INDIA PROTESTS POPE’S VISIT

HON. DAN BURTON
OF INDIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 16, 1999

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, I was disturbed to learn of the organized protests against Pope John Paul II in anticipation of his recent visit to India. In fact, many would tell you that there was more reason to worry about his safety on this trip than when he traveled to communist Poland under martial law. Although the Pope left the country safely, I cannot forget the ghastly image printed by the media of Hindu activists burning an effigy of Pope John Paul II in New Delhi before his visit.

Mr. Speaker, these protests were led by a violent faction of Hindu fundamentalists that are closely aligned with the Hindu nationalist government. They have carried out a wave of brutal attacks on Christians within the past year. Since Christmas Day of 1998, they have burned down Christian churches, prayer halls, and schools. Also, four priests have been murdered, and earlier this year Australian missionary Graham Staines and his two young sons were burned alive.

How much more of this must we witness? Already 200,000 Christians, 250,000 Sikhs, 65,000 Muslims, and tens of thousands of others have fallen at the hands of either the Indian government or those closely related to the government since the subcontinent’s independence a half-century ago.

Mr. Speaker, I submit the articles from India Abroad and the New York Post into the RECORD regarding this disturbing issue.

[From the New York Post, Oct. 28, 1999] POPE’S PASSAGE TO INDIA MAY BE MOST PERILOUS YET (By Rod Dreher) Will Pope John Paul II be safe in India? There is serious reason to worry for the pontiff’s welfare as he visits the world’s largest democracy next week than there was when he went to communist Poland under martial law.

That’s because a small but violent faction of Hindu fundamentalists aligned with the Hindu nationalist government have been conducting an organized campaign against the pope as part of a concerted effort to demonize and persecute the country’s tiny Christian minority. The government promises to protect the Holy Father from coalition fanatics. But while John Paul can rely on state security, his Catholic followers and Protestant brethren remain at the mercy of Hindu brown-shirts.

These thugs have carried out vicious attacks on Christians since a coalition led by the hard-line Bhartiya Janata Party (BJP) came to power two years ago.

Freedom House, the Washington-based human-rights organization, says there has been more recorded incidents of violence against India’s Christian minority in the past year than in the previous half-century. The most shocking incident took place in January, when Hindu thugs burned alive Australian missionary Graham Staines and his two little boys. That was far from an isolated incident of violence against Christianity in India and want the Pope to say that all religions are equal.

[From India Abroad, Oct. 29, 1999] PROTEST MARCH LAUNCHED AGAINST THE POPE’S VISIT (By FrederickNoronha) PANAJ, GOA.—Hindu right-wing groups flagged off a Goa-to-Delhi protest march on Oct. 21 that could fuel the controversy surrounding Pope John Paul II’s visit to India, scheduled for early November.

The campaigens are protesting what they call large conversions to Christianity in India and want the Pope to say that all religions are equal.

The protest march, which is scheduled to end in Delhi around the time of the Pope’s visit, is being called a “Dharma Jagnan Abhiyan.” It was flagged off from Divar, an island off Goa, once a center for Catholic conversion.

“This awareness march is for people of all religions. Christians are brothers of the same blood,” said Subhash Velingkar, one of the organizers of the march.

Velingkar lashed out at the English language media for voicing concern that the march could ignite anti-Christian feelings.

At the same time, however, Velingkar condemned religious conversions saying that they changed “not just the religion of people, but also their culture and traditions.”

He criticized Delhi Archbishop Alan de Lastic for “sending an SOS message to the Vatican” complaining about the situation in India. “Why should people from India complain to the Vatican?” he asked.

Velingkar reiterated the demand voiced by the Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP), the right-wing affiliate of the Bhartiya Janata Party (BJP) which leads the coalition government at the Center, that the Pope make an admission in his public address at Delhi that all the religions are the same and all lead to salvation.

The VHP last week once again welcomed the Pope’s visit, stating that it was not against Christianity, but was opposed to “Churchianity.”

A VHP affiliate, the Sanskriti Raksha Manch, has already demanded an apology from the Pope for the atrocities committed during Inquisition in Portuguese-ruled Goa in the 16th century.

