

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

SENATOR ROBERT C. BYRD'S 86TH BIRTHDAY

HON. NICK J. RAHALL, II

OF WEST VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2003

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Speaker, recently U.S. Senator ROBERT C. BYRD, D-W.Va., received the prestigious "Freedom from Fear" Medal from the Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt Institute in Hyde Park, N.Y.

Shakespeare warned us, "men close their doors against a setting sun." But, in the extraordinary moments of human endeavor, when light of liberty dares to fade, often only a single soul stands to embrace its care—a soul who has stood vigil through the night armed with reason, buoyed by history and strengthened by vision. This award and Senator BYRD's honor reflect his place in human history.

Today marks the 86th Birthday of West Virginia's finest. Senator ROBERT C. BYRD's personal life and his public service have consistently embraced the same principles: diligent work, constant improvement, unwavering commitment, unswerving honesty, and an overarching sense of history.

In his 86 years Senator BYRD has been a legislative craftsman, parliamentarian extraordinaire, skillful architect, master builder, visionary, dreamer, and doer. From teacher, scholar, mentor, leader, author, historian, and diplomat, Senator BYRD has borne many mantles throughout the years. But the one of which he is most proud, and perhaps cherishes the most, is that of being a West Virginian.

He has been a mentor to me, a pillar of strength for West Virginia, and a voice of reason for the Nation. After 86 years and five decades of service in Congress, his work is not yet done. The West Virginian of the Past Century is quickly forging a sterling legacy in the new one. And, as before, he is leading the way.

TRIBUTE TO BOB BOWERS

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2003

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, it is with a solemn heart that I take this opportunity to pay tribute to the life of Bob Bowers who passed away recently at the age of 74. Bob was a pillar of the Alamosa, Colorado community, and as his family mourns their loss, I think it is appropriate that we remember his life and celebrate his contributions to our nation today.

Bob was born in Springfield, Massachusetts in 1929. As a young man, Bob answered our nation's call to duty and joined the United States Air Force, where he served honorably before moving to Colorado. Bob served the state of Colorado for 25 years as a Health Inspector for the Colorado Department of Health. He married his wife Jo in 1948; they were married for 55 years.

Bob was very active in the Alamosa community. He was a volunteer for 4-H, the Boys and Girls Club, Share Colorado, the American Legion and the Alamosa Senior Citizens Center. Bob also served as a Boy Scout leader, where he passed along his outdoors skills, knowledge and morals to young people. Each year, Bob spent his winter holidays volunteering as Santa Clause for charitable organizations throughout the San Luis Valley. Bob was truly dedicated to bettering the lives of the citizens of Alamosa and many people there are better off as the result of his contributions.

Mr. Speaker, the dedication and selflessness that Bob Bowers has shown is certainly worthy of recognition before this body of Congress. It is my privilege to pay tribute to him for his contributions to the State of Colorado and our nation. I would like to extend my thoughts and deepest sympathies to Bob's family and friends during this difficult time.

TRIBUTE TO IRV KUPCINET— KNOWN TO MANY AS MR. CHICAGO

HON. DANNY K. DAVIS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2003

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, it was virtually impossible to live in Chicago and not be affected by Irv Kupcinet or Kup as he was fondly called. Kup knew everybody who had any public presence in Chicago and of course, knew powerful people and celebrities from around the world.

Kup was best known as a columnist for the Chicago Sun Times but was much more than a columnist, he was a communicator and used many mediums for that purpose. He had a television show, was a great emcee, was actively involved in civic, community, charitable and philanthropic activity. He was a fundraiser, a promoter, an icon, a legend.

Kup had the ability to make use of not only himself; but he was also able to rely upon others in very serious and strategic ways as he did with his assistant for 34 years, Ms. Stella Foster.

Kup was a creative genius who could take a mere occurrence and turn it into a great and glorious event. He was very open, comfortable and at ease with practically any and everybody. Kup grew up on the westside of Chicago, which is the heart of my Congressional District. He learned to walk with kings and queens; but never lost the common touch, yes, all men and women did matter with him but none too much. Over the years, Kup's column was distributed to more than 100 newspapers around the world. In 1982, he was elected to Chicago's journalism Hall of Fame. He broadcast Chicago Bears Football games with Jack Brickhouse for 24 years, he appeared in two movies and had a syndicated television program "The Tonight Show," which ran from 1959 to 1986 and at one point was on 70 stations.

