This Act may be cited as the "Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act for Defense, the Global War on Terror, and Hurricane Recovery, 2006".

Mr. GREGG. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. President, it is my pleasure and honor to describe for the Senate the supplemental appropriations bill that has been reported by our committee. The President has requested supplemental appropriations for this fiscal year, which the committee has reviewed. The House has passed a bill reporting and referring to the Senate this bill that is described as an emergency. The funds are needed primarily for the global war on terror, which is included in title I of the bill.

The total committee substitute would provide $106,474,107,000 in supplemental appropriations for this fiscal year, 2006. It is above the President's request by $14,253,522,000. It is also above the House-passed bill, and we have broken this down and presented it to the Senate in titles.

The first title provides money primarily for defense-related activities, as I said, to carry out the global war on terror. It provides funding for ongoing operations and reconstruction efforts in Iraq and Afghanistan.

In title II, we have included funds above the President's request for recovery from the damages caused by the hurricanes in the Gulf of Mexico in 2005. The President requested $19.7 billion for this purpose. The committee, in consideration of amendments offered by Senators during the markup session, approved an additional $7.4 billion for this purpose. So the total of title II is $27,126,662,000.

Title III reflects the provision of an amendment that was offered in committee by Senators DORGAN of North Dakota and BURNS of Montana relating to agricultural disaster assistance for farmers and ranchers in States that are affected either by the hurricanes of 2005 or drought, flood, wildfires, and other natural disasters that have occurred. That amendment provides exactly $3,944 million for emergency agricultural disaster assistance.

Title IV reflects an amendment that was approved by the committee for emergency drought assistance, more broadly defined, and is an amendment offered by the Senator from New Mexico, Mr. DOMENICI, and agreed to by the committee, with $12,500,000 for that purpose.

Title V is an appropriation of $648,050,000 for port security enhancements. This was requested by—and the committee approved the request—the distinguished Senator from West Virginia, Mr. BYRD.

Title VI includes funds for influenza pandemic preparation and response activities. The administration asked for this amendment. It was included by the committee. It provides $2,300 million for that purpose.

Title VII is the part of the bill that has general provisions and technical provisions.

Overall, the bill can be described as having two major points of focus. First, it provides needed funding for our military to continue to carry out operations overseas. It also includes the commitment to rebuild the gulf coast to permit inhabitants there to recover from the devastation caused by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita.

It is my opinion—and I think this reflects the action taken by our committee—that it is critical that these funds be provided expeditiously, and we need the cooperation and support of all Senators to accomplish this goal. The committee recommendation has been available to Senators for several weeks. I hope we can consider amendments in an orderly fashion, that they can be brought up as early as possible so they can be considered without prolonged and unnecessary delay.

I have to say that the individual subcommittee chairmen worked hard to identify the needs in the areas under their jurisdiction. Those who serve as ranking minority members of the subcommittees have had opportunities to participate. It has been a bipartisan effort made by our committee to bring to the bill a recommended appropriation amount that would serve our national security interests as well as our economic interests and other problems that were caused by natural disasters.

At the appropriate time, I will move that the committee substitute be adopted and be treated as original text for the purpose of further amendments. I have to say at this point that the work of this committee reflects bipartisan cooperation and mutual respect between the Members on both sides of the aisle. It carries out a tradition that I believe has been one of the hallmarks of the activity of the Senate. It has reflected credit, therefore, on the Senate.

I hope Members will understand that we are not addressing issues on the basis of partisanship but on the basis of need to address problems that confront our country and those which were unanticipated when the President submitted his initial budget request for this fiscal year. We have had other events that have caused us to have to proceed to adopt emergency appropriations bills, and here again that is something we have to deal with. We are presenting this bill as a good-faith effort to meet the needs of the country as we see them and as requested by the President.

I am happy to yield to my friend, the distinguished Senator from West Virginia, Mr. BYRD, who has provided very important assistance to me personally and, through his service in the Senate, to the work of this committee for a long time. We appreciate his valuable assistance. All members of the committee have worked to be sure that this is a good bill and deserves the support of the Senate. I think it does.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia is recognized.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank the truly distinguished and able chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Mr. COCHRAN, for all of his hard work on this bill. He is so diligent, so fair, so honorable. I am proud to serve with him. Mississippi is so well represented in the Senate by this man. As a matter of great pride, I call him my friend, my colleague, my chairman.

The President has asked the Congress to approve over $92 billion of emergency spending, including $72.5 billion for the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan and $19.8 billion for the Federal response to the terrible hurricanes that struck the Gulf States in August and September of 2005.

When the committee opened its hearings on the supplemental on March 7, I stated my belief that it is our duty to scrutinize the President's request not only for what is in the bill but also for what is not in the bill. I said to the distinguished chairman and to Senator LANDRIEU and others that I would help them in every way I could in responding to the terrible storms that hit their States.

My State of West Virginia is often hit by floods and other damaging disasters, such as the recent accidents in West Virginia's coal mines. I am very sensitive to the ability of our Federal Government to prepare for and respond to disasters promptly and with competence, which is what our citizens need and what our citizens deserve. Sadly, many of our Federal agencies are no longer up to these fundamental tasks.

Mr. President, the chairman of the committee has taken the bull by the horns. Under his leadership, the recommendations of the committee fill in some of the gaps in the administration's request for funds required to respond to the hurricanes.

The committee added approximately $7.4 billion to the President's budget request—that is not chickenfeed—$7.4 billion added to the President's budget request for Federal programs to respond to these disasters.

I have to also note that the chairman of the committee included at my request—he would probably have done it, anyhow; perhaps I made it a little easier—and the request of others an amount of $35.6 million for improved mine safety and health programs. In the wake of 18 coal mining deaths in the State of West Virginia this year and another 16 mining deaths in other States this year, it is imperative that the Congress act immediately to ensure that an adequate number of safety inspectors will be provided for our Nation's mines and to expedite the introduction of critical safety equipment.

It is simply, absolutely, positively inexcusable that our miners have oxygen canisters that last only 1 hour—1 hour—when miners may be trapped underground for several days, or that the miners may not have emergency communications equipment. Think of that. Miners may not have emergency communications equipment that can reach the surface in the event of an extended rescue effort. I tell you, this is something to talk about.

The chairman has my genuine appreciation for including these funds in the committee-reported bill. I also thank Senator SPECTER, Senator HARKIN, and Senator ROCKEFELLER for their support of the initiative.

By the way, Senator ROCKEFELLER is recuperating from a very serious operation. He may not get back in the harness here until June. I was talking with him a couple of days ago. He probably won't get back until June. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, my colleague from West Virginia.

The bill before the Senate also includes a provision to extend the abandoned mine land authority through fiscal year 2007. The AML program and combined benefits fund are very important programs that are needed by retired coal miners, by their families, and by coalfields communities throughout the country. I thank Chairman COCHRAN. I thank Senator SPECTER and Senator DOMENICI for supporting this effort.

The supplemental appropriations bill includes $67.8 billion for the Department of Defense to prosecute the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Upon passage of this legislation, the total amount appropriated for the war in Iraq, including the cost of reconstruction, will be $320 billion. Mr. President, that is $320 for every minute since Jesus Christ was born 2,000 years ago. That is a lot of money. Man, think of that.

That is a staggering figure, but what is even more unbelievable is that the monthly cost of the war in Iraq has been steadily, steadily, steadily escalating. In May 2004, the Defense Department reported to the Armed Services Committee that the cost of operations in Iraq was averaging $4 billion per month. The Congressional Research Service reported this month that during fiscal year 2005, the cost of the war in Iraq had escalated to $5.6 billion per month. The Congressional Research Service estimates that the cost of operations in Iraq during the current fiscal year will grow to $6.8 billion per month.

I ask the Chair, can you comprehend how much money that is, $6.8 billion? That is $6.80 for every minute since Jesus Christ was born. Contemplate that.

The American people ought to be asking how on Earth has the monthly cost of the war in Iraq grown by 70 percent just in 2 years. Isn't there any way to control the cost of the war while making sure that our troops continue to get the support they need?

The truth is that the administration is out of control when it comes to asking for emergency spending. According to a Congressional Budget Office report, the White House has requested $515 billion in emergency spending between 2001 and 2006. That is more than 3½ times the combined total of all—all, a-1-1—all of the emergency spending bills in the previous 10 years.

Say that again. Did you hear me? More than 3½ times the combined total of all of the emergency spending bills in the previous 10 years.

The President refuses to include in his annual budget request a realistic estimate of the cost of the wars. As a result, there is virtually no debate about how our country is going to pay for these massive bills. And what is more, these emergency spending requests mean that Congress has only a limited opportunity to scrutinize the administration's spending proposals. As a result, nobody—nobody—seems to be minding the store when it comes to controlling the escalating cost of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan.

I tell you, I was in favor of fighting the war in Afghanistan, but I was not in favor of going into Iraq. No, man. No.

The failure of the President to heed the repeated calls by the Senate—by the Senate, that is this body—to budget for the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan has resulted in more unnecessary spending that is hidden—hidden—from public view.