From Goa, the march passes through Belgaum, Nipani, Mumbai, Kolhapur and Nashik in Karnataka and Maharashtra, before entering Gujarat, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh and then onward to Delhi, covering the 1,300-mile route in about a fortnight. It will reach Delhi by the time of the Pope’s visit on Nov. 5.

Newspaper reports quoted Manohar Parrikar, the BJP Leader of the Opposition in the Goa Assembly, as saying that his party was neither opposing nor supporting the Pope’s visit.

He said the movement’s leadership was not under the control of the BJP and while individual members of the party were free to join it, the party could not be responsible for any untoward incident arising from the march.

FOND FAREWELL TO I. MICHAEL HEYMAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 16, 1999

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a very good friend I. Michael Heyman.

As his friends and colleagues gather to honor his retirement from the Smithsonian Institute and his years of service to the University of California Berkeley, I would like to share with the House some of the highlights of Secretary Heyman’s distinguished career.

I. Michael Heyman became the 10th secretary of the Smithsonian Institution on Sept. 19, 1994. He heads a complex of 16 museums and galleries and the National Zoological Park, as well as scientific and cultural research facilities in 10 states and the Republic of Panama.

Secretary Heyman served as chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley from 1980 to 1990. He began his career at Berkeley in 1959 as an acting professor of law and became a full professor in 1961. His distinguished teaching career has included service as a visiting professor of law at Yale (1963–1964) and at Stanford (1971–1972).

A strong leader and active fundraiser, he strengthened Berkeley’s biosciences department and successfully promoted ethnic diversity of the undergraduate student body while maintaining high academic standards.

The university maintains several large museums and galleries and the National Zoological Park.

I. Michael Heyman was educated at Dartmouth College, earning a bachelor’s degree in government in 1951. After a year in Washington D.C. as a legislative assistant to Senator Irving M. Ives of New York, he served in the United States Marines as a first lieutenant on active duty from 1951 to 1953, and as a captain in the reserves from 1953 to 1958.

Secretary Heyman received his juris doctor in 1956 from Yale University Law School, where he was editor of the Yale Law Journal.

He has dedicated more than a decade of service to the Smithsonian; he has been an associate with the firm of Carter, Ledyard and Milburn in New York City from 1956 to 1957. He was chief law clerk to Chief Justice Barlow in 1958.

Over the years, Secretary Heyman has served on and chaired numerous boards and commissions, including almost four years as a member of the Smithsonian’s Board of Regents (1990–1994). He has dedicated more than a decade of service to the Academy, his alma mater, as a member of its board of trustees from 1982 to 1993 and as chairman of the board from 1991 to 1993. Heyman has also been a member of the board of trustees of the Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights under Law since 1977.

He is married to Therese Thau Heyman, senior curator on leave from the Oakland Museum in California. Their son, James, is a physicist and teacher.

I join my California colleagues in gratitude and appreciation for Secretary Heyman’s contributions to education, law, culture, and above all, public service. His is a career we can only hope others will emulate. We congratulate him on a successful and fulfilling professional life, and we wish him well.

Tribute to Worcester Academy Coach Tom Blackburn

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 16, 1999

Mr. McGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a great coach and a tremendous athletic director, Tom Blackburn. Tom will be the recipient of a much-deserved ‘Ban–ner Celebration’ on November 21 at Worcester Academy’s Daniels Gymnasium.

Tom Blackburn has also nurtured some great players over his quarter-century career. Former Boston Celtic player and current Indiana Pacers Assistant Coach Rick Carlisle ’78, ex-LA Clipper Jeff Cross ’80 and University of Maryland Center Obinna Ekezie ’95 (as of fall ‘99, now of the NBA’s Vancouver Grizzlies) come immediately to mind.

Morgan “Mo” Cassara ’93, Tom’s successor as basketball coach, commented, “My post-graduate year at WA was the greatest experience of my life athletically. The name and style of coaching inspired me to become a coach too.”

In 1996 Tom Blackburn was inducted into the Academy’s Hall of Fame, evidence of his long-term impact and positive influence on its students and on the Academy as a whole. Headmaster Dexter Morse reflected that, “Tom has been more than a teacher and athletic director. He has been a wonderful representative of our school both in the Worcester community and in the greater independent school arena. He will always be known for his strong character, his dedication to teaching and his love for his family and his school. He is without question an inspiration to us all.”
