

United States Navy, to the Central Intelligence Agency to Borough Hall, Robert Connor could always be found protecting and promoting the interests of the United States and Staten Island.

After attending Boston College and the U.S. Naval Academy, he was commissioned as an Ensign in the Navy in November 1940 and served on active duty throughout WWII, seeing action in both the Pacific and the Atlantic Theatres.

After the war, Connor entered the Central Intelligence Agency as an Operations Officer and was stationed at headquarters in Washington, DC and on foreign assignment. Following his CIA duty, Connor worked in the maritime industry in New York Harbor and other North Atlantic ports.

Returning home, Robert Connor first ran for public office in 1962. Although he was narrowly defeated in his bid for Staten Island's Congressional seat, he would never again be defeated in an election. The following year, he was elected as Councilman-At-Large to the New York City Council. From that position, Connor was a tireless advocate for improving the piers and harbors in the Port of New York.

In 1965, Connor was elected as Borough President of Staten Island, a position he held until 1977. Connor's tenure was marked by his commitment prudent management of government expenses and fiscal conservatism. He was dedicated to serving the people of New York, placing that goal ahead of any partisan ideology. Connor believed that neither political party had a monopoly on good ideas, and he was able to serve his constituents through close personal friendships with both Democratic and Republican elected officials.

In 1977 Robert Connor again returned to Washington, accepting an appointment as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy from President Carter. He served into the administration of President Reagan, primarily representing the Secretary of the Navy on visits to ships and stations throughout the world.

Although he left Washington in 1981, Robert Connor never lost interest in public service. He continued to advocate for maritime interests through various consulting jobs including the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey and Barber Steamship Lines in Annapolis, MD. While there, he volunteered as a coach of the Naval Academy Sailing Squadron.

Robert Connor dedicated his life to helping others without ever asking anyone for anything in return. I am honored to stand here today to both recognize and honor the life of Robert T. Connor, Sr.

IN CELEBRATION OF THE LIFE OF FRANCIS "BUTCH" TAYLOR

HON. JACKIE SPEIER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 8, 2009

Ms. SPEIER. Madam Speaker, 100 years ago, Francis "Butch" Taylor was born in Akron, Iowa and shortly after, made the journey west with his family to California. While completing his graduate degree in Social Work at the University of California, Berkeley, he married Betty Lou Taylor. Intrigued by their common last name, they spoke, fell in love and married in 1940. A year later Butch was hired as the Assistant Field Director for the American Red Cross and assigned to the Presidio Army base in San Francisco.

After the bombing of Pearl Harbor, Mr. Taylor was indispensable in keeping up with the rapidly increasing responsibilities of the American Red Cross as service to the military grew exponentially. In 1943, he was dispatched with 36 other Red Cross employees on a Liberty ship—part of a hundred-ship convoy to Algeria. Upon transferring to British troopships in the Mediterranean, the convoy was attacked by German planes, resulting in the loss of three Red Cross men and more than 1,100 American troops. Butch continued on to Bombay and Calcutta, India and eventually arrived in southern China, where he became Field Supervisor in charge of Red Cross Services to the armed forces in China.

After the Communists took power in China, Mr. Taylor returned home to California and became manager of the San Mateo Chapter of the Red Cross, later assisting in its merger with the San Francisco Chapter.

Madam Speaker, I owe a personal debt to this remarkable man. In 1965, when I was a teenage volunteer with the Red Cross Youth, Butch Taylor inspired me with his passion for public service and encouraged me to chart a similar course. Like so many others, my life would be very different were it not for Butch Taylor.

Upon his retirement from the Red Cross, Butch went to work for FEMA, serving the Western Region—including Guam, Hawaii and Samoa—and assisted with floods in the Sacramento Delta and other local emergencies throughout the 1970s.

Butch and Betty Lou have two children, Mike and Trish, and a grandson, Mark. Butch continues to be involved with the Burlingame Rotary Club and still attends functions every Monday. Next year, Butch and Betty Lou will celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary.

Madam Speaker, few men or women can say with absolute certainty that their service made the world a better place. Butch Taylor is one who can. And for that, we are all eternally grateful.

COMMANDER MARK DICKINSON

HON. MICHELE BACHMANN

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 8, 2009

Mrs. BACHMANN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Lieutenant Commander Mark Dickinson, a Minnesota native with St. Cloud and Big Lake roots, upon his retirement from the United States Navy. After 20 years of service, Mark is retiring from military service but will continue to serve his country as a civilian working for the Navy. I am proud to share Mark's distinguished career with this Congress today.

In 1989, Mark enlisted in the Navy and worked his way up to Petty Officer First Class serving on the USS Kamehameha, USS Nebraska and PCU Louisiana. As a commissioned officer, Mark served as Supply Department Head on the USS Maryland, which, under his leadership, won the Supply Blue "E" awarded to the finest supply department in the squadron and the prestigious Edward F. Ney Award for outstanding food service—something every sailor can appreciate!

Mark began work at Naval Reactors as Manager of Shipbuilding Contracts in 2003. In this role, he successfully oversaw the construction, repair and modification of nuclear powered ships and also helped negotiate the acquisition of private shipyard facility upgrades necessary to refueling and defueling operations of nuclear aircraft carriers. Mark's negotiation and implementation of cost incentive programs has set the Navy up to save more than $850 million dollars. Since 2007, Mark has been the Deputy Director of Acquisition and this March he assumed his current responsibilities as Director of Acquisition at Naval Reactors where he continues to lead shipbuilding efforts.

It is with great honor that I congratulate LCDR Mark Dickinson on 20 years of dedicated service to the United States Navy. Madam Speaker, I rise so that this Congress may also pay tribute to Mark and wish him and his family all the best in their future endeavors.
