I. PURPOSE

The purpose of S. 414 is to protect girls in developing countries through the prevention of child marriage.

II. COMMITTEE ACTION

Senator Durbin introduced S. 414 on February 17, 2011. On February 14, 2012, the committee ordered the bill, without amendment, reported favorably by voice vote.

III. DISCUSSION

The stated purpose of S. 414 is to protect girls in developing countries through the prevention of child marriage. The bill finds that child marriage is a violation of article 16 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and its practice undermines U.S. investments in foreign assistance to promote education and skills build-

19-010
and to promote the educational, health, economic, social, and legal empowerment of girls and women. Priority should be given to areas or regions in developing countries in which 40 percent or more of girls under the age of 18 are married. The committee intends for the bill to support activities that expand and replicate successful community-based programs to prevent the incidence of child marriage and that establish pilot projects to prevent child marriage. The bill does not authorize any new funds.

S. 414 requires the President to establish a multi-year strategy to prevent child marriage in developing countries, which shall be submitted to Congress not later than one year after the date of enactment of this Act. Not later than three years after the date of enactment of this Act, the President shall submit to Congress a report that includes a description of the implementation of said strategy, examples of best practices or programs to prevent child marriage in developing countries, and an assessment of current U.S. funded efforts to prevent child marriage in developing countries.

The committee intends for the President to work with the Administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development to collect data on the incidence of child marriage in countries that receive U.S. foreign or development assistance, as well as on the impact of the incidence of child marriage and the age at marriage on progress in meeting key development goals. Section 7 of the bill amends the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 to include in the annual Country Reports on Human Rights Practices of the Department of State a description of child marriage in countries where child marriage is prevalent at rates at or above 40 percent in at least one sub-national region.

V. COST ESTIMATE

In accordance with Rule XXVI, paragraph 11(a) of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the committee provides this estimate of the costs of this legislation prepared by the Congressional Budget Office.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS,

S. 414
International Protecting Girls by Preventing Child Marriage Act of 2011
AS ORDERED REPORTED BY THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN RELATIONS ON FEBRUARY 14, 2012

SUMMARY
S. 414 would authorize the President to provide assistance to developing countries to reduce the incidence of child marriage and would require him to develop and implement a multiyear strategy to prevent such marriages and promote the empowerment of girls. CBO estimates that implementing the bill would have a discretionary cost of $23 million over the 2013–2017 period, assuming appropriation of the necessary amounts.

Pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply to this legislation because it would not affect direct spending or revenues.

S. 414 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

ESTIMATED COST TO THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT
The estimated budgetary impact of S. 414 is shown in the following table. The costs of this legislation fall within budget function 150 (international affairs).

BASIS OF ESTIMATE
For this estimate, CBO assumes that S. 414 will be enacted by the end of 2012, that the necessary amounts will be appropriated each year, and that outlays will follow historical spending patterns for existing programs.

Based on information from the U.S. Agency for International Development about similar programs to prevent child marriage and gender-based violence, CBO estimates that the agency would require annual appropriations of about $7 million a year for assistance to foreign countries to reduce the incidence of child marriage. In addition, the agency would require annual appropriations of about $600,000 a year to hire three people to design and administer the programs, develop the strategy, and report to Congress. Assuming appropriation of the necessary amounts, CBO estimates that implementing the bill would cost $23 million over the 2013-2017 period. (The remainder of the estimated authorization amounts would be spent after 2017.)
PAY-AS-YOU-GO CONSIDERATIONS

 None.

INTERGOVERNMENTAL AND PRIVATE-SECTOR IMPACT

 S. 414 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.
