment provides 7.5% of the $75 million per year that is allocated to the established Agricultural Marketing Resource Center authorized in ARPA. (Section 606)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that the Secretary shall use not less than $3 million for fiscal year 2002 and not less than $6 million for fiscal years 2003 and 2004. (Section 6402)

(4) Funding of Community Water Assistance Grant Program

The House bill directs the Secretary to use $30 million for each of the fiscal years 2002-2011 to fund drinking water assistance grants. Extends current program and makes it mandatory spending. Strikes the word "emergency" in the subtitle.

Increases funding by another $45 million per year, for a total of $75 million per year. (Section 604 and 943)

The Senate amendment extends authority of the program through 2006 with no changes.

See also section 603 of the Senate amendment, which fully funds existing backlog of applications for this grant program and other rural development loan and grant programs. (Section 629)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to make rural areas and small communities eligible for grants in cases where a significant decline in quantity and quality of water is imminent, in addition to where there is an emergency. No less than 3 percent but no more than 5 percent of appropriated funds shall be used for these grants. (Section 6009)

The Managers are acutely aware of the ongoing needs of rural communities in maintaining water systems to provide adequate and safe drinking water for its residents. The Managers are particularly concerned about current drought conditions in many areas of the United States and its dire impact on a rural area's drinking water needs. Many areas are faced not only with the lack of potable water but with the lack of any water at all. For this reason, the provision allowing for potable water includes the delivery of bottled water where necessary.

The Managers expect this provision to provide USDA, Rural Development with a flexible program with a certainty of funds to meet the emergency and imminent drinking water needs of rural areas. The Secretary should ensure that communities eligible for assistance under this program receive immediate attention.

(5) Loan Guarantees for the Financing of the Purchase of Renewable Energy Systems

The House bill provides that the Secretary may provide to persons or individuals a loan guarantee under Section 4 of the Rural Electrification Act to finance the purchase of a renewable energy system, including a wind energy system and anaerobic digesters for the purpose of energy generation. (Section 605)

The Senate amendment provides that the Secretary, in addition to making loans and loan guarantees under other laws, shall make low interest rate loans (4%), loan guarantees, and grants to be used by producers for the purchase of renewable energy systems and energy efficiency improvements. Provides $33 million per year for such purposes. (Only those producing agricultural products with a market value of less than $1,000,000 in the preceding year are eligible.) (Section 902)

The Conference substitute deletes the House provision.

(6) Loans and Loan Guarantees for Renewable Energy Systems

The House bill amends Section 310B of the ConAct by inserting "and other renewable energy systems including wind energy systems and anaerobic digesters for the purpose of energy generation". (Section 606)

The Senate amendment provides that the Secretary, acting through the Rural Business Cooperative Service shall establish a program to make loans, loan guarantees (in addition to loans and loan guarantees under other laws) and competitively award grants to cooperatives or other rural business ventures to enable producers to own and market sources of renewable energy and increase the quantity of electricity available from renewable energy sources. Loans would be used to provide capital for start-up costs associated with rural business ventures or the promotion of the aggregation of renewable electric energy sources. Grants would be used to develop business plans or perform feasibility studies. (much like existing Value-Added Grants). (Section 902)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision. (Section 6013)

(7) Reauthorization of Programs through 2011

The House amendment reauthorizes current programs through 2011. Those programs are Rural Business Opportunity Grants (Sec. 607), Grants for Water Systems for Rural and Native Villages in Alaska (Sec. 608), Rural Cooperative Development Grants (Sec. 609), National Reserve Account for Rural Development Trust Fund (Sec. 610), and the Rural Venture Capital Demonstration Program (Sec. 611). (Sections 607, 608, 609, 610, and 611)

The Senate amendment reauthorizes Rural Business Opportunity Grants (same as House Sec. 607) except that authorization is increased from $7.5 million to $15 million a year, and authority runs through 2006.

Reauthorizes Grants for Water Systems for Rural and Native Villages in Alaska (same as House Sec. 608) except that authority runs through 2006.

Reauthorizes Rural Cooperative Development Grants (same as House Sec. 609) except that it prohibits the Secretary from requiring a non-federal share of more than 5% for 1994 institutions, and authority runs through 2006.

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provisions on the National Reserve Account for Rural Development Trust Fund or the Rural Venture Capital Demonstration Program. (Section 622, 631, and 633)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on Rural Business Opportunity Grants. (Section 6003)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision on Grants for Water Systems for Rural and Native Villages in Alaska. (Section 6011)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision on Rural Cooperative Development Grants. (Section 6015)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provisions with an amendment to repeal the National Reserve Account for Rural Development Trust Fund and the Rural Venture Capital Demonstration Program. (Section 6026)

(8) Increase in Limit on Certain Loans for Rural Development

The House bill increases the loan limit of the Business and Industry lending program authorized by Sec. 310B of the ConAct from $25 million to $100 million. (Section 612)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that the Secretary may guarantee a loan that may not exceed $40 million for a project that is located in a rural area and provides for the value-added processing of agricultural commodities. The Secretary may not delegate the approval authority. (Section 6017)

(9) Pilot Program for Rural Development Strategic Plans and Implementation

The House bill provides that the Secretary shall select states to implement rural development strategic plans. This is a new program that provides mandatory spending of $2 million in grants for each fiscal year 2002–2011 (plus another 2/13 or approximately $6.9 million from Sec. 943.).

Provides mandatory spending of $13 million for grants to implement the plans for each fiscal year 2002–2011 (plus 11/13 or approximately $38 million from Sec. 943.).

The Strategic Planning Initiative and Implementation provision authorizes a matching grant pilot program of $2 million (plus $6.9 million) per year to entities for regional, collaborative rural development strategic plans in those states that are chosen by the Secretary. Community-based and grassroots organizations' support and participation are critically important to successful planning. The matching grant requirement will help ensure that there is a commitment at the local level for the planning process. The provision allows the Secretary to require up to a 50% matching grant. This requirement is not intended to serve as a barrier to limited resource communities in fully participating in the program. The Secretary should require matching grants commensurate with a community's ability to pay, even to the point of only requiring a nominal amount in order to ensure the broadest participation.

In developing a regional development plan it is imperative that local specialists representing many varied areas of expertise be included. The Secretary should give priority to grant applicants whose proposals include the broadest coalitions of regional and local organizations—both public and private. Entities eligible for matching grants include but are not limited to Councils of Government, Area Development Districts, Economic Development Districts, Local Development Districts, Planning and Development Districts, Regional Planning Commissions and Regional Councils of Government. (Section 613)

The Senate amendment spends $5 million in 2002 for planning grants to conditionally approved program entities under Sec. 385C(d). Spends $2 million in 2002 for private technical assistance under Sec. 358C(h).

Amends the ConAct to create a Program that will provide rural communities with technical and financial assistance to develop and implement community development strategies. The Secretary shall approve a program entity to receive grants if the entity meets certain criteria, and once approved, the entity shall establish an endowment fund. The Secretary may award supplemental grants, not to exceed $100,000, to approved entities to assist in developing a strategy (Sec. 385C(d) see above). To be eligible for an endowment grant, approved entities shall develop and obtain the approval of the Secretary for a comprehensive strategy. An approved entity shall receive final approval if the strategy meets certain requirements, and the Secretary may make grants, not to exceed $6 million, to these entities to implement the strategy (Sec. 385C(f) see above). Approved entities must provide a 50% match of the amount received in grant funds, except in certain cases where it is determined that a lower non-federal share is allowable to invest and then use the funds for infrastructure improvements and/or investments in enterprises that will improve the area. Grants may be made, not to exceed $100,000, to qualified intermediaries to provide technical assistance and capacity building to approved entities (Sec. 358C(h) see above). Authorizes such sums as are necessary for fiscal years 2004–2006. (Section 604)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to establish a National Board on Rural America that will make planning grants and innovation grants to certified Regional Investment Boards. A National Conference on Rural America will be held to address challenges in rural areas. A total of $100 million is available to carry out this section. (Section 6030)

For over 40 years rural policy scholars and analysts have recognized the absolute necessity of a more integrated, comprehensive rural policy framework. In establishing this framework, Section 6030, will require the active participation of all Federal agencies, rural units of local government, development organizations, community-based organizations, rural nongovernmental organization, and the private and philanthropic sectors. While a collaborative effort and comprehensive planning is essential for success of any endeavor, no plan can succeed without resources for its implementation and completion.

This program is designed to use Federal funds as a catalyst to bring together the various sectors from rural areas in order to make maximum use of Federal, state and local resources.

The Managers intend that the appropriate population of an eligible area is between 50,000 and 150,000; however, the Managers expect the regional and national boards to make exceptions as needed. The target population does not include a metropolitan area which may be participating in a regional plan.

The Managers understand the diversity of governance, governmental entities and governmental structure in the 50 states. In composing the regional boards, the Managers expect that it will include the broadest possible collection of public and private entities representative of the area or region of the eligible area.

In appointing the National Board on Rural America, the Managers expect the Secretary to carefully consider individuals recommended by the Chairman and Ranking Members of the House Committee on Agriculture and the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Majority Leader of the Senate. The Secretary is encouraged to consider seven recommendations from the House of Representatives and seven recommendations from the Senate.

(10) Grants to Nonprofit Organizations to Finance the Construction, Refurbishing, and Servicing of Individually-Owned Household Water Well Systems in Rural Areas for Individuals with Low or Moderate Incomes

The House bill amends the water and wastewater authorities under the ConAct to authorize the Secretary to make grants and loans to provide individual residential water wells. (Section 614)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment limiting loans to $8,000 per water well system and authorizing the program at $10 million per fiscal year. (Section 6012)

(11) National Rural Development Partnership

The House bill adds a new section to Subtitle E of the ConAct to establish a National Rural Development Partnership composed of the Coordinating Committee and the state rural development councils. (Section 615)

The Senate amendment amends Subtitle D of the ConAct to add the NRDP composed of the Coordinating Committee and the state rural development councils. (Section 611)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment clarifying the Senate language and authorizing up to $10 million per fiscal year. (Section 6021)

The Conference substitute includes provisions which are intended to ensure the accountability of State Rural Development Councils (SRDCs) to the rural residents they are expected to serve and to agencies which provide financial support for their operations. The Managers specifically intend that all SRDCs will continue to abide by or come into compliance with the structural and process guiding principles of this section. The Managers also intend that USDA/Rural Development State Directors and other employees of USDA and other Federal agencies with rural responsibilities will fully participate as voting members in the governance and operations of SRDCs on an equal basis with other SRDC members.

The Managers expect the National Rural Development Coordinating Committee to make significant progress toward the goal of better coordinating the rural policies and programs of Federal agencies and developing greater collaboration between the Federal government, the States, and others with resources to invest in rural areas.

The Partnership has depended on voluntary contributions of discretionary funds from multiple Federal agencies to support its activities. This system has not met all of the needs of the SRDC. Accordingly, the Conference substitute contains an authorization for annual appropriations of $10 million. The Managers encourage Federal agencies, whether or not they have contributed to the Partnership in the past, to financially support collaborative initiatives managed by SRDCs. The Managers specifically intend that all Federal funds that are provided to the SRDCs will be used solely for SRDC operations and projects and that the use of these funds will be controlled exclusively by the SRDCs' governing boards. The Managers also strongly urge SRDCs to identify additional sources of non-Federal funds to support their activities.

SRDCs currently operate in 40 States. The Managers encourage the Secretary to work with the remaining 10 States to establish SRDCs.

(12) Eligibility of Rural Empowerment Zones, Rural Enterprise Communities, and Champion Communities for Direct and Guaranteed Loans for Essential Community Facilities

The House bill amends Sec. 306(a) of the ConAct to authorize the Secretary to make or insure loans to communities designated as rural empowerment zones, rural enterprise communities or as champion communities to install or improve essential community facilities. (Section 616)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to strike "champion communities". (Section 6001)

The Managers intend that this provision affect only two communities—Lewiston, Maine, and Eagle Pass, Texas. These communities were designated rural Enterprise Communities in 1999, and this amendment would make them eligible for participation in essential community facility programs only.

(13) Grants to Train Farm Workers in New Technologies and to Train Farm Workers in Specialized Skills Necessary for Higher Value Crops

The House bill provides that the Secretary may make grants to an entity to train farm workers to use new technologies and develop specialized skills for agricultural development. Authorizes no more than $10 million be appropriated to the Secretary for fiscal years 2002–2011 to make such grants. (Section 617)

The Senate amendment is the same except it authorizes grants through 2006. (Section 646)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment making technical changes and adding “farmer cooperatives” as an eligible entity. (Section 6025)

(14) Loan Guarantees for the Purchase of Stock in a Farmer Cooperative Seeking to Modernize or Expand

The House bill amends Sec. 310B of the ConAct to provide loan guarantees for individual farmers to purchase capital stock of a farmer cooperative established for an agricultural purpose. (Section 618)

See also Sec. 523 (Credit Title) of the House bill, which contains additional modifications to the B&I Loan Program to provide for guaranteed loans to projects in areas other than rural communities, in the case of insured loans, if a majority of the project involved is owned by individuals who reside and have farming operations in rural communities, and the project adds value to or processes agricultural commodities.

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 310B of the ConAct to provide loan guarantees to farmers, ranchers or cooperatives to purchase start-up capital stock for expanding or creating an agriculture coop. The Secretary may guarantee a loan to a producer to join a coop in order to sell products he produces. Farmer coops eligible for B&I loans shall be eligible to refinance existing loans. The Secretary may establish appraisal standards for the Business and Industry Loan Program. The Secretary may assess a one-time fee for a loan guarantee, not to exceed 2% of the guaranteed principal portion of the loan. (Section 635)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to provide loan guarantees to purchase capital stock. The Secretary may make or guarantee a loan to a cooperative organization headquartered in a metropolitan area if the loan is used for a project in a rural area or meets the criteria of a cooperative generally. A cooperative organization shall be eligible to refinance an existing loan if certain requirements are met. The Secretary may guarantee a loan to a cooperative for a facility that is not located in a rural area if the facility provides value-added processing to producers located within 80 miles of the facility; if the primary benefit of the guarantee provides employment to rural areas; and the total amount of loans guaranteed does not exceed 10 percent of total loan guarantees in a fiscal year. The Secretary may consider the value of a properly appraised brand name, patent, or trademark of the cooperative in determining whether the cooperative organization is eligible for a loan guarantee. The Secretary may guarantee a loan that may not exceed $40 million for a project that is located in a rural area and provides for the value-added processing of agricultural commodities and the Secretary may not delegate the approval authority for such a guarantee. (Section 6017)

There is a 2% limit on an initial fee. That limit does not prevent annual fees which may be needed to preserve an appropriate program level.

The Managers expect the Secretary, to consider on a priority basis, Business and Industry loan and loan guarantee program applications from eligible marketing cooperatives of agriculture producers for the purpose of constructing peanut storage facilities and for value-added agriculture and renewable energy. In regard to paragraphs (6) and (8), the 10 percent limit in each of those paragraphs is not a goal to be worked toward, but a limit. The Managers recognize that the loans or loan guarantees provided may be less than that level.

(15) Intangible Assets and Subordinated Unsecured Debt Required to be Considered in Determining Eligibility of Farmer-Owned Cooperative for Business and Industry Guaranteed Loan

The House bill amends Sec. 310B of the ConAct for this purpose. In considering applications for a loan guarantee from an agricultural cooperative, the Rural Business-Cooperative Service may consider the value of intangible assets such as trademarks, patents, licenses, and brands subject to appraisal, when evaluating the eligibility of an agricultural cooperative for loan guarantees. The same consideration may be given to unsecured subordinated debt, which may be viewed as the equivalent of equity in the cooperative. Both intangible assets and unsecured subordinated debt may be considered in determining the viability of a cooperative's balance sheet. (Section 619)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that the Secretary may consider the value of a properly appraised brand name, patent, or trademark of a cooperative. (Section 6017)

(16) Ban on Limiting Eligibility of Farmer Cooperative for Business and Industry Loan Guarantee Based on Population of Area in which Cooperative is Located

The House bill amends the ConAct so that in determining whether a cooperative organization owned by farmers is eligible for a guaranteed loan, the Secretary shall not apply any lending restrictions based on population to the area in which the cooperative is located. (Section 620)

The Senate amendment provides for that loans can be made to coops headquartered in a metropolitan area if the project is in a rural area. (Section 635)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment that the Secretary may guarantee a loan to a cooperative for a facility that is not located in a rural area if the facility provides value-added processing to producers located within 80 miles of the facility; if the primary benefit of the guarantee provides employment to rural areas; and the total amount of loans guaranteed does not exceed 10 percent of total loan guarantees in a fiscal year. (Section 6017)

(17) Rural Water and Waste Facility Grants

The House bill removes the appropriation authorization from the rural water and waste water program under the ConAct, in effect providing such sums as may be necessary. (Section 621)

The Senate amendment increases current law from $590 million in total spending per year to a new authorization of $1.5 billion per year. The Secretary may make grants to entities to capitalize revolving funds to provide loans to eligible borrowers to finance up to $100,000 of the costs of predevelopment, equipment, replacement, small systems extensions and other small water and wastewater projects. Authorizes appropriations of $30 million each fiscal year 2002–2006 for this subparagraph. (Section 621)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to authorize such sums as necessary for the rural water and waste water program. (Section 6002)

(18) Rural Water Circuit Rider Program

The House bill establishes permanently under the ConAct a national rural water circuit rider program to provide technical expertise to existing and start-up rural water systems throughout the country. Provides an authorization of appropriations of $15 million per year (Section 622)

The Senate amendment is nearly identical to House bill except for (B) that contains language that says the new program “shall not affect the authority of the Secretary to carry out the circuit rider program for which funds are made available under the heading RCAP for 2002.” Also, the authorization for $15 million is only through 2006. (Section 623)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment making the program permanent. (Section 6005)

(19) Rural Water Grassroots Source Water Protection Program

The House bill establishes a national source water protection program within the U.S. Department of Agriculture that will enable rural water associations to provide better services in the implementation of well-head and ground water protection programs. The program is authorized at an annual appropriation of $5 million. (Section 623)

The Senate amendment contains no comparable provision in rural development title, but see conservation title.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 217 (1240Q))

(20) National Rural Cooperative and Business Equity Fund

The Senate amendment amends the ConAct to establish the Fund, governed by a board of directors, to revitalize rural communities and sustain rural business development by providing federal funds and credit enhancements to a private equity fund in order to encourage investments by authorized private investors. The Secretary shall make $150 million available (subject to appropriations) for the fund which is to be matched by the investors; guarantee 50% of each investment up to $300 million made by a Fund investor; guarantee 100% of the repayment of principal and accrued interest on approved debentures issued by the Fund, not to exceed $500 million. No single investment shall exceed the greater of $2 million or 7% of the Fund. The total investment made in a company may not exceed 20% of the total investment in the project. Authorizes such sums as are necessary. (Senate 601)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(21) Rural Business Investment Program

The Senate amendment spends $70 million in 2002 for subsidies and $50 million in 2002 for grants.

Adds a new subtitle H to the ConAct that establishes a Rural Business Investment Program (RBIP) administered by the Secretary that, among other things, promotes economic development and the creation of wealth and job opportunities in rural areas.

New Sec. 384A, defines various terms used by the Secretary to implement the RBIP, including the term Rural Business Investment Company (RBIC).

New Sec. 384B, sets out the purposes of the RBIP to promote economic development and to establish a developmental venture capital program that addresses the unmet investment needs of small enterprises. The Secretary is authorized to enter into participation agreements with RBICs, guarantee RBIC debentures and make grants to RBICs.

New Sec. 384C, establishes the RBIP.

New Sec. 384D provides for the eligibility of companies to apply to participate in the RBIP if 1) the company is newly formed for-profit or a subsidiary of such company; 2) the company has a management team experienced in financing community development; and 3) the company will invest in enterprises that will create wealth and job opportunities.

Applications to participate must contain a business plan, information about management's experience in financing rural development, a description of how the company intends to work with community organizations to meet unmet capital needs, a proposal on how the company will use grant funds, an estimate of cash to in-kind contributions the company will have in binding commitments, a description of the evaluation standards the company will use to determine whether or not it is meeting the RBIP's purposes, information regarding the financial strength of the parent company or its subsidiary, and any other information the Secretary requires.

The Secretary must issue within 90 days a status report about an application to participate and must approve or disapprove the application within a reasonable time and, on approval, issue a license for the operation of the applicant. If disapproved, the Secretary must notify the applicant in writing.

The Secretary is required to make determinations about the applicant when reviewing and processing the application, including finding that the management personnel of the applicant are qualified to carry out the RBIP and generally have a good business reputation.

The Secretary shall approve and designate the applicant as a RBIC if it is determined that the applicant qualifies, the area in which the RBIC will operate is acceptable and the applicant enters into a participation agreement. The applicant has a capital requirement of at least $2.5 million.

New Sec. 384E provides that the Secretary is authorized to guarantee, using the full faith and credit of the United States, the timely payment of principal and interest on debentures issued by the RBIC. Debenture guarantees may not exceed 15 years. Such guarantees may not exceed the lesser of 300 percent of the private capital of the RBIC or $105 million, and may provide for use of discounted debentures.

New Sec. 384F authorizes the Secretary to issue trust certificates that represent partial or full ownership of RBIC debentures. The Secretary may pool RBIC debentures on which the certificates are based and may guarantee the timely payment of principal and interest on the certificates. The Secretary may administer the guaranteed trust or pool to provide for prepayment of or defaults on debentures. Trust certificates are backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S.

The Secretary is required to provide for a central registration of all trust certificates and will subrogate and retain ownership rights over a debenture on which a claim is satisfied. The Secretary may maintain bank accounts and investments to facilitate the creation of trusts or pools of debentures. The Secretary may regulate brokers and dealers in RBIP trust certificates and require any person functioning as the Secretary's agent to provide a bond or evidence of insurance.

New Sec. 384G authorizes the Secretary to charge fees for the guarantee of debentures or grants, and the Secretary's agents may collect a fee for operating a trust pool. The Secretary may charge a fee to license a RBIC. The Secretary shall use the fees to cover salaries and expenses of the Secretary and are authorized for covering the costs of licensing exams.

New Sec. 384H authorizes the Secretary to make grants to RBICs over a multi-year period to be used only to provide operational assistance. RBICs must show how they will use grant funds. The amount of the grant can be up to the lesser of 10% of the private capital raise or $1 million. NOTE: INTENT was to also limit such funds to the lesser of twice the match provided by the RBIC. The Secretary may make grants to entities other than a RBIC under the same terms as it would to an RBIC.

New Sec. 384I sets out the legal organization of RBICs, including their articles of incorporation if incorporated, and minimum levels of private capital acceptable to operate as a RBIC. The Secretary may accommodate lesser capital standards upon the showing of special circumstances and good cause. The Secretary shall ensure that the private capital is adequate for success and that at least 75 percent of the capital is invested in rural business and not more than 10% may be invested in a city of over 100,000 or its surrounding urbanized area. That the minimum amount of capital required for RBICs authorized to be issued guarantees on debentures shall be $10,000,000 or $5,000,000 with a determination by the Secretary regarding risk. Secretary also is required to ensure that the RBIC management is diversified and unaffiliated with the ownership of the RBIC.

New Sec. 384J provides that national banks, Federal Reserve member banks, federal savings associations, Farm Credit System (FCS) institutions and other insured banks may invest in RBICs but in no event may a lending institution make a greater than five percent investment of its capital and surplus in RBICs. In the case of a FCS institution or a combination of FCS institutions holding more than 15 percent of the voting stock in a RBIC, the RBIC may not provide financial or equity investment assistance to any entity not otherwise eligible to receive financing from the FCS.

The total invested by any of the described financial institutions shall not exceed 5% of their capital.

New Sec. 384K sets out the reporting requirements.

New Sec. 384L provides for the Secretary to direct a private sector entity to exam the books, records and operations of participating RBICs, and the Secretary may charge RBICs for the costs of such examinations.

New Sec. 384M authorizes the Secretary to use the federal district courts to enforce compliance of all provisions of the RBIP set out in rules, regulations, orders or participation agreements should the Secretary have reason to believe a RBIC is engaging in or about to engage in any act or practice that violates the RBIP. In the event of violations, a court of competent jurisdiction may issue temporary or permanent injunctions, restraining orders or other orders to prohibit further activities and may appoint a trustee or receiver to manage the assets of a RBIC. The Secretary may act as a trustee or receiver.

New Sec. 384N authorizes the Secretary to void RBICs' participation agreements and to stop the exercise of all rights and privileges as a RBIC. A RBIC must be found to be in violation of the RBIP before the loss of such privileges.

New Sec. 384O provides that RBICs and other, associated persons involved in any activity that violates the act to be held together to the extent the associated persons authorize or otherwise bring about the violation. Any mismanagement or misconduct shall be a breach of fiduciary responsibility and unlawful. Any person associated with the RBIC that commits any unlawful act or practice, or fails in any act or practice, that would result in the RBIC suffering financial losses has breached his fiduciary responsibility. This section further provides suitability rules for officers or agents of the RBIC and makes any breach of those rules to be unlawful acts.

Sec. 384P provides procedures for removing officers or agents of a RBIC.

Sec. 384Q requires the Secretary to enter into an interagency agreement with the Small Business Administration to carry out the day-to-day management and operation of the RBIP.

Sec. 384R authorizes the Secretary to write regulations to carry out the RBIP.

Sec. 384S provides $350 million for the guarantee of debentures and $50 million for grants from Treasury funds not otherwise appropriated to carry out the RBIP. Such funds shall remain available until spent.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment making clarifying changes and that the Secretary shall enter into an interagency agreement with another federal agency that has expertise in operating a program of this nature. The Conference substitute provides $100 million to carry out this program. (Section 6029)

This program addresses the crucial problem of limited equity capital in rural America. The program allows investment companies to considerably leverage their equity resources, increasing the equity funds available in rural America by attracting capital for the program and through the leverage that the program provides. Only for profit Rural Business Investment Companies (RBIC) may apply because the profit motive and danger of loss will help minimize losses to the government. The Managers believe that a high quality management team of the applicants is crucial for success and expects that this factor will be given solid consideration.

Financial institutions may participate in the program as set forth in the program. The Managers intend that financial institution regulators including the Farm Credit Administration, the Office of the Comptroller, the Federal Reserve, state bank regulators, and other financial institution regulators continue to have the authority to impose on any financial institution that they regulate any safeguard, limitation, or condition that the regulator considers to be appropriate (including, without limitation, any investment limit that is lower than the investment limit that this section imposes on insured depository institutions). The strong expectation of the Managers is that RBICs will not normally engage in lending of a type performed by regulated financial institutions except in circumstances where such assistance is not likely to be available and where the equity investment makes such arrangements prudent given the overall risks involved.

The program is modeled after the Small Business Investment Company program, where considerable expertise in operating the program that provides capital for equity investments has been developed. That program shares many of the same provisions with the RBIC program that is being enacted allowing day-to-day management to follow almost identical practices with a few exceptions such as those dealing with the grants program and rural targeting of investments. It is the expectation of the Managers that the Secretary enter into an agreement under the Economy Act within 60 days of enactment with that appropriate agency.

It is the expectation of the Managers that a considerable share of the rules and operating procedures for this program will be the same as the rules and operating procedures for the Small Business Investment Company program. Given that reality, it is the Manager's expectation that rules implementing this program can be proposed in a very short time period. The grant provisions are similar to the New Markets Venture Capital Program.

(22) Full Funding of Pending Rural Development Loan and Grant Applications

The Senate amendment spends a CBO estimated $454 million in 2002 (no future spending) to close out the backlog in the following rural development programs: community facility direct loans and grants; water and waste disposal direct loans and grants; rural water or wastewater technical assistance and training grants; emergency community water assistance grants; B&I guaranteed loans; solid waste management grants. Applications in the preapplication phase are not eligible for funding under this provision. (Section 603)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to provide $360 million to fund pending applications for water and waste disposal system grants and loans, with priority to water systems. (Section 6031)

(23) Enhancement of Access to Broadband in Rural Areas

The Senate amendment spends $100 million each year 2002–2006. Amends the Rural Electrification Act. The Secretary shall make grants, loans, and loan guarantees at 4% or market rate interest to construct, improve, acquire facilities and equipment to provide broadband service to rural communities with no more than 20,000 residents. Funding will be allocated to states, and funds not obligated by April 1 will go in a national pool to be used by the Secretary to make grants, loans, and loan guarantees in any state. (Section 605)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to provide loans and loan guarantees for broadband service and to clarify what entities are eligible to receive a loan or loan guarantee. (Section 6103)

The Managers expect that the state government or local government or any agency, subdivision or instrumentality thereof (including consortia thereof) will be permitted to file applications during the three-month waiting period after the RUS has promulgated rules on the broadband program in order to keep their place in line for the next available round of funding.

The Managers expect the RUS to evaluate the priority status of all pending broadband applications as soon as practicable after the date of enactment. Any completed application which meets the priority criteria should be evaluated for expedited approval. The Managers expect the Agency to determine the priority status of applications on hand at least once every quarter. In general, all other applications should be evaluated and awarded on a first come first serve basis.

The Managers are aware that in the current broadband pilot program RUS has generally used the FCC's definition of broadband services. It is the Manager's intent that this practice should continue and that is why the Manager's used the definition of broadband services that is currently being used by the FCC and the RUS. The Managers want to make clear that the purpose behind using this definition was to maintain the current high standard used by RUS in determining what a broadband service is.

However, the Managers expect the Administrator will apply a definition of broadband services to encourage new broader bandwidth technologies in rural areas and that the program will foster the development of a variety of technological applications including terrestrial and satellite wireless services. This is a critical function since this is a rapidly changing technology.

The Managers have taken no position on particular technologies and believe that it is very important for the Department not to choose among adequate technologies. The Managers expect the Secretary to participate in any FCC proceedings or Department of Commerce study of the future of broadband services and the markets for such services.

The Managers are aware that the RUS has administered a telecommunications program for over 50 years. To date there has not been a loan loss in that program. The Managers expect, that given that record, program levels will fully take that reality into account. The Managers intend for direct loans to be made at the treasury rate of interest in most circumstances.

(24) National Rural Development Information Clearinghouse

The House bill extends the National Rural Information Center Clearing-House—(7 U.S.C. 3125b(c)) through 2011. (Section 701)

The Senate amendment amends Section 2381 of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 to establish a Clearinghouse at USDA to collect and disseminate information about programs and services available to a person or entity in a rural area regarding financial, technical or other assistance. The Clearinghouse will maintain an Internet website, and the Secretary shall use not more than $600,000 of the funds available to RHS, RUS, RBS each fiscal year to operate and maintain the Clearinghouse. (Section 607)

The Conference substitute adopts the House provision with an amendment to extend the authorization through 2007. (Section 7101)

The Managers expect the Rural Development mission area of the Department to highlight the existence and resources of the Rural Information Center of the National Agricultural Library on its websites and in its informational materials.

(25) Multijurisdictional Regional Planning Organizations

The Senate amendment amends the ConAct to allow the Secretary to provide grants up to $100,000 to multijurisdictional regional planning organizations to pay for costs of assisting local governments to improve infrastructure, services and business development capabilities. Authorizes appropriations for $30 million in each year 2003–2006. A local match is required. (Section 624)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 6006)

(26) Certified Nonprofit Organizations Sharing Expertise

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 306(a) of the ConAct. The Secretary shall certify nonprofit organizations (which may include an institutions of higher education) that demonstrate experience in providing technical assistance to improve infrastructure, services and business development capabilities of local governments, and make this list available to the public. Authorizes appropriations of $20 million each fiscal year 2003–2006 to make grants to certified organizations. (Section 625)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(27) Loan Guarantees for Certain Rural Development Loans

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 306(a) to authorize the Secretary to guarantee loans made for community facilities or water and sewer systems, including loans financed by bond issuances described by Section 144(a)(12)(B)(ii) of the IR code. (NOTE: currently, projects with bonds receiving assistance under that section may not receive other government support. This section does not impact the IRS provision). Any individual or entity offering to buy these loans may receive the guarantee if the individual or entity demonstrates that person can continue the performance of the loan and can generate capital to assist borrowers of loans with additional credit needs to ensure servicing of loans.

Amends Sec. 310B. to authorize the Secretary to guarantee loans made to finance bond issues for the provision of community facilities or water and sewer systems. (Section 626)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to change the reference to section 142(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. (Section 6007)

The Managers intent is that this section will allow the Department to provide support for noted projects in the event the IRS code is modified to allow such support without adversely affecting tax benefits.

(28) Rural Firefighters and Emergency Personnel Grant Program

The Senate amendment spends $10 million in 2002 and then $30 million each year 2003–2006. Amends the ConAct to establish a grant program to provide scholarships to local government units to train firefighters and emergency medical personnel in firefighting, emergency medical practices, and responding to hazardous material and bioagents. Not less than 60% of the funds shall be used for this purpose. Grants may be used for facility improvements, equipment, operating, or establishing regional training centers. Not more than 40% may be used for the facility grants. The federal share of the facility grants shall not exceed 50%. (Section 627)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a technical amendment to clarify that the Secretary shall give priority to grant applicants that provide for training within the region or locality in which the grant applicant is located. The Conference substitute provides for a funding level of $10 million for each of fiscal years 2003 through 2007, and as a result of this lower level of overall funding for the program, reduces the $2 million limitation for any single training center in any single year to $750,000. (Section 6405)

The Managers expect that efforts will be made to minimize travel costs in order to maximize actual training provided. In order to minimize costs, appropriate training facilities within the area or region should be utilized whenever possible. Many firefighter and first responder training facilities, some with specialized functions such as farm safety have received USDA or FEMA assistance in the past, have excellent reputations but have significant facility needs. It is expected that the Department give a high priority to such facility needs.

(29) Tribal College and University Essential Community Facilities

The Senate amendment amends Section 306(a) of the ConAct to add a provision allowing the Secretary to make grants to tribal colleges and universities to help them develop essential community facilities in rural areas. The federal share is not to exceed 75% of the total cost of these facilities. Authorizes $10 million a year for each of fiscal years 2003 through 2006. (Section 628)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 6008)

(30) Water and Waste Facility Grants for Native American Tribes

The Senate amendment amends Section 306C of the ConAct to authorize appropriations for $30 million in grants, $30 million in loans, and $20 million in grants to benefit Indian tribes each year 2002–2006. (Section 630)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 6010)

(31) Rural Business Enterprise Grants

The Senate amendment amends Section 310B(c)(1) of the ConAct by creating a priority in awarding grants under this program to non-profit entities operating on tribal land in an area with a population of no more than 5,000. (Section 632)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 6014)

In many rural tribal communities, tribes and tribal governments play a dominant role in the economic development of the area. As a result, unique patterns of economic development exist whereby the local economy is often composed of a single dominant employer. Because of these circumstances, many organizations located in isolated tribal communities are often unable to receive assistance from the Rural Business Enterprise Grant program. The Managers recognize the different patterns of economic development that exist in many rural tribal communities.

It is the Managers expectation that funds made available under this provision will be used to assist in the financing or development of small and emerging businesses located in communities of less than 5,000 people on tribal lands or former tribal lands without respect to revenue or employee limitations. Funds made available under this provision may only be used to create, expand or operate value-added agricultural processing facilities.

(32) Grants to Broadcasting Systems

The Senate amendment amends section 310B(f) of the ConAct by adding: $5 million is authorized per year from 2002–2006 for this subsection. (Section 634)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 6016)

(33) Value-Added Intermediary Relending Program

The Senate amendment amends sec. 310B of the ConAct. The Secretary shall make loans to eligible intermediaries, including State agencies, to make loans to recipients for projects to establish, enlarge, or operate enterprises adding value to agriculture products and commodities. Intermediaries shall give preference to bioenergy projects. Limits loans to $2 million except in cases where the intermediary is a state agency. Authorizes $15 million to be appropriated for fiscal years 2003–2006. (Section 636)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(34) Use of Rural Development Loans and Grants for Other Purposes

The Senate amendment amends subtitle A of the ConAct. If, after making a loan or grant, the Secretary determines the circumstances under which the loan or grant was made have sufficiently changed, the Secretary may allow the recipient to use the loan or grant for other purposes, meeting certain requirements. (Section 637)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 6018)

(35) Simplified Application Forms for Loan Guarantees

The Senate amendment amends Sec. 333A of the ConAct. The Secretary shall provide lenders a simplified application for guarantees of farmer program loans under $100,000 and B&I guaranteed loans under $400,000. It also provides that after 2003, USDA may increase to $600,000 the limit on the size B&I loans eligible to use the simplified application process. The Secretary shall develop a process that accelerates processing applications for water and waste disposal grants and loans. (Section 638)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to allow the simplified application process to be used for guarantees of farmer program loans under $125,000. (Section 6019)

(36) Definition of Rural and Rural Area

The Senate amendment amends sec 343(a) of the ConAct so that a “rural area” means a city, town or unincorporated area with a population of 50,000 or less (applied to Community Facility loans and grants, B&I direct and guaranteed loans, Sections 601 and 638); 10,000 or less for water and waste disposal grants and loans. Other definitions of rural are provided for multijurisdictional regional planning organizations and the microenterprise program (Section 639)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a technical amendment to clarify the definition of “rural” and “rural areas”, and reduce the population requirement for the Community Facilities Program from 50,000 to 20,000. (Section 6020)

(37) Rural Enterprises and Microenterprise Assistance Program

The Senate amendment spends $10 million each year from 2002–2006. Amends Subtitle D of the ConAct to establish a Program to provide low- and moderate-income individuals with skills to start new small businesses in rural areas, and to provide continuing technical assistance through local organizations as these new businesses begin operating. Grants may be made to qualified organizations to provide training and technical assistance. (Section 642)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(38) Rural Seniors

The Senate amendment amends Subtitle D of the ConAct. The Secretary shall establish an interagency committee to examine special problems of rural seniors and report recommendations to the Senate and House Ag Committees.

Authorizes $25 million to be appropriated each fiscal year 2003–2006 for grants to non-profit organizations of up to 20% of the cost of programs that provide facilities, equipment and technology for seniors.

Reserves no less than 12.5% of the Community Facilities program funds for Senior Facilities up to April 1 of each fiscal year.

