of an aggressive act that goes on in Washington on a daily basis, as I have said, oftentimes in the dark of night by this city and by our own agency, the Army Corps of Engineers, which is primarily responsible for the water treatment of this city.

The application of the Endangered Species Act, as we see it, is good for the country and good for the West. It ought to be the same act, and it ought to be enforced in the same way in our Nation’s Capital. This is simply not being done.

I am in the Chamber to speak to that issue and to recognize I have been involved with others in trying to bring about the conformity of the enforcement of the Endangered Species Act as we rebuild the Woodrow Wilson Bridge. This is one of many issues where there seems to be this attitude, well, if it is our Nation’s Capital, this is simply not to be enforced in the same way in our Nation’s Capital.

The Senator from Wyoming, Mr. Thomas.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, we can let the law be bypassed. National security and the importance of the Congress are involved, if it is in or near our Nation’s Capital. This is simply not to be enforced in the same way in our Nation’s Capital. This is simply not being done.
