Although the flag came down on the San Antonio Air Logistics Center on July 13, 2001, it was not the end of its story. Kelly's legacy will live on for generations. Kelly was a place where people from all backgrounds came together to roll up their sleeves and work for a united cause—our country's freedom. For 85 years Kelly AFB made major contributions to the military strength of the United States and the South Texas region. Kelly was the largest single employer in San Antonio and South Texas for over 50 years, and year-after-year Kelly was the largest contributor to the Combined Federal Campaign within the city. Kelly was a place where the workers prospered, purchased better homes, and provided family members the resources to pursue more education and more opportunities. Kelly Field provided tens of thousands of civil service jobs, and was the birth and backbone of the Hispanic middle class in the Alamo City. Generations of Hispanic families were employed at Kelly throughout its history, and today many of the city business leaders and even congressional members have their roots as Kelly families.

For decades the men and women of Kelly AFB dedicated their hearts and lives to the service of their country. Its beginnings as a farmer's cotton field in 1916, Kelly became the largest recruit and aviation training camp in the United States during World War I. In the interwar years, Kelly served as the Alma Mata of the Air Corps while its neighbor Duncan Field provided repair and supply support for America's small air arm.

Following World War I, Kelly became one of the country's largest logistical supermarkets, supporting the Air Force around the globe. During the most recent conflicts of JUST CAUSE, DESERT SHIELD/DESERT STORM, and Kosovo, the Kelly employees had the greatest logistical support of all the ALCS, shipping more components, more engines, and more munitions. From the beginning of Kelly Field to the end of the San Antonio Air Logistics Center, the logistical impact and support of Kelly and its employees were vital for Kelly Field to the end of the San Antonio Air Logistics Center and more munitions.