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(39) Children's Day Care Facilities

The Senate amendment provides that Sec 306(a)(19) of the ConAct is amended to reserve no less than 10% of the Community Facilities funds for grants to pay the cost share of developing and constructing day care facilities for children in rural areas up to April 1 of each fiscal year. (Section 642)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 6004)

(40) Rural Telework

The Senate amendment amends Subtitle D of the ConAct. The Secretary shall make a grant to an eligible organization to pay the cost of establishing a national rural telework institute. Nonprofit organizations and educational institutions may receive a grant of up to $500,000 for obtaining equipment and facilities to establish, expand or operate telework locations in rural areas. A 50% match is required. Authorizes $30 million for each fiscal year 2002–2006, of which $5 million each year will establish the institute. (Section 643)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment that the matching requirement for a grant be 30 percent the first three years of a project and 50 percent during the fourth and fifth years. The Conference substitute also prescribes non-federal contribution requirements and grant amounts. (Section 6022)

(41) Historic Barn Preservation

The Senate amendment provides that Subtitle D of the ConAct is amended so the Secretary may make grants or enter into agreements with states to rehabilitate, preserve, or identify historic barns. Authorizes $25 million total for fiscal years 2002–2006. (Section 644)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to authorize such sums as necessary. (Section 6023)

(42) Grants for Emergency Weather Radio Transmitters

The Senate amendment amends Subtitle D of the ConAct. Authorizes $2 million each fiscal year 2002–2006 so the Secretary may make grants to public and nonprofit entities for acquiring radio transmitters to increase coverage of rural areas by the emergency weather broadcast system. (Section 645)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a technical amendment. (Section 6024)

The Managers are concerned that many rural and remote areas in the United States do not have access to timely and accurate alerts and warnings regarding severe weather in the vicinity. In many cases, timely weather warnings may be the difference between life and death for individuals in the path of severe weather. It is the Managers intent that this grant program increase the coverage area of the all hazards weather radio broadcast system of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to as many rural and remote areas as possible.

(43) Delta Regional Authority

The Senate amendment provides that Sec. 382D of the Con Act is amended to clarify (as a drafting matter) the provision relating to supplements to federal grant programs. Subtitle D of the Con Act is amended to add 4 Alabama counties to the definition of Lower Mississippi, and to allow grants for research at a particular university. Sec. 382M(a) of the Con Act is amended by extending authorization of appropriations and authority to 2006. (Section 647)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment clarifying the voting structure. (Section 6027)

(44) SEARCH Grants for Small Communities

The Senate amendment amends the ConAct. States may establish a Council that may apply for a grant of no more than $1 million. The Council will use this funding to award SEARCH (special environmental assistance for the regulation of communities and habitat) grants to communities with a population with 2,500 or less for an environmental project or to comply with an environmental law. Authorizes $51 million in appropriations and such sums as are necessary to carry out this section. (Section 648)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute does not amend the ConAct. It adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to administer this program through the State Rural Development Directors, in coordination with the environmental protection director of the State. (Sections 6301, 6302, 6303, 6304)

The consultation and coordination provided by the Environmental Protection Agency is for technical and informational purposes; the Managers intend that the State rural development directors award SEARCH grants in each state. Annual appropriations are authorized at $1,000,000 per state per year.

The State rural development directors are expected to appoint the members of the independent citizens' councils, which will help receive and review SEARCH grant applications from communities in the state. After a review of the applications by the council, in coordination with the State rural development director and the state environmental protection director, the State rural development directors will award SEARCH grants to communities for environmental projects that are necessary to carry out initial feasibility studies or to assist communities that demonstrate an inability to obtain sufficient funding from traditional sources as determined by the State rural development directors, in coordination with state environmental directors and the Council. Some State and Federal environmental laws and regulations require initial feasibility or environmental studies prior to undertaking an environmental project. It is the Managers' intent that SEARCH grants provided to communities for the purposes of carrying out an initial feasibility or environmental study be consistent with applicable State and Federal laws. It is not the Managers' intent to prohibit SEARCH grants to communities for initial feasibility or environmental studies where such requirements do not exist.

The Managers are aware that many communities do not have experts with the technical ability to complete the paperwork and other documents accompanying traditional funding programs. Therefore, it is the Managers' intent that the application process be simplified and streamlined as is practicable. State rural development directors should work with rural communities to identify the requirements of such a simplified application process.

Many communities coping with environmental laws and regulations are economically distressed and lack the resources to comply with mandates without grant assistance. It is the Managers' intent that State rural development directors not seek a local match from communities for grants awarded if it will result in economic hardship to the community in question. State rural development directors should reserve match requirements for specific situations and circumstances, and allow communities reasonable amounts of flexibility to provide, in lieu of cash payment, in-kind contributions when calculating the cost-share amount.

(45) Northern Great Plains Regional Authority

The Senate amendment amends the ConAct to establish the Authority to be composed of one member appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, and the Governors of the states participating in the Authority (Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota). The Authority may approve grants to state and local governments, public and nonprofit entities for projects including transportation and telecommunication infrastructure, business development, and job training. Establishes distressed areas in which to target funding as well as a minimum requirement for the distribution of funds among the states. State and regional development plans and grant applications must be approved by the Authority. Authorizes $30 million each fiscal year 2002-2006 for the Authority, which expires in 2006. (Section 649)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision (Section 6028)

The Northern Great Plains Regional Authority is authorized in the states of Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota. The Authority is expected to develop a series of comprehensive coordinated plans for the economic development of the region. The Conference substitute authorizes appropriations of $30,000,000 in each of fiscal years 2002 through 2007.

Grants will be made by the Authority particularly to those counties which are distressed, with a special emphasis on transportation, telecommunications, and basic infrastructure such as sewer and water facilities as funds become available. The Managers recognize the ongoing rural development efforts that have evolved from the recommendations of the Northern Great Plains Rural Development Commission. The Commission was established in 1994 through the passage of P.L. 103-318 to prepare a 10-year rural development strategy for the Northern Great Plains Region. The Managers support the efforts of the Northern Great Plains, Inc to implement the Commission's recommendations and urge the Department, along with this organization, to continue to advance the findings of the Commission.

It is the expectation of the Managers that staff resources of that organization are allocated in a balanced manner to the benefit of all parts of the region. Grants to the Authority must be allocated geographically so each state receives at least one third of its proportional population share without regard to the level of distress of counties in that state.

(46) Alternative Agricultural Research and Commercialization Corporation

The House bill extends Sec. 722. Alternative Agricultural research and commercialization revolving fund. (7 U.S.C. 5908(g)(1) and capitalization (7 U.S.C. 5908(g)(2) through 2011. (Section 651)

The Senate amendment repeals Subtitle G of Title XVI of the 1990 FACTA. The assets of the Corporation are transferred to the Secretary, and funds and any income shall be deposited into an account in the Treasury to pay outstanding claims or obligations of the Corporation and the cost of carrying out this section. There are other conforming amendments. (Section 651)

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a technical amendment. (Section 6201)

(47) Telemedicine and Distance Learning Services in Rural Areas

The Senate amendment amends Section 2335A of the 1990 FACTA to extend this provision through 2006. (Section 652)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 6203)

The Managers direct that public television entities are eligible to receive assistance under this section for high speed telecommunication services in rural areas to provide educational programming for schools and communities in rural areas.

(48) Guarantees for Bonds and Notes Issued for Electrification or Telephone Purposes

The Senate amendment amends the REA. The Secretary shall guarantee bonds and notes issued by an eligible private lender if the proceeds are used for electrification or telephone projects eligible for assistance under this Act. The Secretary may not guarantee the bonds if they are not of reasonable and sufficient quality and for several other reasons. Bonds funding electric generation projects are specifically excluded from this program. Authorizes such sums as are necessary. Provides for fees for the issuance of the guarantees.

Proceeds from the fees minus certain costs are placed in an economic development sub-account. Grants as provided by current law are made from the subaccount for economic development. (Section 661)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a technical amendment. (Section 6101)

This section provides for a new source of private funding for the Rural Economic Development Loan and Grant (REDLG) program. Since enactment in 1987, the REDLG program has provided approximately $185 million in economic development assistance to rural communities in the form of grants and zero-interest loans for rural development projects such as water and waste, business incubator, schools, hospitals, emergency services, and general economic and community development.

Private funding is provided through the payment of an annual 30 basis point fee by lenders that issue bonds or notes guaranteed by the Administrator of RUS under this section. These fees are placed in a sub-account for the purpose of providing the budget authority for eligible economic development projects through intermediaries participating in the REDLG program.

The provision provides for safety and soundness and permits the Administrator to deny the request of a lender for a guarantee if the lender does not have expertise and experience in rural utility lending, or issues bonds that, without the guarantee, would not be of investment grade quality. In addition, a lender should provide documentation that the proceeds of a guaranteed bond or note are used for eligible REAct purposes.

This provision further requires that a private lender make payments on the bonds or notes even if a loan made using the proceeds of such bond or note is not repaid to the lender. This effectively places the lender between the RUS and the borrower minimizing the risk to the government

(49) Expansion of 911 Access

The Senate amendment amends Title III of the REA. The Secretary may make telephone loans to state or local governments, Indian tribes, or other public entities for facilities and equipment to expand 911 access in rural areas. Authorizes such sums as are necessary. (Section 662)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with a technical amendment. (Section 6102)

The Managers recognize the importance of ensuring that America’s farmers and ranchers have the tools necessary to remain the most productive, efficient and competitive producers in the global marketplace. Due to the complexity of marketing and management issues, intensive educational efforts have proven effective in helping producers increase their returns. The Agricultural Risk Protection Act acknowledged the need to establish a risk management education program to inform agricultural producers about the full range of risk management activities available to them.