Kup never forgot the community of his birth, north Lawndale in Chicago which had some transitions and fell upon hard times. Kup was a star athlete, played football on a team with former president Gerald Ford and was drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles. Kup was many things to many people, but most of all he was husband and companion to his beloved wife Essee, father to his children, grandfather, son to his parents, brother to his siblings and friend to many.

There was nothing quite like being mentioned in Kup's column, and if you were on the scope, you'd eventually get there.

Yes, Kup walked with Kings, Queens, Presidents, Stars and Captains of business and industry, but never lost the common touch.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. HELEN EVERSON

HON. TAMMY BALDWIN

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2003

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to extend my congratulations to Mrs. Helen Everson, who has been selected as Edgerton Rotary's Honored Citizen of the Year. Helen and her husband, Harland Everson, purchased the Edgerton Reporter, in 1951 and made the risky yet insightful decision to change from hot type to offset printing, the first paper in Wisconsin to do so. I rise today to pay tribute to a constituent whose life-long commitment to serving her community as an entrepreneur, philanthropist, and mother serves as a shining example to us all.

Helen was raised on a 5,000-acre sheep ranch in northwestern South Dakota and attended a two-room country school until her graduation. Helen's professional experience began at Keating Buick where she quickly gained greater responsibility and expertise and eventually became the Secretary-Treasurer of the car dealership.

Helen's life would change dramatically after she met and married Harland. The couple tackled the challenges of operating a growing and award-winning newspaper, in addition to raising a family. Harland and Helen's daughters, Carol and Diane, are both accomplished women in their own right. Carol is an associate professor at the Medical College of Wisconsin and Diane is the publisher of the Edgerton Reporter and past president of the National Newspaper Association.

Diane describes her mother as a "heat seeking missile with boundless energy." She is still a tireless advocate for civic development and the Edgerton community. Under her leadership of Edgerton's annual Tobacco Heritage Days, the celebration grew in popularity and became profitable for the first time. For an impressive 52 years, the Everson family has been the steward of one of the state's only independent newspapers.

Mr. Speaker, I join the Edgerton Rotary and the Edgerton community in recognizing Helen Everson's achievements and congratulate her as she accepts the Honored Citizen of the Year award.

IN RECOGNITION OF LEROY
CARLSON

HON. MARK UDALL

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2003

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor LeRoy Carlson for his three decades of exemplary work with the United States Fish and Wildlife Service. Leroy Carlson is one of Colorado's outstanding field biologists, preserving and protecting the Rocky Mountain region's wildlife.

Lee received his bachelor's degree from Colorado State University in Wildlife Biology and his master's degree in 1974 with an emphasis on the wildlife impacts from oil shale development. He began his career in Galveston, Texas as a field staff biologist for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service where he did permitting work for the Army Corps of Engineers on housing developments, levies and wetlands.

After 2 years in Texas, Lee moved to the Lakewood, Colorado offices of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service where he worked for the next 27 years until his retirement in 2003. His innovative approaches to a wide range of issues enabled him to provide oversight and protection to the region's threatened and endangered species and to guide many of the region's largest projects to successful completion.

Lee's ability to coordinate the protection of wildlife was most evident on large Federal projects, such as the Animas-LaPlata water project in Southwest Colorado. He earned the respect of all involved during his 3-year oversight of negotiations between the Bureau of Reclamation, the regional Native American tribes, local water users and regional environmental groups. From these contentious discussions, the San Juan Recovery Program was created, which provided significant mitigation for fish and wildlife resources and included an additional 7 years of research on listed fish.

His experience and problem solving attitude in managing complex water projects led to the successful re-issuance of agency water permits on projects throughout the Roosevelt and Arapahoe National Forests. Lee also provided skilled leadership on the Platte River Program for endangered species conservation, involving multiple States and Federal agencies. The Platte River Program included a unique approach to conserving listed wildlife species through the conversion of water use to financial contributions paid by project developers.

When the Colorado Department of Transportation (CDOT) needed a new way to address U.S. Fish and Wildlife endangered species requirements, Lee developed an innovative solution that included staffing within CDOT to help that agency evaluate the impacts on wildlife so that the needs of CDOT could be met in a timely manner. His plan became a model for future projects and allowed CDOT to determine project impacts for the next 20 years and develop mitigation plans. The Short Grass Prairie Project received two national awards for the creative approaches Lee used with State and Federal agencies. This became the Colorado model for the Prebles Project in the East Plum Creek area, protecting the Prebles Meadow Jumping Mouse, a rare species that was placed on the Endangered Species list in 1998.

