Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I will not object. But there comes a point when we have to wrap things up tonight. In the earlier conversation with the Senator, I was a different amount of time we agreed to.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I thought we were waiting for legislative language. I will be happy to speak for however many minutes I can. I was under the understanding it would be at 10 minutes before we had legislative language to close, but I will be happy to be more brief.

Mr. BAUCUS. I will not object.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I will speak for 5 minutes by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I will not object. But there comes a point when we have to wrap things up tonight. In the earlier conversation with the Senator, I was a different amount of time we agreed to.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I thought we were waiting for legislative language. I will be happy to speak for however many minutes I can. I was under the understanding it would be at 10 minutes before we had legislative language to close, but I will be happy to be more brief.

Mr. BAUCUS. I will not object.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I will speak for 5 minutes by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

THE MEDICARE PROGRAM

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, we have not discussed an amendment which we will be voting on tomorrow. It has not been discussed yet at all. It has to do with the very important issue that we voted on today, in terms of another amendment. That is what we are going to do in this body to address a fundamental problem. It has to do with Medicare, the fact that we have a Medicare system which is not going to be solvent long-term. It is a very costly system where, if you are a senior, and you have health care expenses, only about 48 percent of those are paid by the Medicare Program. It is a very costly system for seniors and individuals with disabilities. It is a very rigid system. It is a system that is not comprehensive. Much preventive care is not covered, prescription drugs are not covered. It is an outpatient prescription drugs. It needs to be modernized. We talked a bit about that today.

The real question is why we cannot take a new benefit and just add it to the overall Medicare system. The gist of the amendment tomorrow is that, yes, we need prescription drug coverage, but that new benefit, which needs to be there, in an overall modernization plan for Medicare.

The question is, why? Let me focus on this one chart. On the right half of this chart, the red bar takes an average of about $55 billion up to about $80 billion over the last 5 or 6 years, an average annual increase in all health care. The red bar is in drug expenditures. They have gone up 11 percent every year. The green bar is the annual growth in all health care expenditures in our health care system.

The real point of this graph is that every year overall drug expenditures, in the aggregate, go up about twice as fast as other health care costs. Thus, if we shift of the United States onto overall health care costs, something that is at 5 percent, we need to be very sure we do not run into the same problem we have in certain fields such as home health care. Home health care was a benefit in Medicare that was growing 17 percent a year. It could not be tolerated in the overall Medicare system because of cost.

Then we, with the heavy hand of Government, came in and slashed home health care 2 years ago. In many ways that was devastating to patients, to the quality of health care, to people who were depending on venipuncture to have blood drawn on a regular basis. Therefore, I think it is very important we recognize, because drugs are a different entity, if we are going to add that benefit, we need to do it in the realm of overall reform of Medicare and modernization.

This shows prescription drug expenditure that has been growing—but not quite exponentially, but you can see in 1993, 1995, 1996, from about $55 billion up to about $80 billion. So before we take this entity and put it in Medicare, because Medicare is already going bankrupt, we need to look at the overall picture. It includes hospitals, includes doctors, prescription drugs, chronic care and acute care.

There is a proposal that has been put forth by the National Bipartisan Medicare Commission appointed by the president of the United States appointed by our leadership in the Senate and in the House. We came up with the proposal that is essentially this: The premium support model, the Breaux-Thomas bill. This proposal did look at overall Medicare, hospitals, physician reimbursement, and prescription drugs, and came up with this model. The details of the model do not matter, but I do want to stress that 10 of the 17 Members, in a bipartisan way, did put this forward. We wanted to put it out there, to show Medicare can be modernized.

The point with prescription drugs in Medicare—remember, as an outpatient, prescription drugs are not covered in...
Medicare at all. You have to go outside the system. But of the about 36 million people enrolled in Medicare, two-thirds do have some coverage, one-third do not have coverage. Therefore, in that Bipartisan Commission, which we put forward and worked out over the course of the year, we said let’s first focus right now as we modernize and strengthen Medicare, improve its solvency, make it less costly, less rigid, let’s at least address this 35 percent as a first step. The 65 percent who are covered are covered in lots of different ways.

Since my time is up, I will yield the floor and simply close with this point. We will be offering an amendment tomorrow which says: Yes, prescription drugs, but let’s do it in the context of overall Medicare reform.

I yield the floor.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative assistant proceeded to call the roll.

Mrs. HUTCHISON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENT NO. 1472, AS MODIFIED

Mrs. HUTCHISON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that amendment No. 1472 be modified with the changes that are now at the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The amendment is so modified.

The amendment (No. 1472), as modified, is as follows:

On page 10, line 6, strike “2004” and insert “2005”.

On page 19, strike the matter between lines 19 and 20, and insert:

"Calendar year:
Applicable dollar amount:
2006 or 2007 ........................................ $4,000
2008 and thereafter ...................................... $2,500.

On page 11, strike the matter before line 1, and insert:

"Calendar year:
Applicable dollar amount:
2006 or 2007 ........................................ $2,000
2008 and thereafter ...................................... $2,500.

On page 11, line 3, strike “2007” and insert “2006”.

On page 11, line 11, strike “2006” and insert “2007”.

On page 32, between lines 14 and 15, insert:

SEC. 3. ELIMINATION OF MARRIAGE PENALTY IN STANDARD DEDUCTION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—(Paragraph 2) of section 63(c) (relating to standard deduction) is amended—

(1) by striking “$5,000” in subparagraph (A) and inserting “twice the dollar amount in effect under subparagraph (C) for the taxable year”;

(2) by adding “or” at the end of subparagraph (B);

(3) by striking “in the case of” and all that follows in subparagraph (C) and inserting “in any other case.”; and

(4) by striking subparagraph (D).

(b) EXCLUSIONS FROM GIFTS.—Subparagraph (c) of section 63 is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(7) PHASE-IN OF INCREASE IN BASIC STANDARD DEDUCTION.—In the case of taxable years beginning before January 1, 2001,

“(A) paragraph (2)(A) shall be applied by substituting for ‘twice’—

“(i) ‘1.702 times’ in the case of taxable years beginning during 2001, “(ii) ‘1.75 times’ in the case of taxable years beginning during 2002, “(iii) ‘1.796 times’ in the case of taxable years beginning during 2003, “(iv) ‘1.837 times’ in the case of taxable years beginning during 2004, “(v) ‘1.88 times’ in the case of taxable years beginning during 2005, “(vi) ‘1.917 times’ in the case of taxable years beginning during 2006, and

“(vii) ‘1.959 times’ in the case of taxable years beginning during 2007, and

“(B) the basic standard deduction for a married individual filing a separate return shall be one-half of the amount applicable under paragraph (2)(A).

If any amount determined under subparagraph (A) is not a multiple of $50, such amount shall be rounded to the next lowest multiple of $50.”.

(c) TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Subparagraph (B) of section 1(f)(6) is amended—

(2) by adding “or” at the end of subparagraph (D).

(3) by striking paragraph (2), and

(4) by striking “(other than with respect to sections 63(c)(4) and 151(d)(4)(A)) shall be applied”.

(2) Paragraph (4) of section 63(c) is amended by adding at the end the following flush sentence:

“The preceding sentence shall not apply to the amount referred to in paragraph (1)(A).”.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2006.

On page 38, line 18, strike “2000” and insert “2002”.

On page 236, strike line 12 through the matter following line 21, and insert:

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Section 2506(b) (relating to exclusions from gifts) is amended—

(1) by striking the following:

“(b) EXCLUSIONS FROM GIFTS—.

“(1) IN GENERAL—.

(2) by inserting the following:

“(b) EXCLUSIONS FROM GIFTS—.

(1) by striking paragraph (2), and

(2) by striking “$10,000” and inserting “$20,000”.

On page 237, line 3, strike “2000” and insert “2004”.

On page 270, line 18, strike “2003” and insert “2004”.

On page 273, line 21, strike “2003” and insert “2004”.

On page 275, line 12, strike “2003” and insert “2004”.

On page 277, line 13, strike “2003” and insert “2004”.

On page 278, line 13, strike “2002” and insert “2004”.

Mrs. HUTCHISON. I thank the Chair. Mr. President, I will not delay because I believe we are running out of time, and I will have 15 minutes equally divided tomorrow. This is a significant victory. I appreciate so much Chairman ROTH and Senator BAUCUS, who is here on behalf of Senator MURPHY, working with me on this amendment.

The bottom line is, by delaying a few other very important tax cuts, we have been able to put at the top of our priority list $6 billion more in marriage tax penalty relief for the 43 million people in this country who are suffering just because they are married. That is not right. We have been needing to correct this for years. You should not have to choose between love or money in America, and yet 22 million American couples are doing just that.

This amendment will take part of the marriage tax relief and put it up, starting in 2001, so there will be immediate relief phased in to give couples that opportunity to save more of the money they earn to spend as they choose because, in fact, if they were not married, they would be paying that much less in taxes. But they are married. We want to encourage them to do that, that is what they want to do, and we certainly should not be penalizing them.

Tomorrow I will talk about what is in the amendment, what it does, but tonight I want to say thank you to Senator ROTH and to Senator BAUCUS for working with us. This is a significant improvement in the bill because it will give married couples throughout our country the relief they deserve.

I thank the Chair. I yield the floor.

Mr. BAUCUS. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative assistant proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that prior to the vote on or in relation to amendment No. 1472 it be in order for Senator HUTCHISON to further modify her amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENT NO. 1478, AS MODIFIED

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I have a series of five amendments which have been cleared on both sides. I ask unanimous consent that these amendments be agreed to, en bloc, the motion to reconsider be rejected and that any statements relating to these amendments be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendments (Nos. 1388, 1411, 1412, 1446 and 1455, EN Bloc) were agreed to, en bloc, as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 1388

(Purpose: Making technical corrections to amendment No. 1229)

At the end of title XIV, insert:

SEC. 12. TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS TO SAVIOR ACT.

Section 317 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1147) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), by striking “2001 and 2006 on or after September 1 of each year in

(2) by striking “2005, and 2009 in the month of September of each year involved.”
(2) in subsection (b), by adding at the end the following: "To effectuate the purposes of this paragraph, the Secretary may enter into a cooperative agreement, pursuant to the Federal Grant and Cooperative Agreement Act of 1997 (31 U.S.C. 6301 seq.), with the American Savings Education Council;"

(3) in subsection (e)(2)—
   (A) by striking "Committee on Labor and Human Resources" in subparagraph (B) and inserting "Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions";
   (B) by striking subparagraph (D) and inserting the following:
   "(D) the Chairman and Ranking Member of the Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education of the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate;"

(4) in subsection (e)(3)—
   (A) by striking "There shall be no more than 200 additional participants," and inserting "The participants in the National Summit shall also include additional participants appointed under this subparagraph;"
   (B) by striking "one-half shall be appointed by the President," in clause (i) and inserting "not more than 100 participants shall be appointed under this clause by the President," and by striking "and" at the end of clause (i);
   (C) by striking "one-half shall be appointed by the President," in clause (ii) and inserting "not more than 100 participants shall be appointed under this clause by the elected leaders of Congress", and by striking the period at the end of clause (ii) and inserting "; and";

(5) by inserting a new clause immediately after clause (k) as follows:

(6) in subsection (f)(1)(C), by inserting "no later than 90 days prior to the date of the commencement of the National Summit,

(7) in subsection (g), by inserting "— in consultation with the congressional leaders specified in subsection (e)(2), after "report";

(b) (in subsection (l)—
   (A) by striking "beginning on or after October 1, 1997" in paragraph (1) and inserting "2001, 2005, and 2009";
   (B) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

   "(3) RECEIPTION AND REPRESENTATION AUTHORITY.—The Secretary is hereby authorized to ensure the reception and representation authority limited specifically to the events at the National Summit. The Secretary shall use any funds appropriated for purposes of the National Summit prior to using funds appropriated for purposes of the National Summit pursuant to this paragraph.";

(c) in subsection (k)—
   (A) by striking "shall enter into a contract on a sole-source basis" and inserting "may enter into a contract on a sole-source basis";
   (B) by striking "fiscal year 1998" and inserting "fiscal years 2001, 2005, and 2009".

AMENDMENT NO. 1412
(Purpose: To provide that no Federal income tax shall be imposed on amounts received, and lands recovered, by Holocaust victims or their heirs)

At the end of title XI, insert the following:

(a) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, gross income shall not include—

   (1) any amount received by an individual (or any heir of the individual).

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This section shall apply to amounts received before, on, or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

AMENDMENT NO. 1466, AS MODIFIED
(Purpose: To eliminate the 2-percent floor on miscellaneous itemized deductions for qualified professional development expenses and incidental expenses of elementary and secondary school teachers, and for other purposes)

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘qualified professional development expenses’ means expenses—

   (i) for tuition, fees, books, supplies, equipment, and transportation required for the enrollment or attendance of an individual in a qualified course of instruction, and

   (ii) with respect to which a deduction is allowable under section 212 (determined without regard to this section).

(b) QUALIFIED COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.—The term ‘qualified course of instruction’ means a course of instruction which—

   (1) is at an institution of higher education (as defined in section 481 of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1088)), as in effect on the date of the enactment of this subsection, or

   (2) is provided by a qualified provider of on-the-job training (as defined in section 127 (a)(2) of the Workforce Investment Act).

(c) QUALIFIED PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT EXPENSES.—

   (1) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘qualified professional development expenses’ means—

   (A) professional development expenses—

   (i) for attendance at a professional conference,

   (ii) for qualified incidental expenses, and

   (iii) for other purposes.

   (B) ELEMENTARY OR SECONDARY SCHOOL.—The term ‘qualified professional development expenses’ means expenses—

   (i) for attendance at a professional conference,

   (ii) for qualified incidental expenses, and

   (iii) for other purposes.
“(3) QUALIFIED INCIDENTAL EXPENSES.—(A) In general.—The term ‘qualified incidental expenses’ means expenses paid or incurred by an eligible teacher in an amount not to exceed $125 for any taxable year for books, supplies, and materials related to the teacher’s instruction, teaching, or other educational job-related activities of such eligible teacher.

“(B) Special rule for homeschooling.—Such term shall include—

(1) expenses described in subparagraph (A) in connection with education provided by homeschooling if the requirements of any applicable State or local law are met with respect to such educational activities;

(2) expenses described in subparagraph (A) in connection with education provided by a home-schooled child who is not a member of a controlled group of corporations (within the meaning of section 52(a)) or a trade or business which is treated as being under common control with other trades or businesses (within the meaning of section 52(b)), if the Secretary determines that the expenses are related to—

(1) the student’s education, and

(2) the education of other members of the household;

(3) expenses described in subparagraph (A) in connection with education provided by a home-schooled child described in paragraph (2) who is a member of a controlled group of corporations or a trade or business (within the meaning of section 52(a)) or a trade or business which is treated as being under common control with other trades or businesses (within the meaning of section 52(b)) described in paragraph (2);

(4) expenses described in subparagraph (A) in connection with education provided by a home-schooled child described in paragraph (2) who is not a member of a controlled group of corporations or a trade or business (within the meaning of section 52(a)) or a trade or business which is treated as being under common control with other trades or businesses (within the meaning of section 52(b)), if the Secretary determines that the expenses are related to—

(1) the student’s education, and

(2) the education of other members of the household.

“(C) INCREASED PERCENTAGE FOR CONTRIBUTIONS TO ENTITIES IN EMPOWERMENT ZONES, ENTERPRISE COMMUNITIES, AND INDIAN RESERVATIONS.—In the case of a qualified computer contribution to an entity located in an empowerment zone or enterprise community designated under section 936, an Indian tribe or band of Indians under federal law or for an Indian reservation (as defined in section 168(j)(6)), (1) subsection (a) shall be applied by substituting ‘30 percent’ for ‘20 percent’ and (2) subsection (b)(1)(A) shall apply.

“(D) CERLICAL AMENDMENT.—The Secretary shall make such regulations as may be necessary to carry out this section.

“(E) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This section shall apply to contributions made in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999, and ending before December 31, 2004.

AMENDMENT NO. 1455
(Purpose: To amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to expand the deduction for computer donations to schools and to allow a tax credit for donated computers, and for other purposes.)

On page 371, at lines 16 and 17, insert—

“SEC. 3. EXPANSION OF DEDUCTION FOR COMPUTER DONATIONS TO SCHOOLS.

(a) Extension of age of eligible computer donors.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(i) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended by inserting ‘30 percent’ after ‘20 percent’.

(b) Reacquired computers eligible for donation.—(1) In general.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(ii) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended—

(1) by striking ‘2 years’ and inserting ‘3 years’, and

(2) by inserting ‘for the taxpayer’s own use’ after ‘constructed by the taxpayer’.

(2) Reacquired computers eligible for donation.—(1) In general.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(iii) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended—

(1) by striking ‘2 years’ and inserting ‘3 years’, and

(2) by inserting ‘for the taxpayer’s own use’ after ‘constructed by the taxpayer’.

(3) Reacquired computers eligible for donation.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(iv) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended—

(1) by striking ‘2 years’ and inserting ‘3 years’, and

(2) by inserting ‘for the taxpayer’s own use’ after ‘constructed by the taxpayer’.

(2) Reacquired computers eligible for donation.—(1) In general.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(v) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended—

(1) by striking ‘2 years’ and inserting ‘3 years’, and

(2) by inserting ‘for the taxpayer’s own use’ after ‘constructed by the taxpayer’.

(3) Reacquired computers eligible for donation.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(vi) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended—

(1) by striking ‘2 years’ and inserting ‘3 years’, and

(2) by inserting ‘for the taxpayer’s own use’ after ‘constructed by the taxpayer’.

(2) Reacquired computers eligible for donation.—(1) In general.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(vii) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended—

(1) by striking ‘2 years’ and inserting ‘3 years’, and

(2) by inserting ‘for the taxpayer’s own use’ after ‘constructed by the taxpayer’.

(b) Current year business credit calculation.—Section 38(b) (relating to current year business credit), as amended by this Act, is amended by striking ‘plus’ at the end of paragraph (12), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (13) and inserting ‘plus’, and by adding at the end the following:

“(14) the computer donation credit determined under section 45E(a),”.

(c) Deduction by amount of credit.—Section 280C (relating to certain expenses for which credits are allowable) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(d) Credit for computer donations.—No deduction shall be allowed for that portion of the qualified computer contributions (as defined in section 45E(b)) made during the taxable year that is equal to the amount of credit determined for the taxable year under section 45E(a). In the case of a corporation which is a member of a controlled group of corporations (within the meaning of section 52(a)) or a trade or business which is treated as being under common control with other trades or businesses (within the meaning of section 52(b)), this subsection shall be applied under rules prescribed by the Secretary similar to the rules under subsections (a) and (b) of section 52.”

(d) Limitation on carryback.—Subsection (d) of section 39 (relating to carryback and carryforward of such credit) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(9) No carryback of computer donation credit before effective date.—No amount of unused business credit available under section 45E may be carried back to a taxable year beginning on or before the date of the enactment of this paragraph.

(e) Clerical amendment.—The table of sections for part D of part IV of subpart A of chapter A of title I of the code is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 45E the following:

“Sec. 45E. Credit for computer donations to schools and senior centers.”

(f) Effective dates.—

(1) In general.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), the amendments made by this section shall apply to contributions made in taxable years beginning after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(2) Certain contributions.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to contributions made—

(A) in a taxable year beginning before the date that is one year after the date of the enactment of this Act.

Mr. COVERDELL. Mr. President, I would like to discuss an amendment that Senators TORRICELLI, MCCAIN, CRAIG, and I would like to offer—expansion of education savings accounts. Under our provision, parents, relatives, friends—anyone—would be allowed to contribute up to $2,000 per year, after tax, into an account where the proceeds could be withdrawn tax-free to pay for a child’s K–12 education expenses.

Right now, the law allows parents to contribute up to $500 per year for a child’s college education. We increase that amount to $2,000 per year and allow for tax-free withdrawals for K–12 educational expenses, as well.

Last Congress, this legislation passed the Senate with bipartisan majorities on two separate occasions. The bill passed with a vote of 56 to 43, while the conference report passed with a vote of 59 to 39.

On each occasion, the chairman of the Finance Committee supported the measure, and was in large part responsible for its successful passage.

Unfortunately, despite the bipartisan support for the bill, the opponents of this legislation ultimately prevailed and it was vetoed by President Clinton.

Because the House-passed tax-relief measure contains this provision, I would like to withdraw our amendment and ask the chairman of the Finance Committee, Senator ROTH, to support the House position on this issue during the upcoming House-Senate conference negotiations.

Mr. ROTH. Thank you, Senator COVERDELL. As you are aware, I have been a supporter of this legislation in the past, and I will continue to support this legislation in the future.

This bipartisan proposal is an outstanding example of our ability to use the tax code, to help middle class American families across the country. By using the tax code to encourage families to save for their children’s education needs and expenses, we all benefit. The expansion of the education IRA will result in greater opportunities for every American child and their families. With education savings accounts, 14 million families—over 20 million kids—will take advantage of the expanded education IRAs, generating billions of dollars in education savings that might otherwise not exist.

It is an outstanding way to provide families new and innovative options in education.

Because this legislation has the support of a bipartisan majority of the Senate and is contained in the House-passed bill, I believe it should be given every consideration by the conferees during the negotiations of the conference report.

Mr. SARBANES. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the Budget Reconciliation bill that is before us today. This bill would spend nearly all of the un-budget surplus projected by the Congressional Budget Office over the next ten years and would use none of this projected surplus to protect the Social Security system, shore up Medicare, or give retirement savings to the elderly and provide drug benefits they so desperately need. Instead of taking this opportunity to invest in the future of America at the threshold of the 21st century, Republicans want to enact deep and unreasonable tax cuts that largely benefit the wealthy.

One major problem with basing a decade's worth of budgetary decisions on a projected surplus is that we have no way of knowing what will happen in the next ten years to affect these projections. Consider that just three years ago, when we enacted the Balanced Budget Act of 1997, there were forecasts of large deficits stretching into the future. This year, both the Congressional Budget Office and the President's administration and Budget are projecting large surpluses over the same period. This turnaround should illustrate clearly that there is a large element of uncertainty in any economic projection, and the shifts in tax policy that would tie our hands in the event of an economic downturn are, at the very least, unwise.

Furthermore, the surplus estimates are based on the assumption that the Federal government will adhere to the spending caps enacted in the Balanced Budget Act of 1997. The Leadership in both Houses has admitted that this is not a realistic assumption: a number of appropriations bills will not be able to pass unless their funding is restored to pre-cap levels. Already this year, appropriators are eyeing the projected budget surpluses to help fund large appropriations bills. And, as difficult as these spending caps have been for appropriators this year, the spending caps in future years call for even more drastic cuts.

We are in the midst of the longest peacetime economic expansion in history. This remarkable turnaround has come about in large part because of deficit reduction efforts which began with legislation proposed by the Administration and enacted by the Congress in 1993 - without a single Republican vote. Thanks to these efforts, we have been able to achieve record low levels of unemployment while at the same time maintaining dramatically low levels of inflation. Tax cuts of the magnitude put forward by the Majority would be unwise and potentially destabilizing in an economy that has strong growth, low unemployment and dramatically low levels of inflation. The real question before us today is whether we are going to take advantage of this opportunity to exercise responsible fiscal policy. If we begin to stimulate an economy with unemployment at the very time that unemployment is at unprecedented low levels, we run the risk of reigniting inflation. If we start over-stimulating the economy, the Federal Reserve will surely raise interest rates to keep inflation in check and we will be right back in the box we found ourselves in.

It is my strongly held view that any surplus realized over the next ten years should be seen as an opportunity to pay down the Nation's debt, invest in our Nation's future, and shore up vital programs. The Republican tax plan would squander this unprecedented opportunity to ensure that the Federal government will meet its obligations after the baby boomers retire and beyond.

The Republican plan does nothing to preserve the integrity of the Social Security trust fund. The Social Security program is one of this Nation's greatest achievements. For more than 60 years, we have ensured that our senior citizens have a means of support in retirement. The Republican tax plan would squander this unprecedented opportunity to extend the solvency of the Medicare trust fund or provide prescription drug benefits. The President's proposal to enact a modest prescription drug benefit for Medicare would cost $46 billion over the next ten years—less than 6 percent of the total cost of the Republican tax proposal.

Beyond Social Security and Medicare, this projected budget surplus could allow us to invest in the country's infrastructure. We should invest in schools to provide our children with the best possible education; we should improve our Nation's highways and infrastructure; we should invest in America's workers to train them for the 21st century; we should continue to put more police officers on the streets and give them the resources they need to bring crime rates down; and we should protect our environment and natural resources.

While I am not opposed to passing legislation that uses a portion of the projected surplus to cut taxes, such cuts must be responsible, and we should ensure that America's hardworking families who are struggling to take part in the Nation's prosperity benefit first.

Mr. President, we are embarking on an extremely important decision in terms of the future course of the Nation. If we make it responsibly, we can continue on the path of prosperity. We can continue to invest in the future strength of our country through education, research and development, and infrastructure. We can shore up Social Security, address the problems in the Medicare program, and bring down the Peoject. We can also implement targeted tax cuts that help strengthen our families.

All of these things are possible, but we cannot, for the sake of our future economic prosperity, go to extremes. The Republican proposal is an extreme proposal. Subjected to analysis, it does not stand up. I strongly oppose this proposal and I urge my colleagues to reject it.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I am in strong support of Senator Robb's amendment to recommit the tax bill to instruct the Finance Committee to make a $5.7 billion investment in rebuilding and modernizing the nation's schools. I commend Senator Robb for his leadership on this issue and I urge my colleagues to support this sensible legislation that is necessary to help the nation meet the critical need to modernize and rebuild crumbling and overcrowded schools.

Schools, communities, and governments at every level have to do more as resources in their field and the best teaching practices. They need after-school instruction for students who need extra help, and after-school programs to engage students in construction activities. They need safe, modern facilities with up-to-date technology.

But, this investment can't succeed when roofs are crumbling and children are in overcrowded classrooms. Sending children to dilapidated, overcrowded facilities sends a message to these children. It tells them they don't matter. No CEO would tolerate a leaky ceiling in the board room, and no teacher should have to tolerate it in the classroom. We need to do all we can to ensure that children are learning in safe, modern school buildings.

Schools, communities, and modernization will allow schools to correct problems that prevent them from offering an environment conducive to learning. Researchers have documented a clear link between school building conditions and student learning. A study by Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in 1996 compared test scores of students in substandard and above-standard buildings, and found that students in better buildings with access to modern technology do better. Schools need smaller classes, particularly in the early grades. They need stronger parent involvement. They need well-trained teachers in the classroom who keep up with current developments in their field and the best teaching practices. They need after-school instruction for students who need extra help, and after-school programs to engage students in construction activities. They need safe, modern facilities with up-to-date technology.

Mr. President, we are embarking on an extremely important decision in terms of the future course of the Nation. If we make it responsibly, we can continue on the path of prosperity. We can continue to invest in the future strength of our country through education, research and development, and infrastructure. We can shore up Social Security, address the problems in the Medicare program, and bring down the Peoject. We can also implement targeted tax cuts that help strengthen our families.

All of these things are possible, but we cannot, for the sake of our future economic prosperity, go to extremes. The Republican proposal is an extreme proposal. Subjected to analysis, it does not stand up. I strongly oppose this proposal and I urge my colleagues to reject it.
order to keep pace with rising enrollments and to reduce class sizes. Elementary and secondary school enrollments in the United States reach a new high again this year of 53 million students, and will continue to grow.

The Department of Education estimates that 2,400 new public schools will be needed by 2003, to accommodate rising enrollments. The General Accounting Office estimates that it will cost communities $112 billion to repair and modernize the nation's schools. Congress should lend a helping hand and do all we can to help schools and communities across the country meet this challenge.

In Massachusetts, 41 percent of schools report that at least one building needs extensive repairs or should be replaced. 80 percent of schools report at least one area as growing at a rate of 25 percent a year. 48 percent have inadequate heating, ventilation, or air conditioning. And 36 percent report inadequate plumbing systems.

This past year, I visited Everett Elementary School in Dorchester, Massachusetts. The school is experiencing serious overcrowding. The average class size is 28 students. The principal of the school gave up her office and moved into a closet in the hall in order to accommodate the rising enrollment. When the school needs the multi-purpose auditorium/library, the rolling bookcases are moved to the basement, and the library has to close for the rest of the day.

In Fitchburg, Massachusetts, enrollments are rising by 200 students a year. Educators there would like to reduce class size, extend special education and bilingual education programs, and hire new teachers, but the school system does not have the facilities or financial resources to accomplish these important goals. Instead, Fitchburg has been forced to construct four portable facilities—and a fifth is under construction—to deal with overcrowding.

Forrest Grove Middle School in Worcester, Massachusetts, is at full capacity with 750 students. As enrollments rise, they expect an additional 150 students, forcing them to rent rooms at a local church to alleviate overcrowding. The schools in Olathe, Kansas, are growing at a rate of 50 percent a year, and will have 1,600 students a year, which is equivalent to about one new school per year.

Two cafeterias at Bladensburg High School in Prince Georges County, Virginia, were recently closed because they were infested with mice and roaches. A teacher commented, “It’s disgusting. It causes chaos when the mice run around the room.” At an elementary school in Montgomery, Alabama, a ceiling which had been damaged by leaking water collapsed only 40 minutes after the children had left for the day.

In Ramona, California, where overcrowding is a serious problem, one elementary school is composed entirely of portable buildings. It has neither a cafeteria nor an auditorium, and a single relocatable room is used as a library, computer lab, music room, and art room.

In Silver Spring, Maryland, a second-grade reading class has to squeeze through a narrow corridor with a sink on one side into a space about 14 feet wide by 15 feet long.

Schools are trying to meet their needs, but they can’t do it alone. The federal government should join with state and local governments and community organizations to ensure that all children have the opportunity to get a good education in a safe and up-to-date school building.

Children need and deserve a good education in order to succeed in life. But they cannot obtain that education if they are crowded into a room, forced to share a desk with three others, and sewage is backing up through faulty plumbing, asbestos is flaking off the walls and ceilings, schools lack computers and modern technology, and classrooms are overcrowded. We need to invest more to help states and communities rebuild crumbling schools, modernize old buildings, and expand facilities to accommodate reduced class sizes.

Senator RONNIE’S bill offers school districts the necessary flexibility and assistance to get the job done. Under this proposal, states will be able to put together a school financing package which best meets their needs. It offers states and school districts five choices from a menu of school construction financing components. It gives states and communities the authority to offer zero-interest school modernization bonds. It also offers other tax incentives to enhance the ability of communities to obtain financing for school construction. And it authorizes up to $112 billion in Home Loan Bank guarantees on school construction bonds.

I urge my colleagues to support Senator RONNIE’S amendment. The time is now to do all we can to help rebuild and modernize public schools, so that all children can succeed in safe, technologically-equipped schools.

Mr. ROCKEFELLER. Mr. President, I rise today to discuss the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 and its impact on providers and beneficiaries’ access to health care services. Congress has a responsibility to address problems with the BBA for providers, especially those in rural areas. I believe it is important that we keep one thought in mind during the course of this debate—we debated all these changes to help our seniors. They are, and should remain, at the forefront of these discussions.

The Balanced Budget Act included some of the most significant modifications to Medicare in the history of the program. It signified a change in policy designed to pay more reasonable prices and increase overall efficiency. There is no doubt that these needed reforms enacted to protect and preserve the program for future generations. However, in light of the magnitude of the changes, we need to make some adjustments to compensate for unforeseen consequences.

It is clear that in rural areas like West Virginia, the impact of the BBA on beneficiaries and providers is much more dramatic than in many other parts of the country. Medicare payments make up a larger proportion of rural hospitals’ revenues and rural hospitals have lower hospital margins in general. Thus, West Virginia hospitals, like many other rural hospitals, have little to fall back on when federal Medicare payments are cut.

Since rural hospitals are often local safety net providers with low, and sometimes negative, margins, payment reductions may mean financial jeopardy for rural hospitals and consequently, reduced access to care for rural beneficiaries.

It is not yet clear whether Medicare payment rates will take into account the severity or complexity of patients’ illnesses. Under the current law, caring for the chronically ill or those with complex medical conditions can push these health care facilities closer to the brink of bankruptcy. Rural facilities are especially concerned because they do not treat a large enough volume of patients to counterbalance the costs of a few very sick patients.

We cannot afford to lose providers without endangering the well-being of our citizens. Therefore, it is imperative that we take action to make sure that the problems we’re facing today do not become a crisis that we’ll have to face in the near future.

I would like to note that this body has voted on one facet of this issue earlier this year. The Senate budget resolution included an amendment, which was passed by voice-vote, that directed attention to the impact of the BBA on hospital care. Specifically, the amendment expressed the sense of the Senate that we should consider the extent to which the BBA has had adverse effects on access to hospital care and provided additional budget authority to address the unintended consequences.

Today, I am offering an amendment with my colleagues from Massachusetts and Maryland, Senators Boxer and MikULSKI, that takes the next step in providing for the additional needs of our health care delivery system, especially in rural areas. The “Medicare Quality Assurance and Continued Access” amendment would add a small portion of the tax cut for a comprehensive package of assistance to Medicare providers.

Mr. President, I am not advocating that we undo the BBA. However, we must address the inequities that resulted from its enactment, particularly when it comes to making certain our seniors get the care they need.
We have commitment to those who came before us and sacrificed so much to make this nation what it is today. Today, we ask the American people to honor that commitment, and I urge my colleagues to do so by supporting changes to the Balanced Budget Act.

Mr. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I rise to address the amendment on low-income housing tax credit to be offered by my colleague from Pennsylvania, of which I am a cosponsor.

This issue—affordable housing—is of great importance in my state of California, as it is for much of the nation. Low income families in San Francisco, San Diego, and cities across the country are finding it harder and harder to find affordable housing for rent.

The low-income housing tax credit is a great help. Since 1987, state agencies have allocated over $3 billion in housing credits to help finance nearly one million apartments for low income families.

The current housing credit cap—$1.25 for each resident of a state—has not been re-indexed since the program’s inception. Annual cap growth is limited to the increase in state population, which has been less than five percent nationwide over the past decade. During the same time period, inflation has eroded the housing credit’s purchasing power by nearly 50 percent, as measured by the Consumer Price Index.

The budget reconciliation bill increases the credit cap to $1.75 over five years. This is an important step, but it’s not enough. Senator SANTORUM and I have proposed this amendment to index the low-income housing tax credit cap for inflation.

The estimated cost to index the cap for inflation is $13 million over ten years. Spending of this type is one billion over $3 billion in housing credits. It is important to see that the housing tax credit will not depreciate over time.

By not indexing the credit for inflation over the past 13 years, it has eroded by between 40 and 45 percent. Costs to build and rehabilitate affordable housing developments have continued to climb, requiring more credit per project in order to achieve economic feasibility. As a result, less and less affordable housing is made available under the credit.

Assuming an inflation factor of just three percent, California would have an additional $1.23 million in the first year of indexing. This would produce over $3 billion in housing credits to help finance nearly one million apartments for low-income families. The progressive structure of both programs guarantees that for every dollar contributed to the housing credit, an additional dollar will be contributed to the health care credit. We have emphasized the scientific research that confirms again and again that quality early childhood support is necessary for proper brain development of infants and toddlers. We’ve called for increased federal assistance for children in the nation’s children when they are very young, so that all children can benefit from healthy growth and development. The alternative is unacceptable because it means far higher costs in the long run, and because it denies many thousands of children the opportunity to enter school ready to learn.

For all the talk, there has been far too little action. We have severely underfunded the Child Care and Development Block Grants to the states. Only one in ten children who qualify for federal assistance actually receives it. When states run out of funds, they place many of the remaining children on waiting lists. Today, over two hundred thousand children that need a safe and stimulating environment while their parents work are on waiting lists instead. At a hearing held this week, Senators from both parties called this a national disgrace, and I urge my colleagues to join me in support of this amendment.

Mr. BURNS. Mr. President, I will offer an amendment that will help to keep our Nation’s air clean and healthy. This amendment will provide our energy producers to produce an environmentally-friendly and energy-efficient alternative fuel using otherwise unusable waste products and natural resources.

This proposal would provide for a biomass coal tax credit and offer an incentive for the Nation’s energy producers to construct facilities that would process low-grade, high-moisture, coal. We have large supplies of this type of coal in our nation.

This proposal provides half of the credit that is being allowed to produce electricity using biomass and wind power. This is a production tax credit you can only claim the credit if you produce the qualified product.

However, it has been determined that in order for companies to use this credit, they need to have an idea that the credit is going to be available for an extended number of years. Otherwise the costs of building the facilities to provide this environmentally-friendly and energy-efficient fuels would be cost prohibitive.

The marketplace demands a premium, low pollutant coal, to meet the nations needs and in response to the Clean Air Act and the Kyoto Protocol. We cannot jeopardize America’s competitiveness by complying with Kyoto’s costs on our consumers and markets.

Providing this tax credit markets the beginning of a new industry. Based on current market pressures resulting from deregulation and environmental regulations, numerous companies are interested in constructing these facilities. This is a tax credit that will help to clean our Nation’s air and keep our skies blue.

I yield the floor.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, members on both sides of the aisle have spent a great deal of time over the past two years talking about child care. We’ve introduced dozens of bills. We’ve held extensive hearings. We know the difficulties facing countless families across the nation in finding affordable, quality care for their children.

We’ve emphasized the scientific research that confirms again and again
The bottom line is that Social Security and Medicare are women's issues. They are the most important domestic programs for women. By failing to allocate part of the projected surplus to Social Security for this and instead acting for short term gratification, we place the issues important to women and families behind the special interests of DC lobbyists.

Why am I here today fighting for an amendment that simply says we will not squander the projected surplus until we have reformed Social Security and Medicare for the long term? Because I am here fighting for families and fighting for some economic peace of mind for older women. Without Social Security benefits, the elderly poverty rate among women would be 32.2 percent and among widows would be 60.6 percent. Instead 12 percent of all Social Security recipients live in poverty. While not acceptable, 12 percent, I do not want to be part of pushing more than 50 percent of older women into poverty.

Women are far more dependent on Social Security for their retirement income than are men. Three-quarters of unmarried and widowed elderly women rely on Social Security for more than half of their income. Fifty-eight percent of all Social Security recipients are women. Tell me women do not have a vital stake in this debate.

I am not saying we cannot have tax relief targeted to working families. We could have tax relief targeted to help more Americans save for retirement. However, we cannot jeopardize or gamble with the future economic security of millions of women. We have to tackle Social Security and Medicare reform first.

I know such reform will require heavy lifting. It will require us to invest potential surplus funds in the well-being of older Americans. I am committed to this reform. I am willing to sit down and tackle these tough assignments. What I am not willing to do is watch my colleagues ignore the economic importance of both Social Security and Medicare for women.

A tax cut is not what most women are looking for. They want pay equity, economic opportunity, and retirement security. Women currently start out lower and earn less than men. They are the most important domestic programs for women, their golden years are not spent living far below the poverty line.

The bottom line is that Social Security and Medicare are women's issues. They are the most important domestic programs for women. By failing to allocate part of the projected surplus to Social Security for this and instead acting for short term gratification, we place the issues important to women and families behind the special interests of DC lobbyists.

Why am I here today fighting for an amendment that simply says we will not squander the projected surplus until we have reformed Social Security and Medicare for the long term? Because I am here fighting for families and fighting for some economic peace of mind for older women. Without Social Security benefits, the elderly poverty rate among women would be 32.2 percent and among widows would be 60.6 percent. Instead 12 percent of all Social Security recipients live in poverty. While not acceptable, 12 percent, I do not want to be part of pushing more than 50 percent of older women into poverty.

Women are far more dependent on Social Security for their retirement income than are men. Three-quarters of unmarried and widowed elderly women rely on Social Security for more than half of their income. Fifty-eight percent of all Social Security recipients are women. Tell me women do not have a vital stake in this debate.

I am not saying we cannot have tax relief targeted to working families. We could have tax relief targeted to help more Americans save for retirement. However, we cannot jeopardize or gamble with the future economic security of millions of women. We have to tackle Social Security and Medicare reform first.

I know such reform will require heavy lifting. It will require us to invest potential surplus funds in the well-being of older Americans. I am committed to this reform. I am willing to sit down and tackle these tough assignments. What I am not willing to do is watch my colleagues ignore the economic importance of both Social Security and Medicare for women.

A tax cut is not what most women are looking for. They want pay equity, economic opportunity, and retirement security. Women currently start out lower and earn less than men. They are the most important domestic programs for women, their golden years are not spent living far below the poverty line.
power industry. Already, the first microturbines and fuel cells are being installed in homes and businesses. Renewable energy, such as wind and solar, are bringing power to isolated areas that are not connected to the electrical power grid. These remote applications are very common in my state of New Mexico.

Mr. President, my amendment has two parts. The first part provides a much needed tax clarification concerning small, distributed electric power technologies, such as high-efficiency microturbines and fuel cells. The current tax law discourages the use of these technologies in commercial buildings by requiring a straight-lined depreciation over a 29-year lifetime. However, the same technology, if used in different application, has a shorter useful life and could have a 15-year depreciation schedule when used for power generation.

The second part of my amendment provides an 8-percent investment tax credit for systems that produce both heat and electric power. The tax credit would apply only to systems that meet a strict 60-percent overall energy efficient requirement. This provision will help increase the Nation's energy efficiency by encouraging investment in these highly efficient systems. Last month the Energy and Natural Resources Committee held a hearing on distributed power generation. The hearing made clear that technologies such as microturbines, fuel cells, and the various renewable resources can provide many practical benefits, including increased reliability, lower costs, increased reliability, and reduced emissions. Moreover, by combining the production of heat and electric power in one package, overall efficiencies of up to 90 percent can be achieved.

Though I believe my amendment is important and would provide significant economic, reliability, and environmental benefits, I am not going to call it up for one very simple reason: This tax bill isn't going anywhere. The Senate will soon pass this bill, but the President is not going to sign it. In a few weeks, when the Senate comes back with a more sensible package of tax legislation, I hope my amendment will be incorporated in a bill that we can pass and send to the President for his signature.

The incentives for distributed generating technologies in my amendment will go a long way to realizing the best future for power generation and efficient use of energy. I hope we can pass them in the next tax bill.

Mr. MACK. Mr. President, I would like to talk a few minutes about one particular provision in the tax bill we are debating, the extension of the Research & Development tax credit. Last year the Finance Committee took an historic step, and reported a bill which would have made the R&D tax credit a permanent feature of our tax code. Yesterday, unfortunately, every single member of the minority voted to sun-set the provisions of the tax bill for so instead of a permanent R&D tax credit, we have a ten-year extension.

Though the actions of our colleagues across the aisle prevented us from having a permanent R&D tax credit, I am pleased that the on-again, off-again nature of the credit will not undermine America's innovators for the next decade. I have long supported federal policies to increase the nation's R&D investment because of the central importance of the health and well-being of our people, its positive contribution to our economic growth and our higher standard of living, and the improvements which add to our quality of life.

Both business and government play important and complementary roles in making sure that America continues to lead the world in research and innovation. The federal role in R&D is focused on investment in long-term basic research. I will continue to do my best to increase federal R&D spending on basic research, particularly on biomedical research which leads to huge benefits to all Americans.

Today, private industry plays the largest role in the nation's research effort, funding 65% of all R&D. Industry's role makes it clear . . . that if overall R&D is to increase, we must pursue policies which create a good business climate for firms to pursue long-term increases in their R&D budgets. We urge tax reform to encourage companies to hire new scientists, invest in new technologies and new research facilities—and the R&D tax credit provides that crucial incentive.

To see the benefits of R&D, look no further than America's economic performance today. We are in the eighth consecutive year of non-inflationary growth, and technology industries deserve a large share of the credit. In fact, high-tech industries have accounted for about one-third of real GDP growth in recent years.

Advancements from R&D lead to a huge number of improvements to our quality of life. The most dramatic impact of R&D on our quality of life is evident in biomedical research and health care. Here are some examples of the payoff to medical R&D:

It used to be that patients with kidney failure had to undergo frequent transfusions, which are expensive, can be dangerous, and leave many patients anemic. Many kidney patients had to cut back on work or quit their jobs, or go on public assistance. Through extensive R&D, one of America's top biotech companies created a new drug that allows the body to create red blood cells again and enables patients to avoid transfusions. In the past decade, this drug has helped millions to remain productive. It has reduced transfusions in the United States by nearly one-fifth, and fewer people have contracted blood-borne disease. Another example of the real-life benefits from R&D is the new class of drugs, developed in the late 1980s, which are giving millions of people who suffer from depression a new lease on life. Because of these new depression drugs, the cost of treating depression in the United States has plummeted—expensive psychiatric care and in-patient stays, which many could not afford, are now disappearing in favor of these new treatments.

The R&D tax credit has proven its effectiveness. Numerous studies during the past decade have found that each dollar of tax credits has a return of $1 and $2 of additional R&D. Therefore, taxpayers are getting a solid return on their investment in terms of greater economic growth, a higher standard of living, and in numerous cases—a longer and healthier life span.

As chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, last month, along with Senator BENNETT, I hosted a high-tech summit which brought together business leaders from all across the high technology industries. One issue everyone seemed to agree on was that a permanent R&D tax credit would advance the development of new technologies, leading to breakthroughs which benefit the environment, increase transportation safety, treat serious illnesses and save lives. And on top of all this, a Coopers & Lybrand study found that a permanent extension to the credit would raise American incomes due to higher productivity growth and contribute substantially to our economic growth.

The R&D tax credit has proven its worth many times over. Mr. President, though I am pleased we have extended R&D for 10 years, it is my hope that... the R&D tax credit will one day be a permanent fixture in our Tax Code so it can spur innovation and economic growth throughout the next millennium.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, although I have a great deal of respect for the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, close examination of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999 has led me to conclude that the $792 billion Republican tax bill passed out of the Finance Committee is too much too soon and could well have serious adverse effects on federal priorities and the national economy.

The Republican tax plan would devote virtually the entire projected non-Social Security surplus over the next ten years—some $392 billion out of $964 billion, according to the CBO—to tax cuts. That would leave just $22 billion for everything else—Medicare needs, defense, health care, education, combating crime, everything else that the government does. Clearly, that is not sustainable.

In fact, the Republican plan may well lead to substantial deficits unless the Congress and the President are willing to not only keep the present caps, but to tighten them even further.

By devoting 97 percent of a surplus that has not yet been generated to tax cuts and to the additional interest costs of not reducing the debt—$392 billion—the Republican plan creates a great risk that we will return to the era of deficits and rising debt.

When I first came to the Senate in 1993, the Federal budget deficit was $290 billion, and expected to continue.

In fact, the Republican plan cuts to the Medicare budget deficit was $290 billion, and expected to continue.

The bottom line is that the Republican plan is too fast. It:

1. Cuts an additional 23 percent by 2009. But if defense programs are to be funded at the level recommended by the Joint Chiefs—then—then domestic spending will have to be cut by 38 percent. Cuts of this magnitude would:
   - Reduce Head Start services over one-third, from the $350,000 children who would otherwise be served to 460,000.
   - Would slash Title I, Education for the Disadvantaged, programs, denying 4 million children in high poverty communities throughout this nation (from the 14.6 million projected) access to key educational services necessary to improve their future prospects.
   - It would cut the National Institutes of Health budget by $8.6 billion from the current baseline, which would endanger NIH's ability to fund new research. It would cut the cancer research program and certainly prevent the doubling of funding for cancer research as this body has supported by a vote of 98–0 in 1997 in a Sense of the Senate.
   - It would cut Superfund cleanup funds by $570 million, eliminating all new federally-led clean-ups due to begin in 2009, and making it difficult, if not impossible, to meet the EPA's 900-site cleanup goal in 2002.
   - There are 96 Superfund sites in California on the National Priority List, including Iron Mountain near Redding and the San Gabriel Valley site in Los Angeles county. Construction is underway at just 38 percent of these sites. The Republican tax plan may put continued work on these sites in jeopardy.
   - The Republican plan cuts to the Immigration and Naturalization Service could result in a reduction of over 6,000 Border Patrol Agents (from the number projected); cuts to the FBI could result in a reduction of over 2,300 FBI agents (from the number projected).
   - Does not eliminate publicly held debt.

The Republican plan does nothing to protect Medicare. No budget resources are set aside for Medicare solvency. And by living entirely on the surplus outside of Social Security's need to pay tax cuts, the Republican plan does nothing to extend the solvency of Medicare trust fund, which will be bankrupt by 2015.

Nor does it provide coverage for prescription drug benefits to be added. As a matter of fact, they are made impossible.

The Republican plan endangers virtually all domestic program priorities, forcing cuts of close to 40 percent in domestic spending over the next decade.

The Republican plan would commit the nation to major cuts in military readiness, education, healthcare, and crime-fighting, just to name a few areas.

In fact, under this plan, to avoid deficits, domestic spending will have to be cut an additional 23 percent by 2009. But if defense programs are to be funded at the level recommended by the Joint Chiefs—then—then domestic spending will have to be cut by 38 percent. Cuts of this magnitude would:

Reduce Head Start services over one-third, from the $350,000 children who would otherwise be served to 460,000.

It would slash Title I, Education for the Disadvantaged, programs, denying 4 million children in high poverty communities throughout this nation (from the 14.6 million projected) access to key educational services necessary to improve their future prospects.

It would cut the National Institutes of Health budget by $8.6 billion from the current baseline, which would endanger NIH’s ability to fund new research. It would cut the cancer research program and certainly prevent the doubling of funding for cancer research as this body has supported by a vote of 98–0 in 1997 in a Sense of the Senate.

It would cut Superfund cleanup funds by $570 million, eliminating all new federally-led clean-ups due to begin in 2009, and making it difficult, if not impossible, to meet the EPA’s 900-site cleanup goal in 2002.

There are 96 Superfund sites in California on the National Priority List, including Iron Mountain near Redding and the San Gabriel Valley site in Los Angeles county. Construction is underway at just 38 percent of these sites. The Republican tax plan may put continued work on these sites in jeopardy.

The Republican plan cuts to the Immigration and Naturalization Service could result in a reduction of over 6,000 Border Patrol Agents (from the number projected); cuts to the FBI could result in a reduction of over 2,300 FBI agents (from the number projected).

Does not eliminate publicly held debt.

Today, public debt stands at $3.6 trillion. We have an opportunity to eliminate this public debt entirely by 2015—critical if we wish to keep interest rates low—once we can afford to put an end to the budget deficits.

I represent the most populous state in the union. Most important issues before the Senate produce letters and e-mail in excess of 10,000 a week, and often 20,000 or 30,000. Yet, I have received remarkably few letters urging tax cuts. And those letters that I have received—109 last week—have been equally split. In fact, only one person has written to me saying that it is vital for their survival that the massive Republican tax package be passed.

I would like to read from some of the letters that I have received, to give my colleagues a sense of what the people of California are thinking about this issue.

A letter I received from a woman in Berkeley sums up much of this debate quite well, and is reflective of much of the mail I have received. And it is further testament to the fact that the American people are often more wise than many of their elected leaders.

The letter reads:

I am very concerned about proposed tax cuts and urge you to be cautious!

First, we really do not know if the proposed surplus will be there in the next 15 years.

Second, we have enormous debt, and, in my mind, the major portion of the surplus should be used to pay down our debt. This is especially true since their—invested—surplus Social Security taxes are already spent. Talk about family value—pay your debt first.

Third, Social Security, Medicare, and child services all need financial attention.

Please do not vote for a large tax cut. It is not the right thing for our national financial future.

For those of my colleagues who may be quick to dismiss a letter coming from Berkeley, I also received a note from a couple in Sonoma which read: "We are two registered Republicans who would prefer no tax cut. Pay off the national debt and lower interest rates thereby. Also secure Social Security and improve healthcare for every one."

A man in San Diego wrote:

I want the national debt paid down. I want Social Security and Medicare shored up. I don’t want more government spending. If we can do that and get a tax cut fine. If we can’t fine. I don’t want to depend on your estimates of surpluses, since we know their abilities are mediocre at best!

And from an e-mail from Aptos:

I am opposed to the recent large tax break legislation in the House. We need instead to be paying down the debt and saving tax cuts for when they are truly needed. To pay off our national debt, the more of our hard earned tax dollars will actually go to pay for programs, not debt repayment, and the more we will be able to afford true tax cuts in the future. Let’s not spend our future away.

In fact, I believe that if our colleagues on the other side of the aisle were willing to put partisan posturing behind them, a responsible tax cut would be possible within the context of the budget plan proposed by the President.

I support the Administration in setting aside 62 percent of the surplus for Social Security, some $3.5 trillion over 15 years. It extends the program’s solvency to 2053, and eliminates publicly held debt by 2015. This means that the “baby boomer” generation’s Social Security is protected.

I support extending the solvency of Medicare from 2015 to 2027 by dedicating 12.5 percent of the surplus, some $794 billion over 15 years to Medicare. This is vital if there is to be a solvent system. It is mandatory if addressing a change in benefits is contemplated.

Finally, I strongly support itemizing 2.5 percent of the surplus, or $156 billion over 15 years for education, and 6 percent of the surplus or $366 billion over ten years for various discretionary programs such as defense, veterans affairs, research, agriculture, and environmental protection.

That would leave $271 billion over the next ten years which could be utilized as a tax cut.

Indeed, that is why I worked with my colleague from Iowa, Senator Grassley, to put together and introduce earlier this year a moderate bill that provides needed tax relief for working families while fitting within the budget framework set out by the President to protect Social Security and Medicare.

The Grassley-Feinstein plan would cost $271 billion over ten years. It provides a $61.4 billion cut in the marriage penalty; a 100 percent deduction for health insurance expenses and a tax credit for long-term care ($117 billion over ten years); an increase in the low-income housing credit ($6.6 billion over ten years); tax credits for child care and education, including help for stay at home parents, with the HOPEcollege credit, and with student loan interest payments ($32.3 billion over ten years); and it helps our economy continue to grow by making permanent the R&D tax credit ($27.4 billion over ten years).

In fact, it is much like the Democratic plan. It is a common sense, bipartisan approach.

Of all the tax cuts that have been proposed, I believe the one that would be of the most help to the American people would be marriage penalty relief.

It makes sense for social reasons: It reinforces the important institutions of family and marriage.

And it makes sense for economic reasons: It eliminates what many of us see as a vast inconsistency in our tax law, that two people could find that they pay more in taxes if they are married then if they stay single. It makes no sense.

Another approach to this tax relief question would be to simply eliminate the marriage penalty outright, starting in 2002, and allow married couples to file either individually or jointly at their option. This would cost some $255 billion for the eight years.

A tax relief plan which starts with a $234 billion cut in the marriage penalty would also allow us to include other important provisions. I would support including an immediate increase in the low-income housing tax credit, indexing that credit to inflation, which would cost $6 billion over ten years.

The low-income housing tax credit is critical for financing housing for low income families. I would also support the permanent extension of the R&D tax credit, which costs some $27.4 billion over ten years, and provides an important incentive for U.S. companies to continue to develop the cutting-edge technologies of the 21st century.

So, the complete elimination of the marriage tax, the low-income housing credit, and the R&D credit would total some $269 billion over the next years, well within the $271 billion cap. Unfortunately, the Republican plan passed by the Finance Committee is neither common sense nor bipartisan.

It is a tax plan which will endanger the federal budget, places Medicare at risk, force deep and unnecessary cuts in important domestic priorities, and may undermine the long-term health of the U.S. economy. It is unwise, and I urge my colleagues to think long and hard before plunging headlong and needlessly down this path of fiscal irresponsible.

Congress has an unprecedented opportunity to put our fiscal house in order. We can protect Social Security and Medicare, meet other domestic and international priorities, and eliminate the federal debt. And we can provide the American people with significant and much needed tax relief. This is not some pie in the sky scenario, but a real appraisal of what we can do if we are willing to move beyond partisan posturing and politics as usual, and do what is right for the American people.

BUSINESS AS USUAL IN THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. President, I take this opportunity today in my capacity as Co-Chairman of the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe, known as the Helsinki Commission, to draw the attention of my Senate colleagues to the growing problem of official and unofficial corruption abroad and the direct impact on U.S. business.

Last week I chaired a Commission hearing that focused on the issues of bribery and corruption in the OSCE region, an area stretching from Vancouver to Vladivostok. The Commission heard that, in economic terms, rampant corruption and organized crime in this vast region has cost U.S. businesses billions of dollars in lost contracts with direct implications for our economy here at home.

Recently, Mr. President, in some of the biggest recipients of U.S. foreign assistance—countries like Russia and Ukraine—the climate is either not conducive or outright hostile to American business. This week a delegation of Russian officials led by Prime Minister Sergei Stepashin is meeting with the Vice President and other administration officials to seek support of the transfer of billions of dollars in loans and other assistance, money which ultimately comes from the pockets of U.S. taxpayers.

I recently returned from the annual session of the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly in St. Petersburg, Russia, where I had an opportunity to sit down with, high-level Russian officials to learn from their firsthand experiences and gain a deeper insight into the obstacles they face. During the 105th Congress, I introduced legislation—the International Anti-Corruption Act—to link U.S. foreign aid to how conducive recipient countries are to business investment. I intend to reintroduce that legislation shortly, taking into account testimony presented during last week’s Commission hearing.

The time has come to stop doing business as usual with the Russians and others who gladly line up to receive our assistance then turn around and fleece U.S. businesses seeking to assist with the establishment of legitimate operations in these countries. An article in the Washington Post this week illustrates the type of rampant and blatant corruption faced by many in the U.S. business community, including companies based in my home state of Colorado.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the full text of this article be printed in the RECORD.

There being on objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

INVESTORS FEAR "SCARY GUY" IN RUSSIA TALKS

(By Steven Mufson)

Russian Prime Minister Sergei Stepashin arrived in Seattle on Sunday to court American investment in his country’s ailing economy, but his visit included a regional governor who has been accused of using strong-arm tactics to wrest assets from foreign investors.

During the week’s Commission hearing, I asked unanimous consent that the full text of this article be printed in the RECORD.

There being on objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

INVESTORS FEAR "SCARY GUY" IN RUSSIA TALKS

(By Steven Mufson)

Russian Prime Minister Sergei Stepashin arrived in Seattle on Sunday to court American investment in his country’s ailing economy, but his visit included a regional governor who has been accused of using strong-arm tactics to wrest assets from foreign investors.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the full text of this article be printed in the RECORD.

There being on objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

INVESTORS FEAR "SCARY GUY" IN RUSSIA TALKS

(By Steven Mufson)

Russian Prime Minister Sergei Stepashin arrived in Seattle on Sunday to court American investment in his country’s ailing economy, but his visit included a regional governor who has been accused of using strong-arm tactics to wrest assets from foreign investors.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the full text of this article be printed in the RECORD.

There being on objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

INVESTORS FEAR "SCARY GUY" IN RUSSIA TALKS

(By Steven Mufson)

Russian Prime Minister Sergei Stepashin arrived in Seattle on Sunday to court American investment in his country’s ailing economy, but his visit included a regional governor who has been accused of using strong-arm tactics to wrest assets from foreign investors.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the full text of this article be printed in the RECORD.

There being on objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

INVESTORS FEAR "SCARY GUY" IN RUSSIA TALKS

(By Steven Mufson)
leave the company’s existing management intact. Fox left that week and is now in Scotland.

David Gens, finance director of Seattle-based Far East Maritime Agency, said the Russian partner of one of the company’s affiliates was ordered to contribute 10 percent of revenue for the rest of the year to Nazdratenko’s reelection campaign.

In yet another dispute, an American investor has alleged that Nazdratenko packed the board of a company, diluted the ownership interest of foreign investors and diverted funds away for his December reelection campaign.

Senior administration officials said Nazdratenko would not be included in meetings with President Clinton, Vice President Gore or other top U.S. officials today in Washington. But several business leaders said the mere presence of the Vladivostok politician, who accompanied Stepashin in Seattle for a tour of a Boeing plant and a dinner hosted by Washington Gov. Gary Locke (D), was sending a bad signal to investors.

Russia has defaulted on its debts, it has a lot of economic problems, it should be extra careful to woo foreign investors, said a Moscow-based expert for a forum of foreign investors in a dispute with Nazdratenko over a Vladivostok-based fishing company. “To bring the poster boy of corruption along to the United States is staggering.”

Nazdratenko has repeatedly and forcefully denied allegations in the Russian media of tolerating corruption and organized crime. As the governor of an immense territory with valuable forests and rich fishing grounds north of Japan, Nazdratenko is a political powerhouse and runs his region with little supervision from authorities in faraway Moscow.

In Seattle, Stepashin told business leaders: “There are good prospects for investment in Russia, so please don’t lose any time.”

But Fox, who has lived in Vladivostok for seven years and represents foreigners with more than $100 million invested in the area, says he would like to ask Stepashin: “Which bits of Russia are you talking about?”

“Everyone knows it is a risky thing to invest in Russia,” Fox added. “But it’s so outrageously rich.”

“It’s total lawlessness. Is that where Russia is heading?” Fox asked. “If so, then there is no sense in spending money there, and Russia is going to go backwards.”

Acknowledging the complaints of many foreign investors, Stepashin told members of a U.S.-Russia business council in Washington last night that “all investments have to be protected not only in word, but in deed.” He said, “We understand that investors have every reason to be weary,” but added that “we are dead set on changing our attitude.”

Many of those who have suffered from the fickle nature of Russia’s economic system are in Seattle, the first stop in Stepashin’s U.S. visit.

Gens estimates that one Vladivostok fishing trawler company, Zao Super, owes tens of millions of dollars to Seattle-area suppliers for parts and maintenance service. Yet the Russian Committee of Fisheries on July 2 transferred most of Zao Super’s main assets—the fishing boats—to another company whose major shareholder and chairman is a close associate of Nazdratenko.

Zao Super, which allegedly was told to divest most of its assets, Nazdratenko’s camp has $580 million in debts being renegotiated by the Paris Club, a creditors’ group comprised of the governments of leading industrialized nations.

Despite these and other economic problems, Stepashin is widely expected to receive support in Washington for Russia’s quest for $4.5 billion in loans from the International Monetary Fund and up to $2 billion from the World Bank. He will meet with officials of those institutions on Wednesday. The IMF is important to negotiations on re-scheduling Russia’s crushing debts. Russia, which has $17 billion in debt payments due this year, already has defaulted on many obligations.

The IMF has been reluctant to support Russia since a combination of capital flight, poor tax collection, weak budget controls, corruption and lumbering state enterprises led to a collapse of the Russian currency, the ruble, in August 1998.

But senior U.S. and IMF officials have been equally reluctant to isolate Russia by cutting off economic assistance.

“We are going ahead with a package which I hope is credible, which I will hope will be implemented by the end of the first quarter,” managing director of the IMF, told Reuters.

“Those first intentions and the first measures taken by the new government are quite positive,” said Nassim Taleb, a managing partner of the Renaissance Capital Group. “Now comes the difficult part: the difficulties and the risks.”

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. President, instead of jumping on the bandwagon to pump billions of additional tax dollars into a black hole in Russia, the administration should be pressing the Russian leadership, including Prime Minister Stepashin, to root out the kinds of bribery and corruption described in this article that have an overall chilling effect on much needed foreign investment. Left unchecked, such corruption will continue to undermine Russia’s fledgling democracy and the rule of law and further impede moves toward a genuine free market economy.

VA HEALTH CARE SHORTFALLS

Mr. SPECTER. I address the Chair on a subject that is critical to the veterans of the armed forces of our nation, and to the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs, which I am privileged to chair: the budget for the health care system of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Mr. President, I come to the floor of the United States Senate today to draw attention to a sure crisis in VA health care. Congress and the Administration must ask themselves what is the crisis, and what may be the acceptable remedy? It seems that the Department of Veterans Affairs must choose among difficult options of providing care for fewer veterans—that is, “disenroll” veterans already receiving medical care from a VA provider or plan; increase waiting times; cut VA staff; lower quality of care; close and consolidate numerous facilities, or Congress must increase VA’s budget. For my money, Mr. President, the choice is clear and simple: we must act to increase VA’s appropriation, and we must do so now.

Yesterday after years of denial, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, Mr. Lew, made an amazing discovery—that there are problems in the VA’s health care system due to funding shortfalls. I ask unanimous consent that the text of OMB Director Lew’s letter of July 26, 1999 be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the letter was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

HON. ARLENE SPECTER, Chairman, Committee of Veterans’ Affairs, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. Chairman: Later this week we plan to send a fully offset budget amendment to add $1 billion to support the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) medical care system. Since the publication of our budget, we have become increasingly concerned about reports of increased waiting times and other operational problems in the system.

Much has changed since January. As the VA has moved from a largely impotent system to an outpatient one, we have found that the numbers of increased wait times and other operational problems in the system.

The nationwide enrollment of veterans for medical care services was required for the first time in 1996. It was decided in this first year to open enrollment to all veterans, including higher-income non-service disabled veterans who were traditionally treated on a space-available basis only. As of April 30, we have provided treatment to almost 2.7 million veterans, 0.4 million of whom are non-users of the system.

The resources needed for this mixture of complex dynamics are greater than expected when the President’s FY 2000 budget was prepared. We will be requesting $800 million in additional funds to ensure quality and reduce waiting times that have improved significantly over the last few months. To ensure proper funding for spinal cord injury and homelessness, the Department will forward to this Committee a detailed report of how it will allocate a portion of these additional funds to these two areas.

Waiting times are also aggravated by an infrastructure not conducive to rapid access to care, and systemwide delays that no longer meets geographical and treatment needs. Recently, GAO reported that VA is spending $1 billion per day on unneeded, outmoded facilities. We will be requesting $100 million for construction activities that will begin to ease the immediate problem and to plan for the long-range solution. We hope to work with the Congress over the next few months to address this critical issue on a broad and sweeping basis.
The additional resources we are requesting are absolutely necessary to meet the critical challenge of providing long-term care. The overwhelming response to the introduction in Congress of the so-called "Millennium Bill" and the continued commitment to long-term care for all Americans has convinced us that we must increase available funds immediately to meet these needs of our veterans. As our veterans population ages, the need for long-term care is increasing. We are committed to providing a range of home- and community-based care for those veterans who do not have access to such services. While we have concerns with the mandatory approach of the Millennium Bill, we do agree with the intent of the Bill. Consequently, we will be including in our request $100 million for long-term non-institutional community-based care, targeted to VA's top priority category of veterans with disabilities of 50% or greater.

At the same time that we add resources to the system, we need to ensure that we are on target to provide care of the highest quality, and that we do not burden the system with adverse consequences for service-disabled and lower-income veterans. All veterans currently enrolled in the system will continue to receive care. We believe that this is necessary to ensure that quality is maintained, that wait times are reduced, and that we adhere to congressional guidance. The House Committee on Veterans Affairs issued report language along with the VA enrollment law stating that "VA may not enroll or otherwise attempt to treat so many patients as to result either in diminishing the availability of care to an unacceptable level or unreasonably delaying the timeliness of VA's care delivery."

We are convinced that through these aggressive steps VA will be able to provide better care, and more timely care to the veterans that need it most. We look forward to working with you, the other members of your respective committees, and the Congress as a whole to make these proposals a reality.

Sincerely,

JACOB J. LEW, Director.

Mr. SPECTER. OMB portraits—impossibly—that much has changed since January 1999, but veterans organizations in their Independent Budget have been warning Congress and the Administration for the past three years running that VA health care is in dire straits. On April 30 of this year, 50 of my colleagues joined Senator Rockefeller and me in signing a letter to the Chairman and Ranking Member of the Appropriations Committee, requesting that VA health care be supplemented with $1.7 billion for Fiscal Year 2000. VA's financial situation and the advice lead me to believe that, while such a supplement will not eliminate VA's problems, these funds will go a long way to easing its crisis and will back-fill gaps that we have permitted to occur based solely on veterans' shortages. In his July 26 letter, Director Lew refers to the need for $100 million in new health-related construction; as Chairman of the authorizing committee for VA major construction, I cannot reply, not having seen a proposed site or specific justifications. He also tells me that VA does not have a "category 7" veterans cannot continue to be enrolled in VA care for fear that quality of care for higher priority poor and service-disabled veterans will suffer. While I concur with Director Lew's premise that we do not have to "run" veterans who are already enrolled in VA health care, I must reserve judgment until I see the basis for this conclusion about the middle class veteran. The Administration is proposing $1 billion is emergency funding, but I believe, as I have since last year, that this level still would be insufficient overall.

Mr. President, as to more recent developments even than OMB's late-coming realization of need, I appreciate the additional resources the Sub-Committee last evening to add $1 billion in additional spending to the VA health care appropriation for the new year. Like my counterparts in the House, I want to help the system help those veterans, and we all do so, with great care, as we all do. However, as I said earlier about the Administration's $1 billion, I say that the House's $1 billion is only enough to push the problem down the road a little further. We need to solve the problem, not push it down the road. We can do that with a substantial increase of $1.7 billion in the Medical Care appropriation for Fiscal Year 2000—a supplement that would take VA health care funding to the unprecedented level of $19 billion—and let us join together to see what kind of sustained funding level VA truly needs to carry out its important and vital mission for America's veterans. I proposed then, and remind the Senate now, that $1.7 billion is needed to keep VA's head above water.

America's veterans put a human face on freedom. Veterans agreed to put their lives on the line, or certainly they were prepared to do so, to defend the freedoms all of us enjoy. Most of them sought nothing in return. They served honorably, then returned to civil life. However, some of these veterans whom we turned to for assistance in our time of need have now turned to the nation in their time of need. I am referring to those who were disabled during their service to the nation and those who for one reason or another have been left behind in this competitive economy and cannot sustain themselves. For these people in particular we established the Department of Veterans Affairs. I know that many of my colleagues have heard while traveling throughout your respective states that this amount was barely enough to allow VA to provide decent care for veterans. Earlier this year, the President sent to Congress a bill that we requested precisely the same amount for next year. Mr. President, that request is completely unacceptable to me, and I know it is for all my colleagues here.

The VA, under the leadership of the Under Secretary for Health, Dr. Kenneth Kizer, made remarkable changes in the way health care is provided to eligible and enrolled veterans. The VA launched a veritable revolution in its delivery system by changing the basic structure of care delivery from one that treated patients in a so-called "sickness model," a mostly reactive stance that was premised on a veteran seeking care for a specific ailment, to one of a functioning health care system that offers a basic benefits package of services to enrolled veterans, including preventive medical treatment, primary care, alternatives to institutionalization, pharmaceuticals and limited long term care programs, all centered on maintaining a veteran's health. Further, according to testimony given before the Committee on Veterans' Affairs, VA has opened hundreds of local community-based outpatient clinics, reduced the number of days patients must spend in hospitals and, according to testimony by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs, still treats any veteran who arrives at VA's doorstep. Unfortunately, both the Secretary and the President of the United States have failed to recognize that this system, like any health care system, needs sufficient funding to function properly. It is impossible to increase the quality of care provided, increase the number of places at which care can be obtained and increase the number of people who can receive care without providing any additional resources. This is impossible on its face, Mr. President—impossible.

The budget the President sent to Congress would not even permit the VA to maintain the current services it provides to veterans today. In fact, in order to maintain today's level of service, the budget admits that VA must "streamline" itself to the tune of $1.14... billion in FY 2000. But we already know that VA cannot maintain the status quo. There are so many challenges facing the system and the veterans. It treats that we as a Congress, and the President as Chief Executive, must address. For example, the package of benefits available to our veterans today does not include basic emergency care services. Today, if a veteran must visit a private hospital emergency room for treatment, in most cases payment is out-of-pocket, or through a third party insurance claim, Medicare or Medicaid, that may cover this care. The only exception to this policy is for service connected conditions in limited emergency situations, for which VA will reimburse expenses. A bill recently reported out of my Committee would correct this injustice and mandate that any veteran enrolled in VA care be provided basic emergency care services if they are needed. The Congressional Budget Office estimates that this provision will cost $80 million in the first year and approximately $400 million over five years.

Emergency care is just the tip of the VA’s health care “iceberg.” For example, another very important issue is one that dramatically affects Vietnam veterans. According to a recent VA survey, nearly 18% of veterans in VA care could be afflicted with the disease hepatitis C. Hepatitis C is a serious disease that has been associated with battlefield injuries, blood transfusions and intravenous drug use. Hepatitis C causes liver damage and, as one can imagine, ultimately hepatitis C can be fatal. Fortunately, there are a number of new drug therapies available that will help control or arrest the progress of hepatitis C. However, treatment is expensive and estimates are that they exceed approximately $135 million in FY 2000 to screen, test and care for veterans suffering from hepatitis C, and much more in the future. This special funding for hepatitis C would be in addition to the amount needed to maintain the status quo in VA health care that the President has otherwise proposed.

Frankly, Mr. President and colleagues, the most difficult challenge facing the Department into the foreseeable future is its ability to care for our aging veteran population. Many World War II and Korean War veterans are nearing the end of life. But hundreds of thousands of them need long term care services, and the numbers grow dramatically while the overall veteran population declines. VA maintains over 120 nursing homes now, and has thousands of contracts with private nursing facilities and other long term care providers. If the VA is going to do more than simply maintain these programs—which at any rate will be exceedingly difficult to do, given other challenges—rather than expand them to fit the changing demographic face of VA’s patient population, additional resources will be needed. There is no question about this fact, Mr. President, and no real choice but to face it, in my view.

Until yesterday, in response to all of these challenges, the Administration proposed to make one major move to address the crisis situation: cut health care off. As incredible as it may seem, VA seeks to expand authority for the Veterans Health Administration. Based on my analysis of this request and its implications, I concluded that buyout legislation was really a sell out, offering a golden handshake to those whom really needed to stay. It is the wrong move, and I am most pleased to say so.

VA proposes to buy out—that means reduce—its current workforce by about 15,000 staff over a five-year period, by use of a voluntary separation incentive totaling 55 days in Pittsburgh; up to 64 days at the Sayre clinic; and up to 94 days of waiting in Wilkes-Barre. Looking at a number of patients enrolled, but would do so without additional financial resources and with a greatly reduced workforce. I cannot foresee how these kinds of results are at all possible. How could it be so? A retirement bonus is a fine gesture, but how does it help veterans?

The VA buyout proposal was accompanied by a weak “strategic plan.” VA cannot say with any degree of confidence how it could continue to provide care to all of the veterans the Secretary has admitted to the system with his “open door” policies, if the staff were so severely reduced. In fact, it appeared to me that what VA intended to do in the near future of this plan—a plan that is yet to be revealed to us—was simply to increase waiting time which already is at unacceptable high levels in many places across the country. As but one small example, Mr. President, let me review for you the most recent facts on VA waiting times from VA medical centers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. These statistics deal only with primary care appointments, not specialty care: 34 days of waiting in Altoona; 31-60 days in Lebanon; up to 94 days at the Sayre clinic; and up to 94 days of waiting in Wilkes-Barre. Looking at a medical specialty that is crucial for aging veterans, let me report to my colleagues waiting times for VA urology clinics in Pennsylvania: 85 days in Altoona; 90 days in Philadelphia; up to 95 days in Pittsburgh.

I know that the distinguished Ranking Member of my Committee, Senator Rockefeller, has been very concerned about waiting times at VA hospitals in West Virginia; Senator Campbell is alarmed about the situation at the Medical Center in Fort Lyon, Colorado and has said so; and Senator Murray has relayed her concerns about the status of VA facilities in the state of Washington. But these problems are everywhere, Mr. President. These kinds of delays in care are not acceptable for our veterans. In fact, I would argue that a waiting time of 60 days for an outpatient primary care appointment or an enrolled veteran constitutes nothing; such a patient is not really receiving care from VA.

I ask my colleagues: is this a situation that you are comfortable in defending? I am not, and I am not willing to remain silent while veterans receive nothing from a grateful nation. VA needs these funds, and this need is clear. Let the United States Senate not shrink from its duty. Let us do the right thing for America’s veterans by providing an emergency supplemental of $1.7 billion in funding in Fiscal Year 2000 to help VA help our veterans.

RABBI SOLOMON SCHIFF

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, it is a tremendous honor to welcome a distinguished religious leader and member of the South Florida community to the United States Senate: Rabbi Solomon Schiff of the Greater Miami Jewish Federation’s Community Chaplaincy Service.

This morning, my colleagues and I were privileged to have Rabbi Schiff participate in a long-standing tradition by leading the Senate in prayer. His eloquence reminds us that while our legislative efforts to make the United States a better place to live, work and raise our families is important, it pales in contrast with our responsibilities to the Almighty. On behalf of every member of the United States Senate, I want to thank Rabbi Schiff for his words of inspiration.

It is no accident that Solomon Schiff was asked to lead us in our daily devotions. His long record of service to individuals in Florida, America, and around the world has distinguished him as not only a prominent spiritual leader but also a leader in his community.

Since his graduation from Brooklyn College, the University of Miami, and the Hebrew Theological Seminary in Illinois, Rabbi Schiff has served as Chairman of the Board of License for the Central Agency for Jewish Education, President of both the South Florida and Florida Chaplains Association, Chairman of the Metropolitan Dade Community Relations Board, Chairman of the Chaplaincy Service Advisory Council for the Florida Department of Corrections, and Secretary, Vice President, and President of the Rabbinical Association of Greater Miami.
Rabbi Schiff's current leadership positions confirm his dedication to service. In addition to his duties as Director of the Greater Miami Jewish Federation's Community Chaplaincy Service, he serves as Chairman of the National Council of Executives of Boards of Rabbis, Chairman of the Community Hospice Council in South Florida, and as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Rabbinic Cabinet of United Jewish Appeal.

Mr. President, Rabbi Solomon Schiff is a shining example of the moral and community leadership that our communities need as we enter a new century. I will conclude today by asking that a November 27, 1998, article from the Sun-Sentinel of South Florida be included with my remarks. It discusses Awakening 2000, an interfaith initiative that encourages Floridians to engage the power of prayer and spiritual healing in their daily lives and interactions with others.

Rabbi Schiff, a leader in this faith-based effort, was quoted as saying that “a total commitment by responsible people to try and bring society to a level of decency is the only way . . . that our society will survive with a positive future.” Mr. President, it gives me great reassurance that Solomon Schiff’s wise counsel will help guide us into the future.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the article I referred to be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the article referred to is ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From the Sun-Sentinel—Ft. Lauderdale, November 27, 1998]

AWAKENING 2000 SEEKS STATE’S SPIRITUAL RENEWAL

(By Jackie Hallifax)

Gov. Lawton Chiles and Gov.-elect Jeb Bush may differ on politics, but the two have agreed to pray, forgive, smile and sacrifice to get through the upcoming election year. It’s all part of an interfaith initiative called Awakening 2000, a project organized by Jim Towey, a former top state official who picked Thanksgiving week to announce his campaign for a spiritual renewal in Florida.

“We feel we can build a better Florida one heart and soul at a time by focusing on our spiritual resources, our spiritual treasures.” Towey said on Wednesday. “And by remembering God.”

In some ways, Towey is ready for the future. When Abraham Lincoln issued his Thanksgiving proclamation 135 years ago, he said Americans had “forgotten God.”

“What he said in 1863 is absolutely true today,” Towey said.

Awakening 2000 will try to change that by getting Floridians to sign pledge cards reminding them to pray each day, reach out to people in need and perform several other spiritual actions.

The project will also sponsor a “Summit of Faith” next fall and serve as an advocate for Florida’s needy and neglected, especially those who are dying.

After leaving state government, Towey formed a nonprofit commission on Aging with Dignity that launched the popular “Five Wishes” living will last year. Awakening 2000 is sponsored by the same commission.

Several state leaders have agreed to participate in the project, starting with Chiles, who will be governor until Bush, a Republican and Catholic, takes over on Jan. 5.

Towey, a Democrat like Chiles and a Catholic like Bush, experienced a spiritual renewal in 1985 when he met Mother Teresa. He said he was inspired to launch an interfaith project that the late nun, a devout Catholic who respected and cared for Hindus, Muslims and Jews.

Rabbi Solomon Schiff, director of chaplaincy at the Greater Miami Jewish Federation, said he had signed onto the project because the moral fiber of American society has been devastated.

“A total commitment by responsible people to try to . . . bring it to a level of decency is the only way really that our society will survive with a positive future,” Schiff said.

The list of people who have committed to take part in Awakening 2000 includes Chief Justice Major Harding, legislative leaders, Cabinet leaders, a federal judge and Christians and Jews.

Chiles and Bush plan to sign the commitment cards in early December.

But Towey said “the fundamental driving force” of the campaign is the focus on the needy.

“At Thanksgiving we remember the poor,” he said. “But they need more than just a hot meal on a Thursday.”

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, we stand here today to celebrate good news. This country is now facing the longest peacetime expansion in its history; the economy is growing; and the federal government is predicted to be running a surplus of $2.9 trillion over the next 10 years.

The news is not all good. We are facing some pressing problems as well. The world is seeing a shift in demographics. The impending retirement of the baby boom generation affects the workplace, retirement policy, and entitlement spending. Most notably, both the Social Security system and Medicare are in financial trouble and need substantive reform. Public debt and the interest payments that go with it are continuing to grow. These issues cannot be ignored because of a strong economy and good times.

The bill before us today represents a balanced package that takes into account the workplace, retirement policy, and entitlement spending. Most notably, both the Social Security system and Medicare are in financial trouble and need substantive reform. Public debt and the interest payments that go with it are continuing to grow. These issues cannot be ignored because of a strong economy and good times.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the article I referred to be printed in the RECORD.
people to increase their savings for retirement.

This tax bill helps our families struggling to finance a quality education for themselves and their children through tax-free treatment for participants in college savings or prepaid tuition plans and recipients of employer-provided educational assistance. The bill would also expand the student loan interest deduction. This is real relief that will help make education more affordable.

There are important provisions relating to school construction in this bill. The need for more resources and innovative ideas to address the issue of school construction and rehabilitation is reaching crisis proportions. My home state of Utah is expected to build 10–15 new schools a year. In the Jordan school district alone, 6 schools are currently under construction. The state of Utah will spend $350 million a year in new repairs. This bill would reduce the burden on small school bond issuers in complying with cumbersome arbitration rebate rules and will allow school districts to engage in public-private partnerships. The reduction in the cost and time of school construction projects will result in more schools being built.

We have all heard about the challenge that providing adequate health care is facing the American families. The Taxpayer Refund Act provides meaningful help for those who are struggling with the costs of insurance through tax benefits for the self-employed, employees not covered by employer plans, and consumers of long-term care insurance. There is also an additional personal exemption for caregivers.

The bill also contains provisions that would help keep the economy growth strong. There is a package of international tax relief that provides simplification and helps American companies that have operations overseas remain competitive and continue to grow.

The expiring tax credits are extended for five years and the research and experimentation tax credit is made permanent. This tax credit enhances and encourages the development of new technologies and products. This is the only way the U.S. can maintain its leadership in the high-tech world of today into the next millennium. This is very important to future economic growth. It has been said that innovation is the leading factor driving increased productivity and job creation. Innovation predominately derives from the private sector research and development which are encouraged by the tax credit.

This bill is not perfect, however, and there are some things that I would like to change. For instance, the bill does provide some relief from the estate tax by cuts in the top estate tax rate and an exemption that rises to $1.5 million per estate. This will provide tax relief for estates of all sizes. However, I strongly believe that we should go even further and repeal this tax altogether. The “death tax” is unfair and inefficient. For every dollar that we collect, roughly 65 cents is spent complying and collecting this tax. This is the wrong way to use up our resources. I know that many colleagues on the other side of the aisle have labeled this a tax on the wealthy. They are wrong. The wealthy hire lawyers and advisers to create trusts and do estate planning to minimize the amount of tax they will pay. It is the small business owners and family farmers that are hit the hardest by this tax. We must find a way to remove this crushing burden from their backs.

Another important area that is not addressed in the capital gains tax rate. This too has often been labeled as a tax cut for the rich. This is not true. Million of Americans are becoming investors. They purchase stock and mutual funds directly or they invest in stock options, employee stock ownership plans or 401(k)s. Roughly half of American households now have some sort of stock ownership, and the number grows every year.

A recent DRI study has shown that the 1997 capital gains tax rate cuts contributed to the strong economic growth we have experienced in the last couple of years. Cutting the capital gains tax rate from 28 percent to 20 percent reduced the cost of capital, increased business investment and contributed to the increase in stock prices. We need to continue along the same path and continue to reduce the capital gains rates. It is easy to get lost in the debate over numbers and how we should spend the surplus. But we must remember who sent us the revenue that created the surplus. We are talking about families struggling to make ends meet, provide an education for their children, or save for their retirement. They are the family running the corner grocery store or landscaping business. They are bus drivers, day care providers, carpenters and students. They work 3 hours a day on average just to pay their taxes.

The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1999 is a balanced tax cut package that provides relief for middle class taxpayers. It gives every American a well-deserved tax break, simplifies the tax code, and provides pro-growth incentives to help keep the economy strong and growing. This $792 billion bill is the biggest tax cut since the Ronald Reagan presidency. Yet, it still represents a rebate of only one quarter of the surplus dollars that the federal government has collected. We owe the American taxpayers that much.

THE VERY BAD DEBT BOXSCORE

Mr. HELMS. Mr. President, at the close of business yesterday, Wednesday, July 28, 1999, the Federal debt stood at $5,640,294,174,290.65 (Five trillion, five hundred forty-four billion, one hundred ninety-four million, one hundred seventy-four thousand, two hundred ninety dollars and sixty-five cents).

One year ago, July 28, 1998, the Federal debt stood at $5,541,906,000,000 (Five trillion, five hundred forty-one billion, nine hundred six million). Five years ago, July 28, 1994, the Federal debt stood at $4,638,859,000,000 (Four trillion, six hundred thirty-eight billion, eight hundred fifty-nine million).

Ten years ago, July 28, 1989, the Federal debt stood at $2,802,619,000,000 (Two trillion, eight hundred sixteen billion, two hundred ninety million) which reflects a debt increase of almost $3 trillion—$2,937,675,174,290.65 (Two trillion, eight hundred nineteen billion, six hundred seventy-five billion, two hundred ninety dollars and sixty-five cents) during the past 10 years.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE

At 12:57 p.m., a message from the House of Representatives, delivered by Mr. Hanrahan, one of its reading clerks, announced that the House agrees to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 2465) making appropriations for military construction, family housing, and base realignment and closure for the Department of Defense for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes.

ENROLLED BILL SIGNED

At 3:56 p.m., a message from the House of Representatives, delivered by Mr. Berry, one of its reading clerks, announced that the Speaker has signed the following enrolled bill:

H.R. 66. To preserve the cultural resources of the Route 66 corridor and to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to provide assistance.

The enrolled bill was signed subsequently by the president pro tempore (Mr. THURMOND).

EXECUTIVE AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS

The following communications were laid before the Senate, together with accompanying papers, reports, and documents, which were referred as indicated:

EC–4419. A communication from the Executive Director, Medicare Payment Advisory Commission, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report relative to Medicare payment policies to the Committee on Finance.

EC–4420. A communication from the Assistant Legal Adviser for Treaty Affairs, Department of State, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of the texts and background statements of international agreements, other than treaties; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

EC–4421. A communication from the Assistant Secretary, Legislative Affairs, Department of the Treasury, transmitting, pursuant to the Arms Export Control Act, the report of a certification of a proposed Manufacturing License Agreement with Turkey; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

EC–4422. A communication from the Assistant Secretary, Legislative Affairs, Department of State, transmitting, pursuant to the Arms Export Control Act, the certification of a proposed license for the export of defense articles or services under a contract in the amount of $500,000 or more to Singapore; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

EC–4423. A communication from the Assistant Secretary, Legislative Affairs, Department of State, transmitting, pursuant to the Arms Export Control Act, the certification of a proposed license for the export of defense articles or services under a contract in the amount of $50,000,000 or more to Greece; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

EC–4424. A communication from the Procurement and Development, Policy and Planning and Development, Department of Veterans Affairs, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Department of State Acquisition Regulation” (RIN1409–AATI), received July 27, 1999; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

EC–4425. A communication from the Director, Office of Regulations Management, Department of Veterans Affairs, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “VA Acquisition Regulation: Bonds and Insurance” (FR–4449) (RIN2506–AC10), received July 27, 1999; to the Committee on Veterans Affairs.

EC–4426. A communication from the Assistant General Counsel for Regulations, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Commercial Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program; Clarification of the Nature of Required CDBG Expenditure Documentation” (FR–4449) (RIN2506–AC10), received July 27, 1999; to the Committee on Housing, and Urban Affairs.

EC–4427. A communication from the Assistant General Counsel for Regulations, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Technical Amendment to the Section 8 Management Assessment Program (SEMAP)” (FR–4449–I-01) (RIN2577–AC10), received July 26, 1999; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

EC–4428. A communication from the President and Chairman, Export-Import Bank of the United States, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report relative to a transaction involving U.S. exports to South Africa; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

EC–4429. A communication from the Chief Counsel, Office of Foreign Assets Control, Department of the Treasury, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report of a rule entitled “Sudanese Sanctions Regulations; Libyan Sanctions Regulations; Iranian Transactions Regulations; Licensing of Commercial Sales of Agriculture Commodities and Products, Medicine, and Medical Equipment” (31 CFR Parts 538, 550 and 560), received July 27, 1999; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

EC–4430. A communication from the Director, Office of White House Liaison, Department of Commerce, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report relative to the resignation of the Assistant Secretary and Commissioner, Patent and Trademark Office, the designation of an Acting Assistant Secretary and Commissioner, and the nomination of an Acting Assistant Secretary and Commissioner; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

EC–4431. A communication from the Director, Office of White House Liaison, Department of Commerce, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report relative to the resignation of the Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, Trademark Office, and the designation of an Acting Assistant Commissioner; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

EC–4432. A communication from the Director, Office of White House Liaison, Department of Commerce, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report relative to the resignation of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Patent and Trademark Office, and the designation of an Acting Assistant Commissioner; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

EC–4433. A communication from the Director, Office of the Comptroller, Office of the Comptroller, Office of Management and Budget, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report of a rule entitled “Propionic Acid: Establishment of Tolerances for Emergency Exemptions” (FRL # 6089–3), received July 27, 1999; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

EC–4434. A communication from the Director, Office of the Comptroller, Office of the Comptroller, Office of Management and Budget, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Propionic Acid: Establishment of Tolerances for Emergency Exemptions” (FRL # 6089–3), received July 27, 1999; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

EC–4435. A communication from the Director, Office of the Comptroller, Office of the Comptroller, Office of Management and Budget, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Pyriproxyfen; Extension of Tolerance for Emergency Exemptions” (FRL # 6094–2), received July 27, 1999; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS

The following petitions and memorials were laid before the Senate and were referred or ordered to lie on the table as indicated:

POM–277. A resolution adopted by the New Jersey Federation of Women’s Clubs, in convention, relative to harvesting of horseshoe crabs; to the Committee on Environment and Public Works.

18459

POM-278. A resolution adopted by the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs, in convention, relative to the trafficking of women and girls, to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

POM-279. A resolution adopted by the Council of the City of Cincinnati, Ohio relative to a proposed "Empowerment Zone and Enterprise Communities Enhancement Act of 1999"; to the Committee on Finance.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The following reports of committees were submitted:

By Mr. MURKOWSKI, from the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources:

Special Report entitled "History, Jurisdiction, and a Summary of Activities of the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources during the 106th Congress" (Rept. No. 106-127).

By Mr. MURKOWSKI, from the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute:

By Mr. MURKOWSKI, from the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute:

S. 923. A bill to direct the Secretary of Agriculture to convey certain land in the State of South Dakota to the Terry Peak Ski Area (Rept. No. 106-129).

By Mr. HATCH, from the Committee on the Judiciary, without amendment and with a preamble:

S. Res. 95: A resolution designating August 16, 1999, as "National Airborne Day".

By Mr. HATCH, from the Committee on the Judiciary, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute:

S. 1250: A bill to protect consumers and promote electronic commerce by amending certain trademark infringement, dilution, and counterfeiting laws, and for other purposes.

EXECUTIVE REPORTS OF A COMMITTEE

The following executive reports of a committee were submitted:

By Mr. HATCH, for the Committee on the Judiciary:

Richard A. Paez, of California, to be United States Circuit Judge for the Ninth Circuit.

Raymond C. Fisher, of California, to be United States Circuit Judge for the Ninth Circuit.

Maryanne Trump Barry, of New Jersey, to be United States Circuit Judge for the Third Circuit.

David N. Hurd, of New York, to be United States District Judge for the Northern District of New York.

Naomi Reice Eschwech, of New York, to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of New York.

M. James Lorenz, of California, to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of New York.

Victor Marrero, of New York, to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of New York.

Brian Theodore Stewart, of Utah, to be United States District Judge for the District of Utah.

Alejandro N. Mayorkas, of California, to be United States Attorney for the Central District of California.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE July 29, 1999

18460

The above nominations were reported with the recommendation that they be confirmed.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

The following bills and joint resolutions were introduced, read the first and second time and referred as indicated:

By Mr. GRAHAM:

S. 1456. A bill for the relief of Rocco A. Trecosta of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, to the Committee on the Judiciary.

S. 1457. A bill to amend the Energy Policy Act of 1992 to assess opportunities to increase carbon storage on national forests derived from the public domain and to facilitate voluntary and accurate reporting of forest projects that reduce atmospheric carbon dioxide concentrations, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

By Mr. REID:

S. 1458. A bill to provide for a reduction in the rate of adolescent pregnancy through the evaluation of public and private prevention programs, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

By Mr. MACK (for himself, Mrs. FENSTEIN, Mr. HELMS, and Mr. ROBI):

S. 1459. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to protect the right of a medicare beneficiary enrolled in Medicare+Choice plan to receive services at a skilled nursing facility selected by that individual; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. ABRAHAM (for himself and Mr. LEVIN):

S. 1460. A bill to amend the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act to allow business and industry guaranteed loans to be made for farmer-owned projects that add value to or process agricultural products; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

By Mr. HATCH (for himself, Mr. LEARY, Mr. ABRAHAM, Mr. TORDICHELLI, Mr. D'WINE, Mr. KOHL, and Mr. SCHUMER):

S. 1461. A bill to amend the Trademark Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1051 et seq.) to protect consumers and promote electronic commerce by prohibiting the bad-faith registration, trafficking or use of Internet domain names that are identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilusive of distinctive trademarks or service marks; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. JEFFORDS:

S. 1462. A bill to amend the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act to permit importation in personal baggage and through mail order of certain covered personal items for personal use from Canada, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

By Mr. D'WINE (for himself, Ms. SNOWE, Mr. TORDICHELLI, Ms. COLLINS, Mr. PORTENIN, Ms. MURKOWSKI, Mr. SCHUMER, Mr. GINGAMAN, Mr. CHAFFEE, and Mr. KENNEDY):

S. 1463. A bill to establish a program to provide loans, lines of credit and other financial services for microenterprises in developing countries, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

By Mr. HAGEL (for himself, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. ROBERTS, Ms. LANDRIEU, Mr. HUTCHINSON, Mr. COCHRAN, Mr. GORMAN, Mr. ABRAHAM, Mr. SMITH of Oregon, Mr. HOLLINGS, Mr. CRAIG, Mr. GORTON, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. CHAPO, Mr. BURNS, Mr. FEINSTEIN, Mr. BREAUX, Mr. ASHcroft, Mr. COVADER, Mr. HELMS, and Mr. LOTT):

S. 1464. A bill to amend the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act to establish certain requirements regarding the Food Quality Protection Act of 1996, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

By Mrs. LINCOLN:

S. 1465. A bill to provide for safe schools, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

By Mr. THOMPSON (for himself and Mr. ASHcroft):

S. 1466. A bill to amend chapter 8 of title 5, United States Code, to provide for congressional review of rules establishing or increasing taxes; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. WYDEN (for himself and Mr. CRAIG):

S. 1457. A bill to amend the Energy Policy Act of 1992 to assess opportunities to increase carbon storage on national forests derived from the public domain and to facilitate voluntary and accurate reporting of forest projects that reduce atmospheric carbon dioxide concentrations, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

THE FOREST RESOURCES FOR THE ENVIRONMENT AND THE ECONOMY ACT

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, today Senator CRAIG and I are introducing a bill that will help protect the global climate system by improving local natural resource management and strengthening the economy in rural communities. The Forest Resources for the Environment and the Economy Act of 1999 will expand the nation's forested lands and provide effective tools for including forests in our national efforts to fight global warming. The bill focuses on forests because they are the lungs of our planet. Investing in healthy forests is an investment in the health of our environment today and the well-being of our planet for decades to come.

In the Pacific Northwest, forests are more than critical environmental resources—they are also a cornerstone of our economy. In debates about forest policies, there are those who have advocated an exclusively environmental path and others who have stressed an exclusively economic pathway. This bill is part of what I believe is a third pathway through the woods—a path to both stronger rural economies and healthier forests. It will reduce the buildup of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere and help protect our global climate for ourselves, our children and our grandchildren. It will provide improved wildlife and fish habitats and protect our waterways. It will enhance our national forests by reducing water pollution within their watersheds. It will provide jobs in the forest sector and in areas that have been hard hit by declining timber harvests. And it will grow additional timber resources on underproductive private lands.

One of the key strategies for meeting this challenge is something this planet has been doing for more than 300 million years—growing abundant and healthy forests. Forests are one of those opportunities that revert to the General Fund, which absorb carbon dioxide—190 times as much as the atmosphere due to their investments. They are scientifically sound—if we grow more trees, bigger trees, and healthier trees, we will remove more greenhouse gases from the atmosphere and help protect the global climate.

According to the Pacific Forest Trust, our forests in the United States are some of the most significant global carbon “sinks” that absorb carbon dioxide—190 times as much as the atmosphere due to their investments. They are scientifically sound—if we grow more trees, bigger trees, and healthier trees, we will remove more greenhouse gases from the atmosphere and help protect the global climate.

According to the Pacific Forest Trust, our forests in the United States are some of the most significant global carbon “sinks” that absorb carbon dioxide—190 times as much as the atmosphere due to their investments. They are scientifically sound—if we grow more trees, bigger trees, and healthier trees, we will remove more greenhouse gases from the atmosphere and help protect the global climate.

According to the Pacific Forest Trust, our forests in the United States are some of the most significant global carbon “sinks” that absorb carbon dioxide—190 times as much as the atmosphere due to their investments. They are scientifically sound—if we grow more trees, bigger trees, and healthier trees, we will remove more greenhouse gases from the atmosphere and help protect the global climate.
 environmental investment, their entrepreneurial ingenuity will generate new opportunities for consumers and other businesses to tap into this win-win opportunity.

We know that this approach works because of the leadership of my home State of Oregon. The loan program is modeled after the innovative Forest Resource Trust, which was established in Oregon in 1993, and is just one of the many ways Oregon continues to lead the nation in state actions to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. I am pleased to say that PacifiCorp announced last month that it is contributing $1.5 million to the Forest Resource Trust to support tree planting and reduce greenhouse gases in the atmosphere. This leadership by PacifiCorp will create forestry jobs in Oregon, protect salmon and fisheries, and put many Oregonians to work in their state’s forests.

In addition to establishing the state revolving loan programs, the bill makes important changes to the Energy Policy Act of 1992 to strengthen the voluntary accounting and verification of greenhouse gas reductions from forestry activities. The bill directs the Secretary of Agriculture to develop new guidelines on accurate and cost-effective methods to account for and report real and credible greenhouse gas reductions. These guidelines will be developed with the input of a new advisory board representing industry, foresters, states, and environmental groups.

This bill is about taking advantage of a clear win-win opportunity. It’s a win for the global environment. It’s a win for sustainable forestry. It’s a win for local water protection. And it’s a win for rural communities.

For these reasons, the bill is already supported by timber companies and environmental organizations alike. I have already received supportive letters from: American Forest and Paper Association, American Forests, Environmental Defense Fund, Governor John A. Kitzhaber of Oregon, National Association of State Foresters, Pacific Northwest Forest Resource Trust, Society of American Foresters, The Nature Conservancy, and The Pacific Forest Trust.

I look forward to working with my colleagues to make sure that we pursue this common-sense good step toward protecting the environment and supporting our forest workers.

I ask unanimous consent that the Section-by-Section Analysis of the Forest Resources for the Environment and the Economy Act be printed in the Record.

There being no objection, the item was ordered to be printed in the Record as follows:

THE FOREST RESOURCES FOR THE ENVIRONMENT AND THE ECONOMY ACT—SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

SUMMARY

The purpose of the bill is to promote sustainable forestry in the United States by increasing forest carbon sequestration, improving wildlife and fish habitats, improving water quality, providing employment and income to rural communities, providing new sources of forest products and increasing use of renewable biomass energy that improves the energy security of the United States. The bill achieves these purposes through four major actions:

1. State Revolving Loan Programs. The bill provides assistance to nonindustrial private forest landowners and Indian tribes to grow new forests and increase the productivity of existing forests in order to increase carbon sequestration, protect watersheds and fish habitats and improve wildlife diversity. Assistance will be provided through State-based loan programs. The Federal share of funding for these State loan programs will come from penalties that are being assessed under the Clean Air Act and the Clean Water Act (civil penalties assessed in FY 1998 totaled $45 million).

2. Guidelines for Accurate Carbon Accounting for Forests. The bill directs the Secretary of Agriculture to establish scientifically-based guidelines for accurate reporting, monitoring and verification of carbon storage from forest management actions. The bill establishes a multi-stakeholder Carbon and Forestry Advisory Council to assist USDA in developing the guidelines.

3. Report on Options to Increase Carbon Storage on Federal Lands. The bill directs the Secretary of Agriculture to report to Congress on forestry options to increase carbon storage in National Forests.

4. National Forest Watershed Restoration Cooperative Agreements. The bill allows the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into cooperative agreements with willing State and local governments, Indian tribes, private and nonprofit entities, and landowners for protection, restoration and enhancement of fish and wildlife habitat and other resources on public land. Indian land or private land in a national forest watershed.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE

The title of the bill is the "Forest Resources for the Environment and the Economy Act".

SECTION 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES

This section states the purpose of the bill, which is to promote sustainable forestry in the United States by increasing forest carbon sequestration, improving forest health, enhancing wildlife and fish habitats, improving water quality, providing employment and income to rural communities, providing new sources of forest products and increasing use of renewable biomass energy that improves the energy security of the United States.

This section also states the findings of the bill, including:

1. The Federal Government should increase the forest carbon storage on public land while pursuing existing statutory objectives, but insufficient information exists on the opportunities to increase carbon storage on public land through improvements in forest land management.

2. Important environmental benefits to national forests can be achieved through cooperative forest projects that enhance fish and wildlife habitats, water and other resources on public or private land located in national forest watersheds.

3. Forest projects also provide economic benefits, including employment and income that contribute to the sustainability of rural communities and future supplies of forest products.

4. Monitoring and verification of forest carbon storage provides an important opportunity to create employment in rural communities and substantiate improvements in natural habitats or watersheds due to forest management activities.

5. Sustainable production of biomass energy feedstocks provides a renewable source of energy that can reduce carbon dioxide emissions and improve the energy security of the United States by diversifying energy fuels.

SECTION 3. DEFINITIONS

This section defines terms used in the bill, including the following:

1. "Forestry carbon activity" is defined as a forest management action that increases long-term carbon storage and has a positive impact on watersheds, fish habitats and wildlife diversity.

2. "Forest carbon reservoir" is defined as the quantity of carbon sequestered from the atmosphere and stored in forest carbon reservoirs, including forest products.

3. "Forest land" is defined as land that is, or has been, at least 10 percent stocked by forest trees of any size, including land that had such forest cover and that will be naturally or artificially regenerated along a transition zone between a forested and nonforested area that is capable of sustaining forest cover.

4. Forest management action" is defined as the practical application of forestry principles to the regeneration, management, utilization and conservation of forests to meet specific goals and objectives, while maintaining the productivity of the forests. "Forest management action" includes management of forests for recreation, restoration and enhancement of fish and wildlife habitat and other resources on public land. Indian land or private land in a national forest watershed.

SECTION 4. CARBON MANAGEMENT ON FEDERAL LAND; CARBON MONITORING AND VERIFICATION GUIDELINES

This section directs the Secretary of Agriculture to report to Congress on carbon management on Federal land, and directs the Secretary of Agriculture to develop guidelines for the voluntary reporting, monitoring and verification of carbon storage from forest management actions. This section is accomplished through amendment of Title XVI ("Global Climate Change") of the Energy Policy Act of 1992.

(a) Definitions. This subsection amends the Energy Policy Act to add the definitions for "forest carbon storage", "carbon storage from forest carbon reservoir", "forest management action" and "sequestration" that were specified in Section 3.
(b) Carbon Management on Federal Land. This subsection directs the Secretary of Agriculture to report to Congress within one year on the quantity of carbon contained in the forest carbon reservoir on federal national forests (excluding the public domain). The report will include an assessment of forest management actions that can increase carbon storage on these lands while providing positive impacts on watersheds and fish and wildlife habitats. The report will include an assessment of the role of forests in the carbon cycle and the contributions of forestry to the global carbon budget. This subsection is accomplished by amendment to section 1605(b) of the Energy Policy Act ("Voluntary Reporting") by directing the Secretary of Agriculture to review the existing Federal guidelines on reporting and verification of carbon storage from forest management actions. Within 18 months of enactment and following an opportunity for public comment, the Secretary of Agriculture will make recommendations to the Secretary of Energy for amendment of the guidelines.

The Advisory Council includes representatives of forestry workers and professionals, States, environmental organizations and landowners, as well as independent scientists. The terms of the Advisory Council are staggered to ensure continuity from year to year.

Criteria: The guidelines developed by the Secretary of Agriculture must be based on:
1. Measured increases in carbon storage in excess of that which would have occurred in the absence of the forest management actions;
2. Comprehensive carbon accounting that reflects net increases in the carbon reservoir and takes into account any carbon emissions resulting from disturbance of the carbon reservoir at the start of forest management actions.

Monitoring and Verification of Carbon Storage: This subsection amends section 1605(b) of the Energy Policy Act ("Voluntary Reporting") by directing the Secretary of Agriculture to review the existing Federal guidelines on reporting and verification of carbon storage from forest management actions. Within 18 months of enactment and following an opportunity for public comment, the Secretary of Agriculture will make recommendations to the Secretary of Energy for amendment of the guidelines.

The Secretary of Energy, acting through the Administrator of the Energy Information Administration, must issue the existing voluntary reporting guidelines to include the recommendations provided by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Periodic review of guidelines: At least every 24 months, the Secretary of Agriculture must convene the Advisory Council, review the guidelines and revise the guidelines as necessary, including to ensure consistency with any future Federal laws that provide recognition, credit or reward for reductions of atmospheric greenhouse gas concentrations resulting from forest management actions.

Monitoring of State revolving loan programs: States participating in the revolving loan program established in section 5 of this bill must report annually to the Secretary of Agriculture on the results of the program. If a company or non-governmental organization provides funds for specific projects, then the State shall report the carbon achieved by those projects. The Secretary of Agriculture shall review each of these reports, and if the Secretary determines that the report is in compliance with the guidelines established by USDA and submit the certified report to the EIA Administrator for inclusion in the Energy Information Administration's Annual Energy Review.

(1) National Forest Watershed Restoration Cooperative Agreements. This subsection authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into cooperative agreements with willing Indian tribes and owners of nonindustrial private forest land to undertake forestry activities on forest land.

(a) National Forest Watershed Restoration Cooperative Agreements. This subsection authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into cooperative agreements with willing State and local governments, Indian tribes, private and nonprofit entities and landowners for protection, restoration and enhancement of fish and wildlife habitat and other resources on public land, Indian land or private land in a national forest, forest reservation or watershed. Projects under such a cooperative agreement are eligible for loans discussed in the next subsection. This subsection extends assistance to the States and local governments that were first provided under Section 334 of the Interior and Related Appropriations Act for FY 1998 ("the Wyden Amendment").

(b) State Watershed Restoration Funds. This subsection establishes a program to provide assistance through State revolving loan funds to Indian tribes and owners of not more than one rotation of nonindustrial private forest land. The assistance is in the form of loans to support forestry activities that increase long-term carbon storage or provide sustainable feedstocks for renewable energy generation, and that have a positive impact on watersheds, fish habitats and wildlife diversity. The program will be administered by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Guidance: USDA, in consultation with States, will provide guidance on eligible forestry activities based on the criteria the bill, recognizing that States should have maximum flexibility and authority to achieve the purposes of the bill in ways most appropriate for each State.

Prohibition: Loans will not be issued for activities required under other applicable Federal, State or local laws, nor for costs incurred before entering into a loan agreement.

Limitation: Loans shall not enter into new loan agreements under the bill to fund reforestation of land that has been harvested after enactment if the landowner receives revenues from the harvest sufficient to reforest the land.

Native species: Funding of reforestation activities shall be provided only for species that is native to a region, with preference given to species that formerly occupied the land.

Sustainable forest management plan: States must give priority to projects on land under a sustainable forestry management program, forest stewardship plan, if the projects are consistent with the program or plan.

Loan amount: Loans can cover up to 100 percent of total project costs, not to exceed $100,000 during any 2-year period.

Repayment: Loans must be repaid to the State with interest at a rate of at least 5 percent per annum. Loans are to be repaid when the land is harvested, or in accordance with any other repayment schedule determined by the State (for example, a portion of proceeds from each timber sale to be paid over more than one rotation).

Risk: Landowners do not have to repay loans for timber that is lost to natural catastrophes or that cannot be harvested because of government-imposed restrictions on timber harvesting.

Lien: The loan terms will include a lien on all forest lands on which funds are advanced, on land covered by the loan, with an assurance that the terms of the lien shall transfer with the land on sale, lease or transfer for consideration.

Buyout option: The loan terms will specify financial terms allowing the owner to pay off the loan with interest prior to harvesting the timber specified in the loan.

Greenhouse gas reductions: A loan agreement must include recognition that, until the loan is paid off or otherwise terminated, all reductions in atmospheric greenhouse gases achieved by projects funded by the loan are attributable to the State that provided the fund, or to any company or NGO that provides funding for the loan via the State program.

Permanent conservation easements: Loan recipients can cancel the loan by donating to the State or another appropriate entity a permanent conservation easement that permanently protects the land and resources at a level above what is required under applicable Federal, State and local laws and furthers the purposes of the bill, including managing the land in a manner that maximizes the forest carbon reservoir of the land.

Records: The State Forester shall maintain all loan records and make them available to the public.
Matching funds: A State must match Federal funding by at least 25% beginning in the second year of participating in the program.

Funding Distribution: Not later than 180 days after enactment, the Secretary will report to Congress on the formula under which Federal funds will be distributed among eligible States. The formula will be based on maximizing the potential for meeting the objectives of the bill, and give appropriate consideration to:

The acreage of unstocked or understocked private forest land in each State within the forest states; the potential for reforestation or other forestry investments consistent with the objectives of the bill.

The formula will give priority to States that have experienced or are expected to experience significant declines in employment levels in the forestry industries due to declining timber harvests on Federal land.

Private funding: A revolving loan fund may accept and distribute as loans any funds provided by nongovernmental organizations, businesses or persons in support of the purpose of this Act.

Bonnieville Power Administration (BPA): States served by BPA (Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana) may apply for funding from the revolving loan fund that meet both the objectives of this Act and the fish and wildlife objectives of BPA under current law. Any such application will be subject to the same rules and procedures as any otherapplication.

Authorization of Appropriations: For the state revolving loan program, this sub-section authorizes funding from FY 2001 to FY 2010 at amounts equal to civil penalties collected under the Clean Water Act and the Clean Air Act, which currently revert to the Treasury as General Revenues. In fiscal year 1998, $45 million in penalties were assessed. Because penalty assessments can not be accurately predicted in advance, authorization in any year would be based on the penalties assessed two years preceding.

By Mr. REID:
S. 1458. A bill to provide for a reduction in the rate of adolescent pregnancy through the evaluation of public and private prevention programs, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

TEEN PREGNANCY REDUCTION BILL.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, despite the recent declines in teen birth rates in general, the overall teen birth rate for 1996 is still higher than it was in the early to mid-1980s, when the rate was at its lowest point. In fact, United States teen birth rates are the highest rates of teen pregnancy and births in the Western industrialized world. More than 4 out of 10 young women in the U.S. become pregnant at least once before they reach the age of 20—nearly one million a year.

Unfortunately, my home state of Nevada has the highest teen pregnancy rate in the country—140 pregnancies per 1,000 girls aged 15-19 in 1996.

Teen pregnancy affects us all. Teen mothers are less likely to complete high school and are more likely to end up on welfare (nearly 80 percent of unmarried teen mothers end up on welfare). Teen pregnancy costs the United States at least $7 billion annually. The children of teenage mothers have lower birth weights, are more likely to perform poorly in school, and are at greater risk of abuse and neglect. The sons of teen mothers are 13 percent more likely to end up in prison while teen daughters are 22 percent more likely to become teen mothers themselves.

Teen pregnancy has become a significant problem in America’s fastest growing ethnic group—the Hispanic community. Latinos currently constitute approximately 11 percent of the U.S. population. By 2050 Latinos will be the largest minority group, and by 2050 approximately one-quarter of the U.S. population will be Latino.

Latinas have the highest teen birth rate among all racial/ethnic groups in the United States. In 1997, the birth rate for Latina 15- to 19-year-olds was 97.4 per 1,000, nearly double the national rate of 52.3 per 1,000. Approximately one-quarter of the births in 1997 to teens aged 15 to 19 were to Latinas. Further, the teen birth and pregnancy rates for Latinas have not decreased as much in recent years as have the overall U.S. teen birth and pregnancy rates.

To combat the plague of teen pregnancy in this country, I am introducing the “Teenage Pregnancy Reduction Act of 1999.” In so doing, I join Congresswoman LOWEY, who has introduced the House companion bill. This legislation will ensure that seniors enrolled in Medicare+Choice health plans who normally reside in continuing care retirement communities or nursing homes have the opportunity to return to the same facility after a period of hospitalization. Many of the retirement communities contain fully licensed facilities established to provide skilled nursing services to their residents when required. Often, people choose a continuing care retirement community because of the different levels of care that will be available to them as they age in that community. These living arrangements allow couples and individuals to maintain their independence by having the ability to move in and out of various levels of care according to their needs over time. People who are fully independent when they move into a residential community often require assisted living, skilled nursing care or some other assistance over the course of their lifetime in residence.

An increasing number of seniors have chosen Medicare+Choice plans as the way that they wish to receive health care services under Medicare. These plans reduce the potential for substantial out-of-pocket costs for the very section 1. Short title. This Act may be cited as the “Medicare Return To Home Act of 1999.”

sec. 2. Ensuring choice for skilled nursing facility services under the Medicare+Choice program.

(a) In general.—Section 1855 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w–22) is amended by adding at the end of (a) the following:

“(5) Skilled nursing facility must meet Medicare participation requirements.—This subsection shall not apply unless the skilled nursing facility involved meets all applicable participation requirements under this title.

(b) Coverage of services provided at a skilled nursing facility.—Paragraph (5) of section 1855(b) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w–22) is amended—

(1) in (A), by striking “or” and inserting “and”;

(2) by striking “(1)”.
issue is the deliberate, bad-faith, and abusive registration of Internet domain names in violation of the rights of trademark owners. The problem has some similarity to, legislation introduced to address cybersquatting, but it differs in a number of substantial respects.

As anyone who has walked down the aisle in the grocery store knows, trademarks serve as the primary indicators of source, quality, and authenticity in the minds of consumers. How else do you explain the price disparity between various brands of toothpaste, laundry detergent, or even canned beans. And brand names are valuable in that they convey to the consumer reliable information regarding the source and quality of goods and services, thereby facilitating commerce and spurring confidence in the marketplace. Unauthorized uses of others’ marks undercut the market by eroding consumer confidence and the communicative value of the brand names we all rely on. For that very reason, Congress has enacted a number of statutes addressing the problems of trademark infringement, false advertising and unfair competition, trademark dilution, and trademark counterfeiting. Doing so has helped protect American businesses and, more importantly perhaps, American consumers.

As we are seeing with increased frequency, the problems of brand-name abuse and consumer confusion are particularly acute in the online environment. Consider the child who in a “brick and mortar” world has the luxury of a variety of additional indicators of source and quality aside from a brand name. For example, when one walks in to the local consumer electronics retailer, he is fairly certain with whom he is dealing, and he can often tell by looking at the products and even the storefront itself whether or not he is dealing with a reputable establishment. These protections are largely absent in the electronic world, where even a cursor click or even a keyboard error can set up a storefront online.

In many cases what consumers see when they log on to a site is their only indication of source and authenticity, and legitimate and illegitimate sites may be indistinguishable in cyberspace. In fact, a well-known trademark in a domain name may be the primary source indicator for the online consumer. So it a bad actor is using that name, the trademark owner, an online consumer is at serious risk of being defrauded, or at the very least confused. The result, as with other forms of trademark violations, is the erosion of consumer confidence in brand name identifiers and in electronic commerce generally.

Last week the Judiciary Committee heard testimony of a number of examples of consumer confusion on the Internet stemming from abusive domain name registrations. For example, Anne Chasser, President of the International Trademark Association, testified that a cybersquatter had registered the domain names “attp hone card.com” and “att calling card.com” and used those names to establish sites purporting to sell calling cards and soliciting personally identifying information, including credit card numbers. Chris Young, President of Cyveillance, Inc.—a company founded specifically to assist trademark owners police their marks online—took testimony that cybersquatters had registered the domain names “dellspares.com” and was purporting to sell Dell products online, when in fact Dell does not authorize online resellers to market its products. We heard similar testimony of an offshore cybersquatter selling web-hosting services under the name “bellatlantics.com”. And Greg Phillips, a Salt Lake City trademark practitioner that represents Porsche in protecting their famous brand name. In one instance, what is now more than 300 instances of cybersquatting, testified of several examples where bad actors have registered Porsche marks to sell counterfeit goods and non-genuine Porsche parts.

Consider also the child who in a “hunt-and-peck” manner mistakenly typed in the domain for “dosney.com”, looking for the rich and family-friendly content of Disney’s home page, only to wind up staring at a page of hard-core pornographic images. He or she snatched up the “dosney” domain in anticipation that just such a mistake would be made. In a similar case, a 12-year-old California boy was denied privileges at his school when he entered “zelda.com” in a web browser at his school library, looking for a site he expected to be affiliated with the computer game of the same name, but ended up at a pornography site.

In addition to these types of direct harm to consumers, cybersquatting harms American businesses and the goodwill value associated with their names. In part this is a result of the fact that in each case of consumer confusion there is a case of brand-name misappropriation and an erosion of goodwill. But, even absent consumer confusion, there are many many cases of cybersquatters who appropriate brand names with the sole intent of extracting money from the lawful mark owner, or of precluding evenhanded competition, or of simply harming the goodwill of the mark.

For example, a couple of years ago a small Canadian company with a single shareholder and a couple of dozen domain names demanded that Umbro International, Inc., which markets and distributes soccer equipment, pay $50,000 to its sole shareholder, $50,000 to a charity, and provide a lifetime supply of soccer equipment in order for it to relinquish the “umbro.com” name. Warner Bros. was reportedly asked to pay $350,000 for the rights to the names “warner-records.com”, “warner-bros-records.com”, “warner-pictures.com”, “warner-bros-pictures.com”, and “warnerpictures.com” and Intel Corporation was forced to deal with a cybersquatter who registered the “pentium3.com” domain and used it to post pornographic images of celebrities.

It is time for Congress to take a closer look at these abuses and to respond with appropriate legislation. In the 104th Congress, Senator LEAHY and I sponsored the “Federal Trademark Dilution Act,” which has proved useful in assisting the owners of trademarks to police online uses of their marks that dilute their distinctive quality. Unfortunately, the economics of litigation have resulted in a situation where it is often more cost-effective to simply “pay off” a cybersquatter rather than pursue costly litigation with little hope of anything more than an injunction against the offender. And cybersquatters are becoming more sophisticated and more creative in evading what good case law has developed under the dilution statute.

The bill I am introducing today with the Senator from Vermont is designed to address these problems head on by clarifying the rights of trademark owners online with respect to cybersquatting, by providing clear deterrence to prevent such bad faith and abusive conduct, and by providing adequate remedies for trademark owners in those cases where confusion occurs. While the bill shares the goals of, and has some similarity to, legislation introduced earlier by Senator ABRAHAM, it differs in a number of substantial respects.

First, like Senator ABRAHAM’s legislation, our bill allows trademark owners to recover statutory damages in cybersquatting cases, both to deter wrongful conduct and to provide adequate remedies for trademark owners who seek to enforce their rights in court. Our bill goes beyond simply stating the remedy, however, and sets forth a substantive cause of action, based in trademark law, to define the wrongful conduct sought to be deterred and to fill in the gaps and uncertainties of current trademark law with respect to cybersquatting.

Under our bill, the abusive conduct that is made actionable is appropriately limited to bad faith registrations of others’ marks by persons who seek to profit unfairly from the goodwill associated therewith. In addition, the bill balances the property interests of trademark owners with the interests of Internet users who would make fair use of a domain name and thereby engage in protected speech online. Our bill also limits the definition of domain name identifier to exclude such things as screen names, file names, and other identifiers not assigned by a domain name registrar or registry. It also omits criminal penalties found in Senator ABRAHAM’s earlier legislation.

Second, our bill provides for in rem jurisdiction, which allows a mark owner to seek the forfeiture, cancellation, or transfer of an infringing domain name by filing an in rem action against the name itself, where the mark owner has satisfied the court that it has exercised due diligence in trying to locate the owner of the domain name but is unable to do so. A significant problem faced by trademark owners in the fight against cybersquatting is the fact that many cybersquatters register domain names under aliases or otherwise provide false information in registration applications in order to avoid identification and service of process by the mark owner. Our bill will alleviate this difficulty, while protecting the notions of fair play and substantial justice, by enabling a mark owner to seek an injunction against the infringing property in those cases where, after due diligence, a mark owner is unable to proceed against the domain name registrant because the registrant has provided false contact information and is otherwise not to be found.

Additionally, some have suggested that dissidents and others who are online incognito for legitimate reasons might give false information in order to protect their anonymity on the Internet particularly for this reason. Our bill includes an explicit savings clause making clear that the bill does not affect traditional trademark defenses, such as fair use, or a person’s first amendment rights, and it ensures that any new remedies created by the bill will apply prospectively only.

Mr. President, this bill is an important piece of legislation that will promote the growth of online commerce by protecting consumers and providing clarity in the law for trademark owners in cyberspace. It is a balanced bill that protects the rights of Internet users and the interests of all Americans in free speech and protected uses of trademarked names for such things as parody, comment, criticism, comparative advertising, news reporting, etc. It reflects many hours of discussions with senators and affected parties on all sides. I want to thank Senator LEAHY for his cooperation in crafting this particular measure, and also Senator ABRAHAM for his cooperation in this effort. I expect that the substance of this bill will be offered as a Committee substitute to Senator ABRAHAM’s legislation when the Judiciary Committee turns to that bill tomorrow. I look forward to that bipartisan support at that time. I similarly look forward to working with my other colleagues here in the Senate to report this bill favorably to the House, and I urge their support in this regard.

I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill and a section-by-section analysis of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

SEC. 1. SHORT TITLE; REFERENCES.

(b) REFERENCES TO THE TRADEMARK ACT OF 1946.—Any reference in this Act to the Trademark Act of 1946 shall be a reference to the Act entitled “An Act to provide for the registration and protection of trade-marks used in commerce, to carry out the provisions of certain international conventions, and for other purposes”, approved July 5, 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1051 et seq.).
identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilutive of another trademark, service mark, or marks of others that are distinctive at the time of registration of such domain names, without regard to the goods or services of such persons.

"(C) On involvement of registration, trafficking, or use of a domain name under this paragraph, a court may order the forfeiture or cancellation of the domain name or the transfer of the domain name to the owner of the mark.

"(2)(A) A owner of a mark may file an in rem civil action or remedy otherwise lawful use of a domain name that is identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilutive of another's mark-registration, the principal register of the United States Patent and Trademark Office.

"(B) The remedies of an in rem action under this paragraph shall be limited to a court order for the forfeiture or cancellation of the domain name or the transfer of the domain name to the owner of the mark.

(b) ADDITIONAL CIVIL ACTION AND REMEDIES.—Sec. 3 of the Trademark Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1127) is amended by inserting after the words "section 43(a)" and inserting "section 43(a)," or (d).

(2) DAMAGES.—Sec. 3(a) of the Trademark Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1127) is amended in the first sentence by striking "or the trademark," and inserting "or the trademark.

(c) STATUTORY DAMAGES.—Sec. 35 of the Trademark Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1127) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(d) In a case involving a violation of section 43(d), the plaintiff may elect, at any time before judgment is entered that the trial court, to recover, instead of actual damages and profits, an award of statutory damages in the amount of not less than $1,000 and not more than $100,000 for each domain name as defined in the first sentence of paragraph (1)(A) of the new section 43(d)."

SEC. 4. DAMAGES AND REMEDIES.

(a) REMEDIES IN CASES OF DOMAIN NAME PI.

(1) INJUNCTIONS.—Sec. 3(a) of the Trademark Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1127) is amended by inserting after the words "section 43(a)" and inserting "section 43(a)," or (d).

(2) DAMAGES.—Sec. 3(a) of the Trademark Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1127) is amended in the first sentence by inserting "or the trademark."

SEC. 5. LIMITATION ON LIABILITY.

Section 35 of the Trademark Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1127) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(3) In compliance with a court order under section 43(d); or

(II) In the implementation of a reasonable policy prohibiting the registration of a domain name that is identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilutive of another's mark-registrar, the principal register of the United States Patent and Trademark Office.

"(iii) A domain name registrar, a domain name registry, or other domain name registration authority shall not be liable for damages under this section for the registration or maintenance of a domain name for another absent a showing of bad faith intent to profit from the registration or maintenance of the domain name.

"(iv) If a registrar, registry, or other registration authority takes an action described in subparagraph (B) of section 43(d), actionable conduct would include the registration, trafficking in, or use of a domain name that is identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilutive of a mark registered in the principal register of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, such person shall be liable for any damages, including costs and attorney's fees, incurred by the domain name registrant as a result of such action. The court may also grant injunctive relief to the domain name registrant, including the reactivation of the domain name or the domain name to the domain name registrant.

SEC. 6. DEFINITIONS.

Section 45 of the Trademark Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1127) is amended by inserting after the undersigned paragraph, defining the term "counterfeit," the following:

"The term 'Internet' has the meaning given that term in section 230(f)(1) of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 230(f)(1))."

"The term 'domain name' means any alphanumerically designated designation which is registered with or assigned by an domain name registrar, domain name registry, or other domain name registration authority as part of an electronic address on the Internet."

SEC. 7. SAVINGS CLAUSE.

Nothing in this Act shall affect any defense available to a defendant under the Trademark Act of 1946 (including any defense of fair use to profit from the goodwill of a mark belonging to someone else. Thus, the bill does extend to innocent domain name registrations by those who are unaware of another's use of the name, or even to someone who is aware of the trademark status of the name but registers a domain name containing the mark for any reason other than with bad faith intent to profit from the goodwill associated with that mark.

Paragraph (1)(B) of the new section 43(d) sets forth a number of nonexclusive, non-exhaustive factors to assist a court in determining whether the required bad-faith element exists in any given case.

First, under paragraph (1)(B), a court may consider whether the defendant domain name registration with such references within the bill to the Trademark Act of 1946 shall be a reference to the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the registration and protection of marks as Internet domain names and to carry out the provisions of certain international conventions, and for other purposes", approved July 5, 1996 (15 U.S.C. 1051 et seq.), also commonly referred to as the Lanham Act.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS

This section sets forth Congress' findings that cybersquatting and cyberpiracy—defined as the registration, trafficking in, or use of a domain name that is identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilutive of a distinctive trademark or service mark of another with the bad faith intent to profit from the goodwill of the trademark or service mark in commerce, by depriving trademark owners of substantial revenues and consumer goodwill, and by placing unreasonable, intolerable, and overwhelming burdens on trademark owners in protecting their marks as Internet domain names and to deter cybersquatting and cybersquatting.

SEC. 3. CYBERPIRACY PREVENTION

Subsection (a). In General. This subsection amends section the Trademark Act to provide an explicit trademark remedy for cybersquatting under a new section 43(d).

Under paragraph (1)(A) of the new section 43(d), actionable conduct would include the registration, trafficking in, or use of a domain name that is identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilutive of the trademark or service mark of another with the bad faith intent to profit from the goodwill associated with that trademark.

If any provision of this Act, an amendment made by this Act, or the application of such provision or amendment to any person or circumstance (i) is not compatible with the purposes of this Act, and the application of the provisions of such to any person or circumstance shall not be affected thereby.

SEC. 9. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This Act shall apply to all domain names registered before, on, or after the date of enactment of this Act.

SECTION BY SECTION ANALYSIS—S. 1461, THE "DOMAIN NAME PIRACY PREVENTION ACT OF 1999."

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE; REFERENCES

This section provides that the Act may be cited as the "Domain Name Piracy Prevention Act of 1999."
that there may be concurrent uses of the same name not infringing, such as the use of the “Delta” mark in both air travel and sink faucets. Similarly, the registration of the domain name “deltacourtroom.com” by a movie studio would not tend to indicate a bad faith intent on the part of the registrant to trade on Delta Airlines or Delta Faucets’ trademarks.

Second, under paragraph (1)(B)(i), a court may consider the extent to which the domain name is the same as the registrant’s own legal name or a nickname by which that person is known. This factor recognizes, again as does the concept of fair use in trademark law, that a person should be able to be identified by their own name, whether in their business or on a web site. Similarly, a person may bear a legitimate nickname that is identical or similar to a well-known trademark, such as in the well-publicized case of the parents who registered the domain name “pokey.org” for their young daughter who goes by that name, and these individuals should not be deterred by this bill from using their name online. This factor is not intended to suggest that domain name registrants may evade the application of this Act by merely adopting Exxon, Ford, or other well-known marks or nicknames. It merely provides a court with the appropriate discretion to determine whether or not the fact that a person bears a nickname similar to a mark at issue is an indication of an absence of bad-faith on the part of the registrant.

Third, under paragraph (1)(B)(ii), a court may consider the domain name registrant’s prior use, if any, of the domain name in connection with the bona fide offering of goods or services. Again, this factor recognizes that the registration of the domain name in online commerce may be a good indicator of the intent of the person registering that name. Where the person has used the domain name in commerce without creating a likelihood of confusion as to the source or origin of the goods or services and has not otherwise attempted to use the name in order to profit from the goodwill of any others, the use of the domain name is an indication of bad-faith.

Fourth, under paragraph (1)(B)(iv), a court may consider the person’s legitimate non-commercial or fair use of the mark in a web site that is accessible under the domain name at issue. This factor is intended to balance the interests of trademark owners with the interests of those who would make lawful noncommercial or fair uses of others’ marks online, such as in comparative advertising, comment, criticism, parody, news reporting, etc. The fact that a person may use a mark in a site in such a lawful manner may be an appropriate indication that the person’s registration or use of the domain name lacked the required element of bad-faith. This factor is not intended to create a loophole that otherwise might swallow the bill by allowing a domain name registrant to evade application of the Act by merely putting up a noninfringing site under an infringing domain name. For example, to avoid enforcement of the well-known case of Panavision Int’l v. Toepfer, 111 F.3d 1316 (9th Cir. 1998), a well known cybersquatter had registered a host of domain names, including names for Panavision, Delta Airlines, Neiman Marcus, Eddie Bauer, Luftansa, and more than 100 other marks, and had attempted to sell them to the mark owners for amounts in the range of $10,000 to $15,000 each. His use of the “panavision.com” and “panaflex.com” domain names was seemingly more innocuous, however, as they were used only on sites that merely displayed pictures of Pana Illinois and the word “Hello” respectively. This bill would not allow a person to evade the holding of that case by providing domain names that are seemingly innocent, but which are nonetheless used in bad faith, based on their tendency to confuse or deceive the public in determining the source of the mark. If a domain name is used in a domain name registration to offer to sell them to the mark owner, these cybersquatters have been largely successful in evading the case law developed under the Federal Trademark Dilution Act. This bill does not suggest that the mere registration of multiple domain names is an indication of bad-faith, but allows a court to weigh the proliferation of multiple domain names for exorbitant amounts to the rightful trademark owner as part of its consideration of the use of the domain name registration. Falsifying that there may be circumstances in which the provision of false information may be due to other factors, such as mistake or, as some have suggested in the case of political dissidents, for purposes of anonymity. This bill balances those factors by limiting consideration to the person’s contact information, and even then requiring that the provision of false information be material and misleading. As with the other factors, a court may consider these threads in abusive domain name registrations.

Fifth, under paragraph (1)(B)(v), a court may consider whether, in registering or using the domain name, the registrant intended to divert consumers away from the trademark owner’s website to a site that could harm the goodwill of the mark, either by tarnishment or disparagement of the mark. This factor recognizes that one of the main reasons cybersquatters use other people’s trademarks is to divert Internet users to their own sites by creating confusion as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation, or endorsement of the site. This factor recognizes the increasingly common cybersquatting practice known as “warehousing”, in which a cybersquatter registers multiple domain names—sometimes hundreds, even thousands—that mirror the trademarks of others. By sitting on these marks and not making the first move to offer to sell them to the mark owner, these cybersquatters have been largely successful in evading the case law developed under the Federal Trademark Dilution Act. This bill does not suggest that the mere registration of multiple domain names is an indication of bad faith, but allows a court to weigh other factors, such as mistake or, as some have suggested in the case of political dissidents, for purposes of anonymity. This bill balances those factors by limiting consideration to the person’s contact information, and even then requiring that the provision of false information be material and misleading. As with the other factors, a court may consider these threads in abusive domain name registrations.

Sixth, under paragraph (1)(B)(vi), a court may consider whether the domain name registrant has exercised due diligence in trying to locate the owner of the domain name but is unable to do so. As indicated above, a significant problem faced by trademark owners in the fight against cybersquatting is the fact that many cybersquatters register domain names under aliases or otherwise provide false information in their registration applications in an effort to avoid the service of process by the mark owner. This bill will alleviate this difficulty, while protecting the notions of fair play and substan- tial due process by enabling a mark owner to seek an injunction against the infringing property in those cases where, after due diligence, a mark owner is unable to proceed against the cybersquatter. Where the registrant has provided false contact information and is otherwise not to be found, provided the mark owner can show that the domain name infringes a lawful use of trademark law. Paragraph (2)(b) limits the relief available in such an action to enjoining orders, canceling, and transferring the domain name or the transfer of the domain name to the domain name registrar and registry.

Subsection (b). Additional Civil Action and Remedy. This subsection makes clear that the creation of a new section 43(d) in the Trademark Act does not in any way limit the application of current provisions of trademark, unfair competition and false advertising law, or other remedies under counterfeiting or other statutes, to cybersquatting cases.

SECTION 4. DAMAGES AND REMEDIES

This section applies traditional trademark remedies, including injunctive relief, recovery of defendant's profits, actual damages, and costs, to cybersquatting cases under the new section 43(d) of the Trademark Act. The bill also adds section 35 of the Trademark Act to provide for statutory damages in cybersquatting cases, in an amount of not less than $1,000 and not more than $100,000 per domain name, as the court considers just. The bill requires the court to remit statutory damages in any case where the infringer believed and had reasonable grounds to believe that the use of the domain name was a fair or otherwise lawful use.

SECTION 5. LIMITATION ON LIABILITY

This section amends section 32(2) of the Trademark Act to extend the Trademark Act's existing limitations on liability to the cybersquatting context. This section also creates a new subparagraph (D) in section 32(2) to encourage domain name registrars and registries to work with trademark owners to prevent cybersquatting through a limited exemption from liability for domain name registrars and registries that suspend, cancel, or transfer domain names pursuant to a court order or in the implementation of a reasonable policy prohibiting cybersquatting. This section also protects the rights of domain name registrars against overreaching trademark owners. Under new subparagraph (D)(iii) of section 32(2), a trademark owner who knowingly and materially misrepresents to the domain name registrar or registry that a domain name is infringing shall be held liable as a domain name registrant for damages resulting from the suspension, cancellation, or transfer of the domain name. In addition, the court may grant injunctive relief to the domain name registrant by ordering the reactivation of the domain name or the transfer of the domain name back to the domain name registrant. Finally, in creating a new subparagraph (D)(iii) of section 32(2), this section codifies current case law limiting the secondary liability of domain name registrars and registries for the act of registration of a domain name, absent bad-faith on the part of the registrar and registry.

SECTION 6. DEFINITIONS

This section amends the Trademark Act's definitions section (section 45) to add definitions for key terms used in this Act. First, the term “Internet” is defined consistent with the definition that wireline Communications Act (47 U.S.C. 230(1)). Second, this section creates a narrow definition of “cybersquatting” to target the specific legal problem that has ought to be addressed while excluding such things as screen names, file names, and other identifiers not assigned by a domain name registrar or registry.

SECTION 7. SAVINGS CLAUSE

This section provides an explicit savings clause making clear that the bill does not affect traditional trademark defenses, such as fair use, or a person's first amendment rights.

SECTION 8. SEVERABILITY

This section provides a severability clause making clear Congress' intent that if any provision of this Act, or the application of such provision or amendment to any person or circumstance is held to be unconstitutional, the remainder of the Act, and the amendments made by the Act, and the application of the provisions of such to any person or circumstance shall not be affected by such determination.

SECTION 9. EFFECTIVE DATE

This section provides that new statutory damages provided for under this bill shall not apply to any registration, trafficking, or use of a domain name that took place prior to the enactment of this Act.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I am pleased to join Senator HATCH, and others, today in introducing the "Domain Name Anticybersquatting Act of 1999." We have worked hard to craft this legislation in a balanced fashion to protect trademark owners and consumers doing business online, and Internet users who want to participate in what the Supreme Court has described as "a unique and wholly new medium of worldwide human communication." Reno v. ACLU, 521 U.S. 844 (1997).

"Trademarks are important tools of commerce. The exclusive right to the use of a unique mark helps companies compete in the marketplace by distinguishing their goods and services from those of their competitors, and helps consumers identify the source of a product by linking it with a particular company. The use of trademarks by companies, and reliance on trademarks by consumers, will only become more important as the global marketplace becomes larger and more accessible with electronic commerce. The reason the Internet is a global marketplace is that it has been used as a company's address in cyberspace, customers know where to go online to conduct business with that company.

The growth of electronic commerce is having a positive effect on the economies of small rural states like mine. A Vermont Internet Commerce report I commissioned earlier this year found that Vermont gained more than 1,000 new jobs as a result of Internet commerce, with the potential that Vermont could add more than 24,000 jobs over the next two years. For a small state like ours, this is very good news.

Along with the good news, this report identified a number of obstacles that stand in the way of Vermont reaching the full potential promised by Internet commerce. One obstacle is that "merchants are anxious about not being able to control where their names and brands are being displayed." Another is the need to build consumers' confidence in online shopping.

Cybersquatters hurt electronic commerce. Both merchant and consumer confidence in conducting business online are undermined by so-called "cybersquatters" or "cyberpirates," who abuse the rights of trademark holders by purposely and maliciously registering as a domain, name the trademarked name of another company to divert and confuse customers or to deny them competition, accountable and easily-locatable, on-line location. A recent report by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) on the Internet domain name process has characterized cybersquatting as "predatory and parasitical practices by a minority of domain registrants acting in bad faith" to register famous or well-known marks of others—which can lead to consumer confusion or downright fraud.

Enforcing trademarks in cyberspace will promote global electronic commerce. Enforcing trademark law in cyberspace can help bring consumer confidence to this new frontier. That is why I have long been concerned with protecting registrars and registrants on-line. Indeed, when the Congress passed the Federal Trademark Dilution Act of 1995, I noted that:

(Although no one else has yet considered this application, it is my hope that this antidilution statute can help stem the use of deceptive Internet addresses taken by those who are choosing marks that are associated with other products and reputations of others. (Congressional Record, Dec. 29, 1995, page S19312)

In addition, last year I authored an amendment that was enacted as part of the Next Generation Internet Research Act authorizing the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences to study the effects on trademark holders of adding new top-level domain names and requesting recommendations on expensive and expedient procedures for resolving trademark disputes over the assignment of domain names. Both the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (I-CANN) and WIPO are also making recommendations on these procedures. Adoption of a uniform trademark domain name dispute resolution policy will be of enormous benefit to American trademark owners.

The "Domain Name Piracy Prevention Act of 1999," which we introduce today, is not intended in any way to frustrate these global efforts already underway to develop inexpensive and expedient procedures for resolving domain name disputes that avoid costly and time-consuming litigation in the court systems either here or abroad. In fact, the bill expressly provides liability limitations for domain name registrars, registrants or other domain name registration authorities when they take actions pursuant to a receiving policy providing for the registration of domain names that are identical, confusingly similar to or dilutive of another’s trademark. The I-CANN and WIPO consideration of these
The Federal Trademark Dilution Act of 1995 has been used as I predicted to help stop misleading uses of trademarks as domain names. One court has described this exercise by saying that “attempting to apply established trademark law in the fast-developing world of the Internet is somewhat like trying to board a moving bus . . .” “Bensusan Restaurant Corp. v. King, 126 F.3d 25 (2d Cir. 1997).” Nevertheless, the courts appear to be handling “cybersquatting” cases well. As University of Miami Law Professor Michael Froomkin noted in testimony submitted at the Judiciary Committee’s hearing on this issue on July 29, 1999, “[i]n every case involving a person who registered large numbers of domain names for resale, the cybersquatter has lost.”

For example, courts have had little trouble dealing with a notorious “cybersquatter,” Dennis Toeppen from Illinois, who registered more than 100 trademarks—including “yankeestadium.com,” “deltairlines.com,” and “neiman-marcus.com”—as domain names of repeatedly selling the names back to the companies owning the trademarks. The various courts reviewing his activities have unanimously determined that he violated the Federal Trademark Dilution Act.

Similarly, Wayne State University Law Professor Jessica Litman noted in testimony submitted at the Judiciary Committees hearing that those businesses which “have registered domain names that are confusingly similar to trademarks or personal names in order to use them for pornographic web sites . . . have without exception lost suits brought against them.”

Enforcing or modifying our trademark laws will be only part of the solution to cybersquatting. Up to now, people have been able to register any number of domain names in the popular “.com” domain with no money down and no money due for 60 days, Network Solutions Inc. (NSI), the dominant Internet registrar, announced just last week that it was changing this policy to curb cybersquatting.

In light of the developing case law, the ongoing efforts within WIPO and ICANN to build a consensus global mechanism for resolving online trademark disputes, and the implementation of domain name registration practices designed to discourage cybersquatting, the legislation we introduce today addresses the problem of cybersquatting and I appreciate the efforts of Senators Abraham, Boricelli, Hatch, and McCain, to focus our attention on this important matter. They introduced S. 1255, the “Anticybersquatting Consumer Protection Act,” which proposed making it illegal to register or use any “Internet domain name or identifier of an online location” that could be confused with the trademark of another person or cause dilution of a “famous trademark.” Violations were punishable by both civil and criminal penalties.

I voiced concerns at a hearing before the Judiciary Committee last week that S. 1255 would have a number of unintended consequences that could hurt rather than promote electronic commerce, including the following specific problems:

The definition in S. 1255 is overbroad. S. 1255 covers the use or registration of any “identifiers” which could cover not just second level domain names, but also e-mail addresses, screen names used in chat rooms, and even files accessible and readable on the Internet. As one witness pointed out, “the definitions will make every fan a criminal.” How? A file document about Batman, for example, that uses the trademark “Batman,” in its name, which also identifies its online location, could land the writer in court under that bill. Cybersquatting is not about new “identifiers,” and the bill’s definition leaves the scope of the law unclear.

S. 1255 threatens hypertext linking. The Web operates on hypertext linking to facilitate jumping from one site to another. S. 1255 could disrupt this practice by imposing liability on operators of sites with links to other sites with trademark names in the address. One could imagine a trademark owner not wanting to be associated with or linked with certain sites, and threatening suit under this proposal unless the link were eliminated or payments were made for allowing the linking.

S. 1255 would criminalize dissent and protest sites. A number of Web sites collect complaints about trademarked products or services, and sue the trademark owners to identify themselves. For example, there are protest sites named “boycotts-cbs.com” and “www.PepsiBloodbath.com.” While the speech contained on those sites is clearly constitutionally protected, S. 1255 would criminalize the use of a trademarked name to reach the site and make them difficult to search for and find online.

S. 1255 would stifle legitimate warehousing of domain names. The bill could change current law and make all liable persons who merely register domain names similar to other trademarked names, whether or not they actually set up a site and use the name. The courts have recognized that companies may have legitimate reason for registering domain names without using them, and that they may find trademark violations for mere registration of a trademarked name. For example, a company planning to acquire another company might register a domain name containing the target company’s name in anticipation of the deal. S. 1255 would make that company liable for trademark infringement.

For these and other reasons, Professor Litman concluded that this “bill would in many ways be bad for electronic commerce, by making it hazardous to do business on the Internet without first retaining trademark counsel.” Faced with the risk of criminal penalties, she stated that “many start-ups businesses may choose to abandon their domain names and move to another Internet location, or even to fold, rather than risk liability.”

The Hatch-Leahy Domain Name Piracy Prevention Act is a better solution. The legislation we introduce today addresses the cybersquatting problem without jeopardizing other important online rights and interests. This bill would amend section 43 of the Trademark Act (15 U.S.C. §1125) by adding a new section to make liable for actual or statutory damages any person, who with bad-faith intent to profit from the goodwill of another’s trademark, registers or uses a domain name that is identical to, confusingly similar to or dilutive of such trademark, without regard to the goods or services of the parties, the fact that the domain name registrant did not compete with the trademark owner would not be a bar to recovery. Significant sections of this bill include:

Proposition 1. Domain names are narrowly defined to mean alphanumeric designations registered with or assigned by domain name registrars or registries, or other domain name registration authority as part of an electronic address on the Internet. Since registrars only second level domain names this definition effectively excludes file names, screen names, and e-mail addresses and, under current registration practice, applies only to second level domain names.

Proposition 2. Scienter requirement. Good faith, innocent or negligent uses of domain names that are identical or similar to, or dilutive of, another’s mark are not covered by the bill’s prohibition. Thus, registering a domain name while unaware that the name is another’s trademark would not be actionable.

Nor would the use of a domain name that contains a trademark for purposes of protest, complaint, parody or commerce qualify as actionable under requirement. Bad-faith intent to profit is required for a violation to occur.

This requirement of bad-faith intent to profit is critical since, as Professor Litman pointed out in her testimony, our trademark laws permit multiple businesses to register the same trademark for different classes of products. Thus, she explains:

Although courts have been quick to impose liability for bad faith registration, they have been hesitant in disputes involving a domain name registrant who has a legitimate claim to use a domain name and registered it in good faith. In a number of cases, courts have refused to impose liability where there is no significant likelihood that anyone will be misled, even if there is a significant possibility of trademark dilution.

The legislation outlines the following non-exclusive list of eight factors for courts to consider in determining whether such bad-faith intent to profit is proven: (i) the trademark rights of the domain name registrant in the domain name; (ii) whether the domain name is the legal or nickname of the registrant; (iii) the prior use by the registrant of the domain name in connection with the bona fide offering of any goods or services; (iv) the registrant’s noncommercial or commercial fair use of the mark at the site under the domain name; (v) the registrant’s intent to divert consumers from the mark’s owner’s online location in a manner that would harm the mark’s goodwill, either for commercial gain or with the intent to tarnish or disparage the mark, by creating a likelihood of confusion as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation or endorsement of the site; (vi) the registrant’s offer to sell the domain name for substantial consideration without having or having an intent to use the domain name in the bona fide offering of goods or services; (vii) the registrant’s international provision of goods or services and the use of contact information when applying for the registration of the domain name; and (viii) the registrant’s registration of multiple domain names that are identical or similar to or dilutive of, a trademark. In addition, the domain name or the transfer or return of a domain name to the domain name registrant.

Liability limitations. The bill would limit the liability for monetary damages for domain name registrars, registries or other domain name registration authorities for any action they take to refuse to register, remove from registration, transfer, temporarily disable or permanently cancel a domain name pursuant to a court order or judicial implementation of reasonable policies prohibiting the registration of domain names that are identical or similar to, or dilutive of, others.

Prevention of reverse domain name hijacking. Reverse domain name hijacking is an effort by a trademark owner to take a domain name from a legitimate good faith domain name registrant. There have been some well-publicized cases where trademark owners demanding the take down of certain web sites set up by parents who have registered their children’s names in the .org domain, such as two year old Veronica Sams’s ‘Little Veronica’ web site or 12 year old Chris ‘Pokey’ Van Allen’s web page.

In order to protect the rights of domain name registrants in their domain names the bill provides that registrants may recover damages, including costs and attorney’s fees, incurred as a result of a knowing and material misrepresentation by a person that a domain name is identical or similar to, or dilutive of, a trademark. In addition, the domain name or the transfer or return of a domain name to the domain name registrant.

Cybersquatting is an important issue for trademark holders and for the future of electronic commerce on the Internet. Cybersquatting owners must tread carefully to ensure that any remedies do not impede or stifle the free flow of information on the Internet. In many ways, the United States has been the incubator of the Internet worldwide, and closely watches whenever we venture into laws, customs or standards that affect the Internet. We must only do so in ways that do not harm the Internet. Our goal is to ensure that any new laws do not harm the Internet.

In Rem actions. The bill would also permit an in rem civil action filed by a trademark owner in circumstances where the domain name violates the owner’s rights in the trademark and the court finds that the owner demonstrated due diligence and was not able to find the domain name holder to bring an in person civil action. The remedies of an in rem action are limited to a court order for forfeiture or cancellation of the domain name or the transfer of the domain name to the trademark owner.

Mr. JEFFORDS. Mr. President, today I am introducing legislation that takes another positive step toward the goal of providing access to affordable prescription drugs for patients in my state of Vermont, and many other patients across the United States.

The high cost of prescription drugs is an issue that faces many Americans every single day, as they try to decide how to make ends meet, and whether they can afford to fill the prescription given to them by their doctor. Unfortunately, it is not uncommon to hear of patients who cut pills in half, or skip dosages in order to make prescriptions last longer. This is a serious health problem, and I am committed to legislative solutions that we can enact that provide immediate assistance to those who need it. I will soon introduce legislation that will provide prescription drug insurance for low-income Medicare beneficiaries. And today I am introducing legislation that will allow Vermonters, and many others, to purchase prescription drugs, to purchase the medicines they need at prices they can afford.

The legislation I am introducing today will change that, so that Americans who want to buy prescription medicines in Canada than in the United States, with the price of some drugs in Vermont being twice that of the same drug available only a few miles away in a Canadian pharmacy. This is true even though many of the drugs sold in Canada are actually manufactured, packed, and distributed by American companies that sell the same products in both markets, but at drastically different prices. That is why many residents of Vermont, and many other patients across the border into Canada to buy their prescription medicines at the lower price. Unfortunately, in most cases this is a violation of Federal law. This does not seem fair to many Vermonters, and it does not seem fair to me.

The legislation I am introducing today will change that, so that Americans who want to buy prescription medicines in Canada can legally do so. This legislation will require the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to promulgate new regulations permitting patients to import prescription medications purchased in Canada. Currently, it is illegal for Americans to go to Canada and purchase drugs to be brought back to the United States. But FDA and U.S. Customs employ a “discretionary enforcement policy”, allowing some Americans to enter the U.S. with drugs that they bought in Canada. My legislation does a number of things. First, it requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to promulgate regulations that will allow individuals to import prescription FDA-approved medicines from Canada in - personal baggage, so long as the appropriate use is identified and the product does not represent a significant health risk. Under this bill, patients could also be asked to identify the licensed U.S. health professional responsible for treatment, and to affirm that the product is for personal use, and provide other necessary information so that the FDA can continue to ensure the safety of the U.S. drug supply. All information collected under this provision will be subject to the Privacy Act of 1974.

Under this proposal, the Secretary of Health and Human Services will also be required to promulgate regulations regarding importation of prescription drugs from Canada by mail order. The Secretary will establish criteria which will ensure the safety of patients in the United States that wish to purchase drugs by mail order from Canada.

Finally, this legislation will require the Secretary of HHS to study the safety and purity of the prescription drug products that are imported under this Act.

Mr. President, it has often been said that we have the international gold standard when it comes to drug safety. Well, we have the platinum standard when it comes to prices. I want to emphasize, again, my commitment to helping Vermonters and all Americans have access to the prescription drugs that they need at prices that they can afford. As Chairman of the Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee, the safety of American patients is always one of my top priorities, and I am committed to achieving the goal of affordable prescription drugs without putting patients’ lives at risk. This is a responsible proposal to help Vermonters and all Americans with the high price of drugs. I hope my colleagues will support it.

By Mr. DeWine (for himself, Ms. Snowe, Mr. Torricelli, Ms. Collins, Mr. Durbin, Mrs. Feinstein, Ms. Mikulski, Mr. Schumer, Mr. Bingaman, Mr. Chafee, and Mr. Kennedy):

S. 1463. A bill to establish a program to provide assistance for programs of credit and other financial services for microenterprises in developing countries, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

MICROENTERPRISE FOR SELF RELIANCE ACT OF 1999

Mr. DeWINE. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce legislation that would ensure the future success of international micro-enterprise grant and loan programs. Many members of Congress have seen the success of micro-enterprise programs around the world. These programs reach the poorest of the poor with small loans to help them work their way out of poverty. These have proven to be very worthwhile and successful programs administered worldwide by the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID). Unlike other assistance programs, we do not give funds away. Instead, we lend these funds to people once considered credit risks. The record of these programs boasts a client repayment rate of between 95% to 98%. Micro-enterprise programs are proof that with access to credit, the poor can and do better their lives while repaying their loans.

To ensure the future of these programs and provide continued hope to those seeking to build out of poverty, I introduce today the Micro-Enterprise for Self Reliance Act of 1999. I am pleased to be introducing the legislation along with Senators Snowe, Torricelli, Collins, Durbin, Feinstein, Mikulski, Schumer, Bingaman, Chafee and Kennedy. This bill would strengthen the foundations of these programs to ensure their survival and provide the mechanisms necessary for their continued success as financial institutions. It provides a grant assistance to micro-enterprise programs to increase availability of credit and other services. We also target half of all micro-enterprise resources to support programs that serve the poorest of the poor with loans of $300 or less. This is a key provision of the bill and would give strong direction to USAID to work with sections of society that respond best to micro-lending programs.

Second, this bill would authorize credits to micro-lending programs. These credits generally are used to expand already successful programs. Further, we seek to guarantee these programs to help micro-enterprise programs to serve the poorest of the poor. The credit will be subject to the Privacy Act of 1974.

Finally, we are interested in encouraging the future development and stability of these programs. Our bill calls for a report by USAID that would recommend other steps that could be taken to further the development of micro-lending institutions such as networks, regulations, a federal charter, financial instruments and coordination with multinational institutions.

We believe that this investment in micro-enterprise programs now will reduce the need for foreign assistance in the future. Congress now has the chance to ensure the future of these very successful programs, and help provide a consensus of possibilities for the poor in developing countries. I thank my fellow cosponsors for their support for this legislation and look forward to working with them to gain congressional approval.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the Micro-Enterprise for Self-Reliance Act be printed in the Record.
regulated financial institutions that can raise funds from the local and international capital markets. (b)(A) Microenterprise institutions not only reduce poverty, but also reduce the dependency on foreign assistance. (b)(B) Microcredit institutions in the portfolio is used to pay recurring institutional costs, securing the long-term sustainability of development assistance. (b)(C) Microfinance institutions leverage foreign assistance resources because loans are recycled, generating new benefits to program participants—these and other assistance delivery mechanisms so works of local microfinance institutions and demonstrated competence in developing net-pand their services and tap commercial developing their institutional capacity to ex-

The Agency will have fewer missions to carry out its work, the Agency should place priority on those in the most congested microenterprise networks that use microfinance institutions that meet performance criteria through the central funding mechanisms of the Agency. (b)(B) By expanding and replicating successful microfinance institutions, it should be possible to create a global infrastructure to provide financial services to the world’s poorest families. (b)(C) The United States can provide leadership to other bilateral and multilateral development agencies as such agencies expand their microfinance programs. (b)(D) The United States should seek to improve coordination among G-7 countries in the support of the microenterprise sector in order to leverage the investment of the United States with that of other donor nations. (b)(E) The United States can continue to play a leadership role in the global effort to expand financial services and opportunity to 100,000 or more of the poorest families on the planet.

SEC. 3. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this Act are—

(1) to increase microfinance development as an important element of United States foreign economic policy and assistance; (2) to provide for the continuation and expansion of the commitment of the United States Agency for International Development to the development of microfinance institutions as outlined in its 1994 Microfinance Policy; (3) to support and develop the capacity of United States and indigenous nongovernmental organizations to provide credit, savings, training and technical services to microentrepreneurs; (4) to increase the amount of assistance devoted to credit activities designed to reach the poorest sector in developing countries, and to improve the access of the poorest, particularly women, to microfinance credit in developing countries; and (5) to direct the United States Agency for International Development to coordinate microfinance policy, in consultation with the Department of State and the Department of the Treasury, to develop a global leadership in promoting microfinance for the poorest among bilateral and multilateral donors.

SEC. 4. MICROENTERPRISE DEVELOPMENT GRANT ASSISTANCE.

Chapter 1 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2151 et seq.) is amended—

(a) by redesignating the second section 129 (as added by section 4 of the Torture Victims Relief Act of 1998 (Public Law 105-320)) as section 129(a); and

(b) by adding at the end the following new section: “SEC. 131. MICROENTERPRISE DEVELOPMENT GRANT ASSISTANCE.”

(a) FINDINGS AND POLICY.—The Congress finds and declares that—

(1) the development of microenterprise is a vital factor in the growth of developing countries and in the development of free, open, and equitable international economic systems; (2) it is therefore in the best interest of the United States to assist the development of microenterprises in developing countries; and (3) the support of microenterprise can be served by programs providing credit, savings, training, and technical assistance.

(b) AUTHORIZATION.—(1) In carrying out the function of the President, authorized to pro-vice credit, savings, and other financial services to microenterprises to enable them to make better use of credit, to better manage their enterprises, and to increase their income and build their assets; (c) capacity building for microfinance institutions in order to enable them to better meet the credit and training needs of microentrepreneurs; and (d) policy and regulatory programs at the country level that improve the environment for microfinance institutions that serve the poor and very poor.

(2) Assistance authorized under paragraph (1) shall be provided through organizations that have a capacity to develop and implement microenterprise programs, including particularly—

(A) United States and private and voluntary organizations; (B) United States and indigenous credit unions and cooperative organizations; (C) other indigenous governmental and nongovernmental organizations; and (D) business development services, including indigenous craft programs.

(3) In carrying out sustainable poverty-focused programs under paragraph (1), 50 per cent of all microfinance resources shall be used for support of programs under this subsection through practitioner institutions that provide credit and other financial services to the poorest with loans of $300 or less in 1995 United States dollars and can cover their costs of credit programs with revenue from lending activities or that demonstrate the capacity to do so in a reasonable time period.

(4) The President should continue support for central mechanisms and missions that—

(A) provide technical support for field missions; (B) strengthen the institutional development of the intermediary organizations described in paragraph (2); (C) share information relating to the provision of assistance authorized under paragraph (1) between such field missions and intermediary organizations; and (D) support the development of nonprofit global microfinance networks, including credit union systems, that—

(i) are able to deliver very small loans through a vast grassroots infrastructure based on market principles; and

(ii) act as wholesale intermediaries providing a range of services to microfinance retail institutions, including financing, technical assistance, capacity building and safety and soundness accreditation.

(5) Assistance provided under this subsection may only be used to support microenterprise programs and may not be used to support programs not directly related to the purposes described in paragraph (1). (c) MONITORING SYSTEM.—In order to maximize the sustainable development impact of the assistance authorized under subsection (a)(1), the Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development shall establish a monitoring sys-

---

In the context of microfinance, the United States Agency for International Development will have fewer missions to carry out due to the Agency's focus on global financial development. Microfinance institutions play a crucial role in supporting the poorest with microcredit, particularly women, to microenterprise credit in developing countries, and to improve the access of the poorest. The goal of the microcredit summit will require the global investment needed to achieve the commitment of the United States to promote microenterprise development. The microfinance sector, primarily in developing countries, is critical for poverty reduction and broad-based economic development. microfinance institutions provide credit and other financial services to microentrepreneurs.

The recent shocks to international financial markets demonstrate how the financial systems shape the development of nations. Microfinance can serve as a powerful tool for building a more inclusive financial sector that serves the broad majority of the world's population, including the very poor and women, and thus generate more social stability and prosperity.

Over the last two decades, the United States has been a global leader in promoting the global microfinance sector, primarily through its development assistance programs at the United States Agency for International Development. Additionally, the United States Department of the Treasury and the Department of State have used their authority to promote microenterprise in the developing world through their microfinance policy, in consultation with the Department of the Treasury and the Department of State and, to provide credit and other financial services to the world's poorest.

The initiative committed to expanding funding for the microenterprise programs of the United States has set a goal that, by the end of fiscal year 1996, half of all microfinance resources would support programs and institutions that provide credit to the poorest, with less emphasis on such programs.

In order to achieve the goal of the microcredit summit, increased investment in microcredit institutions serving the poorest will be critical. The United States share of the global investment needed to achieve the goal of the microcredit summit will require only a small increase in United States funding for international microcredit programs, with an increased focus on institutions serving the poorest.

In order to reach tens of millions of the poorest with microcredit, it is crucial to expand and replicate successful microcredit institutions. These institutions need assistance in developing their institutional capacity to expand their services and tap commercial sources of capital.

Microfinance institutions have demonstrated competence in developing networks of local microfinance institutions and other assistance delivery mechanisms so that they can reach large numbers of the very poor, and achieve financial sustainability.

Recognizing that the United States Agency for International Development has developed multiple partnerships with nongovernmental organizations, and that the Agency will have fewer missions to carry out its work, the Agency should place priority on those in the most congested microenterprise networks that use microfinance institutions that meet performance criteria through the central funding mechanisms of the Agency. By expanding and replicating successful microfinance institutions, it should be possible to create a global infrastructure to provide financial services to the world's poorest families. The United States can provide leadership to other bilateral and multilateral development agencies as such agencies expand their microfinance programs.

The United States should seek to improve coordination among G-7 countries in the support of the microenterprise sector in order to leverage the investment of the United States with that of other donor nations. Through increased support for microentreprise, especially credit for the poorest, the United States can continue to play a leadership role in the global effort to expand financial services and opportunity to 100,000 or more of the poorest families on the planet.

The purposes of this Act are to increase microfinance development as an important element of United States foreign economic policy and assistance; to provide for the continuation and expansion of the commitment of the United States Agency for International Development to the development of microfinance institutions as outlined in its 1994 Microfinance Policy; to support and develop the capacity of United States and indigenous nongovernmental organization intermediaries to provide credit, savings, training and technical services to microentrepreneurs; to increase the amount of assistance devoted to credit activities designed to reach the poorest sector in developing countries, and to improve the access of the poorest, particularly women, to microfinance credit in developing countries; and to direct the United States Agency for International Development to coordinate microfinance policy, in consultation with the Department of State and the Department of the Treasury, to develop a global leadership in promoting microfinance for the poorest among bilateral and multilateral donors.

Chapter 1 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2151 et seq.) is amended—

(1) by redesignating the second section 129 (as added by section 4 of the Torture Victims Relief Act of 1998 (Public Law 105-320)) as section 129(a); and

(2) by adding at the end the following new section: “SEC. 131. MICROENTERPRISE DEVELOPMENT GRANT ASSISTANCE.”

(a) FINDINGS AND POLICY.—The Congress finds and declares that—

(1) the development of microenterprise is a vital factor in the growth of developing countries and in the development of free, open, and equitable international economic systems; (2) it is therefore in the best interest of the United States to assist the development of microenterprises in developing countries; and (3) the support of microenterprise can be served by programs providing credit, savings, training, and technical assistance.
"(1) establishes performance goals for such assistance and expresses such goals in an objective and quantifiable form, to the extent feasible;

"(2) establishes performance indicators to be used in measuring or assessing the achievement of such goals and objectives of such assistance;

"(3) provides a basis for recommendations for adjustments to such assistance to enhance the sustainable development impact of such assistance, particularly the impact of such assistance on the very poor, particularly poor women;

"(4) provides a basis for recommendations for adjustments to measures for reaching the poorest of the poor, including proposed legislation containing amendments to improve paragraph (3);

"(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—(A) There are authorized to be appropriated $522,000,000 for fiscal year 2000 and $157,000,000 for fiscal year 2001 to carry out this section.

"(B) Amounts appropriated pursuant to the authorization described in subsection (b) are eligible to carry out this section under any applicable authorities.

"(2) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Amounts authorized under this subparagraph (A) are in addition to amounts otherwise available to carry out this section.

SEC. 5. MICRO- AND SMALL ENTERPRISE DEVELOPMENT CREDITS.

Section 108 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2151f) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 108. MICRO- AND SMALL ENTERPRISE DEVELOPMENT CREDITS.

(a) FINDINGS AND POLICY.—The Congress finds and declares that—

"(1) the development of micro- and small enterprises is a vital factor in the stable growth of developing countries and in the development and stability of a free, open, and equitable international economic system; and

"(2) it is, therefore, in the best interests of the United States to assist the development of the micro- and small enterprises in developing countries and to engage the United States private sector in that process.

(b) PROGRAM.—To carry out the policy set forth in subsection (a), the President is authorized to provide assistance to increase the availability of credit to micro- and small enterprises lacking full access to credit, including through—

"(1) loans and guarantees to credit institutions for the purpose of expanding the availability of credit to micro- and small enterprises;

"(2) training programs for lenders in order to enable them to better meet the credit needs of microentrepreneurs; and

"(3) training programs for microentrepreneurs in order to enable them to make better use of credit and to better manage their enterprises.

(c) ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA.—The Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development shall establish criteria for determining which entities described in subsection (b) are eligible to carry out activities, with respect to micro- and small enterprises, assisted under this section. Such criteria may include the following:

"(1) The extent to which the recipients of credit from the entity do not have access to the local formal financial sector;

"(2) The extent to which the recipients of credit from the entity are among the poorest people in the country.

"(3) The extent to which the entity is oriented toward working directly with poor women;

"(4) The extent to which the entity recovers its cost of lending to the poor.

"(5) The extent to which the entity implements a plan to become financially sustainable.

"(d) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—Assistance provided under this section may only be used to support micro- and small enterprise programs and may not be used to support programs not directly related to the purposes described in paragraphs (1) through (5) thereof.

"(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—(A) There are authorized to be appropriated $3,500,000 for each of the fiscal years 2000 and 2001 to carry out this section.

"(B) Amounts authorized to be appropriated under subparagraph (A) shall be made available for the purposes described in subsection (d).

"(2) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Amounts authorized under this subparagraph (A) are in addition to amounts otherwise available to carry out this section.

SEC. 6. MICROFINANCE LOAN FACILITY.

Chapter I of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2151 et seq.) is amended by adding the following new section:

"SEC. 132. UNITED STATES MICROFINANCE LOAN FACILITY.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development is authorized to establish a United States Microfinance Loan Facility (hereinafter in this section referred to as the 'Facility') to pool and manage the resources of United States-sponsored microfinance institutions. Such resources shall be contributed by the United States Agency for International Development (the 'United States Agency') and any other Federal entity approved for contributions by the United States Agency.

(b) GOALS.—The purpose of the Facility is to make disbursements from the Facility to United States-sponsored microfinance institutions to support microfinance activities.

(c) ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA.—The Administrator shall establish criteria for determining which United States-sponsored microfinance institutions are eligible for assistance from the Facility.

(d) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—Assistance provided under this section is in addition to amounts otherwise available to carry out this section.

SEC. 7. REPORT RELATING TO FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OF MICROFINANCE INSTITUTIONS.

(a) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall transmit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the most cost-effective methods for increasing the access of poor people to credit, other financial services, and related training.

(b) CONTENTS.—The report described in subsection (a) should include the President's views on the most cost-effective methods for increasing the access of poor people to credit, other financial services, and related training.

(c) DEDUCTION.—The amounts made available under paragraph (a) shall be in addition to amounts otherwise available to carry out this Act.
Congressional Record—Senate
July 29, 1999

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY, WILL JOINTLY DEVELOP A COMPREHENSIVE STRATEGY FOR ADVANCING THE GLOBAL MICROENTERPRISE SECTOR IN A WAY THAT MAINTAINS MARKET PRINCIPLES WHILE ASSURING THAT THE VERY POOR, PARTICULARLY WOMEN, OBTAIN ACCESS TO FINANCIAL SERVICES; AND

(2) SHALL PROVIDE GUIDELINES AND RECOMMENDATIONS FOR:

(A) INSTRUMENTS TO ASSIST MICROENTERPRISE NETWORKS TO DEVELOP MULTI-COUNTRY AND REGIONAL MICROLENDING PROGRAMS;

(B) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE TO FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS AND OTHER KEY MICROFINANCE INSTITUTIONS TO IMPROVE THE POLICY ENVIRONMENT AND TO STRENGTHEN THE CAPACITY OF SUPERVISORY BODIES TO SUPERVISE MICROCREDIT INSTITUTIONS;

(C) THE POTENTIAL FOR FEDERAL CHARTERING OF UNITED STATES-BASED INTERNATIONAL MICROFINANCE NETWORK INSTITUTIONS, INCLUDING PROPOSED LEGISLATION;

(D) INSTRUMENTS TO INCREASE INVESTOR CONFIDENCE IN MICROCREDIT INSTITUTIONS WHICH WOULD STRENGTHEN THE LONG-TERM FINANCIAL POSITION OF MICROCREDIT INSTITUTIONS AND ATTRACT CAPITAL FROM PRIVATE SECTOR ENTITIES AND INDIVIDUALS, SUCH AS A RATING SYSTEM FOR MICROCREDIT INSTITUTIONS AND LOCAL CREDIT BUSINESSES;

(E) AN AGENDA FOR INTEGRATING MICROFINANCE INTO UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY INITIATIVES SEEKING TO DEVELOP AND STRENGTHEN THE GLOBAL FINANCIAL SECTOR;

(F) INNOVATIVE INSTRUMENTS TO ATTRACT FUNDS FROM THE CAPITAL MARKETS, SUCH AS INSTRUMENTS FOR LENDING FUNDS FROM THE LOCAL COMMERCIAL BANKING SECTOR, AND THE SECURITIZATION OF MICROLOAN PORTFOLIOS.

(C) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES DEFINED. IN THIS SECTION, THE TERM ‘APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES’ MEANS THE COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND THE COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN RELATIONS OF THE SENATE.

SEC. 8. UNITED STATES AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AS GLOBAL LEADER AND COORDINATOR OF BILATERAL AND MULTILATERAL MICROENTERPRISE ASSISTANCE ACTIVITIES.

(A) FINDINGS AND POLICY. THE CONGRESS FINDS AND DECLARES THAT—

(1) THE UNITED STATES CAN PROVIDE LEADERSHIP TO OTHER BILATERAL AND MULTILATERAL DEVELOPMENT AGENCIES AS SUCH AGENCIES EXPAND THEIR SUPPORT TO THE MICROENTERPRISE SECTOR; AND

(2) THE UNITED STATES SHOULD SEEK TO IMPROVE COORDINATION AMONG G-7 COUNTRIES IN THE SUPPORT OF THE MICROENTERPRISE SECTOR IN ORDER TO LEVERAGE THE INVESTMENT OF THE UNITED STATES WITH THAT OF OTHER DONOR NATIONS.

(B) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS. IT IS THE SENSE OF THE CONGRESS THAT—

(1) THE ADMINISTRATOR OF THE UNITED STATES AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND THE SECRETARY OF STATE SHOULD SEEK TO SUPPORT AND STRENGTHEN THE EFFECTIVENESS OF MICROFINANCE ACTIVITIES IN UNITED NATIONS AGENCIES, SUCH AS THE INTERNATIONAL FUND FOR AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT (IFAD) AND THE UNITED NATIONS DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (UNDP), WHICH HAVE PROVIDED KEY LEADERSHIP IN DEVELOPING THE MICROENTERPRISE SECTOR; AND

(2) THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY SHOULD INSTRUCT EACH UNITED STATES EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE MULTILATERAL DEVELOPMENT BANKS (MDBS) TO ADVOCATE THE DEVELOPMENT OF A COHERENT STRATEGY TO SUPPORT THE MICROENTERPRISE SECTOR AND AN INCREASE OF MULTILATERAL RESOURCE FLOWS FOR THE PURPOSES OF BUILDING MICROENTERPRISE RETAIL AND WHOLESALE INTERMEDIARIES.

By Mr. HAGEL (for himself, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. ROBERTS, Ms. LANDRIEU, Mr. HUTCHINSON, Mr. COCHRAN, Mr. GRAMS, Mr. ABRAHAM, Mr. SMITH of Oregon, Mr. HOLLINGS, Mr. CRAIG, Mr. GOUTON, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. CRAPO, Mr. BURNS, Mr. FRIST, Mr. BREAUX, Mr. ASHCROFT, Mr. COVERDELL, Mr. HELMS, and Mr. LOTT):

S. 1464. A BILL TO AMEND THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT TO ESTABLISH CERTAIN REQUIREMENTS REGARDING THE FOOD QUALITY PROTECTION ACT OF 1996, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES; TO THE COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE, NUTRITION, AND FORESTRY.

REGULATORY OPENNESS AND FAIRNESS ACT OF 1999

Mr. HAGEL, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 1464

BE IT ENACTED BY THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA IN CONGRESS ASSEMBLED,

SEC. 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

(a) SHORT TITLE. THIS ACT MAY BE CITED AS THE “REGULATORY OPENNESS AND FAIRNESS ACT OF 1999.”

(b) TABLE OF CONTENTS. THE TABLE OF CONTENTS OF THIS ACT IS AS FOLLOWS:

Sec. 1. Short title; table of contents.
Sec. 2. Findings.

TITLE I—ISSUANCE AND CONTINUATION OF TOLERANCES

Sec. 101. Transition analysis and description of basis for decisions relating to tolerance reviews.
Sec. 102. Interim procedures for reviews of tolerances.
Sec. 103. Implementation rules and guidance.
Sec. 104. Data in support of tolerances and registration.
Sec. 105. Tolerances for emergency uses.

TITLE II—STUDIES AND REPORTS

Sec. 201. Definitions.
Sec. 202. Priorities and resources.
Sec. 203. International trade effects.
Sec. 204. Advisory committee.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

1. THE FOOD QUALITY PROTECTION ACT OF 1996 (PUBLIC LAW 94-170, 104 STAT. 1490) ENACTED ON AUGUST 3, 1996, MADE MANY MAJOR MODIFICATIONS TO SECTION 408 OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT (21 U.S.C. 346a) THAT REQUIRE THE ADMINISTRATOR OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY TO CONSIDER NEW KINDS OF INFORMATION AND USE ADDITIONAL CRITERIA IN REGULATING PESTICIDE CHEMICAL RESIDUES AND IN REVISING TOLERANCES FOR PEANUTS AND OTHER FOOD ITEMS CONTAINING RESIDUALS FROM FOOD ITEMS CONTAINING RESIDUALS FROM PESTICIDE CHEMICAL RESIDUES THAT HAD PREVIOUSLY BEEN FOUND TO BE ADEQUATE TO PROTECT THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

2. IMPLEMENTATIONS MADE BY THE FOOD QUALITY PROTECTION ACT OF 1996 PRESCRIBE THE USE OF A NUMBER OF NEW RISK ASSESSMENT CRITERIA THAT REQUIRE THE DEVELOPMENT OF MAJOR MODIFICATIONS TO REGULATORY POLICIES AND PROCEEDURES USED BY THE ADMINISTRATOR TO REGULATE PESTICIDE CHEMICAL RESIDUES.

3. SINCE THE ENACTMENT OF THE FOOD QUALITY PROTECTION ACT OF 1996, IT HAS BECOME CLEAR THAT SEVERAL OF THE NEW CONCEPTS EMBODIED IN THAT ACT INVOLVE A HIGH DEGREE OF COMPLEXITY.

4. PRACTICAL IMPLEMENTATION OF THE CONCEPTS DEMANDS NEW SCIENTIFIC TOOLS IN ADDITION TO THE TOOLS THAT WERE AVAILABLE WHEN THE FOOD QUALITY PROTECTION ACT OF 1996 WAS ENACTED.

5. TO REACH SOUND, SUITABLY PROTECTIVE DECISIONS ON TOLERANCE REVIEWS UNDER THE NEW CRITERIA, THE ADMINISTRATOR ALSO WILL NEED A GRAY AREA TO DEVELOP NEW DATA, ESPECIALLY ON THE NEWLY CONSIDERED NONDIETARY ROUTES OF EXPOSURE, BUT ALSO, IN SOME CASES, ON DIETARY EXPOSURE AND TOXICITY, SO THAT THE ADMINISTRATOR CAN DETERMINE WHETHER PESTICIDE CHEMICAL RESIDUES THAT WERE FOUND SAFE UNDER THE FORMER CRITERIA SATISFY THE NEW CRITERIA AS WELL.

6. SOME DATA COLLECTION EFFORTS ARE UNDERWAY TO OBTAIN NEW DATA FOR TOLERANCE REVIEWS, BUT WILL NOT YIELD RESULTS FOR 1 OR MORE YEARS.

7. IN SOME AREAS, THE NEED FOR NEW DATA AND DECISIONS FACING THE ADMINISTRATOR ABOUT WHAT KINDS OF TESTS SHOULD BE CONDUCTED AND WHICH COMPOUNDS SHOULD BE TESTED, FOR TOLERANCE REVIEWS.

8. THE ADMINISTRATOR HAS CONDUCTED PUBLIC PROCEEDINGS, RELATING TO THE REGULATIONS AND TOLERANCE REVIEWS, ON SUCH TOPICS AS WHAT NEW INTERPRETATIONS AND POLICIES ARE NEEDED, WHAT NEW KINDS OF DATA ARE NEEDED, HOW THE NEW DATA WOULD BE USED, AND HOW THE NEEDED REGULATORY TRANSITION CAN BE ACHIEVED.

9. THESE PROCEEDINGS ARE NOT YET FINISHED, AND ON SOME ISSUES PUBLIC NOTICE AND COMMENT PROCEEDINGS HAVE BEEN SCHEDULED BUT HAVE NOT YET BEGUN.

10. THE FOOD QUALITY PROTECTION ACT OF 1996 AMENDED THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT (21 U.S.C. 301 ET SEQ.) BY ADDING SEVERAL PROVISIONS THAT PROVIDE FLEXIBILITY TO THE ADMINISTRATOR IN MAKING THE TRANSITION TO THE NEW APPROACH TO REGULATING PESTICIDE CHEMICAL RESIDUES.

11. THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT ALLOWS A CONTINUING PROCESS OF RISK ASSESSMENT AND IMPROVEMENT IN TOLERANCE DECISION-MAKING, AS ADDITIONAL INFORMATION IS COLLECTED AND AS NEW POLICIES AND METHODS ARE DEVELOPED AND ADOPTED FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW REQUIREMENTS IN THAT ACT.

12. THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT PROVIDES THAT THE DATA REQUIREMENTS FOR TOLERANCES MUST BE SET OUT CLEARLY IN REGULATIONS AND GUIDELINES, SO THAT THE REGULATED COMMUNITY WILL KNOW WHAT KINDS OF INFORMATION THE ADMINISTRATOR REQUIRES AND WHAT TESTING PROCEDURES SHOULD BE USED TO DEVELOP THE INFORMATION.

13. AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE FOOD QUALITY PROTECTION ACT OF 1996 RELATING TO RISK ASSESSMENTS AFFECTING TOLERANCES ALLOW ONLY THE USE OF RELIABLE INFORMATION REGARDING NONDIETARY EXPOSURE ROUTES, WHICH WERE NOT PREVIOUSLY CONSIDERED IN RISK ASSESSMENTS AFFECTING TOLERANCES.

14. CONGRESS DID NOT ANTICIPATE THAT A TOLERANCE WOULD BE REVOKED BECAUSE OF RELIANCE ON ASSUMPTIONS STEMMING FROM ABSENCE OF THAT INFORMATION, WITHOUT FIRST PROVIDING NOTICE OF WHAT INFORMATION IS NEEDED AND A REASONABLE OPPORTUNITY TO COLLECT THE INFORMATION.

15. WHEN A TOLERANCE IS UNDER REVIEW AND THE ADMINISTRATOR DETERMINES THAT ADDITIONAL INFORMATION IS NEEDED TO SUPPORT THE REVOCATION OF THE TOLERANCE, THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT AUTHORIZES THE ADMINISTRATOR TO POSTPONE THE EFFECTIVE DATE.
of any tolerance rule resulting from the review, analysis, or derivation of the margin of safety can be utilized as apposite in cases in which additional information is pertinent to a tolerance review.

(G) The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act permits the Administrator to conduct a re-tolerance rule that would allow the available, reliable information.

(6) (A) Although the authorities described in subparagraphs (F) and (G) of paragraph (5) already are provided by law, it appears that further congressional guidance is needed to ensure that decisions of the Administrator relating to reviews are reasonable, well supported, and balanced, and to avoid disruptions in agriculture, other sectors of the economy, and international trade.

(B) During the transition to revised standard-procedures, and requirements for the regulation of pesticide chemical residues, the Administrator must ensure that decisions are balanced, reasonable, and understandable, and are based on and supported by sound information, in order to avoid unnecessary disruptions in agriculture, the economy, and trade, and to maintain the public trust in the food supply.

(7) Unless the Administrator implements section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (28 U.S.C. 346a) it will be unreasonably difficult to fully, opportunely, and fully, decisions made under that section could cause great harm to—

(A) the safe and affordable food supply of the United States;

(B) the agricultural system of the United States (including food, fiber, nursery, and forestry production, food storage, and transportation); and

(C) related industries; and

(D) other private and public sector activities, such as—

(i) public health protection against bacteria and other microorganisms;

(ii) control of insects and diseases; and

(iii) residential and business pest control.
“(II) any policy that the Administrator may adopt to implement section 4 of any revaluation of that policy that is being conducted or is scheduled to be conducted.

“(4) DEFINITION.—In this subsection and subsection (b) the term ‘tolerance’ has the meaning given in the term in section 201 of the Regulatory Openness and Fairness Act of 1999.”.

SEC. 102. INTERIM PROCEDURES FOR REVIEWS OF TOLERANCES.

Section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended by section 101, is further amended by adding at the end the following:

“(u) INTERIM PROCEDURES FOR REVIEWS OF TOLERANCES.—

“(1) APPLICATION OF REQUIREMENTS TO CERTAIN ACTIONS.—This subsection applies to—

“(A) any review (including a reassessment) by the Administrator of a tolerance, whether initiated by the Administrator or by petition by another person; and

“(B) any review (including a reassessment) by the Administrator of a tolerance for a pesticide chemical under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (7 U.S.C. 136 et seq.) that is associated with or results from a tolerances review conducted under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (7 U.S.C. 346a) or for which the Administrator determines that the Administrator issues during the period described in paragraph (2).