One program that has proven to be successful is the Master Marketer Educational System (MMES) conducted by Texas Cooperative Extension. This intensive training course takes producers from an intermediate to an advanced level in marketing/risk management. Program graduates serve as volunteer leaders in establishing and/or revitalizing marketing clubs in their home county to share what they have learned. Two-year post-training surveys have indicated that graduates have increased their returns by $25,000 to $30,000 per year. While the Master Marketer training and marketing clubs are the cornerstones of the system, MMES also includes an advanced topic series for producers and an in-depth risk management training for lenders. The Managers encourage the Secretary of Agriculture to expand such programs to provide quality risk management training for farmers across the country.

Authorizations are provided of such sums as necessary through 2006 to establish an Agriculture Infrastructure Security Fund Account (the Fund) in the Treasury and an Agriculture Infrastructure Security Commission. New section 1484 sets forth definitions of "agricultural research facility," "Commission," and "Fund".

New section 1485 authorizes the establishment of the Fund. The Fund would be financed from any appropriations, proceeds from the sale of assets as provided for in this chapter, and gifts accepted as provided for in this chapter, and such amounts would remain available until expended. Subsection (b) sets for the purposes of the Fund as to provide funding to protect and strengthen the Federal food safety and agricultural infrastructure that— (1) safeguards against animal and plant diseases and pests; (2) ensures the safety of the food supply; and (3) ensures sound science in support of food and agricultural policy. Amounts in the Fund may be used by the Secretary for: (1) the costs of planning, design, development, construction, acquisition, modernization, leasing, and disposal of facilities, equipment, and technology used by USDA in carrying out programs related to the purposes specified in subsection (b), notwithstanding the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, or any other law that prescribes procedures for the procurement, use, or disposal of property or services by a Federal agency; (2) the costs of specialized services relating to the purposes specified in subsection (b); (3) the costs of cooperative arrangements (notwithstanding the Federal Grant and Cooperative Agreement Act) with State, tribal, and local governments, and other public and private entities to carry out programs related to the purposes specified in subsection (b); and (4) administrative costs at a rate of not more than 1 percent per fiscal year of amounts in the fund on October 1 of that fiscal year beginning in 2003. Amounts in the Fund may not be used to create any new full or part-time Federal employee positions. Notwithstanding the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act, the Secretary by sale may dispose of all or any part of any right or title in land, facilities, or equipment in the full control of the Department used for the purposes specified in subsection (b), with the exception of National Forest System land and land and facilities at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center. The Secretary is authorized to accept gifts and bequests of funds property (real, personal, and intangible), equipment, services, and other in-kind contributions from any public or private source to carry out the purposes specified in subsection (b). For the purposes of gifts, the Secretary shall not consider a State, local, or tribal government, other public entity, or college or university as a prohibited source under USDA gift acceptance policies, and the Secretary may accept gifts from private entities or individuals that would be considered prohibited sources only if the Secretary determined it was in the public interest to accept such gifts.

New section 1486 authorizes the Secretary to establish the Agriculture Infrastructure Security Commission to: (1) advise the Secretary on the uses of the Fund; (2) to review all agricultural research facilities for research importance and importance to agriculture infrastructure security, (3) to identify any agricultural research facility that should be closed, realigned, consolidated, or modernized to carry out the research agenda of the Secretary and to protect agriculture infrastructure security; (4) to develop recommendations concerning agricultural research facilities; and (5) to evaluate the agricultural research facilities acquisition and modernization system used by USDA and make recommendations for improvement to that system based on that evaluation. An "agricultural research facility" as defined in new section 1484 means a facility— "(A) at which agricultural research is regularly carried out or proposed to be carried out; and (B) that is—(i)(I) an Agricultural Research Service facility; (II) a Forest Service facility; or (III) an Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service facility; (ii) a Federal agricultural facility in the process of being planned or being constructed; or (iii) any other facility under the full control of the Secretary." The Commission is to use the 10-year strategic plan prepared by the Strategic Planning Task Force established under section 4 of the Research Facilities Act to assist it in carrying out its duties. The Commission shall be composed of 15 voting members appointed by the Secretary that represent a balance of the public and private sectors and that have combined expertise in facilities development, modernization, construction, security, consolidation, and closure; plant diseases and pests; animal diseases and pests; food safety; biosecurity; the needs of farmers and ranchers; public health; State, local, and tribal government; and any other area related to agriculture infrastructure security, as determined by the Secretary. Nonvoting members of the Commission shall include the Secretary, four representatives appointed by the Secretary of HHS, 1 each from PHS, CDC, FDA, and NIH; one representative appointed by the Attorney General; one representative appointed by the Director of Homeland Security; and not more than four USDA representatives appointed by the Secretary. The term of office for Commission members is 4 years. The Commission is exempted from FACA, but open meetings and records are required with exceptions provided for purposes of national security. Not later than 240 days after enactment of this Act, and each June 1 thereafter, the Commission shall submit a report of its findings and recommendations to the Committees on Agriculture and Appropriations of the House and Senate, and the Secretary shall provide a written response to that report within 90 days as to the manner and extent to which she will implement the recommendations made. The report, and the Secretary's response, shall be publicly available unless the Secretary or the Commission determine that the report or response, or any portion thereof, shall not be released in the interest of national security, and any portion so classified shall not be releasable under FOIA. Provision is made for compensation of non-Federal voting members at a rate equivalent to GS-15 and travel to be paid at the rate for a Federal employee. The Secretary shall provide the Commission with any personnel or other resources as the Secretary determines appropriate. New chapter 2 of the new subtitle N includes two new sections for other biosecurity programs.

New section 1487 provides a special supplemental authorization of such sums as are necessary for biosecurity planning and response through 2006. Funds provided under section 1487 may be used in accordance with any authority available to the Secretary to carry out agricultural research, education, and extension activities (including competitive grants) necessary: (1) to reduce the vulnerability of the United States food and agricultural system to chemical or biological attack; (2) to continue joint research initiatives between the Agricultural Research Service, universities, and industry on counterbioterrorism efforts; (3) to make competitive grants to universities and qualified research institutions for research on counterbioterrorism; and (4) to counter or otherwise respond to chemical or biological attack.

New section 1488 provides an authorization of $100 million per year through 2006 for a competitive research facilities construction grants program for land-grant colleges and universities to enhance the security of agriculture in the United States against threats posed by bioterrorism. To be eligible to receive a grant, a land-grant institution must have (1) demonstrated expertise in the area of animal and plant diseases; (2) substantial animal and plant diagnostic laboratories; and (3) well-established working relationships with the agricultural industry and farm and commodity organizations. In making grants, the Secretary shall give priority to institutions with demonstrated expertise in (1) animal and plant disease prevention; (2) pathogen and toxin mitigation; (3) cereal disease resistance; (4) grain milling and processing; (5) livestock production practices; (6) vaccine development; (7) meat processing; (8) pathogen detection and control; or (9) food safety. An institution may not receive more than $10,000.00 of grants under this section per fiscal year, and the Federal share of any construction project shall not exceed 50 percent. Finally, subsection (b) of section 723 of the bill includes a sense of Congress that funding for ARS, APHIS, and other USDA agencies with biosecurity responsibilities should be increased as necessary to improve the capacity of the agencies to conduct research and analysis of, and respond to, bioterrorism and animal and plant diseases. (Section 723)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment deleting the Agriculture Infrastructure Security Fund and the Agriculture Infrastructure Security Commission. The Conference adopts the Senate program for agriculture bioterrorism research facilities with an amendment authorizing grants for expansion and security upgrades of agriculture research facilities. (Section 7221)

The Managers encourage the Secretary to give priority in awarding grants for the expansion of biosecurity research facilities to those universities or institutions which have demonstrated expertise in the area of animal and plant diseases; substantial animal and plant diagnostic laboratories; and well-established working relationships with the agriculture industry and farm and commodity organizations.

(77) Rural Electronic Commerce Extension Program

The Senate amendment adds a new section 1670 to the FACT Act providing an authorization for a Rural Electronic Commerce Extension Program. The Secretary would be required to establish within CSREES an Office of Rural Electronic Commerce to carry out this program. The purposes of the program are: (1) to expand and enhance electronic commerce practices and technology to be used by small businesses and microenterprises in rural areas; (2) disseminate information and expertise through a cooperative extension service clearinghouse in rural areas; (3) disseminate management, scientific, engineering, and technical information to small businesses in rural areas through the extension program; and (4) use, when appropriate, the expertise, technology, and capabilities of other organizations, including State and local governments, Federal agencies, institutions of higher education, nonprofit organizations, small businesses and microenterprises that have experience in electronic commerce practice and technology, and the development centers established under this section. In carrying out this program, the Secretary shall: (1) provide leadership, support, and coordination for the program; (2) establish policies, practices, and procedures to assist rural communities in the adoption and use of electronic commerce techniques; (3) identify and strengthen existing mechanisms designed to assist rural areas in the adoption and use of electronic commerce techniques; (4) provide grants to fund projects and activities under the program; and (5) establish a clearinghouse system for States, communities, and businesses to obtain information on best practices, technology transfer, training, education, adoption, and use of electronic commerce in rural areas.

The Secretary shall make grants to the North Central Regional Center for Rural Development, the Northeast Regional Center for Development, the Southern Rural Development Center, and a development center in the Western Region, as determined by the State Extension Program Directors in the Western Region, to (1) assemble regional expertise, and develop innovative education programs, that may be adapted and refined by State extension programs; (2) train State-based cooperative extension agents to deliver rural electronic commerce education programs; and establish networks among universities, local governments, and private industries to focus on regional economic issues.

