

comes close to serving the banking industry as does the ABA. I am pleased that Betsy Duke is heading up this great group, not just because she is a Virginian, but because she brings the real life experience needed to continue the successful tradition of the ABA. Congratulations Betsy, you have made your friends, family, and Virginia proud.●

HONORING MICHAEL CREASEY

● Mr. CHAFEE. Mr. President, today I honor Michael Creasey for his work as the Executive Director of the John H. Chafee Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor. For the last 10 years, Michael has been a driving force in the Blackstone Valley, completing projects, building advocacy and partnerships, and instilling pride in the people who live beside this historic river.

Michael has devoted his career to public service and national park stewardship since 1986. After honing his skills in Utah and New Mexico, he was assigned to the Blackstone Corridor in 1995 as Deputy Director and became the Executive Director in 1999. What a gift he has been! His boundless energy and devotion to the Blackstone Corridor, and his skill in working with the Corridor Commission and its large group of stakeholders, have spawned a revitalization that includes the creation of new jobs, the preservation and enhancement of historic sites, and the restoration of valuable wildlife habitat.

In April 2000, shortly after I came to the Senate, Michael took me on a tour of the Valley to point out some of the Federal and private sector investments that had been made in the Heritage Corridor. I could not help but be impressed with his energy and passion as we viewed the Blackstone River Bike-way—or Riverway, as he has dubbed it—along with renovated mills, a canoe and boat landing, and parks that have been developed since the authorization of the Blackstone Heritage Corridor in 1986. The progress I observed that day was a result of collaboration among the residents of the Valley, State agencies and the Federal Government, and is proof that industrial rivers like the Blackstone can be saved if we all work together.

Above all else, Michael is a “river guy” who understands the significance of the “power of place” and the potential of people to shape their communities. In a recent news article announcing his appointment as superintendent of the Lowell National Historical Park, he states, “It’s been a great honor to serve the Corridor Commission for nearly a decade. I have always been impressed with the passion, creative ideas and commitment that the people have had for achieving the Heritage Corridor vision.”

The Blackstone River Valley Heritage Corridor is a unique institution that has brought together many divergent groups and raised the national profile of this very special region. I thank Michael for his years of service to this historic slice of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and I also wish him luck in his new endeavors in Lowell.●

TRIBUTE TO DR. ADRIAN ROGERS

● Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, some say we are living in the post-Christian era, but you would not have known it yesterday if you were among the 13,829 worshippers, as I was, at the retirement tribute to pastor Adrian Rogers at Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis. I am a Presbyterian—but Presbyterian or Baptist, believer or nonbeliever, one could not help but be inspired by the services on Sunday and especially by Dr. Rogers himself.

Adrian Rogers is one of America’s best-known preachers. His “Love Worth Finding Ministries” is broadcast in more than 150 counties in both English and Spanish. He has authored 17 books, 48 booklets and 78 cassette tapes. He has been elected three times to lead the Southern Baptist Convention.

Dr. Rogers came to Bellevue in Memphis in 1972 when the Church was in Midtown, the enrollment was 9000 and the annual budget was $625,000. Today the church spreads across 375 acres in Cordova, the enrollment is 29,000 and the budget is $21 million.

What impresses me most is not this growth but the man himself. Like his friend Billy Graham, Adrian Rogers has not allowed his fame to diminish him personally. The most moving statements yesterday came from his children who testified that this man who everyone knows can talk the talk always walks the walk at home. Those who know him best say that he practices what he preaches. When he told his congregation, “I am what I am by the grace of God,” it was not mock humility.

There was much love expressed yesterday for Joyce Rogers, who Adrian said “is the only girl that I have ever dated.” She has sung in the choir, taught Sunday school and been his partner since their marriage in 1951.

Our founders made sure that we do not have a state church but that we do have freedom of religion. As a result of this constitutional guarantee, there is a church of some denomination on almost every American corner. This freedom has also proved to be a nurturing environment for independent leaders such as Adrian Rogers whose good lives attract us and inspire us and lead us to be among the world’s most religious people.

No mortal is perfect. I know of one blemish on my friend Adrian Rogers: He is a Florida Gators fan. In the spirit of yesterday, the Christian thing to do is to forgive him.●

HONORING JOHN “RED” BOURG

● Ms. LANDRIEU. Mr. President, today I wish to honor the life of Mr. John “Red” Bourg, who passed away last October. Red Bourg served his family, his State and his country well, and deserves the recognition of this body.

Red was a devout Christian, and he made a wonderful home in Baton Rouge with his wife Mildred and their two children, Brenda and Ronnie. Red loved and cared for the people of the State of Louisiana and the United States, and worked to improve their quality of life until the day he died.

In addition to being a great family man, Red Bourg served our country in peace and in war. As a young man, he joined the United States Marine Corps and fought in the Korean War, serving with honor and distinction. Years after returning, Red was selected to become the Louisiana State Commander of the Marine Corps League, an impressive honor, for an equally impressive person.

However, Red was best known for his work with the Louisiana AFL-CIO. He worked his way up the union ladder, beginning as a member of the Local 995 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and climbing all the way to become the president of the Louisiana AFL-CIO. Red joined the staff at the AFL-CIO in 1967, becoming the assistant to the president and in 1997, some 30 years later, he became President of that great organization. I think that says a lot about the hard work and determination of the man.

I once again honor my friend, Mr. John “Red” Bourg, for his efforts on Louisiana’s behalf. I knew Red my entire adult life and can attest that he is truly missed. I know I speak for many others when I say that Red Bourg will always be fondly remembered for the outstanding service he has rendered to his State and his Nation.●

HONORING SIBAL HOLT

● Ms. LANDRIEU. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize the service of Sibal Holt, who is the first female and the first African American to serve as the President of the Louisiana AFL-CIO. Firsts like these have become commonplace for this barrier-breaking woman.

She has long been a trailblazer in the State of Louisiana. She became the first African American to be hired into the Bell System and also the first registered lobbyist in the State of Louisiana, both remarkable achievements given the climate of the times.

Sibal Holt has been a selfless steward of her community. She formerly served as the president of the Louisiana American Red Cross, as well as other charitable organizations, such as Volunteer Baton Rouge and the Baton
