

Conservation easements—the purchase of development rights—are what other states use to protect farmland rather than the zoning approach that Oregon uses. However, leaders in protecting Oregon's farmland are in agreement that no one tool alone does the job of protecting farmland. In addition to the state's zoning system, conservation easements would be appropriate in Oregon in selected locations. They would serve as a complement to, not a replacement for, the zoning administered by the Land Conservation and Development Commission.

The primary reason Oregon has not used federal Farmland Protection Program (FPP) monies in the past is that our state was initially ineligible, but given recent changes to the program we now have the opportunity to participate. Another reason was that within our state it was thought that our land use system already served the need. However, there is increased awareness that zoning needs to be supplemented with voluntary incentives for land conservation.

This awareness has been increased by the passage last fall of Oregon ballot initiative, Measure 7. It amends Oregon's Constitution to provide that any property owner whose real property is reduced in value by government regulation must be paid compensation by the government for the lost value. While this measure is still in litigation, if it goes into effect, landowners could begin to make claims for compensation. Access to federal FPP funds would provide Oregon farmers the flexibility to accept conservation payments in lieu of other forms of compensation.

I very much appreciate the assurances that Natural Resources Conservation Services have provided me of their willingness to work with Oregon, as they are with any other state that has a unique situation, in utilizing the Farmland Protection Program. Oregon is eager to be a full participant in FPP. Increasing federal funding for this program and ensuring its accessibility for a variety of land conservation uses is key to its success in Oregon and other states.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA

HON. DAN BURTON

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 4, 2001

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to salute President Chen Shui-bian on the occasion of Taiwan's forthcoming National Day. As a birthday present to Taiwan, I believe all of us should support Taiwan's bid to re-enter the United Nations. After the admission of Tuvalu to the United Nations in 2000, the Republic of China on Taiwan is the only aspiring country that remains excluded from the United Nations. Taiwan has every right to be a member of the United Nations. Taiwan has a dynamic economy that is the envy of much of the world. Taiwan is the world's 17th largest economy and holds approximately $100 billion in foreign exchange reserves. Politically, Taiwan is one of the freest nations. It has a democratically elected head of state and holds free elections at all levels. Taiwan's citizens enjoy full human rights and press freedom. By any measurable standard, Taiwan is an economic powerhouse and a beacon of democracy. Taiwan's twenty-three million citizens need a voice in the United Nations. By excluding Taiwan, the United Nations is violating its own principle of universality. The Republic of China on Taiwan has much to contribute to the work and funding of the United Nations and other international organizations. I urge my colleagues to give their support to Taiwan's campaign to return to the United Nations and other international organizations. I also wish to add that Taiwan was shocked and devastated by the events of September 11th. Taiwan shares with us the belief that those terrorist acts are reprehensible and must be condemned. Taiwan grieves with America whose homeland was attacked by shameless terrorists. An attack on America means an attack on Taiwan; it means an attack on democracy and our way of life. Taiwan is ready to help us combat terrorism anywhere and everywhere. Happy Birthday Taiwan!

TRIBUTE TO ALYSIA C.
BASMAJIAN

HON. ERIC CANTOR

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 4, 2001

Mr. CANTOR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take the opportunity today to pay tribute to Alysia C. Basmajian.

Alysia Basmajian was twenty-three years of age. She was a graduate of Godwin High School and the College of William and Mary, and was just beginning her career as an accountant at the World Trade Center.

Alysia's life was brutally taken from her by the hand of terrorists—radical extremists who are seeking to destroy the ideas embodied by America and her people. Alysia was a symbol of the American dream—working hard for herself, her family and her country.

Henrico, and the entire Richmond area, has experienced a great loss. Our entire community mourns along with Alysia Basmajian's parents and family. Our thoughts and prayers are with her husband and two-year-old daughter.

On Tuesday, September 11, 2001, a precious life was ripped from our midst.

Alysia Basmajian represented the bright future of America. Working in the world's economic capital, Alysia was a hard worker and a true leader.

On September 11, Alysia Basmajian reported to work in the World Trade Center in New York City. Alysia began her day conducting the nation's business, when terror struck, taking her life and thousands of others. Because Alysia represented American freedom, she was attacked.

We owe Alysia Basmajian for paying the price of freedom with her life, and we will always remember her sacrifice. Let us honor her memory.

TRIBUTE TO COMMUNITY BLOOD CENTER

HON. SAM GRAVES

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 4, 2001

Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Community Blood Center for its work and sacrifice in honor of all the people who both survived and who lost their lives in the terrorist attacks on September 11, 2001, their families and their friends.

These terrorist attacks mark a solemn moment in America's history. American men and women, civilians and soldiers, firefighters and police, mothers and fathers, were slain for a cause so terrible, so heinous, and so despicable that we find it unimaginable and indescribable. United, Americans seek to find meaning and hope in a seemingly hopeless and meaningless act. In the days since these terrible terrorist attacks, America has been should-to-shoulder in a struggle to meet the challenges of a world that is a little less safe, a little scarier, and far less predictable. The efforts of organizations like the Community Blood Center signify the commitment and concern of Americans everywhere. Our Nation's strength does not lie in her military might but rather in the collective compassion of its people.

Since the September 11th terrorist attacks, the Community Blood Center has assisted in blood drives and blood donations to support the nationwide relief effort to provide for the injured survivors. The patriotism and persistence of the Community Blood Center is a lasting memorial to the thousands of victims who perished in New York, Washington, and Pennsylvania.

Through the days, weeks, and months ahead, all Americans must come together and do what they can to assist the Nation's war effort. Whether it is giving blood, sending donations, praying for the thousands of grieving families, or simply saying thanks to the brave men and women who put their lives on the line each and every day so that we may be free, it is important that the American people are vigilant in their efforts to overcome this evil. Though our Nation has witnessed unspeakable horror, America's virtues, determination, and faith continues to shine brightly on the world.

I am confident that the United States will seek out those that harbor hatred, terror, and depravity in their hearts; and we will defeat them. This is a war that we must, can, and will win. May God bless the families and children grieving across this great Nation and may God bless America.