The Secretary also is authorized to make competitive grants to cooperative extension programs at land-grant institutions, or consortia of such institutions), to develop and facilitate nationally innovative rural electronic commerce business strategies, and to assist small businesses and microenterprises in identifying, adapting, implementing, and using electronic commerce business practices and technologies. The provision also includes selection criteria for grant awards. As a condition of funding, during the years of funding under a grant the recipient must provide from non-Federal sources 50 percent (25 percent if the grant recipient serves low-income or minority-owned businesses or microenterprises of the estimated capital and annual operating and maintenance costs of the extension program, and after expiration of the grant funding period the recipient must provide 100 percent of such costs from non-Federal sources. Awards are limited to $900,000 for an individual land-grant institution, either individually or as a member of a consortium, and funds awarded to a consortium must be shared equally among its members. The provision also establishes an evaluation panel and process to evaluate projects and activities funded under the program beginning one year after grant award. The Secretary is required to report to the Agriculture Committees on activities under this section 2 years after the date of enactment.

The program is authorized at $60,000,000 each fiscal year through 2006, with $20,000,000 of that set aside for funding the regional development centers. The Secretary is authorized to use up to 2 percent of funds made available for administrative costs to carry out this section. (Section 733)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment clarifying the Senate provision and expanding the eligibility for grants to include colleges and universities with agricultural or rural development programs. (Section 6202)

The Committee authorizes $60 million to establish a Rural Electronic Commerce Extension Program within the Cooperative State Research, Education, and Extension Service. Electronic commerce represents an opportunity for small businesses and microenterprises in the domestic and international market, but there is currently no mechanism available in rural areas to enable individuals or organizations to both learn and take advantage of innovative technologies and business practices. The United States has a strong interest in ensuring that small businesses and microenterprises in rural areas participate in electronic commerce as it will promote productivity and economic growth throughout the United States. The specific objectives of the program are: 1) expand and enhance electronic commerce practices and technology to be used by small businesses and microenterprises in rural areas; 2) disseminate information and expertise through a cooperative extension service clearinghouse; 3) disseminate management, scientific, and technical information to small businesses and microenterprises in rural areas through the extension program, and 4) use, when appropriate, the expertise, technology, and capabilities of other institutions and organizations—examples being state and local governments, Federal departments and agencies, institutions of higher education, non-profit organizations, small businesses and microenterprises with previous experience in this area, and regional development centers—to achieve the stated objectives. The program will be competitive and merit-based, with grants being provided to cooperative extension service programs at land-grant colleges and universities (or consortia of land-grant colleges and universities) and to colleges and universities with agriculture or rural development programs. Using language in the legislation as guidelines, the Cooperative State Research, Education, and Extension Service shall establish appropriate criteria for the submission, evaluation, and funding of applications for grants to implement projects and activities for the program and shall be responsible for evaluating, ranking, and selecting grant applications.

(78) Organic Agricultural Research and Extension Initiative

The Senate amendment amends section 1672B of the FACT Act to require the Secretary to consult with the National Organics Standards Board as well as the REE Board in making grants, and to add the following purposes for which grants may be awarded:

“(4) determining desirable traits for organic commodities using advanced genomics, field trials, and other methods;

“(5) pursuing classical and marker-assisted breeding for publicly held varieties of crops and animals optimized for organic systems;

“(6) identifying marketing and policy constraints on the expansion of organic agriculture; and

“(7) conducting advanced on-farm research and development that emphasizes observation of, experimentation with, and innovation for working organic farms, including research relating to production and to socioeconomic conditions.” (Section 736, 231, 232)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to include breeding, marketing, and policy research as priority areas and include $3 million in new mandatory funding from 2003 through 2007. (Section 7218)

It is the intent of the Managers that these funds shall be allocated for high priority aspects of organic agricultural systems research, education, and extension. Priority concerns encompass biological, physical, and social sciences (including economics). The authorization of these funds shall not preclude or preempt the allocation of funds for other organic farming research, education, and extension programs under any other competitive or special grants programs, integrated activity, or formula funding. Rather, it is the intent of the Managers that organic agriculture be recognized as a legitimate priority of all Research, Education, and Economics programs, and should be recognized accordingly in appropriate USDA Research, Education and Extension program plans and requests for proposals.

(79) Grants for Youth Organizations

The Senate amendment amends AREERA by adding a new section 410 providing $8 million in mandatory money from CCC (to remain available until expended), and such sums as necessary for 2002 through 2006, for the Secretary, acting through CSREES, to make grants to the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, the National 4-H Council, and the National FFA organization to establish pilot projects to expand the programs carried out by the organizations in rural areas and small towns, and for purposes of the 4-H Centennial under Pub. Law 107-19. (Section 749)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment to extend the authorization through 2007.

(80) Senior Scientific Research Service

The Senate amendment adds a new section to subtitle B of AREERA establishing within USDA a Senior Scientist Research Service of not more than 100 members. To be eligible to be appointed to the Service by the Secretary, an individual must (1) have conducted outstanding research in the field of agriculture or forestry, (2) have a PhD, and meet OPM qualification standards for a GS-15 position. The Secretary may appoint and employ a member of the Service with regard to Federal civil service laws regarding competitive service appointments, retention preferences, performance appraisal and performance actions, pay rates and classification, and adverse actions, except that a member of the Service will have the same rights as a GS-15 appointee to appeal to the Merits Systems Protection Board or the Office of Special Counsel. The Secretary must develop a performance appraisal system for the Service that provides for systematic appraisals and encourages excellence. The Secretary shall set compensation in a range between a GS-15 and an ES-I appointment, with an exception to ES-I maximum for a rate approved by the President by law. A member appointed to the Service from a prior position at an institution of higher education who retains the right to make contributions to that institution's retirement system may request that the Secretary contribute an amount not to exceed 10 percent of his pay to that system, but such a member shall not earn service credit under Federal law for time served in the Service except for purposes crediting annual leave. Any person involuntarily separated from the Service without cause may be appointed by the Secretary to a career appointment at the GS-15 level in the competitive service, unless that person was not a career appointee in the civil service of excepted service prior to his appointment to the Service, in which case that person's appointment following separation shall be to the excepted service for a term not to exceed 2 years. (Section 750B)

(81) Carryover

The Senate amendment amends the Hatch Act to allow a State agricultural institution to carryover the balance of any fiscal year's allocation of funding remaining at the end of the fiscal year to the next fiscal year, and if that balance is not spent in the succeeding fiscal year, an amount equivalent to that remaining shall be deducted from the following fiscal year allocation to that State. (Section 751)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 7202)

(82) Reporting of Technology Transfer Activities

(83) Compliance with Multistate and Integration Requirements

The Senate amendment amends the Hatch and Smith-Lever Act requirements for multistate extension and integrated research and extension activities to require:

(1) that in order to receive Smith-Lever Act funding a State must expend an amount equal to not less than 25 percent of Smith-Lever Act funds received by the State in a prior year on multistate activities, and in determining compliance with that requirement the Secretary shall include all cooperative extension funds expended by the State in the prior year, including Federal, State, and local funds; and

(2) that in order to receive Hatch and Smith-Lever Act funding, a State must expend an amount equal to not less than 25 percent of Smith-Lever Act and Hatch Act of 1887 funds received by the State in a prior year on integrated research and extension activities, and in determining compliance with that requirement the Secretary shall include all cooperative research and extension funds expended by the State in the prior year, including Federal, State, and local funds. This amendment would be effective October 1, 2002. (Section 753)

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(84) Authorization Percentages for Research and Extension Formula Funds

The Senate amendment subsection (a) amends section 1444 of NARETPA to increase the authorization level for 1890 Institutions extension appropriations from not less than 6 percent of the amount appropriated annually for extension at the 1862 Institutions under the Smith-Lever Act to not less than 15 percent of the amount appropriated annually under the Smith-Lever Act, and strikes obsolete language. Subsection (b) amends section 1445 of NARETPA to increase the authorization level for 1890 Institutions research appropriations from not less than 15 percent of the amount appropriated annually for research at the 1862 Institutions under the Hatch Act of 1887 to not less than 25 percent of the amount appropriated annually under the Hatch Act of 1887, and strikes obsolete language. (Section 757)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 7203) It is the intent of the Managers that increased formula funding for 1890 institutions be the mechanism for reaching this increased ratio, rather than a redistribution of the current limited formula funds.

(85) Carryover

The Senate amendment provides that in the same manner as the amendment made by section 751 for 1862 Institutions, this provision amends section 1445 of NARETPA to allow an 1890 Institution to carryover the balance of any fiscal year's allocation of funding remaining at the end of the fiscal year to the next fiscal year, and if that balance is not spent in the succeeding fiscal year, an amount equivalent to that remaining shall be deducted from the following fiscal year allocation to that 1890 Institution. land-grant colleges to obtain stakeholder input to require that the process for obtaining that input "reflects transparency and opportunity for input from producers of diverse agricultural crops and diverse geographic and cultural communities." (Section 771)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(88) Termination of Certain Schedule A Appointments

The Senate amendment provision provides for the termination 60 days after enactment of Schedule A, dual Federal-State appointments, of employees working in agricultural extension programs at 1862 Institutions, 1890 Institutions, and the University of the District of Columbia. An individual whose appointment is terminated but who remains employed in the agricultural extension program will continue to be eligible, to the same extent as before enactment of this provision, to participate in the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program, the Federal Employee Group Life Insurance Program, the Civil Service Retirement System, the Federal Employee Retirement System, and the Thrift Savings Plan, and will continue to receive Federal civil service employment credit to the same extent the individual was receiving that credit prior to enactment of this provision, as long as the employing college or university continues to fulfill the administrative and financial responsibilities (including making agency contributions) associated with providing those benefits. If an individual changes employment from an agricultural extension program at one institution to that in another, the individual will continue to receive such benefits as long as the second institution fulfills its administrative and financial responsibilities and the second institution had employed another person in the same position within 120 days before the date of employment of the individual. (Section 772)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 7401)

