The amendment is as follows:

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission Act".
SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

1. Born into slavery on the Eastern Shore of Maryland in 1818 and given the name Frederick Augustus Washington Bailey after his mother Harriet Bailey, Frederick Douglass has been called the father of the civil rights movement.

2. Douglass rose through determination, brilliance, and eloquence to shape the American Nation. He was an abolitionist, human rights and women’s rights activist, orator, author, journalist, publisher, and social reformer.

3. Taught basic reading skills by his mistress until she was forced to stop, Douglass continued to teach himself to read and write and taught other slaves to read despite risks including death.

4. During the course of his remarkable life Frederick Douglass escaped from slavery, became internationally renowned for his eloquence in the cause of liberty, and went on to serve the national government in several official capacities.

5. Forced to leave the country to avoid arrest as an escaped slave, he returned to become a staunch advocate of the Union cause and helped recruit African-American troops for the Union Army, including two of his sons, Charles and Lewis Douglass. His personal relationship with Abraham Lincoln helped persuade the President to make emancipation a cause of the Civil War.

6. With the abolition of slavery at the close of the Civil War, Douglass then turned his attention to the full integration of African-Americans into the political and economic life of the United States. Committed to freedom, Douglass dedicated his life to achieving justice for all Americans, in particular African-Americans, women, and minority groups. He envisioned America as an inclusive Nation strengthened by diversity and free of discrimination.

7. Douglass served as an advisor to Presidents. Abraham Lincoln referred to him as the most meritorious man of the nineteenth century. Douglass was appointed to several offices. He served as the United States Marshal of the District of Columbia under Rutherford B. Hayes’ administration; President James Garfield appointed Douglass the District of Columbia Recorder of Deeds. In 1889, President Benjamin Harrison appointed Frederick Douglass to be the United States minister to Haiti. He was also appointed by President Grant to serve as Assistant Secretary of the Commission of Inquiry to Santo Domingo.

8. Douglass lived in the District of Columbia for 23 of his 57 years as a free man, and in recognition of his leadership and continuous fight for justice and freedom, his home, Cedar Hill, was established as a National Historic Site in Anacostia, in Southeast Washington, DC.

9. The statue of Frederick Douglass in the United States Capitol is a gift from the almost 700,000 residents of the District of Columbia.

10. All Americans could benefit from studying the life of Frederick Douglass, for Douglass dedicated his own life to ensuring freedom and equality for future generations of Americans. This Nation should ensure that his tireless struggle, transformative words, and inclusive vision of humanity continue to inspire and sustain us.

11. The year 2018 marks the bicentennial anniversary of the birth of Frederick Douglass, and a commission should be established to plan, develop, and carry out, and to recommend to Congress, programs and activities that are fitting and proper to celebrate that anniversary in a manner that appropriately honors Frederick Douglass.

COMMITTEE STATEMENT AND VIEWS

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 2989, the Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission Act, establishes a commission to commemorate the bicentennial anniversary of the birth of Frederick Douglass. The Commission shall plan, develop, carry out, and recommend to Congress programs and activities that are fitting and proper to celebrate the anniversary in a manner that appropriately honors Frederick Douglass.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The year 2018 marks the bicentennial anniversary of the birth of Frederick Douglass, one of the most recognizable figures of the 19th century abolitionist movement. Born into slavery in Maryland c. 1817, Douglass escaped by the age of 21.1 Douglass went on to publish an autobiography documenting his life as a slave, Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, while a fugitive slave.2 The initial print quickly sold out, marking the beginning of Douglass’s life advocating against slavery and for equal civil rights.3 To commemorate Douglass’s birth, H.R. 2989 establishes a 16-member commission to plan, develop, coordinate, and recommend to Congress activities honoring Douglass and his work.

1 Frederick Douglass, Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass 26, 241 (2d ed., Webb & Chapman, GT: 1946).
2 Id. at iii–iv.
3 E.g., Frederick Douglass, My Bondage and My Freedom (1855); Frederick Douglass, Life and Times of Frederick Douglass (1881).
On June 21, 2017, Delegate Eleanor Holmes Norton (D–DC) introduced H.R. 2989, the Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission Act, with Representative Andy Harris (R–MD). H.R. 2989 was referred to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. The Committee considered H.R. 2989 at a business meeting on July 19, 2017, and ordered the bill reported favorably, as amended, by voice vote.

On July 19, 2017, Senator Chris Van Hollen (D–MD) introduced a bill substantially similar to H.R. 2989. Senator Van Hollen introduced S. 1582, the Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission Act, with Senator Benjamin Cardin (D–MD), and it was referred to the Senate Committee on the Judiciary.

