TITLE COMMERCIAL REUSABLE IN-SPACE TRANSPORTATION

SEC. . SHORT TITLE.

(a) Short Title—This Act may be cited as the “Commercial Reusable In-Space Transportation Act of 2001”.

SEC. . FINDINGS.

The Congress makes the following findings:

(1) It is in national interest to encourage the development of cost-effective, in-space transportation systems, which would be developed and operated by the private sector on commercial basis;

(2) Reusable in-space transportation systems will introduce higher levels of performance into in-space operations, more efficient and safe end of life satellite disposal and increase the capability and reliability of existing ground-to-space launch vehicles;

(3) Commercial reusable in-space transportation systems will enhance the Nation’s economic well-being and national security by reducing space operations costs for commercial and national space programs, adding new space capabilities to space operations;

(4) Commercial reusable in-space transportation systems will provide new cost-effective space capabilities, including: orbital transfers from low altitude orbits to high altitude orbits and return; correct erroneous orbits of satellites; recover, refurbish, and refuel satellites; and, provide upper stage functions to increase ground-to-orbit launch vehicle payloads to geostationary and other high energy orbits;

(5) Commercial reusable in-space transportation systems can enhance and enable the space exploration of the United States by providing lower cost trajectory injection from earth orbit, transit trajectory control, and planet arrival deceleration to support potential Mars, Pluto, and other NASA planetary missions;

(6) Satellites stranded in erroneous earth orbits due to deficiencies in their launch represent major situations of economic loss to