“(2) PERIOD OF APPLICABILITY.—The period referred to in paragraph (1) is the period beginning on January 1, 1999, and ending on the date of completion of the process of reviewing tolerances under subsection (q).

“(3) LIMITATION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law—

“(A) if the Administrator determines that, in the opinion of the Administrator, is likely to provide an effective and economic alternative to the use of a pesticide that has been or is likely to be removed from the market as a result of a review conducted under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (7 U.S.C. 346a); and

“(B) in any review (including a reassessment) to which this subsection applies, the Administrator may not base the revocation or denial of, or other adverse action regarding, a tolerance on any information, calculation, or assumption described in subsection (1)(C); and

“(ii) for which—

“(I) there is no registered effective and economic alternative (as of the date of submission of the application); or “(II) the number of the alternatives is insufficient to avoid problems such as pest resistance.

“(1) by inserting before the first sentence the following:

“(A) IN GENERAL.—

“(B) PROCEDURE.—

“(2) to perform tolerance reviews (including emergency exemptions) under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (7 U.S.C. 346a); and

“(3) by inserting before the third sentence the following:

“(A) in general.

“(B) procedure.

“(4) in the fifth sentence, by striking the period and inserting ‘‘; except as described in subparagraph (D).’’; and

“(5) by adding at the end the following:

“(D) emergency exemptions.—The Administrator may establish a tolerance for a pesticide chemical residue associated with an emergency exemption without regard to the pesticide chemical residue and before reviewing those other tolerances, if the Administrator determines that any incremental exposure that may result from the emergency exemption will not pose any significant risk to food consumers.”.

TITLE II—STUDIES AND REPORTS

SEC. 201. DEFINITIONS.

In this title:

“(1) ADMINISTRATOR.—The term ‘Administrator’ means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

“(2) PESTICIDE CHEMICAL, PESTICIDE CHEMICAL RESIDUE.—The term ‘pesticide chemical’ and ‘pesticide chemical residue’ have the meanings given in the terms in section 201 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 346a).

“(3) SECRETARY.—The term ‘Secretary’ means the Secretary of Agriculture.

“(4) TOLERANCE.—The term ‘tolerance’ means a tolerance for a pesticide chemical residue or an exemption from the requirement of such a tolerance, established under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 346a).

SEC. 202. PRIORITIES AND RESOURCES.

“(a) ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY PROVISION.—The Administrator shall prepare a proposal for revising the priorities of and resources available to the Administrator that will allow the Administrator—

“(1) to process promptly all—

“(A) applications for registration of pesticide chemicals under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (7 U.S.C. 136 et seq.);

“(B) petitions for tolerances (including exemptions) under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 346a); and

“(C) requests for experimental use permits, for approval of new inert ingredients, and for emergency exemptions, relating to pesticide chemicals under an Act described in subparagraph (A), (B), or (C) above, or any Act referred to in section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 346a); and

“(2) to perform tolerance reviews (including reassessments) and other duties relating to pesticide chemicals, as required by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act or the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act.

“(1) by striking ‘‘tolerance or exemption—’’ and inserting ‘‘tolerance or exemption—’’; and

“(2) by striking ‘‘proposed rules and guidance, including guidance regarding implementation of the registration of a pesticide under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act; or’’; and

“(3) by adding at the end the following:

“[nadp] (ii) that is needed in connection with an application for registration under section 4 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (7 U.S.C. 136a(c)(3)(E)) for approval of an effective and economic alternative.”.
(b) DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE PROPOSAL.—The Secretary shall prepare a proposal for revising the priorities of and resources available to the Secretary that will allow the Secretary—

(1) to obtain, provide to the Administrator adequate and timely information on food consumption, pesticide chemical residues in or on food and drinking water, and pesticide-related user costs; and

(2) to review actions proposed by the Administrator under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act; and

(c) REPORT.—The Administrator and the Secretary shall prepare and submit to Congress a report containing the proposals described in subsections (a) and (b) not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 203. INTERNATIONAL TRADE EFFECTS.

(a) ASSESSMENT.—

(1) ASSESSMENT PROGRAM.—The Secretary shall establish and administer a program to continuously strengthen the international competitiveness of United States agricultural commodities and products in the international marketplace. The commodities and products assessed shall include major exportables, corn, wheat, rice, soybeans, and nursery and forest products.

(2) FACTORS.—In carrying out paragraph (1), the Secretary shall examine factors pertinent to the assessment of sustainable and competitive strength of each commodity and product in the international marketplace and the factors that the Secretary determines to be significant in the actions taken under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act. The factors examined for each commodity and product shall include commodity changes, regional changes, prices, quality, input costs and availability, and the ratio of imports to exports.

(b) REPORT.—The Secretary shall prepare periodic reports describing the results obtained from the assessment program conducted under subsection (a). The Secretary shall submit the reports to the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate. The Secretary shall submit the reports not later than October 1, 2000, and October 1 of every second year thereafter through 2010.

SEC. 204. ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established an advisory committee to be known as the Pesticide Advisory Committee (referred to in this section as the “Advisory Committee”).

(b) MEMBERSHIP.—

(1) COMPOSITION.—The Advisory Committee shall be composed of 20 members, appointed by the Administrator and the Secretary. The members of the Advisory Committee shall represent a variety of interests and viewpoints and shall be appointed from among individuals who are representatives of organizations who are interested in the regulation of pesticide chemicals, including representatives of—

(A) organizations that represent—

(i) food consumers;

(ii) organizations with special interest in environmental protection;

(iii) farmworkers;

(iv) agricultural producers (including persons engaged in cotton production, livestock and poultry production, or nursery and forestry production); and

(v) nonagricultural pesticide chemical users;

(vi) food manufacturers and processors;

(vii) food distributors and marketers; and

(viii) manufacturers of agricultural and nonagricultural pesticide chemicals; and

(B) Federal agencies.

(2) PUBLICATION.—The Administrator shall publish in the Federal Register the name, address, and professional affiliation of each member of the Advisory Committee.

(3) TERMS OF APPOINTMENT.—Each member of the Advisory Committee shall serve for a term of years determined by the Administrator and the Secretary, except that—

(A) the terms of service of the members initially appointed shall be as specified by the Administrator and the Secretary for such fewer number of years as will provide for the expiration of terms on a staggered basis;

(B) a member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which a predecessor was appointed, shall be appointed for the remainder of the term; and

(C) the Secretary and the Administrator may extend the term of a member of the Advisory Committee until a new member is appointed to fill the vacancy.

(4) VACANCIES.—Any vacancy occurring in the membership of the Advisory Committee shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment. The vacancy shall not affect the power of the remaining members to execute the duties of the Advisory Committee.

(c) DUTIES.—The Advisory Committee shall—

(1) provide advice to the Administrator and the Secretary on matters related to implementation of section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 346a) and the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (7 U.S.C. 136 et seq.), including proposed and final rules, policies, procedures, and testing guidelines used to regulate tolerances and pesticide chemical registrations;

(2) foster communication between the Administrator, the Secretary, and the various organizations who represent persons having particular interest in the regulation of pesticide chemicals under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act; and

(3) carry out the functions performed by the Tolerance Reassessment Advisory Committee.

(d) MEETINGS.—

(1) FREQUENCY.—The Advisory Committee shall meet at least 2 times per year, at times determined jointly by the Administrator and the Secretary. Not later than 14 days before the date of each meeting, the Administrator shall publish in the Federal Register a notice regarding the meeting.

(2) OPEN MEETINGS.—The Advisory Committee shall conduct its principal business—

(A) in meetings that are—

(i) open to the public; and

(ii) in facilities that can accommodate the reasonably foreseeable number of persons attending; or

(B) by teleconference, with open access.

(3) FACILITIES.—The Secretary shall—

(A) in meetings that are—

(i) PERMANENT COMMITTEE.—Section 14 of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (5 U.S.C. App.) shall not apply to the Advisory Committee.

By Mr. THOMPSON (for himself and Mr. ASHCROFT):
S. 1468. A bill to amend chapter 8 of title 5, United States Code, to provide for congressional review of rules establishing or increasing taxes; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

TAXPAYER’S DEFENSE ACT OF 1999

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, today I rise to introduce the Taxpayer’s Defense Act of 1999. I am pleased to be working with my good friend from Missouri, JOHN ASHCROFT, who has been a leader on this issue in the Senate. I also want to thank Chair-
America was founded on the principle that there should be no taxation without representation. In The Second Treatise of Government, John Locke wrote: “[I]f any one shall claim a power to lay and levy taxes on the people without consent of the people, he thereby subverts the end of government.” Consent, according to Locke, should be given by the liberty of the people, “either by themselves or their representatives chosen by them.” The Boston Tea Party celebrated Americans’ opposition to taxation without representation. And the Declaration of Independence listed, among the despotic acts of King George, his “imposing Taxes on us without our Consent.” First among the powers that the Constitution gave to the Congress, our new government’s representative branch, was the power to levy taxes.

The logic of allowing only Congress to establish federal taxes is clear: Congress considers and weighs the economic and social issues that rise to national importance. While any agency or government office may view its own priorities as paramount, only Congress can decide which goals of the people merit spending hard-earned taxpayer dollars. Only Congress can determine how many taxpayer dollars should be spent. Congress’ decisions are made through an open political process that the public can see and participate in. And if the public is unhappy with a tax, they can hold Congress and the President responsible on election day.

The accountability of lawmakers is a core feature of our representative democracy. But over time, Congress has delegated more and more of its legislative authority to unaccountable federal agencies. The Taxpayer’s Defense Act would help restore this constitutional balance and authority by requiring congressional approval for a rule that sets or raises a tax before the rule could take effect. Unelected agency officials could not directly establish or raise a tax, but would still have a chance to advance their proposals through an open political process in Congress.

Few would publicly dispute the American principle of no taxation without representation. But increasingly, in ways often subtle or hidden, federal agencies are taking on—or receiving from Congress—the power to tax. Federal agency taxes pass the costs of government programs on to American consumers in the form of higher prices. These secret taxes often are regressive—hitting many who struggle to get by. They also put a drag on the economy. These taxes take money from everyone, and they are imposed without accountability.

One of the many federal taxes is the Federal Communications Commission’s Universal Service Tax. “Universal service” is the idea that everyone should have access to affordable telecommunications services. It originated at the beginning of the century when the nation was still being strung with telephone wires. The Telecommunications Act of 1996 included provisions that allowed the FCC to extend universal service, ensuring that telecommunications are available to all areas of the country, and that institutions benefit the community, such as schools, libraries, and rural health care facilities.

Most importantly, the Act gave the FCC the power to decide the level of “contributions”—taxes—that telecommunications providers would have to pay to support universal service. The FCC must determine how much can be collected in taxes to subsidize a more universal service spending programs. It charges telecommunications providers, who pass the costs on to consumers in the form of higher telephone bills. The FCC recently nearly doubled the tax to $2.5 billion per year, and it has projected a rise to $10 billion per year. This agency tax is already out of control.

The FCC’s provisions for universal service have many flaws. These include the three “administrative corporations” set by the FCC. The General Accounting Office determined that the establishment of these corporations was illegal, and the FCC has collapsed them into one, no-sale corporation. The head of one of these corporations was originally paid $200,000 per year—as much as the President of the United States.

It seems that the more you look, the more you find that a number of federal agencies have been given, or discovered on their own, the power of tax. Congress has given taxing authority to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Because these are not taxing authorities, we have less concern with them than others, but they are still taxes. And an important principle is at stake: no taxation within representation. The Constitution gives the taxing power only to Congress. In practice, we often see a direct correlation between an agency taxing and the agency overspending taxpayer dollars. Congress must retain the power and accountability of the purse.

More egregious examples are those where agencies have spontaneously discovered the power to tax. There’s the FCC’s telecommunications tax, and two new taxes, past and proposed, on Internet users. These include:

1. The Telecommunications Act of 1996 included provisions that allowed the FCC to extend universal service, ensuring that telecommunications are available to all areas of the country, and that institutions benefit the community, such as schools, libraries, and rural health care facilities.

2. The Telecommunications Act of 1996 included provisions that allowed the FCC to extend universal service, ensuring that telecommunications are available to all areas of the country, and that institutions benefit the community, such as schools, libraries, and rural health care facilities.

3. The Telecommunications Act of 1996 included provisions that allowed the FCC to extend universal service, ensuring that telecommunications are available to all areas of the country, and that institutions benefit the community, such as schools, libraries, and rural health care facilities.

4. The Telecommunications Act of 1996 included provisions that allowed the FCC to extend universal service, ensuring that telecommunications are available to all areas of the country, and that institutions benefit the community, such as schools, libraries, and rural health care facilities.

The burden of this activity falls, of course, on the American taxpayer, whose money is being taken, laundered through the Washington bureaucracy, and returned (in dramatically reduced amounts) for purposes set by unelected agency staffers. This is why we must require the FCC, and all agencies, to get the approval of Congress before setting future tax rates.

Some of my colleagues may question why Congress should shoulder the responsibility for taxes. Let me just note that in a recent fee-dispute case, the FCC argued, amazingly, that it had the unreviewable power to raise taxes. As the Court of Appeals put it: (A)ccording to counsel, the Commission could impose a tax on an unregulated railroad or a tax on an individual for eating ice cream . . . . This is a preposterous position, one that we will not countenance. As this court [has] said . . . . “it goes without saying that the bald assertion of power by [an] agency cannot legitimize it. Unable to link its assertion of authority to any statutory provision, the [FCC’s] position in this case amounts to bare assertion of plenary authority to act within a given area simply because Congress has endowed it with some authority to act in that area. We categorically reject that suggestion.”—Comsat Corporation v. FCC, 114 F. 3d 223, 227 (D.C. Cir. 1997) (citations omitted).

Should tax dollars be used for federal programs? What amounts? Should Americans spend what they don’t need on their own, locally determined priorities or on those that benefit the community? Requiring Congress to review agency taxes would answer this question.

This legislation would create a new subchapter within the Congressional Review Act for mandatory review of certain rules. The portion of any agency rule that establishes or raises a tax would have to be submitted to Congress and receive the approval of Congress and receive the approval of Congress and receive the approval of Congress and receive the approval of Congress. If the agency could put it into effect, the Act would allow the agencies to formulate tax proposals for Congress to consider under existing rulemaking procedures. It is a version of a bill introduced last Congress by Chairman Gekas in the House and John Ashcroft in the Senate.

Once submitted to Congress, a bill noting the taxing portion of a regulation would be introduced (by request) in each House of Congress by the Majority Leader. The bill would then be subject to expedited procedures, allowing a prompt decision on whether or not the agency may put the rule into effect. The rule could take effect once it was approved by both Houses of Congress and signed by the President. If the rule were approved, the agency would retain power to reverse the regulation, lower the amount of the tax, or take any otherwise legal actions with respect to the rule.

Mr. President, the rallying cry of “no taxation without representation” has been heard in America before, and now we are hearing it again. Congress must... not allow unelected bureaucrats determine the amount of taxes hardworking Americans are forced to pay. While preserving a needed flexibility, the Taxpayer’s Defense Act will allow elected officials alone to decide whether to raise taxes, and where to direct precious tax dollars.

I ask unanimous consent that a copy of the Taxpayer’s Defense Act be printed in the Record.

S. 1466
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SEC. 2. MANDATORY CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW.

Chapter 8 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by inserting after section 808 the following:

“SUBCHAPTER II—MANDATORY REVIEW OF CERTAIN RULES

“§815. Rules subject to mandatory congressional review

“(a) In this section, the term ‘tax’ means a non-penal, mandatory payment of money or its equivalent to the extent such payment does not compensate the Federal Government or other payee for a specific benefit conferred directly on the payer.

“(b) A rule that establishes or increases a tax, however denominated, shall not take effect before the date of the enactment of a bill described in section 816 and is not subject to review under subchapter I. This section does not apply to a rule promulgated under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

“§816. Agency submission

“Whenever an agency promulgates a rule subject to section 815, the agency shall submit to each House of Congress a report containing the text of only the part of the rule that causes the rule to be subject to section 815 and an explanation of that part. An agency shall submit such a report separately for each agency promulgates. The explanation shall consist of the concise general statement of the rule’s basis and purpose required under section 553 and such explanatory documents as are mandated by other statutory requirements.

“§817. Approval bill

“(a)(1) Not later than 3 legislative days after the date on which an agency submits a report under section 816, the Majority Leader of each House of Congress shall introduce by request a bill the matter under the enacting clause of which is as follows: ‘The following agency rule may take effect.’

“(2) The text submitted under section 817 shall be set forth after the colon. If such a bill is not introduced in a House of Congress as provided in the first sentence of this subsection, any Member of that House may introduce such a bill not later than 7 legislative days after the period for introduction by the Majority Leader.

“(b) A bill introduced under paragraph (1) shall be referred to the Committees in each House of Congress with jurisdiction over the subject matter of the rule involved.

“(c) After the committees of the House of Representatives to which a bill is referred shall report the bill without amendment, and with or without recommendation, not later than the 30th calendar day after the date of its introduction, if any committee fails to report the bill within that period, it is in order to move that the House disapprove the committee report without reconsideration of the bill. A motion to disapprove may be made only by a Member favoring the bill (but only at a time designated by the Speaker on the legislative day after the calendar day on which the motion is made). The motion is privileged.

“(d) After the committee of the opposite House has reported the bill, the Senate shall consider the bill or its amendment at any time thereafter to move to proceed to the consideration of a bill for the same special message received from the House of Representatives and place it on the calendar under subparagraph (B), strike all after the enacting clause, substitute the text of the Senate bill, agree to the Senate amendment, and vote on final disposition of the House bill, all without any intervening action or debate.

“(e) A motion to recommit a bill shall not be in order.

“(f) If the Senate has read for the third time a bill that originated in the Senate, the Senate shall be in order to take any action thereon at any time thereafter to move to proceed to the consideration of a bill for the same special message received from the House of Representatives placed on the calendar under subparagraph (B), strike all after the enacting clause, substitute the text of the Senate bill, agree to the Senate amendment, and vote on final disposition of the House bill, all without any intervening action or debate.

“(g) Consideration in the Senate of any motions, amendments, or appeals necessary to dispose of a message from the House of Representatives on a bill shall be limited to not more than 4 hours. Debate on each motion or amendment shall be limited to 30 minutes. At any appeal or point of order that is submitted in connection with the disposition of the House message shall be limited to 20 minutes. Any time for debate shall be equally divided and controlled by the proponents and the majority manager, unless the majority manager is a proponent of the motion, amendment, appeal, or point of order, in which case the minority manager shall be in control of the time in opposition.’

SEC. 3. TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.

(a) SUBCHAPTER HEADING.—Chapter 8 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by inserting before section 810 the following:

“SUBCHAPTER I—DISCRETIONARY CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW

“§815. Rules subject to mandatory congressional review.

“§816. Agency submission.

“§817. Approval bill.

(b) TABLE OF Sections.—The table of sections for chapter 8 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by inserting before the reference to section 810 the following:

“SUBCHAPTER I—MANDATORY REVIEW OF CERTAIN RULES

“§815. Rules subject to mandatory congressional review.

“§816. Agency submission.

“§817. Approval bill.

(c) Reference.—Section 804 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by striking ‘this chapter’ and inserting ‘this subchapter’.

ADDITIONAL COSPONSORS

S. 311
At the request of Mr. McCaIN, the name of the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. DASCHLE) was added as a cosponsor of S. 311, a bill to authorize the Disabled Veterans’ Life Memorial Foundation to establish a memorial in the District of Columbia or its environs, and for other purposes.

S. 429
At the request of Mr. Durbin, the name of the Senator from Indiana (Mr. BAYH) was added as a cosponsor of S. 429, a bill to designate the legal public holiday of “Washington’s Birthday” as “Presidents’ Day” in honor of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Franklin Roosevelt, and in recognition of the importance of the institution of the Presidency and the contributions that Presidents have made to the development of our Nation and the principles of freedom and democracy.

At the request of Mr. Breaux, the name of the Senator from Nevada (Mr. Reid) was added as a cosponsor of S. 469, a bill to encourage the timely development of a more cost effective United States commercial space transportation industry, and for other purposes.

S. 615

At the request of Mr. M. LIEBERMAN, the name of the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. LIEBERMAN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 770, a bill to provide for telehealth services, and for other purposes.

S. 1017

At the request of Mr. MACK, the name of the Senator from Kansas (Mr. ROBERTS) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1017, a bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to increase the State ceiling on the low-income housing credit.

S. 1041

At the request of Mr. FRIST, the name of the Senator from Maine (Ms. SNOWE) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1041, a bill to amend title 38, United States Code, to permit certain members of the Armed Forces not currently participating in the Montgomery GI Bill educational assistance program to participate in that program, and for other purposes.

S. 1172

At the request of Mr. TORRICELLI, the names of the Senator from Alabama (Mr. SHELBY), and the Senator from South Carolina (Mr. HOLLINGS) were added as cosponsors of S. 1172, a bill to provide a patent term restoration review procedure for certain drug products.

S. 1197

At the request of Mr. DORGAN, the names of the Senator from Idaho (Mr. CRAPO), and the Senator from Indiana (Mr. LUGAR) were added as cosponsors of S. 1197, a bill to require the Secretary of the Treasury to mint coins in commemoration of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, and for other purposes.

S. 1197

At the request of Mr. ROTH, the name of the Senator from California (Mrs. FEINSTEIN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1197, a bill to prohibit the importation of products made with dog or cat fur, to prohibit the sale, manufacture, offer for sale, transportation, and distribution of products made with dog or cat fur in the United States, and for other purposes.

S. 1211

At the request of Mr. BENNETT, the name of the Senator from Arizona (Mr. KYL) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1211, a bill to amend the Colorado River Basin Salinity Control Act to authorize additional measures to carry out the control of salinity upstream of Imperial Dam in a cost-effective manner.

S. 1304

At the request of Mr. AKAKA, the name of the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. LIEBERMAN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1334, a bill to amend chapter 63 of title 5, United States Code, to increase the amount of leave time available to a Federal employee in any year in connection with serving as an organ donor, and for other purposes.

S. 1414

At the request of Mr. MACK, the names of the Senator from North Carolina (Mr. HELMS), the Senator from Tennessee (Mr. FEINSTEIN), and the Senator from California (Mrs. FEINSTEIN) were added as cosponsors of S. 1414, a bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to restore access to home health services covered under the medicare program, and to protect the medicare program from financial loss while preserving the due process rights of home health agencies.

S. 1429

At the request of Mr. KONI, his name was added as a cosponsor of S. 1429, a bill to amend the Controlled Substances Act and the Controlled Substances Import and Export Act relating to the manufacture, traffic, import, and export of amphetamine and methamphetamine, and for other purposes.

S. 1429

At the request of Mr. CAMPBELL, the name of the Senator from Maine (Ms. SNOWE) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1438, a bill to establish the National Law Enforcement Museum on Federal land in the District of Columbia.

At the request of Mr. HARKIN, the name of the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. KENNEDY) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1438, a bill to amend section 10102 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 regarding elementary school and secondary school counseling.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 9

At the request of Ms. SNOWE, the names of the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. LAUTENBERG) and the Senator from Wisconsin (Mr. FEINGOLD) were added as cosponsors of Senate Concurrent Resolution 9, a concurrent resolution calling for a United States effort to end restrictions on the freedoms and human rights of the enclave people in the occupied area of Cyprus.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 28

At the request of Mr. JEFFORDS, the names of the Senator from Georgia (Mr. CLELAND) and the Senator from North Dakota (Mr. CONRAD) were added as cosponsors of Senate Concurrent Resolution 28, a concurrent resolution urging the Congress and the President to increase funding for the Pell Grant Program and existing Campus-Based Aid Programs.

SENATE RESOLUTION 95

At the request of Mr. THURMOND, the name of the Senator from Wisconsin (Mr. FEINGOLD) was added as a cosponsor of Senate Resolution 95, a resolution designating August 16, 1999, as “National Airborne Day”.

18482

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

July 29, 1999
Ms. LANDRIEU submitted an amendment to be proposed by her to the bill, S. 1429, supra, as follows:

SEC. 192. EXPANSION DEPENDENT TO INCLUDE SPECIAL NEEDS ADOPTED CHILDREN.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 192 (relating to definition of dependent) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(f) SPECIAL RULE FOR SUPPORT RECEIVED FOR SPECIAL NEEDS ADOPTED CHILD.—For purposes of subsection (a), in the case of a legally adopted son or daughter of a taxpayer, who is a child with special needs (as defined in section 23(d)(3)), the support of the child received from funds under a Federal, State, or local program for special needs expenses shall be treated as received from the taxpayer.

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 192(a) is amended by striking ‘‘subsection (c) or (e)’’ and inserting ‘‘subsection (c), (e), or (f)’’.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

AMENDMENTS SUBMITTED

TAXPAYERS REFUND ACT OF 1999

STEVENS AMENDMENT NO. 1403

(Ordered to lie on the table)

Mr. STEVENS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill (S. 1429) to provide for reconciliation pursuant to section 104 of the concurrent resolution on the budget for fiscal year 2000.

At the request of Mr. StevEnS the names of the Senator from Washington (Ms. GOTON), the Senator from Maine (Ms. COLLINS), and the Senator from Ohio (Ms. Voinovich) were added as cosponsors of amendment No. 1398 proposed to S. 1429, supra.

At the request of Mr. ABRAHAMS the names of the Senator from Washington (Mr. GORTON), the Senator from Maine (Ms. COLLINS), and the Senator from Ohio (Mr. VOINOVICH) were added as cosponsors of amendment No. 1399 proposed to S. 1429, supra.

At the request of Mr. HAGEL his name was added as a cosponsor of amendment No. 1398 proposed to S. 1429, an original bill to provide for reconciliation pursuant to section 104 of the concurrent resolution on the budget for fiscal year 2000.

At the request of Mr. ABRAHAM the names of the Senator from Washington (Mr. GORTON), the Senator from Maine (Ms. COLLINS), and the Senator from Ohio (Mr. VOINOVICH) were added as cosponsors of amendment No. 1399 proposed to S. 1429, supra.
SEC. 201. MARRIAGE TAX PENALTY ELIMINATION.

(a) In General.—Subpart B of part II of subchapter A of chapter 61 (relating to income returns) is amended by inserting after section 6013 the following new section:

"SEC. 6013A. COMBINED RETURN WITH SEPARATE RATES.

"(a) General Rule.—A husband and wife may make a combined return of income taxes under subtitle A under which—

"(1) a separate taxable income is determined for each spouse by applying the rules provided in this section, and

"(2) the tax imposed by section 1 is the aggregate amount resulting from applying the separate rates set forth in section 1(c) to each such taxable income.

"(b) Determination of Taxable Income.—

"(1) In General.—For purposes of subsection (a)(1), the taxable income for each spouse shall be one-half of the taxable income computed as if the spouses were filing a joint return.

"(2) Nonfilers.—For purposes of paragraph (1), if an election is made not to itemize deductions for any taxable year, the basic standard deduction shall be equal to the amount which is twice the basic standard deduction under section 63(c)(2)(C) for the taxable year.

"(c) Treatment of Credits.—Credits shall be determined (and applied against the joint liability of the couple for tax) as if the spouses had filed a joint return.

"(d) Treatment as Joint Return.—Except as otherwise provided in this section or in the regulations prescribed hereunder, for purposes of this title (other than sections 1 and 63(c)(2)) a return under this section shall be treated as a joint return.

"(e) Regulations.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out this section.

(b) Unmarried Rate Made Applicable.—So much of subsection (c) of section 1 as precedes the period to which it is applied to read as follows—

"(c) Separate or Unmarried Return Rate.—There is hereby imposed on the taxable income of every individual (other than a married individual) for any taxable year under section 7703 filing a joint return or a separate return, a surviving spouse as defined in section 2(a), or a head of household as defined in section 2(b), a tax determined in accordance with the following table:

(1) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections for subpart B of part II of subchapter A of chapter 61 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 6013 the following:

"SEC: 6013A. Combined return with separate rates.

(d) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2006.

SEC. 202. REDUCTION IN MARRIAGE TAX PENALTY DURING TRANSITION.

(a) In General.—Subpart A of part IV of subchapter A of chapter 1 is amended by inserting after section 25A the following new section:

"SEC. 235B. CREDIT TO REDUCE MARRIAGE PENALTY.

"(a) Allowance of Credit.—In the case of a joint return for the taxable year, there shall be allowed as a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter for such taxable year an amount equal to the marriage penalty reduction for such year.

"(b) Credit Disallowed for Individuals Claiming Section 931, Etc.—No credit shall be allowed under this section for any taxable year if either spouse claims the benefits of section 931, 931a, or 933.

"(c) Marriage Penalty Reduction Credit.—For purposes of this section—

"(1) In General.—The marriage penalty reduction credit is an amount equal to the product of—

"(A) the excess (if any) of—

"(i) the amount of tax determined for such taxable year before the application of this section, over

"(ii) the amount of tax which would be determined for the taxable year if section 6013A (as added by section 201 of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999) were in effect, and

"(B) the applicable percentage for such taxable year.

"(2) Applicable Percentage.—For purposes of this subsection, the applicable percentage shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>For taxable years</th>
<th>The applicable percentage is:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2003, 2004, and 2005</td>
<td>50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006 and thereafter</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

"(3) Sunset Upon Implementation of Combined Return.—The credit allowed under this section shall not apply to any taxable year for which section 6013A (as added by section 201 of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999) is in effect.

"(d) Amount of Credit To Be Determined By Using Tables.

"(1) In General.—The amount of the credit allowed by this section shall be determined by using tables prescribed by the Secretary.

"(2) Requirements for Tables.—The tables prescribed under paragraph (1) shall reflect the provisions of subsection (c).

"(b) Clerical Amendment.—The table of sections for subpart B of part II of subchapter A of chapter 1 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 25A the following new item:

"Sec: 235B. Credit to reduce marriage penalty.

"(c) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 203. MARRIAGE TAX PENALTY RELIEF FOR EARNED INCOME.

(a) In General.—Paragraph (2) of section 32(b) (relating to percentages and amounts) is amended—

"(A) by striking "Amounts.—'' and inserting "Amounts.—\n
"(B) by striking "The earned'' and inserting "The earned''.

"(C) by striking at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(B) Joint Returns.—In the case of a joint return for taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004, the phaseout under subparagraph (A) shall be increased by $2,000.

"(d) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

TITLE III—DEATH TAX REPEAL

Subtitle A—Repeal of Estate, Gift, and Generation-Skipping Taxes; Repeal of Step Up in Basis at Death

SEC. 301. REPEAL OF ESTATE, GIFT, AND GENERATION-SKIPPING TAXES.

(a) In General.—Subtitle B is hereby repealed.

(b) Effective Date.—The repeal made by subsection (a) shall apply to the estates of decedents dying, and gifts and generation-skipping transfers made, after December 31, 2008.

SEC. 302. TERMINATION OF STEP UP IN BASIS AT DEATH.

(a) Termination of Application of Section 2031.—Section 2031(b)(1) (relating to basis of property acquired from a decedent) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(f) Termination.—In the case of a decedent dying after December 31, 2008, this section shall not apply to property for which basis is provided by section 1022.

"(b) Conforming Amendment.—Subsection (a) of section 1022 (relating to adjustments to basis) is amended by striking "and at the end of paragraph (26), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (27) and inserting ";

"(c) Sunset.—The amendments made by this section are effective for transfers made after December 31, 2008.

SEC. 303. CARRYOVER BASIS AT DEATH.

(a) General Rule.—Part II of subchapter O of chapter 1 (relating to basis rules of general application) is amended by redesignating section 1023 as section 1024 and inserting after section 1022 the following:

"(a) Carryover Basis.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, the basis of carryover basis property in the hands of a person acquiring such property from a decedent shall be determined under section 1015.

(b) Carryover Basis Property Defined.—

(1) In General.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘carryover basis property’ means any property—

(A) which is acquired from or passed from a decedent who died after December 31, 2008, and

(B) which is not excluded pursuant to paragraph (2).

(ii) Effective Date.—The property taken into account under subparagraph (A) shall be determined under section 1014(b) without regard to subparagraph (A) of the last sentence of paragraph (9) thereof.

Sec. 1023. Carryover Basis for Certain Property.

(a) In General.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘carryover basis property’ does not include—

(1) any item of gross income in respect of a decedent described in section 691.

(2) property which was acquired from the decedent by the surviving spouse of the decedent, the value of which would have been deductible from the value of the taxable estate of the decedent under section 2036, as in effect on the day before the date of enactment of this section, and

(3) any includible property of the decedent if the aggregate adjusted fair market value of such property does not exceed $2,000,000.

For purposes of this paragraph and paragraph (3), the term ‘adjusted fair market value’ means, with respect to any property, fair market value reduced by any indebtedness secured by such property.

(b) Carryover Basis for Certain Property Which Would Be Included in Decedent’s Estate For Purposes of This Section.—

(i) Section 1023. Carryover Basis for Certain Property.—The property included in the gross estate of a decedent shall be determined under section 2036, as in effect on the day before the date of enactment of this section:

(1) Section 1023. Carryover Basis for Certain Property.—Subparagraph (c) of section 2021(c)(2) is amended by inserting ‘‘(other than by reason of section 1023)’’ after ‘‘is determined’’.

(ii) Coordination With Section 1029.—Paragraph (3)(B) of section 1029(b) (relating to certain contributions of ordinary income and capital gain property) is amended by adding at the end the following: ‘‘For purposes of this paragraph, whether any property is a capital asset shall be made without regard to the exception contained in section 1223(3)(C) for basis determined under section 1023.’’

(c) Definition of Executive.—Section 7701(a) (relating to definitions) is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(147) Executor.—The term ‘executor’ means the executor or administrator of the decedent, or, if there is no executor or administrator appointed, qualified, and acting within the United States, then any person in actual or constructive possession of any property of the decedent.’’

(d) General Amendment.—The table of sections for part II of subchapter O of chapter 1 is amended by adding after the item relating to section 1022 the following new item:

‘‘Sec. 1023. Carryover basis for certain property acquired from a decedent dying after December 31, 2008.’’

(e) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section apply to estates of decedents dying after December 31, 2008.

Sec. 1024. Reductions of Estate and Gift Tax Rates Prior to Repeal.

(a) Maximum Taxable Estate Reduced to 50 Percent.—The table contained in section 2001(c)(1) is amended by striking the 2 highest brackets and inserting in their place:

Over $2,500,000.............. $1,025,800, plus 50% of the excess over $2,500,000.

(b) Repeal of Phaseout of Graduated Rates.—Subsection (c) of section 2001 is amended by striking paragraph (2).

(c) Additional Reductions of Rates of Tax.—Subsection (a) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

‘‘(2) Phaseout of Tax.—In the case of estates of decedents dying, and gifts made, during any calendar year after 2001 and before 2009, (A) In general.—Except as provided in subparagraph (C), the tentative tax under this subsection shall be determined by using a table prescribed by the Secretary (in lieu of using the table contained in paragraph (1)) which is the same as such table; except that—

(i) each of the rates of tax shall be reduced by the number of percentage points determined under subparagraph (B), and

(ii) the amounts setting forth the tax shall be adjusted to the extent necessary to reflect the adjustments under clause (i).’’

(d) Percentage Points of Reduction.—

(i) For calendar year: percentage points is:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Percentage Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2007</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2008</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2009</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2010</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2011</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2012</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2013</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2014</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(ii) shall not reduce the highest rate in any calendar year in which the decedent died, over the sum of—

(A) the aggregate amount allowed as an exemption under section 2521 with respect to gifts made by the decedent after December 31, 2008, and

(B) the aggregate amount of gifts made by the decedent for which credit was allowed by section 2505 (as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of this section).

Sec. 2521. Exemption

(a) In General.—For purposes of the tax imposed by section 2001, the value of the taxable estate shall be determined by deducting from the value of the gross estate an amount equal to the excess (if any) of—

(1) the exemption amount for the calendar year in which the decedent died, over

(2) the sum of—

(A) the aggregate amount allowed as an exemption under section 2521 with respect to gifts made by the decedent after December 31, 2008, and

(B) the aggregate amount of gifts made by the decedent for which credit was allowed by section 2505 (as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of this section).

Gifts which are includible in the gross estate of the decedent shall not be taken into account in determining the amounts under paragraph (2).

(b) Exemption Amount.—For purposes of subsection (a), the term ‘exemption amount’ means the amount determined in accordance with the following table:

For calendar year: percentage points is:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Percentage Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2001</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2007</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2008</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2009</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(2) Gift Tax.—Subchapter C of chapter 12 (relating to deductions) is amended by inserting before section 2622 the following new section:

Sec. 2521. Exemption.

(a) In General.—In computing taxable gifts for any calendar year, there shall be allowed as a deduction in the case of a citizen or resident of the United States an amount equal to the excess of—

(1) the exemption amount determined under section 2622 for such calendar year, over

(2) the sum of—

(A) the aggregate amount allowed as an exemption under this section for all preceding calendar years after 2000, and

(B) the aggregate amount of gifts for which credit was allowed by section 2560 (as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of this section).”
(b) REPEAL OF UNIFIED CREDITS.—(1) Section 2056, relating to unified credit against estate tax, is hereby repealed.

(2) Section 2505, relating to unified credit against gift tax, is hereby repealed.

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—(1) Paragraph (B) of section 2001(b)(1) is amended by inserting before the comma ‘‘reduction by the amount of described in section 2012(b)(1)’’.

(2) Subsection (b) of section 2001 is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: ‘‘For purposes of paragraph (2), the amount allocable under chapter 12 shall be determined without regard to the credit provided by section 2505 as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of section 2022.’’

(3) Subsection (a) of section 2012 is amended by striking ‘‘and the unified credit provided by section 2010’’.

(4) Subsection (b) of section 2013 is amended by inserting at the end the following new sentence: ‘‘(B) the percentage (if any) by which—

(ii) the sum of the taxable estate and the amount of the exemption allowed under section 2502 or 2106(a)(4) in computing the taxable estate’’.

(5) Subparagraph (A) of section 2013(c)(1) is amended by striking ‘‘2010’’.

(6) Paragraph (2) of section 2014(b) is amended by striking ‘‘2010’’.

(7) Clause (ii) of section 2056A(b)(12)(C) is amended to read as follows: ‘‘(ii) to treat any reduction in the tax imposed by paragraph (1)(A) by reason of the credit allowable under section 2010 (as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of section 2022) or the exemption allowable under section 2052 with respect to the decedent as a credit or exemption (as the case may be) allowable to such surviving spouse for purposes of determining the amount of the exemption allowable under section 2521 with respect to taxable gifts made during the period in which the spouse becomes a citizen or any subsequent year, ’’.

(8) Section 2102 is amended by striking subsection (d).

(9) Subsection (a) of section 2106 is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

‘‘(4) EXEMPTION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—An exemption of $60,000.

(B) RESIDENTS OF POSSESSIONS OF THE UNITED STATES.—In the case of a decedent who is considered to be a nonresident not a citizen of the United States under section 2209, the exemption under this paragraph shall be the greater of—

‘‘(1) $60,000, or

‘‘(2) that proportion of $175,000 which is the value of that part of the decedent’s gross estate which at the time of his death was situated in the United States bears to the value of his entire gross estate wherever situated. For purposes of the preceding sentence, property shall not be treated as if the United States is if such property is exempt from the tax imposed by this subchapter under any treaty obligation of the United States’’.

(10) Subsection (c) of section 2107 is amended—

(A) by striking paragraph (1) and by redesignating paragraphs (2) and (3) as paragraphs (1) and (2), respectively, and

(B) by striking the second sentence of paragraph (4) and inserting ‘‘(4) the amount of the tax for which the credit was so allowed.’’

(11) Subsection (c) of section 2107 is amended—

(A) by striking paragraph (1) and by redesignating paragraphs (2) and (3) as paragraphs (1) and (2), respectively, and

(B) by striking the second sentence of paragraph (4) and inserting ‘‘(4) the amount of the tax for which the credit was so allowed.’’

(12) Section 2107 is amended by striking ‘‘the taxable estate’’ in the first sentence and inserting ‘‘the sum of the taxable estate and the amount of the exemption allowed under section 2502 or 2106(a)(4) in computing the taxable estate’’.

(13) Subparagraph (B) of section 2207B(a)(1) is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(B) the sum of the taxable estate and the amount of the exemption allowed under section 2502 or 2106(a)(4) in computing the taxable estate’’.

(14) Subsection (a) of section 2503 is amended by striking ‘‘section 2202’’ and inserting ‘‘section 2521’’.

(15) Paragraph (1) of section 6018(a) is amended by striking ‘‘$600,000’’ and inserting ‘‘$5,000,000’’. This paragraph shall apply to the calendar year which includes the date of death.

(16) Subparagraph (A) of section 6021(j)(2) is amended in paragraph (1) to read as follows:

‘‘(A) the amount of the tax which would be imposed by chapter 11 on an amount of taxable estate equal to the excess of $1,000,000 over the exemption amount allowable under section 2502, or’’;

(17) The table of sections for part II of subchapter A of chapter 11 of the code is amended by striking the item relating to section 2505.

(18) The table of sections for subchapter A of chapter 12 is amended by striking the item relating to section 2505.

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section—

(1) in so far as they relate to the tax imposed by chapter 11 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, shall apply to estates of decedents dying after December 31, 2000, and

(2) in so far as they relate to the tax imposed by chapter 12 of such Code, shall apply to gifts made after December 31, 2000.

TITLE IV—CAPITAL FORMATION

SEC. 401. INDEXING OF CAPITAL ASSETS FOR PURPOSES OF DETERMINING GAIN OR LOSS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Part II of subchapter O of chapter 1 (relating to basis rules of general application) is amended by inserting after section 1221 the following new section:

"SEC. 1022. INDEXING OF CAPITAL ASSETS FOR PURPOSES OF DETERMINING GAIN OR LOSS.

"(a) GENERAL RULE.—

"(1) INDEXED BASIS SUBSTITUTED FOR ADJUSTED BASIS.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), if an indexed asset which has been held for more than 1 year is sold or otherwise disposed of, then, for purposes of this title, the indexed basis of the asset shall be substituted for its adjusted basis.

"(2) EXCEPTION FOR DEPRECIATION, DEPLETION, AND AMORTIZATION.—The deduction for depreciation, depletion, and amortization shall be determined without regard to the application of paragraph (1) to the taxpayer or any other person.

"(b) INDEXED ASSET.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘indexed asset’ means—

(A) stock in a corporation, and

(B) tangible property (or any interest therein), which is a capital asset or property used in the trade or business (as defined in section 1221(b))

"(2) CERTAIN PROPERTY EXCLUDED.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘indexed asset’ does not include—

(A) a credit or exemption (as defined in section 542),

(B) a personal holding company (as defined in section 542), and

(C) a foreign corporation.

"(3) EXCEPTION FOR STOCK IN FOREIGN CORPORATION WHICH IS PREVIOUSLY TRADED ON NATIONAL OR REGIONAL EXCHANGE.—Clause (iii) of paragraph (2)(E) shall not apply to stock in a foreign corporation the stock of which is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, the American Stock Exchange, or any domestic regional exchange for which quotations are published on a regular basis other than—

(A) a stock of a foreign investment company (within the meaning of section 1296(b), and

(B) stock in a foreign corporation held by a United States person who meets the requirements of section 1296(a)(2).

"(c) INDEXED BASIS.—For purposes of this section—

"(1) GENERAL RULE.—The indexed basis for any asset is—

(A) the adjusted basis of the asset, increased by—

(B) the applicable inflation adjustment.

"(2) APPLICABLE INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.—The applicable inflation adjustment for any asset shall be the amount by—

(A) the adjusted basis of the asset, multiplied by

(B) the percentage (if any) by which—

(iii) the chain-type price index for GDP for the last calendar quarter ending before the asset was disposed of, exceeds

(ii) the chain-type price index for GDP for the last calendar quarter ending before the asset was acquired by the taxpayer.

The percentage under subparagraph (B) shall be rounded to the nearest $\frac{1}{10}$ of 1 percentage point;

"(3) CHAIN-TYPE PRICE INDEX FOR GDP.—The chain-type price index for GDP for any
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE 18487

July 29, 1999

calendar quarter is such index for such quar-

eral for any calendar month determined after December 31, 1999, see section 1022(a)(1)."

(c) EFFECTIVE DATES.—(1) IN GENERAL.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to the disposition of any property the holding period of which begins after December 31, 1999.

(2) APPLICATIONS BETWEEN RELATED PERSONS.—The amendments made by this section shall not apply to the disposition of any property acquired after December 31, 1999, by an electing small business corporation in the case of an electing small business corporation, the adjustment under subsection (a) at the corporate level shall be passed through to the shareholders.

2.34.255.3.4.2.3.8.7.4.1.2.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1.1...
subsection (a) is made, the provisions of this section (a) shall be made not later than the date in a transaction—

(1) the date the property is no longer qualified timber property,

(2) the date the individual inherited the interest in the qualified timber property either transfers the interest to the transferee or

(3) the date which is 25 years after the date of death of the decedent.

(b) LIMITATION.—The maximum amount of tax which may be paid under this subsection shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the tax imposed by section 2001 on or before the date of death of the decedent as—

(1) the fair market value of the interest in the qualified timber property, bears to

(2) the adjusted gross estate of the decedent.

(c) DEFINITIONS AND SPECIAL RULES.—For purposes of this section—

(1) QUALIFIED TIMBER PROPERTY.—The term ‘qualified timber property’ means trees and any real property on which such trees are growing which is—

(A) located in the United States, and

(B) used in timber operations (as defined in section 2032A(a)(13)(C))

(2) ADJUSTED GROSS ESTATE.—The term, ‘adjusted gross estate’ means the value of the property described in subsection (a)(1) reduced by the sum of the amounts allowable as a deduction under section 2053 or 2054. Such sum shall be determined on the basis of the facts and circumstances in existence on the date (including extensions) for filing the return of tax imposed by section 2001 (or, if earlier, the date on which such return is filed).

(3) CERTAIN TRANSFERS AT DEATH OF HEIR DISBARRED.—Subsection (a)(2) shall not apply to any transfer by reason of death so long as such transfer is to a member of the family (within the meaning of section 267(c)(4)) of the transferor in such transfer.

(d) ELECTION.—Any election under subsection (a) shall be made not later than the time prescribed by section 6075(a) for filing the return of tax imposed by section 2001 (including extensions thereof), and shall be made in such manner as the Secretary shall prescribe. The provisions of paragraph (3) shall apply to transfers made after December 31, 2000.

(e) TIME FOR PAYMENT OF INTEREST.—If the time for payment of any amount of tax has been extended under this section, interest payable under section 6621 on any unpaid portion of such amount shall be paid at the time of the payment of the tax.
The image contains a page of text from a congressional record. The text appears to be a legislative proposal involving changes to the Internal Revenue Code, specifically addressing estate tax deferrals and related provisions. The text is dense and technical, with numerous references to other sections and subsections of the code, indicating a complex legislative debate on tax law adjustments. The content includes amendments to allow for longer deferral periods, additional tax credits, and adjustments to the calculation of gross income. The language is typical of legislative debate, involving legal terminology and detailed accounting procedures to ensure the proper implementation of tax policies.
physical impairment, or emotional handicap makes some form of adoption assistance necessary.'

(e) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—
(1) Subclauses (A) and (B) of section 223(d)(1), as redesignated by subsection (c), are amended to read as follows:

"(A) who has not attained age 18, or
"(B) who is physically or mentally incapable of caring for himself.'"

(2) Section 23 is amended by striking subsections (e) and (g) and redesignating subsections (f) and (h) as subsections (e) and (f), respectively.

(3) Section 33(f), as redesignated by paragraph (2), is amended to read as follows:

"(1) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as may be appropriate to carry out this section.

(4) Section 137(d) is amended by inserting "(as in effect on the date before the date of the enactment of the 'Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999') after "23(d)".

(5) Section 137(e) is amended by inserting "(as in effect on the date before the date of the enactment of the 'Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999') after "23".

(f) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

KENNEDY AMENDMENT NO. 1414
(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. KENNEDY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted, insert the following:

SEC. 1012. FIRST-TIME HOMEOWNER CREDIT FOR EMPowerMENT ZONES AND ENTERPRISE COMMUNITIES.

(a) In General.—Subchapter U of chapter 1 relating to the acquisition and treatment of empowerment zones, enterprise communities, and rural development investment areas is amended by redesignating part V as part V-I, by redesignating section 1397F as section 1397G, and by inserting after part IV the following new part:

"PART V—I-FIRST-TIME HOMEOWNER CREDIT

"Sec. 1397F. First-time homebuyer credit.

"Sec. 1397F. FIRST-TIME HOMEOWNER CREDIT.

"(a) ALLOWANCE OF CREDIT.—In the case of an individual who is a first-time homebuyer of a principal residence in an empowerment zone or an enterprise community during any taxable year, there shall be allowed as a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year an amount equal to so much of the purchase price of the residence as does not exceed $2,000.

(b) LIMITATION BASED ON MODIFIED ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME.—

"(1) In general.—The amount allowable as a credit under subsection (a) (determined without regard to this subsection) for any taxable year shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the amount which bears the same ratio to the credit so allowable as—

"(A) the excess (if any) of—

"(i) the taxpayer's modified adjusted gross income for such taxable year, over
"(ii) $70,000 ($110,000 in the case of a joint return), bears to

"(B) $20,000.

"(2) MODIFIED ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME.—

For purposes of paragraph (1), the term "modified adjusted gross income" means the adjusted gross income of the taxpayer for the taxable year increased by any amount excluded from gross income under section 911, 951, or 953.

"(c) FIRST-TIME HOMEBUYER.—For purposes of this section—

"(1) In general.—The term "first-time homebuyer" means any individual if such individual (and if married, such individual's spouse) had no present ownership interest in a principal residence in an enterprise community during the 1-year period ending on the date of the purchase of the principal residence to which this section applies.

"(2) ONE-TIME ONLY.—If an individual is treated as a first-time homebuyer with respect to any principal residence, such individual may not be treated as a first-time homebuyer with respect to any other principal residence.

"(3) PRINCIPAL RESIDENCE.—The term "principal residence" has the same meaning as when used in section 121.

"(d) CARRYOVER OF CREDIT.—If the credit allowable under subsection (a) exceeds the limitation imposed by section 26(a) for such taxable year, there shall be allowed as the succeeding taxable year an amount equal to the credit allowable under subsection (a) for such taxable year.

(e) Special Rules For Purposes of this section, rules similar to the rules of subsections (e), (f), (g), and (h) of section 1400C shall apply.

(f) APPLICATION OF SECTION.—This section shall apply to property purchased after December 31, 1999, and before January 1, 2005.

SCHUMER AMENDMENT NO. 1415
(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 363, strike lines 17 through 19, and insert the following:

(a) DEDUCTION ALLOWED.—Part VII of subchapter B of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to additional itemized deductions for individuals) is amended by redesignating section 222 as section 223 and by inserting after section 221 the following:

"SEC. 222. HIGHER EDUCATION EXPENSES.

"(a) ALLOWANCE OF DEDUCTION.—

"(1) In general.—In the case of an individual who is a first-time homebuyer, there shall be allowed as a deduction in computing the adjusted gross income of the taxpayer for any taxable year an amount equal to the dollar amount of the qualified higher education expenses paid by the taxpayer during the taxable year.

"(2) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—

"(i) Amount.—The applicable dollar amount for any taxable year shall be determined as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Dollar Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>$4,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005 and thereafter</td>
<td>$12,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

"(b) LIMITATION BASED ON MODIFIED ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME.—

"(1) In general.—The amount which would (but for this subsection) be taken into account as a deduction for purposes of subsection (a) shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the amount determined under paragraph (2).

"(2) AMOUNT OF REDUCTION.—The amount determined under this paragraph equals the dollar amount which bears the same ratio to the amount which would be so taken into account as the dollar amount determined under paragraph (2) bears to the dollar amount determined under paragraph (1).

"(A) The excess of—

"(i) the taxpayer's modified adjusted gross income for such taxable year, over
(ii) $62,450 ($194,050 in the case of a joint return). If the return is in the case of a return filed by a head of household, and $52,050 in the case of a return by a married individual filing separately, bears to

(b) regular interest.

(3) modified adjusted gross income.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘modified adjusted gross income’ means the adjusted gross income of the taxpayer for the taxable year determined by subtracting from the gross income of such individual, there shall be allowed as a credit such student who—

(A) without regard to this section and

(B) is an eligible student at an institution of higher education.

(4) Eligible student.—The term ‘eligible student’ means a student who—

(A) is described in section 481 of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1088), as in effect on the date of the enactment of this section, and

(B) is an eligible student at an educational institution, which is exempt from income taxation by any law of the United States.

(5) Higher education expenses paid during the taxable year, that are attributable to courses of instruction—

(a) for qualified higher education expenses other than the amount excludable under section 135 or 530(d)(2) for the taxable year.

(b) Limitation on taxable year of deduction.—

(A) General.—A deduction shall be allowed under subsection (a) for qualified higher education expenses paid during a taxable year only to the extent such expenses are in connection with enrollment at an institution of higher education during the taxable year.

(3) Adjustment for certain scholarships and grants.—

(A) general.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the term ‘eligible student’ means a student who—

(i) is attributable to courses of instruction—

(b) Deduction allowed in computing adjusted gross income.—

(A) general.—The term ‘qualified higher education expenses’ means tuition

(ii) with respect to whom a deduction is allowable under subsection (a) for taxable years beginning after 2005, the

(iv) for purposes of this section, the term ‘qualified higher education expenses’ means tuition

(c)熙DISF314XH199907291849100001RCONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE18491

SEC. 235. Interest on Higher Education Loans.

(a) in general.—

(b) Maximum credit.—

(5) Nonresident aliens.—

(d) Limit on period credit allowed.—A credit allowed under section 222 for a taxable year shall not exceed $1,500.

(c) Conforming Amendment.—The table of sections for part VII of subchapter B of chapter 1 of such Code is amended by inserting section 226 in the following new

(d) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to payments made in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2002.

(18) Higher education expenses.—The deduction allowed by section 222 for

(2) Modification of base.—The term ‘qualified education loan’ means any indebtedness incurred to pay qualified higher education expenses—

(1) in general.—

(2) special rules.—

(3) definition.—
"(A) which are incurred on behalf of the taxpayer by the payee or any other person, or any dependent of the taxpayer as of the time the indebtedness was incurred,

"(B) which are paid or incurred within a reasonable period of time before or after the indebtedness is incurred, and

"(C) which are attributable to education furnished during a period during which the recipient was at least a half-time student.

Such term includes indebtedness used to refinance indebtedness which qualifies as a qualified education loan. The term ‘qualified education loan’ shall not include any indebtedness owed to a qualified education loan holder in the meaning of section 267(b) or 707(b)(1) to the taxpayer.

"(2) QUALIFIED HIGHER EDUCATION EXPENSES.—The term ‘qualified higher education expenses’ means the cost of attendance (as defined in section 472 of the Higher Education Act of 1965, 20 U.S.C. 1087ll, as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of this Act) of the taxpayer, the taxpayer’s spouse, or a dependent of the taxpayer, the amount for which a deduction is allowable under subsection (a) only if the taxpayer, the taxpayer’s spouse, or any dependent of the taxpayer, the recipient was at least a half-time student.

"(3) HALFTIME STUDENT.—The term ‘half-time student’ means any individual who is engaged in a trade or business from individuals.''

"(e) QUALIFIED EDUCATION LOAN DEFINED.—For purposes of this section, except as provided in regulations prescribed by the Secretary, the term ‘qualified education loan’ has the meaning given such term by section 267(b) or 707(b)(1) to the taxpayer.

"(2) Special Rules.—In the case of a governmental unit or any agency or instrumentality thereof—

"(A) subsection (a) shall be applied without regard to the extent provided in regulations prescribed by the Secretary, in the case of a governmental unit or any agency or instrumentality thereof;

"(B) any return required under subsection (a) shall be made by the officer or employee appropriately designated for the purpose of making such return;

"(d) Statements To Be Furnished To Individuals With Respect To Whom Information Is Required.—Every person required to make a return under subsection (a) shall furnish to each individual whose name is required to be set forth in such return a written statement showing—

"(1) the name and address of the person required to make such return;

"(2) the aggregate amount of interest described in subsection (a) allocable to such individual received by the person required to make such return from the individual to whom the statement is required to be furnished.

"(e) Application To Governmental Units.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘governmental unit’ includes an institution conducting an in-service or residency program leading to a degree or certificate awarded by an institution of higher education, a hospital or health care facility which offers postgraduate training.

"(3) MARRIED COUPLES MUST FILE JOINT RETURN.—If the taxpayer is married at the close of the taxable year, the credit shall be allowed under subsection (a) only if the taxpayer and the taxpayer’s spouse file a joint return for the taxable year.

"(3) MARRITAL STATUS.—Marital status shall be determined in accordance with section 7703.

(b) Reporting Requirement.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subpart B of part III of subchapter D of chapter 21 (relating to information concerning transactions with other persons) is amended by inserting after section 6060 the following new section:

"SEC. 6060T. RETURNS RELATING TO EDUCATION LOAN INTEREST RECEIVED IN TRADE OR BUSINESS FROM INDIVIDUALS.

"(a) EDUCATION LOAN INTEREST OF $600 OR MORE.—Any person—

"(1) who is engaged in a trade or business, and

"(2) who, in the course of such trade or business, receives from any individual interest aggregating $600 or more for any calendar year on any qualified education loan, shall make the return described in subsection (b) with respect to each individual from whom such interest was received at any time during the calendar year.

"(b) FORM AND MANNER OF RETURNS.—A return is described in this subsection if such return—

"(1) is in such form as the Secretary may prescribe, and

"(2) contains—

"(A) the name, address, and TIN of the individual from whom the interest described in subsection (a)(2) was received;

"(B) the amount of such interest received for the calendar year;

"(C) such other information as the Secretary may prescribe.

"(c) APPLICATION TO GOVERNMENTAL UNITS.—For purposes of subsection (a)—

"(1) TREATED AS PERSONS.—The term ‘person’ includes any governmental unit (and any agency or instrumentality thereof).

"(2) SPECIAL RULES.—In the case of a governmental unit or any agency or instrumentality thereof—

"(A) subsection (a) shall be applied without regard to the extent provided in regulations prescribed by the Secretary, in the case of a governmental unit or any agency or instrumentality thereof;

"(B) any return required under subsection (a) shall be made by the officer or employee appropriately designated for the purpose of making such return;

"(d) STATEMENTS TO BE FURNISHED TO INDIVIDUALS WITH RESPECT TO WHOM INFORMATION IS REQUIRED.—Every person required to make a return under subsection (a) shall furnish to each individual whose name is required to be set forth in such return a written statement showing—

"(1) the name and address of the person required to make such return;

"(2) the aggregate amount of interest described in subsection (a) allocable to such individual received by the person required to make such return from the individual to whom the statement is required to be furnished.

"(e) QUALIFIED EDUCATION LOAN DEFINED.—For purposes of this section, except as provided in regulations prescribed by the Secretary, the term ‘qualified education loan’ has the meaning given such term by section 267(b) or 707(b)(1) to the taxpayer.

"(2) The table of sections for subpart B of part III of subchapter D of chapter 21 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 6060S the following new section:

"Sec. 6060T. Returns relating to education loan interest received in trade or business from individuals.''

"(f) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be effective for the calendar year beginning after December 31, 1999.

LEAHY AMENDMENT NO. 1418

(Ordred to lie on the table.)

Mr. LEAHY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

"SEC. 4. REPEAL OF PERCENTAGE DEPLETION ALLOWANCE FOR CERTAIN HARRDCOKE MINES."

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 613(a) (relating to percentage depletion) is amended by inserting—"(other than hardrock mines) is located on lands subject to the general mining laws or on land patented under the general mining laws after "

(b) GENERAL MINING LAWS DEFINED.—Section 613 is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(b) GENERAL MINING LAWS DEFINED.—Section 613 is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.
allowed as a deduction under subsection (a) an amount equal to so much of the expenses paid during the taxable year for insurance which constitutes medical care under section 106 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 for a taxpayer, his spouse, and dependents as does not exceed $2,000. Such expenses shall not be taken into account in determining the amount of any other deduction allowable under subsection (a)."

(b) DEDUCTION ALLOWED WHETHER OR NOT TAXPAYER TAKES LOSS.—Section 601, as amended by section 601(a), is amended by striking paragraph (1) and inserting, after it, the following: "(1) DEDUCTION ALLOWED WHETHER OR NOT LOSS IS TAKEN.—If employment discrimination backpay or frontpay is not deductible under subsection (b), the taxpayer may claim it as a deduction on his federal income tax return."

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

"(1) The Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall be amended by striking paragraph (a)(3) of section 151 and inserting, after it, the following: "(3) DEDUCTION ALLOWED WHETHER OR NOT TAXPAYER TAKES LOSS.—If employment discrimination backpay or frontpay is not deductible under subsection (b), the taxpayer may claim it as a deduction on his federal income tax return."

"(2) Subparagraph (B) of section 662(l)(2) is amended by adding, after it, the following: "(B) DEDUCTION ALLOWED WHETHER OR NOT TAXPAYER TAKES LOSS.—If employment discrimination backpay or frontpay is not deductible under subsection (b), the taxpayer may claim it as a deduction on his federal income tax return."

"(3) The definition of 'gross income' in section 72 is amended by striking paragraph (a)(5) and inserting, after it, the following: "(5) GROSS INCOME.—The term 'gross income' includes the amount of any employment discrimination backpay or frontpay received by a taxpayer, his spouse, or dependents as does not exceed $2,000. Such expenses shall not be taken into account in determining the amount of any other deduction allowable under subsection (a)."

(d) REVENUE OFFSET.—Sections 301, 302, 304, 312, 901 through 908, and 1103 of this Act are null and void and the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall be applied and administered as if such sections had not been enacted.

(e) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

DURBIN AMENDMENTS NOS. 1420–1423

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. DURBIN submitted four amendments intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

AMENDMENT No. 1420

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

SEC. 1302. INCOME FROM BACKPAY AND FRONTPAY RECEIVED ON ACCOUNT OF CERTAIN UNLAWFUL DISCRIMINATION.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—If employment discrimination backpay or frontpay is received by a taxpayer during a taxable year, the tax imposed by this chapter for such taxable year shall not exceed the amount of such backpay or frontpay, over:

"(i) the amount of the tax that would be imposed if—
"(A) backpay or frontpay, as defined in section 1302(b), or
"(B) punitive damages,

"(ii) the amount of taxes that would be imposed if—
"(A) backpay or frontpay, as defined in section 1302(b), or
"(B) punitive damages,

"(b) LIMITATION ON TAX BASED ON INCOME AVERAGING FOR BACKPAY AND FRONTPAY RECEIVED ON ACCOUNT OF CERTAIN UNLAWFUL EMPLOYMENT DISCRIMINATION.—Part I of subchapter Q of chapter 1 (relating to income averaging for unlawful employment discrimination) is amended by striking paragraph (a)(1) and inserting, after it, the following:

"(a) LIMITATION ON TAX BASED ON INCOME AVERAGING FOR BACKPAY AND FRONTPAY RECEIVED ON ACCOUNT OF CERTAIN UNLAWFUL EMPLOYMENT DISCRIMINATION.—Part I of subchapter Q of chapter 1 (relating to income averaging for unlawful employment discrimination) is amended by striking paragraph (a)(1) and inserting, after it, the following:

"(a) GENERAL RULE.—If employment discrimination backpay or frontpay is received by a taxpayer during a taxable year, the tax imposed by this chapter for such taxable year shall not exceed the sum of—

"(i) the amount of the tax that would be imposed if—
"(A) backpay or frontpay, as defined in section 1302(b), or
"(B) punitive damages,

"(ii) the amount of taxes that would be imposed if—
"(A) backpay or frontpay, as defined in section 1302(b), or
"(B) punitive damages,
is amended by redesignating paragraph (2) as paragraph (3) by inserting after paragraph (1) the following:

"(2) COORDINATION WITH INCOME AVERAGING FOR AMOUNTS RECEIVED ON ACCOUNT OF EMPLOYMENT DISCRIMINATION.—In general, for purposes of this section, section 1302 (relating to averaging of income from backpay or frontpay received on account of certain unlawful employment discrimination) shall not apply in computing the regular tax.

(d) CLERICAL AMENDMENTS.—

(1) The table of sections for part III of chapter Q of chapter 219 of this title is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 219(b)(8) the following new item:

170. Amounts received on account of certain unlawful discrimination.

(2) The table of sections for part I of subchapter G of chapter 219 of this title is amended by inserting after section 219(e) the following new item:

1302. Income from backpay or frontpay received on account of certain unlawful employment discrimination.

(e) EFFECTIVE DATES.—

(1) The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to damages received in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(2) The amendments made by subsection (b) shall apply to amounts received in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(3) The amendment made by subsection (c) shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(d) REVENUE OFFSET.—Section 320(a) of this Act is null and void and the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall be applied and administered as if such section had not been enacted.

AMENDMENT NO. 1421

On page 184, between lines 6 and 7, insert the following:

The table contained in section 221(b)(1) (relating to maximum deduction) is amended by striking "$2,500" and inserting "$5,000".

EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this subsection shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000.

AMENDMENT NO. 1422

On page 255, strike lines 3 through 25 and insert:

(iii) which is made on or after the date that the individual for whose benefit the account is maintained has attained age 50%, and

(ii) which is a charitable contribution (as defined in section 170(c)) made directly from the account to—

(I) an organization described in section 170(c), or

(II) a trust, fund, or annuity described in subparagraph (B).

"(D) DENIAL OF DEDUCTION.—The amount allowable as a deduction to the taxpayer for the taxable year under section 170 for qualified charitable distributions shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the sum of the amounts of the qualified charitable distributions during such year which (but for this paragraph) would have been includible in the gross income of the taxpayer for such year."

(4) REVENUE OFFSET.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to estates of decedents dying after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 45D. EMPLOYEE HEALTH INSURANCE EXPENSES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subpart D of part IV of chapter 2 of title 26 (relating to business-related credits) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"SEC. 45D. EMPLOYEE HEALTH INSURANCE EXPENSES.

"(a) GENERAL RULE.—For purposes of section 38, in the case of a small employer, the employee health insurance expenses credit determined under this section is an amount equal to the applicable percentage of the amount paid by the taxpayer during the taxable year for qualified employee health insurance expenses.

"(b) APPLICABLE PERCENTAGE.—For purposes of subsection (a), the applicable percentage is equal to—

(1) 60 percent in the case of the self-only coverage, and

(2) 70 percent in the case of family coverage (as defined in section 220(c)(5)).

"(c) PRE EMPLOYER DEDUCTION.—The amount of qualified employee health insurance expenses taken into account under subsection (a) with respect to any qualified employee for any taxable year shall not exceed—

(1) $1,000 in the case of the self-only coverage, and

(2) $1,715 in the case of family coverage (as so defined).

"(d) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section—

(1) SMALL EMPLOYER.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term 'small employer' means, with respect to any calendar year, any employer if such employer employed an average of 9 or fewer employees on business days during either of the 2 preceding calendar years. For purposes of the preceding sentence, a preceding calendar year may be taken into account only if the employer was in existence throughout such year.

(B) EMPLOYERS NOT IN EXISTENCE IN PRECEDING YEAR.—In the case of an employer which was not in existence throughout the 1st preceding calendar year, the determination under subparagraph (A) shall be based on the average number of employees that it is reasonably expected such employer will employ on business days in the current calendar year.

(2) QUALIFIED EMPLOYEE HEALTH INSURANCE EXPENSES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term 'qualified employee health insurance expenses' means any amount paid by an employer for health insurance coverage to the extent such amount is attributable to coverage provided to any employee while such employee is a qualified employee.

(B) EXCEPTION FOR AMOUNTS PAID UNDER SALARY REDUCTION ARRANGEMENTS.—No amount paid or incurred for health insurance coverage pursuant to a salary reduction arrangement shall be taken into account under subparagraph (A).

(C) HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE.—The term 'health insurance coverage' has the meaning given such term by section 9832(b)(1).

SEC. 45E. CREDIT FOR EMPLOYEE HEALTH INSURANCE EXPENSES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subpart D of part IV of chapter 2 of title 26 (relating to business-related credits) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"SEC. 45E. CREDIT FOR EMPLOYEE HEALTH INSURANCE EXPENSES.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Subpart D of part IV of chapter 2 of title 26 (relating to business-related credits) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(A) DOLLAR LIMIT.—The amount determined under paragraph (2) for any taxable year shall not exceed the amount determined under paragraph (2) for such taxable year, reduced (but not below zero) by the amount which bears the same ratio to such amount as—

(1) the excess of—

(I) the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year, over

(II) the applicable dollar amount, bears to

(3) QUALIFIED EMPLOYEE.—The term 'qualified employee' means an employee of an employer if the total amount of wages paid or incurred by such employer to such employee at an annual rate during the taxable year exceeds $5,000 but does not exceed $15,000.

(B) TREATMENT OF CERTAIN EMPLOYERS.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the term 'employer'—
The image contains a section of a congressional record discussing amendments to the Social Security Act. The text is too fragmented to be accurately transcribed, but it appears to be related to Social Security reform, including discussions about individual savings accounts and modifications to existing provisions. Specific sections and subsections are mentioned, indicating a detailed legislative process. However, due to the nature of the text, it is not possible to provide a complete and coherent summary of the document's content. The text references various amendments and their implications, but the full context and impact of these changes are not discernible from the provided excerpt.
care of the individual or his estate. Payment under this part for an incompetent or under other legal disability may be made to the person who is constituted guardian or other fiduciary by the law of the State of residence of the claimant or, in the absence of such a person, the person entitled to payment under section (a) of this title. Payment under this part for an individual under legal disability has not been appointed under the law of the State of residence of the individual, if any other person, in the judgment of the Commissioner, is responsible for the support of such individual, any designation under subsection (c)(1) which may otherwise be made by such individual may be made by such person, any payment under this part which is otherwise payable to such individual may be made to such person, and the payment of an annuity payable under this part to such person bars recovery by any other person.

"DEFINITION OF INDIVIDUAL SAVINGS ACCOUNT; TREATMENT OF ACCOUNTS

"SEC. 252. (a) INDIVIDUAL SAVINGS ACCOUNT.—In this part, the term 'individual savings account' means any individual savings account (established under section 254) which is administered by the Individual Savings Fund Board.

"(b) TREATMENT OF ACCOUNT.—Except as otherwise provided in this part and in section 531 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, any individual savings account described in subsection (a) shall be treated in the same manner as an individual account in the Thrift Savings Fund under subchapter III of chapter 4 of title 5, United States Code.

"INDIVIDUAL ACCOUNT LIMITATIONS

"SEC. 253. (a) DATE OF INITIAL DISTRIBUTION.—Except as provided in subsection (c), distributions may only be made from an individual savings account of an eligible individual on and after the earliest of—

"(1) the date the eligible individual attains normal retirement age, as determined under section 216 (or early retirement age (as so determined) for such individual), or

"(2) the date on which funds in the eligible individual's individual savings account are sufficient to provide a monthly payment over the life expectancy of the eligible individual (determined under reasonable actuarial assumptions) which, when added to the eligible individual's monthly benefit under part A (if any), is at least equal to an amount equal to 1/2 of the poverty line (as defined in section 673(c) of the Community Services Block Grant Act (42 U.S.C. 9902(c)) and determined on such date for a family of the size involved) and adjusted annually thereafter by the adjustment determined under section 215(c).

"(b) FORMS OF DISTRIBUTION.—

"(1) REQUIRED MONTHLY PAYMENTS.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), beginning with the date determined under subsection (a), the balance in an individual savings account available to provide monthly payments not in excess of the amount described in subsection (a)(2) shall be paid, elected by the account owner in such form and manner as shall be prescribed in regulations of the Individual Savings Fund Board, by means of the purchase of annuities or equal monthly payments over the life expectancy of the eligible individual (determined under reasonable actuarial assumptions) in accordance with requirements (which shall be provided in regulations) similar to requirements applicable to payments of benefits under subchapter III of chapter 4 of title 5, United States Code, and providing for indexing for inflation.

"(2) PAYMENT OF EXCESS FUNDS.—To the extent funds remain in an eligible individual's individual savings account after the application of paragraph (1), such funds shall be distributed in such manner and in such amounts as determined by the eligible individual, subject to the provisions of subchapter III of chapter 4 of title 5, United States Code.

"(c) DISTRIBUTION IN THE EVENT OF DEATH BEFORE THE DATE OF INITIAL DISTRIBUTION.—In the event of the death of the eligible individual, if the beneficiary designated under subsection (c)(1) is not a part B eligible individual, a tax equal to 6.2 percent of the wages (as defined in section 3121(a)) received by him with respect to employment (as defined in section 3121(b)) of the eligible individual, a tax equal to 2 percent of the wages (as defined in section 3121(a)) received by such individual with respect to employment (as defined in section 3121(b)).

"(d) CONTRIBUTION OF OASDI TAX REDUCTION TO INDIVIDUAL SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—In addition to other taxes, there is hereby imposed on the income of every part B eligible individual a tax equal to 4.2 percent of the wages (as defined in section 3121(a)) received by such individual with respect to employment (as defined in section 3121(b)).

"(B) INDIVIDUALS COVERED UNDER PART B OF TITLE II OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT.—In addition to other taxes, there is hereby imposed on the income of every part B eligible individual a tax equal to 4.2 percent of the wages (as defined in section 3121(a)) received by such individual with respect to employment (as defined in section 3121(b)).

"(2) CONTRIBUTION OF OASDI TAX REDUCTION TO INDIVIDUAL SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—In addition to other taxes, there is hereby imposed on the income of every part B eligible individual an individual savings account contribution equal to the amount of—

"(i) 2 percent of the wages (as so defined) received by such individual with respect to employment (as so defined), plus

"(ii) so much of such wages (not to exceed $2,000) as designated by the individual in the same manner as described in section 251(c) of the Social Security Act.

"(B) INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of any calendar year beginning after 2000, the dollar amount in subparagraph (A)(i) shall be increased by an amount equal to—

"(i) such dollar amount, multiplied by

"(ii) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 251(b) for the calendar year determined by substituting 'calendar year 1999' for 'calendar year 1992' in subparagraph (B) thereof.

"(2) ROUNDING.—If any dollar amount after being increased under clause (i) is not a multiple of $10, such dollar amount shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of $10.

"(2) SELF-EMPLOYED.—Section 1401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to tax on self-employment income) is amended to read as follows:

"(a) OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND DISABILITY INSURANCE

"(1) IN GENERAL.—

"(A) INDIVIDUALS COVERED UNDER PART A OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT.—In addition to other taxes, there shall be imposed for each taxable year, on the self-employment income of every individual who is not a part B eligible individual for the calendar year ending with or during such taxable year, a tax equal to 12.40 percent of the amount of the self-employment income for such taxable year.
the individual in the same manner as described in section 251(c) of the Social Security Act."

"(B) INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.

"(i) IN GENERAL.—In the case of any taxable year beginning after 2003, the dollar amounts described in paragraph (A)(1) shall be increased by an amount equal to—

"(I) such dollar amount, multiplied by—

(ii) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year in which the taxable year begins, determined by substituting ‘calendar year 1999’ for ‘calendar year 1992’ in subparagraph (B) thereof.

"(ii) Rounding.—If any dollar amount after being increased under clause (i) is not a multiple of $10, such dollar amount shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of $10.”

(3) PART B ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUAL.—

(A) TAXES ON EMPLOYEES.—Section 3211 of such Code (relating to definitions) is amended by inserting after subsection (a) the following:

"(b) PART B ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUAL.—For purposes of this chapter the term ‘part B eligible individual’ means, for any calendar year, an individual who is an eligible individual (as defined in section 251(a)(2) of the Social Security Act) with respect to any taxable year the amount designated under section 251(a)(2)(A)(i) is annualized by the Commissioner of Social Security, under regulations which the Commissioner shall prescribe.”

(4) EFFECTIVE DATES.

(A) EMPLOYERS.—The amendments made by paragraphs (1) and (3)(A) apply to remuneration paid after December 31, 1999.

(B) SELF-EMPLOYED INDIVIDUALS.—The amendments made by paragraphs (2) and (3)(B) apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

(c) MATCHING CONTRIBUTIONS.

(1) IN GENERAL.—Part IV of subchapter A of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to credits against tax) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Subpart II—Individual Savings Account Credits

“SEC. 54. Individual savings account credit.”

“SEC. 54. INDIVIDUAL SAVINGS ACCOUNT CREDIT—

“(a) ALLOWANCE OF CREDIT.—Each part B eligible individual is entitled to a credit for the taxable year in an amount equal to the sum of

“(1) $100, plus

“(2) 100 percent of the designated wages of such individual for the taxable year, plus

“(3) 100 percent of the designated self-employment income of such individual for the taxable year.

“(b) LIMITATIONS.

"(i) The amount determined under subsection (a) with respect to such individual for any taxable year may not exceed the excess (if any) of—

"(I) the latter of—

"(II) the amount received by the Secretary on behalf of such individual under sections 3101(a)(2)(A)(i) and 1401(a)(2)(A)(i) for such taxable year.

"(ii) VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS.—In the case of a part B eligible individual with respect to whom the amount of wages designated under section 3101(a)(2)(A)(i) plus the designated self-employment income designated under section 1401(a)(2)(A)(i) for the taxable year is less that $1, the credit to which such individual is entitled under this section shall be equal to zero.

"(c) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section—

"(1) ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUAL.—The term ‘eligible individual’ means, for any calendar year, an individual who—

"(A) is an eligible individual (as defined in section 251(a)(2) of the Social Security Act) for such calendar year, and

"(B) is not an individual with respect to whom another taxpayer is entitled to a deduction under section 151(c).

"(2) DESIGNATED WAGES.—The term ‘designated wages’ means with respect to any taxable year the amount designated under section 3101(a)(2)(A)(i).

"(3) DESIGNATED SELF-EMPLOYMENT INCOME.—The term ‘designated self-employment income’ means with respect to any taxable year the amount designated under section 1401(a)(2)(A)(i) for such taxable year.

"(4) CREDIT USED ONLY FOR INDIVIDUAL SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.—With respect to any part B eligible individual—

"(a) no credit shall not be treated as a credit allowed under this part, but

"(b) shall be treated as an overpayment of tax under section 6401(b)(3) which may, in accordance with section 6401(b)(2), only be transferred to an individual savings account established under part B of title II of the Social Security Act with respect to such individual.

"(5) CREDIT LOGIC.—The credit allowed under this section to an individual savings account made by reason of the death of the beneficiary of such account may be rolled over to the individual savings account of the heir after such death.

"(d) DISTRIBUTIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Any distribution from an individual savings account under section 253 of the Social Security Act shall be included in gross income under section 72.

"(2) PERIOD IN WHICH DISTRIBUTIONS MUST BE MADE FROM ACCOUNT OF DECEDENT.—In the case of amounts remaining in an individual savings account from which distributions began before the death of the beneficiary, rules similar to the rules of section 401(a)(9)(B) shall apply to distributions of such remaining amounts.

"(3) ROLLOVERS.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to amounts rolled over under section 253 if in a direct transfer by the Commissioner of Social Security, under regulations which the Commissioner shall prescribe.”

(2) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of parts for subchapter F of chapter 1 of such Code is amended by adding after the item relating to part VIII the following:

"Part IX. Individual savings fund and accounts.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

"SEC. 261. (a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Commissioner of Social Security shall establish in the name of each individual born on or after January 1, 1995, a KidSave Account with the following:

"(1) the date of enactment of this part, or

"(2) the date of the issuance of a Social Security account number under section 200(c)(2) to such individual.

The KidSave Account shall be identified to the account holder by means of the account holder’s Social Security account number.

"(b) AMOUNTS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—There are authorized to be appropriated and are appropriated such As are necessary in order for the Secretary to transfer from the general fund of the Treasury for crediting by the Commissioner to each account holder's KidSave Account under subsection (a), an amount equal to the sum of—

(A) the amount of any annuity payment under this title to which an individual is entitled under this title, on or after January 1, 2000, $1,000, on the date of the establishment of such individual's KidSave Account;

(B) in the case of any individual born on or after January 1, 1995, $500, on the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th birthdays of such individual occurring on or after January 1, 2008.

(2) ADJUSTMENT FOR INFLATION.—For any calendar year after 2009, each of the dollar amounts under paragraph (1) shall be increased by the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 215(i) for the calendar year.

(c) DESIGNATIONS REGARDING KIDSAVE ACCOUNTS.

(1) INITIAL DESIGNATIONS OF INVESTMENT VEHICLE.—A person described in subsection (d) shall, on behalf of the individual described in subsection (a), designate the investment vehicle for the KidSave Account to which contributions on behalf of such individual are to be deposited. Such designation shall be made on the application for such individual's Social Security account number.

(2) CHANGES IN INVESTMENT VEHICLES.—The Commissioner shall by regulation provide that the manner by which an individual or a person described in subsection (d) on behalf of such individual may change 1 or more investment vehicles for a KidSave Account.

(3) TREATMENT OF MINORS AND INCOMPETENT INDIVIDUALS.—Any designation under subsection (c) to be made by a minor, or an individual mentally incompetent or under other legal disability, may be made by the person who is constituted guardian or other fiduciary by the law of State of residence of the individual or is otherwise legally vested with the care of the individual or his estate. Payment under this part due a minor, or an individual mentally incompetent or under other legal disability, may be made by the person who is constituted guardian or other fiduciary by the law of the State of residence of the individual, or if any other person, in the judgment of the Commissioner, is responsible for the care of such individual, any designation under subsection (c) which may otherwise be made by such individual may be made by such person, any payment under this part which is otherwise payable to such individual may be made to such person, and the payment of an annuity payment under this part to such person bars recovery by any other person.

DEFINITIONS AND SPECIAL RULES

“Sec. 262. (a) KIDSAVE ACCOUNTS.—In this part, the term ‘KidSave Account’ means any KidSave Account in the Individual Savings Fund (established under section 254) which is administered by the Individual Savings Fund Board.

(b) TREATMENT OF ACCOUNTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), any KidSave Account described in subsection (a) shall be treated in the same manner as an individual savings account under part A of title II of the Social Security Act.

(2) DISTRIBUTIONS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, distributions may only be made from a KidSave Account of an individual on or after the earlier of—

(A) the date on which the individual begins receiving benefits under this title, or

(B) the date of the individual’s death.

SEC. 103. ADJUSTMENTS TO PRIMARY INSURANCE AMOUNTS UNDER PART A OF TITLE II OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 215 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 415) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“Adjustment of Primary Insurance Amount in Relation to Deposits Made to Individual Savings Accounts and KidSave Accounts

((j)(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), an individual’s primary insurance amount as determined in accordance with this section (before adjustments made under subsection (i)) shall be equal to the excess (if any) of—

(A) the amount which would be so determined without the application of this subsection, over

(B) the monthly amount of an immediate life annuity, determined on the basis of the sum of—

(A) the total of all amounts which have been credited pursuant to section 251(b) (indexed in the same manner as is applicable with respect to average indexed monthly earnings under subsection (b) to the individual savings account held by such individual, plus

(B) 30 percent of the accumulated value of the KidSave Account (established on behalf of such individual under section 251(a)(1)) determined on the date such KidSave Account is redesignated as an individual savings account held by such individual under section 251(a)(1)(B), plus

(C) accrued interest on such amounts compounded annually—

(i) assuming an interest rate equal to the projected interest rate of the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Trust Fund, and

(2) In the case of an individual who becomes entitled to disability insurance benefits under section 223, such individual’s primary insurance amount shall be determined without regard to paragraph (1).

(3) For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘immediate life annuity’ means an annuity—

(A) the annuity starting date (as defined in section 72(c)(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) of which commences with the first month following the date of the determination, and

(B) which provides for a series of substantially equal monthly payments over the life expectancy of the individual.

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT TO RAILROAD RETIREMENT ACT OF 1974.—Section 1 of the Railroad Retirement Act of 1974 (45 U.S.C. 213) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(e) In applying applicable provisions of the Social Security Act for purposes of determining the amount of the annuity to which an individual is entitled under this Act, section 215 of the Social Security Act and part B of title II of such Act shall be disregarded.”

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply with respect to primary insurance amounts of individuals attaining early retirement age (as defined in section 216(l) of the Social Security Act), or dying, after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 201. ADJUSTMENTS TO BEND POINTS IN DETERMINING PRIMARY INSURANCE AMOUNTS.

(a) ADDITIONAL BEND POINT.—Section 216(a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 416(a)(1)(A)) is amended—

(1) in clause (ii), by striking “and” at the end;

(2) in clause (ii)—

(A) by striking “15 percent” and inserting “32 percent”; and

(B) by striking “clause (ii),” and inserting the following: “clause (ii) but do not exceed the amount established for purposes of this clause by subparagraph (B), and”; and by inserting after clause (iii) the following:

“(iv) 15 percent of the average individual’s average indexed monthly earnings to the extent that such earnings exceed the amount established for purposes of clause (iii).”

(b) INITIAL LEVEL OF ADDITIONAL BEND POINT.—Section 215(a)(1)(B) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 415(a)(1)(B)) is amended by—

(1) by redesignating clause (i) as clause (iv); and

(2) by inserting after clause (ii) the following:

“(iii) For individuals who initially become eligible for old-age or disability insurance benefits, or who die (before becoming eligible for such benefits), in any calendar year after 2005, effective for such calendar year—

(A) the percentage specified in clause (ii) of subparagraph (A) shall be equal to the percentage in effect under such clause for calendar year 2005 increased the applicable number of times by 3.8 percentage points,

(B) the percentage in effect under clause (iii) of subparagraph (A) shall be equal to the percentage in effect under such clause for calendar year 2005 decreased the applicable number of times by 1.2 percentage points, and

(C) the percentage in effect under clause (iv) of subparagraph (A) shall be equal to the percentage in effect under such clause for calendar year 2005 decreased the applicable number of times by 0.5 percentage points.

(2) by adding at the end the following:

“(f) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply with respect to primary insurance amounts of individuals attaining early retirement age (as defined in section 216(l) of the Social Security Act), or dying, after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 202. ADJUSTMENT OF WIDOW’S AND WIDOWERS INSURANCE BENEFITS.

(a) WIDOW’S BENEFIT.—Section 202(e)(2)(A) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 216(b)(2)(B) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 423(b)(2)(B)) is amended by striking "the calendar year is 2001", and inserting "the calendar year is 2002".

(b) USE OF ALL YEARS IN COMPUTATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than February 15, 2001, the Commissioner of Social Security shall conduct a study on the effect that taking earnings into account in determining substantial gainful activity of individuals receiving disability insurance benefits has on the incentive for such individuals to work and submit to Congress a report on the study.

(2) CONTENTS OF STUDY.—The study conducted under paragraph (1) shall include the evaluation of—

(A) the effect of the current limit on earnings on the incentive for individuals receiving disability insurance benefits to work; and

(B) the effect of increasing the earnings limit or changing the manner in which disability insurance benefits are reduced or terminated as a result of substantial gainful activity (including reducing the benefits to gradually when the earnings limit is exceed-

(i) the incentive to work; and

(ii) the financial status of the Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund.

(c) The effect of extending eligibility for the Medicare program to individuals during the period in which disability insurance benefits of the individual are gradually reduced as a result of substantial gainful activity and extending such eligibility for a fixed pe-period of time after the benefits are termiated on—

(i) the incentive to work; and

(ii) the financial status of the Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund and the Federal Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust

Fund;

(d) The relationship between the effect of substantial gainful activity limits on blind individuals receiving disability insurance benefits and other individuals receiving disability insurance benefits.

SEC. 204. GRADUAL INCREASE IN NUMBER OF BENEFIT COMPUTATION YEARS; USE OF ALL YEARS IN COMPUTATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 215(b)(2)(A) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 415(b)(2)(A)) is amended—

(1) in clause (i), by striking "5 years" and inserting "the applicable number of years for purposes of this clause"; and

(2) by striking "Clause (ii)," in the matter following clause (i) and inserting the following:

"For purposes of clause (i), the applicable number of years is the number of years specified in connection with the year in which such individual reaches early retirement age

(as defined in section 216(b)(2)), or, if earlier, the calendar year in which such individual dies, as set forth in the following table:

The applicable number of years is:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Number of Years</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2007</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2008</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2009</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After 2009</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, the applicable number of years is 5, in the case of any individual who is entitled to old-age insurance benefits, and has a spouse who is also so entitled (or who died without having become so entitled) who has greater total wages and self-employment income credited to benefit computation years than the individual. Clause (ii)."

(b) USE OF ALL YEARS IN COMPUTATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 215(b)(2)(B) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 415(b)(2)(B)) is amended by striking clauses (i) and (ii) and inserting the following:

"If such calendar year after 2001 and before 2010, the term 'benefit computation years' means those computation base years equal in number to the number determined under paragraph (a) with the applicable number of years determined under subclause (III), for which the total of such individual's wages and self-employment income, after adjustment for inflation (as defined in section 216(j)(2)), the term ‘benefit computation years’ means all of the years in which an individual who attains the age of 62 in—

(a) in clause (i), the applicable fraction (determined under subsection (b)(2)(A)) and inserting ‘‘the applicable fraction (determined under paragraph (12))’; and

(b) by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(12) For purposes of paragraph (1)(A), the ‘applicable fraction’ for an individual who attains the age of 62 in—

(A) any year before 2001, is 1⁄12;
(B) 2001, is 7⁄12;
(C) 2002, is 15⁄36;
(D) 2003, is 23⁄36;
(E) 2004, is 31⁄36;
(F) 2005 or any succeeding year, is 35⁄36.’’.

(2) MONTHS BEYOND FIRST 36 MONTHS.—Section 202(q)(2) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 402(q)(9)) (as amended by paragraph (1)) is amended—

(a) in paragraph (9)(A), by striking ‘‘five-twelfths’’ and inserting ‘‘the applicable fraction (determined under paragraph (13))’’; and

(b) by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(13) For purposes of paragraph (9)(A), the ‘applicable fraction’ for an individual who attains the age of 62 in—

(A) any year before 2001, is 5⁄9;
(B) 2001, is 11⁄18;
(C) 2002, is 17⁄24;
(D) 2003, is 23⁄36;
(E) 2004, is 29⁄36; and

(F) 2005 or any succeeding year, is 9⁄12.’’.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by paragraphs (1) and (2) shall apply to individuals who attain the age of 62 in years after December 31, 2001.

SEC. 205. MAINTENANCE OF BENEFIT AND CONTRIBUTION BASE

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 230 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 430) is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(a) The Commissioner of Social Security shall determine and publish in the Federal Register an estimate of the upper level substitution bias, quality-change bias, and new-product bias in the Consumer Price Index. Upon request of the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Secretary of Commerce shall furnish that information to the Commissioner.

(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to any calendar year beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 206. REDUCTION IN THE AMOUNT OF CERTAIN TRANSFERS TO MEDICARE TRUST FUND

Subparagraph (A) of section 121(e)(1) of the Social Security Amendments of 1983 (42 U.S.C. 401 note), as amended by section 13215(c) of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986, is amended—

(i) by striking ‘‘in clause (ii), by striking ’’the amounts’’ and inserting ‘‘the applicable percentage of the amounts’’; and

(ii) by inserting in the first place the following: ‘‘For purposes of clause (i), the applicable percentage for a year is equal to 100 percent, reduced (but not below zero) by 10 percentage points for each year after 2004.’’.

SEC. 207. ACTUARIAL ADJUSTMENT FOR RETIREMENT

(a) EARLY RETIREMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 202(q) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 402(q)) is amended—

(A) in paragraph (1)(A), by striking ‘‘5⁄12’’ and inserting ‘‘the applicable fraction (determined under paragraph (12))’’; and

(B) by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(12) For purposes of paragraph (1)(A), the ‘applicable fraction’ for an individual who attains the age of 62 in—

(A) any year before 2001, is 5⁄9;
(B) 2001, is 11⁄18;
(C) 2002, is 17⁄24;
(D) 2003, is 23⁄36;
(E) 2004, is 29⁄36; and

(F) 2005 or any succeeding year, is 35⁄36.’’.

(2) REPORTS.—The Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics shall submit reports regarding the use of appropriations made under paragraph (1) to the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate upon the request of each Committee.

SEC. 208. IMPROVEMENTS IN PROCESS FOR COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENTS

(a) ANNUAL DECLARATIONS OF PERSISTING IMPACT OF COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENTS ON THE PROGRAMS UNDER TITLE XVI AND ANY ADJUSTMENTS MADE TO THE PROGRAMS.—The Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics shall periodically advise the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate regarding revisions of the Consumer Price Index and conduct research and experimentation with alternative data collection and estimating approaches.

(b) EXPANSION OF THE CONSUMER EXPENDITURE SURVEY.—The Bureau of Labor Statistics shall provide the Consumer Expenditure Survey with a representation of consumers who have children and that reflects the diversity of consumers in terms of their age, gender, and race.

(c) INGENERAL.—There is hereby appropriated to the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the Department of Labor, for each of fiscal years 2000, 2001, and 2002, $60,000,000 for use by the Bureau for the following purposes:

(A) Research, evaluation, and implementation of a superlative index to estimate upper level substitution bias, quality-change bias, and new-product bias in the Consumer Price Index.

(B) Expansion of the Consumer Expenditure Survey and the Point of Purchase Survey.

(2) EXPANSION.—The Bureau of Labor Statistics shall submit reports regarding the use of appropriations made under paragraph (1) to the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate upon the request of each Committee.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by paragraphs (1) and (2) shall apply to individuals who attain the age of 62 in years after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 209. INCLUSION OF UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE IN THE DETERMINATION OF THE UNDERWATER LEVEL

The applicable fraction in subsection (a) shall be further adjusted by the greater of—

(1) 0.5 percentage point, or

(2) the correction for the upper level substitution bias, quality-change bias, and new-product bias (as last published by the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics pursuant to subsection (a)).

(f) IN GENERAL.—There is hereby appropriated to the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the Department of Labor, for each of fiscal years 2000, 2001, and 2002, $60,000,000 for use by the Bureau for the following purposes:

(A) Research, evaluation, and implementation of a superlative index to estimate upper level substitution bias, quality-change bias, and new-product bias in the Consumer Price Index.

(B) Expansion of the Consumer Expenditure Survey and the Point of Purchase Survey.

(2) PERIODIC REPORTS.—The Commissioner shall submit reports regarding the use of appropriations made under paragraph (1) to the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate upon the request of each Committee.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by paragraphs (1) and (2) shall apply to individuals who attain the age of 62 in years after December 31, 1999.
the Treasury shall transfer, from the general fund of the Treasury to the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund, an amount equal to the applicable percentage for such year, specified in such table, of the total wages paid in and self-employment income creditable to such year.

For a calendar year—

The applicable percentage for the year is—

After 1999 and before 2005 0.8 percent.

After 2009 and before 2014 1.2 percent.

After 2019 1.0 percent.

SEC. 209. MODIFICATION OF INCREASE IN NORMAL RETIREMENT AGE.

(a) In General.—Section 216(l)(1) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 416(l)(1)) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (B)—

(A) by striking “2005” and inserting “2011”; and

(B) by adding “and” at the end; and

(2) by striking subparagraphs (C), (D), and (E) and inserting the following:

“(C) With respect to an individual who attains early retirement age after December 31, 2010, 67 years of age.”

(b) Conforming Amendment.—Paragraph (3) of section 216(l) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 416(l)) is amended to read as follows:

“(3) The age increase factor for any individual who attains early retirement age in the period consisting of the calendar years 2000 through 2010, the age increase factor shall be equal to two-twelfths of the number of months in the period beginning with January 2000 and ending with December of the year in which the individual attains early retirement age.”

SEC. 210. MODIFICATION OF PIA FACTORS TO REFLECT CHANGES IN LIFE EXPECTANCY.

(a) Modification of PIA Factors.—Section 215(a)(1) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 415(a)(1)(B)) is amended by redesignating subparagraph (D) as subparagraph (F) and by inserting after subparagraph (C) the following:

“(D)(i) For individuals who initially become eligible for the insured benefits in any calendar year after 2011, each of the applicable number of times by the applicable factor.

“(i) such amount as determined under this paragraph, or

“(ii) such amount as determined under this paragraph without regard to subparagraph (D) thereof.”

(b) Study of the Effect of Increases in Life Expectancy.—

(1) Study Plan.—Not later than February 15, 2001, the Commissioner of Social Security shall submit to Congress a detailed study plan for evaluating the effects of increases in life expectancy on the expected level of retirement income from social security, pensions, and other sources. The study plan shall include a description of the methodology, data, and assumptions that will be required in order to provide to Congress not later than February 15, 2006—

(A) an evaluation of trends in mortality and their relationship to trends in health status, life expectancy, and eligibility for social security retirement benefits;

(B) an evaluation of trends in labor force participation among individuals approaching eligibility for social security retirement benefits and among individuals receiving retirement benefits, and of the factors that influence the choice of retirement and participation in the labor force;

(C) an evaluation of changes, if any, in the social security disability program that would reduce the impact of changes in the retirement income of workers in poor health or physically demanding occupations;

(D) an evaluation of the methodology used to develop projections for trends in mortality, health status, and labor force participation among individuals approaching eligibility for social security retirement benefits and among individuals receiving retirement benefits; and

(E) an evaluation of such other matters as the Commissioner deems appropriate for evaluating the effects of increases in life expectancy.

(2) Report on Results of Study.—Not later than February 15, 2006, the Commissioner of Social Security shall submit to Congress an evaluation of the implications of the trends studied under paragraph (1), along with recommendations, if any, of the extent to which the conclusions of such evaluations indicate that projected increases in life expectancy require modification in the social security disability program and other programs of the Federal government.

SEC. 211. MECHANISM FOR REMEDYING UNFORESEEN DETERIORATION IN SOCIAL SECURITY SOLVENCY.

(a) In General.—Section 709 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 910) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsection (b) as subsection (c); and

(2) by inserting before “SEC. 709. (a) If the Board of Trustees” and all that follows through “any such Trust Fund” and inserting the following:

“(a) If the Board of Trustees of the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund and the Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund determines at any time, using intermediate actuarial assumptions, that the balance ratio of either such Trust Fund for any calendar year during the succeeding period of 15 calendar years will be zero, the Board shall promptly submit to each House of the Congress and to the President a report setting forth its recommendations for statutory adjustments affecting the receipts and disbursements of such Trust Fund necessary to maintain the balance ratio of such Trust Fund at not less than 20 percent, with due regard to the economic conditions which created such inadequacy in the balance ratio and the amount of time necessary to alleviate such inadequacy in a prudent manner. The report shall set forth specific proposals for benefits that would have to be reduced, taxes under section 1401, 3101, or 3111 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 would have to be increased, or a combination of such proposals, if the Board determines are necessary to bring such recommendation and the President’s approval. The President shall transmit a copy of such recommendations, as so revised, to the Board and the Congress as the President’s recommendations, together with a certification of the President’s adoption of such recommendations.

(b) If the President disapproves all of the revised recommendations of the Board transmitted to the President under subparagraph (C), the President shall transmit to the Congress a report containing the President’s disapproval of such recommendations.

(c) If the President approves all of the revised recommendations of the Board transmitted to the President under subparagraph (A) or (B), the President shall transmit to the Congress a report setting forth its recommendations, together with a certification of the President’s adoption of such recommendations.

(3) This paragraph is enacted by Congress—

“(i) as an exercise of the rulemaking power of the Senate and the House of Representatives, respectively, and as such it is deemed a part of the rules of each House, respectively, but applicable only with respect to the procedure to be followed in that House in the case of a joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) and, if so referred, with such revisions to such recommendations as the President determines are necessary to bring such recommendations and the President’s approval of such recommendations before the Congress.

(4) If the President disapproves all of the revised recommendations of the Board transmitted to the President under subparagraph (B), the President shall transmit to the Board and to the Congress a report containing the President’s approval of such recommendations, together with a certification of the President’s adoption of such recommendations.
A motion to reconsider the vote by which the joint resolution had been received from the other House a joint resolution described in subparagraph (B), then the following procedures shall apply:

(1) The joint resolution of the other House shall not be referred to a committee and may be considered only if a motion similar to the joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) shall be decided without debate.

(2) If the joint resolution of the other House had been referred to a committee, the motion to reconsider such resolution shall be in order only if the motion is agreed to or disagreed to.

The motion is not subject to amendment, or to a quorum call, nor shall the previous question be in order on the motion to reconsider the vote by which the joint resolution was agreed to or disagreed to.

Joint resolution approving the recommendations of the President regarding social security.

A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) that is introduced in the Senate shall be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives. A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) introduced in the House shall be referred to the Committee on Finance of the Senate.

A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) that is introduced in the Senate and is not debatable. The joint resolution shall remain the unfinished business of the Senate and is not debatable. The motion is highly privileged against consideration of the joint resolution.

A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) that is introduced in the House of Representatives and is privileged against consideration of the joint resolution.

A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) that is introduced in the Senate and is not debatable. The joint resolution shall be placed on the appropriate calendar of the House involved.

A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) that is introduced in the House of Representatives and is privileged against consideration of the joint resolution.

A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) that is introduced in the Senate shall be referred to the Committee on Finance of the Senate.

A motion to postpone, or a motion to adjourn, shall be limited to not more than 2 hours, which shall be divided equally between the Members of the Senate and the Members of the House, unless a joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) shall be decided without debate.

A joint resolution of that House described in subparagraph (B) shall be decided without debate.

A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) that is introduced in the Senate shall be placed on the appropriate calendar of the House involved.

A joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) that is introduced in the House of Representatives and is privileged against consideration of the joint resolution.

The motion is not subject to amendment, or to a motion to postpone, or to a motion to proceed to the consideration of other business.

A motion to reconsider the vote by which the joint resolution was referred has not reported such joint resolution (or an identical joint resolution) by the end of the 20-day period beginning on the date on which it was transmitted to the Congress under paragraph (2), such committee shall be, at the end of such period, discharged from further consideration of such joint resolution, and such joint resolution shall be placed on the appropriate calendar of the House involved.

(ii) if, before the passage of such joint resolution of that House described in subparagraph (B), that House receives from the other House a joint resolution described in subparagraph (B), then the following procedures shall apply:

(i) The joint resolution of the other House shall not be referred to a committee and may be considered only if a motion similar to the joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) shall be decided without debate.

(b) If the Board of Trustees of the Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund or the Federal Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust Fund determines as any time that the balance of such joint resolution.

(c) With respect to a joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) page House receiving the joint resolution, the procedure in such as the case may be, to the procedure described in subparagraph (B) shall be decided without debate.

(ii) Upon disposition of the joint resolution received from the other House, it shall no longer be in order to consider the joint resolution that originated in the receiving House.

(iii) Immediately following the conclusion of the debate on a joint resolution described in subparagraph (B) and a single question be put on the vote on final passage of the joint resolution.

(iv) Appeals from the decisions of the Chair relating to the application of the rules of the Senate or the House of Representatives, as the case may be, to the procedure described in subparagraph (B) shall be decided without debate.

(b) If the joint resolution of the other House had been referred to a committee, the motion to reconsider such resolution shall be in order only if the motion is agreed to or disagreed to.

(c) SPECIAL RULE FOR SECTION 1250 PROPERTY.—So long as purposes of this section, in applying section 1250 of any disposition of any 1250 property, all depreciation adjustments in respect of the property shall be treated as additional depreciation.

(d) SECTION NOT TO APPLY TO CERTAIN TAXPAYERS.—No deduction shall be allowed under this section to—

(ii) a married individual (within the meaning of section 7703) filing a separate return for the taxable year, or

(iii) an estate or trust.

(e) SPECIAL RULE FOR PASS-THRU ENTITIES.—

(i) In general.—In applying this section with respect to any pass-thru entity, the determination of when the sale or exchange occurs shall be made at the entity level.

(ii) PASS-THRU ENTITY DEFINED.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the term ‘pass-thru entity’ means—

(A) a regulated investment company,

(B) a real estate investment trust,

(C) a S corporation,

(D) a partnership,

(E) an estate or trust, and

(F) a common trust fund.

(b) COORDINATION WITH MAXIMUM CAPITAL GAINS RATE.—Section 1250(d)(4)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended to read as follows:

(4) The amount of the net capital gain taken into account under section 1221(a) for the taxable year, plus

(n) the amount which the taxpayer elects to take into account as investment income for the taxable year under section 163(d)(4)(B)(ii).

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1998.
losses) is amended by inserting after paragraph (1) of such section the following new paragraph:

"(12) SPECIAL RULE FOR COLLECTIBLES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Any gain or loss from the sale or exchange of a collectible shall be treated as a short-term capital gain or loss (as the case may be), without regard to the period such asset was held. The preceding sentence shall apply only to the extent the gain or loss is taken into account in computing taxable income.

"(B) TREATMENT OF CERTAIN SALES OF INTEREST IN PARTNERSHIP, ETC.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), any gain from the sale or exchange of an interest in a partnership, S corporation, or trust which is attributable to unrealized appreciation in the value of collectibles held by such entity shall be treated as described in such paragraph. Rules similar to the rules of section 751(f) shall apply for purposes of the preceding sentence.

"(C) COLLECTIBLE.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'collectible' means any capital asset which is a collectible (as defined in section 408(m)) without regard to paragraph (3) thereof.

"(2) CHARITABLE DEDUCTION NOT AFFECTED.—

(A) Paragraph (1) of section 170(e) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: ''and section 1222 shall be applied without regard to paragraph (12) thereof (relating to special rule for collectibles).''

(B) Paragraph (1) of section 170(b)(1)(C) is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following: ''and section 1222 shall be applied without regard to paragraph (12) thereof (relating to special rule for collectibles)''.

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Section 57(a)(7) is amended by striking ''1202'' and inserting ''1203''.

(2) Clause (ii) of section 168(d)(4)(B) is amended to read as follows:

"(iii) the sum of—

"(I) the portion of the net capital gain referred to in clause (ii)(I) (or, if lesser, the net capital gain referred to in clause (ii)(I)) taken into account under section 1232, reduced by the amount of the deduction allowed with respect to such gain under section 1232, plus

"(II) so much of the gain described in subclause (I) which is not taken into account under section 1232, but increased by an amount equal to such dollar amount multiplied by the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1101(a) of the Internet Tax Freedom Act (title XI of division C of Public Law 105-277; 112 Stat. 2681-719; 47 U.S.C. 151 note) is amended by striking ''3 years after the date of the enactment of this Act'' and inserting ''5 years after October 21, 1998''.

WELLSTONE AMENDMENTS NOS. 1249–1240

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. WELLSTONE submitted the following two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

AMENDMENT No. 1249

Beginning on page 15, strike line 22 and all that follows through page 17, line 9, and insert the following:

"(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Paragraph (1) of section 32(b) (relating to inflation adjustments) is amended by striking ''(12)'' and inserting ''(b)(12)(A)'' before being increased under subparagraph (B) thereof.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

"(A) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—

"(1) FOR EXCEPTIONS.—For purposes of clause (1), the applicable dollar amount shall be increased under subparagraph (A) shall be increased by the applicable dollar amount.

"(2) COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT.—In the case of any taxable year beginning in a calendar year after 2007, the applicable dollar amount under subparagraph (A) shall be increased by an amount equal to such dollar amount multiplied by the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1101(a) of the Internet Tax Freedom Act (title XI of division C of Public Law 105-277; 112 Stat. 2681-719; 47 U.S.C. 151 note) is amended by striking ''3 years after the date of the enactment of this Act'' and inserting ''5 years after October 21, 1998''.

AMENDMENT No. 1430

At the end, add the following:

SEC. 1430. APPLICATION OF ACT.

Notwithstanding any other amendment made by, or provision of, this Act, the amendments made by, and provisions of, this Act shall not apply with respect to any taxpayer who is an individual, unless such taxpayer has an adjusted gross income not in excess of $1,000,000 with respect to the taxable year to which the amendment or provision applies.
Mr. DOMENICI submitted four amendments intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

SEC. 1433
On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (c) of section 25A (relating to lifetime learning credit) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) SPECIAL RULE FOR TECHNOLOGY TRAINING FOR ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY TEACHERS.—If any portion of the qualified tuition and related expenses to which this subsection applies—"(A) is paid or incurred by an individual who is a teacher in the classroom in an elementary or secondary school, and"(B) is incurred before January 1, 2005—"(i) for the enrollment or attendance of such individual in a course of instruction on basic or advanced computer functions or computer software (including educational software offered by a single institution) approved for such individual by such local educational agency, and"(ii) for purposes of integrating materials covered by such course into the courses taught in the elementary or secondary classroom, paragraph (1) shall be applied with respect to such portion by substituting ‘‘50 percent’’ for ‘‘20 percent.’’);", and by adding at the end the following:

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be determined under this section by taking into account the modifications provided by this subsection.

(2) DETERMINATION OF BASE AMOUNT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—In computing the base amount under subsection (c)—"(i) notwithstanding subsection (c)(3), the maximum amount which the aggregate qualified expenses paid or incurred by the taxpayer for the base period is of the aggregate gross receipts of the taxpayer for the base period, and"(ii) the minimum base amount under subsection (c)(2) shall not apply.

(b) START-UP AND SMALL TAXPAYERS.—In computing the base amount under subsection (c), the gross receipts of a taxpayer for any taxable year in the base period shall be determined as equal to $1,000,000.

"(C) BASE PERIOD.—For purposes of this subsection, the base period is the 8-taxable year period preceding the taxable year (or, if shorter, the period the taxpayer (and any predecessor) has been in existence).

"(3) ELECTION.—An election under this subsection shall apply to the taxable year for which made and all succeeding taxable years unless revoked with the consent of the Secretary.

"(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 41(c)(3)(B) is amended by striking paragraph (4) and by redesignating paragraphs (5) and (6) as paragraphs (4) and (5), respectively.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be determined under this section by taking into account the modifications provided by this subsection.

SEC. 1434
On page 38, line 10, strike ‘‘(B)’’ and insert ‘‘(2)’’.

(b) BASIC RESEARCH.—Specific commercial objective.—Section 41(e)(4) (relating to definitions and special rules), as redesignated by subsection (a)(2)(B), is amended by adding at the end the following:

(2) Specific commercial objective.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), research shall not be treated as having a specific commercial objective if the research shall be published in a timely manner as to be available to the general public prior to their use for a commercial purpose.

"(ii) basic research in the arts and humanities.

(c) EXPANSION OF CREDIT TO RESEARCH DONE AT FEDERAL LABORATORIES.—Section 41(e)(4), as redesignated by subsection (a), is amended by adding at the end the following:

(2) Federal laboratories.—Any organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 4(e)(2) of the Stevenson-Wydler Technology Innovation Act of 1980 (15 U.S.C. 3709(e)(2)))

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 1435
On page 371, between lines 3 through 12, and insert the following:

(a) INCREASED LIFETIME LEARNING CREDIT FOR TECHNOLOGY TRAINING FOR ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY TEACHERS.—Section 40A(c)(3)(A) (relating to credit for increasing research activities), as redesignated by subsection (a), is amended by striking “and” and at the end of paragraph (1), striking the period at the end of paragraph (1), and inserting “and”.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be determined under this section by taking into account the modifications provided by this subsection.

"(B) which is incurred before January 1, 2005—"(i) notwithstanding subsection (c)(3), the maximum amount which the aggregate qualified expenses paid or incurred by the taxpayer for the base period is of the aggregate gross receipts of the taxpayer for the base period, and"(ii) the minimum base amount under subsection (c)(2) shall not apply.

(b) START-UP AND SMALL TAXPAYERS.—In computing the base amount under subsection (c), the gross receipts of a taxpayer for any taxable year in the base period shall be determined as equal to $1,000,000.

"(C) BASE PERIOD.—For purposes of this subsection, the base period is the 8-taxable year period preceding the taxable year (or, if shorter, the period the taxpayer (and any predecessor) has been in existence).

"(3) ELECTION.—An election under this subsection shall apply to the taxable year for which made and all succeeding taxable years unless revoked with the consent of the Secretary.

"(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 41(c)(3)(B) is amended by striking paragraph (4) and by redesignating paragraphs (5) and (6) as paragraphs (4) and (5), respectively.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be determined under this section by taking into account the modifications provided by this subsection.

SEC. 1436
On page 371, between lines 3 through 12, and insert the following:

(a) CREDIT FOR EXPENSES ATTRIBUTABLE TO CERTAIN COLLABORATIVE RESEARCH CONSORTIA.—Subsection (a) of section 41 (relating to credit for increasing research activities) is amended by striking “and” and at the end of paragraph (1), striking the period at the end of paragraph (2) and inserting “, and”. And by adding at the end the following:

(3) 20 percent of the amounts paid or incurred by the taxpayer in carrying on any trade or business of the taxpayer during the taxable year (including as contributions) to a qualified research consortium.

(b) QUALIFIED RESEARCH CONSORTIUM DEFINED.—Subsection (1) of section 41 is amended by striking the period at the end of paragraph (3) and by redesignating paragraphs (4), (5), (6), and (7) as paragraphs (3), (4), (5), and (6), respectively.

"(6) QUALIFIED RESEARCH CONSORTIUM.—The term ‘‘qualified research consortium’’ means any organization—

(1) of which—

(i) described in section 501(c)(3) and is exempt from tax under section 501(a) and is organized and operated primarily to conduct scientific or engineering research, or

(ii) organized and operated primarily to conduct scientific or engineering research in the public interest (within the meaning of section 501(c)(3)),

(2) which is not a private foundation,

(3) to which at least 5 unrelated persons paid or incurred during the calendar year in which the taxable year of the organization begins amounts (including as contributions) to such organization for scientific or engineering research, and

(4) to which no single person paid or incurred (including as contributions) during such calendar year an amount equal to more than 50 percent of the total amounts received by such organization for scientific or engineering research.

All persons treated as a single employer under subsection (a) or (b) of section 52 shall be treated as related persons for purposes of subparagraph (C) and as a single person for purposes of subparagraph (D)."

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.
SEC. 721. INCREASE IN ANNUAL GIFT EXCLUSION.

(a) In General.—Section 2503(b) (relating to exclusions from gifts) is amended—

(1) by striking paragraph (1) and inserting “applicable dollar amount”, and

(2) by striking paragraph (2) and inserting the following:

“(2) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the applicable dollar amount shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

For gifts made—The applicable dollar amount is—

After 2000 but before 2002 ................... $12,000
After 2002 but before 2004 ................... $15,000
After 2003 .................................... $16,500

(b) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 722. INCREASE IN ANNUAL GIFT EXCLUSION.
(a) In General.—Section 2503(b) (relating to exclusions from gifts) is amended—

(1) by striking “$15,000” in paragraph (1) and inserting “applicable dollar amount”, and

(c) Conforming Amendment.—Paragraph (5) of section 2503(b) is amended by striking subparagraph (C).

(d) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 723. IMPROVEMENT TO CREDIT FOR SMALL BUSINESSES AND RESEARCH PARTNERSHIPS.

(a) Assistance to Small and Start-Up Businesses.—The Secretary of the Treasury or the Secretary’s delegate shall take such actions as are appropriate to—

(1) provide assistance to small and start-up businesses in complying with the requirements of section 41 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, and

(2) reduce the costs of such compliance.

(b) Repeal of Limitation on Contract Research Expenses Paid to Small Businesses, Universities, and Federal Laboratories.—Section 41(b)(3) is further amended by adding at the end the following:

“(C) AMOUNTS PAID TO ELIGIBLE SMALL BUSINESSES, UNIVERSITIES, AND FEDERAL LABORATORIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of amounts paid by the taxpayer to an eligible small business, university, or organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)), or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)), subparagraph (A) shall be applied by substituting ‘100 percent’ for ‘65 percent’.

(2) ELIGIBLE SMALL BUSINESS.—For purposes of this subparagraph, the term ‘eligible small business’ means a small business with respect to which the taxpayer does not own (within the meaning of section 318) 50 percent or more of the aggregate gross receipts of the taxpayer for the base period, and

(3) ELIGIBLE UNIVERSITY, ORGANIZATION.—For purposes of paragraph (2), the following shall apply:

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘eligible university, organization’—

(i) means a public or private university or organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)) or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)); and

(ii) shall not include any organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)) or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)) to the extent that the applicable dollar amount determined under section 41(e)(1)(A) for such organization for the taxable year does not exceed $100,000.

(b) repeal of limitation on contract research expenses paid to small businesses, universities, and federal laboratories.—Section 41(b)(3) is amended by—

(1) striking subsection (b)(3) and inserting the following:

“(C) AMOUNTS PAID TO ELIGIBLE SMALL BUSINESSES, UNIVERSITIES, AND FEDERAL LABORATORIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of amounts paid by the taxpayer to an eligible small business, university, or organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)), or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)), subparagraph (A) shall be applied by substituting ‘100 percent’ for ‘65 percent’.

(2) ELIGIBLE SMALL BUSINESS.—For purposes of this subparagraph, the term ‘eligible small business’ means a small business with respect to which the taxpayer does not own (within the meaning of section 318) 50 percent or more of the aggregate gross receipts of the taxpayer for the base period, and

(3) ELIGIBLE UNIVERSITY, ORGANIZATION.—For purposes of paragraph (2), the following shall apply:

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘eligible university, organization’—

(i) means a public or private university or organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)) or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)); and

(ii) shall not include any organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)) or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)) to the extent that the applicable dollar amount determined under section 41(e)(1)(A) for such organization for the taxable year does not exceed $100,000.

(c) expansion of credit to research done at federal laboratories.—Section 41(b)(3), as redesignated by subsection (a), is amended to read as follows:

“(C) AMOUNTS PAID TO ELIGIBLE SMALL BUSINESSES, UNIVERSITIES, AND FEDERAL LABORATORIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of amounts paid by the taxpayer to an eligible small business, university, or organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)), or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)), subparagraph (A) shall be applied by substituting ‘100 percent’ for ‘65 percent’.

(2) ELIGIBLE SMALL BUSINESS.—For purposes of paragraph (2), the term ‘eligible small business’ means a small business with respect to which the taxpayer does not own (within the meaning of section 318) 50 percent or more of the aggregate gross receipts of the taxpayer for the base period, and

(3) ELIGIBLE UNIVERSITY, ORGANIZATION.—For purposes of paragraph (2), the following shall apply:

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘eligible university, organization’—

(i) means a public or private university or organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)), or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)); and

(ii) shall not include any organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in section 330(f)) or an organization which is a Federal laboratory (as defined in subsection (e)(3)(B)) to the extent that the applicable dollar amount determined under section 41(e)(1)(A) for such organization for the taxable year does not exceed $100,000.

(d) effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 724. CREDIT FOR EXPENSES ATTRIBUTABLE TO CERTAIN COLLABORATIVE RESEARCH CONSORTIA.

(a) Credit for Expenses Attributable to Certain Collaborative Research Consortia.—Subsection (a) of section 41 (relating to credit for increasing research activities) is amended by striking “for the taxable year” and inserting “for the calendar year”.

(b) Qualified Research Consortium Defined.—Subsection (c) of section 41 is amended—

(1) by striking “qualified research" and inserting "qualifying research activities", and

(2) by inserting “or several persons” after “related” in the first sentence.

(c) Conforming Amendment.—Section 41(e) is amended by striking paragraph (4) and by redesignating paragraphs (5) and (6) as paragraphs (4) and (5), respectively.

(d) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2005.

SEC. 725. MODIFICATIONS TO CREDIT FOR BASIC RESEARCH.

(a) Elimination of Incremental Requirement.—

(1) In General.—Paragraph 1 of section 41(e) (relating to credit allowable with respect to certain payments to qualified organizations for basic research) is amended to read as follows:

“(1) In General.—The amount of basic research expenses taken into account under subsection (a)(2) shall be determined in accordance with this subsection.

(b) Conforming Amendments.—

(A) Section 41(a)(2) is amended by striking “determined under subsection (e)(1)(A)” and inserting “determined under subsection (a)(2)”.

(B) Section 41(e) is amended by striking paragraphs (3), (4), and (5) and redesignating paragraphs (6) and (7) as paragraphs (4) and (5), respectively.

(C) Section 41(e)(4), as redesignated by subparagraph (B), is amended by striking subparagraph (B) and by redesignating subparagraphs (C), (D), and (E) as subparagraphs (B), (C), and (D), respectively.

(D) Clause (i) of section 170(e)(4)(B) is amended by striking “section 41(e)(6)” and inserting “section 41(g)(3)”.

(e) Basic Research in the Arts and Humanities.—

SEC. 726. CREDIT FOR INCREASED RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT EXPENSES.

(a) In General.—Section 41 (relating to credit for increasing research activities) is amended by striking paragraph (4) and by redesignating paragraphs (5) and (6) as paragraphs (4) and (5), respectively.

(b) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2005.
AMENDMENT No. 1435

On page 372, strike lines 7 through 19.

On page 395, strike lines 4 through 9, and insert the following:

On page 320, strike the following:

On page 256, strike the following:

On page 195, strike lines 4 through 9, and insert the following:

On page 372, strike lines 7 through 19.

On page 395, strike lines 4 through 9, and insert the following:

SEC. 404. TEMPORARY EXTENSION OF EXCLUSION FOR EMPLOYER-PROVIDED EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) In General.—Section 127(d) (relating to termination) is amended by striking “May 31, 2000” and inserting “December 31, 2004.”

AMENDMENT No. 1435

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

(a) Short Title.—The short title for this Act is as follows:

(b) Table of Contents.—The table of contents of this Act is as follows:

SEC. 1. Short title; table of contents.

TITLe I—TAX RELIEF

Sec. 11. Broad based tax relief for all taxpaying families.

Sec. 12. Marriage penalty mitigation and tax burden reduction.

TITLe II—SAVING AND INVESTMENT PROVISIONS

Sec. 21. Dividend and interest tax relief.

Sec. 22. Long-term capital gains deduction for individuals.

Sec. 23. Increase in contribution limits for traditional IRAs.

TITLe III—BUSINESS INVESTMENT PROVISIONS

Sec. 31. Repeal of alternative minimum tax on corporations.

Sec. 32. Increase in limit for expensing certain business assets.

TITLe IV—ESTATE AND GIFT TAX RELIEF

Sec. 41. Phasedout of estate and gift taxes.

TITLe V—RESEARCH CREDIT EXTENSION AND MODIFICATION

Sec. 51. Purpose.

Sec. 52. Permanent extension of research credit.

Sec. 53. Improved alternative incremental investment credit.

Sec. 54. Modifications to credit for basic research.

Sec. 55. Credit for expenses attributable to certain collaborative research consortia.

Sec. 56. Improvement to credit for small businesses and research partnerships.

TITLe VI—ENERGY INDEPENDENCE

Sec. 61. Purposes.

Sec. 62. Tax credit for marginal domestic oil and natural gas well production.

Sec. 63. 10-year carryback for unused minimum tax credit.

Sec. 64. 10-year net operating loss carryback for losses attributable to oil servicing companies and mineral interests of oil and gas producers.

Sec. 65. Waiver of limitations.

Sec. 66. Election to expense geological and geophysical expenditures and certain rental lease expenses.

TITLe VII—REVENUE PROVISION

Sec. 71. 4-year averaging for conversion of traditional IRA to Roth IRA.

TITLe I—TAX RELIEF

SEC. 11. BROAD BASED TAX RELIEF FOR ALL TAXPAYING FAMILIES.

(a) Purpose.—The purpose of this section is to cut taxes for 120,000,000 taxpaying families by lowering the 15 percent tax rate.

(b) In General.—Section 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to tax imposed) is amended—

(1) by striking “15%” each place it appears in the tables in subsections (a) through (e) and inserting “The applicable rate”, and (A) in clause (ii) of subparagraph (C) as a single person for purposes of subparagraph (D).”

(2) by adding at the end the following:

“(ii) APPPLICABLE RATE.—For purposes of this section, the applicable rate for any taxable year shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

In the case of any The applicable rate taxable year begining in—

2003 .............................. 14.9 percent
2004 .............................. 14.8 percent
2005 .............................. 14.7 percent
2006 and thereafter ...... 13.5 percent

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Section 62(e)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended—

(A) by inserting “except as provided in subsection (i),” before “by not changing” in subparagraph (B), and

(B) by inserting “and the adjustment in rate under subsection (i)” after “rate brackets” in subparagraph (C).

(2) Section 3402(p)(2) of such Code is amended by striking “15 percent” and inserting “the applicable rate”.

(3) Section 3402(p)(2) of such Code is amended by striking “15 percent” and inserting “the applicable rate in effect under section 1(1) for the taxable year”.

(c) New Tables.—Not later than 15 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe tables for taxable years beginning in 2002 which shall reflect the reduction in the rate of tax under section 1(1) for 35,000,000 taxpaying families who will result in tax increases) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2)—

(II) STARTUPS, CONTROLLED GROUPS, AND PREDECESSORS.—Rules similar to the rules of subparagraphs (B) and (D) of section 220(c)(4) shall apply for purposes of this subsection.

(c) Credit for Patent Filing Fees.—Section 41(a) is further amended by striking “and” at the end of paragraph (2), by striking the end of paragraph (2), and inserting “; and”, and by adding at the end the following:

“(D) 20 percent of the patent filing fees paid or incurred by a small business (as defined in subsection (b)(3)(C)(ii)(III)) to the United States or to any foreign government in carrying on any trade or business.

(d) Increased Rate for Carryover.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2005.

SEC. 12. MARRIAGE PENALTY MITIGATION AND TAX BURDEN REDUCTION.

(a) Purpose.—The purposes of this section are to return 7,000,000 taxpaying families to the 15 percent tax bracket and to cut taxes for 35,000,000 taxpaying families who will benefit from a tax cut of up to $1,300 per family by eliminating or mitigating the marriage penalty for many middle class taxpaying families.

(b) In General.—Section 1(f) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to adjustments in tax tables so that inflation will not result in a lower tax burden) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2)—

(A) by redesignating subparagraphs (B) and (C) as subparagraphs (C) and (D), and

(B) by inserting after subparagraph (A) the following:

“(B) in the case of the tables contained in subsections (a), (d), (c), and (d), by increasing the maximum taxable income level for the lowest rate bracket and the minimum taxable income level for the 28 percent rate
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE
18507

July 29, 1999

bracket otherwise determined under sub-paragraph (A) (for dollar amount—finning in any calendar year after 2001, by the applicadable dollar amount for such calendar year),";
and
(C) by striking "subsection (A)" in sub-paragraph (C) (as so redesignated) and inserting "subparagraphs (A) and (B)", and
(2) by adding at the end the following:
"(B) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—For purposes of paragraph (2)(B), the applicable dollar amount for any calendar year shall be determined as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Calendar year:</th>
<th>Applicable Dollar Amount:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>$1,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>$2,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>$5,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006 and there after</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(B) OTHER TABLES.—In the case of the table contained in subsection (b), (c), or (d)—</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calendar year:</td>
<td>Applicable Dollar Amount:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>$2,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>$3,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>$4,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>$5,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006 and there after</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SEC. 13. REPEAL OF ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX ON INDIVIDUALS.

(a) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are—

(1) to simplify the tax code so that millions of Americans will no longer be required to calculate their income taxes under 2 systems;
(2) to recognize that tax credits should not be denied to individuals who are eligible for such credit.

(b) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (a) of section 55 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following new flush sentence:

"For purposes of this title, the tentative minimum tax on any taxpayer other than a corporation for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 2009, shall be zero.";

(c) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—The applicable dollar amount for any calendar year shall not exceed the excess (if any) of—

(1) the regular tax liability of the taxpayer for such taxable year reduced by the sum of the credits allowable under paragraphs (A), (B), (D), (E), and (F) of this part, over

(2) the tentative minimum tax for the taxable year.

"(2) TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER 2009. —In the case of any taxable year beginning after 2009, the credit allowable under subsection (a) to a taxpayer other than a corporation for any taxable year shall not exceed 90 percent of the excess (if any) of—

(1) the regular tax liability of the taxpayer for such taxable year reduced by the sum of the credits allowable under paragraphs (A), (B), (D), (E), and (F) of this part, over

(2) the sum of the credits allowable under paragraphs (A), (B), (D), (E), and (F) of this part.

(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1998.

TITLE II—SAVING AND INVESTMENT PROVISIONS

SEC. 21. DIVIDEND AND INTEREST TAX RELIEF.

(a) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are—

(1) to provide an incremental step toward taxing income that is consumed rather than income that is earned and saved;
(2) to simplify the tax code by eliminating 67,000,000 hours spent on tax preparation;
(3) to eliminate all income tax on savings for more than 30,000,000 middle class families;
(4) to reduce income taxes on savings for 37,000,000 individuals; and
(5) to allow a $10,000 nest egg to grow tax-free and let individuals experience the miracle of compound interest.

(b) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (a) of section 55 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to amounts specifically excluded from gross income) is amended by making the following amendments:

(1) M AXIMUM AMOUNT.—The aggregate amount excluded under subsection (a) for any taxable year shall not exceed $250 ($500 in the case of a joint return).

(2) CHILD CREDIT.—Subsection (d) of section 21 of such Code is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following:

"(2) interest received by individuals.''

(c) INTEREST.—For purposes of this section—

(1) interest on deposits with a bank (as defined in section 581),
(2) amounts (whether or not designated as interest) paid in respect of deposits, investments, or certificates of or shares of a domestic or reducible shares, by—

(A) a mutual savings bank, cooperative bank, domestic building and loan association, industrial loan association, or bank, or credit union, or

(B) any other savings or thrift institution which is chartered and supervised under Federal or State law,

the deposits or accounts in which are insured under Federal or State law or which are protected and guaranteed under State law,

(3) interest on—

"(A) evidences of indebtedness (including bonds, debentures, notes, and certificates) issued by a domestic corporation in registered form, and

"(B) interest attributable to participation shares in a trust established and maintained by a corporation established pursuant to Federal law.

(d) S PECIAL RULES.—For purposes of this section—

(1) DISTRIBUTIONS FROM REGULATED IN-VESTMENT COMPANIES AND REAL ESTATE IN-VESTMENT TRUSTS.—Subsection (a) shall apply with respect to distributions by—

(A) regulated investment companies to the extent provided in section 851(c), and

(B) real estate investment trusts to the extent provided in section 857(c).

(2) DISTRIBUTIONS BY A TRUST.—For purposes of subsection (a), the amount of dividends and interest properly allocable to a beneficiary under section 652 or 662 shall be deemed to have been received by the bene-iciary ratably on the same date that the dividends and interest were received by the estate or trust.

(3) CERTAIN NONRESIDENT ALIENS INEL-

ELIGIBLE FOR EXCLUSION.—In the case of a non-resident alien individual, subsection (a) shall apply only—

(1) if the tax imposed for the taxable year pursuant to section 871(b)(1) and only in respect of dividends and interest which are effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, or

(2) in determining the tax imposed for the taxable year pursuant to section 871(b)(1).

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) The table of sections for part III of subchapter B of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 115 the following:

"Sec. 116. Partial exclusion of dividends and interest received by individuals.

(a) EXCLUSION FROM GROSS INCOME.—Gross income does not include the sum of the amounts received during the taxable year by an individual as—

"(1) dividends from domestic corporations, or

"(2) interest.

(b) LIMITATIONS.—

1. MAXIMUM AMOUNT.—The aggregate amount excluded under subsection (a) for any taxable year shall not exceed $250 ($500 in the case of a joint return).

2. C ERTAIN DIVIDENDS EXCLUDED.—Subsection (a)(1) shall not apply to any dividend from a corporation which, for the taxable year of the corporation in which the distribution is made, or for the next preceding taxable year of the corporation, is a corporation exempt from tax under section 501 (relating to certain charitable, etc., organization) or section 521 (relating to farmers' cooperatives associations).

(d) NONREFUNDABLE PERSONAL CREDITS

FULLY ALLOWED AGAINST REGULAR TAX LI-

ABILITY.

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (a) of section 26 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (re-ating to limitation based on amount of tax) is amended to read as follows:

"(a) LIMITATION BASED ON AMOUNT OF TAX.—The aggregate amount of credits allowed by this subpart for the taxable year shall not exceed the excess of the regular tax liability for the taxable year.

(2) CHILD CREDIT.—Subsection (d) of section 24 of such Code is amended by striking paragraph (2) and by redesignating paragraph (3) as paragraph (2).
(3) Subsection (c) of section 584 of such Code is amended by adding at the end the following new flush sentence:

"The proportionate share of each participant in the amount of dividends or interest received by the common trust fund and to which section 116 applies shall be considered for purposes of such section as having been received by such participant."

(4) Subsection (a) of section 643 of such Code is amended by redesignating paragraph (7) as paragraph (8) and by inserting after paragraph (6) the following:

"(7) TREATMENT OF INTEREST.—There shall be included the amount of any dividends or interest excluded from gross income pursuant to section 116.

(5) Section 854 of such Code is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(c) Treatment Under Section 116.—

"(1) In General.—For purposes of section 116, in the case of any dividend (other than a dividend described in subsection (a)) received by a regulated investment company which meets the requirements of section 632 for the taxable year, the amount so designated shall be treated as a dividend if the sum of the aggregate dividends and the aggregate interest received by such company during the taxable year equals or exceeds 75 percent of its gross income, or

"(B) if subparagraph (A) does not apply, the amount so designated by the company in a written notice to its shareholders mailed not later than 60 days after the close of its taxable year.

"(2) Definitions.—For purposes of this subsection—

"(A) Gross income.—The term 'gross income' does not include gain from the sale or other disposition of stock or securities.

"(B) Aggregate dividends.—The term 'aggregate dividends' includes only dividends received from domestic corporations other than dividends described in section 116(b)(2).

"(C) Gross income shall be treated as aggregate dividends if the amount so designated by the company in a written notice to its shareholders mailed not later than 60 days after the close of its taxable year.

"(3) Limitations Applicable to Dividends Received from Real Estate Investment Trusts.—

"(1) In General.—For purposes of section 116 (relating to an exclusion for dividends and interest received by individuals) and section 2042 (relating to dividends received by corporations), a dividend received from a real estate investment trust which meets the requirements of this part for the taxable year in which it paid the dividend—

"(A) such dividend shall be treated as interest if the aggregate interest received by the real estate investment trust for the taxable year equals or exceeds 75 percent of its gross income,

"(B) if subparagraph (A) does not apply, the portion of such dividend which bears the same ratio to the amount of such dividend as the aggregate interest received by the real estate investment trust bears to gross income.

"(2) Adjustments to Gross Income and Aggregate Interest Received.—For purposes of paragraph (2)—

"(A) gross income does not include the net capital gain,

"(B) gross income and aggregate interest received shall each be reduced by so much of the deduction allowable by section 163 for the taxable year (other than for interest on mortgages on real property owned by the regulated investment trust) as does not exceed aggregate interest received by the taxable year,

"(C) gross income shall be reduced by the sum of long-term capital gains as defined in subsection (b)(3)(C) received from a regulated investment company for the taxable year in which it paid the dividend—

"(D) the amount which the taxpayer elects to take into account as investment income for the taxable year (other than for interest on mortgages on real property owned by the regulated investment trust) as does not exceed aggregate interest received by the taxable year,

"(E) to shareholders.

"(3) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2001.

\[\text{SEC. 22. Long-Term Capital Gains Deduction for Individuals.}\]

(a) Purposes.—The purposes of this section are—

"(1) to provide an incremental step toward shifting the Internal Revenue Code away from taxing savings and investment,

"(2) to lower the cost of capital so that prosperity, business, and innovation will continue in the United States,

"(3) to eliminate capital gain taxes for 10,000,000 families, 75 percent of whom have annual incomes of $75,000 or less, and

"(4) to simplify the tax code and thereby eliminate 70,000,000 hours of tax preparation.

(b) General Rule.—Part I of subchapter P of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to treatment of capital gains) is amended by redesignating section 1232 as section 1230 and by inserting after section 1241 the following:

\[\text{"SEC. 1202. CAPITAL GAINS DEDUCTION FOR INDI-\NUALS.}\]

(a) In General.—In the case of an individual, there shall be added as a deduction for the taxable year an amount equal to the lesser of—

"(1) the net capital gain of the taxpayer for the taxable year, or

"(2) $5,000.

(b) Sales Between Related Parties.—Gains from sales and exchanges to any related person (within the meaning given such term by section 116(c)).

(c) Special Rule for Section 1250 Property.—In the case of a stock or real estate investment trust, in applying section 1225 to any disposition of section 1250 property, all depreciation ad-
(2) CHARTERED REDUCTION NOT AFFECTED. —

(A) Paragraph (1) of section 170(e) of such Code is amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

"For purposes of this subparagraph, section 1222 shall be applied after December 31, 2000.

(2) COLLECTIBLES. — The amendments made by subsection (a) to section 1222 shall apply to sales and exchanges after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 23. INCREASE IN CONTRIBUTION LIMITS FOR TRADITIONAL IRAS.

(a) PURPOSES. — The purposes of this section are —

(1) to increase the savings rate for all Americans by reforming the tax system to permit the after-tax income that is invested for retirement, and

(2) to provide targeted incentives to middle class families to increase their retirement savings by saving $1,000 per working member of the family per taxable year.

(b) INCREASE IN CONTRIBUTION LIMIT. —

Paragraph (1)(A) of section 219(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to maximum amount of deduction) is amended by striking "$2,000" and inserting "$3,000".

(c) EXPANDING THE INCLUSION OF SAVINGS MADE IN TRADITIONAL IRAS. —

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 179(b)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to alternative minimum tax foreign tax credit) is amended by striking paragraph (2) and by redesignating paragraphs (3) and (4) as paragraphs (2) and (3), respectively.

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 53(c)(10)(D) of such Code is amended by striking "and if section 59(a)(2) did not apply".

SEC. 31. REPEAL OF 90 PERCENT LIMITATION ON FOREIGN TAX CREDITS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 59(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to alternative minimum tax foreign tax credit) is amended by striking paragraph (2) and by redesignating paragraphs (3) and (4) as paragraphs (2) and (3), respectively.

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 53(c)(10)(D) of such Code is amended by striking "and if section 59(a)(2) did not apply".

(d) LIMITATION ON USE OF CREDIT FOR PRIOR YEARS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (c) of section 53 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended by section 13, is amended by redesignating paragraph (2) as paragraph (3) and by inserting after paragraph (1) the following new paragraph:

"(2) CORPORATIONS FOR TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER 2003.—In the case of corporations for any taxable year beginning after 2003, the limitation determined under this paragraph shall be greater than the sum of the credits allowed under subsections A, B, D, E, and F of this part by an amount equal to —

(A) the amount in effect under section 219(b)(1)(A) as in effect before the application of paragraphs (2) and (3), the amendments made by subsection (b) thereof.

(2) ROUNDED RULES. — If any amount after adjustment under paragraph (1) is not a multiple of $100, such amount shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $100.

(d) INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.—

(1) DEDUCTIBLE AMOUNTS.—In the case of any taxable year beginning after 2005, the $3,000 amount under subsection (b)(1)(A) shall be increased by an amount equal to —

(A) such dollar amount, multiplied by

(B) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year in which the taxable year begins, determined by substituting 'calendar year 2004' for 'calendar year 1992' in subparagraph (B) thereof.

(2) ROUNDING RULES.—If any amount after adjustment under paragraph (1) is not a multiple of $100, such amount shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $100.

SEC. 32. INCREASE IN LIMIT FOR ELECTION TO EXPEND CERTAIN BUSINESS ASSETS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 179(b)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to dollar limitation) is amended by striking the last item in the table and inserting the following new items:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Dollar Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>$25,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004 or thereafter</td>
<td>$100,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(b) INDEX.—Section 179(b)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to dollar limitation) is amended by striking at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

"(5) INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.—In the case of a taxable year beginning after 2005, the applicable

(a) PURPOSE. — The purpose of this section is to eliminate one of the most misguided, anti-growth, anti-investment tax schemes ever devised.

(b) IN GENERAL. — The last sentence of section 55(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended by section 15, is amended by striking "on any taxpayer other than a corporation".
for ‘calendar year 1992’ in subparagraph (B) thereof.’’

(c) INCREASE IN LIMITATION ON COST OF PROPERTY PLACED IN SERVICE.—Section 179(b)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to reduction in limitation) is amended by striking ‘‘$200,000’’ and inserting ‘‘$1,000,000’’.

TITLE IV—ESTATE AND GIFT TAX RELIEF

SEC. 41. PHASEOUT OF ESTATE AND GIFT TAXES.

(a) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this section is to begin phasing out the confiscatory gift and estate tax by reducing the rate of taxation.

(b) REPEAL OF ESTATE AND GIFT TAXES.—Subtitle B of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to estate and gift taxes) is repealed effective with respect to estates of decedents dying, and gifts made, after December 31, 2009.

(c) PHASEOUT OF TAX.—Subsection (c) of section 2001 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to imposition and rate of tax) is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(3) PHASEOUT OF TAX.—In the case of estates of decedents dying, and gifts made, during any calendar year after 1999 and before 2010—

‘‘(A) IN GENERAL.—The tentative tax under this subsection shall be determined by using a table prescribed by the Secretary (in lieu of using the table contained in paragraph (1)) which is the same as such table; except that—

‘‘(i) each of the rates of tax shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the number of percentage points determined under subparagraph (B), and

‘‘(ii) the amounts setting forth the tax shall be adjusted to the extent necessary to reflect the adjustments under clause (i).

‘‘(B) PERCENTAGE POINTS OF REDUCTION.—

The number of

‘‘For calendar year: percentage points is:

2001 .................................................. 1
2002 .................................................. 2
2003 .................................................. 3
2004 .................................................. 4
2005 .................................................. 5
2006 .................................................. 6
2007 .................................................. 7
2008 .................................................. 8
2009 .................................................. 9

‘‘(C) COORDINATION WITH PARAGRAPH (2).—

Paragraph (2) shall be applied by reducing the 55 percent percentage contained therein by the number of percentage points determined for such calendar year under subparagraph (B).

‘‘(D) COORDINATION WITH CREDIT FOR STATE DEATH TAXES.—Rules similar to the rules of subparagraph (A) shall apply to the table contained in section 2001(b) except that the number of percentage points referred to in subparagraph (A)(i) shall be determined under the following table:

The number of

‘‘For calendar year: percentage points is:

2001 .................................................. 1
2002 .................................................. 2
2003 .................................................. 3
2004 .................................................. 4
2005 .................................................. 5
2006 .................................................. 6
2007 .................................................. 7
2008 .................................................. 8
2009 .................................................. 9

‘‘(C) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2009.

SEC. 52. IMPROVED ALTERNATIVE INCREMENTAL CREDIT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 41 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to credit for increasing research activities) is amended by striking subsection (b),

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 45(b)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking subparagraph (a) and

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to amounts paid or incurred after December 31, 2009.

SEC. 53. IMPROVED ALTERNATIVE INCREMENTAL CREDIT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 41 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to credit for increasing research activities) is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(b) OF ALTERNATIVE INCREMENTAL CREDIT.—

‘‘(1) IN GENERAL.—At the election of the taxpayer, the credit under subsection (a)(1) shall be determined by using a table prescribed by the Secretary under this section by taking into account the modifications provided by this subsection.

‘‘(2) DETERMINATION OF BASE AMOUNT.—

‘‘(A) IN GENERAL.—In computing the base amount under subsection (c),

‘‘(i) notwithstanding subsection (c)(3), the fixed base percentage shall be equal to 80 percent of the percentage which the aggregate qualified research expenses of the taxpayer for the base period is of the aggregate gross receipts of the taxpayer for the base period, and

‘‘(ii) the minimum base amount under subsection (c)(2) shall not apply.

‘‘(B) Start-up and Small Taxpayers.—In computing the base amount under subsection (c), the gross receipts of a taxpayer for any taxable year in the base period shall be treated as at least equal to $1,000,000.

‘‘(C) Base Period.—For purposes of this subsection, the base period is the 8-taxable year period preceding the taxable year or, if shorter, the period the taxpayer (and any predecessor) has been in existence.

‘‘(3) ELECTION.—An election under this subsection shall be determined by using a table prescribed by the Secretary under this section by taking into account the modifications provided by this subsection.

‘‘(4) MODIFICATIONS TO CREDIT.—

‘‘(A) IN GENERAL.—The tentative tax under this section shall be equal to 20 percent of the percentage which the aggregate qualified research expenses of the taxpayer for the base period is of the aggregate gross receipts of the taxpayer for the base period, and

‘‘(B) Start-up and Small Taxpayers.—In computing the tentative tax under subsection (d)(A), the gross receipts of a taxpayer for any taxable year in the base period shall be treated as at least equal to $1,000,000.

‘‘(C) Base Period.—For purposes of this subsection, the base period is the 8-taxable year period preceding the taxable year or, if shorter, the period the taxpayer (and any predecessor) has been in existence.

‘‘(3) ELECTION.—An election under this subsection shall be determined by using a table prescribed by the Secretary under this section by taking into account the modifications provided by this subsection.

SEC. 54. MODIFICATIONS TO CREDIT FOR BASIC RESEARCH.

(a) ELIMINATION OF INCREMENTAL REQUIREMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (1) of section 41(e) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to the requirement that certain payments to qualified organizations for basic research) is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(1) IN GENERAL.—The amount of basic research payments taken into account under subsection (a)(2) shall be determined in accordance with this subsection.

(b) Conforming Amendment.—

(A) Section 41(a)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking ‘‘deterwhich the taxable year of the organization begins on or after such date (including as contributions) to such organization for scientific or engineering research, and “(D) to which no single person paid or incurred (including as contributions) during such calendar year an amount equal to more than 50 percent of the total amounts received by such organization during such calendar year for scientific or engineering research.

All persons treated as a single employer under subsection (a) or (b) of section 52 shall be treated as related persons for purposes of subparagraph (D) if such persons are a single person for purposes of subparagraph (D)."

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Paragraph (3) of section 41(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking subparagraph (C).

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 56. IMPROVEMENT TO CREDIT FOR SMALL BUSINESSES AND RESEARCH PARTNERSHIPS.

(a) Assistance to Small and Start-Up Businesses.—The Secretary of the Treasury or the Secretary’s delegate shall take such actions as are appropriate—

(1) to provide assistance to small and start-up businesses in complying with the requirements of section 41 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, and

(2) to reduce the costs of such compliance.

(b) Repeal of limitation on contract research expenses paid to small businesses and research laboratories.—Section 41(b)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended by section 55(c), is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(3) AMOUNTS PAID TO ELIGIBLE SMALL BUSINESSES, UNIVERSITIES, AND FEDERAL LABORATORIES.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—In the case of amounts paid by the taxpayer to an eligible small business, an institution of higher education (as defined in section 330(h)(5), or an organization which provides research services (as defined in subsection (e)(5)(E)), subparagraph (A) shall be applied by substituting ‘100 percent’ for ‘65 percent’.

“(ii) ELIGIBLE SMALL BUSINESS.—For purposes of this subparagraph, the term ‘eligible small business’ means a small business with respect to which the taxpayer does not own (within the meaning of section 318) 50 percent or more of—

“(1) In the case of a corporation, the outstanding stock of the corporation (either by vote or value), and

“(2) In the case of a small business which is not a corporation, the capital and profits interests of the small business.

“(iii) SMALL BUSINESS.—For purposes of this subparagraph—

“(1) In General.—The term ‘small business’ means, with respect to any calendar year, any person if the annual average number of employees employed by such person during either of the 2 preceding calendar years was 500 or fewer. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the number of employees for any taxable year may be taken into account only if the person was in existence throughout the year.

“(2) Startups, controlled groups, and predecessor rules.—For purposes of subparagraphs (B) and (D) of section 220(c)(4) shall apply for purposes of this clause.

“(c) CREDIT FOR PATENT FILING FEES.—Section 41 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended by section 55(a), is amended by inserting “and” at the end of paragraph (2), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (3) and inserting “, and”, and by adding at the end the following:

“(4) 20 percent of the patent filing fees paid or incurred by a small business (as defined in subsection (b)(3)(C)(i)) to the United States or to any foreign government in carrying on research and service companies.

“(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

TITLE VI—ENERGY INDEPENDENCE

SEC. 61. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this title are—

(1) to prevent the abandonment of marginal oil and gas wells owned and operated by independent oil and gas producers, which are responsible for half of the United States’ domestic production, and

(2) to transform earned tax credits and other benefits into working capital for the cash-strapped domestic oil and gas producers and service companies.

SEC. 62. TAX DEDUCTIONS FOR PRODUCING OIL AND NATURAL GAS WELL PRODUCTION.

(a) CREDIT FOR PRODUCING OIL AND GAS FROM MARGINAL WELLS.—

(1) In General.—The credit amount is—

“(A) $3 per barrel of qualified crude oil production, and

“(B) 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of qualified natural gas production.

“(2) REDUCTION AS OIL AND GAS PRICES INCREASE.—

“(A) In General.—The $3 and 50 cents amounts under paragraph (1) shall each be reduced (but not below zero) by an amount which bears the same ratio to such amount (determined without regard to this paragraph) as—

“(i) the excess (if any) of the applicable reference price over $14 ($1.56 for qualified natural gas production), bears to “(ii) $3 ($0.33 for qualified natural gas production).

“(B) CREDIT AMOUNT.—For purposes of this section—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The credit amount is—

“(A) $3 per barrel of qualified crude oil production, and

“(B) 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of qualified natural gas production.

“(2) REDUCTION AS OIL AND GAS PRICES INCREASE—

“(A) In General.—The $3 and 50 cents amounts under paragraph (1) shall each be reduced (but not below zero) by an amount which bears the same ratio to such amount (determined without regard to this paragraph) as—

“(i) the excess (if any) of the applicable reference price over $14 ($1.56 for qualified natural gas production), bears to

“(ii) $3 ($0.33 for qualified natural gas production).

“(C) BARREL EQUIVALENT.—The term ‘barrel equivalent’ means, with respect to any calendar year,—

“(1) the average daily production which is attributable to the taxpayer.

“(2) The number of days in such taxable year bears to 365.

“(D) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

“(e) LIMITATION ON AMOUNT OF CREDIT AVAILABLE.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Crude oil or natural gas produced during any taxable year from any well shall not be treated as qualified crude oil production or qualified natural gas production for the extent produced from the well during the taxable year exceeds 1,095 barrels or barrel equivalents.

“(2) PROPORTIONATE REDUCTIONS.—

“(i) SHORT TAXABLE YEARS.—In the case of a short taxable year, the limitations under this paragraph shall be proportionately reduced to reflect the ratio which the number of days in such taxable year bears to 365.

“(ii) WELLS NOT IN PRODUCTION ENTIRE YEAR.—In the case of a well which is not capable of production during each day of a taxable year, the limitation under this paragraph applicable to the well shall be proportionately reduced to reflect the ratio which the number of days of production bears to the number of calendar days in the taxable year.

“(f) Definitions.—

“(A) MARGINAL WELL.—The term ‘marginal well’ means a domestic well—

“(i) the production from which during the taxable year is treated as marginal production under section 613A(c)(6), or

“(ii) which, during the taxable year—

“(I) has average daily production of not more than 25 barrel equivalents, and “(II) produces water at a rate not less than 85 percent of total well effluent.

“(B) CRUDE OIL, ETC.—The terms ‘crude oil’, ‘natural gas’, ‘domestic’, and ‘barrel’ have the meanings given such terms by section 613A(e).

“(C) BARREL EQUIVALENT.—The term ‘barrel equivalent’ means, with respect to natural gas, a conversion ratio of 6,000 cubic feet of natural gas to 1 barrel of crude oil.

“(d) OTHER RULES.—

“(1) PRODUCTION ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE TAXPAYER.—In the case of a marginal well in which the taxpayer has more than a 50 percent participating interest in the well and the crude oil or natural gas production exceeds the limitation under subsection (c)(2), qualifying crude oil production or qualifying natural gas production attributable to the taxpayer shall be determined on the basis of the ratio which the taxpayer’s revenue interest in the production bears to the aggregate of the revenue interests of all operating interest owners in the production.

“(2) OPERATING INTEREST REQUIRED.—Any credit under this section may be claimed only on production which is attributable to the holder of an operating interest.

“(3) PRODUCTION FROM NONCONTRIBUTION SOURCES EXCLUDED.—In the case of production from a marginal well which is eligible for the credit allowed under section 29 for the taxable year, no credit shall be allowable unless such production under this section is attributable to the taxpayer and not to claim the credit under section 29 with respect to the well.

“(4) CREDIT TREATED AS BUSINESS CREDIT.—

“Section 38(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking ‘plus’ at the end of paragraph (11), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (12) and inserting ‘, and’ and by adding at the end the following:
paragraph (4) and by inserting after paragraph (3) as amended by redesignating paragraph (3) as paragraph (4) and by inserting after paragraph (2) the following:

"(3) SPECIAL RULES FOR MARGINAL OIL AND GAS WELL PRODUCTION CREDIT.—

"(A) In the case of the marginal oil and gas well production credit—

"(i) this section and section 39 shall be applied separately with respect to the credit, and

"(ii) in applying paragraph (1) to the credit—

"(I) subparagraphs (A) and (B) thereof shall not apply, and

"(II) the limitation under paragraph (1) (as modified by subclause (I)) shall be reduced by the credit allowed under subsection (a) for the taxable year in which such credit was determined.

"(B) MARGINAL OIL AND GAS WELL PRODUCTION CREDIT.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'marginal oil and gas well production credit' means the credit allowable under subsection (a) by reason of section 45D(a).

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Subclause (II) of section 38(c)(2)(A)(ii) of such Code is amended by inserting "or the marginal oil and gas well production credit" after "em-minimum tax credit determined under section 18512.

"(C) CREDIT ALLOWED AGAINST REGULAR AND MINIMUM TAX CREDIT.—

"(1) CREDIT ALLOWED AGAINST REGULAR AND MINIMUM TAX CREDIT.—

"(a) In general.—If, during the 10-taxable year period ending with the current taxable year, a taxpayer has an unused energy minimum tax credit for any taxable year in such period (determined without regard to the application of this paragraph to the current taxable year)—

"(I) paragraph (1) shall not apply to each of the taxable years in such period for which the taxpayer determines an energy minimum tax credit (as so determined), and

"(II) the credit allowable under subsection (a) for each of such taxable years shall be equal to the sum of the credits allowable under subsection (d) of section 45D(a) and F of this part.

"(b) ENERGY MINIMUM TAX CREDIT.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'energy minimum tax credit' means the minimum tax credit which would be computed with respect to any taxable year if the adjusted minimum tax were computed by only taking into account—

"(i) the taxpayer's mineral interests in oil and gas property, and

"(ii) the taxpayer's active conduct of a trade or business with respect to any taxable year if the adjusted minimum tax were computed by only taking into account—

"(A) the taxpayer's mineral interests in oil and gas property, and

"(B) the taxpayer's active conduct of a trade or business with respect to any taxable year if the adjusted minimum tax were computed by only taking into account—

"(i) the taxpayer's mineral interests in oil and gas property, and

"(ii) the taxpayer's active conduct of a trade or business with respect to any taxable year if the adjusted minimum tax were computed by only taking into account—

"(A) the taxpayer's mineral interests in oil and gas property, and

"(B) the taxpayer's active conduct of a trade or business with respect to any taxable year if the adjusted minimum tax were computed by only taking into account—

"(1) mineral interests in oil and gas wells, and

"(ii) the active conduct of a trade or business of providing tools, products, personnel, and technical solutions on a contractual basis to persons engaged in oil and gas exploration and production.

"(2) ELECTION.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999, and to any taxable year beginning on or before such date to the extent necessary to apply section 45D(c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (as added by subsection (a)).

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be applied after December 31, 1999, to any taxable year beginning on or before such date to the extent necessary to apply section 45D(c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (as added by subsection (a)).

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to expenses incurred on or before December 31, 2000.

"(B) ELECTION TO EXPENSE GEOLOGICAL AND GEOPHYSICAL EXPENDITURES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 263(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to the expense of geological and geophysical expenditures) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(i) GEOLOGICAL AND GEOPHYSICAL EXPENDITURES.—

"(A) DEDUCTIONS FOR DOMESTIC OIL AND GAS WELLS.—Notwithstanding subsection (a), a taxpayer may elect to treat geological and geophysical expenditures and delay rentals as ordinary and necessary business expenses that should be deducted in the year the expenditures are incurred.

"(B) ELECTION TO EXPENSE GEOLOGICAL AND GEOPHYSICAL EXPENDITURES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 263 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to the expense of geological and geophysical expenditures) is amended by adding after such section the following:

"(2) ELECTION.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to expenses paid or incurred after December 31, 2000.

"(B) TRANSITION RULE.—In the case of any expense described in paragraph (1)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as added by this subsection, which were paid or incurred on or before December 31, 2000, the taxpayer may elect, at such time and in such manner as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, to amortize the unamortized portion of such expenses over the 36-month period beginning with the month of January 2001. For purposes of this subparagraph, the unamortized portion of any expense is the amount remaining unamortized as of the first day of the 36-month period.

(c) Election to Expense Delay Rental Payments.—

(1) In General.—Section 263 of the Internal Revenue Code (relating to capital expenditures), as amended by subsection (b)(1), is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(c) Delay Rental Payments for Domestic Oil and Gas Wells.—

"(1) In General.—Notwithstanding subsection (a), a taxpayer may elect to treat delay rent payments incurred in connection with the development of oil or gas within the United States (as defined in section 633) as payments which are not chargeable to capital account. Any payments so treated shall be allowed as a deduction in the taxable year in which paid or incurred.

(2) Effective Date.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the term 'delay rental payment' means an amount paid for the privilege of deferring development of an oil or gas well.

(2) Conforming Amendment.—Section 283A(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended by subsection (b)(2), is amended by inserting "263(k), after "263(k)," after "263(k),".

(3) Effective Date.—

(A) In General.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to payments described in section 263(k) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as added by this subsection, which were made or incurred after December 31, 2000.

(B) Transition Rule.—In the case of any payments described in section 263(k) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as added by this subsection, which were made or incurred on or before December 31, 2000, the taxpayer may elect, at such time and in such manner as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, to amortize the unamortized portion of such payments over the 36-month period beginning with the month of January, 2001. For purposes of this subparagraph, the unamortized portion of any payment is the amount remaining unamortized as of the first day of the 36-month period.

TITLE VII—REVENUE PROVISION

SEC. 71. 4-YEAR AVERAGING FOR CONVERSION OF TRADITIONAL IRA TO ROTH IRA.

(b) Effective Date.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to distributions made after December 31, 2000.

AMENDMENT NO. 1436

Beginning on page 334, strike line 3 and all that follows through page 335, line 16 and insert the following:

SEC. 1101. MODIFICATIONS TO SPECIAL RULES FOR NONQUALIFIED COSTS.

(a) Repeal of Limitation on Deposits Into Fund Based on Cost of Service.—Subsection (b) of section 48A is amended to read as follows:

"(b) Clarification of Treatment of Fund Transfers.—Subsection (e) of section 48A is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(8) Treatment of Fund Transfers.—If, in connection with the transfer of the taxpayer's interest in a nuclear powerplant, the taxpayer transfers the Fund with respect to such powerplant to the transferee of such interest and the transferee elects to continue the application of this section to such Fund—

"(A) the transfer of such Fund shall not cause such Fund to be disqualified from the application of this section, and

"(B) no amount shall be treated as distributed from such Fund, or be includible in gross income, by reason of such transfer.

(c) Transfers of Balances in Nonqualified Funds.—If, in effectuating a transfer of balances in nonqualified funds, the Secretary a new schedule of ruling amounts in connection with the transfer is made or the taxpayer's first taxable year during which the transfer is made or incurred after December 31, 2000.

(2) Denial of Deduction for Previously Deducted Amounts.—No deduction shall be allowed for any transfer under this section of an amount for which a deduction was allowed ratably over the remaining estimated useful life (within the meaning of subsection (d)(2)(A)) of the nuclear powerplant, beginning with the later of the taxable year during which the transfer is made or the taxpayer's first taxable year beginning after December 31, 2001.

(3) Denial of Deduction for Previously Deducted Amounts.—The deduction allowed by subsection (a) for any transfer permitted by this subsection shall be allowed ratably over the remaining estimated useful life of the nuclear powerplant, beginning with the later of the taxable year during which the transfer is made or the taxpayer's first taxable year beginning after December 31, 2001.

(4) New Ruling Amount Required.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to any transfer unless the taxpayer requests from the Secretary a new schedule of ruling amounts in connection with such transfer.

(5) Nonqualified Fund.—For purposes of this section, the term 'nonqualified fund,' means any Fund to which a taxpayer may pay into the Fund for any taxable year shall not exceed the ruling amount applicable to such tax year.

(6) Basis in Qualified Funds.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the basis of any Fund to which this section applies shall not be increased by reason of any transfer permitted by this section.

(d) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

(2) Crop Insurance Expenses.—The term 'crop insurance expenses' means—

"(1) qualified higher education expenses (as defined in section 529(e)(3)), and

"(ii) expenses for room and board, tuition, fees, academic tutoring, special needs services, books, supplies, computer equipment (including related software and services), and other equipment which are incurred in connection with the enrollment or attendance of the designated beneficiary of the trust as an elementary or secondary school student at a public, private, or parochial school, and

(3) Qualified Education Expenses.—The term 'qualified education expenses' means—

"(1) qualified higher education expenses (as defined in section 529(e)(3)), and

"(ii) qualified elementary and secondary education expenses (as defined in paragraph (5)).

(4) Such expenses shall be reduced as provided in section 25A(g)(2).

(b) Qualified Tuition Programs.—Such term shall include an allocation to a qualified tuition program (as defined in section 529(b)) on behalf of the designated beneficiary (as defined in section 529(e)(1)); but there shall be no increase in the investment in the contract for purposes of applying section 72 by reason of any portion of such contribution which is not includible in gross income by reason of subsection (d)(2).

(2) Qualified Elementary and Secondary Education Expenses.—Subsection (b) (relating to definitions and special rules), as amended by subsection (a)(2), is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(6) Exclusion of Federal Student Loans.—The term 'qualified elementary and secondary education expenses' means—

"(1) expenses for room and board, transportation, and supplementary

SEC. 1104. MODIFICATIONS TO EDUCATION INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS.

(a) Maximum Annual Contributions.—

"(1) In General.—Section 530(b)(1)(A)(iii) (defining education individual retirement account) is amended by striking "$550" and inserting "the contribution limit (as defined in section 530(b)(4)) for such taxable year".

(2) Contribution Limit.—Section 530(b)(4) (relating to definitions and special rules) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(8) Treatment of Fund Transfers.—If, in effectuating a transfer of balances in nonqualified funds, the Secretary a new schedule of ruling amounts in connection with the transfer is made or the taxpayer's first taxable year during which the transfer is made or incurred after December 31, 2004, the term 'contribution limit' means $5,000 in the case of any taxable year beginning after December 31, 2004.

(3) Conforming Amendment.—Section 529(e)(1) is amended by striking "$500" and inserting "the contribution limit (as defined in section 530(b)(4)) for such taxable year".

(b) Tax-Free Expenditures for Elementary and Secondary School Expenses.—

"(1) In General.—Section 530(b)(2) (defining qualified education expenses) is amended by adding the following new paragraph:

"(6) Exclusion of Federal Student Loans.—The term 'qualified education expenses' means—

"(1) qualified higher education expenses (as defined in section 529(e)(3)), and

"(ii) qualified elementary and secondary education expenses (as defined in paragraph (5)).
items and services (including extended day programs and programs operated by a public, private, or religious school in connection with such enrollment or attendance).''

"(B) SPECIAL RULE FOR HOMESCHOOLING.—

Such term shall include expenses described in subparagraph (A)(i) in connection with education provided by homeschooling if the requirements of any applicable State or local law are met with respect to such education.

"(C) SCHOOL.—The term 'school' means any school which provides elementary education or secondary education (kindergarten through grade 12), as determined under State law.''

(3) SPECIAL RULES FOR APPLYING EXCLUSION TO ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EXPENSES.—

Section 530(d)(2) (relating to distributions for qualified higher education expenses) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

(E) SPECIAL RULES FOR ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EXPENSES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The aggregate amount of qualified elementary and secondary education expenses taken into account for purposes of this paragraph with respect to any education individual retirement account for all taxable years shall not exceed the sum of the aggregate contributions to such account for taxable years beginning after December 31, 2001, and earnings on such contributions.

"(2) SPECIAL OPERATING RULES.—For purposes of clause (1)—

"(I) The trustee of an education individual retirement account shall keep separate accounts with respect to contributions and earnings described in clause (1), and

"(II) if there are distributions in excess of qualified elementary and secondary education expenses for any taxable year, such excess distributions shall be allocated first to contributions and earnings not described in clause (1).

(4) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

Section 530 is amended—

"(A) by striking "higher" each place it appears in subsections (b)(1) and (d)(2), and

"(B) by striking "HIGHER" in the heading for subsection (d)(2).

"(5) WAIVER OF AGE LIMITATIONS FOR CHILDREN.—

Section 530(b)(1) (defining education individual retirement account) is amended by adding at the end the following flush sentence:

"(i) In general.—The aggregate amount of contributions to an account described in subparagraph (A)(i) is determined without regard to the amount of any payments or distributions made with respect to such account.

(6) PERMISSIBLE USES.—

Section 530(c)(1) (relating to distributions for educational purposes) is amended by striking the following new paragraph:

"(I) In general.—The amount the contributor...

"(2) EXTENSION OF TIME TO RETURN EXCESS CASH.—

Section 530(d)(4) (relating to additional tax for distributions not used for educational expenses) is amended—

"(A) by striking clause (i) and inserting the following new clause:

"(i) Such distribution is made before the 1st day of the 6th month of the taxable year following the taxable year, and

"(B) by striking "DUE DATE OF RETURN" in the heading and inserting "JUNE".

"(7) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 404A. EXTENSION OF EXCLUSION FOR EMPLOYER-PROVIDED EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 127(d) (relating to termination of exclusion for educational assistance programs) is amended by striking "May 31, 2000" and inserting "December 31, 2006".

(b) REPEAL OF LIMITATION ON GRADUATE EDUCATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The last sentence of section 127(c)(1) is amended by striking ". . . and such term also does not include any payment for, or the provision of any benefits with respect to, any graduate level course of a kind normally taken by an individual pursuing a program leading to a law, business, medical, or other advanced academic or professional degree.

"(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this paragraph (1) shall be applicable to the taxation of such assistance provided after December 31, 1999.

DASCHLE AMENDMENT NO. 1438

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. DASCHLE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

At the appropriate place add the following:

"SECTION 1. CERTAIN CASH RENTALS OF FARMLAND NOT TO CAUSE RECAPTURE OF SPECIAL ESTATE TAX VALUATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (c) of section 2032A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to tax treatment of dispositions and failures to use for qualified use) is amended by striking at the end the following new paragraph:

"(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 2032A(b)(5)(A) is amended by striking the last sentence.

"(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply with respect to rentals occurring after December 31, 1976.

CONRAD (AND OTHERS) AMENDMENT NO. 1439

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. CONRAD (for himself, Mr. REID, Mr. BAYH, and Mr. ROBINSON) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Subpart D of part IV of chapter U, to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

At the appropriate place insert the following:

"(1) In general.—The term 'technology training program' means a program—

"(A) for the training of—

"(a) computer programmers, systems analysts, and computer scientists or engineers (as such occupations are defined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics), and

"(ii) such other occupations as determined by the Secretary, after consultation with a working group broadly solicited by the Secretary and open to all interested information technology entities and trade and professional associations,

"(B) involving a partnership of—

"(i) employers, and

"(ii) State training programs, school districts, university systems, tribal colleges, or certified commercial information technology training providers, and

"(C) at least 50 percent of the costs of which is paid or incurred by the employers.

"(2) SPECIAL RULES FOR APPLYING EXCLUSION TO ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EXPENSES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The aggregate amount of qualified elementary and secondary education expenses taken into account for purposes of this paragraph with respect to any education individual retirement account for all taxable years shall not exceed the sum of the aggregate contributions to such account for taxable years beginning after December 31, 2001, and earnings on such contributions.

"(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall be increased by 5 percentage points for information technology training program expenses paid or incurred by the taxpayer during the taxable year.

"(3) ADDITIONAL CREDIT PERCENTAGE FOR CERTAIN PROGRAMS.—The percentage under subsection (a) shall be increased by 5 percentage points for information technology training program expenses paid or incurred by the taxpayer during the taxable year.

"(4) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 530 is amended—

"(A) by striking "higher" each place it appears in subsection (b)(1) and (d)(2), and

"(B) by striking "HIGHER" in the heading for subsection (d)(2).

"(5) WAIVER OF AGE LIMITATIONS FOR CHILDREN.—

Section 530(b)(1) (defining education individual retirement account) is amended by adding at the end the following flush sentence:

"(i) In general.—The aggregate amount of contributions to an account described in subparagraph (A)(i) is determined without regard to the amount of any payments or distributions made with respect to such account.

"(2) EXTENSION OF TIME TO RETURN EXCESS CASH.—

Section 530(d)(4) (relating to additional tax for distributions not used for educational expenses) is amended—

"(A) by striking clause (i) and inserting the following new clause:

"(i) Such distribution is made before the 1st day of the 6th month of the taxable year following the taxable year, and

"(B) by striking "DUE DATE OF RETURN" in the heading and inserting "JUNE".

"(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be applicable to the taxation of such assistance provided after December 31, 1999.

DASCHLE AMENDMENT NO. 1438

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. DASCHLE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

At the appropriate place add the following:

"SECTION 1. CERTAIN CASH RENTALS OF FARMLAND NOT TO CAUSE RECAPTURE OF SPECIAL ESTATE TAX VALUATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 2032A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to tax treatment of dispositions and failures to use for qualified use) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 2032A(b)(5)(A) is amended by striking the last sentence.

"(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply with respect to rentals occurring after December 31, 1976.
Congressional Record—Senate

On page 99, before line 15, insert the following:

"(ii) ADJUSTMENT.—The Secretary shall adjust any applicable percentage under clause (i) in order to reduce the reduction in revenues deposited in the Treasury as the result of the enactment of this subsection by $386,000,000.

CONRAD AMENDMENT NO. 1440

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. CONRAD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 423, strike lines 1 through 3, and insert:

"(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—In general.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), the amendments made by this section shall apply to assumptions of liability after July 14, 1999.

(2) TRANSITION RULE.—In the case of any assumption of liability made pursuant to an agreement which was binding on July 14, 1999, and at all times thereafter, the amendments made by this section shall apply no later than such assumption of liability after September 30, 1999.

DORGAN AMENDMENT NO. 1441

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. DORGAN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 2. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING THE NEED FOR ADDITIONAL FEDERAL FUNDING AND TAX INCENTIVES FOR EMPOWERMENT ZONES AND ENTERPRISE COMMUNITIES AUTHORIZED AND DESIGNATED PURSUANT TO 1997 AND 1998 LAWS.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Senate finds that—

(1) providing Federal tax incentives and other incentives to distressed communities across the Nation to help them rebuild and grow would result in increased growth and job creation in the goals of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 and the Omnibus Consolidated and Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1998;

(2) to help reach that goal, the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 authorized 20 additional empowerment zones, 15 urban and 5 rural, followed by 20 new rural enterprise communities authorized in 1998;

(3) the 1997 law authorizing this second round of empowerment zones (EZs) was also significant and important because it broadened the empowerment zone eligibility, for the first time, to Indian tribes and rural regions suffering from massive out-migration;

(4) many of our urban and rural communities are not sharing in the benefits of the prolonged economic expansion now enjoyed by many other parts of our country;

(5) a total of more than 250 economically distressed urban and rural communities competed for the 20 new empowerment zones and 20 new rural enterprise communities, and those areas designated as zones and communities should be provided with the Federal tax incentives and encouragement they need to attract new businesses, and the jobs they provide, in order to stimulate economic growth and improve quality of life;

(6) unfortunately, those areas that are designated EZs or ECs under the 1997 and 1998 laws or rural economic area partnerships (REAPs) by the Department of Agriculture are not given the full advantage of Social Services Block Grant funds, tax credits, and some other Federal incentives that Congress authorized pursuant to 1998 budget legislation;

(7) Congress should act swiftly to provide such designated areas an equal share of tax incentives, grant benefits, and other Federal support at aggregate levels of at least that provided by Congress to distressed urban and rural empowerment zones and enterprise communities pursuant to the 1999 omnibus budget reconciliation bill; and

(b) AMENDMENT OF 1996 CODE.—Except as otherwise expressly provided, whenever in this Act an amendment is expressed in terms of an amendment to, or repeal of, a section or other provision, the reference shall be considered to be made to a section or other provision of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(c) SECTION 15 NOT TO APPLY.—No amendment made by this Act shall be treated as a change in a rate of tax for purposes of section 15 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(d) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—The table of contents for this Act is as follows:

Sec. 1. Short title; etc.

TITLE I—BROAD-BASED TAX RELIEF

Sec. 101. Increase in standard deduction.

Sec. 102. Increase in maximum taxable income for 15 percent rate bracket.

TITLE II—FAMILY TAX RELIEF

Sec. 201. Modification of alternative minimum tax for individuals.

Sec. 202. Marriage penalty relief for earned income credit.

Sec. 203. Modification of dependent care credit.

Sec. 204. Exclusion for foster care payments to apply to payments by qualified placement agencies.
Sec. 1113. Modification of installment method and repeal of installment method for accrual method taxpayers.

Sec. 1114. Treatment of gain from construction contracts.

Sec. 1115. Charitable split-dollar life insurance, annuity, and endowment contracts.

Sec. 1116. Restriction on use of real estate investment trusts to avoid estimated tax payment requirements.

Sec. 1117. Prohibitions on allocations of S corporation stock held by an ESOP.

Sec. 1118. Modification of anti-abuse rules related to assumption of liability.

Sec. 1119. Allocation of basis on transfers of intangibles in certain non-recognition transactions.

Sec. 1120. Controlled entities ineligible for REIT status.

Sec. 1121. Distributions to a corporate partner of stock in another corporation.

TITLE XII—COMPLIANCE WITH CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET ACT

Sec. 1202. Modification of dependent care credit.

Sec. 1203. Modification of alternative minimum tax for individuals.

Sec. 1204. Treatment of gain from construction contracts.

Sec. 1205. Charitable split-dollar life insurance, annuity, and endowment contracts.

Sec. 1206. Restriction on use of real estate investment trusts to avoid estimated tax payment requirements.

Sec. 1207. Prohibitions on allocations of S corporation stock held by an ESOP.

Sec. 1208. Modification of anti-abuse rules related to assumption of liability.

Sec. 1209. Allocation of basis on transfers of intangibles in certain non-recognition transactions.

Sec. 1210. Controlled entities ineligible for REIT status.

Sec. 1211. Distributions to a corporate partner of stock in another corporation.

TITLES II—FAMILY TAX RELIEF

TITLE II—FAMILY TAX RELIEF

SEC. 101. INCREASE IN STANDARD DEDUCTION.

Subsection (c) of section 63 (relating to standard deduction) is amended by adding at the end the following paragraph:

"(7) INCREASE IN AMOUNT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In the case of taxable years beginning after 2000, the dollar amounts determined under paragraph (2)(C) shall be increased by the applicable dollar amount for such calendar year.

(B) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—

"(i) AMOUNT.—The applicable dollar amount for any calendar year shall be determined as follows:

"(II) JOINT RETURNS AND SURVIVING SPOUSES.—In the case of the $5,000 amount under paragraph (2)(A)—

"(I) Calendar year:

Applicable dollar amount:

2001 and 2002 .......................... $1,000
2003 or 2004 .......................... $2,000
2005 or 2006 .......................... $3,000
2007 and thereafter ....................... $5,000

"(II) HEAD OF HOUSEHOLD.—In the case of the $4,400 amount under paragraph (2)(B)—

"(I) Calendar year:

Applicable dollar amount:

2001 or 2002 .......................... $1,000
2003 or 2004 .......................... $2,000
2005 or 2006 .......................... $3,000
2007 and thereafter ....................... $5,000

"(III) INDIVIDUAL.—In the case of the $3,600 amount under paragraph (2)(C)—

"(I) Calendar year:

Applicable dollar amount:

2001 or 2002 .......................... $1,500
2003 or 2004 .......................... $3,000
2005 or 2006 .......................... $4,500
2007 and thereafter ....................... $6,000

"(IV) Marital status separately filed separately. In the case of the $2,500 amount under paragraph (2)(D)—

"(I) Calendar year:

Applicable dollar amount:

2001 or 2002 .......................... $1,500
2003 or 2004 .......................... $3,000
2005 or 2006 .......................... $4,500
2007 and thereafter ....................... $6,000

"(II) COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT.—In the case of any taxable year beginning in a calendar year after 2000, the applicable dollar amount under clause (I) shall be increased by an amount equal to such dollar amount multiplied by the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year in which the taxable year begins, except that subparagraph (B) thereof shall be applied by substituting 'calendar year 2006' for 'calendar year 1992'. If any amount as adjusted under this subparagraph is not a multiple of $50, such amount shall be rounded to the next lowest multiple of $50.''

SEC. 102. INCREASE IN MAXIMUM TAXABLE INCOME FOR 15 PERCENT RATE BRACKET.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1(f) (relating to adjustments in tax tables so that inflation will not result in tax increases) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2)—

(A) by redesignating subparagraphs (B) and (C) as subparagraphs (C) and (D),

(B) by inserting after subparagraph (A) the following:

"(B) in the case of the tables contained in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d), by increasing the maximum taxable income level for the 15 percent rate bracket and the minimum taxable income level for the 28 percent rate bracket otherwise determined under subparagraph (A) for taxable years beginning in any calendar year after 2004 by the applicable dollar amount for such calendar year,'',

and

(C) by striking "subparagraph (A)" in subparagraph (C) (as so redesignated) and inserting "subparagraphs (A) and (B)'', and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

(9) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—For purposes of paragraph (2)(B)—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The applicable dollar amount for any calendar year shall be determined as follows:

"(I) JOINT RETURNS AND SURVIVING SPOUSES.—In the case of the table contained in subsection (a)—

Applicable dollar amount:

Calendar year: ..........................

2001 ............................ $500
2002 ............................. $1,000
2003 and thereafter ................. $1,500

(ii) such dollar amount, multiplied by

"(B) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year in which the taxable year begins, determined by substituting 'calendar year 1992' for 'calendar year 1995' for 'calendar year 1992' in subparagraph (B) thereof, and

"(ii) in the case of the $2,000 amount in subsection (b)(1)(B), by substituting 'calendar year 2004' for 'calendar year 1992' in subparagraph (B) of such section.''

(b) ROUNDING.—Section 32(j)(2)(A) (relating to rounding) is amended by striking "subparagraph (b)(2)'' and inserting "subparagraph (b)(2)(A) after being increased under subparagraph (B) thereof''.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 201. MODIFICATION OF ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX FOR INDIVIDUALS.

(a) NONREFUNDABLE PERSONAL CREDITS FULLY ALLOWED AGAINST REGULAR TAX LIABILITY.—Subsection (a) of section 34 (relating to limitation based on amount of tax) is amended to read as follows:

(1) a LIMIT ON AMOUNT OF TAX.—The aggregate amount of credits allowed by this subpart for the taxable year shall not exceed the taxpayer's regular tax liability for the taxable year.

(b) CHILD CREDIT.—Subsection (d) of section 32 is amended by striking paragraph (2) and by redesignating paragraph (3) as paragraph (2).

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2006.

SEC. 202. MARRIAGE PENALTY RELIEF FOR EARNED INCOME CREDIT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (2) of section 32(b) (relating to percentages and amounts) is amended—

(1) by striking "AMOUNTS.—The earned'' and inserting "AMOUNTS.—''

(2) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

(B) JOINT RETURNS.—In the case of a joint return, the phaseout amount determined under subparagraph (A) shall be increased by $2,000.

(b) INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.—Paragraph 1(b)(section 32)(relating to inflation adjustments) is amended to read as follows:

"(1) INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.—In the case of the $2,000 amount in subsection (b)(1)(B), by substituting 'calendar year 2004' for 'calendar year 1992' in subparagraph (B) thereof, and

"(ii) in the case of the $2,000 amount in subsection (b)(2)(A) (after being increased under subparagraph (B) thereof''.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 203. MODIFICATION OF DEPENDENT CARE CREDIT.

(a) INCREASE IN PERCENTAGE OF EMPLOYMENT-RELATED EXPENSES TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT.—Subsection (a)(2) of section 32 (relating to expenses for household and dependent care services necessary for gainful employment) is amended—

(1) by striking "30 percent'' and inserting "50 percent''.

(2) by striking "$2,000'' and inserting "$1,000''

and

(3) by striking "$10,000'' and inserting "$30,000''.

(b) INDEXING OF LIMIT ON EMPLOYMENT-RELATED EXPENSES.—Section 32(c) (relating to dollar limit on amount creditable) is amended to read as follows:

"(c) DOLLAR LIMIT ON AMOUNT CREDITABLE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The amount of the employment-related expenses incurred during any taxable year which may be taken into account under subsection (a) shall not exceed—

"(A) an amount equal to 50 percent of the amount determined under paragraph (B) if there is 1 qualifying individual with respect to the taxpayer for such taxable year, or

"(B) $4,800 if there are 2 or more qualifying individuals with respect to the taxpayer for such taxable year.

The amount determined under subparagraph (A) or (B) (whichever is applicable) shall be reduced by the aggregate amount excludable from gross income under section 129 for the taxable year.
“(2) COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT.—

(A) In general.—In the case of a taxable year beginning after 2000, the $4,800 amount under paragraph (1)(B) shall be increased by an amount equal to—

(i) such dollar amount, multiplied by

(ii) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year in which the taxable year begins, determined by substituting ‘‘calendar year 1999’’ for ‘‘calendar year 1992’’ in subparagraph (B) thereof.

(B) Rounding rules.—If any amount after adjustment under subparagraph (A) is not a multiple of $50, such amount shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $50.’’

(c) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to tax years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 204. EXCLUSION FOR FOSTER CARE PAYMENTS TO APPLY TO PAYMENTS BY QUALIFIED PLACEMENT AGENCIES.

(a) In general.—The matter preceding subparagraph (B) of section 131(b)(1) (defining qualified foster care payment) is amended to read as follows:

“(1) In general.—The term ‘qualified foster care payment’ means any payment made pursuant to foster care program of a State or political subdivision thereof—

(A) which is paid by—

(i) the State or political subdivision thereof;

or

(ii) a qualified foster care placement agency of such State or political subdivision, and

(b) Qualified Foster Individuals To Include Individuals Placed By Qualified Placement Agencies.—Subparagraph (B) of section 131(b)(2) (defining qualified foster individual) is amended to read as follows:

“(B) a qualified foster care placement agency.’’

(c) Qualified Foster Care Placement Agency Defined.—Subsection (b) of section 131 is amended by redesignating paragraph (3) as paragraph (4) and by inserting after paragraph (2) the following new paragraph:

“(3) Qualified foster care placement agency.—The term ‘qualified foster care placement agency’ means any placement agency which is licensed or certified by—

(A) a State or political subdivision thereof; or

(B) an entity designated by a State or political subdivision thereof, to make foster care payments under the foster care program of such State or political subdivision to providers of foster care.’’

