Mr. REID. Madam President, there are a number of amendments that have been filed that are at the desk. They haven’t been offered as yet. Amendments on both sides in agreement should be considered. We were close to an agreement to do just that. The vast majority of the amendments will be germane postcloture. I have indicated that for those that are arguably germane, I would be willing to work with the person who offered the amendment to have a vote on it. But one Senator has held this up. That is the way things can happen around here. It is unfortunate, but it does happen. We worked for a couple of days trying to arrive at the point we are. The same part about it is the Senator who has held all this up has an amendment that isn’t remotely germane to this bill, but he has lodged an objection to this agreement that is agreed to by all other Senators. I would hope that the Senator would reconsider this objection over the next few days.

In the meantime, I have had conversations with the managers of the bill. It was a lot of time with Senator Dodd. It is an important piece of legislation. I watched the Presiding Officer offer her speech today. What a sad thing, the man she spoke about. A picture is worth a thousand words. The picture that she had when she was talking about this bill and how important it is was worth more than a thousand words.

I will have more to say about this on Monday, when everyone in my family smokes. Sadly, my parents are dead. My dad’s miner’s consumption was terribly exacerbated by his smoking. So when did he start smoking? He was a kid. He started smoking as a little boy. The same with my mother. The same with my other brother. This is when he was in the Air Force. He was I guess 20 years old or something like that. He wasn’t very old. But the others, all of my other family members, started smoking as kids. One of my brothers chewed tobacco. I can remember I had a friend who learned that my brother chewed tobacco. He was a lobbyist for the tobacco industry and he said, Oh, I will send him a case of— what kind does he chew? I didn’t think that he did.

In Los Angeles last week I met the first lawyer who filed litigation, serious litigation against the tobacco industry—a wonderful man. He got terribly upset with the Joe Camel advertisements, when they placed that little comic strip character on lunch boxes for kids. He also was upset because at that time the tobacco industry went through another one of their ideas to get kids to start smoking in stores, like a 7-Eleven store. They would have bins that were there. You put suppose to pay for them, but they were there. Kids could steal them so easily. So he filed this lawsuit. He had the confidence to tell me he lost that lawsuit. But when all the lawyers got together to go after the tobacco companies big time, they pooled their money and went after the tobacco companies, and they used all of his pleadings. He said within the mispelled words they used. They didn’t change anything. Ultimately, that led to the favorable ruling by the courts that tobacco companies were liable for the damages in the billions of dollars.

It is important to move forward. I hope that cloture would be invoked on this Monday afternoon. It is one of the most popular pieces of legislation we could do. I am sorry we weren’t able to work anything out on the amendments, but we simply were not able to do so. No one can complain about this entire Congress that we haven’t had the ability to offer amendments. We were concerned for a lot of reasons. One is we have the supplemental appropriations bill floating around here and we deben’t use those non-germane amendments on this, but there were no restrictions whatsoever on even non-germane amendments. We just wanted—every Republican wanted to look at ours; we wanted to look at theirs. We wanted to talk about the Tobacco Act. We simply can still do that. But no one can complain and use it as an excuse to not vote for this bill, that we haven’t given them a chance to offer amendments.

So I hope Senators will take a look at the topic. I talk to us about not using postcloture. I have already indicated I would be happy to work out something that would be fair to dispose of the amendments that are germane to this bill that have been filed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. DODD. Madam President, I wanted to begin by thanking the majority leader for his efforts and those of others, particularly Senator Kennedy from Connecticut. The Presiding Officer offer her speech today. What a sad thing, the man she spoke about. A picture is worth a thousand words. The picture that she had when she was talking about this bill and how important it is was worth more than a thousand words.

I will have more to say about this on Monday, when everyone in my family smokes. Sadly, my parents are dead. My dad’s miner’s consumption was terribly exacerbated by his smoking. So when did he start smoking? He was a kid. He started smoking as a little boy. The same with my mother. The same with my other brother. This is when he was in the Air Force. He was I guess 20 years old or something like that. He wasn’t very old. But the others, all of my other family members, started smoking as kids. One of my brothers chewed tobacco. I can remember I had a friend who learned that my brother chewed tobacco. He was a lobbyist for the tobacco industry and he said, Oh, I will send him a case of—what kind does he chew? I didn’t think that he did.

In Los Angeles last week I met the first lawyer who filed litigation, serious litigation against the tobacco industry—a wonderful man. He got terribly upset with the Joe Camel advertisements, when they placed that little comic strip character on lunch boxes for kids. He also was upset because at that time the tobacco industry went through another one of their ideas to get kids to start smoking in stores, like a 7-Eleven store. They would have bins that were there. You put suppose to pay for them, but they were there. Kids could steal them so easily. So he filed this lawsuit. He had the confidence to tell me he lost that lawsuit. But when all the lawyers got together to go after the tobacco companies big time, they pooled their money and went after the tobacco companies, and they used all of his pleadings. He said within the mispelled words they used. They didn’t change anything. Ultimately, that led to the favorable ruling by the courts that tobacco companies were liable for the damages in the billions of dollars.

It is important to move forward. I hope that cloture would be invoked on this Monday afternoon. It is one of the most popular pieces of legislation we could do. I am sorry we weren’t able to work anything out on the amendments, but we simply were not able to do so. No one can complain about this entire Congress that we haven’t had the ability to offer amendments. We were concerned for a lot of reasons. One is we have the supplemental appropriations bill floating around here and we deben’t use those non-germane amendments on this, but there were no restrictions whatsoever on even non-germane amendments. We just wanted—every Republican wanted to look at ours; we wanted to look at theirs. We wanted to talk about the Tobacco Act. We simply can still do that. But no one can complain and use it as an excuse to not vote for this bill, that we haven’t given them a chance to offer amendments.

So I hope Senators will take a look at the topic. I talk to us about not using postcloture. I have already indicated I would be happy to work out something that would be fair to dispose of the amendments that are germane to this bill that have been filed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. DODD. Madam President, I wanted to begin by thanking the majority leader for his efforts and those of others, particularly Senator Kennedy from Connecticut.

CONCLUSION OF MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Morning business is closed.

FAMILY SMOKING PREVENTION AND TOBACCO CONTROL ACT

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will resume consideration of H.R. 1256, which the clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 1256) to protect the public health by providing for the Food and Drug Administration with certain authority to regulate tobacco products, to amend title 5, United States Code, to make certain modifications in the Thrift Savings Plan, the Civil Service Retirement System, and the Federal Employees’ Retirement System, and for other purposes.

Pending:

Dodd amendment No. 1247, in the nature of a substitute.

Burr/Hagan amendment No. 1246 to amendment No. 1247, in the nature of a substitute.

Schumer for Lieberman amendment No. 1249 to amendment No. 1247, to modify provisions relating to Federal employees retirement.