

Indeed, public service was a family affair for the Marshes. Frank's father, Frank Marsh Sr., was secretary of state for 16 years. Frank's wife Shirley was a state senator—my close friend and seatmate for the last two years of my service in the Nebraska Legislature.

Frank was a staunch Republican, but he worked amicably with partisans of all persuasion. Indeed, his stint as lieutenant governor was served under a Democratic governor. They got along well. After Frank left elective office, he continued his career in public service by serving the poor. He helped to begin a food distribution network that came to involve 300 volunteers working in 33 distribution sites in Lincoln, Nebraska, his hometown.

All of us who knew Frank Marsh and worked with him and all of those who were beneficiaries of his compassion and dedication will miss him. We send our condolences to his wife Shirley and their children and the many foreign guests—extended family in effect—who were hosted by the Marsh family in their home for varying lengths of time. Frank Marsh was a citizen ambassador for our country and a model for voluntarism for all Americans. His contributions to the public good will be missed throughout Nebraska and far beyond.

SPECIAL ORDER ON WOMEN'S HEALTH

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, March 14, 2001

Mrs. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I would like to join my colleagues of the Women's Caucus to discuss the importance of women's health.

As a Caucus, we are working hard to improve health for all women. From protecting Social Security and strengthening Medicare to working for a Patient's Bill of Rights.

And we are working to add a reliable, affordable prescription drug benefit.

We must ensure that the progress made to improve women's health continues.

To this point, I urge my distinguished colleagues to join me in the following measures.

I am working to improve the health and well-being of women—young and old.

I will soon reintroduce the Osteoporosis Early Detection and Prevention Act and the Cancer Screening Coverage Act to give women a fighting chance against these diseases.

I am working with my distinguished colleague, CONNIE MORELLA, to make women's health research a priority. We will introduce the Women's Health Office Act to make the women's health offices at the Department of Health and Human Services permanent.

And for our littlest people and their moms, I have introduced the Breastfeeding Promotion Act, which supports and protects mothers who choose to breastfeed. Everyday, new medical studies are released highlighting the positive health effects of breastfeeding for both mother and child.

We must continue to work hard to ensure that the priorities of our country include policies that promote healthy women and healthy

A TRIBUTE TO DANIEL R. ENSLEY

HON. BOB ETHERIDGE

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. ETHERIDGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to one of North Carolina's leading citizens and to bring to the attention of my colleagues of the 107th Congress his many contributions.

Daniel R. Ensley, director of the mass communications program at Campbell University and a 1993–94 "Professor of the Year" at the institution, is retiring from Campbell due to health concerns. He will be greatly missed by fellow professors, by students in the mass communications school, and by the hundreds of alumni who remember the courses they took there.

Ensley, a native of Dover, Delaware, grew up in a military family and lived in New Jersey, Illinois, Florida, Georgia, and Oklahoma as a youngster. He is a 1979 magna cum laude graduate of Campbell. He worked for the college radio station throughout his college years and became station manager during his senior year. After graduation, he managed the station until 1984 and also taught courses at the University.

In 1984, Ensley entered graduate school at the University of South Carolina College of Journalism. He earned his Master of Arts degree from that institution in 1986 and was accepted for a Ph.D. program at the University of Wisconsin. Just before leaving for Madison, Wisconsin, Ensley was contacted by the administrators at Campbell and offered a position as an instructor in the Department of Communications. He accepted and joined the Campbell family.

Ensley was promoted to assistant professor in 1990 and twice—1989 and 1999—has won the Dean's Award for Teaching Excellence. The Student Government Association honored him with the first "Professor of the Year" award in 1993–94, and he was also honored as "Teacher of the Year" by the Omicron Delta Kappa society in June of 1994. That same year, the college yearbook was dedicated to him. In 1987, the college of Journalism at the University of South Carolina awarded him its Excellence in Research Award for his masters thesis.

Ensley's most dramatic contribution to the University came in 1991 when he created the Department of Mass Communications at the university. As director of the new department, he designed curriculum, taught courses, and established and monitored an internship program.

Hundreds of former students owe Ensley a debt of gratitude for the work he did with them while they were at Campbell. One former student, Dallas Woodhouse, a political reporter for NBC–17 in Raleigh, says he owes his career to the retiring educator.

"Ensley gave his life to his students," Woodhouse says. "Nights. Weekends. Overnights. He gave it all and never complained. I have never seen someone work so much and so hard. I have never seen someone like Dan Ensley. I only hope I can teach my children his work ethic and his selflessness."