(d) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

TITLE III—SAVINGS AND INVESTMENT PROVISIONS

Subtitle A—Long-Term Capital Gains

SEC. 301. LONG-TERM CAPITAL GAINS DEDUCTION FOR INDIVIDUALS.

(a) General rule.—Part I of subchapter P of chapter 1 (relating to treatment of capital gains) is amended by redesignating section 1202 as section 1203 and by inserting after section 1201 the following new section:

“SEC. 1202. CAPITAL GAINS DEDUCTION FOR INDIVIDUALS.

“(a) In general.—In the case of an individual, there shall be allowed as a deduction the lesser of—

(i) the net capital gain of the taxpayer for the taxable year, or

(ii) the applicable dollar amount.

“(b) Applicable dollar amount.—The applicable dollar amount for any calendar year shall be determined as follows:

“(1) Joint returns.—In the case of a taxpayer described in section 1(a)—

Applicable dollar amount:

Calendar year:

1992 to 1994 $1,000

1995 $1,500

1996 and thereafter $2,000

(b) Capital gains deduction for individuals.

(2) Estates and trusts.—In the case of an estate or trust, the deduction shall be determined as follows:

Applicable dollar amount:

Calendar year:

1992 to 1994 $1,000

1995 $1,500

1996 and thereafter $2,000

(c) Nonresident aliens and estates and trusts.—In the case of a nonresident alien (as defined in section 876(b)) or an estate or trust, the deduction shall be determined as follows:

Applicable dollar amount:

Calendar year:

1992 to 1994 $1,000

1995 $1,500

1996 and thereafter $2,000

(3) Qualified investments.—The amount of any deduction under this section—

(A) which is paid by—

(i) the State or political subdivision thereof;

or

(ii) a qualified foster care placement agency;

shall be determined as follows:

Applicable dollar amount:

Calendar year:

1992 to 1994 $1,000

1995 $1,500

1996 and thereafter $2,000

(4) Qualified investments.—The amount of any deduction under this section shall be determined as follows:

Applicable dollar amount:

Calendar year:

1992 to 1994 $1,000

1995 $1,500

1996 and thereafter $2,000

(d) Treatment of certain sales of interest in partnership, etc.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), any gain from the sale or exchange of an interest in a partnership, a trust, or a corporation attributable to unrealized appreciation in the value of collectibles held by such entity shall be treated as gain from the sale or exchange of a collectible. Rules similar to the rules of section 751(f) shall apply for purposes of the preceding sentence.

(e) Collective.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘collectible’ means any capital asset which is a collectible (as defined in section 408(m) without regard to paragraph (3) thereof).

(f) Charitable deduction not affected.—(A) Paragraph (1) of section 170(e) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: ‘‘For purposes of this paragraph, section 1222 shall be applied without regard to paragraph (12) thereof (relating to special rule for collectibles).’’

(B) Clause (iv) of section 170(b)(1)(C) is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following: ‘‘and section 1222 shall be applied without regard to paragraph (12) thereof (relating to special rule for collectibles).’’

(g) Conforming amendments.—(1) Section 57(a)(5) is amended by striking ‘‘1203’’ and inserting ‘‘1203’’.

(2) Clause (ii) of section 163(d)(4)(B) is amended to read as follows:

“(ii) the sum of—

(A) the portion of the net capital gain referred to in clause (ii)(II) (or, if lesser, the net capital gain referred to in clause (i)(I)) taken into account under section 1202, reduced by—

(B) the amount of the deduction allowed under this section to—

(i) a State or political subdivision thereof;

or

(ii) a qualified foster care placement agency;

(c) Sales between related parties.—(A) a real estate investment trust, or

(B) an S corporation, or

(C) an estate or trust.

(f) Special rule for pass-thru entities.—(1) In general.—In applying this section with respect to any pass-thru entity, the determination of when the sale or exchange occurs shall be made at the entity level.

(2) Coordination with maximum capital gains rate.—(A) Paragraph (3) of section 1(h) (relating to maximum capital gains rate) is amended to read as follows:

“(b) Coordination with other provisions.—For purposes of this subsection, the amount of the net capital gain shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the sum of—

(1) the amount of the net capital gain taken into account under section 1202(a) for the taxable year, plus

(2) the amount which the taxpayer elects to take into account as investment income for the taxable year under section 163(h)(4)(B)(iii)(IV).

(3) Coordination with other provisions.—For purposes of this subsection, the amount of the net capital gain shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the sum of—

(A) the amount of the net capital gain taken into account under section 1202(a) for the taxable year, plus

(B) the amount which the taxpayer elects to take into account as investment income for the taxable year under section 163(h)(4)(B)(iii)(IV).

(c) Deduction allowable in computing adjusted gross income.—(A) Subsection (a) of section 62 (defining adjusted gross income) is amended by striking ‘‘(8) the last sentence of section 1044(d) is amended by striking ‘‘1202’’ and inserting ‘‘1203’’;’’ and inserting ‘‘(9) paragraph (1) of section 1402(b) is amended by inserting ‘‘1202’’ and inserting ‘‘1203’’;’’

(d) Treatment of collectibles.—(1) In general.—(A) Any gain or loss from the sale or exchange of a collectible shall be treated as a short-term capital gain or loss (as the case may be) with respect to the period such asset was held. The preceding sentence shall apply only to the extent the gain or loss is taken into account in computing the taxpayer’s taxable income.

(2) For treatment of eligible gain not excluded under subsection (a), see section 1222.

(3) Special rule for section 1222 gain from collectibles.—(A) In general.—Any gain or loss from the sale or exchange of a collectible shall be treated as a short-term capital gain or loss (as the case may be) with respect to the period such asset was held. The preceding sentence shall apply only to the extent the gain or loss is taken into account in computing the taxpayer’s taxable income.

(4) Treatment of certain sales of interest in partnership, etc.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), any gain from the sale or exchange of an interest in a partnership, a trust, or a corporation attributable to unrealized appreciation in the value of collectibles held by such entity shall be treated as gain from the sale or exchange of a collectible. Rules similar to the rules of section 751(f) shall apply for purposes of the preceding sentence.

(5) For treatment of eligible gain not excluded under subsection (a), see section 1222.

(6) Cross references.—(A) For treatment of eligible gain not excluded under subsection (a), see section 1222.

(7) Exception.—For purposes of the preceding subsection, the term ‘collectible’ means any capital asset which is a collectible (as defined in section 408(m) without regard to paragraph (3) thereof).
July 29, 1999

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

SEC. 311. MODIFICATION OF DEDUCTION LIMITS FOR IRA CONTRIBUTIONS.

(a) Incurred Deduction Limit.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (1)(A) of section 219(b) is amended by striking "$2,000" and inserting "$5,000.

(2) DEDUCTIBLE AMOUNT.—Section 219(b) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(c) DEDUCTIBLE AMOUNT.—For purposes of paragraph (1)(A)"—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The deductible amount shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

For taxable years

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>beginning in:</th>
<th>deductible amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2001</td>
<td>$1,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>$2,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003 and later</td>
<td>$3,500</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(B) CO-FIVING ADJUSTMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of any taxable year beginning in a calendar year after 2003, the $3,500 amount under subparagraph (A) shall be increased by an amount equal to—

"(1) such dollar amount, multiplied by

"(2) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year in which the taxable year begins, determined by substituting "calendar year 2002" for "calendar year 1992" in subparagraph (B) thereof.

(2) Rounding Rules.—If any amount after adjustment under clause (1) is not a multiple of $100, the amount shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $100."—

Subtitle C—Expanding Coverage

SEC. 321. OPTION TO TREAT ELECTIVE DEFERRALS AS AFTER-TAX CONTRIBUTIONS.

(a) In General.—Subpart A of part I of subchapter D of chapter 1 (relating to deferred compensation, etc.) is amended by inserting after section 402 the following new section:

"SEC. 402A. OPTIONAL TREATMENT OF ELECTIVE DEFERRALS AS PLUS CONTRIBUTIONS.

(a) General Rule.—If an applicable retirement plan includes a qualified plus contribution program—

(1) qualified plus contribution program.—For purposes of this section—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The term 'qualified plus contribution program' means a program under which an employee may elect to make designated plus contributions in lieu of, or in addition to, a portion of elective deferrals. The elective deferral is otherwise eligible to make under the applicable retirement plan.

(2) SEPARATE ACCOUNTING REQUIRED.—A program shall not be treated as a qualified plus contribution program unless the applicable retirement plan—

(a) establishes separate accounts ('designated plus accounts') for the designated plus contributions of each employee and any earnings properly allocable to the contributions, and

(b) maintains separate recordkeeping with respect to each account.

(c) RULES RELATING TO DESIGNATED PLUS CONTRIBUTIONS.—For purposes of this section—

(1) Designated plus contribution.—The term 'designated plus contribution' means any elective deferral which—

(A) is excludable from gross income of an employee without regard to this section, and

(B) is otherwise eligible to make under the applicable retirement plan.

(2) Exclusion.—Any qualified distribution from a designated plus account shall not exceed the excess (if any) of—

(A) the maximum amount of elective deferrals that would otherwise be includible in gross income of the employee for the taxable year (without regard to this section), over

(B) the aggregate amount of elective deferrals of the employee for the taxable year which the employee does not designate under paragraph (1).

(3) Rolllover Contributions.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—A rollover contribution of any payment or distribution from a designated plus account which is otherwise allowable under this chapter may be made only if the contribution is to—

(i) another designated plus account of the individual from whose account the payment or distribution was made, or

(ii) a qualified IRA of such individual.

(B) Coordination.—Any rollover contribution to a designated plus account under subparagraph (A) shall not be taken into account for purposes of paragraph (1).

(d) DISTRIBUTION RULES.—For purposes of this title—

(1) Exclusion.—Any qualified distribution from a designated plus account shall not be includible in gross income.

(2) QUALIFIED DISTRIBUTION.—For purposes of this subsection—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term 'qualified distribution' has the meaning given such term by section 408A(d)(2)(A) (without regard to clause (iv) thereof).

(B) DISTRIBUTIONS WITHIN NONEXCLUSION PERIOD.—A payment or distribution from a designated plus account shall not be treated as a qualified distribution if such payment or distribution is made within the 5-taxable-year period beginning with the earlier of—

(i) the last taxable year for which the individual made a designated plus contribution to such account, or

(ii) the date on which the individual made the designated plus contribution to such account.

(C) DISTRIBUTIONS AFTER NONEXCLUSION PERIOD.—A payment or distribution from a designated plus account shall be treated as a designated plus contribution if such payment or distribution is made after the date on which the individual made the designated plus contribution.

(D) DISTRIBUTIONS FROM A DESIGNATED PLUS ACCOUNT.—The term 'qualified distribution' shall not include any distribution of any excess deferral under section 402(g)(2) and any income on the excess deferral.

(E) AGGREGATION RULES.—Section 72 shall be applied separately with respect to distributions and payments from a designated plus account and other distributions and payments from sections 401, 403, and 408.

(3) Other Definitions.—For purposes of this section—

(1) APPLICABLE RETIREMENT PLAN.—The term 'applicable retirement plan' means—

(A) an employee's trust described in section 401(a) which is exempt from tax under section 501(a), and

(B) a plan under which amounts are contributed by an individual's employer for an annuity contract described in section 403(b).

(2) ELECTIVE DEFERRAL.—The term 'elective deferral' includes any elective deferral described in subparagraph (A) or (C) of section 402(g)(3).

(3) EXCESS DEFERRALS.—Section 402(g) (relating to limitation on exclusion for elective deferrals) is amended—

(1) by adding at the end of paragraph (1) the following new sentence: "The preceding sentence shall not apply to so much of such excess as does not exceed the designated plus contributions of the individual for the taxable year," and

(2) by inserting ("or would be included but for the last sentence thereof") after "paragraph (1)" in paragraph (2)(A).

(4) Rollovers.—Subparagraph (B) of section 402(c)(8) is amended by adding at the end the following sentence: "If any portion of an eligible rollover distribution attributable to payments or distributions from a designated plus account (as defined in section 402A) is a Roth IRA.

(d) Reporting Requirements.—

(1) W-2 INFORMATION.—Section 6051(a)(8) is amended by adding after the term "including the amplified to a Roth IRA.

(2) INFORMATION.—Section 6047 is amended by redesigning subsection (f) as subsection (g) and by inserting after subsection (e) the following new subsection:

"(f) Designated Plus Contributions.—The Secretary shall require the plan administrator of each applicable retirement plan (as defined in section 402A) to make such returns and reports regarding designated plus contributions (as so defined) to the Secretary, participants and beneficiaries of the plan, and such other persons as the Secretary may prescribe."

(2) conformance Amendments.—

(1) Section 402A(a) is amended by adding after the first sentence the following new sentence: "Such term includes a rollover contribution described in section 402A(c).

(2) The table of sections for part I of subchapter D of chapter 1 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 402 the following new item:

"Sec. 402A. Optional treatment of elective deferrals as plus contributions."
SEC. 322. INCREASE IN ELECTIVE CONTRIBUTION LIMITS.

(a) ELECTIVE DEFERRALS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (1) of section 402(g) (relating to limitation on exclusion for elective deferrals) is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding subsection (e)(3) or (h)(1)(B), the elective deferrals of any individual for any taxable year shall be included in such individual’s gross income to the extent the amount of such deferrals for any taxable year exceeds the applicable dollar amount.

(b) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the applicable dollar amount shall be the amount determined in accordance with the following table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Applicable Dollar Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2001</td>
<td>$11,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>$12,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>$13,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>$14,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

or thereafter $15,000.

(2) COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT.—Paragraph (5) of section 402(g) is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(5) COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT.—In the case of taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000, the Secretary shall adjust the $15,000 amount under paragraph (1)(B) at the same time and in the same manner as under section 415(d), except that the base period shall be the calendar quarter beginning July 1, 2001, and any increase under this paragraph which is not a multiple of $500 shall be rounded to the next lowest multiple of $500.’’

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(A) Section 402(g) (relating to limitation on exclusion for elective deferrals), as amended by paragraphs (1) and (2), is further amended by striking paragraph (4) and redesignating paragraphs (5), (6), (7), and (8), as paragraphs (4), (5), (6), (7), and (8), respectively.

(B) Paragraph (2) of section 457(c) is amended by striking ‘‘402(g)(7)(A)(iii)’’ and inserting ‘‘the amount in effect under section 408(p)(2)(A)’’.

(C) Clause (iii) of section 501(c)(18)(D) is amended by striking ‘‘other than paragraph (4) thereof’’.

(d) DEFERRED COMPENSATION PLANS OF STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENTS AND TAX-EXEMPT ORGANIZATIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 457 (relating to deferred compensation plans of State and local governments and tax-exempt organizations) is amended—

(A) by striking ‘‘$7,500’’ each place it appears in subsections (b)(2)(A) and (c)(1) and inserting ‘‘the applicable dollar amount’’.

and

(B) by striking ‘‘$15,000’’ in subsection (b)(3)(A) and inserting ‘‘twice the dollar amount in effect under subsection (b)(2)(A)’’.

(2) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT; COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT.—Paragraph (15) of section 457(e) is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(15) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the term ‘applicable dollar amount’ shall be the amount determined in accordance with the following table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Applicable Dollar Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2001</td>
<td>$9,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SEC. 323. PLAN LOANS FOR SUBCHAPTER S OWNERS, PARTNERS, AND SOLE PROPRIETORS.

(a) AMENDMENT TO 1986 CODE.—Subparagraph (B) of section 4975(f)(6) (relating to elections not to apply to certain transactions) is amended by adding at the end the following new clause:

‘‘(iii) LOAN EXCEPTION.—For purposes of subparagraph (A)(i), the term ‘owner-em- ployee’ shall only include a person described in subclause (II) or (III) of clause (i).’’

(b) AMENDMENT TO ERISA.—Section 4975(d) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1108(d)) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

‘‘(vi) In the case of a plan maintained by 2 or more sponsoring employers that are not part of the same controlled group, the employer (or any predecessor of either) that on the first day of any plan year has, in aggregate with all members of the controlled group of such employer, 100 or fewer employees, shall be treated as a single employer plan maintained by a single employer (as so defined), for purposes of determining whether any contributing sponsor is a small employer.’’

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 324. ELECTIVE DEFERRALS NOT TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT FOR PURPOSES OF DEDUCTION LIMITS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 404 (relating to deduction for contributions of an employer to a qualified salary reduction arrangement) is amended by striking the $12,000 amount specified in the table in subsection (A) at the same time and in the same manner as under section 415(d), except that the base period shall be the calendar quarter beginning July 1, 2001, and any increase under this paragraph which is not a multiple of $500 shall be rounded to the next lowest multiple of $500.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 325. REDUCED PBGC PREMIUM FOR NEW PLANS OF SMALL EMPLOYERS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subparagraph (A) of section 4006(a)(3) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1306(a)(3)(A)) is amended—

(1) in clause (i), by inserting ‘‘other than a single-employer plan (as defined in subparagraph (F)) maintained by a small employer (as so defined)’’ after ‘‘single-employer plan’’, and

(2) in clause (iii), by striking the period at the end and inserting ‘‘; and’’.

(b) DEFINITION OF NEW SINGLE-EMPLOYER PLAN.—Section 4006(a)(3) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1306(a)(3)) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

‘‘(P) For purposes of this paragraph, a single-employer plan maintained by a contribution sponsor shall be treated as a new single-employer plan for each of its first 5 plan years if, during the 36-month period ending on the date of the adoption of such plan, the sponsor or any member of such sponsor’s controlled group (or any predecessor of either) that on the first day of such plan year has, in aggregate with all members of the controlled group of such sponsor or any member of such sponsor’s controlled group, 100 or fewer employees, shall be treated as a single employer plan maintained by a single employer (as so defined), for purposes of determining whether any contributing sponsor is a small employer.’’

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to plans established after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 326. REDUCTION OF ADDITIONAL PBGC PREMIUM FOR NEW PLANS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subparagraph (E) of section 4006(a)(3) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1306(a)(3)(E)) is amended by adding at the end the following new clause:

‘‘(ii) In the case of a plan maintained by a single-employer plan (as defined in subparagraph (F)) maintained by a small employer (as so defined), the amount in effect under section 408(p)(2)(A)(ii) shall be $35,000 for purposes of determining whether any contributing sponsor is a small employer.’’

SEC. 327. DEDUCTION LIMITS.
"(V) In the case of a new defined benefit plan, the amount determined under clause (ii) for any plan year shall be an amount equal to the product of the amount determined under clause (ii) and the applicable percentage. For purposes of this clause, the term ‘applicable percentage’ means—

"(I) 10 percent, for the first plan year;

"(II) 20 percent, for the second plan year;

"(III) 30 percent, for the third plan year;

"(IV) 40 percent, for the fourth plan year;

"(V) 50 percent, for the fifth plan year.

"For purposes of this clause, a defined benefit plan (as defined in section 3(35)) maintained by a controlling group in this paragraph is treated as a new defined benefit plan for its first 5 plan years if, during the 36-month period ending on the date of the adoption of the plan, the sponsor and each member of any controlled group including the sponsor (or any predecessor of either) did not establish or maintain a plan to which this title applies with respect to which benefits were accrued for substantially the same employees as are in the new plan.

"(b) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to plans established after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 327. ELIMINATION OF USER FEE FOR REQUISITES FOR NEW PENSION PLANS.

(a) Elimination of Certain User Fees.—The Secretary of the Treasury or the Secretary’s delegate shall not require payment of user fees under the program established under section 7527 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 for requests to the Internal Revenue Service for ruling letters, opinion letters, and determination letters or similar requests with respect to the qualified status of a new pension benefit plan or any trust which is a part of a defined benefit plan described in section 408.

(b) New Pension Benefit Plan.—For purposes of this section—

"(1) In General.—The term “new pension benefit plan” means a pension, profit-sharing, stock bonus, annuity, or employee stock ownership plan which is maintained by one or more eligible employers if such employer (or any successor employer) has not made a prior request described in subsection (a) for such plan (or any predecessor plan).

"(2) Eligible Employer.—The term “eligible employer” means an employer (or any predecessor employer) which has not established or maintained a qualified employer plan with respect to which contributions were made, or benefits were accrued for service, in the 3 most recent taxable years ending prior to the first taxable year in which the request is made.

"(c) Effective Date.—The provisions of this section shall apply with respect to requests made after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 328. SAFE ANNUITIES AND TRUSTS.

(a) Safe Annuities and Trusts.—

"(1) In General.—Subpart A of part I of subchapter D of chapter 1 (relating to deferred compensation, etc.) is amended by inserting after section 408A the following new section—

"SEC. 408B. SAFE ANNUITIES AND TRUSTS.

"(a) Employer Eligibility.—

"(1) In General.—An employer may establish and maintain a SAFE annuity or a SAFE trust for any year only if—

"(A) the employer is an eligible employer (as defined in section 408(p)(2)(C)), and

"(B) the employer does not maintain a qualified plan (other than a permissible plan) with respect to which contributions were made, or benefits were accrued, for service in any year in the period beginning with the year such annuity or trust became effective and ending with the year for which the determination is being made.

"(2) Definitions.—For purposes of paragraph (1)—

"(A) Qualified Plan.—The term ‘qualified plan’ has the meaning given such term by section 401.6(d)-2(d).

"(B) Permissible Plan.—The term ‘permissible plan’ means—

"(i) a SIMPLE plan described in section 408(p);

"(ii) a SIMPLE 401(k) plan described in section 401(k)(11); and

"(iii) an eligible deferred compensation plan described in section 457(b).

"(C) VA collectively bargained plan but only if the employees eligible to participate in such plan are not also entitled to a benefit described in subsection (b)(5) or (c)(5), or

"(D) a plan under which there may be made only—

"(i) elective deferrals described in section 402(g)(3), and

"(ii) employer matching contributions not in excess of the amounts described in subclauses (I) and (II) of section 401(k)(12)(B)(i).

"(v) the employees eligible to participate in the plan for such taxable year and is made not later than the due date (including extensions of time for making the return) prescribed by law for filing the return for such taxable year (including extensions of time).
the contribution required by this paragraph in the case if the amount of the failure were an accumulated funding deficiency to which such section applies.

(7) LIMITATION ON DISTRIBUTIONS.—The requirements of this paragraph are met only if payment of the contract may be made only after the employee attains age 65 or when the employee separates from service, dies, or becomes disabled (within the meaning of section 72(m)(7)).

(c) SAFE TRUST.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this title, a trust is a trust forming part of a defined benefit plan if—

(A) such trust meets the requirements of section 401(a) as modified by subsection (d),

(B) a participant's benefits under the plan are based solely on the balance of a separate account in such plan of such participant,

(C) such plan meets the requirements of paragraphs (2) through (8), and

(D) the only contributions to such trust (other than rollover contributions) are employer contributions.

(2) CONTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS.—A plan meets the requirements of this paragraph for any year only if the requirements of subsection (b)(2) are met for such year.

(3) DEDUCTION LIMITS.—Such plan meets the requirements of this paragraph for any year only if the requirements of subsection (b)(3) are met for such year.

(D) DIRECT TRANSFERS TO INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT PLAN OR SAFE ANNUITY.—A plan shall not fail to meet the requirements of this paragraph by reason of permitting, as an optional form of benefit, the distribution of the entire balance to the credit of the employee. If the employee is under age 65, such distribution may be in the form of a direct trustee-to-trustee transfer to a SAFE annuity, another SAFE trust, or a SAFE rollover plan (or, in the case of a distribution that does not meet the requirements of this subsection (a)(2), in effect under section 411(a)(11)(A), any other individual retirement plan).

(C) SAFE ROLLOVER PLAN.—For purposes of this section, the term 'SAFE rollover plan' means an individual retirement plan for the benefit of the employee to which a rollover was made from a SAFE annuity, SAFE trust, or another SAFE rollover plan.

(5) AMOUNT OF ANNUAL ACCRUED BENEFIT.—

A plan meets the requirements of this paragraph for any year only if the requirements of subsection (b)(5) are met for such year.

(E) FUNDING.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—A plan meets the requirements of this paragraph for any year only if the requirements of subsection (b)(6) are met for such year.

(i) the requirements of subsection (b)(6) are met for such year,

(ii) in the case of a plan which has an unfunded plan year liability as of the close of such plan year, the plan requires that the employer make an additional contribution to such plan for such year equal to the amount of such unfunded prior year liability no later than 8 months following the end of the plan year,

(B) UNFUNDED ANNUITY AMOUNT.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'unfunded annuity amount' means, with respect to the account of any participant for whom an annuity is being purchased, the excess (if any) of—

(i) the amount necessary to purchase an annuity contract which meets the requirements of subsection (b)(4) in the amount of the participant's benefit determined under paragraph (5), over

(ii) the balance in such account at the time such contract is purchased,

(C) UNFUNDED PRIOR YEAR LIABILITY.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'unfunded prior year liability' means, with respect to any plan year, the excess (if any) of—

(i) the aggregate of the present value of the accrued liabilities under the plan as of the close of the prior plan year, over

(ii) the value of the plan's assets determined under section 412(c)(2) as of the close of the plan year (determined without regard to any contributions for such plan year),

(D) ACTUARIAL ASSUMPTIONS.—In determining the amount required to be contributed under subparagraph (A)—

(i) the assumed interest rate shall be not less than 3 percent, and not greater than 5 percent, per year,

(ii) the assumed mortality shall be determined under the applicable mortality table (as defined in section 417(e)(3), as modified by the Secretary), in effect under section 417(e)(3), as modified by the Secretary, and

(iii) the assumed retirement age shall be 65,

(E) CHANGES IN MORTALITY TABLE.—If, for purposes of this subsection, the applicable mortality table under section 417(e)(3) for any plan year is not the same as such table in effect for the prior plan year, the Secretary shall prescribe regulations for such purposes which phase in the effect of the changes over a reasonable period of plan years determined by the Secretary.

(F) PENALTY FOR FAILURE TO MAKE REQUIRED CONTRIBUTION.—The taxes imposed by section 4971 shall apply to a failure to make the contribution required by this paragraph in the same manner as if the amount of the failure were an accumulated funding deficiency to which such section applies.

(7) SEPARATE ACCOUNTS FOR PARTICIPANTS.—A plan meets the requirements of this paragraph for any year only if the plan provides—

(A) for an individual account for each participant, and

(B) for benefits based solely on—

(i) the amount contributed to the participant's account,

(ii) any income, expenses, gains and losses, and any forfeitures of accounts of other participants which may be allocated to such participant's account, and

(iii) the amount of any unfunded annuity amount with respect to the participant.

(8) UNFUNDED SECURITIES WHICH ARE NOT READILY TRADABLE.—A plan meets the requirements of this paragraph only if the plan prohibits the trust from holding directly any investment which are not readily tradable on an established securities market or otherwise. Nothing in this para-
(d) Increased Penalty on Early Withdrawals.—Section 72(t) (relating to additional tax on early distributions) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(7) SPECIAL RULES FOR SAFE ANNUITIES AND TRUSTS.—In the case of any amount received from a SAFE annuity or a SAFE trust (within the meaning of section 408B), paragraph (1) shall be applied by substituting "20 percent" for "10 percent".

(e) Simplified Employer Reports.—

(1) SAFE ANNUITIES.—Section 408(l) (relating to simplified employer reports) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) SAFE ANNUITIES.—(A) SIMPLIFIED REPORT.—The employer maintaining a SAFE annuity (within the meaning of section 408B) shall file a simplified annual return with the Secretary containing only the information described in subparagraph (B).

(B) CONTENTS.—The return required by subparagraph (A) shall set forth—

(i) the name and address of the employer,

(ii) the number of employees of the employer,

(iii) the number of employees who are eligible to participate in the plan,

(iv) the total amount contributed by the employer to each such annuity for such year and the minimum amount required under section 408B to be so contributed,

(v) the percentage elected under section 408B(b)(5)(B), and

(vii) the number of employees with respect to whom contributions are required to be made for such year under section 408B(b)(5)(B).

(C) REPORTING BY ISSUER OF SAFE ANNUITY.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The issuer of each SAFE annuity shall provide to the owner of the annuity for each year a statement setting forth as of the close of such year—

(A) the benefits guaranteed at age 65 under the annuity, and

(B) the cash surrender value of the annuity.

(ii) SUMMARY DESCRIPTION.—The issuer of any SAFE annuity shall provide to the employer maintaining the annuity for each year a description containing the following information:

(A) The name and address of the employer and the issuer.

(B) The requirements for eligibility for participation.

(C) The benefits provided with respect to the annuity.

(D) The procedures for, and effects of, withdrawals (including rollovers) from the annuity.

(E) TIME AND MANNER OF REPORTING.—Any report, return, or statement required under this paragraph shall be made in such form and at such time as the Secretary shall prescribe.

(2) SAFE TRUSTS.—Section 6059 (relating to actuarial reports) is amended by redesignating subsections (c) and (d) as subsections (d) and (e), respectively, and by inserting after subsection (b) the following new subsection:

"(c) SAFE TRUSTS.—In the case of a SAFE trust (within the meaning of section 408B), the Secretary shall cause an actuarial report which contains information similar to the information required in section 408B(3)(B).

(f) Conforming Amendments.—

(1) Section 280G(b)(6) is amended by striking "or" at the end of subparagraph (C), by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (D) and inserting "; or" and by adding after subparagraph (D) the following new subparagraph:

"(E) a SAFE annuity described in section 408B;"

(2) Clause (ii) of section 408(p)(2)(D) is amended by inserting before the period "other than clause (vii) of such subparagraph (A)");"

(3) Subsections (b), (c), (m)(4)(B), and (n)(3)(B) of section 414 are each amended by inserting "SAFE annuity" after "section 408B.

(4) Section 415(n)(3)(A)(iv) is amended by striking "and" at the end of clause (iii), by striking the period at the end of clause (iv) and inserting ";", and by adding after clause (iv) the following clause:

"(v) any SAFE annuity (within the meaning of section 408B);"

(5) The table of sections for parts A and B of subtitle D of chapter 1 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 408A the following new item:

"Sec. 408B. SAFE annuities and trusts."

(g) Modifications of ERISA.—

(1) EXEMPTION FROM INSURANCE COVERAGE.—Section (b) of section 4021 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1321) is amended by striking "or" at the end of paragraph (12), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (13) and inserting "; or", and by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(14) which is established and maintained as part of a SAFE trust (as defined in section 408B of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986)."

(2) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—Section 101 of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1081) is amended by redesignating the second subsection (a) as subsection (j) and by inserting after the first subsection (j) the following new subsection:

"(1) SAFE ANNUITIES.—

(2) NO EMPLOYER REPORTS.—Except as provided in this subsection, no report shall be required under this section by an employer maintaining a SAFE annuity under section 408B(b)(5)(B) or by an employer maintaining the annuity for such year a description containing the following information:

(A) The name and address of the employer and the issuer.

(B) The requirements for eligibility for participation.

(C) The benefits provided with respect to the annuity.

(D) The procedures for, and effects of, withdrawals (including rollovers) from the annuity.

(E) EMPLOYER NOTIFICATION.—The employer shall provide each employee eligible to participate in the SAFE annuity with the description described in paragraph (2) as the notification required under section 408B(b)(5)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(3) WAIVER OF FUNDING STANDARDS.—Section 401(a)(4) of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1081) is amended by striking "or" at the end of paragraph (9), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (10) and inserting "; or", and by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(11) any plan providing for the purchase of any SAFE annuity or any SAFE trust (as such terms are defined in section 408B of such Code)."

(h) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 329. MODIFICATION OF TOP-HEAVY RULES.

(a) Matching Contributions Taken into Account for Minimum Contribution Requirements.—Section 416(c)(2)(A) (relating to defined contribution plans) is amended by adding at the end the following new clause:

"(IV) The procedures for, and effects of, withdrawals (including rollovers) from the annuity.

(b) Elimination of Family Attribution.—

Section 416(l)(1)(B) (defining 5-percent owner) is amended by adding at the end the following new clause:

"(IV) FAMILY ATTRIBUTION DISREGARDED.—Solely for purposes of applying this paragraph, not for purposes of any provision of this title which incorporates by reference the definition of a key employee or 5-percent owner under this paragraph, section 317 shall be applied without regard to subsection (a)(1) thereof in determining whether any person is a 5-percent owner.

(c) Definition of Top-Heavy Plans.—

Paragraph (4) of section 416(g) (relating to other special rules for top-heavy plans) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(4) CASH OR DEFERRED ARRANGEMENTS USING ALTERNATIVE METHODS OF MEETING NON-DISCRIMINATION REQUIREMENTS.—The term 'top-heavy plan' shall not include a plan which consists solely of—

"(i) a cash or deferred arrangement which meets the requirements of section 401(k)(12), and

"(ii) matching contributions with respect to which the requirements of section 401(m)(11) are met.

If, but for this subparagraph, a plan would be a top-heavy plan because a member of an aggregation group which is a top-heavy group, contributions under the plan may be taken into account in determining whether any other plan in the group meets the requirements of this subparagraph.

(d) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to plan years beginning after December 31, 2000.

Subtitle D—Enhancing Fairness for Women

SEC. 331. CATCHUP CONTRIBUTIONS FOR INDIVIDUALS AGE 50 OR OVER.

(a) Elective Deferrals.—Section 414 (relating to definitions and special rules) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(v) CATCHUP CONTRIBUTIONS FOR INDIVIDUALS AGE 50 OR OVER.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—An applicable employer plan shall not be treated as failing to meet any requirement of this title solely because the plan permits an eligible participant to make additional elective deferrals in any plan year.

(2) LIMITATION ON AMOUNT OF ADDITIONAL DEFERRELLS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A plan shall not permit additional elective deferrals under paragraph (1) for any year in an amount greater than the lesser of—

"(i) the applicable percentage of the applicable dollar amount for such elective deferrals for such year, or..."
For purposes of this paragraph, the applicable percentage shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

For taxable years beginning:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2001</td>
<td>10 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>20 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>25 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005 and thereafter</td>
<td>30 percent</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(3) Treatment of contributions.—In the case of any contribution to a plan under paragraph (1), a contribution shall not, with respect to the year in which the contribution is made—

(i) subject to any other otherwise applicable limitation contained in section 402(c), 403(b), 404(a), 404(b), 408, 415, or 457, or

(ii) be taken into account in applying such limitation or other restriction on contributions under such plan or any other such plan, and

(B) such plan shall not be treated as failing to meet the requirements of section 401(a), 401(a)(4), 401(a)(25), 401(k)(3), 401(k)(11), 401(k)(12), 401(m), 403(b)(12), 408(k), 408(p), 408B, 410(b), or 416 by reason of the making of or the right to make such contribution.

(4) Eligible participant.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘eligible participant’ means, with respect to any plan year, a participant in a plan—

(A) who has attained the age of 50 before the close of the plan year, and

(B) with respect to whom no other elective deferrals may (without regard to this subsection) be made to the plan for the plan year by reason of the application of any limitation or other restriction described in paragraph (3) or contained in the terms of the plan.

(5) Other definitions and rules.—For purposes of this subsection:

(A) Applicable dollar amount.—The term ‘applicable dollar amount’ means the participant’s includible compensation determined under section 403(b), the term ‘participant’s compensation’ means the participant’s includible compensation determined under section 403(b), the term ‘applicable employer plan’ means—

(i) a plan under which amounts are contributed by an individual’s employer for an annuity contract described in section 403(b),

(ii) an eligible deferred compensation plan under section 457 of an eligible employer plan as defined in section 457(e)(1)(A), and

(iii) an arrangement meeting the requirements of section 408 (k) or (p).

(C) Elective deferral.—The term ‘elective deferral’ has the meaning given such term by subsection (u)(2)(C).

(D) Exception for section 407 plans.—This section shall not apply to an eligible employer plan described in paragraph (5)(B)(iii) for any year to which section 457(b)(3) applies.

(E) Retirement plans.—Section 212(b), as amended by sections 301 and 318, is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

(7) Limitations on contributions.—

(A) In general.—In the case of an individual who has attained the age of 50 before the close of the taxable year, the dollar amount in effect under paragraph (1)(A) for such taxable year shall be equal to the applicable percentage of such amount determined without regard to this paragraph.

(B) Annual addition.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘annual addition’ has the meaning given such term by paragraph (2).

(2) Reduction in annual addition.—(D) Exception for section 407 plans.—Section 407(b) is amended in paragraph (1)(B) to read as follows:

(A) Subsection (f) of section 72 is amended by striking ‘‘section 403(b)(2)(D)(iii)’’ and inserting ‘‘section 403(b)(2)(D)(iii), as in effect before the enactment of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999’’.

(B) Section 404(a)(10)(B) is amended by striking ‘‘the election allowance under section 402(g)’’ and inserting ‘‘the applicable limit under section 415’’.

(C) Paragraph (2) of section 408 is amended by striking ‘‘the excess (if any) of—

(ii) the excess (if any) of—

(iii) the excess (if any) of—

(iv) the excess (if any) of—

(v) the excess (if any) of—

(vi) the excess (if any) of—

(vii) the excess (if any) of—

(viii) the excess (if any) of—

(ix) the excess (if any) of—

(x) the excess (if any) of—

(xi) the excess (if any) of—

(xii) the excess (if any) of—

(xiii) the excess (if any) of—

(xiv) the excess (if any) of—

(xv) the excess (if any) of—

(xvi) the excess (if any) of—

(xvii) the excess (if any) of—

(xviii) the excess (if any) of—

(xix) the excess (if any) of—

(xx) the excess (if any) of—

(2) Effective date.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(B) Special rules for sections 403(b) and 408.—(1) In general.—Subsection (k) of section 415 is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

(4) Special rules for sections 403(b) and 408.—For purposes of this section, any annuity contract described in section 403(b) for the benefit of a participant shall be treated as a defined contribution plan maintained by each employer with respect to which the participant has the contractual right to receive such plan under section (b) or (c) of section 414 (as modified by subsection (h)). For purposes of this section, any contribution by an employer to a plan by inserting ‘‘or an eligible deferred compensation plan for an individual for a taxable year shall be treated as an employer contribution to a defined contribution plan for such individual for such year’’.

(2) Effective date.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SECTION 332. QUALITATIVE TREATMENT FOR CONTRIBUTIONS OF EMPLOYEES TO DEFINED CONTRIBUTION PLANS. (a) Equitable treatment.—(1) In general.—Subsection (B) of section 415(c)(1) (relating to limitation for defined contribution plans) is amended by inserting ‘‘25 percent’’ and inserting ‘‘100 percent’’.

(2) Application to section 403(b).—Section 403(b) is amended—

(A) by striking ‘‘the exclusion allowance for such taxable year’’ in paragraph (1) and inserting ‘‘the applicable limit under section 415’’

(B) by striking paragraph (2), and

(C) by inserting ‘‘or any amount received by a former employee after the 5th taxable year following the taxable year in which such employee was terminated’’ before the period at the end of the second sentence of paragraph (3).

(3) Conforming amendments.—(A) Subsection (f) of section 72 is amended by striking ‘‘403(b)(2)(D)(iii)’’ and inserting ‘‘403(b)(2)(D)(iii), as in effect before the enactment of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999’’.

(B) Section 404(a)(10)(B) is amended by striking ‘‘the exclusion allowance under section 402(g)’’ and inserting ‘‘the applicable limit under section 415’’.

(C) Section 415(a)(2) is amended by striking ‘‘, and the amount of the contribution for such portion shall reduce the exclusion allowed under section 403(b)(10)’’ and inserting ‘‘the applicable dollar amount under section 403(b)(10)’’.

(D) Section 415(c)(3) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

(E) Annuity contracts.—In the case of an annuity contract described in section 403(b), the term ‘participant’s compensation’ means the participant’s includible compensation determined under section 403(b)(3).

(E) Section 415(c) is amended by striking paragraph (4).

(F) Section 415(c)(7) is amended to read as follows:

(7) Certain contributions by church plans not treated as exceeding limit.—

(A) In general.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, at the election of a participant who is an employee of a church or a convention or association of churches, including an organization described in section 401(3)(C) or 401(3)(D), contributions and other additions for an annuity contract or retirement income account described in section 403(b) with respect to such participant shall not be treated as an annual addition to such participant’s account, shall be treated as not exceeding the limitation of paragraph (1) if such annual addition is not in excess of $10,000.

(B) $40,000 aggregate limitation.—The total amount of additions with respect to any participant which may be taken into account for purposes of this paragraph for all years may not exceed $40,000.

(2) Annual addition.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘annual addition’ has the meaning given such term by paragraph (2).

(3) Effective date.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(B) Special rules for sections 403(b) and 408.—(1) In general.—Subsection (k) of section 415 is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

(4) Special rules for sections 403(b) and 408.—For purposes of this section, any annuity contract described in section 403(b) for the benefit of a participant shall be treated as a defined contribution plan maintained by each employer with respect to which the participant has the contractual right to receive such plan under section (b) or (c) of section 414 (as modified by subsection (h)). For purposes of this section, any contribution by an employer to a plan by inserting ‘‘or an eligible deferred compensation plan for an individual for a taxable year shall be treated as an employer contribution to a defined contribution plan for such individual for such year’’.

(2) Effective date.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SECTION 333. CLARIFICATION OF TAX TREATMENT OF PAYMENTS FROM A SECTION 457 PLAN BENEFITS UPON DIVORCE. (a) In general.—Section 443(p)(11) (relating to application of rules to governmental and church plans) is amended by inserting ‘‘or an eligible deferred compensation plan’’ after ‘‘section 457(b)’’ after ‘‘subsection (e)’’, and

(2) in the heading, by striking ‘‘GOVERNMENTAL AND CHURCH PLANS’’ and inserting ‘‘CERTAIN OTHER PLANS’’.

(b) Waiver of certain distribution requirements.—(Paragraph (10) of section 414(p) is amended by inserting ‘‘and section 409(d)’’ and inserting ‘‘section 409(d), and section 457(d)’’.

(c) Tax treatment of payments from a section 457 plan.—(Subsection (g) of section 414 is amended by redesignating paragraph (12) as paragraph (13) and inserting after paragraph (11) the following new paragraph:

(12) Tax treatment of payments from a section 457 plan.—If a distribution or payment from an eligible deferred compensation plan described in section 457(b) is made pursuant to qualified court order, the following rules similar to the rules of section 402(e)(1)(A) shall apply to such distribution or payment.

(d) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to transfers, distributions, and payments made after December 31, 2000.
SEC. 334. MODIFICATION OF SAFE HARBOR RULES FOR HARDSHIP DISTRIBUTIONS FROM CASH OR DEFERRED ARRANGEMENTS.

(a) In general.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall adjust the regulations relating to hardship distributions under section 401(k)(2)(B)(i)(IV) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide that the period an employee is prohibited from making elective and employee contributions in order for a distribution to be deemed necessary to satisfy financial need shall be equal to 6 months.

(b) Effective date.—The revised regulations under subsection (a) shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 335. FASTER VESTING OF CERTAIN EMPLOYER MATCHING CONTRIBUTIONS.

(a) AMENDMENTS TO 1986 CODE.—Section 411(a) (relating to minimum vesting standards) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2), by striking “A plan” and inserting “Except as provided in paragraph (2), a plan”, and (2) by adding at the end the following:

“(2) FASTER VESTING FOR MATCHING CONTRIBUTIONS.—In the case of matching contributions (as defined in section 401(m)(4)(A)), paragraph (2) shall be applied—

“(A) by substituting ‘3 years’ for ‘5 years’ in subparagraph (A), and “(B) by substituting the following table for the table contained in subparagraph (B):

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Years of service: percentage is:</th>
<th>2</th>
<th>3</th>
<th>4</th>
<th>5</th>
<th>6</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>20</td>
<td>40</td>
<td>60</td>
<td>80</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(b) AMENDMENTS TO ERISA.—Section 203(a) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1053(a)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2), by striking “‘A plan’” and inserting “Except as provided in paragraph (2), a plan”, and (2) by adding at the end the following:

“(2) FASTER VESTING FOR MATCHING CONTRIBUTIONS.—In the case of matching contributions (as defined in section 401(m)(4)(A)), paragraph (2) shall be applied—

“(A) by substituting ‘3 years’ for ‘5 years’ in subparagraph (A), and

“(B) by substituting the following table for the table contained in subparagraph (B):

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Years of service: percentage is:</th>
<th>2</th>
<th>3</th>
<th>4</th>
<th>5</th>
<th>6</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>20</td>
<td>40</td>
<td>60</td>
<td>80</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(c) EFFECTIVE DATES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), the amendments made by this section shall apply to contributions for plan years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(2) COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENTS.—In the case of a plan maintained pursuant to 1 or more collective bargaining agreements between employee representatives and 1 or more employers ratified by the date of enactment of this Act, the amendments made by this section shall not apply to contributions on behalf of employees covered by any such agreement for plan years beginning before the earlier of—

(A) the date at the end of—

(i) the date on which the last of such collective bargaining agreements terminates (determined without regard to any extension thereof on or after such date of enactment), or

(ii) January 1, 2001, or

(B) January 1, 2005.

General Service.—With respect to any plan, the amendments made by this section shall not apply to any employee before the date that such employee has 1 hour of service under the plan to which the amendments made by this section apply.

Subtitle E—Increasing Portability for Participants

SEC. 341. ROLLOvers ALLOWED AMONG VARIOUS TYPES OF PLANS.

(a) Rollovers FROM and TO Section 457 PLANS.

(1) Rollovers FROM Section 457 Plans.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Section 457(e) (relating to the term ‘eligible retirement plan’) is amended by—

(i) the date on which the last of such contributions to such an employer (as defined in section 457(b)) is paid to such an employer, is a plan described in section 403(b)(8), and

(ii) in the case of a distribution from an eligible deferred compensation plan (as defined in section 401(k)(2)) of an employer described in section 408(b)(1)(B), the plan describes in section 408(b)(1)(B).

(B) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The revised regulations under this section to which the amendments made by this section apply shall apply to contributions for plan years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(b) Rollovers TO Section 457 Plans.

(1) Rollovers FROM Section 403(b) Plans.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Section 403(b)(8)(B) (defining eligible retirement plan) is amended by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of clause (ii), by striking the period at the end of clause (iv) and inserting ‘‘, and’’, and by adding at the end the following:

“(v) an eligible deferred compensation plan described in section 457(e)(1)(A),”.

(B) SEPARATE ACCOUNTING.—Section 402(c) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(11) SEPARATE ACCOUNTING.—Unless a plan described in clause (v) of paragraph (b)(B) agrees to separately account for amounts rolled into such plan from eligible retirement plans not described in such clause, the plan described in such clause may not accept transfers or rollovers from such retirement plans.”

(C) 10 PERCENT ADDITIONAL TAX.—Subsection (t) of section 72 (relating to 10-percent additional tax on early distributions from qualified retirement plans) is amended by adding at the end the following paragraph:

“(9) SPECIAL RULE FOR ROLLOVERS TO SECTION 457 PLANS.—For purposes of this subsection, a distribution from an eligible deferred compensation plan (as defined in section 457(b)) of an employer described in section 402(c)(5) is treated as a distribution from a qualified retirement plan in any plan year in which paid.

(D) ALLOWANCE OF ROLLOVERS FROM AND TO 403(b) PLANS.—

(1) Rollovers FROM Section 403(b) Plans.—

(A) Section 403(b)(8)(B)(i) (relating to rollover amounts) is amended by striking “such distribution” and all that follows and inserting “such distribution to an eligible retirement plan” described in section 457(e)(1)(A) that is a plan described in section 403(b)(8)(A)(i).

(B) Section 403(b)(8)(A)(ii) (relating to rollover amounts) is amended by inserting “other than rollover amounts” after “taxable year”.

(2) Rollovers TO Section 403(b) Plans.—

Section 402(c)(5) (defining eligible retirement plan), as amended by subsection (a), is amended by striking “and” at the end of clause (iv), by striking the period at the end of clause (v) and inserting “, and”. and by inserting after clause (v) the following new clause:

“(vi) an annuity contract described in section 403(b).”.

(c) EXPANDED EXPLANATION TO RECIPIENTS OF DISTRIBUTIONS.—Section 402(c) (relating to written explanation to recipients of distributions eligible for rollover treatment) is amended by striking “and” at the end of paragraph (C), by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (D) and inserting “, and”, and by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

“(E) of the provisions under which distributions from the eligible retirement plan in which the distribution may be subject to restrictions and tax consequences which are different from those applicable to distributions from the plan making such distributions.”

(d) Spousal Rollovers.—Section 402(c)(9) (relating to rollover where spouse receives

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

July 29, 1999

18525
distribution after death of employee) is amended by striking "and (ii) (iii), and (v)" and by adding at the end the following:

"(ii) A rollover contribution is made by this section described in clause (i) shall be treated as from income on the contract (to the extent of the aggregate income on the contract from all individual retirement plans of the distributee), and shall apply to such distribution to the extent—

(a) the portion of such distribution rolled over to an eligible retirement plan described in clause (i) shall be treated as from income on the contract (to the extent of the aggregate income on the contract from all individual retirement plans of the distributee), and shall apply to such distribution to the extent—

(b) the portion of such distribution which is includible in gross income is paid into another simple retirement account (as defined in subparagraph (C) of section 403(a), subparagraph (A) of section 403(b)(8), or subparagraph (A) of section 457(e)(16))."

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Paragraph (1) of section 402(f) is amended by striking "or (vi) of section 402(c)(8)(B)." and inserting "or (vi) of section 402(c)(8)(B)(ii), (iv), (v), or (vi) of section 402(c)(8)(B)."

(2) Paragraph (2) of section 403(a)(31)(B) is amended by striking "and 403(a)(4)" and inserting ", 403(b)(8), 408(d)(3), and 457(e)(16)".

(3) Section 404(a)(31)(A) is amended by striking "and 403(a)(4)" and inserting "403(a)(4), 403(b)(8), and 457(e)(16)".

(4) Paragraph (3) of section 408(d)(3) is amended by striking "or paragraph (4) of section 403(a)" and inserting "paragraph (4) of section 403(a), subparagraph (A) of section 403(b)(8), or subparagraph (A) of section 457(e)(16)".

(5) Paragraph (1) of section 402(f)(1) is amended by striking "from an eligible retirement plan".

(6) Paragraph (A) and (B) of section 402(f)(1) are amended by striking "another eligible retirement plan" and inserting "an eligible retirement plan".

(7) Paragraph (B) of section 403(b)(8) is amended to read as follows:

"(B) APPLICABLE RULES.—In the case of any payment or distribution out of a simple retirement account (as defined in subparagraph (p) to which section 72 (related to rollover contributions), as amended by section 333, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(II) the forms of distribution previously available under another defined contribution plan (in this subparagraph referred to as the 'transferor plan') shall not be treated as failing to meet some or all of the forms of distribution previously available under another defined contribution plan (in this subparagraph referred to as the 'transferor plan') to the extent that—

(a) Plan Transfers.—

(1) Plan Transfers.—

"(I) Waiver of 60-day requirement.—The Secretary may waive the 60-day requirement under subparagraph (A) where the failure to waive such requirement would be against equity or good conscience, including casualty, disaster, or other events beyond the reasonable control of the individual subject to such requirement.

(b) IRA's.—

(3) Transfer of IRA to another defined contribution plan (in this subparagraph referred to as the "transferor plan") shall not be treated as failing to meet some or all of the forms of distribution previously available under another defined contribution plan (in this subparagraph referred to as the "transferor plan") to the extent that—

"(I) Waiver of 60-day requirement.—The Secretary may waive the 60-day requirement under subparagraph (A) where the failure to waive such requirement would be against equity or good conscience, including casualty, disaster, or other events beyond the reasonable control of the individual subject to such requirement.

(b) IRA's.—

(4) Plan Transfers.—

(2) IRA's.—

(1) IRA's.—

"(I) the forms of distribution previously available under the transferor plan applied to the account of a participant or beneficiary under the transferor plan that was transferred from the transferor plan to the transferee plan pursuant to a direct transfer rather than pursuant to a distribution from the transferor plan,
(II) the terms of both the transferor plan and the transferee plan authorize the transfer described in clause (I);

(III) the transfer described in clause (I) was made pursuant to a voluntary election by the participant or beneficiary whose account was transferred to the transferee plan;

(IV) the election described in clause (III) was made after the participant or beneficiary received a notice describing the consequences of making the election;

(V) if the transferor plan provides for an annuity as the normal form of distribution under the plan in accordance with section 417, the transfer is made with the consent of the participant (if any), and such consent meets requirements similar to the requirements imposed by section 417(a)(2); and

(vi) the transferee plan allows the participant or beneficiary described in clause (III) to receive any distribution to which the participant or beneficiary is entitled under the transferee plan in the form of a single sum distribution.

(B) Subparagraph (A) shall apply to plan mergers and other transactions having the effect of consolidations of benefits attributable to different employers within a multiple employer plan.

(C) E LIMINATION OF FORM OF DISTRIBUTION.—Except to the extent provided in regulations, a defined contribution plan shall not be treated as failing to meet the requirements of this section merely because of the elimination of a form of distribution previously available thereunder. This paragraph shall not apply to the elimination of a form of distribution with respect to any participant unless—

(i) a single sum payment is available to such participant at the same time or times as the form of distribution being eliminated, and

(ii) such single sum payment is based on the same or greater portion of the participant’s account as the form of distribution being eliminated.

SEC. 347. PURCHASE OF SERVICE CREDIT IN GOVERNMENTAL DEFINED BENEFIT PLANS.

(a) 403(b) PLANS.—Subsection (b) of section 403 is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(13) TRUSTEE-TO-TRUSTEE TRANSFERS TO PURCHASE PERMISSIVE SERVICE CREDIT.—No amount shall be includable in gross income by reason of a direct trustee-to-trustee transfer to a defined benefit governmental plan (as defined in section 414(d)) if such transfer is—

(A) for the purchase of permissive service credit (as defined in section 415(n)(3)(A)) under such plan, or

(B) a repayment to which section 415 does not apply by reason of subsection (k)(3) thereof."

(b) 457 PLANS.—

(1) Subsection (e) of section 457 is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(13) TRUSTEE-TO-TRUSTEE TRANSFERS TO PURCHASE PERMISSIVE SERVICE CREDIT.—No amount shall be includable in gross income by reason of a direct trustee-to-trustee transfer to a defined benefit governmental plan (as defined in section 414(d)) if such transfer is—

(A) for the purchase of permissive service credit (as defined in section 415(n)(3)(A)) under such plan, or terms of the plan, the present value of the nonforfeitable benefit is not deemed without regard to that portion of such benefit which is attributable to rollover contributions (and earnings allocable thereto). For purposes of this subparagraph, the term ‘rollover contributions’ means any rollover contribution under sections 402(c), 403(a)(4), 403(b)(8), 408(d)(3)(A)(i)(ii), and 457(e)(16).

(B) a repayment to which section 415 does not apply by reason of subsection (k)(3) thereof."

(2) AMENDMENTS.—Section 392(c)(7) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1082(c)(7)) is amended by inserting ‘‘(relating to qualified pension, etc., plans)’’ after ‘‘(relating to qualified pension plans)’’ each time it appears in the section.

(a) EXCISE TAX.—In GENERAL.—Chapter 43 of subtitle D (relating to qualified pension, etc., plans) is amended by adding the following:

SEC. 352. EXTENSION OF MISSING PARTICIPANTS PROGRAM TO MULTIEmployER PLANS.

SEC. 353. EXCISE TAX RELIEF FOR SOUND PENSION FUNDING.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to plan years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 354. FAILURE TO PROVIDE NOTICE BY DEFINED BENEFIT PLANS SIGNIFICANTLY REDUCING FUTURE BENEFIT ACCRUALS.

(a) IMPOSITION OF TAX.—There is hereby imposed a tax on the failure of an applicable pension plan to meet the requirements of subsection (a) with respect to any individual.

(b) AMOUNT OF TAX.—The amount of the tax imposed by subsection (a) on any failure with respect to any applicable individual shall be $100 per day for each day of noncompliance with respect to such failure.

(2) NONCOMPLIANCE PERIOD.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘noncompliance period’ means, with respect to any failure, the period beginning on the first day that such failure occurs and ending on the date the failure is corrected.

(c) LIMITATIONS ON AMOUNT OF TAX.—(1) TAX NOT TO APPLY WHERE FAILURE NOT DISCOVERED EXERCISING REASONABLE DILIGENCE.—No tax shall be imposed by subsection (a) on any failure during any period for which it is established to the satisfaction of the Secretary that none of the persons referred to in subsection (d) knew, or exercised reasonable diligence would have known, that the failure existed.

SEC. 355. CONFORMING AMENDMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 404(f) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1056(f)) is amended by inserting ‘‘the portion of such amount which is attributable to rollover contributions (as defined in section 411(a)(1)(D))’’ after ‘‘the portion of such amount which is attributable to rollover contributions (as defined in section 411(a)(1)(D))’’.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to plan years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 356. LIABILITY FUNDING LIMIT.

SEC. 357. PROGRAM TO MULTIEMPLOYER PLANS.

SEC. 358. CONFORMING AMENDMENT.

SEC. 359. MINIMUM TAX FOR NONCOMPLIANCE PERIOD WHERE VIOLATIONS ARE MORE THAN DE MINIMIS.

SEC. 360. HIGHER MINIMUM TAX WHERE VIOLATIONS ARE MORE THAN DE MINIMIS.

SEC. 361. LIMITATIONS ON AMOUNT OF TAX. year of the employer (or, in the case of a multiemployer plan, all persons who are treated as a single employer for purposes of this section) shall not exceed $500,000. For purposes of the preceding sentence, all multiemployer plans of which the same trust forms a part shall be treated as a single plan.

“(B) TAXABLE YEARS IN THE CASE OF CERTAIN CONTROLLED GROUPS.—For purposes of this paragraph, a controlled group shall be treated as a single employer for purposes of this section if all members of the controlled group are treated as a single employer for purposes of section 414. Each taxable year of the group shall be treated as a taxable year of the single employer.

“(C) TRANSFERS.—For purposes of this section, a transfer of stock or other property is treated as a transfer to a controlled group if the transfer was part of a corporate reorganization or other similar arrangement that is treated, for purposes of section 414, as a transfer to a controlled group.

“(D) OTHER.—For purposes of this section, a transfer from a noncarrier employer to a carrier employer or from a carrier employer to a noncarrier employer is treated as a transfer to a controlled group if the transfer was part of a corporate reorganization or other similar arrangement that is treated, for purposes of section 414, as a transfer to a controlled group.

“Section 414(o) (as it existed on August 3, 2007) shall apply to transfers made after August 2, 2007, for purposes of section 414(o).”

“(2) The Secretary may change notice requirements in connection with an administrative amendment to the extent that the Secretary determines that such change is necessary to make such written notice less burdensome to Plans.

“(3) Sec. 417(e)(4)(D) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1054(e)(4)(D)) is amended by striking ‘‘Sec. 4980F. Failure of defined benefit plans reducing benefit accruals to satisfy notice requirements.’’

“(b) AMENDMENT TO ERISA.—Section 209(h) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1054(h)) is amended by striking ‘‘Sec. 4980F. Failure of defined benefit plans reducing benefit accruals to satisfy notice requirements.’’

“Sec. 4980F of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall not apply to an amendment made, added to, or amended by subsection (a) or (b).”

“(c) Amendment effective date.—The amendments made by this section apply to amendments described in subsection (a) or (b) which are adopted after the date of the enactment of this Act.”

“(d) Authorization.—The amendments made by this section are authorized by section 102 of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2010.”

“ABANDONMENT OF PLAN.—(1) In general.—A plan shall, not later than the date which is 6 months after the effective date of the amendment, provide written notice to each applicable individual and to each employee organization representing applicable individuals which—

“(A) sets forth the plan amendment and its effective date, and

“(B) includes sufficient information (as determined in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor) to allow such participants and beneficiaries to understand the manner in which the accrued benefit of an applicable individual is determined under the plan, or

“(C) requires an applicable individual to choose between 2 or more benefit formulas, and “(II) may reasonably be expected to affect such applicable individual.

“(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—The table of sections for chapter 43 of subtitle D is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

“(2) Sec. 4980F. Failure of defined benefit plans reducing benefit accruals to satisfy notice requirements.”
normal retirement age (and by taking into account any early retirement subsidy), and ‘‘(ii) by using the applicable mortality table and the applicable interest rate under section 206(g)(3)(A).

‘‘(3) A plan amendment to which paragraph (1) applies requires an applicable individual to choose between 2 or more benefit formulas, the Secretary of the Treasury may, at his discretion, treat—

‘‘(A) a participant in the plan, and

‘‘(B) an individual account plan which is maintained by an employer and is not a multiemployer plan (as defined in section 414(f)), subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) shall not apply.

‘‘(4) A plan shall not be treated as failing to meet the requirements of paragraph (1) or (2) merely because notice is provided before the adoption of the plan amendment if no material modification of the amendment occurs before the amendment is adopted.

‘‘(5) Any notice under paragraph (1) or (2) may be provided to a person designated, in writing, by the person to whom it would otherwise be provided.

‘‘(6)(A) For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘applicable individual’ means, with respect to any plan amendment—

‘‘(i) any participant in the plan, and

‘‘(ii) any beneficiary who is an alternate payee with respect to a plan which is not a multiemployer plan (as defined in section 414(f)) and is not an individual account plan.

‘‘(B) section 415(b)(1)(B)(ii), whichever is applicable, in section 301(a)(3) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1051(a)(3)), is amended by redesignating paragraphs (2) through (5) as paragraphs (3) through (6), respectively.

‘‘(7) For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘applicable pension plan’ means—

‘‘(A) a defined benefit plan, or

‘‘(B) an individual account plan which is subject to the funding standards of section 9802.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to plan amendments taking effect on or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(2) SPECIAL RULE FOR COLLECTIVELY BARGAINED PLANS.—In the case of a plan maintained pursuant to 1 or more collective bargaining agreements between employee representatives and 1 or more employers ratified by the date of the enactment of this Act, the amendments made by this section shall not apply to plan amendments taking effect before the earlier of—

(A) the later of—

(i) the date on which the last of such collective bargaining agreements terminates (determined without regard to any extension thereof on or after such date of enactment), or

(ii) January 1, 2000, or

(B) January 1, 2002.

(3) SPECIAL RULE.—The period for providing any notice required by the amendments made by this section shall not end before the date which is 3 months after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 355. PROTECTION OF INVESTMENT OF EMPLOYEE CONTRIBUTIONS TO 401(K) PLANS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 525(b) of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), the amendments made by this section shall apply to elective deferrals for plan years beginning after December 31, 1998.

(2) NONAPPLICATION TO PREVIOUSLY ACQUIRED PROPERTY.—The amendments made by this section shall not apply to any elective deferral used to acquire an interest in investments in other person’s securities or employer real property acquired—

‘‘(A) before January 1, 1999, or

‘‘(B) after such date pursuant to a written contract entered into on or after such date and at all times thereafter on such plan.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply as if included in section 401(k) of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 to which it relates.

SEC. 356. TREATMENT OF MULTIEmployER PLANS UNDER SECTION 415.

(a) COMPENSATION LIMIT.—Paragraph (11) of section 415(b)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(11) SPECIAL LIMITATION FOR GOVERNMENTAL AND MULTIEmployER PLANS.—In the case of a governmental plan (as defined in section 414(d)) or a multiemployer plan (as defined in section 414(e), subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) shall not apply.

(b) COMBINING AND AGGREGATION OF PLANS.—

(1) COMBINING OF PLANS.—Subsection (f) of section 415 relating to combining of plans is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(3) EXCEPTION FOR MULTIEmployER PLANS.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1) and subsection (g) of section 415, a multiemployer plan (as defined in section 414(f)) shall not be combined or aggregated with any other plan maintained by an employer for purposes of applying the limitations established in this section. The preceding sentence shall not apply for purposes of applying subsection (b)(1)(A) to a plan which is not a multiemployer plan.

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT FOR AGGREGATION OF PLANS.—Subsection (g) of section 415 (relating to aggregation of plans) is amended by striking ‘‘The Secretary’’ and inserting ‘‘Except as provided in subsection (f)(3), the Secretary’’.

(3) APPLICATION OF SPECIAL EARLY RETIREMENT RULES TO COMBINED PLANS.—Section 415(f)(2)(F) (relating to plans maintained by governments and tax-exempt organizations) is amended—

‘‘(i) by inserting ‘‘a multiemployer plan (within the meaning of section 414(f))’’ after ‘‘section 415(d)(i)’’, and

‘‘(ii) by striking the heading and inserting:

‘‘(F) SPECIAL EARLY RETIREMENT RULES FOR CERTAIN PLANS.—

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 1999.

Subtitle G—Encouraging Retirement Income Security

SEC. 361. PERIODIC PENSION BENEFITS STATEMENTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 105(a) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1052) is amended by striking subsection (d)

(b) QUALIFIED RETIREMENT PLANNING SERVICES.—

(2) Section 105(b) of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1052(b)) is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 362. CLARIFICATION OF TREATMENT OF EMPLOYER-PROVIdED RETIREMENT ADVICE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (a) of section 132 (relating to exclusion from gross income) is amended by striking ‘‘or’’ at the end of paragraph (5), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (5) and inserting ‘‘., or’’, and by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

‘‘(7) qualified retirement planning services.

(b) QUALIFIED RETIREMENT PLANNING SERVICES DEFINED.—Section 132 is amended by redesignating subsection (c) as subsection (d) and by inserting after subsection (d) the following:

‘‘(II) QUALIFIED RETIREMENT PLANNING SERVICES.—

‘‘(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘qualified retirement planning services’ means any retirement planning services provided to an employee and his spouse by an employer maintaining a qualified employer plan.
(2) Nondiscrimination rule.—Subsection (a)(7) of the section in which the term ‘qualified employer plan’ means a plan, contract, pension, or account described in section 219(g)(6).

(c) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

Subtitle H—Reducing Regulatory Burdens

SEC. 371. FLEXIBILITY IN NONDISCRIMINATION RULES.

(a) Nondiscrimination.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall, by regulation, provide that a plan shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of section 401(a)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 if such plan satisfies the facts and circumstances test under section 401(a)(4), if prescribed, as in effect before January 1, 1994, but only if—

(A) the plan satisfies conditions prescribed by the Secretary to appropriately limit the availability of such a test, and

(B) the plan is submitted to the Secretary for a determination of whether it satisfies such test.

Subparagraph (B) shall only apply to the extent provided by the Secretary.

(2) Effective dates.—

(A) REGULATIONS.—The regulation required by subsection (a) shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(B) CONDITIONS OF AVAILABILITY.—Any condition of availability prescribed by the Secretary under paragraph (1)(A) shall not apply before the first year beginning not less than 120 days after the date on which such condition is prescribed.

(b) Coverage Test.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 410(b)(1) (relating to minimum coverage requirements) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(D) In the case that the plan fails to meet the requirements of subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C), the plan—

“(i) satisfies subparagraph (B), as in effect immediately before the enactment of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, and “(ii) is submitted to the Secretary for a determination of whether it satisfies such test.

Subparagraph (B) shall only apply to the extent provided by the Secretary.

(2) Effective dates.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

(B) CONDITIONS OF AVAILABILITY.—Any condition of availability prescribed by the Secretary under regulations prescribed by the Secretary under section 410(b)(1)(D) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall not apply before the first year beginning not less than 120 days after the date on which such condition is prescribed.

(c) Substantial Owner Benefits in Terminated Plans.

(2) Section 404(h) of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1344(b)) is amended—

(A) by striking “(5)”, and

(B) by redesignating paragraphs (3) through (6) as paragraphs (4) through (7), respectively, and by inserting after paragraph (2) the following:

“(3) If assets available for allocation under paragraph (4) of subsection (a) are insufficient to satisfy in full the benefits of all individuals who are described in that paragraph, the assets shall be allocated first to benefits described in subparagraph (A) of that paragraph. Any remaining assets shall be allocated to beneficiaries described in subparagraph (B) of that paragraph. If assets allocated to such subparagraph (B) are insufficient to satisfy in full the benefits of all individuals who are described in that subparagraph, the assets shall be allocated pro rata among individuals on the basis of the present value (as of the termination date) of their respective benefits described in that subparagraph.

(c) Conforming Amendments.—

(1) Section 4021 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1342) is amended—

(A) in subsection (b)(9), by striking “as defined in section 4022(b)(6)”, and

(B) by adding at the end the following:

“(d) For purposes of subsection (b)(9), the term ‘substantial owner’ means an individual who, at any time during the 60-month period ending on the date the determination is being made—

“(1) owns the entire interest in an unincorporated trade or business,

“(2) in the case of a partnership, is a partner who owns, directly or indirectly, more than 10 percent of either the capital interest or the profits interest in such partnership, or

“(3) in the case of a corporation, owns, directly or indirectly, more than 10 percent of the present value of either the voting stock of that corporation or all the stock of that corporation.

For purposes of clause (iii), the constructive ownership rules of section 1563(e) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall apply (determined without regard to section 1563(e)(3)(C))."
SEC. 374. ESOP DIVIDENDS MAY BE REINVESTED WITHOUT LOSS OF DIVIDEND DE- DUCTIBILITY.

(a) In General.—Section 404(c)(2)(A) (defining applicable dividends) is amended by striking “90 days” and inserting “1-year”.

(b) Effective Date.—The modification required by subsection (a) shall apply to dividend distributions made after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 375. NOTICE AND CONSENT PERIOD REGARDING DISTRIBUTIONS.

(a) Expansion of Period.—

(1) In General.—

(A) Amendment of Internal Revenue Code of 1986.—Subparagraph (A) of section 417(a)(6) is amended by striking “90-day” and inserting “1-year”.

(B) Amendment to ERISA.—Subparagraph (A) of section 205(c)(7) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1001(c)) is amended by striking “90-day” and inserting “1-year”.

(2) Modification of Regulations.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall modify the regulations under sections 402(f), 411(a)(11), and 417 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to substitute “1-year” for “90 days” each place it appears in Treasury Regulations sections 1.402(f)-1, 1.411(a)-11(c), and 1.417(e)-1(b).

(b) Effective Date.—The amendments made by paragraph (1) and the modifications required by paragraph (2) shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 376. REPEAL OF TRANSITION RULE RELATING TO CERTAIN HIGHLY COMPENSATED EMPLOYEES.

(a) In General.—

(1) Paragraph (4) of section 1114(c) of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 is hereby repealed.

(2) Effective Date.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to plan years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 377. EMPLOYEES OF TAX-EXEMPT ENTITIES.

(a) In General.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall modify Treasury Regulations section 1.401(b)-6(g) to provide that employees of an organization described in section 403(b)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 who are eligible to make contributions under section 403(b) of such Code pursuant to a salary reduction agreement may be treated as participants in respect of plan year beginning after December 31, 2000, and with respect to which proceedings are instituted by the corporation after such date.

(b) Conforming Amendments.—The amendments made by subsection (a) shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 378. EXTENSION TO INTERNATIONAL ORGA- NIZATIONS OF MORATORIUM ON AP- PPLICATION OF CERTAIN NON- DISCRIMINATION RULES APPLICABLE TO STATE AND LOCAL PLANS.

(a) In General.—

(1) Paragraph (G) of section 401(a)(5), subparagraph (H) of section 401(a)(26), subparagraph (G) of section 401(k)(3), and paragraph (2) of section 159(b)(4) of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 are each amended by inserting “or by an international organization which is described in section 414(d) after “or instrumentality thereof”.

(b) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 379. ANNUAL REPORT DISSEMINATION.

(a) In General.—

(1) The headings for subparagraph (G) of section 104(b)(3) of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1054(b)(3)) are each amended by striking “1-year” after subparagraph (G) of section 401(a)(26) and inserting “1-year”.

(b) Effective Date.—The amendments made by paragraph (1) shall apply to reports required by paragraph (1) for years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 380. MODIFICATION OF EXCLUSION FOR EMPLOYER-PROVIDED TRANSIT PAS- SAGES.

(a) In General.—

(1) Paragraph (3) of section 221(b)(2)(B) relating to cash reimbursements is amended by striking “or” and inserting “and” after “(ii)”.

(2) Effective Date.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

Title IV—Education Tax Relief

SEC. 401. PERMANENT EXTENSION OF EXCLUSION FOR EMPLOYER-PROVIDED EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) In General.—Section 127(b)(1) relating to the exclusion for educational assistance programs is amended by striking subsection (d).

(b) Repeal of Limitation on Graduate Education.—

(1) In General.—The last sentence of section 127(c)(1) is hereby amended by striking “, and such term also does not include any payment for, or the provision of any benefits with respect to, any graduate level course of a kind normally taken by an individual pursuing a program leading to a law, business, medical, or other advanced academic or professional degree”.

(2) Effective Date.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 402. ELIMINATION OF 60-MONTH LIMIT AND INCREASE IN INCOME LIMITATION ON STUDENT LOAN INTEREST DE- DUCTIBILITY.

(a) Elimination of 60-Month Limit.—

(1) In General.—Section 221(b)(2)(B) relating to interest on education loans is amended by striking subsection (d) and by redesignating subsections (e), (f), and (g) as subsections (d), (e), and (f), respectively.

(b) Repealing Amendment.—

(1) In General.—Section 6650S(e) is amended by striking “section 221(e)(1)” and inserting “section 221(d)(1)”.

(2) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply with respect to any loan interest paid after December 31, 1999, in taxable years ending after such date.

(b) Increase in Income Limitation.—

(1) In General.—Section 221(b)(2)(B) (relating to amount of reduction) is amended by striking clauses (i) and (ii) and inserting the following:

“(i) the excess of—

“(II) the taxpayer’s modified adjusted gross income for such taxable year, over

“(II) $15,000.”
(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 221(g)(1) is amended by striking "$40,000 and $60,000 amounts" and inserting "$50,000 amount".

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be effective for taxable years ending after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 403. MODIFICATIONS TO QUALIFIED TUTION PROGRAMS.

(a) ELIGIBLE EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS PERMITTED TO MAINTAIN QUALIFIED TUTION PROGRAMS.—(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 529(b)(1) (defining qualified tuition program) is amended by inserting "or by 1 or more eligible educational institutions" after "maintained by a State or agency or instrumentality thereof".

(b) PRIVATE QUALIFIED TUTION PROGRAMS LIMITED TO BENEFIT PLANS.—Clause (ii) of section 529(b)(1)(A) is amended by inserting in clause (i)(I) and inserting "transferred to the credit".

(c) COORDINATION WITH HOPE AND LIFETIME LEARNING CREDITS AND QUALIFIED TUTION PROGRAMS.—(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 529(d)(2)(C) is amended to read as follows:

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—(A) Section 135(d)(2)(A) is amended by striking the heading and inserting the following new subparagraph:

(b) EXCLUSION FROM GROSS INCOME OF EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES.

(c) COORDINATION WITH HOPE AND LIFETIME LEARNING CREDITS AND QUALIFIED TUTION PROGRAMS.—(1) IN GENERAL.—The term "qualified higher education expenses" means—

(2) Q UALIFIED HIGHER EDUCATION EXPENSES.—(1) IN GENERAL.—The amendments made by subsection (a) are each amended by striking "$5,000,000" the section and inserting "$10,000,000".

SEC. 404. ADDITIONAL INCREASE IN ARBITRAGE REBATE EXCEPTION FOR GOVERNMENTAL BONDS USED TO FINANCE EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 148(f)(4)(D)(vii) (relating to increase in exception for bonds financing public school capital expenditures) is amended by striking "$5,000,000" the section and inserting "$10,000,000".

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE 15835
TITLe V—HEALTH CaRGE RELIEF

SEC. 501. DEDUCTION FOR HEALTH AND LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE COSTS OF INDIVIDUALS NOT PARTICIPATING IN EMPLOYER-SUBSIDIZED HEALTH PLANS.

(a) In General.—Part VII of subchapter B of chapter 1 is amended by redesignating section 222 as section 223 and by inserting after

"(1) by striking "Subsections (a)'' and inserting the following:

"(1) In GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), subsections (a), and

"(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(2) EXCEPTIONS.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to any amount received by an individual under—

(A) the National Health Service Corps Scholarship program under section 338A(4)(A) of the Public Health Service Act, or

(B) the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship and Financial Assistance program under subchapter I of chapter 105 of title 10, United States Code.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by subsection (a) shall apply to amounts received in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 502. LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE PERMITTED TO BE OFFERED UNDER EMPLOYER PLANS AND FLEXIBLE SPENDING ARRANGEMENTS.

(a) Cafeteria Plans.—Subsection (f) of section 125 (defining qualified benefits) is amended by inserting a new item:

"(A) as paid by the employer.

"(B) EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTIONS TO CAFETERIA PLANS AND FLEXIBLE SPENDING ARRANGEMENTS, AND MEDICAL SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.—Employer contributions to a cafeteria plan, a flexible spending or similar arrangement, or a medical savings account which are excluded from gross income under section 106 shall be treated for purposes of subparagraph (A) as paid by the employer.

"(C) AGGREGATION OF PLANS OF EMPLOYER.—A health plan which is not otherwise described in subparagraph (A) shall be treated as described in such subparagraph if such plan would be so described if all health plans of persons treated as a single employer under subsections (b), (c), (m), or (o) of section 414 were treated as one health plan.

"(D) SEPARATE APPLICATION TO INSURANCE AND LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE.—Subparagraphs (A) and (C) shall be applied separately with respect to—

(i) plans which include primarily coverage for qualified long-term care services or qualified long-term care insurance contracts, and

(ii) plans which do not include such coverage and are not covered.

"(2) COVERAGE UNDER CERTAIN FEDERAL PROGRAMS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (a) shall not apply to any amount paid for any coverage for an individual for any calendar month if, as of the first day of such month, the individual is covered under any medical care program described—

(i) title XVIII, XIX, or XXI of the Social Security Act,

(ii) chapter 55 of title 10, United States Code,

(iii) chapter 17 of title 38, United States Code,

(iv) chapter 89 of title 5, United States Code, or

(v) the Indian Health Care Improvement Act.

(B) EXCEPTIONS.—Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to amounts paid for coverage under a qualified long-term care insurance contract.

(C) DEDUCTION NOT AVAILABLE FOR PAYMENT OF ANNUAL PREMIUMS.—Any amount paid as a premium for insurance which provides for—

(1) coverage for accidents, disability, dental care, vision care, or a specified illness, or

(2) making payments of a fixed amount per day (or other period) by reason of being hospitalized, shall not be taken into account under subsection (a).

"(2) SPECIAL RULES.—

(1) COORDINATION WITH DEDUCTION FOR HEALTH INSURANCE COSTS OF SELF-EMPLOYED INDIVIDUALS.—The amount taken into account by the taxpayer in computing the deduction under section 162(l) shall not be taken into account under this section.

(2) COORDINATION WITH MEDICAL EXPENSE DEDUCTION.—The amount taken into account by the taxpayer in computing the deduction under this section shall not be taken into account under section 213.

(3) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to carry out this section, including regulations requiring employers to report to their employees and the Secretary such information as the Secretary determines to be necessary to carry out this section.

(b) DEDUCTION ALLOWED WHETHER OR NOT TAXPAYER ITEMIZES OTHER DEDUCTIONS.—

Subsection (a) of section 62, as amended by section 301, is amended by inserting after paragraph (18) the following new item:

"(19) HEALTH AND LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE COSTS.—The deduction allowed by section 222.

(c) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections for part VII of subchapter B of chapter 1 is amended by striking the last item and inserting the following item:

"Sec. 222. Health and long-term care insurance costs.

"Sec. 223. Cross reference."
(S) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(a) The heading for section 22(a) is amended by striking "Child" and inserting "FAMILY CARE".

(b) The heading for section 24 is amended to read as follows: "SEC. 24. FAMILY CARE CREDIT."

(c) Definitions.—Section 24(c) (defining qualifying child) is amended to read as follows:

"(c) Definitions.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) QUALIFYING CHILD.—"

"(A) In general.—The term 'qualifying child' means any individual if—"

"(i) the taxpayer is allowed a deduction under section 151 with respect to such individual for the taxable year;

"(ii) such individual has not attained the age of 17 as of the close of the calendar year in which the taxable year of the taxpayer begins, and

"(iii) such individual bears a relationship to the taxpayer described in section 32(c)(3)(B).

"(B) Exception for certain noncitizens.—The term 'qualifying child' shall not include any individual who would not be a dependent if the first sentence of section 152(b)(3) were applied without regard to all that follows.

"(2) APPLICABLE INDIVIDUAL.—"

"(A) In general.—The term 'applicable individual' means—"

"(i) in the case of an individual who is an eligible caregiver with respect to an individual described in this subparagraph, an individual (other than the taxpayer) who bears a relationship to the taxpayer described in section 32(c)(3)(B);

"(ii) the taxpayer's spouse;

"(iii) the taxpayer's parent;

"(iv) the taxpayer's child (as defined in section 151(c)(1)(A) who has been certified by a physician (as defined in section 1861(r)(1) of the Social Security Act) as being an individual with long-term care needs described in subparagraph (B) for a period—"(i) which is at least 180 consecutive days, and

"(ii) a portion of which occurs within the taxable year.

Such term shall not include any individual otherwise meeting the requirements of the preceding sentence who has been certified before the due date for filing the return for the taxable year (without extensions), by a physician (as defined in section 1861(r)(1) of the Social Security Act) as being an individual with long-term care needs described in subparagraph (B) for a period—"(i) which is at least 180 consecutive days, and

"(ii) a portion of which occurs within the taxable year.

Such term shall not include any individual otherwise meeting the requirements of the preceding sentence who has been certified before the due date for filing the return for the taxable year (without extensions), by a physician (as defined in section 1861(r)(1) of the Social Security Act) as being an individual with long-term care needs described in subparagraph (B) for a period—"(i) which is at least 180 consecutive days, and

"(ii) a portion of which occurs within the taxable year.

(b) INDIVIDUALS WITH LONG-TERM CARE NEEDS.—An individual is described in this subparagraph if the individual meets any of the following requirements:

"(i) The individual is at least 6 years of age and—"

"(I) is unable to perform (without substantial assistance from another individual) at least 2 of the following activities: eating, transferring, or mobility.

"(II) requires substantial assistance from another individual in eating, transferring, or mobility.

"(iii) The individual is under 2 years of age and requires specific durable medical equipment by reason of a severe health condition or requires a skilled practitioner to address the individual's health condition to be available if the individual's parents or guardians are absent.

"(B) MARRIED INDIVIDUALS FILING SEPARATELY.—In the case of married individuals filing separately, the determination under this subparagraph as to whether the husband or wife is the eligible caregiver shall be made under the rules of clause (ii) (whether or not one of them filed a written declaration under clause (i))."

(c) Identification Requirements.—

"(1) In general.—Section 22(e) is amended by striking "a written declaration of the taxpayer identifying the number of such individual, and the identification number of the physician certifying such individual, on the return of tax for the taxable year" and inserting "a written declaration of the taxpayer identifying the number of such individual, and the identification number of the physician certifying such individual, on the return of tax for the taxable year and the taxpayer files a certificate of diagnosis (as defined in section 151(c)(1)(A) which delivery is made after such date, the delivery date shall be considered the sale date.

"(B) Sauces.—The amendment made by this subparagraph shall apply to sauce sales after December 31, 2004, but shall not take effect if subsection (c) does not take effect.

"(C) Special Rules Where More Than One Eligible Caregiver.—"

"(1) In general.—If more than 1 individual is an eligible caregiver with respect to the same applicable individual for taxable years ending with or within the same calendar year, the applicable individual may elect to have one eligible caregiver with respect to such individual be treated as the eligible caregiver of the applicable individual for the applicable individual for the taxable year.

"(2) Identification.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States shall prepare and submit to the Senate on the operation the Vaccine Injury Compensation Program Modification Act (and the amendments made by such sections) are hereby repealed.

"(2) VACCINE TAX AND TRUST FUND AMENDMENTS.—"

"(a) In general.—

"(1) Sections 1503 and 1504 of the Vaccine Injury Compensation Program Modification Act (and the amendments made by such sections) are hereby repealed.

"(2) Amendments.—

"(A) In general.—Section 6212(g)(2)(A) is amended—

"(i) by inserting "or physician identification number (correct 'TIN')", and

"(B) by striking "child" and inserting "famil-
TITLE VI—ESTATE TAX RELIEF
SEC. 701. DEDUCTION FOR 100 PERCENT OF HEALTH INSURANCE COSTS OF SELF-EMPLOYED INDIVIDUALS.
(a) In General.—Subpart C of section 469(c) (defining regular tax) is amended to read as follows:
``(1) ALLOWANCE OF DEDUCTION.—In the case of an individual who is an employee within the meaning of section 401(c)(1), there shall be allowed as a deduction under this section an amount equal to 100 percent of the amount paid during the taxable year for insurance which constitutes medical care for the taxpayer and the taxpayer’s spouse and dependents.”
(b) Effective Date.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 702. REPEAL OF FEDERAL UNEMPLOYMENT SURTAX
Section 3301 (relating to rate of Federal unemployment tax) is amended—
(1) by striking “2007” and inserting “2004”, and
(2) by striking “2008” and inserting “2005”.

SEC. 703. INCOME AVERAGING FOR FARMERS NOT TO INCREASE ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX LIABILITY.
(a) In General.—Subsection (b) (defining regular tax) is amended by redesignating paragraph (2) as paragraph (3) and by inserting after paragraph (1) the following:
``(2) INCOME AVERAGING FOR FARMERS.—Solely for purposes of this section, section 1301 (relating to averaging of farming income) shall not apply in computing the regular tax.”
(b) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 704. FARM AND RANCH RISK MANAGEMENT ACCOUNTS.
(a) In General.—Subpart C of part II of subchapter J of chapter 2 of title 26 (relating to tax on gains and losses from the disposition of capital assets) is amended by striking section 1221 and inserting the following:
``Sec. 1221. Sales of capital assets.
(1) General rule.—For purposes of this section, if an asset is a capital asset at the close of the taxable year, the nonrecognition of gain on a disposition of such asset shall be treated as a sale or exchange of such asset for the amount realized thereon and shall be included in the gross income of the taxpayer for the taxable year in which such disposition occurs.

(b) Effective Date.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to sales or exchanges of capital assets occurring on or after the date of the enactment of this section.
such manner as may be required by such regulations.

(b) Tax on Excess Contributions.—

(1) Subsection (a) of section 4973 (relating to tax on excess contributions to certain tax-favored and annuities), as amended by section 233(d) of this Act, is amended by striking "or" at the end of paragraph (4), by redesignating paragraphs (4) and (5) as paragraphs (5) and (6), respectively, and by inserting after paragraph (5) the following:

"(4) a FARRM Account (within the meaning of section 468C(d)), or"

(2) Section 4973, as amended by section 303(b)(2), is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(h) Excess Contributions to FARRM Accounts.—For purposes of this section, in the case of a FARRM Account (within the meaning of section 468C(d)), the term 'excess contributions' means the amount by which the amount contributed for the taxable year to the Account exceeds the amount which may be contributed to the Account under section 468C(b) for such taxable year. For purposes of this subsection, any contribution which is distributed out of the FARRM Account in a distribution to which section 468C(e)(2)(B) applies shall be treated as an amount not contributed.

(3) The heading for section 4973 is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 4973. EXCESS CONTRIBUTIONS TO CERTAIN ACCOUNTS, ANNUITIES, ETC."
SEC. 25B. HISTORIC HOMEOWNERSHIP REHABILITATION CREDIT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subpart A of part IV of chapter 1 (relating to non-refundable personal credits) is amended by inserting after section 25A the following new section:

SEC. 25C. HISTORIC HOMEOWNERSHIP REHABILITATION CREDIT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—In the case of an individual, there shall be allowed as a credit against the taxes imposed by this chapter for the taxable year an amount equal to 20 percent of the qualified rehabilitation expenditures made by the taxpayer with respect to a qualified historic home.

(b) DOLLAR LIMITATION.—The credit allowed by subsection (a) with respect to any residence of a taxpayer shall not exceed $20,000 ($10,000, in the case of a married individual filing a separate return).

(c) QUALIFIED REHABILITATION EXPENDITURE.—For purposes of this section—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘qualified rehabilitation expenditure’ means any amount properly chargeable to capital account—

(A) in connection with the certified rehabilitation of a qualified historic home, and

(B) for property for which depreciation would be allowable under section 168 if the qualified historic home were used in a trade or business.

(2) CERTAIN EXPENDITURES NOT INCLUDED.—

(A) EXTERIOR.—Such term shall not include any expenditure in connection with the rehabilitation of a building unless at least 5 percent of the total expenditures made in the rehabilitation process are allocable to the rehabilitation of the exterior of such building.

(B) OTHER RULES TO APPLY.—Rules similar to the rules of clauses (ii) and (iii) of section 47(c)(2)(B) shall apply.

(3) MIXED USE OR MULTIFAMILY BUILDING.—If only a portion of a building is used as the principal residence of the taxpayer, only qualified rehabilitation expenditures which are properly allocable to such portion shall be taken into account under this section.

(d) CERTIFIED REHABILITATION.—For purposes of this section—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, the term ‘certified rehabilitation’ has the meaning given such term by section 47(c)(2)(C).

(2) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED IN THE CASE OF TARGETED AREA RESIDENCES, ETC.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of applying section 47(c)(2)(C) under this section with respect to the rehabilitation of a building to which this paragraph applies, consideration shall be given to—

(i) the feasibility of preserving existing architectural and design elements of the interior of such building,

(ii) the risk of further deterioration or demolition of such building in the event that certification is denied because of the failure to preserve such interior elements, and

(iii) the effects of such deterioration or demolition on neighboring historic properties.

(B) BUILDINGS TO WHICH THIS PARAGRAPH APPLIES.—This paragraph shall apply with respect to—

(i) any part of which is a targeted area residence within the meaning of section 13911 and

(ii) which is located within an enterprise community or empowerment zone as designated under section 1391.

but shall not apply with respect to any building which is listed in the National Register.

(3) APPROVED STATE PROGRAM.—The term ‘certified rehabilitation’ includes a certification made by—

(A) a State Historic Preservation Officer who administers a State Historic Preservation Program approved by the Secretary of the Interior pursuant to section 101(b)(1) of the National Historic Preservation Act, as in effect on July 21, 1999, or

(B) a local government, certified pursuant to section 101(b)(1) of the National Historic Preservation Act, as in effect on July 21, 1999, and authorized by a State Historic Preservation Officer, or the Secretary of the Interior where there is no approved State program, subject to such terms and conditions as may be specified by the Secretary for the rehabilitation of buildings within the jurisdiction of such officer (or local government) for purposes of this section.

(e) DEFINITIONS AND SPECIAL RULES.—For purposes of this section—

(1) QUALIFIED HISTORIC HOME.—The term ‘qualified historic home’ means a certified historic structure that—

(A) has been substantially rehabilitated, and

(B) which (or any portion of which)—

(i) is owned by the taxpayer, and

(ii) is used (or will, within a reasonable period, be used) by such taxpayer as his principal residence.

(2) SUBSTANTIALLY REHABILITATED.—The term ‘substantially rehabilitated’ has the meaning given such term by section 47(c)(1)(C); except that, in the case of any building described in subsection (d)(2), clause (ii)(A) thereof shall not apply.

(3) PRINCIPAL RESIDENCE.—The term ‘principal residence’ has the same meaning as when used in section 121.

(4) CERTIFIED HISTORIC STRUCTURE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘certified historic structure’ means any building (and its structural components) which—

(i) is listed in the National Register, or

(ii) is located in a registered historic district (as defined in section 47(c)(3)(B)) within which only qualified census tracts (or portions thereof) are certified by the Secretary of the Interior to the Secretary as being of historic significance to the district.

(B) CERTAIN STRUCTURES INCLUDED.—Such term includes any building (and its structural components) which is designated as being of historic significance under a statute of a State or local government, if such statute is certified by the Secretary of the Interior to the Secretary as containing criteria which will substantially achieve the purpose of preserving and rehabilitating buildings of historic significance.

(C) QUALIFIED CENSUS TRACTS.—For purposes of subparagraph (A)(ii)—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘qualified census tract’ means a census tract in which the median family income is less than twice the statewide median family income.

(ii) DATA UTILIZATION.—Information under clause (i) shall be made on the basis of the most recent decennial census for which data are available.

(6) IN GENERAL.—A taxpayer who leases his principal residence, for purposes of this section, be treated as the owner thereof if the remaining term of the lease (as of the date determined under regulations prescribed by the Secretary) is not less than such minimum period as the regulations require.

(f) TENANT-STOCKHOLDER IN COOPERATIVE HOUSING CORPORATION.—If the taxpayer holds stock as a tenant-stockholder (as defined in section 216) in a cooperative housing corporation (as defined in such section) such stockholder shall be treated as owning the house or apartment which the taxpayer is entitled to occupy as such stockholder.

(g) ALLOCATION OF EXPENDITURES RELATING TO EXTERIOR OF BUILDING CONTAINING COOPERATIVE OR CONDOMINIUM UNITS.—The percentage of the total expenditures made in the rehabilitation of a building containing cooperative or condominium residential units allocated to the rehabilitation of the exterior of the building shall be attributed proportionately to each cooperative or condominium residential unit in such building for which a credit under this section is claimed.

(h) WHEN EXPENDITURES TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT.—In the case of a building other than a building to which subsection (g) applies, qualified rehabilitation expenditures shall be treated for purposes of this section as made on the date the rehabilitation is completed.

(i) ALLOWANCE OF CREDIT FOR PURCHASE OF REHABILITATED HISTORIC HOME.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of a qualified purchased historic home, the taxpayer shall be treated as having made (on the date of purchase) the qualified rehabilitation expenditures made by the seller of such home. For purposes of the preceding sentence, expenditures made by the seller (if deemed to be qualified rehabilitation expenditures if such expenditures, if made by the purchaser, would be qualified rehabilitation expenditures).

(2) QUALIFIED PURCHASED HISTORIC HOME.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘qualified purchased historic home’ means any substantially rehabilitated certified historic structure purchased by the taxpayer if—

(A) the taxpayer is the first purchaser of such structure after the date rehabilitation is completed, and the purchase occurs within 5 years after such date,

(B) the structure (or a portion thereof) will, within a reasonable period, be the principal residence of the taxpayer,

(C) no credit was allowed to the seller under this section or section 47 with respect to such rehabilitation, and

(D) the taxpayer is furnished with such information as the Secretary determines is necessary to determine the credit under this subsection.

(j) HISTORIC REHABILITATION MORTGAGE CREDIT CERTIFICATE.

(1) IN GENERAL.—The taxpayer may elect, in lieu of the credit otherwise allowable under this section, to receive a historic rehabilitation mortgage credit certificate. An election under this paragraph shall be made—

(A) in the case of a building to which subsection (g) applies, at the time of purchase, or

(B) in any other case, at the time rehabilitation is completed.

(2) HISTORIC REHABILITATION MORTGAGE CREDIT CERTIFICATE.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘historic rehabilitation mortgage credit certificate’ means a certificate—

(A) issued to the taxpayer, in accordance with procedures prescribed by the Secretary, with respect to a certified rehabilitation,
Congressional Record—Senate 18539

July 29, 1999

(B) the face amount of which shall be equal to the credit actually measured in taxable years with respect to such rehabilitation.

"(2) RECAPTURE PERCENTAGE.—For purposes of this section, the recapture percentage shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Disposition Period</th>
<th>Recapture Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 year</td>
<td>100%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 years</td>
<td>80%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 years</td>
<td>60%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 years</td>
<td>40%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 years</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

"(3) BASIS ADJUSTMENTS.—For purposes of this section, any property (including any property transferred by the taxpayer to a specified amount of the face amount of such certificate, or

(II) if the taxpayer so elects with respect to any property other than the acquisition or rehabilitation of a building, and

DD (in exchange for which such lending institution provides the taxpayer—

(i) a reduction in the rate of interest on the loan which results in interest payment reductions which are substantially equivalent on a present value basis to the face amount of such certificate, or

(ii) if the taxpayer so elects with respect to a payment which is substantially equivalent to such amount to be used to reduce the taxpayer’s cost of purchasing the building (and only the remainder of such face amount shall be taken into account under clause (i)).

(3) METHOD OF DISCOUNTING.—The present value under paragraph (2)(D) shall be determined—

(A) for a period equal to the term of the loan referred to in subparagraph (D)(i), and

(B) by using the convention that any payment or interest payment in any taxable year within such period is deemed to have been made on the last day of such taxable year,

(C) by using a discount rate equal to 65 percent of the average of the annual Federal mid-term rate and the annual Federal long-term rate applicable under section 1274(d)(1) to the month in which the taxpayer makes an election under paragraph (1) and compounded annually,

(D) by assuming that the credit allowable under this section for any year is received on the last day of such year.

(4) USE OF CERTIFICATE BY LENDER.—The amount of the credit specified in the certificate shall be allowed to the lender only to offset the regular tax (as defined in section 55(c)) of such lender. The lender may carry forward all unused amounts under this subsection until exhausted.

(5) HISTORIC REHABILITATION MORTGAGE CREDIT CERTIFICATE NOT TREATED AS TAXABLE INCOME.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no benefit accruing to the taxpayer through the use of a mortgage credit certificate shall be treated as taxable income for purposes of this section.

(1) RECAPTURE.—

(II) the proceeds of which may not be used for any purpose other than the acquisition or rehabilitation of the building, and

(III) One full year after the close of the period described in clause (ii).

(iv) One full year after the close of the period described in clause (i).

(v) One full year after the close of the period described in clause (iv).

(4) USE OF CERTIFICATE BY LENDER.—In the case of a facility using landfill gas or poultry waste to produce electricity, the term ‘qualified facility’ means any facility of the taxpayer which is originally placed in service after December 31, 1999, and before July 1, 2004.

(II) LANDFILL GAS.—In the case of a facility using landfill gas, such term includes equipment and housing (not including wells and related systems required to collect and transmit gas to the production facility) and any governmentally owned or eligible for the credit under subsection (a) is the lessee or the operator of such facility.

(E) SPECIAL RULE.—In the case of a qualified facility placed in service after December 31, 1999, and before July 1, 2004, the recapture percentage of the credit allowed under this section for any year is received on the last day of such year.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—Section 45(c) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

(C) biomass (other than closed-loop biomass)

(B) landfill gas, and

(C) poultry waste.

(2) EXPANSION OF QUALIFIED ENERGY RESOURCES.—Section 45(c)(1) (defining qualified energy resources) is amended by striking “and” at the end of subparagraph (A), by inserting before the period at the end of subparagraph (B) and inserting a comma, and by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (C) and inserting a semicolon.

(A) addition of a facility using solid, nonhazardous, cellulosic waste material which is segregated from other waste materials and which is derived from—

(A) urban sources, including waste pallets, crates, and dunnage, manufacturing and construction wood wastes, and landscape or right-of-way tree trimmings, but not including segregated municipal solid waste (garbage) or paper that is commonly recycled, or

(B) agriculture sources, including orchard tree crops, vineyard, grain, legumes, sugar, and other crop by-products or residues owned by the taxpayer and so placed in serv-
(7) Proportional credit for facility using coal or biomass.—In the case of a qualified facility as defined in subsection (c)(3)(C) using coal to co-fire with biomass (other than closed-loop biomass), the amount of the credit determined under subsection (a) for the taxable year shall be reduced by the percentage coal comprises (on a Btu basis) of the average fuel input for the facility for the taxable year.

(b) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 513. EXPANDING OF ENVIRONMENTAL REMEDIATION COSTS.

(a) Extension of Termination Date.—Subsection (b) of section 196 is amended by striking “December 31, 2000” and inserting “June 30, 2004”.

(b) Expansion of Qualified Contaminated Site.—Section 196(c) is amended to read as follows:

“(c) Qualified Contaminated Site.—For purposes of this section—

“(1) in general.—The term ‘qualified contaminated site’ means any area—

“(A) which is held by the taxpayer for use in a trade or business or for the production of income, or which is property described in section 1221(1) in the hands of the taxpayer, and

“(B) at or on which there has been a release (or threat of release) or disposal of any hazardous substance.

“(2) National Priorities Listed Sites Not Included.—Such term shall not include any site which is on, or proposed for, the national priorities list under section 105(a)(8)(B) of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (as in effect on the date of the enactment of this Act).

“(3) Taxpayer Must Receive Statement from State Environmental Agency.—An area shall be treated as a qualified contaminated site with respect to expenditures paid or incurred during any taxable year only if the taxpayer receives a statement from the appropriate agency of the State in which such area is located that such area meets the requirements of paragraph (1)(B).

“(A) Appropriate State Agency.—For purposes of paragraph (2), the chief executive officer of a State may, in consultation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, designate the appropriate State environmental agency within 60 days of the date of the enactment of this section. If the chief executive officer of a State has not designated an appropriate State environmental agency within such 60-day period, the appropriate environmental agency for such State shall be designated by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

“(B) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to expenditures paid or incurred after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 814. TEMPORARY SUSPENSION OF MAXIMUM AMOUNT OF AMORTIZABLE REFORESTATION EXPENDITURES.

(a) Increase in Dollar Limitation.—Paragraph (4) of section 408(b)(relating to amortization of reforestation expenditures) is amended by striking “$10,000 ($5,000)” and inserting “$25,000 ($12,500)”.

(b) Temporary Suspension of Increased Dollar Limitation.—Subsection (b) of section 196(b) (relating to amortization of reforestation expenditures) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

SEC. 921. TAX-FREE DISTRIBUTIONS FROM INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS FOR CHARITABLE PURPOSES.

(a) In General.—Subsection (d) of section 408 (relating to individual retirement accounts) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(B) Distributions for Charitable Purposes.—

“(i) In general.—In the case of a qualified charitable distribution from an individual retirement account to an organization described in section 170(c), the portion of any such distribution which is includible in the gross income of the distributee is equal to the gross income of the taxpayer for the taxable year in which such distribution was made.

“(ii) Special rules relating to charitable remainder trusts, pooled income funds, and charitable gift annuities.

“(A) Distributions of charitable remainder trusts.—Subsection (b) of section 403(b), as it applied before the date of the enactment of this Act, is amended by striking out everything after “with respect to” and inserting—

“(B) Special rules relating to charitable remainder trusts, pooled income funds, and charitable gift annuities.

“(A) In general.—In the case of a qualified charitable distribution from an individual retirement account to an organization described in section 170(c), the portion of any such distribution which is includible in the gross income of the distributee is equal to the gross income of the taxpayer for the taxable year in which such distribution was made.

“(B) Special rules relating to charitable remainder trusts, pooled income funds, and charitable gift annuities.—

“(i) In general.—In the case of a qualified charitable distribution from an individual retirement account to an organization described in section 170(c), the portion of any such distribution which is includible in the gross income of the distributee is equal to the gross income of the taxpayer for the taxable year in which such distribution was made.

“(ii) Special rules relating to charitable remainder trusts, pooled income funds, and charitable gift annuities.—

“(B) in general.—The amount includible in the gross income of the distributee of a distribution from a trust described in clause (i)(III) shall be treated as income from a qualified charitable distribution to such trust for purposes of this section.

“(C) Qualified charitable distribution.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘qualified charitable distribution’ means any distribution from an individual retirement account—

“(i) which is made on or after the date that the individual for whose benefit the account is maintained has attained age 70 1/2, and “(ii) which is a charitable contribution (as defined in section 170(c)) made directly from the account to an organization described in section 170(c).

“(D) Denial of deduction.—The amount allowable as a deduction to the taxpayer for the taxable year under section 170 for qualified charitable distributions shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the sum of the amounts of the qualified charitable distributions during such year which (but for this paragraph) would have been includible in the gross income of the taxpayer for such year.

“(E) Effective date.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 922. INCREASE IN LIMIT ON CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS AS PERCENTAGE OF AGI.

(a) In General.—Subsection (b)(1) of section 170(b) is amended—

“(A) in general.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘percentage’ means—

“(B) in general.—The applicable percentage for purposes of this subsection, the percentage shall be determined under the following tables:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
For taxable year—
The applicable percentage is—
2006 ........................................... 60
2007 and thereafter ..................... 70.

“(B) In the case of paragraph (1)(C):"

For taxable year—
The applicable percentage is—
2002 ........................................... 32
2003 ........................................... 34
2004 ........................................... 36
2005 ........................................... 38
2006 ........................................... 40
2007 and thereafter ..................... 50.

“(C) In the case of paragraph (2):"

For taxable year—
The applicable percentage is—
2002 ........................................... 12
2003 ........................................... 14
2004 ........................................... 16
2005 ........................................... 18
2006 and thereafter ..................... 20.”

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 170(d)(1)(A) is amended by striking “50 percent” each place it appears and inserting “the applicable percentage in effect under subsection (b)(1)(A)”.

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2001.

TITLE XI—REVENUE OFFSETS

Subtitle D—General Provisions

SEC. 1101. MODIFICATION TO FOREIGN TAX CREDIT CARRYBACK AND CARRYOVER PERIODS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 904(c) (relating to limitation on credit) is amended—
(1) by striking “in the second preceding taxable year,” and
(2) by striking “fifth” and inserting “fifth, sixth, or seventh”.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to credits arising in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 1102. RETURNS RELATING TO CANCELLATION OF INDEBITEDNESS BY ORGANIZATIONS LENDING MONEY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (2) of section 6650P(c) (relating to definitions and special rules) is amended by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (C) and inserting “, and”, and by inserting after subparagraph (C) the following new subparagraph:

“(D) any organization a significant trade or business of which is the lending of money.”

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by subsection (a) shall apply to discharges of indebtedness after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 1103. INCREASE IN ELECTIVE WITHHOLDING RATE FOR NONPERIODIC DISTRIBUTIONS OF DEFERRED COMPENSATION PLANS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 3405(b)(1) (relating to withholding) is amended by striking “10 percent” and inserting “15 percent”.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by subsection (a) shall apply to distributions after December 31, 2000.

SEC. 1104. EXTENSION OF INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE USER FEES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 77 (relating to miscellaneous provisions) is amended by adding at the end thereof—

“SEC. 7527. INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE USER FEES.

“(a) GENERAL RULE.—The Secretary shall establish a program requiring the payment of user fees for—

“(1) requests to the Internal Revenue Service for ruling letters, opinion letters, and determinations of a covered nature, and

“(2) other similar requests.

“(b) PROGRAM CRITERIA.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The fees charged under the program required by subsection (a) shall vary according to categories (or subcategories) established by the Secretary, and

“(B) shall be determined after taking into account the average time for (and difficulty of complying with requests in each category and subcategory), and “(C) shall be payable in advance.

“(2) EXEMPTIONS, ETC.—The Secretary shall provide for such exemptions (and reduced or waived fees) under such program as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

“(3) AVERAGE PER REQUIREMENT.—The average fee charged under the program required by subsection (a) shall not be less than the amount determined under the following table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Average Fee</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Employee plan ruling</td>
<td>$250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exempt organization</td>
<td>$350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Employees plan determin</td>
<td>$300</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exempt organization determination</td>
<td>$275</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Counsel ruling</td>
<td>$300</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

“(c) TERMINATION.—No fee shall be imposed under this section with respect to requests made after September 30, 2009.”

(2) Section 1651 of the Revenue Act of 1967 is repealed.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to requests made after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 1105. TRANSFER OF EXCESS DEFINED BENEFIT PLAN ASSETS FOR RETIREE HEALTH BENEFITS.

(a) EXTENSION.—

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(A) Section 403(c)(1) of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1103(c)(1)) is amended by striking “1995” and inserting “2001”.

(B) Paragraph (13) of section 408(b) of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1108(b)(13)) is amended—

(i) by striking “in a taxable year beginning before January 1, 2001" and inserting “made before October 1, 2009”; and

(ii) by striking “1995” and inserting “2001”.

(B) APPLICATION OF MINIMUM COST REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (3) of section 420(c) is amended to read as follows:

“(3) MINIMUM COST REQUIREMENTS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The requirements of this paragraph are met if each group health plan or arrangement under which applicable health benefits are provided provides that the applicable employer cost for each taxable year (during the cost maintenance period) shall not be less than the higher of the applicable employer costs for each of the 2 taxable years immediately preceding the taxable year in question.

“(B) APPLICABLE EMPLOYER COST.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘applicable employer cost’ means, with respect to any taxable year, the amount determined by dividing—

“(1) the qualified current retiree health liabilities of the employer for such taxable year (determined by subtracting the amount determined under subsection (e)(1)(B), and

“(2) the amount determined under subsection (e)(1)(A), by

“(B) the applicable percentage in effect under subsection (b)(1)(A).”
SEC. 1106. TAX TREATMENT OF INCOME AND LOSS ON DERIVATIVES.
(a) In General.—Section 1221 (defining capital assets) is amended—
(1) by striking “For purposes” and inserting “commodities derivatives dealer, unless—”;
“(2) by striking paragraph (a) and inserting the following:
“(A) AMMODITIES DERIVATIVES DEALER.—
The term ‘commodities derivatives dealer’ means a person which regularly offers to enter into, assume, offset, assign, or terminate positions in commodities derivative financial instruments with customers in the ordinary course of a trade or business.
“(B) COMMODITIES DERIVATIVE FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT.—
(1) In General.—The term ‘commodities derivative financial instrument’ means any contract or financial instrument with respect to commodities (other than a share of stock in a corporation, a beneficial interest in a partnership or trust, a note, bond, debenture, or other evidence of indebtedness, or a section 1256 contract (as defined in section 1256(b)), the value or settlement price of which is based on any current, objectively determinable financial or economic information with respect to commodities which is not within the control of any of the parties to the contract or instrument and is not unique to any of the parties’ circumstances.
“(2) Regulated Period.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘hedging transaction’ means any transaction entered into by the taxpayer in the normal course of the taxpayer’s trade or business primarily—
(i) to manage risk of price changes or currency fluctuations with respect to ordinary property which is held or to be held by the taxpayer.
(ii) to manage risk of interest rate or price changes or currency fluctuations with respect to borrowings made or to be made, or ordinary obligations incurred or to be incurred, by the taxpayer, or
(iii) to manage such other risks as the Secretary may prescribe in regulations.
(B) TREATMENT OF NONIDENTIFICATION OR IMPROPER IDENTIFICATION OF HEDGING TRANSACTIONS.—Notwithstanding subsection (a)(7), the Secretary shall prescribe regulations to properly characterize any income, gain, expense, or loss arising from a transaction—
(i) which is a hedging transaction but which was not so characterized as such in accordance with subsection (a)(7), or
(ii) which was so identified but is not a hedging transaction.
“(B) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall provide such regulations as are appropriate to carry out the purposes of paragraphs (6) and (7) of subsection (a) in the case of transactions involving related parties.
“(B) TREATMENT OF NONIDENTIFICATION OR IMPROPER IDENTIFICATION OF HEDGING TRANSACTIONS.—Notwithstanding subsection (a)(7), the Secretary shall prescribe regulations to properly characterize any income, gain, expense, or loss arising from a transaction—
(i) which is a hedging transaction but which was not so characterized as such in accordance with subsection (a)(7), or
(ii) which was so identified but is not a hedging transaction.
“(B) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall provide such regulations as are appropriate to carry out the purposes of paragraphs (6) and (7) of subsection (a) in the case of transactions involving related parties.
“(B) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall provide such regulations as are appropriate to carry out the purposes of paragraphs (6) and (7) of subsection (a) in the case of transactions involving related parties.
“(B) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall provide such regulations as are appropriate to carry out the purposes of paragraphs (6) and (7) of subsection (a) in the case of transactions involving related parties.
(b) Management of Risk.—
(1) Section 475(c)(3) is amended by striking “reduces” and inserting “manages”.
(2) Paragraph (c)(iv) is amended by striking “to reduce” and inserting “to manage”.
(3) Clauses (i) and (ii) of section 988(d)(2)(A) are each amended by striking “to reduce” and inserting “to manage”.
(4) Paragraph (2) of section 1256(e) is amended to read as follows:
“(D) Definition of Hedging Transaction.—
(1) In General.—The term ‘hedging transaction’ means any hedging transaction (as defined in section 1221(b)(2)(A)) if, before the close of the day on which such transaction was entered into (or such earlier time as the Secretary may prescribe by regulations), the taxpayer clearly identifies such transaction as being a hedging transaction.
(c) Conforming Amendments.—
(1) Each of the following sections are amended by striking “section 1221” and inserting “section 1221(a)”:
(A) Section 170(e)(3)(A).
(B) Section 170(e)(4)(B).
(C) Section 56(a)(3)(B)(ii).
(D) Section 61(b)(3).
(E) Section 861(1).
(G) Subparagraphs (C) and (D) of section 1221(b)(1).
(H) Section 1234(a)(3)(A).
(2) Each of the following sections are amended by striking “section 1221” and inserting “section 1221(a)”:
(A) Section 168(c)(1)(A).
(B) Section 263A(b)(2)(A).
(C) Clause (i) and (ii) of section 267(b)(3)(B).
(D) Section 341(d)(3).
(E) Section 545(a)(1)(D)(1).
(F) Section 751(d)(1).
(G) Section 771(c).
(H) Section 856(c)(2)(D).
(I) Section 856(c)(3)(C).
(J) Section 865(e)(1).
(K) Section 865(j)(2).
(L) Section 870(b)(4)(B).
(M) Section 875(b)(6)(B)(iii).
(N) Section 861(c)(4)(B)(iii).
(O) Section 861(c)(3)(A).
(P) Section 861(d)(6)(A).
(Q) Section 954(c)(1)(B)(iii).
(R) Section 956(b)(1)(C).
(S) Section 1017(b)(3)(E)(i).
(U) Section 6462(c)(2)(C).
(V) Section 7702(c)(3).
(W) Section 7702(d)(1)(D).
(X) Section 7702(d)(1)(G).
(Y) Section 7702(d)(5).
(Z) Section 1318(b)(2) is amended by striking “section 1221(2)” and inserting “section 1221(a)(2)”.
(2) Section 1397B(2) is amended by striking “section 1221(4)” and inserting “section 1221(a)(4)”.
(d) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to any instrument held, acquired, or entered into, any transaction entered into, and supplies held on or after the date of enactment of this Act.
Subtitle B—Loopehole Closers

SEC. 1111. LIMITATION ON USE OF NON-ACCURAL EXPERIENCE METHOD OF ACCOUNTING.
(a) In General.—Section 448(d)(5) (relating to special rule for services) is amended—
(1) by inserting “in fields described in paragraph (2)(A)” after “services by such person”, and
(2) by inserting “CERTAIN PERSONAL” before “SERVICES” in the heading.
(b) Effective Date.—In General.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years ending after the date of the enactment of this Act.

CHANGING IN METHOD OF ACCOUNTING.—In the case of any taxpayer required by the amendments made by this section to change its method of accounting for its first taxable year beginning after the date of the enactment of this Act—
(1) such change shall be treated as initiated by the taxpayer;
(2) such change shall be treated as made with the consent of the Secretary of the Treasury, and
(C) the net amount of the adjustments required to be taken into account by the taxpayer under section 481 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall be taken into account over a period (not greater than 4 taxable years) beginning with such first taxable year.

SEC. 1112. LIMITATIONS ON WELFARE BENEFIT FUNDS OF 10 OR MORE EMPLOYER PLANS.

(a) BENEFITS TO WHICH EXCEPTION APPLIES.—Section 419A(f)(6)(A) (relating to exception for 10 or more employer plans) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(B) of subsection (l)(2).”

(b) LIMITATION ON USE OF AMOUNTS FOR OTHER PURPOSES.—Section 4976(b) (defining disqualified benefit) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(5) Special rule for 10 or more employer plans exempted from prefunding limits.—For purposes of paragraph (1)(C), if—

“(A) a subpart D of part I of subchapter D of chapter 1 does not apply to a welfare benefit fund which is part of a 10 or more employer plan if the only benefits provided through the fund are 1 or more of the following:

“(i) Medical benefits.

“(ii) Disability benefits.

“(iii) Group term life insurance benefits which do not provide directly or indirectly for any cash surrender value or other money that can be paid, assigned, borrowed, or pledged as collateral for a loan.

The preceding sentence shall not apply to any plan which maintains experience-rating arrangements with respect to individual employers.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to sales or other dispositions occurring on or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 1114. TREATMENT OF GAINS FROM CONSTRUCTIVE OWNERSHIP TRANSACTIONS.

(a) In General.—Part IV of subchapter P of chapter 1 (relating to special rules for determining capital gains and losses) is amended by inserting after section 1259 the following new section:

“SEC. 1260. GAINS FROM CONSTRUCTIVE OWNERSHIP TRANSACTIONS.

“(a) In General.—If the taxpayer has gain from a constructive ownership transaction with respect to any financial asset and such gain would (without regard to this section) be treated as a long-term capital gain—

“(1) such gain shall be treated as ordinary income to the extent that such gain exceeds the net underlying long-term capital gain, and

“(2) to the extent such gain is treated as a long-term capital gain after the application of paragraph (1), the determination of the capital gain rate (or rates) applicable to such gain under section 1(h) shall be determined on the basis of the respective rate (or rates) that would have been applicable to the net underlying long-term capital gain.

“(b) Special rule for 10 or more employer plans exempted from prefunding limits.—For purposes of paragraph (1)(C), if—

“(A) a subpart D of part I of subchapter D of chapter 1 does not apply to a welfare benefit fund which is part of a 10 or more employer plan, and

“(B) any portion of the welfare benefit fund attributable to such contributions is used for a purpose other than that for which the contributions were made, then such portion shall be treated as reversion to the benefits of the employers maintaining the fund.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to contributions paid or accrued after June 6, 1999, in taxable years ending after such date.

SEC. 1113. MODIFICATION OF INSTALLMENT METHOD AND REPEAL OF INSTALLMENT METHOD FOR ACCRUAL METHOD TAXPAYERS.

(a) REPEAL OF INSTALLMENT METHOD FOR ACCRUAL BASIS TAXPAYERS.

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (a) of section 453 (relating to installment method) is amended to read as follows:

“(a) USE OF INSTALLMENT METHOD.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, income from an installment sale shall be taken into account for purposes of this title under the installment method.

“(2) ACCRUAL METHOD TAXPAYER.—The installment method shall not apply to income from a sale if such income would be reported under an accrual method of accounting without regard to this section.

The preceding sentence shall not apply to a disposition described in subparagraph (A) or (B) of subsection (1)(C).

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Sections 453(d)(1), 453(i)(1), and 453(k) are each amended by striking “(a)” each place it appears and inserting in its place “(a)(1).”

(b) MODIFICATION OF PLEDGE RULES.—Paragraph (4) of section 453A(a) (relating to pledges, etc., of installment obligations) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“A payment shall be treated as directly secured by an interest in an installment obligation to the extent an arrangement allows the taxpayer to transfer or convey the indebtedness with the installment obligation.”

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to sales or other dispositions occurring on or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 1115. GAINS FROM CONSTRUCTIVE OWNERSHIP TRANSACTIONS.

(a) In General.—Part IV of subchapter P of chapter 1 (relating to special rules for determining capital gains and losses) is amended by inserting after section 1259 the following new section:

“SEC. 1260. GAINS FROM CONSTRUCTIVE OWNERSHIP TRANSACTIONS.

“(a) In General.—If the taxpayer has gain from a constructive ownership transaction with respect to any financial asset and such gain would (without regard to this section) be treated as a long-term capital gain—

“(1) such gain shall be treated as ordinary income to the extent that such gain exceeds the net underlying long-term capital gain, and

“(2) to the extent such gain is treated as a long-term capital gain after the application of paragraph (1), the determination of the capital gain rate (or rates) applicable to such gain under section 1(h) shall be determined on the basis of the respective rate (or rates) that would have been applicable to the net underlying long-term capital gain.

“(b) INTEREST CHARGE ON DEFERRAL OF GAIN RECOGNITION.—

“(1) In General.—If any gain is treated as ordinary income for any taxable year by reason of subsection (a)(1), the tax imposed by this chapter for such taxable year shall be increased by the amount of interest determined under paragraph (2) with respect to each prior taxable year during any portion of which the constructive ownership transaction was open. Any amount payable under this paragraph (or section 6601 on the basis of the respective rate (or rates) that would have been applicable to the net underlying long-term capital gain) shall be computed by treating the income as accruing at a constant rate as in effect on the day the transaction closed. The period during which such interest shall accrue shall end on the due date (without extensions) for the return of tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year in which such transaction closed.

“(2) APPLICABLE FEDERAL RATE.—For purposes of paragraph (2), the applicable Federal rate in the case of Federal rate applies in effect on the day the transaction closed. The period during which such interest shall accrue shall end on the due date (without extensions) for the return of tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year in which such transaction closed.

“(3) APPLICABLE FEDERAL RATE.—For purposes of paragraph (2), the applicable Federal rate in the case of Federal rate applies in effect on the day the transaction closed. The period during which such interest shall accrue shall end on the due date (without extensions) for the return of tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year in which such transaction closed.

“(4) NO CREDITS AGAINST INCREASE IN TAX.—Any increase in tax under paragraph (1) shall not be treated as tax imposed by this chapter for purposes of this section.

“(5) ACHIEVEMENT OF GAIN.—The achievement of gain for purposes of this section shall be treated as having occurred (A) on the date of such transaction, if such transaction is an installment sale which is no longer treated as an installment sale under any provision of this title, or (B) on the date of the enactment of this Act.

“(a) any equity interest in any pass-thru entity, and

“(B) to the extent provided in regulations—

“(i) any debt instrument, and

“(ii) any stock in a corporation which is not a pass-thru entity.

(b) PASS-THRU ENTITY.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the term ‘pass-thru entity’ means—

“(A) a regulated investment company,

“(B) a real estate investment trust,

“(C) an S corporation,

“(D) a partnership,

“(E) a trust,

“(F) a common trust fund,

“(G) a passive foreign investment company (as defined in section 1297 without regard to subsection (e) thereof),

“(H) a foreign personal holding company,

“(I) a foreign investment company (as defined in section 1246(b)), and “(J) a REMIC.

(c) CONSTRUCTIVE OWNERSHIP TRANSACTION.—For purposes of this section—

“(1) In General.—The taxpayer shall be treated as having entered into a constructive ownership transaction with respect to any financial asset if the taxpayer—

“(A) holds a long position under a notional principal contract with respect to the financial asset,

“(B) enters into a forward or futures contract to acquire the financial asset,

“(C) is the holder of a call option, and “(D) is obligated by a debt instrument (including appreciation) on the basis of the respective rate (or rates) that would have been applicable to the net underlying long-term capital gain and on the basis of the respective rate (or rates) that would have been applicable to the net underlying long-term capital gain for purposes of this section.

“(2) EXCEPTION FOR POSITIONS WHICH ARE MARKED TO MARKET.—This section shall not apply to any constructive ownership transaction if all of the positions which are part of such transaction are marked to market under any provision of this title or the regulations thereunder.

“(3) LONG POSITION UNDER NOTIONAL PRINCIPAL CONTRACT.—A person shall be treated as holding a long position under a notional principal contract with respect to any financial asset if such person—

“(A) has the right to be paid (or receive credit for) all or substantially all of the investment yield (including appreciation) on such financial asset for a specified period, and

“(B) is obligated to reimburse (or provide credit for) all or substantially all of any de-
"(1) The financial asset had been acquired for failing to meet the date on which the transaction was opened and sold for fair market value on the date such transaction was closed, and

"(2) the gains and losses that would have resulted from the deemed ownership under paragraph (1) were taken into account.

The amount of the net underlying long-term capital gain with respect to a financial asset shall be treated as zero unless the amount thereof is established by clear and convincing evidence.

"(f) EFFECTIVE DATE.—Except as provided in regulations prescribed by the Secretary, if a constructive ownership transaction is closed by reason of taking delivery, this section shall be applied as if the taxpayer had sold all the contracts, options, or other positions which are part of such transaction for fair market value on the closing date. The amount of gain recognized under the preceding sentence shall not exceed the amount of gain treated as ordinary income under subsection (a). Proper adjustments shall be made in the amount of any gain or loss subsequently realized for gain recognized and treated as ordinary income under this subsection.

"(g) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, including regulations—

"(1) to permit taxpayers to mark-to-market constructive ownership transactions in lieu of applying this section, and

"(2) to exclude certain forward contracts which do not convey substantially all of the economic return with respect to a financial asset.

(b) Clerical amendment.—The table of sections for part IV of subchapter P of chapter 1 is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"Sec. 1290. Gains from constructive ownership transactions."

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to transactions entered into after July 11, 1999.

SEC. 1115. CHARITABLE SPLIT-DOLLAR LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND ENDOWMENT CONTRACTS.—

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Nothing in this section or in section 345(b)(2), 556(b)(2), 642(c), 2055, 2106(a)(2), or 2522 shall be construed to allow a deduction, and no deduction shall be allowed, for any transfer to or for the use of an organization described in subsection (c) if in connection with such transfer—

"(i) the organization directly or indirectly pays, or has previously paid, any premium on any personal benefit contract with respect to the transferor, or

"(ii) there is an understanding or expectation that any person will directly or indirectly pay any premium on any personal benefit contract with respect to the transferor.

"(b) PERSONAL BENEFIT CONTRACT.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the term ‘personal benefit contract’ means, with respect to the transferor, a contract of life insurance, annuity, or endowment contract if any direct or indirect beneficiary under such contract is the transferor, any member of the transferor’s family, or any other person (other than an organization described in subsection (c)) designated by the transferor.

"(c) APPLICATION TO CHARITABLE REMAINder TRUSTS.—The use of the term ‘contract’ in paragraph (1) shall not apply to transfers to a trust referred to in subparagraph (E), references in paragraphs (A) and (F) to an organization described in subsection (c) shall apply to such contract, and

"(D) EXCEPTION FOR CERTAIN ANNUITY CONTRACTS.—If, in connection with a transfer to or for the use of an organization described in subsection (c) from such contract, the transferor is under an obligation to pay a charitable gift annuity (as defined in section 501(m)) and such organization purchases any annuity contract to fund such payments under the charitable gift annuity, such contract shall not be treated for purposes of subparagraph (B) as an indirect beneficiary under such contract if—

"(i) such organization possesses all of the incidents of ownership under such contract,

"(ii) such organization is entitled to all the payments under such contract, and

"(iii) the timing and amount of payments under such contract are substantially the same as the timing and amount of payments to each such indirect beneficiary (as such obligation is in effect at the time of such transfer).

"(E) TERMINATION OF ANNUITY CONTRACTS HELD BY CHARITABLE REMAINder TRUSTS.—A person shall not be treated for purposes of subparagraph (B) as an indirect beneficiary under any annuity contract, or endorsement contract held by a charitable remainder annuity trust or a charitable remainder unitrust (as defined in section 664(d)) solely by reason of being entitled to any payment referred to in paragraph (1)(A) or (2)(A) of section 664(d) if—

"(i) such trust possesses all of the incidents of ownership under such contract, and

"(ii) such trust is entitled to all the payments under such contract.

"(F) EXCISE TAX ON PREMIUMS PAID.—

"(I) IN GENERAL.—There is hereby imposed on any organization described in subsection (c) an excise tax equal to the premiums paid by such organization on any life insurance, annuity, or endowment contract with respect to which the payment of premiums on such contract is in connection with a transfer for which a deduction is not allowable under subparagraph (A), determined without regard to when such transfer is made.

"(II) PAYMENTS BY OTHER PERSONS.—For purposes of clause (i), payments made by any other person under an understanding or expectation referred to in subparagraph (A) shall be treated as made by the organization.

"(II) REPORTING.—Any organization on which tax is imposed by clause (i) with respect to any premium shall file an annual return which includes—

"(i) the amount of such premium paid during the year and the name and TIN of each beneficiary under the contract to which the premium relates, and

"(II) such other information as the Secretary may require.

The penalties applicable to returns required under section 6652 shall apply to returns required under this clause. Returns required under this paragraph shall be treated as if filed on or before the due date (including extensions) of the return prescribed for by section 6655 (relating to estimated tax by corporations).

"(G) SPECIAL RULE WHERE STATE REQUIRES SPECIFICATION OF CHARITABLE GIFT ANNUTANT IN CONTRACT.—In the case of an obligation to pay a charitable gift annuity referred to in this section, if such obligation is imposed by this section, in order for the charitable gift annuity to be exempt from insurance regulation by such State, such beneficiary shall be named as a beneficiary under an annuity contract issued by an insurance company authorized to transact business in such State, the requirements of clauses (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (D) shall be treated as met if—

"(i) such State law requirement was in effect on February 8, 1999, and

"(ii) such beneficiary under the charitable gift annuity is a bona fide resident of such State at the time the obligation to pay a charitable gift annuity is entered into, and

"(iii) the only persons entitled to payments under such contract are persons entitled to payments as beneficiaries under such obligation on the date such obligation is entered into.

"(H) MEMBER OF FAMILY.—For purposes of this paragraph, an individual’s family consists of the individual’s lineal ancestors, the lineal descendants of such individual’s spouse, and any spouse of such lineal descendant.

"(I) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of this paragraph, including regulations to prevent the avoidance of such purposes.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, the amendment made by this section shall apply to transfers made after February 8, 1999.

"(2) EXCISE TAX.—Except as provided in paragraph (3) of this subsection, section 170(f)(11)(F) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (as added by this section) shall apply to premiums paid after the date of the enactment of this Act.

"(3) REPORTING.—Clause (iii) of section 170(f)(11)(F) shall apply to premiums paid after February 8, 1999 (determined as if the tax imposed by such subsection applies to premiums paid after such date).

SEC. 1116. RESTRICTION ON USE OF REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT TRUSTS TO AVOID ESTIMATED TAX PAYMENT REQUIREMENTS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (e) of section 6655 (relating to estimated tax by corporations) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(5) TREATMENT OF CERTAIN REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT TRUSTS—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Any dividend received from a closely held real estate investment trust by any person who owns (after application of subsections (d)(5) and (i)(3)(B) of section 860) 10 percent or more (by value or vote) of the stock or beneficial interests in the trust shall be taken into account in computing annualized income installments under paragraph (2) in a manner similar to the manner under which partnership income inclusions are taken into account.

"(B) CLOSELY HELD RENT.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the term ‘closely held real estate investment trust’ means a real estate investment trust with respect to which 5 or fewer persons own (after application of subsections (d)(5) and (i)(3)(B) of section 860) 50 percent or more (by value or vote) of the stock or beneficial interests in the trust.

"(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to estimated tax payments due on or after September 15, 1999."
SEC. 1117. PROHIBITED ALLOCATIONS OF S CORPORATION STOCK HELD BY AN ESOP.

(a) In General.—Section 409 (relating to qualifications for tax credit employee stock ownership plans) is amended by inserting subsection (p) as subsection (q) and by inserting after subsection (o) the following new subsection:

"(p) Prohibited Allocation of Securities in an S Corporation.—

"(1) In General.—An employee stock ownership plan holding employer securities consisting of stock in an S corporation shall provide that no portion of the assets of the plan attributable to (or allocable in lieu of) such employer securities may, during a non-allocation year, accrue (or be allocated directly or indirectly under any plan of the employer meeting the requirements of section 401(a)) for the benefit of any disqualified individual.

"(2) Failure to Meet Requirements.—If a plan fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (1), the plan shall be treated as having distributed to any disqualified individual the amount allocated to the account of such individual in violation of paragraph (1) at the time of such allocation.

"(B) The provisions of section 4979A shall apply, and

"(C) The statutory period for the assessment of any tax imposed by section 4979A shall not expire before the date which is 3 years from the later of—

"(i) the date on which the Secretary is notified of such failure, or

"(ii) the date on which the individual's spouse is notified of such failure.

"(D) Nonallocation Year.—For purposes of this subsection—

"(1) In general.—The term 'nonallocation year' means any plan year of an employee stock ownership plan if, at any time during such plan year, the employer meeting the requirements of section 401(a) shall be treated as owning deemed-owned shares of stock in the S corporation.

"(2) and inserting '', and'', and by adding at the end of paragraph 409(p) as follows:

"(h) TREATMENT OF TRANSFERS OF INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.—

"(1) TRANSFERS OF LESS THAN ALL SUBSTANTIAL RIGHTS.

"(A) In General.—A transfer of an interest in intangible property (as defined in section 1223(23)) shall be treated under this section as a transfer of property even if the transferor is of less than all of the substantial rights of the transferor in the intangible property.

"(B) Allocation of Basis.—In the case of a transfer of less than all of the substantial rights of the transferor in the intangible property, the transferor's basis immediately before the transfer shall be allocated among the rights retained by the transferor and the rights transferred on the basis of their respective fair market values.

"(2) TRANSFERS TO FOREIGN PARTNERSHIPS.—Subsection (a) of section 367(b) shall be amended by inserting 'related to assumptions of liability for tax' before such subsection and by inserting after such subsection the following new subsection:

"(h) TREATMENT OF TRANSFERS OF INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.—

"(1) TRANSFERS OF LESS THAN ALL SUBSTANTIAL RIGHTS.

"(A) IN GENERAL.—A transfer of an interest in intangible property (as defined in section 1223(23)) shall be treated under this section as a transfer of property even if the transferor is of less than all of the substantial rights of the transferor in the intangible property.

"(B) ALLOCATION OF BASIS.—In the case of a transfer of less than all of the substantial rights of the transferor in the intangible property, the transferor's basis immediately before the transfer shall be allocated among the rights retained by the transferor and the rights transferred on the basis of their respective fair market values.

"(2) TRANSFERS TO FOREIGN PARTNERSHIPS.—Subsection (a) of section 367(b) shall be amended by inserting 'related to assumptions of liability for tax' before such subsection and by inserting after such subsection the following new subsection:

"(B) IN GENERAL.—Section 351(b)(1) (relating to transfer to corporation controlled by transferor) is amended by inserting after paragraph (a) the following new paragraph:

"(h) TREATMENT OF TRANSFERS OF INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.—

"(1) TRANSFERS OF LESS THAN ALL SUBSTANTIAL RIGHTS.

"(A) IN GENERAL.—A transfer of an interest in intangible property (as defined in section 1223(23)) shall be treated under this section as a transfer of property even if the transferor is of less than all of the substantial rights of the transferor in the intangible property.

"(B) ALLOCATION OF BASIS.—In the case of a transfer of less than all of the substantial rights of the transferor in the intangible property, the transferor's basis immediately before the transfer shall be allocated among the rights retained by the transferor and the rights transferred on the basis of their respective fair market values.
(i) Controlled Entity.—For purposes of subsection (a)(7), an entity is a controlled entity if, at any time during the taxable year, one person (other than a qualified entity)—

1. In the case of a corporation, owns stock—

   - having at least 50 percent of the total voting power of the stock of such corporation,
   - having a value equal to at least 50 percent of the total value of the stock of such corporation, or
   - having beneficial interests in the trust which would meet the requirements of subparagraph (A) if such interests were stock.

(ii) Eligibility Period.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the term "qualified entity" means—

1. Any real estate investment trust, and
2. Any partnership in which one real estate investment trust owns at least 50 percent of the capital and profits interests in the partnership.

(iii) Attribution Rules.—For purposes of this paragraph (1) and (2)—

(A) In general. Rules similar to the rules of subsections (d)(6) and (h)(3) shall apply.

(B) Stapled Entities. A group of entities which are stapled entities (as defined in section 856(c)(5)) shall be treated as 1 person.

(iv) Exception for Certain New REITs.—

(A) In general. The term ‘controlled entity’ shall not include an incubator REIT.

(B) Incubator REIT. A corporation shall be treated as an incubator REIT for any taxable year during the eligibility period if it meets all the following requirements for such year:

1. The corporation elects to be treated as an incubator REIT.

2. The corporation has only voting common stock outstanding.

3. Not more than 50 percent of the corporation’s real estate assets consist of mortgage interests.

4. Not from later than the beginning of the last half of the second taxable year, at least 75 percent of the corporation’s capital is provided by lenders or equity investors who are unrelated to the corporation’s largest three shareholders.

5. Of the corporation’s stock annually increases the value of its real estate assets by at least 10 percent.

6. The directors of the corporation adopt a resolution setting forth an intent to engage in a going public transaction. No election may be made with respect to any REIT if an election under this subsection was in effect for any predecessor of such REIT.

(C) Eligibility Period.—

1. In the eligibility period (for which an incubator REIT election can be made) begins with the REIT’s second taxable year and ends at the close of the REIT’s third taxable year, except that the REIT may, subject to clauses (i), (ii), (iii), and (iv), elect to extend such period for an additional 2 taxable years.

2. Going Public Transaction.—A REIT may not elect to extend the eligibility period under clause (i) unless it enters into an agreement with the Secretary that if it does not extend the eligibility period by the end of the extended eligibility period, it shall pay Federal income taxes for 2 years of the extended eligibility period as if it had made an incubator REIT election and had ceased to qualify as a REIT for those 2 taxable years.

3. Returns, Interest, and Notice.—

1. A return for any taxable year that includes such date, which includes the adjusted basis of such stock immediately before the distribution, and which has significant business assets or activities as of such date.

SEC. 1121. DISTRIBUTIONS TO A CORPORATE PARTNER OF STOCK IN ANOTHER CORPORATION.

(a) In General.—Section 732 (relating to basis of distributed property other than money) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

(1) Criteria.—For purposes of this section, a distribution of property (other than money) is treated as a distribution of property to a corporation in another corporation to the extent that the distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below.

(2) Example.—For purposes of this subsection, a distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below if—

(i) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed;

(ii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) exceeds the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed by more than 10 percent; and

(iii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the greater of $10,000 or the adjusted basis of the property distributed.

(b) Indirect Distributions.—For purposes of this subsection, a distribution of property (other than money) is treated as a distribution to a corporation in another corporation to the extent that the distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below if—

(i) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed;

(ii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) exceeds the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed by more than 10 percent; and

(iii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the greater of $10,000 or the adjusted basis of the property distributed.

(c) Conforming Amendment.—Paragraph 1264 (relating to basis of distributed property other than money) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

(1) Criteria.—For purposes of this section, a distribution of property (other than money) is treated as a distribution of property to a corporation in another corporation to the extent that the distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below.

(2) Example.—For purposes of this subsection, a distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below if—

(i) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed;

(ii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) exceeds the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed by more than 10 percent; and

(iii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the greater of $10,000 or the adjusted basis of the property distributed.

(d) Indirect Distributions.—For purposes of this subsection, a distribution of property (other than money) is treated as a distribution to a corporation in another corporation to the extent that the distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below if—

(i) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed;

(ii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) exceeds the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed by more than 10 percent; and

(iii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the greater of $10,000 or the adjusted basis of the property distributed.

(e) Conforming Amendment.—Paragraph 1264 (relating to basis of distributed property other than money) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

(1) Criteria.—For purposes of this section, a distribution of property (other than money) is treated as a distribution of property to a corporation in another corporation to the extent that the distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below.

(2) Example.—For purposes of this subsection, a distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below if—

(i) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed;

(ii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) exceeds the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed by more than 10 percent; and

(iii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the greater of $10,000 or the adjusted basis of the property distributed.

(f) Indirect Distributions.—For purposes of this subsection, a distribution of property (other than money) is treated as a distribution to a corporation in another corporation to the extent that the distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below if—

(i) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed;

(ii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) exceeds the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed by more than 10 percent; and

(iii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the greater of $10,000 or the adjusted basis of the property distributed.

(g) Conforming Amendment.—Paragraph 1264 (relating to basis of distributed property other than money) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

(1) Criteria.—For purposes of this section, a distribution of property (other than money) is treated as a distribution of property to a corporation in another corporation to the extent that the distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below.

(2) Example.—For purposes of this subsection, a distribution satisfies the tests of clauses (i) and (ii) below if—

(i) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed;

(ii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) exceeds the aggregate of the money and the aggregate of the adjusted bases of the property distributed by more than 10 percent; and

(iii) the amount of money paid as part of the distribution (determined without regard to section 857(b) or (c)) is not less than the greater of $10,000 or the adjusted basis of the property distributed.
in whole or in part by reference to subsection (a), the corporation shall be treated as receiving a distribution of such stock from a partnership.

"(7) SPECIAL RULE FOR STOCK IN CONTROLLED CORPORATION.—If the property held by a distinct corporation is stock in a corporation which the distributed corporation controls, this subsection shall be applied to reduce the basis of the property of such controlled corporation. This subsection shall be reapplied to any property of any controlled corporation which is stock in a corporation which controls.

"(8) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this subsection, including regulations to avoid double counting and to prevent the abuse of such purposes."

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to distributions made after July 14, 1999.

TITLe XII—COMPLIANCE WITH CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET ACT

SEC. 1291. SUNSET OF PROVISIONS OF ACT.

All provisions of, and amendments made by, this Act which are in effect on September 30, 2009, shall cease to apply as of the close of September 30, 2009.

FRIST AMENDMENT NO. 1443

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. FRIST submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 32, between lines 14 and 15, insert the following:

"SEC. 207. MODIFICATION OF TAX RATES FOR TRUSTS FOR INDIVIDUALS WHO ARE DISABLED.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1(e) (relating to tax imposed on estates and trusts) is amended to read as follows:

"(e) Estates and Trusts.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), there is hereby imposed on the taxable income of—

"(A) every estate, and

"(B) every trust,

taxable under this subsection a tax determined in accordance with the following table:

Table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Income Level</th>
<th>Tax Rate</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$1,500 but not over $3,500</td>
<td>15% of taxable income</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$3,500 but not over $5,500</td>
<td>plus 20% of the excess over $1,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$5,500 but not over $7,500</td>
<td>plus 31% of the excess over $3,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$7,500 but not over $10,000</td>
<td>plus 60% of the excess over $5,500</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

"(2) SPECIAL RULE FOR TRUSTS FOR DISABLED INDIVIDUALS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—There is hereby imposed on the taxable income of an eligible trust taxable under this subsection a tax determined in the same manner as under section (c)."

"(B) ELIGIBLE TRUST.—For purposes of this paragraph (A), a trust shall be treated as an eligible trust taxable under this subsection if it is established by a person who is a beneficiary of any applicable State or local law are met with respect to such education.

"(2) EQUITABLE TRUST.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘equitable trust’ means an individual who is a Kindergarten through grade 12 classroom teacher, instructor, counselor, aide, or principal in an elementary or secondary school.

"(B) ELEMENTARY OR SECONDARY SCHOOL.—

The terms ‘elementary school’ and ‘secondary school’ have the meanings given such terms by section 1401 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 8801), as so in effect.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 1201. SUNSET OF PROVISIONS OF ACT.

Section 1201(d) (relating to termination of exclusion for educational assistance programs), as amended by this Act, is amended by striking “December 31, and inserting “December 31, 2006”."

COLLINS (AND COVERDELL) AMENDMENTS NO. 1446-1447

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Ms. COLLINS (for herself and Mr. COVERDELL) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

Amendment No. 1446

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

"SEC. 2. PERCENT FLOOR ON MISCELLANEOUS ITEMIZED DEDUCTIONS NOT TO APPLY TO QUALIFIED PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT EXPENSES.

(a) QUALIFIED PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT EXPENSES DEDUCTION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 67(b) (defining miscellaneous itemized deductions) is amended by striking “and” at the end of paragraph (11), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (12) and inserting ‘‘, and’’, and by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

‘‘(13) any deduction allowable for the qualified professional development expenses of an eligible teacher.’’

(2) DEFINITIONS.—Section 67 (relating to 2-percent floor on miscellaneous itemized deductions) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

‘‘(g) QUALIFIED PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT EXPENSES OF ELIGIBLE TEACHERS.—For purposes of subsection (b)(13)—

‘‘(1) QUALIFIED INCENTIAL EXPENSES.—

‘‘(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘qualified incidental expenses’ means expenses paid or incurred by an eligible teacher in an amount not to exceed—

(i) for books, supplies, and equipment related to instruction, teaching, or other educational job-related activities of such eligible teacher, the following:

(1) educational assistance programs made by this Act; and

(2) the amendment made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

(4) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 1202. EXTENSION OF EXCLUSION FOR EMPLOYER-PROVIDED EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE.

Section 1202(d) (relating to termination of exclusion for educational assistance programs), as amended by this Act, is amended by striking ‘‘December 31, and inserting ‘‘December 31, 2006’’.

Title XII—COMPLIANCE WITH CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET ACT

SEC. 1291. SUNSET OF PROVISIONS OF ACT.
(B) QUALIFIED COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.—The term ‘qualified course of instruction’ means a course of instruction which—

(i) is—

(1) at an institution of higher education (as defined in section 14101 of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 8801), as so in effect), or

(2) a professional conference, and

(ii) is part of a program of professional development which is approved and certified by the appropriate local educational agency as furthering the individual’s teaching skills.

(C) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—The term ‘local educational agency’ has the meaning given such term by section 14101 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, as so in effect.

(2) ELIGIBLE TEACHER.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘eligible teacher’ means an individual who is a kindergarten through grade 12 classroom teacher, instructor, counselor, aide, or principal in an elementary or secondary school.

(B) SECONDARY SCHOOL.—The terms ‘elementary school’ and ‘secondary school’ have the meanings given such terms by section 14101 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 8801), as so in effect.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000, and ending before December 31, 2004.

(b) QUALIFIED INCIDENTAL EXPENSES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 67(g)(1)(A), as added by subsection (a)(2), is amended by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of clause (i), by redesignating clause (ii) as clause (iii), and by inserting after clause (i) the following new clause:

(ii) for qualified incidental expenses, and

(2) DEFINITION.—Section 67(g), as added by subsection (a)(2), is amended as follows:

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 67(g)(1), as added by subsection (a)(2), is amended—

(a) by designating clause (ii) as clause (iii), and by

(b) striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of clause (i), by redesignating clause (ii) as clause (iii), and by inserting after clause (i) the following new clause:

(ii) for qualified incidental expenses, and

(c) by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of clause (i), by redesignating clause (ii) as clause (iii), and by inserting after clause (i) the following new clause:

(iii) for qualified incidental expenses, and

(d) by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of clause (i), by redesignating clause (ii) as clause (iii), and by inserting after clause (i) the following new clause:

(iii) for qualified incidental expenses, and

(3) QUALIFIED INCIDENTAL EXPENSES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘qualified incidental expenses’ means expenses paid or incurred by an eligible teacher in an amount not to exceed $250 for any taxable year for books, supplies, and equipment related to instruction, teaching, or other educational job-related activities of such eligible teacher.

(B) SPECIAL RULE FOR HOMESCHOOLING.—Such term shall include expenses described in subparagraph (A) in connection with education provided by homeschooling if the requirements of any applicable State or local law are met with respect to such education.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2000, and ending before December 31, 2004.

Amendment No. 1448

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert:

SEC. ____ ELECTRIC UTILITY DIVESTITURES.

Section 1033 (relating to involuntary conversions) is amended by redesignating subsection (b) as subsection (a) and by inserting after subsection (i) the following:

(k) STATE-REQUIRED ELECTRIC UTILITY DIVESTITURES TO CARRY OUT COMPETITIVE RESTRUCTURING POLICIES.—

(1) GENERAL RULE FOR INVOLUNTARY CONVERSION TREATMENT.—For purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer shall be treated as an involuntary conversion of this subsection to all or part of a qualified sale, such sale or part thereof shall be treated as an involuntary conversion to which this section applies.

(2) QUALIFIED SALE.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the term ‘qualified sale’ means a sale by an electric utility of non-nuclear electric generation property, or a sale of stock in a corporation owning non-nuclear electric generation property, if the following occurs:

(A) STATE DIVESTITURE REQUIREMENT.—The State, by legislative enactment, specifically requires such sale, of all non-nuclear generating capacity in such utility's service area not later than March 1, 2000, and prohibits such utility (or related party) from acquiring non-nuclear generating capacity within such service area at any time after March 1, 2000, in order to effectuate the competitive restructuring of the electric industry in such State.

(B) CONSUMER BENEFIT.—The State provides that the benefits from a deferral of tax under this subsection shall inure solely to utility customers.

(c) COVERED SALES.—Such sale is consummated after April 1, 1999, and before March 2, 2000.

(3) SIMILAR OR RELATED PROPERTY.—For purposes of subsection (a), property is similar or related in service or use to electric generation property so converted if it is—
“(A) electric generation property not required by the owner to be used in electric transmission or distribution property,
“(B) other electric industry property,
“(C) natural gas utility property, or “(D) other transmission property.
“(4) ONE-ITEM PROPERTY.—Any sale of electric generation property under paragraph (2) shall be treated as a sale of a single item of property, and any property described in paragraph (3) shall be treated as property similar or related in use to such single item of property.

(5) NON-YEAR REPLACEMENT PERIOD.—In the case of an involuntary conversion described in paragraph (1), subsection (a)(2)(B)(i) shall be applied by substituting ‘‘10 years’’ for ‘‘2 years.’’

“6) GAIN RECOGNIZED IN YEAR CONVERSION IS REALIZED.—In the case of an involuntary conversion under paragraph (1)—

“(A) the gain shall be recognized in the year the conversion is realized, except to the extent that the property is replaced under subsection (a),

“(B) during the replacement period under paragraph (5), the taxpayer may use a one-year life for all assets described in paragraph (3) that are placed in service subject to the limitations of paragraph (C), and

“(C) the total amount of similar or related property additions subject to such one-year life shall not exceed the total gain recognized under paragraph (A).

“7) NORMALIZATION RULES.—With respect to public utility property described in 168(h)(10), the Secretary shall prescribe the requirements for a normalization method of accounting for this subsection.

Beginning on page 285, strike line 21 and all that follows through page 266, line 6.

AMENDMENT No. 1449
On page 378, between lines 14 and 15, insert:
SEC. 125AA. TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 45(c)(3)(C), as amended by section 1230(a) of this Act, is amended by inserting ‘‘or leased’’ after ‘‘owned’’.

(b) REVENUE OFFSET.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall adjust the effective dates of the requirements of a normalization method of accounting for this subsection.

“(A) I N GENERAL.—Section 45(c)(3)(C), as amended by section 1230(a) of this Act, is amended by inserting ‘‘or leased’’ after ‘‘owned’’.

“(B) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—Sec. 1. Short title: table of contents; amendment to 1986 Code.

TITLE I—CERTAIN WELFARE BENEFIT PLANS
SEC. 101. MODIFICATION OF DEFINITION OF TEN-OR-MORE EMPLOYER PLAN
(a) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS.—Paragraph (6)(B) of section 419A(f) (relating to the exception for 10 or more employer plans) is hereby amended by substituting ‘‘employers’’ for ‘‘employers’’ at the end of clause (i), and adding the following clauses:

“(ii) which complies with the requirements of section 505(b)(1) with respect to all benefits provided by the plan, and

“(iii) which has obtained a favorable determination from the Internal Revenue Service that such plan (or a predecessor plan) is an organization described in section 501(c)(9), and “(v) which does not permit any severance pay benefit.

(b) CLARIFICATION OF EXPERIENCE RATING.—Paragraph (6)(c)(3)(i) of section 419A(e) (relating to the exception for 10 or more employer plans) is hereby amended by striking the second sentence thereof, and inserting the following:

‘‘The preceding sentence shall not apply to any plan which is an experience-rated plan. A guaranteed benefit plan shall not be considered an experience-rated plan.

(i) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term ‘‘experience-rated plan’’ is a plan which determines contributions by individual employers on the basis of experience-rating.

(ii) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term ‘‘experience-rating’’ means calculating contributions on the basis of actual gain or loss experience.

(iii) The term ‘‘guaranteed benefit plan’’ means a plan whose benefits are funded with

“2) the table of sections for subpart E of part I of subchapter D is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

‘‘Sec. 420A. Transfer of excess pension assets to stock bonus plan.’’

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to transfers after the date of the enactment of this Act.

AMENDMENT No. 1451
At the end, add the following:
DIVISION B—EMPLOYEE WELFARE BENEFIT EQUITY

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE: TABLE OF CONTENTS; AMENDMENT TO 1986 CODE.
(a) SHORT TITLE.—This division may be cited as the ‘‘Employee Welfare Benefit Equity Act of 1999’’.

(b) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—Sec. 1. Short title; table of contents; amendment to 1986 Code.

TITLE I—CERTAIN WELFARE BENEFIT PLANS
Sec. 101. Modification Of Definition Of Ten-Or-More Employer Plan
Sec. 102. Clarification Of Deduction Limits For Certain Collectively Bargained Plans
Sec. 103. Clarifications Of Standards For Section 501(c)(9) Approval
Sec. 104. Effective Date

TITLE II—ENFORCEMENT PROVISIONS
Sec. 201. Clarification Of Section 4976
Sec. 202. Effective Date
Sec. 203. Clarification Of Section 4976

AMENDMENT No. 1452
On page 239, line 15, strike ‘‘or stock bonus plan’’ and insert ‘‘or stock bonus plan transfer’’.
insurance contracts or are otherwise determinable in a verifiable and accessible manner to a participant without the need for the participant to make an economic or actuarial assumption, in the case of a plan not funded as of such disqualification determination.

SEC. 102. clarification of deduction limits for certain collectively bargained welfare benefit plans.

(a) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS.—Paragraphs 8(b)(5)(B) of section 419A(a) (relating to the deduction limits for certain collectively bargaining plans) are hereby amended by adding thereto the following clauses:

"(iii) paragraph (6)(B)(ii) of such section—"(ii) 100 percent of the amount equal to (i) the amount of contributions to the plan attributable to any contributing employer; provided, however, that a plan shall not fail to be a qualified benefit plan if benefits may be limited or denied in the event a contributing employer fails to meet the requirements of section 419A(d) and such payment is not from such account."

(b) Disqualified benefit—For purposes of paragraphs 8(b)(5)(B) of such section—

(1) In general—The term "disqualified benefit" means—

(A) any post-retirement medical benefit or life insurance benefit paid with respect to a key employee if a separate account is required to be established for such employee under section 419A(d) and such payment is not from such account.

(B) any post-retirement medical benefit or life insurance benefit provided with respect to an individual whose coverage was terminated due to a layoff and the plan meets the requirements of section 505(b) with respect to such benefit (whether or not such requirements apply to such plan), and

(C) any portion of a welfare benefit fund reverting to the benefit of the employer.

(2) Exception for collective bargaining plans—Paragraph 8(b)(5)(B) shall not apply to any plan maintained pursuant to an agreement between employee representatives and 1 or more employers unless and until the taxpayer applies for and the Secretary issues a determination that such agreement is a bona fide collective bargaining agreement and that the welfare benefits provided thereunder were the subject of good faith bargaining between employee representatives and such employer or employers. The Secretary is authorized to promulgate regulations designed to carry out the intention of this provision.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATES.—Paragraph 8(b)(5)(B) shall not apply to any plan maintained pursuant to an agreement between employee representatives and 1 or more employers unless and until the taxpayer applies for and the Secretary issues a determination that such agreement is a bona fide collective bargaining agreement and that the welfare benefits provided thereunder were the subject of good faith bargaining between employee representatives and such employer or employers.

SEC. 103. clarification of standards for section 501(c)(9) approval.

(a) Section 505 is amended by adding thereunto the following subsection—

"(d) Clarification of standards for section 501(c)(9) approval.—

(1) Membership.—An organization shall not fail to be treated as an organization described in paragraph (9) of section 501(c) if its membership includes employees or other allowable participants who—

(a) reside or work in different geographic locales; or

(b) do not work in the same industrial or employment classification.

(2) Funding.—Life insurance and other benefits provided by an organization described in paragraph (9) of section 501(c) or other welfare benefit fund shall not be deemed discriminatory merely because they are funded with different types of products contracts, investments, or other funding methods of varying costs; provided, that such benefits otherwise comply with subsection (b).

(b) Qualified annuity trusts—For purposes of section 501(c)(9), an organization described in paragraph (9) of section 501(c) that elects to maintain a qualified annuity trust is not required to meet the requirements of section 501(c)(9) if it meets the requirements of section 501(c)(9) as of such date.

(c) Premature termination—For purposes of section 501(c)(9)—

(1) in general—The term "premature termination" means a termination event which occurs on or before 6 years after adoption, creation, or the contribution to a welfare benefit fund which benefits any highly compensated employee.

(2) Exception for collective bargaining plans—Paragraph 8(b)(5)(B) shall not apply to any plan maintained pursuant to an agreement between employee representatives and 1 or more employers if the Secretary finds that such agreement is a collective bargaining agreement and that the benefits referred to in paragraph 8(b)(5)(B)(ii) of such section—"do not work in the same industrial or employment classification.

(3) Exception for nonmodifiable contributions—Paragraph 8(b)(5)(B)(ii) of such section—"do not work in the same industrial or employment classification.

(4) Premature termination—For purposes of section 501(c)(9), an organization described in paragraph 8(b)(5)(B) of such section—"shall not be treated as a plan which is not treated as a qualified plan under section 501(c)(9) if it—

(a) resides or works in a different geographic locale, or

(b) does not work in the same industrial or employment classification.

(5) Funding.—Life insurance and other benefits provided by an organization described in paragraph (9) of section 501(c) or other welfare benefit fund shall not be deemed discriminatory merely because they are funded with different types of products contracts, investments, or other funding methods of varying costs; provided, that such benefits otherwise comply with subsection (b).

(b) Qualified annuity trusts—For purposes of section 501(c)(9), an organization described in paragraph (9) of section 501(c) that elects to maintain a qualified annuity trust is not required to meet the requirements of section 501(c)(9) if it meets the requirements of section 501(c)(9) as of such date.

(c) Premature termination—For purposes of section 501(c)(9)—

(1) in general—The term "premature termination" means a termination event which occurs on or before 6 years after adoption, creation, or the contribution to a welfare benefit fund which benefits any highly compensated employee.

(2) Exception for collective bargaining plans—Paragraph 8(b)(5)(B)(ii) of such section—"do not work in the same industrial or employment classification.

(3) Exception for nonmodifiable contributions—Paragraph 8(b)(5)(B)(ii) of such section—"do not work in the same industrial or employment classification.

(4) Premature termination—For purposes of section 501(c)(9), an organization described in paragraph 8(b)(5)(B) of such section—"shall not be treated as a plan which is not treated as a qualified plan under section 501(c)(9) if it—

(a) resides or works in a different geographic locale, or

(b) does not work in the same industrial or employment classification.
(2) Subsection (b).—The amendment made by subsection (b) shall apply to estates of decedents dying, and gifts made, after December 31, 2003.

BURNS AMENDMENT NO. 1453
(Ordered to lie on the table.)
Mr. BURNS offered an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

BURNS AMENDMENT NO. 1453
(Ordered to lie on the table.)
Mr. BURNS offered an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

BURNS AMENDMENT NO. 1453
(Ordered to lie on the table.)
Mr. BURNS offered an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

SEC. 1205. MODIFICATIONS TO BUSINESS CREDIT FOR ELECTRICITY AND FUELS PRODUCED FROM CERTAIN RENEWABLE RESOURCES
(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 45 (relating to credit for electricity produced from certain renewable resources) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

(b) IN GENERAL.—In the case of the production of clean energy fuel, the credit determined under subsection (a) for any taxable year is an amount equal to the product of—

(A) one half of the amount described in subsection (a)(1) (taking into account any adjustments under subsection (b)), multiplied by-

(B) the kilowatt hour equivalent of clean energy fuel—

(i) produced by the taxpayer,

(ii) at a qualified facility during the 5-year period beginning on the date the facility was originally placed in service, and

(iii) sold by the taxpayer to an unrelated person during the taxable year.

(c) Other Definitions.—For purposes of this subsection—

(A) CLEAN ENERGY FUEL.—The term 'clean energy fuel' means liquid, gaseous, or solid synthetic fuel produced from coal, when the production of such fuel uses technology resulting in a qualified emissions reduction.

(B) KILOWATT HOUR EQUIVALENT.—The term 'kilowatt hour equivalent' means the amount of kilowatt hours of electricity equal to the quotient of the Btu content of a domestic clean energy fuel divided by 10,000 Btus.

(C) QUALIFIED EMISSIONS REDUCTION.—The term 'qualified emissions reduction' means a reduction of at least 25 percent of sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxide, and volatile organic compounds emission rates (measured in pounds per ton of metallurgical coke produced) from the following 1997 industry average baseline rates for coke oven batteries: 4.6 pounds for sulfur dioxide, 2.98 pounds for nitrogen oxide, and 3.69 pounds for volatile organic compounds, or

(ii) a reduction of at least 25 percent of the total fuel emissions, including sulfur and nitrogen oxides and volatile organic compounds, as compared to the emissions released when burning the feedstock coal or comparable conventional fuel predominately available in the marketplace as of January 1, 1999.

The taxpayer shall maintain records sufficient to substantiate whether its technology results in a qualified emission reduction.

(D) QUALIFIED FACILITY.—The term 'qualified facility' means any facility owned by the taxpayer which is originally placed in service during the taxable year in which the plan amendment becomes effective.

SEC. 1206. EXPANSION OF DEDUCTION FOR COMPUTER DONATIONS TO SCHOOLS.
(a) Extension of Age of Eligible Computer Donations.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(ii) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended—

(b) Reacquired Computers Eligible for Donation.—In General.—Section 170(e)(6)(B)(ii) (defining qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution) is amended by inserting ''or computer donations to schools'' after ''any''.
SEC. 45E. CREDIT FOR COMPUTER DONATIONS TO SCHOOLS AND SENIOR CENTERS.

(a) General Rule.—For purposes of section 38, the computer donation credit determined under this section is an amount equal to 30 percent of the qualified computer contributions made by the taxpayer during the taxable year.

(b) Qualified Computer Contribution.—For purposes of this section, the term 'qualified computer contribution' has the meaning given the term 'qualified elementary or secondary educational contribution' by section 170(e)(6)(B), except that—

(1) such term shall include the contribution of a computer (as defined in section 170(e)(2)(B)(i)(I)) only if computer software (as defined in section 170(e)(6)(B)(ii)) is incorporated in such computer and is developed under the direction of an educational institution or an educational entity to be used at an educational institution or educational entity; and

(2) the term 'qualified computer contribution' shall be deemed to include contributions of computer software (as defined in section 170(e)(6)(B)(ii)) only if computer software (as defined in section 170(e)(6)(B)(ii)) is incorporated in such computer and is developed under the direction of an educational institution or an educational entity to be used at an educational institution or educational entity.

(c) Increased Percentage for Contributions to Entities in Empowerment Zones, Enterprise Communities, and Indian Reservations.—In the case of a qualified computer contribution to an entity located in an empowerment zone, enterprise community designated under section 1391 or an Indian reservation (as defined in section 168(j)(6)), subsection (a) shall be applied by substituting '50 percent' for '30 percent'.

(d) Certain Rules Made Applicable.—For purposes of this section, rules similar to the rules applicable under subsection (a) shall be applied by substituting '50 percent' for '30 percent'.

(e) Termination.—This section shall not apply to taxable years beginning on or after the date which is 3 years after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(f) Effective Dates.—

(1) In General.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), no deduction made by the taxpayer during the taxable year beginning after the date of the enactment of this Act shall be allowed for that portion of the qualified computer contributions made by the taxpayer during the taxable year beginning after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(2) In General.—For purposes of this section, the term 'qualified computer contribution' shall mean any contribution made by the taxpayer during the taxable year beginning after the date of the enactment of this Act to a school or a senior center.

ASHCROFT AMENDMENT NO. 1456

(Ordered in lie on the table.)

Mr. ASHCROFT submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

Beginning on page 375, line 1, strike all through line 2, page 378, line 6, and insert the following:

"(D) landfill gas facility.—

(i) In general.—In the case of a facility using landfill gas to produce electricity, the term 'qualified facility' means any facility of the taxpayer which is originally placed in service after December 31, 1999, and before January 1, 2000, and transmission of electricity generated at such facility; and

(ii) Biomass.—The term 'biomass' includes—

(A) any of the following forest-related resources: mill residues, precommercial thinning, slash, and brush, but not including prescribed burns or thinning prescribed by the wildlands stewardship council;

(B) urban sources, including waste pallets, crates, and dunnage, manufacturing and construction wood wastes, and landscape and right-of-way tree trimmings, but not including unsegregated municipal solid waste (garbage) or paper that is commonly recycled, or

(C) agriculture sources, including orchard tree crops, vineyard, grain, legumes, sugar, and other crop by-products or residues.

(D) Landfill gas.—The term 'landfill gas' means gas from the decomposition of any organic material, solid or liquid, such as municipal solid waste, industrial solid waste, and agricultural waste disposed of in a municipal solid waste landfill unit (as such terms are defined in regulations promulgated under subtitile D of the Solid Waste Disposal Act (42 U.S.C. 9691 et seq.)).

(E) Special Rules.—Section 45(d) (relating to definitions and special rules) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(6) Proportional Credit for Facility Using Coal to Fire with Certain Biomass.—In the case of a facility using coal to fire with biomass (other than closed-loop biomass) determined under subsection (a) for the taxable year shall be reduced by the percentage coal comprises (on a Btu basis) of the average fuel input to the facility for the taxable year.

(3) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act.

ASHCROFT AMENDMENT NO. 1457

(Ordered in lie on the table.)

Mr. ASHCROFT submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Social Security and Medicare Safe Deposit Box Act of 1999".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—The Congress finds that—

(1) the severe fiscal discipline that the Congress joined together to enact the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 to end decades of deficit spending;

(2) strong economic growth and fiscal discipline have resulted in strong revenue growth into the Treasury;

(3) the combination of these factors is expected to enable the Government to balance its budget without the Social Security surplus;

(4) the Congress has chosen to allocate in this Act all Social Security surpluses toward saving Social Security and Medicare;

(5) amounts so allocated are even greater than those reserved for Social Security and Medicare in the President's budget, will not require an increase in the statutory debt limit, and will reduce debt held by the public until Social Security and Medicare reform is enacted; and

(6) this strict enforcement is needed to lock away the amounts necessary for legislation to save Social Security and Medicare.

(b) Purpose.—It is the purpose of this Act to prohibit the use of Social Security surpluses for any purpose other than reforming Social Security and Medicare.

SEC. 3. PROTECTION OF SOCIAL SECURITY SURPLUSES.

(a) Points of Order To Protect Social Security Surpluses.—Section 312 of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:
SEC. 5. EFFECTIVE DATE.

(a) In general.—This Act shall take effect as of the date of its enactment and the amendments made by this Act shall apply only to fiscal year 2000 and subsequent fiscal years.

(b) Expiration.—Sections 301(a)(6) and 312(g) shall expire upon the enactment of Social Security reform legislation and Medicare reform legislation.

(c) Definitions.—

(1) SOCIAL SECURITY REFORM LEGISLATION.—The term "Social Security reform legislation" means legislation that is enacted into law and includes a provision stating the following: "For purposes of the Social Security and Medicare Safe Deposit Box Act of 1999, this Act constitutes Medicare reform legislation."

(2) MEDICARE REFORM LEGISLATION.—The term "Medicare reform legislation" means a bill or a joint resolution that is enacted into law and includes a provision stating the following: "For purposes of the Social Security and Medicare Safe Deposit Box Act of 1999, this Act constitutes Medicare reform legislation."

COVERDELL (AND TORRICELLI) AMENDMENT NO. 1458

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. COVERDELL (for himself and Mr. TORRICELLI) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

SEC. . SENSE OF THE SENATE REGARDING SAVINGS INCENTIVES.

It is the sense of the Senate that before December 31, 1999, Congress should pass legislation that creates savings incentives by providing a partial Federal income tax exclusion for interest and dividends of no less than $400 for married taxpayers and $200 for single taxpayers.

FITZGERALD AMENDMENT NO. 1459

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. FITZGERALD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

SEC. 4. REMOVING SOCIAL SECURITY FROM BUDGET PRONOUNCEMENTS.

(a) In general.—Any official statement issued by the Office of Management and Budget, the Congressional Budget Office, or any other agency or instrumentality of the Federal Government of surplus or deficit totals of the budget of the United States Government as submitted by the President or of the surplus or deficit totals of the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund, and the Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund, combined, established by title II of the Social Security Act.,

(2) SUPER MAJORITY REQUIREMENT.—(1) Section 904(c)(1) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 is amended by redesignating paragraphs (6) and (7) as paragraphs (7) and (8), respectively, and by inserting after paragraph (5) the following new paragraph:

"(6) the receipts, outlays, and surplus or deficit in the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance and Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund, combined, established by title II of the Social Security Act;",

(2) Section 904(d)(2) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 is amended by inserting "312(g)", after "310(d)(2)",

(3) SEC. 904(c)(1) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 is amended by redesignating paragraphs (7) and (8) as paragraphs (8) and (9), respectively, and by inserting after paragraph (7) the following new paragraph:

"(7) the receipts, outlays, and surplus or deficit in the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance and Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund, combined, established by title II of the Social Security Act;",

"(8) the receipts, outlays, and surplus or deficit in the Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund;",

"(9) the receipts, outlays, and surplus or deficit in the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund; and"

"(10) the receipts, outlays, and surplus or deficit in the Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund;",

"(b) SEPARATE SOCIAL SECURITY BUDGET DOCUMENT.—The excluded outlays and receipts of the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program under title II of the Social Security Act, the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund and the Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund and the related provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 are revised to read as follows:

"(o) TREATMENT OF certain reimbursed expenses of delivery employees.—

(1) GENERAL RULE.—In the case of any qualified employee who receives qualified reimbursement for the expenses incurred by such employee for the use of a vehicle in performing such services—

(A) The amount allowable as a deduction under this chapter for the use of a vehicle in performing such services shall be equal to the amount of such qualified reimbursements; and

(B) Such qualified reimbursements shall be treated as paid under a reimbursement or other expense allowance for purposes of Section 62(a)(2)(A) and Section 62(c) shall not apply to such qualified reimbursements.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this subsection—

(A) QUALIFIED EMPLOYEE.—The term "qualified employee" means—

(i) RURAL MAIL CARRIER.—Any employee of the United States Postal Service who performs services involving the collection and delivery of mail on a rural route; and

(ii) PRIVATE CARRIER.—Any individual who—

(a) is employed by a person that is engaged in the business of furnishing outer borough transport property to perform the duties of his employment; and

(b) does not transport passengers.

(2) QUALIFIED REIMBURSEMENTS.—The term "qualified reimbursements" means—

(i) RURAL MAIL CARRIER.—In the case of a rural mail carrier, the amounts paid by the United States Postal Service to an employee as an equipment maintenance allowance under the 1991 Collective Bargaining Agreement between the United States Postal Service and the National Rural Letter Carrier Association and amounts paid as an equipment maintenance allowance by such Postal Service under later collective bargaining agreements that supersede the 1991 agreement, provided such amounts do not exceed the amounts that would have been paid under the 1991 agreement, adjusted for changes in the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (as defined in Section 1(f)(5)) since 1991; and

(ii) PRIVATE COURIER.—In the case of a private courier, 40 percent of the amounts paid by the employer as a part of a commission payment arrangement, as reimbursement for business expenses incurred in operating a qualified vehicle.

(3) QUALIFIED VEHICLE.—The term "qualified vehicle" means any automobile, light truck, or van whose gross vehicle weight rating does not exceed 2,500 pounds.

(3) COMMISSION PAYMENT ARRANGEMENT.—The term "commission payment arrangement" means the compensation agreement under which a private courier is paid an amount for each delivery equal to a specified percentage of the amount paid by the customer with respect to that delivery, and is not separately reimbursed for any expenses described in subparagraph (2)(B).

STEVENS AMENDMENTS NOS. 1460–1461

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. STEVENS submitted two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 1460

On page 216, line 6 after "FARM" insert "FISHING;"

On page 216, line 15, after "eligible farming business" insert "or commercial fishing;"

On page 216, line 18, strike "FARM and Ranch Risk Management Account" and insert in lieu thereof "Farm, Fishing, and Ranch Risk Management Account;"

On page 216, line 19 strike "FARRM" and insert in lieu thereof "FFARRM".

On page 216, line 20, strike "(b)" and insert in lieu thereof "(c)"

On page 217, line 2, insert "commercial fishing" before the period.

On page 217, between lines 2 and 3 insert the following new paragraph:

"(2) Distributions from a FFARRM Account may not be used to purchase, lease, or finance any new fishing vessel, add capacity to any fishery, or otherwise contribute to the overcapitalization of any fishery. The Secretary of Commerce shall implement regulations to enforce this paragraph.

On page 217, line 3, strike "(c)" and insert in lieu thereof "(c)(1)"

On page 217, between lines 7 and 8 insert the following new paragraph:

"(2) COMMERCIAL FISHING.—For purposes of this section, the term "commercial fishing" is defined under Section (3) of the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (16 U.S.C. 1872)."

On page 221, line 5, strike "FARMING".

On page 221, line 8, insert "or commercial fishing" before the period.

On page 225, strike line 21, and insert in lieu thereof: "468B the following:

"Sec. 468C. Farm, Fishing and Ranch Risk Management Accounts.".

AMENDMENT No. 1461
At the appropriate place, insert the following new section.

SEC. . EXTENSION OF ACCELERATED COST RECOVERY TREATMENT FOR QUALIFIED PROPERTY ON INDIAN RESERVATIONS.

(a) Section 168(j) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to property on Indian reservations) is amended by striking "December 31, 2003" at the end of paragraph (1) and inserting "December 31, 2009".

BINGAMAN AMENDMENT No. 1462
(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. BINGAMAN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

SEC.. SENSE OF THE SENATE REGARDING INVESTMENT IN EDUCATION.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Senate finds the following:

(1) The Republican tax plan requires cuts in discretionary spending of $775,000,000,000 over the next 10 years.

(2) If defense programs are funded at the level requested by the President, funding for domestic programs, including those providing funds for public schools, will have to be cut by at least 38 percent by 2009.

(3) Such cuts in funding for public schools would deny—
(A) access to critical early education services to 450,000 of the 855,000 young children who would otherwise be served by Head Start in fiscal year 2009.

(B) services to 5,900,000 children under the program for disadvantaged children under title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, almost 1/2 of those who would otherwise be served.

(C) access to Reading Excellence programs to 480,000 children, making those children less likely to reach the goal of being able to read by the end of the third grade; and

(D) the opportunity to learn in smaller classes in the earlier grades to 1,000,000 children.

(4) If discretionary cuts are applied across the board, funding under the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) would be cut by $3,400,000,000 by the year 2009, resulting in a reduction in the Federal share of funding, rather than the increase in funding requested by school boards and administrators across the Nation.

(5) If the Federal share under IDEA is increased from its current level of 19 percent, then other programs would experience even deeper reductions, denying more children access to services.

(6) The Pell grant, which benefits nearly 4,000,000 students, would have the maximum grant level reduced to $2175, from the current level of $3850.

(7) Such a level in Pell grants would be the lowest in 1967, and would deny low and middle income students critical financial aid, increasing the cost of attending college.

(8) Nearly 500,000 students would be denied the opportunity to work their way through college with the help of the work-study program.

(9) Nearly 500,000 disadvantaged students would be denied extra help in preparing for college through the TRIO and Gear-up programs.

(b) SENSE OF THE SENATE.—It is the sense of the Senate that $132 million should be shifted from tax breaks that disproportionately benefit upper income taxpayers to sustain our investment in public education and prepare children for the 21st Century, including our investment in programs such as IDEA special education, Pell grant, and Head Start, and to fully fund the class size initiatives.

STEVENS AMENDMENT No. 1463
(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. STEVENS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 375, redesignate existing subparagraph (E) as subparagraph (F) and insert the following new subparagraph:

(E) FISHING OPERATION.—In the case of a fishing operation using fish oil to generate heat, the term 'qualified facility' means any facility of the taxpayer placed in service before July 1, 2000.

On page 376, line 9 strike "and".

On page 376, line 10 insert at the end ";

(D) fish oil.

On page 377, line 17 after the period insert the following new paragraph:

(A) FISH.—The term ‘fish oil’ means fish oil used as an energy source by a taxpayer in connection with the fishing operation of the taxpayer.

On page 378, between lines 11 and 12 insert the following new subsections:

(d) DETERMINATION OF CREDIT FOR FISH OIL.—Section 45(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended—

(1) in paragraph (1)—

(A) General Rule.—For purposes of the section, the renewable energy production credit for any taxable year is an amount equal to the sum of—

(i) the product of—

(A) 1.5 cents, multiplied by—

(B) the kilowatt hours of electricity—

(i) produced by the taxpayer—

(ii) from qualified energy resources, and

(iii) at a qualified facility during the 10 year period beginning on the date the facility was originally placed in service, and

(ii) sold by the taxpayer to an unrelated person during the taxable year, and

(B) the product of—

(A) .0000967 cents, multiplied by—

(B) the Btu of heat generated and used by the taxpayer—

(i) from qualified energy resources described in subsection (c)(1)(E), and

(ii) at a qualified facility (including a fishing boat used in the fishing operation of the taxpayer).

(e) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Section 39(b)(8) and section 39(g)(9) of the Code are amended by striking 'electricity' each place it appears and inserting 'energy'.

(2) The table of contents for subpart D of part IV of subchapter A of chapter 1 of such Code is amended by striking the item relating to section 45 and inserting the following:

Sec. 45. energy produced for certain renewable resources.

(3) The heading of section 45 of such Code is amended by striking "ELECTRICITY" and inserting "ENERGY".

HATCH (AND OTHERS) AMENDMENT No. 1464
(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. HATCH (for himself, Mr. MACK, and Mr. COVERT) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert:

SECTION 1. DETERMINING RENTS FROM REAL PROPERTY.

(a) Section 1022(b) is amended by adding after paragraph (2):

(D) The amount requested by the President, funding for domestic programs, including those providing funds for public schools, will have to be cut by at least 38 percent by 2009.

(b) Section 1026(b)(1) is amended by adding after subparagraph (B):

(C) LIMITATION ON TRANSITION RULES.—Subparagraph (A) shall cease to apply to securities of a corporation held, acquired, or received, directly or indirectly, by a real estate investment trust as of the first day after July 1, 1999, on which such trust acquires any additional securities of such corporation other than:

(I) pursuant to a binding contract in effect on such date and at all times thereafter, or

(ii) in a reorganization (as so defined) with such corporation, in which the securities of such corporation are described in paragraph (1)(A) of this subsection.

SANTORUM (AND FEINSTEIN) AMENDMENT No. 1465
(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. SANTORUM (for himself and Mrs. FEINSTEIN) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 286, line 18, strike "2004" and insert "2005".

On page 288, strike line 5 and insert:

(c) ADJUSTMENT OF STATE CEILING FOR INCREASES IN COST-OF-LIVING.—Paragraph (3) of section 43(b) (relating to housing credit dollar amount for agencies), as amended by subsection (b), is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

(II) from qualified energy resources described in subsection (c)(1)(E), and

(ii) at a qualified facility (including a fishing boat used in the fishing operation of the taxpayer).
year by substituting ‘calendar year 2004’ for ‘calendar year 1992’ in subparagraph (B) thereof.

(ii) Rounding.—Any increase under clause (i) which is not a multiple of 5 cents shall be rounded to the next lowest multiple of 5 cents.

(d) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—On page 286, line 19, strike ‘‘(d)’’ and insert ‘‘(e)’’.

On page 297, line 13, strike ‘‘2003’’ and insert ‘‘2004’’.

HOLLINGS AMENDMENT NO. 1468
(Adjusted to lie on the table.)
Mr. HOLLINGS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:
Strike all after line 5 on page 1.

FRIST AMENDMENT NO. 1467
(Adjusted to lie on the table.)
Mr. FRIST submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:
At the end of the bill, add the following:

SEC. 6. SENSE OF THE SENATE ON MEDICARE RESERVE FUND.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Senate finds that—

(i) the Congressional budget plan has $505,000,000,000 over ten years in unallocated budget surplus that could be used for long-term medicare reform, other priorities, or debt reduction;

(ii) the Congressional budget resolution for fiscal year 2000 already has set aside $50,000 and $80,000 amounts referred to in subparagraph (C) is not a multiple of $50, such amount shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of $50.

(b) SENSE OF THE SENATE.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) the unallocated on-budget surplus over the next 10 years provide adequate resources and that the Congressional budget resolution for fiscal year 2000 provides a sound framework for allocating resources to medicare reform including prescription drug coverage;

(2) the President estimates that his medicare proposal will cost $46,000,000,000 over 10 years; and

(4) thus the Congressional budget resolution provides more than adequate resources for medicare reform, including prescription drugs.

SNOWE AMENDMENT NO. 1468
(Adjusted to lie on the table.)
Ms. SNOWE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by her to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 32, strike lines 12 through 14, and insert:

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to any qualified education loan (as defined in section 25B(e)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as added by this section) incurred on, before, or after the date of the enactment of this Act, but only with respect to any loan interest payment due after December 31, 2004.

KYL AMENDMENT NO. 1469
(Ordered to lie on the table.)
Mr. KYL submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

Beginning on page 226, line 1, strike through page 227, line 5, and insert:

TITLE VII—ESTATE AND GIFT TAX RELIEF PROVISIONS

Subtitle A—Repeal of Estate, Gift, and Generation-Skipping Taxes; Repeal of Step Up in Basis at Death

SEC. 701. REPEAL OF ESTATE, GIFT, AND GENERATION-SKIPPING TAXES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subtitle B is hereby repealed.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The repeal made by subsection (a) shall apply to estates of decedents dying, and gifts and generation-skipping transfers made, after December 31, 2007.

SEC. 702. TERMINATION OF STEP UP IN BASIS AT DEATH.

(a) TERMINATION OF APPLICATION OF SECTION 1014.—Section 1014 (relating to basis of property acquired from a decedent) is amended by striking at the end the following:

(i) TERMINATION.—In the case of a decedent dying after December 31, 2007, this section shall not apply to property for which basis is provided by section 1022.

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Subsection (a) of section 1016 (relating to adjustments to basis) is amended by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of paragraph (26), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (27) and inserting ‘‘, and’’, and by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(28) to the extent provided in section 1022 (relating to basis for certain property acquired from a decedent dying after December 31, 2007).’’

SEC. 703. CARRYOVER BASIS AT DEATH.

(a) GENERAL RULE.—Part II of subchapter O of chapter 1 (relating to rules of general application) is amended by inserting after section 1021 the following:

(a) CARRYOVER BASIS.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, the basis of carryover basis property in the hands of a person acquiring such property from a decedent shall be determined under section 1015.

(b) CARRYOVER BASIS PROPERTY DEFINED.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘‘carryover basis property’’ means any property—

(A) which is acquired from or passed from a decedent who died after December 31, 2007, and

(B) which is not excluded pursuant to paragraph (2).

The property taken into account under subparagraph (A) shall be determined under section 1014(b) without regard to subparagraph (A) of the last sentence of paragraph (9) thereof.

(2) CERTAIN PROPERTY NOT CARRYOVER BASIS PROPERTY.—The term ‘‘carryover basis property’’ does not include—
‘‘(A) any item of gross income in respect of a decedent’s estate which at the time of his death was situated in the United States, or any part thereof, or in any place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States; or
‘‘(B) property which was acquired from the decedent by the surviving spouse of the decedent, the value of which would have been deductible from the value of the taxable estate of the decedent under section 2036, as in effect on the day before the date of enactment of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999; and
‘‘(C) any includible property of the decedent if the aggregate adjusted fair market value of such property does not exceed $2,000,000.

For purposes of this paragraph and paragraph (3), the term ‘adjusted fair market value’ means, with respect to any property, fair market value reduced by any indebtedness secured by such property.

