The House met at 9 a.m.

The Chaplain, the Reverend Daniel P. Coughlin, offered the following prayer:

Lord, God, ever faithful to Your covenant with Your people, and always loving to those who call upon Your Holy Name, be with us today and in the unfolding historic days ahead. In this land of liberty, we freely choose to be renewed in faith and place our trust in You.

At this time of seeking justice, Lord, guide our President and the Members of this Congress. Confirm them and all Americans, military and civilians alike, to the noble task of performing daily work to the best of their ability.

Already You have lifted this Nation from death and debris with stories of heroes and heroines, songs of revitalized patriotism and new depth of unity born out of love of family and love of country.

With Your help, our grieving will never end but become fond remembrance. With Your help, our response to all forces of evil and injustice has just begun and will never cease.

Emerging from clouds of dismay, You Lord, have brought about quiet resolve, a deeper respect for all humanity and a longing for lasting peace.

Lord, may the words of Daniel Webster which are engraved above this Chamber now come to life in the flesh and bone of this country.

Let us develop the resources of our land, call forth its power, build up its institutions, promote all its great interests and see whether we also, in our day and generation, may not perform something worthy to be remembered.

And with Your blessing, may this country itself become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace, and of liberty upon which the world may gaze with admiration forever. Amen.

Mr. Chairman, before I present the subcommittee’s recommendations, let me take a moment to address the events perpetrated on the United States last week.

America has been hurt by these attacks, but we are far from defeated. We will care for our wounded and mourn for those who have lost their lives. We will repair the physical damage to our institutions and seek out those who are responsible. We will have justice. We
