

Youth Orchestra. The members of this illustrious group have been selected to represent Montgomery County and the state of Maryland at the American Celebration of Music which will take place in Austria from June 18–27, 1999.

The Montgomery County Senior Youth Orchestra is one of a very select group of musical organizations in the United States who will be celebrating the rich musical and cultural heritage of Austria, and observing the centennial of Johann Strauss. Under the direction of Olivia W. Guttoff, the orchestra will perform in Austria's four imperial cities: Vienna, Salzburg, Innsbruck and Graz.

One of the oldest youth orchestra programs in the country, the Montgomery County Youth Orchestra program was founded in 1946. It enjoys an international reputation, having performed in England, Wales, Switzerland, and at the Mid-West International Band and Orchestra Clinic, the Music Educators National Conference, the Music Educators National Conference Eastern Division Conference and the Maryland Music Educators Conference. The Montgomery County Youth Orchestra's summer music program led to the formation of the Maryland Center for the Arts, which is now operated by the Maryland State Department of Education. Over the years, the Montgomery County Youth Orchestra program has grown from one orchestra to four. These four are the String Ensemble, Preparatory, Junior and Senior Orchestra.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate the outstanding young men and women of the Montgomery County Senior Youth Orchestra and their conductor, Mrs. Olivia Guttoff. I thank them for the honor which has been bestowed upon Maryland as they represent us at the American Celebration of Music. I know they will represent my wonderful state, and my district, very well.

STUDENT PROTECTION FROM
SEXUAL ABUSE ACT OF 1999

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON

OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, January 19, 1999

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I introduce the Student Protection from Sexual Abuse Act of 1999 today because the U.S. Supreme Court has asked for Congressional guidance on whether we intend Title IX to allow damages and/or injunctive relief when a 9th grade student is sexually assaulted and harassed. Like the four Members of the Supreme Court in the closely divided 1998 opinion, Gebser v. Largo Vista School District, I believe that Congress intended damages and injunctive relief when a child is sexually assaulted by a teacher while in school. I agree with Justice Stevens and the dissenting justices, as well as the Department of Education, that the Court's own prior rulings and the statute itself allows damages without meeting criteria that virtually guaranteed no Title IX remedy. The majority of the Court, however, concluded that it needed "further direction from Congress."

This bill provides that guidance. I believe that no Member would want to be responsible for the bizarre and unacceptable result that sexual harassment is now covered when a principal harasses a teacher but not when a teacher assaults or harasses an underaged student. I do not believe that Congress intends for a school system to be able to virtually immunize itself from damages even though a teacher repeatedly has had intercourse with a ninth grader. Further, my bill not only protects a child and her parents, but the school system as well by limiting damages to compensatory damages.

The Court says it's our fault. Twenty-seven years ago, when Title IX was written, Congress did not foresee what we see clearly today: cases of teacher-student sexual abuse are arising fast and often. The ball is in our court, and this is not child's play. The Supreme Court in the Gebser decision has given the Congress a virtual summons to remedy, or, if you prefer, to update our own language to correct a glaring child abuse gap in our law.

I ask for bipartisan support on this the Student Protection from Sexual Abuse Act of 1999 and for passage this year. The earlier we do so, the sooner school systems will take action to prevent sexual abuse of children committed to their charge, thus eliminating the need for court suits.