‘‘(3) PHASE-IN OF CARRYOVER BASIS IF INCLUDIBLE PROPERTY EXCEEDS $1,300,000.—

‘‘(A) IN GENERAL.—If the adjusted fair market value of the includible property of the decedent exceeds $1,300,000, but does not exceed $2,000,000, the amount of the excess in the basis of such property which would (but for this paragraph) be reduced by the amount bears the same ratio to such excess as such excess bears to $700,000.

‘‘(B) AMOUNT OF REDUCTION.—The reduction under subparagraph (A) shall be allocated among only the includible property having net appreciation and shall be allocated in proportion to the respective amounts of such net appreciation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the term ‘net appreciation’ means the excess of the adjusted fair market value over the decedent’s adjusted basis immediately before such decedent’s death.

‘‘(4) INCLUDIBLE PROPERTY.—

‘‘(A) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘includible property’ means property which would be included in the gross estate of the decedent under any of the following provisions as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999:

(i) Section 2033.

(ii) Section 2040.

(iii) Section 2041.

(iv) Section 2042(a)(1).

(v) Section 2042(b).

(vi) Section 2042(c).

(b) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this section.

(b) MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS RELATED TO CARRYOVER BASIS.—

(1) CAPITAL GAIN TREATMENT FOR INHERITED ART WORK OR SIMILAR PROPERTY.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Subparagraph (C) of section 1221(3) (defining capital asset) is amended by inserting ‘‘(other than by reason of section 1022)’’ after ‘‘is determined’’.

(B) COORDINATION WITH SECTION 170.—Paragraph (1) of section 170(e) (relating to certain contributions of ordinary income and capital gain property) is amended by adding at the end the following: ‘‘For purposes of this paragraph, the determination that a property is a capital asset shall be made without regard to the exception contained in section 1221(3)(C) for basis determined under section 1223(1).’’

(2) DEFINITION OF EXECUTOR.—Section 7701(a) (relating to definitions) is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(47) the term ‘executor’ means the executor or administrator of the decedent, or, if there is no executor or administrator appointed, qualified, and acting within the United States, then any person in actual or constructive possession of any property of the decedent.’’

(3) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections for part II of chapter 1 of subtitle A is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to estates of decedents dying after December 31, 2007.

Subtitle B—Reductions of Estate, Gift, and Generation-Skipping Transfer Taxes

SEC. 711. REDUCTIONS OF ESTATE, GIFT, AND GENERATION-SKIPPING TRANSFER TAXES.

(a) MAXIMUM RATE OF TAX REDUCED TO 50 PERCENT.—The table contained in section 2001(c)(1) is amended by striking the 2 highest brackets and inserting the following:

Over $2,500,000 ... $1,250,890, plus 50% of the excess over $2,500,000.

(b) REPEAL OF PHASEOUT OF GRADUATED RATES.—Subsection (c) of section 2001 is amended by striking paragraph (2).

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to estates of decedents dying, and gifts made, after December 31, 2007.

SEC. 712. UNIFIED CREDIT AGAINST ESTATE AND GIFT TAXES REPLACED WITH UNIFIED EXEMPTION AMOUNT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—

(1) ESTATE TAX.—Part IV of chapter A of section 2101 is amended by inserting after section 2051 the following new section:

‘‘SEC. 2052. EXEMPT AMOUNT.

‘‘(a) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of the tax imposed by section 2001, the value of the taxable estate shall be determined by deducting from the value of the gross estate an amount equal to the excess (if any) of—

‘‘(1) the exemption amount for the calendar year in which the decedent died, over
‘‘(2) the sum of—

(A) the aggregate amount allowed as an exemption under section 2521 with respect to gifts made by the decedent after December 31, 2004, and

(B) the aggregate amount of gifts made by the decedent for which credit was allowed by section 2505 (as in effect on the day before the date of enactment of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999).

Gifts which are includible in the gross estate of the decedent shall not be taken into account in determining the amounts under paragraph (2).

(b) EXEMPTION AMOUNT.—For purposes of subsection (a), the term ‘exemption amount’ means the amount determined in accordance with the following table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Calendar Year</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2000-2002</td>
<td>$500,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003-2004</td>
<td>$600,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005-2006</td>
<td>$1,000,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(d) ENSURE UNIFIED CREDIT.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to estates of decedents dying after December 31, 2007.

(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to estates of decedents dying, and gifts made, after December 31, 2007.

SEC. 2053. ESTATE TAX.—

(a) IN GENERAL.—An exemption of $60,000.

(b) CREDIT AGAINST ESTATE TAX.—The exemption under section 2001(b) is hereby repealed.

(c) SPOUSE.—Such term shall not include property of the decedent, or, if there is no executor or administrator appointed, qualified, and acting within the United States, then any person in actual or constructive possession of any property of the decedent.”
under this paragraph shall be equal to the amount of estate equal to the exemption amount under section 2052 (for the calendar year in which the decedent died) as the value of the part of the deceased’s gross estate which at the time of his death was situated in the United States bears to the value of his entire gross estate wherever situated. For purposes of the preceding sentence, property shall not be treated as situated in the United States if such property is exempt from the tax imposed by this subchapter under any treaty obligation of the United States.

"(ii) COORDINATION WITH GIFT TAX EXEMPTION AND UNIFIED CREDIT.—If an exemption has been allowed under section 2521 (or a credit has been allowed under section 2525 as in effect on the date before the enactment of the Taxpayer Refund Act of 1999) with respect to any gift made by the decedent, each dollar amount contained in subparagraph (A) or (B) or the exemption amount applicable under clause (i) of this subparagraph (whichever applies) shall be reduced by any amount so allowed under section 2521 (or, in the case of such a credit, by the amount of the gift for which the credit was so allowed)."

(10) Subsection (c) of section 2107 is amended—

(A) by striking paragraph (1) and by redesignating paragraphs (2) and (3) as paragraphs (1) and (2) respectively; and

(B) by striking the second sentence of paragraph (2) (as so redesignated).

(11) Section 2206 is amended by striking "the taxable estate in the first sentence and inserting "the sum of the taxable estate and the amount of the exemption allowed under section 2052 or 2106(a)(4) in computing the taxable estate".

(12) Section 2207 is amended by striking "the taxable estate" in the first sentence and inserting "the sum of the taxable estate and the amount of the exemption allowed under section 2052 or 2106(a)(4) in computing the taxable estate".

(13) Subparagraph (B) of section 2207(a)(1) is amended to read as follows:

"(B) the sum of the taxable estate and the amount of the exemption allowed under section 2052 or 2106(a)(4) in computing the taxable estate."

(14) Subsection (a) of section 2503 is amended by striking "section 2522" and inserting "section 2521.

(15) Paragraph (1) of section 6018(a) is amended by striking "the applicable exclusion amount" and inserting "the exemption amount under section 2052 for the calendar year which includes the date of death".

(16) Subparagraph (A) of section 6018(1)(2) is amended to read as follows:

"(A)(i) the amount of the tax which would be imposed by chapter 11 on an amount of taxable estate equal to the sum of $1,000,000 and the exemption amount allowable under section 2052, reduced by the applicable rate to which would be so imposed if the taxable estate equaled such exemption amount, or;

(ii) the amount of tax which would be imposed by the applicable rate to which would be so imposed if the taxable estate equaled such exemption amount, or;"

(17) The table of sections for part II of subchapter A of chapter 11 is amended by striking the item relating to section 2057.

(18) The table of sections for subchapter A of chapter 12 is amended by striking the item relating to section 2207.

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section—

(1) insofar as they relate to the tax imposed by chapter 12 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, shall apply to estates of decedents dying after December 31, 2004, and

(2) insofar as they relate to the tax imposed by chapter 21 of such Code, shall apply to gifts made after December 31, 2004.

Subtitle C—Simplification of Generation-Skipping Transfer Tax

ABRAHAM AMENDMENTS NOS. 1470–1471

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. ABRAHAM submitted two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 1470

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

"SECTION 2001. SENSE OF THE SENATE ON CAPITAL GAINS TAX CUTS.

It is the Sense of the Senate that the Senate Conferences to any Conference Committee considering H.R. 2488, shall recede to the Senate position by phasing-in the capital gains tax cuts, specifically the capital gains tax cuts provided for in Section 202 of H.R. 2488.

AMENDMENT NO. 1471

Replace the current language with the following provisions:

(1) Raise the 15% income tax rate upper income limit by $10,000 for joint filers, $5,000 for non-joint filers, phased-in as quickly as possible within the limits of the reconciliation instructions, but so as to allow for the inclusion of the other proposed provisions;

(2) Allow married couples filing jointly to file single returns on a combined form where income follows ownership, as well as adjusting upwards by the income bracket for TTFIC for married couples filing jointly;

(3) Phase-out the estate and gift taxes with a full repeal no later than December 31, 2009;

(4) Exclude the first $500 of interest and dividend income from income taxes, phased-in as quickly as possible within the limits of the reconciliation instructions, but so as to allow for the inclusion of the other proposed provisions;

(5) Cut capital gains tax rates from 20% and 10% to 15% and 7.5%, respectively;

(6) Raise the contribution limitation on all Individual Retirement Accounts to $5,000 per year;

(7) Raise the contribution limits for Education Savings Accounts to $2,000 per year;

(8) Increase student loan interest deductibility income limits by at least $10,000, adjusted to the income limits for married couples filing jointly to twice that of a single taxpayer, use a phase-out range of at least $15,000 for both, and repeal the 80-month rule;

(9) Exclude from taxation distributions for educational expenses from state-sponsored Prepaid Educational Savings Plans, allow tax-deferral on income from private Prepaid Educational Savings plans, make-indexed withdrawals from Prepaid Savings Plans and Education IRAs;

(10) Provide a phased-in above-the-line, deduction for health insurance expenses for which the taxpayer pays at least 50% of the premium;

(11) Make the Medical Savings Account program permanent, reduce the $750,000 income cap, allow an employer to provide these accounts, lower the minimum deductible to at least $1,000, $2,000 for family coverage, allow MSAs contributions equal to 100% of the deductible, allow both employer and employee contributions, and allow MSAs to be part of cafeteria health plans;

(12) Accelerate the 100% deductibility of health insurance expenses for the self-employed;

(13) Increase small business equipment expense limitations to $30,000 per year;

(14) Provide a permanent extension of the Research and Development Tax Credit;

(17) Allow farmers and ranchers to contribute up to at least 20% of their annual income to tax-deferred risk management accounts, taxed as regular if withdrawn within no more than five years, and subject to at least a 10% penalty after that, and provide that self-employment taxes are paid upon receipt of the income;

(18) Not exceed the revenue reduction reconciled in the reconciliation instructions contained in H. Con. Res. 68;

(19) Sunset all provisions on some day in 2009.

HUTCHISON (AND OTHERS) AMENDMENT NO. 1472

Mrs. HUTCHISON (for herself, Mr. ASHCROFT, and Mr. BROWNBACK) proposed an amendment to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

(1) On page 15, line 14, insert the following paragraph (c):—

(c) Twice the dollar amount in effect under subparagraph (C) in the case of—

(1) a joint return for married individuals not filing a combined return under 6013A, or

(2) a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)).

On page 15, line 14, insert the following new paragraph (d) and reorder the remaining paragraphs accordingly:

(d) PHASE-IN.—In the case of taxable years beginning before January 1, 2004—

(A) paragraph (2)(A) shall be applied by substituting for "twice"—

(i) "1.778 times" in the case of taxable years beginning during 2001 and 2002;

(ii) "1.889 times" in the case of the taxable years thereafter.

(2) Alternative Minimum Tax: Modifications to Section 266:

On page 32, line 3—Strike "1998" and insert "2000".

On page 32, line 14—Strike "2004" and insert "2006".

On page 38, line 18, strike "2000" and insert "2002".

(4) Gift Tax Exclusion: Modification to Section 2200:

On page 236, line 11, strike all of Section 721 and insert the following new section:

SEC. 721. INCREASE IN ANNUAL GIFT EXCLUSION.

(1) by striking "$10,000" and inserting "$20,000.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to gifts made after December 31, 2004.

(5) Charitable Contributions for Individuals Who Do Not Itemize: Modifications to Section 901:

On page 262, strike lines 15 through 17 and insert the following new paragraph:—
(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this subsection shall not apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2003 and ending before January 1, 2004.

TORRICEllI AMENDMENTS NOS. 1473-1474

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. TORRICEllI submitted two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

AMENDMENT No. 1473

At the end of subtitle B of title III, insert:

SEC. 139. SEVERANCE PAYMENTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 4972(c) (defining nondeductible contributions) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

‘‘(7) SIMPLE CONTRIBUTIONS ON BEHALF OF DOMESTIC WORKERS.—The term ‘nondeductible contribution’ shall not include a contribution to any simplified employee pension or any simple retirement account with respect to which a deduction is not allowable under section 404 solely because such contribution constitutes remuneration paid for domestic services (within the meaning of section 3510) in a private home of the employer for which a deduction is not allowable under section 162.’’

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to contributions in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

AMENDMENT No. 1474

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

SEC. 321. CATCHUP CONTRIBUTIONS FOR INDIVIDUALS AGE 50 OR OVER.

(a) ELECTIVE DEFERRALS.—Section 414 (relating to definitions and special rules).—(1) IN GENERAL.—An applicable employer plan shall not be treated as failing to meet any requirement of this title solely because the plan permits an eligible participant to make additional elective deferrals in any plan year.

‘‘(2) LIMITATION ON AMOUNT OF ADDITIONAL DEFERRALS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—A plan shall not permit additional elective deferrals under paragraph (1) for any year in an amount greater than the lesser of—

(i) the applicable percentage of the applicable dollar amount for such elective deferrals for such year, or

(ii) the excess (if any) of—

(I) the participant’s compensation for the year, over

(II) any other elective deferrals of the participant for such year which are made without regard to this subsection.

(B) APPLICABLE PERCENTAGE.—For purposes of this paragraph, the applicable percentage shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>For taxable years beginning in:</th>
<th>The applicable percentage is:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006 and thereafter</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(B) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—The term ‘applicable dollar amount’ means, with respect to any year, the amount in effect under section 418(e)(1)(B), 402(h)(2)(D)(i)(1), or 457(e)(15)(A), whichever is applicable to an applicable employer plan, for such year.

(C) APPLICABLE EMPLOYER PLAN.—The term ‘applicable employer plan’ means—

(i) an employee’s trust described in section 401(a) which is exempt from tax under section 501(a), or

(ii) a plan under which amounts are contributed by an individual’s employer for an annuity contract described in section 403(b).

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The term ‘elective deferral’ has the meaning given such term by subsection (u)(2)(C).

(c) CATCHUP CONTRIBUTIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In the case of an individual who has attained the age of 50 before the close of the taxable year, the dollar amount in effect under paragraph (1)(A) for such taxable year shall be equal to the applicable percentage of such amount determined without regard to this paragraph.

(B) APPLICABLE PERCENTAGE.—For purposes of this paragraph, the applicable percentage shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>For taxable years beginning in:</th>
<th>The applicable percentage is:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2002</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2003</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2004</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006 and thereafter</td>
<td>15 percent</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(D) CATCHUP CONTRIBUTIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Section 404 (relating to termination of exclusion for educational assistance programs), as amended by this Act, is amended by striking ‘‘May 31, 2000’’ and inserting ‘‘December 31, 2008’’.

(TORRICEllI (AND OTHERS)

AMENDMENT NO. 1475

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. TORRICEllI (for himself, Mr. LIEBERMAN, Mr. LAUTENBERG, and Mr. DODD) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:
SEC. 1400E. DESIGNATION OF RENEWAL COMMUNITIES.

(a) In General.—Chapter 4 of title 4, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(1) the Secretaries of Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, and Transportation; the Director of the Office of Management and Budget; and the Administrator of the Small Business Administration; and

(ii) in the case of an area on an Indian reservation, the Secretary of the Interior.

(2) NUMBER OF DESIGNATIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development may designate as renewal communities not more than 100 nominated areas as renewal communities.

(B) MINIMUM DESIGNATION IN RURAL AREAS.—If the nominated area is a rural area designated under paragraph (1), at least 20 percent must be areas—

(i) which are within a local government jurisdiction or jurisdictions with a population of less than 50,000,

(ii) which are outside of a metropolitan statistical area (within the meaning of section 1307 of title 13, United States Code, as amended by this section); and

(iii) which are determined by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be a rural area.

(3) AREAS DESIGNATED BASED ON DEGREE OF POVERTY, ETC.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, any such area designated as renewal communities under this subsection shall be those nominated areas with the highest average ranking with respect to the criteria described in graphs (B), (C), and (D) of subsection (c)(3). For purposes of the preceding sentence, an area shall be ranked within each such criterion on the basis of the amount by which the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.

(B) ENSURE ACCURATE COURSE OF ACTION, ETC.—An area shall not be designated under subparagraph (A) if the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development determines that the course of action described in subsection (d)(2) with respect to such area is inadequate.

(C) PRIORITY FOR EMPOWERMENT ZONES AND ENTERPRISE COMMUNITIES WITH RESPECT TO FIRST HALF OF DESIGNATIONS.—With respect to the first 50 percent of the designations made under this section—

(1) half shall be chosen from nominated areas which are empowerment zones or enterprise communities (and are otherwise eligible for designations under this section); and

(2) 20 percent shall be areas described in paragraph (2)(B).

(4) LIMITATION ON DESIGNATIONS.—

(A) PUBLICATION OF REGULATIONS.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall prescribe by regulation no later than 4 months after the date of the enactment of this section, after consultation with the officials described in paragraph (1)(B)—

(1) the procedures for designating an area under paragraph (1)(A); and

(2) the date the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development determines that the course of action described in subsection (d)(2) with respect to such area is inadequate.

(B) TIME LIMITATIONS.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall prescribe by regulation no later than 4 months after the date of the enactment of this section the terms of renewal community designated areas as renewal communities only during the 24-month period beginning on the first day of the first month following the date in which the regulations described in subparagraph (A) are prescribed.

(C) PROCEDURAL RULES.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall not make any designation of a nominated area as a renewal community under paragraph (2) unless—

(1) the local governments and the States in which the nominated area is located have the authority—

(II) to provide assurances satisfactory to the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development that such commitments will be fulfilled;

(ii) a nomination regarding such area is submitted in a manner and in such form as determined by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development within 75 days after the date of the enactment of this section.

(II) to make the State and local commitments described in subsection (d); and

(III) the manner in which nominated areas will be evaluated based on the criteria specified in subsection (d).

(i) the area is within the jurisdiction of one or more local governments;

(ii) the area is in an empowerment zone or enterprise community, and

(iii) the manner in which nominated areas will be evaluated based on the criteria specified in subsection (d).

(5) NOMINATION PROCESS FOR INDIAN RESERVATIONS.—For purposes of this subsection, in the case of a nominated area on an Indian reservation, the reservation governing body (as determined by the Secretary of the Interior) shall be treated as being both the State and local governments with respect to such area.

(6) PERIOD FOR WHICH DESIGNATION IS EFFECTIVE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Any designation of an area as a renewal community shall remain in effect during the period beginning on the date of the designation and ending on the earliest of—

(i) December 31, 2007;

(ii) the date the termination date designated by the State and local governments in their nomination; or

(iii) the date the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development revokes such designation.

(B) REVOCATION OF DESIGNATION.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development may revoke the designation under this section of an area if such Secretary determines that the local government or the State in which the area is located—

(1) has modified the boundaries of the area, or

(2) is not complying substantially with, or fails to make progress in achieving, the State or local commitments, respectively, described in subsection (d).

(C) AREA AND ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development may designate a nominated area as a renewal community under subsection (a) only if the area meets the requirements of paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subsection.

(2) AREA REQUIREMENTS.—A nominated area meets the requirements of this paragraph if—

(A) the area is within the jurisdiction of one or more local governments;

(B) the area is in a metropolitan statistical area; and

(C) the area—

(i) has a population, of at least—

(ii) 4,000 if any portion of such area (other than a rural area described in subsection (a)(2)(B)(i)) is located within a metropolitan statistical area (within the meaning of section 143(k)(2)(B)); and

(I) 1,000 in any other case; or

(II) 1,000 in any other case; or

(III) the area is entirely within an Indian reservation (as determined by the Secretary of the Interior).

(3) ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS.—A nominated area meets the requirements of this paragraph if the State and the local governments in which it is located certify (and the Section 1400F. Renewal Community Capital Gain
Renewal Community Business
Sec. 1400F. Renewal community capital gain; renewal community business

(A) General rule.—Gross income does not include any qualified capital gain recognized on the sale or exchange of a qualified community asset held for more than 5 years.

(B) Qualified community stock property.

(2) Qualified community stock.—(A) In general.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the term ‘qualified community stock’ means any stock in a domestic corporation if—

(i) such stock is acquired by the taxpayer after December 31, 2000, and before January 1, 2008, at its original issue (directly or through an underwriter) from the corporation solely in exchange for cash;

(ii) the original issue of such stock has been made solely for purposes of being a renewal community business; and

(iii) during substantially all of the taxpayer’s holding period for such stock, such corporation was engaged for purposes of being a renewal community business.

(B) Elections.—A rule similar to the rule of section 1202(c)(3) shall apply for purposes of this paragraph.

(3) Qualified community partnership interest.—The term ‘qualified community partnership interest’ means any interest in a partnership if—

(A) such interest is acquired by the taxpayer after December 31, 2000, and before January 1, 2008;

(B) as of the time such stock was issued, such corporation was a renewal community business; and

(C) during substantially all of the taxpayer’s holding period for such stock, such corporation was engaged for purposes of being a renewal community business.

(4) Qualified community business property.—(A) In general.—The term ‘qualified community business property’ means tangible property if—

(i) such property was acquired by the taxpayer after December 31, 2000, and before January 1, 2008;

(ii) the original use of such property in the renewal community commences with the taxpayer; and

Constitutional Record—Senate...
(iii) during substantially all of the taxpayer’s holding period for such property, substantially all of the use of such property was in a renewal community business of the taxpayer.

(B) SPECIAL RULE FOR SUBSTANTIAL IMPROVEMENTS.—The requirements of clauses (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (A) shall be treated as satisfied with respect to—

(i) property which is substantially improved (within the meaning of section 1400B(b)(4)(B)(ii)) by the taxpayer before January 1, 2008; and

(ii) any land on which such property is located.

(c) CREDIT TO AMOUNT.—Rules similar to the rules of paragraphs (5), (6), and (7) of subsection (b), and subsections (e), (f), and (g), of section 1400B shall apply for purposes of this section.

SEC. 1400G. NEW WASHINGTON COMMUNITY BUSINESS DEFINED.

For purposes of this section, and section 1397B, the term ‘new Washington community business’ means any entity, created or organized and carrying on a business of the kind conducted by or for the benefit of certain renewal communities, and any qualified proprietorship which would be a qualified individual or qualified proprietorship (as defined in section 1397B(b)(4)) not contravene any law.

SEC. 1400H. FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS.

Sec. 1400H. Family development accounts for renewal community EITC recipients.

Sec. 1400I. Demonstration program to provide matching contributions to family development accounts in certain renewal communities.

Sec. 1400J. Designation of earned income for purposes of this title.

PART III—FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS.

Sec. 1400M. Family development accounts.

(a) ALLOWANCE OR DEDUCTION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—There shall be allowed as a deduction—

(A) no contribution will be accepted unless such contribution is made in cash for the taxable year by such person to any family development account for the benefit of any qualified individual; and

(B) contributions will not be accepted for any qualified individual, the amount paid in cash for the taxable year by such person to any family development account for the benefit of any qualified individual but only if the amount so paid is designated for purposes of this section by such individual.

No deduction shall be allowed under this paragraph for any amount deposited in a family development account for the benefit of—

(a) any taxpayer; or

(b) any qualified individual who is—

(I) the spouse of such taxpayer; or

(ii) any dependent (as defined in section 152) of such taxpayer.

Sec. 1400O. FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS FOR RENEWAL COMMUNITY EITC RECIPIENTS.

Sec. 1400P. Contributions from non-recipients of the EITC.

(a) ALLOWANCE OR DEDUCTION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—There shall be allowed as a deduction—

(A) no contribution will be accepted unless such contribution is made in cash for the taxable year by such person to any family development account for the benefit of any qualified individual; and

(B) contributions will not be accepted for any qualified individual, the amount paid in cash for the taxable year by such person to any family development account for the benefit of any qualified individual but only if the amount so paid is designated for purposes of this section by such individual.

No deduction shall be allowed under this paragraph for any amount deposited in a family development account for the benefit of any qualified individual unless such account has ceased to be a family development account by reason of paragraph (2).

(2) CONTRIBUTIONS.—No deduction shall be allowed under this section with respect to any contribution made under this section (relating to imposition of tax on unrelated business income of charitable, etc., organizations). Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, the instrument creating the trust meets the following requirements:

(1) Except in the case of a qualified rollover (as defined in subsection (c)(7))—

(A) no contribution will be accepted unless it is in cash; and

(B) contributions will not be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution made under section 1400P (relating to demonstration program to provide matching amounts in renewal communities)),

(3) OTHER RULES TO APPLY.—Rules similar to the rules of paragraphs (4), (5), and (6) of section 408(d) shall apply for purposes of this section.

(e) FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNT.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘family development account’ means a trust created or organized in the United States for the exclusive benefit of a qualified individual or his beneficiaries, but only if the written governing instrument creating the trust meets the following requirements:

(1) Except in the case of a qualified rollover (as defined in subsection (c)(7))—

(A) no contribution will be accepted unless it is in cash; and

(B) contributions will not be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution made under section 1400P (relating to demonstration program to provide matching amounts in renewal communities)),

(2) The requirements of paragraphs (2) through (6) of section 408(a) are met.

(f) QUALIFIED INDIVIDUAL.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘qualified individual’ means, for any taxable year, an individual—

(1) who is a bona fide resident of a renewal community throughout the taxable year; and

(2) to whom a credit was allowed under section 32 for the preceding taxable year.

(g) OTHER DEFINITIONS AND SPECIAL RULES.—
"(1) COMPENSATION.—The term ‘compensation’ means the meaning given such term by section 219(c)(1).

"(2) MARRIED INDIVIDUALS.—The maximum deduction under subsection (a) shall be computed separately for each individual, and this section shall be applied without regard to any community property laws.

"(3) TIME WHEN CONTRIBUTIONS DEEMED MADE.—For purposes of this section, a tax-payer shall be deemed to have made a contribution to a family development account on the last day of the preceding taxable year if the contribution is made on account of such taxable year and is made not later than the time prescribed by law for filing the return for such taxable year (not including extensions thereof).

"(4) EMPLOYER PAYMENTS; CUSTODIAL ACCOUNTS.—Rules similar to the rules of sections 401(d) and 402(h) shall apply for purposes of this section.

"(5) REPORTS.—The trustee of a family development account shall make such reports regarding such account to the Secretary and to the individual for whom the account is maintained with respect to contributions (and the years to which they relate), distributions, and all other matters as the Secretary may require under regulations. The reports required by this paragraph shall be filed at such time and in such manner as the Secretary prescribes in such regulations; and

"(B) shall be furnished to individuals—(i) not later than January 31 of the calendar year to which such reports relate; and

"(2) in such manner as the Secretary prescribes in such regulations.

"(6) TREATMENT OF ACCOUNTS.—Rules similar to the rules of section 408(m) shall apply for purposes of this section.

"(h) PENALTY FOR DISTRIBUTIONS NOT USED FOR QUALIFIED FAMILY DEVELOPMENT EXPENSES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—If any amount is distributed from a family development account and is not used exclusively to pay qualified family development expenses for the holder of the account or the spouse or dependent (as defined in section 152) of such holder, the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year of such distribution shall be increased by the sum of—

"(A) 100 percent of the portion of such amount which is includible in gross income and is attributable to amounts contributed under section 14001 (relating to demonstration program to provide matching amounts in renewal communities); and

"(B) 10 percent of the portion of such amount which is includible in gross income and is not described in subparagraph (A).

For purposes of this subsection, distributions which are includible in gross income shall be treated as attributable to amounts contributed under section 14001 to the extent thereof. For purposes of the preceding sentence, all family development accounts of an individual shall be treated as one account.

"(2) EXCEPTION FOR CERTAIN DISTRIBUTIONS.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to distributions which—

"(A) made on or after the date on which the account holder attains age 59½,

"(B) made to a beneficiary (or the estate of the account holder) on or after the death of the account holder, or

"(C) attributable to the account holder’s being disabled within the meaning of section 22(d)(1).

"(i) TERMINATION.—No deduction shall be allowed under this section for any amount paid to a family development account for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 2007.

"SEC. 1400L. DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM TO PROMOTE MATCHING CONTRIBUTIONS TO FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS IN CERTAIN RENEWAL COMMUNITIES.

"(a) DESIGNATION OF COMMUNITIES.—

"(1) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘FDA matching demonstration area’ means any renewal community under section 1400E which is designated under this section by a community on an Indian reservation, the Secretary of the Interior, or the Administrator of the Small Business Administration; and

"(2) NUMBER OF DESIGNATIONS.—(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall designate not more than five communities as FDA matching demonstration areas.

"(B) MINIMUM DESIGNATION IN RURAL AREAS.—Of the areas designated under subparagraph (A), at least 2 must be areas described in section 1400E(a)(2)(B).

"(C) attributable to the account holder’s

"(D) which the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development designates as an FDA matching demonstration area after consultation with—

"(i) the Secretary of Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, and the Treasury, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, and the Administrator of the Small Business Administration; and

"(ii) in the case of a community on an Indian reservation, the Secretary of the Interior.

"(2) LIMITATIONS.—

"(A) Number of Designations.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘FDA matching demonstration area’ means any renewal community under section 1400E which is designated under this section by a community on an Indian reservation, the Secretary of the Interior, or the Administrator of the Small Business Administration; and

"(B) which the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development designates as an FDA matching demonstration area after consultation with—

"(i) the Secretaries of Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, and the Treasury, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, and the Administrator of the Small Business Administration; and

"(ii) in the case of a community on an Indian reservation, the Secretary of the Interior.

"(D) TIME LIMITATIONS.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall prescribe by regulation no later than 4 months after the date of the enactment of this section, after consultation with the officials described in paragraph (1)(B)— "(E) TERMINATION.—No amount may be deposited under this section for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 2007.

"SEC. 1400M. DESIGNATION OF EARNED INCOME TAX CREDIT PAYMENTS FOR DEPOSIT INTO FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNT.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—With respect to the return of any qualified individual (as defined in section 1400M(f)) for the taxable year of the tax imposed by this chapter, such individual may designate that a specified portion (not less than $1) of any overpayment of tax for such taxable year which is attributable to the earned income tax credit shall be deposited by the Secretary into a family development account of such individual. The designation shall be included as a portion designated under this subsection.

"(b) MANNER AND TIME OF DESIGNATION.—A designation under subsection (a) may be made with respect to an overpayment of tax which is attributable to the earned income tax credit to the extent that such overpayment does not exceed the credit allowed to the taxpayer under section 32 for such taxable year.

"(c) TERMINATION.—This section shall not apply to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 2007.

"PART IV—ADDITIONAL INCENTIVES

"Sec. 14000. Commercial revitalization credit.

"Sec. 1400L. Increase in expensing under section 179.
COMMERCIAL REVITALIZATION CREDIT

(a) General Rule.—For purposes of section 46, except as provided in subsection (e), the commercial revitalization credit for any taxable year is an amount equal to the applicable percentage of the qualified revitalization expenditures with respect to any qualified revitalization building placed in service, or

(b) at the election of the taxpayer, 5 percent for each taxable year in the credit period.

The election under subparagraph (B), once made, shall be irrevocable.

1. Credit Period.—

(A) In General.—The term ‘credit period’ means, with respect to any building, the period of 10 taxable years beginning with the taxable year in which the building is placed in service.

(B) Applicable Rules.—Rules similar to the rules under paragraphs (2) and (4) of section 42 shall apply for purposes of this section.

(C) Qualified Revitalization Buildings and Expenditures.—For purposes of this section—

(1) Qualified Revitalization Building.—

(A) In General.—The term ‘qualified revitalization building’ means any building (and its structural components) if—

(i) the building is located in a renewal community and is placed in service after December 31, 2000;

(ii) a commercial revitalization credit amount is allocated to the building under subsection (c); and

(iii) the building is subject to a qualified allocation plan which is devised for a renewal community by a renewal community business.

(B) Applicable Rules.—Rules similar to the rules under sections 42 and 168 shall apply for purposes of this section.

(2) Commercial Revitalization Credit Amount for Agencies.—

(A) In General.—The aggregate commercial revitalization credit amount which a commercial revitalization credit agency may allocate for any building placed in service in any calendar year is the amount equals the commercial revitalization credit amount (in the case of an amount determined under subsection (b)(1)(B), the present value of such amount as determined under the rules of section 42(b)(2)(C)) allocated to such building under subsection (b) and in the manner and manner as under paragraphs (1) and (7) of section 42(b).

(B) Commercial Revitalization Credit Amount for Agencies.—

(i) Determination.—The aggregate commercial revitalization credit amount which a commercial revitalization credit agency may allocate for any building placed in service in any calendar year is the amount determined under this paragraph for such calendar year.

(ii) State Commercial Revitalization Credit Amount.—The State commercial revitalization credit ceiling applicable to any State—

(A) the amount taken into account under subparagraph (B) for any calendar year after 2000 and before 2008 is $2,000,000 for each renewal community in the State; and

(B) zero for each calendar year thereafter.

(2) Qualified Allocations Plan.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘qualified allocation plan’ means any plan—

(A) which sets forth selection criteria to a reasonable opportunity to communities to which the term ‘commercial revitalization credit agency’ means any agency authorized by a State to carry out this section.

(B) Responsibilities of Commercial Revitalization Credit Agencies.—

(1) Plans for Allocation.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the commercial revitalization credit agency shall not allocate with respect to any building shall be zero unless—

(A) such amount was allocated pursuant to a qualified allocation plan of the commercial revitalization credit agency which is approved (in accordance with rules similar to the rules of section 141(f)(2)(F)(ii) under subparagraph (B) the following new subparagraph:

(B) Revitalization Credits Included.—

(1) RENEWAL COMMUNITIES.—Subsection (h) of section 1400G shall apply for purposes of this section if—

(A) such property was acquired by the taxpayer by the payment of the commercial revitalization credit agency which is a part of or internal to which such agency is part and

(2) CERTAIN RULES TO APPLY.—The rules of subsections (a)(2) and (b) of section 1397C shall apply for purposes of this section.

(2) EXTENSION OF EXPANDING ENVIRONMENTAL REMEDIATION COSTS TO RENEWAL COMMUNITIES.

(a) Extension.—Paragraph (2) of section 1396(c) (defining targeted area) is amended by substituting for the term ‘qualified allocation plan’ which term shall include a renewal community (as defined in section 1400E) for purposes of this section.
a renewal community, as defined in section 1400E).

SEC. 63. EXTENSION OF WORK OPPORTUNITY TAX CREDIT FOR RENEWAL COMMUNITIES—

(a) EXTENSION—Subsection (c) of section 51 (relating to termination) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(5) EXTENSION OF CREDIT FOR RENEWAL COMMUNITIES—"(A) IN GENERAL.—In the case of an individual who begins work for the employer after the last day of the 1-year period with respect to any individual, qualified second-year wages for such year shall be equal to—"(i) 15 percent of the qualified first-year wages for such year; and
"(ii) 30 percent of the qualified second-year wages for such year;

(b) QUALIFIED FIRST- AND SECOND-YEAR WAGES—For purposes of subparagraph (A)—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘qualified wages’ means, with respect to each 1-year period referred to in clause (i) or (ii), as the case may be, the wages paid or incurred by the employer during the taxable year to any individual but only if—

"(A) the employer is engaged in a trade or business in a renewal community throughout such 1-year period;
"(B) the principal place of abode of such individual is in such renewal community throughout such 1-year period; and
"(C) substantially all of the services which such individual performs for the employer during such 1-year period are performed in such renewal community;

"(ii) QUALIFIED FIRST-YEAR WAGES.—The term ‘qualified first-year wages’ means, with respect to any individual, qualified wages attributable to service rendered during the taxable year beginning with the day the individual begins work for the employer.

"(iii) QUALIFIED SECOND-YEAR WAGES.—The term ‘qualified second-year wages’ means, with respect to any individual, qualified wages attributable to service rendered during the 1-year period beginning on the day after the last day of the 1-year period with respect to such individual determined under clause (ii)."

(b) CONGRUENT TREATMENT OF RENEWAL COMMUNITIES AND ENTERPRISE ZONES FOR PURPOSES OF YOUTH RESIDENCE REQUIREMENTS—

(1) HIGH-RISK YOUTH—Subparagraphs (A)(i) and (B) of section 51(d)(5) are each amended by striking ‘‘empowerment zone or enterprise community’’ and inserting ‘‘empowerment zone, enterprise community, or renewal community’’.

(2) QUALIFIED SUMMER YOUTH EMPLOYEE.—

Clause (iv) of section 51(d)(7)(A) is amended by striking ‘‘empowerment zone or enterprise community’’ and inserting ‘‘empowerment zone, enterprise community, or renewal community’’.

(c) BRADYNS—Paragraphs (5)(B) and (7)(C) of section 67 are each amended by inserting ‘‘or community’’ in the heading after ‘‘ZONE’’.

SEC. 64. CONFORMING AND CLERICAL AMENDMENTS—

(a) DEDUCTION FOR CONTRIBUTIONS TO FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS ALLOWABLE WHETHER OR NOT TAXPAYER ITEMIZES.—Subsection (a) of section 62 (relating to adjusted gross income defined) is amended by inserting after paragraph (17) the following new paragraph:

"(18) FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS.—The deduction allowed by section 1400A(h)(1)(A).

(b) TAX ON EXCESS CONTRIBUTIONS.—

(1) TAX IMPOSED.—Subsection (a) of section 4973 is amended by striking paragraph (3), adding ‘‘or’’ at the end of paragraph (4), and inserting after paragraph (4) the following new paragraph:

"(5) a family development account (within the meaning of section 1400H(e))."

(2) EXCESS CONTRIBUTIONS.—Section 4973 is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(g) FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS.—For purposes of this section, in the case of a family development account, the term ‘excess contributions’ means—

"(1) the excess (if any) of—

"(A) the amount contributed for the taxable year to the account (other than a qualified rollover in 1400H(c)(7), or a contribution under section 1400I), over
"(B) the amount allowable as a deduction under section 1400H for such contributions; and

"(2) the amount determined under this subsection for the preceding taxable year reduced by the sum of—

"(A) the distributions out of the account for the taxable year which were included in the gross income of the payee under section 1400H(b)(1);
"(B) the distributions out of the account for the taxable year to which rules similar to the rules of section 408(d)(5) apply by reason of section 1400H(d)(3); and

"(C) the excess (if any) of the maximum amount allowable as a deduction under section 1400H for the taxable year over the amount contributed for the taxable year (other than a contribution under section 1400I).

For purposes of this subsection, any contribution which is distributed out of the account to which rules similar to the rules of section 408(d)(4) apply by reason of section 1400H(d)(3) shall be treated as an amount not contributed."

(c) TAX ON PROHIBITED TRANSACTIONS.—

Section 4975 is amended—

(1) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(6) SPECIAL RULE FOR FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS.—An individual for whose benefit a family development account is established and any contributor to such account shall be exempt from the tax imposed by this section with respect to any transaction concerning such account (which would otherwise be taxable under this section) if, at the end of such transaction, the account ceases to be a family development account by reason of the application of section 14000(d)(2) to such account; and

(2) by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of subparagraph (E), by redesignating subparagraph (F) as subparagraph (G), and by inserting after subparagraph (E) the following new paragraph:

"(F) a family development account described in section 1400H(e), or”.

(d) INFORMATION RELATING TO CERTAIN TAXPAYER ITEMS AND ANNEXEES.—Subsection (c) of section 6047 is amended—

(1) by inserting ‘‘or section 1400H after ‘‘section 219’’; and

(2) by inserting ‘‘of any family development account described in section 1400H(e), after ‘‘section 408(a).’’

(e) INSPECTION OF APPLICATIONS FOR TAX EXEMPTION.—Clause (1) of section 6104(a)(1)(B) is amended by inserting ‘‘a family development account described in section 1400H(e), after ‘‘section 408(a).’’

(f) EXTENSION OF CREDIT FOR RENEWAL COMMUNITIES.—Paragraph (2) of section 663(a) is amended by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of subparagraph (C), by striking the period and inserting ‘‘;’’, and by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(E) section 1400H(c)(6) (relating to family development accounts)."

(g) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS REGARDING COMMERCIAL REVITALIZATION CREDIT.—

(1) Section 46 (relating to investment credits) is amended by adding at the end of paragraph (2), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (3) and inserting ‘‘and’’, and by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(4) the commercial revitalization credit provided under section 1400K.”

(2) Section 48(d) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(9) NO CARRYBACK OF SECTION 1400K CREDIT BEFORE DATE OF ENACTMENT.—No portion of the unused business credit for any taxable year which is attributable to any commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K may be carried back to a taxable year ending before the date of the enactment of section 1400K.

(3) Subparagraph (B) of section 48(a)(2) is amended by inserting ‘‘or commercial revitalization after ‘‘rehabilitation’’ each place it appears in the text and heading.

(4) Subparagraph (C) of section 49(a)(1) is amended by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of clause (ii), by striking the period at the end of clause (ii) and inserting ‘‘; and’’, and by adding at the end the following new clause:

"(iv) the portion of the basis of any qualified revitalization building attributable to commercial revitalization building (respectively) after ‘‘qualified rehabilitated building’’.

(5) Paragraph (2) of section 50(a) is amended by inserting ‘‘or 1400K(d)(2)’’ after ‘‘section 47(d)’’ each place it appears.

(6) Paragraph (A) of section 50(a)(2) is amended by inserting ‘‘or commercial revitalization building (respectively) after ‘‘qualified rehabilitated building’’.

(7) Subparagraph (B) of section 50(a)(2) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: ‘‘A similar rule shall apply for purposes of section 1400K.’’

SEC. 65. INSPECTION OF APPLICATIONS FOR TAX EXEMPTION.—Clause (1) of section 50(a)(2) is amended by inserting ‘‘or qualified revitalization expenditures (as defined in section 1400K) to the extent of the amount attributable to qualified revitalization expenditures (as defined in section 1400K).’’

(9) The last sentence of section 50(b)(3) is amended by striking ‘‘section 1400K’’ and inserting ‘‘section 1400K(e)’’.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

July 29, 1999

18564
Subsection (C) of section 501(c)(3) is amended—

(A) by inserting—

Subchapter III. Renewable Communities.

SEC. 12. DEFINITIONS.

(3) Food Aid and Homeless Shelters.—

(A) in general.—An organization meets the requirements of this paragraph only if the appropriate State authority reasonably expects that the predominant activity of such organization will be the provision of direct services to individuals and families whose annual incomes generally do not exceed 185 percent of the official poverty line (as defined by the Office of Management and Budget) in order to prevent or alleviate poverty among such individuals and families.

SEC. 13. REQUIREMENTS.

(1) Definition.—

(a) Charity Tax Credit.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term "charity" includes—

(i) which is allowable only to an individual for any taxable year; and

(ii) which does not impose an income tax, a comparable tax, or a similar tax imposed with respect to a cash contribution to a qualified charity; and

(b) Minimum Expense Requirement.—

(1) in general.—In general, a contribution to a qualified charity if the contribution organization shall be treated as a payment of tax credit, as determined under subsection (b).

(2) which annually reports the information under subsection (a) during the fiscal year, that is attributable to the charity tax credit, as determined under subsection (b); and

(3) of the phase-in of the applicable dollar amount equal to the excess (if any) of—

(1) the amount of the revenue loss of a State during the fiscal year that is attributable to the charity tax credit, as determined under subsection (b); and

(2) the aggregate amount used by the State under subsection (a) during the fiscal year, shall be treated as an amount used during the fiscal year by the State to carry out a State program funded under part A of such title.

(d) Provisions of Law.—The provisions of law specified in this subsection are the following:

(1) Paragraphs (1) through (4) of section 403(a) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 603(a)).

(2) The Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 9885b-9885q) and section 418 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 618).

(4) The Community Services Block Grant Act (42 U.S.C. 9901-9912).

(7) Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.).

SEC. 14. MINIMUM EXPENSE REQUIREMENT.

(1) in general.—In general, a contribution to a qualified charity if the contribution organization shall be treated as a payment of tax credit, as determined under subsection (b).

(2) which annually reports the information under subsection (a) during the fiscal year, that is attributable to the charity tax credit, as determined under subsection (b); and

(3) of the phase-in of the applicable dollar amount equal to the excess (if any) of—

(1) the amount of the revenue loss of a State during the fiscal year that is attributable to the charity tax credit, as determined under subsection (b); and

(2) the aggregate amount used by the State under subsection (a) during the fiscal year, shall be treated as an amount used during the fiscal year by the State to carry out a State program funded under part A of such title.

(d) Provisions of Law.—The provisions of law specified in this subsection are the following:

(1) Paragraphs (1) through (4) of section 403(a) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 603(a)).

(2) The Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 9885b-9885q) and section 418 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 618).

(4) The Community Services Block Grant Act (42 U.S.C. 9901-9912).

(7) Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.).

SEC. 15. AUTHORITY TO USE CERTAIN FEDERAL GRANT FUNDS FOR STATE CHARTER DEVELOPMENT EXPENSES.

(a) in general.—Notwithstanding any provision of, or amendment made by, sections 1102 through 1114 and section 1116 of this Act, such sections shall only take effect for tax years beginning after December 31, 2006.

(b) additional offset.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall adjust the effective dates of the applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 resulting from the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 16. EXCLUSION OF EFFECTS OF THIS ACT FROM PAYGO SCORECARD.

Upon the enactment of this Act, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall not make any estimates of changes in receipts under section 603(a) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 resulting from the enactment of this Act.
(IV) any expense for a legal service provided on behalf of any individual described in paragraph (3); and
(V) any expense which consists of a payment to an affiliate of the organization.
(5) REQUIREMENT.—The information required to be furnished under this paragraph—
(A) each category of services (including food, shelter, education, substance abuse, job training, or otherwise) which constitutes the predominant activities of the organization; and
(B) the percentages determined by dividing the categories of the organization’s expenses for the year by the total expenses of the organization for the year, including—
(i) program services;
(ii) management expenses;
(iii) general expenses;
(iv) fundraising expenses; and
(v) payments to affiliates.
(6) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR Solicitation ORGANIZATIONS.—The requirements of this paragraph are met if the organization—
(A)子里 statements accounting for revenues and expenses; and
(B) makes available to the public administrative and fundraising costs and information required to file a return under section 6033 of the United States Code and the amount of such funds.
(7) RECOMMENDATIONS.—It is recommended, but not required, that—
(A) the definition of “qualified charity” be further limited under State law to an organization—
(i) which has been operating for at least 1 year or is controlled by, or operated under the auspices of, an organization which has been operating for at least 1 year; and
(ii) with expenses for the purpose of influencing legislation, litigation on behalf of any individual described in paragraph (3), voter registration, political organizing, public policy advocacy, or public policy research in an amount not in excess of 5 percent of the total expenses of the organization;
(B) made in subsection (a)(2), the amount of the charity tax credit be equal to at least 50 percent and not more than 90 percent of the amount of the individual’s cash contributions to a qualified charity; and
(C) contributions made not later than the time prescribed by law for filing the return of the State income tax for a taxable year (not including extensions thereof) be treated as made (at the taxpayer’s election) on the last day of such year.
(8) SPECIAL RULE FOR STATES REQUIRING TAX UNIFORMITY.—In the case of a State—
(A) which has a constitutional requirement of tax uniformity; and
(B) which, as of December 31, 1997, imposed a tax on personal income with—
(i) a single flat rate applicable to all earned and unearned income (except insofar as any amount is not taxed pursuant to tax forgiveness provisions); and
(ii) no generally available exemptions or deductions to individuals, the requirement of subsection (a)(2) shall be treated as met if the amount of the credit is limited to a uniform percentage (but not greater than 25 percent) of State personal income tax liability (determined without regard to credits).
(b) Coordination with Federal Charitable Contribution Deduction.—The amount of the deduction allowed under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 for contributions which are taken into account in determining any charity tax credit shall be reduced by the amount of such credit which is allowed.
(c) State.—For purposes of this subtitle, the term “State” means each of the several States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, the Northern Mariana Islands, or any other territory or possession of the United States.

SEC. 13. STUDY AND REPORT.

(a) STUDY.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct a study of the effects of the charity tax credit under this subtitle, including—
(1) the types of organizations which receive contributions during the first year to which the credit applies; and
(2) the types of services provided to the poor by such organizations.
(b) Report.—The Comptroller General shall report to Congress the results of such study, including—
(1) the geographical distribution of funding from charity tax credit contributions, and an analysis of the information provided on the annual returns required under section 6033 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 with respect to such contributions; and
(2) the broad categories of services provided to the poor (including food, shelter, education, substance abuse, job training, or otherwise) which are not otherwise provided by Federal welfare program funds without the enactment of the reductions in the programs permitted by this legislation; and
(3) any recommendations for legislative changes.

SEC. 14. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This subtitle shall take effect on January 1, 2000.

Subtitle C—Revenue Offset

SEC. 21. REDUCTION OF EARNED INCOME CREDIT FOR INDIVIDUALS WITHOUT CHILDREN.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The table in subparagraph (A) of section 32(b)(1) (relating to percentages) is amended by striking the item relating to no qualifying children and inserting the following:

“No qualifying children ...... 3.825 7.65.”
(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This amendment shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2001.

AMENDMENT No. 1477

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

TITLE I—ASSISTANCE TO STATES IN PROVIDING CHARITY TAX CREDITS AND REVENUE OFFSET

Subtitle A—Assistance to States in Providing Charity Tax Credits

SEC. 90. AUTHORITY TO USE CERTAIN FEDERAL GRANT FUNDS FOR STATE CHARITY TAX CREDIT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if there is in effect under State law a charity tax credit, then the State may use for any purpose not more than 50 percent of each total amount paid to the State during the fiscal year under each of the provisions of law specified in subsection (d).
(b) LIMITATION.—The aggregate amount a State may use under subsection (a) during a fiscal year shall not exceed an amount equal to 100 percent of the revenue loss of the State during the fiscal year that would be attributable to the charity tax credit, as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury without regard to any such revenue loss occurring in the previous fiscal year.

SEC. 91. CREDIT AMOUNTS TREATED AS STATE PAYMENT FOR TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEedy FAMILIES.—For purposes of this subtitle, the term “charity tax credit” means a nonrefundable credit against State income tax and includes—
(1) the amount of the revenue loss of a State (not to exceed 100 percent) during a fiscal year that is attributable to the charity tax credit, as determined under subsection (b); and
(2) the aggregate amount used by the State under subsection (a) during the fiscal year.

(b) DEFINITIONS.—The provisions of law specified in this subsection are the following:
(1) Paragraphs (1) through (4) of section 49(a) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 609(a)).
(7) Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 5301 et seq.).
(B) COLLECTION ORGANIZATION.—The term "collection organization" means an organization described in section 301(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and exempt from tax under section 501(a) of such Code—

(i) which solicits and collects gifts and grants, or any agreement are distributed to qualified charities described in paragraph (1); and

(ii) which distributes to qualified charities described in paragraph (1) at least 90 percent of the gifts and grants received that are designated for such qualified charities; and

(iii) which meets the requirements of paragraph (6).

(3) CHARITY MUST PRIMARILY ASSIST POOR INDIVIDUALS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—An organization meets the requirements of this paragraph only if the appropriate State authority reasonably expects that the predominant activity of such organization will be the provision of direct services within the United States to individuals and families whose annual incomes generally do not exceed 185 percent of the official poverty line (as defined by the Office of Management and Budget) in order to prevent or alleviate poverty among such individuals and families.

(B) NO RECORDKEEPING IN CERTAIN CASES.—An organization shall not be required to establish or maintain records with respect to the incomes of individuals and families for purposes of subparagraph (A) if such individuals or families are members of groups which are generally recognized as including substantially only individuals and families described in subparagraph (A).

(C) FOOD AND HOMELESS SHELTERS.—Except as otherwise provided by the appropriate State authority, for purposes of subparagraph (A), services to individuals in the form of—

(i) donations of food or meals; or

(ii) temporary shelter to homeless individuals, shall be treated as provided to individuals described in subparagraph (A) if the location and operation of such services are such that the service provider may reasonably conclude that the beneficiaries of such services are predominantly individuals described in subparagraph (A).

(4) MINIMUM EXPENSE REQUIREMENT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—An organization meets the requirements of this paragraph only if the appropriate State authority reasonably expects that the annual poverty program expense of such organization will not be less than 75 percent of the annual aggregate expenses of such organization.

(B) POVERTY PROGRAM EXPENSE.—For purposes of subparagraph (A)—

(i) any management or general expense; and

(ii) any expense for the purpose of influencing legislation (as defined in section 4911(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986); and

(iii) any expense for the purpose of fundraising;

(iv) any expense for a legal service provided on behalf of any individual described in paragraph (3); and

(V) any expense which consists of a payment to an affiliate of the organization.

(5) RECORDKEEPING REQUIREMENT.—The information required to be furnished under this paragraph is—

(A) each category of services (including food, shelter, education, job training, or otherwise) which constitutes the predominant activity of the organization; and

(B) the percentages determined by dividing the categories of the organization’s expenses for the year by the total expenses of the organization for the year, including—

(i) program services;

(ii) management expenses;

(iii) general expenses;

(iv) fundraising expenses; and

(v) payroll.

(6) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR SOLICITATION ORGANIZATIONS.—The requirements of this paragraph are met if the organization—

(A) maintains separate accounting for revenues and expenses; and

(B) makes available to the public administrative and fundraising costs and information regarding any organization receiving funds from the organization and the amount of such funds.

(7) RECOMMENDATIONS.—It is recommended, but not required, that—

(A) the definition of ‘qualified charity’ be further limited under State law to an organization—

(i) which has been operating for at least 1 year or is controlled by, or operated under the auspices of, an organization which has been operating for at least 1 year; and

(ii) with expenses for the purpose of influencing legislation, litigation on behalf of any individual described in paragraph (3), voter registration, political organizing, public policy advocacy, or public policy research, in an amount not in excess of 5 percent of the total expenses of the organization;

(B) except as provided in subsection (a)(2), the amount of the charity tax credit will be equal to at least 50 percent and not more than 90 percent of the amount of the individual’s cash contribution to a qualified charity; and

(C) contributions made not later than the time prescribed by law for filing the return of the State income tax for a taxable year (not including extensions thereof) be treated as made (at the taxpayer’s election) on the last day of such year.

(8) SPECIAL RULE FOR STATES REQUIRING TAX UNIFORMITY.—In the case of a State—

(A) which has constitutional requirement of tax uniformity; and

(B) which, as of December 31, 1997, imposed a tax on personal income with—

(i) a single flat rate applicable to all earned and unearned income (except for amounts which are not taxed pursuant to tax forgiveness provisions); and

(ii) no generally available exemptions or deductions to individuals, the requirement of subsection (a)(2) shall be treated as met if the amount of the credit is limited to a uniform percentage (but not greater than 25 percent) of State personal income tax liability (determined without regard to credits).

(9) COORDINATION WITH FEDERAL CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTION DEDUCTION.—The amount of the deduction allowed under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 for contributions which are considered as donations of charitable contributions shall be reduced by the amount of any charity tax credit which is allowed.

(c) STATE.—For purposes of this subtitle, the term “State” means each of the several States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, any other territory or possession of the United States.
“(1) the Secretaries of Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, and the Treasury; the Director of the Office of Management and Budget; and the Administrator of the Small Business Administration; and “(ii) in the case of an area on an Indian reservation, the Secretary of the Interior.
“(2) Numerical Designations.—
“(A) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development may designate not more than 100 nominated areas as renewal communities.
“(B) Minimum Designation in Rural Areas.—If an area designated under paragraph (1), at least 20 percent must be areas—
“(i) which are within a local government jurisdiction or jurisdictions with a population of the Office of Management and Budget; and “(B) the boundary of the area is continuous in such an area.
“(2) Areas Designated Based on Degree of Poverty, Etc.—
“(A) in General.—Except as otherwise provided, all nominated areas designated as renewal communities under this subsection shall be those nominated areas with the highest average ranking with respect to the criteria described in subparagraphs (B), (C), and (D) of subsection (c)(3).
“(B) Minimum Designation in Rural Areas.—If an area meets the requirements of paragraph (1) and is designed to reduce the various burdens borne by employers or employees in such area.
“(C) Priority for Empowerment Zones and Enterprise Communities with Respect to First Half of Designations.—With respect to the first 50 percent of the nominations made under section (a)(1)(A), the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development determines that the course of action described in subsection (d)(2) with respect to such area is inadequate.
“(C) Publication of Regulations.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall prescribe by regulation no later than 4 months after the date of the enactment of this subsection.
“(D) Required State and Local Commitments.—
“(1) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall take into account, in selecting nominated areas for designation as renewal communities, the economic conditions in the area during the period beginning on the date of the enactment and ending on the earliest of—
“(A) to nominate such area for designation as a renewal community;
“(B) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(C) the poverty rate for each population census tract within the nominated area is at least 40 percent;
“(D) in the case of an urban area, at least 70 percent of the households living in the area have incomes below 80 percent of the median income of households within the jurisdiction of the local government.
“(3) Limitation on Designations.—
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C) during the period beginning on the date of the designation and ending on the date of this Act, the area shall be ranked within each such criterion as determined by the Secretary of the Interior.
“(D) in the case of an area on an Indian reservation, the reservation governing body shall be treated as being both the State and local governments with respect to such area.
“(E) the area is located in a county which has a population, of at least—
“(i) 4,000 if any portion of such area (other than a rural area described in subsection (a)(2)(B)(i)) is located within a metropolitan statistical area (within the meaning of section 14(c)(2)(B)); or “(ii) 1,000 in any other case; or
“(F) the poverty rate for each population census tract within the nominated area is at least 40 percent;
“(G) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(H) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(I) in General.—Any designation of an area as a renewal community shall remain in effect during the period beginning on the date of the designation and ending on the earliest of—
“(A) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(B) the area is located in a county which has a population, of at least—
“(i) 4,000 if any portion of such area (other than a rural area described in subsection (a)(2)(B)(i)) is located within a metropolitan statistical area (within the meaning of section 14(c)(2)(B)); or “(ii) 1,000 in any other case; or
“(C) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(D) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C)(I) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(II) areas which are empowerment zones or enterprise communities (and are otherwise eligible for designation in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph) that—
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C)(I) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(II) areas which are empowerment zones or enterprise communities (and are otherwise eligible for designation in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph) that—
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C)(I) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(II) areas which are empowerment zones or enterprise communities (and are otherwise eligible for designation in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph) that—
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C)(I) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(II) areas which are empowerment zones or enterprise communities (and are otherwise eligible for designation in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph) that—
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C)(I) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(II) areas which are empowerment zones or enterprise communities (and are otherwise eligible for designation in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph) that—
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C)(I) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(II) areas which are empowerment zones or enterprise communities (and are otherwise eligible for designation in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph) that—
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C)(I) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(II) areas which are empowerment zones or enterprise communities (and are otherwise eligible for designation in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph) that—
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
“(C) in General.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, after consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, to be rural areas.
“(A) the area is one of pervasive poverty, unemployment, and general distress;
“(B) the area exceeds such criterion, with the area which exceeds such criterion by the greatest amount given the highest ranking.
entities to provide jobs and job training for, and technical, financial, or other assistance to, employers, employees, and residents from the renewal community.

“(vi) State or local income tax benefits for fees paid for services performed by a non-governmental entity which are formerly performed by a governmental entity.

“(vii) The gift (or sale at below fair market value) of surplus real property (such as land, homes, and commercial or industrial structures) in the renewal community to neighborhood organizations, community development corporations, or private companies.

“(B) RECOGNITION OF PAST EFFORTS.—For purposes of this section, in evaluating the course of action agreed to by any State or local government, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall take into account the past efforts of such State or local government in reducing the various burdens borne by employers and employees in the area involved.

“(3) ECONOMIC GROWTH PROMOTION REQUIREMENTS.—The economic growth promotion requirements of this paragraph are met with respect to a nominated area if the local government and the State in which such area is located certify in writing that such government and the State, respectively, have repealed or otherwise will not enforce within the area, if such area is designated as a renewal community—

“(A) licensing requirements for occupations that do not ordinarily require a professional degree;

“(B) zoning restrictions on home-based businesses which do not create a public nuisance;

“(C) permit requirements for street vendors who do not create a public nuisance;

“(D) zoning or other restrictions that impede the formation of schools or child care centers; and

“(E) franchises or other restrictions on competition for businesses providing public services, including but not limited to taxis, jinneys, cable television, or trash haulers, except to the extent that such regulation of businesses and occupations is necessary for and well-tailored to the protection of health and safety.

“(4) COORDINATION WITH TREATMENT OF EMPOWERMENT ACCOUNTS OF OTHERS.—The amount so paid is designated for purposes of this section—

“(i) property which is substantially improved (within the meaning of section 1390B(b)(4)(B)(ii)) by the taxpayer before January 1, 2008, and

“(ii) any land on which such property is located.

“(c) CERTAIN RULES TO APPLY.—Rules similar to the rules of paragraphs (b)(5), (b)(6), and (7) of subsection (b), and subsections (e), (f), and (g), of section 1401B shall apply for purposes of this section.

“SEC. 1400G. RENEWAL COMMUNITY BUSINESS ACCOUNTS.

“(a) ALLOWANCE OF DEDUCTION.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—There shall be allowed as a deduction—

“(A) in the case of a qualified individual, the amount paid in cash for the taxable year by such individual to any family development account; and

“(B) in the case of any person other than a qualified individual, the amount paid in cash for the taxable year by such person to any family development account for the benefit of a qualified individual but only if the amount so paid is designated for purposes of this section by such individual.

“No deduction shall be allowed under this paragraph for any amount deposited in a family development account established under section 1400I (relating to demonstration program to provide matching contributions to family development accounts in certain renewal communities).

“(b) LIMITATION.—

“(1) A rule similar to the rule of paragraph (2)(B) shall apply for purposes of this paragraph.

“(2) QUALIFIED COMMUNITY BUSINESS PROPERTY.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘qualified community business property’ means tangible property—

“(i) such property was acquired by the taxpayer before January 1, 2008, within the meaning of section 1399(d)(2) after December 31, 2000, and before January 1, 2008; and

“(ii) such property was in a renewal community business of the taxpayer before January 1, 2008; and

“(B) REDEMPTIONS.—A rule similar to the rule of section 1397B relating to the treatment of property which is substantially improved by the taxpayer before January 1, 2008, shall apply for purposes of this paragraph.

“(C) A deduction may be allowed for any amount deposited in a family development account which is designated for purposes of this paragraph.
The amount of qualified higher education expenses (including a Roth IRA) for any person by reason of a payment to an account established or maintained by another individual for the benefit of a qualified individual or his spouse or dependent (as defined in section 152) shall be treated as attributable to amounts contributed under this section for any amount paid during the taxable year, not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, for medical care (as defined in section 213(d)) of the taxpayer, his spouse, or his dependent (as defined in section 152).

(7) QUALIFIED ROLLOVERS.—The term ‘qualified rollover’ means any amount paid from a qualified plan, including capital, plant, equipment, working capital, and inventory expenses.

(8) QUALIFIED BUSINESS.—The term ‘qualified business’ means any business that does not contravene any law.

(9) QUALIFIED PLAN.—The term ‘qualified plan’ means a business plan which meets such requirements as the Secretary may specify.

(10) QUALIFIED MEDICAL EXPENSES.—The term ‘qualified medical expenses’ means any of the following:

(A) Medical care.

(B) Medical insurance.

(C) Medical supplies.

(D) Medical transportation.

(E) Other medical expenses.

(11) QUALIFIED ROLLOVERS.—The term ‘qualified rollover’ means any amount paid from a qualified plan to another qualified plan established or maintained by another individual for the benefit of a qualified individual or his spouse or dependent (as defined in section 152).

(12) QUALIFIED TAX-FREE ACCOUNTS.—The term ‘qualified tax-free account’ means an area educational plan established by the Secretary in the United States for the exclusive benefit of a qualified individual or his beneficiaries, but only if the written governing instrument creating the trust meets the following requirements:

(A) If the trust is subject to the taxes imposed by this chapter for the taxable year of such organization, the trust shall be deemed to have made a contribution to the account for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(B) The contributions will not be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(C) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(D) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(E) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(F) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(G) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(H) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(I) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(J) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(K) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(L) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(M) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(N) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(O) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(P) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(Q) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(R) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(S) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(T) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(U) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(V) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(W) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(X) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(Y) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).

(Z) The contributions shall be accepted for the taxable year in excess of $3,000 (determined without regard to any contribution to the account for the preceding taxable year).
paid to a family development account for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 2007.

“SEC. 1400L. DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM TO PROVIDE MATCHING CONTRIBUTIONS TO FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS IN CERTAIN RENEWAL COMMUNITIES.

“(a) Designation.—

“(1) Definitions.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘FDA matching demonstration area’ means any renewal community—

“(i) which is nominated under this section by each of the local governments and States which nominated such community for designation as a renewal community under section 1400E(a)(1)(A); and

“(ii) which the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development designates as an FDA matching demonstration area after consultation with—

“(I) the Secretaries of Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, and the Treasury, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, and the Administrator of the Small Business Administration; and

“(II) in the case of a community on an Indian reservation, the Secretary of the Interior.

“(2) Number of Designations.—

“(A) In general.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development may designate not more than 5 communities as FDA matching demonstration areas.

“(B) Minimum designation in rural areas.—Of the areas designated under paragraph (A), at least 2 must be areas described in section 1400E(a)(2)(B).

“(3) Limitations on Designations.—

“(A) Regulations.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall prescribe by regulation no later than 4 months after the date of the enactment of this section, after consultation with the officials described in paragraph (1)(B)—

“(i) the procedures for nominating a renewal community under paragraph (1)(A) (including procedures for coordinating such nomination with the nomination of an area for designation as a renewal community under section 1400E); and

“(ii) the manner in which nominated renewal communities will be evaluated for purposes of this section.

“(B) Time limitations.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development may designate renewal communities as FDA matching demonstration areas only during the 24-month period beginning on the first day of the first month following the month in which the regulations described in subparagraph (A) are prescribed.

“(4) Designation based on degree of poverty, etc.—The rules of section 1400E(a)(3) shall apply for purposes of designations of FDA matching demonstration areas under this section.

“(5) Find for which designation is in effect.—Any designation of a renewal community as an FDA matching demonstration area shall remain in effect during the period beginning on the date of such designation and ending on the date on which such area ceases to be a renewal community.

“(c) Contributions to family development accounts.—

“(1) In General.—Not less than once each taxable year, the Secretary shall deposit (to the extent provided in appropriation Acts) into a family development account of each qualified individual (as defined in section 1400H(c))—

“(A) who is a resident throughout the taxable year of an FDA matching demonstration area; and

“(B) who requests (in such form and manner as the Secretary prescribes) such deposit for the taxable year.

“an amount equal to the sum of the amounts deposited into all of the family development accounts of such individual during such taxable year (determined without regard to any amount contributed under this section).

“(2) Limitations.—

“(A) Annual limit.—The Secretary shall not deposit more than $5000 under paragraph (1) with respect to any individual for any taxable year.

“(B) Aggregate limit.—The Secretary shall not deposit more than $15,000 under paragraph (1) with respect to any individual for all taxable years.

“(3) Exclusion from income.—Except as provided in section 1400G(b) the Secretary shall so deposit such income shall not include any amount deposited into a family development account under paragraph (1).

“(d) Notice of program.—The Secretary shall provide appropriate notice to residents of FDA matching demonstration areas of the availability of the benefits under this section.

“(e) Termination.—No amount may be deposited under this section for any taxable year after December 31, 2007.

“(f) Credit period.—

“(A) In general.—The term ‘credit period’ means, with respect to any building, the period of 10 taxable years beginning with the taxable year in which the building is placed in service.

“(B) Applicable rules.—Rules similar to the rules under paragraphs (2) and (4) of section 1400G(f) shall apply.

“SEC. 1400J. DESIGNATION OF EARNED INCOME TAX CREDIT PAYMENTS FOR DEPOSIT INTO FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNT.

“(a) In general.—With respect to the return of any qualified individual (as defined in section 1400H(f)) for the taxable year of the tax imposed by this chapter, such individual may designate that a specified portion (not less than $1) of any overpayment of tax for such taxable year which is attributable to the earned income tax credit shall be deposited by the Secretary into a family development account of such individual.

“(b) Manner and time of designations.—A designations under subsection (a) may be made, with respect to any taxable year, at any time before January 31 of the following taxable year.

“(1) at the time of filing the return of the tax imposed by this chapter for such taxable year, or

“(2) at any other time after the time of filing the return of the tax imposed by this chapter for such taxable year specified in regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

“Such designation shall be made in such manner as the Secretary prescribes by regulations.

“(c) Portion attributable to earned income tax credit.—For purposes of subsection (a), an overpayment for any taxable year shall be treated as attributable to the earned income tax credit to the extent that such overpayment does not exceed the credit allowed to the taxpayer under section 32 for such taxable year.

“(d) Overpayments treated as refund.—For purposes of this title, any portion of an overpayment of tax designated under subsection (a) shall be treated as being refunded to the taxpayer as of the last date prescribed for filing the return of the tax imposed by this chapter (determined without regard to extensions) or, if later, the date the return is filed.

“(e) Termination.—This section shall not apply to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 2007.

“PART IV—ADDITIONAL INCENTIVES

“Sec. 1400K. Commercial revitalization credit.

“(a) General rule.—For purposes of section 46, except as provided in subsection (e), the commercial revitalization credit for any taxable year is an amount equal to the applicable percentage of the qualified revitalization expenditures with respect to any qualified revitalization building.

“(b) Applicable percentage.—For purposes of this section—

“(1) In general.—The term ‘applicable percentage’ means—

“(A) 20 percent for the taxable year in which a qualified revitalization building is placed in service, or

“(B) at the election of the taxpayer, 5 percent for each taxable year in the credit period.

“The election under subparagraph (B), once made, shall be irrevocable.

“(2) Credit period.—

“(A) In general.—The term ‘credit period’ means, with respect to any building, the period of 10 taxable years beginning with the taxable year in which the building is placed in service.

“(B) Applicable rules.—Rules similar to the rules under paragraphs (2) and (4) of section 47(b) shall apply.

“Sec. 1400L. COMMERCIAL REVITALIZATION CREDIT.

“(a) General rule.—For purposes of section 46, except as provided in subsection (e), the commercial revitalization credit for any taxable year is an amount equal to the applicable percentage of the qualified revitalization expenditures with respect to any qualified revitalization building.

“(b) Applicable percentage.—For purposes of this section—

“(1) In general.—The term ‘applicable percentage’ means—

“(A) 20 percent for the taxable year in which a qualified revitalization building is placed in service, or

“(B) at the election of the taxpayer, 5 percent for each taxable year in the credit period.

“The election under subparagraph (B), once made, shall be irrevocable.

“(2) Credit period.—

“(A) In general.—The term ‘credit period’ means, with respect to any building, the period of 10 taxable years beginning with the taxable year in which the building is placed in service.

“(B) Applicable rules.—Rules similar to the rules under paragraphs (2) and (4) of section 47(b) shall apply.

“Sec. 1400L. COMMERCIAL REVITALIZATION CREDIT.

“(a) General rule.—For purposes of section 46, except as provided in subsection (e), the commercial revitalization credit for any taxable year is an amount equal to the applicable percentage of the qualified revitalization expenditures with respect to any qualified revitalization building.

“(b) Applicable percentage.—For purposes of this section—

“(1) In general.—The term ‘applicable percentage’ means—

“(A) 20 percent for the taxable year in which a qualified revitalization building is placed in service, or

“(B) at the election of the taxpayer, 5 percent for each taxable year in the credit period.

“The election under subparagraph (B), once made, shall be irrevocable.

“(2) Credit period.—

“(A) In general.—The term ‘credit period’ means, with respect to any building, the period of 10 taxable years beginning with the taxable year in which the building is placed in service.

“(B) Applicable rules.—Rules similar to the rules under paragraphs (2) and (4) of section 47(b) shall apply.

“(C) Certain expenditures not included.—The term ‘qualified revitalization expenditures’ does not include any expenditure which is—

“(1) Straight line depreciation must be used.—Any expenditure (other than with respect to land acquisitions) with respect to which the taxpayer does not use the straight line depreciation method over a recovery period determined under subsection (c) or (g) of section 1400H.
3. EXTENSION OF WORK OPPORTUNITY TAX CREDIT FOR RENEWAL COMMUNITIES—

(a) EXTENSION.—Subsection (c) of section 51 (relating to termination) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(5) EXTENSION OF CREDIT FOR RENEWAL COMMUNITIES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—In the case of an individual who begins work for the employer after the date contained in paragraph (4)(B), for purposes of section 38—

"(i) in lieu of applying subsection (a), the amount of the work opportunity credit determined under this section for the taxable year shall be equal to—

"(I) 15 percent of the qualified first-year wages for such year; and

"(II) 30 percent of the qualified second-year wages for such year;".

"(ii) subsection (b)(3) shall be applied by substituting "$10,000" for "$6,000";

"(iii) paragraph (4)(B) shall be applied by substituting for the subperiod determined therein the last day for which the designation under section 1400E of the renewal community referred to in subparagraph (B)(ii) is in effect; and

"(iv) rules similar to the rules of section 51A(b)(5)(C) shall apply.

"(B) QUALIFIED FIRST- AND SECOND-YEAR WAGES.—For purposes of subparagraph (A)—

"(i) in general.—The term 'qualified wages' means, with respect to each 1-year period referred to in clause (ii) or (iii), the wages paid or incurred by the employer during the taxable year to any individual but only if—

"(I) the employer is engaged in a trade or business in a renewal community throughout such 1-year period; and

"(II) the principal place of abode of such individual is in such renewal community throughout such 1-year period; and

"(III) substantially all of the services which such individual performs for the employer during such 1-year period are performed in the State.''.

(b) CONGRUENT TREATMENT OF RENEWAL COMMUNITIES AND ENTERPRISE ZONES FOR PURPOSES OF YOUTH RESIDENCE REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) HIGH RISK YOUTH.—Subparagraphs (A)(i) and (B) of section 51(d)(5) are each amended by striking "enterprise zone or enterprise community" and inserting "enterprise zone, enterprise community, or renewal community.''.

(2) QUALIFIED SUMMER YOUTH EMPLOYER.—Clause (iv) of section 51(d)(7)(A) is amended by striking "enterprise zone or enterprise community" and inserting "enterprise zone, enterprise community, or renewal community.''.

(c) HEADINGS.—Paragraphs (5)(B) and (7)(C) of section 51(c) are each amended by inserting "or community" in the heading after "ZONE".
The following new paragraph:

(2) the following new paragraph:

(1) by inserting "or" section 1400H after "section 219"; and

(2) by inserting "of any family development account described in section 1400H(e)," after "section 408(a)";

(5) FAILURE TO MEET CONDITIONS ON FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS.—Paragraph (2) of section 669(a) is amended by striking "and" at the end of subparagraph (C), by striking the period and inserting "and" at the end of subparagraph (D), and by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

(6) by inserting "or section 1400K" after "section 42"; and

(6) by striking "and" at the end the following new item:

(7) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

(6) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

(7) by striking "section 1400K" and by inserting "or qualified revitalization expenditures.";

(8) Subparagraph (C) of section 469(a)(3) is amended—

(8) the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K.

(9) No carryback of section 1400K credit before date of enactment. No portion of the unused business credit for any taxable year which is attributable to any commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K may be carried back to a taxable year ending before the date of the enactment of section 1400K.

(4) Paragraph (2) of section 50(a)(2) is amended by inserting "or qualified revitalization building" after "qualified rehabilitation building".

(5) Paragraph (2) of section 50(a) is amended by inserting "or qualified revitalization building" after "qualified rehabilitation building".

(8) Paragraph (2) of section 50(a)(2) is amended by inserting "or qualified revitalization building" after "qualified rehabilitation building".

(2) in the case of any qualified revitalization building described in section 1400K, the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K shall be reduced by the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit.

SEC. 05. INFORMATION RELATING TO CERTAIN TRUSTS AND ANNUITY PLANS.—Subsection (c) of section 6047 is amended—

(1) by inserting "or commercial revitalization" after "rehabilitated" in the text and heading; and

(c) PHASE-IN OF DESIGNATIONS OF RENEWAL COMMUNITIES.—For purposes of this section, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall designate a renewal community under the following:

(1) Section 46 (relating to investment credit) is amended by adding at the end of paragraph (2), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (3) and inserting "and", and by adding at the end the following new clause:

(2) in subsection (a) in making any determination of whether or not taxpayer itemizes. —Subsection (b) of section 6047 is amended—

(b) claue (i) of section 1400A is amended by inserting "or qualified revitalization expenditures.";

(c) the excess (if any) of the maximum amount allowable as a deduction under section 1400H for the taxable year over the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K shall be treated as an amount not allowable as a deduction under section 1400H(d)(3); and

(d) the amount contributed for the taxable year which were included in the gross income defined) is amended by inserting after paragraph (17) the following new subparagraph:

(d) the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K with respect to any transaction concerning such account (which would otherwise be taxable under this section) if such account is an account described in section 1400H(d)(2) to such account."

(1) Section 1400E(a)(2)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (as added by this title) is amended by striking "or qualified revitalization expenditures.";

(2) by striking "section 1400K" and by inserting "or qualified revitalization building".

(3) paragraph (2) of section 50(a)(2) is amended by inserting "qualified revitalization building" after "qualified rehabilitation building".

(4) the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K shall be reduced by the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit.

JOHNSON AMENDMENT NO. 1479

(2) in the case of any qualified revitalization building described in section 1400K, the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K shall be reduced by the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit.

JOHNSON AMENDMENT NO. 1479

(3) the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K shall be reduced by the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit.

JOHNSON AMENDMENT NO. 1479

(2) in the case of any qualified revitalization building described in section 1400K, the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K shall be reduced by the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit.

JOHNSON AMENDMENT NO. 1479

(3) the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit determined under section 1400K shall be reduced by the amount of the rehabilitation credit or the commercial revitalization credit.
Mr. CRAIG submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra, as follows:

On page 371, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

SEC. 1. CLARIFICATION OF NONRECOGNITION OF SALES OF STOCK TO ELIGIBLE FARM CO-OPERATIVES.

Section 112(g) (relative to application of section to sales of stock in qualified farm refiners and processors to eligible farm cooperatives) is amended by adding at the end the following paragraph:

"(5) TREATMENT OF PREDECESSOR.—Any reference in this subsection to stock in a qualified refiner or processor shall be treated as including reference to a controlling interest in any predecessor or successor (including a controlled partnership) of such refiner or processor."

LOTT AMENDMENT NO. 1483

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. LOTT submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra, as follows:

"In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted, insert the following:

SEC. 2. SENSE OF THE SENATE.

It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) in 1975, the Federal Government promised to pay 40 percent of the costs associated with part B of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1411 et seq.), which guarantees each special education child the right to a free and appropriate public education;

(2) the Administration's fiscal year 2000 budget request provides a .07 percent increase in funding for part B of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, which is less than an adjustment for inflation, and the Administration's budget request represents a decrease in real funding for educating children with disabilities;

(3) in the 3 years preceding 1999, Congress has increased funding for part B of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act by nearly 80 percent, however, the increase is still far short of the nearly $15,000,000,000 needed to live up to the originally promised funding level for special education;

(4) fulfilling the Federal obligation to fund part B of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act at the originally promised level will allow State and local governments, some of whom spend up to 19 percent of their local dollars on special education costs, to have more flexibility to spend their local resources to meet the unique educational needs of all of their students;

(5) the recent United States Supreme Court decision Cedar Rapids Community School District v. Garret F. (118 S. Ct. 792 (1998)) will increase the amount of funding that school districts will need to dedicate to educating, and providing related services to, their special needs children; and

(6) because the need for the Federal Government to fulfill such obligation is so great, part B of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act should be fully funded at the originally promised level of 40 percent before federal funds are appropriated for any new federal education programs."
by inserting after subsection (d) the following new paragraph:—

“(e) Bonds Issued To Acquire Renewable Resources On Land Subject To Conservation Easement.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—If—

“(A) the proceeds of any bond are used to acquire land (or a long-term lease thereof) together with any renewable resource associated with the land (including standing timber, agricultural crops, or water rights) from an unaffiliated person,

“(B) the land is subject to a conservation restriction (as described in subparagraph (C)), and

“(C) a management plan which meets the requirements of clauses (i) and (ii) of section 170(h)(4)(A), (ii) which requires the land or renewable resource to be used in a manner consistent with the stated charitable purposes of the 501(c)(3) organization,

“such bond shall be a qualified 501(c)(3) bond (after the application of paragraph (2)) but for the failure to use revenues derived from the proceeds of any bond described in paragraph (1) or the failure to sell the land for a price of not less than the fair market value of the land at the date of acquisition, deposit, or use of the renewable resource by the seller to the extent that the sale, leasing, or other use of the renewable resource by the seller does not constitute an unrelated trade or business, determined by applying section 513(a).

“(2) APPLICATION OF BOND MATURITY LIMITATION.—For purposes of section 147(b), the cost of any land or renewable resource acquired with proceeds of any bond described in paragraph (1) shall have an economic life commensurate with the economic and ecological feasibility of the financing of such land or renewable resource.

“(C) UNAFFILIATED PERSON.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘unaffiliated person’ means any person who controls not more than 20 percent of the governing body of another organization.

“(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to amounts paid after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 4. MODIFICATION OF ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX FOR INDIVIDUALS.

(a) NONREFUNDABLE PERSONAL CREDITS FULLY ALLOWED AGAINST REGULAR TAX LIABILITY.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (a) of section 151(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by addingafter the period at the end thereof.

“(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this subsection shall apply to amounts paid after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 5. MODIFICATION OF ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX FOR CORPORATIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (b) of section 56(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking ‘and’ before the period at the end thereof.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this subsection shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1998.

SEC. 6. MODIFICATION OF AMENDMENTS TO THE TARIFF ACT OF 1930.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (b) of section 607(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended by section 325J of the Energy Policy Act of 1992, is amended by striking ‘or’ and inserting ‘and’.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this subsection shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 7. MODIFICATION OF AMENDMENTS TO THE TARIFF ACT OF 1930.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (c) of section 607(k) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended by section 325J of the Energy Policy Act of 1992, is amended by striking ‘or’ and inserting ‘and’.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this subsection shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004.

SEC. 8. MODIFICATION OF AMENDMENTS TO THE TARIFF ACT OF 1930.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (c) of section 607(k) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended by section 325J of the Energy Policy Act of 1992, is amended by inserting ‘at the end thereof’ after ‘after December 31, 2004’.
(e) Treatment of Capital Gains and Losses.—

(1) Paragraph (3) of section 607(e) of such Act as amended to read as follows:

'(A) amounts representing long-term capital gains (as defined in section 1222 of such Code) on assets held in the fund, reduced by—

(B) amounts representing long-term capital losses (as defined in such section) on assets held in the fund.

(2) Subparagraph (B) of section 607(e)(4) of such Act is amended by striking 'gain' and inserting 'capital gain under section 1222, and';

(3) Subparagraph (a) of section 607(b)(3) of such Code is amended by striking 'gain and all that follows and inserting 'long-term capital gain' (as defined in section 1222 of such Code) and.';

(4) If the last sentence of subparagraph (A) of section 607(h)(6) of such Act is amended by striking '20 percent (34 percent in the case of a corporation) as a limitation', inserting the 'includible in gross income.'

(f) Computation of Interest With Respect to Nonqualified Withdrawals.—

(1) Subparagraph (C) of section 607(h)(3) of such Act is amended—

(A) by striking clause (i) and inserting the following new clause:

'(i) no addition to the tax shall be payable under section 6551 of such Code, and
'(B) by striking 'paid at the applicable rate as defined in paragraph (4)' in clause (ii) and inserting 'paid in accordance with section 6551 of such Code.'

(2) Section 607(h) of section 607 of such Act is amended by striking paragraph (4) and redesignating paragraphs (5) and (6) as paragraphs (4) and (5), respectively.

(3) Subparagraph (A) of section 607(h)(5) of such Act, as redesignated by paragraph (2), is amended by striking paragraph (5) and inserting paragraph (4).

(g) Changes in Computation of Interest.—

(1) Paragraph (3) of section 7518(d) of such Code is amended to read as follows:

'(A) amounts representing long-term capital gains (as defined in section 1222) on assets held in the fund, reduced by—

'B) amounts representing long-term capital losses (as defined in such section) on assets held in the fund.

(2) Subparagraph (B) of paragraph 7518(d)(4) of such Code is amended to read as follows:

'(B)(i) amounts representing short-term capital gains (as defined in section 1222) on assets held in the fund;

'(B) amounts representing short-term capital losses (as defined in such section) on assets held in the fund.

(h) Amounts Representing Indeptedness.—

(1) Section 607 of such Act is amended by striking the 'Internal Revenue Code of 1986' each place it appears.

(2) Authority To Make Deposits Under the Tariff Act of 1930.—The amendment made by section 4 shall apply to entries not yet closed for periods on or before such date.

(a) Treatment of Certain Lease Payments.—

(1) Paragraph (1) of section 7518(e) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking 'or' at the end of subparagraph (B), by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (B) and inserting 'and', and by adding at the end of the following new subparagraph:

'(D) the payments of amounts which reduce the principal amount (as determined under regulations) of a qualified lease of a qualified vessel or container which is part of the complement of an eligible vessel.'

(2) Paragraph (4) of section 7518 of such Code is amended by striking 'or to reduce the principal amount of any qualified lease' after 'indebtedness'.

(b) Authority To Make Deposits Under the Tariff Act of 1930.—

(1) Paragraph (1) of section 7518(a) of such Code is amended by striking 'and at the end of subparagraph (C), by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (D) and inserting 'and', and by adding at the end of the following new subparagraph:

'(E) the amount elected for deposit under subsection (a)(2) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1466).'

(2) Paragraph (A) of section 7518(d)(2) of such Code is amended to read as follows:

'(A) amounts referred to in subsections (a)(1)(B) and (E).'

(c) Authority To Make Deposits for Prior Years Based on Audit Adjustment.—Subsection (a) of section 7518 of such Code is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

'(4) To the extent permitted by joint regulations of the Treasury, amounts representing short-term capital gains (as defined in paragraph (4)) and long-term capital losses (as defined in such section) on entries made for such prior taxable year.'

(d) Treatment of Capital Gains and Losses.—

(1) Paragraph (3) of section 7518(d) of such Code is amended to read as follows:

'(A) amounts representing long-term capital gains (as defined in section 1222) on assets held in the fund, reduced by—

'B) amounts representing long-term capital losses (as defined in such section) on assets held in the fund.'

(2) Subparagraph (B) of paragraph 7518(d)(4) of such Code is amended to read as follows:

'(B)(i) amounts representing short-term capital gains (as defined in section 1222) on assets held in the fund;

'(B) amounts representing short-term capital losses (as defined in such section) on assets held in the fund.'

(e) Computation of Interest With Respect to Nonqualified Withdrawals.—

(1) Paragraph (3) of section 7518(e) of such Code is amended to read as follows:

'(A) by striking clause (i) and inserting the following new clause:

'(i) no addition to the tax shall be payable under section 6551 of such Code, and
'(B) by striking 'paid at the applicable rate as defined in paragraph (4)' in clause (ii) and inserting 'paid in accordance with section 6551 of such Code.'

(2) Paragraph (1) of section 7518(f) of such Code is amended by striking 'interest-bearing securities' and inserting 'interest-bearing securities and other income-producing assets (including accounts receivable) approved by the Secretary'.

(a) In General.—The amendment made by section 4 of the Act is amended by striking 'such Act' and inserting 'this Act'.

(2) Paragraph (1) of section 7518(e) of such Code is amended by striking 'and containers' each place it appears.

(b) Subsection (i) of section 7518 of such Code is amended to read as follows:

'(i) no addition to the tax shall be payable under section 6551 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1466).'

(c) Paragraph (B) of section 543(a)(1) of such Code is amended to read as follows:

(d) Subsection (c) of section 56 of such Code is amended by striking paragraph (2) and redesignating paragraph (5) as paragraph (2).

SEC. 5. EFFECTIVE DATE.

(a) In General.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, the amendments made by this Act shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2003, and shall terminate on December 31, 2005.

(b) Changes in Computation of Interest.—The amendments made by sections (2) and (3) shall apply to withdrawals made after December 31, 2003, including for purposes of computing interest on such a withdrawal for periods on or before such date.

(c) Qualified Leases.—The amendments made by section 4 shall apply to leases in effect on, or entered after, December 31, 2003.

(d) Amendment to the Tariff Act of 1930.—The amendment made by section 4 shall apply with respect to entries not yet liquidated by December 31, 2003, and to entries made on or after that date.

SEC. 6. penalties for failure to disclose position that certain international shipping income is not includible in gross income.

(a) in General.—Section 883 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

1. In General.—A taxpayer who, with respect to any tax imposed by this title, takes the position that any of its gross income derived from the international operation of a ship or ships is not includible in gross income by reason of subsection (a)(1) or section 882(b)(1) (or by reason of any applicable treaty provision) is entitled to the benefit of section 6651, and shall be liable only to the extent that such position is disclosed (in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe) on the return for such tax (or any statement attached thereto). (2) Additional Penalties for Failure to Disclose Position That Certain International Shipping Income Is Not Includible in Gross Income.—

(A) The amount of the income from the international operation of a ship or ships—
“(i) which is from sources without the United States and for farm debt income.

“(ii) which is attributable to a fixed place of business in the United States, shall be treated for purposes of this title as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, and

“(B) no deductions or credits shall be allowed which are attributable to income from the international operation of a ship or ships.

“(3) Reasonable cause exception.—This subsection shall not apply to a failure to disclose a position if it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect.”

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Paragraph (1) of section 872(b) of such Code is amended by striking “Gross income” and inserting “Gross income as provided in section 883(d), gross income”.

(2) Paragraph (1) of section 883(a) of such Code is amended by striking “Gross income” and inserting “Gross income as provided in subsection (d), gross income”.

(c) COORDINATION WITH TREATIES.—The amendments made by this section shall not apply in any case where their application would be contrary to any treaty obligation of the United States.

(d) INFORMATION TO BE PROVIDED BY CUSTOMS SERVICE.—The United States Customs Service shall provide the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate with such information as may be specified by such Secretary in order to enable such Secretary to determine whether ships which are not registered in the United States are engaged in transportation to or from the United States.

SEC. 7. MODIFICATION OF LIMITATIONS ON DEDUCTIONS FOR ATTENDANCE AT CONVENTIONS, ETC. ON CRUISE SHIPS.

(a) ONLY HOME PORT OF CRUISE SHIP MUST BE IN UNITED STATES OR POSSESSIONS.—Subparagraph (B) of section 274(h)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to conventions on cruise ships) is amended to read as follows:

“(B) the home port of such cruise ship is located in the United States or a possession of the United States.”

MCCAIN AMENDMENT NO. 1487

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. MCCAIN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra; as follows:

Strike all after the first word and insert:

1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

(a) Short Title.—This Act may be cited as the “Middle Class Tax Relief Act of 1999”.

(b) Table of Contents.—The table of contents for this Act is as follows:

Sec. 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

TITLE I—MIDDLE CLASS TAX RELIEF

Sec. 11. Increase in maximum taxable income for 15 percent rate bracket.

Sec. 12. Elimination of marriage penalty in standard deduction.

Sec. 13. Exemption of certain interest and taxable dividends income from tax.

Sec. 14. Phase-out of estate and gift taxes through increase in unified estate and gift tax credit.

Sec. 15. Elimination of earnings test for individuals who have attained retirement age.

TITLE II—OFFSETS

Subtitle A—Tax Loophole Closures

Sec. 31. Inclusion in gross income of contributions in aid of construction.

Sec. 32. Elimination of nonexclusion of dividends attributable to insurers.

Sec. 33. Elimination of U.S. possessions tax credit.

Sec. 34. Elimination of tax incentives relating to merchant marine capital construction funds.

Sec. 35. Source rules for inventory property.

Sec. 36. Phaseout of oil, gas, and minerals expensing of drilling exploration and development costs.

Sec. 37. Sunset of alcohol fuels incentives.

Sec. 38. Reform of enhanced oil recovery credit.

Sec. 39. Repeal of unlimited passive loss deduction for oil and gas properties.

Sec. 40. Uniform depreciation treatment of rental property.

Sec. 41. Elimination of certain timber production costs.

Sec. 42. Excise tax on excusable non-retirement fringe benefits.

Sec. 43. Transfer pricing.

Sec. 44. Disallowance of deduction for advertising and promotion expenditures.

Sec. 45. Elimination of private-purpose tax-exempt bonds.

Subtitle B—Spending Cuts

CHAPTER 1—GENERAL PROVISIONS

Sec. 61. Elimination of free use of government owned takeoff and landing.

Sec. 62. Elimination of foreign marketing program.

Sec. 63. Elimination of highway demonstration projects.

Sec. 64. Elimination of Federal subsidies for AMTRAK.

Sec. 65. Elimination of funding to complete Appalachian Development Highway System.

Sec. 66. Elimination of advanced technology program.

Sec. 67. Elimination of NASA’s earth science program.

Sec. 68. Elimination of market access program.

Sec. 69. Elimination of below-cost sales of timber from national forest system lands.

Sec. 70. Prohibition on certain research functions of Department of Energy.

Sec. 71. Offset fee for the Federal capital construction savings provided to the FNMA and FHLMC.

Sec. 72. Enhanced competition with the private sector regarding military family housing.

CHAPTER 2—ABOLISHMENT OF DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Sec. 81. Short title.

Subchapter A—Abolishment of Department of Commerce

Sec. 101. Definitions.

Sec. 102. Abolishment of Department of Commerce.

Sec. 103. Resolution and termination of Department.

Sec. 104. Responsibilities of the Director of Commerce.

Sec. 105. Service charges.

Sec. 106. Plans and reports.

Sec. 107. General Accounting Office audit and access to records.

Sec. 108. Conforming amendments.

Sec. 109. Privatization framework.

Sec. 110. Priority placement programs for Federal employees affected by a reduction in force attributable to this chapter.

Sec. 111. Funding reductions for transferred personnel.

Subchapter B—Disposition of Programs, Functions, and Agencies of Department of Commerce

Sec. 201. Economic development.

Sec. 202. Technology Administration.

Sec. 203. Reorganization of the Bureau of the Census and the Bureau of Economic Analysis.

Sec. 204. Terminated functions of National Telecommunications and Information Administration.

Sec. 205. Terminations and transfers.

Sec. 207. Miscellaneous terminations; moratorium on program activities.

Sec. 208. Effective date.

Subchapter C—Establishment of United States Trade Administration

PART I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

Sec. 301. Definitions.

PART II—UNITED STATES TRADE ADMINISTRATION

Subpart A—Establishment

Sec. 311. Establishment of the United States Trade Administration.

Sec. 312. Functions of the Trade Representative.

Subpart B—Officers

Sec. 321. Deputy United States Trade Representatives.

Sec. 322. Assistant Administrators.

Sec. 323. General Counsel.

Sec. 324. Inspector General.

Sec. 325. Chief Financial Officer.

Subpart C—Transfers to the Trade Administration

Sec. 331. Office of the United States Trade Representative.

Sec. 332. Transfers from the Department of Commerce.

Sec. 333. Trade and Development Agency.

Sec. 334. Export-Import Bank.

Sec. 335. Overseas Private Investment Corporation.

Sec. 336. Consolidation of export promotion and financing agencies.

Sec. 337. Functions related to textile agreements.

Subpart D—Administrative Provisions

Sec. 341. Personnel provisions.

Sec. 342. Delegation and assignment.

Sec. 343. Succession.

Sec. 344. Reorganization.

Sec. 345. Rules.

Sec. 346. Funds transfer.

Sec. 347. Contracts, grants, and cooperative agreements.

Sec. 348. Use of facilities.

Sec. 349. Gifts and bequests.

Sec. 350. Working capital fund.

Sec. 351. Service charges.

Sec. 352. Seal of office.

Subpart E—Related Agencies

Sec. 361. Interagency trade organization.

Sec. 363. International Monetary Fund.

Subpart F—Conforming Amendments

Sec. 371. Amendments to general provisions.

Sec. 372. Repeals.

Sec. 373. Conforming amendments relating to Executive Schedule positions.

Subpart G—Miscellaneous

Sec. 381. Effective date.

Sec. 382. Interim appointments.

Sec. 383. Funding reductions resulting from reorganization.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE
July 29, 1999

18578

TITLE I—MIDDLE CLASS TAX RELIEF
SEC. 11. INCREASE IN MAXIMUM TAXABLE INCOME FOR 15 PERCENT RATE BRACKET.
Section 1(f) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to adjustments in tax tables so that inflation will not result in tax increases) is amended—
(1) in paragraph (2)—
(A) by redesignating subparagraphs (B) and (C) as subparagraphs (C) and (D), and
(B) by inserting after subparagraph (A) the following:
"(B) In the case of the tables contained in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d), by increasing the maximum taxable income level for the 15 percent rate bracket and the minimum taxable income level for the 28 percent rate bracket otherwise determined under subparagraph (A) for taxable years beginning in any calendar year after 1999, by the applicable dollar amount for such calendar year;", and
(2) by adding at the end the following:
"(B) APPLICABLE DOLLAR AMOUNT.—For purposes of paragraph (2)(B), the applicable dollar amount for any calendar year shall be determined as follows:
"(A) JOINT RETURNS AND SURVIVING SPOUSES.—In the case of the table contained in subsection (a)—
"Applicable Calendar year: Dollar Amount:
2000 .................................................. $1,000
2001 .................................................. $2,000
2002 .................................................. $3,000
2003 .................................................. $4,000
2004 and thereafter .................................... $5,000."

"(B) OTHER TABLES.—In the case of the table contained in subsection (b), (c), or (d)—
"Applicable Calendar year: Dollar Amount:
2000 .................................................. $500
2001 .................................................. $1,000
2002 .................................................. $1,500
2003 .................................................. $2,000
2004 and thereafter .................................... $2,500."

SEC. 12. ELIMINATION OF MARRIAGE PENALTY IN STANDARD DEDUCTION.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 63(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to standard deduction) is amended by adding at the end the following:
"(7) ELIMINATION OF MARRIAGE PENALTY FOR JOINT FILES.—
"(A) IN GENERAL.—In the case of a joint return or a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)), the basic standard deduction under paragraph (2)(A) shall be increased by an amount equal to the applicable percentage of the excess of—
"(i) 200 percent of the basic standard deduction in effect for the taxable year under paragraph (2)(A), and
"(ii) the basic standard deduction in effect for the taxable year under paragraph (2)(A) (without regard to this paragraph).
"(B) APPLICABLE PERCENTAGE.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the applicable percentage shall be determined as follows:
"For taxable years beginning in calendar year: The applicable percentage is:
1999 .................................................. 20
2000 .................................................. 40
2001 .................................................. 60
2002 .................................................. 80
2003 and thereafter .................................... 100.

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 63(c)(2)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1966 is amended by inserting “except as provided in paragraph (7),” before “$5,000.”
(2) DISTRIBUTIONS BY A TRUST.—For purposes of section 666(a), the amount of dividends and interest properly allocable to a beneficiary under section 652 or 662 shall be deemed to have been received by the beneficiary ratably on the same date that the dividend and interest were received by the estate or trust.

(3) CERTAIN NONRESIDENT ALIENS INELIGIBLE FOR A DISTRIBUTION.—In the case of a nonresident alien individual, subsection (a) shall apply only—

(A) in determining the tax imposed for the taxable year pursuant to section 264A(b)(1) and only in respects of dividends and interest which are effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, or

(B) in determining the tax imposed for the taxable year pursuant to section 877(b).

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) The table of sections for part III of subchapter B of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 115 the following:

“Sec. 116. Partial exclusion of dividends and interest received by individuals.”

(2) Paragraph (2) of section 263(a) of such Code is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following: “...or to purchase or carry obligations or shares, or to make deposits, to the extent the interest thereon is excludable from gross income under section 116.”

(3) Subsection (c) of section 584 of such Code is amended by adding at the end the following new flush sentence:

“The proportionate share of each participant in the amount of dividends or interest received by the common trust fund and to which section 116 applies shall be considered for purposes of such section as having been received by such participant.”

(4) Subsection (a) of section 463 of such Code is amended by redesignating paragraph (7) as paragraph (8) and by inserting after paragraph (8) the following:

“(7) DIVERSIFICATIONS OR INTEREST.—There shall be included the amount of any dividends or interest excludable from gross income pursuant to section 116.”

(5) Section 854 of such Code is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(c) LIMITATIONS APPLICABLE TO DIVIDENDS RECEIVED FROM REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT TRUSTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of section 116 (relating to an exclusion for dividends and interest received by individuals) and section 243 (relating to deductions for dividends received by corporations), a dividend received from a real estate investment trust which meets the requirements of this part for the taxable year in which it paid the dividend—

“(A) such dividend shall be treated as interest if the aggregate interest received by the real estate investment trust for the taxable year equals or exceeds 75 percent of its gross income,

“(B) if subparagraph (A) does not apply, the portion of such dividend which bears the same ratio to the amount of such dividend as the aggregate interest received bears to gross income shall be treated as interest.

“(2) ADJUSTMENTS TO GROSS INCOME AND AGGREGATE INTEREST RECEIVED.—For purposes of paragraph (2)—

“(A) gross income does not include the net capital gain,

“(B) gross income and aggregate interest received shall each be reduced by so much of the deduction allowable by section 163 for the taxable year in which it paid the dividend—

“(1) the amount of such dividend shall be treated as a dividend if the sum of the aggregate dividends and the aggregate interest received by such company during the taxable year equals or exceeds 75 percent of its gross income,

“(2) if subparagraph (A) does not apply, there shall be taken into account under section 116 only the portion of such dividend which bears the same ratio to the amount of such dividend as the sum of the aggregate dividends received and aggregate interest received bears to gross income.

For purposes of the preceding sentence, gross income and aggregate interest received shall each be reduced by so much of the deduction allowable by section 163 for the taxable year as does not exceed aggregate interest received by the taxable year.

“(C) gross income shall be reduced by the sum of the taxes imposed by paragraphs (4), (5), and (6) of section 583(b).

“(4) INTEREST.—The term ‘interest’ has the meaning given it by section 116(c).

“(5) NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.—The amount of any distribution by a real estate investment trust which may be taken into account for purposes of the exclusion under section 116 shall not exceed the amount so designated by the trust in a written notice to its shareholders mailed not later than 60 days after the close of its taxable year.”

(e) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1998.
for individuals described in subparagraph (D) and for all other individuals treated as to be appllicable” and inserting “a new exempt amount which shall be applicable”. (2) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 203(d)(3) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 403(d)(3)) is amended—
(A) in the matter preceding clause (i), by striking “Except and all that follows through ‘‘and inserting ‘‘The exempt amount which is applicable for each month of a particular taxable year shall be whichever’; (B) in clauses (i) and (ii), by striking “corresponding” each place it appears; and (C) in the last sentence, by striking “an exempt amount” and inserting “the exempt amount”.

(3) REPEAL OF BASIS FOR COMPUTATION OF SPECIAL EXEMPT AMOUNT.—Section 230(f)(b)(D) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 403(f)(b)(D)) is repealed.

(c) ADDITIONAL CONFORMING AMEND-MENTS.—
(1) ELIMINATION OF REDUNDANT REFERENCES TO RETIREMENT AGE.—Section 203 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 403) is amended—
(A) in subsection (c), in the last sentence, by striking “or any deduction and all that follows and inserting ‘‘nor shall any deduction be made under this subsection from any widow’s or widower’s insurance benefit if the widow, surviving divorced wife, widower, or surviving divorced husband involved became entitled to such benefit prior to attaining age 60’’; and (B) in subsection (f)(1), by striking clause (D) and inserting the following: “(D) for benefit if the widow, surviving divorced wife, or surviving divorced husband involved became entitled to such benefit prior to attaining age 60.”

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT TO PROVISIONS FOR DETERMINING AMOUNT OF INCREASE ON ACCOUNT OF DELAYED RETIREMENT.—Section 230(w)(2)(B)(ii) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 403(w)(2)(B)(ii)) is amended—
(A) by striking “‘either’;” and (B) by striking “‘or suffered deductions under section 203(b) or 203(c) in amounts equal to the amount of such benefit.”

(3) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS RELATING TO EARNINGS TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT IN DETERMINING SUBSTANTIAL GAINFUL ACTIVITY OF BLIND INDIVIDUALS.—The second sentence of section 225(d)(2)(A) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 422(d)(2)(A)) is amended by striking “if section 102 of the Senior Citizens’ Right to Work Act of 1996 had not been enacted” and inserting the following: “if the amendments to section 203 made by section 102 of the Senior Citizens’ Right to Work Act of 1996 and by section 106 of the Middle Class Tax Relief Act of 1999 had not been enacted.”

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply with respect to taxable years ending after December 31, 1998.
SEC. 39. REPEAL OF UNLIMITED PASSIVE LOSS DEDUCTIONS FOR OIL AND GAS PRODUCTION.

Section 469(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to working interests in oil and gas property) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(c) TERMINATION.—This section shall not apply with respect to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1999."

SEC. 40. UNIFORM DEPRECIATION TREATMENT FOR NON-RETIREMENT FRINGE BENEFITS.

(a) In General.—The table in section 162(c) is amended by striking "27.5 years" and inserting "39 years".

(b) Effective Date.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to property placed in service after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 41. ELIMINATION EXPANDING OF CERTAIN TIMBER PRODUCTION COSTS.

(a) In General.—Section 461(a)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to general exceptions) is amended by striking paragraph (5) and by redesignating paragraph (6) as paragraph (5).

(b) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 42. ELIMINATION OF PRIVATE-PURPOSE TAX-EXEMPT BONDS.

Section 141(e) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to miscellaneous excise taxes) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Chapter 1—General Provisions

Title VII of the Agricultural Trade Act of 1978 (7 U.S.C. 5721 et seq.) is repealed.

Section 26104 of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(a) by striking subsection (b); and

(b) by redesignating subsections (c) and (d) as subsections (b) and (c), respectively.

SEC. 44. DISALLOWANCE OF DEDUCTION FOR ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION EXPENDITURES.

(a) In General.—Part IX of subchapter B of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to deductions not otherwise deductible) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 280L. ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION EXPENDITURES.

No deduction otherwise allowable under this chapter shall be allowed for any amount paid or incurred to advertise or promote (by means of television, radio, other electronic media, newspaper, periodical, billboard, or any other means)."

(b) Conforming Amendments.—The table of sections for part IX of chapter 1 of such Code is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 280L. Advertising and promotion expenditures."

(c) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to amounts paid or incurred in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1999.

SEC. 45. ELIMINATION OF PRIVATE-PURPOSE TAX-EXEMPT BONDS.

Section 1101(a) of the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century is amended by striking subsections (c) and (h) (112 Stat. 196, 840).

Section 1217(f) of the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century (112 Stat. 216, 841) is amended by striking the second sentence.

Section 5118 of the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century (112 Stat. 452) is amended—

(A) by striking subsection (b); and

(B) by redesignating subsections (c) and (d) as subsections (b) and (c), respectively.

SEC. 46. ELIMINATION OF FEDERAL SUBSIDIES FOR AMTRAK.

(a) In General.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, including section 24104 of title 49, United States Code, beginning with fiscal year 2000, the Secretary of Transportation may not use any funds for the benefit of Amtrak for—

(1) capital expenditures, operating expenses, or payments (including direct grants) or loan guarantees.

(b) Conforming Amendments.—

(1) Section 24104(a) of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(A) in paragraph (1), by adding "and" at the end;

(B) in paragraph (2), by striking the semicolon and adding a period;

(C) by striking paragraphs (3) through (5); and

(D) in the matter following paragraph (2), by striking the last sentence.

(2) Section 24090(a) of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(A) in paragraph (1), by striking "not more" and inserting "Except as provided in paragraph (3), not more";

(B) in paragraph (2), by striking "not more" and inserting "Except as provided in paragraph (3), not more"; and

(C) by adding at the end the following:

"(3) Beginning with fiscal year 2000, no funds shall be appropriated to Amtrak under this section."
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

July 29, 1999

SEC. 65. ELIMINATION OF FUNDING TO COM-PLETE 21ST-CENTURY DEVELOPMENT HIGHWAY SYSTEM.

(a) Program.—Section 1117 of the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century
(122 Stat. 160) is amended—
(1) by striking subsections (a) and (b); and
(2) by redesignating subsections (c) and (d) as subsections (a) and (b), respectively.
(b) Funding.—Section 1101(a) of the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century
(122 Stat. 111) is amended by striking paragraph (6).
(c) Conforming Amendments.—
(1) Section 104(a)(1) of title 23, United States
Code, is amended—
(A) by inserting “or” after “section 105,”;
(B) by striking “or the Appalachian development highway system program under section 201 of the Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1965 (40 U.S.C. App.)”;
(C) by striking “necessary” and all that through “(A)” to and inserting “necessary” to; and
(D) by striking “subsection 2” and all that follows and inserting “subsection 2.”.
(2) Section 105 of title 23, United States
Code, is amended—
(A) in the first sentence of subsection (a), by striking “Appalachian development highway system” and inserting “Appalachian development highway system,”
(B) in subsection (c)(1), by striking “Appalachian development highway system,” each place it appears.
(C) in subsection (b)(2) of the Transportation
116) is amended—
(A) in paragraph (4), by striking “section 201 of the Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1965,”; and
(B) in paragraph (6), by striking “,” and the Appalachian development highway system program.

SEC. 66. ELIMINATION OF ADVANCED TECH-NOLOGY PROGRAM.

(a) In General.—
(1) REPEAL.—Section 28 of the National Institute of Standards and Technology Act (15
U.S.C. 278n) is repealed, effective October 1, 1999.
(2) Moratorium.—Beginning on the date of enactment of this section, neither the Secretary of Commerce or the Director of the National Institute of Standards and Techology may enter into any contract or agreement under section 28(b) of the National Institute of Standards and Technology Act (15
U.S.C. 278n), or otherwise initiate any activity or joint venture under the Advanced Technology Program.
(b) Contracts and Cooperative Agreements.—Beginning on October 1, 1999, any contract or cooperative agreement entered into under section 28(b) of the National Institute of Standards and Technology Act (15 U.S.C. 278n) shall be null and void. To the extent necessary to carry out this subsection, the Secretary of Commerce, from funds othearwise available to carry out the Advanced Technology Program, shall provide compensation to a party to such a contract or agreement.

SEC. 67. ELIMINATION OF NASA’S EARTH
SCIENCE PROGRAM.

The Earth Science Program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is hereby terminated effective October 1, 1999. The Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration shall take such action as may be necessary to carry out this section.

SEC. 68. ELIMINATION OF MARKET ACCESS PRO-GRAM.

(a) In General.—Section 203 of the Agricultural Trade Act of 1978 (7 U.S.C. 5652) is repealed.
(b) Conforming Amendments.—
(1) Section 402(a)(1) of the Agricultural Trade Act of 1978 (7 U.S.C. 5662(a)(1)) is amended by striking subsection (c).
(2) Section 402(a)(1) of the Agricultural Trade Act of 1978 (7 U.S.C. 5662(a)(1)) is amended by striking paragraph (6).
(3) Section 1302 of the Omnibus Budget
Reconciliation Act of 1993 (7 U.S.C. 5623 note; Public Law 103–66) is repealed.

SEC. 69. ELIMINATION OF BELOW-COST SALES OF TINKER FROM NATIONAL FOREST SYSTEM LANDS.

(a) Definition of Below-cost Timber Sale.—In this section, the term ‘below-cost timber sale’ means a sale of timber in which the costs to be incurred by the Federal Government exceed the cash returns to the United States Treasury.
(b) Moratorium.—Section 201 of the Agricultural Trade Act (7 U.S.C. 5651) is repealed.
(c) Costs To Be Considered.—For purposes of estimating under this section the costs to be incurred by the Federal Government in the preparation of the sale of the timber sale, the Secretary shall assess and collect from the Federal National Forest System land that are proposed for sale under section 14 of the Federal Forest Service for reasons of military necessity (as defined by the Secretary of the Treasury), an annual fee to be deposited in the General Fund of the Treasury that represents the savings in capital costs derived by each enterprise from Federal affiliation in the preceding year calculated as provided in subsection (b).
(d) Fee Calculation.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall calculate a fee equal to an amount equal to 20 basis points on the average debt outstanding of the enterprise at the end of the preceding year.
(e) Effective Date.—This section shall take effect on January 1, 2000 with respect to
calendar year 1999.

SEC. 70. PROHIBITION ON CERTAIN RESEARCH
FUNCTIONS OF DEPARTMENT OF EN-ERGY.

Section 209 of the Department of Energy Organization Act (42 U.S.C. 7139) is amended
by adding at the end the following:
“(c) Prohibition on Certain Research
Functions.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary, any other officer, employee, and office and agency of the Department shall not carry out or support any—
(1) general science research; or
(2) applied research and development activity.”.

SEC. 71. OFFSET FEE FOR THE FEDERAL CAPITAL COSTS SAVINGS PROVIDED TO THE FNMA AND FHLMC.

(a) In General.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law and on January 1 of each year, the Secretary of the Treasury shall assess and collect from the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (each referred to in this section as an “enterprise”) an annual fee to be deposited in the General Fund of the Treasury that represents the procedure year calculated in the preceding year calculated as provided in subsection (b).
(b) Fee Calculation.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall calculate a fee equal to an amount equal to 20 basis points on the average debt outstanding of the enterprise at the end of the preceding year.
(c) Effective Date.—This section shall take effect on January 1, 2000 with respect to
calendar year 1999.
that such quarters or facility is fully occupied with such occupants as may be listed for occupancy of such quarters or facility.

(2) After December 31, 2002, the rental amount of any quarters or housing facility shall be the amount (as determined by the Secretary concerned) equal to the amount necessary—

(A) to cover the costs of operation and maintenance of such quarters or facility; and

(B) to provide for the amortization of any capital costs associated with the construction of such quarters or facility.

(3) The Secretary concerned may establish rental amounts for quarters or facilities of a historic or unique character that differ from the rental amounts that would otherwise be established for such quarters or facilities under this subsection if the Secretary concerned that such differing amounts are required for purposes of preserving or maintaining the character of such quarters or facilities.

(4) USE OF RENTAL AMOUNTS PAID.—

Amounts paid for quarters or facilities under subsection (c) shall be the only amounts available to the Secretary concerned—

(1) in the case of quarters or facilities covered by paragraph (1) of subsection (c), for purposes of defraying the costs of such Secretary in operating and maintaining the quarters or facilities;

(2) in the case of quarters or facilities covered by paragraph (2) of subsection (c), for purposes—

(A) covering the costs of operation and maintenance of the quarters or facilities; and

(B) providing for the amortization of any capital costs associated with the construction of the quarters or facilities.

CHAPTER 2—ABOLITION OF DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

SEC. 81. SHORT TITLE.

This chapter may be cited as the "Department of Commerce Dismantling Act".

Subchapter A—Abolishment of Department of Commerce

SEC. 101. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this chapter, the following definitions apply:

(1) DEPARTMENT.—The term "Department" means the Department of Commerce.

(2) DIRECTOR.—The term "Director" means the Director of the Office of Management and Budget.

(3) OFFICE.—The term "Office" means the Office of Management and Budget.

SEC. 102. ABOLISHMENT OF DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

(a) ABOLISHMENT OF DEPARTMENT.—Effective on the date specified in subsection (c), the Department of Commerce is abolished.

(b) TRANSFER OF DEPARTMENT FUNCTIONS TO OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET.—Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, all functions that on the day before the applicable date specified in subsection (c) are authorized to be performed by the Secretary of Commerce, any officer or employee of the Department, acting in that capacity, or any agency or office of the Department, are transferred to the Director effective on that date.

(c) ABOLISHMENT DATE.—The date of abolishment of the Department is the earlier of—

(1) the last day of the 6-month period beginning on the date of enactment of this chapter; or

(2) September 30, 1999.

SEC. 103. RESOLUTION AND TERMINATION OF DEPARTMENT FUNCTIONS.

(a) RESOLUTION OF FUNCTIONS.—During the period beginning on the date of enactment of this chapter and ending on the date specified in subsection (c), the President that specifies actions that have been taken and actions that have not been taken but are necessary—

(1) to resolve the programs and functions terminated in this chapter on the date of enactment of this chapter;

(2) to implement the additional transfers and other program dispositions provided for in this chapter;

(3) RIGHTS OF ACCESS, EXAMINATION, AND COPYING.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall have access to all records, books, documents, papers, and other evidence that are relevant and material to the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 104. RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE DIRECTOR AND OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Director shall be responsible for the implementation of this title, including—

(1) the administration, during the period specified in section 103(c), of all functions transferred to the Director under section 102(b);

(2) the administration, during the period specified in section 103(a), of any outstanding obligations of the Federal Government under any programs terminated by this chapter; and

(3) taking any other action that may be necessary to complete any outstanding affairs of the Department before the end of the period specified in section 103(a).

(b) DELEGATION OF FUNCTIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), the Director may, to the extent that the Director determines that such delegation is appropriate to carry out this title, delegate to any officer of the Office or to any other Federal department or agency head the performance of the functions of the Director under this title.

(2) EXCEPTION.—The Director may not delegate the planning and reporting responsibilities under section 106.

(c) ANNUAL STATUS REPORTS.—At the end of each fiscal year, the Director shall submit to the President a report, through the President, to Congress that—

(1) describes actions taken to comply with limitations imposed by this chapter on spending for continued functions;

(2) COORDINATION WITH OTHER PROVISIONS OF LAW.—

(a) AUDIT OF PERSONS PERFORMING FUNCTIONS IN THE THIRD SECTION.—Any agency, corporation, or other person that, under the authority of the United States, performs any functions or activities under this chapter shall be subject to an audit by the Comptroller General of the United States with respect to such function or activity.

(b) AUDIT OF PERSONS PROVIDING CERTAIN GOODS OR SERVICES.—All persons and organizations that, by contract, grant, or otherwise, provide goods or services to, or receive financial assistance from, any agency or other person performing functions or activities covered under this chapter shall be subject to such an audit by the Comptroller General of the United States with respect to such function or activity.

(c) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO AUDITS UNDER THIS SECTION.—

(1) NATURE AND SCOPE OF AUDIT.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall determine the nature, scope, terms, and conditions of audits conducted under this section.

(2) COORDINATION WITH OTHER PROVISIONS OF LAW.—The authority of the Comptroller General of the United States under this chapter shall be in addition to any audit authority available to the Comptroller General under any other provision of law.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE
July 29, 1999

18584

United States, and any duly authorized representative of the Comptroller General, shall have access to, and the right to examine and copy, all records and other recorded information in any form, and to examine any property within the possession or control of any agency or person affected by this section, and

(A) is subject to audit under this section; and

(B) the Comptroller General considers relevant to an audit conducted under this section.

(4) ENFORCEMENT OF RIGHT OF ACCESS.—The right under this section of the Comptroller General of the United States to information under this section shall be enforceable under section 716 of title 31, United States Code.

(5) MAINTENANCE OF CONFIDENTIAL RECORDS.—Section 716(e) of title 31, United States Code, shall apply to information obtained by the Comptroller General under this section.

SEC. 108. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.

(a) PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.—Section 19(d)(1) of title 3, United States Code, is amended by striking “Secretary of Commerce,” and inserting “Under Secretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs.”

(b) EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS.—Section 101 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by striking the following item:

“Chief Information Officer, Department of Commerce.’’

(c) COMPENSATION.—Section 5312 of title 5, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking the following item:

“Secretary of Commerce.”;

(2) by redesignating subparagraphs (C) through (W) as subparagraphs (B) through (V), respectively; and

(3) in section 11(1), by striking “Commerce,” and “Director, National Institute of Standards and Technology, Department of Commerce,”.

(4) COMPENSATION FOR POSITIONS AT LEVEL V.—Section 5313 of title 5, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking the following item:

“Director, United States Travel Service, Department of Commerce.”;

and

(2) by redesigning subparagraphs (A) through (W) as subparagraphs (V) through (W), respectively;

(5) in section 11(1), by striking “Commerce,”; and

(6) in section 11(2), by striking “Commerce.”.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall be effective on the applicable date specified in section 102(c).

SEC. 109. PRIVATIZATION FRAMEWORK.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subchapter I of chapter 11 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by—

(1) in section 3533 of title 5, United States Code, by striking “Chief Information Officer, Department of Commerce,”; and

(2) by striking the item relating to the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, the Inspector General’s office, or the General Counsel’s office, or who provided overhead support to other components of the Department on a reimbursable basis, means all agencies to which functions those employees are transferred under the Department of Commerce Dismantling Act.

(2) This section applies with respect to any reduction in force that begins within 12 months after the date of enactment of this section; and

(B) is due to—

(i) the agency’s having excess personnel as a result of a transfer of function described in paragraph (1), as determined by—

(I) the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, in the case of a function transferred to the Office of Management and Budget; or

(II) the head of the agency, in the case of any function transferred to an agency other than the Office of Management and Budget.

(b) As soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this section, each affected agency shall establish an agencywide priority placement program to facilitate employment of employees who, due to a reduction in force described in subsection (a)(2), are scheduled to be separated from service;

(1) are scheduled to be separated from service;

(2) are separated from service;

(c)(1) Each agencywide priority placement program shall include provisions under which vacant position shall not be filled by the appointment or transfer of any individual from outside of that agency if—

(A) an individual described in paragraph (2) who is qualified for the position is available for the position at the time of the occurrence of the vacancy; and

(B) the position—

(i) is within the same commuting area as the individual’s last-held position (as referred to in clause (i)) or residence.

For purposes of this paragraph, a priority placement program, an individual shall be considered to be described in this paragraph if the most recent performance evaluation of that individual was at least successful (or the equivalent), and such individual is either—

(A) an employee of the agency who is scheduled to be separated, as described in subsection (b)(1); or

(B) an individual who became a former employee of the agency as a result of a separation, as described in subsection (b)(2).

(d)(1) Nothing in this section shall affect any priority placement program of the Department of Defense that is in operation as of the date of enactment of this section.

(2) Nothing in this section shall impair any placement program within an agency subject to a reduction in force resulting from a cause other than the Department of Commerce Dismantling Act.

(e) An individual shall cease to be eligible to participate in a program under this section on the earlier of—

(1) the conclusion of the 12-month period beginning on the date on which the individual first became eligible to participate under subsection (c)(1); or

(2) the date on which the individual declines a bona fide offer (or if the individual does not act on the offer, the last date on which the individual could accept the offer) from the affected agency of a position described in subsection (c)(1)(B).”.

""
(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—The chapter analysis for title 33 of United States Code, as amended by section 3329a, is amended by inserting the following:

```
3329A. Priority placement programs for employees affected by a reduction in force attributable to the Department of Commerce Disestablishment Act of 2019.
```

SEC. 111. FUNDING REDUCTIONS FOR TRANSFERRED FUNCTIONS.

(a) FUNDING REDUCTIONS.—Except as provided in subsection (b), the total amount obligated or expended by the United States in performing functions transferred under this chapter to the Division for the performance of those functions for fiscal year 1998; and

(1) for the first fiscal year that begins after the date specified in section 102(c), 75 percent of the total amount appropriated to the Department for the performance of those functions for fiscal year 1998; and

(2) for the second fiscal year that begins after the date specified in section 102(c) and for each fiscal year thereafter, 60 percent of the total amount appropriated to the Department for the performance of those functions for fiscal year 1998.

(b) EXCEPTION.—Subsection (a) shall not apply to obligations or expenditures incurred as a direct consequence of the termination, transfer, or other disposition of functions described in subsection (a) pursuant to this chapter.

(c) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—This section shall supersede any other provision of law that does not explicitly—

(1) refer to this section; and

(2) create an exemption from this section.

(d) RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE DIRECTOR.—The Director shall—

(1) ensure compliance with the requirements of this section; and

(2) include in each report under subsections (a) and (b) of section 106 a description of actions taken to comply with the requirements referred to in paragraph (1).

Subchapter B—Disposition of Programs, Functions, and Agencies of Department of Commerce

SEC. 201. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT.

(a) TERMINATED FUNCTIONS.—The Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3121 et seq.) is repealed.

(b) TRANSFER OF FINANCIAL OBLIGATIONS OWED TO THE DEPARTMENT.—There are transferred to the Secretary of the Treasury the loans, notes, bonds, debentures, securities, and other financial obligations owed by the Department of Commerce under the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965, together with all assets or other rights (including security interests) incident thereto, and all liabilities related thereto. There are assigned to the Secretary of the Treasury the functions, powers, and abilities vested in or delegated to the Secretary of Commerce or the Department of Commerce to manage, service, collect, sell, dispose of, or otherwise realize proceeds on obligations owed to the Secretary of Commerce or the Department of Commerce under the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965, together with all assets or other rights (including security interests) incident thereto, and all liabilities related thereto. There are assigned to the Secretary of the Treasury the functions, powers, and abilities vested in or delegated to the Secretary of Commerce or the Department of Commerce to manage, service, collect, sell, dispose of, or otherwise realize proceeds on obligations owed to the Secretary of Commerce or the Department of Commerce under the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965, together with all assets or other rights (including security interests) incident thereto, and all liabilities related thereto.

(2) TRANSFER TO NATIONAL OCEANIC AND ATMOSPHERIC ADMINISTRATION.—If, by the date specified in section 106(a), an appropriate arrangement for the privatization of functions of the National Technical Information Service under paragraph (1) has not been made, the National Technical Information Service shall be transferred to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration established in section 206.

(2) GOVERNMENT CORPORATION.—If, by the date specified in section 106(a), an appropriate arrangement for the privatization of functions of the National Technical Information Service under paragraph (1) has not been made, the National Technical Information Service shall be transferred to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration established in section 206.

(2) FUNDING.—No funds are authorized to be appropriated for the National Technical Information Service or any successor corporation established by legislation referred to in paragraph (3).
Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1999

SEC. 204. TERMINATED FUNCTIONS OF NATIONAL TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND INFORMATION ADMINISTRATION.

(a) REPEALS.—The following provisions of law are repealed:

(1) Subpart A of part IV of title III of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 390 et seq.), relating to assistance for public telecommunications facilities;

(2) Subpart B of part IV of title III of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 394), relating to the Endowment for Children's Educational Television;

(b) DISPOSAL OF NATIONAL TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND INFORMATION ADMINISTRATION LABORATORIES.

(1) PRIVATIZATION.—All laboratories of the National Telecommunications and Information Administration are transferred to the Director of the Office of Management and Budget for privatization in accordance with section 109 by the date specified in subsection (a) of that section.

(2) TERMINATION OF CERTAIN FUNCTIONS.—The functions of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration established in section 5112(b) of the Communications Act of 1934 shall be performed by the National Telecommunications and Information Administration effective October 1, 2000.

(c) TRANSFER OF NATIONAL TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND INFORMATION ADMINISTRATION FUNCTIONS.

(1) TRANSFER TO FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION.—Except as provided in subsection (b)(2), the functions of the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, and of the Secretary of Commerce and the Assistant Secretary for Communications and Information of the Department of Commerce with respect to the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, are transferred to the Federal Communications Commission. The functions transferred by this paragraph shall be placed in the organizational component of the Federal Communications Commission that is independent from all Federal Communications Commission functions directly related to trade negotiations. Such functions shall be performed by an individual whose principal professional expertise is in the area of telecommunications. The position to which such individual is appointed shall be graded at a level sufficiently high to attract a highly qualified individual, while ensuring autonomy in the conduct of such functions from all activities and influences associated with trade negotiations.

(2) REPEALS.—Any references in any provision of law (including the National Telecommunications and Information Administration Organization Act) to the Secretary of Commerce or the Assistant Secretary for Communications and Information of the Department of Commerce—

(A) with respect to a function vested pursuant to this section in the Federal Communications Commission shall be deemed to refer to the United States Trade Representative; and

(B) with respect to a function vested pursuant to this section in the Director of the National Bureau of Standards shall be deemed to refer to the Director of the National Bureau of Standards.

(3) TERMINATION OF NTIA.—Effective on the date specified in section 102(c), the National Telecommunications and Information Administration is abolished.

SEC. 205. TERMINATIONS AND TRANSFERS.

(a) TERMINATION OF MISCELLANEOUS RESEARCH PROGRAMS AND ACCOUNTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—No funds may be appropriated for any fiscal year for the following programs and accounts of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration:

(A) The National Undersea Research Program.

(B) The Fleet Modernization Program.

(C) The Charleston, South Carolina, Special Management Plan.

(D) Chesapeake Bay Observation Buoyas (as of September 30, 1990).

(E) Federal/State Weather Modification Grants.

(F) The Southeast Storm Research Account.

(G) The Southeast United States Caribbean Fisheries Oceanographic Coordinated Investigations Program.

(H) National Institute for Environmental Renewal.

(I) The Lake Champlain Study.

(J) The Maine Marine Research Center.

(K) The Sector.

(L) Pacific Island Technical Assistance.

(M) Sea Grant Oyster Disease Account.

(N) Sea Grant Zebra Mussel Account.

(O) National Weather Service non-Federal, non-wildfire Weather Service.

(F) National Weather Service Regional Climatic Centers.

(Q) National Weather Service Samoa Weather Forecast Office Repair and Upgrade Account.

(R) Dissemination of Weather Charts (Marine Fasimcle Service).

(S) The Climate and Global Change Account.

(T) The Global Learning and Observations to Benefit the Environment Program.

(U) Mussel watch.

(2) REPEALS.—The following provisions of law are repealed:

(A) The Ocean Thermal Conversion Act of 1980 (42 U.S.C. 901 et seq.).

(C) Title V of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1478 et seq.).

(D) The Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Tissue Bank Act (16 U.S.C. 943 et seq.).

(E) Section 208(c) of the National Sea Grant College Program Act (33 U.S.C. 1127(c)).

(F) Section 305 of the Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972 (16 U.S.C. 1454) is repealed effective October 1, 2000.

(G) The NOAA Fleet Modernization Act (33 U.S.C. 891 et seq.).

(I) The first section of the Act of August 8, 1956 (70 Stat. 1126, chapter 193; 16 U.S.C. 796d), relating to grants for commercial fisheries research.

(b) AERONAUTICAL MAPPING AND CHARTING.

(1) IN GENERAL.—The aeronautical mapping and charting functions of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration are transferred to the Defense Mapping Agency.

(2) TERMINATION OF CERTAIN FUNCTIONS.—The Defense Mapping Agency shall terminate any function transferred under paragraph (1) that are performed by the private sector.

(c) TRANSFERS OF MAPPING, CHARTING, AND GEODESY FUNCTIONS TO THE ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS.

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (b), the functions requested by the Administrator under subparagraph (A) of paragraphs (1) and (2) shall be transferred to the Army Corps of Engineers, except that:

(A) the functions transferred to the Army Corps of Engineers shall be performed by the Chief of Engineers or the Secretary of the Army.

(B) the functions transferred to the Army Corps of Engineers shall be performed by the Secretary of the Army on an annual basis.

(C) TRANSFER OF MAPPING, CHARTING, AND GEODESY FUNCTIONS TO THE ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (b), there are transferred to the Army Corps of Engineers the functions relating to mapping, charting, and geodesy authorized under the Act of August 7, 1947 (61 Stat. 727, chapter 504; 33 U.S.C. 854a).

(2) TERMINATION OF CERTAIN FUNCTIONS.—The Secretary of the Army, acting through the Chief of Engineers of the Army Corps of Engineers, may terminate any functions transferred under paragraph (1) that are performed by the private sector.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

July 29, 1999

15857

(d) NATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL SATELLITE, DATA, AND INFORMATION SYSTEM.—There are transferred to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration established in section 206 all functions and assets of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration that on the date immediately before the effective date of this section are authorized to be performed by the National Environmental Satellite, Data, and Information System.

(e) OCEANIC AND ATMOSPHERIC ADMINISTRATION.—There are transferred to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (including global programs) that on the date immediately before the effective date of this section were authorized to be performed by the Office of Oceanic and Atmospheric Research.

(1) NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE.

(1) IN GENERAL.—There are transferred to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration established in section 206 all functions and assets of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration that on the date immediately before the effective date of this section were authorized to be performed by the National Weather Service.

(2) DUTIES.—Except as provided in paragraph (3), to protect life and property and enhance the national economy, the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere, through the National Weather Service, shall be responsible for the following:

(A) Forecasts. The Administrator shall serve as the sole and official sources of weather and flood warnings for the Federal Government.

(B) The issuance of storm warnings.

(C) The collection, exchange, and distribution of meteorological, hydrological, climatic, and oceanographic data and information.

(D) The preparation of hydro-meteorological guidance and core forecast information.

(E) LIMITATIONS ON COMPETITION. The National Weather Service may not compete, or assist other entities in competing, with the private sector to provide a service in any case in which the private sector is prepared to provide a service to the private sector commercial enterprise or a private sector commercial enterprise is able to provide that service, unless—

(A) the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere finds that private sector commercial enterprises are unwilling or unable to provide the service; and

(B) the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere finds that the service provides vital weather warnings and forecasts for the protection of lives and property of the general public.

(4) ORGANIC ACT AMENDMENTS.—The chapter entitled “An Act to increase the efficiency and reduce the expenses of the Signal Corps of the Army, and to transfer the Weather Bureau to the Department of Agriculture”, approved October 1, 1890 (26 Stat. 653, chapter 390) is amended—

(A) by striking section 3 (15 U.S.C. 313); and

(B) in section 703—

(i) by striking “(a) NATIONAL IMPLEMENTATION PLAN.—”;

(ii) by striking paragraph (3) and redesignating paragraphs (4) through (6) as paragraphs (3) through (5), respectively; and

(iii) by striking paragraphs (7) through (10) as paragraphs (8) through (10), respectively; and

(B) in section 703—

(i) by striking “(a) NATIONAL IMPLEMENTATION PLAN.—”;

(ii) by striking paragraph (3) and redesignating paragraphs (4) through (6) as paragraphs (3) through (5), respectively; and

(iii) by striking paragraphs (7) through (10) as paragraphs (8) through (10), respectively; and

(2) SEPARATION PAY.—

(A) IN GENERAL. Commissioned officers may be separated from the active list of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Any officer so separated because of paragraph (1) shall, subject to subparagraph (B) and the availability of appropriations, be eligible for separation pay under section 9 of the chapter of June 3, 1948 (62 Stat. 299, chapter 390; 33 U.S.C. 853h) to the same extent as if such officer had been separated under section 8 of such chapter (62 Stat. 298, chapter 390; 33 U.S.C. 853g).

(B) TRANSFERRERS.—Any officer who, under paragraph (4), transfers to another of the uniformed services becomes employed in a civil service position shall not be eligible for separation pay under this paragraph.

(C) REPAYMENT.—(A) IN GENERAL. Any officer who receives separation pay under this paragraph shall be required to repay the amount received if, within 1 year after the date of the separation of such officer, he is reemployed in a civil service position in the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the duties of which position would formerly have been performed by a commissioned officer, as determined by the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere.

(B) LUMP SUM.—A repayment under this subparagraph is due within 1 year after the date of the separation of such officer.

(D) REPAYMENTS. In the case of any officer who makes a repayment under subparagraph (C)...

(1) The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration shall pay into the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund, on such officer's behalf, any deposit required under section 8422(e)(1) of title 5, United States Code, with respect to any prior service performed by that individual as such an officer; and

(II) To determine the amount required under this subparagraph, first determine, for purposes of any annuity or other similar benefit under the retirement system for members of the United States Coast Guard, the amount required under this subparagraph by the United States Coast Guard, and under terms and conditions specified by the Secretary, commissioned officers subject to paragraph (1) may transfer to the United States Coast Guard under section 716 of title 10, United States Code.

(5) RETIREMENT PROVISIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL. For commissioned officers who transfer under paragraph (4)(A) to the Armed Forces, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration shall pay into the Department of Defense Military Retirement Fund an amount, to be calculated by the Secretary of Defense in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury, equal to the actuarial present value of any retired or retainer pay they will draw upon retirement, including full credit for service in the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration as members of the civil service.

(B) OTHER TRANSFERS. For commissioned officers who transfer under paragraph (4)(B) to the United States Coast Guard, full credit for service performed by the individual as such an officer for purposes of any annuity or other similar benefit under the retirement system for members of the United States Coast Guard, pursuant to which is based on the separation of such officer.

(C) PAYMENT TO CERTAIN COMMISSIONED OFFICERS WHO TRANSFER TO CIVIL SERVICE POSITIONS.—(I) For a commissioned officer who becomes employed in a civil service position pursuant to paragraph (4)(C) and thereafter becomes subject to the Federal Employees’ Retirement System, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration shall pay, on such officer’s behalf—

(I) into the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund, the amounts required under clause (ii); and

(II) into the Government Securities Investment Fund, the amount required under clause (iii).

(ii) The amount required under this subclause is the amount of any deposit required under section 8422(e)(1) of title 5, United States Code, with respect to any prior service performed by the individual as a commissioned officer of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(iii) To determine the amount required under this subclause, first determine, for each year of service with respect to which the deposit under subclause (I) relates, the average compensation for such year (as determined under the last sentence of this subclause) multiplied by basic pay received by the individual for any such service, together with the sum of the amounts determined for the respective years under the first sentence. Finally, subtract from such sum the amount of the deposit under subclause (l). For purposes of the first sentence, the normal-cost percentage for any year shall be as determined for such year under the provisions of section 855(a)(1) of title 5, United States Code, except that, in the case of any year before the first year for which any normal-cost percentage was determined under such provisions, the applicable normal-cost percentage for such first year shall be used.

(iii) The amount required under this clause is the amount by which the separation pay to which the officer would have been entitled under the second sentence of paragraph (2)(A) (assuming the conditions for receiving such separation pay have been met) exceeds the amount of the deposit under clause (ii)(i), if at all.

(iv)(I) Any contribution made under this subparagraph to the Thrift Savings Plan shall revert to any other contributions or benefits under the Thrift Savings Plan, with respect to the year in which the contribution is made.

(ii) A remainder referred to in subclause (i) shall not be treated as failing to meet any nondiscrimination requirement by reason of the making of such contribution.

(b) Rules of construction.

(A) In general.—The following provisions of law are repealed:

(iv) Section 8(c) of Public Law 87–649 (76 Stat. 465).

(b) Rule of construction.—No repeal under this subparagraph shall affect any annuity or other similar benefit payable under any provision of law so repealed, based on the separation of any individual from the NOAA Corps on or before September 30, 2000. Any authority exercised by the Secretary of Commerce or the designee of the Secretary with respect to any such benefit shall be exercised by the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere and any authorization of appropriations relating to those benefits, which is in effect as of September 30, 2000, shall be considered to have remained in effect.

(c) Repeal by reason of repeal.—The effective date of the repeals under subparagraph (A) shall be October 1, 2000.

(d) Applicability of retirement laws.—

(1) In general.—Any laws relating to the retirement of commissioned officers of the Navy shall apply to commissioned officers of the former Commissioned Officers Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and its predecessors.

(2) Active military service.—Active service of officers of the former Commissioned Officers Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and its predecessors who have retired from the Commissioned Officers Corps shall be deemed to be active military service in the United States Navy for purposes of all rights, privileges, immunities, and benefits provided to retired commissioned officers of the Navy by the laws of the United States and any agency thereof.

(3) Civilian service.—A retired commissioned officer of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration shall be considered to have remained in effect.

(4) Timing of benefits.—Any retirement benefit provided to a member of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration by reason of this subparagraph shall be exercisable by the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere.

(5) Credibility of national ocean and atmospheric administration service for purposes relating to reductions in force.—The Commissioned Officers Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and its predecessors, the authority of the Secretary of the Navy shall be exercised by the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere.

(6) Its predecessors defined.—For purposes of this subparagraph, the term ‘‘its predecessors’’ means—

(i) The Commissioned Officers Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and its predecessors, the authority of the Secretary of the Navy shall be exercised by the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere.

(ii) Its predecessors defined.—For purposes of this subparagraph, the term ‘‘its predecessors’’ means—

(A) the Commissioned Officers Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and its predecessors, the authority of the Secretary of the Navy shall be exercised by the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere.

(B) required findings.—The Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere may not enter into a contract pursuant to this paragraph unless the Administrator has been requested by Congress to enter into the contract at the level of authority to which the Administrator must respond. The Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere may not enter into a contract under this paragraph unless the contract includes—

(i) a provision under which the obligation of the United States to pay amounts that were appropriated before the date of the termination of the contract and are unobligated on the date of the termination.

(ii) Any amount specified in the contract for such acquisition; or

(iii) Appropriations relating to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, as provided for under any law, these vessels may be scrapped under the authority of the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere, as provided for under any law, these vessels may be scrapped under the authority of the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration; or

(iv) Any authority exercised by the Secretary of Commerce or the designee of the Secretary with respect to any such benefit shall be exercised by the Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere and any authorization of appropriations relating to those benefits, which is in effect as of September 30, 2000, shall be considered to have remained in effect.

(i) National marine fisheries service.—There are transferred to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration all functions that on the day before the effective date of this section are vested in the Secretary of Commerce.

(ii) National ocean service.—Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, there are transferred to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration established under section 874a of title 31, United States Code, the functions of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration that on the date immediately before the effective date of this section are authorized to be performed by the National Ocean Service (including the Coastal Ocean Program).

(k) Transfer of coastal nonpoint pollution control functions.—There are transferred to the Environmental Protection Agency the functions under section 6217 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 1455b) that on the day before the effective date of this section are vested in the Secretary of Commerce.

SEC. 206. NATIONAL OCEANIC AND ATMOSPHERIC ADMINISTRATION.

(a) Establishment.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—There is established as an independent establishment in the executive branch of the Federal Government an agency to be known as the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(2) ADMINISTRATOR OF OCEANS AND ATMOSPHERE.—The Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere shall—

(A) be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; and

(B) receive basic pay at the rate payable for level II of the Executive Schedule under section 5315 of title 5, United States Code.

(3) FUNCTIONS.—The Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere shall perform the functions performed by the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, except as otherwise provided in this chapter.

(b) PRINCIPAL OFFICER.—There shall be in the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration a Director, who—

(1) shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; and

(2) shall receive basic pay at the rate payable for level IV of the Executive Schedule under section 5315 of title 5, United States Code.

(c) ADDITIONAL OFFICERS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—There shall be in the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration—

(A) a Chief Financial Officer; to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate;

(B) a Chief of External Affairs, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; and

(C) a General Counsel, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate;

and

(D) an Inspector General, to be appointed in accordance with the Inspector General Act of 1978 (5 U.S.C. App.).

(2) Each Officer appointed under this subsection shall receive basic pay at the rate payable for level IV of the Executive Schedule under section 5315 of title 5, United States Code.

(d) TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS AND OFFICES.—Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, there are transferred to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration—

(1) the functions and offices of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, as provided in section 205;

(2) the National Bureau of Standards, along with its functions and offices, as provided in section 202; and

(3) the Office of Space Commerce, along with its functions and offices.

(e) EXCLUSION OF POSITIONS.—The Administrator of Oceans and Atmosphere may eliminate positions that are no longer necessary because of the termination of functions under this section and sections 202 and 205.

(f) AGENCY TERMINATIONS.—

(1) TERMINATIONS.—On the date specified in section 208(a), the following shall terminate:

(i) The Office of the Deputy Administrator and Assistant Secretary of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(ii) The Office of the Deputy Under Secretary of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(iii) The Office of Chief Scientist of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(iv) The position of Deputy Assistant Secretary for Education and Management.

(v) The position of Deputy Assistant Secretary for International Affairs.

(vi) Any office of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration or the National Institute of Standards and Technology that is to perform high performance computing communications, legislative, personnel, public relations, budget, constituent, intergovernmental, international, policy and strategic planning, sustainable development, administrative, financial, educational, legal and coordination functions.

(vii) The position of Associate Director of the National Institute of Standards and Technology.

(2) TERMINATION OF EXECUTIVE SCHEDULE POSITIONS.—Each position that, before the effective date of this section, was expressly authorized by law, or the incumbent of which is authorized to receive compensation at the rate payable for level II of the Executive Schedule under sections 5315 through 5318 of title 5, United States Code, is abolished.

(3) TERMINATION OF REORGANIZATION.—The functions referred to in subparagraph (A) and (B) shall be performed only by officers described in subsection (c).

(4) FUNDING REDUCTIONS RESULTING FROM REORGANIZATION.—

(A) The first fiscal year that begins after the date specified in section 102(c), 50 percent of the total amount appropriated for fiscal year 1998 for the performance of all functions vested in the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the National Institute of Standards and Technology, and the Office of Space Commerce, except for those functions transferred under section 205 to agencies or departments other than the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration; and

(B) the second fiscal year that begins after the abolishment date specified in section 102(c), 65 percent of the total amount appropriated for fiscal year 1998 for the performance of all functions vested in the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the National Institute of Standards and Technology, and the Office of Space Commerce, except for those functions transferred under section 205 to agencies or departments other than the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(5) RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET.—The Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall include in each report under subsections (a) and (b) of section 106 a description of actions taken to comply with the requirements of this subsection.

SEC. 207. MISCELLANEOUS TERMINATIONS; MORATORIUM ON PROGRAM ACTIVITIES.

(a) TERMINATIONS.—The following agencies and programs of the Department of Commerce are terminated:

(1) The Minority Business Development Administration.

(2) The programs and activities of the National Telecommunications and Information Administration referred to in section 204(a).

(3) The Advanced Technology Program under section 28 of the National Institute of Standards and Technology Act (15 U.S.C. 278n), as in effect on the day before the effective date of section 202(d).

(5) The National Institute of Standards and Technology METRIC Program.

(b) MORATORIUM ON PROGRAM ACTIVITIES.—The authority to make grants, enter into contracts, provide assistance, incur obligations, or provide commitments (including extensions of existing obligations or commitments, except if required by law) with respect to the agencies and programs described in subsection (a) is terminated effective on the date of enactment of this chapter.

SEC. 208. EFFECTIVE DATE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subsection (b), this title shall take effect on the date specified in section 102(c).

(b) PROVISIONS EFFECTIVE ON DATE OF ENACTMENT.—The following provisions of this title shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act:

(1) Section 201.

(2) Section 205(g), except as otherwise provided in this section.

(3) Section 207(b).

(4) This section.

Subchapter C—Establishment of United States Trade Administration

PART I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 301. DEFINITIONS.

In this title:

(1) FEDERAL AGENCY.—The term "Federal agency" has the meaning given to the term "agency" in section 551(1) of title 5, United States Code.

(2) TRADE ADMINISTRATION.—The term "Trade Administration" means the United States Trade Administration established by section 311 of this chapter.

(3) TRADE REPRESENTATIVE.—The term "Trade Representative" means the United States Trade Representative provided for under section 311 of this chapter.

PART II—UNITED STATES TRADE ADMINISTRATION

SEC. 311. ESTABLISHMENT OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE ADMINISTRATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Trade Administration is established in the executive branch of Government as an independent establishment as defined in section 104 of title 5, United States Code. The Trade Representative shall be the head of the Trade Administration.
SEC. 312. FUNCTIONS OF THE TRADE REPRESENTATIVE. (a) IN GENERAL.—In addition to the functions transferred to the Trade Representative by this title, such other functions as the President may assign or delegate to the Trade Representative, and such other functions as the Trade Representative may, after the effective date of this title, be required to carry out by law, the Trade Representative shall—

(1) serve as the principal advisor to the President on international trade policy and advise the President on the impact of other policies of the United States Government on international trade;

(2) exercise primary responsibility, with the advice of the interagency organization established under section 242 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, for developing and implementing international trade policy, including commodity matters and, to the extent related to international trade, policy, direct investment matters and, in exercising such responsibility, advance and implement, as the primary mandate of the Trade Administration, the goals of the United States to—

(A) maintain United States leadership in international trade liberalization and expansion efforts;

(B) incorporate the ability of the United States economy to compete in international markets and to respond flexibly to changes in international competition; and

(C) promote United States participation in international trade through aggressive promotion and marketing of goods and services that are products of the United States;

(3) exercise lead responsibility for the conduct of international trade negotiations, including negotiations relating to commodity matters and, to the extent that such negotiations are related to international trade, direct investment negotiations;

(4) exercise lead responsibility for the establishment of a national export strategy, including policies designed to implement such strategy;

(5) with the advice of the interagency organization established under section 242 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, for developing policy guidance to other Federal agencies on international trade, commodity, and direct investment functions to the extent necessary to assure the coordination of international trade policy;

(6) seek and promote new opportunities for United States products and services to compete in international markets;

(7) assist small businesses in developing export markets;

(8) enforce the laws of the United States relating to international trade;

(9) analyze economic trends and developments; and

(10) report directly to Congress—

(A) to the Committee on Finance relating to trade negotiations conducted by the Trade Administration;

(B) to the Committee on Finance relating to the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988; the Trade Act of 1974, the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, section 303 of the Tariff Act of 1930, and any other law relating to trade agreements; and

(C) with respect to other issues pertaining to international trade;

(11) keep each official adviser to the United States delegations to international conferences, meetings, and negotiation sessions relating to commodity matters and, to the extent that such official adviser is appointed from the Committee on Finance of the Senate or the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives under section 161 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2211) currently informed on United States negotiating objectives with respect to—

(A) trade agreements;

(B) the status of negotiations in progress with respect to such agreements; and

(C) the nature of any changes in domestic law or the administration thereof that the Trade Representative may recommend to Congress to carry out any trade agreement;

(12) consult and cooperate with State and local governments and other interested parties to identify areas of inter- est to such governments and parties, and to the extent related to international trade matters, on investment matters, and, when appropriate, inform such parties;

(13) serve as the principal advisor to the President on Government policies designed to contribute to enhancing the ability of United States goods and services to compete in international markets;

(14) develop recommendations for national strategies and specific policies intended to enhance the productivity and international competitiveness of United States industries;

(15) serve as the principal advisor to the President in identifying and assessing the consequences of any Government policies that adversely affect, or have the potential to adversely affect, the international competitiveness of United States industries and services;

(16) promote cooperation between business, labor, and Government to improve industrial performance and the ability of United States industries to compete in international markets and to facilitate consultation and communication between the Government and the private sector about domestic industrial performance and prospects and the performance and prospects of foreign competitors; and

(17) monitor and enforce foreign government compliance with international trade agreements to protect United States interests.

(b) INTERAGENCY ORGANIZATION.—The Trade Representative shall be the chairperson of the interagency organization established under section 242 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962.

(c) NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL.—The Trade Representative shall be a member of the National Security Council.

(d) ADVISORY COUNCIL.—The Trade Representative shall be Deputy Chairman of the National Council on International Monetary and Financial Policies established under Executive Order No. 11269, issued Feb- ruary 14, 1966.

(e) AGRICULTURE.—

(1) CONSULTATIONS.—The Trade Representative shall consult with the Secretary of Agriculture or the designee of the Secretary of Agriculture concerning all matters relating to negotiations and other functions that involve international trade in agricultural products.
Subpart C—Transfers to the Trade and Development Agencies

SEC. 331. OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE.

(a) ABOLISHMENT OF OFFICE OF THE USTR.—Effective on the applicable date specified in section 381 of this title, the Office of the United States Trade Representative established by section 114 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 114) is abolished.

(b) TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS.—Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, all functions of the Office of the United States Trade Representative, any other officer or employee, or any agency or office of the United States Trade Representative acting in that capacity, are transferred to and merged with the Office of the United States Trade Representative established under this title effective on the applicable date specified in section 102(c).

SEC. 332. TRANSFERS FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

There are transferred to the Trade Administration the following functions:

(1) All functions of, and authority transferred under section 321(c).

(2) The Assistant Secretary for Trade and Policy Analysis shall exercise the functions transferred under section 332(1)(A).

(3) The Assistant Secretary for Export Administration shall exercise all functions transferred under section 332(1)(B).

(4) The Assistant Secretary for Import Administration shall exercise all functions transferred under section 332(1)(C).

(5) The Assistant Secretary for International Trade shall exercise all functions transferred under section 332(1)(D).

(6) The Assistant Secretary for Policy Analysis shall exercise all functions transferred under sections 332(1)(E) and 332(2).

SEC. 333. OVERSEAS PRIVATE INVESTMENT CORPORATION.

(a) BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—The second and third sentences of section 231(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2181(b)) are amended to read as follows: “The United States Trade Representative shall be the Chairman of the Board, the Assistant Administrator of the Agency for International Development (who shall serve as Vice Chairman) shall serve on the Board.”

(b) EX OFFICIO MEMBER OF OVERSEAS PRIVATE INVESTMENT CORPORATION BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—The Assistant Administrator for Export Promotion of the United States Trade Administration shall serve as an ex officio nonvoting member of the Board of Directors of the Overseas Private Investment Corporation.

SEC. 334. CONSOLIDATION OF EXPORT PROMOTION AND FINANCING ACTIVITIES.

(a) SUBMISSION OF PLAN.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this chapter, the President shall submit to Congress a comprehensive plan:

(A) to consolidate Federal nonagricultural export promotion activities and export financing activities; and

(B) to transfer the functions to the Trade Administration.

(b) CONTENTS OF PLAN.—The plan under subparagraph (a) shall—

(A) eliminate overlap and duplication among all Federal nonagricultural export promotion activities and export financing activities;

(B) a unified budget for all Federal nonagricultural export promotion activities which eliminates funding for overlapping and duplicative activities identified under subparagraph (A); and

(C) a long-term agenda for developing better cooperation between local, State, and Federal programs and activities designed to stimulate or assist United States businesses in exporting nonagricultural goods or services that are products of the United States, including sharing of facilities, costs, and export market research data.

(b) PLAN ELEMENTS.—The plan under subsection (a) shall—

(1) place all Federal nonagricultural export promotion activities and export financing activities within the Trade Administration;

(2) achieve an overall 25 percent reduction in the amount of funding for all Federal nonagricultural export promotion activities by not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this chapter;
(3) identify any function of the Department of Commerce or other Federal department or agency not transferred to the Trade Administration by this title, which should be transferred to the Trade Administration in order to ensure United States competitiveness in international trade.

(4) assess the feasibility and potential savings resulting from—

(A) the consolidation of the Export-Import Bank of the United States and the Overseas Private Investment Corporation;

(B) the consolidation of the Boards of Directors of the Export-Import Bank and the Overseas Private Investment Corporation; and

(C) the consolidation of the Trade and Development Agency with the consolidations described in subparagraphs (A) and (B).

(c) DEFINITION.—As used in this section, the term "Federal nonagricultural export promotion activities" means all programs or activities of any department or agency of the Federal Government (including trade missions, and departments and agencies with representative functions) that provide assistance to the Trade Promotion Coordinating Committee established under section 2312 of the Export Enhancement Act of 1988 (15 U.S.C. 4727), that are designed to stimulate United States business in exporting nonagricultural goods or services that are products of the United States.

SEC. 337. FUNCTIONS RELATED TO TEXTILE AGREEMENTS.

(a) FUNCTIONS OF CITA.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), those functions delegated to the Committee for the Administration of Textile Agreements established under Executive Order No. 11651 (7 U.S.C. 1854 note) (in this subsection referred to as "CITA") are transferred to the Trade Administration.

(2) OTHER FUNCTIONS.—Those functions delegated to CITA that relate to the assessment of the impact of textile imports on domestic industry are transferred to the International Trade Commission. The International Trade Commission shall make a determination and advise the President of the determination not later than 60 days after receiving a request for an investigation.

(b) ABOLITION OF CITA.—CITA is abolished.

Subpart D—Administrative Provisions

SEC. 341. PERSONNEL PROVISIONS.

(a) APPPOINTMENTS.—The Trade Representative may appoint and fix the compensation of such officers and employees, including investigators, attorneys, and administrative law judges, as may be necessary to carry out the functions of the Trade Representative and the Trade Administration. Except as otherwise provided by law, such officers and employees shall be appointed in accordance with the civil service laws and their compensation fixed in accordance with title 5, United States Code.

(b) POSITIONS ABOVE GS–15.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—At the request of the Trade Representative, the Director of the Office of Personnel Management shall, under section 5108 of title 5, United States Code, provide for the establishment in a grade level above GS–15 of the General Schedule, and in the case of an individual who is transferred in accordance with section 3109 of title 5, United States Code, if the individual appointed to such position is an individual who is transferred in connection with the transfer of functions and offices pursuant to this title and, on the day before the effective date of this title, holds a position and has duties comparable to those of the position to which appointed pursuant to this subsection.

(b) TERMINATION OF AUTHORITY.—The authority under this subsection with respect to any position established at a grade level above GS–15 when the person first appointed to fill such position ceases to hold such position.

(c) EXCEPTION TO EXECUTIVE POSITION LIMITATION.—For purposes of section 412(a)(3)(A) of the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978, an individual appointed under this subsection shall be deemed to occupy the same position as the individual occupied on the day before the effective date of this title.

(d) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—

(A) VOLUNTARY SERVICES UNDER TITLE 5.—

The Trade Representative is authorized to accept voluntary and uncompensated services without regard to the provisions of section 3109 of title 5, United States Code, if such services will not be used to displace Federal employees employed on a full-time, part-time, or sessional basis.

(B) VOLUNTARY SERVICES UNDER TITLE 5.—

The Trade Representative is authorized to accept volunteer service in accordance with the provisions of section 3111 of title 5, United States Code.

(2) PAYMENT OF EXPENSES.—The Trade Representative is authorized to provide for incidental expenses, including transportation, lodging, and subsistence for individuals who provide voluntary services under subparagraph (A) or (B) of paragraph (1).

(b) LIMITATION.—An individual who provides voluntary services under paragraph (1)(A) shall not be considered a Federal employee for any purpose other than for purposes of chapter 61 of title 5, United States Code, relating to compensation for work injuries, and chapter 171 of title 28, United States Code, relating to tort claims.

SEC. 342. DELEGATION AND ASSIGNMENT.

As excepted otherwise prohibited by law or otherwise provided by this title, the Trade Representative may delegate any of the functions transferred to the Trade Administration by this title to any function transferred or granted to the Trade Representative after the effective date of this title to such officers and employees of the Trade Administration that the Trade Representative may designate, and may authorize successive redelegations of such functions as may be necessary or appropriate. No redelegations by the Trade Representative under this section or any other provision of this title shall relieve the Trade Representative of responsibility for the actions of such functions.

SEC. 343. SUCCESSION.

(a) ORDER OF SUCCESSION.—Subject to the authority of the President, and except as provided in section 321(b), the Trade Representative shall prescribe the order by which officers of the Trade Administration who are appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall act, or perform the functions of, the Trade Representative or any other officer of the Trade Administration appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, during the absence or disability of the Trade Representative or such other officer, or in the event of a vacancy in the office of the Trade Representative or such other officer.

(b) CONTINUATION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, and unless the President directs otherwise, an individual acting for the Trade Representative or another officer of the Trade Administration pursuant to subsection (a) shall continue to serve in that capacity until the absence or disability of the Trade Representative or such other officer no longer exists or a successor to the Trade Representative or such other officer has been appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

SEC. 344. REORGANIZATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subsection (b), the Trade Representative is authorized to allocate or reallocate functions among the officers of the Trade Administration, and to establish, consolidate, alter, or discontinue such organizational entities in the Trade Administration as may be necessary or appropriate.

(b) EXCEPTION.—The Trade Representative may not exercise the authority under subsection (a) to establish, consolidate, alter, or discontinue any organizational entity in the Trade Administration or allocate or reallocate any function of an officer or employee of the Trade Administration that is inconsistent with any specific provision of this title.

SEC. 345. RULES.

The Trade Representative is authorized to prescribe, in accordance with the provisions of chapters 5 and 6 of title 5, United States Code, such rules and regulations as the Trade Representative determines necessary or appropriate to administer and manage the functions of the Trade Representative or the Trade Administration.

SEC. 346. FUNDS TRANSFER.

The Trade Representative may, when authorized in an appropriation Act in any fiscal year, transfer funds from one appropriation to another within the Trade Administration, except that—

(1) no appropriation for any fiscal year shall be either increased or decreased by more than 10 percent; and

(2) no such transfer shall result in increasing any such appropriation above the amount authorized to be appropriated for that purpose.

SEC. 347. CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to the provisions of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, the Trade Representative may make, enter into, and perform such contracts, leases, cooperative agreements, grants, or other similar transactions with public agencies, private organizations, and individuals for the administration of programs and make payments or disbursements, and by way of advance or reimbursement, and, in the case of any grant, with necessary adjustments on account of overpayments and underpayments as the Trade Representative considers necessary or appropriate to carry out the functions of the Trade Representative or the Trade Administration.

(b) Exception.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, the authority to enter into contracts or to make payments under this chapter shall be effective only to such extent, or in such amounts, as are provided in advance in appropriation Acts. This subsection does not apply with respect to the authority granted under section 349.

SEC. 348.-USE OF FACILITIES.

(a) USE BY TRADE REPRESENTATIVE.—In carrying out any function of the Trade Representative or the Trade Administration, the Trade Representative, with or without reimbursement, may use the research, services, equipment, and facilities of—

(1) an individual;

(2) a public or private nonprofit agency or organization, including any agency or instrumentality of the United States or of any State, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or any territory or possession of the United States;

(3) any political subdivision of any State, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or any territory or possession of the United States; or

(4) any foreign government.

(b) USE BY TRADE REPRESENTATIVE FACILITIES.—The Trade Representative, under terms, at rates, and for periods that the Trade Representative considers to be in the public interest, may permit the use by public and private agencies, corporations, associations or other organizations, or individuals, of any real property, or any facility, structure or other improvement thereon, under the custody of the Trade Representative. The Trade Representative may require permittees under this section to maintain or recondition, at their own expense, the real property, facilities, structures, and improvements used by such permittees.

SEC. 349.-GIFTS AND BEQUESTS.

(a) USE BY TRADE REPRESENTATIVE.—The Trade Representative is authorized to accept, hold, administer, and utilize gifts and bequests of property, both real and personal, and for the purpose of aiding or facilitating the work of the Trade Administration. Gifts and bequests of money and property, or the proceeds thereof, shall be deposited in the United States Treasury in a separate fund and shall be disbursed on order of the Trade Representative. Property accepted pursuant to this subsection, and the proceeds thereof, shall be used as nearly as possible in accordance with the terms of the gift or bequest.

(b) TAX TREATMENT.—For the purpose of Federal, State, or local taxation, all gifts or bequests of property, both real and personal, which are accepted by the Trade Representative shall be treated as if the United States, or any of its agencies or instrumentalities, had accepted them, provided such acceptance is characterized by a principal and interest to the United States.

(c) INVESTMENT.—(1) IN GENERAL.—Upon the request of the Trade Representative, the Secretary of the Treasury may invest and reinvest in securities, guaranteed as to principal and interest by the United States any moneys contained in the fund provided for in subsection (a).

(2) TRADING.—Income accruing from the securities referred to in paragraph (1), and from any other property held by the Trade Representative pursuant to subsection (a), shall be deposited to the credit of the fund; and

(b) be disbursed on order of the Trade Representative.

SEC. 350.—WORKING CAPITAL FUND.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Trade Representative is authorized to establish for the Trade Administration a working capital fund, to be available without fiscal year limitation, for expenses necessary for the maintenance and operation of such common administrative services as the Trade Representative shall find to be desirable in the interest of economy and efficiency, including—

(1) a central supply service for stationery and other supplies and equipment for which adequate stocks may be maintained;

(2) central messenger, mail, and telephone service and other communications services;

(3) office space and central services for document reproduction and for graphics and visual aids;

(4) a central library service; and

(5) such other services as may be approved by the Director of the Office of Management and Budget.

(b) OPERATION OF FUND.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The capital of the fund shall consist of any appropriations made for the purpose of providing working capital and the fair and reasonable value of such stocks of supplies, equipment, and other assets and inventories on hand as the Trade Representative may transfer to the fund, less the related liabilities and unpaid obligations.

(2) ADVANCE REIMBURSEMENTS.—The fund shall be reimbursed in advance from available funds of agencies and offices in the Trade Administration, or from other sources, for supplies and services at rates which will approximate the expense of operation, including the cost of normal wear and the depreciation of equipment.

(3) OTHER CREDITS.—In addition to the credits made under paragraph (1), the fund may be credited with receipts from sale or exchange of property and receipts in payment for loss or damage to property owned by the fund.

(4) SURPLUS.—There shall be covered into the United States Treasury as miscellaneous receipts any surplus of the fund (all assets, liabilities, and prior losses considered) above the amount required under or appropriated to establish and maintain the fund.

(5) TRANSFERS TO FUND.—There shall be transferred to the fund the stocks of supplies, equipment, other assets, liabilities, and unpaid obligations relating to those services which the Trade Representative determines will be performed.

SEC. 351.—SERVICE CHARGES.

(a) AUTHORITY.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Trade Representative may establish reasonable fees and commissions with respect to applications, documents, awards, loans, grants, research data, services, and assistance administered by the Trade Administration. The Trade Representative may change and abolish such fees and commissions. Before establishing, changing, or abolishing any schedule of fees or commissions under this section, the Trade Representative may submit such schedule to Congress.

(b) DEPOSITS.—The Trade Representative is authorized to require a deposit before the Trade Representative provides any item, information, service, or assistance for which a fee or commission is required under this section.

(c) DEPOSIT OF MONEYS.—Moneys received under this section shall be deposited in the Treasury in a special account for use by the Trade Representative and are authorized to be appropriated and made available until expended.

(d) FACTORS IN ESTABLISHING FEES AND COMMISSIONS.—In establishing reasonable fees and commissions the Trade Representative may take into account—

(1) the actual costs which will be incurred in providing the items, information, services, or assistance;

(2) the efficiency of the Government in providing such items, information, services, or assistance;

(3) the portion of the cost that will be incurred in providing such items, information, services, or assistance which may be attributed to benefits for the general public rather than exclusively for the person to whom the items, information, services, or assistance is provided;

(4) any public service which occurs through the provision of such items, information, services, or assistance; and

(5) such other factors as the Trade Representative considers appropriate.

(e) REFUNDS OF EXCESS PAYMENTS.—In any case in which the Trade Representative determines that any person has made a payment which is not required under this section or has made a payment which is in excess of the amount required under this section, the Trade Representative, upon application by the other party, may make a refund to be made from applicable funds.

SEC. 352.—SEAL OF OFFICE.

The Trade Representative shall cause a seal of office to be made for the Trade Administration of such design as the Trade Representative shall approve. Judicial notice shall be taken of such seal.

Subpart E.—Related Agencies

SEC. 361.—INTERAGENCY TRADE ORGANIZATION.

Section 262(a)(3) of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 (19 U.S.C. 1827(a)(3)) is amended to read as follows:

(3)(a) The interagency organization established under subsection (a) shall be composed of—

(i) the United States Trade Representative, who shall be the chairperson,

(ii) the Secretary of Labor,

(iii) the Secretary of the Treasury,

(iv) the Secretary of Agriculture,

(v) the Secretary of State, and

(vi) such other representatives authorized by other departments and agencies as the United States Trade Representative shall designate.

(b) The United States Trade Representative may invite representatives from other agencies, as appropriate, to attend particular meetings if subject matters of specific functional interest to such agencies are under consideration. It shall meet at such times and with respect to such matters as the President or the chairperson shall direct.

SEC. 362.—NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL.

The fourth paragraph of section 421(a) of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 421(a)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (5), (6), and (7) paragraphs (6), (7), and (8), respectively; and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (4) the following new paragraph:

"(8) the United States Trade Representative;"

SEC. 363.—INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND.

Section 3 of the Bretton Woods Agreement (22 U.S.C. 286a) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(e) The United States executive director of the Fund shall consult with the United States Trade Representative;"
States Trade Representative with respect to matters under consideration by the Fund which relate to trade.

Subpart F—Conforming Amendments

SEC. 371. AMENDMENTS TO GENERAL PROVISIONS.

(a) Inspector General.—The Inspector General of the Trade Representative, under this title or chapter 1 of title III of the Act, and with the advice and consent of the Senate, is appointed under subsection (a) who will carry out such functions until funds for that purpose are otherwise available.

CHAPTER 4—ADMINISTRATION OF TRADE AGREEMENTS, REPRESENTATION IN TRADE NEGOTIATIONS, AND OTHER TRADE MATTERS

SEC. 141. FUNCTIONS OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE.

The United States Trade Representative, established under section 111 of the Department of Commerce Appropriation Act, 1955 (15 U.S.C. 1507), is repealed.

(a) POSITIONS AT LEVEL II.—Section 5313 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by striking the paragraph relating to Deputy United States Trade Representative and inserting the following:

"(A) with respect to the personnel personnel system in accordance with this Act—

(1) which were transferred to the Department of Commerce from the Department of
State by Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1979;

(2) in section 332 of the Department of Commerce Dismantling Act; and;

(3) in section 111 of the Department of Commerce Appropriation Act, 1955 (15 U.S.C. 1507), is repealed.

(b) UNDER SECRETARY; ASSISTANT SECRETARIES; OTHER POSITIONS.—

(1) In section 5311 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by striking the paragraph relating to Deputy United States Trade Representative and inserting the following:

"(A) the Deputy United States Trade Representative, under this title or chapter 1 of the Act, and with the advice and consent of the Senate, is appointed under subsection (a) who will carry out such functions.

(2) Table of contents.—Title I of the table of contents of the Trade Act of 1974 is amended by striking the items relating to chapter 4 and inserting:

"CHAPTER 4—ADMINISTRATION OF TRADE AGREEMENTS, REPRESENTATION IN TRADE NEGOTIATIONS, AND OTHER TRADE MATTERS

SEC. 141. FUNCTIONS OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE.

"The United States Trade Representative, established under section 111 of the Depart-

(a) POSITIONS AT LEVEL II.—Section 5313 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by striking the paragraph relating to Deputy United States Trade Representative and inserting the following:

"(A) with respect to the personnel personnel system in accordance with this Act—

(1) which were transferred to the Department of Commerce from the Department of
State by Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1979;

(2) in section 332 of the Department of Commerce Dismantling Act; and;

(3) in section 111 of the Department of Commerce Appropriation Act, 1955 (15 U.S.C. 1507), is repealed.

(b) UNDER SECRETARY; ASSISTANT SECRETARIES; OTHER POSITIONS.—

(1) Subsection (a) of the first section of the Act entitled "An Act to establish the Department of Commerce and Labor", approved February 14, 1903 (15 U.S.C. 1501), is repealed.

(2) The Act entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment of one additional Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and for other pur-

(4) The chapter entitled "An Act to authorize an additional Assistant Secretary of Commerce", approved February 16, 1962 (15 U.S.C. 1508), is repealed.

(b) ANNUAL REPORTS.—Section 141 of the Act entitled "An Act to establish the Department of Commerce and Labor", approved February 14, 1903 (15 U.S.C. 1511), is repealed.

(c) BUREAUS IN DEPARTMENT,—

(1) The first sentence of the chapter of March 18, 1904 (33 Stat. 135, chapter 716; 15 U.S.C. 1508), is repealed.

(d) Statistics.—The chapter entitled "An Act to establish the Department of Commerce and Labor", approved February 14, 1903 (15 U.S.C. 1511), is repealed.

(e) ESSENTIALS.—Title III of the Act entitled "An Act making appropriations for the Department of State, Justice, and Commerce for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1945, and for other purposes", approved June 28, 1944 (15 U.S.C. 1511), is amended by striking the paragraph relating to the working capital fund of the Department of Commerce.

(f) GIFTS, BEQUESTS, INVESTMENTS.—Sections 1, 2, and 3 of Public Law 88-611 (15 U.S.C. 1522, 1523, and 1524) are repealed.

SEC. 373. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS RELATING TO EXECUTIVE SCHEDULE POSI-TIONS.

(a) POSITIONS AT LEVEL II.—Section 5313 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by striking the paragraph relating to Deputy United States Trade Representative and inserting the following:

"(d) The United States Trade Representative.

"(e) Chief Financial Officer, United States Trade Administration.

Subpart G—Miscellaneous

SEC. 381. EFFECTIVE DATE.

(a) In General.—This title shall take effect on the date specified in section 102(c), except that—

(1) section 336 shall take effect on the date of enactment of this chapter; and

(2) at any time after the date of enactment of this chapter the officers provided for in chapter 2 may be nominated and appointed, as provided in such chapter.

SEC. 382. INTERIM APPOINTMENTS.

(a) In General.—If one or more officers required by this title to be appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate have not entered upon office on the effective date of this title and notwithstanding any other provision of law, the President may designate any officer who was appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate or who was nominated before the effective date of this title, to act in the office until it is filled as provided by this title.

(b) COMPENSATION.—Any officer acting in an office pursuant to subsection (a) shall receive compensation at the rate prescribed by this title for such officer.

SEC. 383. FUNDING REDUCTIONS RESULTING FROM REORGANIZATION.

(a) FUNDING REDUCTIONS.—Notwithstanding the transfer of functions under this title, and except as provided in subsection (b), the total amount appropriated by the United States in performing all functions vested in the Trade Representative and the Trade Administration pursuant to this title shall not exceed—

(1) for the first fiscal year that begins after the date specified in section 102(c), 75 percent of the total amount appropriated in fiscal year 1999 for the performance of all those functions; and

(2) for the second fiscal year that begins after the date specified in section 102(c) and for each fiscal year thereafter, 65 percent of the total amount appropriated in fiscal year 1999 for the performance of all those functions.

(b) EXCEPTION.—Subsection (a) shall not apply to obligations or expenditures incurred as a direct consequence of the termination, transfer, or other disposition of functions described in subsection (a) pursuant to this chapter.
SEP. 401. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this title—

(1) the term ‘‘Director’’ means the Director of the Office of Patents, Trademarks, and Standards;

(2) the term ‘‘Office’’ means the Office of Patents, Trademarks, and Standards.

SEC. 402. ESTABLISHMENT OF THE OFFICE OF PATENTS, TRADEMARKS, AND STANDARDS.

There is established the Office of Patents, Trademarks, and Standards which shall be an independent establishment in the executive branch of Government as defined under section 105 of title 5, United States Code. There shall be a Director of the Office of Patents, Trademarks, and Standards to whom the President shall designate to administer the Office and shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

SEC. 403. FUNCTIONS.

The Director shall perform all functions transferred under section 401 and such other functions as the President may assign or delegate.

SEC. 404. TRANSFERS TO THE OFFICE.

(a) TRAENER OF FUNCTIONS.—There are transferred to the Director all functions of, and all functions performed under the direction of, the following functions of the Department of Commerce:

(1) The Director of the National Institute of Standards and Technology.

(2) The Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

(3) The Under Secretary for Technology relating to functions performed by the Office of Technology Policy relating to the Baldrige Quality Award.

(4) The Secretary of Commerce and Assistant Secretary for Communications and Information with respect to only those functions of the National Telecommunications and Information Administration relating to telecommunication standards and laboratories.

(b) TRANSFERRED OFFICES.—

(2) The National Institute of Standards and Technology of the Department of Commerce is transferred to the Office. The National Institute of Standards and Technology shall be administered through the Director of the National Institute of Standards and Technology.

SEC. 405. ADDITIONAL OFFICERS.

(a) General Counsel.—There shall be in the Office a General Counsel, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The General Counsel shall provide professional legal assistance to the Director concerning the activities, programs, and policies of the Office.

(b) INSPECTOR GENERAL.—

(1) There shall be in the Office an Inspector General who shall be appointed in accordance with the Inspector General Act of 1978, as amended by this subsection.

(2) Section 901(b) of title 31, United States Code, (as amended by this Act) is further amended—

(A) in paragraph (1) by inserting ‘‘the Director of the Office of Patents, Trademarks, and Standards’’ after ‘‘the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation for National and Community Service’’; and

(B) in paragraph (2) by inserting ‘‘the Office of Patents, Trademarks, and Standards’’ after ‘‘the Corporation for National and Community Service’’.

(c) TRANSPORTATION EXPENSES.—The Director is authorized to pay transportation expenses, in accordance with chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code.

(d) DETAIL OF EMPLOYEES AND OFFICERS.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(e) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—

(1) A The Director is authorized to accept voluntary and uncompensated services without regard to the provisions of section 1342 of title 31, United States Code, if such services will not be used to displace Federal employees employed on a full-time, part-time, or contractual basis.

(2) The Director is authorized to accept volunteer service in accordance with the provisions of section 3111 of title 5, United States Code.

(3) The Director is authorized to provide for incidental expenses, including but not limited to transportation, lodging, and subsistence for such volunteers.

(4) The Director is authorized to provide for incidental expenses, including but not limited to transportation, lodging, and subsistence for such volunteers.

(5) An individual who provides voluntary services under paragraph (1) of this subsection shall be considered a Federal employee, for any purpose other than the purposes of chapter 81 of title 5, United States Code, relating to compensation for work injuries, and chapter 171 of title 28, United States Code, relating to tort claims.

SEC. 412. DELEGATION.

The Director may delegate to such other officers and employees of the Office as may be necessary to carry out the functions of the Director or the Office.

SEC. 415. COPYRIGHTS AND PATENTS.

(a) APPOINTMENTS.—In the performance of the functions of the Director and the Office, the Director is authorized to appoint or delegate to such other officers and employees of the Office as the Director may designate, and may authorize such other officers and employees to perform such functions in the Office as may be necessary or appropriate.

(b) EXPERTS AND CONSULTANTS.—The Director is authorized to pay transportation expenses, and per diem in lieu of subsistence expenses, in accordance with chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code.

(c) TRANSPORTATION EXPENSES.—The Director is authorized to pay transportation expenses, and per diem in lieu of subsistence expenses, in accordance with chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code.

(d) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(e) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(f) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(g) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(h) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(i) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(j) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(k) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(l) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(m) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(n) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(o) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(p) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(q) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(r) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(s) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(t) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(u) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(v) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(w) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(x) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(y) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(z) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(A) In paragraph (1) by inserting ‘‘the Director of the Office of Patents, Trademarks, and Standards’’ after ‘‘the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation for National and Community Service’’; and

(B) in paragraph (2) by inserting ‘‘the Office of Patents, Trademarks, and Standards’’ after ‘‘the Corporation for National and Community Service’’.

(c) TRANSPORTATION EXPENSES.—The Director is authorized to pay transportation expenses, in accordance with chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code.

(d) DETAIL OF EMPLOYEES AND OFFICERS.—The Director is authorized to utilize, on a reimbursable basis, the services of personnel of other Federal agencies.

(e) VOLUNTARY SERVICES.—

(1) A The Director is authorized to accept voluntary and uncompensated services without regard to the provisions of section 1342 of title 31, United States Code, if such services will not be used to displace Federal employees employed on a full-time, part-time, or contractual basis.

(2) The Director is authorized to accept volunteer service in accordance with the provisions of section 3111 of title 5, United States Code.

(2) The Director is authorized to provide for incidental expenses, including but not limited to transportation, lodging, and subsistence for such volunteers.

(3) An individual who provides voluntary services under paragraph (1)(A) of this subsection shall not be considered a Federal employee for any purpose other than the purposes of chapter 81 of title 5, United States Code, relating to compensation for work injuries, and chapter 171 of title 28, United States Code, relating to tort claims.

SEC. 414. CONTRACTS.

The Director is authorized, without regard to the provisions of section 3324 of title 31, United States Code, to enter into and perform such contracts, leases, cooperative agreements, or other transactions as may be necessary to carry out the functions of the Director and the Office. The Director may enter into such contracts, leases, agreements, or other transactions with any Federal agency or any instrumentality of the United States, with any State, territory, or possession, or with any political subdivision thereof, or with any person, firm, association, corporation, or educational institution, on such terms and conditions as the Director may consider appropriate. The authority of the Director to enter into contracts and leases under this section shall be to such extent as such amounts as are provided in appropriation Acts.

SEC. 415. COPYRIGHTS AND PATENTS.

The Director is authorized to acquire any copyright, patents, or other intellectual property, and any interest in intellectual property, property acquired thereby is for use in, or is useful to, the performance of functions of the Director or the Office.

(1) Copyrights, patents, and applications for patents, designs, processes, specifications, and data.

(2) Licenses under copyrights, patents, and applications for patents, designs, processes, specifications, and data.

(3) Releases, before an action is brought, for past infringement of patents or copyrights.

SEC. 416. GIFTS AND REQUESTS.

The Director is authorized to accept, hold, administer and utilize gifts, donations, or bequests of property, real or personal, tangible or intangible, and contributions of money for purposes of aiding or facilitating the work of the Director or the Office. For the purposes of Federal income, estate, and gift taxes, and Federal other taxes, any property transferred to the Director or the Office under this subsection shall be considered a gift or bequest to the United States.

SEC. 417. TRANSFERS OF FUNDS FROM OTHER FEDERAL AGENCIES.

The Director is authorized to accept transfers from other Federal agencies of funds which are available to carry out functions transferred to the Office by this Act or functions assigned by law to the Director after the date of enactment of this Act.
SEC. 418. SEAL OF OFFICE.

The Director shall cause a seal of office to be made for the Office of such design as the Director shall approve. Judicial notice shall be taken of such seal.

SEC. 419. STATUS OF OFFICE UNDER CERTAIN LAWS.