(92) Regulatory and Inspection Research

The Senate amendment authorizes the Secretary to use a public or private source, and requires the Secretary to use the most practicable source to provide timely cost-effective means of providing the research, to meet the urgent applied research needs of an inspection or regulatory agency of the Department (defined as APHIS, FSIS, GIPSA, and AMS) in carrying out agricultural marketing programs; programs to protect the animal and plant resources of the United States; and education programs or special studies to improve the safety of the food supply of the United States. Provision also requires the Secretary to establish guidelines to prevent any conflict of interest that may arise if an inspection or regulatory agency obtains research from a Federal agency the work or technology transfer efforts of which are funded in part by an industry subject to the jurisdiction of the inspection or regulatory agency. (Section 792)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(93) Emergency Research Transfer Authority

The Senate amendment, in addition to any transfer authority she may have, authorizes the Secretary to transfer up to 2 percent of any appropriation account of the Department for agricultural research, extension, marketing, animal and plant health, nutrition, food safety, nutrition education, or forestry programs to any other appropriation account of the Department for emergency research, extension, or education activities needed to address imminent threats to animal and plant health, food safety, or human nutrition, including bioterrorism. Such transfers are limited by three conditions: (1) the Secretary must determine the need is so imminent that the need will not be timely met by annual, supplemental, or emergency appropriations; (2) the aggregate total of such transfers cannot exceed $5 million per fiscal year; and (3) transfers must be approved by OMB. (Section 793)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(94) Review of Agricultural Research Service

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to conduct a review of the purpose, efficiency, effectiveness, and impact on agricultural research of ARS, using persons outside the Department, with a report to be submitted to the Agriculture Committees by September 30, 2004; and provides that Secretary shall use no more than 0.1 percent of appropriations made available to ARS in fiscal years 2002 through 2004 to carry out the study. (Section 794)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment creating a task force appointed by the Secretary to conduct a review of ARS and examining the merits of establishing National Institutes focused on disciplines important to the progress of food and agriculture sciences. The report is to be submitted one year after enactment of this legislation. (Section 7404)

The sciences related to plant biology and agriculture have contributed greatly to human welfare. The gains in the next decades have the potential to be astonishing. The challenge is to establish appropriate mechanisms, with adequate funding, to ensure that the United States is home to highest quality research and is able to maximize its benefits to its economy. In 1999, food and agriculture accounted for 16.4% of the GDP (or $1.5 trillion) yet attracted less than two percent of the federal research budget. In real terms, the U.S. now spends less on food and agricultural research than was spent in 1978.

The Managers believe a new model for plant and agricultural research might be patterned after the highly successful biomedical research conducted by the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The mechanisms employed by NIH and the National Science Foundation (NSF) have advanced science of the highest quality, attracted the best young scientists to careers in research and teaching, and provided a stream of discoveries that has been rapid and highly beneficial to society. The Managers intend that any new research institute would supplement, not supplant, the successful programs of USDA and other existing federal research programs. As such, the conferees urge the Secretary to place high priority in establishing a task force of members, the majority of which should be from the private sector, including institutions of higher education, that have extensive background and preeminence in field of plant and agricultural sciences research. In addition, the Secretary is urged to designate a Chairperson that has significant leadership experience in educational and research institutions and in depth knowledge of the research enterprises of the United States in leading the evaluation of the merits of establishing a National Institutes for Plant and Agricultural Sciences and provide recommendations to the Committees. In addition, the task force is charged with conducting a separate review of the purpose, efficiency, effectiveness, and impact of agricultural research conducted by the Agricultural Research Service. Together, these two separate reports should provide a roadmap for the future of the federal government concerning plant and agriculture research and the potential benefits that could be realized.

(95) Technology Transfer for Rural Development

The Senate amendment directs the Secretary, through RBS and ARS, to establish a program to promote USDA tech transfer opportunities to rural businesses and residents through a website featuring information on such technologies, an annual joint program for State economic development directors and Department rural development directors regarding such opportunities, and programs at each ARS lab at least biennially, with participation of other Federal labs as appropriate. Funding for the program is to come from amounts available to ARS and amounts available to RBS for salaries and expenses. (Section 795)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

The Managers expect the Rural Business-Cooperative Service to promote to rural businesses and residents the availability of technology transfer opportunities with the Agricultural Research Service (ARS), research facilities of the Forest Service, and other research activities of the Department. The Managers also expect ARS to continue its efforts to promote and publicize technology transfer opportunities available to the private sector, and especially those opportunities that would provide employment in rural areas.

(96) Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program

The Senate amendment provides $15 million in mandatory money in each of fiscal years 2002 through 2006 for the Secretary to carry out a beginning farmer and rancher development program to provide training, education, outreach, and technical assistance initiatives for beginning farmers or ranchers. A "beginning farmer or rancher" is defined as a person that has not operated a farm or ranch, or operated one for less than 10 years, and meeting such other criteria as the Secretary prescribes.

The program has three parts:

(1) The Secretary may make competitive grants to new and established local and regional training, education, outreach, and technical assistance initiatives for beginning farmers or ranchers, including programs and services (as appropriate) relating to: (A) mentoring, apprenticeships, and internships; (B) resources and referral; (C) assisting beginning farmers or ranchers in acquiring land from retiring farmers and ranchers; (D) innovative farm and ranch transfer strategies; (E) entrepreneurship and business training; (F) model land leasing contracts; (G) financial management training; (H) whole farm planning; (I) conservation assistance; (J) risk management education; (K) diversification and marketing strategies; (L) curriculum development; (M) understanding the impact of concentration and globalization; (N) basic livestock and crop farming practices; (O) the acquisition and management of agricultural credit; (P) environmental compliance; (Q) information processing; and (R) other similar subject areas. Entities eligible to receive grants include collaborative State, local, tribal or regionally-based networks or partnerships of private or public entities including State cooperative extension services, Federal, State, and tribal agencies, community-based and nongovernmental organizations, colleges and universities (including community colleges) and others as determined by the Secretary. Grants are for 3-years, are subject to a 25% matching requirement, and not less than 25 percent of funds used to carry out the grant program must be set aside to support programs that address needs of limited resource beginning farmers and ranchers, socially disadvantaged beginning farmers and ranchers, and farmworkers desiring to become farmers or ranchers.

(2) The Secretary is authorized to establish teams to develop curricula and conduct educational programs and workshops for beginning farmers and ranchers tailored to diverse crop and regional areas. In establishing such teams, the Secretary can use the services of specialists in beginning farmer and rancher training and USDA employees who can offer program expertise. The Secretary is authorized to enter into cooperative agreements with the same entities that are eligible for the grants to carry out team programs.

(3) The Secretary is required to establish an online clearinghouse to make curricula, training materials, and online courses available for beginning farmers and ranchers.

The Secretary is required to obtain stakeholder input from beginning farmers and ranchers; national, state, tribal, and local organizations or other persons with expertise in operating beginning farmer and rancher programs; and the Advisory Committee on Beginning Farmers and Ranchers.

The provision allows for participation of non-beginning farmers and ranchers in these programs to the extent that the Secretary determines it will not detract from the primary purpose of beginning farmer and rancher education.

In addition to the mandatory funding provided, the Secretary is authorized to collect and use fees for the delivery of programs or workshops by beginning farmer and rancher education teams or by the online clearing-house, and the Secretary is authorized to receive contributions under cooperative agreements for program delivery by education teams.

Four percent of funds used for grants may be used by the Secretary for administrative costs. Funds provided remain available for obligation for two fiscal years. (Section 796)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision with an amendment making the 4% set-aside for administrative costs apply only to competitive grants appropriations and making the mandatory funding subject to appropriations. (Section 7405)

(97) Sense of Congress Regarding Doubling of Funding for Agricultural Research

The Senate amendment expresses sense of Congress that food and agricultural research funding should be doubled over next five years. (Section 797)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute adopts the Senate provision. (Section 7406)

(98) Rural Policy Research

The Senate amendment provides $15 million in mandatory money in each of fiscal years 2002 through 2006 for the Secretary to make competitive research grants for applied and outcome oriented research and policy research and analysis of rural issues relating to: (1) rural sociology; (2) effects of demographic change, including aging population, outmigration, and labor resources; (3) needs of groups of rural citizens, including senior citizens, families, youth, children, and socially disadvantaged individuals; (4) rural community development; (5) rural infrastructure, including water and waste, community facilities, telecommunications, electricity, and high-speed broadband services; (6) rural business development, including credit, venture capital, cooperatives, value-added enterprises, new and alternative markets, farm and rural enterprise formation, and entrepreneurship; (7) farm management, including strategic planning, business and marketing opportunities, risk management, natural resources and environmental management, organic and sustainable farming systems, and intergenerational transfer strategies; (8) rural education and extension programs, including methods of delivery, availability of resources, and use of distance learning; and (9) rural health, including mental health, on-farm safety, and food safety.

The Secretary must seek stakeholder input in making grants, and ensure that grants will provide high-quality research of use to public policymakers and private entities in making decisions that affect development in rural areas.

Eligible grantees include individuals, colleges and universities, a State cooperative institution, a community college, a non-profit organization, institution, or association, a business association, or a regional partnership of public and private entities.

Grant terms may be up to 5 years. The Secretary may establish a matching requirement, but a grant to a business association is subject to a 100 percent match. Up to four percent of funds may be used by the Secretary for administrative costs. Funds provided remain available for two fiscal years. (Section 798)

The House bill contains no comparable provision.

The Conference substitute deletes the Senate provision.

(99) Priority for Farmers and Ranchers Participating in Conservation Programs

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary, in carrying out new on-farm research or extension programs or projects authorized by this bill, amendments made by this bill, and any later enacted law, to give priority to carrying out such programs or projects using farms and ranchers of farmers and ranchers that participate in Federal agricultural conservation programs. (Section 798A)