For example, the President requested $8.3 billion in military procurement to replace wornout or battle-damaged equipment, but this is essentially forward funding of replacement equipment that should be bought using funds in the regular appropriations bill. Since we do not need to buy the same equipment twice, future Defense spending bills need not appropriate procurement funds that have already been approved in previously enacted emergency appropriations bills.

This forward funding of military procurement accounts should then mean savings in the regular Defense appropriations bill. But when will these savings appear?

With the approval of this bill, the Department of Defense budget for fiscal year 2006 is $534 billion, an increase of 74 percent over fiscal year 2001. Congress has rubberstamped much of this increase without indepth budget justification.

Until the President begins to include a real estimate of the cost of the wars in his annual budget, American taxpayers will continue to see billions more dollars spent without any true measure of accountability. That is why I will again offer an amendment to the supplemental appropriations bill that calls for the President to budget for the cost of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan.

The Senate has given its strong support to this amendment four times—four times—and the President continues to look the other way, continues to disregard this direction by the Senate. The Senate must insist on a long overdue and responsible step of budgeting for the cost of the war.

I am also very disappointed that the White House limited the supplemental request to the cost of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan and in response to Hurricanes Katrina, Rita, and Wilma. As the Senate debates immigration and border security, it is rather astonishing, wouldn't you think, that no funding was included for border security. Nor were any funds included for port security. Dubai Ports World is now operating terminals at six of our major ports.

The "layered defense"—if I may put quotation marks around those two words—the "layered defense" that the administration claims is protecting our ports is, in fact, paper thin—paper thin. It is just that thin.

Nor did the President seek any supplemental funding for preparing for or preventing the outbreak of the avian flu or to help our farmers who have been devastated by drought and by the hurricanes.

The Appropriations Committee, under the chairmanship of Senator COCHRAN, has wisely approved funding for port security, wisely approved funding for the avian flu, wisely approved funding for drought relief, and I hope that border security funding will be approved this week on the floor.

I challenge the White House—it is easy to be brave from a distance; I am quite a ways up the avenue from the White House—I challenge the White House—come on—I challenge the White House to get serious about these issues. These are also emergencies. The White House should be leading rather than opposing efforts to improve border security and port security, and it should be preparing for the avian flu and helping our farmers.

The administration has a huge credibility gap when it comes to homeland security. There is a continuing drumbeat that another terrorist attack may occur or is even likely. The President, in his State of the Union Address, told the American people:

The enemy has not lost the desire or capability to attack us.

That is true. One look at the budget reveals an odd complacency. The administration's speech writers and his policy writers seem to be living in different worlds.

In response to the administration's decision to allow Dubai Ports World to operate terminals in six major U.S. ports, it is asserted by the administration that it has a robust, layered security system for our ports. And yet for the second straight year, the White House proposes to eliminate the Port Security Grant Program. Of the $816 million the Congress has appropriated since September 11 for port security, only $46 million was requested by the President. There is nothing "robust" about that.

How serious are we about port security, when the President, the Vice President, the Secretary of Defense, and the Secretary of Homeland Security don't even know about the decision to sell the operation of six U.S. ports to a State-owned foreign company?

How serious are we about port security when Customs and Border Protection inspects only 5 percent of the 11 million containers that come into the country each year?

How serious are we when the Coast Guard Deepwater budget for replacing its ships, planes, and helicopters will not be completed until 2026?

The administration has not requested one thin dime for port security in this $92 billion supplemental.

The committee-reported bill includes my amendment to provide $648 million to fill critical gaps in our paper-thin port security program. The bill now provides resources for more radiation portal monitors, more container inspections, more port inspections, and would fund port security grants at the levels anticipated in the Collins-Lieberman and Stevens-Inouye port security authorization bills.

The American people—our people, your people—yes, our people, the American people—expect more than just a paper-thin—you can almost see through that—the American people expect more than just a paper-thin security plan for our ports. The bill, as reported by the Senate Appropriations Committee, begins—and Senator COCHRAN, the chairman of that committee, can take a lot of credit—begins to address this paper-thin port security program by including a total of $648 million to fill critical gaps in our port security program. I thank Senators DAN INOUE, HERB KOHL, and TOM HARKIN for their support of my initiative in committee. Whose initiative? Mine, my initiative. Dizzy Dean says it is all right to brag if you have done it. Well, I have done it.

The White House should step to the plate and support this effort.

While the committee-reported bill has made some progress to address the gaps in the Nation's port security defenses, it virtually ignores border security. The Senate has recently been debating immigration and border security legislation to authorize a whole host of items intended to secure our borders. The legislation would authorize the hiring of additional Border Patrol agents. It would authorize the hiring of additional immigration enforcement agents and detention officers. It would authorize border surveillance, technology, and unmanned aerial vehicles, and fences.