For purposes of section 552b of title 5, United States Code, the Office is an agency.
and offices under subtitle C, serve as the head of the Bureau of Economic Analysis.
(2) APPOINTMENT.—Each of the Directors referred to in paragraph (1) shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.
(3) COMPENSATION.—(A) The Director referred to in paragraph (1) shall be paid such compensation as is provided for level IV of the Executive Office of the President.
(4) COMPENSATION OF DIRECTOR OF BUREAU OF ECONOMIC ANALYSIS.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—The position of Director of the Bureau of Economic Analysis shall be a Senior Executive Service position.
(B) SENIOR EXECUTIVE SERVICE DEFINED.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘Senior Executive Service position’ shall have the same meaning as in section 5132(a) of title 5, United States Code.
(5) TERMS.—The term of office for each Director referred to in paragraph (1) shall be as specified in the predecessor under the applicable provision of law in effect on the day before the date of enactment of this Act, except that, notwithstanding section 231 of title 13, United States Code, the term of the Director of the Census shall be 4 years.
(6) APPOINTMENT.—Each of the Directors referred to in paragraph (1) shall be appointed for a term of 5 years, except that, of the members first appointed—
(A) 1 shall be appointed for a term of 5 years;
(B) 1 shall be appointed for a term of 3 years.
(7) STAGGERED TERMS.—Each member under subsection (b)(6) shall be appointed for a term of 5 years, except that, of the members first appointed—
(A) 1 shall be appointed for a term of 5 years;
(B) 1 shall be appointed for a term of 2 years.
(d) FUNCTIONS.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—The Council shall—
(A) make any nominations required under section 512(a)(1);
(B) serve as an advisory body to the Chief Statistician on confidentiality issues, such issues relating to—
(i) the collection or sharing of data for statistical purposes among Federal agencies;
(ii) the sharing of data, for statistical purposes, by States and political subdivisions with the Federal Government; and
(C) establish a statistical policy as described in section 501(3).
(2) STUDY AND REPORT AS PROCEDURES.—(A) STUDY.—The Council shall study procedures for the release of major economic and social indicators by the Federal Government.
(B) REPORT.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Council shall submit to Congress a report on the findings of the study conducted under subparagraph (A).
(3) STUDY OF FUNCTIONS.—(A) STUDY.—The Council shall study—
(i) whether or not the functions of the Bureau of the Census relating to decennial censuses of population could be delineated from the other functions of the Bureau; and
(ii) if the functions referred to in clause (i) could be delineated from other functions of the Bureau, recommendations on how such a delineation of functions could be achieved.
(B) REPORT.—Not later than 12 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Council shall submit to Congress a report on the findings of the study conducted under subparagraph (A).
(4) STUDY AND REPORT ON FIELD OFFICERS.—(A) STUDY.—The Council shall study—
(i) making as appropriate, the field offices of the Bureau of the Census part of the field offices of the Bureau of Labor Statistics; and
(ii) any savings anticipated as a result of the implementation of clause (i).
(B) REPORT.—Not later than 12 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Council shall submit to Congress a report on the findings of the study conducted under subparagraph (A).
(5) TERMS.—The Council shall not be considered a Federal employee for purposes other than those relating to compensation for injury or death as those relating to—
(A) the collection or sharing of data for statistical purposes among Federal agencies;
(B) the sharing of data, for statistical purposes, by States and political subdivisions with the Federal Government;
(C) establishing a statistical policy as described in section 501(3).
(6) EXPERTS AND CONSULTANTS.—In carrying out any function transferred by this Act, the Administrator, or any officer or employee of the Service, may exercise any authority available by law with respect to such function to the official or agency from which such function is transferred, and the authority so exercised shall have the same force and effect as when exercised by such official or agency.
SEC. 538. REGULATIONS.

The Administrator may prescribe such rules and regulations as the Administrator considers necessary or appropriate to administer and manage the functions of the Administrator or the Service, in accordance with chapter 5 of title 5, United States Code.

SEC. 539. SEAL.

The Administrator shall cause a seal of office to be made for the Service of such design as the Administrator shall approve. Judicial notice shall be taken of such seal.

SEC. 540. ANNUAL REPORT.

The Administrator, in consultation with the Council, shall, as soon as practicable after the close of each fiscal year, make a single, comprehensive report to the President for transmission to Congress on the activities of the Service during such fiscal year.

PART V—MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 541. INCIDENTAL TRANSFERS.

The Director of the Office of Management and Budget, in consultation with the Administrator, shall make such determinations as may be necessary with regard to the functions, papers, records, and unexpended balances of appropriations, authorizations, allocations, and other funds held, used, arising from, available to, or to be made available in connection with such functions, offices, or portions thereof, as may be necessary to carry out this title, The Director shall provide for the termination of the affairs of all entities terminated by this title and, in consultation with the Administrator, for such further measures and dispositions as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of this title.

SEC. 542. REFERENCES.

With respect to any function transferred by this title and exercised on or after the date of such transfer, any reference in any other Federal law to any department, commission, or agency or any officer or office or the functions or offices transferred shall be deemed to refer to the Administrator, other official, or component of the Service to which this title transfers such functions.

SEC. 543. OTHER PROVISIONS.

Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the President shall submit to Congress a description of any changes in Federal law necessary to reflect any transfers or other measures under this title.

SEC. 544. TRANSITION.

(a) USE OF FUNDS.—Funds available to any department or agency (or any official or component thereof), the functions or offices of which are transferred to the Administrator or the Service by this title, may, with the approval of the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, be used to pay the compensation and expenses of any officer appointed pursuant to this title and other transition and planning expenses associated with the establishment of the Service or transfer of functions or offices thereto until such time as funds for such purposes are otherwise available.

(b) USE OF PERSONNEL.—With the consent of the appropriate department or agency head concerned, the Administrator may utilize the services of the employees, and other personnel of the departments and agencies from which functions or offices have been transferred to the Administrator or the Service, for such period of time as may reasonably be needed to facilitate the orderly implementation of this title.

SEC. 545. INTERIM APPOINTMENTS.

(a) The Administrator.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, in the event that 1 or more officers required by this title to be appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate shall not have been empaneled upon the date of the transfer of functions and offices under section 203 or subtitle C, the President may designate an acting officer or employee to serve in such office for 120 days or until the office is filled as provided in this title, whichever occurs first.

(b) COMPENSATION.—Any officer acting in an office in the Department pursuant to the provisions of subsection (a) shall receive compensation at the rate prescribed for such office under this title.

SEC. 546. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.

(a) DIRECTOR, BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.—Section 3315 of title 5, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following new item:

“Director, Bureau of Labor Statistics.”

(b) GENERAL COUNSEL; INSPECTOR GENERAL.—Section 3315 of title 5, United States Code, as amended by subsection (a), is further amended by adding at the end the following new item:

“General Counsel, Bureau of Labor Statistics.”

(c) BUREAU DIRECTORS.—Section 3313 of title 5, United States Code, as amended by section 203(b), is further amended—

(1) to the head of such department or office servicing the Director of the Census, the following new item:

“Director, Bureau of Labor Statistics.”

(2) that are in effect on the effective date of such transfer (or become effective after such date) to the extent that such proceeding could have continued or modified if this Act had not been enacted.

SEC. 603. SAVINGS PROVISIONS.

SEC. 601. REFERENCES.

Any reference in any other Federal law, Executive order, rule, regulation, or delegation of authority, or any document of or pertaining to a department or office from which a function is transferred by this Act—

(1) to the head of such department or office is deemed to refer to the head of the department or office to which such function is transferred; or

(2) to such department or office is deemed to refer to the department or office to which such function is transferred.

SEC. 602. EXERCISE OF AUTHORITIES.

Except as otherwise provided by law, a Federal official to whom a function is transferred by this Act may, for such period of time as may reasonably be needed to facilitate the orderly implementation of this title—

SEC. 603. SAVINGS PROVISIONS.

(a) LEGAL DOCUMENTS.—All orders, determinations, rules, regulations, permits, grants, loans, contracts, agreements, certifications, and other benefits, services, licenses, and privileges—

(1) that have been issued, made, granted, or allowed to become effective by the President, the Secretary of Commerce, the United States Trade Representative, any officer or employee of any office transferred by this Act, or any other Government official, or by a court of competent jurisdiction, in the performance of any function that is transferred by this Act; and

(2) that are in effect on the effective date of such transfer (or become effective after such date) to the extent that such proceeding could have continued or modified if this Act had not been enacted.

(b) PROCEEDINGS.—This Act shall not affect any proceedings or any application for any benefits, service, license, permit, certificate, or financial assistance pending on the date of enactment of this Act before an office transferred by this Act under any other provision of law that were applications shall be continued. Orders shall be issued in such proceedings, appeals shall be taken therefrom, and payments shall be made in such proceedings to the extent that such Act had not been enacted, and orders issued in any such proceeding shall continue in effect until modified, terminated, superseded, or revoked by a duly authorized official, by a court of competent jurisdiction, or by operation of law.

SEC. 604. TRANSFER OF ASSETS.

Except as otherwise provided in this Act, so much of the personnel, property, records, and unexpended balances of appropriations, the use of which is authorized by law, and other funds, held, available, or to be made available in connection with a function transferred to an official or agency by this Act shall be available to the official or the head of that agency, respectively, at such time or times as the Director of the Office of Management and Budget directs for use in connection with the functions transferred.

SEC. 605. DELEGATION AND ASSIGNMENT.
Except as otherwise expressly prohibited by law or otherwise provided in this Act, an official to whom functions are transferred under this Act (including the head of any office to which functions are transferred under this Act) may delegate any of the functions so transferred to such officers and employees of the official of the official as the official may designate, and may authorize successive redesignations of such functions as may be necessary or appropriate. No delegation of functions under this section or under any other provision of this Act shall relieve the official to whom a function is transferred under this Act of responsibility for the administration of that function.

SEC. 606. AUTHORITY OF DIRECTOR OF THE OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET WITH RESPECT TO FUNCTIONS
TRANSFERRED.
(a) DETERMINATIONS.—If necessary, the Director shall make any determination of the functions that are transferred under this Act.
(b) INCIDENTAL TRANSFERS.—The Director, at such time or times as the Director shall provide, may make such determinations as may be necessary with regard to the functions transferred by this Act, and to make such additional incidental dispositions of personnel, assets, liabilities, grants, contракts, obligations, funds, and unexpended balances of appropriations, authorizations, allocation, and other funds held, used, arising from, available to, or to be made available in connection with such functions, as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act. The Director shall provide for the termination of the affairs of all entities terminated by this Act and for such further measures and dispositions as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of this Act.

SEC. 607. CERTAIN VESTING OF FUNCTIONS
TRANSFERRED.
For purposes of this Act, the vesting of a function in a department or office pursuant to reestablishment of an office shall be considered to be the transfer of the function.

SEC. 608. AVAILABILITY OF EXISTING FUNDS.
Existing appropriations and funds available for the performance of functions, programs, and activities terminated pursuant to this Act shall remain available, for the duration of their period of availability, for necessary expenses in connection with the termination and resolution of such functions, programs, and activities.

SEC. 609. DEFINITIONS.
For purposes of this Act—
(1) the term ‘‘function’’ includes any duty, obligation, power, authority, responsibility, right, privilege, activity, or program; and
(2) the term ‘‘office’’ includes any office, administration, agency, bureau, institute, council, unit, organizational entity, or component thereof.

SEC. 610. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.
Section 11 of the Inspector General Act of 1978 (5 U.S.C. App.) is amended—
(1) in paragraph (1), by striking ‘‘or the Commissioner of the Social Security Administration;’’ and inserting ‘‘the Commissioner of the Federal Statistical Service, the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration; or the Administrator of the Federal Statistical Service;’’;
and
(2) in paragraph (2), by striking ‘‘or the Social Security Administration’’ and inserting
‘‘the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Federal Statistical Service, or the Social Security Administration’’.

TITLE VII—COMPLIANCE WITH CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET ACT

SEC. 701. SUNSET OF PROVISIONS OF ACT.
All provisions of, and amendments made by,
this Act which are not in effect on September 30, 2009, shall cease to be applicable as of the close of September 30, 2009.

STEVENSON AMENDMENT NO. 1488
(Ordained to lie on the table.)
Mr. STEVENSON submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra, as follows:

On page 215, line 18 after ‘‘FARMERS’’ insert ‘‘AND FISHERMEN’’.

On page 215, line 26 insert ‘‘AND FISHER-
MEN’’ before the period.

On page 216, line 1 after ‘‘farm’’ insert ‘‘and fishing’’.

On page 216, insert the following new paragraph before subsection (b) and redesignate subsection (b) as subsection (b)(1)

‘‘(b) ALLOWING INCOME AVERAGING FOR FISHERMEN.—
(1) Section 1361(a) of the Internal Revenue
Code of 1986 is amended by striking ‘‘farming business’’ and inserting ‘‘farming business or fishing business’’.
(2) Section 1301(b)(1)(A)(i) is amended by strike ‘‘(ii) a fishing business; and’’ and by redesigning subsection (b)(1)(A)(ii) as subsection (b)(1)(A)(i).
(3) Section 1301(b) is amended by inserting the following paragraph after subsection
(b)(3):

‘‘(4) Fishing business.—The term fishing business means the conduct of commercial fishing as defined in Section 3 of the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (16 U.S.C. 1802).’’

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR AND RELATED AGENCIES AP-PROPRIATIONS ACT, 2000

ENZI AMENDMENT NO. 1489
(Ordained to lie on the table.)
Mr. ENZI submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, H.R. 2466, supra, as follows:

On page 76, line 23, after the word ‘‘years,’’ insert the following: ‘‘$36 million shall be available for the Advanced Development Project Powder River Coal Initiative to be located in Gillette, Wyoming, and’’.

MACK (AND GRAHAG)
AMENDMENT NO. 1490
(Ordained to lie on the table.)
Mr. MACK (for himself and Mr. GRAHAM) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, H.R. 2466, supra, as follows:

On page 12, line 8, strike ‘‘55,244,000’’ and insert ‘‘$54,744,000’’.

On page 17, line 19, strike ‘‘$221,059,000’’ and insert ‘‘$221,593,000’’.

TAXPAYER REFUND ACT OF 1999

DORGAN AMENDMENT NO. 1491
(Ordained to lie on the table.)
Mr. DORGAN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 1429, supra, as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 7. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING THE
NEEED TO ENFORCE IMPROVE-
MENTS IN MAIN STREET BUSI-NESSES BY EXPANDING EXISTING SMALL BUSINESS TAX EXPENSING
RULBS TO INCLUDE INVESTMENTS
IN BUILDINGS AND OTHER DEPRE-CIABLE REAL PROPERTY.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—
(1) under current tax law, small businesses can immediately deduct, that is, ‘‘expense’’, up to $19,000 in purchases of equipment and similar assets;
(2) there is bipartisan support for increasing the amount of this expensing provision because it helps many small businesses make the investments in equipment and machinery they need by allowing them immediately write off the costs of such investments and bolstering their cash flow;
(3) this expensing provision, however, is not as helpful as it could be for some small businesses because it does not cover their investments in improving the storefront or the buildings in which they conduct their business;
(4) in many small towns, the local drug store, shoe store, or grocery store doesn’t have much need for new equipment, but it does need to improve the storefront or the interior;
(5) although such investments are good for Main Streets across this Nation, our current tax law creates a disincentive to make them by requiring a small business owner to depreciate the costs of the building improvements over 27.5 years for tax purposes;
(6) legislation to expand the current ex-pensing provision to cover investments in depreciable real property was recently introduced in the Senate with broad bipartisan support, including the leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties;

(7) this proposal is also strongly supported by small business-oriented trade groups, including the National Federation of Independent Business, the Small Business Legislative Council, and the National Association of Realtors;
(8) the Department of the Treasury is currently conducting a comprehensive study of depreciation provisions in our tax laws; and

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING THE
NEEED TO ENFORCE IMPROVE-
MENTS IN MAIN STREET BUSI-NESSES.—It is the sense of Congress that—
(1) many small businesses trying to improve their storefronts may be hindered by small business-oriented trade groups, lobbying provision to cover investments in depreciable real property; and

(2) Congress should consider including this proposal in any future tax legislation.
that the hearing scheduled before the Energy and Natural Resources Committee to receive testimony regarding S. 1052, To implement further the Act (Public Law 94–241) approving the Covenant to Establish a Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands in Political Union with the United States of America, and for other purposes,” has been postponed and will be rescheduled at a later date.

For further information, please call James Beirne, Deputy Chief Counsel (202) 224–2564 or Betty Nevitt, Staff Assistant at (202) 224–0765.

AUTHORITY FOR COMMITTEES TO MEET

COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE, NUTRITION, AND FORESTY

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Select Committee on Intelligence be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, July 29, 1999, at 2 p.m., to hold a closed hearing on intelligence matters.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SELECT COMMITTEE ON INTELLIGENCE

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Special Committee on the Year 2000 Technology Problem be permitted to meet on July 29, 1999, at 9:30 a.m., for the purpose of conducting a hearing.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON THE YEAR 2000 TECHNOLOGY PROBLEM

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Subcommittee on Clean Air, Wetlands, Private Property and Nuclear Safety be granted permission to conduct a hearing on the Environmental Protection Agency’s proposed sulfur standard for gasoline as contained in the proposed Tier Two standards for automobiles Thursday, July 29, 9:30 a.m., hearing room (SD–406).

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON CLEAN AIR, WETLANDS, PRIVATE PROPERTY AND NUCLEAR SAFETY

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Subcommittee on Education, Health, Labor, and Pensions, Subcommittee on Employment, Safety, and Training be authorized to meet for a hearing on “The FAIR Act: Balancing the Scale of Justice for Small Business” during the session on Thursday, July 29, 1999, at 9:30 a.m.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON EUROPEAN AFFAIRS

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Subcommittee on European Affairs be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, July 29, 1999, at 3 p.m., to hold a hearing.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON NATIONAL PARKS, HISTORIC PRESERVATION AND RECREATION

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Subcommittee on National Parks, Historic Preservation and Recreation of the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources be granted permission to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, July 29, for purposes of conducting a subcommittee hearing which is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. The purpose of this hearing is to receive testimony on S. 710, a bill to authorize a feasibility study on the preservation of certain Civil War battlefields along the Vicksburg Campaign Trail; S. 905, a bill to establish the Lackawanna Valley American Heritage Area; S. 1093, a bill to establish the Galisteo Basin Archeological Protection Sites and to provide for the protection of archeological sites in the Galisteo Basin of New Mexico; and for other purposes; S. 1117, a bill to establish the Corinth Unit of the Shiloh National Military Park, in the vicinity of the city of Corinth, Mississippi, and in the State of Tennessee, and for other purposes; S. 1234, a bill to expand the boundaries of Gettysburg National Military Park to include the Wills House, and for other purposes; and S. 1349, a bill to direct the Secretary of the Interior to conduct special resource studies to determine the national significance of specific sites as well as the suitability and feasibility of their inclusion as units of the National Park System.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON OCEANS AND FISHERIES

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Oceans and Fisheries Subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation be authorized to meet on Thursday, July 29, 1999, at 9:30 a.m., on Magnuson Act reauthorization.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT OF GOVERNMENT MANAGEMENT, RESTRUCTURING AND THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Governmental Affairs Committee Subcommittee on Oversight of Government Management, Restructuring and the District of Columbia be permitted to meet on Thursday, July 29, 1999, at 10 a.m. to conduct a hearing on: "Total Quality Management: State Success Stories as a Model for the Federal Government."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON SECURITIES
Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Subcommittee on Securities of the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, July 29, 1999, to conduct a hearing on: Accounting for Loan Loss Reserves.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

THE LAWSUITS AGAINST THE FIREARM INDUSTRY

- Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, there is no way to measure the costs of gun crime in our society. There are estimates that put the price at $75 billion for one year of pain, suffering, and loss of quality of life caused by gun violence, but there is no real way to determine the incalculable human cost of gun-related crime. There is, however, a method to measure other financial costs associated with firearm crime. For instance, the estimated cost of health care for firearms related injuries in the United States was $4 billion in 1995. The average per-person cost of a firearm fatality is $373,000 per death, higher than any injury-related death. And, on average, it costs more than $14,000 to treat each child wounded by a firearm.

Cities spend millions each year on these costs and others associated with gun related emergencies. The expenses incurred by cities include medical treatment for victims, additional police protection, and counseling services for survivors of murder victims. These additional costs are the basis of the class-action lawsuits against the firearm manufacturers, distributors and dealers. Nearly two dozen local governments, including Wayne County and Detroit, have filed suit against the manufacturers and distributors of firearms to recoup the costs of firearm related crime. And following their lead, the NAACP filed a lawsuit that does not seek monetary damages, but instead, seeks to put an end to the emotional costs of gun violence incurred by the African-American community.

The recent wave of class-action lawsuits against the firearms industry are based on the industry’s failure to monitor the transmission of their product to the Underground Markets. These class-action lawsuits seek to alter the marketing, distribution and sales of firearms. More specifically, they are an attempt to remedy the industry’s failure to prevent unauthorized users from purchasing firearms. The lawsuit seeks to change the distribution system that permits firearms to be easily trafficked from the legal marketplace to the illegal marketplace, and eliminate deceptive advertising regarding the risks posed by having firearms in the home. Stated simply, these lawsuits are about distributing firearms responsibly.

The NAACP lawsuit is slightly different because it does not seek to recover monetary damages, but the effect of the lawsuit would be the same. It seeks to change the sale, marketing, and distribution of the gun industry, whose alleged negligence permits the free flow of weapons into the hands of juveniles and criminals. It asks for a court order to require all firearms to be sold with safety devices.

If the gun industry is found liable, it will draw a direct line of responsibility from the gun manufacturers to the unscrupulous distributors and dealers who provide firearms to felons. The gun industry would no longer be able to oversupply certain markets, thereby allowing guns to flow into the hands of juveniles and criminals. Manufacturers would no longer be able to turn a blind eye to the carnage produced by their products. If the gun industry is found liable, it may put an end to a majority of the gun violence caused by the unlawful, unregulated, underground firearm market.

RECOGNIZING LANCE ARMSTRONG

- Mrs. HUTCHISON. Mr. President, today I recognize the remarkable achievements of Lance Armstrong, winner of the prestigious Tour de France bicycle race. On Sunday, July 25, less than 3 years after being diagnosed with testicular cancer, he sprinted to an inspirational victory in Paris. Lance Armstrong is a Texan who is an example of strength and courage to all cancer patients and athletes. He is the second American in history to win the Tour de France, one of the world’s most grueling athletic contests, and he is the first cancer survivor to achieve the feat.

Lance Armstrong was born in Dallas, Texas, and grew up in nearby Plano. He first competed in athletics as a swimmer and took up the triathlon, which includes swimming, running and cycling, at age 14. At 17, after his potential was recognized by the U.S. national cycling team coach, he switched to cycling full-time. Lance Armstrong trained and competed at the highest level in the world, and began focusing on distance bicycle racing in his early twenties. Then, in the fall of 1996, when he was just twenty-five years old, Armstrong was diagnosed with advanced testicular cancer, which had already spread to his abdomen, lungs and brain. He was given a fifty percent chance of survival and underwent two operations and twelve weeks of chemotherapy. Throughout his fight with the disease, Lance Armstrong never gave up. After each surgery and each round of chemotherapy, he would ride 20 to 50 miles per day on his bicycle. By the summer of 1997, Armstrong had conquered cancer and began to pursue bicycle racing with new determination.

Lance Armstrong dominated this year’s Tour de France and after three weeks, 2,290 miles, and two mountain ranges, won cycling’s most prestigious and rugged race by more than 7 1/2 minutes. Lance Armstrong dedicated his victory to other cancer survivors, whom he hoped would be inspired by his success. He was motivated by his determination to encourage other cancer patients and said upon winning, “I hope this sends out a fantastic message to all survivors: We can return to what we were before—and even better.”

Lance Armstrong is one of the success stories in our ongoing fight against cancer. After overcoming the disease he dedicated himself, not only to cycling, but also to fighting cancer by founding the Lance Armstrong Foundation, whose mission is “Fighting Urological Cancer through Education, Awareness, and Research.”

Unfortunately, Lance Armstrong is not alone in his battle with cancer. Rates of testicular cancer have increased sharply over the past thirty years, especially among young men. The American Cancer Society estimates about 7,600 new cases of testicular cancer are diagnosed each year in the U.S. But due to advances in early detection and treatment, many of them the result of research funded by the National Institutes of Health, U.S. statistics show a 70% decline in death rates from testicular cancer since 1973. As our commitment to cancer research continues to grow hand-in-hand with advances in the fight against cancer, and as more and more courageous Americans like Lance Armstrong show cancer can be beat, I am increasingly confident that we will beat this dreadful disease.

I am proud that Lance Armstrong is an American and a Texan. His athletic victory and personal triumph make him a role model, not just to cancer survivors but to all Americans. His remarkable achievements and inspirational influence on others can be simply summarized in the words written on a banner which was flown along the
TRIBUTE TO THE "FOUR SEAS" OF CENTERVILLE

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, it is a privilege to take this opportunity to recognize an outstanding business in Centerville, Massachusetts, "The Four Seas" ice cream parlor. Our family has known for decades that the Four Seas has always produced excellent ice cream.

I am delighted to bring my colleagues' attention today to a New York Times article last Sunday on "The Four Seas" and owner Richard Warren's extraordinary relationship with his employees and the entire community. The article recognizes "The Four Seas" as a business which makes some of the best ice cream on Cape Cod, and which treats its employees with the respect and generosity that make it a model for other employers.

It is gratifying to see the Four Seas receive this recognition that it eminently deserves. It is an honor to pay tribute to this extraordinary institution that is so beloved at Cape Cod. I ask that the New York Times article may be printed in the RECORD.

[From the New York Times, July 25, 1999]

PRIZED ICE CREAM JOBS CREATE EXTENDED FAMILY

(By Sara Rimer)

CENTERVILLE, MA.—Cory Sinclair, 17, was scooping ice cream at the Four Seas as fast as he could and talking about the future.

"I want to be President," he said. "I'm serious." Kelly O'Neill, 18, had more prosaic concerns. "I'm sorry, we don't have jimmies," she informed a customer. (As any Four Seas regular knows, jimmies don't belong on good ice cream.)

"It's time to move on," he said. "I've been here six summers."

The Four Seas, a white cottage with blue shutters and a white formica counter with 12 blue stools, has been an institution on South Main Street of this Cape Cod village for 65 summers.

The owner, Richard Warren, 64, who has been on the job for 45 years, makes what is indisputably delicious ice cream. He uses fresh peaches, strawberries, blueberries and ginger, expensive chocolate and loads of buttercream, and he tastes every batch himself. He does not add candy or try bizarre flavors.

But what also distinguishes the Four Seas is the help.

Summer after summer, the young men and women behind the counter seem as unflappable as the décor, the ice cream and the oldies on the radio. They are clean-cut and sport no visible tattoos or strange piercings. They are alert and polite, even when the customers are rude.

They are the class presidents, newspaper editors and honor roll regulars from Barnstable High School who have been hand-picked by Mr. Warren, a retired math teacher and guidance counselor there.

They start serving up cones at 16, and they stay through college, ending their careers as ice cream makers and managers, like Mr. Schlegel.

"It's the best job you can get on the Cape," said Tavy Ohlsen, 18, who graduated at the top of her class in June, plans to go to medical school and moved up this summer from ice cream scooper to sandwich maker. "People say, 'Oh, you work at the Four Seas. You're a good student; you're good with people.'"

From the week before Memorial Day until the week after Labor Day, the staff races from the counter to the ice cream and back to keep up with the crowds. There are higher paying summer jobs—the Four Seas is minimum wage, with tips bringing it to about $10 an hour—but Mr. Warren has never had any trouble finding help.

He solicits recommendations from the faculty at Barnstable High, and summons those with the highest ratings for interviews. "It's known that you can't apply," Mr. Schlegel said.

"To be called by Mr. Warren is to become a member of his extended family."

"He's like a second dad," said Jahni Warren, 19, a member of his extended family. "He was never close to my dad," said Mr. Warren, who was talking recently between the father-son golf tournament. "Randy lives on, in a way, Mr. Warren said, "and career is the word they use—as ice cream scooper to sandwich maker."

Mr. Warren is married, with four grown children. Each season he gives out scholarships totaling several thousand dollars in memory of his son Randy, who was killed in 1983 when he was 8. In 1984, the family moved to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He was 21.

"I was never close to my dad," said Mr. Warren, who was talking recently between the state father-son golf tournament. "He was 46 when I was born. I longed for a relationship with my children. Randy and I were so close. We won the state father-son golf tournament."

"We'd ski all day, play tennis till we dropped. He wanted to run this place someday."

"He was 46 when I was born," said Mr. Warren, who was talking recently between the state father-son golf tournament. "We'd ski all day, play tennis till we dropped. He wanted to run this place someday."

Randy lives on, in a way, Mr. Warren said, in the young people who work beside him each summer. "Randy is like a son," he said as he and Mr. Schlegel poured frozen pudding ice cream into cartons. "We just played in the father-son golf tournament." Mr. Schlegel graduated from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. He was recently called for an interview in the University of Massachusetts. He was recently called for an interview in the University of Pennsylvania. He was recently called for an interview in the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Schlegel graduated from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. He was recently called for an interview in the University of Pennsylvania. He was recently called for an interview in the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Clarke, who is a junior at the University of Massachusetts, just moved up to manager. "I'm the first black manager," said Mr. Clarke, who was freshman class president, and editor of the newspaper at Barnstable High.

Things do change at the Four Seas. As hard-working as his 25 employees are, Mr. Warren said that most do not want to put in the hours that he has.

"They don't need the money as much," he said, adding that whereas workers from summers past arrived on foot or by bicycle, or were dropped off by their parents, almost all of the employees now drive their own cars.

But the biggest change, the one everyone is talking about, is that Mr. Warren's son Doug, 36, is back from Las Vegas, where he had been running a restaurant and selling computer software. The plan is for him to take over the ice cream parlor. The elder Mr. Warren is talking about retiring in a couple of years.

His staff is skeptical. "The chief will never retire," Ms. O'Neill said.

TRIBUTE TO THE HENIKA PUBLIC LIBRARY

Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, I rise today to commemorate the Henika Public Library on its historic one hundredth anniversary.

Recently named a district library, Henika library has served Allegan county since 1899 when Ms. Julia Robinson founded it. Ms. Robinson bequeathed two thousand dollars to the Wayland Ladies Library Association for construction of a library building. At that time there were only 500 volumes of literature, none of which could be checked out. Since then, the library has grown to over 35,000 volumes.

In 1916, Fannie Hoyt was hired as the first librarian and, for the first time, books could be checked out of the library. Between 1916 and 1986 only four librarians have managed the Henika Public Library. That going helps explain the unique environment that has allowed this library to prosper for one hundred years.

In the mid 1990's the library underwent a series of renovations. The final result of this remodeling is an historic building, complete with Victorian charm, that can accommodate the most recent information technology. After serving Allegan county for almost the entire 20th century, Henika Public Library is now ready to take on the 21st century.

This library is truly one of the great educational tools in our country with a value matched by few others. We owe a great deal of thanks to the women of the Ladies Library Club as well as to all of the people who have worked at this great institution for the last one hundred years. I know I speak for all of Michigan when I commend those who have supported this fine institution for its 100 years of service.

CARLY FIORINA

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I rise to salute Carleton (Carly) Fiorina of California, who was recently named president and chief executive officer of Hewlett-Packard Company. I wish to congratulate Ms. Fiorina and express my best wishes for success in her new position.

Founded by technology pioneers William Hewlett and David Packard, Hewlett-Packard (HP) is the world's second-largest computer company. Based TRIBUTE TO THE SANDERS-Cunningham FAMILY

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I rise today to salute the Sanders/Cunningham family as they celebrate their fifth annual reunion. This extended family has traced its roots back to a Georgia plantation in 1750, and before that to Ghana and Sierra Leone.

As descendents of Wiley and Annie Sanders of Aberdeen, Mississippi, they will gather together this weekend, July 30th through August 1st, in Springfield, Illinois, to celebrate their history, their common bonds, and their future.

The Sanders/Cunningham family considers this weekend to be an Empowerment Summit, an opportunity to dispel false stereotypes, reject negative images, and celebrate who they are. They have noted Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.’s statement that “when the history books are written they will tell of a Great People, a Proud People, a Black People who bought the heart of that people and that their heritage is a cause for joy. With an extended family that includes doctors and lawyers, business owners and farmers, educators and blue collar workers, they come together to celebrate their unity.

This 6th generation family is diverse, unique, and special. The Sanders/Cunningham family’s unity and strength is an example of what an American family should represent. Additionally, this family is full of rich history. The family matriarch is 94 years young, Edna Sanders Brandon. She is a mother of five, a grandmother of 12, a great-grandmother of 16, an aunt, and a great aunt to many. Edna has witnessed events spanning the invention of the automobile to man’s walking on the moon, to the birth of the Internet.

All of us can benefit from an appreciation of our roots and our place in history. Knowing where we came from can be a helpful step in knowing where we are going. I applaud the Sanders/Cunningham family for their sense of heritage, their oneness, and their sense of empowerment. I wish them all the best as they gather in Springfield to celebrate who they are, where they have come from, and what they have become, and as they look forward to what they are yet to be.

In closing, I would like to pay special recognition to Steven E. Richie, a 4th generation member of this family who has spent countless hours researching and preparing for this grand family event.

TRIBUTE TO MR. FRANCIS M. WILSON

Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to Mr. Francis M. Wilson and his wonderful and admirable life.

Mr. Wilson served as a tech-sergeant during World War II in Germany when he was only 18 years old. He was a teacher in the Detroit Public School District, a devoted family man, and an active citizen. The challenges he successfully faced in these capacities have distinguished him within his family, his town, his state, and his country.

As a very young boy, he sold “Liberty” magazines to supplement his family’s income during the Great Depression. Growing up during a time of financial strife led him to find solace in nature. Mr. Wilson was exposed to nature during his experience in the military and developed a love and knowledge of it. As a young adult he was able to identify a variety of birds, insects, and other creatures.

Mr. Wilson found his real love, Dolores. Together they found great joy in their children and grandchildren. Mr. Wilson wanted to ensure that they received all the advantages that he did not have. He inspired their children to put themselves through college. He provided them with the opportunity to grow up in a better environment, allowing them to mature at a more deliberate pace than the one that was forced upon him.

His wife, Dolores, expresses the best tribute to Mr. Wilson when she writes “this brave, honest, dedicated, ordinary man was to his family and America the stuff of life’ that fuels generations to come.”

Mr. Wilson expressed his passion for education through his involvement with children as a teacher of thirty years in the Detroit Public Schools. He gave and received respect from all he knew. He not only led by lecture but, more importantly and effectively, by example. He never left any doubt as to where he stood in a debate and firmly believed in right and wrong. Mr. Wilson offered little patience for individuals passing on responsibility as an excuse for negligent or bad behavior. Personifying Winston Churchill’s statement, “We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give,” Mr. Francis M. Wilson left this world an honorable, loyal, selfless servant to his country and a loved and missed father, grandfather and husband.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE PURPLE HEART MEDAL

Mr. WELLSSTONE, Mr. President, I rise in recognition of the anniversary of the Purple Heart Medal.

This medal has been given to U.S. soldiers for wounds received in military action ever since George Washington invented the award during the Revolutionary War. Recipients of this award have demonstrated courage and love of country. Many of its recipients have made the ultimate sacrifice in defense of freedom. We must never forget the sacrifices made by Americans who have fought for our democracy and prosperity.

In celebration of this anniversary and to stand as a permanent token of America’s gratitude for the sacrifices made by recipients of this distinguished medal, a memorial will be dedicated at Fort Snelling National Cemetery in the great State of Minnesota on August 7, 1999. I wish to publicly thank those who made the memorials possible, and I especially wish to publicly thank those veterans who have earned the Purple Heart Medal by giving selflessly for democracy and our country.
CONGRATULATING THE BLACK BEARS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the bill (H. R. 819), as amended, be read a third time, and that H. R. 819 be discharged from the Committee on the Judiciary.

Whereas the Black Bears of the University of Maine defeated the Wildcats of the University of New Hampshire by a score of 3 to 2 in overtime in Anaheim, California, on April 3, 1999, to win the 1999 NCAA hockey championship;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears finished their season with an impressive record of 31–6–4, losing only 1 game at home;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears have brought the NCAA hockey championship home to Maine for the 2nd time this decade;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears coaching staff and players displayed outstanding dedication, team work, and sportsmanship throughout the season to achieve collegiate hockey's highest honor; and

Whereas the Maine Black Bears have brought pride and honor to the State of Maine: Now, therefore, be it,

Resolved, That the Senate congratulates the Black Bears of the University of Maine for winning the 1999 NCAA hockey championship.

S. RES. 164

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

July 29, 1999

CONGRATULATING THE BLACK BEARS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate now proceed to its consideration of S. Res. 164, and that the Senate then proceed to its consideration of the bill, which has been reported from the Committee on the Judiciary, without objection, it is so ordered.

The legislative clerk read as follows: A bill (S. 920) to authorize appropriations for the Federal Maritime Commission for fiscal years 2000 and 2001; and

That the Senate congratulates the Black Bears of the University of Maine for winning the 1999 NCAA hockey championship.

S. RES. 164

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

Whereas the Black Bears of the University of Maine defeated the Wildcats of the University of New Hampshire by a score of 3 to 2 in overtime in Anaheim, California, on April 3, 1999, to win the 1999 NCAA hockey championship;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears finished their season with an impressive record of 31–6–4, losing only 1 game at home;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears have brought the NCAA hockey championship home to Maine for the 2nd time this decade;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears coaching staff and players displayed outstanding dedication, team work, and sportsmanship throughout the season to achieve collegiate hockey's highest honor; and

Whereas the Maine Black Bears have brought pride and honor to the State of Maine: Now, therefore, be it,

Resolved, That the Senate congratulates the Black Bears of the University of Maine for winning the 1999 NCAA hockey championship.

S. RES. 164

CONGRATULATING THE BLACK BEARS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate now proceed to the consideration of Calendar No. 127, S. 920.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 920) to authorize appropriations for the Federal Maritime Commission for fiscal years 2000 and 2001;

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill, which has been reported from the Committee on the Energy and Natural Resources, with an amendment; as follows:

(The part of the bill intended to be inserted in italics.)

S. 920

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Federal Maritime Commission Authorization Act of 1999”.

SEC. 2. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS FOR FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION.

There are authorized to be appropriated to the Federal Maritime Commission—

(1) for fiscal year 2000, $15,685,000; and

(2) for fiscal year 2001, $16,312,000.

SEC. 3. CHAIRMAN DESIGNATED WITH SENATE CONFIRMATION.

Section 10(b) of the Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1961 (5 U.S.C. 903 nt) is amended by striking “President” and inserting “President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.”

Mr. ROTH. I ask unanimous consent that the committee amendment be agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The committee amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ROTH. I ask unanimous consent that the bill, as amended, be read a third time, and that H. R. 819 be discharged from the Committee on the Judiciary.

Whereas the Black Bears of the University of Maine defeated the Wildcats of the University of New Hampshire by a score of 3 to 2 in overtime in Anaheim, California, on April 3, 1999, to win the 1999 NCAA hockey championship;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears finished their season with an impressive record of 31–6–4, losing only 1 game at home;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears have brought the NCAA hockey championship home to Maine for the 2nd time this decade;

Whereas the Maine Black Bears coaching staff and players displayed outstanding dedication, team work, and sportsmanship throughout the season to achieve collegiate hockey’s highest honor; and

Whereas the Maine Black Bears have brought pride and honor to the State of Maine: Now, therefore, be it,

Resolved, That the Senate congratulates the Black Bears of the University of Maine for winning the 1999 NCAA hockey championship.

S. RES. 164

CONGRATULATING THE BLACK BEARS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it stand in adjournment until 8:30 a.m. on Friday, July 30. I further ask unanimous consent that when the Senate reconvenes on Friday, immediately following the prayer, the routine requests through the morning hour be granted and the Senate then resume consideration of S. 1249, the reconciliation bill, as previously ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ORDERS FOR FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1999

Mr. ROTH. For the information of all Senators, when the Senate reconvenes on Friday, there will be 30 minutes for amendments to the Bingaman amendment and the Hutchinson amendment. Two back-to-back votes will then occur at 9 a.m. Following those two votes, any additional amendments will be limited to 2 minutes of debate. Therefore, numerous votes will occur in a stacked sequence. Consequently, Senators are asked not to leave the Chamber in order to conclude the voting process as early as possible.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 8:30 A.M. TOMORROW

Mr. ROTH. If there is no further business to come before the Senate, I now ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in adjournment under the previous order.

There being no objection, the Senate, at 10:21 p.m., adjourned until Friday, July 30, 1999, at 8:30 a.m.
The House met at 10 a.m.
The Reverend Dr. Paul A. Wee, Church of the Reformation, ELCA, Washington, D.C., offered the following prayer:
This is the day that the Lord has made. Let us rejoice and be glad in it. Let us pray.
O God, we give You thanks for this past night and for this new day. Fill it, we pray, with the presence of Your spirit that all we do and say may be pleasing in Your sight.
Inspire within us compassion for all those in want this day in this city, this Nation, and this world. Keep before our eyes a burning vision of the Shalom that binds in one the human family throughout this world. We especially ask Your blessing upon the States from which we come and upon the District of Columbia in which we gather.
May the hospitality shown to each of us here be reflected in the way in which we welcome the stranger in our midst. Give us above all this day a passion for justice and a spirit of joy in Your service.
Amen.

THE JOURNAL
The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.
Pursuant to clause 1, rule 1, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BERIEUTER) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.
Mr. BERIEUTER led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:
I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE
A message from the Senate by Mr. Lundregan, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate had passed with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested, bills of the House of the following titles:
H.R. 1501. An act to amend the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 to provide grants to ensure increased accountability for juvenile offenders; to amend the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974 to provide quality prevention programs and accountability programs relating to juvenile delinquency; and for other purposes.
H.R. 2561. An act making appropriations for the Department of Defense for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes.
H.R. 2605. An act making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes.
The message also announced that the Senate insists upon its amendment to the bill (H.R. 1501) "An Act to amend the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 to provide grants to ensure increased accountability for juvenile offenders; to amend the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974 to provide quality prevention programs and accountability programs relating to juvenile delinquency; and for other purposes," requests a conference with the House on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and appoints Mr. HATCH, Mr. THURMOND, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. LEAHY, and Mr. KENNEDY, to be the conferees on the part of the Senate.
The message also announced that the Senate insists upon its amendment to the bill (H.R. 2561) "An Act making appropriations for the Department of Defense for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes," requests a conference with the House on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and appoints Mr. HATCH, Mr. HARKIN, Mr. DORGAN, and Mr. DURBIN, to be the conferees on the part of the Senate.
The message also announced that the Senate insists upon its amendment to the bill (H.R. 2605) "An Act making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes," requests a conference with the House on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and appoints Mr. HATCH, Mr. BYRD, and Mrs. HOLLINGS, Mr. BYRD, Mr. LEAHY, Mr. ARTIS, Mr. DORGAN, and Mr. INOUYE, to be the conferees on the part of the Senate.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER
The SPEAKER. The Chair will entertain 15 one-minutes on each side.

RESPONSIBLE GAMING EDUCATION WEEK
(Mr. Gibbons asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)
Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, as Members of Congress, we should always be encouraged when the private sector tackles one of the social problems facing our Nation without government help.
Such is the case with our Nation's gaming industry. However, it should also be important to recall that a vast majority of Americans who choose to gamble do so responsibly.

In an effort to emphasize the casino gaming entertainment industry’s commitment to responsible gaming, August 2 to August 6 has been designated as “responsible gaming education week.”

This campaign follows last year’s inaugural implementation of this successful program. The idea is designed to raise the awareness of persons with disordered gaming habits and to further educate casino employees and customers about the importance of responsible gaming.

During this week, all casino employees will be asked to actively promote and institute responsible gaming practices within their companies. As a part of this effort, over 250,000 educational brochures on the characteristics of disordered gambling and the importance of responsible gaming will be provided to casino employees across America.

Mr. Speaker, obviously the gaming industry is taking positive steps to improve the gaming entertainment opportunities by helping those with addictive problems.

EYES WIDE SHUT
(Mr. CUMMINGS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, when I think of the manner in which the GOP tax cut legislation was drafted, the title of the movie “Eyes Wide Shut” comes to mind.

Still, this is no sultry suspense film. In this horror, we will only find a terrible plot that sacrifices Medicare and Social Security with the money in the budget surplus belongs to the American people, falsely implying that we Democrats disagree with that.

For the record, we do not disagree. The surplus belongs to the American people. They are the ones who paid for it. They are the ones who worked for it. That is why we are listening to the American people, who are telling us that their values is to use the surplus to pay down the national debt and to save Social Security and Medicare.

Republicans, on the other hand, are listening to all the special interests and high-priced Washington lobbyists, who are telling them to waste the surplus on a trillion dollar tax giveaway.

So, Mr. Speaker, actions speak louder than words. It is we Democrats who are listening to the voices and values of America’s working families. Because we know this Government does belong to them and they are demanding that we exercise some real fiscal discipline, pay down the national debt, and extend the life of Social Security and Medicare. Democrats are committed to doing that.

If the Republicans really believed the surplus belongs to the American people, they would listen to the voices of those people.

WHATEVER FLOATS YOUR BOAT
(Mr. SCHAFFER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SCHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, last week President contender and self proclaimed environmental guru, Vice President Al Gore, treated himself to what amounted to a $7.1 million taxpayer-funded and environmentally... reckless canoe trip down the Connecticut River in New Hampshire.

While on a campaign swing through the first-in-the-Nation primary State, the VP decided to demonstrate his environmental prowess for the cameras by floating four miles downstream and then climbing ashore with a $100,000 Federal grant check for the local water commission.

Unfortunately, Gore and his handlers determined too late the low water level on the river might not fully float Gore's boat, thereby presenting a potentially embarrassing political moment to the campaign flotilla. Rather than forgo the photo opportunity, the local water commission, yes, the same group that received the check, was persuaded to release 4 billion gallons of captured water down the river for the 35 minutes Gore was afloat. Water usage cost to release the 4 billion gallons: $7.1 million.

This was not the first time. They did the same thing in Colorado in 1996 at the Chatfield Reservoir. In either case while farmers pay a premium for reliable water supplies, the Vice President spends their money like water.

Mr. Speaker, as they say over in the White House, "Whatever makes your boat float."

REJECT THE MASSIVELY IRRESPONSIBLE REPUBLICAN TAX BILL

(Mr. ETHERIDGE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ETHERIDGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to call on this Congress to reverse course and pass fiscally responsible legislation to provide targeted tax relief for America's families.

Mr. Speaker, the people of North Carolina sent me to this House to work to put our Nation's fiscal house in order, honor our values and invest in our future. Last Congress, I proudly voted to balance the Federal budget for the first time in a generation and I continue to support fiscally responsible tax relief for middle-class families.

But the Republican leadership rammed through this House last week is a massively irresponsible gamble with our Nation's future and our economic prosperity. The Republican bill would cripple our ability to save Social Security and Medicare for our Nation's seniors and would prevent us from making needed investments in better education for our children.

Mr. Speaker, the first bill I introduced as a Member of this House cut the inheritance tax for small businesses and small families. This year I have written and introduced, cosponsored by 90 Members, a bill to provide Federal tax credits for local school construction. I strongly support paying down the national debt and providing responsible tax relief for our families. The Republican bill would hurt the middle class and return us to the days of out-of-control deficits and skyrocketing inflation.

INTRODUCTION OF KOSOVO BURDENSHARING RESOLUTION

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, this Member is today introducing a House Resolution titled the Kosovo Burdensharing Resolution. Since the United States bore the disproportionately large share of the cost of the air war against Yugoslavia, my resolution expresses the sense of the House that the United States should pay no more than 10 percent of the aggregate total costs associated with the military air operations, reconstruction in Kosovo, and in Yugoslavia when Milosevic no longer controls the governments of Serbia or Yugoslavia or the Socialist Party, except there is no limitation against burdensharing when the current Administration's burdensharing is consistent with the earlier statements by the President, but we need to remind him and reinforce his bargaining power on burdensharing when he negotiates with the European and other allied countries.

This resolution is particularly timely as President Clinton leaves today for the Balkans Reconstruction Conference on Friday in Sarajevo. The resolution also recognizes that Macedonia and Albania bear a significant economic and refugee burden and that these roles should make them priority recipients of aid.

Members should contact my office today if they wish to be an original co-sponsor.

MANAGED CARE REFORM

(Mr. GREEN of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GREEN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, we have a saying in Texas, "If it's not broke, don't fix it." Well, our health care delivery system by HMOs is broken.

According to the day you read almost any newspaper, the Kaiser Family Foundation found that 87 percent of doctors said their patients had experienced denial of coverage over the last 2 years; 78 percent had trouble getting approval for a certain drug they wanted to prescribe; 69 percent had trouble getting a diagnostic test approved; 52 percent had trouble getting patients referred to a specialist.

And now to bring you up to date, the Republican leadership announced their intention once again to bypass the committee process and take a managed care bill directly here to the floor.

Once again they are starting down a road that ignores the American people. They are letting the HMOs write their own legislation. Once again they are writing a major piece of legislation in the Speaker's office without bipartisan support.

Another Texas saying we have, and I think it applies, is that they are letting the fox guard the chicken house. What we need is real HMO reform, not a fake or a fig leaf.

ADMINISTRATION FALLS SHORT ON VA FUNDING

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, the Clinton administration proposed a dismal VA medical care budget earlier this year. It is shortchanging our veterans.

We have heard from VA officials that an additional $1.1 billion is needed just to maintain current service levels.

Deep concerns regarding the administration's proposal for veterans' medical care led our Committee on Veterans' Affairs to call for an additional $1.7 billion in funding for the upcoming fiscal year. The new funding being suggested by the Vice President over the weekend will not cover the needs of our veterans.

He proposed an additional $900 million for medical care. But based upon the administration's own figures, the cost for pay increases and inflation alone will cost $900 million.

The administration's budget fails to cover the costs of treating hepatitis C, a "silent epidemic" afflicting many veterans, and fails to cover the cost of emergency care.

Mr. Speaker, we need to provide for our veterans. It is a moral obligation.

SAVE SOCIAL SECURITY FIRST

(Ms. SANCHEZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. SANCHEZ. Mr. Speaker, here we go again. Social Security is the primary retirement system for the majority of retired Americans. It provides benefits to 33 million Americans of all ages and it keeps 12 million of them out of poverty.

The GOP Social Security approach is really an unreliable response that supports wealthy special interests. Why does the GOP want to undercut a sound economy with a tax scheme designed to benefit the few?

We must protect Social Security. This means less debt, lower interest costs, rising living standards, more money made available for seniors' priorities, and more security for Social Security.

The Republican tax cuts mean higher deficits, higher interest rates and lower economic growth. Their tax scheme would make it impossible to continue to pay down and eventually eliminate the debt we have by 2015 as proposed by our President.

My colleagues across the aisle would have us believe that their efforts are to support Social Security, but this is not so. Their tax cut does not cut it.

REPUBLICANS PUT PRIORITY ON SAVING SOCIAL SECURITY AND MEDICARE

(Mr. ROGAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ROGAN. Mr. Speaker, I would begin by reminding my friend from California that the Democrats controlled this Chamber for 40 years, and in that 40-year period, they put not one penny into the Social Security trust fund. They used the Social Security trust fund for government spending programs.

Now, for the first time in 40 years, Republicans are in control of the Chamber. We campaigned on a tax cut for working families after we protected Social Security, after we protected Medicare. Because of Republican spending priorities, we now have for the first time since Neil Armstrong walked on the Moon a surplus economy. That did not come from liberal profligate spending. That came from Republican proposals that put a priority on Social Security, put a priority on Medicare, put a priority on jobs and put a priority on protecting the paycheck checks of working families in this country.

That is what Americans voted for in 1994, in 1996 and 1998. As we approach the year 2000, Mr. Speaker, we are going to give them that opportunity again.

CHINA

(Mr. BROWN of Ohio asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, 2 days ago, the Communist Chinese government once again had its way with this Congress when this body voted trading privileges for perhaps the most repressive, corrupt regime in the world. American CEOs and Washington attorneys again had their way with Congress even though we have a trade deficit with China of $65 billion and growing annually.

Beijing and its Communist Party leaders again had their way with this Congress this week even though this Communist Chinese government supports forced abortions, persecution of Christians and Muslims, sale of nuclear technology to Pakistan, child labor and slave labor.

But there was good news. Mr. Speaker, in the vote this week. The vote was closer than it had been in many, many years. Members of this body are beginning to understand and begin to show that they care about human rights, care about nuclear proliferation, and care about democracy in China.

All of us need to demand that China enter the family of nations before they enter the World Trade Organization.

SALUTE TO LANCE ARMSTRONG, WINNER OF TOUR DE FRANCE

(Mr. HOYER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, we have again seen the face of courage. It is Lance Armstrong’s.

Lying in his hospital bed just 3 years ago, Mr. Armstrong was fired by his French bicycle racing team. He suffered from testicular cancer and was given less than a 40 percent chance of survival.

He underwent two operations and 12 weeks of chemotherapy, but he refused to succumb and now has prevailed by winning the Tour de France last Sunday.

Lance Armstrong was not alone on this long journey back. The one team willing to take a chance on Mr. Armstrong was sponsored by the United States Postal Service. The Postal Service deserves great credit.

This wonderful story reminds me of a poem by another American trailblazer, Amelia Earhart. She wrote:

"Courage is the price that life extracts for granting peace. The soul that knows it not knows no release from little things; knows not the livid loneliness of fear, nor mountain heights where bitter joy can hear the sounds of wings."

Lance Armstrong knows both and inspires us all.

AGRICULTURE CRISIS

(Mr. EWING asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, there is an ag crisis. The cause is excessive world production and lost markets that we counted on. The result has been reduced exports and disastrously low commodity prices.

Can the great economic engine of America continue to move on and up with the enormous agricultural engine pulling the other way? I doubt it.

On this issue, Congress has acted and must act again. We have done things to open new markets: The NTR vote this week, anti-embargo legislation which we passed in this House, unilateral sanction reform, tax reform, capital gains, estate tax, which are good for our farmers.

But when we come back from the recess, we are going to have to take up, if we have not already passed, the crop insurance reform bill, and we are going to have to deal with emergency lost market payments and adequate financing for our American farmers. Let us not forget this enormous part of our agricultural economy.
defense. These tax breaks for the wealthy are evidence that Republican values are out of step with the American people. I hope we will heed the advice of the Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan who warned that, and I quote, the time is not right for whopping tax breaks. I call upon cooler heads to prevail so that we can use this surplus to strengthen Medicare and Social Security to keep faith with our parents and with our children, give tax relief to middle-class families and reduce the Federal debt.

REPUBLICAN PLAN PUTS FIRST THINGS FIRST

(Mr. HILL of Montana asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HILL of Montana. Mr. Speaker, are tax cuts good for America? Should we have a simpler "Tax Code? Should the excess taxes projected to be paid by the American people over the next 10 years be used as the President and the Democrats propose for massive new spending or should some of it be returned to the taxpayers?

The President says we should do first things first. Last fall, he said we should set aside 100 percent of Social Security for Social Security. But then he proposed a budget that said, no, let us just set 62 percent aside for Social Security and use the other 38 percent for new spending.

By putting spending over saving the President has put first things last. The Republican plan does put first things first. It starts by saying, let us hold the line on spending. Then it says 100 percent of Social Security for Social Security. Then it says, pay down the debt $2 trillion and set aside 2 hundred billion for Medicare reform and a pharmacy benefit and then reform taxes with simpler, lower, fairer taxes for virtually every American.

This Republican plan is a good plan, it is the right plan for America.

VOTE AGAINST ATTACHMENTS TO D.C. APPROPRIATION

(Ms. NORTON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, my colleagues are about to have an out of body legislative experience. When the D.C. appropriation comes to the floor shortly, they will be asked to appropriate somebody else’s money. Worse, a local budget that has no business here will bear the brunt of an excise for attachments that are anathema to the people I represent.

In our Federalist system no action is regarded as more oppressive than national usurpation of local law. The Republican plan will not fall if my colleagues vote against these attachments. It will be weakened if they do what they would not stand for in their own districts and vote to tell local residents how they may spend their own local funds.

Please vote against the attachments to the D.C. appropriation.

WE NEED TAX REFORM NOW

(Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, last week I was proud to support the largest tax cut in a decade. It is one of the things that I was sent here to Congress to do. But as my colleagues know, Mr. Speaker, paying through this bill, all 506 pages of it, I was reminded again of how tax relief is not enough. Congress must do more. Congress must deliver tax reform and do it now.

Earlier this year I caught another glimpse of that need when a constituent of mine sent me some letters, a case that he is working on with the IRS. In his letters, he has letters from the IRS promising to get back to him on April 19, May 19, June 18, July 16, and most recently, August 16.

It is time to stop this bureaucratic run-around. It is time that we scrapped the IRS code and replaced it with a simpler, fairer code and a tax code that works for taxpayers, not the other way around.

REPUBLICAN TAX PLAN, A BLUEPRINT FOR FISCAL IRRESPONSIBILITY

(Mr. ALLEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I take the contrary view. The Republican tax bill is the new definition of fiscal irresponsibility.

We have a historic opportunity to pay down the national debt. But the Republican plan not only ignores debt retirement, it requires $155 billion in additional spending on interest on the national debt.

The party that says it loathes government spending proposes $155 billion in extra spending, not on education, not on veterans health care, not on the environment, but on the Federal equivalent of a credit card service charge. Moreover, the Republicans refuse to extend the solvency of Social Security and Medicare and instead give a huge tax break for the wealthy and special interests. They rejected the democratic plan that makes Social Security and Medicare the priority.

Mr. Speaker, our Nation’s current and future retirees deserve more than that.

Finally, the Republican tax bill gives 65 percent of the tax breaks to the wealthiest 10 percent. The richest 10 percent do not have trouble paying for their children’s education, their parents’ long-term care, or their own health care premiums. Only the Democratic plan offers targeted class relief for the middle class.

A DIFFERENCE IN PHILOSOPHY

(Mr. RYAN of Wisconsin asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RYAN of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring some truth back into this whole debate about our government surpluses. Here is what the Republican Congress has proposed: $2 trillion toward reducing the national debt, far more than the President and the Democrats have proposed: stopping the raid on the Social Security Trust Fund; putting $200 billion into shoring up Medicare; and if after those goals are achieved, our constituents continue to pay their taxes, give hard-working American working families tax relief.

The Democrats’ and the President’s plan? Raid Social Security by the tune of $341 billion, increase the national debt, do not put as much down to the national debt as we do, and keep all of the extra money in Washington. If Americans overpay their taxes, the President, and the Democrats want to spend the money.

The difference is not tax cuts or debt reduction; the difference is tax cuts or new spending on new Washington programs.

The President put it best when he said in Buffalo, New York to a packed crowd of 35,000 people: “We could give you your money back, but we wouldn’t be sure that you would spend it right.”

Mr. Speaker, that is the difference. It is a difference in philosophy. We think people should get more of their own money after we start paying down debt, after we stop the raid on Social Security.

KEEPING PACE WITH MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY

(Mr. LAMPSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise this morning to tell all of my colleagues about a brave 6½ year-old girl named Keeley Woodruff from Beaumont, Texas. Yesterday, Keeley bravely braved Vagus Nerve Stimulator implant surgery to stop the more than 50 epileptic seizures that she has suffered daily since she was 1½ years old. Well, this stimulator has proved to be a safe and effective therapy for patients with severe epilepsy, but it has not been approved by the State of Texas for patients under 12 years old.

The bottom line is that costs associated with this life-changing procedure often are not covered.

Mr. Speaker, thanks to the fast action and cooperation among a University of Texas medical branch physician; the manufacturer, Cyberonics; and Medicaid officials to see what can be done to approve this device for all children under 12 years old.

While Keeley’s story has a happy ending, there are many other children who face the same situation, and very soon I will be in contact with Texas and Medicaid officials to see what can be done to provide this service for all children under 12 years old.

Mr. Speaker, as Members of Congress must do all we can to make sure that medical policy keeps pace with medical technology.

REPUBLICAN TAX RELIEF

(Mr. ROYCE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ROYCE. Mr. Speaker, the Republican Congress has reduced the debt by 51 billion this last year, by 102 billion as the sum that we will reduce the debt by this year. Over the next 10 years under the budget plan that we have put forward, we will reduce it by another $2 trillion.

Now the question that we are actually debating is whether we should use $1 out of every 4 of the surplus, of the budget surplus, to put down the debt; we want to use it to put down the debt; we want more social spending.

Mr. Speaker, to that end, let me just remind my colleagues we have a trigger that if the surplus starts to decline, we do not phase in our tax reductions. So I wanted to make that point clear.

RESPONSIBLE TAX CUTS

(Mr. TURNER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the Republican tax cutting message is: “You can’t trust the Congress,” which the last time I checked, they were in the majority and controlled. Today they propose an irresponsible tax cut scheme, that dedications all of the on-budget surplus to a massive tax cut rather than doing the responsible thing and reducing the national debt, saving Social Security and Medicare.

Where have all the fiscal conservatives gone in the Republican party? I am shocked to hear some members of the Republican delegation here today say that they reduce the national debt more than Democrats. We just voted last week on a bill on the floor of this House where the Democrats said we are going to devote all of the Social Security surplus to Social Security and we are going to devote half of the on-budget surplus to debt reduction, 25 percent to reasonable tax cuts aimed at middle-income Americans and the other 25 percent for further tax reduction and to save Medicare and Social Security.

That is the responsible thing to do.

The Republican tax proposal simply gives only modest tax breaks to middle-income taxpayers. We propose a responsible tax cut that will benefit all Americans.

SUPPORT THE PRESCRIPTION DRUG FAIRNESS FOR SENIORS ACT

(Mr. SHOWS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SHOWS. Mr. Speaker, I stand before the American people today to talk about the high costs of prescription drugs. I have had the opportunity to visit with many of my constituents to address this burdensome problem. Studies prove that senior citizens in Mississippi pay outrageous amounts of money for much needed prescription drugs. For an example, a Mrs. Bruce lives in Federation Towers in Clinton, Mississippi. She enjoyed all the freedoms that should come along with being a senior citizen until the cost of her prescription medicine forced her to move out of her house, into her home with her daughter. She pays $200 a month for prescription medicine on a fixed income.

Mrs. Bruce told me that without her daughter she could not stay healthy. She wonders what happens to the other seniors in this country who do not have the family support that she does.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot think of any other issue that deserves being addressed more than the cost of medicine for our seniors. That is why I cosponsored the Prescription Drug Fairness Act for seniors. It is time to do right by our seniors and make them favorite customers, just like the large HMOs in the Federal Government.

Mr. Speaker, folks like Mrs. Bruce need us.

A REPUBLICAN SHOPPING SPREE FOR THE RICH

(Mr. LEWIS of Georgia, Mr. Speaker, the Republicans are trying to ram through an $800 billion tax bill. The Republican tax bill does nothing to save Social Security, nothing to preserve or protect Medicare and nothing to reduce our national debt. The Republican tax bill provides huge tax breaks for America’s wealthiest people while providing pocket change for American working families. Tens of thousands for the rich, pennies for working men and women. This is the Republican way.

That is not fair, that is not right, that is not just.

Mr. Speaker, we have a chance to finally put our economic house in order, to pay down our national collected credit card. Just when we are in a position to do what is right, the Republican want to go on a shopping spree. The American people and this Congress should do what is right. We should reject the Republican tax bill.

1045

SUPPORT THE REPUBLICAN TAX PACKAGE

(Mr. WELDON of Florida asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WELDON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the Republican tax package. For all too many years, hard-working Americans have seen more and more of their money going to Washington, D.C., going to wasteful spending, going to programs that take the tax dollars that those hard-working Americans worked very hard to obtain, and squandering them on programs that do not achieve their directed purpose, but in many ways, make matters worse.

Now, we all support making sure that priority programs that help the poor, help the needy, help our senior citizens get the funding that they need. That is why this tax cut package protects all of the money in Social Security, sets aside the Social Security surplus for the first time. After more than 30 years of liberal Democrats spending the Social Security Trust Fund dollars, we, the Republicans, are setting that money aside. Then, in the end, we still have some money that we can return back to hard-working families in America.

Mr. Speaker, it is the right thing to do. If we leave the money in this town, it will get spent. We have to get the money out of this town in order to get it back in people’s pockets.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

July 29, 1999

COMMUNICATION FROM THE HONORABLE PETER T. KING, MEMBER OF CONGRESS

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Nussle) read the following communication from the Honorable Peter T. King, Member of Congress:

Dear Mr. Speaker,

This is to formally notify you pursuant to Rule VIII of the Rules of the House and I have received a subpoena for documents and testimony issued by the superior Court of the District of Columbia. After consultation with the Office of General Counsel, I will make the determinations required by Rule VIII.

PETER T. KING.

THE SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HOBSON), the ranking minority member, for his work on this bill. This is the eighth year of the 13 appropriations bills to go through the House-Senate conference and reach this stage. It is a testament to their skill that they have moved so quickly to complete House action on this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of the rule and of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

WAIVING POINTS OF ORDER AGAINST CONFERENCE REPORT ON H.R. 2465, MILITARY CONSTRUCTION APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2000

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 262 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 262
Resolved, That upon adoption of this resolution it shall be in order to consider the conference report to accompany the bill (H.R. 2465) making appropriations for military construction, family housing, and base realignment and closure for the Department of Defense for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes. All points of order against the conference report and against its consideration are waived. The conference report shall be considered as read.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. MYRICK) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 262 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 262
Resolved, That upon adoption of this resolution it shall be in order to consider the conference report to accompany the bill (H.R. 2465) making appropriations for military construction, family housing, and base realignment and closure for the Department of Defense for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes. All points of order against the conference report and against its consideration are waived. The conference report shall be considered as read.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. MYRICK) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I want to thank the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. MYRICK) for yielding me the time.

This rule waives all points of order for consideration against the conference report on H.R. 2465, which is the Military Construction Appropriations bill for fiscal year 2000. The bill basically funds construction projects on military bases, including barracks, housing for military families, laboratories, hospitals, training facilities, and other buildings that support our Armed Forces. The bill also funds activities necessary to carry out the last two rounds of base closings and realignments.

This conference report represents the most basic kind of compromise between the House and the Senate versions of the bill. The House bill funded $8.5 billion in military construction, the Senate amount was $8.3 billion, and the conference split the difference, arriving at a total of around $8.4 billion.

I am pleased that the bill contains $43.6 million for Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio, which is partially in my district and partially in the 7th Congressional District of the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HOBSON). Since the days of Orville Wright, the Dayton area has been our Nation’s center of military aviation science. Two of the Wright-Patterson projects funded in the bill are laboratories that will maintain the base’s world-class research facilities.

Once again, I commend the chairman of the Subcommittee on Military Construction, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HOBSON), who has done a great job; and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. OLVER), the ranking minority member, for his work on this bill. This is the eighth year of the 13 appropriations bills to go through the House-Senate conference and reach this stage. It is a testament to their skill that they have moved so quickly to complete House action on this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of the rule and of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON H.R. 2465, MILITARY CONSTRUCTION APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2000

Mr. HOBSON. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 262, I call up the conference report on the bill (H.R. 2465), making appropriations for military construction, family housing, and base realignment and closure for the Department of Defense for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HOBSON) is recognized for 30 minutes.

Mr. HOBSON. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 262, the conference report is considered as having been read.

(For conference report and statement, see proceedings of the House of Tuesday, July 7, 1999 at page H6475.)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HOBSON) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. OLVER) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HOBSON).

Mr. HOBSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

The conference report we present to the House today for military construction, family housing and base closure recommends a total appropriation of $6.4 billion. This represents a $76 million decrease from last year. It is also $76 million below the House-passed level.

Overall, the agreement recommends $3.6 billion for items related to family housing, $4.1 billion for military construction, and $670 million for the implementation of base realignments and closures. As always, I want to express my appreciation to all of the members of the subcommittee and especially my ranking member the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. OLVER), for his cooperation in crafting this agreement.

This bill represents an investment program that has significant payback in economic terms and better living and working conditions for our military personnel and their families.

Mr. Speaker, at this time I will place in the RECORD documentation regarding this bill.
MILITARY CONSTRUCTION APPROPRIATIONS BILL (H.R. 2465)

(Amounts in thousands)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Fiscal Year</th>
<th>FY 1999 Enacted</th>
<th>FY 2000 Request</th>
<th>House</th>
<th>Senate</th>
<th>Conference</th>
<th>Conference vs. enacted</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Army</td>
<td>865,726</td>
<td>856,003</td>
<td>1,223,405</td>
<td>1,067,422</td>
<td>1,042,033</td>
<td>+176,307</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency appropriations (P.L. 102-277)</td>
<td>118,000</td>
<td>859,539</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>118,000</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>983,726</td>
<td>1,315,509</td>
<td>1,223,405</td>
<td>1,067,422</td>
<td>1,042,033</td>
<td>+176,307</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Navy</td>
<td>800,892</td>
<td>315,788</td>
<td>988,662</td>
<td>884,863</td>
<td>801,531</td>
<td>+286,838</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency appropriations (P.L. 102-277)</td>
<td>5,980</td>
<td>502,812</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>502,812</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>908,465</td>
<td>522,598</td>
<td>988,662</td>
<td>884,863</td>
<td>801,531</td>
<td>+286,838</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Air Force</td>
<td>612,899</td>
<td>176,479</td>
<td>752,367</td>
<td>783,710</td>
<td>777,238</td>
<td>+164,429</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency appropriations (P.L. 102-277)</td>
<td>29,000</td>
<td>379,867</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>379,867</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>642,065</td>
<td>559,348</td>
<td>752,367</td>
<td>783,710</td>
<td>777,238</td>
<td>+164,429</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Defense-wide</td>
<td>551,114</td>
<td>163,005</td>
<td>755,718</td>
<td>770,800</td>
<td>563,615</td>
<td>+42,501</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>337,800</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>551,114</td>
<td>530,005</td>
<td>755,718</td>
<td>770,800</td>
<td>563,615</td>
<td>+42,501</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Active Components</td>
<td>3,785,302</td>
<td>3,228,388</td>
<td>3,700,365</td>
<td>3,508,705</td>
<td>3,314,417</td>
<td>+529,115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Department of Defense Military Unaccompanied Housing Improvement</td>
<td>-5,000</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fund: Rescission (FY 1997, P.L. 104-198)</td>
<td>-5,000</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Navy National Guard</td>
<td>148,903</td>
<td>16,045</td>
<td>135,169</td>
<td>226,734</td>
<td>227,458</td>
<td>+78,663</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency appropriations (P.L. 102-277)</td>
<td>2,000</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>41,257</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>151,100</td>
<td>26,045</td>
<td>135,169</td>
<td>226,734</td>
<td>227,458</td>
<td>+78,663</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Air Force National Guard</td>
<td>108,001</td>
<td>31,219</td>
<td>180,870</td>
<td>238,546</td>
<td>283,724</td>
<td>+93,923</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency appropriations (P.L. 102-277)</td>
<td>19,000</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>51,581</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>155,001</td>
<td>52,219</td>
<td>180,870</td>
<td>238,546</td>
<td>283,724</td>
<td>+93,923</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Army Reserve</td>
<td>122,119</td>
<td>23,120</td>
<td>92,515</td>
<td>105,817</td>
<td>111,340</td>
<td>+9,521</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>54,026</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>122,119</td>
<td>76,239</td>
<td>92,515</td>
<td>105,817</td>
<td>111,340</td>
<td>+9,521</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Naval Reserve</td>
<td>31,021</td>
<td>4,033</td>
<td>21,574</td>
<td>31,475</td>
<td>28,457</td>
<td>-3,184</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>10,050</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>31,071</td>
<td>14,083</td>
<td>21,574</td>
<td>31,475</td>
<td>28,457</td>
<td>-3,184</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction, Air Force Reserve</td>
<td>34,157</td>
<td>12,155</td>
<td>66,549</td>
<td>36,884</td>
<td>64,404</td>
<td>+30,033</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>15,165</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>34,317</td>
<td>27,320</td>
<td>66,549</td>
<td>36,884</td>
<td>64,404</td>
<td>+30,033</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Reserve Components</td>
<td>505,115</td>
<td>230,601</td>
<td>498,837</td>
<td>836,935</td>
<td>855,861</td>
<td>+190,066</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military construction transfer fund (emergency appropriations) (P.L. 102-31)</td>
<td>475,000</td>
<td>475,000</td>
<td>475,000</td>
<td>475,000</td>
<td>475,000</td>
<td>475,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Military Construction</td>
<td>3,790,417</td>
<td>3,478,986</td>
<td>4,188,986</td>
<td>4,145,140</td>
<td>4,009,788</td>
<td>+249,361</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rescissions</td>
<td>(5,000)</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency Appropriations</td>
<td>(648,400)</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance Appropriations</td>
<td>(2,253,141)</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NATO Security Investment Program</td>
<td>25,000</td>
<td>191,000</td>
<td>81,000</td>
<td>100,000</td>
<td>81,000</td>
<td>-74,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Revised economic assumptions</td>
<td>-1,000</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, NATO</td>
<td>25,000</td>
<td>190,000</td>
<td>81,000</td>
<td>100,000</td>
<td>81,000</td>
<td>-74,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family Housing, Army:</td>
<td>154,000</td>
<td>191,000</td>
<td>81,000</td>
<td>100,000</td>
<td>81,000</td>
<td>-74,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New construction</td>
<td>107,100</td>
<td>4,400</td>
<td>48,500</td>
<td>48,500</td>
<td>48,500</td>
<td>-56,100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Construction improvements</td>
<td>46,479</td>
<td>5,030</td>
<td>35,400</td>
<td>35,400</td>
<td>35,400</td>
<td>-15,079</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Planning and design</td>
<td>8,380</td>
<td>4,300</td>
<td>4,300</td>
<td>4,300</td>
<td>4,300</td>
<td>-2,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General reduction</td>
<td>-2,639</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>43,561</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subtotal, construction</td>
<td>156,390</td>
<td>57,694</td>
<td>86,000</td>
<td>86,000</td>
<td>86,000</td>
<td>-78,560</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Operation and maintenance</td>
<td>1,067,697</td>
<td>1,068,060</td>
<td>1,069,115</td>
<td>1,068,060</td>
<td>1,068,312</td>
<td>-3,846</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency Appropriations (P.L. 102-277)</td>
<td>5,000</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
<td>-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Family Housing, Army</td>
<td>1,252,187</td>
<td>1,165,074</td>
<td>1,179,012</td>
<td>1,187,486</td>
<td>1,187,012</td>
<td>-55,175</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MILITARY CONSTRUCTION APPROPRIATIONS BILL (H.R. 2465) — continued

(Amounts in thousands)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>FY 1999 Enacted</th>
<th>FY 2000 Request</th>
<th>House</th>
<th>Senate</th>
<th>Conference</th>
<th>Conference vs. enacted</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Family housing, Navy and Marine Corps:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New construction</td>
<td>58,504</td>
<td>15,182</td>
<td>118,174</td>
<td>115,589</td>
<td>134,674</td>
<td>+78,170</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Planning and design</td>
<td>15,618</td>
<td>17,715</td>
<td>17,715</td>
<td>17,715</td>
<td>17,715</td>
<td>+2,067</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General reduction and revised economic assumptions</td>
<td>-7,383</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>-1,003</td>
<td>+6,380</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>171,197</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>171,197</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subtotal, construction</td>
<td>294,580</td>
<td>235,772</td>
<td>212,559</td>
<td>208,354</td>
<td>241,071</td>
<td>+42,401</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Operation and maintenance</td>
<td>810,263</td>
<td>806,070</td>
<td>806,070</td>
<td>806,070</td>
<td>891,470</td>
<td>-86,823</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency appropriations (P.L. 105-277)</td>
<td>10,589</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>-1,000</td>
<td>-9,584</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Family housing, Navy</td>
<td>1,215,462</td>
<td>1,130,842</td>
<td>1,207,626</td>
<td>1,183,424</td>
<td>1,230,541</td>
<td>+17,126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family housing, Air Force:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New construction</td>
<td>175,060</td>
<td>50,418</td>
<td>203,411</td>
<td>187,811</td>
<td>203,411</td>
<td>+28,212</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Construction improvements</td>
<td>104,108</td>
<td>34,280</td>
<td>124,462</td>
<td>129,662</td>
<td>129,662</td>
<td>+25,444</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Planning and design</td>
<td>11,342</td>
<td>17,023</td>
<td>17,023</td>
<td>17,471</td>
<td>17,023</td>
<td>+5,751</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General reduction and revised economic assumptions</td>
<td>-10,584</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>-1,000</td>
<td>+9,584</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>215,222</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>215,222</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subtotal, construction</td>
<td>279,955</td>
<td>317,013</td>
<td>344,986</td>
<td>335,034</td>
<td>349,456</td>
<td>+69,481</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Operation and maintenance</td>
<td>780,201</td>
<td>821,882</td>
<td>821,882</td>
<td>821,882</td>
<td>818,362</td>
<td>+38,188</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency appropriations (P.L. 105-277)</td>
<td>23,203</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>23,203</td>
<td>-20,233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Family housing, Defense-side:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Construction improvements</td>
<td>345</td>
<td>50</td>
<td>50</td>
<td>50</td>
<td>50</td>
<td>-205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Operation and maintenance</td>
<td>38,899</td>
<td>41,440</td>
<td>41,440</td>
<td>41,440</td>
<td>41,440</td>
<td>+4,541</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Family housing, Defense-side</td>
<td>37,244</td>
<td>41,490</td>
<td>41,490</td>
<td>41,490</td>
<td>41,490</td>
<td>+4,541</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family housing revitalization:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Department of Defense Family Housing Improvement Fund</td>
<td>2,000</td>
<td>78,756</td>
<td>2,000</td>
<td>25,000</td>
<td>2,000</td>
<td>25,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Family housing:</td>
<td>3,588,315</td>
<td>3,548,087</td>
<td>3,567,018</td>
<td>3,600,820</td>
<td>3,810,891</td>
<td>+21,576</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New construction</td>
<td>(340,703)</td>
<td>(70,000)</td>
<td>(371,985)</td>
<td>(327,000)</td>
<td>(370,045)</td>
<td>(-38,063)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Construction improvements</td>
<td>(380,723)</td>
<td>(71,341)</td>
<td>(338,382)</td>
<td>(327,052)</td>
<td>(365,064)</td>
<td>(-35,000)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Planning and design</td>
<td>33,312</td>
<td>(28,106)</td>
<td>(28,106)</td>
<td>(28,106)</td>
<td>(26,106)</td>
<td>(-1,999)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General reduction</td>
<td>(-20,548)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>-2,000</td>
<td>-18,548</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Operation and maintenance</td>
<td>(2,110,703)</td>
<td>(2,558,452)</td>
<td>(2,589,214)</td>
<td>(2,607,468)</td>
<td>(2,837,816)</td>
<td>(-1,257,751)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family Housing Improvement Fund</td>
<td>(2,000)</td>
<td>(78,756)</td>
<td>(2,000)</td>
<td>25,000</td>
<td>(2,000)</td>
<td>25,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency appropriations</td>
<td>(36,032)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>(-36,032)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations</td>
<td></td>
<td>(433,362)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Base realignment and closure accounts:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Part III</td>
<td>427,164</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>-427,164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Part IV</td>
<td>1,197,338</td>
<td>705,911</td>
<td>705,911</td>
<td>705,911</td>
<td>672,311</td>
<td>-32,507</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Advance appropriations, FY 2001</td>
<td>577,206</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>577,206</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Base realignment and closure accounts</td>
<td>1,624,502</td>
<td>1,283,217</td>
<td>1,283,217</td>
<td>1,283,217</td>
<td>672,311</td>
<td>-552,191</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

General Provisions

| Family housing, Navy and Marine Corps (FY98 Sec. 125) | 6,000 |       |       |       |        | -6,000 |
| Contingency reduction (Sec. 125) | 131,177 | -278,081 |       |       |        |       |

Grand total:

| New budget (obligational) authority | 9,134,234 | 8,499,273 | 8,449,742 | 8,273,820 | 8,374,000 | -780,234 |
| Reconciliation                          | (9,154,742) | (5,436,443) | (5,449,742) | (5,276,820) | (5,374,000) | (-90,740) |
| Emergency appropriations                | (5,000) |                 |       |        |        | -5,000 |
| Advance appropriations                  | (884,469) |                 |       |        |        | (884,469) |

| Total | 1,201,422 | 1,186,845 | 1,186,845 | 1,186,845 | 1,230,541 | +17,126 |
I urge my colleagues to support this conference report.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. OLVER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

As I think all of the Members understand, the military construction appropriations bill serves as a guardian of the quality of life of men and women who serve in America’s military. Both the Chairman and I would have preferred to do more. We have a serious backlog with respect to the quality of life facilities barracks, housing, and other things that come under our jurisdiction. Yet, we find ourselves ultimately in this bill, $76 million, as the Chairman has already said, below last year’s funding level. That funding level has allowed us to address only the most pressing workplace and housing needs that we can see. Yet, that has been done, I think, in a very effective manner, given the constraints.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HOBSON), the chairman of the subcommittee, for his fair-minded and outstanding leadership in putting this bill together at all stages along the way. All of the members of the subcommittee, along with the gentleman from Florida (Mr. YOUNG), the chairman of the full committee, and the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. OBEY), the ranking member of the full committee, as well as all of the members of the subcommittee, have taken an active role from day 1 in the construction of this legislation as it made its way to where we are today.

Of course, we all realize that the staff puts in enormously long hours and hard work, and I especially want to put in enormous hours and thank Tom Forhan, the staff member for the minority.

This is a solid bipartisan agreement that deserves the support of all Members of the House.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HOBSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to lend my strong support for passage of H.R. 2465, the Fiscal Year 2000 Military Construction Appropriations Act Conference Report.

This $8.4 billion measure recognizes the needs of our military infrastructure, continues our efforts at base closure and realignment, and most importantly puts military families first. One of the much-needed items in this bill is improving the quality of life for our people in uniform is the $10.952 million appropriation for the construction of the Marseilles National Guard Training Facility in my Congressional District.

The Marseilles complex has been requested by the Illinois Department of Military Affairs and the Pentagon since 1994. Not until this year did the President recognize the need for this facility and I am pleased that President Clinton included funding for this project in his FY 2000 budget. This facility would be the first permanent training complex for the National Guard in the State of Illinois, serving all of the 10,245 members of the Guard in Illinois. Currently, members of the Illinois National Guard are forced to travel to bases in Wisconsin and Kentucky some as far as 350 miles away to conduct routine maneuvers. As you can imagine, this severely hinders the scope and timing of military operations, and even greater stress on the members of the Guard and their families.

Marseilles site is easily accessible from Interstate 80 and is in close proximity to Interstate 35 & 55, Chicago, Joliet, and Springfield. The Marseilles site is currently used by the Guard for small training exercises that are conducted out of tents and military vehicles with restrooms facilities consisting of portable toilets that are of an unacceptable condition for these troops.

The proposed complex in Marseilles would reduce travel time to and from training for most Illinois Guard members and would include barracks and dining facilities that would help to boost morale and retention within the ranks. The immediate construction of the Marseilles complex would provide the multiple benefits of substantially helping local businesses, spurring development in the undeveloped area south of the Illinois River, while providing a convenient training site that will help to ensure troop readiness and an acceptable quality of life.

Mr. Speaker, I extend my deep appreciation to Chairman HOBSON of the Military Construction Subcommittee, and on behalf of the residents and small business owners of Marseilles and the over 10,000 members of the Illinois National Guard I say thank you for helping to get this important project underway.

Mr. OLVER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HOBSON. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the conference report.

The previous question was ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the conference report.

Pursuant to clause 10 of rule XX, the yeas and nays are ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 412, nays 8, not voting 13, as follows:

YEAS—412

Abercrombie Canady Ehrlich
Ackerman Cannon Ehlers
Adams Capuano Engel
Allen Capito English
Andrews Cardin English (PA)
Archer Caruso Eshoo
Armey Castle Etheridge
Bachus Chabot Evans
Baer Chamilias Everett
Baker Chenoweth Ewing
Baldacci Clay Farr
Balint Clayton Fatkin
Ballenger Clement Filner
Barcita Clyburn Fletcher
Barr Coble Folegy
Barrett (NY) Coburn Forbes
Barlett Collins Ford
Barthomeuf Connell Forrester
Bass Condit Fowler
Bateman Conyers Frank (CA)
Bentsen Cook Frank (NY)
Bereuter Cooksey Frelinghuysen
Berkley Costello Frost
Berman Cox Galleleg
Berry Coyne Ganske
Biggs Cromer Gejdenson
Bilirakis Crane Gejdenson
Bilirakis Cronyn Gejdenson
Blizzard Cummings Gibbons
Blagoevich Cunningham Gilchrest
Billey Danner Gillmor
Blumenauer Davis (FL) Gillman
Blunt Davis (IL) Gonzales
Boehlert Davis (NY) Goodlatte
Boehner Davis (OH) Goode
Bolkien Delauro Goodlatte
Bereuter Delauro Goode
Bonior DelGatto Gordon
Bono Delahunt Goss
Boren Delaney Easter
Borski DeLauro Graham
Bowser Delay Guelinckx
Brandt Delahanty (TX) Gudger
Boyd Deutsch Green (WI)
Brady (PA) Dunn-Balart Greenwood
Brady (TX) Dicks Gutierrez
Brown (FL) Dingell Gutknecht
Brown (OH) Dixon Hall (OH)
Burr Doggett Hansen
Burton Dooley Hastings (FL)
Buyer Doyle Hatch
Callahan Dreier Hayworth
Calvert Durant Herger
Camp Dunn Hiler
Campbell Edwards Hill (IN)
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

July 29, 1999

MESSRS. SENSCENBRENNER, KLECKA AND BARRETT OF WISCONSIN CHANGED THEIR VOTE FROM "YEA" TO "NAY."

THE CONFERENCE REPORT WAS AGREED TO.

A MOTION TO RECONSIDER WAS LAID ON THE TABLE.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Nussle). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma? There was no objection.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2000

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 260 and rule XVIII, the Chair declares the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the further consideration of the bill, H.R. 2587.

In the Committee of the Whole

Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the further consideration of the bill (H.R. 2587) making appropriations for the government of the District of Columbia and other activities chargeable in whole or in part against revenues of the government of the District of Columbia and approved by the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to consider my amendment out of order.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?
Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment... The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment. The text of the amendment is as follows: Amendment No. 3 printed in House Report 106-363 offered by Mr. BILBRAY: Page 65, insert at line 24 the following:

RANNNING POSSESSION OF TOBACCO PRODUCTS BY MINORS

SEC. 167. (a) IN GENERAL.—It shall be unlawful for any individual under 18 years of age to possess any cigarette or other tobacco product in the District of Columbia. (b) EXCEPTIONS.—(1) POSSESSION IN COURSE OF EMPLOYMENT.—Subsection (a) shall not apply with respect to an individual making a delivery of cigarettes or tobacco products in pursuance of employment. (2) PARTICIPATION IN LAW ENFORCEMENT OPERATION.—Subsection (a) shall not apply with respect to an individual possessing products in the course of a valid, supervised law enforcement operation. (c) PENALTIES.—Any individual who violates subsection (a) shall be subject to the following penalties: (1) For any violation, the individual may be required to perform community service or attend a tobacco cessation program. (2) Upon the first violation, the individual shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $50. (3) Upon the second and each subsequent violation, the individual shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $100. (4) Upon the third and each subsequent violation, the individual may have his or her driving privileges in the District of Columbia suspended for a period of 90 consecutive days. (d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This section shall apply during fiscal year 2000 and each succeeding fiscal year.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 260, the gentleman from California (Mr. BILBRAY) and a Member opposed each will control 10 minutes. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California (Mr. BILBRAY). Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Chairman, this year, I reintroduced an amendment to the D.C. bill to specifically address the issue that Washington, D.C. has been and continues to be a sanctuary for underaged consumption and possession of tobacco. While Washington, D.C. has endeavored to reform and transform itself as quickly as possible on many fronts, it has not addressed the issue that it continues to be the only jurisdiction within hundreds of miles of the Capitol still allowing underaged individuals to consume and possess tobacco products. I was intending, Mr. Chairman, to ask for a vote on this amendment. The amendment passed overwhelmingly last year and I think sent a clear message not only to Washington, D.C. that this is wrong and inappropriate but to every jurisdiction in the United States and especially to the children of this city and to the children of America, that minor's possession and use of tobacco is not acceptable to this Congress.

Mr. Chairman, I intend to withdraw this motion, and I intend to withdraw it because I have received, on July 27, a letter from Mayor Williams specifically committing to introducing legislation that seeks to prohibit teen tobacco use. I talked last night with the mayor, Mr. Chairman, and he personally committed to me that he will aggressively pursue this issue. He has stated that he thinks it is an outrage that Congress and Washington has not addressed this issue in the past and overlooked this issue, something that all of us could have done a long time ago. The mayor agrees with me that, if we are going to stand up and point fingers at businesses and individuals who continue to encourage individuals to smoke, then we have an obligation to point a finger at ourselves and say even those of us in Congress and those of us in Washington have not done our fair share of addressing this hideous problem.

So, Mr. Chairman, I would ask that we give the new mayor of Washington, D.C. a chance to initiate this legislation locally and that we hold this amendment in abeyance for this year and give them the chance to do the right thing that should have been done a long time ago.

I make a personal commitment that I will work with the mayor and the city council, but I also make the personal commitment that if Washington, D.C.'s local government agencies will not do right by the children of this city and by the children that come and visit the city, then I, along with the majority of this body, will take action to alleviate the problem.

I think Mayor Williams has made a sincere request. As an ex-mayor myself, I cannot deny him this chance to make his contribution to eliminating smoking within Washington, D.C. and hopeful setting an example for those other States and other jurisdictions who have not done the same in their area. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, I rise to claim the time in opposition to the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. Without objection, the Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON) for 10 minutes.

There was no objection.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I simply rise to thank the gentleman from California (Mr. BILBRAY) for working with me and with the city. I want to assure other Members that I always stand ready to work, to reach a similar accommodation when they have problems that they want solved in the city.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Chairman, will the gentlewoman yield?

Ms. NORTON. I yield to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN). Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN). Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON), for yielding to me.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to begin as I did in the Appropriations Committee by thanking Chairman ISTOOK for the way he has chaired this motion, and I intend to withdraw it.

Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON) for working with me and with the city.

I want to assure other Members that I always stand ready to work, to reach a similar accommodation when they have problems that they want solved in the city.

At the same time, there are a number of circumstances that make the District unique: it's a creation by Congress under Article I of the U.S. Constitution and the seat of the federal government, it has a large amount of federal property within its boundaries, and its local laws and budget may be subject to congressional review and approval.

The fact that we are considering the District of Columbia Appropriations Act for fiscal Year 2000 reflects the District's unique status. In reviewing this legislation, let me begin by highlighting some of its positive aspects: it fully funds the consensus budget both the spending priorities and the tax cuts; it provides the federal funding level requested by the administration; in fact, it brings additional federal money to the District's aid, providing $8.5 million for adoption incentives for foster children; $20 million for sewerage pay for the Mayor's management initiative, more than $13 million for expanded drug treatment programs; $17 million to fund the in-state tuition benefits initiative and close to $20 million to help the Office of Offender Supervision tackle the very serious crime problems caused by repeat offenders; and it helps address a number of city concerns from the operation of the District’s courts to tobacco usage in the District.

On the whole, this legislation is an improvement over the bill that came before us last year.

With all that said, I must still object to a number of provisions that are in this legislation.

These provisions, known collectively as “riders,” prohibit or tie the hands of District officials and its citizens to carry out and implement their own prerogatives.

Perhaps when there was a large direct federal payment to the District’s general funds, some could justify prohibiting the District’s needle exchange program, its domestic partners’ law, or even the counting of ballots on its medical marijuana initiative.

The last direct payment in the fiscal 1999 appropriations act, combined with federal grant assistance, comprised more than 43 percent of the District’s budget.

Federal funds could co-mingle with local funds making it difficult to distinguish what was funded locally or with federal taxpayer dollars.

The 1997 Revitalization Act changed all that and eliminated the concern that federal funds could co-mingle with local initiatives deemed inappropriate by a majority in Congress.

For intents and purposes, the 1997 Act discontinued the direct federal payment to the District’s general fund.1

Any funds Congress may now appropriate to the general fund are for a specific spending purpose and can only be spent for that purpose.

In return for the elimination of the direct federal payment, the federal government assumed direct financial responsibility for obligations and responsibilities traditionally assumed by state governments.

Instead, the District will receive direct federal grants identical to those received by most states and now assumed by the federal government of the District.

In this light, adding language prohibiting the District from implementing local initiatives, where no federal funds are involved, is a blatant abuse of congressional power.

Using this bill to prohibit the District from using its resources to fund a needle exchange program, a program proven effective at reducing the spread of AIDS, is no different than Congress passing a law prohibiting needle exchange programs specifically in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, but permitting other locally funded needle exchange programs elsewhere to continue.

Prohibiting the District of Columbia from expending its use of local funds to provide abortion services for its low-income residents, when other jurisdictions are free to use local funds for similar programs is just plain wrong.

Banning the use of local funds to prohibit the District from seeking redress in federal court in cases involving the District is like telling the City of Boerne it could not challenge the “Religious Freedom Restoration Act” that it successfully argued before the Supreme Court.

Barring the District from implementing its local domestic partnership law is like Congress passing a law to overturn Wichita, Kansas and Jasper, Alabama’s health benefit plan for their public employees, teachers and police officers.

And, preventing the District’s election officials from counting the ballot on a local referendum is just plain anti-democratic.

You may object to the use of marijuana for medicinal purposes, but to deny the election result from being tallied is like telling the citizens of Farmington, Missouri or Manchester, New Hampshire they cannot approve their referendum to finance building new schools.

Have we become so arrogant in power and fearful of local initiatives that we have to block election results?

I know some will argue that these riders are merely an extension of current law—they are. But, the context and circumstances with which Congress might have justified past intervention is now gone with the elimination of the direct federal payment.

Federal taxpayer funds are no longer involved.

We should, therefore, no longer concern ourselves with the actions of one local jurisdiction unless what we choose to do with it is applied equally to all jurisdictions.

If a majority in Congress can accept the Labor-HHS restriction on abortion as a compromise, then this Congress should accept similar language restricting just the use of federal funds on these social riders.

If a majority in Congress can accept the Labor-HHS restriction on abortion as a compromise, then this Congress should accept similar language restricting just the use of federal funds on these social riders.

We were pleased to see that a majority of the full committee shared this perspective and approved two amendments that will permit the District to use local funds to count ballots, or referendum votes on the medicinal use of marijuana and revive its needle exchange program.

I should also note that the White House opposes these social riders as well.

The White House: strongly opposes the prohibition on the use of both federal and local funds to provide abortion services; objects to a provision prohibiting the use of federal or local funds to implement or enforce the District’s Health Care Benefits Expansion Act; strongly objects to the limit on insurance fees in special education cases; and strongly opposes and may veto any bill that includes a prohibition on the use of local funds for needle exchange programs.

I encourage the House to respect the District’s right to pursue its own prerogatives with its own funds regardless of how members might feel about the merits of the specific local initiative.

We should refrain from imposing any additional restrictions on the District’s use of its own funds and support possible floor amendments that seek to remove those restrictions that still remain.

Now, Mr. Chairman, the gentleman from the District of Columbia is absolutely right, and I just want to reiterate her comments.

So those of us in the House have come to do the right thing for the children of the District of Columbia. Tobacco usage is wrong, it is harmful, and we want to work with him to reduce the amount of tobacco smoking on the part of youth, particularly given the fact that almost 3,000 children start smoking, teenagers, every day, and about a thousand of them are going to die as a result.

So we had no objection to the good intentions on the part of the gentleman from California (Mr. BILBRAY). The only problem is the appropriateness of that kind of legislation that normally is considered by the Committee on Appropriations. And, again, we thank him for his amendment. We particularly thank him for withdrawing it at this time, and we certainly want to support him in any constructive approaches to reduce the amount of tobacco usage in the District.

Mr. NORTON. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I will have inserted into the RECORD at the appropriate place the letters from Mayor Williams, the American Heart Association, and the Campaign for Tobacco-Free Kids, and while introducing these letters, I am hoping that the Mayor is trying to introduce these issues and that he does not run into the opposition from organizations that claim they want to do everything possible to initiate this common sense approach, but mention that one little thing of saying that we will hold everyone responsible, and that individuals, even young people, have to be told quite clearly that they are going to be held responsible for staying away from tobacco products as much as possible.

Mr. Chairman, I am speaking from a position as coming from a local government agency; but I think anyone in this House would realize no State, no jurisdiction is more anti-smoking than the State of California. Some of us call it zealous. Even restaurants and bars do not allow smoking in California.

We are found in California was that when a city in my district started enforcing a law against minor possession of tobacco, they found out there was no such law even in California.

Work with us in other constructive approaches to reduce the amount of tobacco usage in the District.

Mr. Chairman, I think that this will give us the chance to be able to set an 1Jim, the table on page 22 of the committee report states that $20,950,000 in federal funds go to the District’s general fund. While true from an accounting perspective, all $20,950,000 is restricted on how it can be spent: $17 million for in-state tuition, $8.5 million for income tax credit for adoption, $1.1 million for the Citizens Complaint Review Board, and $250,000 for Human Services.

---

example; and, hopefully today, while we are discussing this, there are mayors, council members and legislators out there who will ask, is it illegal in our jurisdiction; have we done as much to send a clear message to children as Washington, D.C. is committed to doing today?

Mr. Chairman, I hope all of us will look at ourselves and ask what have we done to keep our children away from tobacco; and I think this amendment, when it is passed by the city of D.C., will send that message.

Mr. Chairman, the letters referred to above follow herewith:

HON. BRIAN BILBRAY,
U.S. House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER:

Thank you for your July 8th letter regarding your continued efforts to fight the damaging effects of teen smoking and your continued contact with members of Congress. I appreciate and respect your concern on this issue, and indeed share your goal of greatly reducing the consumption of tobacco by minors.

I have introduced legislation that seeks to prohibit adults who ignore access restrictions—then we believe it will merely punish the victims of tobacco promotion.

In D.C. sell tobacco products to minors. We are not opposing an amendment to penalize youth for possession of tobacco products without creating a thoughtful, comprehensive plan to reduce tobacco use among children and without first ensuring that adults who illegally sell tobacco to kids are held responsible.

There is no silver bullet to reducing tobacco use among kids, but this amendment, in the absence of other effective policies, will do little to end tobacco's grip on the children of D.C. There is little evidence to indicate that in the absence of a concerted, comprehensive program, penalizing kids will work to reduce tobacco use rates. Rather, experience from other cities indicates that only a comprehensive program which vigorously enforces laws against selling tobacco to kids through compliance checks of retailers, mayors and district appropriations bill (H.R. 2587), that would penalize D.C. children who are caught with cigarettes or other tobacco products.

We firmly believe that children who become addicted to tobacco are victims of an industry whose own stated goal is to find "replacement smokers" for the hundreds of thousands of people who die each year from using their products. By targeting children with billions in marketing and advertising dollars, the tobacco industry has been very successful in maintaining a customer base, in spite of the 439,000 American deaths from tobacco use each year. Adults in the tobacco industry and retail establishments that facilitate underage marketing of tobacco products—not children—are the ones who need to be penalized.

Unfortunately, the United States Congress cannot clear up the issue of letting tobacco companies off the hook.

Because the repercussions of tobacco use are not always immediately apparent to young people, recognizing their motive to provide immediate access to children who are caught with tobacco. We are not opposed to finding ways to educate children on the dangers and consequences of tobacco use and we would willingly work with you in the future to accomplish this. However, unless this amendment is part of a comprehensive approach to the problem—and punish adults who ignore access restrictions—then we believe it will merely punish the victims of tobacco promotion.

Although I am respectfully asking members to vote against your amendment, I hope there will still be opportunities for us to work together in the future to eliminate underagage tobacco use.

Sincerely,
M. CASS WHEELER,
Chief Executive Officer.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE:
The Campaign for Tobacco-Free Kids opposes the amendment that may be offered later today by Representative Bilbray to the District of Columbia Appropriations bill. This amendment would penalize youth for possession of tobacco products without creating a thoughtful, comprehensive plan to reduce tobacco use among children and without first ensuring that adults who illegally sell tobacco to kids are held responsible.

There is no silver bullet to reducing tobacco use among kids, but this amendment, in the absence of other effective policies, will do little to end tobacco's grip on the children of D.C. There is little evidence to indicate that in the absence of a concerted, comprehensive program, penalizing kids will work to reduce tobacco use rates. Rather, experience from other cities indicates that only a comprehensive program which vigorously enforces laws against selling tobacco to kids through compliance checks of retailers, mayors and district appropriations bill (H.R. 2587), that would penalize youth for possession of tobacco products without creating a thoughtful, comprehensive plan to reduce tobacco use among children and without first ensuring that adults who illegally sell tobacco to kids are held responsible.

Sincerely,
MATTHEW L. MYERS,
Executive Vice President.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE:

I am writing to express the concerns of the American Heart Association regarding your possible amendment to the District of Columbia Appropriations bill (H.R. 2587), that would penalize D.C. children who are caught with cigarettes or other tobacco products.

We firmly believe that children who become addicted to tobacco are victims of an industry whose own stated goal is to find "replacement smokers" for the hundreds of thousands of people who die each year from using their products. By targeting children with billions in marketing and advertising dollars, the tobacco industry has been very successful in maintaining a customer base, in spite of the 439,000 American deaths from tobacco use each year. Adults in the tobacco industry and retail establishments that facilitate underage marketing of tobacco products—not children—are the ones who need to be penalized.

Because the repercussions of tobacco use are not always immediately apparent to young people, recognizing their motive to provide immediate access to children who are caught with tobacco. We are not opposed to finding ways to educate children on the dangers and consequences of tobacco use and we would willingly work with you in the future to accomplish this. However, unless this amendment is part of a comprehensive approach to the problem—and punish adults who ignore access restrictions—then we believe it will merely punish the victims of tobacco promotion.

Although I am respectfully asking members to vote against your amendment, I hope there will still be opportunities for us to work together in the future to eliminate underagage tobacco use.

Sincerely,

ANTHONY A. WILLIAMS,
Mayor.

American Heart Association, Office of Communications and Advocacy.

HON. BRIAN BILBRAY,
Washington, DC.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE BILBRAY: I am writing to express the concerns of the American Heart Association regarding your possible amendment to the District of Columbia Appropriations bill (H.R. 2587), that would penalize D.C. children who are caught with cigarettes or other tobacco products.

We firmly believe that children who become addicted to tobacco are victims of an industry whose own stated goal is to find "replacement smokers" for the hundreds of thousands of people who die each year from using their products. By targeting children with billions in marketing and advertising dollars, the tobacco industry has been very successful in maintaining a customer base, in spite of the 439,000 American deaths from tobacco use each year. Adults in the tobacco industry and retail establishments that facilitate underage marketing of tobacco products—not children—are the ones who need to be penalized.

Unfortunately, the United States Congress cannot clear up the issue of letting tobacco companies off the hook.

Because the repercussions of tobacco use are not always immediately apparent to young people, recognizing their motive to provide immediate access to children who are caught with tobacco. We are not opposed to finding ways to educate children on the dangers and consequences of tobacco use and we would willingly work with you in the future to accomplish this. However, unless this amendment is part of a comprehensive approach to the problem—and punish adults who ignore access restrictions—then we believe it will merely punish the victims of tobacco promotion.

Although I am respectfully asking members to vote against your amendment, I hope there will still be opportunities for us to work together in the future to eliminate underagage tobacco use.

Sincerely,

MATTHEW L. MYERS,
Executive Vice President.

DEAR MEMBER OF CONGRESS:
The Campaign for Tobacco-Free Kids opposes the amendment that may be offered later today by Representative Bilbray to the District of Columbia Appropriations bill (H.R. 2587), that would penalize youth for possession of tobacco products without creating a thoughtful, comprehensive plan to reduce tobacco use among children and without first ensuring that adults who illegally sell tobacco to kids are held responsible.

Sincerely,

MATTHEW L. MYERS,
Executive Vice President.
H.R. 3868] that prohibited individuals under the age of 21 from possessing tobacco products in the District of Columbia. This amendment received strong bipartisan support and passed through the House by a 238–138 vote on August 6, 1999, but unfortunately was not included in the final conference report.

At the time I introduced this amendment only 21 states in the nation had minor possession laws outlawing tobacco, and my amendment would have added the District of Columbia to this growing list of states. My amendment was very straightforward and easy to understand. It contained a provision to exempt from this prohibition a minor individual “making a delivery of cigarettes or tobacco products in his or her employment” while on the job.

My amendment also contained a penalty section, which was modeled after the state of Virginia’s penalty section for minors found in violation of tobacco possession. For the first violation, the minor would, at the discretion of the judge, be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $50. For the second violation, the minor would be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $100. For a third or subsequent violation, the minor would have his or her driver’s license suspended for a period of 90 consecutive days. The 90 day suspension is consistent with penalties for minor possession of alcohol in the District of Columbia. Any minor found to be in possession of tobacco may also be required to perform community service or attend a tobacco cessation program. Each of these penalties are at the judge’s discretion.

I understand that the District of Columbia already has tough laws on the books to address the issue of sales of tobacco to minors. My amendment focused specifically on the possession of tobacco products by minors in order to put minor possession of tobacco with minor possession of alcohol. All three cities in my district have passed anti-possession laws, so I am not asking the District to do anything my own communities have not already done.

I was an original cosponsor of the strongest anti-tobacco bill in the 105th Congress, the Biology NO Tobacco Act (H.R. 3868). The intentions of my amendment was to encourage youth to take responsibility for their actions. If individuals under the age of 18 know they will face a penalty for possession of tobacco, they might be deterred from ever starting to smoke in the first place.

As we move forward in the 106th Congress I would like to know whether you plan to address this issue at the local level. I think it is important that all levels of government work together to help stop children from smoking. I also believe we should send the right message to our children, and the first step in this process would be for the District of Columbia to join Virginia, Maryland, and the twenty other states who have passed youth possession and consumption laws. I would appreciate knowing of your intentions, and to work with you and Members on both sides of the aisle in 1999 to make sure this important piece of legislation becomes law.

Again, congratulations on your new position as Mayor and I look forward to working with you in the future.

Sincerely,

BRIAN P. BILBRAY
Member of Congress.

ANTHONY A. WILLIAMS
Mayor, District of Columbia
May 21, 1999

Hon. BRIAN BILBRAY,
U.S. House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

Dear Congressman Bilbray:

Thank you for your letter sharing your concern about teen smoking in the District and your congratulations on my November election to the Office of Mayor.

In response to your inquiry, the District of Columbia is addressing the issue of teen smoking through several important initiatives. DC Public Schools has two programs—The Great American Smoke-out and “2 Smart 2 Smoke” —to raise children’s awareness of the dangers of smoking. Additionally, the Department of Health supports the efforts of local and community-based initiatives like “Ad-Up, Word-Up and Speak-Out,” which encourages school age children to perform their own research on the effects of advertising directed at children.

Finally, the school system recently established tobacco to a “level one” infraction—which means violators could incur the most severe disciplinary measures, including possible suspension. To assess our progress in tracking youth smoking related data through grants provided by the Center for Disease Control. I want to assure you that I share your concerns about teenage smokers. Sandra Allen, Chairperson of the City Council’s Committee on Human Services, and I are working diligently to strengthen enforcement which should complement the efforts of other initiatives, result in a real reduction of teenage smoking. We believe that the cumulative effect of these initiatives will have a marked improvement on the incidence of teen smoking.

Again thank you for bringing this issue to the forefront of my attention. I agree that discouraging our youth from engaging in this terrible habit of smoking is very important in the fight to curtail tobacco’s tragic and inevitable long-term effects.

Sincerely,

ANTHONY A. WILLIAMS,
Mayor

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Washington, DC, July 8, 1999.

Hon. ANTHONY WILLIAMS,
Mayor, District of Columbia,
Washington, DC.

Dear Mayor Williams: I would like to thank you for your response to my letter regarding our youth consumption amendment and the tobacco strategies in the District of Columbia. I appreciate the information you provided regarding the programs the D.C. public schools are implementing to combat youth smoking.

As I mentioned in my first letter, in the 105th Congress I introduced an amendment to H.R. 3868, FY 1999 District of Columbia Appropriations bill that sought to prohibit individuals under the age of 18 years from possessing and consuming tobacco products in the District of Columbia. This amendment received strong bipartisan support and passed through the House by a 238–138 vote on August 6, 1999.

I intend to reintroduce this amendment to the FY 2000 D.C. Appropriations Bill later in the year when Congress takes up this legislation. I believe at the same time we are educating youth the dangers of tobacco and curtailing advertisements by the tobacco industry, we need to strive for new and innovative ways to reduce tobacco use along with sending a clear message to our children that we will not tolerate the consumption of tobacco. This is what a youth consumption law in the District will accomplish.

My amendment contains a penalty section, which is modeled after the state of Virginia’s penalty section for minors found in violation of tobacco possession. For the first violation, the minor would, at the discretion of the judge, be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $50. For the second violation, the minor would be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $100. For a third or subsequent violation, the minor would have his or her driver’s license suspended for a period of 90 consecutive days. The 90 day suspension is consistent with penalties for minor possession of alcohol in the District of Columbia. Any minor found to be in possession of tobacco may also be required to perform community service or attend a tobacco cessation program.

Each of these penalties are at the judge’s discretion (I have attached a draft of my amendment for your convenience). My amendment focuses specifically on the possession of tobacco products by minors in order to put minor possession of tobacco products in line with minor possession of alcohol. All three cities in my district have passed anti-possession laws, so I am not asking the District to do anything my own communities have not already done.

I was an original cosponsor of the strongest anti-tobacco bill in the 105th Congress, the Biology NO Tobacco Act (H.R. 3868). The intentions of my amendment was to encourage youth to take responsibility for their actions. If individuals under the age of 18 know they will face a penalty for possession of tobacco, they might be deterred from ever starting to smoke in the first place.

As we move forward in the 106th Congress I would like to know whether you plan to address this issue at the local level. I think it is important that all levels of government work together to help stop children from smoking. I also believe we should send the right message to our children, and the first step in this process would be for the District of Columbia to join Virginia, Maryland, and the twenty other states who have passed youth possession and consumption laws. I would appreciate knowing of your intentions, and to work with you and Members on both sides of the aisle in 1999 to make sure this important piece of legislation becomes law.

Again, congratulations on your new position as Mayor and I look forward to working with you in the future.

Sincerely,

BRIAN P. BILBRAY
Member of Congress.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw my amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The CHAIRMAN. The amendment is withdrawn.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Mr. CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Oklahoma for his support in providing $250,000 in the bill to continue the mentoring program for at-risk children and the resource hotline for low-income individuals in the District.

Last year, Congress appropriated $250,000 to the International Youth Service and Development Corporation to provide these worthwhile and much-needed services to the District.

I am pleased to report to the Congress that this minor allocation of $250,000 is making a real difference in the lives of many families who were struggling to survive and protect their children who are at risk in their community.
Is it the chairman’s intent that this appropriation of $250,000 be used by the city to identify the good work which is currently being accomplished by the International Youth Service Development Corporation?

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I want to first thank the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. TIAHRT) for his hard work in this area. I know personally how active and vocal he has been as an advocate for the families and their children in the District that are most at risk.

The gentleman is correct that we have worked with the District and provided funding for them, which they are using to carry on this program that the gentleman has been discussing, and we are happy to be able to do that so that this work might continue and that the District might be able to work with him to do so.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for his comments.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the bill through page 25, line 12 be considered as read, printed in the RECORD, and open to amendment at any point.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

The text of the bill from page 3, line 7, through page 25, line 12 is as follows:

FEDERAL PAYMENT TO THE CITIZEN COMPLAINT REVIEW BOARD

For a Federal payment to the District of Columbia for administrative expenses of the Citizen Complaint Review Board, $100,000, to remain available until September 30, 2003.

FEDERAL PAYMENT TO THE DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

For a Federal payment to the Department of Human Services for a mentoring program and for hotline services, $162,356,000.

FEDERAL PAYMENT TO THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA CORRECTIONS TRUSTEE OPERATIONS

For salaries and expenses of the District of Columbia Corrections Trustee, $183,000,000 for the administration and operation of correctional facilities and for the administration and operation of correctional facilities and for the administration and operation of correctional facilities and for the administration and operation of correctional facilities and for the administration and operation of correctional facilities and for the administration and operation of correctional facilities.

FEDERAL PAYMENT TO THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA SUPERIOR COURT

For salaries and expenses of the District of Columbia Superior Court, $75,245,000; for the District of Columbia Court System, $20,360,000; and $9,000,000, to remain available until September 30, 2003, for capital improvements for District of Columbia courthouse facilities: Provided, That of the amounts available for operations of the District of Columbia Courts, not to exceed $2,500,000 shall be for the Development of an Integrated Justice Information System and that such funds shall be used in accordance with a plan and design developed and approved by the Committees of Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate: Provided further, That notwithstanding any other provision of law, and this heading shall be apportioned quarterly by the Office of Management and Budget and obligated and expended in the same manner as funds appropriated for salaries and expenses of other Federal agencies, with payroll and financial services to be provided on a contractual basis with the General Services Administration, said services to include the preparation of monthly financial reports, copies of which shall be submitted directly by GSA to the President and to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress; Provided further, that such funds shall be apportioned annually by the Office of Management and Budget and obligated and expended in the same manner as funds appropriated for salaries and expenses of Federal agencies with payroll and financial services to be provided on a contractual basis with the General Services Administration.

DEFENDER SERVICES IN DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA COURTS

For payments authorized under section 11–2604 and section 11–2605, D.C. Code (relating to representation provided under the District of Columbia Criminal Justice Act), payments for counsel appointed in proceedings in the Family Division of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia under chapter 25 of title 16, D.C. Code (relating to appointment of counsel authorized under section 25–2060, D.C. Code (relating to representation provided under the District of Columbia Guardian-ship, Protective Proceedings, and Durable Power of Attorney Act of 1986), $33,336,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That such funds shall be administered by the Joint Committee on Judicial Administration in the District of Columbia: Provided further, That notwithstanding any other provision of law, this appropriation shall be apportioned quarterly by the Office of Management and Budget and obligated and expended in the same manner as funds appropriated for expenses of other Federal agencies.

FEDERAL PAYMENT TO THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA COURTS

For salaries and expenses of the Court Services and Defender Supervision Agency for the District of Columbia, $191,247,000 from other funds (including $13,552,000 from local funds, $137,134,000 from Federal funds, and $15,552,000 from other funds): Provided, That not to exceed $2,500 for the Mayor, $2,500 for the Chairmen of the Council of the District of Columbia, and $2,500 for the Members of the Council of the District of Columbia shall be available from this appropriation for official purposes: Provided further, That any program fees collected from the issuance of debt shall be available for the payment of expenses of the debt management program of the District of Columbia: Provided further, That no revenues from Federal sources shall be used to pay the expenses or activities of the Statehood Commission and Statehood Compact Commission: Provided further, That the District of Columbia shall identify the sources of funding for admission to Statehood from its own locally-generated revenues: Provided further, That all employees permanently assigned to work in the Office of the Administrator shall be paid from funds allocated to the Office of the Mayor.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND REGULATION

Economic development and regulation, $196,800,000 (including $211,000,000 from local funds, $84,751,000 from Federal funds, and $52,673,000 from other funds), of which $15,000,000 collected by the District of Columbia in the form of BID tax revenue shall be paid to the respective BIDs pursuant to the Business Improvement Districts Act of 1996 (D.C. Law 11–134; D.C. Code, sec. 1–2271 et seq.), and the Business Improvement Districts Temporary Amendment Act of 1997 (D.C. Law 12–23): Provided, That such funds are available for acquiring services provided by the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997, as amended (Public Law 106–33, approved August 5, 1997, 111 Stat. 712): Provided, That notwithstanding any other provision of law, the District of Columbia shall be authorized to replace not to exceed 25 passenger-carrying vehicles and the Department...
Provided further, That the Mayor shall reimburse the District of Columbia for the salaries of any District of Columbia Public Schools, $2,500 for the President of the University of the District of Columbia, and $2,000 for the Public Librarian shall be available from this appropriation, and the availability of the sums shall be deemed as constituting payment in advance for emergency services involved: Provided further, That the Metropolitan Police Department is authorized to maintain 3,800 sworn officers, with leave for a 50 officer attrition: Provided further, That none of the funds contained in this Act may be made available to pay the salaries of any District of Columbia Public School teacher, principal, administrator, official, or employee who knowingly provides false enrollment or attendance information under article II, section 5 of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for compulsory school attendance, for the taking of a school census in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes". Provided further, That none of the funds contained in this Act may be made available for new public charter schools on a per pupil basis: Provided further, That $400,000 of this amount shall be available for new public charter schools on a per pupil basis: Provided further, That $400,000 of this amount shall be available for new public charter schools on a per pupil basis: Provided further, That $400,000 of this amount shall be available for new public charter schools on a per pupil basis: Provided further, That $400,000 of this amount shall be available for new public charter schools on a per pupil basis: Provided further, That none of the funds contained in this Act may be made available to pay the salaries of any District of Columbia Public School teacher, principal, administrator, official, or employee who knowingly provides false enrollment or attendance information under article II, section 5 of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for compulsory school attendance, for the taking of a school census in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes". Provided further, That none of the funds contained in this Act may be made available for new public charter schools on a per pupil basis: Provided further, That $400,000 of this amount shall be available for new public charter schools on a per pupil basis: Provided further, That $400,000 of this amount shall be available for new public charter schools on a per pupil basis: Provided further, That none of the funds contained in this Act may be made available to pay the salaries of any District of Columbia Public School teacher, principal, administrator, official, or employee who knowingly provides false enrollment or attendance information under article II, section 5 of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for compulsory school attendance, for the taking of a school census in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes".

PUBLIC WORKS

Public works, including rental of one passenger-carrying vehicle for use by the Mayor and three passenger-carrying vehicles for use by the Council of the District of Columbia and leasing of passenger-carrying vehicles, $271,395,000 (including $258,341,000 from local funds, $3,099,000 from Federal funds, and $9,855,000 from other funds): Provided, That this appropriation shall not be available for collecting ashes or miscellaneous refuse from hotels and places of business: Provided further, That $2,629,000 shall be available for program enhancements ($1,757,000 for selected increases in District bus service; $800,000 for new feeder bus service; $200,000 for new small bus operations; and $250,000 for the planning and implementation of the proposed New York Avenue Metrorail station).

RECEIVERSHIP PROGRAMS

For all agencies of the District of Columbia government under court ordered receivership, $345,577,000 (including $222,106,000 from local funds, $106,111,000 from Federal funds, and $18,360,000 from other funds).

WORKFORCE INVESTMENTS

For workforce investments, $8,500,000 from local funds, to be transferred by the Mayor of the District of Columbia to the various appropriation headings in this Act for which employers are properly payable.

RESERVE

For a reserve to be established by the Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia and the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority, $150,000,000 from local funds: Provided, That this reserve shall not be used to pay any compensation of the Executive Director or General Counsel of the Authority or to subsidize the education of the nonresident student at the University of the District of Columbia, and the University of the District of Columbia, or any entity acting as the University of the District of Columbia, until the Chief of Police submits a report to the Council for its review: Provided further, That none of the funds contained in this Act may be made available to pay the salaries of any District of Columbia Public School teacher, principal, administrator, official, or employee who knowingly provides false enrollment or attendance information under article II, section 5 of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for compulsory school attendance, for the taking of a school census in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes".

DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS

For the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority, established by section 101(a) of the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Act of 1995, approved April 17, 1995 (109 Stat. 97; Public Law 104-8), $3,140,000: Provided, That not more than 39 percent of the sums contained in this Act may be used to pay any compensation of the Executive Director or General Counsel of the Authority at a rate in excess of the maximum rate of compensation of any employee of the District of Columbia, or any entity acting as the University of the District of Columbia, or any entity acting as the University of the District of Columbia.

REPAYMENT OF LOANS AND INTEREST

For repayment of loans and interest, $75,000,000 from local funds, to be transferred by the Mayor of the District of Columbia to the various appropriation headings in this Act for which employers are properly payable.

HUMAN SUPPORT SERVICES

Human support services, $1,528,301,000 (including $875,814,000 from Federal funds, and $652,487,000 from local funds).
be allocated for expenses associated with the Wilson Building, $328,417,000 for local funds: Provided, That for equipment leases, the Mayor may finance $27,527,000 of equipment cost, plus cost of issuance not to exceed two percent of the par amount being financed on a lease purchase basis with a maturity not to exceed five years: Provided further, That $3,500,000 is allocated to the Metropolitan Department, $5,200,000 for the Fire and Emergency Medical Services Department, $350,000 for the Department of Corrections, $15,949,000 for the Department of Public Works and $7,728,000 for the Public Benefit Corporation.

REPAYMENT OF GENERAL FUND RECOVERY DEBT

For the purpose of eliminating the $331,589,000 general fund accumulated deficit as of September 30, 1980, 38,286,000 from local funds, as authorized by section 461(a) of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, approved December 24, 1973, as amended (105 Stat. 540; Public Law 94–168; D.C. Code, sec. 47–321(a)(1)).

PAYMENT OF INTEREST ON SHORT-TERM BORROWING

For payment of interest on short-term borrowing, $1,295,000 from local funds:

CERTIFICATES OF PARTICIPATION

For lease payments in accordance with the Certificates of Participation involving the land site underlying the building located at One Judiciary Square, $7,950,000 from local funds.

OPTICAL AND DENTAL PAYMENTS

For optical and dental payments, $1,295,000 from local funds.

PRODUCTIVITY BANK

The Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia, under the direction of the Mayor and the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority, shall finance projects totaling $20,000,000 in local funds that result in cost savings or additional revenues, by an amount equal to such financing: Provided, That the Chief Financial Officer shall provide quarterly reports to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate by the 15th calendar day after the end of each quarter beginning December 31, 1999, on the status of the projects financed under this heading.

PRODUCTIVITY BANK SAVINGS

The Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia, under the direction of the Mayor and the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority, shall make reductions of $20,000,000 in local funds that result in cost savings or additional revenues, by an amount equal to such financing: Provided, That the Mayor shall make quarterly reports to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate by the 15th calendar day after the end of each quarter beginning December 31, 1999, on the status of the general supply schedule savings and management reform savings projected under this heading.

ENTERPRISE AND OTHER FUNDS

WATER AND SEWER AUTHORITY AND THE WASHINGTON AQUEDUCT

For operation of the Water and Sewer Authority and the Washington Aqueduct, $279,668,000.

LITIGATION AND CLAIMS

For litigations and claims, $10,000,000 from local funds.

LOOTERY AND CHARITABLE GAMES ENTERPRISE FUND

For the Lottery and Charitable Games Enterprise Fund, established by the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1982, approved December 4, 1981 (95 Stat. 1174, 1175; Public Law 97–91), as amended, for the purpose of implementing the Law to Legalize Lotteries, Daily Numbers Games, and Bingo and Raffles for Charitable Purposes in the District of Columbia, effective March 10, 1981 (D.C. Law 3–172; 26 D.C. Reg. 12215; et seq.), 3,348,400,000: Provided, That the District of Columbia shall identify the source of funding for this appropriation title from the District’s own locally generated revenues: Provided further, That no revenues from Federal sources shall be used to support the operations or activities of the Lottery and Charitable Games Control Board.

SPORTS AND ENTERTAINMENT COMMISSION

For the Sports and Entertainment Commission, $10,846,000 from other funds for expenses incurred by the Armory Board in the exercise of its powers granted by the Act entitled ‘‘An Act to Establish a District of Columbia Armory Board, and for other purposes’’, approved June 4, 1948 (62 Stat. 339; D.C. Code, sec. 2–321 et seq.); for the District of Columbia Stadium Act of 1967, approved September 7, 1967 (71 Stat. 619; Public Law 85–305; D.C. Code, sec. 2–321 et seq.); Provided, That the Mayor shall submit a budget for the Armory Board for the forthcoming fiscal year as required by section 442(b) of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, approved December 18, 1973 (97 Stat. 246; Public Law 93–198; D.C. Code, sec. 47–301(b)).

D.C. HEALTH AND HOSPITALS PUBLIC BENEFIT CORPORATION

For the District of Columbia Health and Hospitals Public Benefit Corporation, established by the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1997, $133,443,000 of which $44,435,000 shall be derived by transfer from the general fund and $89,008,000 from other funds.

D.C. RETIREMENT BOARD

For the D.C. Retirement Board, established by section 121(c)(1) of the District of Columbia Retirement Reform Act of 1979, approved November 17, 1979 (83 Stat. 540; D.C. Code, sec. 1–711), $9,992,000 from the earnings of the applicable retirement funds to pay legal, management, investment, and other fees and administrative expenses of the District of Columbia Retirement Board: Provided, That the District of Columbia Retirement Board shall provide to the Congress and to the Council of the District of Columbia a report of the allocations of charges by fund and of expenditures of all funds: Provided further, That the District of Columbia Retirement Board shall provide the Mayor, for transmittal to the Council of the District of Columbia, an itemized accounting of the planned use of appropriated funds in time for inclusion in the budget and an actual use of such funds in time for each annual audited financial report: Provided further, That section 121(c)(1) of the District of Columbia Retirement Reform Act (D.C. Code, sec. 1–711(c)(1)) is amended by striking ‘‘the total amount to which a member may be entitled’’ and all references thereto, and adding the following: ‘‘the total amount to which a member may be entitled under this subsection during a year (beginning with 1998) may not exceed $5,000, except that in the case of the Chairman of the Board and the Chairman of the Investment Committee of the Board, such amount may not exceed $10,000 (beginning with 2000).’’

CORRECTIONAL INDUSTRIES FUND

For the Correctional Industries Fund, established by the District of Columbia Correctional Industries Establishment Act, approved October 3, 1964 (78 Stat. 1000; Public Law 88–622), $1,810,000.

WASHINGTON CONVENTION CENTER ENTERPRISE FUND

For the Washington Convention Center Enterprise Fund, $50,226,000.

CAPITAL OUTLAY (INCLUDING RESECTIONS)

For construction projects, $1,260,524,000 of which $54,050,000 is from the highway trust fund, and $277,924,000 is from Federal funds, and a rescission of $41,886,300 from local funds appropriated under this heading for fiscal years, for a net amount of $1,218,637,500 to remain available until expended: Provided, That funds for use of each capital project implementing agency shall be managed and controlled in accordance with all procedures and limitations established under the Financial Management System: Provided further, That all funds provided by this appropriation title shall be available only for the specific projects and purposes intended: Provided further, That notwithstanding the foregoing, all authorizations for capital outlay projects, except those projects covered by the first sentence of section 23(a) of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1968, approved August 25, 1968 (82 Stat. 627; Public Law 90–448; D.C. Code, sec. 7–134, note), for which funds are provided by this appropriation title, shall expire on September 30, 2001, except authorizations for capital projects as to which funds have been obligated in whole or in part prior to September 30, 2001: Provided further, That upon expiration of any such project authorization, the funds provided herein for the project shall lapse.

THE CHAIRMAN. Are there amendments to that portion of the bill?
SEC. 101. The expenditure of any appropriation under this Act for any consulting service through procurement contract, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 3109, shall be limited to those consulting services of the kind and character (including the matter of public record and available for public inspection, except where otherwise provided under existing law, or under executive order issued pursuant to existing law).

SEC. 102. Except as otherwise provided in this Act, all vouchers covering expenditure of appropriations contained in this Act shall be audited before payment by the designated certifying official, and the vouchers as approved shall be paid by checks issued by the designated disbursing official.

SEC. 103. Whenever in this Act, an amount is specified within an appropriation for particular purposes or objects of expenditure such amount, unless otherwise specified, shall be considered as the maximum amount that may be paid for such purpose or object rather than an amount set apart exclusively therefor.

SEC. 104. Appropriations in this Act shall be available for expenditures for allowances for privately owned automobiles and motorcycles used for the performance of official duties at rates established by the Mayor: Provided, That such rates shall not exceed the maximum prevailing rates for such vehicles as prescribed in the Federal Travel Regulations, 41 C.F.R. 101-7 (Federal Travel Regulations).

SEC. 105. Appropriations in this Act shall be available for expenses of travel and for the payment of expenses of organizations concerned with the work of the District of Columbia government, when authorized by the Mayor: Provided, That in the case of the Council of the District of Columbia, funds may be expended with the authorization of the chair of the Council.

SEC. 106. There are appropriated from the applicable funds of the District of Columbia such sums as may be necessary for making refunds and for the payment of judgments that have been rendered against the District of Columbia government: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed as modifying or affecting the provisions of section 11(c)(3) of title XII of the District of Columbia Income and Franchise Tax Act of 1947, approved March 31, 1956 (70 Stat. 78; Public Law 84–466; D.C. Code, sec. 17–1211.11(c)(3)).

SEC. 108. Appropriations in this Act shall remain available for obligation beyond the current fiscal year unless expressly so provided herein.

SEC. 109. None of the funds appropriated in this Act shall be made available to pay the salary of any employee of the District of Columbia government whose name, title, grade, salary, past work experience, and salary history are not available for inspection by the Council of the District of Columbia. Appropriations, the Subcommittee on the District of Columbia of the House Committee on Government Reform, the Subcommittee on Oversight of Government Management, Restructuring and the District of Columbia of the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs, and the Council of the District of Columbia, or their duly authorized representatives.

SEC. 110. None of the funds appropriated in this Act shall be made available to pay the salary of any employee of the District of Columbia government whose name, title, grade, salary, past work experience, and salary history are not available for inspection by the Council of the District of Columbia. Appropriations, the Subcommittee on the District of Columbia of the House Committee on Government Reform, the Subcommittee on Oversight of Government Management, Restructuring and the District of Columbia of the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs, and the Council of the District of Columbia, or their duly authorized representatives.

SEC. 111. There are appropriated from the applicable funds of the District of Columbia such sums as may be necessary for making payments authorized by the District of Columbia Revenue Recovery Act of 1977, effective September 23, 1977 (D.C. Law 2–26; D.C. Code, sec. 47–422 et seq.)

SEC. 112. No part of this appropriation shall be used for publicity or propaganda purposes or implementation of any policy including boycotts or desegregation policies, or for expenditures prohibited by any Federal law.

SEC. 113. At the start of the fiscal year, the Mayor shall report to the Council of the District of Columbia and the congressional committees with jurisdiction over the District of Columbia and the Congress the actual borrowings and spending progress compared with projections.

SEC. 114. The Mayor shall not borrow any funds for capital projects unless the Mayor has obtained prior approval from the Council of the District of Columbia, by resolution, identifying the amounts to be financed with such borrowings.

SEC. 115. The Mayor shall not expend any moneys borrowed for capital projects for the operating expenses of the District of Columbia government.

SEC. 116. None of the funds provided under this Act to the agencies funded by this Act, including first or large agencies, centers, or laboratories, that remain available for obligation or expenditure in fiscal year 2000, or provided from any accounts in the Treasury of the United States derived by the collection of fees available to the agencies funded by this Act, shall be available for obligation or expenditure for an agency through a reprogramming of funds which: (1) creates new programs; (2) eliminates a program, project, or responsibility center; (3) establishes or changes allocations specifically defined; limited or increased by Congress in the Act; (4) increases funds or personnel by any means for any program, project, or responsibility center for which funds have been denied or restricted; (5) reestablishes through reprogramming any program or project previously deferred through reprogramming; (6) augments existing programs, projects, or responsibility centers through a reprogramming of funds in excess of $1,000,000 or 10 percent, whichever is less; or (7) increases by 20 percent or more personnel assigned to a specific responsibility center; unless the Appropriations Committees of both the Senate and House of Representatives are notified in writing 30 days in advance of any reprogramming as set forth in this section.

SEC. 117. None of the Federal funds provided in this Act shall be obligated or expended to provide payments to chauffeurs, security guards, or other personal servants to any officer or employee of the District of Columbia.

SEC. 118. None of the Federal funds provided in this Act shall be expended to procure passenger automobiles as defined in the Automobile Fuel Efficiency Act of 1980, approved October 18, 1980 (94 Stat. 1324; Public Law 96–425; 15 U.S.C. 1281); the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, approved October 21, 1986 (D.C. Law 6–85; D.C. Code, sec. 1–242(7)) is amended by striking (c) and the references thereto; (d) nothing in this Act shall apply to security, emergency rescue, or armored vehicles.

SEC. 119. (a) CITY ADMINISTRATOR.—The last sentence of section 422(7) of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act (D.C. Code, sec. 1–242(7)) is amended by striking (c) and the references thereto; (d) nothing in this Act shall apply to security, emergency rescue, or armored vehicles.

SEC. 120. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, the provisions of the District of Columbia Government Comprehensive Merit Personnel Act of 1978, effective March 3, 1979 (D.C. Law 2–139; D.C. Code, sec. 1–601.1 et seq.), is amended by substituting pursuant to section 422(6) of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, approved December 24, 1973 (87 Stat. 790; Public Law 93–196; D.C. Code, sec. 1–612.10(c)(2)(F)) is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 119. (a) CITY ADMINISTRATOR.—The last sentence of section 422(7) of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act (D.C. Code, sec. 1–242(7)) is amended by striking (c) and the references thereto; (d) nothing in this Act shall apply to security, emergency rescue, or armored vehicles.

SEC. 121. No later than 30 days after the end of the fiscal year, the Mayor and the first or large agencies, centers, or laboratories, that remain available for obligation or expenditure in fiscal year 2000, or provided from any accounts in the Treasury of the United States derived by the collection of fees available to the agencies funded by this Act, shall be available for obligation or expenditure for an agency through a reprogramming of funds which: (1) creates new programs; (2) eliminates a program, project, or responsibility center; (3) establishes or changes allocations specifically defined, limited or increased by Congress in the Act; (4) increases funds or personnel by any means for any program, project, or responsibility center for which funds have been denied or restricted; (5) reestablishes through reprogramming any program or project previously deferred through reprogramming; (6) augments existing programs, projects, or responsibility centers through a reprogramming of funds in excess of $1,000,000 or 10 percent, whichever is less; or (7) increases by 20 percent or more personnel assigned to a specific responsibility center; unless the Appropriations Committees of both the Senate and House of Representatives are notified in writing 30 days in advance of any reprogramming as set forth in this section.

SEC. 117. None of the Federal funds provided in this Act shall be obligated or expended to provide payments to chauffeurs, security guards, or other personal servants to any officer or employee of the District of Columbia.

SEC. 118. None of the Federal funds provided in this Act shall be expended to procure passenger automobiles as defined in the Automobile Fuel Efficiency Act of 1980, approved October 18, 1980 (94 Stat. 1324; Public Law 96–425; 15 U.S.C. 1281); the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, approved October 21, 1986 (D.C. Law 6–85; D.C. Code, sec. 1–242(7)) is amended by striking (c) and the references thereto; (d) nothing in this Act shall apply to security, emergency rescue, or armored vehicles.

SEC. 119. (a) CITY ADMINISTRATOR.—The last sentence of section 422(7) of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act (D.C. Code, sec. 1–242(7)) is amended by striking (c) and the references thereto; (d) nothing in this Act shall apply to security, emergency rescue, or armored vehicles.

SEC. 120. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, the provisions of the District of Columbia Government Comprehensive Merit Personnel Act of 1978, effective March 3, 1979 (D.C. Law 2–139; D.C. Code, sec. 1–601.1 et seq.), is amended by substituting pursuant to section 422(6) of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, approved December 24, 1973 (87 Stat. 790; Public Law 93–196; D.C. Code, sec. 1–612.10(c)(2)(F)) is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 119. (a) CITY ADMINISTRATOR.—The last sentence of section 422(7) of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act (D.C. Code, sec. 1–242(7)) is amended by striking (c) and the references thereto; (d) nothing in this Act shall apply to security, emergency rescue, or armored vehicles.
be synonymous with and refer specifically to each account operating Federal funds in this Act; any sequestration order shall be applied to each of the accounts rather than to the aggregate total of those accounts: Provided, That sequestration orders shall not be applied to any account that is specifically exempted from sequestration by the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended, after the amounts appropriated to the District of Columbia for the fiscal year involved have been paid to the District of Columbia, the Mayor of the District of Columbia shall pay to the Secretary of the Treasury, within 15 days after receipt of a request therefor from the Secretary of the Treasury, such amounts as are sequestered by the order: Provided, That the sequestration percentage specified in the order shall be applied proportionately to each of the appropriations made to the District of Columbia in this Act that are not specifically exempted from sequestration by such Act.

Sec. 125. (a) An entity of the District of Columbia shall accept and use a gift or donation during fiscal year 2000 if—

(1) the Mayor approves the acceptance and use of the gift or donation: Provided, That the Council of the District of Columbia may accept and use gifts without prior approval by the Mayor; and

(2) the entity uses the gift or donation to carry out its authorized functions or duties.

(b) Each entity of the District of Columbia government shall keep accurate and detailed records of the acceptance and use of any gift or donation accepted under subsection (a) of this section, and shall make such records available for audit and public inspection.

(c) For the purposes of this section, the term ‘entity of the District of Columbia government’ includes an independent agency of the District of Columbia.

(d) This section shall not apply to the District of Columbia Public Schools and the University of the District of Columbia, the names of the organizational entities that have been changed, the names of the staff member supervising each entity affected, and the reasons for the structural change.

Sec. 126. None of the Federal funds provided in this Act may be used by the District of Columbia to provide for salaries, expenses, or other costs associated with the offices of United States Senator or United States Representative under section 4(d) of the District of Columbia Statehood Constitutional Convention Initiatives of 1979, effective March 10, 1981 (D.C. Law 3–171; D.C. Code, sec. 1–113(d)).

Sec. 127. (a) The ‘University’ of the District of Columbia shall submit to the Mayor, the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority (hereafter in this section referred to as ‘Authority’), and the Council of the District of Columbia (hereafter in this section referred to as ‘Council’) no later than 15 calendar days after the end of each quarter a report that sets forth—

(1) current quarter expenditures and obligations, year-to-date expenditures and obligations, and total fiscal year expenditures projections versus budget, broken out on the basis of control center, responsibility center, and object class, and for all funds, non-appropriated funds, and capital financing;

(2) a list of each account for which spending is frozen and the amount of funds frozen, broken out by control center, responsibility center, detailed object, and for all funding sources;

(3) a list of all active contracts in excess of $10,000 annually, which contains the name of each contractor; the budget to which the contract is charged, broken out on the basis of control center, responsibility center, and contract identifying codes used by the University of the District of Columbia; payments made in the last quarter and year-to-date, the total amount of the contract and total payments made for the contract and any modifications, extensions, renewals; and specific modifications made to each contract in the last month;

(4) all reprogramming requests and reports that have been made by the University of the District of Columbia within the last quarter in compliance with applicable law; and

(5) changes made in the last quarter to the organizational structure of the University of the District of Columbia, displaying previous and current control centers and responsibility centers, the names of the organizational entities that have been changed, the names of the staff member supervising each entity affected, and the reasons for the structural change.

(b) The Mayor, the Authority, and the Council of the District of Columbia shall submit to the Mayor, the Council of the District of Columbia Public Schools under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1400 et seq.) if—

(1) the hourly rate of compensation of the attorney exceeds the hourly rate of compensation under section 11–2604(a), District of Columbia Code; or

(2) the maximum amount of compensation of the attorney exceeds the maximum amount of compensation under section 11–2604(b)(1), District of Columbia Code, except that any compensation approved by the Council in excess of such maximum may be approved for extended or complex representation in accordance with section 11–2604(c), District of Columbia Code.

Sec. 128. None of the funds appropriated under this Act shall be expended for any abortion except where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term or where the pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest.

DOMESTIC PARTNERS FUNDS RESTRICTION

Sec. 129. None of the funds appropriated under this Act shall be expended for any abortion except where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term or where the pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest.

Sec. 130. None of the funds made available in this Act may be used to implement or enforce the Health Care Benefits Expansion Act of 1992 (D.C. Law 9–114; D.C. Code, sec. 36–1401 et seq.) or to otherwise implement or enforce any system of registration of unmarried cohabiting couples (whether homosexual, heterosexual, or lesbian), including, but not limited to registration for the purpose of extending employment, health, or property insurance to same-sex couples on the same basis that such benefits are extended to legally married couples.

Sec. 131. The Superintendent of the District of Columbia Public Schools shall submit to the Congress, the Mayor, the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority, and the Authority, no later than 15 calendar days after the end of each quarter a report that sets forth—

(1) current quarter expenditures and obligations, year-to-date expenditures and obligations, and total fiscal year expenditures projections versus budget, broken out on the basis of control center, responsibility center, agency reporting code, and object class, and for all funds, non-appropriated funds, and capital financing;

(2) a list of each account for which spending is frozen and the amount of funds frozen, broken out by control center, responsibility center, detailed object, and for all funding sources;

(3) a list of all active contracts in excess of $10,000 annually, which contains the name of each contractor; the budget to which the contract is charged, broken out on the basis of control center, responsibility center, and agency reporting code, and contract identifying codes used by the District of Columbia Public Schools; payments made in the last quarter and year-to-date, the total amount of the contract and total payments made for the contract and any modifications, extensions, renewals; and specific modifications made to each contract in the last month;

(4) all reprogramming requests and reports that are required to be, and have been, submitted to the Board of Education; and

(5) changes made in the last quarter to the organizational structure of the District of Columbia Public Schools, displaying previous and current control centers and responsibility centers, the names of the organizational entities that have been changed, the names of the staff member supervising each entity affected, and the reasons for the structural change.

Sec. 132. (a) In General.—The Superintendent of the District of Columbia Public Schools and the University of the District of Columbia shall annually compile an accurate and verifiable report on the positions and employees in the public schools and the university, respectively. The annual report shall set forth—

(1) the number of validated schedule A positions in the District of Columbia public schools and the University of the District of Columbia for fiscal year 1999, fiscal year 2000, and thereafter on full-time equivalent basis, including—

(1) the number of validated schedule A positions, by control center, responsibility center, funding source, position type, position title, pay plan, grade, and annual salary; and

(2) a compilation of all employees in the District of Columbia public schools and the University of the District of Columbia as of the preceding December 31, verified as to its accuracy in accordance with the functions that each employee actually performs, by control center, responsibility center, agency reporting code, program (including funding source), activity, location for accounting purposes, job title, grade and classification, annual salary, and position control number.

(b) Submission.—The annual report required by subsection (a) of this section shall be submitted to the Congress, the Mayor, the District of Columbia Council, the Consensus Commission, and the Authority, not later than February 15 of each year.
Columbia for such fiscal year that is in the total amount of the approved appropriation and that qualifies District of Columbia data for personal services and other-than-personal services, respectively, with anticipated actual expenditures.

(b) The revised budget required by subsection (a) of this section shall be submitted in the format of the budget that the Superintendent of the District of Columbia Public Schools and the University of the District of Columbia submit to the Mayor of the District of Columbia for inclusion in the Mayor's budget submission to the Council of the District of Columbia pursuant to section 442 of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, Public Law 93–186, as amended (D.C. Code, sec. 47–301).

SEC. 134. The District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority, acting on behalf of the District of Columbia Public Schools (DCPS) in formulating the DCPS budget, the Board of Trustees of the University of the District of Columbia, the Board of Library Trustees, and the District of Columbia School of Law shall be authorized to expend any funds derived from bonds, notes, or other obligations issued for capital expenses any funds derived from bonds, notes, or other obligations issued for capital expenses, and any funds derived from proceeds of one-time transactions, with the approval of the Mayor, in accordance with section 442 of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, Public Law 93–186, as amended (D.C. Code, sec. 47–301), or before submitting their respective budgets directly to the Council.

REVIEW AND APPROVAL PROCEDURES—

SEC. 135. (a) CEILING ON TOTAL OPERATING EXPENSES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the total amount appro- priated in this Act for operating expenses for the District of Columbia for fiscal year 2000 under the caption “Division of Expenses” shall not exceed the lesser of—

(A) the sum of the total revenues of the District of Columbia for such fiscal year; or

(B) $5,522,779,000 (of which $152,753,000 shall be from local funds), which amount may be increased by the following:

(i) proceeds of one-time transactions, which shall not exceed $117,254,000, shall be from local funds; and

(ii) the proceeds of any emergency operating or capital needs approved by the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority; or

(ii) after notification to the Council, additional expenditures which the Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia certifies will produce additional revenues during such fiscal year at least equal to 200 percent of such additional expenditures, and that are approved by the Authority.

(2) ENVIRONMENT.—The Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia and the Authority shall take such steps as are necessary to assure that the District of Columbia meets the requirements of this section, including the apportioning of the Chief Financial Officer of the appropriations and funds made available to the District during fiscal year 2000 under the caption “Division of Expenses” to the extent that the Chief Financial Officer may not reprogram for operating expenses any funds derived from bonds, notes, or other obligations issued for capital projects.

(b) ACCEPTANCE AND USE OF GRANTS NOT INCLUDED IN CEILING.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, in consultation with the Chief Financial Officer, during a control year, as defined in section 305(d) of the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Act of 1995, approved April 17, 1995 (Public Law 104–8; 109 Stat. 152), may accept, obligate, and expend Federal, private, and other grants received by the District government that are not reflected in the amounts appropriated in this Act.

(2) REQUIREMENT OF CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER TO REPORT AND AUTHORITY APPROVAL.—No such Federal, private, or other grant may be accepted, obligated, or expended pursuant to paragraph (1) until—

(A) the Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia submits to the Authority a report setting forth detailed information regarding such grant; and

(B) the Authority has reviewed and approved the acceptance, obligation, and expenditure of such grant in accordance with review and approval procedures consistent with the provisions of the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Act of 1995.

(3) PROHIBITION ON SPENDING IN ANTICIPATION OF THE RECEIPT OF A GRANT.—Any amount, purpose, and vendor name, and a description of such Federal, private, or other grant not subject to such paragraph.

(c) REPORT ON EXPENDITURES BY FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY AND MANAGEMENT ASSISTANCE AUTHORITY.—Not later than 20 calendar days after the end of each fiscal quarter starting October 1, 1999, the Authority shall submit a report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate, not later than 15 days after the end of the quarter covered by the report.

(d) APPLICATION OF EXCESS REVENUES.—Local revenues collected in excess of amounts required to support appropriations in this Act for operating expenses for the District of Columbia for fiscal year 2000 under the caption “Division of Expenses” shall be applied first to a reserve account not to exceed $250,000,000 to be used to finance seasonal cash needs (in lieu of short-term borrowings); second to accelerate repayment of cash borrowed from the Water and Sewer Rates Fund; and third to reduce the outstanding long-term bonded indebtedness.

SEC. 136. If a department or agency of the government of the District of Columbia is provided with a court-appointed receiver or other court-appointed official during fiscal year 2000 or any succeeding fiscal year, the receiver or official may accept funds authorized to be expended by the Mayor, for purposes of the outstanding budget and the acquisition of the vehicle; the acquisition date and cost; the general condition of the vehicle; annual operating and maintenance costs; current mileage; and whether the vehicle is to be used to make the vehicle; and the District is allowed to be taken home by a District officer or employee and if so, the officer or employee’s title and resident location.
SEC. 140. (a) SOURCE OF PAYMENT FOR EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING PROGRAMS.—For purposes of determining the amount of funds expended by any entity within the District of Columbia government during fiscal year 2000 and each succeeding fiscal year, any expenditures of the District due to any portion of the compensation paid to the officer or employee attributable to the time spent in providing special education services; and
(b) MODIFICATION OF REDUCTION IN FORCE PROCEDURES.—The District of Columbia Government Comprehensive Merit Personnel Act of 1978 (D.C. Code, sec. 1–601.1 et seq.), as amended, is further amended in section 2408(a) by deleting “1999” and inserting “2000”; in subsection (i), by deleting “1999” and inserting “2000”; in subsection (j), by deleting “1999” and inserting “2000”; in subsection (k), by deleting “1999” and inserting “2000”.

SEC. 141. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, not later than 120 days after the date that a District of Columbia Public Schools [DCPS] student is referred for evaluation, “2000”.

SEC. 142. (a) S OURCE OF PAYMENT FOR EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING PROGRAMS.—None of the funds contained in this Act may be used to transfer or confine the District of Columbia government submitted pursuant to this Act may be used for purposes of the annual independent audit of the District of Columbia government prepared by the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority for fiscal year 2000 unless:

(1) the audit is conducted by the Inspector General of the District of Columbia pursuant to section 208(a)(4) of the District of Columbia Procurement Practices Act of 1985 (D.C. Code, sec. 1–1302.8(a)(4)); and

(2) the audit includes a comparison of audited actual year-end results with the revenues submitted in the budget document for such year and the appropriations enacted into law for such year.

SEC. 144. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorize any office, agency or entity to expend or appropriate funds for which a reorganization plan is required but has not been approved by the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority. Appropriations made by this Act for such programs or functions are conditioned only on the approval by the Authority of the required reorganization plan.

SEC. 145. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, rule, or regulation, the evaluation process and instruments for evaluating District of Columbia Public School employees shall be a non-negotiable item for collective bargaining purposes.

SEC. 146. None of the funds contained in this Act may be used to transfer or confine inmates classified above the medium security level, as defined by the Federal Bureau of Prisons, to the Federal Bureau of Prisons in Northeast Ohio Correctional Center located in Youngstown, Ohio.

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Beginning with fiscal year 2000, the financial plans and budgets submitted pursuant to this Act shall contain $150,000,000 for a reserve to be established by the Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia and the Authority for any petition drive or civil action which seeks to require Congress to provide for voting representation in Congress for the District of Columbia.

"(2) EXPENDITURE.—The reserve shall only be expended according to criteria established by the Chief Financial Officer and approved by the Authority if funds contained on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and Senate.”.

SEC. 149. (a) No later than November 1, 1999, the Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia shall submit to the Mayor, and the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority a revised appropriated funds operating budget for all agencies of the District of Columbia government for such fiscal year that is in the total amount of the approved appropriation and that realigns budgeted data for personal services and other personnel costs relatively, with anticipated actual expenditures.

(b) The revised budget required by subsection (a) of this section shall be submitted in the format of the budget that the District of Columbia government submitted pursuant to section 422 of the District of Columbia Home Rule Act, Public Law 95–193, as amended (D.C. Code, sec. 47–301).
manage real property for the use of the District of Columbia (including any independent agency of the District) unless:

(1) the Mayor certifies to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate that the maintenance and operation of the real property separately identifiable by the District (whether owned or leased by the District) is not for the purposes intended;

(2) notwithstanding any provisions of law, there is made available for sale or lease all property of the District of Columbia which the Mayor from time to time determines to be surplus to the needs of the District of Columbia;

(3) the Mayor implements a program for the periodic survey of all District property to determine if it is surplus to the needs of the District; and

(4) the Mayor within 60 days of the date of enactment of this Act has filed a report with the appropriations and authorizing committees of the House and Senate providing a comprehensive plan for the management of the District of Columbia real property assets and is proceeding with the implementation of the plan.

CHARTER SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR FUNDS

SEC. 154. Section 604(e)(2)(B) of the Student Loan Marketing Association Reorganization Act of 1996 (Public Law 104–206; 110 Stat. 3009–293) is amended by inserting “and public charter” after “public”.

DISPOSAL OF EXCESS SCHOOL PROPERTY

SEC. 155. The Mayor, District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority, and the Superintendent of Schools shall implement a process to dispose of excess public school real property assets within 90 days of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 156. Section 2033 of the District of Columbia School Reform Act of 1995 (Public Law 104–191; D.C. Code, sec. 31–2851) is amended by striking “during the period” and “and ending 5 years after such date.”

CHARTER SCHOOL SHARING PREFERENCE

SEC. 157. Section 2260(c) of the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority Act of 1996 (Public Law 104–134; D.C. Code, sec. 31–2853.16) is amended by adding at the end of the section:

“...except that a preference in admission may be given to an applicant who is a sibling of the applicant is seeking enrollment.’’

BUYOUTS AND OTHER MANAGEMENT REFORMS (TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

SEC. 158. (a) TRANSFER OF FUNDS.—There is hereby transferred from the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority (hereafter referred to as the “Authority”) to the District of Columbia the sum of $20,000,000 for severance payments to individuals separated from employment during fiscal year 2000 (under such terms and conditions as the Mayor considers appropriate), expanded contracting authority of the Mayor, and the implementation of a system of managed competition amongst government entities.

The Mayor shall provide for the payment of severance payments and services by and on behalf of the District of Columbia: Provided, That such funds shall be used only in accordance with a plan agreed to by the Mayor and the Chief of Staff of the Mayor and approved by the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

(b) REDISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS.—The amount transferred under subsection (a) shall be derived from interest earned on accounts held by the Authority on behalf of the District of Columbia.

FOURTEENTH STREET BRIDGE

SEC. 159. (a) IN GENERAL.—The District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority (hereafter referred to as the “Authority”), working with the Commonwealth of Virginia and the Director of the National Park Service, shall carry out a project to complete all design requirements and for compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act for the construction of expanded lane capacity for the Fourteenth Street Bridge.

(b) SOURCE OF FUNDS.—In carrying out the project under subsection (a), the Authority shall use funds contained in the escrow account held by the Authority pursuant to section 314 of division A of the Omnibus Consolidated and Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1999 (Public Law 105–277; 112 Stat. 2881–552), for infrastructure needs of the District of Columbia, except that the amount used may not exceed $7,500,000.

ANACOSTIA RIVER ENVIRONMENTAL CLEANUP (TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

SEC. 160. (a) IN GENERAL.—The Mayor of the District of Columbia shall carry out through the Army Corps of Engineers, an Anacostia River environmental cleanup program.

(b) SOURCE OF FUNDS.—There are hereby transferred to the Mayor from the escrow account held by the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Authority pursuant to section 134 of division A of the Omnibus Consolidated and Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1999 (Public Law 105–277; 112 Stat. 2881–552), for infrastructure needs of the District of Columbia, $5,000,000.

CRIME VICTIMS COMPENSATION FUND

SEC. 161. (a) PROHIBITING PAYMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS FROM FUND.—Section 16(e) of the Victims of Violent Crime Compensation Act of 1996 (D.C. Code, sec. 3–435(e)) is amended—

(1) by striking “and administrative costs in carrying out this chapter” and inserting in its place “and administrative costs necessary to carry out this chapter”;

(2) by inserting “and administrative costs necessary to carry out this chapter” after “2000”.

(b) ANNUAL TRANSFER OF UNOBLIGATED BALANCES TO TREASURY.—Section 16 of such Act (D.C. Code, sec. 3–445) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsection (f) as subsection (g); and

(2) by inserting after subsection (e) the following new subsection:

“(f) Any unobligated balance existing in the Fund as of the end of each fiscal year (beginning with fiscal year 2000) shall be transferred to the Treasury of the United States.”

DUTIES OF CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICERS TO FOLLOW ACT

SEC. 162. (a) CERTIFICATION.—None of the funds contained in this Act may be used after the expiration of the 60-day period that begins on the date of the enactment of this Act to pay the salary of any chief financial officer of any office of the District of Columbia government (including any independent agency of the District) who has not filed a certification with the Mayor and the Chief of Staff of the Mayor certifying that the officer understands the duties and restrictions applicable to the officer and their agency as a result of this Act (and the amendments made thereby).

SEC. 163. The proposed budget of the government of the District of Columbia for fiscal year 2001 that is submitted by the District of Columbia to the Congress shall not include any adjustment that might become necessary in the event that the management savings achieved by the District during the year do not meet the level of savings projected by the District under the proposed budget.

SEC. 164. In submitting any document showing the budget for an office of the District of Columbia government (including an independent agency of the District) that contains a category of activities labeled as “miscellaneous” in general, nondescriptive term, the document shall include a description of the types of activities covered in the category and a detailed breakdown of the amount allocated for each such activity.

CORPS OF ENGINEERS AUTHORIZATION TO PERFORM REPAIRS AND IMPROVEMENTS ON THE SOUTHWEST WATERFRONT

SEC. 165. In using the funds made available under this Act or any other Act for carrying out improvements to the Southwest Waterfront in the District of Columbia (including upgrading marina dock pilings and paving and restoring walkways in the marina and fish market areas) for the portions of Federal property in the Southwest quadrant of the District of Columbia within Lots 847 and 848, a portion of Lot 846, and the unassessed Federal real property adjacent to Lot 848 in Square 473, any entity of the District of Columbia (including any independent agency of the District) may accept such orders on a reimbursable basis and may provide any part of such services by contract. In providing such services, the Chief of Engineers may accept such orders on a reimbursable basis and may provide any part of such services by contract.

TITLES II—TAX REDUCTION

SEC. 201. COMPELLING REDUCTION OF TAXES BY THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Congress commends the District of Columbia for its action to reduce taxes, and ratifies D.C. Act 13–111 (commonly known as the Service Improvement and Fiscal Year 2000 Budget Support Act of 1999).

SEC. 202. RULE OF CONSTRUCTION

Nothing in this title may be construed to limit the ability of the District of Columbia to amend or repeal any provision of law described in this title.
Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the bill through page 189 be considered as read, printed in the Record, and open to amendment at any point.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There is no objection.

The CHAIRMAN. Are there amendments to this portion of the bill?

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. ISTOOK

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The Clerk reads as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. ISTOOK—Page 65, insert after line 24 the following:

six offender registration

SEC. 167. (a) PERMITTING COURT SERVICES AND OFFENDER SUPERVISION AGENCY TO CARRY OUT SEX OFFENDER REGISTRATION—Section 11233(c) of the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997 (DC Code, sec. 24–1233(c)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

'(5) Sex offender registration.—The Agency shall carry out sex offender registration functions in the District of Columbia, and shall have the authority to exercise all powers and functions relating to sex offender registration that are granted to the Agency under any District of Columbia law.'

(b) AUTHORITY DURING TRANSITION TO FULL OPERATION OF AGENCY.—

(1) Authority of Pretrial Services, Parole, and Offender Supervision Trustee.—Notwithstanding section 11233(b)(1) of the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997 (DC Code, sec. 24–1233(b)(1)), the Pretrial Services, Parole, Adult Probation and Offender Supervision Trustee appointed under section 11232(a) of such Act (hereafter referred to as the ‘‘Trustee’’) shall, in accordance with section 11232 of such Act, exercise the powers and functions of the Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency for the District of Columbia (hereafter referred to as the ‘‘Agency’’) relating to sex offender registration (as granted to the Agency under any District of Columbia law) only upon the written direction by the Trustee that the Trustee is able to assume such powers and functions.

(2) Authority of Metropolitan Police Department.—During the period that begins on the date of the enactment of the Sex Offender Registration Emergency Act of 1999 and ends on the date the Trustee makes the certification described in paragraph (1), the Metropolitan Police Department of the District of Columbia shall have the authority to carry out any powers and functions relating to sex offender registration that are granted to the Agency or to the Trustee under any District of Columbia law.

Mr. ISTOOK (during the reading). Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment be considered as read and printed in the Record.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There is no objection.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, this is an amendment that we have received a request for from the District of Columbia, and in particular Linda Cropp, the council member who serves as the chairman of the District of Columbia City Council.

Mr. Chairman, this is to permit the Federally run Office of Offender Supervision, the Court Services and Offender Service Agency, to administer the sex offender registration pursuant to local laws, as currently adopted by the District of Columbia City Council.

The City Council, on July 13, unanimously enacted their Sex Offender Registration Emergency Act of 1999 and the Sex Offender Registration Temporary Act of 1999. This establishes an effective sex offender registration and community notification system within the District.

Because the Federal agency, the Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency, is now involved with the supervision of persons on pretrial release, parole, and probation, it is necessary that they be authorized to administer the sex offender registration program. This legislation permits them to do that. That also permits the District Government, in accordance with section 11232(a) of such Act, to carry out any powers and functions relating to sex offender registration pursuant to local laws, as currently adopted by the District of Columbia City Council.

The community notification portion, 1 understand, will be conducted by officials of the District Government, whereas the registration portion will be conducted under this amendment by the Federal agency that is involved with those that are being supervised while they are free on pretrial release, probation, parole, and so forth.

Mr. Chairman, we have worked with the ranking member, and I understand we have the consent of the gentleman from the District of Columbia as well, and I believe this amendment should proceed without objection from anyone and I urge it be adopted.

Mr. Chairman, I submit for the RECORD a letter and supporting documentation with regard to this particular issue:

COUNCIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Re Federal legislation to effectuate D.C. sex offender registry.

Hon. Eleanor Holmes Norton,
Longworth House Office Building,
Washington, DC.

Dear Congresswoman Norton: We write to request that you attach the enclosed draft legislation to the next available vehicle in Congress which may present itself this week during the legislative session.

At the Council’s legislative session on July 13, 1999, we voted unanimously to enact the Sex Offender Registration Emergency Act of 1999. The Council voted to bring the District into compliance with the Jacob Wetterling Crimes Against Children and Sexually Violent Offender Registration Act of 1995 (20 U.S.C. 467). The Council’s purposes at the time of passage were to bring the District into compliance with national criteria for such programs. A copy of the emergency act is enclosed.

The Council vested the Metropolitan Police Department (‘‘MPD’’) with community notification duties regarding sex offenders. (See section 12 at pp. 10–11.) The Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency (‘‘Agency’’), established pursuant to section 11233 of the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997, will be charged with the task of registering sex offenders in the District. (See sections 5, 8, 9 and 10.) The registration functions including obtaining the initial registration information of sex offenders and informing them of registration requirements, periodically verifying address information and other registration information, reporting changes in address, notifying other jurisdictional authorities when sex offenders leave the District, entering information on D.C. offenders in the National Sex Offender Registry and providing information on sex offenders to the MPD. Since the Agency is already responsible for tracking and supervising released sex offenders under the Revitalization Act, it is efficient and cost-effective to have this entity perform registrational functions. The U.S. Attorney’s Office has informed us that federal legislation, in the form enclosed, is needed to clarify the ability of the Agency to carry out registrational functions. In view of the sensitive nature of monitoring sex offenders, it is important that each affected governmental entity be clearly empowered to perform its functions and that the transition of registration duties from the MPD to the Agency be as seamless and prompt as possible.

Thank you for your assistance. Should you have any questions, we are available to discuss this matter with you at any time.

Sincerely,

LINDA W. CROPP, Chairman,
HAROLD BRAZIL, Chairman,
Judiciary Committee.

Enclosures: Draft federal legislation; Sex Offender Registration Emergency Act of 1999.

SEC. 9. SEX OFFENDER REGISTRATION.

(a) OFFENDER SUPERVISION AGENCY.—Section 11233(c) of the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997 is amended by adding at the end the following:

'(5) Sex offender registration.—The Agency shall carry out sex offender registration functions in the District of Columbia, and shall have the authority to exercise all powers and functions authorized for the Agency by any District of Columbia law relating to sex offender registration.'

(b) OFFENDER SUPERVISION TRUSTEE.—(1) As used in this subsection—

‘‘Act’’ means the Sex Offender Registration Emergency Act of 1999.

‘‘Agency’’ means the Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency for the District of Columbia; and ‘‘Trustee’’ means the Trustee appointed under section 11232(a) of the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997.

(2) The Trustee shall have the authority to exercise all powers and functions authorized for the Agency or the Trustee by the Act or by any other District of Columbia law relating to sex offender registration, effective immediately upon the Trustee’s certification that the Trustee is able to assume these powers and functions. Pending a certification by the Trustee, the Metropolitan Police Department shall continue to have the authority to carry out... any functions assigned to the Agency or Trustee under the Act other District of Columbia law relating to sex offender registration.

EXPLANATION

The District of Columbia government has recently approved emergency legislation—the Sex Offender Registration Emergency Act of 1999—which assigns sex offender registration functions (other than community notification functions) to the Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency for the District of Columbia. This Act validates this assignment of responsibility, and ensures an uninterrupted transition of sex offender registration functions from the D.C. Metropolitan Police Department to the Offender Supervision Agency. The enactment of this section is necessary to implement an effective sex offender registration program in the District and to enable the District to comply with the federal law standards for such programs.

The Jacob Wetterling Crimes Against Children and Sexually Violent Offender Registration Act (42 U.S.C. 14071) establishes minimum national standards for state sex offender registration and notification programs. See 42 U.S.C. 14071 (Wetterling Act); 64 FR 572–87, 3590 (Wetterling Act guidelines). At the present time, all 50 states and the District of Columbia have established sex offender registration programs, and are attempting to bring their programs into compliance with the Wetterling Act standards. States (including D.C.) which fail to comply with the Wetterling Act standards within the applicable statutory time frames are subject to a mandatory 10% reduction of federal funding for law enforcement—a reduction that would cost D.C. about $200,000 a year at current funding levels.

The sex offender registration provisions initially enacted in the District of Columbia (D.C. Code §§ 24–1101 through 1117) did not achieve full compliance with the Wetterling Act standards, and have proven to be largely dysfunctional, for a number of reasons: (1) The D.C. registration provisions did not reflect new requirements that Congress added to the federal law in relatively recent amendments—for example, expanded lifetime registration requirements for the most violent sex offenders, and restrictions preventing sex offenders in jurisdictions with different registration requirements and procedures. Upon the Trustee’s certification, the Trustee will be authorized to immediately vest these powers and functions. Pending the Trustee’s certification, the Metropolitan Police Department will retain the authority to carry out all functions relating to sex offender registration.

Mr. Moran of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the amendment, and would simply say that we are happy that it is in the bill.

Mr. Chairman. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oklahoma.

Mr. Tiahrt. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment. The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 1 offered by Mr. Tiahrt

Mr. Tiahrt. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

Mr. Chairman. The amendment offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Tiahrt. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, my amendment, if passed, will retain current law, which says simply that we will not use public funds or tax dollars to provide needles for injection drug abusers to inject illegal drugs into their veins. In other words, they will not be kept from enabling injection drug abusers to continue a destructive behavior.

Mr. Chairman, that was the will of the House last year. It was passed by the Senate, and it was signed by the President. The President’s appointed drug czar, General Barry McCaffrey, supports this language, which publicly opposes publicly funded needle exchange programs. Let me give the highlights of his letter to me, which is shown on this chart here. He says basically that the public health risks outweigh the benefits; that in needle exchange programs treatment should be our priority; that this sends the wrong message; and that they promote drug addictions in neighborhoods at a greater risk.

These are very good reasons why public funds should not be used to enable people to continue their destructive behavior. As General McCaffrey also says in his letter, science is uncertain. The supporters of needle exchange programs cite successful studies. I have read many of these studies and they are very inconclusive. For example, the study that supports the Baltimore needle exchange program simply measures the amount of returned needles that are positive with HIV. It does not account for those needles which are not returned, it does not account for those needles which are shared by drug abusers, but it does say that the needle exchange program is a success.

The needle exchange program is not a success, Mr. Chairman. As the Associated Press reported on July 5, this year, the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine found in their study that in Baltimore, after 5 years of a needle exchange program, that 9 out of 10 needle-using addicts are infected with Hepatitis C, a blood-borne virus transmitted by needles. Nine out of 10 are infected with the deadly virus. If this is a success, then how do we define failure?

There have been more complete long-term studies in Montreal and Vancouver. These studies of needle exchange programs, which have been going on for more than a decade, reveal that the death rate among illegal drug users has skyrocketed; that injection drug abusers are twice as likely to become HIV positive if they are involved in a needle exchange program than if they were not involved in the program. They also say the crime rate around the needle exchange program increases.

There has been a lot of confusing information around. For example, there is a letter by Surgeon General C. Everett Koop to me yesterday. [From the Policy Review, July-August, 1998]

KILLING THEM SOFTLY

(By Joe Loco) CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

The Clinton administration says giving clean needles to drug users will slow the spread of AIDS and save lives. But former addicts—and the specialists who treat them—say their greatest threats come from the soul-destroying culture of addiction. In a midrise office building on Manhattan’s West 37th Street, about two blocks south of the Port Authority bus terminal, sits the Positive Health Project, one of 11 needle-exchange outlets in New York City. This particular neighborhood, dotted by X-rated video stores, peep shows, and a grimy hot dog stand, could probably tolerate some positive health. But it’s not clear that’s what the programs are about.

The clients are intravenous (IV) drug users. They swap their used needles for clean ones and, it is hoped, avoid the AIDS virus. They have until 4 a.m. There’s no charge, no hassles, no meddling questions. That’s just the way Walter, a veteran heroin user, likes it. “Just put me on an island and don’t mess with me,” he says, lighting up a cigarette. A tall, thin man, Walter seems weary for his 40-some years. Like many of the estimated 20,000 IV drug users in this city, he has spent years shooting up and has bounced in and out of detoxification programs. “Don’t get the idea in your mind you’re going to control it,” he said. “I thought I could control it. But dope’s a different thing. You just want it.” Can he imagine his life without drugs? “I’m past that,” he says, his face tightening. “The only good thing I do is getting high.

HERION FIRST, THEN BREATHING

Supporters of needle-exchange programs (NEPs), from AIDS activists to Secretary of Health and Human Services Donna Shalala, seem to have reached the same verdict on Walter’s life. They take his drug addiction as a given, but want to keep him free of HIV by making sure he isn’t borrowing dirty syringes. Says Shalala, “This is another lifesaving intervention.” That message is gained currency, thanks in part to at least 112 needle-exchange programs in 29 states, distributing millions of syringes each year.

Critics say free needles just make it easier for addicts to go about their business: abusing drugs. Ronn Constable, a Brooklynite user, liked it. “I’m past that,” he says, his face tightening. “The only good thing I do is getting high.

CURIOUS SCIENCE

Over the last decade, NEPs have secured funding from local departments of public health to establish outlets in 71 cities. But that may be as far as their political argument will take them: Federal law prohibits federal money from flowing to the programs until it can be proved they prevent AIDS without encouraging drug use.

It’s no surprise, then, that advocates are trying to enlist science as an ally. They claim that numerous studies of NEPs prove they are effective. Says Sandra Thurman, the director of the Office of National AIDS Policy, there is very little doubt that these programs reduce HIV transmission. In arguing for federal funding, a White House panel on AIDS recently cited “clear scientific evidence that needle-exchange programs reduce HIV transmission.”

The studies, though suggestive, prove no such thing. Activists tout the results of a New Haven study, published in the American Journal of Public Health, saying the program reduces HIV among participants by a third. Not exactly. Researchers tested needles from anonymous users—not the addicts themselves—to see if they had been used. They never measured “seroconversion rates,” the portion of participants who became HIV positive during the study. Even Peter Lurie, a University of California, San Francisco research psychiatrist, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC). A panel reviewed 21 studies on the impact of NEPs on HIV infection rates. But the best the authors could say for the programs was that none showed a higher prevalence of HIV among program clients. Even those results don’t mean much. Panel members rated the scientific quality of the studies on a five-point scale: one meant “not valid,” three “acceptable,” and five “excellent.” Only two of the studies earned ratings of three or higher. Of those, neither showed a reduction in HIV levels. Wonder what the authors concluded that the data simply do not, and for methodological reasons probably cannot, provide clear evidence that needle exchanges decrease HIV infection rates.

The MISSING LINK

The most extensive review of needle-exchange studies was commissioned in 1993 by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), which directed the National Academy of Sciences (NAS) to oversee the project. Their report, “Preventing HIV Transmission: The Role of Sterile Needles and Bleach,” was issued in 1996 and set off a political firestorm.

“Well-implemented needle-exchange programs can be effective in preventing the spread of HIV and do not increase the use of illegal drugs,” a 15-member panel concluded. It recommended lifting the ban on federal funding for NEPs, along with laws against possession of injection paraphernalia. The NAS report has emerged as the bible for true believers of needle exchange. It is not likely to stand the test of time. A truly scientific trial testing the ability of NEPs to reduce needle-sharing and HIV transmission would set up two similar, randomly selected populations of drug users. One group would have access to free needle exchanges, and the other would not. Researchers would follow them for at least a year, taking periodic blood tests and interviews. The results, published in the British research journal AIDS, were not encouraging: About 40 percent of the test group reported borrowing a used needle in the preceding six months. Worse, after only eight months, 18.6 percent of those who had never before exchanged with the virus.

Dr. Steffanie Strathdee, of the British Columbia Centre for Excellence in HIV/AIDS, was the report’s lone researcher. She found that “particularly disturbing” that needle-sharing among program participants, despite access to clean syringes, is common. Though an NEP advocate, Strathdee concedes that the high HIV rates are “alarmingly high.”

Shepherd Smith, founder of Americans for a Sound AIDS Policy, says that compared to the programs. “The existing data is flawed,” says Bruneau’s team then issued a retraction. “We believe we have been misled.” The results have sent supporters into a frenzy, with many fearful of an impact on public funding. “While it was important that the study be published,” Peter Lurie complained to one magazine, “whether the results were true was then and there is no scientific evidence to prove the safety of heroin.”

The findings have sent supporters into a frenzy, with many fearful of an impact on public funding. “While it was important that the study be published,” Peter Lurie complained to one magazine, “whether the results were true was then and there is no scientific evidence to prove the safety of heroin.”

Defending an expansion of the programs, Dr. Jarlais, the program’s director, swears to let science drive the issue of needle exchange.” The best that can be said for the evidence so far is that it doesn’t tell us much. Without better-controlled studies, science cannot be hauled out as a witness for either side of the debate.

Dr. Steffanie Strathdee, of the British Columbia Centre for Excellence in HIV/AIDS, was the report’s lone researcher. She found that “particularly disturbing” that needle-sharing among program participants, despite access to clean syringes, is common. Though an NEP advocate, Strathdee concedes that the high HIV rates are “alarmingly high.”

Shepherd Smith, founder of Americans for a Sound AIDS Policy, says that compared to the programs. “The existing data is flawed,” says Bruneau’s team then issued a retraction. “We believe we have been misled.” The results have sent supporters into a frenzy, with many fearful of an impact on public funding. “While it was important that the study be published,” Peter Lurie complained to one magazine, “whether the results were true was then and there is no scientific evidence to prove the safety of heroin.”

Defending an expansion of the programs, Dr. Jarlais, the program’s director, swears to let science drive the issue of needle exchange.” The best that can be said for the evidence so far is that it doesn’t tell us much. Without better-controlled studies, science cannot be hauled out as a witness for either side of the debate.

DEATH-DEFYING LOGIC

Critics of needle exchanges are forced to admit there’s a certain logic to their argument, at least in theory: Give enough clean needles to an IV drug user and he won’t bum contaminated “spikes” when he wants a fix. But ex-addicts themselves, and the medical specialists who treat them, say it isn’t that simple. “People think that everybody in shooting galleries worries about AIDS or syphilis or crack-addicted babies. That’s the least of people’s worries,” says Jean Scott, the director of adult programs at Phoenix House, a New York treatment center. “AIDS is the last thing anybody worries about.”

Ronn Constable, now a program director at Teen Challenge International in New York, says the argument is fallacious. “Addicts consume heroin 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Addicts call it “chasing the bag”: shooting up, feeling high, and planning the next hit before withering away. Only four “days off” a month, that’s all they do.” Constable says, “Their whole life is just scheming to get their next dollar to get their next batch of dope. They’ve fed their heroin habit for seven years, at times going through 40 bags— or 60 bags—a day. They recall walking up to a notorious drug den in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, New York. A man stumbled out onto the sidewalk and collapsed. They figured he was dying.
Margaro opened a fire hydrant on him. "He told me he was being asked where he had got that dope from," he says. "We needed to know, because if it made him feel like that, we were going to take just a little more than he did."

This is typical of the hard-core user: The newest, most potent batch of heroin on the streets, the one causing the most deaths, is in greater supply than ever. It is going to be hard for law enforcement officers to find out who the dead person capped from," says Scott, a drug-treatment specialist with 30 years' experience. "The more deaths that are found, the more popular the heroin is. That's the mentality of the addict."

Needle entrepreneurs

Some younger addicts may at first be fearful of the AIDS virus, though that concern probably melts away as they continue to shoot up. But the hard-core abusers live in a state of deep denial. "I had them dying next to me," Constable says. "One of my closest buddies just withered away. I never thought about it.

Needle-exchange programs are doing brisk business all over the country; San Diego, Seattle, and Detroit, Boston, and beyond. San Francisco alone hands out 2.2 million needles a year. If most addicts really aren't worried about HIV, then why do they come?

In most states, it is difficult to buy drug paraphernalia without a prescription. That makes it hard, some claim, to find syringes. But drug users can get them easily enough on the streets. The main reason they go to NEPs, it seems, is that the outlets are a free source of needles, cookers, cotton, and bleach. They're also convenient. They are run from storefronts or out of vans, and they operate several days a week at regular hours.

And they are hassle-free. Users are issued ID cards that identify them to carry drug paraphernalia wherever they go. Police are asked to keep their distance lest they scare off clients.

Most programs require that users swap their old needles for new equipment, but people aren't denied if they "forget" to bring in the goods for a trade. But drug users can get them easily enough on the streets. Jose Castellar works an NEP van at the corner of South Fifth Street and Marcy Avenue in Brooklyn. On a recent Thursday afternoon, a man walked up and mecha

NEP activists effectively sidestep the desperation created by addiction. When drug users run out of money for their habit, for example, they often turn to prostitution—no matter how many clean needles are in the cupboard. And the most common way of connecting HIV is, of course, sexual intercourse.

"Sex is a currency in the drug world," says Horton of Phoenix House. "It is a major mode of HIV infection. And you don't address the exchange."

At least a third of the women in treatment at the Brooklyn Teen Challenge had been lured into prostitution. About 15 percent of the female clients in Manhattan's Phoenix House contracted HIV by exchanging sex for drugs. In trying to explain the high HIV rates in Vancouver, researchers admitted "it may be that sexual transmission plays an important role."

Kleber, a psychiatrist and a leading addiction specialist, has been treating drug abusers for 30 years. He says NEPs, even those that offer education and health services, aren't likely to become beacons of behavior modification. "Addiction erodes your ability to change your behavior," he says. "And NEPs have no track record of changing risky sexual behavior."

Or discouraging other reckless choices, for that matter. James Curts, the director of addiction services at the Harlem Hospital Center, says addicts are not careful about their sexual habits. As a result, they often develop serious infections, such as septicemia, around injection areas. "It is false, misleading, and unethical," he says, "to give addicts the idea that they can be intravenous drug abusers without suffering serious self-injury."

A recent University of Pennsylvania study followed 415 IV drug users in Philadelphia over four years. Twenty-eight died during the study. Only five died from causes associated with HIV. Most died for other reasons: overdose, homicide, heart disease, kidney failure, liver disease, and suicide. Writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, medical professors George Woody and David Sack said to the risk of HIV infection, the threat of death to drug abusers from other causes is "more imminent."

That proved tragically correct for John Watters and Brian Weil, two prominent founders of needle exchanges who died of apparent heroin overdoses. Indeed, deaths from drug dependence are accelerating; needle-exchange programs have been on an upward trajectory for years. In New York City hospitals, the number has jumped from 413 in 1990 to 909 in 1996.

Good and ready

Keeping drug users free of AIDS is a noble—but narrow—goal. Surely the best hope of keeping them alive is to get them off drugs and into treatment. Research from the National Institute for Drug Abuse (NIDA) shows that untreated opiate addicts die at a rate seven to eight times higher than similar patients in methadone-based treatment programs.

Needle suppliers claim they introduce addicts to rehab services, and Shalala wants local officials to include treatment referral in needle-exchange programs. But program staffs are not instructed to confront addicts about their drug habit. The assumption: Unless drug abusers are ready to "do their own thing," they will prefer the goods.

This explains why NEP advocates smoothly assert they support drug treatment, yet gladly supply users with all the drug-injection equipment they need. "The idea that they will choose on their own when they're ready is nonsense," says Voth, who says he's treated perhaps 5,000 abusers of cocaine, heroin, and crack. "Judgment is one of the things that disappears with addiction. The worst addicts are the ones least likely to start living their own lives."

According to health officials, most addicts do not seek treatment voluntarily, but enter through the criminal-justice system. "It's those who volunteer do so because of intense pressure from spouses or employers or raw physical pain from deteriorating health. In either world, they begin to see the unpleasant consequences of their drug habit."

The only way a drug addict is going to consider stopping is by experiencing pain," says Robert Dupont, a clinical professor of psychiatry at Georgetown University Medical School. "Pain is what helps to break their delusion," says David Batty, the director of Teen Challenge in Brooklyn. "The faster they realize they're on a dead-end street, the faster they see the need to change."

Just for junkies

Better law enforcement, linked to drug courts and alternative sentencing for offenders, could be the best way to help them see the road signs up ahead. "It is common for an addict to say that jail saved his life," says Dr. Janet Lapey, the president of Drug Abuse Warning Network. "When addicts are out of his system does he usually think clearly enough to see the harm drugs are causing."

Foy says to use the threat of jail time to prod offenders into long-term treatment. More judges seem ready to do so, and it's not hard to see why: In 1971, about 15 percent of all crime in New York was connected to drug use, according to law enforcement officials. Today it's about 85 percent.

"There has been an enormous increase in drug-related crime because the only response of society has been a jail cell," says Brooklyn district attorney Charles Hynes. "But it is immoral and fiscally irresponsible to warehouse nonviolent drug addicts." Since 1996, Hynes has helped reshape the city's drug-court system to offer nonviolent addicts a choice: two to four years in prison or a shot at rehabilitation and job training.

Many treatment specialists believe drug therapies will fail unless they're backed up by punishment and prevention. Addicts need "socially imposed consequences" at the earliest possible stage—and the simplest way is through the criminal-justice system," says Dupont, a former director of NIDA. Sally Satel, a psychiatrist specializing in addiction, says "coercion can be the clinician's best friend."

"Perhaps not true of all addicts, but it took stiff medicine to finally get the attention of Cananda Edmonds, a heroin user for made Christian conversion the linchpin of the Phoenix model. Thus, at times 10% of the former Rehab clients failed to return to several rehab programs, but failed to change his basic motivation until he turned to faith in Christ. He has been steadily employed and free of crimes for 11 years.

"Sin is the fuel behind addiction," Constable says, "but the Lord says he will not let me be tempted beyond what I can bear."

Across the country, former Northeastern Challenge, who say their continued recovery hinges on their trust in God and obedience to the Bible's Warns. Knew a day to make a decision to turn your will and your life completely over to the power of God, then you're going to go right back."

As C. Everett Koop wrote in another context, "The hardness of God is kinder than the softness of man, and His compulsion is our liberation."

BRAVE NEW WORLD?

Whether secular or religious, therapeutic communities all emphasize the "community" part of their strategy. One reason is that addicts must make a clinical break not only from their drug use, but from the circle of friends who help sustain them. That means a 24-hour-a-day regimen of counseling, and ideally, a "community" for 12 to 24 months, safely removed from the culture of addiction. That's the antithesis of needle-exchange outlets, which easily become magnets for drug users and dealers. Nancy Sosman, a community activist in Manhattan, calls the Lower East Side Harm Reduction Center and Needle Exchange Program "a social club for junkies.

Even supporters such as Bruneau warn that NEPs could instigate "socialization," by which "new needle-sharing networks" among otherwise isolated drug users. Some, under the banner of AIDS education, hail this function of the programs. Allan Clear, the executive director of New York's Harm Reduction Coalition, told one magazine, "There needs to be a self-awareness of what an NEP supplies: a meeting place where networks can form."

Meanwhile, activists decry a lack of drug paraphernalia for eager clients. They call it "the carrot and the stick:" "No drug, no medical care,""If you'd need to give out a million a day."

The Clinton administration already knows these approaches are working. NIDA recently completed a study of 10,010 drug abusers who entered nearly 100 different programs in 11 cities. Researchers looked at daily drug use a year before and a year after treatment. Long-term residential settings—those with stringent anti-drug policies, such as drug use dropped by 71 percent, cocaine use by 68 percent, and illegal activity in general by 62 percent.

NEP supporters are right to point out that other treatment approaches are expensive and many are ineffective. Some needle-exchange supporters. San Francisco mayor Willie Brown, who presides over perhaps the nation's busiest needle programs, is a leading voice in the harm-reduction chorus. "It is time," he has written, "to stop allowing moral or religious tradition to define our approach to a medical emergency."

It is a step, rather, to stop medicalizing what is fundamentally a moral problem. Treatment communities that stress abstinence, responsibility, and moral renewal, backed by tough law enforcement, are the best hope for the addicts to escape drugs and adopt safer, healthier lifestyles.

Despite different approaches, therapeutic communities share at least one goal: drug-free living. Though they commonly regard addiction as a disease, they all insist that addicts take full responsibility for their cure. Program directors aren't afraid of confrontation, they push personal responsibility, and they tackle the underlying causes of drug abuse. The Clinton administration already knows these approaches are working.