Delegate Norton introduced bills substantially similar to H.R. 2989 in the 114th Congress and the 113th Congress. In the 114th Congress, Delegate Norton introduced H.R. 4543, the Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission Act, which was referred to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. In the 113th Congress, Delegate Norton introduced H.R. 4055, the Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission Act, which was also referred to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

Section 1. Short title
The short title is the “Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission Act”.

Sec. 2. Findings
Section 2 makes several findings related to Frederick Douglass’s life.

Sec. 3. Establishment
Section 3 establishes the Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission (“the Commission”).

Sec. 4. Duties
Section 4 prescribes the twofold duties of the Commission. First, the Commission must plan, develop, and carry out programs and activities that are fitting and proper to honor Frederick Douglass on the occasion of the bicentennial anniversary of his birth. Second, the Commission must recommend to Congress activities that are fitting and proper to honor Frederick Douglass, and identify the entities in the Federal Government it considers most appropriate to carry out those activities.

Sec. 5. Membership
Section 5 provides for the composition of the Commission and selection of its 16 members. Six of the commissioners are to be qualified citizens appointed by the President, four of whom are appointed upon recommendations. The remaining ten commissioners are to be appointed by congressional leadership. “Qualified citizen” is defined in subsection (b), and includes a requirement that the individual be dedicated to historical education and possess substantial knowledge of Frederick Douglass.
Each commissioner must be appointed within 60 days of enactment and is appointed for the life of the Commission. A commissioner who was also a Member of Congress at the time of appointment cannot serve for longer than 30 days after leaving Congress. Any vacancies on the Commission are filled as the original appointment and do not affect the Commission's ability to conduct its work.

Commissioners serve on the Commission without pay, but are eligible to receive travel expenses in accordance with sections 5702 and 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

Six members of the Commission constitute a quorum to conduct business but the Commission can establish a lesser number of commissioners to constitute a quorum to conduct hearings.

The Commission will be led by a chair, selected from among the commissioners by the commissioners, and will meet periodically in Rochester, New York, and at the call of the Chair.

Sec. 6. Director and staff

Section 6 authorizes the Commission to hire a Director and staff and establish their salaries, subject to certain restrictions in title 5.

Sec. 7. Powers

Section 7 authorizes the Commission to hold hearings, take testimony, and receive evidence in furtherance of its duties as appropriate, and at such time and place it determines. The Commission may require the production of information from any department or agency of the United States consistent with those duties. The bill does not authorize appropriations and the Committee intends the Commission to be privately funded except as it relates to use of the United States Postal Service. Consequently, the bill authorizes the Commission to solicit, accept, use, and dispose of gifts for carrying out its duties and utilize administrative support services from the General Services Administration on a reimbursable basis.

The Commission may authorize any commissioner or agent of the Commission to exercise its authorities under the Act.

Sec. 8. Reports

Section 8 requires the Commission to submit an initial report containing its recommendations to Congress by August 1, 2018 and a final report by June 1, 2019. The final report must include a summary of the Commission’s activities and an accounting of its fundraising and expenditures.

Sec. 9. Termination

The Commission terminates 30 days after submission of its final report.

Explanation of Amendments

During Committee consideration of the bill, Delegate Norton offered an amendment in the nature of a substitute, reflected in the sectional analysis above, amending paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 4, section 5(c), and section (8); striking section 6(c) in the bill as introduced and inserting section 7(f) in the amendment; and striking section 10 in the bill as introduced. The Committee agreed to the amendment by voice vote.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION

On July 19, 2017, the Committee met in open session and, with a quorum being present, ordered the bill, as amended, favorably reported by voice vote.

Enclosure.

H.R. 2989—Frederick Douglass Bicentennial Commission Act

H.R. 2989 would establish a commission to plan programs and activities to commemorate the bicentennial anniversary of Frederick Douglass’ birth. The commission would consist of 16 members. Members would serve without pay but would be reimbursed for travel expenses. The legislation would authorize the commission to hold hearings, hire staff, and collect information from federal agencies. Under the bill, the commission could retain and spend gifts. The commission would submit a final report to the Congress on June 1, 2019, and terminate 30 days later.
Based on the cost of similar commissions, CBO estimates that implementing the bill would cost about $2 million over the 2018–2022 period; assuming appropriation of the necessary amounts.

Enacting H.R. 2989 would affect direct spending because it would authorize the commission to accept and spend monetary gifts; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures apply. However, CBO estimates that the net effect on direct spending would be negligible. Enacting the bill would not affect revenues.

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2989 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2028.

H.R. 2989 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Matthew Pickford. This estimate was approved by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

Changes in Existing Law Made by the Bill as Reported

The legislation would neither repeal nor amend existing law, within the meaning of clause 3(e) of rule XIII of the House of Representatives.