I am very concerned—very concerned—about lax border security. In fact, together with our colleague, Senator LARRY CRAIG, and with the support of my Homeland Security Subcommittee chairman, Senator JUDD GREGG, I led the effort in the Senate last year to appropriate hard dollars to begin to put real teeth—see these teeth? These are real teeth. They are just 88 years old. These are real teeth. Well, that is what we did. We put real teeth in our border security agenda. We did not merely authorize the hiring of more Border Patrol agents; we appropriated hard dollars to hire 500 more Border Patrol agents, as well as more immigration enforcement agents and detention officers. Don't you feel better about that? I do. I can sleep a little better. I will bet Senator HARKIN sleeps better at night because of it. Those 500 Border Patrol agents have been hired and trained and are deployed on our borders. They are out there defending our borders while we are sleeping. Think about that.

As we hire more Border Patrol agents and other immigration enforcement officials, they must have the tools they need to do their job. We need to start paying for those tools now so that they will be available as more and more Border Patrol and immigration enforcement officials are hired and trained.

I will be talking again about this matter as the Senate proceeds to consider this supplemental appropriations bill. Securing our borders requires more than just hot air. Hot air is cheap. We must put real dollars to work for border security.

Mr. President, I am pleased to report to the Senate that the committee-reported bill, under the strong leadership of Chairman COCHRAN—hey, you people down there in Mississippi better hold on to this man. He does a terrific job on this committee. This bill includes several other initiatives to deal with gaps in funding in the budget request.

I would suggest that principal among these gaps is an amount of $2.3 billion required to prepare for and to respond to a potential influenza pandemic such as the avian flu. My mother died during the great influenza epidemic of 1917 and 1918; the great influenza epidemic. So there is money here to prepare for and to respond to a potential influenza pandemic. The World Health Organization recommends that countries stockpile enough antiviral medications to cover 25 percent of the population or 80 million Americans.

According to the Department of Health and Human Services, there is a shortfall of 30 million courses. HHS will not receive the antivirals it has ordered until the end of this year.

We are also well short of the 20 million goal that has been set by HHS for purchasing pre-pandemic vaccine. Experts have said that a vaccine is the only effective way to stop the spread of a pandemic.

The availability of the vaccine and medicine is limited. The availability is limited. We should not wait to place our orders. The White House should support this effort.

The committee-reported bill also includes approximately $3.9 billion for emergency agricultural disaster assistance for farmers and ranchers in States affected by recent hurricanes in the gulf, drought in the southern plains and throughout the western corn belt, and excessive rainfall in North Dakota—North Dakota: Do you know where that is? That is north of South Dakota. North Dakota—and the upper Midwest flood. Nearly 80 percent of all U.S. counties were designated as primary or contiguous disaster areas by the Secretary of Agriculture or the President in 2005.

So, Mr. President, the chairman and I look forward to a good debate on this supplemental appropriations bill. It is a good bill, and it is truly responsive—truly responsive—to the needs of the American people.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. President, I want to express my genuine heartfelt appreciation for the remarks of the distinguished Senator from West Virginia about me and about the work of our committee. He has been a very valuable tutor, friend, and companion during the work of our Committee on Appropriations since I have been on the committee, since January of 1981. I have learned a lot from him. I have learned to respect him in terms of the conscientious way he goes about carrying out his responsibilities to the people of West Virginia and also to the people of the United States as a U.S. Senator. We can all study his career and his dedication to public service with great profit for our own interests. We can be guided by his example and be very proud of our work product if we do.

Mr. President, at the appropriate time, I will ask unanimous consent that the committee amendment be agreed to and the bill as thus amended be considered as original text for the purpose of further amendment, and that no points of order be waived by the request. I give the Senate notice that I will make that unanimous consent request in due course, and it probably will occur immediately after our break for the policy luncheons of the respective parties of the Senate. I am happy to yield to any other Senator who wishes to make any comments. I understand the Senator from Minnesota would like to speak as if in morning business, and I yield the floor.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to speak as in morning business for up to 10 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(The remarks of Mr. COLEMAN pertaining to the submission of S. Res. 442 are located in today's RECORD under "Submission of Concurrent and Senate Resolutions.")

Mr. COLEMAN. I yield the floor.

RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the hour of 12:30 p.m. having arrived, the Senate stands in recess until 2:15 p.m.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 12:34 p.m., recessed until 2:17 p.m. and reassembled when called to order by the Presiding Officer (Mr. VOINOVICH).