Syringe exchanges, they say, are a cost-effective alternative. NIDA researchers found that needle-exchange programs—those with stringent anti-drug policies, such as drug use dropped by 71 percent, cocaine use by 68 percent, and illegal activity in general by 62 percent.

NEP supporters are right to point out that these approaches are expensive and many are ineffective. Some needle-exchange supporters. San Francisco mayor Willie Brown, who presides over perhaps the nation's busiest needle programs, is a leading voice in the harm-reduction chorus. "It is time," he has written, "to stop allowing moral or religious tradition to define our approach to a medical emergency."

It is a step, rather, to stop medicalizing what is fundamentally a moral problem. Treatment communities that stress abstinence, responsibility, and moral renewal, backed by tough law enforcement, are the best hope for the addicts to escape drugs and adopt safer, healthier lifestyles.

Despite different approaches, therapeutic communities share at least one goal: drug-free living. Though they commonly regard addiction as a disease, they all insist that addicts take full responsibility for their cure. Program directors aren't afraid of confrontation, they push personal responsibility, and they tackle the underlying causes of drug abuse. The Clinton administration already knows these approaches are working.
Mr. Chairman, I asked him the following four questions. I said, "Dr. Koop, have you read these studies?" What was his answer? No. "Dr. Koop, do you think needle exchange programs, as presently designed in the United States, will work?" The answer was no. "Dr. Koop, why did you write the letter?" The answer: "Because in the areas in public health where I have seen these programs work, where every needle is actually accounted for, there is some hope that they work."

He then went on to offer the fact that he knew that in communities where there is some drug abuse, and he mentioned specifically Harlem, that a needle exchange program would never work because the culture of the addicts in our society is they will not account for the needle. They have no idea where they left them.

So, as we consider his letter and his conversation with me, it falls prey to the same that we have seen on this debate, and that is the people who believe it is good have never read the studies.

The science there undoubtedly shows that we have an increase in Hepatitis B, Hepatitis C, and HIV. With every study that has been done thus far, if we account for those that are in the study at the beginning and at the end and because we want to help people, we are about to do something very, very wrong.

I hope to be able to speak on the subject again.

Mr. Chairman, I include for the RECORD the following letter from C. Everett Koop:

C. EVERETT KOOP, M.D., SC.D.

RECORD the following letter from C. Everett Koop:

C. EVERETT KOOP, M.D., Sc.D., SURGEON GENERAL (RET.), U.S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE.

Hon. DENNIS HASTERT,
Speaker, U.S. House of Representatives.
The Capitol, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Having worked on the HIV/AIDS epidemic since its emergence in the United States, I am now writing to express my strong belief that local programs of clean needle exchange can be an effective means of preventing the spread of the disease without increasing the use of illicit drugs. While I do not believe that clean needle programs are a panacea for all settings, it is clear from carefull and well-documented public health studies that such programs have worked in many areas and have great potential for making further reductions in the incidence of new infections.

Consequently, it would be counterproductive for the Congress to enact a Federal measure that would limit the ability of local and State public health agencies and voluntary organizations to carry out needle exchange programs. Such action by the Congress would undoubtedly result in HIV infections that could have been prevented and would unnecessarily enlarge and prolong the epidemic. If local authorities or organizations determine that needle exchange programs are appropriate to the epidemic as it affects their communities, the Congress should allow them to use all possible measures and funding sources to stem the spread of this deadly disease. I urge you to oppose any effort to limit the public health response to the AIDS epidemic.

Sincerely,

C. EVERETT KOOP, M.D., Sc.D.

Mr. TIAHRT, Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I ask unambiguous consent to extend the debate by 10 minutes on each side. I believe that the proponent of the amendment will find that agreeable.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There was no objection.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, first of all, some studies have been cited by the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. TIAHRT) and the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COBURN).

We have a response from General McCaffrey. General McCaffrey does make it clear that he supports the language that is in this bill. The language in this bill was put in in full committee by a vote of 32-23, a bipartisan vote, to say no Federal funds can be used for free needle exchange programs.

All we are asking, Mr. Chairman, is that this body agree to that restriction. We ask for two reasons. The principal reason is that that is our only jurisdiction, the use of Federal funds, for which we are responsible.

The second is that we will show very compelling evidence that the District of Columbia knew what it was doing when it started up a program which is one of the most effective in the country.

Now, General McCaffrey supports the language in this bill. But he also makes it clear that he has never supported a prohibition on local jurisdictions' efforts to implement a needle exchange program.

There are 113 local needle exchange programs in this country. They are working with various levels of success, but all of them successful. In fact, in the District of Columbia, two-thirds of the people that had been exposed to HIV through dirty needles are no longer being exposed as a result of the effectiveness of the program in the District of Columbia.

Here we have a few hundred pages. They are not numbered. But these are the summaries of dozens of exhaustive studies by all of the organizations that we would want to look into this issue.

They have all concluded that the needle exchange program works. They run the gamut from the National Institutes of Health, the Department of Health and Human Services, the National Association of Mental Health and Substance Abuse.

This program is endorsed by the American Medical Association, any number of organizations that are prestigious and serious about the AIDS epidemic.

Mr. Chairman, when I realized that I was going to have to debate the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. TIAHRT) on this issue and take the position in favor of needle exchange programs, I groaned. I did not want to do this. Because on the face of it, my initial reaction was, my gosh, why would we ever give free needles to drug addicts?

Well, the fact is, Mr. Chairman, that the facts are compelling. The District of Columbia knew exactly what it was doing when it started this program. Let me share with my colleagues some of these facts.

The District of Columbia has an HIV-AIDS epidemic, one of the worst in the country. They have the highest rate of new HIV infections of any jurisdiction in the entire country, the worst.

Intravenous drug use is the second leading cause of HIV in the District of Columbia. That is what we are talking about basically. It accounts for more than a quarter of all the new infections. Deaths attributed to HIV transmission in D.C. is more than seven times the national average.

Listen to this please, my colleagues: AIDS is the leading cause of death for all city residents between the ages of 30 and 44, the leading cause of death. African-Americans are the hardest hit by the intravenous transmission from dirty needles of the HIV virus. Ninety-six percent of those infected with HIV as a result of intravenous drug use in the District of Columbia are African-Americans.

Women and children are also disproportionately affected. Drug use is the highest mode of transmission of HIV for women in D.C. Women are getting AIDS at the fastest rate. This is the most serious aspect of the AIDS epidemic in D.C., which is the worst in the country. And the principal way they get AIDS is through dirty needles.

Seventy-five percent of the babies born with HIV, and what could be more disturbing to us, what could break our hearts worse than to have a baby born with AIDS, 75 percent of the babies born with HIV are infected as a result of dirty needles.

The District of Columbia, my colleagues, has the worst problem with HIV transmission from dirty needles, the worst in the country. And yet it is the only jurisdiction in the entire country that is prohibited from implementing this program.

There is no jurisdiction throughout the country have this program. All of the experts say it is effective. D.C. has the worst problem but, because of this Congress, they cannot use the one program that has been proven to be effective. That is why we oppose this amendment.

We are not even suggesting that we use Federal funds. All we are asking is... we stick with the language that says no Federal funds can be used for a needle exchange program.

But let the residents of the District of Columbia and particularly its elected leaders, elected directly by the citizens of the District of Columbia, let them be able to use their local funds and let private donations be used for this program. It is a small program. It is very inexpensive. It is run by the Whitman-Walker Clinic, a very credible organization. They do wonderful work.

The reason why these programs are so effective is because, when people come in to get free needles, they then have to get registered, that way we know who are the drug addicts. They then go into counseling. They then go into treatment. They will be exposed to the whole gamut of programs designed into treatment. They will be exposed to the need to effectively combat the spread of HIV/AIDS. He says, "it is well-managed and has an exemplary return rate."

He says, "I have received no reports where the area program has been abused in any way or has created serious public safety problems in the District."

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Kansas for his lead on this amendment. It is just hard for me to understand what kind of debate we are having here. This would be, I am trying to think of equivalents, of trying to battle cigarettes by giving kids free low-tar cigarettes; or trying to battle breast cancer by giving people things that cause heart disease.

Perhaps a better example would be to say that we are really worried about some kind of material. Practically, let us say asbestos that is in the cigarette package, so we are going to give kids packages of cigarettes to smoke while we are going to make sure that the packaging does not damage them.

The fact is that heroin is a terrible scourge not only to the individual but to the communities involved. To argue that by facilitating this habit by giving them clean needles to fight another disease is absurd on the face of it. The point is that studies, quite frankly, have been done more methodologically correct, such as the Montreal and the Vancouver studies, whereas other statistical studies have been assessed by the Statistical Assessment Service as not meeting those standards.

I would point out, for example, Montreal: “We have yet to hear a cogent argument that would allay our concerns that needle exchange programs may facilitate the formation of new sharing groups gathering isolated IDUs, a scenario that is consistent with our findings.”

Vancouver now has the highest heroin death rate in North America and is referred to as Canada’s “drugs and crime capital,” from the Washington Post in the spring of 1997.

UPI had a story last July 29, “Chief, Vancouver Has Lost Drug War.” British Columbia’s police chief claims the city has lost the war on drugs and now the city is proposing to give heroin addicts free heroin in addition to the free needles.

The ONDCP’s visit, some of the observations on facts are, for example, that the needle exchange program is one of the largest in the world. It has distributed over 1 million needles annually. B. HIV rates among participants in the needle exchange program are higher than the HIV rate among drug users who do not participate. In the same heroin drug users, it is higher if you participate in the clean needles program than if you do not, which is a statistically accurate study, not a random sample picked up to justify something.

The death rate due to illegal drugs in Vancouver has skyrocketed since the needle exchange program was introduced. In 1988, 18 deaths were attributed to drugs; in 1993, 200 were attributed to drugs. The Vancouver police stated that there have been over 2,000 drug overdose deaths in the city since the program was introduced. C. The death rate due to illegal drugs in North America.

Mr. Chairman, I include the ONDCP Vancouver Needle Exchange Trip Report for the record, as follows:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT, OFFICE OF NATIONAL DRUG CONTROL POLICY
WASHINGTON, DC, APRIL 6, 1998.

INFORMATION—MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR THROUGH: THE DEPUTY DIRECTOR; FROM: STRATFORD (D. B. DES ROCHES)

VANCOUVER NEEDLE EXCHANGE TRIP REPORT

1. Purpose: To provide you with field observations on needle exchange and drug abuse in Vancouver, Canada.

2. General: You had directed that Dr. Alder and I visit the Vancouver Needle Exchange in light of the high incidence of HIV among needle exchange participants and the skyrocketing death rate due to drug overdose in Vancouver. Jane Saurville of ODR joined the trip because of her expertise in the field of AIDS. We spoke with law enforcement and public health officials, as well as with the scientists and needle exchange and those who run the needle exchange. (Trip Schedule at TAB 1). Our visit to the U.S. Customs and Border Patrol at Blaine raised separate issues, which will be reported under separate cover.

3. Observations—Facts:

A. The Vancouver Needle Exchange Program (NEP) is one of the largest in the world—it has distributed over 1 million needles annually for the last ten years, and close to 2.5 million needles last year alone.

B. The HIV rate among the needle exchange participants is much higher than the HIV rate among drug users who do not participate.

C. The death rate due to illegal drugs in Vancouver has skyrocketed since the needle exchange was introduced. In 1988, 18 deaths were attributed to drugs; in 1993, 200 deaths were attributed to drugs. The Provinces of British Columbia and Alberta were averaging more than 10 deaths due to drugs per week, and were on pace for 600 deaths province-wide in 1996—mostly in Vancouver.

D. With the implementation of NAPTA, the Vancouver Port Police was disbanded. Vancouver is the most active Pacific port in North America.

E. The highest rates of property crime in Vancouver are within two blocks of the needle exchange (See maps, TAB 2).

4. Observations—Statements:

A. The single most striking point, which all interviewees stressed, was the lack of adequate drug treatment capacity in British Columbia.

B. The HIV rates among participants in the needle exchange program are higher than the HIV rate among drug users who do not participate. In the same heroin drug users, it is higher if you participate in the clean needles program than if you do not, which is a statistically accurate study, not a random sample picked up to justify something.

C. The death rate due to illegal drugs in Vancouver has skyrocketed since the needle exchange program was introduced. In 1988, 18 deaths were attributed to drugs; in 1993, 200 deaths were attributed to drugs. The Vancouver police stated that there have been over 2,000 drug overdose deaths in the city since the program was introduced.

D. Every interviewee noted the fact that governmental responsibility for drug treatment has been shuffled among various ministries, and has never been a priority.

E. Every interviewee cited the geographic features of the Downtown-Eastside (the major drug abuse area and the location of the needle exchange) as an exacerbating factor. Bounded by railyards and docks on two sides, it is an isolated and distinct area that contains most of the serious injection drug abuse and the drug trade, as well as associated problems of crime, violence, poverty, disease, etc. However, in a private interview, an elementary schoolteacher said that children at area schools are not allowed outside at recess, for fear of needles. I was unable to verify this statement.

5. Conclusions:

A. There has been a trade-off between needle exchange and drug abuse. The single most important lesson learned in Vancouver. The trade-off was not explicit, and drug injection activity in the area immediately adjacent to the needle exchange.

B. The NEP was set up for heroin users: the prevalence of cocaine injection (which is much less prevalent) meant that the NEP would be inadequate.

C. Vancouver suffers from a “nutbowl effect”—the homeless, migrants, counter-culture types and disaffected, at-risk personalities tend to migrate there from around the country. Everyone pointed to social policies in other Canadian provinces, especially Alberta which encourages people to move to British Columbia (by providing bus tickets).

D. Vancouver was on the trailing edge of the AIDS epidemic; some stated that the NEP was founded just as AIDS began to surge. It was frequently asserted that “it would have been much worse without NEP.” (Note—it might be interesting to evaluate other NEPs in this light—generally, NEPs in America were established on the trailing edge of the epidemic. Any claimed reduction in infection rates must be attributable to the normal course of the disease).

E. All the ONDCP participants were amazed at the lack of treatment capacity in Vancouver. When we asked interviewees about this, they too were outspoken about inadequate treatment. Apparently, there is a requirement for addicts to abstain for three months prior to entering one of the few treatment spaces. Catch 22 is not just an American invention.

F. Academics who studied the NEP seemed extremely concerned by the increase in HIV among NEP participants, and devoted much of our time together to explaining how NEPs tend to attract users who were a much more marginalized and at-risk segment of society than were infrequent NEP users. When asked if there were any studies comparing NEP users and non-NEP users, the study director responded that they had no way to interview non-NEP users.

G. Public support for needle exchange seems to be highest in the areas around the NEP building. This is sort of a chicken-egg thing: it’s hard to gauge cause and effect.

H. Property crime of all sorts in Vancouver seems to be highest in the areas around the NEP building. This is sort of a chicken-egg thing: it’s hard to gauge cause and effect.

I. It is ridiculous to propose that we hand out 100 million needles per week, and were on pace for 600 deaths province-wide in 1996—mostly in Vancouver.

J. The Vancouver police stated that there was a 24 hour drug market and similar open
B. In the absence of treatment, the potential benefits of needle exchange programs are marginalized for the most at-risk. The single most common explanation given for the prevalence of HIV among NEP participants was that the NEP participants were at a greater risk than non-NEP participants. Harm reduction believes that by giving addicts the means and knowledge to safely use drugs (i.e. needles), most of the negative effects of drug abuse can be alleviated. Yet this approach still requires that the addict responsibly use the needles he is given; the HIV statistics show that he does not. For an at-risk population paternal approaches which—can supplant—can supplant irresponsible behavior will probably be more effective. With an at-risk population, without access to drug treatment, needle exchange appears to be nothing more than a facilitator for drug abuse.

C. High-purity cocaine and heroin is becoming increasingly prevalent and will pose challenges across the board. Vancouver is literally swamped with drugs. Large seizures appear to have no effect at the street level. This influx of high-purity heroin and cocaine is a major cause of both the high HIV rates in Vancouver as well as the high death rate. We should examine high-purity drugs as a separate threat, and consider a national initiative along the lines of our methamphetamine initiative.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. WYNN) who represents the immediate suburb of Washington D.C., Prince Georges County.

Mr. WYNN. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Virginia for yielding me this time. I rise in support of this amendment. It is both arrogant and misguided. It is arrogant because it attempts to impose the will of this Congress on citizens of the District of Columbia. The gentleman is from Kansas and I submit that we would never attempt to impose the will of this Congress on the citizens of Kansas and the citizens of Wichita, Kansas. We would let them spend their money the way they want to.

This amendment would say that the citizens of the District of Columbia could not spend local money the way they want to. This is what the District of Columbia has experience with this issue. In fact, through the Whitman-Walker Clinic and using local funds, they implemented a program and the program was successful. It reduced needle sharing by two-thirds.

Mr. Chairman, that is the issue, needle sharing. Where we reduce needle sharing, we reduce the transmission of AIDS.

Now, who says this approach works? Well, the National Institute of Health says this approach works. The Center for Disease Control also says this approach works. The American Medical Association says needle sharing works. The National Academy of Sciences says needle sharing works. The body of scientific evidence in America suggests this is a proper approach.

Let us not be arrogant and misguided. Let us oppose this amendment.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR).

Mr. BARR of Georgia. Mr. Chairman, I thank the distinguished gentleman from Kansas for yielding me this time and rise in strong support of this amendment.

Let me get this straight, if I just heard the previous speaker criticize the Congress for trying to set some standard against the provision of needles with which the people of the District of Columbia inject deadly substances into their veins based on the argument that it would never tell the people of Kansas what it can or cannot do. I would remind the gentleman that there are all sorts of, thousands upon thousands upon thousands of Federal regulatory mandates that tell the people of Kansas precisely what they can and cannot do. For heaven’s sake, it is this Congress that just a few years ago told the people of Kansas what size toilets they can build and what size toilets they can use and where they can build homes and where they can build roads.

Very frankly, Mr. Chairman, I would much rather see the Congress of this United States step in and save lives by telling people, no, we are not going to inject deadly mind-altering substances into your veins than it would be for the Congress to continue to tell people what they might do productively with their lives.

I would also remind our colleagues of a very basic principle. If you give people the means to do something and encourage them to do it, well, for heaven’s sake, no surprise, they will do it.

Now, I know people on the other side, the gentlemen from Maryland, both of them, who will be speaking on this speak very eloquently, very passionately and very sincerely about helping people in their community. But I would simply say that we think on this side that there is a better way of addressing the problem of drug use in our communities, wherever those communities might be, in the Seventh District of Georgia or the Third District of Maryland or wherever, than to give people the means to continue to inject mind-altering dangerous substances into their veins.

I think this is a very appropriate and limited exercise, the will of the people of this country, that at least in our Nation’s capital, subject in large part to the jurisdiction as the Nation’s capital to the will of the American people through their representatives in the Congress that we tell the people of D.C., “We do want to help people, but we are not going to do it by furnishing you the means to inject mind-altering substances into your veins.”

I rise in support of this amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I trust that the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR) who has come to the floor and do best—exchange needles.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute and 40 seconds to the gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. MORELLA).

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Virginia for yielding me this time, and I rise in opposition to the Tiahrt amendment, which would prohibit highest local funds for the City’s needle exchange program which prevents new HIV infections in injection drug users and their partners.

I want to point out, also, this amendment had been rejected by the Committee on Appropriations. Trying to micromanage D.C. would be counterproductive for the Congress and it encroaches on the legitimate roles of the City Council and the Control Board. We in Congress have worked hard to give back local control to our communities, and these provisions would run contrary to that objective.

As has been mentioned, the District of Columbia has one of the highest mode of transmission and it accounts for over 37 percent of all new AIDS cases. Incidentally, AIDS is the third leading cause of death of all people in the District of Columbia. And for women, where the rate of infection is growing faster than among men, it is the highest mode of transmission.

Scientific evidence supports the fact that needle exchange programs reduce HIV infection and do not contribute to illegal drug use. And since Johns Hopkins researchers said the only needle exchange program neither promotes crime nor encourages children to take up drugs as critics fear, two Johns Hopkins researchers said the Nation’s scientific community is united in ruling that giving clean needles to HIV-infected addicts is good public health policy.

AMA, ABA, the pediatrics, the Mayors, Dr. Koop has been mentioned. Let us let public health experts make those decisions and vote against the amendment.
Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. CUMMINGS), the opponents of this issue say that everybody is united in the scientific world. That is just absolutely not true. It may be their opinion but it is not fact.

Secondly, have any of my colleagues ever gone on drug ride-alongs? You go through these houses. You would not walk in there with combat boots. There is trash, there are needles all over the place. In several of these I found mattresses where the prostitutes are asking for sex for drugs, and in one I even found a teddy bear where the prostitute had their child. The child is playing around all of these needles. The San Diego police then took me into a park and said, "DUKE, look at all the needles in this park." Would you want your child around where they dump these needles? These addicts are not responsible people. They are going to take these extra needles, they are going to put them anywhere they want.

We walked down the street. They are in the gutter. They are in the park. How would you like your child to walk along and stub one of those needles in their boot or in their sandal or in their foot? I think you would panic automatically on these things.

It is not a good thing, needle exchange, and it is actually a negative effect.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I would remind my friend from California that there are 19 such needle exchange programs in California, but also, most importantly, this is a needle exchange program. There are not as many as the gentleman referred to. You do not get a clean needle unless you give up a dirty needle. That is what this is all about, trying to get rid of these dirty needles.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Baltimore, MD (Mr. CUMMINGS) that has a particularly effective needle exchange program.

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Chairman, I stand in strong opposition to this amendment.

A lot has been said about the Baltimore program, but the fact still remains that the Baltimore program lowers the rate of crime. In those areas where needle exchange takes place, it has lowered the crime rate. Second, it lowers the rate of the spread of AIDS. It has been very, very clear and it has been studied by Johns Hopkins Hospital and University, the number one university and hospital in the country.

Number three, it has reduced the use of drugs. I live in a drug-infested neighborhood and the facts made does not even make sense. The fact is that in the areas where needle exchange takes place, they have discovered that there are less needles on the streets so that people can stub their toes and whatever.

This is a very, very, very bad amendment. We have been last year and I talked about people dying. The fact is that many have died because we did not do the right thing last year, and now we have an opportunity to save some more lives. This is our opportunity.

I beg the House to vote against this Tiahrt amendment.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I would remind the Members that nine out of 10 injection drug users in Baltimore are infected with hepatitis C. It is not a successful program.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. WELDON).

Mr. WELDON of Florida. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the Tiahrt amendment to the D.C. appropriations bill. This amendment will prohibit Federal and District funds from being spent on any program to distribute hypodermic needles for the purpose of illegal drug injection.

When we had this debate several years ago, I did take the time to read the bulk of the studies on this issue. The studies in my opinion in no way make it clear that these programs work. There are studies that show that these programs are actually bad. Each side can pull out the respective studies and quote from their studies to make these kinds of assertions.

The District of Columbia is not some hamlet in Maryland that we are talking about. We are talking about the capital of the United States of America. I consider this town to be as much the possession of every person in the United States as it is the people who live here year round, and I believe it is very, very, very appropriate for us to set some standards.

This is a good amendment. The needle exchange programs, I believe, encourage the use and they send a very, very, very bad signal to our youth. There are studies that show obviously it plays a role in the passage of infectious diseases.

I strongly encourage my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to vote in support of the Tiahrt amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Baltimore, Maryland (Mr. CUMMINGS).

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding this time to me.

The Johns Hopkins University just concluded a study in which they found that neighborhoods in Baltimore with needle exchange programs had a drop in economically-motivated crimes even though those same categories of crime rose over the same 4-year period. That needle exchange program did not significantly increase the willingness of teens to use drugs and the communities with needle exchange programs did not experience an increase in the number of discarded drug vials and needles found in the streets.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) who is a physician, a family practitioner, throughout her career.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment. I have heard my colleagues on the other side of the aisle say that needle exchange sends a negative message, but needle exchange sends a good message that we will implement and support policies that save lives.

Our colleagues who support this amendment use the statistics and deliberately twist them to support a position that flies in the face of overwhelming scientific evidence and is contrary to our public health policy. The needle exchange programs take place in those communities where there is high drug use, so of course the statistics show high drug use. But they have been proven over and over again, that drug use is reduced in those communities where needle exchange programs exist.

Yes, I am a physician. I know from experience what HIV can do to end lives that have otherwise gotten back on track and are productive after leaving drugs behind. We are doing here does not even give people, good people who have had the illness of drug addiction, a chance.

But do not take my word for it. My colleagues have heard of all of the other organizations that support needle exchange, and take what Dr. Koop says, that it can save lives and reduce drug abuse.

This is a terrible amendment. It jeopardizes the District's effort to address what is a serious epidemic here. Let us not write off lives, let us save them.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, as the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health reported, 9 out of 10 needle-using addicts have a blood-borne virus. They have had a program there for 5 years, and it has been very successful.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. PITTS).

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. TIAHRT). If all else fails, look to the evidence in a place where such a policy has already been attempted. Let us look at the Vancouver experiment.

The Vancouver needle exchange program is one of the largest in the world, distributing 2½ million needles in the last year alone. Well, instead of decreasing the rate of HIV and AIDS in Vancouver, the HIV rate among needle exchange participants is even higher than the rate among injecting drug users who do not participate. How can that be called an audit? And we want to emulate that here?

The death rate due to illegal drugs in Vancouver has also skyrocketed since the program began, and the highest rates of HIV come in Vancouver where users are within two blocks of the needle exchange.

At the very least, the available scientific studies in no way conclude that a program which enables drug users can simultaneously seek to end their destructive habit and help them to stop shooting up. In fact, it looks as though the opposite is true.

In the words of the drug czar, Barry McCaffrey, we owe our children, and that includes the children of D.C., an unambiguous no-use message, end quote. We must offer users a way out, an unambiguous no-use message, end quote. However, the opposite is true.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. DELAHUNT).

Mr. DELAHUNT. Mr. Chairman, other speakers have indicated that the underlying bill already bars the use of Federal funds for needle exchange programs in the District of Columbia, but the gentleman is not satisfied with that. The gentleman wants to prevent the people of the District from using their own money for this purpose, money obtained through local taxation that is widely supported by citizens of the District, programs that have proven to be effective, according to the National Institutes for Health, the Centers for Disease Control and practically every respected public health agency in America, programs, by the way, that are saving millions of taxpayer dollars in health care costs.

The overwhelming evidence is that they prevent HIV infection, that they do not encourage or increase drug abuse, that they actually help reduce drug abuse by encouraging injection drug users to enter treatment.

It is bad enough for legislators to overrule local decision makers in matters of this kind. But it is the worst kind of irresponsibility for us to make sure that Members and the public are aware of what this bill does in a way that is widely supported by citizens of the District, programs that have accomplished in Massachusetts, Mr. Chairman, and I know that they have saved lives.

If this amendment becomes law, more people in Washington, DC will become infected with the AIDS virus. More people will die of it. And their blood will be on our hands, Mr. Chairman.

I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on the amendment.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to remind the gentleman from Massachusetts that there is currently a needle exchange program in the District of Columbia. It is funded by private dollars. Nothing within this amendment stops that.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 2½ minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. ISTOOK), the chairman of the Subcommittee on the District of Columbia of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, what are the goals we have? To save lives, to reduce crime, to reduce illegal drug usage which helps to reduce the great amount of crime that is associated with it.

It is a real problem which this bill does great things to correct, and I want to make sure that Members and the public are aware of what this bill does without resorting to needle exchange with public money. And the question has been properly asked, why should we say not only the Federal funds, but local funds also should not be used for needle exchange program if they are taxpayer dollars?

The amendment of the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. TIAHRT) that we are voting on offers the identical language that was approved last year by the House, approved by the Senate, and signed into law by the President. I want to make sure that people know that we already have in this bill a new initiative, a huge assault against illegal drug usage and the problems it causes in the District.

The District funds drug treatment programs right now that are overcrowded because more than anything else there are so many people who are convicted felons convicted of drug offenses that are in these programs that they crowd out the ability of other people to get in.

This bill creates with Federal dollars a $25 million new program of universal drug testing for the 30,000 people in the District of Columbia that are on probation or parole, most of them for things related to drug offenses. Included within that program is some $16 million for drug treatment. That will free up the money that the District is currently spending for drug treatment on those programs. By accepting this amendment to end needle exchange treatment even further. This is going to be the largest program in the country to combat illegal drug usage. It is being funded with our Federal tax dollars. It is a war on drugs.

We are funding in the bill with Federal taxpayer dollars the most aggressive war on drugs of any community in the country, and we are doing it because this is our Nation’s capital. But we do not want a mixed message. Is it too much to ask when we fund a war on drugs that the message is a war on drugs and not peaceful co-existence? I fear the needle exchange program would use public money to undermine and endanger the effort that we have undertaken in this bill to combat illegal drugs.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WOOLSEY). Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Chairman, some on the Republican side treat D.C. like their own conservative petri dish, and based on the results, they figure out how to impose their ideological agenda elsewhere. It makes no sense. We know that AIDS spreads through the sharing of needles by injection users. We also know that more than half, up to 75 percent, of all children with AIDS contracted HIV from mothers who are intravenous drug users or the sexual partners of intravenous drug users. Scientific evidence has shown that these programs work. Scientific evidence also makes clear that needle exchange programs do not lead to greater drug use.

In fact, do my colleagues not know that an individual that will sign up for a free, clean needle is taking their first positive step in many, many years, and this is often the beginning for their commitment to a healthier drug-free life?

I suggest, I beg my colleagues, do not vote for this amendment.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Had the gentlewoman read the study, she would have found out that they are not effective, that the studies have large gaps. It is not good science, and the reason that babies have AIDS is because their mothers are injecting themselves with illegal drugs.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 20 seconds to the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON).

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, the Vancouver study has been often cited here. Let me quote the authors of that study:

As the authors of the Canadian study, we must point out that these officials have misinterpreted our research. The study in the Lancet, the British medical journal, found that 20 cities worldwide where the program was in place, HIV infection dropped by an average of 5.8 percent a year among drug users. In 51 cities that had no needle exchange plans, drug-related infection rose by 5.9 percent a year.

Clearly these efforts can work.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COBURN).

Mr. COBURN. Mr. Chairman, as my colleagues know, I continue to be amazed. I do not believe there is anybody on that side of the aisle that has actually read the studies. I have read every study on drug use. I want to give my colleagues some statistics about Vancouver. We do not misinterpret them; we read the conclusions at the end of the studies. I actually have with me the Vancouver study, and I will be happy to quote their summation. But let me list for my colleagues some of the things that have been said about the Vancouver program.

The Vancouver Police Department stated there is a 24-hour drug market now because there is a study at the location of the needle exchange program.

Number two, property crime of all sorts is highest of any other place in Vancouver where the needle exchange program is located.

Number three, the elementary teachers will not let their schoolchildren go outside in this area of Vancouver because there are needles strung out all over. They are fearful that these children will be infected with one of the needles.

Absent any mandate for drug treatment, needle exchange programs will focus on what they can afford and do best, exchange needles. All interviewees associated with Vancouver stated that needle exchange programs were not a silver bullet, but in reality that is what we are trying to do.

The fact is there is a 33 percent increase in those using needles in the needle exchange program of Vancouver compared to those drug addicts who are not in a program.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute and 10 seconds to the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER).

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Chairman, the evidence is clear and convincing. Needle exchange programs save lives.

The government’s top scientists, the National Academy of Sciences, the National Commission on AIDS, the National Institutes of Health, and the General Accounting Office have all concluded that needle exchange programs are effective in preventing the spread of AIDS and that they do not encourage drug use.

The numbers are shocking. Every day, 33 people become infected with AIDS, a virus as a result of intravenous drug use. The Surgeon General has stated that 40 percent of all new AIDS infections in the U.S. are either directly or indirectly the result of infection by contaminated needles. For women and children, the figure is 75 percent.

Needle exchange programs are one of the very few programs that have demonstrated that they dramatically reduce the number of new AIDS infections and save lives. To ban Federal funds for these programs in the District of Columbia will bring certain death to thousands.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, we should not prevent the District of Columbia from exercising its judgment in spending its money, not Federal money, to join the other 113 local governments in preventing the spread of AIDS through the use of a needle exchange program.

We do not have an equal interest, all of us, in the affairs of the District with the residents. They live here. We have an interest in a decent Capital. Ele- ments on this side of the aisle do not have an interest in local affairs of the District of Columbia. They claim to have an interest in the nation’s affairs because they have been appointed to represent it.

Mr. Chairman, I rise today in opposition to the Tiahrt amendment which would prohibit federal funds for needle exchange distribution programs in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Chairman, the amendment we are debating today is a death sentence to many in this country. Mr. Chairman, the evidence is clear and convincing. Needle exchange programs save lives.

The federal government’s top scientists, as well as the National Academy of Sciences, the National Commission on AIDS, the National Institutes of Health, and the General Accounting Office, have all concluded that needle exchange programs are effective in preventing the spread of AIDS, and that they do not encourage drug use. And yet, with this evidence in hand—scientific proof in hand that needle exchange saves lives—some in this Congress would rather let people die and suffer than let science and medicine help those in need.

The numbers are shocking. Every day, 33 people become infected with the AIDS virus as a result of intravenous drug use. This includes not only drug users themselves, but also their partners and their children. The Surgeon General has stated that 75 percent of all new AIDS infections in the U.S. are either directly or indirectly the result of infection by contaminated needles; for women and children, that figure is 75 percent.

There is no gray area here. We know that needle exchange saves lives, and that it does not cause an increase in IV drug use. In fact, studies show that IV drug use actually declines as a result of needle exchange, because needle exchange programs encourage drug users to seek treatment.

If we have the ability and resources to help those who want and need assistance and save them from probable death, then why not help them? To remain indifferent to the lives lost is morally bankrupt. The stakes are far too high to let a few extremists stand in the way of a sensible policy that we know will save many lives.

Mr. Chairman, I do not believe that any member of this House could deny that the AIDS epidemic is a national and international problem that must be meaningfully addressed. Needle exchange programs are one of the very few programs that have been demonstrated to dramatically reduce the number of new AIDS infections and save lives. There is no real controversy surrounding this compelling data—all the experts agree it is a fact that needle exchange saves lives. To ban federal funds for these programs in the District of Columbia will bring certain death to thousands.

Mr. Chairman, we do not support the use of intravenous drugs. But we also have to face reality. People do use drugs. If we can reduce the incidence of the use of dirty needles, contaminated with blood borne pathogens, then we can reduce the transmissions of AIDS. Scientific study after study has shown that needle exchange does reduce the number of new AIDS infections. I would like to reiterate that six federally funded reports, conducted independently by the National Commission on AIDS in 1991, the General Accounting Office in 1993, the University of California in 1993, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in 1993, and the National Academy of Sciences in 1995 confirm this fact.

And, finally, Mr. Chairman, we should not prevent the District of Columbia from exercising its judgment, and spending its money—not Federal money—to join the other 113 local governments in preventing the spread of AIDS through use of a needle exchange program.

We do not all have an equal interest in the affairs of the District of Columbia. That statement is the nub of the problem. Washington is our capital. We have an interest in its being a decent capital. But the people who live here have a much greater interest in local affairs than my constituents in N.Y. That’s elementary democracy. And they should decide local questions.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. SNYDER).

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Chairman, what we are talking about here today is one program in the District of Columbia called Prevention Works. Yesterday, I met with their administrative staff and some of their board members, and Today I went out and visited with them as their truck and van was on the streets of the District of Columbia, about 6 minutes’ drive from here.

What is the program we are talking about? It is a 1985 truck with unreliable air-conditioning staffed by two remarkable people, Alphonso and Vera, showing tough but compassionate care for a group of people that nobody in this place wants anything to do with.

As it turns out, my last hour visit this morning is the only time a Member of Congress has visited this truck and van and seen what they do, and that includes the proponents who are talking so knowledgeably about it today. They do, indeed, count their needles, and one can watch them do it if one would take the time to visit.

Second point. The issue is not what we in our own personal conclusions or personal thinking, what conclusions we reach, but what conclusions we should by body apply to prohibit elected officials in the District of Columbia from not using their own local funds. That is the issue.

We should vote “no” on this amendment and let them decide what is best for their town.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Madison, Wisconsin (Ms. BALDWIN).

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong opposition to this amendment to prohibit the District of Columbia from using any funds, Federal or local, for needle exchange programs.

The positive effects of needle exchange are proven. In communities all across the country, needle exchange programs have been established and are contributing to reductions in HIV transmission among drug users. But as important, these programs are beginning to have another positive impact. They are beginning to help drug users to treat their drug abuse.

In my hometown of Madison, Wisconsin, outreach workers go out into the community and out on to the streets and provide drug users with risk-reduction education and referrals to drug counseling, treatment, and other medical services. For many of these illegal drug users, the needle exchange program represents an opportunity for an interaction with an outreach worker who is tough, yet who cares. Sometimes, not always, but sometimes, this interaction is all that is needed to bring a desperate person to the point of recognizing that they need help.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair will advise that the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN) has 3½ minutes remaining; the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. TIAHRT) has 4 minutes remaining.

The gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN), as a member of the committee, has the right to close.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, parliamentarily Reverend Baldwin.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I am also a member of the committee. Would I not have the right to close?

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of my time.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. LEE).

Ms. LEE. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank the gentleman from Virginia for yielding me this time.

Washington, D.C. City Council’s Consensus Budget, as incorporated in the appropriations budget, is sound. However, it has been incumbered by some very onerous amendments. I oppose these amendments, especially the Tiahrt amendment, which viciously prohibits the District of Columbia from operating a local private needle exchange program.

The residents of Washington, D.C. pay taxes. They have a right to spend the money the way they want to spend their money. We know now that the transmission of HIV from mother to child can be reduced and eliminated. Yes, I said eliminated, as demonstrated by San Francisco’s needle exchange program and outreach program to pregnant women. Why would we want to place a death sentence on babies in Washington, D.C. when we know how to ensure their survival? For those who are against needle exchange, we ask, look at the data from needle exchange programs. Such programs lead addicts to the first steps toward recovery.

We are not condoning IV drug use, just the opposite. We are saying that we want babies in Washington, D.C. to be born free of HIV infection, and we want to provide a proven option to eliminate drug addiction.

Vote “no” on this amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield three-quarters of 1 minute to the gentleman from Brooklyn, New York (Mr. WEINER).

Mr. WEINER. Mr. Chairman, I do not think we will see a single conservative supporting this amendment. After all, I have not been here very long, but I have figured out what conservatives support. They support local initiatives, church-based initiatives, community-based organizations going out and trying to solve a community’s problems and Washington staying out of their way. So there is no way anyone that calls themselves a conservative can possibly support the idea of Congress not only opposing the use of Federal funds, but even local funds, to try to solve a health problem that my colleagues on that side of the aisle have done absolutely little to solve.

What are we doing here is stepping all over a classic, conservative ideal which has let the District of Columbia manage its affairs the way it sees best.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, may I inquire as to how much time remains?

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN) has 1¼ minutes remaining.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield three-quarters of 1 minute to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI).

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, our distinguished ranking member has pointed out the sad tale about the cases of AIDS in Washington, D.C. One-half of all AIDS cases in children are a result of injection drug use by a parent.

Mr. Chairman, I ask my colleagues if they do not think it is obvious that it is time we put an end to the suffering of a child with HIV AIDS.

In San Francisco we have reduced to zero, as the gentlewoman from California (Ms. LEE) mentioned, the transmission rate from mother to child because of the needle exchange program, and outreach programs to pregnant women.

In Baltimore, Dr. Beilenson has told us there are 1,000 people, because of the needle exchange program, who are off drugs now. As far as the hepatitis C argument, it does not apply in this case.

Last year, Dr. Varmus, Dr. Fauci, Dr. Satcher were among the scientists who signed a letter saying we have unanimously agreed that there is conclusive scientific evidence that needle exchange programs reduce transmission.

I urge my colleagues to have the courage to save a child’s life. Vote “no” on the Tiahrt amendment.

Would you spend ten cents to spare a child the suffering of AIDS? In San Francisco we have reduced to zero the transmission rate from mother to child because of the needle exchange program and outreach to pregnant moms. That is our experience.

As for the science, last year, leading scientists issued a statement on needle exchange programs. The signers included Dr. Harold Varmus, Nobel Prize winner and director of the National Institutes of Health; Dr. Anthony Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Disease; and Dr. David Satcher, our Surgeon General.

They wrote:

After reviewing all of the research, we have unanimously agreed that there is conclusive scientific evidence that needle exchange programs, as part of a comprehensive prevention strategy, are effective public health intervention that reduces the transmission of HIV and does not encourage the use of illegal drugs.

The Tiahrt amendment tramples on the ability of D.C. residents to govern themselves. A vote against this amendment is not a vote for needle exchange.

Have the courage to save a child’s life—vote “no” on Tiahrt.
Mr. COBURN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 1 1/2 minutes.

Mr. Chairman, I just want to remind the body of what my amendment does is retain current law. It is law that was supported by the Drug Czar, General Barry McCaffrey; it was passed by this body, the House; it was passed by the Senate; it was signed into law by the President of the United States.

We have heard that we are trying to influence what the taxpayers want here in the District of Columbia. Mr. Chairman, I am a taxpayer in the District of Columbia. All of us here are a taxpayer in the District of Columbia. I care about these people. I care about what is going on.

There is a great deal of desperation for solutions here, and people are reaching far to say these days are successful. They have not read the studies. It is not a successful program.

The real reason that I am trying to stop this ineffective program, at least from public funds, is because it enables people to carry on a destructive behavior. I have friends who are recovered alcoholics. They said the worst thing that they had during their time of trying to recover was someone to enable them to continue their destructive behavior. That is what we are doing for these people. It is as if we are driving nails in their coffin; we are enabling them.

We are doing a lot to combat illegal drugs in this bill. Mr. Chairman, $25 million is set aside to combat illegal drugs, and yet we are enabling the men and women of this city to take illegal drugs and inject them into their veins. I think it is wrong; I think it is destructive. It does currently go on, it is privately funded, and I think that this does nothing to stop that. If people want to carry on terms of chlamydia, hepatitis C. That person does one of two things: they either die or they get a liver transplant.

So if we want to enable this epidemic to continue to flourish, then we need to give all of the drug addicts in this country needles, because they are sharing the needles anyway, and that is what the studies show. We are not lessening their long-term health consequences; we are, in fact, enabling them to fail and die of diseases.

Mr. Moran of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of the time.

Mr. Chairman, it is not just we who are opposed to this amendment who are saying that the needle exchange program does not increase the level of drug addiction, nor increase the amount of AIDS. We are listening to the experts. The American Medical Association says this program is effective. The American Academy of Pediatrics, the American Nurses Association, the Association of State and Territorial Health Officials, the National Association of County and City Health Officials, the National Institutes of Health, the Centers for Disease Control. Every single professional organization tells us this program works.

Mr. Chairman, I yield the remaining time to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. Coburn).

Mr. COBURN. Mr. Chairman, how much time remains?

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Kansas (Mr. Tiahrt) has 2 1/2 minutes remaining.

Mr. COBURN. Mr. Chairman, I want to say to each of all that I have admiration for those who support this program, because what they are really saying is that they care about those people who are addicted. However, I also would say, we care too.

The debate divides on how best to solve the problem, and the issue is, are we best solving the problem by reducing risk, or do we best solve the problem by avoiding risk?

I want to give my colleagues a corollary. Three year, 13 million Americans are going to get infected with an STD: 45 percent of those will never get rid of that infection. Our message to our children has been, you can practice risky behavior as long as you use safe methods to do it. So our message has been, we are going to reduce the risk. And as our message of safe sex is continuing to come home, we have the largest incidence of sexually transmitted disease of any society, and the largest growth of incurable viral diseases. HIV is nothing compared to what is going to happen in 10 years. We have seen the chlamydia, the human papilloma virus, and the cancer that is going to be associated with it.

So the debate really decides, how do we care the most? The compassion exhibited by wanting to eliminate the transmission is a wonderful, compelling argument. But it is not enough compassion. We have to have enough compassion to eliminate the problem and not enable people to fail, as we are enabling our children to fail, by our message of safe sex with a condom that does not protect 50 percent of the sexually transmitted disease in this country today.

So the heart is right; the message is wrong. If we really want to help these people, then we will redouble our efforts to drug treatment centers, not enable them to continue to fail.

The final thing is, what happens to somebody when they get hepatitis C in this country? And that is the growing epidemic in this country, not HIV. It is hepatitis C. That person does one of two things: they either die or they get a liver transplant.

So if we want to enable this epidemic to continue to flourish, then we need to give all of the drug addicts in this country needles, because they are sharing the needles anyway, and that is what the studies show. We are not lessening their long-term health consequences; we are, in fact, enabling them to fail and die of diseases.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to oppose the amendment offered by Representative Tiahrt that prohibits federal and local funds from being spent on needle exchange programs in the District of Columbia. I object to this intrusion into the funding priorities of the District. I also oppose this amendment because needle exchange has been shown to be an effective method of HIV prevention.

Needle exchange is supported by medical and health related organizations. Last year, the National Institute of Health issued a determination that needle exchange programs reduce HIV transmission and such program do not encourage the use of illegal drugs.

Thus, the health impact of this amendment would be devastating in this city. As most major U.S. cities, D.C. faces an AIDS epidemic that must be fought on all levels. D.C. has the highest rate of new HIV infections in the country. AIDS is the third largest cause of death in this city. We must not handicap this city's ability to stem the tide of AIDS transmission.

I also believe that the residents of this city deserve to use the mechanism of democracy and its elected officials should be able to make decisions that benefit the citizens. The local government in D.C. has chosen to use its own funds to address this need.

Congress has no business in the local affairs of the District government. D.C. has chosen to implement this program to prevent the spread of AIDS. This nationally recognized program has been successful in bringing addicts into treatment. D.C. is the only jurisdiction that has a federal bar on the use of local funds.

The District of Columbia no longer receives the federal payment, thus all of these funds are from local taxpayers. I oppose this intrusion into local affairs and I believe that this amendment will severely hurt the residents of D.C. I urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment.

Ms. MILLENDER-McDONALD. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in strong opposition to the Tiahrt amendment to H.R. 2587. As a Member of this House representing a region of the country with an astronomically high rate of HIV transmission and AIDS, I cannot support this bill. I cannot support legislation that not only prohibits the use of federal funds, but also prohibits the use of local or other funds. What are we saying to the thousands of the District of Columbia when their elected representative does not support this bill?

HIV and AIDS continues to plague this Nation. Yes, we have seen some much-needed improvements in the extension of lives through better treatment and we have seen the number of deaths resulting from AIDS fall for the first time. But we have not and will not see the rate of HIV transmission fall if we continue to let politics rule the legislative process.
The needle exchange programs that have been implemented in inner-cities throughout the country are playing a crucial role in reducing HIV transmission, assisting HIV positive drug users in obtaining necessary medical care and drug treatment, and providing essential information and AIDS. This is critical for the hundreds of thousands of adults who do not know that their partners are using drugs, and for the innocent children who are born with this fatal disease.

Public health officials do not support this amendment and I encourage my colleagues to join me in voting against this amendment, which is full of politics and void of reason.

The CHAIRMAN. All time has expired.

The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. TIAHRT).

The question was taken; and the amendment offered by the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. TIAHRT) was withdrawn.

Amendment No. 2 offered by Ms. NORTON:

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 2 offered by Ms. NORTON: Page 54, strike lines 19 through 25 (and redesignate the succeeding provisions accordingly).

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, first I want to thank the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. KILPATRICK), the cosponsor of this amendment, for offering it in the Committee on Appropriations.

This amendment simply strikes gratuitous and now moot language carried over from last year in the bill that prohibits the District to use its own funds on a lawsuit testing whether American citizens who live in the District are entitled to voting rights in the Congress.

Members are looking at the only Member of this body who represents paying American citizens who are denied full representation in the Congress. The language in this bill adds to the basic denial of D.C. voting rights, the denial of the right to seek redress in the courts.

Does this Congress really want to pile on the sensitive issue of full democratic representation by seeking to keep the District from testing that denial in court? This provision in the bill is unworthy of this House, unless we want to cross over and join the authoritarian regimes of the world.

In the darkest days of southern segregation, no State sought to legislate black people out of court suits. That is exactly what this amendment does to D.C. residents, however. It is a self-inflicted wound to their status quo denial of rights, even if it means standing to bar the courthouse door.

It should be enough to defeat this amendment that the denial of court redress is patently un-American. It is also futile and moot. The lawsuit for D.C. voting rights recently argued before a three-judge panel in the District court is being carried pro bono by a major law firm.

The District’s involvement always was minimal. The city’s Corporation Counsel participated in the oral argument with permission of the court to participate pro bono. The corporation counsel has resigned. His only involvement now would be as a private citizen with no possible Attorney.

Please do not allow history to add to the litany of denials of democracy for the people of the District. Wherever they may stand on their constitutional jurisdiction over the District, this is a different case. Members surely do not want to be counted against peaceable redress of constitutional rights through the courts. No Federal funds are involved. Even District expenditures are not now being used to support this suit.

Please remove these proceedings once and for all from our appropriation bill.

Ms. KILPATRICK. Mr. Chairman, I rise in favor of the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I want to support and am proud to be a co-sponsor of this amendment that we offered in the Committee on Appropriations.

I agree with the delegate, the gentlewoman from Washington, D.C. (Ms. NORTON), that it is unconstitutional, it is unfair, and it is undemocratic. This entire D.C. appropriations bill is $463 million. The D.C. residents in 1996 sent over $4 billion to this Federal government. In 1997 the same, over $4 billion to this Federal government. The bill today is only $463 million.

Members have heard debate over the last hour on the needle exchange program. We are not going to get into that, but the citizens do have a right, as every citizen of the country has, to spend its local money on those things that they deem necessary for their people.

This amendment that the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON) and I were offering would say that the residents of the District of Columbia can spend their local dollars to go to court to challenge the notion that they cannot vote in this Congress, that they do not have a voting representative in this Congress.

The District of Columbia has more population than three of America’s States. All of those States have representatives in this Congress who vote. They all have two Senators in the U.S. Senate who vote. Why, then, do we deprive over 500,000 people who have chosen Washington, D.C. as their place of residence the right to have a vote in this Congress, the right to have two Senators, as all other States have, and the right to use their own local money for those programs that they deem necessary?

The Congressional Research Service goes just a little bit further. They say that the District of Columbia, which is denied the right to vote, should have a representative in Congress. District residents carry some of the same burdens of citizenship that all American citizens pay and do. They pay taxes, they serve in our wars, they die in our wars.

Still, this Congress will not allow them to use their own local funds to use their local money to go to court should they want to, to defend their right to vote. This is a glorious country, the best country in the world. The citizens of D.C., American citizens, over 500,000 of them, deserve the right to use their local funds as they see fit.

Mr. Chairman, I urge Members to adopt this amendment.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to this amendment. I very much appreciate the arguments that were made by the gentlewomen regarding their support of this particular amendment.

I feel obligated to point out that what they seek to strike from the bill is language that last year was approved by the House of Representatives, approved by the U.S. Senate, and signed into law by the President of the United States. Specifically, it is language that says that public funds shall not be expended for an initiative or a civil law suit by a non-voter in Congress for the District of Columbia.

I well understand the desire of the proponents of this amendment and many other people to have that vote in
Mr. FAIR of California. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of this particular amendment. Let me just tell my colleagues why. We have been piling on the city with some very difficult issues that I feel deeply about; as well, needle exchange programs, which I oppose. I do not believe that we ought to be giving free needles to people who are committing illegal acts.

The couples' adoptions, the limitation on the medicinal use of marijuana, this is something that in other jurisdictions, in Arizona and in Colorado and other States that have had referenda, the citizens have decided they want to do that. In the District of Columbia we did not even let them count the votes.

However people feel about those issues, and I am conflicted on these, along with a lot of my other colleagues, what we are talking about here is the right of the citizens of the District of Columbia to have a vote on the House floor and to pursue a final judicial decree that will set their rights at this point, which have been questioned in the courts.

We ask ourselves, if we cannot use city money, who is going to do this? This is city money, it is not Federal dollars. If this were a prohibition on Federal dollars going to the city, I can understand Congress might have a reason that they would want to support this, but these are city dollars. If Members do not like this, they could run for the City Council in the District and probably take a different point view. I don't think they would be elected successfully.

What we have to remember is that the relationship between the city of Washington, D.C. and the Federal Government is unique. It is described in the Constitution. It goes back to the late 1700s, when we wanted to have a Federal enclave that would not be at the mercy of any State government. It happened when some militia who had been unpaid from the Revolutionary War fell upon the Pennsylvania militia, who were in sympathy with them, and let them chase the Continental Congress across the river from Philadelphia into New Jersey.

At that point, the continental Congress went ahead and said we have to have our own Federal enclave. We cannot trust any State to look after the Federal side of things. We take sides and disputes between States. As a result of this, the District of Columbia was born.

Now, a lot has changed in 200 years. The city still does not have a vote on this floor, although they reside. They pay taxes. They can be drafted. They have served in the military. They do the things everybody in all of our States do.

It has been likened that the District of Columbia is like a city and we are the State. But my colleagues have to remember cities across this country have representatives in State legislatures in the State Capitols and have a vote. The District of Columbia does not.

All this amendment does is it says, because there have been some questions raised about the constitutionality of whether the city should have a vote on the floor, that they could pursue that judicial remedy in the court system with their own money collected by their own citizens through their duly-elected leaders.

With all of the other things piled on, I think the least we can do since we do not give the city a vote on the floor is to allow them to use their own money and pursue their judicial remedies the way any jurisdiction in the country can do.

For heaven's sakes, if we want democracy to work in the District of Columbia, we have to nurture it, we have to allow some decisions made to be final. We have to allow the city to make its own decisions and not have every decision they make be questioned by Congress. When we do that, they are not going to make the tough decisions because they know they are going to get overridden here, and democracy will fail.

For almost 100 years, the city had no elections, and we had, over the last few
I tell my colleagues, Oklahoma City goes to court using taxpayers' funds to redress grievances against the Federal Government. It happens in Tulsa as well. It happens in Baltimore. It happens in San Francisco and L.A. and Chicago. Large and small cities, counties, and States bring suits against the Federal Government for the redress of grievances. I believe that is our constitutional right.

Is that not a fundamental American right? How can we say in this bill, corporately, the District of Columbia, through its government, not with our funds, not with Federal dollars, with their own funds, cannot redress the grievance and say our representative on the floor of the House of Representatives ought to have a vote. That is our constitutional right.

Is it our position that we will say, no, we disagree with that objective; and, therefore, they cannot go to court?

The gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. Istoook) says, oh, well, we are not doing that. Shoot, they can get pro bono expenses. They can get people to donate it, or they can get private donations. They can. The gentleman is correct. So can every other State, county, and municipality in America.

Would any of my colleagues support legislation which says that Tulsa or Oklahoma City or Baltimore or Upper Marboro cannot bring suit for the redress of grievances and saying that something is either against the Constitution or against the Federal statute or against the regulation? I cannot believe my colleagues would do that. This is so fundamental to what we believe about our country. I want to tell my colleagues. I was chairman of the Helsinki Commission until 1995, and I traveled to Sofia in Bulgaria. Bulgaria would not tell Sophia, the capital, they can not bring suit. They would under the Communist government, because one could not bring suit at all. That made us really different.

Bucharest in Romania the same thing, Warsaw in Poland, Prague in Czechoslovakia.

The CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. Hoeyer) has expired.

(By unanimous consent, Mr. Hoeyer was allowed to proceed for 2 additional minutes.)

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Chairman, this ought not to be a partisan issue. This is an issue we fought a Cold War over. We did not fight it, luckily, for the most part, with bullets. We fought it with a commitment to our ideals of freedom and individual liberty. Not collective liberty, individual. No citizen, no matter how wrong they might be, is precluded from coming to the courts and having their grievances redressed. I disagree with him, but I think I am right.

Mr. Chairman, I hope that, on this issue, my colleagues summon up the wisdom and the courage to say we ought not to do this because it is inconsistent with what we believe about our country, what has made our country different.

Do not tell the residents of the District of Columbia that they have a grievance, but only if they get the largesse of some private donor will they be able to seek constitutional relief. Do not do that to them, not because they are the District of Columbia under the Constitution as a State or a District that we have authority over, but because there are 500,000 Americans, just as I am an American, just as you are an American; 260 million of us, not D.C. Americans, Maryland Americans, Oklahoma Americans, but Americans, protected by the best document man ever forged, the Constitution of the United States. It holds these truths to be self-evident, that all men and women are created equal, each one of us, endowed, not by the D.C. subcommittee, not by the House of Representatives, endowed by God with certain unalienable rights, among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That is what they seek. Do not preclude it.

Admit mistake in this area. Support this amendment.

Mrs. MEEK of Florida, Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the requisite number of words.

Mr. Chairman, it is a very hurtful experience each year when the D.C. bill comes to the floor and there is something in the bill that, in my opinion, in some way wants to turn back the hands of time and to turn back justice and fairness to the people of this District.

The language in H.R. 2857 should be amended by the courageous gentleman from the District of Columbia (Ms. Norton). She has fought a very hard fight. Each of us should understand this fight, because we seek justice, and we seek freedom. It should be amended.

The language in the bill is targeted, and I say targeted because it has some very dangerous inferences. It is gloomy. It is dark. To me, it appears to point at one group of people, and that group of people live in the District of Columbia.

Who are those people? Most of the people in the District of Columbia are black like me. Most of the D.C. there are people who have, for years, their rights have been taken away. I have sat here for 8 years and heard constantly, constantly that we beat away to try to take away their rights.

Is it Congress' fault if we allow any diminution of the rights of the people who live in Washington, D.C. If they lived in Podunk, Idaho, I would be here saying the same thing. Regardless of their color or their creed, I would be here. But I am here to say this particular law has dangerous inferences. We do not want that.

First of all, the language in the bill is not only undemocratic, but it is moot, because what the language assumes did not happen. The language says, and I assume the funds may be used by the D.C. Corporate Counsel, and it goes on and on, to provide for civic action which seeks to require Congress to provide for voting representation in Congress for D.C.

Their amendment repeals language in the bill. The Norton amendment repeals that language, and it should be. Because it will forbid the District from using its own funds. Mr. Chairman, D.C. did not hire anyone that was not eligible to use this. It was done on a pro bono basis by a downtown law firm. So I think my colleagues are saying that the city’s corporate counsel, which was a chief lawyer, did carry some of the argument before the three-judge panel. That may be true. But his involvement in the case was pro bono, no D.C. funding at all. He received permission from the courts to participate in this manner. Even though the language we seek to repeal this year was also included in the bill last year, I repeat, no city dollars were spent.

The man who argued the case as corporate counsel, Judge John Farren, has gone back to being a judge and would most likely handle the portion of the appeal to the Supreme Court along with the pro bono downtown law firm. The language in the bill is, therefore, undemocratic. It is moot. It takes away representation. My colleagues would not want it to happen to them. I appeal to my colleagues, think of the facts. The residents of the District of Columbia are living, breathing people who have the same kind of finesse that my colleagues have. They do not sit here in this Congress. They are not even represented. They do not even have a vote. But they have a very strong Representative who is here to say to us this is wrong. D.C. residents pay taxes just like my colleagues and I do. They are the only American citizens who are denied full representation in Congress. We do not want this. This Congress has been democratic in its viewpoints on both sides of the ledger, on both sides. I appeal to the Republicans to kill this part of the bill. I appeal to my colleagues to vote for the Norton amendment, because it keeps and gives representation for people who live in the District of Columbia.

Let us not cast a shadow on the democracy which we fought so hard to maintain. Do not let this little paragraph in the bill keep us from being the upright democracy in fighting for justice as we could.

Mr. OBÉY. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the requisite number of words.

Mr. CHAIRMAN. The amendment is as follows:

\[\text{[Amendment text here]}\]

The CHAIRMAN. For purposes of vot- ing on the motion, the question will be put to the House by the Clerk. The Clerk will desire the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The motion to strike the requisite number of words has been made by Mr. OBÉY. Mr. CHAIRMAN, I move to strike the requisite number of words.

Mr. CHAIRMAN. The motion to strike the requisite number of words has been made by Mr. OBÉY. Mr. CHAIRMAN, I move to strike the requisite number of words.}

Also, let us allow D.C. a chance to seek redress in the courts, just as our American citizens.

Mr. Chairman, I want to thank the members of the committee and say to them to please support the Norton amendment.
Finally, and most importantly, Mr. Chairman, I want to say that many will distort this amendment as gay bashing. Others will say this is going to limit the ability of adoptions to go forward. Nothing could be further from the truth. Nothing in this amendment precludes any, any, individual or family related by blood or marriage from seeking adoption. Any individual, regardless of their sexual preference, can still seek legal adoption and then be related through that adoption with the child.

What this amendment will do, Mr. Chairman, is assure that these kids, who desperately need love and, most importantly, security, that they will get it by ensuring that they are placed in legally recognized families.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment, and to claim the time in opposition.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN) is recognized for 15 minutes.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LARGENT) is quite right that an appeals court decided that two men could adopt a child in the District of Columbia, a little baby girl. I suspect that one of the reasons was that there are over 3,000 foster care children awaiting adoption, more than 3,000, in the District of Columbia. They do not have loving parents.

Another reason why the court saw fit to allow this is that they had ruled on the parenting ability of these two people. Every day, judges, the domestic law judges, who are today making that determination, to be able to continue to and not be precluded by the law to do that.

Mr. Chairman, in surveys that have been conducted, American citizens, by a 4-to-1 margin, say that they would prefer the court system to conduct its business without political interference. So we are not carrying out the public interest, we are not carrying out the interest of our own constituents, we are not even doing what they do in our own jurisdictions today if we pass this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, there are going to be any number of very substantive arguments raised against this amendment. I want to enable my colleagues to make those arguments, but I would very strongly urge defeat of this amendment. I believe to the professionals in the court system who are able to make these decisions in every other part of the country.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LARGENT. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 15 seconds to remind the body of that there has never, in the history of this country, been a legislative body at any level that has approved joint adoption to people that are unrelated by blood or marriage.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. SHOWS).

Mr. SHOWS. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the Largent amendment.

Adoption is the utmost expression of family values, for it allows people the opportunity to extend their homes and their hearts to people in need. But adoption should not be a selfish act. Adoption is for the child’s benefit. And if we are committed to a meaningful life opportunity for children, they must be given the stability any child needs to grow and thrive.

People who are not married but sharing a house always remain as free to adopt as ever. But the legal relationship created by the adoption should be one between the child and the single adoptive parent, rather than between a child and multiple parents who have no legal relationships amongst each other. If we truly love our children, let us be fair to them. Let them grow up in a stable environment. The Largent amendment is about taking family relationships and raising children seriously. It is fair and reasonable.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. DELAHUNT), a member of the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. DELAHUNT. Mr. Chairman, it is a sad fact that not all parents are fit parents. Child abuse and neglect occurs in all kinds of families. Among the “birth families” no less than adoptive families. Among so-called “traditional two-parent families” no less than families of less conventional description.

But good parents and families come in all shapes and sizes, too. Some of the most loving, nurturing and supportive families I know would fail Mr. LARGENT’s litmus test.

And that would be a tremendous loss for the 3,300 children languishing in the District’s foster care system—many of them neglected or abused by their biological parents, many of them children with special needs.
The analysis was done by psychologist Paul Cameron. This is what he said, among other points. He said, “The children of homosexual households experience more emotional problems, suffer more from unstable home lives, and struggle more with their own sexual identities later in life.”

He goes on to say, “Children need and deserve the best environment possible in which to learn and grow. The traditional mom-and-dad family provides this, while homosexual relationships do not.”

Now, this is a clinical psychologist who has said this. And he said that this supports the Supreme Court’s decision.

So I think it is clear to my colleagues that what we are talking about, the real question, is do we want to have this appropriations allow a back-door approach to push for the legalization of same-sex marriages by allowing them to adopt children?

So I support my colleague from Oklahoma in what he is trying to do. It simply prohibits funds from being used to allow joint legal personhood who are unrelated by either blood or marriage. That is pretty simple. I do not think there is anything in the motion to object to.

To my way of thinking, a family is not made up of unrelated individuals that just happen to be in the household who happen to be living together and then suddenly want to adopt a child.

Neither Congress nor the legislature of any of the States have authorized joint adoption by unrelated individuals.

So I think his amendment is very simple. I think it should be supported by my colleagues. I hope it will pass.

Mr. LARGENT of Oklahoma. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN) who is probably the only genuine expert we have on this issue. She was the State Secretary of Child Welfare for the State of New Mexico and knows this issue in her mind and in her heart.

Mrs. WILSON, Mr. Chairman, 99 times out of 100 my colleague from Oklahoma is right. The best thing for a child is to be in a family where the mother and the father are married to each other.

The kids that I worry about, though, are not the healthy infants. They are the foster kids that nobody else wants. They are emotionally disturbed. They are physically disabled. They are medically fragile. They are terminally ill. It is those kids who have very few options.

We have a chronic shortage of foster parents in this country and in this city. It should not be a surprise that kids are often placed in less than “Leave it to Beaver” families. Sometimes they are stable, cohabiting parents. But once done, over time relationships form. And sometimes those kids want desperately to be adopted by the people whom they have come to call mom and dad.

It is irrational. It does not fit all circumstances. The gentleman from Oklahoma is right. It may be irrational. Because it is about love. It is not about law.

This should not be done by prohibiting the expenditure of funds in the District of Columbia budget. If we want to give guidelines to judges, let us do it the right way, in substantive law, and allow for these cases where a child desperately wants to be adopted by the people who he has come to identify as his parents.

At different times in our lives, Mr. Chairman, we see different things in different stories. All of us remember Peter Pan, remember the lost boys who never found their parents.

So let us be sure we are straight on this. Mr. Chairman, may I inquire as to how much time is remaining?

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN) has 7 minutes remaining. The gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LARGENT) has 7 minutes remaining.

Mr. LARGENT. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COBURN).

Mr. COBURN, Mr. Chairman, I would like to recognize that was a very moving statement. Had it been based on the facts that these kids could not be adopted, it would be relevant.

But the fact is that this amendment would not prohibit one of the children that was just described by the gentleman from New Mexico (Mrs. WILSON) from being adopted. And to say that is being less than straightforward.

This amendment says that even though two people might be living together who are unmarried, one of them can adopt. So it does not preclude the adoption of any group in any way from adopting. It is just saying, if they are not married under the legal definition of “marriage,” only one of them can have that child as their child.

So one of the things we do real often is confuse the issue. What does this amendment really say? It does not say that a gay person cannot adopt a child. It does not say that anybody cannot adopt a child. What it says is, if a child is adopted in a relationship that is not recognized by law, that it can be only adopted by one of those members, not both, so that the child is not confused, so that the courts are not confused about what the legal representation of that adoption is.

So let us be sure we are straight about what this amendment does. It is a great emotional word picture to think that a child who is dying or a child that is disabled cannot be adopted.

But, in fact, it is not true under this amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 1⁄4 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. WEINER).
Mr. WEINER. Mr. Chairman, I listened with great interest to the statement of the sponsor of the amendment; and take a great deal of emphasis on how, in the sponsor’s opinion, this family structure with two unaffiliated folks would not be in the best interest of the child.

Well, with all due deference, why should we care what we here think is in the best interest of the child? I mean, there are court proceedings that are going to have the opportunity to discern that. There are authorities in all 50 States, including the District of Columbia, to make that determination. Why is our judgment sitting here so very important?

The notion that somehow they would be better off with one parent, as the previous speaker seemed to imply, or in foster care, which is implicit in this entire debate, is utterly absurd.

The point has also been made that these two people who are seeking the adoption are to the affiliated. They are affiliated. They are affiliated in their love and caring for this child. That affiliation should be the overarching one. That affiliation should be the one that is most important.

Finally, this notion that there is nothing legally binding between these two folks, in fact, in the past in this very House there have been prohibitions put on the District of Columbia from establishing domestic partnership jurisdiction which would clarify this issue once and for all.

In fact, this argument should be about what is best for the child, not what we here think are values and how we here define “family.” That is not the issue.

I urge a “no” vote.

Mr. LARGENT. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself that much as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, once again I would just remind the gentleman that just spoke that the reason we are here is the courts have said that the Congress has not declared a clear intent and that is entirely what we are doing here today.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to my friend, the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. GRAHAM).

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Mr. Chairman, count me into the crowd that says, I do not want to destroy the best interest of the child rule that courts use in determining what is the best place for the child to live.

But here is the point I think we are missing: Parental rights attach in a couple ways. Biological parents have parental rights because they are the biological parents.

Can parental rights be terminated? Yes. A court can terminate the parental rights of a biological parent. But they have to have a court proceeding where they give notice to the parent and somebody comes and makes a case; and the judge, based on the best interest of the child, will make a legal determination that that is best and void.

This is a dramatic thing in the law. That happens. But it happens very rarely. But there is room in the law to terminate parental rights. The best interest of the child is always a concern by the court. But there is a legal concept in our law that I hope we never destroy, and that is that biological parents cannot lose their children without a very good reason and we are not going to form families outside the law without a very good reason.

A person who adopts a child that is a ward of the State becomes a legal parent by going through a process that is a pretty exhaustive review of that person’s qualifications to see if the best interest of the child can be accommodated by placing that child, the ward of the State, into the hands of an individual.

What my colleagues are trying to prevent here, and the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LARGENT) is doing is define “couple” preferably. To me, a good thing in my opinion, is not to take a couple, regardless of their gender, living outside of marriage and put them in the same spot or the same status under the law as a couple who are legally recognized as a married couple. That is a tremendously damaging concept I think to the legal structure around marriage. That does not mean single individuals cannot adopt children.

What the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LARGENT) is saying is that couples that are not connected by the legal bonds of marriage that has rules of the game and allow them separate property assets, that we are not going to extend the adoption rules to these couples. And that makes a lot of sense.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. MORELLA).

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong opposition to the Largent amendment.

This legislation not only segregates nontraditional couples but also harms children who are in desperate need of loving families.

There are approximately 3,100 children in the D.C. foster care system. We all know that children of all ages deserve love and the nurturing of an adoptive couple, “couple” preferably. The best interest of the child and parenting skills must be the sole factor for placement in safe and loving homes and not marital status or sexual orientation.

Congress has traditionally left family decisions, law decisions, to the State and local levels. The odds for placing an adopted child in the foster care system in the District of Columbia are slim. It would be a travesty to further jeopardize these odds and force children to languish in institutions, at great cost to taxpayers, when there are loving couples waiting to give them homes.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to continue to leave family law decisions where they belong, at the local level. Do not lose sight of the thousands of children in foster care who would be deprived of a loving home. Vote “no” on the Largent amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 ½ minutes to the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON).
Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. I want to clarify. The new mayor do not need this amendment. Gay couples can adopt in the District of Columbia and that is not a matter where there is now need for clarification from Congress or anybody else. There is no chance that unsuitable parents can adopt in the District because the courts strictly regulate these adoptions.

This is a gay-bashing amendment. Yet everybody knows that gays can only get to adopt, under court proceedings, children that nobody else will adopt, the disabled children, the older children.

There are practical reasons why this is an important amendment. It guarantees that the child would have ongoing financial responsibility from both people; that his or her interests are protected; that doctors and hospitals and in day care programs would be protected; that in the event one parent died, the child could directly inherit; and that if a parent became ill or died, workmen's compensation and Social Security benefits could be paid.

Who would want to deny these to a child because of some notion that the parents do not suit the Members here today? They suit this child. These children need loving parents. There are 3,000 of them. They are desperate for homes.

Do not pass this tragic amendment.

Mr. LARGENT. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Again I just want to remind the body that there is nothing in this amendment that precludes anybody, any individual or couple related by marriage or blood from adopting any children, and that in the history of the District of Columbia there has never been one case that has arisen where a child has gone unadopted because they could not be given joint adoption to people that were unrelated.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. FOLEY).

Mr. FOLEY. Mr. Chairman, for those Members who do not pay much attention to the local news, I can tell them that good news is coming out of Washington D.C. now. There is a new mayor, a new government, a balanced budget. In fact, they gave away garbage cans last week to come clean up our city. So things are happening here.

But what I am hearing from my colleagues is, "Let's micromanage D.C., let's micromanage the way rules are prepared."

I would just ask my colleagues, when we had the debate of .06, Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, we all said, "No, it's a States rights issue. Let them deal with it."

When it came to setting speed limits on interstate highways and on local roads, we said, "It's a State or local issue. Let them deal with it."

But here we are saying, "Well, maybe we'll get involved in a little or a few items that have particular resonance with our constituencies."

Mr. Chairman, there is no perfect world out there. But for my colleagues who are pro-life, more people will be brought into this world when there are holes in the law, will come, a perplexing situation of how do we care for these kids and how do we find enough homes for them?

Whether it is needle exchange or anything else, let us let local government decide. Let us arm our children with information, statistics and data to decide what is the best policy for their community.

Leave D.C. alone, avoid these amendments, and let us pass the base bill.

Mr. LARGENT. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Chairman, I want to close on this debate and just answer a few of the comments that have been made about the amendment once again.

First, I want to say, in response to my colleague from Florida's statement just a moment ago, we are here explicitly because a judge in the District of Columbia, an appeals judge, said, "I need to know what Congress means in this area. I don't understand. Their intent is unclear."

Mr. Chairman, that is why we are here today, to state clearly what our intention is on the issue of joint adoption being granted to people that are unrelated. That is exactly what this amendment does and nothing more.

I would also like to remind my friends and colleagues in the House that this amendment would not preclude a single adoption by a single child in the District of Columbia. In fact, it may even promote more adoptions as a result, because now as opposed to adopting as a joint custody by unrelated people, you have two individuals that can adopt individually. You can still do that. That is fine. We are not making any comments about that at all. What we are trying to do is prevent children who are already coming out of a confused background and beginning in their life from being thrown into an ambiguous and amorphous and confused situation by throwing them to a couple that are unrelated, that have no contract between them, and saying, "You both get joint custody." That is wrong and we should not be doing it because it clearly is not in the best interest of the child and it definitely is not in the best interest of parents of what it means to be married in the first place.

Mr. Chairman, I want to finish this debate by commending, first of all, the chairman of the Subcommittee on the District of Columbia for the first time, and this is really important, for the first time in the D.C. appropriations bill, he has provided $8.5 million in this bill to promote adoption in the District of Columbia, and he should be commended for that because it is the right thing to do.

The latest information I got shows that there are about 3,500 children in the District of Columbia waiting to be adopted. This $8.5 million will go a long way in helping provide for more children to be adopted as a result of this bill being passed and put in safe environments as a result of the adoption of this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I urge the adoption of this amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, we also want the $8.5 million for adoption funds used most effectively.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI).

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, in the interest of safe and secure adoptions for the children of the District of Columbia, I urge a 'no' vote on the Largent amendment.

We in Congress do not have any duty more important that protecting the welfare of children. Why, then, would we deny young people in the District of Columbia the right to have two legal guardians instead of one?

There are 3,100 children in the District foster care system, and over 1,000 of them are ready to be adopted. Each of them needs a loving and stable home. This amendment would promote adoptions that are less stable and secure by outlawing joint adoptions by individuals not related by blood or marriage.

The sponsor has made it clear that his amendment does not prohibit adoptions by gays or lesbians. Of course it should not. According to the American psychological association, studies comparing children raised by non-gay and gay parents do not identify developmental differences between these two groups of children.

But since the amendment does not prohibit these adoptions, the logic of the proposal is difficult to grasp. If gay or lesbian couples are going to be adopting children, shouldn't we want those adoptions to be as stable and secure as possible? What purpose do we serve by making these adoptions more precarious? What do we do here is lack of comfort with fully affirming lesbian and gay adoptions and lesbian and gay families. And what is sad is that some members of Congress would ignore the scientific evidence and allow their own lack of comfort to stand in the way of making placement of children.

I ask you—in light of the evidence and the overwhelming need, do we have a right to stand in the way of making adoption placements as stable and secure as possible? Are we acting on behalf of children, or our own prejudices?

Both the child Welfare League of America and the Children's Defense Fund oppose this dangerous amendment because they recognize that children in the District deserve the most stable homes we can find for them. I urge my colleagues to vote against the Largent amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. OLVER).

Mr. OLVER. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment.

I rise in opposition to the Largent amendment which prohibits D.C. from using funds for joint adoption by people unrelated by blood or marriage.

I cannot construct or conjure up a legitimate reason for this amendment.

Under the amendment, two sisters, obviously related by blood, would have a right to jointly adopt, but two women unrelated by blood would be precluded from jointly adopting that child regardless of the relative capacity of those two families to provide a stable loving home to the child.

Under the amendment, a married couple has the legal right to jointly adopt. But a common-law couple who have been together for 20 years, have children of their own and, by every proven measure, have love to give another child or even siblings orphaned by tragedy or accident, are prohibited from joint adoption.

It is capricious to argue that two parents provide stability, legal responsibility and continuity to an adopted child, and then deliberately deny the same child the benefit of stability, legal responsibility and continuity by denying joint adoption into the common-law couple's family.

Three thousand children are presently in foster care, waiting and hoping to be adopted and have parents. One thousand of them are deemed “ready for adoption.”

The underlying bill provides $8.5 million to promote adoption. We should not at the same time constrain the options for these children to find loving homes by attaching this mean-spirited amendment to the bill.

In my view, this amendment is without legitimate purpose and should be rejected.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of my time to the gentlewoman from Wisconsin (Ms. BALDWIN).

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. The gentlewoman from Wisconsin is recognized for 1 minute.

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. Chairman, let me be clear: If this amendment becomes law, children who are being raised by unmarried couples will still have two parents. They will still receive love, protection and understanding from both parents.

That is not true for the child. Under the amendment, a married couple can believe that sexual orientation has a direct impact on their ability to provide a good home. A married couple will have the guarantee that both parents have the legal right to jointly adopt. But a common-law couple who have been together for 20 years, have children of their own and, by every proven measure, have love to give another child or even siblings orphaned by tragedy or accident, are prohibited from joint adoption.

It is my belief, and I'm sure that with a moment's consideration you will all agree, that the issue of adoption is best decided by parents and trained professionals on a case-by-case basis, based on the best interest of the child.

It is my belief, and I'm sure that with a moment's consideration you will all agree, that the issue of adoption is best decided by parents and trained professionals on a case-by-case basis, based on the best interest of the child.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to oppose the Largent Amendment to the D.C. Appropriations Bill. This legislation would prevent joint adoptions by individuals who are not related by blood and marriage. In effect, this amendment, under the guise of ensuring the security of children, would prevent otherwise qualified couples from adopting the tens of thousands in need of adoption.

We are all aware that this amendment would prevent gay and lesbian couples from adopting children. I find it hard to believe that there are still Members of this Congress who can believe that sexual orientation has a direct effect on a person's ability to raise a child. The American Psychological Association has conclusively decided that there is no scientific data which indicates that gay and lesbian adults are not fit parents. Research by the APA has also determined that having a homosexual sexual parent has no effect on a child's intelligence, psychological adjustment, social adjustment, popularity with friends, development of sex-role identity and development of sexual orientation. To maintain assumptions otherwise is not fair, and scientifically incorrect.

It is my belief, and I'm sure that with a moment's consideration you will all agree, that the issue of adoption is best decided by parents and trained professionals on a case-by-case basis, based on the best interest of the child.

If Congress truly cares about kids we should not be acting in their best interests. That a majority of Members should make the proper decision concerning adoptions, based on the universally accepted standards that regards the best interest of the child.

Family law is not an area that Congress generally addresses because it is a local concern. But this amendment only makes that difference for our local law.

This amendment places the children that are currently waiting to be adopted at risk for remaining in the foster care system. That would not be in the best interest of any child. These children need consistent care and a safe home.

This amendment suggests that an unmarried couple cannot provide a child with a proper environment to develop intellectually and socially. But this amendment only makes that suggestion of the residents of D.C. and the District of Columbia. Forty-eight states allow lesbian and gay couples to adopt when it is in the best interest of the child. It is clear that two loving parents, offer a child greater stability than one parent, yet we would make this distinction if the couple is unmarried living in D.C.

I oppose this amendment because I believe that the needs of children to be in a loving environment should not hinge on the marital status of the couple that wants to adopt. We should encourage adoption and we should allow local judges to make the decisions concerning those children, and urge my Colleagues to oppose this anti-family amendment.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LARGENT).

The question was taken; and the Chairman pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote, and pending that, I make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 260, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LARGENT) will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

AMENDMENT NO. 4 OFFERED BY MR. BARR OF GEORGIA

Mr. BARR of Georgia. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The Chairman recognizes the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR).

Mr. BARR. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I know that some folks will not listen to this, but right off the bat, let me implore those who will be considering and voting on this amendment to understand as much as what it does not do as what it does.

Mr. Chairman, this amendment has nothing whatsoever to do with the publication of the ballot results of the marijuana initiative held in the District of Columbia last year. The current prohibition on taking steps to count and report the results of that ballot extend only through the end of this fiscal year. The amendment that I propose does not have anything to do with the counting of that ballot.

It has everything to do with continuing to say to the people of this country that insofar as the Federal Government has concern and jurisdiction over drug trafﬁc, no moneys contained in this act shall be used for the purpose of legalizing or reducing the penalties for any schedule I controlled substance including, but not limited to, marijuana.

If, in fact, the residents of D.C. have voted last year to legalize marijuana under the so-called medicinal use purpose, then this amendment today, if it is included in this appropriations bill, will prohibit further steps from being taken to implement that initiative. Without this amendment, the residents of the District of Columbia have voted in favor of marijuana legalization, without this amendment it will go into effect.

That is what this amendment addresses, that is all that it addresses, is further steps, any further steps towards the legalization of marijuana or other controlled substances, schedule I, in the District of Columbia.

Now I also have and I am sure the folks on the other side have a letter from the Office of the Corporation Counsel for the District of Columbia worrying terribly that the Barr amendment today would prohibit the counting of the ballots of last year's drug initiative. Let me assure the Corporation Counsel that this is not the case.

I have also spoken with the subcommittee chair. He understands that this is not the case and has indicated, if it remains a problem for those on the other side who are not going to listen to this debate, then we will include language to include language, in the conference report.

Now that the red herring that the Barr amendment we are discussing today would somehow prohibit the counting and the reporting of the ballots from last year's marijuana initiative, let me reiterate what this amendment does and why it is so essential. It is essential because it will stop further steps from being taken pursuant to last year's initiative or any other from legalizing or reducing the penalties for marijuana or other schedule I controlled substances. It will not prevent after the commencement of the next fiscal year on October 1 the counting and reporting of any ballot previously taken.

LEGALIZATION OF MARIJUANA FOR MEDICAL TREATMENT INITIATIVE OF 1998

SUMMARY STATEMENT

This initiative changes the laws of the District of Columbia to: Restore the right of seriously ill individuals to obtain and use marijuana for medical purposes when recommended by a licensed physician to aid in the treatment of HIV/AIDs, glaucoma, muscle spasm cancer, or other serious or chronic illnesses as necessary and has recommended the use of marijuana for the treatment (or to mitigate the side effects of other treatments such as chemotherapy, including the use of AZT, pro tease inhibitors, etc., radiotherapy, etc.) or diseases and conditions associated with HIV and AIDS; glaucoma, muscle spasm, cancer and other serious or chronic illnesses for which the recommending physician reasonably believes that marijuana has demonstrated utility.

Sec. 3. Medical patients who use, and their primary caregivers who obtain for such patients, marijuana for medical purposes when permitted by the recommendation of a licensed physician do not violate the District of Columbia Uniform Controlled Substances Act of 1961, effective August 5, 1961 (D.C. Law 4-22; D.C. Code (§31 501 et seq.) (controlled Substances Act’), as amended and in so far as they comply with this act, are not subject to criminal prosecution or sanction.

Sec. 4. (a) Use of marijuana under the authority of this act shall not be a defense to any crime of violence, the crime of operating a motor vehicle while impaired, or intoxicated, or a crime involving danger to another person or to the public, nor shall such use negate the mens rea for any offense.

(b) Whoever distributes marijuana cultivated, distributed or intended to be distributed or used pursuant to this act to any person who is not entitled to use marijuana under this act shall be guilty of crime and subject to the penalty set forth in section 401 (a) (2) (D) of the Controlled Substances Act, as amended.

Sec. 5. Notwithstanding any other law, no physician shall be punished, or denied any right, privilege or registration for recommending, while acting in the course of his or her professional practice, the use of marijuana for medical purposes. In any proceeding in which objections to the medical use of marijuana are made to a physician as a witness shall be permitted to testify before a judge, in camera. Such testimony, when introduced in a public proceeding, if the physician believes (or to the public, nor shall such use negate the mens rea for any offense.

(b) Whoever distributes marijuana cultivated, distributed or intended to be distributed or used pursuant to this act to any person who is not entitled to use marijuana under this act shall be guilty of crime and subject to the penalty set forth in section 401 (a) (2) (D) of the Controlled Substances Act, as amended.

Sec. 5. Notwithstanding any other law, no physician shall be punished, or denied any right, privilege or registration for recommending, while acting in the course of his or her professional practice, the use of marijuana for medical purposes. In any proceeding in which objections to the medical use of marijuana are made to a physician as a witness shall be permitted to testify before a judge, in camera. Such testimony, when introduced in a public proceeding, if the physician believes (or to the public, nor shall such use negate the mens rea for any offense.
to assure that any medical patient protected by the District of Columbia that the Federal government must develop a system to distribute marijuana to patients that need it for medical purposes.

Sec. 11. If any provision of this measure or the application thereof to my person or circumstance is held invalid, that invalidity shall not affect other provisions or application of this act, or shall be construed in any other manner without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this measure are severable.

Sec. 12. This act shall take effect after a 30 day period of Congressional review as provided in section 602(c)(1) of the District of Columbia Self-government and Governmental Reorganization Act, approved December 24, 1973 (87 Stat. 813; D.C. Code §1-233(c)(1)).

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MOON of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment offered by the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR) and claim the time.

Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, we oppose this amendment. We believe it does not oppose the use of drugs that would contribute to a drug culture, that would contribute to the debilitation of any individual human being, but that is not the issue we are arguing. The issue we began arguing is whether the District of Columbia can count the ballots in a referenda that inquired as to whether people would support the ability of doctors to prescribe marijuana for their patients who are terminally ill, generally of AIDS, so as to relieve their suffering. Again, my colleagues would think that that should be a professional decision made by professional medical practitioners.

Now up until now, Mr. BARR's intent was to prevent the votes being totaled.

That is apparently from being spent to itemize the ballots. The gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR) now goes beyond that to say that under any circumstances regardless of what the outcome of that referendum might be that the citizens of the District of Columbia cannot have the doctor prescribe for patients who are suffering to be able to use marijuana to relieve their suffering.

Mr. Chairman, there are some ramifications of this amendment that go beyond what some might consider to be a relatively heartless attempt on the part of the proponent of the amendment. For example, prohibiting the reduction of penalties associated with the possession, use or distribution of marijuana or any schedule I substance undermines the efforts of law enforcement, the courts, and the correctional system to enter into plea bargains with criminal defendants in their war against illegal drugs. It could eliminate the option of reducing sentences of prisoners as an incentive to encourage good behavior.

The gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR) I know was an assistant U.S. At-
Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Ms. NORTON).

Ms. NORTON of California. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding this time to me.

Let us face it. What is this amendment doing here? Senate amendment is inspired by a medical marijuana initiative. Many residents may have opposed, but the outcome is unknown because of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR) last year. It is outrageous enough to overturn local legislation without the consent of the governed. Mr. BARR just cannot wait. He wants to strike down a local initiative before it is enacted and even without knowing that it will be enacted. Even if a medical marijuana initiative passes, it could not move forward without legislation by the city council.

The poor wording of this amendment will lead to consequences that even the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR) did not anticipate. The reduction of penalties associated with drug use is so overbroad it will produce challenges against what courts and prosecutors do every day. If we cannot otherwise reduce penalties, we may be unable to reduce drug sentences for routine matters like a defendant's cooperation with the prosecution or successful completion of drug rehabilitation.
I would never ask my colleagues to support permissive drug use, and our own constituents know us better than that.

The full Committee on Appropriations eliminated this amendment because it recognized that democracy, not drugs, was the issue. Mr. Chairman, I ask my colleagues to respect that judgment. The gentleman from Georgia and any Member of this body can repair to their remedies after the legislation is enacted. We ask, for goodness sake, that you spare us something unprecedented, even for the District of Columbia, prior restraint on democracy.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore (Mr. HASTINGS of Washington). The Chair would remind the Members that the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN) has 2½ minutes remaining and the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BARR) has 1 minute remaining.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI).

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I commend the gentleman for his leadership on this bill, and the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. ISTOOK) as well for his leadership in bringing the bill to the floor.

I rise in strong opposition to the Barr amendment for the following reasons. The findings of scientific research, the will of the voters of the District of Columbia, and compassion for people with serious illnesses all argue against this amendment.

In the spring of this year, the Institute of Medicine issued a report that had been commissioned by the Office of National Drug Control Policy. The study found that marijuana is “Potentially effective in treating pain, nausea and anorexia of AIDS-wasting and other symptoms,” and it called for more research on the use of marijuana in medical treatment. That is the latest science.

Finally, we must consider the need for people with cancer, AIDS, and other serious illnesses who want access to a drug which can help them deal with the symptoms of their illnesses. Of course, all of us in this body are opposed to illegal drug use, and those of us who are voting “no” on this amendment are strongly opposed to illegal drugs. I hope there is no question about that. We are also against the use of Federal law to make criminals of terminally ill people who are trying to use a proven remedy to seek relief.

The American Academy of Family Physicians, the American Preventative Medical Association, and the American Public Health Association all support access to marijuana for medicinal purposes.

Voters in my home State passed an initiative in November 1996 authorizing seriously ill patients to take marijuana on the recommendation of a licensed physician. Proposition 215 has authorized as many as 100 Caliornians who suffer from AIDS and many other debilitating diseases with safe and legal access to a remedy that makes life a little more bearable.

Thousands of constituents in my district struggling with AIDS and cancer will tell us that choosing the appropriate medical treatment should be a decision for public health officials, physicians and patients, not for the House of Representatives.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to oppose the Barr amendment.

Mr. BARR of Georgia. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, if anybody ever wondered what one big loophole looks like, this be it. This is a copy of the Legalization of Marijuana for Medical Treatment Initiative that is the subject of this debate. If one reads, and I do not know whether folks on the other side have had the D.C. Initiative, but if they do, they will find it is one massive loophole. It is not limited only to certain types of diseases, it applies to virtually anything. It is not limited simply to patients who say that marijuana or doctors who say that marijuana has a proven medical use. It is simply, does marijuana have a demonstrated utility, whatever in the heck that means.

It also allows not only for the patient to have this marijuana, but for any friend of theirs who might have it to give to them.

So it is just replete with loopholes. It does not even require a written prescription. It can simply be an oral prescription. It does not even require a written prescription.

This is bad legislation. If we do not stop it today, it will go into effect, and we would be telling the people of this country that drug usage is okay in our Nation’s Capital. We should not do that. Support the Barr amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the remainder of the time.

Mr. Chairman, it is difficult to argue to make any drugs legally available. But under some circumstances, we do make drugs legally available. Certainly, morphine is customarily used when people are suffering. I know I, myself, when my mother was dying and experiencing a great deal of pain, I had to inject morphine, simply to reduce the suffering. I never would have done that, but the doctors prescribed it.

Basically, that is what we are suggesting here, that we defer to the judgment of medical professionals. If there is a way to relieve people’s suffering, if people who are experiencing terminal illness, we should allow this. This is a tough vote, but I do think the right vote is to vote “no.” Leave this to the medical community.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Barr amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Barr amendment to the FY 2000 District of Columbia appropriations bill. This amendment would prohibit the use of funds in the bill to legalize or reduce penalties for the possession, use, or distribution of any schedule I substance, including marijuana, under the Controlled Substances Act.

In recent years, the issue of promoting so-called “medicinal” uses for marijuana has taken hold in several states. In 1996, both California and Arizona voters passed referendums, in defiance of federal law, which permitted the use of marijuana as a medical device, primarily pain relief.

Mr. Chairman, the number of adolescents who have used marijuana has doubled since 1993. It has been well established that marijuana is a gateway drug, whose use often leads to more serious drug consumption, such as heroin and cocaine use. These trends need to be reversed.

The proponents of a policy supporting the medicinal use of marijuana are simply using the issue as cover for the larger issue of drug legalization.

We must not be seen as sending mixed and confusing messages on illicit drug use to our young people. Illicit drugs are simply wrong, our country knows all to well that drugs are destructive, dangerous and deadly, nothing more, nothing less.

In their zeal to decriminalize the use of illegal substances, supporters of legalization fail to mention the consequences which would result from such a move.

Drug use is destructive behavior with consequences affecting far more than the individual in question. To pretend otherwise is to deny reality and embrace a seductive illusion that only leads to despair and hopelessness.

I urge my colleagues to strongly support this amendment.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Chairman, today we are debating an amendment that has no business in this appropriations bill. The Barr amendment will continue the unprecedented assault on the democratic process. As many of my colleagues know, a provision that was inserted into last year’s D.C. appropriations bill included a section that prohibited the District of Columbia from spending any funds to count and certify the results of a voter referendum, Measure 59, held last November. The voters cast their ballots on whether the local law should permit the medical use of marijuana. Those ballots sit uncounted and uncertified because the Barr amendment.

The cost of the District using its own funds to count and certify the results is literally a few dollars, but the Barr amendment has forced the Federal Government to incur substantial litigation costs defending last year’s decision against letting the voters be heard on a local issue. This is absurd and this amendment should be rejected on its face. Why are some in this Congress so intent on impeding the democratic process in the District of Columbia?

Mr. Chairman, this amendment would bar the government of the District from using any federal funds to assist any medical marijuana program. That is what this amendment is
Mr. Chairman, the citizens of the District have spoken and have decided that marijuana should be used for medicinal purposes. This is another attempt by the gentleman from Georgia to interfere with District citizens, who are, after all, only exercising one of the few democratic rights that Congress has allowed them—the right to vote on initiatives and referenda.

Mr. Chairman, medical studies demonstrate that in some cases marijuana has proven effective in treating pain and discomfort for patients, especially those that are undergoing chemotherapy. The medical use of marijuana is a public health issue; it is not part of the political rights that Congress has allowed them—so that we can send the “right signal” about drug abuse. I’m sure they’ll understand.

And so much for common sense. But then, whenever marijuana is involved, some of our colleagues seem to take leave of their senses altogether.

When the citizens of California and Arizona voted in 1996 to allow doctors to prescribe marijuana for medical purposes, this House responded with a resolution declaring that “marijuana is dangerous and addictive drug and should not be legalized for medicinal use.”

Yet we all know that many narcotics—such as morphine and even cocaine—which are highly dangerous when used without proper medical supervision, are nonetheless approved for a range of medical uses.

We do not deny narcotics to cancer patients because it could “send a signal” to others who might wish to use these drugs recreationally. Yet that is what this amendment would say, with regard to marijuana. With all due respect, I do not believe that anyone who had watched an AIDS or cancer patient suffer uncontrollable nausea for hours at a time could make such an argument.

Proponents of the amendment are quick to point out that the scientific community is divided over the medical benefits of marijuana. They are less quick to acknowledge that both the benefits and the dangers of a large number of medical substances are subject to scientific dispute.

I submit that it is not the job of the Congress to resolve such disputes. We could argue all day about the science. But that is not our role. It is not our role to prohibit scientists from continuing to develop sound data regarding the safety and efficacy of marijuana—as they do with any other experimental treatment.

And it is both foolish and inhumane for us to prevent licensed physicians and their patients from studying the growing literature, weighing the benefits and the risks, and deciding whether the use of such drugs is medically appropriate—especially when more conventional therapies have been found ineffective. If marijuana is effective, the scientific community must make the local decisions, and to replace sound medical judgment with our own, let’s at least not be hypocritical. Let’s take morphine and cocaine off the market as well. Let’s explain to the patients who depend on these drugs to control their pain that they will simply have to suffer so that we can send the “right signal” about drug abuse. I’m sure they’ll understand.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. All points of order.

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Chairman, my amendment is very straightforward. It states that nothing in this act prohibits the Department of Fire and Emergency Medical Services of the District of Columbia from using funds for automatic external defibrillators.

This amendment, Mr. Chairman, seeks to highlight how invaluable AEDs are to use to save personal lives. This is endorsed by the American Heart Association, the American Red Cross, the American Association of Respiratory Care, the American College of Chest Physicians, the American College of Emergency Physicians, the Cardiac Society of Canada and the Canadian Heart and Stroke Foundation, and the International Association of Firefighters. These are just a few people that support the idea of making AEDs available in Federal buildings.

I want to make it clear to my colleagues that this amendment in no way seeks to dictate to the District of Columbia how they should spend their money.

AED of course is a device that is a little larger than a laptop computer. It automatically analyzes heart rhythms and delivers an electric current to the heart of a cardiac arrest victim. AED can restart a heart that might otherwise stop beating.

Passage of this amendment simply reaffirms that the District of Columbia should have access to the most up-to-date, state-of-the-art equipment. Like AEDs, they can restore a normal heart rhythm in persons suffering from sudden cardiac arrest.

Mr. Chairman, frankly, it does not require a lot of training. Just turn it on and it tells someone what to do. It allows a great number of people to be able to respond to medical emergencies that require defibrillation. They are essential to strengthening this chain of survival for anybody that has a cardiac arrest.

The four links to this process, of course, are dialing 911 as a first step, early resuscitation, and then defibrillation, and then, of course, early and advanced life support.

While defibrillation is the most effective mechanism to revive a heart that has stopped, it is the least accessible tool we have available. So I think putting AEDs in Federal buildings is much like the argument for putting firefighting equipment in the buildings.

And so much for federalism. In 1981, Representative Newt Gingrich and the distinguished chairman of our own Crime Subcommittee once agreed with medicinal use of seriously ill patients. It is unconscionable to force the citizens of the District and their elected officials to micromanage it. We should trust the citizens to govern Almighty government, which would have sponsored H.R. 2282, a bill reintroduced by Congressman MCKINNEY, which would have allowed the medicinal use of marijuana. I, along with many others, would be very interested to learn why our colleagues changed their minds.

Mr. Chairman, many states have held state referenda on the use of medical marijuana. Two states, California and Arizona, have successfully passed legislation to allow the prescription of marijuana for medicinal purposes. The voters of these states have spoken and in our democratic system they must be respected.

Mr. Chairman, although the Congress exercises oversight over the District, we should not micromanage it. We should trust the citizens of the District and their elected officials to manage and implement policies that benefit the District and its residents.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, permitting the medical use of marijuana to alleviate the pain and suffering of people with serious or terminal conditions is not the wrong message to children or anyone else. It simply states that we are compassionate and intelligent enough to respect the rights of patients and the medical community to administer what is medically appropriate care. It is time for this Congress to acknowledge that a ban on the medicinal use of marijuana is scientifically, legally, and morally wrong.

Mr. DELAHUNT. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment by the gentleman from Georgia.

The amendment seeks to nullify the results of a popular local initiative by congressional fiat. So much for “federalism” and “states’ rights.” So much for “local self-determination.”
No one knows when a sudden cardiac arrest might occur. According to a recent study, the top five sites where cardiac arrests do occur are airports, county jails, shopping malls, sports stadiums, and of course golf courses. I believe we would all do ourselves a favor and great comfort in knowing that in almost one of these Federal buildings, for that matter, any District building, that we have in Washington, DC, that the most up-to-date equipment is available and that folks are now trained to use it to help all Americans.

They are being produced today very inexpensively. They are easy to maintain, and so I think between those two things, the state of the art is bringing costs down for the AEDs and they afford a wider range of emergency capability for trained and equipped personnel.

So I think with all of the tourists we have here in the District of Columbia each day, I think it is important that all of our Federal buildings, as well as the District of Columbia, have these available.

Mr. Chairman, I have talked to the gentlewoman who represents D.C. on the House floor, and I urge my colleagues to adopt this amendment.

POINT OF ORDER
The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. Istook) on a point of order.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, it is my understanding that the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Stearns) desires to withdraw his amendment by unanimous consent and that his language be included in the report in the bill.

Mr. STEARNS. That is correct, Mr. Chairman. I have worked out the language with the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. Norton), and she has told me she would confirm this, that she accepts the report language that I have, and then, by unanimous consent, I will withdraw my amendment.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, we have no objection. We would defer to the judgment of the Chairman.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, if I could respond, I want to thank the gentleman for working with me on an issue of mutual interest so that we did not have to go into statutory language or a point of order and yet could get the agreement of the District after a call to the police department on a matter that is of considerable importance. I appreciate the gentleman drawing it to my attention, and I appreciate the way in which the gentleman has worked with me collegially to get a satisfactory solution.

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the compliment and I am always glad to work with the gentlewoman.

The report language in a sense is that we should conduct a study about the need for placement of the automatic external defibrillators in the Federal buildings and District buildings. I think it is a first step for this country to recognize that AEDs are an important survival technique, and we are taking that step this afternoon here on the House floor.

I thank the chairman of the D.C. Committees.

The CHAIRMAN. Without objection, the amendment is withdrawn.

There was no objection.

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Mr. Chairman, today as we consider the appropriations bill for the District of Columbia, I want to highlight a high-profile case of police incompetence that has grievously affected some of my constituents. Last year, a resident of Baytown, Texas, Ms. Chanda Smith was only 2 months away from graduating from the University of Maryland when the car she was traveling in was broadsided by another vehicle on a District street, ending her life. Despite the age of 2 from meningitis, Chanda was looking forward to her graduation which would have occurred in December.

The suspect, who tried to flee the scene, was quickly apprehended by District police. In its response to the lapses in the Department's lapses in January 1999, Chanda's parents were contacted by an investigator with the U.S. Attorney's Office, who tried to salvage the case and bring some justice to the Smith family. The Smiths worked with an Assistant U.S. Attorney to reconstruct some of the evidence, including turning over detailed pictures of the car that the insurance company had taken following the accident.

While a grand jury was convened, there have been no indictments and the case has now been closed. The Smith family, who have suffered through a terrible, wrenching tragedy, have been denied justice for their daughter's life. Due to the original handling of this case, these parents are left searching for answers that may never be resolved.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the tough job that the men and women of the D.C. Police Department have to do, and I believe that the vast majority do it well. But the incompetence in handling the Smith case should not be tolerated.

As we consider the funding levels for the District of Columbia for fiscal year 2000, I want to urge all of my colleagues and particularly the members of the committee to consider this case and the implications for our constituents who may be affected by the inaction and incompetence in this instance by the District Police Department.

I also urge Police Chief Charles Ramsey to consider the compassion in his response to this matter, to take every action necessary to resolve this case. The job performance of the lead detective and the supervisors in

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

July 29, 1999

18658

Following these grossly negligent actions and mismanagement, another investigator was assigned to the case and prosecutors assembled a grand jury in an attempt to obtain further evidence and information.

In the weeks after the accident, Chanda's parents remained in close contact with the lead detective, who assured them that the suspect would be charged with vehicular homicide and that the case would be turned over to a grand jury. Like any parents in this situation, the Smiths assumed that the case would be prosecuted and a conviction. But without the car and the measurements, the accident was impossible to reconstruct.

In its response to the lapses in the Smith case, the District's police actions were completely inadequate. The lead detective, who clearly failed to perform even the most basic functions of an accident investigator, was demoted and reassigned. His supervisors, who had allowed this detective to investigate the crash site, were reprimanded for their poor oversight of the detective.

What came to light after this case is even more shocking, that the lead detective had performed so poorly that 14 of his cases had been reassigned to other detectives because of his ineptitude in investigating accident scenes. The District police had long known this detective was not carrying out the basic functions of an accident investigator, such as interviewing witnesses, taking blood samples, photographing crime scenes, and preserving evidence.

After learning of the Department's lapses in January 1999, Chanda's parents were contacted by an investigator with the U.S. Attorney's Office, who tried to salvage the case and bring some justice to the Smith family. The Smiths worked with an Assistant U.S. Attorney to reconstruct some of the evidence, including turning over detailed pictures of the car that the insurance company had taken following the accident.

While a grand jury was convened, there have been no indictments and the case has now been closed. The Smith family, who have suffered through a terrible, wrenching tragedy, have been denied justice for their daughters's life. Due to the original handling of this case, these parents are left searching for answers that may never be resolved.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the tough job that the men and women of the D.C. Police Department have to do, and I believe that the vast majority do it well. But the incompetence in handling the Smith case should not be tolerated.

As we consider the funding levels for the District of Columbia for fiscal year 2000, I want to urge all of my colleagues and particularly the members of the committee to consider this case and the implications for our constituents who may be affected by the inaction and incompetence in this instance by the District Police Department.

I also urge Police Chief Charles Ramsey to consider the compassion in his response to this matter, to take every action necessary to resolve this case. The job performance of the lead detective and the supervisors in this case were completely unacceptable. Their lack of action has caused enormous grief for a family who may never achieve even a small measure of justice for the loss of their daughter. They clearly deserve better, and so do the residents of the District of Columbia and the citizens of the United States.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN PRO TEMPORE

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore (Mr. HASTINGS of Washington). A few minutes ago the Chair noted a disturbance in the gallery, in contravention of the law and rules of the House.

The Sergeant at Arms removed those persons responsible for the disturbance and restored order to the gallery.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the remarks of the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BENTSEN), and although I have no personal familiarity with the circumstances he relates, I certainly share his concern about the proper enforcement of laws and the proper procedures being followed by the police within the District for the protection of the citizens, whether they reside here, visit here, or work here.

I do want to point out to the gentleman that in the bill we have provided $1.2 million for the expenses of the Citizen Complaint Review Board, which is intended to deal with concerns about police procedure, whether they be activity or inactivity, actions or oversights.

I would certainly encourage the persons involved in the incident that he mentioned to utilize the services of that board, which we have sought to fund, to assist the District in resolving what we know are some long-term accumulated problems regarding the police department that I know Chief Ramsey wants to aggressively correct.

I did want to note for the Record that I have initiated the conversation with the gentleman from the District of Columbia (Mr. ISTOOK) and the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN), the ranking member, about the possibility of addressing this in conference, where, rather than an outright prohibition, we might be able to make sure, of course, that nothing is reimbursed for past work, but that the District might consider having limited availability of local funds only for future litigation expenses in their discretion.

I intend to address that with the conferees, and we will see if that might be the end result. Certainly, of course, the amendment remains before the House to work its will, as it has previously.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, although we have devoted today to talking about different amendments that are being offered to the bill, I think it is important that we all understand that there are some very important initiatives in this piece of legislation: the focus that drug testing for the 30,000 offenders who are wide-scale violating the conditions of their freedom, that we need to get either off the streets or off of drugs, this is a major initiative; the adoption initiative; the approval of the management reforms by the District; the charter school assistance and strengthening within the District; and certainly approving the District's tax cut, which they have taken as a bold step in further improving the economic status of the District and everybody who resides here.

Regardless of the vote on the amendments, I certainly intend to support the work of this House on the final bill. Regardless of how other Members may vote on the different amendments, I do not believe that any of them should be used by anyone as a reason to oppose the final passage of this bill, which I think helps to open a very strong and good chapter in better relations between the Federal Government and D.C., and to making the District a safer, better place with better schools for people who live here and work here and visit here, to be a better Capitol for our Nation.

I commend the work of the persons who have worked together on this bill, both within this House and within the District government.

Mr. Chairman, I urge adoption of the entire bill.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the remarks of my friend and colleague, the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. ISTOOK). I applaud him for doing a very fine job in chairing this subcommittee and putting together an appropriations bill that is worthy of this House. Then we are right back at the starting point. All this excellent effort by the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. ISTOOK) and his colleagues on the Republican side and all the bipartisan support on the Democratic side will have been for naught.

That is why, Mr. Chairman, I would urge my colleagues to reject these two amendments; to support the bill, if that amendment has not already been made by Anstice Brand. I want to thank Tom Forhan particularly as the lead minority staff person for D.C. appropriations.

I want to thank the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms.
Norton), who has been here throughout the entire bill, who has done an excellent job of representing her constituents. The other thing is that this is all about. We really would like to defer to her constituents, who have the right to elect their own representatives, and would seem to have the right to spend their own money.

We talk a lot about Federalism, we talk a lot about devolution to States and localities. This is a good opportunity to show that our money is where our mouth is; that we believe in our rhetoric, we believe in the principle of self-representation, we believe that this Congress should not be overriding the normal rules of the House, imposing restrictions on the use of local and private funds within the District, imposing restrictions upon the prerogatives of the domestic courts in the District of Columbia.

That principle will be sustained if we defeat the two amendments and enable all the Members of this House to support the D.C. appropriations bill, and enable the White House to sign it.

Mr. Chairman, as I say, I urge a no vote on the amendments. If they are defeated, then we could urge a yes vote on the underlying bill.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to strike the requisite number of words.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma? There was no objection.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the comments of the ranking member.

One thing I think we need to make sure is mentioned is the D.C. tuition aid grant program. $17 million that we fund in this bill to enable young people in the District to achieve a college education. A vote against the bill, of course, would be a vote against that, as well as the other things, such as the drug treatment programs.

Mr. Chairman, I would submit, frankly, that when we have a bill that is funding $25 million for drug testing and treatment, and a bill that is funding $8.5 million to encourage adoption, it is not unreasonable to expect that we do not want mixed messages by saying, well, let us have a needle exchange program that could interfere with that, or let us not make sure that adopting parents are not relocated by blood or marriage. I doubt, Mr. Chairman, that the President would be so extreme as to veto this excellent bill because he did not like a couple of those provisions, especially seeing that he signed one into law last year.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to strike the requisite number of words.

The CHAIRMAN. Without objection, the gentleman from Virginia is recognized.

There was no objection.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman from Oklahoma yield to me?

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. I yield to the gentleman from Oklahoma.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I thought I had understood it was protocol for the chairman to have the last word. Now, if the gentleman from Virginia insists upon having the last word, certainly I will not interfere with his desire to do so.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I suggest to the gentleman from Oklahoma I will speak and then yield to him to have the last word.

Mr. ISTOOK. That is fine.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, let me just say that, first of all, I neglected particularly to thank Mr. Americo "Migo" Miconi who was just superb on this bill. When I was thanking everybody, it was not sufficient to thank the members of the Committee on Appropriations staff without mentioning him particularly, specifically. He has some excellent people working with him, well, and we appreciate their fine work.

Again, not only did we not mention the $17 million for the in-State tuition program, terrific idea, the $8.5 million for adoptions, the money for charter school, the money for offender supervision, I could go on and on and on, great things, plus supporting the consensus budget.

That is why we particularly hope that these two amendments can be defeated and we can support the underlying bill.

Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. ISTOOK) to conclude.

Mr. ISTOOK. Mr. Chairman, I have no further comments except my word of appreciation for the ranking member, the great people, Mr. Miconi, Mr. Albaugh, Mr. Monteiro, all the people who have worked on this bill.

The CHAIRMAN. Are there further amendments to the bill?

SIQUENTIAL VOTES POSTPONED IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 260, proceedings will now resume on those amendments on which further proceedings were postponed in the following order: Amendment No. 1 printed in House Report 106–263 offered by the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. Tiahrt) on which further proceedings were postponed and on which the ayes prevailed by voice vote.

The Clerk redesignates the amendment.

The Clerk redesignates the amendment.

RECORDED VOTE

The CHAIRMAN. A recorded vote has been demanded. A recorded vote was ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 241, noes 187, not voting 6, as follows:

[Roll No. 344]

AYES—241

Aderholt

Adler

Adkins

Akin

Alaboda

Alama

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Alam

Ala...
Mr. TIERNEY and Mr. STUPAK changed their vote from “aye” to “no.”

Messrs. DOOLITTLE, DICKEY, VISCLOSKY, GEORGE MILLER of California, BARTLETT of Maryland, and WISE changed their vote from “no” to “aye.”

So the amendment was agreed to.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.
Messrs. PACKARD, SOUDER, and COBURN changed their vote from "aye" to "no."

Messrs. SWEENEY, GORDON, JOHN, and McINTYRE changed their vote from "aye" to "no."

So the amendment was rejected.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

AMENDMENT NO. 2 OFFERED BY MR. LARGENT

The CHAIRMAN. The pending business is the demand for a recorded vote on Amendment No. 2 printed in House Report 106-287 offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LARGENT) on which further proceedings were postponed and on which the ayes prevailed by voice vote.

The Clerk will redesignate the amendment.

The Clerk redesignated the amendment.

RECORDED VOTE

The CHAIRMAN. A recorded vote has been demanded.

A recorded vote was ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—aye 213, noes 215, not voting 5, as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>AYES—213</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AYES</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NOES—215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NOES</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mr. WISE changed his vote from "aye" to "no."

Mr. SWEENEY changed his vote from "no" to "aye."

So the amendment was rejected.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

The CHAIRMAN. Under the rule, the Committee rises. Accordingly, the Committee rose, and the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. HEPLELY) having assumed the chair, Mr. BERREUTER, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union, reported that that Committee, having had under consideration the bill (H.R. 2587) making appropriations for the government of the District of Columbia and other activities chargeable in whole or in part against revenues of said District for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes, pursuant to House Resolution 280, he reported the bill back to the House with sundry amendments adopted by the Committee of the Whole.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question, under the rule, is ordered.

Is separate vote demanded on any amendment? If not, the Chair will put them en gros.

The amendments were agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the passage of the bill.

Pursuant to clause 10 of rule XX, the yeas and nays are ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 333, nays 92, not voting 9, as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>YEAS—333</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>YEAS</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NAYS—92</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NAYS</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NOT VOTING—5</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Jones (OH)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NOT VOTING</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jones (OH)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NOT VOTING</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 2606, FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS Appropriations Act, 2000

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 263 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 263

Resolved, That at any time after the adoption of this resolution the Speaker may, pursuant to clause 2(b) of rule XVIII, declare the House resolved into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for consideration of the bill (H.R. 2606) making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes. The first reading of the bill shall be dispensed with. General debate shall be confined to the bill and shall not exceed one hour equally divided and controlled by the chairman and the ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations. After general debate the bill shall be considered for amendment under the five-minute rule. Points of order against provisions in the bill for failure to comply with clause 2 of rule XXI are waived. Before consideration of any other amendment it shall be in order to consider the amendments printed in part A of the Committee on Rules report only in the order printed in the report.

These amendments relate to limitations on the use of international population funds. Further, the rule provides the amendment printed in part B of the report may be offered only at the appropriate point in the reading of the bill. The amendment concerns child survival funding.

In addition, the rule provides for consideration of the amendments printed in the Committee on Rules report to be offered only by a Member designated in the report, shall be debateable for the time specified and divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, and shall not be subject to amendment. All points of order against the amendments printed in the report are waived. During consideration of the bill for further amendment, the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole may accord priority in recognition on the basis of whether the Member offering an amendment has caused it to be printed in the portion of the Congressional Record designated for that purpose in clause 8 of rule XVIII. The amendments so printed shall be considered as read.

The Chairman of the Committee of the Whole may: (1) postpone until a time during further consideration in the Committee of the Whole a request for a recorded vote on any amendment; and (2) reduce to five minutes the minimum time for electronic voting on any post-vote electronic vote without intervening business, provided that the minimum time for electronic voting on the first in any series of questions shall be 15 minutes. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill and amendments thereto at final passage without intervening motion except one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HEFLEY). The gentleman from Florida (Mr. DIAZ-BALART) is recognized for 1 hour.
the report. The amendments shall be considered as read, shall be debatable for the times specified in the report, equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, and shall not be subject to amendment.

The rule waives points of order against the amendments which were printed in the Committee on Rules report, but also grants the chairman of the Committee of the Whole authority to postpone votes and reduce voting time to 5 minutes provided that the first vote in a series is not less than 15 minutes.

In addition, the rule provides that Members who have pre-printed their amendments in the RECORD prior to their consideration will be given priority in recognition to offer their amendments if otherwise consistent with the time specified in the House rules. The rule provides for one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

Mr. Speaker, this bill provides a fair, a very fair, approach for the consideration of the foreign aid appropriations bill. California has an environment which always lends itself to important debate on the floor involves family planning funds and their potential use for performing or promoting abortions and the so-called Mexico City policy which prohibits U.S. assistance to foreign organizations that perform abortions, violate abortion laws, or engage in lobbying activities to change such laws.

While I personally am a strong advocate for the rights of the unborn, our committee is providing for amendments which cover both the pro-life and the pro-choice sides of the issue. I commend my colleague the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) who is chairman, Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights for his tireless work to protect the rights of the unborn. I certainly will support his amendment on this important issue.

To clarify that two amendments referred to in part A of the Committee on Rules report, one to be offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) and the other to be offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. GREENWOOD) let me explain that each of these amendments has been made in order to fill a standing amendment. Although they represent different aspects of the use of population assistance funds they are not necessarily inconsistent. Should they both prevail, any inconsistencies can and will be worked out in conference.

I support the rule. I also support the underlying bill. There are many important programs which are being funded. And because there are no country earmarks, the President and the Secretary of State are afforded maximum flexibility to conduct foreign policy. I am pleased to see that this is the tenth appropriations bill to come before the House. It is within, it is even below, the committee’s budget allocation. I thank and commend not only the gentleman from Florida (Mr. YOUNG) but also the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and the gentleman from California (Ms. PELOSI) for their hard work on this important bill, and I urge adoption of both the rule and the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I want to thank the gentleman from Florida (Mr. DIAZ-BALART) for yielding me the time.

This is an open rule. It will allow consideration of H.R. 2606 which is a bill that makes appropriations for foreign aid and export assistance in fiscal year 2000.

As my colleague has described, this rule provides for 1 hour of general debate to be equally divided and controlled by the chairman, ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations, and all Members on the floor will have the opportunity to offer germane amendments.

In addition, the rule waives points of order against three amendments to be offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH), the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. GREENWOOD), and the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. PTITTS). Unfortunately, the rule does not honor the requests made by the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations ranking minority member, the gentleman from California (Ms. PELOSI) who asked for regular order in the amendment process. I am also disappointed that the rule denied Ms. PELOSI the opportunity to offer an amendment. In fact, an amendment was in order only if offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. GREENWOOD).

I want to commend the chairman of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), and the ranking minority member, the gentleman from California (Ms. PELOSI) for their work in bringing this bill to the floor. I commend them both for maintaining the spirit of bipartisanship and compromise. I hope the bill is passed during the subcommittee process.

And I appreciate the committee urging AID to provide 1.52 million for microenterprise, 1.52 million for microenterprise which represents about a 10 percent increase over last year’s level. The committee expects half of these funds to go to the poorest people. Microenterprise development is a cost-effective way to reduce poverty.

The bill provides $680 million for the child survival and disease programs fund which is more than the administration’s request. This includes $110 million for the United Nations children’s fund, better known as UNICEF, which is also an increase above the administration’s request.

And I am pleased that the bill recommends additional assistance to Cambodia including assistance for basic education activities. I was in Cambodia in April, and I witnessed the enormous poverty that is the ongoing legacy of the Pol Pot regime, and removing this restriction will help raise the low level of education that is in Cambodia and improve the lives of the people there.

And finally, I thank the committee for including language in its report stating the committee’s intention to increase funding for the Peace Corps if funding becomes available. I believe that the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and the gentleman from California (Ms. PELOSI) crafted about in the hearing, and removed the low allocation for the subcommittee.

However, I must express my deep disappointment that the House chose to provide so little funds for foreign assistance. Since 1985, inflation-adjusted spending on foreign aid has decreased by more than 50 percent. Assistance now represents less than 1 percent of the total federal budget. And as the richest nation on earth, the United States should provide foreign aid as a moral obligation to help reduce the misery among the poorest people in the world.

However, as a recent editorial in the New York Times pointed out, foreign aid is also in our best interests. The New York Times article said that assistance that helps prevent foreign political conflicts or economic calamities can reduce the need for far more costly American involvement. The editorial went on to criticize Congressional efforts to cut foreign aid as a shortsighted national shame.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I think we all should be very proud of the work the Committee on Appropriations has done this year, and a great measure, to a great degree the responsibility for the marvelous work that the committee has been doing and is doing lies at the office of the chairman, and I want to commend the chairman for his leadership.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. YOUNG) chairman of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding the time, and I rise to make just this announcement, and I would hope that we can expedite consideration of this rule and get to the bill and get the bill finished tonight.

As my colleagues know, the House is scheduled to leave Washington on next Friday for the August recess so the Members can return to their districts and spend time with their constituents. But all the Members know that the Speaker has stated that if we have not completed our work on the appropriation bills, as scheduled, that that recess will not go forward until that work has been completed.

Now the reason that we need to expedite this rule and to finish this bill tonight is that on tomorrow it is necessary for the committee to take up the last two bills that it will take up and present to the House before the House recesses for the August recess. So tomorrow we, the Committee on Appropriations, need all day tomorrow to deal with those last two bills. Because of this we cannot be on the floor with this bill tomorrow, and if the committee cannot report those last two bills tomorrow we may to get them on to the floor next week prior to the recess taking effect.

So it is essential that we expedite and get this business done tonight if we want to go on our August recess as has been scheduled.

So, other than that, Mr. Speaker, I ask support for the rule, that we expedite that support, and I ask that we do the very best we can to expedite this bill so that we can continue the appropriation process, and, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Diaz-Balart) mentioned that we passed now 10 appropriation bills. The fact is, counting the supplementalss, we have passed 12 of the appropriation bills and two conference reports as well. So the Committee on Appropriations is on schedule.

We can keep on schedule if we expedite tonight.

I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi).

Ms. Pelosi. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. I thank him also for his leadership on many of the issues that are in foreign operations bill relating to child survival and honoring the gospel of Matthew. I thank the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Callahan) to move along the legislation, to honor the Members, and I vaguely think of Chairman just put forth and to not hold up the works. So we agreed to set some difficulties off to a later date. This bill is a work in progress. It is seriously underfunded.

I mention this now because I want to point out that to have the bill come in a bipartisan way to the full committee and the Appropriations Committee, and cooperation, as my colleagues know, Mr. Speaker, is a two-way street. We were disappointed after that in full committee that $200 million in this already underfunded bill was taken out again. But nonetheless, in the interest of staying on schedule and moving the legislation along, I urged my colleagues to support the legislation in the hope that down the road there would be additional funding in the legislation.

This bill is nearly $1.5 billion, $1.3 million less than the administration’s request and more than $700 million, less than last year’s bill.

So that is why I was really quite disappointed and nothing for the rule, when I, as ranking member, who had, with my fellow Democrats on the subcommittee, cooperated in bringing this bill forward and not delaying it with many of the controversies that we had in the past. When I as ranking member went to the Committee on Rules to request a ranking member’s prerogative, as I see it, to have an amendment to this bill, an amendment that would address the concerns that many of us have with the Smith amendment and the Mexico City language, but one that would be a substitute for it. I was very precise in my request, although I was not insistent that the bill be in my name, I was consistent that the amendment be in the form of a substitute. So that when we ask Members to make this very important decision, it would make a difference.

However, this rule, is something for everyone and nothing for anyone in terms of advancing the issue. I almost have to use the word cynical in describing it. I think it makes the House look silly and belittles the importance of the issue.

The rule limits debate on both amendments to 20 minutes each. This is a very important issue, as the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Diaz-Balart) mentioned. It is an issue of importance and controversy before this body, so we have two amendments, 20 minutes each 10 minutes on each side to debate it, eliminating the possibility of a full and serious debate on both sides.

It also allows for the consideration of the Pitts amendment. Now, as ranking member do not get an amendment, but this allows for the Pitts amendment as the only legislative amendment to be made in order. I am not sure what criteria the Committee on Rules uses to choose this one amendment as opposed to others that were made for legislative amendments. My guess would be that because it once again adds additional restrictions programs designed to help poor women and children under the guise of a population-related restriction, that amendment is something for the Republican side than the other proposed amendments.

The truth is, we should not have any of these legislative amendments in the bill. They should not be made in order. This is a repeat. We have been here before.

I have a great deal of respect for the makers of these motions. I am very pleased with the interest in this foreign operations bill.

But what I am saying to my colleagues is that if we are asked to cooperate every step of the way, in subcommittee and full committee to stay on schedule and cooperate with an underfunded bill for which the White House has issued a veto threat because of the Smith amendment and because of the low funding figure, then one would think at the very least that the ranking member would receive her due, which would be an amendment to this bill, to trump legislative language which does not belong in the appropriations bill in the first place.

So that is why I come here with a degree of sadness and disappointment that once again we have to travel down this road. When this happened before, we held up the House with rollcall votes and this or that. I am not going to do this now, because this is frankly tiresome.

What I am going to do is urge my colleagues to register their disapproval of this by voting “no” on the rule, for my colleagues to do just that; and again, I wish that we could have had some cooperation, but apparently, the cooperation is only supposed to come from our side and not from the Republican side on this.

So with great regret, I urge a “no” vote.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume to simply say that I am extremely sorry that our distinguished colleague from California (Ms. Pelosi) will not be supporting the rule.

The Committee on Rules made a very strong effort to be fair. We believe that we have been fair, that we are fair in this rule. It is an open rule. The issue of legislation, not appropriations measures, is always a difficult one. We do not like generally in the Committee on Rules to see, and we usually do not make in order, legislative proposals for debate on appropriations bills. Within this bill, within the context of the bill, within the text of the bill that came to us, there are 38 provisions that constitute legislating, many of which, almost 30, are unauthorized.

So I am sure the members of the Committee on Appropriations also recognize the difficulty of this and they have to deal with it also on a daily basis.

What I would like to stress, Mr. Speaker, is that the rule is fair, that it is an open rule, that as the gentleman from Florida (Mr. YOUNG) mentioned, we do need to be expediting this issue, moving it forward, and we believe on the Committee on Rules that we are doing so in a very fair way.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE).

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

I also want to reiterate my opposition to the rule for the reasons that were articulated both by the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HALL) and by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI). I do want to point to some underlying provisions in the legislation that I support.

I want to cite several key areas where the legislation has continued U.S. support for Armenia’s economic development, while helping to jump-start the peace process in Nagorno Karabagh.

In this time of fiscal restraint, I am encouraged that the fiscal year 2000 legislation at least ensures that the same percentage of aid will be made available to the Republic of Armenia as was available in fiscal year 1999. It is important for us to maintain our support for and partnership with Armenia as they continue to make major strides towards democracy, most recently evidenced by the May 30 parliamentary elections, as well as market reforms and increasing integration with the West. U.S. assistance also serves to offset the difficulties imposed on Armenia’s people as a result of blockades maintained by Azerbaijan and Turkey, as well as helping regions of the country to rebuild from the devastating 1988 earthquake.

The legislation also seeks to ensure that the delivery of humanitarian assistance to Nagorno Karabagh. In the fiscal year 1998 bill, Congress took the historic step of providing, for the first time, U.S. humanitarian assistance to Nagorno Karabagh. Unfortunately, the administration has not delivered much of this assistance and the legislation today includes language reiterating the obligation of $28 million in U.S. aid to Nagorno Karabagh.

Mr. Speaker, the Foreign Operations Appropriations bill contains language addressing the need for a negotiated settlement to the Nagorno Karabagh conflict. Noting that the important position of special negotiator for Nagorno Karabagh is currently vacant, the committee urged the Secretary of State “to move forthwith to appoint a permanent special negotiator to facilitate direct negotiations and any other contacts that will bring peace to the long suffering people of the south Caucasus.”

I would point out, Mr. Speaker, that one of the most positive developments of late has been the increased and direct contacts between the leaders of Armenia and Azerbaijan. The President has achieved this in a quiet and patient manner. Most recently the President met previously in Geneva, and the surprise announcement that came out of the meeting was a tentative agreement to have Nagorno Karabagh to participate directly in the next session of face-to-face talks.

So at this critical juncture we must get a permanent special negotiator in place without delay, and I applaud the members of this subcommittee for including this provision in the bill.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I want to address one or more amendments that may be offered under this rule by the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. BURTON) seeking, in various ways, to limit development assistance to India. I would urge my colleagues to oppose these ill-advised amendments if they come up.

Following the imposition of Glenn amendment sanctions against India last year, the USAID program has been restructured in conformance with the law to provide on humanitarian assistance to India. If this amendment were adopted, programs to limit the spread of HIV/AIDS would have to be cut as well as basic health services to mothers and children. Thus, without achieving any positive policy goals, the amendment would only serve to punish some of India’s most vulnerable people who are currently benefiting from American humanitarian assistance.

Mr. Speaker, this House has consistently rejected similar Burton amendments over the past few years. Indeed, 2 years ago a similar amendment only gained the support of 82 Members of the House, while 342 voted against it; and last year, no amendment was offered. Both Houses of Congress have recognized that there is a need to move on a bipartisan basis to greater cooperation and confidence-building between the United States and India.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI).

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I know my colleagues have heard this before, but I am not going to use the full 2 minutes. Hopefully, that will be true.

Mr. Speaker, I think the statement that was made by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE) is a very interesting one in that he is talking about the provisions in the bill that relate to Armenia and Azerbaijan and Nagorno Karabagh and how that area of the world has been dealt with in the past. I think the real importance of the leadership of the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) in resolving some of these controversial issues that come up in this bill.

We have spent hours overnight on this bill in subcommittee, full committee, and on the floor, but in the interest of saving time, I think we worked together, made our compromises so that the House, the full House, would be spared some of that controversy.

That is why, again, I was so disappointed when the rights of the minority were not respected, and I disagree with my distinguished colleague whom I respect enormously in his characterization of the bill as the rule as a fair one, because I do not think it is. As I say, if we had been coming into this, fighting to the finish, I could understand why the majority would want to suppress the minority, but we have tried to cooperate every step of the way, and indeed I have said I would support this legislation if the Smith amendment does not pass.

In the interests of trying to support the bill with the Greenwood amendment as a substitute for the Smith amendment, that would still enable us to support the bill; but instead, not only did they deny the rights of the minority ranking member to introduce an amendment, but also put it in the form that does not solve any problem except maybe one, to help the majority pass the rule on their side.

So if they are going to have this unfair rule, they are going to have to do it largely with Republican votes. I urge my colleagues to vote “no.”

Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. OBEY), the ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, first of all, let me say that with respect to the bill itself, I think the chairman has tried to do as much as he could under the circumstances he faced.

I honestly believe that before this bill goes to the President, it is going to need a significant amount of funding for the Wye Middle East peace agreement. I think we need to promote that in every way we can.

I will vote against the rule on this bill because the rule simply does not deal with the Mexico City issue in a fair way.

What the Committee on Rules has done is to allow a nongermane amendment to be offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) on the Republican side of the aisle, and then it allows a second amendment as an alternative to that to be offered. But instead of being offered as a substitute, it allows it to be offered as a simultaneous amendment.

So if the amendments were to be adopted, for instance, the adoption of the Greenwood amendment would have no meaning whatsoever, because under the way we read statutes around here, the most limiting language is the only language that governs. So in essence, the Committee on Rules has pretended to give the House a choice between alternatives when in fact it has given no real opportunity for the Greenwood amendment to have any meaning whatsoever.

To me, that is disingenuous, it is unfair, it is biased, and it means that people think they could not win the argument if they had a fair rule. I do not think that is the way the greatest parliamentary body in the world ought to act. Therefore, I would strongly urge a vote against this rule.

Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Rules has gone the extra mile. We bring forth this measure not only with a fair rule, but an open rule. Any amendment any Member wants to come up with, as long as it is germane, can be presented. So we feel really good about our work. We ask for the support of the House on both sides of the aisle for the rule.

Reiterating that, I support this rule, and urge my colleagues to vote for it.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question was taken; and the result of the vote was announced.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mrs. TAUSCHER, Mr. HILL of Indiana, Mr. WAXMAN, and Mr. OWENS changed their vote from "yea" to "nay."

Messrs. DEAL of Georgia, KUCINICH, CRAWLER, and KANJORSKI changed their vote from "nay" to "yea."

So the resolution was agreed to.

The vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on the bill (H.R. 2606) making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes, and that I may include tabular and extraneous material.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HEFLY). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama? There was no objection.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2000

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 263 and rule XVIII, the Chair declares the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill, H.R. 2006.
Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill (H.R. 2606) making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes, with Mr. THORNBERRY in the chair.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to the rule, the bill is considered as having been read the first time.

Under the rule, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN).

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to open debate on H.R. 2606, the fiscal year 2000 appropriation bill for foreign operations, export financing, and other related programs.

This bill is within the subcommittee allocation. It contains no emergency provisions, and it includes no earmarks. This bill reflects many priorities requested by Members of both parties, but it gives the President and the Secretary of State maximum flexibility to support American interests abroad.

The bill before the House totals $12.624 billion. Like the past four foreign operations bills that I have managed, it is less than the bill that was enacted into law the previous year. In this instance, if we discount the emergency funding for Kosovo and Hurricane Mitch, as well as the International Monetary Fund, the bill is still some $200 million less than the amount enacted for 1999. If we include all of these items, this bill is $21 billion less than last year, a reduction of more than 60 percent, which Mr. Chairman, I believe is a record.

This bill is almost $2 billion less than the President’s request, and I understand that he may be requesting additional funds later this year. The fact is we have to live within our budget caps agreed to by the President and the Congress in 1997. Although foreign aid represents less than one-half of 1 percent of the Federal budget, $12.6 billion is the amount we have been allocated, and this bill reflects the committee’s best recommendation on how to distribute that amount.

This bill marks the second year of a 10-year program to phase out economic assistance to Israel and Egypt. The committee has rejected the administration’s proposal to speed up the phaseout by 25 percent. At the same time, we are increasing military aid to Israel by a smaller amount. I would note that President Clinton and Prime Minister Barak now concur with the plan undertaken by this committee and the Congress last year.

In the recent supplemental appropriation bill, Congress appropriated $451 million in emergency funds for refugee and humanitarian aid programs worldwide, it does not include any funds for the long-term reconstruction of Kosovo and Southeastern Europe. We agree with President Clinton that Europe is responsible for that task.

The gentleman from Florida (Chairman YOUNG) and I have written the President reminding him that the refugee funds were not appropriated by Congress for long-term reconstruction efforts in Kosovo.

Having funded refugees and hurricane reconstruction in the supplemental, this bill has different priorities.

Significant increases above last year’s level are limited to child survival and a renewed effort to reduce threats from infectious diseases and international trafficking.

Further, we are proud to be leaders in the global effort to eradicate polio.
FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS
APPROPRIATIONS BILL, 2000 (H.R. 2006)

(Amounts in thousands)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>FY 2000</th>
<th>FY 2000 Request</th>
<th>Bill</th>
<th>Bill w/ Enacted</th>
<th>Bill w/ Request</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Export Investment Assistance</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subsidy appropriation</td>
<td>750,000</td>
<td>839,000</td>
<td>759,000</td>
<td>8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Direct loan authorization)</td>
<td>(1,133,000)</td>
<td>(1,187,000)</td>
<td>(1,300,000)</td>
<td>(17,000)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Guaranteed loan authorization)</td>
<td>(12,702,000)</td>
<td>(13,425,000)</td>
<td>(10,400,000)</td>
<td>(-2,000,000)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Administrative expenses</td>
<td>50,000</td>
<td>57,000</td>
<td>50,000</td>
<td>+5,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Y2K conversion (emergency funding)</td>
<td>-25,000</td>
<td>-15,000</td>
<td>-15,000</td>
<td>+10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Export-Import Bank of the United States</td>
<td>750,000</td>
<td>839,000</td>
<td>759,000</td>
<td>11,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Overseas Private Investment Corporation |
| Noncredit account: |
| Administrative expenses | 32,500 | 35,000 | 35,000 | +2,500 | -5,000 |
| (Loan authorization) | [130,000] | [130,000] | (88,000) | (-42,000) | (-45,000) |
| (Loan authorization) | (1,750,000) | (1,000,000) | (860,000) | (-900,000) | (-1,800,000) |
| Y2K conversion (emergency funding) | 1,280 | 1,280 | 1,280 | | |
| Total, Overseas Private Investment Corporation | 157,400 | 144,000 | 144,000 | | |

| Trade and Development Agency |
| Trade and development agency | 44,000 | 48,000 | 44,000 | | -4,000 |
| Total, Title II, Export and investment assistance | 956,000 | 968,000 | 965,000 | -9,500 | -6,500 |
| Total, Title II, Loan authorizations | (15,031,000) | (18,042,000) | (12,885,000) | (-3,156,000) | (-3,087,000) |

TITLE II - BILATERAL ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE
FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE PRESIDENT

Agency for International Development

| Child survival and disease programs fund | 850,000 | 850,000 | 680,000 | +30,000 | +30,000 |
| Emergency funding | | | | | |
| Development assistance | 1,225,000 | 780,400 | 1,201,000 | -24,000 | +420,500 |
| Central America and the Caribbean Emergency Disaster Recovery Fund | 621,000 | | | -691,000 | |
| (Emergency funding) | | | | | |
| (Emergency funding) | (17,000) | (17,000) | | | |
| Development Fund for Africa | 200,000 | 200,000 | 200,000 | +800 | -12,000 |
| International disaster assistance | 188,000 | 188,000 | 188,000 | | |

Micro & Small Enterprises Development program account:

| Subsidy appropriation | 1,500 | 1,500 | 1,500 | | |
| (Direct loan authorization) | | | | |
| (Guaranteed loan authorization) | (40,000) | (40,000) | (30,000) | (-10,000) | |
| Administrative expenses | 500 | 500 | 500 | | |

Urban and environmental credit program account:

| Subsidy appropriation | 1,500 | 3,000 | 1,500 | -1,500 | -3,000 |
| (Guaranteed loan authorization) | (14,000) | (26,000) | (26,000) | (-14,000) | |
| Administrative expenses | 5,000 | 5,000 | 5,000 | | |

Development credit authority program account:

| By (transfer) | (15,000) | (15,000) | | | |
| (Guaranteed loan authorization) | | | (30,000) | | |

Subtotal, development assistance | 2,042,500 | 2,075,000 | 2,086,800 | -853,200 | +10,850 |

Payment to the Foreign Service Retirement and Disability Fund | 44,052 | 43,837 | 43,837 | 715 | |

Operating expenses of the Agency for International Development | 479,650 | 507,730 | 479,650 | | -27,780 |

| Emergency funding (by transfer) | | | | (4,000) | |
| Y2K conversion (emergency funding) | 10,000 | 10,000 | 10,000 | |

Operating expenses of the Agency for International Development Office of Inspector General | 30,750 | 25,261 | 25,000 | -5,750 | -3,791 |

Emergency funding (by transfer) | (1,500) | (1,500) | (1,500) | |

Total, Agency for International Development | 3,507,952 | 2,654,837 | 2,637,067 | -870,285 | -17,170 |

Other Bilateral Economic Assistance

| Economic support fund | 2,262,500 | 2,309,000 | 2,327,000 | -155,000 | -312,000 |
| Emergency funding (by transfer) | 921,500 | 921,500 | | | |
| Emergency funding (transfer out) | (3,770) | (3,770) | | | |
| International Fund for Ireland | 16,800 | 16,800 | 16,800 | | |
| Assistance for Eastern Europe and the Baltic States | 130,000 | 383,000 | 383,000 | -37,000 | +19,000 |
| Emergency funding | 120,000 | 120,000 | 120,000 | | |
| Assistance for the New Independent States of the former Soviet Union | 401,000 | 1,029,000 | 725,000 | -294,000 | -307,000 |
| Emergency funding | 48,000 | 48,000 | 48,000 | | |

Total, Other Bilateral Economic Assistance | 2,800,100 | 3,384,000 | 3,364,800 | -525,500 | -569,400 |
FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS
APPROPRIATIONS BILL, 2000 (H.R. 2606)—Continued
(Amounts in thousands)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>appropriation</th>
<th>FY 1999</th>
<th>FY 2000</th>
<th>Bill</th>
<th>Bill vs. FY 1999</th>
<th>Bill vs. FY 2000</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>INDEPENDENT AGENCIES</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inter-American Foundation</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appropriation</td>
<td>22,300</td>
<td></td>
<td>-22,300</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[by transfer]</td>
<td>(20,000)</td>
<td>(2,300)</td>
<td>(5,000)</td>
<td>-15,000</td>
<td>(5,000)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>(20,000)</td>
<td>(22,300)</td>
<td>(5,000)</td>
<td>-15,000</td>
<td>(17,300)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>African Development Foundation</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appropriation</td>
<td>14,400</td>
<td></td>
<td>-14,400</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[by transfer]</td>
<td>(11,000)</td>
<td>(14,400)</td>
<td>(3,400)</td>
<td>-13,400</td>
<td>(500)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>(11,137)</td>
<td>(14,400)</td>
<td>(3,400)</td>
<td>-13,400</td>
<td>(500)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peace Corps</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appropriation</td>
<td>240,000</td>
<td>270,000</td>
<td>240,000</td>
<td>-30,000</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[emergency funding (by transfer)]</td>
<td>(1,798)</td>
<td>(1,798)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Department of State</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International narcotics control and law enforcement</td>
<td>261,000</td>
<td>295,000</td>
<td>285,000</td>
<td>24,000</td>
<td>-10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency funding</td>
<td>255,000</td>
<td>295,000</td>
<td>285,000</td>
<td>-10,000</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>migration and refugee assistance</td>
<td>840,000</td>
<td>880,000</td>
<td>840,000</td>
<td>-40,000</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency funding</td>
<td>880,000</td>
<td>880,000</td>
<td>840,000</td>
<td>-40,000</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States Emergency Refugee and Migration Assistance Fund</td>
<td>30,000</td>
<td>30,000</td>
<td>30,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency funding</td>
<td>30,000</td>
<td>30,000</td>
<td>30,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nonproliferation, anti-terrorism, demining and related programs</td>
<td>156,000</td>
<td>231,000</td>
<td>181,850</td>
<td>-16,150</td>
<td>-66,150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency funding</td>
<td>20,000</td>
<td></td>
<td>20,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>National Commission on Terrorism</td>
<td>140,000</td>
<td>140,000</td>
<td>140,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom</td>
<td>3,000</td>
<td></td>
<td>3,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Department of State</td>
<td>1,839,840</td>
<td>2,016,000</td>
<td>1,136,800</td>
<td>-700,810</td>
<td>-793,210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Department of the Treasury</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Debt restructuring</td>
<td>33,000</td>
<td>120,000</td>
<td>33,000</td>
<td>-10,000</td>
<td>-67,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency funding</td>
<td>41,000</td>
<td></td>
<td>41,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>international affairs technical assistance</td>
<td>3,000</td>
<td>8,500</td>
<td>1,500</td>
<td>-1,500</td>
<td>-7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States community adjustment and investment program</td>
<td>10,000</td>
<td>17,000</td>
<td>10,000</td>
<td>-7,000</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subtotal, Department of the Treasury</td>
<td>87,000</td>
<td>145,500</td>
<td>34,500</td>
<td>-53,000</td>
<td>-111,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, title II, bilateral economic assistance</td>
<td>9,864,929</td>
<td>8,287,037</td>
<td>7,413,367</td>
<td>-2,513,262</td>
<td>-2,873,465</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appropriations</td>
<td>7,977,120</td>
<td>8,287,037</td>
<td>7,413,367</td>
<td>-2,513,262</td>
<td>-2,873,465</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reclassification</td>
<td>(1,884,437)</td>
<td>(1,884,437)</td>
<td>(1,884,437)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[by transfer]</td>
<td>(1,884,437)</td>
<td>(1,884,437)</td>
<td>(1,884,437)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Economic assistance</td>
<td>(11,137)</td>
<td>(16,137)</td>
<td>(18,137)</td>
<td>(11,137)</td>
<td>(14,137)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[loan authorizations]</td>
<td>(88,000)</td>
<td>(256,000)</td>
<td>(20,000)</td>
<td>-26,000</td>
<td>-286,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TITLE III - MILITARY ASSISTANCE</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE PRESIDENT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Military Education and Training</td>
<td>50,000</td>
<td>50,000</td>
<td>50,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foreign Military Financing Program: Grants</td>
<td>3,350,000</td>
<td>3,780,000</td>
<td>3,470,000</td>
<td>140,000</td>
<td>-310,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[Limitation on administrative expenses]</td>
<td>(20,810)</td>
<td>(30,000)</td>
<td>(20,810)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subtotal</td>
<td>3,329,190</td>
<td>3,750,000</td>
<td>3,450,000</td>
<td>-24,000</td>
<td>-310,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Direct loans: Subtotal</td>
<td>3,329,190</td>
<td>3,750,000</td>
<td>3,450,000</td>
<td>-24,000</td>
<td>-310,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[loan authorization]</td>
<td>(187,000)</td>
<td>(187,000)</td>
<td>(187,000)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Foreign Military Financing</td>
<td>3,360,000</td>
<td>3,750,000</td>
<td>3,470,000</td>
<td>140,000</td>
<td>-310,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency funding</td>
<td>50,000</td>
<td></td>
<td>50,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Special Defense Acquisition Fund: Offsetting collections</td>
<td>-10,000</td>
<td>-10,000</td>
<td>-10,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peacekeeping operations</td>
<td>78,500</td>
<td>78,500</td>
<td>78,500</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, title II, Military assistance</td>
<td>5,507,500</td>
<td>5,956,500</td>
<td>5,500,500</td>
<td>66,000</td>
<td>-365,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[limitation on administrative expenses]</td>
<td>(20,810)</td>
<td>(30,000)</td>
<td>(20,810)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[loan authorization]</td>
<td>(187,000)</td>
<td>(187,000)</td>
<td>(187,000)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Defense Assistance Programs</td>
<td>5,507,500</td>
<td>5,956,500</td>
<td>5,500,500</td>
<td>66,000</td>
<td>-365,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS
APPROPRIATIONS BILL, 2000 (H.R. 2608) — Continued

(Amounts in thousands)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>TITLE IV - MULTILATERAL ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Funds Appropriated to the President</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Financial Institutions</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Bank Group</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Global Environment Facility</td>
<td>192,500</td>
<td>143,333</td>
<td>50,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Recession</td>
<td>-25,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subtotal, Global Environment Facility</td>
<td>167,500</td>
<td>143,333</td>
<td>50,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the International Development Association</td>
<td>800,000</td>
<td>803,430</td>
<td>578,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency</td>
<td>10,000</td>
<td>10,000</td>
<td>10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Limitation on callable capital subscriptions)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, World Bank Group</td>
<td>997,500</td>
<td>986,763</td>
<td>826,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the Inter-American Development Bank:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paid-in capital</td>
<td>25,811</td>
<td>25,811</td>
<td>25,811</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Limitation on callable capital subscriptions)</td>
<td>(1,050,716)</td>
<td>(1,050,716)</td>
<td>(1,050,716)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fund for special operations</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>21,152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the Inter-American Investment Corporation</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>25,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the Enterprise for the Americas Multilateral Investment Fund</td>
<td>50,000</td>
<td>25,811</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, contribution to the Inter-American Development Bank</td>
<td>96,783</td>
<td>79,111</td>
<td>25,811</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the Asian Development Bank:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paid-in capital</td>
<td>13,222</td>
<td>13,222</td>
<td>13,222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Limitation on callable capital subscriptions)</td>
<td>(847,808)</td>
<td>(972,745)</td>
<td>(972,745)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the Asian Development Fund</td>
<td>210,000</td>
<td>177,317</td>
<td>100,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, contribution to the Asian Development Bank</td>
<td>223,222</td>
<td>190,745</td>
<td>113,728</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the African Development Bank:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paid-in capital</td>
<td>5,100</td>
<td>5,100</td>
<td>5,100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Limitation on callable capital subscriptions)</td>
<td>(80,000)</td>
<td>(80,000)</td>
<td>(80,000)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the African Development Fund</td>
<td>128,000</td>
<td>127,000</td>
<td>100,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contribution to the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paid-in capital</td>
<td>35,779</td>
<td>35,779</td>
<td>35,779</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Limitation on callable capital subscriptions)</td>
<td>(123,326)</td>
<td>(123,326)</td>
<td>(123,326)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, International Financial Institutions</td>
<td>1,401,264</td>
<td>1,384,468</td>
<td>901,718</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(By transaction)</td>
<td>(2,274,815)</td>
<td>(2,296,702)</td>
<td>(2,296,702)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Organizations and Programs Appropriation</td>
<td>167,000</td>
<td>263,000</td>
<td>167,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(By transfer)</td>
<td>(2,500)</td>
<td>(2,500)</td>
<td>(2,500)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, Title IV, Multilateral economic assistance</td>
<td>1,036,264</td>
<td>1,087,468</td>
<td>1,086,718</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appropriations</td>
<td>(1,002,264)</td>
<td>(1,087,468)</td>
<td>(1,086,718)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Recession</td>
<td>(25,000)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(By transfer)</td>
<td>(2,500)</td>
<td>(2,500)</td>
<td>(2,500)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Limitation on callable capital subscription)</td>
<td>(2,274,815)</td>
<td>(2,296,702)</td>
<td>(2,296,702)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TITLE VI</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Funds Appropriated to the President</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Monetary Programs Loans to International Monetary Fund</td>
<td>3,361,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States Quota, International Monetary Fund</td>
<td>14,500,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, International Monetary Programs</td>
<td>17,861,000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand total</td>
<td>30,202,265</td>
<td>14,815,535</td>
<td>12,866,115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appropriations</td>
<td>33,313,456</td>
<td>14,815,535</td>
<td>12,866,115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(By transfer)</td>
<td>(2,048,927)</td>
<td>(2,048,927)</td>
<td>(2,048,927)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(By transfer) (emergency appropriations)</td>
<td>(12,730)</td>
<td>(17,300)</td>
<td>(21,900)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Limitation on administrative expenses)</td>
<td>(29,910)</td>
<td>(30,000)</td>
<td>(30,485)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Limitation on callable capital subscription)</td>
<td>(2,274,815)</td>
<td>(2,296,702)</td>
<td>(2,296,702)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, mandatory and discretionary</td>
<td>31,246,456</td>
<td>14,815,535</td>
<td>12,866,115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Discretionary</td>
<td>44,556</td>
<td>43,937</td>
<td>43,837</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, mandatory and discretionary</td>
<td>31,291,012</td>
<td>14,815,535</td>
<td>12,866,115</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume, and I wish to begin my remarks on the fiscal year 2000 foreign operations bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill. Given the constraints of a low 302(b) allocation and the contentious policy issues that normally weigh this bill down, he has done an excellent job of balancing funding and policy considerations. Both the subcommittee and the full committee markups went as smoothly as could be expected for this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

 Having said that, I also want to make it clear that the total level of spending in the bill of $12.625 billion is not adequate to meet our national security requirements and will, I believe, seriously impair the President's ability to carry out an effective foreign policy. That is why the administration has put out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the Development Assistance bill as I always do by complimenting the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for the manner in which he has developed this bill, and that is a testament to his fairness and his bipartisanship. It is also a tribute to the bipartisanship on the Democratic side of the aisle, I might add, and I commend my fellow Members on the Democratic side. It is a pleasure to work with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and his Republican colleagues on this bill.

I mention all these, Mr. Chairman, so that our colleagues will know what the impact is of the underfunding of this bill. I would hope that we could get it to a level where we could honor the Jubilee 2000 initiative goal of debt forgiveness in the months ahead.

Mr. Chairman, I have been pointing out some of the deficiencies and some of the omissions in the bill in the interest of time. I will submit the rest of my statement for the RECORD and just close by saying that this House takes pride in providing ample resources to the defense bill to protect our national security. The importance of an engaged foreign policy with the resources to back it up also protects our national security.

In that interest, Mr. Chairman, I did want to just take a moment to acknowledge the tragedy of the plane that went down in Colombia and ask for just a moment of recognition for those brave young men who lost their lives. I respect their dedication to a dangerous cause and would ask the House to take a moment to acknowledge their ultimate sacrifice.

Mr. Chairman, President Kennedy said in his inaugural address in 1961, and everybody in America knows this quote, President Kennedy said, "My fellow Americans, ask not what our country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." But everybody does not know that the very next

1$160,000,000 is the total amount of U.S. debt forgiven. The appropriation contained in the bill to cover the costs of debt forgiveness is $18,000,000.

2UNICEF dedicated approximately 49 percent of its resources to sub-Saharan Africa in 1999. UNICEF expects this percentage to continue.

3The IRIA-12 replacement targeted 50 percent of all IDA credits to sub-Saharan African countries.
sentence, the very next sentence the President said, and I was there to hear him when I was a college student in Washington, D.C., the very next sentence is, “My fellow citizens of the world, ask not what America will do for you, but what we can do working together for the freedom of man.”

Mr. Chairman, that is what we do in this bill, and what we do in this Congress is to reach out to help promote the freedom of man throughout the world. This embodies what the bill is about or should be about.

My colleagues, we have an obligation to move forward together to provide for a robust foreign assistance program that enhances our national security. This bill is a start and it should be supported, of course, unless the Smith amendment succeeds. However, we have a lot of work to do before the end of the year to finish the job.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 1 minute to respond to the gentlewoman from California regarding her opening comments, and I would just say to her that I thank her very much for her very gracious comments. If I did not know better, Mr. Chairman, I would swear she was from Alabama, she is so gracious.

The gentlewoman pointed out many of the good aspects of the bill. She noted a couple of things she did not agree with, but primarily they revolve around the fact that we cut President’s Clinton’s request by $2 billion. I would remind the gentlewoman from California that we have to live within budget constraints, and that President Clinton wants to bust the budget. He can send such a message up here when we finish the appropriations process, but we are trying to save Social Security, we are trying to make sure Medicare is adequately funded, and we are trying to maintain a balanced budget at the same time. And I think to come from the original $10.4 billion to the $12.6 billion, where we are today, is right in the middle of compromise, which is what this body is all about.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, will the gentlewoman yield?

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentlewoman from California.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the gentlewoman yielding to me.

I am not from Alabama, Mr. Chairman, but if I were, I know my colleague’s fellow Alabamans would love to hear me say that we are not spending enough money on foreign policy, and we certainly want to prevent another Kosovo and prevent spending billions of dollars, and we want to save lives instead of spending money on defense.

This is about our national security. And, also, we do not need a tax cut.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 3½ minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. PORTER), who is a member of the subcommittee.

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank the gentlewoman from Alabama for yielding me this time and for his excellent work in developing this bill. He and his staff have worked very hard to meet the numerous concerns of many Members, including this Member.

I believe, Mr. Chairman, that this is the first time in my 19-year tenure in Congress where I have not sought to amend the foreign operations bill at any point in the process. Since the gentleman from Alabama took over the helm of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs, he and his staff have shown great patience in addressing my concerns, and I truly appreciate this.

I am pleased with the language of this bill and report supporting the furtherance of the peace process among Armenia, Nagorno-Karabagh and Azerbaijan. I remain, however, deeply disappointed in the administration’s role in furthering this peace process.

I also support the committee’s recommendation of $15 million for Cyprus and the condemnation of the remarks made by the leader of the Turkish Cypriots.

I am also very pleased with the committee’s continued assistance on limiting Guatemala and Indonesia to expanded IMET as well as the committee’s attention and support of environmental and women’s issues within the development assistance account.

Finally, and I will expand on each of these areas in the remarks I submit for the Record, I strongly support the committee’s funding for aid to Israel. We are at a critical and, hopefully, promising point in the Middle East peace process. I am hopeful that we will ultimately be able to fund the Wye agreement and support Prime Minister Barak as he actively works toward implementing this agreement and making new agreements in the peace process.

However, while I support these items and others in the bill, I remain concerned about the overall funding level. The United States continues to enjoy the strongest economy ever, and yet the money we spend on foreign assistance continues to shrink. We are the strongest, most economically productive Nation on Earth; and yet we are shunning leadership in promoting and supporting the values we cherish most: democracy, human rights, and the rule of law and free markets in other parts of the world.

Continuing to reduce our support for foreign assistance activities, in my judgment, not only wastes previous U.S. investment but effectively pulls the rug out from under nongovernmental organizations that have worked for years to build trust and to promote important programs in the developing world that have saved lives and improved countless lives.

If we want to encourage others to respect human rights, protect their environment, and promote democracy, we must be engaged. Among bilateral donor countries, the U.S. provides among the least in foreign assistance in comparison to gross domestic product. This, in my judgment, is deplorable and only shows ignorance towards the increasing impact that the rest of the world has on health and productivity in the United States.

I hope that that trend can be reversed as we plan our leadership role in the world for the next century.

Again, on the whole, I support this bill and the excellent work of my colleague from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN). He was presented with a very difficult task and has succeeded in rising to the challenge.

Mr. Chairman, I want to thank the gentleman from Alabama for his excellent work in developing this bill. He and his staff have worked very hard to meet the numerous concerns of many Members, including this Member.

I think that this is the first time, in my nineteen-year tenure in Congress, where I have not sought to amend the Foreign Operations bill at any point in the process. Since the gentleman from Alabama took over the helm of the Foreign Operations Subcommittee, he and his staff have shown great patience in addressing my concerns and I truly appreciate this.

In particular, I am pleased with language in this Bill and Report supporting the furtherance of the peace process among Armenia, Nagorno-Karabagh and Azerbaijan. Although it appeared that forward movement of process was at a standstill earlier in the year, limited new agreements in the peace process.

I remain extremely disappointed in the Administration’s role in furthering this peace process. As indicated in the Committee’s Report, I am appalled that the State Department would transfer their Special Negotiator to another desk without announcing a replacement.

As Presidents Kocharian and Aliyev hopefully continue discussions, I hope that the U.S. will do everything possible to facilitate a lasting peace.

I also support the Committee’s recommendation of fifteen million dollars for Cyprus and condemnation of the remarks made by leader of the Turkish Cypriots. This is another serious conflict that Turkey must recognize and the U.S. should work to facilitate peace on this island.

I am also very pleased with the Committee’s continued insistence on limiting Guatemala and Indonesia to expanded IMET as well as the Committee’s attention and support of environmental and women’s issues within the development assistance account. and remain solid in its support of the parties. I am hopeful that we will ultimately be able to fund the Wye Agreement and support Prime Minister Barak as he actively works towards implementing this agreement.

However, while I support these and other items in this bill, I remain very concerned about the overall funding level. The United States continues to enjoy the strongest economy ever, yet the money we spend on foreign assistance continues to shrink.

Throughout the history of our country, we have waged wars and defended other nations to protect the values we cherish: democracy, human rights, the rule of law and free markets. Now, we have arrived at the point of being the strongest, most economically productive nation on Earth—and we are shunning leadership in promoting and supporting our values in other parts of the world.

Some may argue that the U.S. has already invested too much money in the Middle East, especially now, after the conflict in Kosovo. That is just the point. We have already invested a great deal which should not be squandered at this critical time.

The extensive network of international and community-based non-governmental organizations that utilize funds from the U.S. Agency for International Development have finally established roots and are making great progress in improving the lives of millions.

Continuing to reduce our support for these activities will not only waste previous U.S. investment but effectively pull the rug out from under organizations that have worked for years to build trust and promote important programs in the developing world. If we want to encourage others to respect human rights, protect their environment and promote democracy, we must be engaged.

Among bilateral donor countries, the U.S. provides among the least in foreign assistance in comparison to GDP. This is deplorable and only show ignorance towards the increasing impact the rest of the world has on the health and productivity of the United States. I hope that this trend can be reversed as we plan our leadership role in the world for the next century.

Again, on the whole, I support this bill and the excellent work for my colleague from Alabama (Chairman CALLAHAN). He was presented with a very difficult task and has succeeded in rising to the challenge.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 3 minutes to the very distinguished gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. LOWEY), the leader of our Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of H.R. 2606. I want to commend both our chairman, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), and our ranking member, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI), for the hard work they have put into crafting this bill. I believe we have the best they could with a very bad situation.

Very simply, the allocation handed down to our subcommittee by the leadership was just too low. In fact, when we started this process, our allocation was only $10.3 billion, about $3.4 billion lower than last year’s enacted level.

The membership of our committee, Republican and Democrat alike, made very clear that a foreign aid bill with that low an allocation was just not sufficient. And today we are working with a number that is a full 20 percent higher than the original allocation. In fact, it is $100 million higher than the foreign aid bill that passed the House last year. But by no means does that make this a great bill. It is still woefully underfunded.

I just want to highlight a few of the bill’s biggest problems that I hope we can address in conference. During full committee markup of this bill, the leadership pushed through a $200 million cut in IDA, the arm of the World Bank that provides the poorest of the poor around the world.

IDA, which is now funded at $226 million below the administration’s requested level, provides the World Bank’s lending on primary health care, basic education, and microcredit, and a number of other critical development programs.

The International Organizations and Programs account, which includes funding for the United Nations Development Program, is $25 million below the administration’s request. At this level, UNDP could not hope to be funded anywhere near the $100 million it received last year.

Underfunding UNDP threatens U.S. leadership in this critical organization and hurts UNDP’s efforts to address some of the world’s development issues around the world.

This bill does not include the Wye River Agreement aid package. This aid package is a critical component of advancing the Middle East peace process and preventing violence in the region.

We all have such high hopes for Prime Minister Barak’s ability to jump-start the peace process that it would be foolish of us to turn our backs on the commitments we made at Wye.

I think it is very clear that the bill does need some serious work. But it is important, my colleagues, to pass it today, send it to conference; and there we can fix what we believe is wrong.

I fully support the increase the level of funding for the full range of our important foreign assistance programs, and I will fight hard with my colleagues for the Wye aid package and ensure that there are no killer restrictions on our international family planning programs.

If these problems are not fixed before the final version of the bill is sent to the White House, the President will veto it; and we are very concerned that all the things in this bill will not become a reality.

So, my colleagues, for now the right thing to do is to vote for this bill, move the process along, and let us hope that we can correct these inequities which I have mentioned in the conference and pass a really good bill.

Again, I thank the chairman and the ranking member for their work.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gracious gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. LOWEY) for her comments.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. KNOLENBERG) who is an outstanding member of our subcommittee.

Mr. KNOLENBERG. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2606, the fiscal year 2000 appropriations bill for foreign operations, export financing, and related agencies.

As a member of this subcommittee, I want to commend my good friend from Alabama (Chairman CALLAHAN) for all of his hard work. Shepherding this kind of a bill, an appropriations bill at that, through this process is not easy. Yet this man has done it, I think, with diligence and impartiality. That speaks highly of the gentleman from Alabama (Chairman CALLAHAN).

I also want to extend congratulatory thanks to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI), the ranking member, who, along with the entire subcommittee and the staff, has helped to bring about a bill that has been crafted, I think, to do the best for this country.

As members of this subcommittee, we have all worked in a bipartisan fashion to craft this foreign operations bill that reflects our Nation’s international priorities while adhering to the budget constraints that we face today.

In addition to addressing the need in such areas as child survival and international narcotic control, this bill focuses funding on our most important foreign aid priorities and maintains the integrity of our vital national security needs.

This bill again highlights congressional concern over North Korea and the dangerous activities of this rogue nation. Despite the 1994 Agreed Framework and North Korea’s commitment to end nuclear programs, Pyongyang remains determined to develop weapons of mass destruction and the delivery systems that threaten ourselves and our allies.

In fact, even the administration acknowledges that next month North Korea is planning to test a missile capable of reaching U.S. territory. If this test proves successful, it will be the first time in our history that a rogue nation will have the capability to deliver a warhead within U.S. borders.

The risk to the United States inherent in this capability is unacceptable, and this bill takes strong action to address this.
The 1994 Agreed Framework with North Korea, I believe, has failed, leaving Americans less secure today than they were when they signed it. The regime is now forced to face the dangerous consequences of North Korea’s broken commitments. Before another dime of U.S. taxpayer money is spent on this flawed agreement, North Korea must live up to its end of the bargain.

The U.S. must send a strong signal by conditioning any aid to North Korea on real and verifiable proof that it has ended its dangerous ballistic missile and nuclear programs.

The bill also maintains the U.S. commitment to the Middle East peace process, as has been noted, and our long-standing ally, Israel. It provides resources for the resettlement of former Soviet, East European and other refugees in Israel. This refugee resettlement program provides initial food, clothing, and shelter to Jewish migrants fleeing from areas of distress.

I am proud of the role that Congress has taken to provide those in need with the means to create and sustain a new life in Israel.

In addition, while U.S. support for peace in the Middle East is reaffirmed, the bill contains a historic effort to eliminate the region’s long-standing reliance on U.S. economic aid.

We are concerned about the Smith amendment that will be coming up this afternoon. It is unfair. We hope that it will not be attached to this wonderful bill that we have worked out to date.

HIV/AIDS, a curse as we move to the 21st century, devastating the African continent today, India tomorrow, the U.S., and countries around the world. Will we do our part as American citizens, the finest country in the world, to provide the assistance, the education, the treatment, the research that we know to get rid of this dreadful disease?

Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) for his leadership and the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI), the ranking member for her concern and her leadership as we work in a bipartisan way.

This Congress can work on good legislation bipartisanly when we work together and commit to doing that. Thanks to the staffs. Thanks to our ranking member.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I thank the gracious gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. KILPATRICK) for her comments and I tell my colleagues that it has been a pleasure working with a Member of Congress who has grasped this complicated system of legislation that we have here in the United States Congress in a very short period of time, never forsaking her principles, but at the same time understanding and working toward bipartisan agreement on every issue that she can.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN) the chairman of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. KILPATRICK) in his earlier remarks stated that this country still provides less foreign aid around the world than any of the other developed G-8 countries in the world. We can do better.

But I want to commend our chairman and ranking member for increasing our appropriations to Africa for the first time, a positive approach that will facilitate the peace process in the Caucasus and reinforce the U.S. role as an unbiased mediator in the peace process.

Despite the lack of broad recognition, each of us has a vested interest in the outcome of the Caucasus. U.S. interest can best be served through swift and meaningful resolution to the conflicts plaguing this troubled region.

And that is precisely the approach that this bill takes.

By pursuing meaningful, confidence-building measures between Armenia, Azerbaijan, and Nagorno Karabagh and also keeping the administration fully engaged in this part of the world, we may finally see this region free of bloodshed and conflict and rich with prosperity and opportunity.

The subject of foreign aid often sparks heated debate on this floor. While we all have strong opinions about a number of programs, I would ask my colleagues not to let heated discussion get in the way of doing the right thing.

We can do better. We need to unite behind this fair bill that will maintain U.S. leadership and strengthen our influence across the globe.

I ask for Members on both sides of the aisle to support this bill.

Again, I want to thank the chairman, the staff, and the ranking member for all of the effort they have made in an extraordinary fashion.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 3 minutes to the very distinguished gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. KILPATRICK), a member of the subcommittee.

Ms. KILPATRICK. Mr. Chairman, I want to start off thanking the gentleman from Alabama (Chairman CALLAHAN) and his staff for working with us in a bipartisan way. And a special thanks to my ranking member, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI), who has certainly shown her leadership and allowed me to participate in the process adequately.

This bill leaves this foreign operations bill. I am told sometimes takes a day and a half and hours to complete. As my first year on this subcommittee, I found that working with the chairman and ranking member and working with the other two sides to be quite enjoyable as well as educational.

While I support the bill and have in committee, I always said that it was underfunded. And we said that from our side of the aisle. I say to the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), although we respect his hard work, we believe it is underfunded.

The gentleman from Illinois (Chairman PORTER) in his earlier remarks stated that this country still provides less foreign aid around the world than any of the other developed G-8 countries in the world. We can do better.

But I want to commend our chairman and ranking member for increasing our appropriations to Africa for the first time, a positive approach that will facilitate the peace process.

Some of the poorest of the poorest countries, as said by Mr. Wolfensohn earlier this week as we had breakfast with him, President of the World Bank, debt relief, yes, they need it. But it is not a panacea. What they need is education and health services and other kinds of attention paid to their country so that their people and their children can come up into the 21st century.

It is important that as we move this foreign operations bill forward we let everyone know that, yes, it is a good bill and it was worked on bipartisanly, but it does still need more funding.

We are very concerned about the $200 million that was cut from full appropriations from the IDA account, which again is money that goes to the poorest of the poorest nations so that those children and those nations can be educated, can have the health services that they need.

Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. KILPATRICK) in his earlier remarks stated that this country still provides less foreign aid around the world than any of the other developed G-8 countries in the world. We can do better.

Some of the poorest of the poorest countries, as said by Mr. Wolfensohn earlier this week as we had breakfast with him, President of the World Bank, debt relief, yes, they need it. But it is not a panacea. What they need is education and health services and other kinds of attention paid to their country so that their people and their children can come up into the 21st century.

It is important that as we move this foreign operations bill forward we let everyone know that, yes, it is a good bill and it was worked on bipartisanly, but it does still need more funding.

We are very concerned about the $200 million that was cut from full appropriations from the IDA account, which again is money that goes to the poorest of the poorest nations so that those children and those nations can be educated, can have the health services that they need.

We are very concerned about the Smith amendment that will be coming up this afternoon. It is unfair. We hope that it will not be attached to this wonderful bill that we have worked out to date.
Permit me to draw my colleagues’ attention to a particular effort that has demonstrated great potential to help restore a sound economic foundation to these front-line Balkan states.

The Rochester Institute of Technology started a program 2 years ago called the American College of Management and Technology. Located in Dubrovnik, Croatia, this college has enjoyed great success in introducing new training and educational opportunities for the residents of the front-line states in tourism and management.

The program has been at capacity since it began. It focuses on cooperative work experience that places students with world-renowned organizations. This cooperative experience objective is to facilitate the infusion into the workforce of people who are educated in American economic values and work ethic, and through them speed the shift to contemporary entrepreneurial practices and, in turn, enhance the economic growth of the region.

Building upon the successes in their program, the ACMCT has plans to expand the program to provide support to young refugees from Albania, Kosovo, Montenegro and Macedonia, thereby giving them a brighter future and the ability to help rebuild their homeland states. I would like to commend the college for its efforts in establishing a program. It truly merits Federal support.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask the distinguished gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), chairman of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs, to comment on this fine program.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GILMAN. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CALLAHAN. I thank the gentleman from New York for his kind words. I would encourage USAID to review proposals to fund a Federal partnership with the college that would allow for the expansion of this program to address some of the training needs of the refugees from Kosovo, Montenegro and Macedonia.

Mr. GILMAN. I thank the gentleman for his support of this initiative. I would hope that in conference with the Senate on the fiscal year 2000 bill, we would carefully review their proposal for a $2.5 million program that would help the economic recovery of this region.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I can assure the chairman of the Committee on International Relations that I will do the best I can to bring this proposal to the attention of AID.

Mr. GILMAN. I thank the distinguished gentleman for his assurances and support.

Mr. Chairman, I am also pleased to note in this bill that there is full funding of the administration’s request for international narcotics control, and in particular the report language supporting the badly needed supply plane for the dedicated Colombian National Police antidrug unit so that they can maximize the use of the Black Hawk utility helicopters soon to be delivered to them.

I also note that the committee is critical of the intelligence service in Peru in the INL account, but it should be noted that little if any money has gone to that particular entity in their fight against drugs. It would be a mistake to overlook the fact that Peru in the last few years has reduced coca production by nearly 60 percent to end their long-held world leadership in coca production.

With regard to narcotics eradication, the note in the Senate bill has followed funding for the mycoherbicide drug eradication initiative that I believe holds a long-term potential to save billions of dollars and thousands of lives. I hope that in conference we will support the $10 million provided by the Senate for that program in fiscal year 2000.

Again, I want to commend the chairman and ranking member of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs for their outstanding work on this measure.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. FARR).

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

I rise in a moment of passion, passion for the greatest aid that this country gives countries in need all over the world, and I am pleased to have for the United States Peace Corps.

Peace Corps volunteers serve at the invitation of host countries. Guess what? Countries want more Peace Corps. About 6,000 volunteers are currently serving in about 80 countries.

Last year, in this country, 150,000 U.S. citizens inquired about whether they could serve in the United States Peace Corps. For my friends on the other side of the aisle who are supply siders, this is very simple. The demand is there, and the supply is there. What stands between that demand and that supply is the budget of the United States Congress and how much we will appropriate to the Peace Corps. Guess what? What we have appropriated is not enough.

I thank the chairman of the subcommittee. The gentleman from Alabama is a good listener. He is producing a good bill, it is a work in progress, and we are going to make it better. He has done a better job than our colleagues in the other house.

I just got out of a cab in D.C. I came from a Peace Corps good-bye to the director, Mark Gearan. The cab driver said, “I’m in the United States because I had two teachers in Ethiopia, Peace Corps volunteers. The gift I’m going to give back is my son who is an American citizen who is going to serve in the Peace Corps.”

On behalf of returning Peace Corps volunteers who are now Members of Congress, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HALL), the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. PETRITI), the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. SHAYS), the gentleman from New York (Mr. WALSH) and myself, we ask that you add more, at least what the Peace Corps asked for and what they need.

Mr. CALLAHAN, Mr. Chairman, I would first like to commend the gentleman for his comments and for his hard work, especially in Central America, and also commend Mark Gearan who is retiring as the head of the Peace Corps. I think Director Gearan has done an outstanding job.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Montana (Mr. HILL).

Mr. HILL of Montana. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time. Let me echo my comments on the fine work the gentleman from Alabama has done on this bill.

Mr. Chairman, I rise today to express my support for a counterdrug initiative that would be funded through the State Department Bureau of International Law Enforcement Affairs. This initiative uses naturally occurring mycoherbicides to eradicate illicit drug crops at their source. It was supported in the Senate Foreign Operations bill. I know that the gentleman from Alabama is familiar with this program.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Yes, I am.

Mr. HILL of Montana. Mycoherbicides are safe and they do not kill other crops as do the chemicals that are currently being used in countries in Latin America. I ask that the gentleman from Alabama take into account the positive impact this initiative will have on the environment as well as our war on drugs as he considers this issue in conference.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HILL of Montana. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Yes, I am aware of the potential of this program to fight narcotics. As the gentleman knows, my support Congress provided $10 million for this purpose in the emergency supplemental bill earlier this year. I am hopeful that the State Department will soon obligate those funds so that this research can be undertaken expeditiously.

Mr. HILL of Montana. I thank the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. JACKSON), a distinguished member of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs.
Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to commend the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI) and other members of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs of the Committee on Appropriations for the bipartisan, collegial spirit evident during our hearings and the subcommittee markup. As a new member of the subcommittee, I feel privileged to have worked with such a fine group of members.

We all know this is a very difficult budget year and I am grateful to the gentleman from Alabama for his even-handed approach to drafting the Foreign Operations bill. Although I would have liked to see additional funding to be provided for Africa in the bill, at the very least, last year’s appropriations for the Africa Development Fund were held at a freeze. Many of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle will agree that for us to maintain our position as a global leader, we must continue to lead the world in assisting those countries that need the most help.

I am concerned, however, about three particular areas of this bill, the Development Fund for Africa in the Development Assistance section of the bill; the Africa Development Bank; and the Africa Development Fund. I am most disappointed that the bill does not fulfill the administration’s and my request to reinstate the Development Fund for Africa as a separate line item as it was several years ago. Many nations on the continent of Africa are making unprecedented progress toward democratic rule and open markets and with the Development Fund for Africa included as a separate account, funding would be assured to remain focused on the long-term developmental and development priorities of our African partners.

Although there have been numerous concerns in the past about management of the Africa Development Bank, I know that strides have been made. I feel it is unwise to completely zero out funding for the bank at this time when they are working diligently to address the management problems.

I am encouraged that the Africa Development Fund received a level allocation of funds. The heavy investment by the Africa Development Bank helps the poorest of the poor countries, and I had hoped that the committee would have provided a higher number.

I cannot stress enough how much I have enjoyed working this year on this Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs and I look forward to future work with my colleagues as we address the problems and concerns of the developing countries.

I want to thank the gentleman from Alabama for his outstanding job and the gentlewoman from California, and I want to encourage all of my colleagues in light of these amendments to follow the gentlewoman from California on these votes.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. HAYES).

Mr. HAYES. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the bill. I thank the gentleman from Alabama and the gentlewoman from California for their diligence and their efforts on our behalf.

I have an amendment which would withhold funding for the introduction of our Armed Forces into hostile situations unless the situation represents a clear threat to our strategic national interest. This amendment reflects the foreign policy that successfully guided our Nation through the Cold War. Based on a set of six firm principles, this policy was developed by President Reagan’s Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger. The rule today does not allow me to offer this amendment, but I will ask that it be printed in the RECORD.

Just 1 month ago, Air Force Chief of Staff General Michael Ryan explained to Congress that while the Air Force could meet our Nation’s emergency needs, its short-term operations tempo had to be greatly reduced. This is one of many reports of degradation in our force’s readiness that are common because of the widening gap between our Nation’s global security obligations and the resources provided to meet these obligations. Every Member in this body knows that under this administration, we are increasingly asking our men and women to do more with less.

Fortunately, this Congress recognized that our forces are stretched to the limit and any sign of exhaustion. We recently took the much needed step of increasing our budget to address the services’ long list of critical unfunded requirements. We must also review and scale down an American foreign policy which is increasingly expansive.

There is no doubt that the United States is the anchor for the world’s democracies. We proudly accept this responsibility and seek to promote the American ideal of freedom in every administration to come.

The Weinberger Doctrine calls for the engagement of our forces only: In defense of our own vital interests; with a clear intention of winning; with defined objectives; with the long-term problem and development in mind; with the overwhelming support of the American people and the Congress; and as a last resort.

To many Americans this may seem elementary. In fact, most Americans believe these six premises compose the guiding principles that underscore our current foreign policy. As all of us know, this is unfortunately not the case.

Mr. Chairman, I will not offer the amendment today, but I am committed to returning the Weinberger Doctrine to American foreign policy, and I intend to offer it in the future. I encourage all of my colleagues to review this doctrine, support it, and would urge the administration to adopt it.

Mr. Chairman, I include the amendment I would have offered, as follows:

AMENDMENT TO H.R. 2606, AS REPORTED OFFERED BY MR. HAYES OF NORTH CAROLINA

Page 116, after line 5, insert the following: ADHERENCE TO A CONSISTENT POLICY WITH RESPECT TO THE INTRODUCTION OF UNITED STATES ARMED FORCES INTO HOSTILE SITUATIONS

SEC. None of the funds appropriated or otherwise available under this Act may be made available for the introduction of United States Armed Forces into hostilities or into situations where imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances unless such introduction meets the following requirements:

1. The introduction of Armed Forces adheres to the “Weinberger Doctrine”, the philosophy of former Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, which states—
Mr. BALDACCI. Mr. Chairman, I rise to take this opportunity to express my strong support for the Seeds of Peace International Camp, located in my congressional district and its related programs. This innovative program takes Arab and Israeli teenagers from the Middle East to a small camp in rural Maine to teach them communication skills and conflict-resolution skills.

Since it opened in 1993, more than a thousand young people have graduated, and 400 more will be completing the program this summer. I have been to this camp and met with these children, and I can unequivocally say that this camp deserves this body’s full support. The cultural connections and friendships forged in Maine will last a lifetime.

Seeds of Peace is a small but growing force of hope amidst the hatred and despair that has for all too long mired relations between the nations of the Middle East. While the current peace process is critically important to achieving peace in the region, Seeds of Peace will create an environment that will sustain a lasting peace because it will mend differences in fostering understanding where it counts most, between individuals.

I am pleased that, year by year, this innovative and desperately needed program is gaining political and financial support. I strongly support public funding for the international camp and its other programs as they are clearly one of the best uses of our foreign aid dollars. I am pleased with the report language contained in this bill supporting this program.

I thank Chairman CALLAHAN and Ranking Member PELOSI for their support of this program which gives these future leaders the tools they need to forge a lasting peace in the Middle East. Thank you.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Florida (Ms. BROWN) for the purpose of engaging in colloquy with the distinguished chairman, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN).

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I will yield an additional 1 minute to the gentleman from Florida.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentlewoman yield?

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I rise to engage in a colloquy with the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN). I want to tell the gentlewoman that the gentleman from Alabama has been attentive to this issue. Indeed, we visited Ecuador and spoke to the authorities there, the U.S. counsel there, about this subject. So when the gentleman says he is looking into it, as my colleagues know, indeed he is.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. RADANOVICH).

Mr. RADANOVICH. Mr. Chairman, I would like to recognize and address the continued contributions made by the Republic of Croatia. Croatia emerged from years of oppressive Communist control in 1991 and approved a new constitution and elected a parliament. Croatia’s modern, parliamentary democracy is charged with guaranteeing fundamental human rights, freedom of expression and respect for private property. Croatia has also been a loyal and valuable ally of the United States, as we have recently witnessed during the Kosovo crisis. Having a reliable partner in the region is critical. We cannot afford to let the intervention in the volatile region of southeastern Europe can only help to prevent future crises and aggression.

Croatia deserves commendation for its clear desire to stand with the United States and the West, as evidenced by its support of U.S.-NATO policy in the Balkans including S-4 and Operation Allied Force.

People, few people, realize how helpful Croatia was during NATO’s Operation Allied Force. Croatia closed its oil pipelines to Yugoslavia, which was later recognized as a key element in Milosevic’s decision to surrender. Croatia opened its airspace and its ports for NATO’s unrestricted use. Croatia also emerged as one of the most vocal advocates for stability in southeastern Europe during the negotiations and on the newly launched stability pact for that region.

Croatia meets all the requirements for partnership for peace especially regarding its close relations with the Community, and it perhaps even more so than some of its current members. Croatia should be evaluated for membership in the partnership for peace at the earliest possible opportunity. I believe that the United States should work closely with Croatia to ensure that every opportunity is provided.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield 4 minutes to the very distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN), a member of the Committee on International Relations and a champion on human rights throughout the world.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield the gentleman from California an additional minute.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I thank my friend from California for yielding me this time.

First, I would like to just say that the chairman and the ranking member and the entire Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs have done an incredible job of trying to put together an equitable bill under really outrageous conditions. I understand that they have a funding limit which constitutes a $2 billion reduction over the administration’s request; a $700 million reduction over this year’s appropriated level; and many, many billions of dollars in reductions over what funding levels were several years ago. So, I have no argument with the bill that they have presented, given the cards that they were dealt.

I am here to urge support for the bill and an additional passage, but I do have to say that two things could make me change my mind if the bill came back from conference committee: one, with inadequate funding levels, without some relief from the conditions under which the Committee on International Relations were required to work; and the second, were the amendment to be offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) to be adopted.

In either one of those cases, I would think that at conference when the bill comes back from conference we should take a second look at this question, and my hope is that the administration, working with the appropriators, will deal with some of the critical shortfalls that do exist in this bill.

And at the same time I have to say that the bill fully funds the Camp David countries, Israel and Egypt; it provides a partial funding for Jordan under the Wye request. It is our understanding that the Wye request and the appropriations which I consider critically important will be dealt with at the time of the conference committees, whether they come from the 150 or the 650 account; but somewhere in the context of all of this, before this Congress breaks, it is very important that that should be funded. The increase in funding for child survival programs even in the context of the severe limitations is badly needed; the same with UNICEF.

So I think there is a lot of important provisions in this bill. There are a lot of deficiencies. The gentleman from California has touched on a number of them. I would like to see more money in the refugee and migration assistance account, Peace Corps is underfunded, a number of other provisions; but I will not belabor that at this point.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. CALLAHAN. As my colleagues know, I think the gentleman from California is a super individual and I have expressed that to him on many occasions. But let me remind my colleague the only way we can balance the budget, the only way we can save Medicare, the only way we can save Social Security is to cut back on spending, and that also means foreign affairs, foreign aid.

