Mrs. Clark is being honored for her dedicated and loyal service as well as her enthusiasm and creativity. All of these qualities have indeed served to provide a tremendous benefit to the Garden Club. Over the years Mrs. Clark has exhibited an impressive level of leadership to the Garden Club; in that regard, she sponsors a workshop each year when the North Carolina Federation of Garden Clubs hosts its Annual Convention. Further, she serves as the State Youth Director.

Mr. Speaker, Mrs. Clark is indeed leading the charge for her Garden Club where one of its objectives is to put more strength behind local clubs so that the work of beautifying homes, churches, schools and communities can be achieved more effectively. Mrs. Clark is very instrumental in helping her Garden Club promote a full conservation program within local clubs, placing special interest on wildflowers, native trees, soil, and water. There are about 40 adult and youth clubs that belong to the North Carolina Federation of Garden Clubs which was organized as far back as 1935.

Mr. Speaker, Mrs. Clark has been a member of the Daisy Garden Club since 1979 and in 1995 she organized the Calla Lily Adult Garden Club. Under her guidance, the Calla Lily Adult Garden Club has projects at the Pinkerton's Street School, Satterwhite Point Lake Camp Site in Henderson, North Carolina and Haywood Missionary Baptist Church in Louisburg, North Carolina. HONORING THE EVANGELHO SEED
& FARM STORE

HON. JIM COSTA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 14, 2006

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor and celebrate the Evangelho Seed & Farm Store as the recipient of the 2006 Kings County Ag Support Business of the Year Award. For the past 25 years, Evangelho Feed & Farm Store has supplied essential farming products and services to the people of the Central Valley.

Rodney and Linda Evangelho opened the farm store on September 1, 1981. They started the business with the help and commitment of family members and three additional employees. The store provided seed to farmers and dairymen, as well as a small amount of cat and dog food to the folks of Kings County. Since then, the Evangelhos have seen their business flourish and they have opened a new pet and farm supply store. Today, they have a total of 13 employees and offer products for all types of animals to clothing and jewelry. In addition, the Evangelho Seed & Farm Store has become the Valley's one-stop shop for members of the 4-H and FFA and they have expanded their areas of service into Kings, Fresno, Tulare and Madera Counties.

The Evangelhos attribute their success to their customers, but it is their knowledge of the Valley's agricultural needs that keeps the business growing. Besides offering seminars for 4-H and FFA members, they are active with the Kings County Farm Bureau and the Dairy Herds Improvement Association. They have also been involved with the Education & Agriculture Foundation (EAT), which brings teachers from urban areas from Los Angeles County to the Bay Area to provide agricultural education for them to take back and share with their students. In addition to their commitments to the agricultural community, the Evangelho family is active in the Hanford Knights of Columbus, St. Peter's Church, Our Lady of Fatima in Laton and the Kings Guild.

Through years of hard work and dedication the Evangelho's investment in their business make them worthy of this recognition. They have managed to stand alone as a family-run and operated business among competitors and have served their local community in immense measures. It is for those reasons that I take great pride and honor in joining the Kings County community in commending the success of the Evangelho Seed & Farm Store and in wishing Rodney and Linda Evangelho continued success and prosperity.

CONGRATULATING MISS ALICE
LEE ON THE OCCASION OF HER
95TH BIRTHDAY AND THE DIS-
TINCTION OF BEING ALABAMA'S
OLDEST PRACTICING FEMALE ATTORNEY

HON. JO BONNER

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 14, 2006

Mr. BONNER. Mr. Speaker, it is with both pride and pleasure that I rise this week to honor one of the most beloved residents of Monroeville, Alabama, Miss Alice Lee, on the occasion of her 95th birthday and her distinction of being Alabama's oldest practicing female attorney.

After graduating from Huntingdon College in Montgomery, "Miss Alice" returned to her hometown of Monroeville in the midst of the Great Depression. For 18 years, she served as the associate editor and partner of The Monroe Journal, a weekly newspaper in Monroeville. She did a little bit of everything at the paper including writing stories, proofing copy and assisting with the printing.

In 1937, "Miss Alice" went to work for the Internal Revenue Service in Birmingham and at night attended law school. After graduating from the Birmingham School of Law and being admitted to the bar in 1943, she returned to Monroeville to practice law with her father at his firm Barnett, Bugg & Lee, where she continues to practice today.

One of "Miss Alice's" passions has been her work for the Methodist church. She was the first woman to head the administrative board of her hometown church, and she was the first woman to chair the Alabama-West Florida Council on Ministries of the Methodist Church.

For 32 years, "Miss Alice" served on the city's planning commission. When she stepped down in 1998, she was presented with a proclamation from the Monroeville City Council.

Mr. Speaker, "Miss Alice" has devoted her life to the service of Monroe County's residents, and along the way, she has been an inspiration to countless young women—and men—for all that she has accomplished. Therefore, it is only appropriate that I ask my colleagues to join with me in congratulating "Miss Alice" on reaching this milestone. I know her colleagues, her sisters—Louise Lee Conner and Nelle Harper Lee—her family and her many friends join with me in praising her significant accomplishments and extending thanks for her many efforts over the years on behalf of the people of Alabama. May there be many more birthday celebrations to come. God bless you, "Miss Alice."

LONE STAR VOICE—MAGGI
CARTER

HON. TED POE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 14, 2006

Mr. POE. Mr. Speaker, it has been one year since Hurricane Katrina flooded Texas with evacuees. It's almost a year since welcoming Texans weathered their own storm, Hurricane Rita.

But today there are still shells of smashed buildings left standing. There are still homes where roofs were peeled back by wind and rain. Today only a blue tarp remains over the heads of countless families.

But these victims, these Lone Star Voices, are crying out for help.

Maggi Carter of Beaumont writes, "Hurricanes Katrina and Rita handed the State of Texas an unprecedented housing challenge. To date, there are grossly inadequate resources for the 75,000 victims of Hurricane Rita. We support a 5-step plan to provide housing to the more than 100,000 families living in Texas who are victims of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita."