Lee's service and achievements show how a skilled public servant can make important contributions to the quality of our natural environment, as well as our communities. I ask my colleagues to join me in thanking LeRoy Carlson for his far-reaching accomplishments and his commitment to the protection of our wildlife resources. I wish him good health and happiness in the future.

TRIBUTE TO TOMMY THOMPSON

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2003

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, it is my honor to rise and pay tribute to a man who has done a great deal for the betterment of the State of Colorado. Tommy Thompson is a Sergeant At Arms in the Colorado State legislature. At the age of 80, Tommy is the oldest person working in Colorado's State Capitol. However, he is also one of the most energetic and one of the most beloved. I am proud to call Tommy's contributions to the attention of my colleagues and our nation here today.

Tommy was serving as Vice-Chairman of the Arapahoe County Republican party when he was appointed as Sergeant At Arms in 1997. Tommy loves his job and comes to work each day with a smile. That smile, and Tommy's friendly demeanor, remain with him throughout the day. Tommy has many friends throughout the Capitol and he gets along fantastically with members from both sides of the aisle. Nearly everyone who has worked in the Capitol has fond memories of times spent with Tommy.

Tommy's contributions to our nation reach far beyond the steps of Colorado's state Capitol. In World War II, Tommy answered our country's call to duty and served honorably aboard the USS Mount Vernon for over three years. Following the war, Tommy went to work for Ford Motor Company, and then opened a bicycle repair shop. He is still active in the Republican Forum, in addition to his work at the state Capitol. At the age of 80, Tommy Thompson has never slowed his pace, and he has no plans to do so now.

Mr. Speaker, it is my honor to rise and pay tribute to Tommy Thompson before this body of Congress and our nation. Tommy has dedicated many years to assuring that Colorado's government runs efficiently. Tommy has touched the lives of many Coloradans, and it is my honor to pay tribute to his contributions here today. Thanks for your service, Tommy.

TRIBUTE TO MR. JOHN DONOVAN,
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR CHICAGO
COALITION FOR THE HOMELESS

HON. DANNY K. DAVIS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2003

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, the poet Robert Frost is quoted as writing, "Some people see things that are and ask why, I dream of things that have never been and ask, why not." Such was the life, such was the philosophy and such was the work of John Donovan, known to his friends as Juancho.

John was a former Catholic priest who found his niche in organizing, working with and working for people in our world known as being poor. He worked in Panama, in the Rogers Park and Uptown communities of Chicago before becoming executive director of the coalition to end homelessness. He also worked as a priest, administrator and teacher at Chicago's Visitation High School. He was educated with a bachelor and masters degrees from Saint Mary of the Lake University in Mundelein.

John was the recipient of many awards and honors and was featured in Studs "Terkel's Hope Dies Last." In an interview with Studs, John said: "Some people who are better off have the luxury of losing hope. But poor people never lose hope. They can't afford to. That's the only thing they can hold on to, and that's where hope springs eternal." Some people say, "How can you continue to work with the homeless and the poor?" That's where I get my energy because they never lose hope." "I'm not practicing as a priest, but my ministry, remember is organizing. My job is organizing hope. There are people in the community who still have hope. That's the last thing they lose. I'm organizing hope for change."

John Donovan, a man of hope, a force for change. May he rest in peace. I extend condolence to John's wife, their children, and other members of John's family.

CHAPTER 12 BANKRUPTCY
EXTENSION BILL

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2003

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, today I am once again introducing legislation to extend authorization of Chapter 12 of the bankruptcy code. This legislation should not be necessary, but a permanent Chapter 12 authorization remains a hostage to more comprehensive bankruptcy law changes.

Chapter 12 provides an important backstop for our Nation's struggling family farmers by allowing them to reorganize their debts and keep their farms. It provides an important bankruptcy option to farm families to keep their livelihood and maintain their way of life.

This bill provides a textbook example that what we do here in Washington directly affects the lives of real people facing real financial challenges.

In Wisconsin recently, a Columbus farmer filed for Chapter 12 bankruptcy. He works
