COMMITTEE STATEMENT AND VIEWS*PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 3089, the Grants Oversight and New Efficiency (GONE) Act brings greater efficiency to the federal grant cycle by requiring agencies to identify expired grant accounts for closure.

The bill requires agencies to coordinate with the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) to submit to Congress a report that (1) lists each covered grant<sup>1</sup> held by that agency, (2) identifies grants for closure, and (3) explains why the covered grants have not been closed. One year after submission of the report, HHS will report to Congress on the status of the grants identified for closure.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

In fiscal year 2014, the federal government’s outlays for grants to state and local governments totaled $529.9 billion.<sup>2</sup> A 2012 Government Accountability Office (GAO) report found that over $794 million in undisbursed balances remained in HHS' Payment Management System (PMS) across 10,548 expired grant accounts.<sup>3</sup> The report also identified more than 28,000 expired grant accounts<sup>4</sup> in PMS with zero undisbursed funds remaining in them.<sup>5</sup> Additionally, GAO noted that there is over $126 million in undisbursed balances in dormant accounts<sup>6</sup> in the Automated Standards for Application of Payments (ASAP), amounting to nearly $1 billion in undisbursed grant balances within PMS and ASAP.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The bill defines a “covered grant” as a grant within a federal agency cash payment management system that has been expired for at least two years and has not been closed out.

Expired grant accounts cost agencies money. For example, the Program Support Center (PSC), which operates PMS, charges fees to the grant awarding agencies for each account it operates.<sup>8</sup> As a result, PSC charged agencies approximately $173,000 per month in fees for the more than 28,000 expired grants with no funds remaining in them in fiscal year 2011.<sup>9</sup> Further, the total annual charges—assuming the accounts are maintained for an entire year—are approximately $2 million.<sup>10</sup> These funds could arguably be used to support critical mission needs or returned to the Treasury.

The GONE Act addresses the issues associated with expired grant accounts by requiring agencies to identify expired accounts that should be closed, and explain why those accounts have not yet been closed. The bill requires agencies to report to Congress a year after identifying these grants to detail the progress made with respect to closure. This process will bring greater accountability to the closeout portion of grants administration.

H.R. 3089 mandates that HHS coordinate with agency heads in submitting reports to Congress. HHS was chosen for this role because of its grants volume and its efforts to improve grant closeout practices within the agency. According to GAO's report, HHS is the largest grant-making agency and is responsible for about three-fourths of all undisbursed funds in expired PMS accounts.<sup>11</sup> HHS is also responsible for 79 percent of expired grant accounts with no funds in PMS.<sup>12</sup>

In her testimony submitted for a Senate Subcommittee hearing in February of 2011, then-HHS official, Nancy Gunderson, explained that HHS developed an Accelerated Closeout Team that resulted in the deobligation of $116 million across 2,700 grant awards during the 2011 calendar year.<sup>13</sup> Ms. Gunderson also stated that HHS was successful in closing out 42.5 percent of the 60,722 HHS grants ready for closeout in PMS during fiscal year 2011.<sup>14</sup> Again, due to HHS's successful closeout efforts and the agency's large share of total grants, the GONE Act utilizes HHS as the coordinating agency for its reporting.

<sup>4</sup> The GAO report defines an expired grant account as one that is open more than three months after the grant end date and that has had no disbursement in the previous nine months. HR 3089, however, only examines grant accounts that have been expired for at least two years.

<sup>6</sup> A dormant account is one that has been inactive for two years or more.

The GONE Act will bring needed accountability and oversight to grants administration. The bill is another step toward improving the grants closeout process to reduce inefficiency and waste within government.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

H.R. 3089, the Grants Oversight and New Efficiency (GONE) Act, was introduced by Congressman Tim Walberg (R-MI) on July 16, 2015, and referred to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. Congresswoman Brenda Lawrence (D-MI) is an original cosponsor.

Similar legislation, S. 1115, was introduced in the Senate on April 28, 2015, by Senator Deb Fischer (R-NE), and referred to the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs. On June 24, 2015, the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs ordered S. 1115 reported favorably, with an amendment.

Sen. Fischer introduced an identical bill, S. 1792, in the 113th Congress, that was referred to the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs. No further action was taken.

SECTION-BY-SECTION

Section 1. Short title

Designates the short title of the bill as the Grants Oversight and New Efficiency (GONE) Act.

Section 2. Identifying and closing out expired grants

Mandates that no later than 180 days after passage, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) shall direct each agency head to coordinate with the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to submit to Congress and HHS a report listing each covered grant held by the federal government. Covered grants are those within the cash payment management system that have been expired for two or more years and have not been closed out. The report is to recommend which covered grants should be closed and why each covered grant has not been closed. The report is to be issued not after December 31 of the first calendar year beginning after enactment.

Agencies that cannot submit the required information must report why such information is not available and explain any shortcomings with their grant data system.

No later than one year after the head of an agency submits its report, the agency head will notify HHS whether the agency has closed out the covered grants discussed in its report. HHS is required to compile this information and provide it Congress.

However, clause 3(d)(2)(B) of that rule provides that this requirement does not apply when the Committee has included in its report a timely submitted cost estimate of the bill prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

BUDGET AUTHORITY AND CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

With respect to the requirements of clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 308(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 and with respect to requirements of clause 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee has received the following cost estimate for this bill from the Director of Congressional Budget Office:

H.R. 3089—GONE Act

H.R. 3089 would direct federal agencies to prepare reports on efforts to close out financial accounts for federal grants that have expired. Grant accounts are closed when all administrative actions have been completed by the non-federal entity. Those actions may involve additional payments to grantees or payments from the grantee to the federal government.

Under current law, agencies are required to track expired grant accounts. CBO anticipates that under H.R. 3089, some agencies' workloads would increase slightly to prepare reports. Based on information from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), CBO estimates that increased administrative costs related to those reports would total $8 million over the 2016–2020 period; such spending would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Enacting H.R. 3089 would not affect direct spending or revenues; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply.

Information on the USASpending website, maintained by the Treasury Department, indicates that the government has awarded almost $600 billion annually in grants over the past five years. In 2012, the Government Accountability Office reported that about 80 percent of all grants are provided through payment systems of HHS and the Treasury; undisbursed grants totaled about $720 million in about 10,000 expired accounts that year. In 2012, OMB advised that agencies should take appropriate action to close out such accounts in a timely manner.

H.R. 3089 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

On July 31, 2015, CBO transmitted a cost estimate for S. 1115, the GONE Act, as ordered reported by the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs on June 24, 2015. The two bills are similar, and the estimated costs are the same.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Matthew Pickford. The estimate was approved by Theresa Gullo, Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.
