she contributes to increased harmony among the world’s peoples. I congratulate her and wish her luck in her peace-making this world a better place.

Dr. Albee has had an active role in plotting the direction and independence of professional psychology. He saw and articulated early the need for an independent profession of psychology, freed from the domination of older professions and older models. His “Declaration of Independence for Psychology” has been reprinted endlessly. His argument and clinical psychology students should be trained in a service center operated by psychology was widely accepted. His study of the nation’s manpower needs and resources in mental health was one of the major influences in developing the community mental health center movement. He has been a frequent critic of the mental health establishment, but he has been as sharply critical of his own field when it seemed tempted to yield principle for power and status. At times of greatest crisis, however, George W. Albee has been a leader also willing to wade into controversy and fight for the causes he believed in. In 1977, he began an annual conference at UVM on the Primary Prevention of Psychopathology, which over the years have brought scholars and policy makers from around the country and around the world to discuss ways to shape local state and national policies on a range of important public policy areas.

In addition to his prolific writings, Dr. Albee taught thousands of undergraduate and graduate students at UVM. His contribution to Vermont and our nation has been profound. I am honored to consider him and his wife, Margaret friends—and am proud that he has raised four children, all of whom are contributing in their own ways to making this world a better place.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

March 29, 2001

A previous award Dr. Albee received articulated better than I his contribution to the field of psychology. Its says:
