WILLIAM J. CLINTON.

TRIBUTE TO CHARLES I. DENECHAUD, JR.

(Mr. OBERSTAR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to my late father-in-law, Charles I. Denechaud, Jr., whose life ebbed away last Saturday, July 24. He was taken from his loved ones after nearly 3 years of a silent struggle against a stroke that disabled him and in the end robbed him of most precious treasure, the ability to speak to his dear wife.

As a child, his likeness was used as a model for one of the cherubs in the Edward Francis Denechaud stained glass window here at Holy Name. Perhaps his life was directed toward goodness from that time forward. After all, how many mortals are used as models for angels?

One of the measures of Charles Denechaud is that each of his five children is quite sure that he or she was his favorite child. But whatever fate may have planned for him, he could not have chosen a better life in his family. In the end, his life took a dim second place in terms of the love and devotion he had for his bride.

Mother, you must be very proud of him and so very proud of him. I understand and have great empathy for your sadness. I share it. We all do. But never forget the love and pride you have for him—and he, absolutely, for you.

CHARLES I. DENECHAUD JR., ARCHIDIOCESE FOR NEW ORLEANS

Fr. Frank Purvis Jr. Charles I. Denechaud Jr., a lawyer who represented the Archdiocese of New Orleans and a number of other Catholic institutions in the city, died Saturday at his home. He was 86.

Mr. Denechaud, retired senior partner of Denechaud & Denechaud, was a lifelong resident of New Orleans.

Mr. Denechaud was one of the leading citizens we had in this community,” said G. Frank Purvis Jr., a friend for more than five decades.

“He was a very fine lawyer and a very dedicated lawyer, both to his profession and to his faith,” said Purvis, the former chairman of Pan-American Life Insurance Co. in New Orleans.

The Denechaud family has represented the archdiocese since 1901, beginning with Mr. Denechaud’s father, Charles Sr. The firm also has represented Loyola and Xavier universities, the Daughters of Charity, Hotel Dieu hospital and Jesuit High School.

Mr. Denechaud represented WWL television since the station’s inception, and played a crucial role in Loyola University’s acquisition of the station, its son, Charles III, said.

Mr. Denechaud attended Our Lady of Lourdes school, Jesuit High School and Loyola University and received an honorary L.L.D. degree from Xavier University in 1964.

He was a former member of the President’s Council of Loyola University, New Orleans Hospital Council, National Association of College and University Attorneys, United Negro College Fund, American Hospital Association, New Orleans Hospital Council, Louisiana Hospital Association and Catholic Hospital Association.

He was former member of the board of advisors of WWL and First National Bank of Commerce in New Orleans.

Mr. Denechaud was a former member of the Louisiana State Bar Association, American Bar Association, New Orleans Area Committee, National American Bank, Seminar of the Immaculate Conception, Episcopal Missionaries of St. Dominic, and National Diocesan Attorneys Association.

He was former chairman of Hotel Dieu Board of Advisors, St. Vincent Infant Asylum Board of Advisors and Our Lady of Holy Cross College Board of Lay Trustees. He was past president and director of Blue Cross of Louisiana and of the Daughters of Charity, National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Mr. Denechaud was a member of the New Orleans Bar Association and served as its vice president from 1944 to 1945. He was also a member of the Louisiana, American and Federal Courts whom he served with distinction.

He was a member of Holy Name Society, St. Thomas More Catholic Lawyers Association, Alumni Chapter of Bequests Fraternity, President’s Associates of Loyola University, New Orleans Country Club, Stardford Club and Pickwick Club. He was named Layman of the Year by the Louisiana Hospital Association in 1989 and Outstanding Alumnus of the Year by Jesuit High School in 1978 and received affiliation to the Company of the