So I appreciate the gentleman’s philosophy.

Mr. BERMAN. Reclaiming my time, I say to the gentleman from Alabama I think he is super too, but I have to say if America is going to maintain its leadership in the world, a number of things have to happen. If we are going to continue to try and promote democracy and respect for human rights and development of human potential around the world, we have to put resources into this. I do not believe for a second that foreign assistance at the level the administration has requested will in any way hurt our ability to continue to balance our budget, save Social Security, reform Medicare, and do the other things we need to do. This is small potatoes in the context of the whole budget, and let me just add one thing.

The problem is we get ourselves into a cycle. Originally, the Committee on Foreign Operations was given an incredibly low allocation of $10.4 billion. The chairman with his valiant efforts, I assume, all of sudden that level was $12.6 billion. That is much better, but our colleagues keep lowering, dashing our expectation so much.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield for a question?

Mr. BERMAN. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman. First of all we cannot resolve this issue over whether or not an additional increase in foreign aid would jeopardize Social Security and Medicare. We just want to make certain it does not. But I will be happy to sit down one evening with the gentleman for as much as 3 or 4 hours to discuss this issue as to whether or not foreign aid ought to be increased even at the expense of jeopardizing Social Security and Medicare. I think it would make an interesting conversation, and I would invite the gentleman to sit down with me one evening in the near future for several hours to discuss this issue.

Mr. BERMAN. Reclaiming my time, I appreciate the gentleman’s offer. I plan to take him up on it. We can go either way in terms of this conversation.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS).

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Chairman, I would like to thank the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI) for her tremendous efforts on behalf of all the peoples of the world. She has done a great job serving as ranking member on the Committee on Appropriations, and let me just say I have appreciation for everything that I have heard today about the bipartisan efforts, and I understand the limitations that my colleagues were working within.
Services, I am working to improve the HIPC initiative. I have introduced H.R. 2232, the Debt Relief and Development in Africa Act of 1999. This bill would relieve the debts of sub-Saharan African countries and target the savings from debt relief to HIV/AIDS treatment and prevention, health care, education and poverty reduction programs. I am also a cosponsor of H.R. 1056, the Debt Relief for Poverty Reduction Act of 1999 which would expand the HIPC initiative.

Also, the Foreign Operations Appropriations bill also cuts funding for the African Development Fund which provides low-interest loans to poor countries in Africa and completely eliminates funding for the African Development Bank, which provides market-rate loans to qualifying African countries.

Furthermore, the bill cuts refugee assistance by $266 million below this year’s budget. Well, I guess if we take out the money for Kosovo, we cut it by $20 million below this year’s level. I would be happy, because Israel and Egypt got its funding. Africa still lags far behind, and every year I must get up and do this until Africa is treated fairly.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. Berman). I would be happy because Israel and Egypt got its funding. Africa still lags far behind, and every year I must get up and do this until Africa is treated fairly.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the remaining time to close.

I want to thank all of the Members of the House who have spoken on this bill that we have worked so hard on. I am so pleased with the interest in the bill. Our differences are largely not partisan on this bill, and we have very few differences today, except for the funding level.

I wanted to take just a moment to talk about that because my distinguished chairman keeps bringing up the subject of Medicare and Social Security, and I want to point out to our colleagues that this bill is about, as we have heard, about $12.8 billion, $12.65 billion. That is about less than 1 percent of our national budget. And if we take out what we have in there for export finance and trade financing and guarantees, even less than that, because that is not foreign assistance, that is assistance to the U.S. manufacturers.

So we have a very, very tiny percentage of our national budget which we use to prevent war, to prevent the spread of disease, to prevent environmental disasters. To me, it is a small price to pay. Indeed, as our Chairman has said, it is the least we can do. In fact, we should do much more.

We are the lowest of all of the industrialized countries, the lowest in relationship to our GDP in assistance, bilateral assistance to other countries. That is not what the American people want. And there is not going to be any saving of Social Security or risking of Medicare or Social Security because we spend a little bit more money preventing health care for our citizens, over 100 mayors from around the country, New Orleans, respectively. At these conventions, over 100 mayors from around the country said their districts and people asked them, when SONNY CALLAHAN brought a bill to the floor of the House to cut foreign aid, how did you vote, I should think my colleagues that they will have an easy explanation when they go back to their districts and people ask them, when SONNY CALLAHAN brought a bill to the floor of the House to cut foreign aid, how did you vote, I should think.

Mr. Chairman, I would recommend to my colleagues that they will have an easy explanation when they go back to their districts and people ask them, when SONNY CALLAHAN brought a bill to the floor of the House to cut foreign aid, how did you vote, I should think all Members of Congress would want to say, I voted for the Callahan bill.

Mr. KNOLLENBERG. Mr. Chairman, earlier this year, the National Conference of Black Mayors, and the U.S. Conference of Mayors held their annual conventions in Denver and New Orleans, respectively. At these conventions, over 100 mayors from around the country signed a petition calling on EPA to provide utility energy providers with maximum flexibility and lead time necessary to avoid higher energy costs to municipalities and local communities including industrial and residential consumers.

Mr. Chairman, as you are aware, EPA finalized a rulemaking last year which forced states, including Michigan, to submit State Implementation Plans (SIP’s) to meet mandated reductions of oxides of nitrogen (NOx) emissions. One element of the rule would force local utilities to control NOx emissions at unprecedented levels. The reductions are of a magnitude that will require capital intensive technology with likely significant pass-through costs to energy consumers, including municipalities, and local communities. As rural and urban communities seek investment to spur economic growth, the shadow of higher energy costs could have significant adverse

I urge my colleagues to vote for the bill if it does not have the Smith amendment in it.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the remaining time.

I will close by saying that the basic argument that I have heard tonight is not over the contents of the bill, but for the lack of more than some think ought to be included therein.

I might say that the opponents on that argument make good points, that maybe it is not enough money. But in my opinion, it is enough money, and I do not think it is going to be detrimental to me at all to go back and explain to my constituents that I was the one who proposed a bill to cut foreign aid. I apologize to the President if he wants $2 billion more. He is not going to get it.

Yes, yes, this vote tonight, finally, on the passage of this bill, Mr. Chairman, is a vote to cut foreign aid, if we want to cut it, well then vote “yes.” If one does not want to cut it and one thinks it ought to be more, then vote “no.”

But the real question in this bill is whether or not we are going to cut the President’s request, whether or not we are going to cut last year’s appropriation, whether or not we are going to preserve this money to pay for Social Security needs, for Medicare needs, for other areas such as tax reduction, or even balancing the budget and paying off the debt. That is what the final passage of this bill is all about.

Mr. Chairman, I would recommend to my colleagues that they will have an easy explanation when they go back to their districts and people ask them, when SONNY CALLAHAN brought a bill to the floor of the House to cut foreign aid, how did you vote, I should think all Members of Congress would want to say, I voted for the Callahan bill.
effects on brownfields redevelopment and rural/urban revitalization generally. Further, these high-grade benefits of lower energy costs realized from deregulation.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, the EPA compliance deadlines are so stringent that electric utilities could be forced to shut down generating plants to install the necessary control equipment within a very short time. This could result in temporary disruptions of electricity supply. Mr. Chairman, the U.S. Court of Appeals, just this past month, issued a stay of the EPA NOx SIP call pending the agency’s appeal of the court’s decision to strike down EPA’s National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) for fine particulate matter (PM 2.5). The future of the agency’s NOx SIP call is uncertain. Nonetheless, the mayors’ petition represents a common-sense plea to EPA that, should the court’s decision to strike down EPA’s NOx SIP call, we urge EPA to provide maximum flexibility to and address lead-time needs of utility energy providers so as to minimize potential adverse economic consequences to local rural and urban communities. Further, we call on EPA to restore balance and cooperation between States and EPA so that States can comply with the rule while protecting their rights to determine the best methods of doing so.

Finally, we direct that copies of this Petition be presented to the President, the Vice President, Members of Congress, Governors and other local officials as are appropriate.

STATE, CITY, AND MAYOR

Alabama
Moses—Walter S. Hill
Arkansas
North Little Rock—Patrick H. Hayes
Marianna—Robert Taylor
Sunset—James Wilburn
California
Alameda—Ralph J. Appezzato
Fairfield—George Pettygrove
Fresno—Jim Patterson
Inglewood—Rosevelt F. Dorn
Modesto—Richard A. Lang
Turlock—Dr. Curt Andre
Westminster—Frank G. Fry
Florida
Eatonville—Anthony Grant
Gretta—Anthony Baker
North Lauderdale—Jack Brady
South Bay—Clarence Anthony
Tamarac—Joe Schrieber
Titusville—Larry D. Bartley
Georgia
Augusta—Bob Young
Dawson—Robert Abrirten
East Point—Barbara Jo Hilliard
Savannah—Floyd Adams, Jr.
Stone Mountain—Chuck Burris
Oklahoma
Santa Nita—Joe C. Welsey
Yigo—Robert S. Lizama
Illinois
Brooklyn—Ruby Cook
Carol Stream—Rene Ferraro
Centreville—Riley L. Owens III
DeKalb—Bessie Chronopoulos
East St. Louis—Gordon Bush
Evanston—Lorraine H. Morton
Glendale Heights—J. Ben Fajardo
Lincolnwood—Madeleine Grant
Robbins—Irene H. Brodie
Rockford—Charles E. Box
Sun River Terrace—Casey Wade, Jr.
Indiana
Carmel—Jim Brainard
Fort Wayne—Paul Helmke
Louisiana
Boyce—Julius Patrick, Jr.
Chatagnier—Herman Malveaux
Cullen—Robby R. Washington
Jeanerette—James Alexander, Sr.
Napoleonville—Darrell Jupiter, Sr.
New Orleans—Michael
St. Gabriel—George L Grace
White Castle—Maurice Brown
Maine
 Lewiston—Kailiegh A. Tara
Maryland
Seat Pleasant—Eugene F. Kennedy
Massachusetts
Leominster—Dean J. Mazzarella
Taunton—Robert G. Nunes
Michigan
Detroit—Dennis Archer
Garden City—James L. Barker
Inkster—Edward Bevins
Muskegon Heights—Robert Warren
Taylor—Gregory E. Pitionak
Minnesota
Rochester—Charles J. Canfield
Saint Paul—Nori Coleman
Mississippi
Fayette—Roger W. King
Glendora—Johnny Thomas
Laurel—Susan Boone Vincent
Marks—Dwight F. Barfield
Niceville—Robert Le Flore
Shelby—Erick Holmes
Tutwiler—Robert Grayson
Winstonville—Milton Tutwiler
Missouri
Kinlock—Bernard L. Turner, Sr.
Omaha—Hal Daub
New Jersey
Chesterfield—Arland Poindexter
Hope—Timothy C. McDonough
Newark—Sharpe James
Orange—Muise Herchet
New York
Hempstead—James A. Garner
Rockport—William A. Johnson, Jr.
White Plains—Joseph Delfino
North Carolina
Charlotte—Pat McCrory
Durham—Nicholas J. Tennyson
Greene—Alfred Dixon
North Dakota
Fargo—Bruce W. Furness
Ohio
Columbus—Greg Lashtutka
Lyndhurst—Leonard M. Creary
Middleburg Heights—Gary W. Stahr
Ohio
Maskoegoe—Jim Bushnell
Oklahoma City—Kirk D. Humphrey
Tatum—Cecil Jones
Oregon
Tualatin—Lou Ogden
Rhode Island
Providence—V. A. Cianci, Jr.
South Carolina
Andrews—Lothvit Anderson, Sr.
Greenvile—Floyd Nicholson
Tennessee
Germantown—Sharon Goldworthy
Knoxville—Victor Ashe
Texas
Amarillo—John White
Arlington—Alize Odem
Beaumont—David Moore
Bedford—Richard D. Hurt
Euless—Mary Lib Salem
Hurst—Bill Sonder
Hutchens—Mary Washington
Kendleton—Carolyn Jones
Kyle—James Adkins
New Braunfels—Charles Scoma
Port Arthur—Osco G. Ortiz
Waxahachie—James Beatty
Virginia
Portsmouth—Dr. James W. Holley III
Mr. SHAYS. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank Chairman CALLAHAN and Ranking Member PELOSI for their work in drafting this important appropriations bill. Given the limited funds available to them, I think they should be commended for their work in bringing this bill forward.

I will support this bill but grudgingly, because I believe the reductions it makes in foreign aid are too deep. And I believe we should be asking other parts of the federal budget to share the burden we are placing on this bill.

But instead, we are increasing spending in other areas, and asking foreign aid to pick up the slack. We are asking this budget to bend further and further, and I am here to say: this budget can't bend any further.

Mr. Chairman, as a fiscal conservative and a senior member of the Budget Committee, my number one priority in Congress has been to get our financial house in order. In past years, I have supported reductions in our foreign aid budget because it was consistent with our overall efforts to reduce federal spending and eliminate 30 years of deficit spending. We were trying to rein in spending in every other portion of the budget, and the foreign operations bill took a hit like everything else.

But I rise today to say that we have picked on the foreign aid budget too much and for too long. I believe every area must play a part in our effort to control the growth of federal spending. But even as we increase spending on agriculture, defense, and other appropriations bills, we are once again decreasing funding for foreign aid. And I, for one, do not understand why that is.

This year's agriculture appropriations bill increased discretionary spending by $13.69 billion to $13.94 billion. This year's defense appropriations bill increased spending by $250.5 billion to $266.1 billion. And this year's transportation appropriations bill increased spending by $47.2 to $50.7 billion. Yet, we are decreasing foreign aid spending from $13.4 billion to $12.6 billion.

As a former Peace Corps volunteer, I can attest to the difference foreign assistance makes in the lives of people around the world, and the important role it plays in enhancing international trade and helping maintain national security. I know it is easy and most often popular to vote to cut foreign aid. But the simple fact is, this bill's $12.6 billion in foreign assistance represents just 0.7 percent of the federal budget. That is what we are debating here today.

Foreign aid is used to promote health, nutrition, agriculture, education, and other noble goals. Foreign aid is truly one of our nation's greatest international investments. It's not a handout; our aid is intended to help the poorest nations rise up and become self-sufficient, so they will no longer require our assistance. I support this bill, but hope we end this destructive trend of reducing foreign aid budgets.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Chairman, I rise to thank the Chairman, Mr. CALLAHAN, for including in this legislation the report language regarding the Office of Private and Voluntary Cooperation described below.

This legislation provides $48,000,000 for the Office of Private and Voluntary Cooperation including $8,000,000 for cooperatives. This fund enables United States cooperatives and credit unions to share their self-help business approaches with developing and market transition countries. I commend the Administration for their work on this important issue and its funding for US cooperatives.

In addition, the Committee notes that in Central America, US cooperatives in countries hard-hit by Hurricanes George and Mitch. The Committee encourages USAID to fully utilize the expertise of U.S. and indigenous cooperatives in this region, especially in the expansion of cash crops such as coffee and sesame.

U.S. cooperatives have been working overseas for more than three decades. They are at work in the villages of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. In Central and Eastern Europe, they are helping to achieve a free market, democratic way of life—those that cooperatives and uniquely to help others achieve.

Cooperatives have the advantage of keeping economic benefits within a community. Profit is not siphoned off by outside interests, because the co-op's members are its owners, and the co-op exists to fill a need in a community that is not being met to other business enterprises.

Electric and telephone co-ops meet rural consumers' needs for power and telecommunications not satisfied by private businesses. Farm co-ops help in the production and marketing of commodities. Housing co-ops give low-income people the opportunity to own their own homes. Cooperative insurance protects individuals and small businesses from risk. Credit unions serve people of limited income not reached by commercial banks, and extend credit to micro entrepreneurs who otherwise might not be able to secure funding.

Cooperatives promote democracy by allowing members to jointly own their business. They share capital, elect a board of directors, and receive the benefits of ownership through better service and patronage refunds based attention to the problem in these heavily indebted poor countries and have asked that the U.S. recognize the crippling effect that paying interest has on these countries.

Additionally, HIV/AIDS stalks Africa. Thirty million people in the world are infected with HIV/AIDS—the vast majority live in these heavily indebted countries. While nearly every region of the world has been affected by the pandemic, Sub-Saharan Africa has been ravaged by the disease, suffering 11.5 million deaths since the epidemic emerged, with a projected 22.5 million more in the next ten years. In some countries, 30% of all working adults now have AIDS or carry the virus.

Debt relief is essential. I ask my colleagues to vote against this appropriations bill.

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to lend my strong support for the FY 2000 Foreign Operations spending package.

Mr. Chairman, everyone in this chamber knows that funding America's overseas commitments is not one of the most popular things we do in this body. With tight federal budgets, I know it is easy and popular to cut funding for this money, and many people do not realize that this appropriations package is one of the smallest this Congress will consider out of the 13 bills. That being said, I would like to praise the work of Chairman Callahan and the Foreign Operations Subcommittee for bringing to the floor a commonsense package that stretches the taxpayers' money and continues the Republican Congress' commitment to slowing foreign assistance.

One of the areas I am very concerned about in this bill deals with America's strongest and most reliable ally in the Middle East, Israel. H.R. 2606 proposes $960 million in economic aid to our friend in the Middle East. Mr. Chairman this is almost $120 million less than the FY 99 level which leaves me with some concern, but nonetheless, this is important funding to help insure stability in Israel's economy, and this approach by the committee will eventually lead us down the glidepath of a phase-out of economic assistance.

H.R. 2606 also helps to provide for the security of Israel. Mr. Chairman, this bill provides for a $60 million increase over FY 99 for military assistance to the republic of Tikrit. While I am pleased to hear that the new Israeli leadership is eager to step up efforts in the peace process, it is clear that we cannot have peace in the Middle East without a strong and secure Israel. These funds for Israel are especially important when the United States is still concerned and engaged with threats by Iraq, Libya, Syria, Iran and international terrorists in the region. Chemical and biological weapons have already been used in the region, and several enemies or terrorist groups in the region are waiting for the opportunity to disrupt the peace process or commit outright acts of aggression towards Israel. These funds will reduce that threat for our ally and for American interests in the Middle East and around the world.

Mr. Chairman, this is a responsible bill that meets our overseas commitments and ensures that America's allies are engaged as active partners in U.S. foreign policy. I thank the Chairman for his attention to the needs of our friends in Israel, and I ask that members support this measure.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIRMAN. All time for general debate has expired.

Pursuant to the rule, the bill shall be considered for amendment under the 5-minute rule.

Before consideration of any other amendment, it shall be in order to consider the amendments printed in part A of House Report 106-269. Those amendments may be considered only in the order printed in part A of the report. Amendments printed in part B of the report may be offered only at the appropriate point in the reading of the bill.

Each amendment printed in the report may be offered only by a Member designated in the report, shall be debatable for the time specified in the report, equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, and shall not be subject to amendment.

During consideration of the bill for further amendment, the Chair may accord priority in recognition to a Member offering an amendment that he has printed in the designated place in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD. Those amendments will be considered read.

The Chairman of the Committee of the Whole may postpone a request for a recorded vote on any amendment and may reduce to a minimum of 5 minutes the time for voting on any postponed question that immediately follows another vote, provided that the time for voting on the first question shall be a minimum of 15 minutes.

It is now in order to consider amendment No. 1 printed in part A of House Report 106-269.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 OFFERED BY MR. SMITH OF NEW JERSEY

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Part A amendment No. 1 offered by Mr. Smith of New Jersey:

At the end of the bill, insert after the last section (preceding the short title) the following:

LIMITATION ON FUNDS FOR FOREIGN ORGANIZATIONS THAT PERFORM OR PROMOTE ABORTION

SEC. 104. (a) Section 104 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2151b) is amended by adding at the end the following:

(b) Notwithstanding section 614 of this Act or any other provision of law, no funds appropriated for population planning activities or other population assistance may be made available for any foreign private, nongovernmental, or multilateral organization until the organization certifies that it will not, during the period for which the funds are made available, perform abortions in any foreign country, except where the life of the mother would be endangered if the pregnancy were carried to term or in cases of forcible rape or incest.

(c) Subparagraph (A) may not be construed to apply to the treatment of injuries or illnesses caused by legal or illegal abortions or to assistance provided directly to the government.

"(2) LOBBYING ACTIVITIES.—(A) Notwithstanding section 614 of this Act or any other provision of law, no funds appropriated for population planning activities or other population assistance may be made available for any foreign private, non-governmental, or multilateral organization until the organization certifies that it will not, during the period for which the funds are made available, violate the laws of any foreign country concerning the circumstances under which abortion is permitted, regulated, or prohibited, or engage in any activity or effort to alter the laws or governmental policies of any foreign country concerning the circumstances under which abortion is permitted, regulated or prohibited.

(B) Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to activities in opposition to coercive abortion or involuntary sterilization.

"(3) APPLICATION TO FOREIGN ORGANIZATIONS.—The prohibitions of this subsection apply to funds made available to a foreign organization either directly or as a subcontractor or subgrantee, and the certifications required by paragraphs (1) and (2) apply to activities in which the organization engages either directly or through a subcontractor or subgrantee.

(b) The President may waive the provisions of section 204A(h)(1) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (relating to population assistance to foreign organizations that perform abortions in foreign countries), as added by subsection (a), for any fiscal year.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 263, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Smith) and a Member opposed each will control 10 minutes.

Does the gentleman from California seek to control the time in opposition?

Ms. Pelosi. Yes, I do, Mr. Chairman, and I ask unanimous consent to yield 5 minutes of that 10 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Greenwood).

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Greenwood) will control 5 minutes of the time in opposition.

The gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Smith) is recognized for 10 minutes.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 4 minutes.

Mr. Chairman, I offer this on behalf of myself, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Barcia); the gentleman from North Carolina (Mrs. Myrick); the gentleman from Florida (Ms. Ros-Lehtinen); the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. Shows); the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. Oberstar); and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Hyde).

Let me begin by telling Members what this is not about. The amendment before us is not about family planning funding. The bill before us provides up to $385 million for international family planning programs. If the amendment passes, this amount will remain exactly the same, $385 million for family planning programs. The amendment does not cut that amount by one cent.

Second, the vote on this amendment is not about some of the cartoon illustrations that have been conjured up in some of the faxes and fliers being put out by pro-abortion organizations. This amendment already has a track record. It is substantially identical to the anti-lobbying provision of the Mexico City Policy, which governed all U.S. foreign family planning programs from 1984 until 1993.

During those 9 years, the anti-lobbying provision was interpreted according to a rule of reason. We gave population assistance to literally hundreds of organizations during those 9 years, and we never cut off funding to a single organization because an officer of the organization gave a speech. Not even once. In fact, during the whole 9 years, only 2 organizations were ever denied Federal funding under the Mexico City Policy, and it was because they themselves refused to agree not to perform or actively promote abortion except to save the mother's life or in cases of rape or incest.
Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in support of the Smith-Barcia amendment. Under no circumstances, under no circumstances should American taxpayers underwrite pro-abortion activities in foreign countries. Today an increasing number of Americans are growing weary of the abortion on demand policy in our land. There is a growing sense that this practice has hardened our hearts and torn the very moral fabric of this great Nation in two.

After almost three decades, American attitudes towards abortion are becoming less permissive. In fact, a recent survey for the Center for Gender Equality showed that 53 percent of American women believe that abortion should be illegal under all circumstances, or allowed only in cases of rape, incest, and the life of the mother. That is up 8 percent from only 2 years ago.

During this time, when American views on abortion are changing so drastically, it should not be the policy of the United States to undermine abortion laws in other countries. Over the last 6 years, the U.S. Government has provided over $3 billion of taxpayer money to population control organizations overseas. Many of these groups are the largest abortion providers and promoters in the world.

This amendment does not cut population control funding to these organizations by one cent, even though many of them would like to do so. In fact, the amendment simply prohibits American aid from going to groups that violate existing foreign abortion laws, or lobby to change the laws in approximately 100 countries that currently restrict that practice.

Mr. Chairman, in a Nation founded on freedom, we must continue to trumpept the reality that all of our rights
Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. RYUN).

Mr. RYUN of Kansas. Mr. Chairman, I would just like to offer my support for the Smith amendment, and ask that my colleagues vote for the Foreign Families Protection Amendment.

Mr. Chairman, until its removal in 1993 by President Clinton, the Mexico City Policy prevented foreign organizations from using American tax dollars to perform or encourage the termination of a child's life through abortion.
Since 1993, over three billion American taxpayer dollars have been given to international population control groups. Many of these organizations provide and promote abortions, considering abortions a reasonable and conven-tient means to achieve their objective.

That is why I support the Foreign Families Protection Amendment to the Foreign Operations Appropriations bill. The amendment renews the Mexico City Policy that was in effect from 1984 to 1992. The Amendment will also halt funds from being given to organizations which lobby to change abortion laws in other countries.

In keeping with my responsibility to uphold the Constitution, I cannot agree to lend U.S. fi-ancial support to organizations in other countries that seek to deny others their inalienable right to life. I would urge my colleagues to search their consciences and protect the rights of all children, who have no voice to speak for themselves.

Mr. Chairman, I ask for a "yes" vote on the Foreign Families Protection Amendment.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 1⁄2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. PITTS).

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Chairman, the Mexico City Amendment removes the Mexico City Policy that was in effect from 1984 to 1992. The Amendment will also prohibit funds from being given to organizations which lobby to change abortion laws in other countries. It is called the Foreign Families Protection Amendment.

As millions of U.S. taxpayer dollars flow to developing nations for the purpose of population control, it is critical that we refrain from promoting or even injecting our own penchant for abortions into these Nations. With the degree that we in this Nation disagree on the subject of abortion, it is not, at the very least, appropriate that we refrain from providing U.S. taxpayer funds to organizations that lobby for abortions overseas.

Where are the multiculturalists now who suggest that we respect developing cultures when their beliefs do not agree with ours? Apparently, if these beliefs are not pro-abortion, that creed holds no meaning.

Mr. Chairman, United States taxpayers who hold such conflicting views on abortion should absolutely not be forced to subsidize those lobbying activities. Support the Smith amendment.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I am very, very pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. MALONEY), a leader on issues of family planning throughout the world and a champion of poor women and poor families.

Mrs. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI) for her leadership and for yielding time to me.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to support the Smith amendment, which if it should pass, would be surely vetoed by the President, as he has vetoed it in the past. It has no chance of becoming law.

If Members support additional restrictions on family planning, they should support the bipartisan Greenwood compromise, because it has the possibility of actually becoming law.

The Smith amendment is unnecessary because U.S. law, the Helms amendment of 1973, already prohibits the use of United States funds to either perform abortion or to lobby for or against abortion rights. The real target is and always has been family planning services and those organizations most qualified to deliver them.

The Smith amendment’s ban on speech is nothing more than a gag rule that would punish foreign organizations for engaging in public policy debate, for petitioning their government, for being involved in the democratic process, rights that would be protected under the First Amendment in our country.

The Smith amendment is constitutional solely because it applies only to foreigners outside of the United States. Instead, I ask my colleagues to join me and many others in a compromise. Instead of telling other countries what they can and cannot do, let us respect other countries’ laws. In the Greenwood compromise, these countries would be disqualified, any foreign non-governmental organization, from being eligible for U.S. population assistance if it provides abortions in violation of that country’s laws.

I urge my colleagues to vote against the unnecessary, because it is already law, the anti-family planning, and the undemocratic Smith amendment, and to support the Greenwood compromise.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from California (Ms. PELOSI) has expired. The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. GREENWOOD) has 1½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) has 2½ minutes remaining.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Chairman, who is entitled to close this debate?

The CHAIRMAN. Under this circumstance, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) would be entitled to close the debate.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. CAMPBELL), who I think of when I think of the conscience of this House.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Pennsylvania for that very generous introduction.

Mr. Chairman, I ask the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) if he would enter into a colloquy.

Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH).

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Sure. I would be happy to, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, to the gentleman’s knowledge, does the United States give money to Israel?

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Yes, it does.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Does Israel permit abortion?

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Israel does permit abortions.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, would not the logic, then, of the amendment of the gentleman from New Jersey, is not about fungible money, mean that we should vote to cut off all aid to Israel?

Does the gentleman not believe, then, that the logic he is putting forward to this House, namely, that all money is fungible; that if we give money for some purposes which are good, but some of the recipients which receive that money use it for other purposes, including abortion; then that premise justifies cutting off all assistance, and that that premise would lead you to cut off all aid to Israel?

I am pleased to yield to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH).

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from California for yielding to me.

Absolutely not. As a matter of fact, we faced that back in 1984 when the Mexico City policy was first crafted, that there is only one government per country, whereas there are a multitude, a myriad of NGOs to whom we could provide money. And if a certain NGO said it wanted to promote abortion and lobby to bring down the right-to-life laws, we could find another NGO that wanted only to do family planning.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, I reclaim my time to suggest that the logic of the gentleman from New Jersey puts him into this corner. I know the gentleman’s amendment avoids it, but the logic to which he presents us is, if we give money and it is intended for a good purpose, but, since all money is fungible, if some of it ends up for abortion, then we should not give any money at all.

The fact is, Mr. Chairman, that there is awfully important work done by family planning. The underlying bill, the chairman’s mark, does not include this language. We should not support the Smith amendment.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield 30 seconds to the distinguished gentleman from Florida (Mr. WELDON).

Mr. WELDON of Florida. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from New Jersey for yielding me this time, and I rise in support of the Smith amendment, and I ask my colleagues to vote for it and vote in opposition to the Greenwood amendment.

This is much clearer this year, and it is pretty straightforward. If my colleagues think taxpayer dollars should go to fund organizations that are going to try to overturn pro-life laws in foreign countries, then they do not want to vote for the Smith amendment. If my colleagues think that it is an inappropriate use of the taxpayer dollars of working Americans, vote for the Smith amendment; vote against the Greenwood amendment. It is not confusing this year. It is very straightforward.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. MYRICK) to close.

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the Smith amendment that would protect foreign countries from U.S. taxpayer dollars being used to undermine their laws on abortion. The press has reported on the use of taxpayer dollars for abortions within our own borders, except when the life of the mother is endangered or in cases of rape or incest. This amendment continues to guarantee that American taxpayer dollars are subject to the same test when the money is used to assist foreign countries.

Money is fungible. Any organization that is involved in international family planning efforts and performs abortions and lobbies to weaken abortion laws should not receive taxpayer dollars.

The international population control groups are active and powerful. Some of the groups are actively trying to lift restrictions on abortions in over 100 countries, including Ireland, Brazil, Mexico, and Sri Lanka. We should not be funding their lobbying efforts. But if we continue to subsidize their other programs, we will be doing exactly that.

This amendment will not decrease the amount of money available for
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

July 29, 1999

i

The question was taken; and the Chairman announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

RECORDED VOTE

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey, Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote. A recorded vote was ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 228, noes 200, not voting 6, as follows:

[Roll No. 349]

AYES—228

Mr. Chairman, we need to protect our taxpayers’ dollars. I urge a vote for the Greenwood amendment. Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas, Mr. Chairman, I rise to oppose the amendment offered by Representative Smith that would prohibit U.S. population assistance funds from being made available to foreign organizations that perform abortions.

The Smith amendment does not limit the ability of the staff of international population control groups from lobbying on their own time as individual citizens, but they would be limited from doing so as a representative of an organization that receives U.S. funds because these organizations are seen as representatives of our taxpayer dollars. I urge a vote for the Greenwood amendment.

The amendment offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH), Mr. Chairman, we need to protect our taxpayers’ dollars. I urge a vote for the Greenwood amendment. Mr. Chairman, I want to protect our taxpayers’ dollars. I urge a vote for the Greenwood amendment.

Mr. Chairman, we need to protect our taxpayers’ dollars. I urge a vote for the Greenwood amendment.

The Smith amendment does not limit the ability of the staff of international population control groups from lobbying on their own time as individual citizens, but they would be limited from doing so as a representative of an organization that receives U.S. funds because these organizations are seen as representatives of our taxpayer dollars. I urge a vote for the Greenwood amendment.

The amendment offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH), Mr. Chairman, we need to protect our taxpayers’ dollars. I urge a vote for the Greenwood amendment. Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas, Mr. Chairman, I rise to oppose the amendment offered by Representative Smith that would prohibit U.S. population assistance funds from being made available to foreign organizations that perform abortions.

The Smith amendment does not limit the ability of the staff of international population control groups from lobbying on their own time as individual citizens, but they would be limited from doing so as a representative of an organization that receives U.S. funds because these organizations are seen as representatives of our taxpayer dollars. I urge a vote for the Greenwood amendment.
debate, at which time we will then vote on the Greenwood amendment.

Under current law, let me just reiterate, no U.S. funds are used to perform abortion. I want to repeat that. No U.S. funds can be used to perform abortion under current law or to lobby for or against abortion. We already know that.

I want to point out that the Greenwood-Pelosi amendment reiterates the ban on the use of U.S. funds to lobby on abortion and, in addition, it adds that no U.S. funds may be used to promote abortion as a method of family planning.

The Greenwood amendment makes clear that organizations receiving U.S. funds for family planning services must be committed to using those funds to reduce the incidence of abortion.

We all know that it has been very clear, looking at Russia and other states of the former Soviet Union, that abortion was relied upon previously as a primary method of birth control. And now with the advent of contraception, the abortion rate has plummeted 25 percent. The number has dropped by 800,000.

So I ask this body to vote for the Greenwood-Pelosi amendment.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Yes, Mr. Chairman, I do.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Yes, Mr. Chairman, I do.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Chairman, I yield 5 of those 10 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI) for her to control.

The CHAIRMAN. There is no objection to the request of the gentleman from Pennsylvania?

There was no objection.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. MORELIA).

Mrs. MORELIA. Mr. Chairman, this amendment, the Greenwood-Pelosi amendment, is one that all of us on both sides of the aisle can easily vote for.

Under current law, let me just reiterate, no U.S. funds are used to perform abortion. I want to repeat that. No U.S. funds can be used to perform abortion under current law or to lobby for or against abortion. We already know that.

I want to point out that the Greenwood-Pelosi amendment reiterates the ban on the use of U.S. funds to lobby on abortion and, in addition, it adds that no U.S. funds may be used to promote abortion as a method of family planning.

The Greenwood-Pelosi amendment makes clear that organizations receiving U.S. funds for family planning services must be committed to using those funds to reduce the incidence of abortion.

We all know that it has been very clear, looking at Russia and other states of the former Soviet Union, that abortion was relied upon previously as a primary method of birth control. And now with the advent of contraception, the abortion rate has plummeted 25 percent. The number has dropped by 800,000.

So I ask this body to vote for the Greenwood-Pelosi amendment.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. DEMINT).

Mr. DEMINT. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the Greenwood amendment.

Sometimes in Congress it is hard to tell one bill from another. We just passed the Smith-Barcia foreign families protection bill. The Greenwood amendment looks very much like it.

As we wade into this, we need to recognize that this is not just another pro-choice, pro-life debate. Because that is really not the issue. And the issue is not cutting funding for family planning abroad, because we certainly support family assistance abroad. The bill we have passed does not cut that.

The main issue here today is will we force American taxpayers to undermine the values of families and other countries and to try to change their laws.

Approximately 100 countries already have laws restricting abortions. These countries include Ireland, Brazil, and Mexico.

Now, we can debate and argue about whether or not we like the way they restrict abortion. But, hopefully, all of us would agree that we should not ask American taxpayers to fund an organization that is working to change those laws when here at home we have not agreed about that issue.

That is really the crux of the issue. Because while we talk about funding, we need to understand how the Greenwood amendment would fund these activities.

The Greenwood amendment would allow our taxpayer money to go to organizations that lobby to change or undermine laws restricting abortions. This amendment, it is written, it says these funds cannot be used for those purposes. That is kind of like giving soft money to a political party and telling them not to use that to support candidates.

We are supporting the lobbying to undermine organizations abroad if we vote for the Greenwood amendment.

I have got the wording here. And so, if we need to debate it, it is constantly use funds to promote abortion while it would allow organizations to receive this funding who promote abortion and lobby against the laws.

There is a clear distinction here if we read it. And I ask my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, pro-choice issue to vote against the Greenwood amendment and allow the Smith-Barcia foreign families protection amendment to stand.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to just acknowledge the statement of the gentleman that giving this amendment to the groups is like giving soft money to a candidate.

Does that mean that he then is opposed to soft money in campaigns? I hope it does.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. LOWEY) a distinguished leader and a member of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Chairman, I thank my friend from California for yielding me the time.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to address my colleague. Because the Greenwood substitute specifically and carefully addresses the concerns of my colleague about abortion without destroying our international family planning programs.

It says explicitly, no U.S. funds may be used to lobby on abortion, for or against, that no U.S. funds may be used to promote abortion as a method of family planning; and it prohibits any recipients of U.S. international family
Mr. BARCIA. In other words, if abortion is illegal in a country, an organization cannot use its own money to perform abortions. And if a country prohibits advocacy on abortion, an organization cannot use its own money to advocate on the issue. If an organization violates either of these requirements, it loses its U.S. assistance, period.

This substitute is very clear that the U.S. respects the laws of the nations in which we have family planning programs and respects the ability of those nations to enforce their laws.

I urge my colleagues to support the Greenwood substitute.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 30 seconds just to respond briefly.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1½ minutes to my good friend, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. BARCIA).

Mr. BARCIA. Mr. Chairman, we should not spend American dollars for activities that we cannot similarly spend within our own borders.

We have, as a Nation, established a policy in which we prohibit the use of Federal dollars to pay for abortions because of the value that we place on each human life. We should and must demand that any international organization receiving our dollars follow the same limitations that we impose upon ourselves.

The Smith-Barcia amendment, which this House has already passed, uses precise language to prevent taxpayer funding of organizations that engage in any activity or effort to alter the laws or governmental policies of any foreign country concerning abortion.

This amendment now before us would only serve to dilute and confuse this pro-child, pro-family statement. We should not have “shades of meaning” interpretations. Instead, we must be explicit about our goals.

The Smith-Barcia amendment retains the amount of funding available for international population assistance but we ensure that the money goes only to those organizations who do not perform abortion.

We know that there are some organizations which claim that they are assisting in only family planning activities, not abortions, even though the end result of what they are promoting is in fact an abortion. Therefore, I urge my colleagues to vote “no” on the Greenwood amendment.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentlewoman from Colorado (Ms. DEGETTE).

Ms. DEGETTE. Mr. Chairman, the Greenwood amendment ensures that organizations receiving U.S. assistance do not use those funds to perform abortions, promote abortions, or to lobby for or against abortions.

I am baffled why my colleagues on the other side of the aisle would oppose this amendment and oppose programs which have increased childhood survival rates, reduced maternal death rates, and improved women’s reproductive health in the developing world.

It is estimated there are 75 million unwanted pregnancies worldwide, mostly in developing countries. The reproductive health services we need to preserve will dramatically reduce these unwanted pregnancies by providing family planning services and will, therefore, reduce unwanted abortions.

If my colleagues really support reducing abortion, they should do so instead of offering programs which promote abortion overseas. And more important, if they want to eliminate family planning altogether, say so.

Do not mask it in some other argument. Just tell us that, and then we can debate on those grounds.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 30 seconds just to respond briefly.

Mr. CHAIRMAN. The gentleman will reserve the balance of his time.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Chairman, do I have the right, the entitlement to close this debate?

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SOUDER. Mr. Chairman, my friend from Pennsylvania is one of the great Members here to try to work out different compromises. I commend him for that, and in many pieces of legislation we can. When we get to the issue of abortion, it is very difficult to divide a baby, particularly if you believe, as I do, that it is a human life and it is either going to be alive or dead.

For many of us, this is a very deeply held position. We believe, as my colleagues heard in the earlier debate, that this is directly fungible money, that these organizations have hidden goals to them, and while I respect very much my friend from Pennsylvania’s attempt to come up with compromise language, there are just too many loopholes in this language, it is too duplicative in other parts, and I believe that it would not in fact stop international abortion funding. I do not believe in the end that we can split a baby.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentlewoman from California (Ms. MILLER-MCDONALD).

Ms. MILLER-MCDONALD. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong opposition to the Smith amendment and in support of the Greenwood-Pelosi amendment. The Greenwood-Pelosi amendment ensures that U.S. funds for family planning will continue to be made available to foreign countries and the U.S. will not interfere with the laws of those foreign countries. These provisions embrace our Nation’s attempts to create healthy and prosperous communities around the world.

Family planning is a necessity. Mr. Chairman, within our country and around the world. Providing education on methodologies which may harm a woman’s pregnancy, ways to avoid needing an abortion, prenatal care, and how to care for babies are all necessary components of family planning.
I thank the gentleman from Pennsylvania, the gentlewoman from California and all of my colleagues who are here today to stand up for the Greenwood-Pelage foreign policy and making sure that the essentials of family planning are available to the women and families that need it throughout the world. I encourage my colleagues to join me in supporting the Greenwood-Pelage amendment and defeating the Smith amendment.

Ms. Pelosi. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Moran).

Mr. Moran of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of this amendment, because this amendment respects the laws of other countries and it respects the women of other countries.

Now that we have passed the Smith amendment, we have three choices before us: We can either outlaw sex, which is probably not going to be particularly successful, it certainly has not in the countries that we are talking about; or we can turn our back on illegal abortions and we can accept the women of Third World countries being consigned to the poverty, the desperation, the suffering, the exploitation that overpopulation entails; or we can do what the Greenwood amendment does, which is to say there is an alternative to abortion, and, that is, responsible family planning.

That is what our country has done. That is why we are successful. That is why we are a first world country, because we have been able to control overpopulation because we have been able to empower women to control their lives.

Vote for the Greenwood amendment. It is the only thing to do. It is the only responsible thing to do.

Ms. Pelosi. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of my time.

I rise in support of the Greenwood amendment. I do so for the following reasons: Listening to the debate, I think that it is important to make a couple of points. One of our colleagues said that we should have the same limitations on the organizations overseas that we have in the United States. Indeed, if we tried to put this gag rule on any organizations in the United States, it would be unconstitutional. I think we should treat the international organizations the same way as we treat those in the United States, and, that is, with the freedom of speech.

Secondly, I am very baffled, I will join my colleague from Colorado in using the word “baffled,” by the comments of some of our colleagues. If indeed our colleagues agree that abortion should be permitted in case of rape, incest and life of the mother, why then would we say that there should be no conversation about this subject in case of rape, incest and life of the mother for women who need to terminate a pregnancy overseas and organizations who are striving to reduce abortions with family planning?

Mr. Chairman, if we want to reduce abortions, we know the best way is to fund family planning. The gentleman from Pennsylvania offers a fine alternative. I urge my colleagues to support the pending amendment.

Mr. Smith of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Chairman, the House has just made a very strong statement in favor of women and children around the world by passing the pro-life Foreign Families Protection Act offered by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Bucilla), the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. Myrick), the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. Shows), the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. Oberstar), the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mr. Hyde), and myself. I believe if we stand firm we have a chance not only to make a statement but also to make a difference. Even though the Greenwood amendment, the pending amendment, does not alter our amendment one iota—the two would lay side by side, I do urge my colleagues not to dilute the pro-life, pro-family, pro-child message by passing the amendment now pending.

Mr. Chairman, the Greenwood amendment is an empty shell. I say that with all due respect to my friend and colleague from Pennsylvania. It has a tremendous amount of surface appeal, but that is all it has. Its supporters try to portray it somehow as a pro-life amendment.

I want to yield to Members who are striving to reduce abortions, we know the best way is to fund family planning. I urge my colleagues not to dilute the pro-life, pro-family, pro-child message by passing the amendment now pending.

Mr. Chairman, the Greenwood amendment is an empty shell. I say that with all due respect to my friend and colleague from Pennsylvania. It has a tremendous amount of surface appeal, but that is all it has. Its supporters try to portray it somehow as a pro-life amendment.

I want to yield to Members who are striving to reduce abortions, we know the best way is to fund family planning. I urge my colleagues not to dilute the pro-life, pro-family, pro-child message by passing the amendment now pending.

Mr. Chairman, the Greenwood amendment is an empty shell. I say that with all due respect to my friend and colleague from Pennsylvania. It has a tremendous amount of surface appeal, but that is all it has. Its supporters try to portray it somehow as a pro-life amendment.

I want to yield to Members who are striving to reduce abortions, we know the best way is to fund family planning. I urge my colleagues not to dilute the pro-life, pro-family, pro-child message by passing the amendment now pending.

Mr. Chairman, the Greenwood amendment is an empty shell. I say that with all due respect to my friend and colleague from Pennsylvania. It has a tremendous amount of surface appeal, but that is all it has. Its supporters try to portray it somehow as a pro-life amendment. But I would say again with all due respect that they, the Members offering this amendment today, are the leadership of the abortion rights movement here in this Congress. They are certainly entitled to their deeply held opinions, and we can respect those opinions. But I think we should be skeptical about whether their amendment is really a pro-life amendment.

Mr. Chairman, if I ever stand up on this floor and suggest to Members that I am offering a pro-abortion amendment, I hope that my colleagues would be equally skeptical, and I hope that they would look at the fine print. I make the same strong recommendation in this case. When the leadership of the abortion rights movement say they are offering an amendment with all kinds of seemingly pro-life language in the amendment, we need to read the fine print.

The fire print says this, Mr. Chairman: There is nothing whatever in the Greenwood amendment that would alter current policy, which today provides millions of dollars to foreign non-governmental organizations that are aggressively working to overturn the laws that are the foundation of our foreign policy. If we go back and look at history, the reason for the Mexico City policy—and we have only offered half of that policy in the previous vote, the President has a waiver for the performance part but not the promotion part—was that the current policy was found to be so infrim. It was not doing the job. Foreign nongovernmental organizations were setting up shop in one country’s capital after another and then they would network and begin trying to topple the right-to-life law. I believe that is cultural imperialism, especially when we are the major donor in many cases to those various nongovernmental organizations.

Now that we have passed the Smith amendment, we have three choices before us: We can either outlaw sex, which is probably not going to be particularly successful, it certainly has not in the countries that we are talking about; or we can turn our back on illegal abortions and we can accept the women of Third World countries being consigned to the poverty, the desperation, the exploitation that overpopulation entails; or we can do what the Greenwood amendment does, which is to say there is an alternative to abortion, and, that is, responsible family planning.

That is what our country has done. That is why we are successful. That is why we are a first world country, because we have been able to control overpopulation because we have been able to empower women to control their lives.

Vote for the Greenwood amendment. It is the only thing to do. It is the only responsible thing to do.

Ms. Pelosi. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of my time.

I rise in support of the Greenwood amendment. I do so for the following reasons: Listening to the debate, I think that it is important to make a couple of points. One of our colleagues said that we should have the same limitations on the organizations overseas that we have in the United States. Indeed, if we tried to put this gag rule on any organizations in the United States, it would be unconstitutional. I think we should treat the international organizations the same way as we treat those in the United States, and, that is, with the freedom of speech.

Secondly, I am very baffled, I will join my colleague from Colorado in using the word “baffled,” by the comments of some of our colleagues. If indeed our colleagues agree that abortion should be permitted in case of rape, incest and life of the mother, why then would we say that there should be no conversation about this subject in case of rape, incest and life of the mother for women who need to terminate a pregnancy overseas and organizations who are striving to reduce abortions with family planning?

Mr. Chairman, if we want to reduce abortions, we know the best way is to fund family planning. The gentleman from Pennsylvania offers a fine alternative. I urge my colleagues to support the pending amendment.

Mr. Smith of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Chairman, the House has just made a very strong statement in favor of women and children around the world by passing the pro-life Foreign Families Protection Act offered by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Bucilla), the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. Myrick), the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. Shows), the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. Oberstar), the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mr. Hyde), and myself. I believe if we stand firm we have a chance not only to make a statement but also to make a difference. Even though the Greenwood amendment, the pending amendment, does not alter our amendment one iota—the two would lay side by side, I do urge my colleagues not to dilute the pro-life, pro-family, pro-child message by passing the amendment now pending.

Mr. Chairman, the Greenwood amendment is an empty shell. I say that with all due respect to my friend and colleague from Pennsylvania. It has a tremendous amount of surface appeal, but that is all it has. Its supporters try to portray it somehow as a pro-life amendment. But I would say again with all due respect that they, the Members offering this amendment today, are the leadership of the abortion rights movement here in this Congress. They are certainly entitled to their deeply held opinions, and we can respect those opinions. But I think we should be skeptical about whether their amendment is really a pro-life amendment.

Mr. Chairman, if I ever stand up on this floor and suggest to Members that I am offering a pro-abortion amendment, I hope that my colleagues would be equally skeptical, and I hope that they would look at the fine print. I make the same strong recommendation in this case. When the leadership of the abortion rights movement say they are offering an amendment with all kinds of seemingly pro-life language in the amendment, we need to read the fine print.

The fire print says this, Mr. Chairman: There is nothing whatever in the Greenwood amendment that would alter current policy, which today provides millions of dollars to foreign non-governmental organizations that are aggressively working to overturn the laws that are the foundation of our foreign policy. If we go back and look at history, the reason for the Mexico City policy—and we have only offered half of that policy in the previous vote, the President has a waiver for the performance part but not the promotion part—was that the current policy was found to be so infrim. It was not doing the job. Foreign nongovernmental organizations were setting up shop in one country’s capital after another and then they would network and begin trying to topple the right-to-life law. I believe that is cultural imperialism, especially when we are the major donor in many cases to those various nongovernmental organizations. is an ardent hope, but it is a false hope. It will not and it has not, year after year, this year being no exception. It received 221 votes, but it will remain in the conference committee and it will not become law.

So the question before us now is what will remain in the conference committee? If we adopt the Greenwood amendment, we will have some restrictions that we should all support. What are those provisions? The organizations that receive these funds have to certify, as my language does, that they will not use funds to promote abortion as a method of family planning or to lobby for or against abortion. We all support that. Every Member of this House supports that notion. It says that they will use these funds that are made available for family planning services to support a method of family planning, abortion as a method of family planning. We all, 435 of us, stand for that premise. It says that these organizations must certify that they will not engage in an activity or effort in violation of applicable laws or policies of the foreign government, or alter the laws or policies of such where pregnancy was carried to term. In the case of rape or incest, it is with that exception. And it says, the funds appropriated for family population planning activities must only be made to organizations that agree not to violate the laws of any foreign country. So why would all 435 of us not vote for something that all 435 of us believe in?

The gentleman from New Jersey said his legislation makes a statement and it does. He said it will make a difference and it will not. It will not become law. So if you want to make a difference, then you vote for what is left. It is a compromise. It is wise, it is fair, it is something in which we all believe.

And so the only reason, Mr. Chairman, to vote against this amendment is to make the statement that we are so divided by our ideology that we cannot work together and stand together on the basis of our shared intentions. That is what is left to fight about.

The gentleman from New Jersey said this language looks like it is pro-life language. It is pro-life language in the way that most Americans think of. It is pro-life language in the way that most Americans think of. This amendment does not encourage a global gap in that discussion of abortion. The funds given to these NGOs must be used to reduce the incidence of abortion as it encourages other methods of family planning.

This amendment does not discourage these organizations from using their own funds to promote education, but simply places a restriction on the use of U.S. funds. I support this amendment because I understand that many Members are uncomfortable with the U.S. government funding abortions overseas. This amendment offers a compromise that would allow these private NGOs to use their own funds. I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Greenwood/Grove amendment. For 19 years, I have come to the floor in support of international voluntary family planning.

During this time, in spite of Congressional intransigence, international family planning programs have evolved, and in return, countless infants and mothers have been saved and their lives and the lives of their families are healthier and more productive. Family planning is not simply about providing women in the developing world with health options. It is about empowering women to take charge of their lives and in return improve the lives of their families.

I find it ironic that some Members who oppose international family planning seek to increase funding for child survival programs. If babies do not survive birth, they will never benefit from child survival programs. Further, if these children that we seek to help, are not born to healthy mothers and into a healthy family, their chances for survival are greatly reduced.

Family planning services are a standard part of other health services in the developing world because some of the greatest health crises facing these populations unfortunately, originate with the transmission of infectious diseases. HIV/AIDS infection continues to increase.

Earlier this year, AIDS became the number one killer in Africa, only eighteen years after it was first recognized.

In the past six months, HIV/AIDS has reached epidemic proportions in Russia. In Moscow alone, there has been a tenfold increase of reported cases in comparison to last year. Maternal deaths attributed to AIDS has left 8.2 million orphans across the world. 8.2 million orphans!

If people are truly interested in helping children in the developing world, they would support international voluntary family planning. Because there is no vaccine for HIV/AIDS, the only way to try to slow the spread of HIV/AIDS is through education and the distribution of contraceptive services, and these services are part of family planning programs.

Providing extensive child health programs without providing reproductive health services would be like building a house without the foundation. If children in the developing world never reach the point of being able to benefit from child health programs, these programs are useless.

This amendment is basically a compromise. Send this amendment to conference. Let the conferees decide whether this amendment will lead to adoption of the conference report on this bill. I have confidence they will be where the American people are—overwhelmingly in support of family planning services for all women.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. GREENWOOD).

The question was taken; and the Chairman announced that the noes appeared to have it.

AYE VOTE
Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

A recorded vote was ordered. The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 221, noes 208, not voting 4, as follows:

<Table of votes>

[Vote results]
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

July 29, 1999

Ms. NORTHPUP changed her vote from “aye” to “no.”

So the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee do now rise.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly, the Committee rose; and the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. CALLAHAN) declared the House to be in recess until 11:00 a.m.

Mr. DREIER, from the Committee on Rules, submitted a privileged report (Rept. No. 106–274) on the resolution (H.Res. 266) providing for consideration of a concurrent resolution waiving the requirement in section 32 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 that the Congress adjourn sine die not later than September 30, 1999, and for other purposes, had come to no resolution thereon.

REPORT ON RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTION WAIVING SECTION 132 OF THE LEGISLATIVE REORGANIZATION ACT OF 1946

Mr. DREIER, from the Committee on Rules, submitted a privileged report (Rept. No. 106–274) on the resolution (H.Res. 266) providing for consideration of a concurrent resolution waiving the requirement in section 32 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 that the Congress adjourn sine die not later than July 31, 1999, which was referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2000

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GILLMOR) pursuant to House Resolution 283 and rule XVIII, the Chair delegates the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the further consideration of the bill, H.R. 2606.
The Export Enhancement Act of 1992, sub-insert "(increased by $20,000,000)".
insert "(reduced by $10,000,000)".
from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), my not even come close to realizing that.
the committee on International Operations leagues know, I chair the Sub-try to increase the amount of money in
New Jersey?
considered as read and printed in the reading). Mr. Chairman, I ask unani-Mr. CALLAHAN, Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?
SMITH of New Jersey. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama. Mr.
Mr. CALLAHAN, Mr. Chairman, we will be happy to look at it in conference to see if we cannot increase the assistance to refugees.
Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I thank the distinguished chairman.
Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw my amendment.
The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from
New Jersey?
There was no objection.
The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will read.
The Clerk read as follows:
PROGRAM ACCOUNT
For the cost of direct and guaranteed loans, $20,500,000, as authorized by section 234 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, shall be considered administrative expenses for the purposes of this heading.
AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. SMITH OF NEW JERSEY
Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.
The Clerk read as follows:
Amendment offered by Mr. Smith of New

Page 3, line 25, after the dollar amount insert "(reduced by $10,000,000)".
Page 3, line 28, after the dollar amount insert "(reduced by $10,000,000)".
Mr. SMITH of New Jersey (during the reading). Mr. Chairman, I ask unani-

There was no objection.
Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I am offering this amendment to try to increase the amount of money in the fund account. As I think my colleagues know, I chair the Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights. Just a few days ago we passed legislation that significantly enhanced the money provided for refugee protection, some $750 million. My amendment by the $500 million does not even come close to realizing that.
I understand that the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), my good friend and colleague, has an enor-

Mr. CALLAHAN, Mr. Chairman, the

Page 4, line 25, after the dollar amount,
insert "(increased by $20,000,000)".
Page 3, line 25, after the dollar amount,
insert "(increased by $5,000,000)".
Page 4, line 10, after the dollar amount, insert the following: "(increased by $5,000,000)".
Page 7, line 6, after the first dollar amount, insert the following: "(reduced by $5,000,000)".
Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Chairman, I ask for my colleagues’ support for this amendment which I introduced with my distinguished colleague from Maryland (Mrs. MORELLA). I also especially want to thank both the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), the chairman of the subcommittee, and the gentleman from California (Ms. Pelosi), the ranking member, for their encouragement and their early support of this bill.

Mr. Chairman, even though tuberculosis is an easily preventable and curable disease, it is one of the leading killers in the world. The World Health Organization estimates that if left unchecked, TB could kill more than 7 million people around the

TITLES II—BILATERAL ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE
FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE PRESIDENT
For necessary expenses necessary to carry out the provisions of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, and for other purposes, to remain available until September 30, 2000, otherwise specified herein, as follows:
AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT
CHILD SURVIVAL AND DISEASE PROGRAMS FUND
For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of chapters 1 and 10 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, for child survival, basic education, assistance to combat infectious diseases, and other activities, in addition to funds otherwise available for such purposes, $680,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading may be made available for nonproject assistance for health and child survival programs, except that funds may be made available for such assistance for ongoing health programs.

AFRICAN NATION STATES ASSISTANCE ACCOUNT
FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE PRESIDENT
For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of sections 611 and 621 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, for other purposes, to remain available until September 30, 2000, otherwise specified herein, as follows:
AFCAS CORPORATION
FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE PRESIDENT
world in the next 2 decades, while simultaneously infecting nearly 1 billion more.

Mr. Chairman, TB is already the leading killer of HIV positive individuals. It kills more women than any other cause of maternal mortality. TB remains a vicious killer, despite the fact that this disease is both preventable and curable. In fact, TB will kill more people this year than any other year in history.

This amendment is simple and straightforward. It would reduce fiscal year 2000 funding for the International Military Education and Training Program from $50 million to $45 million, and increase fiscal year 2000 Child Survival and Disease funding from $680 to $685 million.

Mr. Chairman, it is our intent that this $5 million will be added to TB prevention and treatment programs, which are woefully underfunded at $30 million, $20 million less than the government plans to spend on training foreign military officials in the United States.

The WHO has warned that poorly managed TB treatment programs, caused by a lack of sufficient funding, are causing drug-resistant strains of tuberculosis to emerge which, in all likelihood, would render TB incurable. Inadequate funding for TB programs in many countries, because the proper series of boosters are not administered, is creating a super strain of the virus that does not respond to treatment.

Already 50 million people are estimated to be infected with multi-drug-resistant TB. It can be spread just by coughing, and with international travel, now and from it.

Even in the U.S. and other industrialized nations, this super strain of tuberculosis kills half of the people infected. That is a national security concern. We can predict a coming plague, if it is allowed to spread unchecked.

In the United States, 15 million people are doing, for all intents and purposes, almost nothing to stop it.

Internationally, TB is a huge economic and social drain on economies. It kills 2 to 3 million adults. It plunges families into poverty and orphans millions of children.

Gro Brundtland, the Director General of the WHO, has said, "Our greatest challenges in controlling tuberculosis are political rather than medical."

The World Health Organization has further stated that we are at "a crossroads in TB control." It can be a future of expanded use of effective treatment and the reversal of this epidemic, or it can be a future in which multi-drug-resistant TB increases, millions more die, and millions become ill.

Mr. Chairman, this amendment is an important step in our efforts to once and for all consign tuberculosis to the same trash heap as other eradicated diseases, like smallpox. While this bill contains $30 million to fight TB in the coming year, thanks in large part to the efforts of the gentlewoman from Alabama (Mr. Callahan) and the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi), this amount is not enough to control one of our planet's greatest killers.

The Brown-Morella amendment will boost tuberculosis prevention funding and treatment funding by nearly 17 percent, and sends a message to the most desperate people in the world that we hear their plight and we will come to their assistance.

I urge its adoption.

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the modified Brown- Morella amendment to increase funding for combating tuberculosis. I want to particularly thank the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Brown) for initiating this amendment. I am honored to join with him in presenting it.

I also want to comment on the fact that the gentleman from Alabama (Chairman Callahan) and the ranking member, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi), have worked very hard in this area, on this particular bill.

I do not know how many of us are aware that even though tuberculosis is an easily preventable and 100 percent curable disease, that it has become the leading infectious killer in the world, accounting for more than 3 million deaths per year. More than one-third of the world's population is infected with TB.

It is the leading killer of women, surpassing all causes of maternal mortality and creating more orphaned children than any other infectious disease. TB is the leading killer of HIV-positive individuals, causing over 30 percent of all deaths. TB is the leading infectious killer of more people than AIDS, malaria, and tropical disease combined, and it will kill more people this year than any year in history.

While TB is a particularly serious threat abroad, it is also a major public health concern at home. Perhaps no infectious disease is as extensive and as devastating as TB. Every year, in addition to the deaths from TB of 3 million people, 8 million become sick and at least 30 million become infected globally. This disease kills more people than any other cause of maternal mortality. It kills 2 million people each year. And TB is the leading infectious killer of youth and adults in the world, and it devastates the incomes and the futures of millions of families at the same time.

As the number of TB cases has increased, a multi-drug-resistant form has emerged that poses a major public health threat in the United States and around the world. In fact, if this development is allowed to go unchecked, it threatens to make TB incurable again.

Here in the United States, 15 million people carry TB bacteria, although these people are not ill. TB is highly contagious, and with the increase in global travel and migration, it is not possible to eliminate TB in the United States if it is allowed to spread unchecked in other parts of the world.

The funding increase which we propose will strengthen our efforts to combat the spread of this deadly disease. I certainly want to thank the chairman, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. Callahan), and the ranking member, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi), for considering this amendment.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, as the vice chairman of the Committee on International Relations, I rise in very strong opposition to the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Brown) and the gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. Morella). These are people that I have known for quite a long time, and I think that they are totally wrong and acting in a way that I believe could detract from the value of what they are trying to do, except from where they are taking the money.

Not one word was said about the reduction of the $10 million, now $5 million, that is the IMET fund. It has been increased, actually, at my colleague, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Brown) on the Committee on International Relations, because I know that he understands how important this money is.

I would say that this is the best money that the Defense Department spends when it comes to foreign policy, and it probably ranks up there on the top of what we spend in any department for impacting foreign policy favorably to the United States of America. I really hate to see the money taken from this account.

Mr. Chairman, the bill before us actually freezes the IMET account at last year's level of $50 million, which of course was a real dollars represents a cut. The administration had requested a $2 million increase.

Secretary Perry, our former Secretary, felt so strongly about the impact of IMET he came up to the Hill and devoted an entire breakfast speech before Members of the House supporting additional funds for IMET, and certainly Secretary Cohen feels the same way about it. I just think this is a very, very unfortunate place to take the money. As I said, not one word was said about the money that is being taken from for a very valuable purpose that our colleagues are suggesting.

IMET encourages mutually beneficial relations and increases the understanding between the United States and foreign countries in furtherance of the goals of peace and security. Furthermore, IMET increases the awareness of nationals of foreign countries through courses that foster greater respect for and understanding of the principles of civilian control of the military, and contributes to improved military justice systems and procedures in accordance with internationally recognized human rights.
Indeed, we are fortunate that so many formerly authoritarian countries are transitioning to democracies. As a result, there is a greater need for IMET type programs which help support and accelerate positive military forms. Unfortunately, due to our own budgetary constraints, we cannot expand IMET to meet the demand. We certainly should not cut it further. IMET programs are modest.

For example, the United States provided $425,000 in IMET funding to Mongolia last year. Mongolia is an often overlooked success story. Less than a decade ago it was a closed Soviet satellite with its military directly linked to Soviet command structure. Today Mongolia is a successful democracy and partner of the United States.

However, just as the Mongolian political system has undergone radical positive changes in its transformation from a Communist Soviet satellite, so, too, must Mongolia’s military. IMET is a very modest but successful program that, for example, aids the Mongolian military in this challenging transition. The effectiveness of this program would be severely undercut if it were to incur the kinds of cuts, even small by some people’s indication, but it is one-tenth of the money that is proposed by the Brown-Morella amendment.

Mr. Chairman, this Member is sympathetic, of course, to the concerns and the places where they would spend the money. However, given the budget allocations for the bill, the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs of the Committee on Appropriations has done a very responsible and commendable job of carefully balancing the allocation of scarce funds.

Given the needs and successes of the IMET Program, this Member is opposed to any further cuts like this one, especially this 10 percent cut, and supports the careful balance of the bill. I urge rejection of the Brown-Morella amendment.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the requisite number of words.

Mr. Chairman, we concur with the acceptance of our distinguished chairman, and commend the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BROWN) and the gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. MORELLA) for their leadership on this amendment.

Mr. OLIVER. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the requisite number of words.

Mr. Chairman, I will not use anyplace close to the 5 minutes, because clearly I am not ready to do so. But I want to rise in support of the Brown-Morella amendment, and commend the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BROWN) and the gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. MORELLA) for bringing this amendment forward.

We should strengthen efforts to fight worldwide diseases wherever it is possible, and TB is one which we thought had been eradicated. Practically, it had been eradicated within this country until suddenly it came on the rise, in particular in relation to the HIV–AIDS crisis.

Of course, in other parts of the world, TB had not been anywhere close to eradicated. Now it is raging, as HIV–AIDS becomes more prominent in other places. Around the world, TB does kill some 3 million people per year, but it is particularly a major factor in AIDS deaths, in its association with AIDS, where the degraded immune systems that are caused by the HIV–AIDS virus end up leaving the individual particularly vulnerable to TB. It is a particular danger to children everywhere.

In the committee report it says, ‘‘The committee notes the threat to the United States from this disease due to international travel and immigration.’’ So I concur in moving $10 million to the TB control as representing a right policy for this country and for this Congress. It will help the U.S. to stop TB from killing people around the world.

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Chairman, I rise with reluctance to speak, not so much against the intent of my good friend Mr. BROWN’s amendment, but to make sure my colleagues know that this offset is from another worthy program.

The $5 million that Mr. BROWN would designate for tuberculosis activities comes at the expense of a highly successful democracy building program. I am familiar with this program through the Center for Civil–Military Relations, located in my district, that helps new democracies strengthen civilian control of their military forces.

This program, with a proven record of successful democracy building, helps emerging democracies learn from U.S. civilian and military teachers why civilian leadership of their militaries will further their democratic objectives.

The courses the Center for Civil-Military Relations teaches are congressionalley mandated: Democratic Civilian Control of Military Forces; Human Rights; and Defense Resources Management.

The investment is modest—only slightly more than $1 million a year.

The impact is far-reaching—18 seminars a year, with approximately 50 students in each week-long seminar, teaching democratic principles to an average of 1,000 students a year—students who are leaders in their country, both military and civilian.

Some of the successful examples, of programs the Center taught in Fiscal Year 1999 include:

South Africa—the military leaders of South Africa asked the Center for assistance in integrating their Department of Defense, not along racial lines, but along civil–military lines.

Russia—the Center assisted the Russians in developing an All-Volunteer Force concept.

Guatemala—after 3 programs involving Center staff, Guatemala has developed Master’s-level university courses on democratic civilian control and civil–military relations.

Argentina—this country requested the Center to conduct a seminar on democratic civilian control of military intelligence. This year the Center will continue the dialogue by presenting a seminar on relations between the military and the legislature.

The Center, both formally and informally, continues to provide cost-effective foreign assistance programs in the federal budget. Oppose the Brown amendment.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to bring to the attention of the Committee and particularly to our chairman, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), a matter of importance to many American citizens. That is property claims in Nicaragua.

As I know the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) well knows and I know many members of the committee do, Nicaragua has been the focus of much attention recently. Last year it, along with Honduras, was hit with Hurricane Mitch, and the United States responded with humanitarian aid. Before that, it was hit with revolution and civil war.

The United States responded positively to its turn towards democracy earlier this decade. As a democratic nation, we ask Nicaragua to heal the wounds of its civil war, revitalize its economy, and provide justice to those victimized by the repressive policies of the 1980s, including justice for those who had their homes, businesses, and livelihoods taken.

In many areas, Nicaragua has made positive strides. This we applaud. There is one area, however, in which we need to do more, and most importantly, Nicaragua needs to do more.
That is the resolution of the property claims of American citizens. Some of these citizens have endured lengthy legal battles to regain what was taken from them.

Nicaragua needs investment and economic development, but more than natural disasters have hindered Nicaragua's development. Man-made decisions have been that country's greatest impediment to economic growth; namely, the failure of the Nicaraguan government to take the necessary steps to provide economic security and return wrongfully taken properties to their rightful owners.

Each year the President must determine that Nicaragua is making progress in resolving property claims if it is to continue receiving bilateral U.S. aid, and each year since 1984 Nicaragua has been determined to meet the standards of U.S. law.

I raise this because existing U.S. law has not helped the claimants, who cannot occupy their properties, or those American citizens struggling with the obstructionism of the Nicaraguan state entity, which has the specific responsibility to privatize state-owned properties and enterprises. Nor does existing U.S. law help a third class of claimants, those who have struggled through Nicaragua's court system and won judgments against the government for its illegal property takings.

In two cases involving 28 American claimants, the Supreme Court of Nicaragua has ruled against the government and in favor of the Americans. The Nicaraguan government acknowledges that it owes these Americans. But has yet to either compensate them, as ordered by the court, or to negotiate seriously with them on a compensation schedule.

I would ask that the chairman require the Nicaraguan government to resolve these cases by the time the chairman's committee considers funding for the next year, that we consider conditioning the aid to Nicaragua on progress in resolving these claims.

Joining me in this is the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. BURTON).

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McCOLLUM. I yield to the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding to me.

I would just like to say to the chairman that for the past several years there have been commitments by the government of Nicaragua that they would try to make restitution for what the Sandinistas took away from people down there during the Sandinista regime. They have kind of reneged on that. It is my understanding that the administration recently has told some of the people who have had their property stolen that the only way they are going to get restitution was to go to court.

I know of one case where they did go to court. It was carried all the way to the Supreme Court of Supreme Court. Not once but twice. Even though the Supreme Court agreed there should be a settlement made and gave a monetary settlement figure, the government still would not pay these people who had a legitimate claim, and the Supreme Court agreed with them. They tried to convince some Members of Congress who are interested in this that there was corruption at the Supreme Court in order to try to sidestep their responsibility.

So I join my colleague, the gentleman from Florida, in saying that I hope that he as chairman will send a very strong message to President Alemán and the government of Nicaragua that they should make proper restitution to these people, and adhere to their own Supreme Court's decisions.

Mr. McCOLLUM. If they do not, if I may reclaim my time, I would hope that the chairman would consider next year making some conditions in the next appropriations cycle if they do not pay these claims.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I share the concerns of the gentleman from Florida (Mr. McCOLLUM), and I certainly want to do that. I imagine next year or the year after next President Alemán will certainly recognize that, if something is not done, that then Senator McCOLLUM will force it upon him. I think he will recognize the political danger he has in denying American investors their due rights.

So we certainly will work with the gentleman from Indiana to continue to insist that the Nicaraguan government acts more promptly to ensure that these American investors are compensated accordingly.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman from Florida yield?

Mr. McCOLLUM. I yield to the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, I would like to say to the gentleman I really appreciate that, and I hope that President Alemán and his financial ministers heard what the chairman said tonight; and that is, if they do not start doing what they have said they would do, that the chairman would take this into consideration next year when the appropriations process takes place.

Mr. McCOLLUM. Mr. Chairman, reclaiming my time, I echo that. I want to thank the gentleman from Alabama (Chairman CALLAHAN) for his words to encourage that right action by the government in Nicaragua. It has been long overdue. We really do need something to move here. There is something wrong. It should have happened long before now.

I would ask my colleagues, although a point of order has been reserved, to consider the need that we have. If we cannot move this amendment, I would certainly hope that we might have the opportunity to look at this question as we move in the appropriations process in future years, and I will work with my colleagues to solve and bring to an end this terrible devastation.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) continue to reserve his point of order?

Mr. CALLAHAN. Yes, Mr. Chairman. Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment but, again, the proposed use of funds by the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE) is entirely compelling and commendable.

I spoke a few minutes ago against the Brown-Morella amendment because it was taking money out of the IMET program, the same IMET program that provides training to the military officers of the African nation and preserves that the gentlewoman from Texas mentioned and to South Africa where they are trying to encourage promotion of black officers in the South African military.

I just want my colleagues to know that the IMET fund is not a slush fund that can be drawn down or slashed from for every good purpose. I will energetically do what I can to keep the conference from reducing the IMET funds because it is so valuable.

I stipulate all my arguments that I gave on the Morella-Brown amendment to also apply as here on the amendment by the distinguished gentlewoman from Texas.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Mr. Chairman, I am happy to be on record that the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE) will withdraw her amendment before I insist on a point of order.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CALLAHAN. I yield to the gentlewoman from Texas.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas, Mr. Chairman, as I noted in my remarks, I am appreciative of the work that has been done by this committee.

I feel compelled to raise this issue as often as we can. I would hope that this amendment could have been made in order.

I will now withdraw the amendment and hope and look forward to working with my colleagues, one to increase the amount of foreign aid that we give; and then, two, to be able, then, to add more dollars to what I consider one of the major epidemics, pandemics that we have facing us today.

The Chairman without objection, the amendment is withdrawn.

There was no objection.

The Clerk will read.

The Clerk reads as follows:

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

JULY 29, 1999

DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE

(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

For necessary expenses for grants to the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank, and the International Development Association, and for necessary expenses for the development activities of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, out of any appropriated sums, including previous appropriations, and the balances of prior years, available to the President, or of the Secretary of the Treasury, or of the Secretary of State, for such purposes, for fiscal year 1999: Provided, That none of the funds made available under this heading shall be available for, or for the purpose of, programs which, as determined by the President of the United States, supports or participates in any management or policy of coerced abortion or involuntary sterilization: Provided further, That none of the funds made available for these purposes for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1999, may be used to provide any program of contraceptives to any individual.

Mr. CALLAHAN. I yield.

The Clerk will read.

The Clerk reads as follows:

...
proviso, the Administrator shall submit to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and to the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate, a report containing a description of such violation and the correction action taken by the Agency: Provided further. That in awarding grants for natural family planning under section 104 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 no applicant shall be discriminated against because of such applicant’s religious or consciencious objections to offering only natural family planning; and, additionally, all such applicants shall comply with the requirements of the previous proviso: Provided further, That for purposes of this or any other Act authorizing or appropriating funds for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs, the term “motivate”, as it is related to family planning assistance, shall not be construed to prohibit the provision, consistent with local law, of information or counseling about all pregnancy options: Provided further. That the amounts so appropriated under this heading, shall be constricted to alter any existing statutory prohibitions against abortion under section 104 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961: Provided further, that notwithstanding section 109 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, of the funds appropriated under this heading in this Act, and of the unobligated balances of previous years appropriated under this heading, $2,500,000 may be transferred to “International Organizations and Programs” for a contribution to the International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD): Provided further, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading may be made available for any activity which is in contravention to the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Flora and Fauna (CITES): Provided further, That, of the funds made available by this Act for the “Microenterprise Initiative” (including any local currencies made available for the purposes of the Initiative), not less than 50 percent of the funds used for microcredit should be made available for support of programs providing loans of less than $300 to very poor people, particularly women, or for institutional support of organizations primarily engaged in making such loans.

PRIVATE AND VOLUNTARY ORGANIZATIONS
None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available by this Act for development assistance may be made available to any United States private and voluntary organization, except any cooperative development organization, which obtains less than 5 percent of its gross income from the United States Government: Provided, That the funds made available under this heading, shall be constricted to alter any existing statutory prohibitions against abortion under section 104 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961: Provided further, That the amount of any such loans notwithstanding section 106 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, in addition to the amounts otherwise available under this heading, for loans of microenterprise activities may guarantee up to 70 percent of the principal amount of any such loans notwithstanding section 106 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961. In addition, the funds available under this heading, shall be constricted to alter any existing statutory prohibitions against abortion under section 104 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961: Provided further, That the funds made available under this heading may be made available for support of organizations primarily engaged in making such loans.

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. CAMPBELL
Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The Clerk reads as follows: Amendment offered by Mr. CAMPBELL: Page 15, line 7, after the dollar amount insert “(reduced by $30,000,000)”. Page 15, line 11, after the dollar amount insert “(reduced by $20,000,000)”.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order on the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Alabama reserves a point of order.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, the amendment is very simple, as it is important. Here it is. We spend too much of our foreign aid dollars. There is every other country in the world where we spend foreign aid. It can do so much good. And the United States does so much good in so many ways. We spend over 20 percent of the entire economic component of foreign aid in Israel and Egypt.

I do not think that is right. I just do not think that is consistent with the compassion of the American people. I think the American people who would rather see the money go a little bit more fairly, a little bit more to the other countries in the world. So what I propose is a very small cut. $960 million is the economic component of the aid to Israel in this bill, and I suggest that it be dropped by $30 million. $730 million is the amount of money for Egypt. And I suggest that it be dropped by $20 million.

That is a 3 percent cut roughly speaking. Bearing in mind that 20 percent of the entire amount of economic aid goes to these two countries and that it would mean to the United States, and not too many of the other countries in the world who are getting such little amount in this bill, and every year gets such little amount of our foreign aid money, I believe it is what the American people would do if they were empowered to do it. If my colleagues’ average person they represent was here to tonight, that is what she or he would do I believe. Let me break it down in per capita. Again, I am just talking about economic aid, not the military side. I understand that is different. I support military aid to Israel.

But if we just break the economic money down, it is $170 per capita for every person in Israel. It is $32 per capita for every person in Egypt. It is $2.05 for every soul in sub-Saharan Africa. That is not right. It is $1.20 for every person in India. It is $1.20 per capita. Again, I am just talking about economic aid, not the military side. I understand that is different. I support military aid to Israel.

But if we just break the economic money down, it is $170 per capita for every person in Israel. It is $32 per capita for every person in Egypt. It is $2.05 for every soul in sub-Saharan Africa. That is not right. It is $1.20 for every person in India. It is $1.20 per capita. Again, I am just talking about economic aid, not the military side. I understand that is different. I support military aid to Israel.
small cut. It might not matter very much to those two recipients; but to the other countries, it will make a huge amount of difference.

I want to close just by commenting what I have seen. My wife, Susanne, and I have traveled to sub-Saharan Africa, poorest countries of the world, as often as we can once I have returned to Congress. I have seen a few dollars spent for a water pump in Mali. I have seen a few dollars of our tax money spent for a sewing machine so somebody could get a job, microenterprise in Morocco. I saw some money for saving children who would otherwise be cast aside as albinos in Senegal.

I saw women, Somali women in refugee camps in Kenya packed to the top who wanted to get a little firewood so they would not have to go out at night because they were subject to rape when they went out at night. Now, that is where our money could go.

For the sake of compassion and for the sake of the future, I ask that we move $30 million from Israel, which received so much of our aid, $20 million from Egypt, which received so much of our aid, and just let it flow to the other countries, particularly in Latin America, sub-Saharan Africa, and India.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I withdraw my reservation, but I rise in opposition to the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, with respect to the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. CALLAHAN), let me say that he makes some very interesting statistical and comparable monetary indications of how much this might mean to sub-Saharan Africa.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I withdraw my reservation, but I rise in opposition to the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of this legislation, and the bill's provision to provide $3 billion in aid to Israel and increasing the military aid. And I would say that most of my colleagues would agree that the investment in military aid in that region of the world is in our interest.

So I would like to congratulate the chairman again for forging that agreement with the former prime minister of Israel. And in discussing this agreement, the current prime minister of Israel, there has been total support. I would just like to say to my good friend, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), that I share his concerns; and I would join the gentleman in working to enlighten our colleagues and work with this administration in increasing aid to the other parts of the world that need it so desperately.

Two years ago, we worked with then Prime Minister Netanyahu to wean Israel from total economic assistance. President Netanyahu, suffering I think very serious political consequences, agreed with this subcommittee and me that we should begin the decline of assistance to Israel, and we started that last year by reducing the economic support by $120 million. And in accordance with the agreement, we have further reduced it another $120 million this year, the first time in the history of this Congress that we have ever done so.

Yet here at the late hour of this night, along comes the gentleman from California and says to us, to members of the subcommittee, to Members of the Congress, that he does not think we have gone far enough. Well, I think we have done enough.

Just last week, the President and the new Prime Minister Barak agreed to the Callahan plan of total elimination of economic support to Israel over a period of the next 8 years. And I think that plan is one of those things which we have to do to bring down this economic assistance to Israel. It is the responsible way to do it. It is a recognition of accomplishment that our economic assistance to Israel has worked; that they are now becoming economically independent.

But for the gentleman from California, at this late hour of the night to bring up this kind of amendment, and to use the type of comparisons the gentleman is using, I think is disrespectful to the subcommittee and to the Congress. Because we already have addressed this issue, we have addressed it in a responsible manner, and to put this issue on the table on the eve of the new administration, I think is disrespectful to the Members of this body to vote "no."

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

I would like to first respond to my good friend, the chairman of this committee, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), who indeed expressed so eloquently the hard work of this committee to change the formula and do it fairly so that we could move forward in reducing economic aid to Israel increasing the military aid. And I would say that most of my colleagues would agree that the investment in military aid in that region of the world is in our interest.

So I would like to congratulate the chairman again for forging that agreement with the former prime minister of Israel. And in discussing this agreement, the current prime minister of Israel, there has been total support. I would just like to say to my good friend, the gentleman from California (Mr. CALLAHAN), that I share his concerns; and I would join the gentleman in working to enlighten our colleagues and work with this administration in increasing aid to the other parts of the world that need it so desperately.

In fact, I have said over and over again that it is an embarrassment that we do not pay our U.N. arrears, even though that does not come out of this particular budget. It is an embarrassment that with all the problems in every part of the world that we are behind about a billion dollars in our U.N. dues. So I would join the gentleman.

But I would say to the gentleman, at this time we are on the verge, on the brink, of seeing a real peace. The new Prime Minister Barak has been making every effort to move forward, to meeting with the other parties of the region to try to forge a real peace so that in our lifetime all of our investments and our commitment to that region of the world as a result of Camp David can become a reality. So it seems to me, and I agree with our distinguished chairman, this is not an opportunity time to change the formula that has been very carefully crafted; that we should work together so we can see a real peace in the Middle East.

And so, I would say to the gentleman from California that I would join the gentleman in increasing aid to other parts of the world. We know of the real problem, the people who are in distress. And as the leader of the free world, at a time when our leadership is acknowledged, when there are problems with disease and problems of inadequate education and health care, we could make an additional difference.

So I hope we can work together and increase our assistance to other parts of the world, but the formula while we are at a moment of a breakthrough in the peace agreement.

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the requisite number of words.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment of the gentleman from California. This is a bad idea for a number of reasons.

First of all, this is a negotiated amount of funds. This is not a discretionary set of funds. And while the gentleman makes some interesting arguments about comparing what this would mean in per capita terms from one country versus Israel, I do not know that we can measure it quite that statistically.

This, as I said, is a negotiated amount. It goes back to the Camp David Accords. It also goes back to the more recent Wye River Accords. But perhaps most importantly, and I think the gentlewoman from New York was just discussing this, we have a new government in Israel which we have a strategic partnership with that has really only been in place for about 30 days. I think even as small a cut as the gentleman proposes undercuts the U.S. commitment to having the Barak government succeed in its effort in bringing peace to the region.

So I think while the gentleman is well intentioned in his goals, I think it is an amendment that would send the wrong message on the part of the United States and our commitment to Israel and our commitment to peace in the Middle East and in particular our commitment to seeing the Barak government succeed, and for that reason I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of this legislation, and the bill's provision to provide $3 billion in aid to Israel. Since its founding in 1948, Israel and the U.S. have shared an important economic and strategic partnership. For more than 50 years, Israel has stood with the U.S. in countering the greatest threats to American interests in the region, including the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and state-sponsored terrorism, pose serious challenges.

Israel has also been a reliable strategic partner, providing the United States with cutting-edge technology and valuable intelligence. Israel was the first country to sign a free trade agreement with the United States, which has resulted in significant trade between the two countries. As Israel’s economy continues to grow, the United States will continue to benefit from the wide-ranging economic partnership enjoyed by the two countries. The United States-Israel partnership has also been cost-effective, avoiding the expensive deployment of American troops. No United States troops have ever been required to protect Israel, while by comparison America maintains 35,000 troops in Europe and spends roughly $80 billion each year on the defense of Europe.

Thanks to the United States involvement in the Middle East peace process, Israel has been able to make significant advancements toward establishing peaceful relations with all Arab neighbors. Following the election of Prime Minister Ehud Barak in May 1999, the search for peace in the Middle East appears to have taken meaningful steps forward. In the days following his election, Mr. Barak displayed his commitment to the peace process through his talks with Egyptian President Mubarak, and the formation of a “peace administration” of negotiating teams, one each for Syria, Lebanon, and the Palestinians. In the 3 weeks since he’s taken office, Mr. Barak has actively negotiated with Palestinian Authority Chairman Arafat in attempts to secure a permanent peace deal to determine Israel’s borders, the future of Jerusalem, the fate of refugees, and the disposition of water resources. He has also begun negotiations with Syria regarding the status of the Golan Heights and the Hezbollah militia in southern Lebanon.

Prime Minister Barak understands that a negotiated peace is the best way to make Israel more stable and prosperous for the people of the Middle East. As the peace process moves forward, he has committed the U.S. to continue to support the principles of the Wye River agreement, including the land-for-peace commitments, cessation of terrorist aggression, and respect for existing peace agreements by all parties. While his Mr. Barak’s progress has been encouraging, we should hold no illusions. The path ahead will be difficult and hold many hard decisions. As Israel takes these calculated risks for peace, the United States must continue to support Israel’s defense. Part of that effort will be the final Congressional approval of additional aid that provides assistance to Israel, the Palestinian people and to Jordan as part of the implementation of the Wye River agreement. Making Israel stronger and making Palestinians and Jordanians more secure and more prosperous are all critical steps toward achieving a just and lasting peace in the Middle East.

U.S. aid to Israel is one of America’s most cost-effective foreign policy investments. The economic and military aid that America provides Israel serves the interests of both countries by promoting peace, security, and trade. I urge my colleagues to continue our support for Israel and to further our national interests by voting for this appropriations.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the requisite numbers.

Mr. Chairman, I have great respect for my friend from California. We have worked together on many issues, including a number of international relations issues, and he has made an attractive argument. As he has visited sub-Saharan Africa, I have as well, and just got through offering an amendment dealing with HIV/AIDS. But I would simply say to the gentleman that as attractive as support for the microcredit is, and I frankly saw the enormous impact that the microcredit funding has, I am rising in opposition for, I think, two to three reasons.

One, I believe we should make good on our commitment, and I think it is important to note that we have made a commitment to support Israel as it has downsized on its receipt of foreign aid from the United States. I think the Wye River agreement is extremely important and goes to our bond and our standing in the international arena as relates to the Middle East, with Israel being the freestanding or one singular democracy there.

Then, I think that, hopefully, we do not have a situation where we pit one community or one part of the world against another. There is a great need in Africa, and I would like to see us collaborate, as I started out in my remarks, on HIV/AIDS. I would like to see the foreign aid increased. I think it would be a shame that a powerful, wealthy Nation like this, where the American people would be willing to support our international efforts at a higher rate than 1 percent, and maybe that number has been increased but that is what sticks in my mind, even as high as 5 percent, and maybe we can go higher, but to juxtapose one needy area against another needy area for different reasons.

So for that reason, and though I respect the gentleman in his intent and, in fact, look forward to working with the gentleman to find funds to increase those opportunities in sub-Saharan Africa, I would oppose his amendment.

THE CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. CAMPBELL). The question was taken; and the Chairman announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 263, further proceeding on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. CAMPBELL) will be postponed.

The Clerk will read.

The following:

INTERNATIONAL FUND FOR IRELAND

For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of chapter 4 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, $19,600,000, which shall be available for the United States contribution to the International Peace Corps and shall be made available in accordance with the provisions of the Anglo-Irish Agreement Support Act of 1986 (Public Law 99–415): Provided, That such amount shall be expended at the discretion of the Administrator to make timely payment for projects and activities: Provided further, That funds made available under this heading shall remain available until September 30, 2001.

ASSISTANCE FOR EASTERN EUROPE AND THE BALTIC STATES

(a) For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 for the support for East European Democracy (SEED) Act of 1989, $393,000,000, to remain available until September 30, 2001, which shall be available, notwithstanding any other provision of law, for economic assistance and for related programs for Eastern Europe and the Baltic States.

(b) Funds appropriated under this heading shall be consistent with the provisions of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 for purposes of making available the administrative authorities contained in that Act for the use of economic assistance funds under the Agency for International Development shall provide written approval for grants and loans prior to the obligation and expenditure of funds for such purposes, and prior to the use of funds that have been returned or repaid to any lending facility or grantee.

(c) None of the funds appropriated under this heading may be made available for new housing construction or repair or reconstruction of existing housing in designated areas where the political borders of Bosnia and Herzegovina unless directly related to the efforts of United States troops to promote peace in said country.

(d) With regard to funds appropriated under this heading for the economic revitalization program in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and local currencies generated by such funds (including the conversion of funds appropriated under this heading), the currency used by Bosnia and Herzegovina as local currency and local currency returned or repaid under such program) the Administrator of the Agency for International Development shall provide written approval for grants and loans prior to the obligation and expenditure of funds for such purposes, and prior to the use of funds that have been returned or repaid to any lending facility or grantee.

(e) The provisions of section 532 of this Act shall apply to funds made available under subsection (d) and to funds appropriated under this heading.

(f) The President is authorized to withhold funds appropriated under this heading made available for economic revitalization programs in Bosnia and Herzegovina, if he determines and certifies to the Committees on Appropriations that the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina has not complied with article III of annex 1-A of the General Framework Agreement for Peace in Bosnia and Herzegovina concerning the withdrawal of foreign forces, and that any further economic cooperation on training, investigations, and related activities between Iranian officials and Bosnian officials has not been terminated.

(g) Funds appropriated under this heading or in prior appropriations Acts that are or have been made available for an Enterprise Fund may be deposited by such Fund in interest-bearing accounts prior to the Fund’s disbursement of such funds for program purposes. The Fund may retain for such program purposes any interest earned on such funds without return to the Treasury of the United States and without further appropriation by the Congress. Funds made available for Enterprise Funds shall be expended at the discretion of the Administrator to make timely payment for projects and activities.

18700

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE  July 29, 1999
ASSISTANCE FOR THE INDEPENDENT STATES OF THE FORMER SOVIET UNION

The Chairman. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 8 offered by Mr. Mica:

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 8 offered by Mr. Mica: Page 22, line 17, before the period insert the following: "Provided further, That of the amount appropriated under this heading, may be made available for assistance to Mongolia: Provided, That funds made available for assistance to Mongolia may be made available in accordance with the purposes and utilizing the authorities provided in chapter II of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961."

(c)(1) Of the funds appropriated under this heading that are allocated for assistance for the Government of the Russian Federation, 50 percent shall be withheld from obligation until the President determines and certifies in writing to the Committees on Appropriations that the Government of the Russian Federation has terminated implementation of arrangements to provide Iran with technical expertise, training, technology, or equipment necessary to develop a nuclear reactor, related nuclear research facilities or programs, or ballistic missile capability.

(2) Paragraph (1) shall not apply to—
(A) assistance to combat infectious diseases and child survival activities; and
(B) activities authorized under title V (Nonproliferation and Disarmament Programs and Activities) of the Freedom Support Act.

(d) Not more than 25 percent of the funds appropriated under this heading may be made available for assistance for any country in the region.

(e) Allocations for Georgia and for Armenia shall reflect a percentage of the amount appropriated under this heading that is at least equivalent to the percentage of the total funding available under this heading that was allocated for each nation in fiscal year 1999: Provided, That assistance under title V of the Freedom Support Act shall not be included in such calculations.

(f) Section 909 of the Freedom Support Act shall not apply to—
(1) activities to support democracy or assistance under title V of the Freedom Support Act and section 424 of Public Law 104-201;
(2) any assistance provided by the Trade and Development Agency under section 601 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2421);
(3) any activity carried out by a member of the United States and Foreign Commercial Service while acting within his or her official capacity;
(4) any insurance, reinsurance, guarantee, or other assistance provided by the Overseas Private Investment Corporation under title IV of chapter 2 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2191 et seq.);
(5) any financing provided under the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945; or
(6) humanitarian assistance including activities funded under the heading "Child Survival and Disease Programs Fund".

INDEPENDENT AGENCY

For expenses necessary to carry out the provisions of the Peace Corps Act (75 Stat. 612), $240,000,000, including the purchase of not to exceed five passenger motor vehicles for administrative use outside of the United States: Provided, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading shall be used to pay for abortions: Provided further, That of the funds appropriated under this heading, $275,000,000, available until September 30, 2001, shall be available to pay for the construction, operation, and maintenance of Peace Corps facilities: Provided further, That funds made available for assistance for any country in the region

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

INTERNATIONAL NARCOTICS CONTROL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT

For necessary expenses to carry out section 481 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, $238,000,000: Provided, That not more than $70,000,000 shall be made available under this heading, may be made available for assistance for the purposes and utilizing the authorities provided in chapter II of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

Provided, That during fiscal year 2000, the Department of State may also use the authority of section 808 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, without regard to its restrictions, to receive excess property from an agency of the United States Government for the purpose of providing it to a foreign country under chapter 8 of part I of that Act subject to the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations.

AMENDMENT NO. 8 OFFERED BY MR. MICA

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 8 offered by Mr. Mica: Page 22, line 17, before the period insert the following: "Provided further, That of the amount appropriated under this heading, may be made available for assistance for the anti-narcotics directorate (DANTI) of the Colombian National Police as follows: (1) $3,500,000 for GAU 19 protection systems for the 6 existing Black Hawk utility helicopters of the Colombian National Police, including 1 such system for each helicopter, mounting, installation, and a maintenance and training package; (2) $3,500,000 for .50 caliber ammunition for such GAU 19 protection systems; (3) $2,500,000 for upgrade of the hangar at the Guaymaral helicopter base; (4) $3,500,000 for construction of a hangar facility at the El Dorado Airport in Bogota, Colombia, to provide a secure area for storage and maintenance work on the fixed wing and rotor wing aircraft of the Colombian National Police; (5) $2,500,000 to purchase 19 additional MK-44 miniguns for the "Huey" II utility helicopters to be provided to the Colombian National Police; (6) $3,500,000 for 7.62mm ammunition for such MK-44 miniguns; (7) $8,000,000 for forward looking infra red (FLIR) systems for 15 of the existing Black Hawk helicopters; (8) $3,500,000 for field gear for aviation and ground officers of the Colombian National Police, including ballistic protection vests, helmets and field harnesses, canteens, and magazines; (9) $3,000,000 for the establishment and operation of a Colombian National Police Regional Command Center in Cali, Colombia, including additional training for Colombian National Police personnel by United States Customs Service personnel; and (10) $1,000,000 for intelligence equipment for the Colombian National Police, including sensors and monitoring and surveillance equipment.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I reserve a point of order on the amendment.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I thank the chairman, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), for his great work on this distinguished piece of legislation, which I plan to support with minor modifications that can be made, I hope, through the amendment I offer tonight. The amendment that I have tonight asks for $37.5 million, and those funds would go towards providing anti-narcotics equipment to the Colombian National Police.

I chair the Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, Drug Policy and Human Resources, and I can tell my colleagues that we have no greater threat facing our Nation right now in terms of our anti-narcotics effort and, really, national security than we have facing us with the situation with Colombia.

Some of my colleagues may know that we lost five servicemen, including a servicewoman this week, and in the last few days we have lost three civilians. This situation is getting incredibly worse in Colombia, our neighbor to the south. That is what makes this action tonight so important.

I will ask to withdraw this at some point and ask for consideration in conference, but we cannot make the same mistake that we have been making year after year in not providing equipment. This Congress has provided Black Hawk helicopters to the Colombians, but we are not providing the equipment for them to do the job. This amendment asks for the systems for Black Hawk helicopters and also for Huey helicopters that they have.

How can they fight a war against insurgencty and combat the drug war against those trafficking in illegal narcotics without this equipment? We have made the mistake of not providing the equipment.

This is a hearing from July of 1997. The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. HASTERT), who is now Speaker of the House, himself, others on the committee asked for equipment to get to Colombia. And that equipment has not gotten to Colombia.

The results are incredible. 800,000 people have been displaced since 1995. 35,000 Colombians have been killed in less than 10 years. In 1998, more than 300,000 Colombians were displaced internally. That is more than we had that same year in Kosovo.

My colleagues, we are going to have a situation that makes Kosovo look
Mr. CALLAHAN, Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. McCOLLUM).

Mr. McCOLLUM. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman very much for yielding.

Mr. Chairman, I know what the chairman has done is extremely good in here, and I commend him for what is here. I also know what the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Mica) is attempting to do.

What I hope is, because of the Western Hemisphere Drug Elimination Act we passed last year, and the gentleman worked so much with us, we ought to take a $600 million overall that covered many of the subcommittee appropriation areas to do some of what was going to be $2 billion ultimately over 3 years.

In the legislation of my colleagues and in all of these appropriations bills in the House this year, we are not able under the current rules to meet the goals of that bill in what we are passing.

But much of this equipment, most of it that the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Mica) is asking for, was what was passed in that bill and what we wanted to see happen. And I am hopeful that in conference my colleague will be able to nudge up these numbers some. And perhaps there will even be a supplemental down the road. Because I know my colleague understand from our previous discussions how important this equipment is.

I serve as chairman of the Subcommittee on Crime, as my colleague knows, and on the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence; and we really do need this equipment.

Mr. CALLAHAN, Mr. Chairman, reclaiming my time, we will try to increase it if we possibly can. Because this is a cancer on our society, and the only way we are going to be able to cure this cancer is to provide ample counternarcotics monies to do so.

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CALLAHAN. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Chairman, I just want to raise concern about the amendment. The amendment directs all the money to the Colombian police. The delegation that was here last week did not ask for money for the national police. It was for the armed services, for the armed forces. As my colleague knows, it is a very delicate situation in Colombia.

I think it would be ill-spent money to direct all of this earmarking for specifics just for one entity in Colombia. I support the concerns of the chairman and his recommendations, and I oppose the amendment the way it is drafted.

Mr. MICA, Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CALLAHAN. I yield to the gentleman from Florida.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I understand the concern of the gentleman. But this is the testimony from 2 years ago, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Hastert): “But you are holding up their ammunition.”

We provided almost $300 million last year. And we have checked to see if the money is there in resources. Only a few million dollars have gotten to where it should go. The problem we have is in getting money. That is why this is an easer task.

I know the earmark is not acceptable under the regular order here. But I hope you can imagine the frustration we see. We appropriate money. The President is saying this is now the third biggest aid recipient in the world. And it is not getting there.

This request is part of our drug czar’s request, and it is the head of the national police’s request to do the job in Colombia that needs to be done to break up these illegal drug trafficking where we have 60, 70 percent of the heroin and cocaine now coming into the United States.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi).

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I just want to say two things.

First of all, we all agree that the drug problem is a terrible, terrible tragedy for our country. In addition to trying to do drug crop eradication, we must focus on treatment and prevention and to the end that we all share here.

But two points I want to make. One is, I was very concerned about the New York Times article this morning that talked about the war on drugs and the war against the rebels merging, because we have always talked about the war on drugs being a war on drugs in Colombia.

So I hope that, as we proceed, we do with great sensitivity to the human rights of the Colombian people.

The CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. Callahan) has expired.

(By unanimous consent, Mr. Callahan was allowed to proceed for 30 additional seconds.)

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Mica).

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I thank the chairman for being so understanding and also considering this in conference. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw my amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will read. The Clerk read as follows:

MIGRATION AND REFUGEE ASSISTANCE

For expenses, not otherwise provided for, necessary to enable the Secretary of State to... provide, as authorized by law, a contribution to the military assistance, nonproliferation, assistance to refugees, including contributions to the International Organization for Migration and the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, and other activities to meet refugee and migration needs, salaries and expenses of personnel and dependents as authorized by sections 5921 through 5925 of title 5, United States Code; purchase and hire of passenger motor vehicles; and services as authorized by section 1534 of the Arms Export Control Act of 1989, $60,000,000: Provided, That more than $13,800,000 shall be available for administrative expenses.

UNITED STATES EMERGENCY REFUGEE AND MIGRATION ASSISTANCE FUND

For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of section 2(c) of the Migration and Refugee Assistance Act of 1962, as amended (22 U.S.C. 260(c)), $30,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the funds available under this heading are appropriated notwithstanding the provisions contained in section 2(c)(2) of the Migration and Refugee Assistance Act of 1962 which is in conflict with the amount of $60,000,000 provided under this heading, funds which could be appropriated for this purpose.

NONPROLIFERATION, ANTI-TELEPOLIS, DEMINING AND RELATED PROGRAMS

For necessary expenses for proliferation, anti-terrorism and related programs and activities, $181,630,000, to carry out the provisions of chapter II and part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 for anti-terrorism assistance, section 504 of the FREEDOM Support Act for the Nonproliferation and Disarmament Fund, section 23 of the Arms Export Control Act or the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 for demining activities, the clearance of unexploded ordnance, and related activities, notwithstanding any other provision of law, including activities implemented through nongovernmental and international organizations, section 601 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, relating to contributions to the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and a voluntary contribution to the Korean Peninsula Energy Development Organization, for a United States contribution to the Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty Preparatory Commission: Provided, That the Secretary of State shall inform the Committees on Appropriations at least twenty days prior to the obligation of funds for the Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty Preparatory Commission: Provided further, That of this amount not to exceed $15,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the civilian personnel for whom military education and training may be provided under this heading may include civilians who are not members of a government whose participation would contribute to improved civil-military relations, civilian control of the military, or respect for human rights: Provided further, That such funds may also be used for such countries other than the Independent States of the former Soviet Union and international organizations when it is in the national security interest of the United States to do so: Provided further, That such funds shall be subject to the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations: Provided further, That grants made available under this heading may be made available for the International Atomic Energy Agency only if the Secretary of State determines (and so reports to Congress) that Israel is being denied its right to participate in the activities of that Agency.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

DEFINSTRUCTURING

For the cost, as defined in section 502 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, of modifying loans and loan guarantees, as the President may determine, for which funds have been appropriated or otherwise made available for programs within the International Affairs Budget Function 510, including the cost of selling, reducing, or canceling amounts owed to the United States as a result of concessional loans made to eligible countries, pursuant to parts II and IV of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (including up to $1,000,000 for necessary expenses for the administration of activities carried out under these parts), and of modifying concessional credit agreements with least developed countries, as authorized under section 411 of the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, as amended, and concessional loans, guarantees and credit agreements with any country in Sub-Saharan Africa, as defined in section 572 of the Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 1989 (Public Law 100–461); $35,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That any limitation of subsection (e) of section 411 of the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 to the extent that limitation applies to sub-Saharan African countries shall not apply to funds appropriated hereunder or previously appropriated under this heading: Provided further, That the authority provided by section 572 of Public Law 100–461 may be exercised only with respect to countries that are eligible to borrow from the International Development Association, but that no Bank for Reconstruction and Development, commonly referred to as "IDA-only" countries.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of section 129 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (relating to international affairs technical assistance activities), $1,500,000, to remain available until expended.

TITLE III—MILITARY ASSISTANCE

FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE PRESIDENT

For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of section 541 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, $50,000,000, of which up to $1,000,000 may remain available until expended: Provided, That such funds may also be used for such purposes, grants made available for Israel by this paragraph shall, as agreed by Israel and the United States, be available for advanced weapon systems, of which not less than $500,000,000 should be available for the procurement in Israel of defense articles and defense services, including research and development: Provided further, That none of the funds made available under this heading shall be available for any non-NATO country participating in the Partnership for Peace Program except through the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations: Provided further, That funds appropriated by this paragraph shall be non-repayable notwithstanding any requirement in section 23 of the Arms Export Control Act: Provided further, That funds made available under this paragraph shall be obligated upon approval of an agreement: Provided further, That no military education and training funds made available for which assistance was justified for the military education and training of civilians who are not members of a government under the Arms Export Control Act or the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (including up to $15,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the authority provided by section 572 of Public Law 100–461 may be exercised only with respect to countries that are eligible to borrow from the International Development Association, but that no Bank for Reconstruction and Development, commonly referred to as "IDA-only" countries.

FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE SECRETARY

For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of section 515 of this Act or by October 31, 1999, whichever is later: Provided, That of the funds made available under this heading, not more than $1,920,000,000 shall be available for grants only for Israel, and not to exceed $1,300,000,000 shall be made available for grants only for Egypt: Provided further, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading, not to exceed $1,920,000,000 shall be available for grants only for Israel, and not to exceed $1,300,000,000 shall be made available for grants only for Egypt: Provided further, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading, not to exceed $1,920,000,000 shall be available for grants only for Israel, and not to exceed $1,300,000,000 shall be made available for grants only for Egypt.

FOREIGN MILITARY FINANCING PROGRAM

For expenses necessary for grants to enable the President to carry out the provisions of section 23 of the Arms Export Control Act, $1,470,000,000: Provided, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading, not to exceed $1,920,000,000 shall be available for grants only for Israel, and not to exceed $1,300,000,000 shall be made available for grants only for Egypt: Provided further, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading, not to exceed $1,920,000,000 shall be available for grants only for Israel, and not to exceed $1,300,000,000 shall be made available for grants only for Egypt.
Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Chairman, I want to rise in support of the Gilman-Lantos amendment to cut $8 million from the International Development Association lending window of the World Bank.

Mr. Chairman, like my colleagues from both sides of the aisle, I was deeply disturbed and angry that the World Bank pursued the China Western Poverty Reduction loan, a loan so flawed in its preparation that it should never have been brought before the Board of Executive Directors.

I oppose and I am angry that the Bank would fund a program with the goal of displacing Tibetan people from their ancestral territory in order to pursue a badly conceived agricultural program that relies on moving more ethnic Chinese into Tibet.

I would like to learn nothing from its terrible history of funding forced resettlement and transmigration in Indonesia?

But the reason I support this amendment goes far beyond this loan for China.

This loan has become emblematic of everything wrong with the World Bank. This loan confirmed the wrong environmental designation from its very conception. It should have received what is known as a Category A designation for its resettlement requirements alone, let alone for its potential impact on fragile ecosystems and on the nomadic peoples who inhabit this part of Tibet. The staff who prepared the loan failed to comply with the Bank's own policies on environmental assessment, public information disclosure, participation by affected peoples, indigenous peoples and involuntary resettlement.

We in the United States Congress do not take these policies lightly and we do not think the World Bank should. The creation of these policies has served for years to influence support for World Bank funding. I would like to thank the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI) for all her leadership in this area. The violation of these bank policies, indeed the cynical manner in which they were dismissed or bypassed by bank staff responsible for the preparation of this loan, accounts for someone like myself, a strong supporter of bilateral and multilateral development aid, rising in support of this amendment.

I oppose and I am angry that the Bank would fund a program with the goal of displacing Tibetan people from their ancestral territory in order to pursue a badly conceived agricultural program that relies on moving more ethnic Chinese into Tibet.

I would like to learn nothing from its terrible history of funding forced resettlement and transmigration in Indonesia?

But the reason I support this amendment goes far beyond this loan for China.

The Senate already passed such an amendment, and now it is our turn.

Mr. Chairman, I welcome the support of the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARMY) our majority leader; the gentleman from Hawaii (Mr. ABERCROMBIE); the gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS), a senior member of our committee; the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MCGOVERN); the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. PORTER), a senior member of the Committee on Appropriations; and the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. SANFORD), another member of the committee.

Their support represents a unique coalition for human rights, for the rule of law, and for the support for Tibet and its people.

Accordingly, I urge adoption of the amendment.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GILMAN. I yield to the gentleman from Massachusetts.
Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment. Mr. Chairman, I would rather do anything than force this body and speak against the very distinguished gentleman from New York who chairs the Committee on International Relations, who does so much good work worldwide, who has vast knowledge of all of the areas of the world and just passed a few days ago the international relations bill through this body and did such a magnificent job there. But I, too, feel like I have made a contribution towards the same goal that the gentleman from New York wants to reach. To remind him of what we have already done in this bill, we have cut IDA $223 million from last year over the strong objections in the committee and over the ranking member of our subcommittee who had to force the $200 million reduction in IDA. But, nevertheless, we did it.

I feel like I have graduated magna cum laude from college and come home to my parent and he is criticizing me because I did not graduate summa cum laude. I think we have done a good job here, Mr. Chairman, and I think we have addressed every issue that the gentleman from New York has brought to us from his committee as chairman of the Committee on International Relations. I think we have a good bill, and while symbolically I agree with the gentleman, I think we have gone far enough.

I would respectfully ask the distinguished gentleman if he would withdraw this amendment and let us get on to passing this bill tonight in a timely fashion. I am not necessarily disagreeing with his mission, I just think the timing is inappropriate at this time.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CALLAHAN. I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. GILMAN. I want to again commend the gentleman for his outstanding job on this measure. We recognize that he has made substantial cuts in many important areas trying to keep within our budget. But there are a number of important organizations in our country and a number of people who have been steadfast in their opposition to what the World Bank is seeking to do. We would like to make a very symbolic record in opposition.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Reclaiming my time, it is already there in report language at the gentleman’s request. We have inserted the report language there. I know it is symbolic and $8 million in the terms in which we speak, in billions of dollars or even trillions, is not a lot of money. But, nevertheless, I think it is a heartfelt way to try to show that symbolism when it is already written in the report.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Mr. Chairman, the distinguished gentleman from New York is a great leader on human rights throughout the world and always eager to work with him. He is an inspiration to all of us. I completely agree with the gentleman entirely on his motivation on this legislation. But I have to agree in part with the gentleman from Alabama for the following reason. I have fought him tooth and nail on cutting this $224 million from IDA in the bill. While I share the concerns the gentleman expresses in the amendment, to go on and cut more from IDA I think would diminish any arguments we made about the impact of the $224 million already cut from IDA.

I think what the World Bank did is appalling. As the gentleman knows, under his leadership and working with the Bank for many years together with the people who work at the World Bank, with many congressional offices participating in these meetings. We jointly, 60 of us, sent a letter at the urging of the gentleman from New York and me to President Wolfensohn about this. This is appalling. The World Bank is ignoring its own standards on resettlement as well as the environment. There are many reasons why they should not have gone down this road. I do not like what they are doing as far as Tibet is concerned. We have fought that in this House year in and year out. And now the World Bank is asking those of us who have not only opposed the Chinese policy of resettlement in the Tibetan areas of Han China, they are asking us to pay for it by our contribution to the World Bank.

The World Bank did a very stupid thing. The World Bank has invited some very, very close scrutiny in terms of resettlement, environment which, as I say, are violated in what they have done. June 30 marked the end of any IDA funding to China. The other poor people in the world will pay the price for what the World Bank refused to listen to us on. The Chinese government has had its way with the World Bank and I think that it is appalling. But as one who has fought the fight with the gentleman against the repression in China year in and year out, I cannot let the Chinese regime take assistance away from people in other parts of the world because of their behavior there, and just because the World Bank has done something I do not like does not mean that we should take away their funding.

So sharing every value that the gentleman presented, agreeing completely that the World Bank is wrong, wrong, wrong on many scores as far as this is concerned, appalled by the ethnic cleansing that this represents on the Tibetan people, but, nonetheless saying that we cannot take any more money from the fund that goes for the poorest of the poor people.

I find myself in a very difficult place. Mr. Chairman, but because I was going to have to vote “no” on the gentleman’s amendment, I wanted to explain to my colleagues why. He is completely right, but I have a counter-equity that outweighs that.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues, we cannot urge anybody to do anything. I am just telling them why I will be voting “no,” because I have resisted the gentleman’s $224 million cut and do not see how then to go on and support an additional cut to IDA. With that and with the deepest respect for the chairman of the Committee on International Relations and begging his forgiveness because he has been the champion on Tibet, the champion on Tibet, I offer that explanation to the body.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I entirely support the effort of the gentleman from New York here. I know of no stronger champion of human rights in this House. I do not think I am going to be contradicted in that degree at all. But there is one argument that has been made that requires a rebuttal, and, that is, that if we accept the gentleman from New York’s amendment, that we will deprive other recipients of the World Bank funds their appropriate investments from the World Bank. That can be fixed. Indeed, I went to the gentleman last night, and, gracious man that he was, he agreed to an amendment to his amendment, regretfully it was not in parliamentary order to do so, that the dollar-for-dollar reduction that would be taken away from the World Bank for this purpose would instead be given to the concessional wing of the Africa Development Fund which gives the lowest income, the most neediest countries in Africa loans for development projects when they cannot otherwise receive such development projects.

What I have and will introduce at the right time, which will be very soon, is an amendment at the desk to plus-up that account for the Africa Development Fund by exactly the amount that the gentleman from New York is reducing the IDA account because of the World Bank’s mistake. So with that understanding, and obviously there are many other possibilities but this is the one that occurred to me and that I brought to the gentleman that he, I am proud to say, agreed with, but with that understanding I do not think there is any merit to the argument that accepting the gentleman from New York’s amendment would not impact the really needy countries on Earth. In fact, the World Bank traditionally spends about 50 percent of its money in sub-Saharan Africa. This will kick it over to 100 percent.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CAMPBELL. I yield to the gentleman from New York.
Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Chairman, I want to commend the gentleman from California for his support of the Campbell-Payne amendment to transfer funds to the African Development Fund. I look forward to supporting him with regard to that amendment.

Mr. CAMPBELL. I reclaim my time. I thank the gentleman. I repeat that I have the highest admiration for him and what he is attempting to do tonight.

I will conclude with just a word on behalf of the authorizers. The authorizers are supposed to know something about the field. I do not claim that I do. I do claim that the gentleman from New York does and that he is entitled to a substantial amount of respect when he speaks in these areas. I urge support for his amendment.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the requisite number of words.

Mr. Chairman, I just want to associate myself with the remarks of the gentleman from New York, the chairman of our full committee, and just to say a couple of words.

What were they thinking, lending money to a government like China to move people around involuntarily? I was looking at an internal World Bank document and I cannot believe this. One of the people that they have hired will be working on an involuntary resettlement action plan. Involuntary. Not voluntary, involuntary.

I think the amendment is timely and important. This is not the first time, I say to my colleagues, in recent years that the bank's arrogance has resulted in tragedy for helpless citizens of a brutal regime. An Indonesian human rights advocate at one of my subcommittee hearings during the last days of the Suharto regime said that "the people of Indonesia had nothing to say about creating that large debt but the World Bank is determined to democratize its repayment." The bank was warned that it was subsidizing corruption throughout and yet continued to do so. Here we have a mass transmigration of people against their will—and again, this is involuntary. I hope the gentleman from New York's amendment will prevail.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN).

The amendment was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

CONTRIBUTION TO THE INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK

For payment to the Inter-American Development Bank by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the United States share of the paid-in portion of the increase in capital stock, $13,728,263, to remain available until expended.

LIMITATION ON CALLABLE CAPITAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

The United States Governor of the Inter-American Development Bank may subscribe without fiscal year limitation to the callable capital portion of the United States share of such capital stock in an amount not to exceed $1,503,718,910.

CONTRIBUTION TO THE ASIAN DEVELOPMENT FUND

For payment to the Asian Development Bank by the Secretary of the Treasury for the United States share of the paid-in portion of the increase in capital stock, $15,726,567, to remain available until expended.

LIMITATION ON CALLABLE CAPITAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

The United States Governor of the Asian Development Bank may subscribe without fiscal year limitation to the callable capital portion of the United States share of such capital stock in an amount not to exceed $672,745,205.

CONTRIBUTION TO THE AFRICAN DEVELOPMENT FUND

For the United States contribution by the Secretary of the Treasury to the increase in resources of the African Development Fund, as authorized by the Asian Development Bank Act, as amended, $100,000,000, to remain available until expended.

LIMITATION ON CALLABLE CAPITAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

The United States Governor of the African Development Bank may subscribe without fiscal year limitation to the callable capital portion of the United States share of such capital stock in an amount not to exceed $13,728,263, to remain available until expended.

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. CAMPBELL

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. CAMPBELL: Page 33, line 16, after the dollar amount insert "(increased by $8,000,000)"

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, the amendment as offered by myself and also by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PAYNE), it is this amendment to which I referred to earlier. It would allocate the $8 million, which has now been reduced from the IDA account because of the World Bank's lending to the forced repatriation or relocation of Chinese to Tibet, instead to the Africa Development Fund. I note that the amount had been $120 million last year. It is now $100 million, so this will only bring it up to $100 million. I also note it is not for arrears.

☐ 2100

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. CAMPBELL).

The amendment was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

CONTRIBUTION TO THE EUROPEAN BANK FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT

For payment to the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development by the Secretary of the Treasury, $35,778,717, for the United States share of the paid-in portion of the increase in capital stock, to remain available until expended.

LIMITATION ON CALLABLE CAPITAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

The United States Governor of the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development may subscribe without fiscal year limitation to the callable capital portion of the United States share of such capital stock in an amount not to exceed $123,237,803.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS AND PROGRAMS

For necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of section 301 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, and of section 2 of the United Nations Environment Program Participation Act of 1973, $167,000,000: Provided, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading shall be made available for the United Nations Fund for Science and Technology: Provided further, That none of the funds made available under this heading, may be provided to the Climate Stabilization Fund until fifteen days after the Department of State provides a report to the Committees on Foreign Relations and Appropriations in the Senate and the Committees on International Relations and Foreign Operations in the House of Representatives that contains the number of employees of the Fund, their functions and salaries, and descriptions of the Fund's activities, programs, and projects (including associated costs) for the fiscal years 1999 and 2000: Provided further, That none of the funds appropriated under this heading may be made available to the Korean Peninsula Energy Development Organization (KEDO) or the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA).

TITLE V—GENERAL PROVISIONS

OBLIGATIONS DURING LAST MONTH OF AVAILABILITY

SEC. 501. Except for the appropriations entitled "International Disaster Assistance", and "United States Emergency Refugee and Migration Assistance Fund", not more than 15 percent of any appropriation item made available by this Act shall be obligated during the last month of availability.

PROHIBITION OF RELIEF FUNDING FOR INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

SEC. 502. Notwithstanding section 614 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, none of the funds contained in title II of this Act may be made available to the World Bank or any other international financial institution for that portion of its activities, programs, and projects (including associated costs) for the fiscal years 1999 and 2000: Provided, That none of the funds contained in title II of this Act may be made available to the Agency for International Development directly to an international financial institution (as defined in section 533 of this Act) for the purpose of repaying a foreign country's loan obligations to such institution.

LIMITATION ON RESIDENCE EXPENSES

SEC. 503. Of the funds appropriated or made available pursuant to this Act, not to exceed $126,500 shall be for entertainment expenses of the Secretary of State and not more than $126,500 shall be for entertainment expenses of the Agency for International Development during the current fiscal year.

LIMITATION ON EXPENSES

SEC. 504. Of the funds appropriated or made available pursuant to this Act, not to exceed $126,500 shall be for official residence expenses of the Secretary of State and not more than $126,500 shall be for official residence expenses of the Agency for International Development during the current fiscal year.
Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the remainder of the bill through page 11, line 8 be considered read, printed in the RECORD and open to amendment at any point.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

There was no objection.

The text of the bill from page 36, line 11 through page 116, line 8, is as follows:

LIMITATION ON REPRESENTATIONAL ALLOWANCE

SEC. 505. Of the funds appropriated or made available pursuant to this Act, not to exceed $95,000 shall be available for representation allowances for the Agency for International Development during the current fiscal year: Provided, That appropriate steps shall be taken to assure that, to the maximum extent possible, United States-owned foreign currencies are utilized in lieu of dollars: Provided further, That of the funds made available by this Act under the heading “International Military Education and Training”, not to exceed $2,000 shall be available for entertainment expenses and not to exceed $50,000 shall be available for representation allowances: Provided further, That of the funds made available by this Act under the heading “International Military Education and Training”, not to exceed $35,000 shall be available for representation and entertainment allowances: Provided further, That of the funds made available by this Act for the Peace Corps, not to exceed $1,000 shall be available for entertainment expenses: Provided further, That of the funds made available by this Act under the heading “Peace and Development Agency”, not to exceed $2,000 shall be available for representation and entertainment allowances.

PROHIBITION ON FINANCING NUCLEAR GOODS

SEC. 506. None of the funds appropriated or made available (other than funds for “Non-proliferation, Demunitions and Related Programs”) pursuant to this Act, for carrying out the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, may be used, except for purposes of nuclear safety, to finance the export of nuclear equipment, fuel, or technology.

PROHIBITION AGAINST DIRECT FUNDING FOR CERTAIN COUNTRIES

SEC. 507. None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available pursuant to this Act shall be obligated or expended to finance directly any assistance or reparations to Cuba, Iraq, Libya, North Korea, Iran, Sudan, or Syria: Provided, That for purposes of this section, the prohibition on obligations or expenditures shall include direct loans, credits, insurance and guarantees of the Export-Import Bank or its agents.

MILITARY COUPS

SEC. 508. None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available pursuant to this Act shall be obligated or expended to finance directly any assistance to any country whose duly elected head of government is deposed by military coup or decree: Provided, That assistance may be resummed to such country if the expiration of the coup or decree and reports to the Committees on Appropriations that subsequent to the termination of assistance a democratically elected government has taken office.

TRANSFER BETWEEN ACCOUNTS

SEC. 509. None of the funds made available by this Act may be obligated under an appropriation account to which they were not appropriated, except for transfers specifically provided for in this Act: Provided, That prior to the exercise of any authority contained in the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 to transfer funds, consults with and provides written notice to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate: Provided, That the exercise of such authority shall be subject to the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations.

DEOBILIZATION/DEOBILIZATION AUTHORITY

SEC. 510. (a) Amounts certified pursuant to section 1311 of the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1965, as having been obligated or appropriated heretofore made under the authority of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 for the same general purpose as any of the funds of this Act are, if deobligated, hereby continued available for the same period as the respective appropriations under such headings or captions to which such funds were originally obligated and for the same general purpose, and for countries within the same region as originally obligated: Provided, That the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of the Congress are notified 15 days in advance of the reobligation of such funds in accordance with regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations: Provided, That such reobligations of any such funds committed under section 23 of the Arms Export Control Act of 1976, as amended, shall not be obligated or expended for the purpose of financing any military equipment or technology controlled under any provision of the Arms Export Control Act of 1976, as amended, or any similar or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity:

AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS

SEC. 511. No part of any appropriation contained in this Act shall be obligated or expended after the expiration of the current fiscal year unless expressly so provided in this Act: Provided, That funds appropriated for assistance for purposes of sections 1, 9, and 11 of part I, section 667, and chapter 4 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, and funds provided under the heading “Assistance for Eastern Europe and the Baltic States”, shall remain available until expended if such funds are initially obligated before the expiration of their respective periods of availability contained in this Act: Provided further, That notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, any funds made available for the purposes of chapter 4 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 which are allocated or obligated for cash disbursements in order to address balance of payments or economic policy reform objectives, shall remain available until expended: Provided further, That the report required by section 633(a) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 shall describe each such estimate known at the time of submission of such report, those funds allocated for cash disbursement for balance of payment and economic policy reform purposes.

LIMITATION ON ASSISTANCE TO COUNTRIES IN DEFAULT

SEC. 512. No part of any appropriation contained in this Act shall be used to furnish assistance to any country which is in default during the current fiscal year in payment to the United States of principal or interest on any loan made to such country by the United States pursuant to a program for which funds are appropriated under this Act: Provided, That this section and section 620(q) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 shall not apply to funds made available in the current fiscal year for Nicaragua, Brazil, Liberia, and for any narcotics-related assistance for Colombia, Bolivia, and Peru authorized by the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 or the Arms Export Control Act.

COMMERCE AND TRADE

SEC. 513. (a) None of the funds appropriated or made available pursuant to this Act for direct assistance and none of the funds otherwise made available pursuant to this Act to the Export-Import Bank and the Overseas Private Investment Corporation shall be obligated or expended to finance any loan, any assistance, or any commitment for establishing or expanding production of any commodity for export by any country other than the United States, if the President determines and reports to the Committees on Appropriations that the exercise of such authority shall be subject to the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations:

(b) None of the funds appropriated by this Act or any other Act to carry out chapter 1 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 shall be available for any testing or breeding feasibility study, variety improvement or introduction, consultancy, publication, conference, or training in connection with the growth or production in a foreign country of any commodity likely to be in surplus on world markets at the time the resulting productive capacity is expected to become operative and if the assistance will cause substantial injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity: Provided, That such prohibition shall not apply to the Export-Import Bank or in the judgment of the Board of Directors the benefits to industry and employment in the United States are likely to outweigh the injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity:

(1) activities designed to increase food security in developing countries where such activities will not have a significant impact in the export of agricultural commodities of the United States; or

(2) research activities intended primarily to benefit American producers.

SURPLUS COMMODITIES

SEC. 514. (a) The Secretary of the Treasury shall instruct the United States Executive Directors of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the International Development Association, the International Finance Corporation, the Inter-American Development Bank, the International Monetary Fund, the Asian Development Bank, the Inter-American Investment Corporation, the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the African Development Bank, and the African Development Foundation to use their voice and vote of the United States to oppose any assistance by these institutions, using funds appropriated or made available pursuant to this Act, for the production or extension of agricultural commodities or mineral for export, if it is in surplus on world markets and if the assistance...
C O N G R E S S I O N A L  R E C O R D — H O U S E

J U L Y 2 9 , 1 9 9 9

18708

will cause substantial injury to United States producers of the same, similar, or competing commodity.

(b) The Secretary of the Treasury should instruct the United States executive directors of international financial institutions listed in subsection (a) of this section to use the voice and vote of the United States to support the purchase of American produced agricultural commodities with funds appropriated or made available pursuant to this Act.

NOTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

SEC. 516. (a) For the purposes of providing the executive branch with the necessary administrative flexibility, none of the funds made available under this Act for “Child Survival and Disease Programs Fund”,”Development Assistance”, “International Organizations and Programs”, “Trade and Development Agency”, “International Narcotics Control and Law Enforcement”, “Assistance for Eastern Europe and the Baltic States”, “Assistance for the Independent States of the Former Soviet Union”, “Economic Support Fund”, and “Peace Corps” may be waived if failure to do so would pose a substantial risk to human health or welfare.

(b) Drawdowns made pursuant to section 117 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 shall be subject to the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations.

LIMITATION ON AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS FOR INTERNATIONAL TRADE PROGRAMS

SEC. 517. Subject to the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations, funds appropriated under this Act or any previously enacted Act making appropriations for foreign operations, type of materials, and related programs, which are returned or not made available for organizations and programs because of the implementation of section 307 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, shall remain available for obligation until September 30, 2001.

INDEPENDENT STATES OF THE FORMER SOVIET UNION

SEC. 517. (a) None of the funds appropriated under the heading “Assistance for the Independent States of the Former Soviet Union” shall be made available for assistance for a Government of an Independent State of the former Soviet Union:

(1) unless that Government is making progress in implementing comprehensive domestic reforms based on market principles, private ownership, respect for commercial contracts, and equitable treatment of foreign private investment; and

(2) if that Government applies or transfers United States assistance to any entity for the purpose of expropriating or seizing ownership of assets, investments, or ventures.

Assistance may be furnished without regard to this subsection if the President determines that to do so is in the national interest.

(b) None of the funds appropriated under the heading “Assistance for the Independent States of the Former Soviet Union” shall be made available for assistance for a Government of an Independent State of the former Soviet Union:

(1) unless that Government is making progress in implementing comprehensive domestic reforms based on market principles, private ownership, respect for commercial contracts, and equitable treatment of foreign private investment; and

(2) if that Government applies or transfers United States assistance to any entity for the purpose of expropriating or seizing ownership of assets, investments, or ventures.

Assistance may be furnished without regard to this subsection if the President determines that to do so is in the national interest.

SEC. 518. None of the funds made available to carry out part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, may be used to pay for the performance of abortions as a method of family planning or to motivate or coerce any person to practice abortions. None of the funds made available to carry out part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, may be used to pay for the performance of involuntary sterilization as a method of family planning or to motivate or coerce any person to undergo sterilizations. None of the funds made available to carry out part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, may be used to pay for any biomedical research which relates in whole or in part to methods of, or the performance of, abortions or involuntary sterilizations of family planning.

EXPORT FINANCING TRANSFER AUTHORITIES

SEC. 519. Not to exceed 5 percent of any appropriation other than for administrative expenses made available for fiscal year 2000, for programs under title I of this Act may be transferred between such appropriations for use for any of the purposes and activities for which the funds in such receiving account may be used, but not such appropriation, except as otherwise specifically provided, shall be increased by more than 25 percent by any such transfer.

SPECIAL NOTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

SEC. 520. None of the funds appropriated by this Act shall be obligated or expended for Colombia, Haiti, Liberia, Pakistan, Panama, Serbia, Sudan, or the Democratic Republic of the Congo, except as provided in the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations.
SEC. 521. For the purpose of this Act, "program, project, and activity" shall be defined at the appropriations Act account level and shall include all appropriations and authorizations of funds contained in the ceilings, and limitations with the exception that for the following accounts: Economic Support Fund and Foreign Military Financing Program, "program, project, and activity" shall also be considered to include country, regional, and central program level funding within each such account; for the development assistance accounts of the Agency for International Development, "program, project, and activity" shall also be considered to include all amounts made available notwithstanding section 102 of this Act and section 620(q) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

SEC. 522. Up to $200,000 of the funds made available by this Act for assistance under the heading "Child Survival and Disease Prevention Activities" may be used to reimburse United States diplomatic and consular agencies in the United States, United States diplomatic and consular agencies in the territories of any country bordering the Persian Gulf, or any country bordering the Persian Gulf under the Arms Export Control Act or chapter 2 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

SEC. 523. None of the funds appropriated or made available pursuant to the authority of this Act may be used to provide bilateral assistance to any country which the President determines that national security or foreign policy or national security reasons justify such waiver. The President shall publish each waiver in the Federal Register and, at least fifteen days before the waiver takes effect, notify the Committees on Appropriations of the Congress in writing. The President shall at the same time establish by agreement with that government the conditions and all relevant financial and technical requirements.

SEC. 524. Prior to providing excess Department of Defense military articles for sale or lease under this section, the Secretary of Defense shall notify the Congress in writing and include a statement that United States insurance companies have a fair opportunity to bid for insurance when such insurance is necessary or appropriate.

SEC. 525. Funds appropriated by this Act may be obligated and expended notwithstanding sections 102 of this Act and section 620(q) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, the Department of Defense shall notify the Committees on Appropriations of the Congress in writing and include a statement that United States insurance companies have a fair opportunity to bid for insurance when such insurance is necessary or appropriate.

SEC. 526. Notwithstanding any other provision of law that restricts assistance to foreign countries, funds appropriated by this Act for "Economic Support Fund" may be made available to any country which the President determines—

(a) is a recipient of United States international development assistance; or

(b) meets the requirements of section 620(q) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961. That funds made available pursuant to the authority of this section shall be subject to the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations.

SEC. 527. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, funds appropriated for the assistance programs of this Act and funds appropriated under any other authority in a provision of law enacted prior to enactment of this Act, shall not be made available to any country which the President determines—

(1) is not a democracy; or

(2) otherwise supports international terrorism.

(b) The President may waive the application of subsection (a) to a country if the President determines that national security or humanitarian reasons justify such waiver. The President shall publish each waiver in the Federal Register and, at least fifteen days before the waiver takes effect, notify the Committees on Appropriations of the waiver in writing. (c) The President may waive the application of subsection (a) if the President determines that there are compelling foreign policy or national security reasons for such defense articles being provided by commercial lease rather than by government-to-government lease agreement.

SEC. 528. All Agency for International Development contracts and solicitations, and subcontracts entered into under such contracts, shall include a provision that United States insurance companies have a fair opportunity to bid for insurance when such insurance is necessary or appropriate.

DEFENSE-FOREIGN DEVELOPMENT

SEC. 531. In order to enhance the continued participation of nongovernmental organizations in economic assistance activities under the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, including endowments, debt-for-development and debt-for-nature exchanges, a nongovernmental organization which is a grantee or contractor of the Agency for International Development may place in interest bearing accounts funds made available under this Act or prior Acts or local currencies which accrue to that organization as a result of economic assistance programs under title II of this Act and any interest earned on such investment shall be used for the purpose for which the assistance was provided to that organization.

SEC. 532. (a) Separate accounts for local currencies. (1) If assistance is furnished to the government of a foreign country under chapters 1 and 10 of part I or chapter 4 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 under agreements which result in the generation of local currencies of that country, the Administrator of the Agency for International Development shall—

(A) require that local currencies be deposited in a separate account established by that government;

(B) enter into an agreement with that government which sets forth—

(i) the amount of the local currencies to be generated, and

(ii) the terms and conditions under which the currencies so deposited may be utilized, consistent with this section; and

(C) establish by agreement with that government the responsibilities of the Agency for International Development and that government to monitor and account for deposits into and disbursements from the separate account.

(2) Use of local currencies. — As may be agreed upon with the foreign government, local currencies deposited in a separate account pursuant to subsection (a), or an equivalent amount of local currencies, shall be used only—

(A) to carry out chapters 1 or 10 of part I or chapter 4 of part II of the Act (as the case may be), for such purposes as—

(i) project and sector assistance activities, or

(ii) debt and deficit financing, or

(B) for the administrative requirements of the United States Government.

(3) Programming and Accountability. — The Administrator of the Agency for International Development shall take all necessary steps to ensure that the equivalent of the local currencies disbursed pursuant to subsection (a)(2)(A) from the separate account established pursuant to subsection (a)(1) are used for the purposes agreed upon pursuant to subsection (a)(2).

(4) Termination of Assistance. — If the foreign government or nongovernmental organization to a country under chapters 1 or 10 of part I or chapter 4 of part II of the Act (as the case may be), any unencumbered balances of funds which remain in a separate account pursuant to section (a) shall be disposed of for such purposes as may be agreed to by the government of that country and the United States Government.

(5) REPORTING REQUIREMENT.—The Administrator of the Agency for International Development shall report to the Congress on an annual basis as part of the annual budget document submitted to the Committees on Appropriations on the use of local currencies for the administrative requirements of the United States Government in subsection (a)(2)(B), and such report shall include the amount of local currency (and United States dollar equivalent) used and/or to be used for such purpose in each applicable country.

(b) SEPARATE ACCOUNTS FOR CASH TRANS-
FERS.—(1) If assistance is made available to the government of a foreign country, under chapters 1 or 10 of part I or chapter 4 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as cash transfer assistance or as nonproject sector assistance, that country shall be required to maintain such funds in a separate account and not commingle them with any other funds.

(2) APPLICABILITY OF OTHER PROVISIONS OF LAW.—Such funds may be obligated and expended notwithstanding provisions of law which are inconsistent with the nature of this assistance including provisions which are referenced in the Joint Explanatory Statement of the Committee of Conference accompanying House Joint Resolution 648 H. Report No. 98–1159.

(3) NOTIFICATION.—At least fifteen days prior to obligating any such cash transfer or nonproject sector assistance, the President shall send a notification through regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations, which shall include a detailed description of how the funds proposed to be made available will be used, with a discussion of the United States interests that will be served by the assistance (including, as appropriate, a description of the economic policy reforms that will be promoted by such assistance).

(4) EXEMPTION.—Nonproject sector assistance funds may be exempt from the requirements of subsection (b)(1) only through the notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations.

COMPENSATION FOR UNITED STATES EXECUTIVE DIRECTORS TO INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS
SEC. 533. (a) No funds appropriated by this Act may be made as payment to any international financial institution while the United States Executive Director to such institution is compensated by the institution at a rate which, together with whatever compensation such Director receives from the United States, is in excess of the rate provided for an individual occupying a position at level IV of the Executive Schedule under section 5315 of title 5, United States Code, or Alternate United States Executive Director to such institution is compensated by the institution at a rate in excess of the rate provided for an individual occupying a position at level IV of the Executive Schedule under section 5316 of title 5, United States Code.

(b) For purposes of this section, ‘‘international financial institutions’’ are the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the Inter-American Development Bank, the Asian Development Bank, the African Development Fund, the African Monetary Fund, the North American Development Bank, and the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

COMPLIANCE WITH UNITED NATIONS SANCTIONS AGAINST IRAQ
SEC. 534. None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available pursuant to this Act to carry out the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (including title IV of chapter 2 of part I, relating to the Overseas Private Investment Corporation Export Control Act) may be used to provide assistance to anyone that is not in compliance with the United Nations Security Council sancctions against Iraq as determined by the United States Secretary of State and the Director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

SEC. 535. (a) Unless expressly provided to the contrary, provisions of this Act or any other Act, including provisions contained in prior appropriations acts, shall not apply to funds provided for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs, shall not be construed to prohibit activities authorized by or conducted under the Peace Corps Act, the Inter-American Foundation Act, or the African Development Foundation Act. The appropriate agency shall promptly report to the Committees on Appropriations whenever it is conducting activities or is proposing to conduct activities in a country for which assistance is prohibited.

(b) Unless expressly provided to the contary, limitations on the availability of funds for ‘‘International Organizations and Programs’’ in this or any other Act, including prior appropriations acts, shall not be construed to be applicable to the International Fund for Agricultural Development.

IMPACT ON JOBS IN THE UNITED STATES
SEC. 536. None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be obligated or expended to provide—
(a) any financial incentive to a business enterprise currently located in the United States for the purpose of inducing such an enterprise to relocate outside the United States if such incentive or inducement is likely to reduce the number of employees of such business enterprise in the United States; because United States production is being replaced by such enterprise outside the United States;
(b) assistance for the purpose of establishing or developing in a foreign country any export processing zone or designated area in which the tax, tariff, labor, environment, and safe laws of that country do not apply, in part or in whole, to activities car-rried out within that zone or area, unless the President determines and certifies that such assistance will not cause a loss of jobs within the United States; or
(c) assistance for any project or activity that contributes to the violation of international labor standards as defined in section 502(a)(4) of the Trade Act of 1974, of workers in the recipient country, including any designated zone or area in that country, and the President determines that the application of this subsection shall be commensurate with the level of development of the recipient country and sector, the prov-sion of this subsection shall not preclude assistance for the informal sector in such country, micro and small-scale enterprise, and smallholder agriculture.

FUNDING PROHIBITION FOR SERBIA
SEC. 537. None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be made available for assistance for the Republic of Serbia: Provided, That this restriction shall not apply to assistance for Kosova or Montenegro, or to assistance to promote democratic transition.

SPECIAL AUTHORITIES
SEC. 538. (a) Funds appropriated in titles I and II of this Act that are made available for Afghanistan, Lebanon, Montenegro, and for victims of war, displaced children, displaced Burmese, humanitarian assistance for Romania, and humanitarian assistance for the peoples of Kosova, may be made available notwithstanding any other provision of law.

(b) Funds appropriated by this Act to carry out the provisions of sections 103 through 106 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 may be made available notwithstanding any provision of law, for the purpose of supporting tropical forestry and biodiversity conservation activities and subject to notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations, energy programs aimed at reducing greenhouse gas emissions: Provided, That such assistance shall be subject to sections 116, 502B, and 620A of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

(c) The Agency for International Development shall report on an annual basis as part of the justification documents substantiated to the Committees on Appropriations, which shall include a detailed description of how the funds proposed to be made available will be used, with a discussion of the United States interests that will be served by the assistance (including, as appropriate, a description of the econ-nomic policy reforms that will be promoted by such assistance).

SEC. 539. None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be used to provide assistance to any country that is not in compliance with the Conflict of Interest Act or any other Act that contributes to the violation of internationally recognized workers rights, as defined in section 502(a)(4) of the Trade Act of 1974, of workers in the recipient country, including any designated zone or area in that country, and the President determines that the application of this subsection shall be commensurate with the level of development of the recipient country and sector, the prov-sion of this subsection shall not preclude assistance for the informal sector in such country, micro and small-scale enterprise, and smallholder agriculture.

SEC. 539. It is the sense of the Congress that—
(1) the Arab League countries should immediately and publicly renounce the primary boycott of Israel and the secondary and tertiary boycott of American firms that have commercial ties with Israel;
(2) the decision by the Arab League in 1997 to reinstate the boycott against Israel was deeply troubling and disappointing;
(3) the Arab League should immediately rescind its decision on the boycott and its members should develop normal relations with their neighbor Israel; and
(4) the President should—
(A) take more concrete steps to encourage vigorously Arab League countries to renounce publicly the primary boycott of Israel and the secondary and tertiary boycott of American firms that have commercial ties with Israel; and
(B) the Assistant Secretary of State for Political Affairs and the Special Representative for Israeli-Palestinian Affairs, if the President determines and certifies to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore of the Senate that it is important to the national security interests of the United States,
(c) The Agency for International Development shall report on an annual basis as part of the justification documents substantiated to the Committees on Appropriations, which shall include a detailed description of how the funds proposed to be made available will be used, with a discussion of the United States interests that will be served by the assistance (including, as appropriate, a description of the econ-nomic policy reforms that will be promoted by such assistance).

SEC. 539. It is the sense of the Congress that—
(1) the Arab League countries should immediately and publicly renounce the pri-
ary boycott of Israel and the secondary and tertiary boycott of American firms that have commercial ties with Israel;
(2) the decision by the Arab League in 1997 to reinstate the boycott against Israel was deeply troubling and disappointing;
(3) the Arab League should immediately rescind its decision on the boycott and its members should develop normal relations with their neighbor Israel; and
(4) the President should—
(A) take more concrete steps to encourage vigorously Arab League countries to renounce publicly the primary boycott of Israel and the secondary and tertiary boycott of American firms that have commercial ties with Israel; and
(B) the Assistant Secretary of State for Political Affairs and the Special Representative for Israeli-Palestinian Affairs, if the President determines and certifies to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore of the Senate that it is important to the national security interests of the United States,
(c) The Agency for International Development shall report on an annual basis as part of the justification documents substantiated to the Committees on Appropriations, which shall include a detailed description of how the funds proposed to be made available will be used, with a discussion of the United States interests that will be served by the assistance (including, as appropriate, a description of the econ-nomic policy reforms that will be promoted by such assistance).

SEC. 539. It is the sense of the Congress that—
(1) the Arab League countries should immediately and publicly renounce the pri-
ary boycott of Israel and the secondary and tertiary boycott of American firms that have commercial ties with Israel;
(2) the decision by the Arab League in 1997 to reinstate the boycott against Israel was deeply troubling and disappointing;
(3) the Arab League should immediately rescind its decision on the boycott and its members should develop normal relations with their neighbor Israel; and
(4) the President should—
(A) take more concrete steps to encourage vigorously Arab League countries to renounce publicly the primary boycott of Israel and the secondary and tertiary boycott of American firms that have commercial ties with Israel; and
(B) the Assistant Secretary of State for Political Affairs and the Special Representative for Israeli-Palestinian Affairs, if the President determines and certifies to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore of the Senate that it is important to the national security interests of the United States,
(c) The Agency for International Development shall report on an annual basis as part of the justification documents substantiated to the Committees on Appropriations, which shall include a detailed description of how the funds proposed to be made available will be used, with a discussion of the United States interests that will be served by the assistance (including, as appropriate, a description of the econ-
nomic policy reforms that will be promoted by such assistance).
(c) report to Congress on the specific steps being taken by the United States to mitigate the effects of a public reurnament of the Arab primary boycott of Israel and the secondary and tertiary boycotts of American firms that have commercial relations with Israel and to expand the legalizing ties between Arab League countries and Israel; and

(D) encourage the allies and trading partners of the United States to enact laws prohibiting businesses from complying with the boycott and penalizing businesses that do comply.

ANTI-SARCOTICS ACTIVITIES

SEC. 540. (a) Of the funds appropriated by this Act for 'Economic Support Act of 1967, any or any comparable provision of law prohibiting assistance to countries that violate internationally recognized human rights.

EARMARKS

SEC. 542. (a) Funds appropriated by this Act that are earmarked for other programs within the same account notwithstanding the earmark or any other Act or, with respect to a country with which the United States has an agreement providing the United States with base rights or base access in that country, if the President determines that the recipient for which funds are earmarked has significantly reduced its military or economic cooperation with the United States, or, the President determines that such expenditure is a matter of public record and available for public inspection, except where otherwise provided under existing law, or under existing Executive order pursuant to existing law.

PRIVATE VOLUNTARY ORGANIZATIONS—DOCUMENTATION

SEC. 548. None of the funds appropriated or made available pursuant to this Act shall be available to a private voluntary organization which fails to provide upon timely request any document, file, or record necessary to the auditing requirements of the Agency for International Development.

PROHIBITION ON ASSISTANCE TO FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS THAT EXPORT LETHAL MILITARY EQUIPMENT SUPPORTING INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM

SEC. 549. (a) None of the funds appropriated or otherwise available pursuant to this Act may be available to any foreign government which provides lethal military equipment to a country or any other similar provision of law, may be available to any foreign government which provides lethal military equipment to a country or any other such agreement to which the United States has an economic cooperation with the United States.

(c) Whenever the waiver of subsection (b) is exercised, the President shall consult with the appropriate congressional committees a report with respect to the furnishing of such assistance. Any such report shall include a detailed explanation of the assistance estimate to be provided, including the estimated amount of such assistance, and an explanation of how the assistance further the United States national interests.

WITHHOLDING OF ASSISTANCE FOR PARKING FINES OWED BY FOREIGN COUNTRIES

SEC. 550. (a) In General.—Of the funds made available for a foreign country under part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, an amount equivalent to 110 percent of the total unpaid fully adjudicated parking fines and penalties owed to the District of Columbia by such country as of the enactment of this Act shall be withheld from obligation for such country until the Secretary of State certifies and reports in writing to the appropriate congressional committees that such fines and penalties are fully paid to the government of the District of Columbia.

(b) Definition.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘appropriate congressional committee’ means the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations under the Committee on International Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

LIMITATION ON ASSISTANCE FOR THE PLO FOR THE WEST BANK AND GAZA

SEC. 551. None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be obligated for assistance for the Palestinian Liberation Organization for the support of the clearance of landmines and unexploded ordnance for humanitarian purposes if (1) the President, in the case of such funds made available through the Development Credit Corporation under export credit guarantees provided by subsection (f) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945 (as amended), enters into an agreement with the President of the Government of the Palestinian Authority that such funds are to be used for activities that are substantially of a recreational character, including entrance fees at sporting events and amusement parks.

SEC. 552. If the President determines that doing so will contribute to a just resolution of charges regarding genocide or other violations of international humanitarian law, the President may direct a drawdown pursuant to section 522(c) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, of up to $30,000,000 of commodities and services for the United Nations War Crimes Tribunal established with regard to the former Yugoslavia by the United Nations Security Council or other tribunals or commissions as the Council may establish to deal with such violations, without the ceiling limitation contained in paragraph (2) thereof: Provided, That the determination required under this section shall be in lieu of any determinations otherwise required under section 604(b)(2) of the Middle East Peace Facilitation Act of 1998 or to suspend the prohibition under other legislation, funds appropriated by this Act may be obligated for assistance for the Palestine Liberation Organization for the West Bank and Gaza.

WAR CRIMES TRIBUNALS DRAWDOWN

SEC. 553. The President may reduce amounts owed to the United States that are substantially of a recreational character, including entrance fees at sporting events and amusement parks.

SEC. 554. None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be obligated or expended to create in any part of Jerusalem a new office of any department or agency of the United States Government for the purpose of conducting official United States Government business with the Palestinian Authority over Gaza and Jericho or any successor Palestinian governing entity provided for in the Israel-PLO Declaration of Principles: Provided, That this limitation shall not apply to the acquisition of additional space for the future Palestinian Authority Consulate in Jerusalem: Provided further, That meetings between officers and employees of the United States and officials of the Palestinian Authority, or any successor Palestinian governing entity provided for in the Israel-PLO Declaration of Principles, for the purpose of conducting official United States Government business with such authority should continue to take place in locations other than Jerusalem. As has been true in the past, officers and employees of the United States Government may continue to meet in Jerusalem with subjects with Palestinians (including those who now occupy positions in the Palestinian Authority), have social contacts, and have incidental discussions.

PROHIBITION OF PAYMENT OF CERTAIN EXPENSES

SEC. 555. None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available by this Act under the heading “International Military Education and Training” or “Foreign Military Financing Program” for Informational Program activities may be obligated or expended to pay for: (1) alcoholic beverages; (2) food (other than food provided at a military installation) not provided in conjunction with Informational Program trips where students do not stay at a military installation; or (3) entertainment expenses for activities that are substantially of a recreational character, including entrance fees at sporting events and amusement parks.

EQUITABLE ALLOCATION OF FUNDS

SEC. 556. Not more than 17 percent of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available by this Act under the heading “International Military Education and Training” or “Foreign Military Financing Program” for Informational Program activities may be obligated or expended to pay for: (1) alcoholic beverages; (2) food (other than food provided at a military installation) not provided in conjunction with Informational Program trips where students do not stay at a military installation; or (3) entertainment expenses for activities that are substantially of a recreational character, including entrance fees at sporting events and amusement parks.

SEC. 557. (a) Authority To Reduce Debt.—The President may reduce amounts owed to the United States (or any agency of the United States) by an eligible country as a result of— (1) guarantees issued under sections 221(g) and 222 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961; (2) credits extended or guarantees issued under the Arms Export Control Act; or (3) any obligation or portion of such obligation for a loan or loan guarantee made before January 1, 1995, by the Export-Import Bank for the purchase or sale of goods or services by the United States to such country.

(b) Limitations.— (1) The authorities provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only to implement multilateral official debt relief ad referendum agreements, commonly referred to as “Paris Club Agreed Minutes”. (2) The authority provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only in such amounts or to such extent as is provided in advance by applicable international instruments.

(c) Conditions.—The authority provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only with regard to countries with heavy debt burdens that are eligible to borrow from the International Development Association, but not from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, commonly referred to as “IDA-only” countries.

SPECIAL DEBT RELIEF FOR THE POOREST

SEC. 558. (a) Loans Eligible for Sale, Redemption, or Cancellation.— (1) Authority to Sell, Redue, or Cancel Certain Loans.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the President may, in accordance with this subsection, sell, redeem, or cancel any loan or portion thereof, only for the purpose of facilitating— (A) debt-for-equity swaps, debt-for-development swaps, or debt-for-nature swaps; or (B) a debt buyback by an eligible country of its own qualified debt, only if the eligible country uses an additional amount of the local currency of the eligible country, equal to not less than 40 percent of the price paid for such debt by such eligible country, or the difference between the price paid for such debt and the face value of such debt, to support activities that link conservation and sustainable use of natural resources with local community development, and child survival and other child development, in a manner consistent with section 710 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, if the sale, reduction, or cancellation would not contravene any term or condition of any provision of law relating to the making or guaranteeing of such loans.

(f) Availability of Funds.—The authority provided by subsection (a) may be used only with regard to funds appropriated by this Act under the heading “Debt Restructuring”.

(e) Certain Prohibitions Inapplicable.—A reduction of debt pursuant to subsection (a) shall not be considered assistance for purposes of any provision of law limiting assistance to a country. The authority provided by subsection (a) may be exercised notwithstanding section 522(c) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

DEBT RELIEF FOR THE POOREST

SEC. 559. (a) Authority To Reduce Debt.—The President may reduce amounts owed to the United States (or any agency of the United States) by an eligible country as a result of— (1) guarantees issued under sections 221(g) and 222 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961; (2) credits extended or guarantees issued under the Arms Export Control Act; or (3) any obligation or portion of such obligation for a loan or loan guarantee made before January 1, 1995, by the Export-Import Bank for the purchase or sale of goods or services by the United States to such country.

(b) Limitations.— (1) The authorities provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only to implement multilateral official debt relief ad referendum agreements, commonly referred to as “Paris Club Agreed Minutes”. (2) The authority provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only in such amounts or to such extent as is provided in advance by applicable international instruments.

(c) Conditions.—The authority provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only with respect to countries with heavy debt burdens that are eligible to borrow from the International Development Association, but not from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, commonly referred to as “IDA-only” countries.

AUTHORITY TO ENGAGE IN DEBT BUYBACKS OR SALES

SEC. 560. (a) Loans Eligible for Sale, Redemption, or Cancellation.— (1) Authority to Sell, Redeem, or Cancel Certain Loans.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the President may, in accordance with this subsection, sell, redeem, or cancel any loan or portion thereof, only for the purpose of facilitating— (A) debt-for-equity swaps, debt-for-development swaps, or debt-for-nature swaps; or (B) a debt buyback by an eligible country of its own qualified debt, only if the eligible country uses an additional amount of the local currency of the eligible country, equal to not less than 40 percent of the price paid for such debt by such eligible country, or the difference between the price paid for such debt and the face value of such debt, to support activities that link conservation and sustainable use of natural resources with local community development, and child survival and other child development, in a manner consistent with section 710 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, if the sale, reduction, or cancellation would not contravene any term or condition of any provision of law relating to the making or guaranteeing of such loans.

(f) Availability of Funds.—The authority provided by subsection (a) may be used only with regard to funds appropriated by this Act under the heading “Debt Restructuring”.

(e) Certain Prohibitions Inapplicable.—A reduction of debt pursuant to subsection (a) shall not be considered assistance for purposes of any provision of law limiting assistance to a country. The authority provided by subsection (a) may be exercised notwithstanding section 522(c) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

DEBT RELIEF FOR THE POOREST

SEC. 561. (a) Authority To Reduce Debt.—The President may reduce amounts owed to the United States (or any agency of the United States) by an eligible country as a result of— (1) guarantees issued under sections 221(g) and 222 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961; (2) credits extended or guarantees issued under the Arms Export Control Act; or (3) any obligation or portion of such obligation for a loan or loan guarantee made before January 1, 1995, by the Export-Import Bank for the purchase or sale of goods or services by the United States to such country.

(b) Limitations.— (1) The authorities provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only to implement multilateral official debt relief ad referendum agreements, commonly referred to as “Paris Club Agreed Minutes”. (2) The authority provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only in such amounts or to such extent as is provided in advance by applicable international instruments.

(c) Conditions.—The authority provided by subsection (a) may be exercised only with respect to countries with heavy debt burdens that are eligible to borrow from the International Development Association, but not from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, commonly referred to as “IDA-only” countries.
President shall, in accordance with this section, decrease or conditions under which loans may be sold, reduced, or canceled pursuant to this section.

(3) Administration.—The Facility, as defined in section 702(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, shall not be deposited in the United States Government account or account established for the repayment of such loan.

(4) Eligible Purchasers.—A loan may be sold pursuant to subsection (a)(1)(A) only to a purchaser who presents plans satisfactory to the President for using the loan for the purposes of engaging in debt-for-equity swaps, debt-for-development swaps, or debt-for-nature swaps.

(d) Depository Consultations.—Before the sale to any eligible purchaser, or any reduction or cancellation pursuant to this section, of any loan made to an eligible country, the President shall consult with the appropriate congressional committees concerning the amount of loans to be sold, reduced, or canceled and their uses for debt-for-equity swaps, debt-for-development swaps, or debt-for-nature swaps.

(e) Availability of Funds.—The authority provided by subsection (a) may be used only with regard to funds appropriated by this Act or any United States persons.

(2) a corporation, partnership, or other legal entity organized under the United States-funded technical advisors to the Haitian National Police in such investigations;

(5) an assessment of actions taken by the Government of Haiti to remove and maintain the separation from the Haitian National Police, national palace and residential guard, ministerial guard, and any other public security entity or unit on Haiti, those individuals who are credibly alleged to have engaged in or conspired to conceal gross violations of internationally recognized human rights;

(6) the status of the privatization (or placement) of state-owned enterprises; and

(7) an assessment of the extent to which domestic capacity to conduct free, fair, democratic, and administratively sound elections has been developed in Haiti; and

(b) Certification Required for Disbursement of Funds.—None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be made available to pay any voluntary contributions of the United States to the United Nations (including the United Nations Development Program) unless the President certifies to the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, are made available only to the extent that appropriations for the cost of the modification, as defined in section 502 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, are made in advance.

(2) a corporation, partnership, or other legal entity organized under the United States rules of the Executive Branch.

(3) an assessment of the extent to which the Government of Haiti has completed all required incorporating documents, the transfer of assets, and the avoidance of unauthorized occupants from such facilities; and

(4) an assessment of the extent to which the Government of Haiti is cooperating with the United States in halting illegal emigration from Haiti;

(5) the status of the privatization (or placement) of state-owned enterprises; and

(6) the status of efforts to re-sign and implement the lapsed bilateral Repatriation Agreement and an assessment of the extent to which the Government of Haiti has been cooperating with the United States in halting illegal emigration from Haiti;

(7) an assessment of the extent to which the Government of Haiti is cooperating with the United States in halting illegal emigration from Haiti;

(8) an assessment of the extent to which the Government of Haiti has been cooperating with the United States in halting illegal emigration from Haiti;

(b) Certification Required for Disbursement of Funds.—None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be made available to pay any voluntary contributions of the United States to the United Nations (including the United Nations Development Program) unless the President certifies to the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, are made available only to the extent that appropriations for the cost of the modification, as defined in section 502 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, are made in advance.

(4) an assessment of the extent to which the Government of Haiti is cooperating with the United States in halting illegal emigration from Haiti; inform the foreign government of the basis for such waiver. To the maximum extent practicable, assist the foreign government in taking effective measures to bring the responsible members of the security forces to justice.

LIMITATIONS ON TRANSFER OF MILITARY EQUIPMENT TO EAST TIMOR

SEC. 565. In any agreement for the sale, transfer, or licensing of any lethal equipment or helicopter for Indonesia entered into by the United States, the personal representative of the United States in Indonesia, or the Secretary of Defense, which assistance (as defined in subsection (e)) is a party.

RESTRICTIONS ON ASSISTANCE TO COUNTRIES
PROVIDING SANCTUARY TO INDICTED WAR CRIMINALS

SEC. 566. (a) BILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—None of the funds appropriated under this Act or any prior Act making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing and related programs, may be provided for any country, entity or canton described in subsection (e).

(b) MULTILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—

(1) PROHIBITION.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall instruct the United States executive directors of the international financial institutions to work in opposition to and vote against, any extension by such institutions of any financial or technical astance to any country or entity described in subsection (e).

(2) NOTIFICATION.—Not less than 15 days beto vote, as well as a description of the location of the proposed assistance by municipality, its purpose, and its intended beneficiaries.

(3) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section—

(a) BILATERAL ASSISTANCE INCLUDES:

(i) Assistance made available by this Act and any prior Act making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing and related programs, in any country, entity, or canton described in subsection (e), for a program, project, or activity in which a publicly indicted war criminal, is known to have any financial or material interest; and

(ii) no assistance other than emergency food or medical assistance or demining as-

(iii) The term "sanctioned country, entity, or canton" described in subsection (e) is one whose competent authorities have failed, as deter-moved by the Secretary of State, to take necessary and significant steps to apprehend and transfer to the Tribunal all persons who have been publicly indicted by the Tribunal.

(1) WAIVER.—The Secretary of State
may waive the application of subsection (a)

SEC. 567. None of the funds appropriated under this Act may be made available for the Government of the Russian Federation, after 1998, for any purposes described in this Act, unless the President determines and certifies in writing to the Committees on

PROHIBITION TO PROHIBIT FOREIGN ASSISTANCE TO THE GOV-ERNMENT OF THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION SHOULD IT ENACT
LAWS WHICH WOULD DIS-
CRIMINATE AGAINST MINORITY
RELIGIOUS

SEC. 568. (a) Funds made available in this Act to support assistance programs
and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate and the Committee on Appropriations and the Committee on International Relations of the Representatives regarding the status of efforts
To secure the voluntary surrender or apprehension and transfer of persons indicted by the Tribunal, in accordance with the Dayton
Agreement and under the United Nations

(g) TERMINATION OF SANCTIONS.—The sanctions imposed pursuant to subsections (a) and

(b) and with respect to a country or entity shall cease to apply only if the Secretary of State determines and certifies to Congress that the authorities of that country, entity, or canton have apprehended and transferred to the Tribunal all persons who have been publicly indicted by the Tribunal.

SEC. 566. (a) BILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—None of the funds appropriated under this Act or any prior Act making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing and related programs, may be provided for any country, entity or canton described in subsection (e).

(b) MULTILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—

(1) PROHIBITION.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall instruct the United States executive directors of the international financial institutions to work in opposition to
and vote against, any extension by such institutions of any financial or technical as-

(i) Assistance made available by this Act
and any prior Act making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing and related programs, in any country, entity, or canton described in subsection (e), for a program, project, or activity in which a publicly indicted war criminal, is known to have any financial or material interest; and

(ii) no assistance other than emergency food or medical assistance or demining as-

(iii) The term "sanctioned country, entity, or canton" described in subsection (e) is one whose competent authorities have failed, as deter-
moved by the Secretary of State, to take necessary and significant steps to apprehend
and transfer to the Tribunal all persons who have been publicly indicted by the Tribunal.

(2) WAIVER.—The Secretary of State
may waive the application of subsection (a)

SEC. 567. None of the funds appropriated under this Act may be made available for the Government of the Russian Federation, after 1998, for any purposes described in this Act, unless the President determines and certifies in writing to the Committees on

PROHIBITION TO PROHIBIT FOREIGN
ASSISTANCE TO THE GOV-ERNMENT OF THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION SHOULD IT ENACT
LAWS WHICH WOULD DIS-
CRIMINATE AGAINST MINORITY
RELIGIOUS

SEC. 568. (a) Funds made available in this Act to support assistance programs
and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate and the Committee on Appropriations and the Committee on International Relations of the Representatives regarding the status of efforts
To secure the voluntary surrender or apprehension and transfer of persons indicted by the Tribunal, in accordance with the Dayton
Agreement and under the United Nations
Protocol to the Framework Convention on Climate Change shall only be made available subject to the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations.

The President shall provide a detailed account of all Federal agency obligations and expenditures for climate change programs and activities, domestic and international obligations for such activities in fiscal year 2000, and any plan for programs thereafter related to the implementation or the furtherance of protocols pursuant to, or related to, the provisions of this Act in conjunction with the President's submission of the Budget of the United States Government for Fiscal Year 2001: Provided, That such report shall include an accounting of expenditures by agency with each agency identifying climate change activities and associated costs by line item as presented in the President's Budget Appendix: Provided further. That such report shall identify with regard to the Agency for International Development, obligations and expenditures by country, and program and activity.

WITHHOLDING ASSISTANCE TO COUNTRIES VIOLATING UNITED NATIONS SALTIONS AGAINST LIBYA

SEC. 569. (a) WITHHOLDING OF ASSISTANCE.—Except as provided in subsection (b) whenever the President determines and certifies to Congress that the government of any country is violating any sanction against Libya imposed pursuant to United Nations Security Council Resolution 731, 748, or 883, then not less than 5 percent of the funds allocated for the country under section 653(a) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 out of appropriations in this Act shall be withheld from obligation or expenditure for that country.

(b) EXCEPTION.—The requirement to withhold funds under subsection (a) shall not apply to funds appropriated in this Act for allocation under section 653(a) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 for development assistance or for humanitarian assistance.

(c) WAIVER.—Funds may be provided for a country without regard to subsection (a) if the President determines that to do so is in the national security interest of the United States.

AID TO THE GOVERNMENT OF THE DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC OF CONGO

SEC. 570. (a) None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be provided for assistance for the central Government of the Democratic Republic of Congo until such time as the President reports in writing to the Congress that the central Government is—

(1) investigating and prosecuting those responsible for human rights violations committed in the Democratic Republic of Congo; and

(2) implementing a credible democratic transition program.

(b) This section shall not apply to assistance to promote democracy and the rule of law as part of a plan to implement a credible democratic transition program.

ASSISTANCE FOR THE MIDDLE EAST

SEC. 571. Of the funds appropriated by this Act under the headings “Economic Support Fund”, “Foreign Military Financing Program”, “International Military Education and Training”, “Peacekeeping Operations”, for refugees resettling in Israel under the heading “Migration and Refugee Assistance”, and for assistance for Israel to carry out provisions of chapter 8 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 under the heading “Nonproliferation, Anti-Terrorism, Demining and Related Programs”, not more than $5,000,000 may be made available for Israel, Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, the West Bank and Gaza, the Israel-Lebanon Monitoring Group, the Multinational Force and Observers, the U.S.-Egyptian, the U.S.-Jordanian, the East Mediterranean Framework Fund, Middle East Multilateral Co-operation, and Mideast Multilateral Working Groups: Provided, That any funds that were appropriated under such heading in prior fiscal years and were at the time of enactment of this Act obligated or allocated for other recipients may not be reprogrammed to other recipients: Provided further. That, if funded under this Act, would be required to count against this ceiling: Provided further. That funds may be made available notwithstanding the requirements of this section if the President determines and certifies to the Committees on Appropriations that it is important to the national security interest of the United States to do so and any such additional funds shall only be provided through the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations: Provided further. That the funding ceiling contained in this section, not to exceed a total of $100,000,000 may be available for Jordan from funds appropriated in this Act under the headings “Economic Support Fund” and “Foreign Military Financing Program”, in addition to funds otherwise available for Jordan under those headings and any such additional funds shall only be provided through the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations, a plan for the distribution of the assets of the Enterprise Fund.

KOREAN PENINSULA ENERGY DEVELOPMENT ORGANIZATION

SEC. 572. Prior to the distribution of any assets resulting from any liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Enterprise Fund, whole or in part, the President shall submit to the Committees on Appropriations, in accordance with the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations, a plan for the distribution of the assets of the Enterprise Fund.

SEC. 573. (a) The Secretary of the Treasury should instruct the United States executive directors of the International Financial Institutions to use the voice and vote of the United States to oppose loans to the Government of Cambodia, except loans to support basic human development.

(b) None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be made available for assistance for the Government of Cambodia: Provided, That this restriction shall not apply to humanitarian assistance, including assistance for basic education activities.

AUTHORIZATION FOR POPULATION PLANNING

SEC. 574. Not to exceed $385,000,000 of the funds appropriated in title II of this Act may be available for population planning activities or other population assistance.

FOREIGN MILITARY TRAINING REPORT

SEC. 575. (a) The Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State shall jointly provide to the Congress by January 31, 2000, a report on all military training provided to foreign military personnel (excluding sales, and excluding training provided to the military personnel of a Organization for Peacekeeping Operations, and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization) under programs administered by the Department of Defense and the Department of State during Fiscal Years 1998 and 1999: Provided, That the report shall include, for each such military training activity, the foreign policy justification and military utility for the activity, the cost of the training activity, the number of foreign students trained and their units of operation, and the location of the training. In addition, this report shall include a re-
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE
July 29, 1999

18716

(2) to KEDO in excess of the amount made available under the heading “Operating Expenses of the Agency for International Development” (a) by congressional action, or (b) by the budget for each fiscal year. The Agency budget shall contain the estimated levels of obligations for the current fiscal year and actual levels for the two previous fiscal years, and a detailed accounting of the fiscal year for the two previous years, and the President shall provide an estimate of carryover obligational authority for the next fiscal year. The budget data shall be presented, or if program and activity authority has not been requested, for each bureau, field mission, and central office. Staff levels shall be provided and identified by program. The Agency shall submit to the Committees on Appropriations a proposed budget format no later than October 31, 1999, or 30 days after the enactment of this act, whichever occurs later.

SENSE OF CONGRESS CONCERNING THE MURDER OF FOUR AMERICAN CHURCHWOMEN IN EL SALVADOR
SEC. 582. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:
(1) The December 2, 1980 brutal assault and murder of four American churchwomen by members of the Salvadoran National Guard was covered up and investigated.
(2) On July 22 and July 23, 1998, Salvadoran authorities granted three of the National Guardsmen convicted of the crimes early release from jail.
(3) The United Nations Truth Commission for El Salvador determined in 1993 that there was sufficient evidence that the Guardsmen were acting on orders from their superiors.
(4) In March 1998, four of the convicted Guardsmen confessed that they acted after receiving orders from their superiors.
(5) Recently declassified documents from the State Department show that United States Government officials were aware of information suggesting the involvement of such superiors.
(6) United States officials granted permanent residence to a former Salvadoran military official involved in the cover-up of the murders, enabling him to remain in Florida.
(7) Despite the fact that the murders occurred over 17 years ago, the families of the four victims continue to seek the disclosure of information relevant to the murders.
(b) RECOMMENDATIONS.—(1) the President should direct the Attorney General to review the circumstances under which individuals involved in either the declassification and release of relevant information, the Federal agencies and departments should presume in favor of releasing such information to the victims’ families relevant information as expeditiously as possible; and
(2) the President should direct the Attorney General to review the circumstances under which individuals involved in either the declassification and release of relevant information, the Federal agencies and departments should presume in favor of releasing such information to the victims’ families relevant information as expeditiously as possible; and
(3) the President should order all other Federal agencies and departments that possess relevant information to make every effort to provide timely information to the victims’ families.

UNITED NATIONS POPULATION FUND
SEC. 583. None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be used to provide any assistance, export financing, or related programs to the United Nations Population Fund unless such fund has demonstrated its commitment to continue providing assistance, export financing, and related programs to the United Nations Population Fund consistent with the guidelines for implementation of the Kyoto Protocol, which was adopted on December 11, 1997, in Kyoto, Japan, at the Third Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, which has not been submitted to the Senate for advice and consent to ratification pursuant to article II, section (2), of the United States Constitution, and which has not entered into force pursuant to article 25 of the Protocol.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO UNITED NATIONS POPULATION FUND
SEC. 584. (1) LIMITATIONS ON AMOUNT OF CONTRIBUTION.—Of the amounts made available under “International Organizations and Programs”, not more than $25,000,000 for fiscal year 2000 shall be available for the United Nations Population Fund (hereinafter in this subsection referred to as the “UNFPA”).
(B) If a report under subparagraph (A) indicates that the United Nations Population Fund is not making adequate progress toward achieving the Program of Action, the President may request the Congress to reduce the amount authorized under the heading “International Organizations and Programs” for fiscal year 2000 for the UNFPA.
(2) PROHIBITION ON USE OF FUNDS IN CHINA.—None of the funds made available under “International Organizations and Programs” may be made available for the UNFPA for a country program in the People’s Republic of China.
(3) CONDITIONS ON AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS.—None of the funds made available under “International Organizations and Programs” for fiscal year 2000 for the UNFPA may be made available to UNFPA unless—
(A) the UNFPA maintains amounts made available to the UNFPA under this section in an account separate from other accounts of the UNFPA;
(B) the UNFPA does not commingle amounts made available to the UNFPA under this section with other sums; and
(C) the UNFPA does not fund abortions.

REFERENCES TO CONGRESS AND WITHHOLDING OF FUNDS.—
(1) None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available by this Act may be used to provide any assistance, export financing, or related programs to the United Nations Population Fund unless such fund has demonstrated its commitment to continue providing assistance, export financing, and related programs to the United Nations Population Fund consistent with the guidelines for implementation of the Kyoto Protocol.
(2) The text of the amendment is as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 1 OFFERED BY MR. MOAKLEY
Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 1 offered by Mr. MOAKLEY: At the end of the bill, insert after the last section (preceding the short title) the following:

LIMINATION ON ASSISTANCE FOR SCHOOL OF THE AMERICAS
SEC. . None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available by this Act may be made available for programs at the United States Army School of the Americas located at Fort Benning, Georgia.
Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment be made a part of our debate and divided equally between a proponent and opponent of the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman include "and all amendments thereto"?

Mr. CALLAHAN. Yes, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

Ms. PELOSI. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Chairman, I just sought recognition to concur with the gentleman's request with the approval of the maker of the amendment, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY).

Mr. MOAKLEY. I approve.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I withdraw my objection.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY) is recognized for 30 minutes.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I thank the gentleman from Alabama for allowing this time allotment.

Mr. Chairman, I am sure that many people are very surprised to see me fighting to close the School of Americas, but 10 years ago I got to know people from another part of the world, people who have such a love for family, such a passion for life, and despite their many, many hardships, that I still cannot forget them, though my work in that country is through.

On November 16, 1989, at the University of Central America in El Salvador six Jesuit priests, their housekeeper and their 15-year-old daughter were pulled from their beds, forced to lie on the ground, and executed in cold blood. At that time, Mr. Chairman, El Salvador was in the midst of a horrible civil war. The United States had sided with the Salvadoran government, and we had sent the Salvadoran military a total of $6 billion.

Those murders, murders of men of God and innocent women, shocked the entire world, and Congress wanted to know exactly what was going on in El Salvador. Speaker Foley called for a Congressional investigation and asked me to head it up. My top staff personnel, a Congressman, Jim McGovern, and I traveled to El Salvador to investigate these murders. For 2 years we held meetings, conducted interviews, dug around. We learned that the Salvadoran soldiers not only committed the massacre but also were ordered to do so by the people at the highest levels of their military command who then engaged in a massive cover-up reaching the highest levels of Salvadoran government, the very same Salvadoran government, Mr. Chairman, to whom we were sending billions and billions of dollars.

After the Moakley Commission report was made public, we eventually cut off all military aid to El Salvador. Soon afterwards, that civil war ended.

But, Mr. Chairman, today, 10 years later, our work toward human rights in Central America has not ended. In addition to learning who committed the Jesuit murders, we learned that 19 of those 26 implicated in those murders were graduates of the School of Americas. Let me repeat, Mr. Chairman. Nineteen of those 26 implicated in the Jesuit murders were graduates of the School of Americas.

The School of Americas is a United States Army school run in Fort Benning, Georgia, that trains approximately 2,000 Latin American soldiers every year. The classes they teach include combat skills, commando tactics, military intelligence, and torture techniques, and this education comes at a very high price. The School of Americas costs the United States taxpayers $20 million every year, and that is what we are trying to stop here tonight, Mr. Chairman.

My colleagues and I are offering an amendment which will stop any money in the bill from being used to support the School of Americas. We are standing today and saying enough is enough; it is time to close down the school once and for all. Because, Mr. Chairman, its graduates were not only involved in the Jesuit murders, the School of Americas graduates raped and killed four American church women.

They assassinated Archbishop Romero while offering mass. The School of Americas graduates massacred 900 innocent civilians in El Mozote. And, Mr. Chairman, as we have done and are implicated in the Trujillo chain-saw massacres, in which at least 107 villagers were tortured and murdered. Manuel Noriega, the infamous Panamanian dictator, is a graduate of the School of Americas as were one-third of General Pinochet's officials. Mr. Chairman, just 2 months ago, General Rito Del Rio was expelled from the Columbian military because his human rights violations were so horrible. He also is a graduate of the School of the Americas.

Mr. Chairman, the list goes on and on. Put simply, the School of Americas has trained some of the most brutal assassins, some of the cruelest dictators, some of the worst abusers of human rights that the western hemisphere has seen, and I think it is time for the United States of America to admit its mistakes and remove this horrible blemish from our military establishment because if we do not stand for human rights in Georgia, how can we possibly expect to promote them anywhere else in the world?

This spring, President Clinton was forced to apologize for our involvement in the civil war in Guatemala that left 200,000 civilians dead. How many more times will our President have to apologize to the people of Central America before we close the school?

Some people say the school is changed. They say it trains people in torture techniques and commando tactics is a day too many.

Human rights are the foundation on which our country was created. We shed blood over those principles. We fought wars and sacrificed lives to protect them. Why would we want to export anything less to the rest of the world?

I urge my colleagues to take a stand for those without a voice, take a stand for human rights, take a stand for human decency, and shut down that School of Americas. Our Founding Fathers would expect nothing else.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) is recognized for 30 minutes in opposition to the amendment offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY).

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, for the past 4 years on every occasion that this bill has come to the floor since I have been chairman of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs, I have offered, and on every occasion that this bill has come to the floor since I have been chairman of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs, I have offered, and I reiterate today and saying enough is enough; it is time to close down the school once and for all. Because, Mr. Chairman, its graduates were not only involved in the Jesuit murders, the School of Americas graduates raped and killed four American church women.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?
human rights in any manner, and I have promised to those people who are opposed to the School of Americas: "If you want to prevent this school from continuing, and as well as the military, and that deed, to instruct them in human rights abuses, including targeted killings of women in the uniform are deliberately training people to commit human rights abuses. Accordingly, I have encouraged dialogue between the school and its critics.

Donnie Marshall, the acting administrator for the DEA, recently noted that, and I quote: The School of the Americas plays an important role in supporting our efforts to stop the flow of illegal drugs into the United States, close quote. General Serrano, the highly respected Director General of the Columbian National Police last year informed our Committee on International Relations, and I quote: The School of the Americas twice in the past year to fully examine the school’s operations; and in response to Congressional oversight, the School of the Americas has made a real effort to strengthen its curriculum. The school’s commandant, Colonel Glenn Weidner, reports that, and I quote: Every student in every one of the 55 courses taught by this school receives between 8 and 40 hours of formal human rights instruction depending on course length.

"Classroom instruction is followed up with practical application in field and map-based exercises throughout each course. No other Department of Defense school provides as much human rights training to foreign or U.S. students."

Prudent restrictions have been implemented at the school to make sure the students are screened for actual and alleged human rights violations.

Just as we do not close down our police academies when any one of our cops turns bad, neither should we throw away one of the important constructive tools we have for influencing Latin America’s militaries for the good.

Accordingly, let us not throw out the whole barrel of apples because of a few bad apples. I urge my colleagues to oppose the Moakley amendment.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Scarborough), the coauthor of the amendment.

Mr. SCARBOROUGH. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Massachusetts for yielding me this time.

Let me say, hearing the words of the gentleman from Alabama and also the gentleman from New York, I certainly respect their beliefs on human rights, their beliefs to fight for human rights. I just know that on this issue, reasonable minds can differ, and they do. I differ with my good friend from Massachusetts on several issues. But human rights, as far as I am concerned, really does not have any ideological barriers. Whether we are talking about Sudan, whether we are talking about China, or whether we are talking about Central America, I think we have to fight for human rights.

Mr. Chairman, I even, I am sure, would disagree violently on what happened in the 1980s. I believe what happened in the 1980s was Ronald Reagan’s fight for freedom in Central America. But at the same time, the Cold War is over. Soviet intervention in Central America has ended. In fact, the Soviet Union has ended. Now is the time we can all fight and join together for freedom to bring freedom to Central America.

While the Cold War may be over, the School of the Americas’ abuses are not. The United Nations Commission reports that the School of Americas’ grads are continuing to assassinate, continuing to murder. In fact, it continued in 1998. The United States State Department reports that murders and torture by SOA grads continue. In fact, in May of 1998, the Colombian Army formally disbanded the 20 Brigade for its involvement in human rights abuses, including targeted killings of civilians. The commander of the brigade at the time was yet another SOA graduate.

As the New York Times wrote, “An institution so clearly out of tune with American values should be shut down without delay.”

As I said before, whether we are talking about human rights abuses in China or in Central America, or in Sudan or Saudi Arabia, America must, once again, become what Ronald Reagan called a city shining brightly on a hill for all the world to see. Shining for freedom and shining for the exportation of American principles, and not what the School of the Americas has stood for, for the past 20 years.

So I thank the gentleman from Massachusetts again for bringing in this amendment, as the gentleman from Rhode Island (Mr. Kennedy) has done the past several years, and I am pleased once again to support it. I think now is the year we should all band together and defund the School of the Americas.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 6 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Bishop) who, incidentally, was born in Mobile, Alabama, my hometown. My hometown has a college named after his distinguished father, S.D. Bishop, Bishop State Community College in Mobile.
Mr. BISHOP. Mr. Chairman, the exercise we are engaged in this evening is shameful. It is shameful because the horrendous accusations that have been brought against the Army's School of the Americas and, more specifically, against the civilian and military men and women who have taught there, have been proven to be false. There is no reasonable question about this. None at all.

The accusations about teaching murder and torture and participating in a prolonged conspiracy to commit atrocities and murder democracy rebase on pure propaganda and not on the facts. Anyone who bothers to look at the record can come to no other conclusion.

During this decade, there have been 12 investigations of the school. Mr. Chairman, 12, more than 1 a year. These investigations probed the school's curriculum, the texts it uses; questioned many hundreds of graduates and faculty members, past and present; examined human rights violations involving some of the school's graduates; and made a real determination about how many graduates have gone bad and how many have been involved in the emergence of democracy in Latin America. All came to the same conclusion: these charges are false. In fact, the school is doing just the opposite. It is promoting human rights and democratic principles, helping fight the war against drugs, and effectively serving as an instrument of pro-democratic U.S. foreign policy in our own hemisphere.

One of these investigations, Mr. Chairman, was conducted by the General Accounting Office at the direction of our former colleague from California, Ron Dellums. The GAO dug long and hard and eventually recommended improvements that have, in fact, been implemented. And according to the GAO, there is no question that the charges were unfounded. When Ron Dellums asked the GAO to dig some more, the agency did so and confirmed its findings.

Do those who continue to make these charges really think that the GAO is a part of a cover-up?

Overseeing the school is a distinguished Board of Visitors that includes noted human rights figures like Mr. Steve Schneebaum. Do we really think they too are involved in a cover-up?

The fact is that those who persist in accusing the school of promoting murder and evil conduct are turning their backs on the facts. Unfortunately, the leaders of the School of the Americas Watch do not care about the truth. They decided long ago to place the blame for the horrible atrocities that have taken place in Latin America on the United States, and the School of the Americas has served as a convenient propaganda target and whipping boy.

But it is our job, yours and mine, to act on the truth, not on the misinformation that continues to deluge us. It is our job to call out those who imply that the overwhelming majority of the school's 60,000 graduates have been guilty of abuses. A few may have been, but what the record actually shows is that the overwhelming majority have not been involved in human rights abuses and have instead supported democracy. The school's proponents never mention the graduates who played prominent roles in preventing a military takeover during the recent presidential impeachment in Paraguay, or the graduates who helped prevent a coup during a constitutional crisis in Ecuador not long ago, or those who served on the delegations that resolved a border dispute that almost ignited a devastating civil war in Peru, or the tens of thousands of others who have been on the front lines of democracy in Latin America.

Opponents claim students really do not get human rights training, which is not true. Every student receives extensive human rights instruction. They claim students do not get antidrug training. This is also wrong.

One "Dear Colleague" claimed that the Guatemalan Truth Commission found the school accountable for human rights violations that occurred during a conflict that cost many lives. In fact, the Commission's report made no such claim. This, too, is just wrong.

My plea is simply this: cast your vote on the basis of information that has been documented and substantiated, and not on charges that have been proven false.

Mr. Chairman, the School of the Americas diminishes the credibility of the United States. It is the right thing to do. Let us do it.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

The gentleman from Georgia (Mr. LEWIS).

Mr. LEWIS of Georgia. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank my friend and my colleague, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY), for his leadership and his vision on this issue. Mr. Chairman, it is very difficult for me to come here tonight and to differ with my friend, my colleague and my brother from Georgia (Mr. BISHOP), but I must.