MAKING EMERGENCY SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING SEPTEMBER 30, 2006—Continued

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Hampshire is recognized.

AMENDMENT NO. 3594

Mr. GREGG. Mr. President, we are now on the supplemental appropriations bill. One of the issues raised in the supplemental appropriations bill, of course, is national defense. The purpose of this bill is primarily to fund efforts to fight terrorism and especially to make sure that our troops in Iraq and in Afghanistan have what they need in order to effectively fight terrorism. A big part, however, of national defense is clearly border security—being sure that we know who comes into this country, know what their purposes are when they come into this country, and whether they are coming into this country for the purpose of visiting us or maybe participating in our economy or for the purpose of doing us harm.

Unfortunately, we have for a number of years experienced borders which are very porous. That is a function of our history—where we have always believed in open borders, especially with our neighbors to the north and to the south.

That has been one of our great attitudes as a nation—that we are an inviting nation, and we have always felt strongly that we should have reasonably open borders. But in the post-9/11 world—and especially in light of the dramatic number of people who have been coming into our country illegally—we can no longer tolerate that approach, unfortunately. We need to put more aggressive effort into making sure that we know who is coming over the borders and limiting those folks coming over our borders to people who want to come in here legally and who do not want to do us harm.

As a result of that, we have undertaken for the last couple of years an aggressive effort to significantly increase the number and the effort of our Border Patrol agencies—Customs, Border Patrol, Coast Guard, and ICE. In fact, over the last 1½ years we have dramatically increased funding for all of these different agencies. This chart lists those types of increases in those prior supplementals and in the last appropriations bill relative to border security. We increased Border Patrol agents by 1,500. That is a lot. That is an increase of over 10 percent in agents, an increase in detention officers by 650 officers, investigators, and detention beds—again, by almost 10 percent.

This is a significant ramping up of the number of, for lack of a better word, boots on the ground on our border—especially on our southern border. That is exactly what we needed to do. In fact, as we move into the outyears, the administration—the President specifically—has made a strong commitment to try to continue this increase in our border security.

This chart reflects how many agents we intend to add every year so that we can make sure we have the necessary personnel on the border in order to make sure that we can limit dramatically—in fact, basically stop—illegal immigration into this country, especially along the southern border.

The reason we have added 1,500 agents so far—and we intend to add another 1,500 or 2,000—and the reason we are not adding more every year is because the infrastructure can't handle any more, to be honest with you. We can't train more, and we actually can't find more agents. In many instances, people who qualify—I have forgotten the numbers. I think it is something like 30,000 or 40,000 applications that we have to go through in order to get down to 1,500 agents.

It is actually hard to become a Border Patrol agent from a percentage standpoint of the number of people applying for the job versus the number of people who actually end up getting the job. It is harder to become a Border Patrol agent than it is to get into Harvard. That is because Border Patrol agents require special skills. They are talented people. And the type of folks we want to draw into this responsibility are people who have to have a tremendous amount of ability and expertise, and they are very hard to find. But they are good people, and we are adding to them dramatically.

We intend to get the Border Patrol up to 20,000 agents and an increase of detention beds of another 10,000. We will be literally able to control the southern border. We will no longer have this issue of people coming cross the southern border in waves illegally. Literally, we can stop that. We can do it, and we intend to do it. There is no issue about this. We intend to do this. However, we have found in ramping up the number of Border Patrol agents they have run into a fairly significant problem.

As an aside, I note that the only reason we have been able to increase these Border Patrol agents so dramatically is because Senator COCHRAN, as chairman of the full Appropriations Committee, has allowed the subcommittee, which I chair—the Homeland Security Subcommittee—to get special allocations in order to fund those.

It has really been out of his courtesy, his energy, and the support of Senator FRIST in this effort that we have been successful in basically increasing these numbers. We are on this path of basically being able to have enough boots on the ground in the Border Patrol area and Customs area and ICE area in order to adequately control the border.

What we found going through this process of expanding dramatically Border Patrol agents and Customs and ICE agents is that the infrastructure to support these people isn't there. They are driving old cars. For the most part they are flying helicopters which are 20 years over their useful life. Customs is actually flying airplanes that are 20, 30, or 40 years over their useful life. In fact, just recently the Customs agency was forced to basically ground all its Customs planes for a brief period of time, and the P-3 fleet, which is 40 years old, because these types of cracks developed in their wings. They obviously couldn't fly them. So they had to repair all of them—or not all but those that had this potential type of stress.

We have a very old fleet of aircraft. They are not able to do the job.

Equally important, in the technology area where we really should be more aggressive and where we really have
