During the 1919 World Series, Jackson’s play was outstanding—his batting average was .375, the highest of any player from either team; he had 12 hits, setting a World Series record; he did not commit any errors; and he hit the only home run of the Series. But the most extraordinary mark of Jackson’s performance during the 1919 World Series unmatched, but his accomplishments throughout his 13-year career in professional baseball were outstanding as well—he was 1 of only 7 Major League Baseball players to ever top the coveted mark of a .400 batting average for a season, and his lifetime batting average of .356 the third highest of all time.

“Shoeless Joe” Jackson’s career record clearly makes him one of our Nation’s top baseball players of all time.

Because of his lifetime ban from Major League Baseball, “Shoeless Joe” Jackson has been excluded from consideration for admission to the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame.

“Shoeless Joe” Jackson passed away in 1951, and 80 years have elapsed since the 1919 World Series. Not only was Jackson’s performance during the 1919 World Series unmatched, but his accomplishments throughout his 13-year career in professional baseball were outstanding as well—he was 1 of only 7 Major League Baseball players to ever top the coveted mark of a .400 batting average for a season, and his lifetime batting average of .356 the third highest of all time.

The resolution (S. Res. 241) was agreed to.

The concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 190) was agreed to.

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I am pleased that the Senate has unanimously supported this concurrent resolution. As the United States prepares for the World Trade Organization meeting in Seattle, it is important that Congress send this message—that electronic commerce should be free of tariff and non-tariff barriers, and of multiple and discriminatory taxation. At this time, I do want to make one clarification.

The resolution urges a permanent international ban on tariffs on electronic commerce. It is my understanding that, in this context, this phrase really urges a permanent international ban on tariffs on electronic transmissions. The resolution states that electronic transmissions is a more exact phrase, which more clearly reflects the findings of this resolution and the current negotiating position of the United States.

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I suggest a resolution of commemoration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
