DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

[Announcement 565]

Health Services Research in Occupational Safety and Health; Availability of Funds for Fiscal Year 1995

Introduction

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), announces the availability of fiscal year (FY) 1995 funds for research projects relating to health services research in the field of occupational safety and health.

The Public Health Service (PHS) is committed to achieving the health promotion and disease prevention objectives of "Healthy People 2000," a PHS-led national activity to reduce morbidity and mortality and improve the quality of life. This announcement is related to the priority area of Occupational Safety and Health. (For ordering a copy of "Healthy People 2000," see section "Where to Obtain Additional Information.")

Authority

This program is authorized under the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, section 20(a) [29 U.S.C. 669(a)] and section 22(e)(7) (29 U.S.C. 671(e)(7)).

Smoke-Free Workplace

PHS strongly encourages all grant recipients to provide a smoke-free workplace and to promote the non-use of all tobacco products, and Pub. L. 103-227, the Pro-Children Act of 1994, prohibits smoking in certain facilities that receive Federal funds in which education, library, day care, health care, and early childhood development services are provided to children.

Eligible Applicants

Eligible applicants include domestic and foreign non-profit and for-profit organizations, universities, colleges, research institutions, and other public and private organizations, including State and local governments and small, minority and/or woman-owned businesses.

Availability of Funds

Approximately $1,000,000 is available in FY 1995 to fund approximately five research project grants. It is expected that the average award will be $200,000, ranging from $150,000 to $250,000 in total costs (direct and indirect costs per year). It is expected that the awards will begin on or about September 1, 1995, and will be made for a 12-month budget period within a project period of up to 3 years. Funding estimates may vary and are subject to change.

Continuation awards within the project period will be made on the basis of satisfactory progress and availability of funds.

Purpose

The purpose of this grant program is twofold. One major purpose is to rationally develop an estimated range of total costs and distribution for the national burden of occupational injuries and illnesses by comprehensively applying existing information (See Program Interests A.1., below). The other major purpose is to conduct more focused research into the systems that prevent, manage, and compensate occupational injuries and illnesses, with particular focus on the experience of the injured worker as he/she comes into contact with components of these systems (See Program Interests 2. to 5., below). It is the intent of this program to support broad research endeavors which will lead to improved understanding and appreciation of the magnitude of the aggregate national economic burden associated with occupational injuries and illnesses, as well as to support more focused research projects which will lead to improvements in the delivery of occupational safety and health services and the prevention of work-related injury and illness. Research funded will examine and evaluate quality, outcome and costs of services provided in a variety of settings for healthy and injured workers.

This is the first Request for Assistance (RFA) that NIOSH has issued in the area of Health Services Research. The agency's intention in defining the RFA's objectives broadly is to encourage proposals from applicants with a broad range of research backgrounds, methodological approaches, and institutional affiliations to apply their skills to health services research in occupational health, and to enter into collaborative agreements, and with unions, employers, providers, insurance carriers and other relevant institutions and organizations. NIOSH encourages efforts in which researchers work closely with employers, worker representatives, and relevant government agencies; collaboration with any or all may assist researchers in obtaining access to data, and will increase the likelihood that results of the study will be usable and used by the