Mr. Chairman, it is time to close the doors of the United States' Army School of the Americas at Fort Benning. The school has not served as a bridge between the United States and our Latin American neighbors. It has been a barrier to bringing peace and democracy to the region. Too many of the school's graduates have committed human rights abuses and unspeakable acts of violence against their own people.

For too long, the United States aided and abetted Latin America dictatorships that repressed human rights and even murdered their own citizens. As a Nation, we made a mistake, and we should admit it. We made a mistake. The President of the United States went to Latin America and said, we made a mistake. I apologize. We made a mistake.

Today, we have an opportunity, we have the capacity, we have the ability to right that wrong. We can be sure, and we must close the School of the Americas.

As we enter the new millennium, we deserve better than the School of the Americas. We deserve an institution that promotes our fundamental belief of democracy, peace, and human rights. The School of the Americas diminishes each and every one of these values. It diminishes us all. We should teach people the value of peace and democracy, not of war and dictatorship. Closing the School of the Americas is the right thing to do. It is good for democracy. It is good for the cause of peace.

Mr. Chairman, it is time to close the School of the Americas. It is the right thing to do. Let us do it.

Mr. SOUDER. Mr. Chairman, let me say that we hear a lot of passionate speeches, but I think they are almost like on a different subject.
The fact is that we have brought democracy and freedom to most of Latin America when it used to be a sea of totalitarianism. It is not that we have not had to go further to move, but part of it is because we have tried to reform their military, to understand the principles of George Washington stepping aside; that the militaries are not supposed to usurp and dominate the political powers of their countries.

To some degree, we are refighting the eighties that are over. Furthermore, as I have been at Fort Benning, as well as visiting in Peru and Bolivia and Colombia and Mexico, and with many people who have gone through this program four times in the last 4 years, they have learned that you cannot just go in and shoot down people who disagree, you have to try to reach them. Where did we use something called the Clinton administration in the last few years, I will grant, has been more aggressive in teaching human rights, or criticizing their own administration as they have tried to broaden out.

As to this argument about the Jesuits, quite frankly, that was a terrible tragedy. We should never have been any part of anything to do with it. But let us make something clear, the United States government did not do that and did not authorize that. I feel terrible for the people Ted Bundy killed, but I do not blame the University of Washington, where he went.

I do not blame the Unabomber for having attended the University of Michigan. I do not blame the Trinity College, Cambridge University, for Kim Philby, Donald McLean, Burgess and Blunt, all traitors. I do not blame Bronx Community College for the Son of Sam. I do not blame Ohio State University for Jeffrey Dahmer.

Just because they went to universities and might have even learned skills that quite frankly helped them do their terrible crimes, writing, communicating, and so on, does not mean that the purpose of those universities was to teach them the things that they did wrong.

It is insulting to this government, because the whole case that all this spins around is one document that supposedly was used in one classroom that somebody brought in that was in Spanish, and when we found it, we took it out, and do not even know that it was used in the classroom.

The second part of the case are people who committed crimes, and they have attended the school. We have tried to work with the school to do better tracking, to do better screening. That is what we need to be addressing.

Ironically, this is one of the only ways, through the Spanish language to reach the lower educated and low-income parts of their military in their country. We do training, but we do training in other bases of officers. We do not reach out to the masses who are in fact in debatable practices, sometimes, in non-narcotics areas. But basically, we have to do it better and follow procedures. We are not teaching them to violate human rights. I find it insulting.

One last comment is that I think that this is arguably the centerpiece of our anti-drug war in the world, because we cannot patrol the entire world. What we can do is teach people how to do a better job following the principles of democracy and human rights, the limitations of the military around the world.

While I have skepticism about our government, I think it is demeaning to this President and the Vice President, the people in our Armed Forces, to think that they are actually training people, I saw them, with the purpose of killing others, outside the normal procedures of war.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I wish the gentleman was with me when I saw the brains of Jesuits being scraped off the wall as a result of being killed by some of the graduates of the School of the Americas, if he thinks this is propaganda.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. McGovern), who at the time was my chief investigator in El Salvador when we discovered who the killers were of those Jesuits.

Mr. McGOVERN. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Moakley-Scarborough amendment to shut down the School of the Americas. Nearly a decade ago I had the privilege of working for the dean of the Massachusetts delegation, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY), in investigating the murders of 6 Jesuits priests, their housekeeper, and her teenage daughter at the University of Central America in El Salvador.

I knew four of these priests. I worked with them on human rights issues during the long war in El Salvador. I knew their work in support of the poor, in education, in support of negotiating an end to the war. I joked with them. Believe it or not, I even sang songs with them. I saw them receive honors and awards for their work on behalf of peace and human rights.

Like the rest of America, I woke up on November 16, 1989, to photos and news footage of their blood-splattered bullet-ridden bodies lying on the ground outside their home, dead, murdered, forced out of their beds in the middle of the night, forced to the ground with high-powered U.S. rifles put to their heads, their brains blown out across the yard.

Mr. Chairman, these images haunt me. They should haunt all of us. They should certainly haunt the U.S. Army School of the Americas, because when the facts of this came out, 19 of the 26 soldiers who murdered these men and women for the graduates of the School of the Americas.

In the past 10 years, not once, not once, Mr. Chairman, have I heard anyone from the School of the Americas, the U.S. Army, or the Pentagon express any regret or concern about any possible role they might have played in relation to these murders, not on the record or off the record, not in private, nothing. All we ever hear from the School of the Americas and the Secretary of the Army and everyone else in the military establishment are rationalizations about a few bad apples. How many bad apples does it take before we shut this school down?

It is not just El Salvador or Guatemala. It is today, it is in Bolivia, it is today in Peru, it is today in Bolivia. Every single time the United Nations or human rights groups analyze which military officers are the major human rights abusers, they find the overwhelming majority have been trained by the U.S. Army School of the Americas.

Let me be clear, these are not reports by the Pentagon or the school, these reports are generally made by human rights advocates, who place themselves in grave danger in order to determine who among their militaries are responsible for ordering and carrying out atrocities against the civilian population.

In fact, the School of the Americas has never attempted to track the actions of its graduates. In fact, it has refused to carry out an independent review of its graduates. It simply does not want to know. I do not know when each of my colleagues last traveled to Central America, but I urge them to go and talk to the people in the churches, to religious workers, to human rights workers, to labor leaders, and to just average folks. Ask them about the School of the Americas. Almost without exception, they will point out that the school is part of the problem with U.S. policy.

Do not ask government officials to holden to U.S. aid; do not ask the Latin American generals, do not ask the United Nations or human rights groups to support the school. They have to. It is their job, or their junket. Ask the people of Latin America. Go to the villages that have suffered military oppression.

This school is a blemish on the image of the United States among the people of Latin America. There are better ways to train members of the Latin American military. There are better ways to build relationships. Every year the United States carries out training programs and leadership development throughout Latin America that involve tens of thousands of Latin American military officers and enlisted personnel. We do not need the School of the Americas to do the training. There are other ways, better ways. A couple of small buildings on the huge base of Fort Benning could be put to better use and for other purposes.

Nothing can bring back my friends from the dead, but I have walked on the ground where they died, and I refuse to vote for a single penny more of taxpayer dollars for the school that trained their killers and that continues to train military officers who harm and kill innocent people in Latin America.

This is a vote of values. This is a vote of conscience. This is the time to shut down the School of the Americas. The time is now. I urge my colleagues to vote for the Moakley-Scarborough amendment. It is the right thing to do.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER).

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong opposition to the amendment offered by the distinguished gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY) to close the U.S. Army School of the Americas.

The gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BISHOP) is right, this is pure propaganda. Never has there been such a misguided, concerted propaganda effort against an organ of the United States government.

What bothers me, what saddens me, is the emotion, obviously deep emotion, because of the atrocities that affected the Maryknoll nuns, the Jesuit priests, the Archbishop Romero. This emotion would cause us to do irrational things.

It is time to leave behind this debate. I would say to my colleague, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MCGOVERN), the gentleman who just spoke, no dishonor will bring back the gentleman's friends. Those people were killed by men who did not receive their training to kill at the School of the Americas. He is on a mission from the 1980s. That mission today is misguided.

Mr. Chairman, as many of my colleagues are aware, there is this concerted effort to discredit the U.S. Army School of the Americas, the persistent use of outdated arguments of what the members consider to be a misreading of the record of outstanding service of nearly 4,500 of that school's graduates.

The School of the Americas, of course, is a key foreign policy tool for the United States in Latin America and the Caribbean. It helps to shape the region's leadership and environment in ways that are favorable to American interests. The school is also an integral part of the U.S. Southern Command's engagement strategy for the region.

At the end of the Cold War the attendance drift in U.S. national security strategy from containment to engagement and enlargement, and the emergence of new challenges to U.S. security interests, clearly has transformed many of America's institutions. Like most military institutions, the U.S. School of the Americas has undergone substantial analytical and training missions that promote democracy, civilian control of the military, and respect for human rights. The change in mission has driven a corresponding shift in the school's curriculum.

Today the School of the Americas emphasizes drug interdiction and eradication, humanitarian assistance and demining operations, civil-military relations, ethical, legal, and operational perspectives pertaining to human rights, democratic issues sustainment, and the conduct of peacekeeping and broader operations. With that as the kind of curriculum, it is no wonder that the officers and men involved in the School of the Americas, members of the United States Army, are insulted when they are charged with leading to the kind of abuses that are suggested as coming from their graduates.

Opponents of the school have indicted it is responsible for or complicit in many of the human rights abuses committed in Latin American countries. The facts are that in the School of the Americas 53-year tenure, during which it has graduated over 60,000 students, a small fraction of 1 percent of those students have ever been linked to human rights violations.

The lessons of the school did not take for these people, but probably nothing would have changed those evil and illegal inclinations.

Do all the graduates of our leading religious universities and colleges lead exemplary lives when they graduate? Of course the graduates of the School of the Americas committed violence in spite of, not because of what they learned at the School of the Americas.

Recent retired military officers trained at the school have included Latin American heads of State, 37 cabinet members, and over 100 chiefs of the Arm of Forces and Chiefs of Staff of the services. General Jaime Guzman, a graduate, the minister of defense of El Salvador, has made heroic strides towards the elimination of human rights abuses by that Nation's military forces, a force that during the 1980s numbered abuses in the range of 2,000 per month.

Ironically, a direct benefit of the scrutiny of the school, including the scrutiny of the gentleman from Massachusetts, and I commend him for it, has resulted in very positive changes.

I oppose the gentleman's amendment. I ask my colleagues to do likewise.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from California (Ms. LEE).

Ms. LEE. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Moakley amendment to prohibit the continued funding of the United States Army School of the Americas. I thank the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY) for his courageous leadership.

This is not pure propaganda. Those of us who defend human rights in the world know that the School of the Americas' training has been strongly connected to a deplorable amount of atrocities in the world. Sixty percent of the military officers cited for human rights violations in El Salvador by the 1992 report of the United National Truth Commission are School of the Americas graduates. As a matter of fact, 50 percent of the 247 military officers cited for abuses in a definitive 1998 publication are School of the Americas graduates.

What have these graduates been taught? They have learned the most sophisticated ways to commit torture, excessive abuses, and kidnaps in the middle of the night. Some of these graduates have been connected to the El Mozote massacre of 800 civilians, and the rape, torture, and murder of four American church women.

Furthermore, the School of the Americas has been connected to the murder of six Jesuits and two women and even to the assassinations of Archbishop Oscar Romero, a man who dedicated his life to peace.

How much longer will we continue to fund an institution whose teachings have been connected to so many needless deaths and sources of pain for so many people? Some of the defenders of the School of the Americas say that it is a center for counter narcotics training, but do not allow them to cloak this school in a feel-good explanation. Its graduates have been implicated time and time again in drug-related crimes in Peru, Columbia, Venezuela, Bolivia, and Guatemala.

Also, we must ask ourselves, what is the moral guiding principle for allowing the School of the Americas to remain open? The same supporters will state that the manuals of torture are a thing of the past and the curriculum has been reformed. However, they have not reformed enough. Only 10 percent of the School of the Americas students take part or attend classes in this new curriculum.

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights proclaims a common standard of achievement for all peoples in all nations to the end that all social and every organ of society keeping this declaration in mind shall strive by teaching and educating to promote these rights and freedoms.

□ 2145

The document also vows to, if it is essential, that human rights should be protected by the state of the law. Surely we can discern that forced imprisonment, extortion, rape, torture, and murder are not a protection of human rights, but rather a gross violation. We have a collective promise to protect human rights. To allow continued funding is not meeting that promise. Let us start the first step by voting for the Moakley amendment.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. EDWARDS).

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. Chairman, I respect my Democratic colleagues who, for years, have expressed their concerns about the Army School of the Americas. Perhaps, and perhaps surely because of them, we have a better school today, and I respect that.

But I would suggest that many Democrats will join with our Republican colleagues tonight in support of the belief that the School of the Americas furthers, not hurts, democracy and human rights in South America.

Let me mention the statement of one Democrat to that effect. "I am proud of the prominent role that the school now plays through its emphasis on the values of human rights and civilian control of military." "The School of the Americas and the emphasis its curriculum gives human rights are an important part of our efforts to strengthen democratic institutions throughout Latin America."

That was a statement made on March 24 of this year by President Bill Clinton.

What are the facts? Sixty thousand graduates of the school and a small percentage have been guilty of human rights abuses. Should we shut such a school? I would suggest not. Because if we were being fair and applied that same logic to American universities and colleges from Harvard to Stanford to the University of Texas, we would have to close every major university in the United States.

Mr. Chairman, that is the problem we have and I have with our relations with our friends, our Latinos to the south of the United States. The reason they see us as big brother, and a condescending one at that, is because we apply one standard to ourselves and a different, higher standard to them. I do not think it is fair, and neither do they.

The reality is the fact that democracy has grown, not shrunk, in Latin America over the last decade. I believe, President Clinton believes, many other Democrats and the Republicans believe the School of the Americas has played a constructive role in that progress.

I personally have a hard time thinking that courses such as humanitarian mine removal, counterdrug operations, democratic sustainment, and human rights, train the trainer programs have been to correct human rights abuses in Latin America.

I oppose the Moakley amendment, in all due respect.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MEEHAN).

Mr. MEEHAN. Mr. Chairman, I rise tonight in support of the Moakley amendment to prohibit funding for the School of the Americas.

No one has come to this floor to say that every graduate of the School of the Americas has been a murderer or has committed murders. But no one can deny, if the School of the Americas had a class reunion this weekend, it would be a gathering of some of the most unsavory thugs in the history of the Western Hemisphere.

Mr. Chairman, the Cold War is long over. The primary objective of the United States foreign policies have changed as a result. Our focus in Latin America has shifted from combating Communist insurgencies to supporting promising developments in democratic and civilian rule, and encouraging respect for human rights.

We must adjust our policies accordingly to reflect this transition.

Although the administrators of the School of the Americas claim that their curriculum has been modified to satisfy our new policy objectives, their arguments fail to convince me.

Administrators are quick to point out that they have added courses solely devoted to teaching human rights. What their promotional literature fails to mention, however, is that in the 3 years since the course has been offered, not a single student has taken it.

The School of the Americas claims it is instrumental in the war against drugs. How instrumental can their graduates be when, in 1997, less than 8 percent of the students took the course on counternarcotics?

I was particularly interested to hear that Mr. Cristiani, who had traveled to Fort Benning, Georgia to tour the school myself, was hoping to disprove the School of the Americas’ critics. Unfortunately, I left the school unconvinced. Four years later, significant changes have yet to occur. Four years later, reports on human rights abuses in Latin America continue to implicate School of the Americas’ graduates.

In February of this year, the Guatemalan Truth Commission Report concluded that School of the Americas’ counterinsurgency training contributed significantly to human rights abuses in that country.

Moreover, a recently released U.S. State Department Report on Human Rights in Columbia links School of the Americas’ graduates to abuses that include the July 1997 Mapiripan massacre of 30 peasants, as well as numerous targeted killings of civilians.

Enough is enough. We have heard these same arguments year after year. We have listened to excuses and denials, yet nothing has changed.

The time has come to close this chapter of history and move on. Surely, there are better ways to foster cooperative relationships with our peers in Latin America. The United States has an obligation to prove it stands for human rights and not coercion or repression.

I urge all of my colleagues to vote in support of the Moakley amendment and close the School of the Americas.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. BALLENGER).

Mr. BALLENGER. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Massachusetts. That do not mean.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to say I think those that do not know, I probably have been to El Salvador, Nicaragua, and Guatemala more than anybody in this Congress. I would like to say that we just got back a couple of weeks ago and we went to Venezuela and El Salvador.

I had a very interested Democrat who, everywhere we went, asked about the School of the Americas, the School of the Americas, the School of the Americas, obviously looking for some statement from somebody down there about how bad the School of the Americas was.

The commander of the Army in Venezuela, I thought, gave the best answer.

He was not ex-presidents who, that the training that he had was in the School of the Americas. He spoke glowingly about it. He also said that there was no way that he could take his troops that basically had no training at all and make good soldiers out of them without some training outside of the United States. He really spoke positively about it.

In El Salvador, the same question was put by the same person to ex-President Alfredo Cristiani. Those of you who do not remember, he was the President of El Salvador when the war was really going hot, when the priests were killed. He was the person who kept the peace process going.

My statement to us, having been questioned about the quality or what was the value of the School of the Americas, he said specifically that he doubted that there was any possibility they would ever had peace. Because before the rebels were willing to settle in the School for the Army, the com- manding force of the Army had to voluntarily quit. Most of those people that voluntarily quit and left their jobs, and I know one of them now who was the commander, complete commander of the Army, is running a filling station in El Salvador, San Salvador.

But without the voluntary effort on their part to leave, without any effort to try to keep their own power and so forth and to back off and allow the peacemaking between the rebels and Alfredo Cristiani government, it is hard to believe it could have been done better.
Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. COLLINS).

Mr. COLLINS. Mr. Chairman, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. COLLINS).

Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. CAMPBELL).

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Massachusetts for yielding me this time.

Mr. Chairman, there is a simple question I try to ask most times I hear about government spending. Do we need it? My colleagues do not have to prove that the School of the Americas is demonic. My colleagues just have to ask themselves, do we need it?

There are many other uses for our taxpayers’ dollars in the foreign assistance area that are profoundly more valuable, more important, more treasured by us, and more beneficial to the recipient than this. To make that case, my colleagues do not have to make the case of any indictment of the kind added to the graduates of the School of the Americas.

Second point, the question has arisen as to whether the School of the Americas has engaged in training people to engage in atrocities themselves. I do not maintain that. I am not offering that as the premise for supporting the amendment. What I am saying is that they have shown a remarkable tin ear.

How many years now have we debated the School of the Americas on the floor? And asked and aspersions, asked for a mandatory course in human rights? As we just heard from our colleague in the well, they still do not have takers for their voluntary course in human rights.

They have instituted a course. And so I did the research, and I found out that it is listed in the course catalog, the United States Army School of the Americas at Fort Benning, Georgia. This is their human rights course. It is a course listed as OE-1, Human Rights Train the Trainer Qualification Course.

Then when we check the International Military Education and Training, IMET, statistics from the military training report, we find out that nobody took it.

Well, the next counter is, well, there is another course, and they are getting around to it. This course trains the upper level staff, the command in general staff course. So I checked into that. It turns out that, yes, out of 287 students in the School of the Americas last year, 28 were enrolled for that course. That is for the very upper level. In 1999, again 28.

The argument I make is simple. It is not needed. Do not spend it.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Alabama for yielding me this time.

Mr. Chairman, is the school needed? Yes, in answer to the gentleman from California (Mr. CAMPBELL). In answer to his comments about those who did not enroll in the certain human rights classes. I showed him evidence today, he evidently forgot it, that they have and they are.

We have heard the Cold War is over. We have heard that about Europe. But we are spending billions of dollars there today. We have heard about the atrocities in where these people were taught. We from Georgia have been glued to the TV this afternoon about an atrocity we had there today where we have 13 people dead. I wonder where the Atrocities will happen, especially in a time and era when one is changing from dictatorship to democracy. That is what has happened in Latin America. We have built democracies there, and now we must maintain them.

Mr. Chairman, the U.S. Army School of the Americas is our Nation’s foremost training facility for Spanish-speaking militaries and police forces and for U.S. military officers to be stationed in South America, Central America, or the Caribbean.

The school provides training and professional military and police operations, drug interdiction and eradication, peacekeeping, and other areas critical for Cold War and post-Cold War challenges in this hemisphere.

Every course at the school has been developed to serve the interests of democracy, and every student who attends the school does receive training in human rights. The School is widely recognized as having developed the foremost human rights training program available to any military training institution in the world, including those others of U.S. training centers.

Those who suggest that the United States Army School of the Americas has somewhat been responsible for crimes committed by Latin American soldiers, and the School of the Americas is responsible, are just wrong. They have no way to substantiate it.

An honest assessment of Latin American history over the last 50 years demonstrates clearly that the U.S. Army School of the Americas serves the American interest.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, once again, can the Chair inform me of how much time I have remaining?

Mr. Chairman, 5 minutes remaining, and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY) has 5 minutes remaining, and the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) has 1 minute remaining. • 2000

Just recently this week, the Secretary of the Army, Louis Caldera, made the case for the school in a Washington Times op-ed piece, and I would like to read the comments from the secretary, and I quote:

The preponderance of the engagement with Latin American militaries at the U.S. Army School of the Americas located at Fort Benning, Georgia. The courses taught at the School of the Americas are a reflection of our national security policy, but they are also a reflection of our national values. While the majority of the courses involved are of professional military instruction, new courses have been added on civilian-military relations, humanitarian mine removal efforts, peace operations and sustaining democracy. All courses include instruction in human rights and make clear that the proper role of the military in society is subordination to civilian control.

He further states: “Instruction covers the ethical, legal and operational consequences of failing to adhere to essential standards of individual rights and international law regarding the legitimate use of force.”

“Despite such changes, the School of the Americas is once again under attack from critics who claim that it trains Latin American militaries to violate human rights norms and circumvent the democratic process.”

“Instead of focusing on the negative, we should examine the role of the vast majority of graduates who have served their nations proudly and professionally. For example, the key members of the delegation that put together the recent historic peace accord between Ecuador and Peru were School of the Americas graduates from Peru, Ecuador, and the guarantor nations of Chile and United States.”

Mr. Chairman, while most of the turmoil of the 1980s has subsided in this region, new threats have emerged and must be addressed. With all the progress that has been made in the region over the last 50 years, it would be irresponsible to turn our backs while drug traffickers and terrorists chip away at freedom and democracy in Central and South America. It is irresponsible, irresponsible, to the democracies of Latin American countries and to the policy of this Nation to close the School of the Americas.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, once again, the Chair inform me of how much time I have remaining?
Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH).

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the amendment. In 1980, four U.S. churchwomen were brutally murdered in El Salvador. Among them was a close friend of mine, Sister Dorothy Kazel from Cleveland, killed by graduates of the School of the Americas.

In 1989, six Jesuit priests were massacred in El Salvador by School of the Americas graduates.

Archbishop Oscar Romero and Bishop Juan Gerardi of Guatemala were assassinated by School of the Americas graduates.

Almost 1,000 citizens of the El Mozote community in El Salvador were massacred by the School of the Americas graduates.

In 1997, 30 peasants in the Colombian village of Mapiripan were massacred by the School of the Americas graduates.

If this is a school for the Americas, then Al Capone ran a social club for Chicago. It is time to close the school.

In 1992, nine students and a professor were killed in Peru by School of the Americas graduates.

Efrain Barnaca and U.S. citizen Michael DeVine were killed in Guatemala.

Three people were innocent civilians and missionaries working for peace and justice, and they were brutally killed by officers who received their human rights training from the United States Government at the School of the Americas.

Three of the five officers responsible for the “U.S. Churchwomen’s” deaths, including my friend, were trained at the SOA.

Nineteen of the 26 officers accused of the massacre of six Jesuit priests were graduates of the SOA.

Two of the three officers responsible for the assassination of Archbishop Romero went to the SOA.

Ten of the twelve involved in the El Mozote massacre of 1,000 people were SOA graduates.

The six Peruvian officers who killed the students and their professor attended the SOA.

The six Peruvian officers who killed the students and their professor attended the SOA.

The mapiripan massacre graduated from the SOA.

And the murderer of Efrain Barnaca and U.S. citizen Michael DeVine is a SOA graduate.

Unfortunately, these are only a few examples of the human rights abuses committed by SOA graduates. In spite of the half-hearted human rights instruction that the SOA claims it includes in every course, the State Department’s Country Reports on Human Rights Practices highlight more examples of SOA graduates committing human rights abuses each year.

What Latin American military need most is a curriculum solidly based on human rights, civil control of the military and democratic values. It’s not hard to imagine why graduates who spend the majority of their time on military intelligence, political operations, battle staff operations, and commando courses and only eight hours of human rights instruction end up committing human rights violations upon returning to their home countries.

As this issue comes to a vote, an InterReligious Task Force delegation of young Ohioans is meeting with victims of violence in El Salvador. They will visit the site of the Jesuit massacre and the El Mozote massacre. They will also visit the site where the four churchwomen were murdered. When they return, we will have yet another first-hand account of the suffering so many SOA graduates have caused.

The young people in this group are acutely aware of the tragedies incited by SOA trainers. As more reports of sketchy curriculums and SOA graduates committing human rights abuses are revealed, this awareness is spreading across the country and the American people are demanding that this school be closed.

It is time to stop funding of this school. If we are truly committed to promoting human rights around the world, we cannot continue funding this school and training future human rights abusers. Let’s support justice and peace, not violence and deceit.

I urge my colleagues to vote “yes” on Representative MOAKLEY’s amendment to cut funding for the SOA.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. VENTO).

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of this amendment.

If we sold jet fighters or arms to a country and they misused or abused their citizens or those around them, we would stop the assistance and aid to that country. When we invest in human individuals and military training and we see the misuse and abuse going on with that, we ought to try to restrain it and limit it.

But what are we doing here? We talk about decades-old reports. This is a 1999 report from the Guatemalan Truth Commission reporting on the conduct of School of America graduates. This is the 1998 U.S. State Department report, reporting on problems in Colombia. And what is at the base of it? The students from the School of the Americas.

What is the answer to this particular problem from the school? It is a plan that lives on paper that does not live in reality. My friend from Nebraska raised the point that there is a human rights graduate. Nobody takes it. It is not mandated. And only one in 10 students at this school take any type of course that is related to peace or any of the other values that we are trying to profess. So they have a plan that lives on paper here but not in reality. They are papering over a very serious problem.

This culture has not been changed. It is the same culture that has existed before in terms of this institution, one that fights against the empowerment of people, against social justice, against the religious voices that are speaking up in those countries where they do not have that freedom; against the labor unions in those countries, where they are trying to get power for the people; and even against the political system that some of the political campaigning is subversive. Well, sometimes we might agree with them, but the fact of the matter is that this is the conduct of what is going on in this school over and over again.

Are we short of higher education institutions in this country that we cannot bring Spanish speaking individuals into this country to receive the type of training they need? And then to bring up the issue of drugs. Well, if this is the answer to drugs in South America and Central America, I think we better change it because it is not working very well. In fact, they are almost taking over Colombia these days.

So the fact of the matter is we need to face the facts and look at this and what is going on down here. And I know that our military and the people involved here have good intentions, but the road to hell is paved with good intentions and the road to what has happened here is wrong. We ought to reject this particular language in the bill, we ought to save the $2 million, and we ought to try to respect the rights and the decency of the people in South and Central America that see this as oppression, that see this as something where they send their young men into this country for training and we send them back people that are trained to use those tools and those skills in a way system that fights against the democracies and the people in Central and South America.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from California (Mr. GALLEGLY).

Mr. GALLEGLY. Mr. Chairman, as chairman of the Subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere of the Committee on International Relations, I stand in opposition to the Moakley amendment and in support of the School of the Americas.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. REYES).
Mr. REYES. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to this amendment. I believe that as Members of Congress, we should fully explore issues before making a determination as to their merits. As such, before I decided my position on the U.S. Army School of the Americas, I met with opponents of the school and also visited the facility.

At that school, I met with the Commandant. I met with professors—both U.S. military and those from elsewhere in this hemisphere. I met with students. I visited classes. The Army made all of the school open and available to me. My visit convinced me that the School of the Americas is providing an essential service to this nation, assisting in our attempts to positively influence countries throughout the Americas.

On more than one occasion, I have personally invited many of my colleagues who oppose the school to visit the facility with me, but none have even bothered to do so. On May 12, I invited many of my colleagues to join me for breakfast with Army Secretary Louis Caldera and School of the Americas Commandant Colonel Glenn Weidner. They were available to answer any questions Members have concerning the school. Only five Members came.

Caldera and Weidner explained, among other things, that the School of the Americas is a U.S. Army school. It teaches the same doctrine, tactics, techniques, and procedures as are taught at every other Army school. Some of my colleagues complain that students are being taught war fighting skills. They are the same war fighting skills taught at every other Army school.

I want you to remain mindful of all of the organizations within the federal government that believe the School of the Americas is a critical tool for promoting democracy and teaching respect for civilian control of a nation and respect for human rights. The Department of State, the Department of Defense, the Department of the Army, the Drug Enforcement Administration, the National Drug Control Policy, and the Commander in Chief of the U.S. Southern Command have all strongly endorsed the School of the Americas as critical to our foreign policy in Latin America. Officials from each of these organizations have written strong letters of support for the school.

Finally, before you cast a vote today to eliminate a school that has provided a great service to this country for more than 50 years, I would ask that you take the time to visit the school, or at least, take the time to meet with its supporters. If you have not had time to do so, please do not vote to kill the school at this time. Once it is eliminated, we cannot take that back. Instead, please vote against the amendment and take the time to explore this issue more fully over the next year. I urge you to oppose the elimination of School of the Americas.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of my time, and I will just close by saying that we have had, once again, this annual debate on the School of the Americas. Nothing new has been said. The situation is the same as it was last year.

The school is doing a great service, I think, to this hemisphere. We are, for the first time in many decades, experiencing peace in our own hemisphere and, in my opinion, a lot of that is because of the efforts of the School of the Americas.

Mr. Chairman, I urge the Members of Congress to vote against the amendment.

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Chairman, I ask my colleagues to join together to ensure that this year's graduating class at the School of Americas is the School's last. Ever. After years of debate, it is time that we finally end the terrible legacy of the School of the Americas. In an era in which we are striving to strengthen democracy and respect for human rights in Latin America, as well as throughout the globe, we cannot possibly justify or tolerate a school whose students major in "Methods of Torture" or "Murder 101."

The School of the Americas has trained tens of thousands of military personnel from the region. The school's mission is to "prepare officers to lead and conduct military operations that are in the interest of the United States." It is our responsibility to halt this hypocrisy.

Military education doesn't have to be this way. Military schools have used exchange programs to allow officers around the world the opportunity to learn about U.S. military doctrine as well as the democratic process. The fact is, the Cold War is over and democracy is spreading throughout Latin America. The School of Americas serves no further purpose.

The notion that military education gone wrong. How long must be deaths of innocent people, including American citizens, continue because of our support for the School of the Americas? The School must be closed for good.

I urge my colleagues to cut funding to the School of the Americas and support the Moakley amendment.

Ms. MCKINNEY. Mr. Chairman, earlier this year President Clinton traveled to Central America. Unfortunately, from Guatemala to El Salvador, he was forced to acknowledge and apologize for U.S. past mistakes in the region.

Further, the School of Americas can be traced directly to many of the problems associated with past policy in the region.

So I rise today, to encourage my colleagues to join me in supporting an amendment offered by Representative MOAKLEY to close the United States Army School of the Americas located in Fort Benning, Georgia.

The legacy of the School of the Americas, better known throughout this hemisphere as the School of Assassins, brings shame on the United States military and upon our nation.

As a Georgian, I am embarrassed that the SOA is based in the State that I am so proud to represent.

As a member of the Armed Services Committee, I am extremely frustrated by the dismissive attitude of some of our military establishment to the revelations that our soldiers trained others to murder, torture, and terrorize civilians.

And as a woman of color, I am indifferent that the School of Americas has played such a determining role in the brutal oppression of people of color throughout the Americas.

Mr. Chairman, two weeks ago I received a "Dear Colleague" letter that featured a lengthy editorial written by former U.S. Ambassador to Panama Ambler Moss, stating his support for the School of the Americas. The editorial is representative of the misinformation being promulgated about the SOA and I believe that some clarification of his statement is in order.

Mr. Moss writes that Members of Congress who oppose the school claim it is a "school of assassins." In fact, it was Panamanians who dubbed the SOA the School of Assassins, long before SOA graduate and Panamanian dictator Manuel Noriega became a guest of the State of Florida.

Mr. Moss goes on to state that blaming the school for the atrocities of its graduates is akin to "vilifying[/]ing Harvard because its alumnus Ted Kaczynski" is the Unibomber. It is an absurd comparison. I would suggest that if thousands of Harvard graduates went on to careers in murder, rape, and torture, its trustees would be in prison and its doors closed.

In a rather cynical distortion of the truth, the editorial would have us believe that the "new and improved" emphasis of the training at the SOA is now respected for civilian control of the military and respect for human rights. That is false. Of the 33 courses offered at the SOA, only five are related to human rights or democracy and less than ten percent of the students took those last year. None have taken the human rights training course.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, the author notes that the "bad name [the SOA] gave the United States continues to undermine our image with many Latin Americans of democratic persuasion," That, at least, he got right.

Other myths abound about the School of the Americas. To name a few, some have made the claim that the SOA is critical to the war on drugs, but the truth is that fewer than 8% of the students took counter-narcotics courses in 1997.

I am particularly concerned by the counter-narcotics myth because I fear the war on drugs, like anti-communism before it, provides too convenient an excuse for turning a blind eye to gross violations of human rights in pursuit of our so-called just cause.

Another pernicious myth about the SOA that is routinely touted as fact is that abuse by its graduates is, like the cold war, a thing of the past. Yet just last year a State Department report shows a SOA graduate commanded Columbia's notorious 20th brigade which had to be disbanded because of its involvement in human rights abuses including political assassination.

The same report shows that another SOA graduate is under investigation for his complicity in the 1997 Majipirian massacre of 30 peasants.

The Department of Defense is to be commended for acknowledging that training manuals used at the school as recently as 1991... recommended forms of coercion against insurgents that included blackmail, torture and execution. However, the DOD continues to resist efforts by Congress to reform the School of the Americas.

In 1995, the House Appropriations Committee strongly urged the Department to incorporate human rights training into the schools regular training curriculum and “to rigorously screen potential students to make certain they have not taken part in past human rights abuses.”

Unsatisfied, in 1996 the Committee included in its report to the FY 1997 Foreign Operations Appropriations bill similar language and required the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State to prepare a report on the school by January 15, 1997.

Still unsatisfied, in 1997 the House version of the FY 1998 foreign operations appropriations bill sought to cut off International Military Education and Training funds to the SOA. The recent State Department Secretary of Defense required course was certified to be consistent with respect to human rights; (2) certified that there was adequate screening of prospective students; and (3) provided to Congress a report detailing the training at the school and an assessment of its graduates.

After receiving the report mandated in 1996 in June, more than six months late, the Committee asserted that it was “woefully inadequate” and did not respond to the Committee’s specific request.

Mr. Speaker, efforts at Congressional oversight and reform of the School of the Americas have been met with bureaucratic indifference, token reform and a substantial public relations campaign to clean up the schools image.

We can no longer allow the shameful legacy of the School of the Americas to besmirch the honor and reputation of American soldiers, our nation, or the great state of Georgia.

I urge all of my colleagues in the strongest terms, to join me in voting to close the School of Assassins.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Chairman, on behalf of my constituents who have committed their lives to speaking out against torture and intimidation tactics taught at the U.S. Army School of the Americas (SOA), I rise in strong support of this human rights amendment which will cut funds for the SOA.

Supporters of the U.S. Army School of Americas (SOA) often claim that human rights abuses by SOA graduates are a thing of the past. Unfortunately, time and time again, graduates of the SOA are cited for horrific acts of violence, torture and murder. The recent Department Country Report on Human Rights Practices for 1998 points out yet another example of SOA graduates committing human rights abuses back home in their own countries, after receiving training at the expense of U.S. Taxpayers. This time it is in Colombia.

Where will the next atrocity take place?

Specifically, the report states that Colombian Major Hernan Orozco Castro, a graduate of the SOA, is under investigation for its involvement in the Colombian government’s May 1998 massacre of at least 30 peasants in the village of Mapiripan. The report also describes the Colombian government’s May 1998 disbapping of the feared “20th Brigade”, led by an SOA graduate, for its involvement in human rights abuses, including the targeted killings of civilians.

Such reports must be reconciled with our conscience and policy to determine if our tax dollars should go to train Latin American military and police forces. U.S. education and training programs, whether military of civilian, have a paramount responsibility to uphold the ideals of social justice and promote basic human rights.

Under intense scrutiny, the Defense Department has claimed that it has cleaned up the SOA. Unfortunately, these reforms are only cosmetic at best. Since 1997, when the SOA first taught its one and only human rights course in Paraguay as a pilot program, not one student has taken the course. Entitled “Human Rights Train-the-Trainer Qualification Course,” this human rights course is not a required course—no course is—and it was taught only once in Paraguay, not at Ft. Benning, Georgia. Moreover, the School retains this course on its list of available courses to this day, even though the class is not taught anymore. If the SOA leadership truly believed in human rights instruction, it would offer a separate, mandatory course taught at the school in Ft. Benning, Georgia. Try as it may, the SOA cannot re-invent itself. It is time to close the door on this chapter of violence. The SOA is a tragically failed education effort. There are numerous U.S. institutions of higher education that excel at preparing students from abroad to promote the democratic values and safeguards fundamental to free society. For the sake of the people of Latin America and the United States, we must close the SOA. I urge all my colleagues to vote yes on the Moakley Amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY).

The question was taken; and the Ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 263, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY) will be postponed.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Chairman, I withdraw my demand for a recorded vote.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 263, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY) will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 OFFERED BY MR. PITTS

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Part B amendment No. 3 printed in House Report 106-269 offered by Mr. PITTS:

Page 116, after line 5, insert the following:
Fifteen dollars provides a child with immunization against six major childhood diseases. Two million more children die of those diseases around the world.

Six cents can provide three vitamin A capsules to save a child from going blind. One hundred million children suffer from this deficiency.

Fifteen dollars, a bed net, protects a child from malaria. More than a million children a year die from malaria.

Twenty-five cents could provide proper antibiotics to treat pneumonia. Two million children die of that.

One dollar and seventy cents improves sanitation to prevent water-borne diseases. Three million children die from that.

I think my colleagues can see what common sense some of these solutions are that have the potential for tremendous good. What this chart also shows is that the current amount of funds appropriated for these treatments in child survival, $215 million, is grossly inadequate to meet the needs of dying children around the world.

Mr. Chairman, that is why every dollar we are currently designating for child survival must go directly for that, child survival. There are reports that child survival funds have been used to promote population control. Mr. Chairman, this robs children of live saving treatments.

Simply stated, this amendment seeks to prevent that from happening. It ensures that child survival funding is used for child survival. We already have $385 million for population control which can be used for family planning purposes. Child survival funds should and must be used for the purpose for which they are appropriated.

It is a simple amendment, it is taxpayer honesty, but in a very real sense it is a battle for the lives of millions of children around the globe. Mr. Chairman, I urge the Members to support the child survival protection amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi) seek to claim the time in opposition?

Ms. PELOSI. I do, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi) is recognized for 3 minutes.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Levin).

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Chairman, in the late 1970s I was in charge of administering the International Voluntary Population programs of this country. The big battle in those days was whether contraception programs should be integrated so that programs relating to family planning be integrated with health, with programs relating to the role of women, with programs relating to maternal child health, also programs relating to the role of men in the family.

There were those who wanted to build a brick wall between population programs, family planning programs, and other programs, including health programs.

Those who believed in integration won that battle. Those who thought that the only answer was availability of contraceptives lost that battle.

In the last decade, more and more the world has come to accept the inter-relationship between family planning programs and other population programs, including maternal child health programs.

Well, here we are now with an amendment that tries to build a brick wall between population programs and child survival programs.

The truth of the matter is that that wall is as fallacious as the wall some tried to build 20 years ago between population and health programs. We are doing this in reverse. The spacing of children is a program that directly relates to the health of children, period.

The evidence is clear on that. It is a dreadful mistake to now say that child survival should not include anything that relates, for example, to birth spacing.

Let me read from a statement by CARE and Save the Children. And by the way, if any organizations know about child survival, it is CARE and Save the Children. They say, this latest amendment "fails to appreciate both the integrated nature of maternal and child health services and the important role of birth spacing in improving child survival. Imposing this restriction would be impractical from a program implementation standpoin and would undermine rather than enhance access to this small but critical component of child survival programs," signed by the president of CARE and the president of Save the Children.

This is truly a misguided amendment. I do not think anybody is saying that child survival funds are going in large numbers to programs relating, for example, to the spacing of children.

Let us take a second look. This issue is not one related to abortion, for example. Indeed birth spacing cuts down the number of abortions, the evidence is clear. This is a question of whether we look at programs in a comprehensive way or try to chop them in pieces and build walls between them.

Do not do it. It is a mistake. There is no evidence of abuse. I do not know any organization that cares about kids internationally that is supporting this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 30 seconds to respond.

Mr. Chairman, this discussion is not about birth spacing. However, I have made an exception for breast feeding programs in this amendment, an exception that probably was not necessary. But I do want to make it clear that since breast feeding programs are designed to improve nutrition and health of children and incidentally have an effect in birth spacing, these programs do not apply as programs designed to control fertility or reduce or delay pregnancies. So children are given proper nutrition and births are spaced as a by-product.

Just to remind my colleagues, any other population control effort can be funded out of the $385 million provided.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. Tiahrt).

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Pennsylvania for yielding.

Mr. Chairman, the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Pitts) has crafted an amendment to protect child survival funding from being detoured to other purposes.

This is not a misguided amendment. This is an amendment that provides integrity to the program's funds. But why do we want to do this? Why do we want to protect this? Every year more than 12 million children in developing countries die from easily preventable diseases.

That is like seeing one out of two children under the age 5 years here in the United States die from malnourishment or from a disease that could be easily prevented.

For seven cents we can provide oral rehydration salts. For $15 we could provide immunization for the six major childhood diseases. For six cents we can provide Vitamin A capsules. For $15 we can do something to help kids get a net to protect them from malaria.

When we have the opportunity to go to these Third World countries and preserve a quality of life for these kids, we should not turn our backs on it. We should not allow this money to be diverted to another purpose.

I have been to Third World countries, and I have seen it be diverted. I think it is important that we vote for the Pitts amendment. I request my colleagues to do that.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the Pitts amendment.

The Pitts amendment, as has been mentioned, prohibits use of child survival funding for programs designed to control "fertility or reduce or delay childbearing or pregnancy except breast feeding programs."

This amendment is offered under the inaccurate assumption that the child survival fund which is used to counsel women on health choices is an inappropriate use of this funding.

It is time for people to realize the simple fact that we cannot separate the health of the mother from the health and well being of the child.
I have this chart. It is hard to read, but I will try to walk my colleagues through it because it demonstrates very clearly why this is a dangerous amendment.

While we may be talking politics here and theorizing, the reality is in the Third World. It shows on this chart that in Zambian, for example, when children are spaced 2 years apart, the mortality rate is higher than if they are spaced farther apart.

Now, do not think of 2 years in the United States. Think of 2 years in the developing world. Do not think of my children. I had five children in 6 years. I mean almost to the day, in a very comfortable, secure, nourishing atmosphere. But this is the complete opposite of that. So I do know a little bit about what I speak.

The same thing in Tanzania, we see on the chart, 4 months the mortality rate is the red line. Four to 5 months, we see the purple line, the mortality rate goes down. We get to 48 months plus and the mortality rate is much lower. So some funds from the child survival account are very, very important to child survival. That is what we are demonstrating here.

Now, the gentleman says this counseling can be done out of the Population Fund. Exactly. And that is what this amendment is about, reducing the funds available for population funding, family planning. That is what this amendment is about. Yes, it is important.

My colleagues cannot tell me that they do not recognize the importance of counseling on spacing of children and how that decreases the mortality rate. But, yes, that is important. Take it out of the family planning money.

That, my colleagues, is the essence of this amendment, indirect but very, very direct. Indirect in theory but direct in impact assault on the family planning funding.

For that reason, I urge my colleagues to vote against the Pitts amendment. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Chairman, may I inquire as to how much time remains?

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Pitts) has 4½ minutes remaining. The gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi) has 3½ minutes remaining.

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. Coburn).

Mr. COBURN. Mr. Chairman, the sign we just saw was accurate. There is no question about it. But the one thing that the gentlewoman from California fails to ignore, if we are holding a baby in our arms, like I have in Haiti and in Iraq, and the dollars are not there to care for them, it does not matter if they are going to have another baby because the baby that is there is going to die.

That is what this amendment is really about is whether or not we are going to fund the vaccines, the fluids, and the care for the children that are already born.

She is absolutely right. If we can extend the time between pregnancies, we do enhance the likelihood of living beyond 5. But remember, 40 percent of the children in Haiti now die under 5 anyway. Haiti, in our hemisphere, 40 percent are gone. Why? Because we are not supplying the needs of those children with the funds that we have today.

So I have been to Haiti. I have served time. I have experienced what has happened there. I have been to the Kurdish land in northern Iraq. I experienced what happened there. We do not supply the needs for the children that are alive today.

There is nothing wrong with this amendment that cannot help accomplish both what the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi) would desire and help those children who presently we are not helping.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. Lowey).

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Chairman, I would like to make this point to my colleagues that our child survival program has for nearly 15 years worked hand in hand with our family planning program, for one very good reason, they both share the goal of advancing the health and well being of children and families.

When Congress created the child survival legislation, it recognized the relationship between educating women on safe motherhood and child survival. So, the funds used to enhance the importance of good nutrition, getting immunized, spacing their pregnancies has been part of USAID child survival work.

Safe motherhood education makes up approximately 5 percent of child survival counseling funds. These funds are not used for contraceptives. Planning pregnancies is one of the most powerful and effective child survival tools in existence.

Postponing early, high-risk pregnancies, giving women's body a chance to recover from a previous pregnancy, and helping women to avoid unintended pregnancies and unsafe abortion can prevent at least one in four maternal deaths.

We hear again and again that women die from having children too young, having children too closely spaced together, and by having more children than their bodies can bear. Getting that message across to women is an integral part of child survival because happy mothers will be better able to care for their children. And children born to mothers who wait 2 years before births have a much stronger chance of survival than those born to moms whose births fall less than 2 years apart.

Giving women this information can save children's lives, can save women's lives. We know from our own experience that this is true.

Just last month I joined with the gentlewoman from Missouri (Mrs. Emerson) and a group of diverse Members, pro-choice, pro-life, Republican, Democrat, urban and rural, on a safe motherhood initiative in our own country.

We confront the same challenges in keeping women healthy that women face around the world, although not to the same degree.

Therefore, I urge my colleagues to oppose this misguided amendment.

We should be doing all we can to encourage and reinforce the messages of safe motherhood and child survival. The Pitts Amendment would split these efforts and undermine our struggles to help both mother and child.

I urge you to oppose this misguided amendment.

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. DeMint).

Mr. DeMINT. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the child survival protection amendment.

After hearing the debate tonight, I wonder if maybe we should integrate the whole foreign operations appropriation bill into family planning.

I just have to say to my colleagues, we spend so much time on these appropriation bills identifying needs in foreign countries and we put them in the categories that are important to us as a Nation; and now we are saying this does not matter what category we put it in.

There are 1 million children that we know could be saved each year if the vitamins and nutrition and the medicine and the IV's would only be used for what we appropriate them for.

All we are asking is to do what we say we are going to do, to have some honesty in the appropriation, I urge my colleagues to vote for the gentleman from Pennsylvania's amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Pitts) has 2 minutes remaining and the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Pelosi) has 1½ minutes remaining and the right to close.

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Chairman, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. Hayes).

Mr. HAYES. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Pennsylvania for offering this very important amendment which does direct the attention at the needs of children, making sure that the born and the unborn children are given the proper attention and the sanctity of life represented in those children.

I urge your support for the Pitts amendment. It is the right thing to do.

Mr. Chairman, I support the child survival protection amendment offered by Mr. Pitts. This amendment does not cost the taxpayers any more money. This amendment assures the funding that we are currently sending overseas is used to save children’s lives rather than terminate them. Children in third world countries are dying of diseases such as polio and dysentery, diseases our children in the United States will never have to worry about due to the advancements in the American health care. But in developing countries, where public health standards are far inferior to ours, over 12 million children under the age of 5 die of these easily preventable diseases and malnutrition every year.

Child Survival Funding provides oral rehydration salts, immunization for childhood diseases, and vitamins and nutrition supplements. I ask my colleagues to support the Child Survival amendment, and stand firm for the lives of children around the world.

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH).

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, every day 33,000 children die from preventable causes. The gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) has done hard work on this over the years. I have worked on this. The gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. LOWEY) just mentioned a moment ago, 15 years ago.

A little over 15 years ago, I joined with the gentlewoman from Ohio (Mr. HALL) and Gus Yatron not only in providing money for child survival, but in saving it. It was going to be zeroed out, and I offered the amendment to put it at $50 million that passed and went on to become law. But that is past.

We now know that there is so little money going to some of the most important aspects of child survival, and we need to make sure that there is a fire wall. Yes, money can be drawn down, the $385 million, and used in a way that does not support child survival money, but this very small amount of money—support for immunization, $25 million, that is all that is in this budget. Kids are dying from preventable diseases every day and we put a mere $25 million into that budget. That is outrageous. These kids are dying.

I would hope that we would at least make sure that from this scarce fund, these what we call direct impact programs, the smallest amount of money. Yes, it can work side by side with the family planning money, but let us not use or divert any additional moneys that could be used to immunize a kid from tetanus, from all of these preventable diseases, and also the oral rehydration salts that can save a child from diarrhea which is the leading killer of children around the world.

I think the gentleman from Pennsylvania has a very, very laudable amendment. It says there are different funds. Why should we put at risk this minimal amount of money, this modest amount of money used for these important goals? We have got the other money in the other spigot for family planning. I urge support for the Pitts amendment.

Mrs. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, completely agreeing with the gentleman from New Jersey that much more money needs to be in this bill, I am pleased to yield the balance of my time to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Mrs. Johnson).

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentlewoman from California for yielding me the time.

This is a sad moment. We are one of the most educated nations in the world. We spent decades teaching American women that spacing your children creates healthier babies and healthier mothers, enables you to nurture your children and support them economically. And now we are going to deny money to other countries where women and families are poorer so that they will be denied the opportunity to learn how to manage their fertility and space their children. It is an outrage, an outrage.

We all know the figures. Children who are born 10 months after the preceding sibling die far more often than children born 2 years apart. Why do we not want women in these other nations to have the knowledge to control their fertility? It has made stronger, healthier families in America, and it has made better, healthier children with greater opportunity.

I urge opposition to this amendment.

Mrs. LEVIN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentlewoman yield?

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. I yield to the gentleman from Michigan.

Mr. LEVIN. The gentlewoman from Connecticut was so eloquent, I hesitate to say anything. We fought to integrate family planning and health programs with the support of a number of people in this place. Now what you are doing is standing up and saying tear them apart. The gentlewoman is 100 percent right. Let us defeat this amendment.

Mr. BARCIA. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in support of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania, which will ensure the health and security of children around the world. This amendment will make certain that money designated for child survival in foreign countries will be spent on programs that directly contribute to child survival—not population control. In this day of medical technology, millions of children in developing countries die each year from diseases that simple treatments can easily prevent. Our money should be spent on treatments and medicine that will end these senseless deaths. This amendment protects children and spends our tax dollars responsibly. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the Pitts Amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Pitts).

The question was taken; and the Chairman announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Mr. PITTs. Mr. Chairman, I demand an recorded vote.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 263, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Pitts) will be postponed.

Amendment offered by Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Chairman, I offer two amendments, and I ask unanimous consent that they be considered en bloc.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate and report the amendments.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 2 offered by Mr. TRAFICANT.

At the end of the bill, insert after the last section (preceding the short title) the following new sections:

SEC. ... Of the funds appropriated in title II of this Act under the heading “ASSISTANCE FOR THE INDEPENDENT STATES OF THE FORMER SOVIET UNION”, not more than $172,000,000 shall be available for the Government of the Russian Federation.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. TRAFICANT: SEC. None of the funds appropriated in titles I, II, or III of this Act may be made available to the government of any foreign country if the funds are to be used to purchase any equipment or product made in a country other than such foreign country or the United States of America.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio to consideration of the amendments en bloc?

There was no objection.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. TRAFICANT. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, we have worked very closely with the gentleman. We are going to agree with his amendments. But at this point we would like to limit the debate to the fewest number of minutes that we possibly can so we can hopefully finish this bill by 11:50 tonight.

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Chairman, the first amendment sets a cap on aid to Russia for dismantling of their nuclear weapons at $172 million.

The second amendment says very simply, in the aid that we give to these foreign countries, if they cannot make the product or buy it in their own country, they shall buy it in America.
and a message that honest, efficient government is required in order to receive American aid. This amendment also opens the door to the people of Cambodia that the United States has not abandoned them or their courageous struggle for democracy and clean and honest government.

Mr. Chairman, I have been to Cambodia numerous times. I know the players there. I have met Mr. Hun Sen on many occasions as I have Prince Ranariddh and the other leaders in Cambodia. I am appalled that after the hard work that we did in the authorization committee, to ensure the language that this field commander for Pol Pot who has murdered his way into power in Cambodia, that we assure that the money that we are going to give to Cambodia would not end up in his hands. But the language has been changed for whatever reason in a way that the money could end up, instead of the hands of worthy organizations, nongovernmental organizations, charitable organizations committed to the people of Cambodia, instead of going to them, it may end up in the hands of this government that has proven itself corrupt over and over again, not to mention brutal and the rest.

The crimes of Hun Sen are unbelievable and the fact that, yes, he went through a recent election. As the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) and others in the Committee on International Relations can testify, it is beyond belief that we have permitted Hun Sen to manipulate the system such that he is still in power after all of these years. But the last thing we want to do, especially as the corruption level in Cambodia is so high, is to provide the money that should be going to a project to train Cambodian primary school teachers. It benefited the children of Cambodia. That is all I have to say about this, Mr. Chairman. I rise in opposition to the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I visited Cambodia in April. I spent a lot of time not only in the capital but outside in the rural areas. I found that the legacy of illiteracy and malnutrition that Pol Pot has left the Cambodian people is still there; it is so much there that it is unbelievable, of the statistics. I went there and witnessed the people of the countryside. In Cambodia's countryside, four out of five people cannot read or write. Just one in four children is in school. Hunger and malnutrition, caused in part because their uneducated parents cannot escape terrible poverty, is among the highest in the world.

This widespread lack of education ensures that Cambodians will not be able to make much of their lives. They will not be able to feed their families. They will not be able to take advantage of their country's position at the crossroads of a vibrant regional economy. Cambodia has many problems. But when you see the situation of its people, it is hard to know where to start trying to help.

The scourge of AIDS is spreading like wildfire in Cambodia. Land mines have left Cambodia the place with more people killed and maimed per capita than anywhere else in the world. There are roads to get farm products to market. And, 20 years after the Khmer Rouge bloody reign ended, there has been no justice for its victims or their children.

The grandchildren of the victims of the Khmer Rouge are the best hope for Cambodia's future, and the best way to help Cambodia is with them, by assisting and educating them by ensuring that they are protected from disease, by helping to feed the majority who are so malnourished that their bodies are stunted.

This bill does not earmark additional funding for Cambodia, although the drop from $37 million to $12 million in spending over the past 2 years may have warranted that. But this bill will enable our embassy to re-start programs like one undertaken by well-respected American charities. In April 1996, more than a year before the coup, the World Learning, the World Education, Save The Children and the International Rescue Committee began a project to train Cambodian primary school teachers. This is where the money goes. Does not go to the government, does not go through the government. This project received no funds from the Cambodian government, it did not rely on its ministries to implement the work. It benefited the children of Cambodia and the rural areas that are home to 87 percent of the Cambodian people. Unfortunately, this project was suspended.

Mr. Chairman, all that is required of us today is to affirm that humanitarian aid still means educating young children so that they can escape the poverty they were born into, and all that is called for is our acceptance that helping people help themselves is one of the best ways to invest our aid dollars.

That is all I have to say about this, Mr. Chairman. I rise certainly in opposition to this amendment. It is an unfair amendment. I venture to say that the gentleman has not gone into the countryside and seen that four out of five of the children are not educated, the schools have been closed, and one of the best things that we can do is provide humanitarian assistance.

Mr. ROHRABACHER. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HALL of Ohio. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. ROHRABACHER. Mr. Chairman, the gentleman does not know the extent of my travels in Cambodia, I will
Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Chairman, I would just say to the gentleman from California (Mr. ROHRABACHER) that the money will go to the private voluntary organizations, the organizations that are already there. It will be monitored by our embassy that is in Cambodia; I trust them. We do basic education in many countries of the world with regimes that we do not necessarily get along with. This is nothing new. The fact is that four out of the five children that the gentleman from California says that he saw in the rural areas, which I find hard to believe that he saw it, schools are closed, the Pol Pot legacy still lives on, and the gentleman wants to keep them this way, and that is what basic education is all about. It is a humanitarian resource that we are very good at, and the gentleman from California is not permitting it with this amendment.

Mr. BERIEUTER. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word and rise in support of the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. ROHRABACHER).

Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Rohrabacher amendment, and I am pleased to support it.

As my colleagues know, as I was listening to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HALL), he spoke movingly about the conditions in Cambodia, and I have no doubt that the gentleman from California has both seen the same deplorable conditions that exist there, but there seems to be something missing here. It seems we are talking beyond each other.

There is no intent of the gentleman from California, I am sure, there is no intent of this gentleman to stop any funds from going to assist the people in Cambodia. In fact, I think the three of us might agree we ought to be giving more resources to help the people in Cambodia.

What the gentleman from California is attempting to do is assure that no U.S. taxpayers funds goes to the government of Cambodia, and that is what this Congress did last year in the appropriation measure, because this gentleman offered the amendment. We eliminated the possibility of money going to the Cambodian government. We want it to go through those NGOs where my colleagues saw the good work being done. There is nothing to keep AID or any other institution of American government from providing authorized funds which are appropriated to nongovernmental organizations for valid purposes in Cambodia. And in fact, the authorizing committee has taken this step as well.

Now I just say to the gentleman from California (Mr. ROHRABACHER) is exactly right in the way he has characterized the outrageous people that run that government. We ought not be putting one cent of the taxpayers' money into that government. When we do, we send exactly the wrong message, that we tolerate the kind of murderous people that are running that country. That is something I tell my colleagues as the chairman of the Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific this government ought not do, and that is the direction we have given to the Executive Branch.

Now let me give my colleagues one example of how the government of Cambodia is using some of the funds today. Let us talk about the Cambodian Mine Action Center. About one out of every 250 people in Cambodia have been injured or killed by mines, and it is a serious problem, there is no doubt about that.

Well, according to reports in the Australian, one of the most prestigious newspapers in Australia, according to the South China Morning Post, the most important newspaper in Hong Kong, the nepotism, the corruption that has existed in this mining program where the leaders of that government are directing funds to go to demine the land of their cronies, of their political people from the Pol Pot regime is outrageous. Of the $12 million that are spent so far, at least 1 million, 1.3 million, has been spent corruptly. In fact, the executive director of that agency admitted in a press release that at least a half a million dollars of it had been spent in that fashion.

We stripped, eliminate, prohibit any funds from going to the government of Cambodia. We stripped, eliminate, prohibit any funds from going to the government of Cambodia.

Mr. Chairman, my colleague's instincts were right last Congress, they are right in the authorizing committee. We stripped, eliminate, prohibit any funds from going to Cambodian government. This Congress is doing it as well, send a lot more to help the people of Cambodia through NGOs.

Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN).
Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Chairman, the purpose of this amendment is to put a stop to a program that I believe is corporate welfare, pure and simple. We have heard on this floor tonight some agonizing debates about spending small amounts of money for vaccinations, for child health, for family planning, and those are difficult questions for us to answer.

I would suspend if the Chair wishes me to suspend.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I want to reserve a point of order.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from New Jersey may proceed.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Chairman, who among us has not had to face some agonizing and difficult questions as constituents come to us and talk about their lack of health insurance, or they talk about their lack of housing? I think those same constituents would be astonished, astonished to find that the full faith and credit of the United States Government, their tax money, and private investments in foreign countries by the McDonalds Corporation, by Du Pont, by CitiCorp, by some of the largest and most powerful corporations in America.

The President of the United States, Mr. Chairman, said very articulately a few years ago that it was his goal to end welfare as we know it. Tonight in this amendment we have the chance to begin the process of ending corporate welfare as we know it.

Now there will be those who will object to this amendment and say we just cannot pull the plug on the OPIC program all at once, it would cause chaos, and that is not what this amendment does. The amendment says that no funds under this bill may be used to authorize new expenditures, new loan guarantees, new insurance policies. It says to OPIC that they must stop with or they talk about their lack of housing. I think those same constituents would be astonished, astonished to find that the full faith and credit of the United States Government, their tax money, and private investments in foreign countries by the McDonalds Corporation, by Du Pont, by CitiCorp, by some of the largest and most powerful corporations in America.

The President of the United States, Mr. Chairman, said very articulately a few years ago that it was his goal to end welfare as we know it. Tonight in this amendment we have the chance to begin the process of ending corporate welfare as we know it.

Now there will be those who will object to this amendment and say we just cannot pull the plug on the OPIC program all at once, it would cause chaos, and that is not what this amendment does. The amendment says that no funds under this bill may be used to authorize new expenditures, new loan guarantees, new insurance policies. It says to OPIC that they must stop with or they talk about their lack of housing. I think those same constituents would be astonished, astonished to find that the full faith and credit of the United States Government, their tax money, and private investments in foreign countries by the McDonalds Corporation, by Du Pont, by CitiCorp, by some of the largest and most powerful corporations in America. to the Foreign Operations Appropriations bill. OPIC subsidizes U.S. companies that invest in risky foreign markets and businesses by providing them direct and low-cost financing and insurance. While claiming to help America’s small businesses invest in foreign markets, OPIC actually provides loans and risk insurance to some of the largest multinational corporations in the world. And while claiming to invest in sustainable development projects, OPIC has been involved in clear-cutting pristine forests in Northwestern Russia, a gold mine in a World Heritage site.

Through OPIC, U.S. taxpayers are exposed to environmentally, financially, and politically risky private sector investments, the implications of which, in many cases, are not even disclosed to the public.

The government should not be in the business of committing billions of taxpayer dollars to underwrite the investments of Fortune 500 companies. This is corporate welfare at its worst.

As has been said earlier, OPIC puts taxpayers at risk. It obligates the taxpayer to underwrite insurance for the possible loss of private investment by the richest companies in America. The Congressional Research Service estimates that the taxpayer is typically liable for 90 percent of the insured investment. Americans have already paid $80 billion to bail out the savings and loan industry; we should not ask them to pay if OPIC’s projects go bad.

These multimillion dollar companies are fully capable of assuming the risk of investing in developing countries. They do not need government insurance on their foreign investments, but the substantial profits they gain from these investments, while American taxpayers are held financially responsible for any potential losses, looks pretty risky on the bottom line.

OPIC is not necessary for investments in emerging and developing markets. In 1998, private capital flows to emerging markets topped $150 billion. U.S. capital outflows to Brazil in 1998 totaled $3.7 billion, yet OPIC offered $317 million worth of insurance to U.S. companies investing in Brazil over the same period.

It has been pointed out by the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. SANFORD) that the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COBURN), and I would like to state it again: OPIC does not operate at zero cost to the taxpayers. Although OPIC does not receive a direct appropriation, it pays for many of its operations with interest earned on its U.S. Treasury bonds, bonds given to OPIC as seed money when it was established. In 1998, the agency reported $39 million in net income; yet, $193 million of its revenue consisted on interest from its U.S. Treasury bonds, another large government IOU.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to support the Andrews-Sanford-Sand-
Mr. CALLAHAN. Yes, Mr. Chairman. The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?
Mr. SANDERS. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Chairman, I was not quite clear, was the gentleman talking about a total of 10 minutes, 10 minutes on each side? What was the gentleman talking about for the Andrews amendment, how much time?
Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?
Mr. SANDERS. 10 minutes.
Mr. CALLAHAN. 10 minutes. Mr. SANDERS. A total? Mr. CALLAHAN. 10 additional. Mr. SANDERS. Five and 5? Mr. CALLAHAN. Yes. Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Chairman, I object.
Mr. OBEY. Mr. Chairman, if the gentleman will yield, would the gentleman withdraw his objection?
Mr. SANDERS. I withdraw my objection.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

Mr. OBEY. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Chairman, let me ask the distinguished chairman of the subcommittee, we have been told that what has happened is there have been four or five speakers in a row on this, on one side. So we are getting objections, both from that side of the issue, as evidenced by the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS), and we have objections on the other side of the issue.

Could I ask, would Members on both sides be satisfied if it were 20 minutes apiece?

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?
Mr. OBEY. I yield to the gentlewoman from California.
Ms. PELOSI. No, 10 minutes each.
Mr. OBEY. Ten is fine with me, but I am told that we have objections if it is 10 minutes.
Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Chairman, continuing under the reservation of objection, if the gentlewoman will yield, if I could ask the chairman how many speakers does he have left?
Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?
Mr. OBEY. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CALLAHAN. I do not know. We did not anticipate this amendment would be introduced. We were informed by one of our colleagues, the gentleman from Texas, that he had an agreement with the sponsor of an amendment where it would not be introduced.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, would it be agreeable to all sides if we went 10 minutes on each side, finished it tonight, took the votes, went home and took the rest on Monday?

Mr. CALLAHAN. I want to amend my unanimous consent request. Mr. MENENDEZ. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Chairman, under my reservation, unfortunately, I happen to be the ranking member on the authorizing committee on this issue. None of the people who support OPIC have had an opportunity to speak. So depending upon how those 10 minutes are divided, otherwise, I would have to object.

If the 10 minutes are to be divided on behalf of those who have not had any opportunity to speak in favor of OPIC and against the amendment, we may be able to do that, but if the 10 minutes are to be divided between all the parties, I would have to object.

Mr. CALLAHAN. If the gentleman will yield further, Mr. Chairman, I would agree with the gentleman, that the Andrews amendment have already spoken 20 minutes without any opposition having the opportunity to speak, and it is unfair to those of us who disagree with the gentleman's amendment not to have the same amount of time.

But I do not think the gentleman would agree to give me 30 minutes and take 10 himself. But I also make that request, if the gentleman thinks he would agree.

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Chairman, I would respectfully object to that.
Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to limit debate to 30 minutes to each side of the issue.

Ms. PELOSI. If the gentleman will yield, is that tonight, on Monday?
Mr. SANDERS. Thirty minutes each side tonight?

Mr. CALLAHAN. Fifteen minutes on each side tonight.

The CHAIRMAN. The request of the gentleman from Florida (Mr. CALLAHAN) is that each side have 15 additional minutes on the pending amendment and all amendments thereto.

Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

Mr. TRAFICANT. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Chairman, would it be out of order to ask unanimous consent, of course we cannot, there is one pending, but for us to go ahead and suspend this, have the 30 minutes debate, have the four votes first, and then conclude with the Andrews amendment?

Mr. CALLAHAN. First, the unanimous consent has to be agreed to by the Chair.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama, 15 minutes on each side?

Mr. MENENDEZ. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Chairman, let me understand the unanimous consent request again. It is to have 15 minutes on each side of the aisle?
Ms. PELOSI. Each side of the issue.
Mr. MENENDEZ. Each side of the issue?

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman is correct.
Mr. TRAFICANT. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Chairman, and I will object. I ask unanimous consent that we suspend with the Andrews amendment, that we proceed with the votes, and then they have their 30 minutes to conclude the Andrews amendment, and that vote will be taken Monday.

The CHAIRMAN. The pending request is the unanimous consent request offered by the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), limiting time on the pending Andrews amendment and amendments thereto to 15 minutes for each side. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Chairman, I object.

The CHAIRMAN. Objection is heard. Mr. TRAFICANT, I ask unanimous consent, Mr. Chairman, that the pending amendment by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. ANDREWS) be suspended and that the Committee proceed with the votes that have been scheduled.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. TRAFICANT. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, why does the gentleman from Ohio not first establish the amount of time of debate, and we will rise.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair asks all Members to suspend.

The gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. ANDREWS) would have to, by unanimous consent, withdraw his amendment and get permission in the full House, where a special order has already been entered on permissible amendments, to reoffer his amendment for such a procedure to be permitted in the Committee of the Whole.

The pending amendment is the amendment offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. ANDREWS).

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, in the interest of time, and under the way the 5-minute rule works, that is, people come and it is not divided on each side of the issue, which is the way the 5-minute rule works, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and I have worked very hard to try to bring something that was honed down, with minimal controversy, to the floor.

Clearly, the House must work its will, and it is done largely with authorizing issues, I might add. I mean debates that have been carried over from the authorizing committee; and that is completely appropriate.

But recognizing all that we have been through today, I ask unanimous consent that each side of the amendment have 10 minutes, and then we take the vote and proceed with the other votes this evening.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from California?

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. Chairman, I have to object.

The CHAIRMAN. Objection is heard. Mr. TRAFICANT, Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the pending Andrews amendment be given an additional 30 minutes to be equally divided and that the debate take place after the House has completed its votes on the pending amendments; and any record vote, if called by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. ANDREWS), would be heard Monday as the first order of business.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT) that the Committee of the Whole does not have the authority that the gentleman in request.

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Chairman, if we are still in the Committee of the Whole, I ride to speak in opposition to the Andrews amendment.

Mr. TRAFICANT. I ask unanimous consent, Mr. Chairman, that the pending Andrews amendment, which we really did not anticipate would be introduced, especially at this late hour of the night, comes at a surprise because we were of the understanding that he was not going to introduce it.

So with the misinformation that I had regarding that what someone thought was a commitment, I speak against the Andrews amendment because, effectively, what he does, he shuts down the Overseas Private Investment Corporation.

The Andrews amendment would devastate the ability of our American companies from doing business in any foreign country. It would give such tremendous advantage to our foreign competitors, because every one of the G-7 Nations have, in effect, in their country an organization similar to this.

The sponsor of the amendment indicated that OPIC costs us money. In reality, Mr. Chairman, let me tell my colleagues that OPIC makes money. They intend to return nearly $50 million to the Treasury to help us continue to decrease our level of deficit spending. We should compliment organizations such as that.

It would hurt U.S. jobs, because when we have the inability to transfer our technology, to transfer our American interest to foreign countries, those jobs are going to go to other countries. So we are going to lose an estimated 70,000 U.S. jobs alone in the next 4 years.

It would hurt small businesses who contribute to the multifaceted involvement of our American firms doing business in foreign countries.

LIMITING DEBATE ON ANDREWS AMENDMENT DURING FURTHER CONSIDERATION IN THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE OF H.R. 2606, FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2000

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when we return for debate on this bill, that the amendment offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. ANDREWS) have a time limitation of 30 minutes, divided equally, 15 minutes for proponents and 15 minutes for opponents.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. LAHOOD, the gentleminister. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

Mr. ANDREWS. Reserving the right to object, and I will not object, one of the things I wanted to make clear is that the chairman, I am sure in good faith, made a representation earlier there had been an agreement by me not to offer this amendment. That is not accurate. I did not make any representation to anyone to that effect, and I wanted to clear that up for the record.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

Mr. MENENDEZ. Reserving the right to object, may I ask the gentleman yield?

Mr. CALLAHAN. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CAL Massa. I am informed that we will begin debate on this issue at 4 o'clock on Monday.

Mr. MENENDEZ. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CAL Massa. I can advise me when this debate is going to commence on Monday?

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I wish to object, and just in protecting the rights of the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. ANDREWS), when we are talking about a subsequent time, that he knows, will this debate on his amendment begin the proceedings, at 4 o'clock on Monday; is that the correct understanding?

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentlewoman yield?

Ms. PELOSI. I yield to the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. CALLAHAN. The purpose of my unanimous consent is to come back into session at 4 o'clock on Monday next, at which time, when the Committee of the Whole is reestablished, we would then be on the Andrews amendment. At that point there would be 30 minutes divided, 15 minutes on each side, when the Committee of the Whole was regrouped.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

Mr. MENENDEZ. Reserving the right to object, may I ask the gentleman yield?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment is withdrawn without prejudice to it being reoffered whenever the Committee resumes its setting under a 30-minute time limit for debate, equally divided.

Without objection, the unanimous consent request is granted.

There was no objection.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2000

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 263 and rule XVIII, the Chair declares the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the further consideration of the bill, H.R. 2606.

‡ 2334

IN THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the further consideration of the bill (H.R. 2606) making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, and for other purposes, with Mr. THORNBERRY in the chair.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The CHAIRMAN. When the Committee of the Whole rose earlier today, pending was amendment No. 6 offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. ANDREWS), which has now been withdrawn by order of the House. The proceeding was withdrawn by order of the House.

SEQUENTIAL VOTES POSTPONED IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 263, proceedings will now resume on those amendments on which further proceedings were postponed, in the following order:

The amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. CAMPBELL), amendment No. 1 offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY), and Part B amendment No. 3 offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. PITTS).

The Chair will reduce to 5 minutes the time for any electronic vote after the first vote in this series.

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. CAMPBELL

The CHAIRMAN. The pending business is the demand for a recorded vote on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. CAMPBELL), on which further proceedings were postponed and on which the noes prevailed by voice vote.

The Clerk will designate the amendment.
Ms. STABENOW, Mrs. CLAYTON, and Messrs. JACKSON of Illinois, SERRANO, BECERRA, SUNUNU, and RANGEL changed their vote from "aye" to "no".

So the amendment was rejected.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to House Resolution 263, the Chair announces that he will reduce to a minimum of 5 minutes the period of time within which a vote by electronic device will be taken on each amendment on which the Chair has postponed further proceedings.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

AMENDMENT NO. 1 OFFERED BY MR. MOAKLEY

The CHAIRMAN. The pending business is the demand for a recorded vote on amendment No. 1 offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MOAKLEY) on which further proceedings were postponed and on which the ayes prevailed by voice vote.

The Clerk will redesignate the amendment.

The Clerk redesignated the amendment.

RECORDED VOTE

The CHAIRMAN. A recorded vote has been ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 230, noes 197, not voting 6, as follows:

[Roll No. 352]

AYES—230

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

Mr. HOYER changed his vote from "aye" to "no.

So the amendment was agreed to.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.
The CHAIRMAN. The pending business is the demand for a recorded vote on Part B Amendment No. 3 offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Pitts) on which further proceedings were postponed and on which the noes prevailed by voice vote.

The Clerk will redesignate the amendment.

The Clerk redesignated the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. A recorded vote has been demanded.

A recorded vote was ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—aye 187, noes 237, not voting 9, as follows:

[Roll No. 353]

AYES—187

Ackerman
Adams
Adams (MA)
Adams (NY)
Adams (WI)
Abercrombie
Allen
Andrews
Beatty
Bilirakis
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
Bilirakis (FL)
unified budget surplus (counting Social Security surpluses) of $70 billion last year. The Congressional Budget Office (CBO) is now projecting surpluses of $2.9 trillion over the next 10 years.

Since 1983 working Americans have been forced to shoulder a disproportionate amount of federal spending and a shrinking discretionary spending budget is our refusal to make structural reforms to our entitlement programs.

In 1970 entitlement spending accounted for only 33 percent of federal spending. By 2010, it will amount for nearly 70 percent of federal spending. During the same period, discretionary spending will have fallen from 58 percent of spending to 27 percent. Absent structural reforms or massive tax increases, Social Security and Medicare will continue to eat up ever larger percentages of our budget—at the expense of important investments in our children and our future.

In the Finance Committee last week, I offered an amendment with Sens. John Breaux (D-La.), Charles Grassley (R-Iowa), Charles Robb (D-Va.) and Fred Thompson (R-Tenn.) to cut the payroll tax, increase retirement savings and restore permanent solvency to the Social Security program.

This amendment would have provided a $282 billion payroll tax cut to the 80 percent of American families who pay more in payroll taxes than in income taxes. This tax cut would have directed into individual savings accounts for retirement security. Not only does this amendment provide all workers with a massive payroll tax cut, it also substantially expands the ownership of assets in this nation.

Ownership of wealth is essential for everyone to have a shot at the American dream. The payroll tax is the principal burden on savings and wealth creation for working families. Furthermore, this payroll tax cut would still have left room for Medicare reform, an income tax cut, debt reduction and other spending priorities.

While I did vote for the Senate finance committee tax bill, I believe that a $500 billion income tax cut alone is a compromise figure that will leave room to reform and modernize the Social Security and Medicare programs and to invest in important domestic priorities such as education, defense, veterans and housing.

I agree a compromise is ultimately doable. That’s why I intend to join Sens. Breaux, John Chafee (R-R.I.) and Jim Jeffords (R-Vt.) in proposing a $600 billion income tax cut alternative that can easily be argued that the GOP version is too high, it’s also clear the Democratic alternative is too low.

The CHAIRMAN. If there is no further debate on the Visclosky motion to strike, it will remain in abeyance pending disposition of the Boehlert perfecting amendment, on which proceeding has been postponed.

The Clerk will read:

The Clerk read as follows:

FORMERLY UTILIZED SITES REMEDIAL ACTION PROGRAM

(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

For expenses necessary to clean up contamination from sites throughout the United States resulting from work performed as part of the Nation’s early atomic energy program, $150,000,000, to remain available until expended. Provided, That the United States Army Corps of Engineers under this program shall undertake the following functions and activities to be performed at eligible sites where remediation has been completed: sampling and assessment of contaminated areas, characterization of site conditions, determination of the nature and extent of contamination, selection of the necessary and appropriate response actions as the lead Federal agency, cleanup and closeout of sites, and any other functions and activities determined by the Chief of Engineers as necessary for carrying out this program, including the acquisition of real estate interests where necessary, which may be transferred upon completion of remediation to the administrative jurisdiction of the Department of Energy: Provided further, That response actions by the United States Army Corps of Engineers under this program shall be subject to the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (42 U.S.C. 9601 et seq.), and the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan, 40 CFR, Chapter 1, Part 300: Provided further, That these provisions do not alter, curtail or limit the authorities, functions or responsibilities of other Federal agencies under CERCLA or, except as stated herein, under the Atomic Energy Act (42 U.S.C. 2011 et seq.): Provided further, That any sums recovered under CERCLA or other authority from a liable party, contractor, insurer, surety, or other person for any expenditures by the Army Corps of Engineers or the Department of Energy for response actions under the Formerly Utilized Sites Remedial Action Program shall be credited to this account and will be available until expended for response action costs for any eligible site: Provided further, That the Secretary of Energy may exercise the authority of 42 U.S.C. 2208 to make payments in lieu of taxes for Federally-owned property where Formerly Utilized Sites Remedial Action Program activities are conducted, regardless of which Federal agency has administrative jurisdiction over the property and notwithstanding references to “the activities of the Command” in 42 U.S.C. 2208: Provided further, That the unexpended balances of prior appropriation acts included in this Act, or any previous Energy and Water Development Appropriations Act may be transferred to and merged with this appropriation account for any fiscal year.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted to:

Mr. SKELTON (at the request of Mr. GEPHARDT) for today and July 30 on account of official business.

SPECIAL ORDERS GRANTED

By unanimous consent, permission to address the House, following the legislative program and any special orders heretofore entered, was granted to:

(The following Members (at the request of Mr. HAYWORTH) to revise and extend their remarks and include ex-traneous material:

Mr. GOSS, for 5 minutes, July 30.

Mrs. MORELLA, for 5 minutes, today.

Mr. ISAKSON, for 5 minutes, today.

Mr. SCHAFER, for 5 minutes, today.

Mr. PAUL, for 5 minutes, August 2.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BOEHLERT. Mr. Chairman, on behalf of the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. SHUSTER), I raise a point of order against the portion of the Formerly Utilized Sites Remedial Action Program beginning with the last comma on page 7, line 7 through page 9 line 2, on the grounds that it is legislation on an appropriations bill in violation of clause 2 of Rule XXI of the Rules of the House. This program has not been authorized for fiscal year 2000. In fact, it is likely that there has never been an authorization for this program.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from California wish to be heard on the point of order?

Mr. PACKARD. Mr. Chairman, I concede the point of order.

The CHAIRMAN. The portion of the paragraph that constitutes legislation in violation of clause 2 of rule XXI.

The point of order is sustained. The specified portion of the paragraph is stricken.

SPECIAL ORDERS GRANTED

Bills of the Senate of the following titles were taken from the Speaker’s table and, under the rule, referred as follows:

S. 305. An act to reform unfair and anti-competitive practices in the professional boxing industry; to the Committee on Commerce; in addition to the Committee on Education and the Workforce for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in the judgment of the Speaker, for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.
Mr. SHUSTER: Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure. H.R. 717. A bill to amend title 49, United States Code, to regulate oil spills of national parks, and for other purposes (Rept. 106–273 Pt. 1). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. DREIER: Committee on Rules. House Resolution 256. Resolution providing for consideration of a concurrent resolution waiving the requirement in section 132 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 that the Congress adjourn sine die not later than July 31, 1999 (Rept. 106–274). Referred to the House Calendar.

DISCHARGE OF COMMITTEE
Pursuant to clause 5 of rule X, Committee on Resources discharged from further consideration of H.R. 717.

TIME LIMITATION OF REFERRED BILL
Pursuant to clause 5 of rule X, the following action was taken by the Speaker:

H.R. 717. Referral to the Committee on Resources extended for a period ending not later than July 29, 1999.

PUBLIC BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS
Under clause 2 of rule XII, public bills and resolutions were introduced and severally referred, as follows:

By Mr. TAUZIN:
H.R. 2630. A bill to reauthorize the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce.

By Mr. DAVIS of Virginia (for himself, Mr. HOYER, Mrs. MORELLA, Mr. MORAN of Virginia, Mr. GILMAN, Mr. CUMMINGS, Ms. NORTON, Mr. WYNN, Mr. ENGLISH, Mr. WOLF, and Mr. LAN-TOY):
H.R. 2631. A bill to amend chapters 83 and 84 of title 91 United States Code to authorize employee contributions to the Civil Service Retirement System and the Federal Employee Retirement System to the percentages in effect for the period from the temporary increase in calendar year 1999, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Government Reform.

By Mr. RILEY:
H.R. 2632. A bill to designate certain Federal lands in the Talladega National Forest in the State of Alabama as the Dugger Mountain Wilderness; to the Committee on Resources, and in addition to the Committee on Agriculture, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. HORN (for himself, Mrs. MORELLA, Mr. RAMstad, Mr. SHOES, Mr. BARCIA, Mr. HOLDEN, Mrs. KELLY, Mr. INSLEE, Mr. VISCOSKY, Mr. GREEN of Texas, Mr. KULBE, Mr. LUTHER, Mr. ENGLISH, Mr. SMITH of Washington, Mr. STUPAK, Ms. DAN-NER, Mr. OSE, Mr. REYERS, Ms. BERKLEY, and Mr. GARY MILLER of California):
H.R. 2633. A bill to amend title 16, United States Code, to prevent the misuse of genuine and counterfeit police badges by those seeking to commit a crime, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. BLILEY (for himself, Mr. GARLAND of Texas, Mr. BOUCHER, Mr. COX, Mr. GREENWOOD, and Mr. COBLE):
H.R. 2634. A bill to amend the Controlled Substances Act, to provide for additional requirements for practitioners who dispense narcotic drugs in schedule IV or V for maintenance treatment or detoxification treatment, to the Committee on the Judiciary, and in addition to the Committee on the Judiciary, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. DEFAZIO (for himself, Mr. BURTON of Indiana, Mr. SANDERS, Mr. HINCHEY, Mr. HAYWORTH, Mr. OWENS, Mr. CAMPBELL, Mr. ROHRBACKER, Mr. ANDREWS, Mr. DREIER, Mr. WYNN, Mr. PAUL, Mr. LIPINSKI, Mrs. MYRICK, Mr. FILNER, Mr. STUMP, Mr. RAHALL, Mr. WOOLSEY, Mr. ACKERMAN, Mr. DUNCAN, Mr. COSTELLO, Mr. OVER-STAR, Mr. FADAI California, and Mr. TAYLOR of North Carolina):
H.R. 2635. A bill to allow patients access to drugs and medical devices recommended and provided by health care practitioners that are not approved by the Food and Drug Administration, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Government Reform.

By Mr. GEKAS (for himself, Mr. HAYWORTH, Mr. BACHUS, Mr. BALLENGER, Mr. BARCIA, Mr. BURTON of Indiana, Mr. CALHAN, Mr. VALENT, Mr. CHABOT, Mr. COLLINS, Mr. DELAY, Mr. DEmINT, Mr. Dickey, Mr. EMBRICH, Mrs. EMERSON, Mr. EVERETT, Mr. FLETCHER, Mr. GUTENBERG, Mr. HERBER, Mr. HOSTETTLER, Mr. ISAACSON, Mr. LARGENT, Mr. LEWIS of California, Mr. MANZULLO, Mr. METCALF, Mr. MICA, Mrs. NORTHUP, Mr. PITTS, Mr. ROGAN, Mr. SALMON, Mr. SANTON, Mr. SCARBOURGH, Mr. SCHAEFFER, Mr. SHADROG, Mr. SMITH of Texas, Mr. STUMP, Mr. SUNUNU, Mr. TALENT, Mr. TERRY, Mr. WATTS of Oklahoma, Mr. COBLE, Mr. LAHOOD, Mr. FOSSELLA, Mr. DRAZ of Georgia, Mr. HANSEN, Mr. ARMSTR, Mr. BAKER, Mr. LEWIS of Kentucky, Mr. ROYCE, Mr. SOUDER, Mr. Sweeney, Mr. NELSON, Mr. MCCOLL, Mr. METCALF, Mr. TAYLOR of California, Mr. CUMMINGS, Mr. SAM JONSON of Texas, Mr. DOOLITTLE, Mr. KELLY, Mr. LINDER, Mr. BRYANT, Mr. KINGSTON, Mr. GIBBONS, Mr. JONES of North Carolina, Mrs. MYRICK, Mr. DUNN, Mr. TIAHRT, Mr. BONILLA, Mr. TAYLOR of North Carolina, Mr. HILLARY, Mrs. BONO, Mr. GARY MILLER of California, Mr. ENGLISH, Mrs. CUBIN, Mr. SIRSONS, Mr. ADEHOLT, Mr. WATKINS, and Mr. FLETCHER):
H.R. 2636. A bill to amend title 5, United States Code, to provide for Congressional review of rules establishing or increasing the fees charged by the Judiciary, and in addition to the Committees on Ways and Means, and Rules, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. BLUMENAUER (for himself and Mr. MEHLMAN, Mr. BLUM, Mr. KOCH, Mr. CURRAN, Mr. HILL, Mr. KURTZ, Mr. HAYWOOD, Mr. PITTS, Mrs. NORTHUP, Mr. CUNNINGHAM, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. HOBSON, Mr. TIAHRT, Mr. COOKSEY, Mr. MCMICHEAL, Mr. KNOBBEL, Mr. FOLEY, Mr. NORWOOD, Mrs. CUBIN, Mr. PETERSON of Pennsylvania, Mr. HEFLERT, Mr. CALVET, Mr. HOREKSTA, Ms. PEYCE of Ohio, Mr. SCHAPFER, Mr. HASTINGS of Washington, Mr. LINDER, Mr. STEINHOLM, Mr. BLUNT, Mr. BOSNIK, Mr. GOODE, Mr. CHAMBLES, Mr. SKEEN, and Mr. PAUL):
H.R. 2637. A bill to protect consumer and community choice in access to Internet providers, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce.

By Mr. BLUNT (for himself, Ms. DAN-NER, Mr. SKELOTON, Mrs. EMERSON, Mr. TALENT, Ms. MCCARTHY of Missouri, and Mr. HULSHBROOK):
H.R. 2638. A bill to amend the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act to prohibit the Secretary of the Interior from taking land into trust for Indian tribes for gaming purposes under certain conditions, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Resources.

By Mr. BONILLA (for himself, Mr. BROWN, Mr. WICKER, Mr. SUNUNU, Mr. HAYWOOD, Mr. PITTS, Mrs. NORTHUP, Mr. CUNNINGHAM, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. HOBSON, Mr. TIAHRT, Mr. COOKSEY, Mr. MCMICHEAL, Mr. KNOBBEL, Mr. FOLEY, Mr. NORWOOD, Mrs. CUBIN, Mr. PETERSON of Pennsylvania, Mr. HEFLERT, Mr. CALVET, Mr. HOREKSTA, Ms. PEYCE of Ohio, Mr. SCHAPFER, Mr. HASTINGS of Washington, Mr. LINDER, Mr. STEINHOLM, Mr. BLUNT, Mr. BOSNIK, Mr. GOODE, Mr. CHAMBLES, Mr. SKEEN, and Mr. PAUL):
H.R. 2639. A bill to establish peer review for the review of standards promulgated under the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

By Mr. CAMP:
H.R. 2640. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide that long-term vehicle storage by tax-exempt organizations which conduct count operations shall not be treated as an unrelated trade or business; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. CUBIN (for herself and Mr. LARGENT):

By Mr. FRANKS of New Jersey:
H.R. 2642. A bill to amend the Immigration and Nationality Act to provide that aliens who commit acts of torture abroad are inadmissible and removable and to establish within the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice an Office of Special Investigations having responsibilities under that Act with respect to all alien participants in acts of genocide and torture abroad; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. HASTINGS of Washington:
H.R. 2643. A bill to amend the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act to provide for appropriate study and repatriation of remains for which a cultural affiliation is not readily ascertainable; to the Committee on Resources.

By Mr. HINCHERY (for himself, Mr. KLEECZKA, and Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California):
H.R. 2644. A bill to prohibit Federal, State, and local agencies and private entities from transferring, selling, or disclosing personal data with respect to an individual to other agencies or entities without the express consent of the individual except in limited circumstances, and to require such agencies and entities to provide access to such personal data maintained with respect to such individuals; to the Committee on Government Reform.

By Mr. KUCINICH (for himself, Mr. GUTERREZ, Mr. SCHAROWSKI, and Ms. BALDWIN):
H.R. 2645. A bill to provide for the restructuring of the electric power industry; to the Committee on Commerce.

By Mrs. MCCARTHY of New York:
H.R. 2646. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide common sense tax relief for families; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. SHADEGG:
H.R. 2647. A bill to amend the Act entitled “An Act relating to the water rights of the Ak-Chin Indian Community—to clarify certain provisions concerning the leasing of such water rights, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Resources.

By Mr. SHAW:
H.R. 2649. A bill to reduce Federal spending in several programs; to the Committee on Agriculture, in addition to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, Resources, Science, Commerce, and International Relations, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. STARK:
H.R. 2650. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to improve and streamline the physician self-referral law; to the Committee on Commerce, and in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. THOMAS (for himself, Mr. BAIRD, Mr. CRANE, Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut, Mr. McCARY, Mr. ENGLISH, Mr. CAMP, and Mr. RAMSTAD):
H.R. 2651. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act with respect to the restrictions on physician self-referral; to the Committee on Commerce, and in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. TIERNEY:
H.R. 2652. A bill to increase monitoring of the use of offsets in international defense trade; to the Committee on International Relations, and in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. MICA (for himself, Mr. GILMAN, Mr. STUPAK, Mr. KUCINICH, Mr. KNOLLENBERG, and Mr. SMITH of New Jersey):
H. Con. Res. 165. Concurrent resolution expressing the views of the United States for the Slovak Republic to the Committee on International Relations.

By Mr. BROWN of Ohio (for himself, Mr. CRABOT, Mr. DEUTSCH, Mr. ANDREWS, Mr. TANCREDO, Mr. SWEENEY, and Mr. COOK):
H. Con. Res. 166. Concurrent resolution expressing the sense of the Congress that the United States should adopt a "One China, One Taiwan Policy" which reflects the present day reality that Taiwan and China are two separate nations; to the Committee on International Relations.

By Ms. NORTON (for herself, Mr. FRANKS of New Jersey, and Mr. VEDDER):
H. Con. Res. 167. Concurrent resolution authorizing the Architect of the Capitol to permit temporary construction and other work on the Capitol Grounds that may be necessary for construction of a building on Constitution Avenue Northwest, between 2nd Street Northwest and Louisiana Avenue Northwest; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

By Mr. LANTOS (for himself, Mr. GILMAN, Mr. GERDSEN, Mr. BEREUTER, Mr. ACKERMAN, Mr. BRMAN, Mr. CRESWELL, Mr. DELAHUNT, Mr. FALONE, LIZARRAGA, HASTINGS of Florida, Mr. MCGOVERN, Mr. SAYWER, and Mr. WEXLER):
H. Res. 265. A resolution expressing the sense of the House of Representatives that the President should actively encourage holders of Jordanian debt to provide debt relief in order to strengthen the economy of Jordan; to the Committee on International Relations.

By Mrs. MORELLA (for herself and Mr. EDNIE BRENHIN-JOHNSON of Texas):
H. Res. 267. A resolution expressing the sense of the House of Representatives with regard to Shuttle Mission STS-93, commanded by Colonel Elileen Collins, the first female space shuttle commander; to the Committee on Science.

PRIVATE BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 3 of rule XII.
Mr. WU introduced a bill (H.R. 2653) to exempt certain entries of titanium disks from anti-dumping duties retroactively applied by the United States Customs Service, which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Under clause 7 of rule XII, sponsors were added to public bills and resolutions as follows:
H.R. 19: Mrs. BIGGERT and Mrs. LOWEY.
H.R. 36: Mr. WEXLER and Mr. MARKEY.
H.R. 44: Mr. KLINK and Mr. BASS.
H.R. 65: Mr. KLINK.
H.R. 170: Mr. GORDON, Mr. DAVIS of Florida, Mr. MCNULTY, and Mr. SMITH of Washington.
H.R. 175: Mr. MOHLAN of Virginia and Mr. UDALL of New Mexico.
H.R. 269: Mr. HINCHRY.
H.R. 274: Mrs. JONES of Ohio.
H.R. 303: Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts, Mr. MEHARI, Mr. KLINK, and Mr. LATOURETTE.
H.R. 306: Mr. BRADY of Pennsylvania, Ms. MCKINNEY, and Mr. HOLT.
H.R. 323: Mrs. BIGGERT.
H.R. 332: Mr. MILLER of Florida.
H.R. 338: Mr. EVANS.
H.R. 346: Mr. SIMPSON.
H.R. 354: Mr. MCNULTY.
H.R. 360: Ms. LEE.
H.R. 405: Mr. HULSHOF, Mr. SKELETON, Mr. MCNULTY, and Mr. PALMER.
H.R. 431: Mr. MILLER of Florida.
H.R. 486: Mr. REGULA, Mrs. WILSON, and Mr. SAYWER.
H.R. 488: Mr. Rangel and Mr. ROTHMAN.
H.R. 561: Mrs. ROUKEMA.
H.R. 611: Mr. PHELPS.
H.R. 623: Mr. BURK of North Carolina.
H.R. 637: Mr. GALL.
H.R. 664: Mr. CROWLEY.
H.R. 708: Mr. KLINK.
H.R. 721: Mr. CLYBURN, Mr. EVANS, and Mr. THUNE.
H.R. 733: Mr. BOEHLEDT.
H.R. 780: Mr. FROST.
H.R. 784: Mr. KLINK and Mr. MOAKLEY.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

H. R. 2221: Mr. Sam Johnson of Texas and Mr. Cornyn of Texas.
H. R. 2236: Mr. McNulty.
H. R. 2240: Mr. Kind, Mr. Boucher, Mr. Mica, Mr. Oliver, Mr. Maloney, Mr. Costa, Mr. Sherman, Mr. Schueller, Mr. Ellender, and Mr. Mashburn.
H. R. 2241: Mr. Hulslof, Mr. Sharr, Mr. McNulty, Mr. Hilliard, Mrs. Emerson, Mrs. Christensen, and Mr. Dickens.
H. R. 2244: Mr. Stump.
H. R. 2245: Mr. Goode, Ms. Danner, and Mrs. Myrick.
H. R. 2246: Mr. Whitfield.
H. R. 2247: Mr. Petri of Ohio.
H. R. 2260: Mr. Cook and Mr. Callahan.
H. R. 2265: Mr. LaFalce, Mr. Clyburn, and Mr. Holden.
H. R. 2288: Mr. Wexler.
H. R. 2300: Mr. Largent and Mr. Tiahrt.
H. R. 2303: Mr. Walden of Oregon, Mr. Gilchrist, Mr. Kuykendall, Mr. Cook, Mrs. Wise, Mr. Carson, Mr. Gilman, Mr. Condit, Mr. Lucas of Kentucky, Mr. Manzullo, Mr. Radanovich, and Mr. Engel.
H. R. 2309: Ms. Fowler, Mr. Watts of Oklahoma, Ms. Kaptur, and Mr. Gibbs.
H. R. 2337: Mr. Moran of Kansas and Mr. Barcia.
H. R. 2356: Mr. Foley, Mr. Canady of Florida, Mrs. Emerson, Mr. Shays, Mr. Hayworth, Mrs. Northrup, Mr. Whitfield, Mr. Bush of North Carolina, and Mr. Franks of New Jersey.
H. R. 2364: Mr. Istook.
H. R. 2367: Mr. Wolf.
H. R. 2373: Mr. Manzullo.
H. R. 2394: Mr. Kline.
H. R. 2420: Mr. Lewis of Kentucky, Mr. Diaz-Balart, Mr. Wexler, Mrs. McCormack, Mr. Ilitch, and Mr. Gilchrist.
H. R. 2429: Mr. Gutknecht, Mr. Lewis of Kentucky, and Mr. Goodlatte.
H. R. 2439: Mr. Baldacci.
H. R. 2444: Mr. Dingell.
H. R. 2446: Mrs. McCarthy of New York, Mr. Payne, Mr. Vento, Mr. Weiner, Mr. Eberhards, Mr. Kucinich, Mr. Filner, Ms. Blagojevich, Mr. Markey, and Mr. Owens.
H. R. 2457: Mr. Brady of Pennsylvania, Mr. Doyle, Mr. Foster, Mr. Fallone, and Mr. Holt.
H. R. 2463: Mr. Pickering, Mr. Rahall, and Mr. Baldacci.
H. R. 2491: Mr. Ranohil, Mr. Jones of North Carolina, Mrs. Roybal-Allard, and Mr. Goode.
H. R. 2493: Mr. Bonior, Mrs. Morella, Mr. Gutierrez, Mrs. Thurman, Mrs. Mink of Hawaii, Mr. Lewis of Georgia, and Mr. Weldon of Pennsylvania.
H. R. 2503: Mr. Allien, Mr. Weiner, and Mr. Lantos.
H. R. 2521: Mr. Brescia.
H. R. 2523: Mr. Tanner, Mr. Hayworth, Mr. Horn, Mr. Hutchinson, Mr. Sam Johnson of Texas, Mrs. Northup, Mr. Norwood, Mr. Reynolds, Ms. Ros-Lehtinen, Mr. Shadegg, Mr. Shimkus, Mr. Skelton, Mr. Spence, and Mr. Wicker.
H. R. 2534: Mr. Weldon of Pennsylvania, Mr. Lien, Mr. Holt, Mr. Weiner, Mr. Shays, Mr. Jackson of Illinois, Mr. Baird, and Mr. Sherman.
H. R. 2543: Mr. Filner, Mr. Saxton, Mr. Taylor of North Carolina, Mr. Whitfield, Mr. Bajorek of Texas, and Mr. Hayes.
H. R. 2548: Mr. Rahall.
H. R. 2560: Mrs. Myrick.
H. R. 2584: Mr. Horn, Mr. Biliray, and Ms. Ros-Lehtinen.
H. R. 2586: Mr. Meek of Florida, Mr. Frost, and Mr. Gutierrez.

AMENDMENTS

Under clause 8 of rule XVIII, proposed amendments were submitted as follows:

H. R.

Opposed by Mr. Kucinich
(Commerce, Justice, State, and Judiciary Appropriations)

AMENDMENT No. 1 At the end of the bill, insert after the last section (preceding the short title) the following:
SEC. 205. None of the funds made available in this Act may be used for the filing of a complaint, or any motion seeking declaratory or injunctive relief pursuant thereto, in any legal action brought under section 102(b)(2) of the North American Free Trade Agreement Implementation Act (19 U.S.C. 3512(b)(2)) or section 102(b)(2) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3512(b)(2)).

H.R. 2387
Offered by: Mr. Istook
AMENDMENT No. 4. Page 65, insert after line 24 the following:

SEX OFFENDER REGISTRATION

SEC. 167. (a) PERMITTING COURT SERVICES AND OFFENDER SUPERVISION AGENCY TO CARRY OUT SEX OFFENDER REGISTRATION.—Section 11232(c) of the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997 (DC Code, sec. 24–1232(c)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(5) SEX OFFENDER REGISTRATION.—The Agency shall carry out sex offender registration functions in the District of Columbia, and shall have the authority to exercise all powers and functions relating to sex offender registration that are granted to the Agency under any District of Columbia law.”.

(b) AUTHORITY DURING TRANSITION TO FULL OPERATION OF AGENCY.—

(1) AUTHORITY OF PRETRIAL SERVICES, PAROLE, ADULT PROBATION AND OFFENDER SUPERVISION TRUSTEE.—Notwithstanding section 11232(b)(1) of the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997 (DC Code, sec. 24–1232(b)(1)), the Pretrial Services, Parole, Adult Probation and Offender Supervision Trustee appointed under section 11232(a) of such Act thereafter referred to as the “Trustee”) shall, in accordance with section 11232 of such Act, exercise the powers and functions of the Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency for the District of Columbia (hereafter referred to as the “Agency”) relating to sex offender registration (as granted to the Agency under any District of Columbia law) only upon the Trustee’s certification that the Trustee is able to assume such powers and functions.

(2) AUTHORITY OF METROPOLITAN POLICE DEPARTMENT.—During the period that begins on the date of the enactment of the Sex Offender Registration Emergency Act of 1999 and ends on the date the Trustee makes the certification described in paragraph (1), the Metropolitan Police Department of the District of Columbia shall have the authority to carry out any powers and functions relating to sex offender registration that are granted to the Agency or to the Trustee under any District of Columbia law.

SEC. 168. (a) PROHIBITION ON FUNDS FOR NEW OPIC PROJECTS

SEC. 585. None of the funds appropriated in this Act may be used by the Overseas Private Investment Corporation except to fulfill obligations, guarantees, and agreements existing before the enactment of this Act.

H.R. 2506
Offered by: Mr. Brown of Ohio
AMENDMENT No. 13. Page 7, line 10, after the dollar amount, insert the following: “(increased by $5,000,000)”.

H.R. 2506
Offered by: Mr. Brown of Ohio
AMENDMENT No. 13. Page 7, line 10, after the dollar amount, insert the following: “(reduced by $5,000,000)”.

H.R. 2506
Offered by: Mr. Burton of Indiana
AMENDMENT No. 14. Page 116, after line 5, insert the following:

SEC. _ None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available in this Act in title II under the heading “DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE” may be made available to the Government of India.

H.R. 2506
Offered by: Mr. Burton of Indiana
AMENDMENT No. 15. Page 116, after line 5, insert the following:

SEC. _ None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available in this Act in title II under the heading “DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE” may be made available to the Government of India.

H.R. 2506
Offered by: Mr. Burton of Indiana
AMENDMENT No. 16. Page 116, after line 5, insert the following:

SEC. _ Funds appropriated or otherwise made available in this Act in title II under the heading “DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE” for India may only be made available through nongovernmental organizations.

H.R. 2506
Offered by: Mr. Campbell
AMENDMENT No. 17. Page 15, line 7, after the dollar amount insert “(reduced by $10,000,000)”.

Page 15, line 11, after the dollar amount insert “(reduced by $20,000,000)”.

H.R. 2506
Offered by: Mr. Campbell
AMENDMENT No. 18. Page 32, line 5, after the dollar amount insert “(reduced by $8,000,000)”.

Page 33, line 16, after the dollar amount insert “(increased by $8,000,000)”.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE
July 29, 1999
The House met at 9 a.m.
The Chaplain, the Reverend James David Ford, D.D., offered the following prayer:

We recognize, O God, that as we focus on our communities and our world there are voices of anger and acts of violence. Yet, we know too that there are voices of singing and acts of kindness and love. We know there is pain and we know there is joy, there is enmity and there is reconciliation.

Teach us, gracious God, so to number our days that our mouths will speak of wisdom and faith and our deeds will be of justice and righteousness.

Bless all Your people, O God, this day and every day, we pray.

Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day’s proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LAHOOD) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. LAHOOD led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate by Mr. Lundregan, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate had passed with an amendment in which the concurrence of the House is requested, a bill of the House of the following title:

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair will entertain 1-minute requests at the end of today’s business.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to clause 12 of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess for 5 minutes.

Accordingly (at 9 o’clock and 5 minutes a.m.), the House stood in recess for 5 minutes.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment in which the concurrence as follows:

(1) the committee of conference recommend a conference substitute which—
(A) includes a requirement that background checks be conducted on all firearms sales at gun shows as to effectively preclude criminals and other prohibited purchasers (e.g., murderers, rapists, child molesters, fugitives from justice, illegal aliens, stalkers, and batterers) from obtaining firearms from non-licensed persons and federally licensed firearms dealers at gun shows;
(B) does not include any measure that would weaken the effectiveness of background checks currently conducted on individuals seeking to purchase a firearm from a federally licensed firearms dealer;
(C) does not include any measure that would otherwise weaken or eliminate any other provision of Federal firearms law or regulation; and
(D) includes provisions which would authorize funding for school resource officers and school violence prevention programs, including school counselors;
(2) all meetings of the committee of conference
(A) be open to the public and to the print and electronic media;
(B) be held in venues selected to maximize the capacity for attendance of the public and the media; and
(C) be held during reasonable hours;
(3) the committee of conference allow sufficient opportunity for all members of the committee of conference to offer and debate amendments at all meetings of the committee of conference; and
(4) the committee of conference recommend a conference substitute before Congress adjourns for the August recess so that Congress can pass reasonable gun safety measures before children return to school.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS) will be recognized for 30 minutes, and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. HYDE) will be recognized for 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS).

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. HYDE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CONYERS. I yield to the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. HYDE. Mr. Speaker, I want to respond to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS) that I have no objection to the instructions proposed by the gentleman from Michigan and we will accept them.

I just have one caveat, and that is putting time constraints on this may make it more difficult to do our work. We will do our best. It would be in an ideal world that we could finish this next week.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, I say to the chairman, it is not binding, that we are going to do our best to accomplish that.

Mr. HYDE. Mr. Speaker, as disappointed as I have been about the senseless delays that have prevented this Congress from sending to the President’s desk reasonable and moderate gun safety measures, I am pleased that we are finally ready to appoint conferees.

(9) 0915

On August 16, in just a few weeks, the children who attended Columbine High School in Littleton, Colorado, will be returning to school. It has been over 3 months since the tragedy in Columbine occurred. But because of the delaying tactics by the National Rifle Association and its allies, we have only 1 week to settle the gun safety issues before we adjourn for the summer recess.

We should not delay longer. How can we do nothing when 13 children are killed as a result of gun violence in this Nation every single day?

Nine people were shot to death in Atlanta, Georgia, yesterday, and 12 were wounded. We do not know all the facts, but this was clearly a disturbed man who should not own a gun. We need a congressional system of background checks to keep this kind of person from buying a gun. We need to plug the loopholes.

We still have time to make this back-to-school season free from worries about gun violence for our Nation’s children and their parents.

Kids should not have unsupervised access to guns. Teachers and parents should know that their children are carrying books, pencils and paper in their backpacks, not guns.

No dangerous criminal should be allowed to buy a gun at a gun show. That is all that we are asking for.

My motion to instruct conferees is simple:

Number one, it says that a conference report should include measures that prevent criminals from getting guns. At a minimum, a convicted, raging or batterer should not be able to buy a gun at a gun show. It should not matter whether a murderer tries to buy a gun from a licensed or an unlicensed dealer. The murderer should not get the gun in common sense.

Number two, it says that a conference report should not weaken current gun laws. After the tragedies in Littleton, Colorado, and Conyers, Georgia, American parents cried out for measures that do more to protect their kids from gun violence. How can we as a Congress do less?

Number three, it says that a conference report should provide more school resource officers and counselors for our schools. We need to prevent gun violence in schools before it happens. We need to give teachers, school administrators, and parents the tools they need to make schools safer.

Number four, it says that we need to have a conference report that this House should be ashamed of, so much of the House debate on gun safety took place in the dead of night while American families were sleeping and unaware that new loopholes would give more criminals access to guns. That was wrong, it was then, and we must never let that happen again. The NRA and its allies should not be allowed to hide any longer.

Mr. Speaker, the young people are going back to school. It is time for this Congress to get back to work and pass moderate, reasonable gun safety legislation. With nearly 5,000 of our children being killed by gun violence this year, we certainly cannot afford to put this legislation on hold any longer.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HYDE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the motion to instruct conferees. The gentleman from Michigan’s motion makes several points that I know we all agree with, and hence we need no instruction to do. But I am concerned that the motion would also, or might also constrain the work of the conferees in such a way that might well be counterproductive.

The first instruction in the motion is that conferees craft the conference report in such a way that no criminal will be able to buy a gun, at a gun show or anywhere else. I know of no dispute on this point.

The second instruction in the motion is that the conferees not weaken any existing gun laws. I can assure you this side intends for that to happen. In fact, a cursory review of H.R. 1501 as passed by the House shows that the intent of this body is to strengthen the laws that punish the illegal possession and use of a gun. We do not need to be instructed to avoid doing the opposite.

The third point raised by the motion, to ensure that the conference report addresses the issue of school resource officers that can be raised at conference certainly, and I am not aware of any controversy on this point that requires a vote of the full House at this time. I am certain we can address it at the conference itself satisfactorily.

Mr. Speaker, if this motion instructed us to do only that which we intend to do anyway, it would be superfluous and not needed. But I am troubled by one aspect of it, and, that is, the time constraints. We all want to move with expedition. There have been inordinate delays in getting this to this point. But we all know the reasons for that. This is a very contentious and volatile issue and there are diverse interests tugging and pulling us in different directions. And so I expect this to be a difficult but certainly impossible conference. But I am fully confident that we can emerge with a conference report that can command the support of the majority of this House and a majority of the other body.

I also note that next week is going to involve a number of important measures that will be brought to the floor of this House and that of the other body, all seeking to be reconciled and resolved before the August recess. The interruptions that votes on these measures would cause to a conference, were one to be held, might be enough to prevent us from finishing within a week. Simply put, next week is not the wisest time to be devoting for the work of this conference to be completed. But we are going to try. We are going to give it our very best effort.

And so I support the motion to instruct conferees, and I ask my colleagues to support it. I give you in return my assurance that I intend to complete the work of the conference as quickly and as effectively as possible, while still doing all the work expected of us, in as thoughtful and thorough a manner as possible.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

July 30, 1999

WAMP, CALLAHAN, ROGERS, HALL of Texas, TAYLOR of Mississippi, HULSFORD, MCINTYRE, PITTS, SISKY, WISE, RAHALL, BILIRAKIS, DEAL of Georgia, SPENCER, COBLE, RYUN of Kansas, SUNUNU, ARCHER, ARMEY, MOLLOHAN, TALENT, DELAY, SOUER, MURTHA, GRAHAM, and BARTLETT of Maryland changed their vote from “yea” to “nay.”

Mr. ROEMER changed his vote from “nay” to “yea.”

So the motion to instruct was agreed to.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Stated for:

Mr. EHLERS. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall No. 354, I was inadvertently detained. Had I been present, I would have voted, “yea.”

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall No. 354, I was inadvertently detained. Had I been present, I would have voted “yea.”

Mr. DEUTSCH. Mr. Speaker, I was unavoidably absent from the Chamber today during rollcall vote No. 354. Had I been present I would have voted “yea.”

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. LAHOOD). Without objection, the Chair appoints the following conferees:

From the Committee on the Judiciary, for consideration of the House bill and the Senate amendment, and modifications committed to conference: Messrs. HYDE, MCCOLLUM, GEKAS, COBLE, SMITH of Texas, CANADY of Florida, BARR of Georgia, CONYERS, FRANK of Massachusetts, SCOTT, Berman and Ms. LOPFREY.

Provided, that Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas is appointed in lieu of Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts for consideration of sections 741, 1501, 1505, 1594–95, and titles V, VI, and IX of the Senate amendment.

Provided, that Mr. MEEHAN is appointed in lieu of Mr. Berman for consideration of sections 741, 1501, 1505, 1594–95, and titles V, VI, and IX of the Senate amendment.

From the Committee on Education and the Workforce, for consideration of the House bill, and the Senate amendment (except sections 741, 1501, 1505, 1594–95, and titles V, VI and IX), and modifications committed to conference: Messrs. GOODLING, PETRI, CASTLE, GREENWOOD, DEMINT, CLAY, KILDEE, and Mrs. MCCARTHY of New York.

APPPOINTMENT OF MEMBERS TO BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF HARRY S. TRUMAN SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, and pursuant to section 5(b) of Public Law 93–642 (20 U.S.C. 2004(b)), the Chair announces the Speaker’s appointment of the following Members of the House as members of the Board of Trustees of the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation:

Mrs. EMERSON, Missouri and Mr. SKELTON, Missouri.

There was no objection.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will now entertain 1 minutes until approximately 10:45 this morning.

WELCOME HOME TO THE MEMBERS OF THE RED HORSE SQUADRON

(Mr. GIBBONS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, on June 8, the Secretary of Defense, Bill Cohen, ordered three U.S. Air Force Red Horse Squadron combat engineer teams from Nellis Air Force Base to Albania.

Their mission was to execute critical road and bridge repairs in this war-torn region as part of NATO’s efforts to see a peaceful and safe return to a countless number of refugees.

Tonight will be a special evening at Nellis Air Force Base as many of these dedicated troops will be returning to their families and friends. Mr. Speaker, 61 members of the Red Horse Squadron will arrive on base tonight to a warm Nevada welcome.

This last spring, I had the opportunity to visit the Balkan region with some of my House colleagues and we were able to witness firsthand the enormous damage caused to the Kosovo region.

The task of removing land mines and repairing this region is an enormous challenge for our servicemen and women and continues to be to this date.

So on behalf of all Nevadans, let me say “welcome home” to the members of the Red Horse Squadron. I salute them for their valuable service to this country and to this effort.

As we continue to help these refugees back to their farmlands and homes, let us hope that all of our American troops will remain safe and return home in the very near future.
ATLANTA TRAGEDY GOOD EXAMPLE OF WHY WE NEED GUN CONTROL

(Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, this morning I wish to rise and offer our sympathy to the people of Atlanta, to those who have lost their loved ones and those who are now recovering in Atlanta's hospitals, to Mayor Campbell and the elected officials to which I know that, being the largest number of mass killings in the history of that city, this and yesterday were tragic days.

That is why I think this recent vote was most important. As we move toward conference to be able to establish this conference's and this Congress' position on protecting our youth and having a reasonable and rational response to gun violence in America, it is important to be able to have effective background checks.

What a tragedy that this individual, this alleged perpetrator had a background of violence; and, yet, he was allowed, until we get further facts, seemingly, to get guns.

This Nation must stand up against the proliferation of guns in this country fairly and responsibly. We must do it together. Republicans and Democrats. Mr. Speaker, I look forward to us saying to the American people enough is enough.

WHY IS TAX RELIEF A THREAT TO DEMOCRATS?

(Mr. SHIMKUS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, why is the idea of giving tax relief to taxpayers so upsetting to many Democrats?

Could it be that Washington would rather have more money to spend, and the politicians on that side would rather spend more money?

Why is it that Democrats refuse to acknowledge that the Republicans, the Republicans, have passed lockbox legislation to protect Social Security and Medicare while Democrats in the other body have blocked Social Security lockbox legislation?

Why do Democrats mischaracterize the effect of the Republican tax relief package on our national debt, ignoring the $2 trillion in debt reduction that we provide for?

Why do Democrats refuse to admit that the Republican proposal allocates $2 for Social Security and Medicare for every $1 in tax relief?

Why is the new Washington spending not a threat to fiscal discipline where-as tax relief is?

Why do Democrats call for higher spending and attack Republicans as extremists for cutting spending while at the same time attacking Republicans for failing to exercise fiscal discipline? Why?

SUPPORT EDUCATION SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, last year, the President vetoed the Education Savings Accounts bill that passed both Houses of Congress.

The American people have clear evidence of how Republicans have been saying for years now. The Republican Party is the party of reform. The other party is the party that will defend the education special interests at any price.

One party introduces real reforms with proven results. The other party talks a great game. But when it comes to reform, well, talk is about as far as it goes. If it is a choice between reform and the status quo, they pick the status quo every time.

Offering parents who desire nothing more than to send their children to a good school or at least to a better school is what this is about. Offering parents tax-free savings accounts that can be used for extra tutoring, special education needs, supplementary education materials, or a school in a better part of town is what this legislation is all about.

I urge both Democrats and Republicans who think that these are worthwhile goals to help parents do what is best for their kids. Support our tax bill which includes education savings accounts.

CHAIRMAN GREENSPAN SAYS "MOVING ON TAX FRONT MAKES A GOOD DEAL OF SENSE"

(Mr. WELDON of Florida asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WELDON of Florida. Mr. Speaker, Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan recently testified in a way that my colleagues will never ever hear quoted by the other side. In fact, none of the mainstream newspapers appear to see fit to publish this portion of his remarks, save, of course, for the Wall Street Journal editorial page.

Chairman Greenspan said that he would delay tax cutting unless, and here is the key part, "unless, as I've indicated many times, it appears that the surplus is going to become a lighting rod for major increases in outlays. That's the worst of all possible worlds, from a fiscal policy point of view, and that, under all conditions, should be avoided.''

In other words, Mr. Speaker, Chairman Greenspan is saying get the money out of Washington before the liberals spend it. Give it back to the people.

He goes on from there to say, "moving on the tax front makes a good deal of sense to me." Those are the actual words of Chairman Greenspan, not the spin of the White House or the distortions of those on the other side who are forgetting to include the critical portion of the Federal Reserve Chairman's remarks.

REPUBLICAN TAX RELIEF PACKAGE BENEFITS AMERICANS

(Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland. Mr. Speaker, what would the Republican tax relief package mean to Americans? It would mean that, for many Americans who cannot obtain health insurance through their employers, obtaining health insurance would become easier.

It would mean that more seniors would be able to pass on the family farm or the family business to their children. It would mean that people who save for their future and for their children would be able to get a greater return on their savings.

It would mean that ordinary Americans would see their paychecks, little bit, giving them more options, more choices about working, working overtime, or meeting the family budget.

It would mean that paying off those credit card debts would be a little easier. It would mean that married couples would not be penalized so heavily for being married.

Lower taxes means that people would have more control over their lives, over their time, and over their futures.

With a $3 trillion surplus over the next several years, is that really such a terrifying concept?

TRIGGER MECHANISM ALLOWS RESPONSIBLE TAX CUTS

(Mr. KUYKENDALL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KUYKENDALL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my strong support for the trigger mechanism that we put in the House tax cut bill. This trigger provides a safeguard from incurring massive deficits to finance the tax cuts. It is a simple provision.

If interest paid on the national debt does not go down, then across-the-board tax cuts are delayed until the next year.

It recognizes that budget projections are just that, projections; and if the projections are overestimated, the tax cut will be deferred, avoiding additional debt.

There is no question that Americans are overtaxed and deserve to keep more of their hard-earned dollars. But tax relief, no matter how desirable, must be provided responsibly. That is what the House tax bill accomplishes.

It is critical that this trigger mechanism stays in the legislation as it comes out of the conference committee.

Tax cuts must be dependent upon tax reduction. I urge the House conferees to keep this responsible provision. Not only is it fiscally responsible, it is plain common sense.

TRIGGER MECHANISM IN TAX BILL PROVIDES FOR TAX RELIEF AND DEBT REDUCTION

(Mr. SMITH of Michigan asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, on the tax cut and on the debt reduction, we are interested in both. We developed a trigger last week when we passed our tax bill that accomplishes the assurance that we are going to pay down the debt. The Senate is putting in a provision in the tax bill that it sunsets after 10 years.

Additionally, we are working on a new trigger that is based on revenues. It says, in effect, that, if the revenues are not there, we are not going to have these kinds of tax cuts.

So the first portion that comes in from increased revenues would be to expand spending. The next portion would be to pay down the debt. What is left over from that would be additional tax cuts.

Let me just give my colleagues a fact that is interesting in terms of the overzealous taxation. We are talking about doing away with 10 percent of the income tax. If we did away with all of the personal income tax, revenues coming into the Federal Government would still be greater, larger than they were in 1990. That is how fast government is growing. That is how we are sucking the taxes out of Americans' pockets.

Let us leave more of that money in the pocket of the people that earned it.

PEOPLE WHO PAY TAXES ARE WEALTHY, ACCORDING TO THE DEMOCRATS

(Mr. HEPFLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. HEPFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have never once heard a Democrat talk about who pays the taxes. I have never heard one single Democrat cite this remarkable statistic: The top 50 percent of income earners pay 96 percent of the taxes, while the bottom 50 percent pay only 4 percent of the taxes.

Now, let me repeat that, and let me be a little more precise. The top 50 percent of income earners, according to the latest IRS data, pay exactly 95.7 percent of the total Federal income taxes. The bottom 50 percent, those with incomes below $23,160, the bottom 50 percent pay only 4.34 percent of the total Federal income tax in the country. In other words, low income earners pay almost no Federal taxes at all.

That is why any tax cut is immediately labeled tax cut for the wealthy. Even the $500 per child tax credit that passed 2 years ago, which was available to all families except the wealthy, was called tax cuts for the wealthy by the other side.

If one is a taxpayer, Democrats think one is wealthy, and one should not have one's tax reduced under any circumstances.

GODSPEED TO REV. DOUGLAS ZIMMERMANN AND HIS YOUTH MISSION TEAM

(Mrs. ROS-LEHTINEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, the Reverend Douglas Zimmerman of St. Thomas Episcopal Parish in Miami, Florida has always been known for his unselfish giving and his invaluable service to his parish and community.

Among his many gifts are the precedents he sets and the ways in which he leads children by example into following Biblical teachings.

This Monday, August 2, Reverend Zimmerman will, once again, instruct students to give of themselves as he organizes a group of seven dedicated students and four adults who have volunteered part of their summer vacation to lend a helping hand to underprivileged families in Central America.

During this mission trip, Reverend Zimmerman and his dedicated team of 11 will travel to Honduras, a country which was ravaged by Hurricane Mitch, to establish places of refuge for families which have been left desolate.

They will bring light to a world of darkness by providing children and their families with the basic necessities which we often take for granted. During their 9-day trip, the mission team will have the unique opportunity of building a House of the Lord, a church where individuals, families, and entire communities can gather.

In light of his many contributions, we congratulate Reverend Zimmerman and St. Thomas Episcopal Parish youth mission team, that they will have a fortunate journey this summer.

TAXES AND REGULATORY COSTS AMOUNT TO ONE-HALF OF AMERICANS' INCOMES

(Mr. DUNCAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DUNCAN. Mr. Speaker, the national media has created some very false impressions about the tax cut legislation passed by the House.

First, the tax cut amounts to less than 30 percent of the projected surpluses over the 10-year period of the bill.

Second, in separate legislation, we have set aside more than 70 percent of the surpluses to help pay down the national debt and in a lockbox to meet future needs of Social Security and Medicare.

Third, we added language that says that tax cuts will not kick in if the surpluses do not come in as projected.

Fourth, this is a tax cut spread over 10 years, with the cuts during the first 5 years amounting to only 1/2 percent of Federal revenues over that period.

The tax cuts are very moderate, and the Republicans in the House have set aside more than 70 percent of the future surpluses for debt reduction, Social Security, and Medicare.

Mr. Speaker, the average taxpayer pays almost 40 percent of his or her income in taxes now and another 10 percent in government regulatory costs that are passed on to the consumer in the form of higher prices. One-half of everybody's income is too much. Let us give a little bit of it back.

RAISE MINIMUM WAGE

(Mr. CROWLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CROWLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to highlight an important issue that is currently being neglected by the House, the dire need for a raise in the minimum wage for our Nation's workers.

Both sides of the aisle recognize the advantages of new legislation. For this reason I question our delay in moving forward. Our hesitation is leaving cupboards empty as American families struggle unnecessarily.

Today's minimum wage leaves families at 19 percent below the equivalent 1979 poverty level. There is no excuse for this abhorrent fact to continue into the year 2000.

An increase in the minimum wage gives us the unique opportunity to give gifts of security and comfort to the American people. I believe that by stalling on this pertinent issue, we are directly denying our constituents the chance to live the American Dream.

Opponents of increasing the minimum wage would have us believe an increase in the minimum wage would cause employees to lay off workers; that it would hurt the poorest workers and destroy the economy. But I ask, did any of these things happen when we raised the minimum wage to $5.15 in 1998? As our economy is still strong and unemployment is low, clearly none of these negative predictions came to be after the legislation went into effect.

Mr. Speaker, I insist we revisit the issue of raising the minimum wage. The American worker is depending on all of us.

EXTENDING SYMPATHY TO CITIZENS OF ATLANTA

(Mr. ISAKSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ISAKSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today on behalf of all the Members of this Congress to extend our sympathy to the citizens of Atlanta, to the families of the victims in the tragedy that took place yesterday, and the prayers of this House for those that are in the hospitals recovering.

I also want to extend my gratitude to the hospitals of Grady, of Northside and St. Joseph’s, and to law enforcement in Atlanta and the EMT’s.

And I close by saying this. In the days ahead, all of us will seek to find something to blame in this tragedy. Today, in America, we all share the blame. Violence has become all too repetitive, all too often. It is time for us in this Congress, for those in the media, for everybody in all facets of our society to understand that violence has now permeated mainstream America, and we must begin to act to change the minds and hearts of Americans, or all that we have loved and treasured will begin to be broken down no matter how great and strong our economy.

REPUBLICANS PUT THIS EARTH TO CUT TAXES

(Mr. CHABOT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CHABOT. Mr. Speaker, I heard a criticism the other day of the way that Republicans talk about our budget proposal that I think has some merit.

The Republican budget proposal contains three major elements: Saving Social Security and Medicare, paying down the national debt, and tax relief. However, this critic pointed out that Republicans are talking almost exclusively about tax cuts and not emphasizing that we are also saving Social Security and Medicare and paying down the national debt. I think that criticism is valid, but I think I know why that is the case, too.

Republicans are just so excited about the tax cuts that some of them forget to talk about the other vital elements of the budget proposal. Let us face it, Republicans were put on this earth to cut taxes. We are the tax-cutting party, because we believe that people should have more power and control over their own lives and that the government should have less.

Let us be clear once and for all. The Republican budget proposal stands for saving Social Security and Medicare, paying down the national debt and, yes, also cutting the American people’s taxes.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SHIMKUS). Pursuant to clause 12 of rule 1, the Chair declares the House in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Accordingly (at 10 o’clock and 18 minutes a.m.), the House stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

□ 1248

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. PEASE) at 12 o’clock and 48 minutes p.m.

APPOINTMENT AS MEMBERS OF BOARD OF VISITORS TO UNITED STATES AIR FORCE ACADEMY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, and pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 9355(a), the Chair announces the Speaker’s appointment of the following Members of the House to the Board of Visitors to the United States Air Force Academy:

Mr. THOMPSON, California and Mr. DICKS, Washington.

APPOINTMENT OF CONFEREES ON S. 900, FINANCIAL SERVICES ACT OF 1999

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to yield 15 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. DINNELL), the distinguished ranking member of the Committee on Commerce.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) and the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. LEACH) each will control 30 minutes.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to yield 15 minutes for the purpose of controlling time to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DINNELL), the distinguished ranking member of the Committee on Commerce.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) and the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. LEACH) each will control 30 minutes.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I offer a motion to instruct the conference.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) each will control 30 minutes.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to yield 15 minutes for the purpose of controlling time to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DINNELL), the distinguished ranking member of the Committee on Commerce.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) and the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. LEACH) each will control 30 minutes.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the motion be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) and the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. LEACH) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) each will control 30 minutes.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to yield 15 minutes for the purpose of controlling time to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DINNELL), the distinguished ranking member of the Committee on Commerce.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) and the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. LEACH) each will control 30 minutes.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume in making the motion.

I move that the motion to instruct be adopted by this House, Mr. Speaker. This bill is very important to American consumers for many reasons, particularly two.

It includes the important new financial privacy protections to ensure that financial institutions do not share private financial information with other companies. Consumers are tired of the barrage of phone and mail solicitations to which they are now subject and the careless use of their credit card and other private information which makes these solicitations possible. This bill would protect consumers against such practices and impose significant new obligations on financial institutions to protect consumer privacy.

This bill also contains strong community reinvestment provisions to ensure that consumers and communities receive fair and nondiscriminatory access to financial services in the new marketplace that is emerging.

Our motion, therefore, instructs the House conference with the Senate to insist on the strongest
Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the motion.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is very important to American consumers for two reasons. It includes important new financial privacy provisions to ensure that financial institutions do not share private financial information with other companies. Consumers are tired of the barrage of phone and mail solicitations to which they are now subject, and the careless use of their credit card and other private information which makes these solicitations possible. This bill would protect consumers against such practices and impose significant new obligations on financial institutions to protect consumer privacy. This bill also contains strong community reinvestment provisions to ensure that consumers and communities receive fair and non-discriminatory access to financial services in the new marketplace.

This motion therefore instructs the House conferees, in negotiations with the Senate, to insist on the strongest possible provisions on financial privacy, community reinvestment and non-discrimination, and medical privacy.

H.R. 10 contains strong financial privacy provisions which received virtually unanimous support, passing this House 427-1. Those provisions impose an affirmative obligation on all financial institutions to protect confidential information; require full disclosure of privacy policies and consumer rights to opt-out; direct regulators to establish standards for assuring the safety and confidentiality of financial records; prohibit the sharing of account numbers and access codes for marketing, including direct mail and e-mail marketing; permit consumers to block release of their private financial information for use in marketing; limit entities that receive financial information from reusing or reselling it to others; prohibit pretext calling and other deceptive means of obtaining private information; and provide for strong regulatory enforcement of privacy rights.

The Senate financial modernization bill—S. 900—contains only minimal privacy provisions regarding pretext calling. This motion instructs the House conferees to insist on the H.R. 10 provisions and the strongest consumer financial privacy protections possible.

Secondly, H.R. 10 contains strong community reinvestment provisions that ensure that publicly insured financial institutions equally and fairly serve all members of their communities in the new financial system that this bill otherwise creates. H.R. 10 ensures that community reinvestment laws remain relevant and viable in a more integrated financial services system. These provisions have enjoyed bipartisan support throughout this process.

Community reinvestment legislation was passed by Congress over twenty years ago to combat discrimination by publicly insured financial institutions and provide equal access for all Americans who qualify for home and small business loans and to community groups seeking loans to revitalize poor neighborhoods. H.R. 10 maintains the central importance of these laws in our financial services system. S.

900 contains three provisions which substantially weaken community reinvestment laws and render them virtually irrelevant in the changing financial marketplace. President Clinton has made it abundantly clear that he will veto any bill that contains the Senate provisions. In contrast, the Administration can strongly support the bill passed by the House and the community reinvestment provisions it contains. This motion instructs House conferees to insist on the strongest possible community reinvestment provisions, reflected in the House product.

Finally, H.R. 10 contains a provision authored by Congressman Ganske on medical privacy which the Administration, privacy groups, medical groups and many commentators argue contain substantial loopholes. In their current form, these provisions in fact represent less protection than what is available under existing law, and preclude strong privacy provisions. The Administration strongly opposes the Ganske provision. This motion instructs House conferees to insist that any medical privacy provisions give consumers the strongest medical privacy protections possible, prevent financial institutions from disclosing or making unrelated uses of health, medical and genetic information without consumer consent, and therefore recede to the Senate.

I urge my colleagues to support the motion.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

First, Mr. Speaker, let me say I intend to yield 15 minutes to the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE) as a representative of the Committee on Commerce at the appropriate point.

Mr. Speaker, I agree with, in fact, the first two provisions of the motion to instruct and will reluctantly accede to the third, but I am compelled to note that the House override of the medical privacy provisions that this motion to instruct seeks to strike from the bill presents one of the most ironic circumstances that I have dealt with as a committee chairman.

The same Members who have quite properly insisted on placing privacy protections for consumers of financial services in the bill are now strenuously insisting on deleting from it a provision that would offer consumers powerful new protections in an area where there are the greatest sensitivities to privacy, that relating to personal health and medical records.

I continue to believe that the medical privacy provision championed by the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE) and others has been widely misunderstood both by Members of this body and outside groups that have expressed certain skepticism.

Here let me be clear. The provisions would block the sharing of the individually identifiable customer, health, medical, and genetic information by an insurance company either within an affiliated structure or with outside third parties unless the customer expressly consents to such disclosure with a limited number of exceptions related to medical research or normal and customary underwriting in business functions.

It should be emphasized that the Ganske language does nothing to undermine the more comprehensive medical privacy proposals being developed by other congressional committees or by the Clinton administration. The provision plainly states that it will not take effect or shall be overridden if and when Congress enacts comprehensive medical privacy legislation satisfying the requirements of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996.

Moreover, as both the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE) and I made clear as legislative intent in House debate on the subject, the provision in no way undermines the authority of the Secretary of Health and Human Services to promulgate regulations in this area if the Congress fails to meet its statutory mandate by August 21 of this year.

In short, the provision was carefully designed to supplement rather than supplant or supersede other private and public sector legal and institutional barriers to the sharing of private health and medical information.

As I have repeatedly stated, I was prepared to work at conference to further clarify the bill's text. The House HHS rulemaking would not be preempted. I also agreed to seek to remedy any imperfections in language that might realistically be deemed to compromise patient confidentiality. However, in light of the controversy generated by the provision and because I would like to proceed in as bipartisan a fashion as possible in producing a financial modernization bill that the President can sign into law, I am prepared not to fight instruction that the House override the Senate by the Ganske approach is based upon an underlying premise that is frail and upon outside advocacy that may be misdirected.

Accordingly, it is my hope that those Members and outside associations that have so vehemently opposed addressing the issue of health and medical privacy in this bill will re-examine their positions. Little, after all, would seem more self-apparently appropriate than to prohibit sharing of medical records within or outside financial services companies without patient consent.

Future congressional administrative actions to fashion law and regulation in this complex area will no doubt be modeled in large part on the provision that this instruction is designed to delete. But here the irony should further be underscored that HHS discretion, which the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE) and I are totally willing to protect, in any event...
only goes to health insurance. So what is happening here is that the motion to instruct is knocking out legislative protection for all medical privacy without the prospect that privacy protections for life and disability insurance can be addressed through administrative action.

After all the contentions on the minority side that privacy protections should be in the bill, the argument now is that they should not be in the bill. I want bipartisanship and administrative support for this legislation so I am willing to accede, but let me stress not without a degree of incredulity.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 3 minutes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman seek to claim the time allocated to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DINGELL)?

Mr. MARKEY. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the gentleman from Massachusetts is recognized.

There was no objection.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the LaFalce motion to instruct the House conference. With this legislation the Congress will be breaking down the Glass-Steagall walls that long have restricted limited affiliations between banks, securities firms and insurance companies and allow these financial services institutions to merge and to affiliate with one another.

I support this effort. The gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DINGELL) supports this effort. This is not really what we are debating here today. The great truth, however, of finance in the information age is that it is the telecommunication wires that have re-shaped the financial services industry. It is the telecommunication revolution which has made possible this global financial revolution. It is this telecommunication revolution which makes it possible for the first time to really bring together all of these various services in a way that can serve individuals and nations much more efficiently than they ever have in the past.

But, as I have said before, there is a Dickensian quality to this wire. It is the best of wires, and it is the worst of wires simultaneously. Yes, it can make the banking and insurance and brokerage industries more efficient, but yes, at the same time it can also complicate the privacy of every single family in the United States.

The LaFalce motion to instruct says that the conference shall ensure, consistent with the scope of the conference, that consumers have the strongest consumer financial privacy protections possible, including protections against the misuse of confidential information and inappropriate marketing practices. The conferences must also ensure that consumers receive notice and the right to say no when a financial institution discloses a consumer’s nonpublic personal information for use in telemarketing, direct marketing, or other marketing through electronic mail. Now I ask my colleagues what is wrong with that?

What is wrong with that?

Second, the motion instructs the House conference to ensure that consumers have the strongest medical privacy protections possible and thereby prevent financial institutions from disclosing or making unrelated uses of health and medical and genetic information without the consent of their customers and strike the flawed Ganske language that would weaken protections under current State or federal laws or regulations.

Finally, the motion by the gentleman from New York, the LaFalce motion to instruct conference to ensure that consumers enjoy the benefits of comprehensive financial modernization.

These are critical issues that need to be properly addressed. There are tremendous opportunities for innovation and for entrepreneurship in finances, banking moves online. But we have a difference that is developing between the privacy keepers, on the one hand, and the information reapers on the other.

The CEO of Capital One Financial recently noted, credit cards are not banking, they are information. And the data miners fully intend to exploit their access to and control of consumer personal information for fun and for profit.

We believe that is wrong. We believe that the LaFalce instructions are critical to ensuring that, as we move forward with all of the new efficiencies in the financial services world, that we also ensure that we are protecting individuals against those that might seek to take advantage of it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GANSKE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I think there has been a lot of misinformation, misunderstanding about the medical privacy provisions that we passed here in the House. I will just briefly go over those.

Those medical privacy provisions would not preempt State privacy laws, they would not obstruct future State privacy laws, they would not allow insurance companies to sell medical information to drug companies, they would not block the Secretary of HHS from issuing provisions under HIPAA which interestingly, as the chairman of the Committee on Banking and Financial Services pointed out, is limited to health insurance, whereas the provisions on medical privacy in the bill that we passed here in the House goes for all insurance. So HIPAA is included in HIPAA. And it would say that, unless a customer specifically agreed, an insurer could not give any medical information to its affiliates, much less any third party; and I think that is important.

I think the bill would be better with that provision in there.

Now, there has been a lot of controversy about some of the exceptions in that provision, and I have shared with all of the colleagues in the House, Republican and Democrats, a “Dear Colleague” that goes into some detail on this, which I will insert into the Record at this time.

DEAR COLLEAGUE: The medical privacy provision in H.R. 10 restricts disclosures of customer health and medical information by insurers.

Some concerns have been raised about the exceptions to the opt-in policy. I would like to take this opportunity to define some of the terms found in the language that is being circulated regarding these provisions.

Under current law, an insurance company obtains medical record information only with an individual’s authorization. The medical privacy provision in H.R. 10 relates to how an insurance company shares the data after it has acquired it. The provision states that insurers can only disclose this information with an individual’s consent except for limited, legitimate business purposes. These provisions would apply to all insurers who are currently engaged in the insurance business, and who have millions of contracts in force right now. Without these exceptions, these insurers would no longer be able to serve their customers.

The exceptions include ordinary functions that insurance companies are already doing in their day-to-day business. Such operations include:

Underwriting: Insurers use health information to underwrite. That is, to pay for insurance is based in part on an individual’s state of health. Insurers gather medical information about applicants during the application and underwriting process. Underwriting is fundamental to the business of insurance. During the underwriting process, an insurer may use third parties, such as labs and health care providers to gather health information and/or to analyze health information. The insurer may also use third parties to perform all or part of the underwriting process and must disclose information to these third parties, such as doctors or third party administrators, so that they can enter into the contract in the first place.

Reinsuring Policies: Insurance companies sometimes assume a “risk” and then further spread the risk by “reinsuring” a policy. While often a “reinsurance” arrangement is made at the initiation of the contract, there are also times when reinsurance occurs after the policy is issued. The reinsurer needs access to the first insurer’s underwriting practices and actuarial data as part of its due diligence. Without this language, the wheels of the reinsurance industry could literally grind to a halt.

Account Administration, Processing Premium Payments, and Health Insurance Claims: In order to pay a claim for benefits, the insurer has to process the claim. This is strictions as the original company.

company will have to abide by the same reall insurance companies, the purchasing their customers by forging new business turned to the company so that a company in these activities. It would be impractical if

No one has a crystal ball. A company does or Sale of Any Insurance Related Business:

ranging, conduct internal audits to ensure the in-

Risk Control: Credit card companies and indicate that there may be something wrong, writing process, an insurer may conduct physician. For example, during the under-to release information to an individual's

... of the matter or to the insurance ample, to its law firm to undertake an inves-representation, it is highly unlikely that less for insurance than smokers. On the permit the disclosure of medical information perfor for insurance than smokers. On the

it is only the House bill that offers pretext-calling and some other mat-

ity reinvestment, the House bill actu-

Similarly, the provisions that deal

are the very reasons an individual signs up abilities to write checks or use credit cards to pay for medical co-pay-open the door for much fraud and abuse or actions. However, if this exception were not treated differently from other types of trans-

For example, nonsmokers usually pay for a policy in the first place. Companies may have to disclose health information to a state insurance commissioner so that the commissioner can determine if the company is complying with state law banning unfair trade practices. A company may have information that would help the police in an investigation where they suspect an individual has murdered someone in order to collect life insurance benefits. This language is necessary for these and other important public interests.

I hope that this brief explanation of the exceptions to the strong "opt-in" provisions of the medical privacy provisions of H.R. 10 clears up some misperceptions. During floor debate, I said I would work to include explicit language stating that this provision does not prohibit the secretary of HHS from issuing regulations on medical privacy as specified by HIPAA.

Furthermore, I hope consensus can be achieved on a comprehensive medical privacy bill. However, I remain convinced that different financial activities entities that combine banking, securities and insurance are created by H.R. 10, it is important that personal health data can be shared inside, or outside, the company with the patient's permission. That is what the Ganske Amendment did.

If you need additional information, please contact Heather Eilers at 5–4426.

Sincerely,

Greg Ganske,
Member of Congress.

Mr. Speaker. I think that this is a very important bill. And I do not think this bill should rise or fall on this issue. Clearly, there are a number of privacy groups that have thought that the provisions were not as complete.

On the other hand, many of the insurance companies we have received communications from have said that they are more than what they are comfortable with.

So at this point in time, I would agree with the chairman of the Committee on Banking and Financial Services, and I would accede to his decision in terms of the motion to instruct. I hope that we are able to come up with a comprehensive bill on medical privacy. Our committee will be working on that. I regret that without this provision I think the bill is not as strong as it should be, but I think that we will be working on this in other venues.

Mr. Speaker. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LaFalce. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. Vento).

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. I rise in support of the LaFalce motion to continue the debate.

Mr. Speaker, the fact is that the Senate and House bills, with regard to financial modernization, are signifi-

antly different. While they both embrace financial modernization and extend many authorities to the insurence securities and banking entities, bringing about really a revolution in terms of the way we engage our financial services, the fact is that the fact is that the House bill offers strong, new consumer protections that are critically necessary in that electronic world, including the privacy provisions that have been written by the Committee on Banking and Financial Services and the Committee on Commerce and strongly supported on a bipartisan basis, at least on the floor.

The fact is that those provisions ought to be retained in terms of this conference. I think that the House can empower the conference by, in fact, supporting this motion and giving us a strong vote and a reendorsement in defiance to the Senate's position, which has very few protections or hardly ad-resses this basic issue. They do have pretext-calling and some other matters, but we need the power of the House behind us in conference, and a vote on the motion.

Similarly, the provisions that deal with service to consumers and community reinvestment, the House bill actually expands on those powers and maintains them, while the Senate bill actually backs off and would reduce the effectiveness of financial institutions in terms of serving their community, taking away the responsibilities, and these are basically the consumer gains.

On the issue of medical privacy, obviously there is a great deal of concern here. Many are happy with the bird in hand and the language in the bill and think that it can be corrected; others are looking at two birds in the bush and think that they can actually gain more through the administrative procedures and through a separate act in terms of action. I would just point out that most of the issue with medical privacy and the way we approach it has done is what is called actuarial, and patients do. The fact of the matter is we need to address insurance companies, we need to address life insurance, we need to address disability. The facts I think are somewhat clouded today as to what that affects.

So I think people will keep somewhat of an open mind. I think we are seeking a common cause in terms of the greatest privacy, the greatest medical privacy that can be written. I just think it is important to point out with the whole issue of privacy that we are with financial institutions going to have the strongest statement in terms of law with regards to privacy that exist in any entities, any businesses in this Nation, including commercial and many other businesses, and the Internet itself, incidentally, which has few, if any restrictions on it, and even there, the regulators, which some had sought to empower, are offering voluntary compliance as adequate.

President, it is important to get the minds of consumers as they see the technological advances eroding barriers, linking heretofore random data, shrinking the world, and sharing their personal profiles with others.

In these post-H.R. 10, post-Know Your Customer days, we have become, finally, a very sensitized Congress. With every day it becomes clearer that sensitive data running on data: customer data. We collect, disseminate, study, share and peddle profiles and preferences of people to run companies, enforce laws, and sell products. But what voice and choice does any consumer have over their own personal and public data? What is the right balance of free information flow vs. privacy protection? Should the only choice a consumer has be that she/he does not do business with a company or a group of companies because she/he doesn’t like their privacy policies?

This House passed strong privacy provisions when it passed H.R. 10 earlier this month. This motion to instruct would serve as a notice to the House Conferences and the Senate’s Conferences that we will be looking for the strongest privacy provisions for American consumers. As passed by the House, the bill affords consumers with new important safeguards for their financial privacy, putting banks, credit unions, securities and insurance firms at the forefront of many other U.S. sectors.

H.R. 10 provides strong affirmative provisions of law to respect and provide for a consumer’s financial privacy and to have a privacy policy that meets federal standards to protect the security and confidentiality of the customer’s personal information. H.R. 10 prohibits the sharing of consumer account numbers for the purposes of third party marketing. This protection applies to all consumers and requires no action on their part. Consumers can “opt-out” of sharing of information with third parties in a workable fashion that protects consumers’ privacy while allowing the processing of services they request. And importantly, regulatory and enforcement authority is provided to the specific regulators of each type of financial institutions.

H.R. 10 specifically prohibits the repackaging of consumer information. Data can not be resold or shared by third parties or profiled or repackaged to avoid privacy protections. Further, consumers must be notified of the financial institution’s privacy policy at the time that they open an account and at least annually thereafter.

These are giant steps forward. These common sense, hopefully workable provisions were added to the substantial protections already included in H.R. 10 that prohibit obtaining customer information through false pretenses. H.R. 10 specifically prohibits what is currently in law for consumers to protect their privacy.

Mr. Speaker, what is clear is that a law that requires consumer action is appropriate but third party and affiliate “opt-out” is hardly the first and last word in consumer rights. We can do more and can do better. The fact is that a number of consumers have such a right today under Fair Credit Reporting Act or institution policies. Even with that authority, only a small fraction of individuals, less than 1 percent, exercise their consumer choice. With the Ganske amendment, as this motion instructs us to do; but also, we want to be very sure that in doing this, we are not opening up another loophole. I think we all have good intentions here and intellectual competence in this area so that we can constructively and honestly address that.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to state that I have been working for a long time, both in my subcommittee with these bills as well as outside the subcommittee, with those medical groups that have raised some legitimate concerns on this subject. I am going to continue those hearings on privacy, entities that would affiliate with banks, we do not want to undermine it. Where it is not sufficient, we hope to complement and strengthen it.

This motion should not be out of line with what we have tried to do—in good faith—in the House-passed version of financial services modernization. The statements of so many members alude to their firm belief that we should not and would not supersede the work of HHS in response to the 1996 Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), passed by this Congress and signed into law. We must assure that the language neither supplants nor has a negative effect on the law or the regulations. Moreover, we must be absolute in assuring that stronger state laws are not preempted. Finally, we must be diligent in assuring that we are prepared for the possibility that the HHS regulations or potential law passed by Congress regarding the very carefully at what has been done with other insurance entities. In that event, we must with no uncertainty, obtain the strongest possible medical privacy provision so that all Americans are not vulnerable to the misuse of such information in credit or other decisions made with affiliated companies.

I understand that this is a priority of the President, who spoke to this in his State of the Union address to the Nation. We share the goal that we must make true medical privacy a reality for all Americans as soon as is practically possible. Medical privacy should not be breached by financial modernization. The ultimate legislative and regulatory solutions must properly affect the structures we hope to create under financial services modernization so that we are not left with a void that leaves customers vulnerable to inappropriate medical information sharing.

So I rise in support, and I urge Members to give us this vote of confidence.
whether it be financial privacy or medical privacy; but whatever is done here will have to be addressed by this Congress across the board. I want to be part of that project.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to transfer control of the remaining time of the Committee on Commerce minority to the ranking member of that full committee.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PEASE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the motion to instruct the conferees on H.R. 10, the Financial Services Act of 1999.

I support the idea that we should have responsible modernization legislation. That legislation must contain strong protection for taxpayers, consumers, investors, that ensures the safety and the soundness of the banking system, as well as the efficiency, competitiveness and integrity of the capital markets of the United States, and also fair and nondiscriminatory access to our economic opportunities by all Americans.

I voted against H.R. 10 on final passage earlier this month because it did not meet these tests, and I intend to work hard in the House-Senate conference to improve this legislation so that all Members can support it in good conscience. We cannot come back to the House with a conference report that does not give consumers adequate control over their private, financial, and medical records.

Mr. Speaker, I would note that the so-called health information protections in H.R. 10 serve only to protect the insurance industry, not consumers. Proponents of the medical privacy provisions of H.R. 10 contend that consent is required before the insurer discloses personally identifiable health information to another party, but they never note that there is a two-page list of exemptions to this rule that basically guts any real right of the consumer to be protected, or his right of consent.

In fact, there is nothing in H.R. 10 that would prevent insurers from selling one's health information for profit. Neither are there any restrictions whatsoever on people or companies that receive one's medical records may do with them. They are free to sell one's records to employers, information brokers, banks, pharmaceutical companies, or anybody else they please for good motive or bad.

Once one loses personal medical privacy, they cannot get it back.

The medical privacy provisions of H.R. 10 would actually preempt strong-State protections already in effect. It would wipe out over 57 State laws, many of which have stricter safeguards than the so-called health information protection such as mental illness or HIV. There is also a question of whether enactment of the medical privacy provisions of H.R. 10 would preclude authority otherwise already available to the Secretary of Health and Human Services to go forward with the issuance of real consumer privacy protections that apply to health information held by doctors, hospitals, and government agencies.

In addition, the bill contains some rather laughable financial privacy provisions that tell a bank simply to disclose its privacy policy, if it has one. H.R. 10 also gives very weak protection to investors for transfers of sensitive financial information to third parties, leaving the door wide open for sharing one's personal financial information with affiliated telemarketers and others.

By voting to instruct the conferees on this bill, the House will be on record in favor of the medical provisions to protect consumer privacy, both with regard to financial records and health records. A vote in favor will also put the House on record in favor of ensuring that this legislation will allow all consumers to ensure not only the benefits of the legislation and nondiscriminatory access to financial services and their communities. I urge all of my colleagues to support this motion.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GANSKE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMAS).

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the subcommittee on Health and Human Services, and also the Committee on Banking and Finance, I want Members to understand what this bill does.

We think Congress ought to do its job. It makes no sense whatsoever to recede to the Senate when the Senate has nothing. The only useful language is to say that this is a holder, and it will be here until Congress does its job.

Please, let Congress do its job using the time frame that forces us to agree. Do not vote on this. Do not recede. Do not say there should be nothing; instead of the very excellent amendment that the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GALSING) put in that is in this measure.

When we go to conference, keep the anvil. Make us do our job.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I claim the time of the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFAULCE), in his absence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PEASE). Without objection, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. VENTO) claims the time of the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFAULCE).

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Ms. WATERS).

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, despite the rosy picture of unprecedented wealth on Wall Street and the strong performing economy for some Americans, many Americans still face social and economic problems. As conferees prepare to negotiate H.R. 10, the Financial Services Act of 1999, there are two ways that the conferees can help to eliminate the unfortunate predications of America's less fortunate persons.

First, conferees must take an uncompromising position on strong Community Reinvestment Act language.

What was placed in this financial services package because in the timing of the movement of this product is absolutely appropriate. It says that the paragraph will not take effect, or shall cease to be effective, on and after the date on which legislation is enacted that satisfies the requirements. It says, if nothing is maximum. It removes that nothing is maximum. It means there is less pressure on us to do our job that we said we were going to do 3 years ago. Where is the pressure to force the appropriate compromise if we have no pressure at all on these Members, without the administration to write the regulations?

We think Congress ought to do its job. It makes no sense whatsoever to recede to the Senate when the Senate has nothing. The only useful language is to say that this is a holder, and it will be here until Congress does its job.

Please, let Congress do its job using the time frame that forces us to agree. Do not vote on this. Do not recede. Do not say there should be nothing; instead of the very excellent amendment that the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GALSING) put in that is in this measure.

When we go to conference, keep the anvil. Make us do our job.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I claim the time of the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFAULCE), in his absence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PEASE). Without objection, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. VENTO) claims the time of the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFAULCE).

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Ms. WATERS).

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, despite the rosy picture of unprecedented wealth on Wall Street and the strong performing economy for some Americans, many Americans still face social and economic problems. As conferees prepare to negotiate H.R. 10, the Financial Services Act of 1999, there are two ways that the conferees can help to eliminate the unfortunate predications of America's less fortunate persons.

First, conferees must take an uncompromising position on strong Community Reinvestment Act language.
Congressional Record—House  July 30, 1999

Community Reinvestment Act was enacted in 1977 to cure the lingering effects of past discrimination and to revitalize distressed communities, to help Americans realize the dream of home ownership.

CRA has led to over $1 trillion in loans to low- and moderate-income communities. However, language in the Senate’s financial services modernization bill, S. 900, threatens to undermine the progress of community revitalization. The Senate bill undermines the Community Reinvestment Act by weakening the CRA enforcement provisions in H.R. 10, eliminating the ability of community groups to participate in the CRA review process, and by providing unconscionable small bank exemptions that would cause harm to rural communities.

Congress must be strong on CRA. Americans deserve nothing less.

Second, we must understand that lifeline banking provides banking services to low-income persons, and I had in the last bank modernization bill an amendment for lifeline banking. This time we were not able to get it in on the House side, but it is extremely important. It is necessary because over 30 million Americans do not have bank accounts with a traditional financial institution. Lifeline banking is good commonsense public policy that will help to bring America’s poor into the banking mainstream.

Additionally, the conference must address the important issue of financial privacy. So I would submit for the conference that they should include this information.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentlewoman from California (Mrs. CAPPS).

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this motion to instruct the conference on H.R. 10. In particular, I want to commend the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFAUCI) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DINGELL) for the language contained in this motion regarding the importance of medical privacy.

Let me say first that I strongly believe this Congress should pass financial services modernization this year. Laws governing this industry are outdated and inefficient. They increase consumer costs and they limit consumer choices. They need to be changed. But in so doing, we must ensure that for lifeline banking and medical privacy of consumers’ sensitive financial information, but also of their medical records, as well.

As a nurse, I know that in order to be effectively treated, patients must share all their health information with their doctors, therapists, and other providers. No diagnosis is complete without it. But if patients do not feel that their information will stay put with their health care provider or insurance company, if they cannot be sure that their most private and sensitive information will be kept confidential, they will not be so forthcoming. That would hurt patient care.

Wish to submit now for the RECORD a list of national organizations opposed to the medical records provisions in H.R. 10.

In contrast to the House version of H.R. 10, we must ensure that the financial modernization legislation that comes out of conference protects patient privacy. With that in mind, I urge a yes vote on this motion.

The list of organizations opposed to the medical records provisions in H.R. 10 is as follows:

Organizations Opposed to the Medical Records Provisions in H.R. 10

Physician Organizations
- American Medical Association
- American Psychiatric Association
- American College of Surgeons
- American College of Physicians
- American Society of Internal Medicine

Nurses Organizations
- American Nurses Association
- American Association of Occupational Health Nurses

Patient Organizations
- National Breast Cancer Coalition
- Consortium for Citizens with Disabilities Privacy Working Group
- National Association of People with AIDS
- AIDS Action
- National Organization for Rare Disorders
- National Mental Health Association
- Myositis Association
- Infectious Disease Society

Privacy/Civil Rights Organizations
- Consumer Coalition for Health Privacy
- American Civil Liberties Union
- Center for Democracy and Technology
- Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law

Labor Organizations
- AFL–CIO
- American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees
- Service Employees International Union

Senior and Family Organizations
- American Association of Retired Persons
- National Senior Citizens Law Center
- Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc.
- National Partnership for Women and Families
- American Family Foundation

Other Organizations
- American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry
- American Association for Psychosocial Rehabilitation
- American College of Occupational and Environmental Medicine
- American Counseling Association
- American Lung Association
- American Occupational Therapy Association
- American Osteopathic Association
- American Psychoanalytic Association
- American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery
- American Society of Clinical Psychopharmacology
- American Society for Gastrointestinal Endoscopy
- American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons
- American Thoracic Society
- Anxiety Disorders Association of America
- Association for the Advancement of Psychology
- Association for Ambulatory Behavioral Health
- Center for Women Policy Studies
- Children & Adults with Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder
- Corporation for the Advancement of Psychiatry
- Federation of Behavioral, Psychological and Cognitive Sciences
- International Association of Psychosocial Rehabilitation Services
- Legal Action Center
- National Association of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Counselors
- National Association of Developmental Disabilities Councils
- National Association of Psychiatric Treatment Centers for Children
- National Association of Social Workers
- National Council for Community Behavioral Healthcare
- National Depressive and Manic Depressive Association
- National Foundation for Depression Illness
- Renal Physicians Association
- Mr. GANSKE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER).

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I am standing here because I think there has been a gross mischaracterization of the medical privacy provisions in this bill. When we had the debate on H.R. 10, legislation which I am very pleased got 343 votes when it was reported out of this House, criticisms that came from many on the other side, and frankly, from many in the media who took advantage of that mischaracterization, I think, make it necessary that we address it.

H.R. 10 and the provisions that were included here in fact will not, as we pointed out in the debate at that time, preempt State privacy laws. It does not in any way allow insurance companies to sell medical information to drug companies. It does not, as we found already in this debate, block the Secretary of Health and Human Services... from issuing privacy regulations as required by current law. I want to commend my friend, the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE), who has spent a long time working on this, and at the same time, my colleague, the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMAS), the chairman of the subcommittee, does make a very valid point in his call to make sure that we continue to have that pressure point recognized.

I think that the only real, legitimate debate here is whether the medical privacy issue is better addressed in H.R. 10 or in some other fashion. So I think we are going to see what obviously is going to be an interesting challenge here.

I think it is important for us to clarify exactly what the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE) was trying to do. Clearly we want to make sure that privacy is recognized and is in no way jeopardized.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the time previously claimed by the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. VENTO) will be reclaimed by the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE).

There was no objection.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. WATT).

Mr. WATT of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, most of the debate up to this point has been focused on the issue of privacy, but in fact, an important issue as we move forward to modernize financial services. We have to assure the protection of the privacy of consumers’ financial and medical records.

I want to direct my colleagues’ attention to paragraph 2 of the motion to instruct and rise in support of the motion to instruct conferees, because that paragraph gets to the heart of what financial modernization is about.

We have to assure conferees to ensure that we come back with a bill that ensures consumers enjoy the benefits of comprehensive financial modernization legislation, that provides robust competition, and equal and nondiscriminatory access to financial services and economic opportunities in their communities.

As we move forward in this process, we are modernizing financial services, but we have to keep in mind that this is for the benefit of consumers and communities. Let us support the motion to instruct for that reason.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. MALONEY).

Mr. MALONEY of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to commend the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE) for his leadership on this issue, and to urge the motion to instruct conferees on H.R. 10.

Today’s motion to instruct contains three important elements. It would ensure the strongest consumer privacy possible, it would provide equal and nondiscriminatory access to financial services, and it would protect medical privacy.

Unfortunately, the House hastily included medical privacy provisions in H.R. 10 that may actually be harmful to consumers because they do not rise to the level of basic protections afforded under any of the major medical confidentiality bills now being considered by Congress. That unintended result may in fact deter many patients from seeking necessary health care out of fear of disclosure.

The motion instructs the conferences to restore the confidence of the American public in the privacy of their sensitive health care information by removing medical-related provisions currently contained in H.R. 10.

Mr. Speaker, we have an historic opportunity to pass a balanced bill. I urge passage of the motion to instruct.

Mr. MEEKS of New York. Mr. Speaker, today we send our Members of the House and workers of the Senate to work out a compromise on the Financial Services Act of 1999.

While we know, understand, and recognize that banks and other financial companies must be able to compete in an environment that will allow them to expand their powers and become competitive globally, and that our financial institutions are one of the most critical components to ensuring a healthy U.S. economy, our first and foremost responsibility is to those individuals who send us here to Washington each and every election day.

Therefore, we must ensure that consumers as well as financial institutions benefit from banking reform. It is meant to protect the interests of their confidential personal information for marketing or other purposes, maintain their medical privacy, and make certain that our financial institutions that receive the benefit of government support continue to contribute to the economic health of low- and moderate-income communities.

Let me say, we must support CRA. It is an absolute necessity if we are to have a successful bill.

Mr. Speaker, today we send our members of the House to work with the members of the Senate to work out a compromise on the Financial Services Act of 1999. The purpose of this act is to provide banks and other financial companies with an environment that will allow them to expand their powers and become more competitive globally. Our financial institutions are one of the most critical components to ensuring a healthy U.S. economy. They are so critical that this Nation developed an independent body known as the Federal Reserve Board to regulate them. Thus it is vital that this House and the Senate work diligently and efficiently to develop a final version of the Financial Services Act that will make certain American institutions have a fair opportunity to be the most competitive in the world. However, each of the conferees must remember that their primary goal as a bill of this House is to protect the interest of the individual citizens of this nation who send us to Congress and who own this nation.

Therefore, we must insure that consumers as well as financial institutions benefit from banking reform. It is meant to protect them from the misuse of their confidential personal information for marketing or other purposes, maintain their medical privacy, and make certain that our financial institutions that receive the benefit of government support continue to contribute to the economic health of low- and moderate-income communities.

Let me take a moment to emphasize the importance of the Community Reinvestment Act or CRA. There are some in the Senate who believe that CRA is a burden to banks. Let me assure those individuals that they are mistaken. The facts are clear, the overwhelming majority of evidence states that CRA has been a major success. It has been a benefit to low and moderate-income individuals, their communities, and most of all to banks. Since 1977, banks and thrifts have made over $1.057 trillion in loan pledges to low-income areas. CRA investments have been widely credited with dramatically increasing home ownership, restoring distressed communities, helping small businesses and meeting the unique credit needs of rural communities. Financial institutions such as Citigroup, BankAmerica, Southwest Bank of Texas, Iron and Glass Bank, and a host of others have all made it clear that CRA is good policy and good for business.

I urge my colleagues to vote in favor of banking legislation that is good for banks and good for consumers. Vote for the motion to instruct.

Mr. GANSKE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. LINDER).

Mr. LINDER. Mr. Speaker, this is getting curiouser and curiouser. In the Committee on Banking and Financial Services when this thing went through it was the Democrats, the gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE) who demanded privacy language, very strict privacy language.

It was the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. VENTO) who, with the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. LEACH) late at night worked out a compromise on the privacy language, the first consumer protection language in the banking bill.

It got to the Committee on Commerce and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MARKEY) passed on a voice vote strong consumer privacy language, but even he was shocked it passed, and made it a huge point on the floor of the House that his language was not being adhered to. It had to be stronger.

Now they come out today and say, we do not want anything; accede to the Senate’s nothingness, no consumer protection at all. Or is it maybe that they would rather have the administration write the language? They are acceding to a bill that is absent the language. They cannot have it both ways.
This banking legislation, as it left this House, had some of the best privacy language of any banking legislation, and our colleagues want to walk away from it, and they ought to be ashamed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PEASE). The Chair advises Members that the purpose of the motion is entitled to close debate. The Chair anticipates that Members controlling time will close in the reverse order of the manner in which time was allocated; to wit: the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE), the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DINGELL), the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. LEACH), and the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE).

The gentleman from New York (Mr. LAFALCE), however, still has time remaining.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 30 seconds.

Mr. Speaker, I want to point out the tremendous error of the last statement made by the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. LINDER). What we are doing is insuring upon each and every one of the privacy provisions that we were able to produce within this bill with the exception of the medical privacy provisions, because virtually every medical organization in the United States thinks that they will water down privacy protections that presently exist under Federal or State law. The gentleman from Georgia just totally, totally misunderstood that issue.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. LEE).

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the LaFalce motion to instruct the conferees on H.R. 10. It is important to support and protect the House version of the Community Reinvestment Act sections of H.R. 10.

Although the House version, for me, is weaker on ensuring that the medical provisions are extended to other financial institutions now with this enormous extension of the powers of banking, at least the House version ensures that the Community Reinvestment Act conditions apply to banking. The Senate version does not.

We must remember the CRA was passed as a creative response to blatant ethnic gender and neighborhood discrimination in the lending of money for housing. A red line would be drawn around a neighborhood that a bank or an insurance company perceived to have a majority of people with risky credit. The bank or the insurance company would then not lend to anyone within those red lines. Unfortunately, this discriminatory behavior exists today.

The Community Reinvestment Act, however, encourages banks to reinvest in those communities. It is a positive way to encourage banks to do the correct thing, not to discriminate.

I urge an "aye" vote on the LaFalce motion to instruct.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. JONES).

Mrs. JONES of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to join with the ranking member of the Committee on Banking and Financial Services in support of the motion to instruct the conferees.

We need strong consumer protection for the final bill, H.R. 10. We need strong community reinvestment provisions in the final bill, because if the conferees are like the City of Cleveland, CRA has had a significant impact in providing affordable housing for those people who have not had the opportunity previously.

We need a bill that fairly and equitably represents not only the financial institutions, but the consumers involved as well.

Finally, we need the House version of this bill, because it is the best bill for all the people. Americans should urge the conferees to pay attention to the House bill in the time that they have to come back to the floor with a bill.

Mr. LAFALCE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY).

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, as a consumer advocate, I have been asking from day one what is in this financial modernization act that I can bring home for ordinary consumers in my district, the soccer moms, schoolteachers, small businesses.

Face it, they are not worrying about the ability of banks, insurance companies, and security companies to merge. But I warn my colleagues, they will be interested if we let those companies poke around in their most private medical and financial records.

Do not underestimate the American appetite for privacy. I wonder if hopes for their small businesses and mortgages and investments to improve their neighborhoods dry up, which is what the Senate bill will do because it dangerously undermines the Community Reinvestment Act.

This motion to instruct addresses both the issues of privacy and CRA, possibly the only two provisions most of our constituents care about.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE).

Mr. INSLEE. Mr. Speaker, I stand in strong support of this motion, and I do it because I have been listening to my constituents a lot lately about financial privacy.

What they have been asking me to do is simple. They have been asking me to try to win for them the right to tell their banks not to give their credit card numbers to telemarketers so that they can be ashamed.

Those constituents deserve that right. What possible reason is there to be not to accept this motion to give consumers the simple right to financial privacy that we supported 427 votes to 1? Well, the reason is that there are certain folks who want to defend their privacy.

I want to tell my colleagues about something I learned in hearings in the last 2 weeks. I asked five lobbyists of the banking industry a simple question. Let us say Emma Smith writes her bank and says, Mr. or Mrs. Banker, do not share my financial information with anyone.

Two days later, Mrs. Smith inherits $10,000. Should the bank be able to call a telemarketer and tell them to call Emma Smith and try to sell her a hot stock in hotstock.com? Should they be able to ignore her request not to violate her privacy? Do my colleagues know what those five lobbyists said for the banking industry? To a person, they said no, that would be wrong.

Those five lobbyists for the banking industry were right. Consumers ought to have the right to tell the banks not to give their privacy. Those five lobbyists were right.

Four hundred twenty-seven Members of this House were right when they stood up for consumer privacy. Americans ought to be right, too, in insisting that we pass this motion.

Mr. GANSKE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 1 minute.

Mr. Speaker, I think the debate on the floor on this issue demonstrates what a Gordian knot the whole issue of medical privacy is.

The provisions that were in this bill on health care privacy were good ones. I think that if my colleagues look at the "Dear Colleague" that I have sent out, it explains it. It is not a comprehensive piece of medical privacy, but I thought it would improve the bill. The intentions were good for that.

However, a very large number of privacy groups have argued against this provision. I think it has been mischaracterized. It will be a serious impediment in terms of our getting the overall bill passed.

If, in fact, my colleague from California and others on the other side of the aisle can come up with a bipartisan agreement, then I am sure that it can be reintroduced at some time.

I am for a comprehensive bill. I will vote for the motion to instruct.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I would begin by expressing great respect and affection for everybody who has participated in this debate, especially the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE) who is an outstanding Member of this body in all particulars.
I do think it is important we understand what is at stake here. I will address only the question of protection of medical privacy.

Here is what the administration says. The administration strongly opposes the medical privacy provisions of the bill. Unfortunately, those provisions would preempt important existing protections and do not reflect extensive legislative work that has already been done on this complex issue.

The administration thus urges striking the medical privacy provisions and will pursue medical privacy in other fora.

Now listen to what some of the unambiguous voices of all professional organizations in the field of medicine have had to say. First, the American Medical Association, I quote, “Medical records provision of H.R. 10 undermined patient privacy. The bill would allow the use and disclosure of medical records information without consent of the patient. In extraordinarily broad circumstances. Unfortunately, medical records confidentiality provisions of H.R. 10 will deter many patients from seeking needed health care and deter patients from making full and frank disclosure of critical information needed in their treatment.”

The American Nurses Association said this, “The proposed language would facilitate the broad sharing of sensitive health and medical information without the consent of the consumer.”

Here is what the American Civil Liberties Union said, “This proposal will preempt existing medical privacy protections and offers essentially no privacy for the one who replaces the ones which the amendment, if enacted, will usurp. It is deeply flawed.”

APL-CIO: “This provision would facilitate the broad sharing of sensitive medical information in a matter that is harmful to consumers.”

That tells my colleagues what is said about this. I would urge the adoption of the motion.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DINGELL. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding. The consequences that the gentleman described, in fact, may take place if given this language as a sunset does not produce congressional legislation; is that correct?

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, no, that is not correct.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, it is not a trigger that says it will sunset?

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, what is correct, I would observe to the gentleman from California, is that, if this language is in here, the fears that I have expressed and the fears that are expressed by the professional health care organizations and individuals would occur.

Mr. THOMAS. But if we passed legislation, that language goes away, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. DINGELL. The way to address the matter is to take out unfortunate language and put in good language in a separate medical records privacy bill. At least, if we do not allow this language to remain in the legislation when it finally goes to the President, if that occurs, it would then assure that we would keep in place existing protections of patient privacy which are superior to the Senate which has no title on medical privacy. It is a conundrum, a logical inconsistency.

I would say to the gentleman in furtherance of certain earlier comments that only about 18 States have prohibitions on the sharing of information. This bill is not designed to supplant, replace, or weaken any State provision or deny future State provisions. It may not be quite as strong as the gentleman would prefer, but it is the first serious prohibition on an insurance company giving medical privacy information without patient consent to an affiliate or third party.

As chairman of the Committee on Banking and Financial Services and as a conferee, I am willing to accede to this motion under the understanding that it is a conflicting motion. There is a call for medical privacy and then a call for a deletion.

So what I think the gentleman and what this instruction is saying is that there should be a medical privacy provision in this bill. That being the case, I cannot object to this particular instruction as a conferee.

So I would urge my colleagues to recognize that the first two provisions are a call to support the House provision. The third provision is a call to maintain medical privacy, although in a way that is perhaps illogically stated.

So my recommendation is to vote “yes” on a deeply flawed, deeply ironic motion to instruct.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.
The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 241, nays 61, as follows:

[Roll No. 355]

[YEAS—241]

[NOT VOTING—61]

Mr. ROEMER. Mr. Speaker, due to a family commitment I was unable to cast House roll-call vote 355 on July 30, 1999, to instruct conferees on the Financial Services Modernization bill, H.R. 10. If I had been present I would have voted "yea."

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PRASE). Without objection, the Chair appoints the following conferees:

From the Committee on Banking and Financial Services, for consideration of titles I, III (except section 309), IV and VII of the Senate bill, and title II of the House amendment, and modifications committed to conference:

Mr. LEACH, Mr. MCCULLOM, Mrs. ROUKEMA, and Messrs. BEREUTER, BAKER, LAZIO, BACHUS, CASTLE, LAFALCE, and VENTO.

As additional conferees from the Committee on Banking and Financial Services, for consideration of title V of the Senate bill, and title II of the House amendment, and modifications committed to conference:

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts, Mr. KANJORSKI, Ms. WATERS, and Mrs. MALONEY of New York.

As additional conferees from the Committee on Banking and Financial Services, for consideration of title II of the Senate bill, and title III of the House amendment, and modifications committed to conference:

Mr. KANJORSKI, Mrs. MALONEY of New York, Mr. WATT of North Carolina, and Mr. MALONEY of Connecticut.

As additional conferees from the Committee on Banking and Financial Services, for consideration of titles II, and VII of the Senate bill, and the House amendment, and modifications committed to conference:

Mr. WATERS, Ms. MALONEY of New York, Mr. GUTIERREZ, and Mr. BENTSEN.

As additional conferees from the Committee on Banking and Financial Services, for consideration of section 304 of the Senate bill, and title V of the House amendment, and modifications committed to conference:

Mr. KANJORSKI, Mr. WATERS, and Mrs. MALONEY of New York.

From the Committee on Commerce, for consideration of the Senate bill, and the House amendment, and modifications committed to conference:

Mr. KANJORSKI, Mr. WATERS, and Mrs. ACKERMAN.

[142]

Mr. RAMSTAD, Mr. WHITFIELD and Mrs. WILSON changed their vote from "yea" to "nay."

Messrs. SHOWS, ROGAN, WELLER, KINGSTON, COOK, MCCULLOM, Mrs. CUNNINGHAM, and Mrs. EMERSON changed their vote from "nay" to "yea."

So the motion was agreed to.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Stated for:
PROVIDED, that Mr. RUSH is appointed in lieu of Mrs. CAPP for consideration of section 316 of the Senate bill.

From the Committee on Agriculture, for consideration of title V of the House amendment, and modifications committed to conference:
MESSRS. COMBEST, EWING, AND STENHOLM.

From the Committee on the Judiciary, for consideration of sections 104(a), 104(d)(3), and 104(f)(2) of the Senate bill, and sections 104(a)(3), 104(b)(3)(A), 104(b)(4)(B), 136(b), 136(d)(e), 141–44, 197, 301, and 306 of the House amendment, and modifications committed to conference:
MESSRS. HYDE, GEKAS, AND CONYERS.

There was no objection.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

Mr. ORTIZ. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall Nos. 354 and 355, on July 30, 1999, I was unavoidably detained. Had I been present, I would have voted “yea” on rollcall No. 354 and “nay” on rollcall No. 355.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

A message in writing from the President of the United States was communicated to the House by Mr. Sherman Williams, one of his secretaries.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

(Mr. FROST asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Texas to inquire about next week’s schedule.

Mr. ARMEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Texas for his inquiry. We are working on the Juvenile Justice bill next week.

Mr. FROST. I thank the gentleman for his inquiry. We just went to conference, Mr. Speaker, on Juvenile Justice this morning. We are obviously encouraging the conferees, we are anxious to have that, and the floor schedule will accommodate the conference report if they can bring it back. We will encourage them. I am sure the gentleman from Texas and his leadership will do the same on their side of the aisle.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I have several questions for the majority leader at this point. Will we complete action on the Juvenile Justice bill next week?

Mr. ARMEY. I thank the gentleman for his inquiry. We are working on the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. That work is in progress. It is, of course, very important work. As soon as our committees complete their work and are able to make the bill available to the floor, we will have it on the floor, but I do not anticipate that next week.

Mr. FROST. I would further ask the gentleman from Texas, does he expect the tax conference report to be on the floor next week?

Mr. ARMEY. If the gentleman will yield further, Mr. Speaker, we have three committees of jurisdiction that are working on the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. That work is in progress. It is, of course, very important work. As soon as our committees complete their work and are able to make the bill available to the floor, we will have it on the floor, but I do not anticipate that next week.

Mr. FROST. I would further ask the gentleman from Texas, does he expect the tax conference report to be on the floor next week?

Mr. ARMEY. I thank the gentleman for asking that.

If the gentleman will continue to yield, Mr. Speaker, yes, we do in fact expect that we will go to conference on the tax bill sometime Monday, and we anticipate having that conference report back before we complete business next week.

Mr. FROST. The only other question I would have to the gentleman from Texas is he has indicated that we will be working late, probably each night. Does the gentleman have any idea how late that will be?

Mr. ARMEY. As the gentleman from Texas knows, when we do appropriations bills, we do those under the 5-minute rule. We try to make unanimous consent requests as we did last night to expedite the consideration of a bill in consideration of all the Members with their amendments. We will still work under that 5-minute rule, hoping to have those kinds of accommodations between Members, but one must anticipate that late in the evening will mean precisely that in perhaps the most rigorous terms.

Mr. FROST. The gentleman knows, in some cities where they play baseball at night, there is a rule that no inning can begin after a certain hour. I was just wondering if there is any possibility we could go to that in our night sessions.

Mr. ARMEY. The gentleman makes a fine point. I can only assure him that at or around dinner time, we will provide a seventh inning stretch that will be sufficient to nourish our bodies so we can continue on into the evening.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, if I could ask the gentleman one final question. Is there any possibility that we will be here next Saturday? The gentleman indicated the real possibility that we will be here after 2 p.m. on Friday. Could it also be that we would be here next Saturday?

Mr. ARMEY. I thank the gentleman for that question. I think that is really a key concern. We are all anxious to get on with our work in our districts for the District Work Period.

I think this is the best, most reliable answer: A prudent, experienced Member understands that the getaway day before a District Work Period of this length is tenuous. We should expect to work into the evening in the House. I think a prudent Member were to make their plane reservations for Saturday morning, I am confident that they could make those planes. But I do think late in the evening on Friday night could go beyond that point at which people could reasonably expect a Friday night plane. I think it would be just prudent for all of us to plan our travel for Saturday.

Mr. FROST. I would respond to my friend from Texas, that based on my 21 years of experience in the House of Representatives, I never book a flight on the day that we are scheduled to leave. I always book my flight for the following day.

Mr. ARMEY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. FROST. If the gentleman would yield for one final point on that point. The point is very important to the Members and if I may make this point. We will monitor the process of the week’s schedule as closely as we can as we see the work developing, and we will try to maintain a constant posture where when we know things with greater degrees of certainty about that Friday and those travel arrangements, we will announce that to the House.

Mr. FROST. I thank the gentleman.
Resolved, That upon the adoption of this resolution it shall be in order to consider in the House a concurrent resolution waiving the requirements in section 132 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 that the Congress adjourn sine die not later than July 31, 1999. The concurrent resolution shall be considered as read for amendment and shall not be subject to debate. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the concurrent resolution to final adoption without intervening motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PEASE). The gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to my very good friend, the gentleman from Dallas, TX (Mr. FROST), pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

Mr. Speaker, this rule simply makes in order a concurrent resolution waiving the requirement in section 132 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 that Congress adjourn sine die no later than July 31.

As my friend from Dallas knows, this requirement that Congress adjourn by the end of July is a relic of a bygone era, although many of us wish we actually could adjourn by July 31. The last time that the Congress did it was July 31, 1956.

In fact, a decade ago, my friend from Boston, the distinguished ranking minority member of the Committee on Rules, and desperately to repeal section 132, going so far as to get legislation passed in the House, only to have it not considered by our friends in the other body. I hope we can actually resurrect that effort in a bipartisan way and I hope that we can move ahead with this rule in a very timely manner. I urge its adoption.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California for yielding me the customary half-hour, and I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I support this rule and the resolution allowing the House to continue to work beyond the statutory deadline of July 31.

We have a lot more work to do and the American people want us to get it done.

The American people want us to pass patients’ Bill of Rights to ensure no one is denied medical services regardless of the bottom line.

The American people want us to pass campaign finance reform to take our political system back from the powerful special interests and give it to the American citizens.

The American people want us to protect Social Security and Medicare before they collapse beginning in the year 2015.

The American people want us to finish the Juvenile Justice bill in order to get the funding in place now to protect our schools before classes start up in the fall.

Although we only have another week before Congress goes into recess, I hope my Republican colleagues will consider taking up these important issues before any others.

I urge my colleagues to support this rule.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Following last November’s election, many people predicted that our colleagues on the other side of the aisle, especially here in the House, would focus their energies on partisan attacks rather than legislative accomplishments.

Rather than engage in partisan battles, we on this side have focused on a straightforward plan of what we call governing conservatism. It is designed to address the critical national issues such as saving Social Security and Medicare, restoring our national defense, improving public education for our children and providing tax relief to the hardworking Americans who have created a $3 trillion surplus.

I am very proud to report that we have in the past 6 months made real progress on each of these important fronts, often with very strong support from our friends on the other side of the aisle.

The House has passed, as we all know, Social Security lockbox to make sure that every dollar in payroll taxes is set aside to save Social Security and Medicare. The President recently came on board with his announcement of support of the concept that we have been pushing for quite a while.

We passed the National Missile Defense Act, an emergency defense spending bill and legislation to address the lax security at our Nation’s nuclear labs, all three of them moving forward on national security and military readiness priority agendas. I am happy to say that the President has been largely supportive of all three of those measures.

We have passed the Education Flexibility Act to allow the States to be creative and use Federal education assistance to craft effective local solutions to education needs, and I am very happy that the President signed that into law.

Now we are moving forward to provide meaningful tax relief to American families, that question that was raised by my friend from Dallas just a few minutes ago.

Just like our Social Security lockbox, ballistic missile defense and education flexibility, we are going to continue to do our doggedest to work with the President to make sure that we can provide legislation that proceeds with our legislative goals and at the same time gains his signature.

Mr. Speaker, while this majority prefers bipartisan accomplishments, we are equally prepared to deal with partisan attack and obstructionism if that does in fact take place.

Unfortunately, the minority leader recently made it completely clear that stopping the Congress from getting things done in order to win back the five seats that people have talked about, that is the number one, top priority for our friends. The thing that is troubling is that the idea of writing off the next 15 months in the name of partisanship is both disappointing and surprising. We are going to stick with the people’s business, getting things done for the country.

In just the past few weeks, we are proud of the historic bipartisan Y2K litigation reform that I and a few of my colleagues had introduced back on February 23, have been working on for over a year. We e-mailed that bill down to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue and the President signed it into law.

As we all know, the House, with a very bipartisan majority, passed the Africa trade bill; and just this week, something I have spent many years working on, year after year, and I hope someday we will be able to end the annual battle on maintaining something that the President wanted and we provided even more Republicans for it this year, that is, maintaining normal trade relations with the People’s Republic of China.

