

10. Areas affected by remedial activities would be restored to their original contours to the extent possible.

11. Disturbed areas would be seeded and mulched in accordance with New Jersey soil erosion and sediment control standards.

12. Areas in floodplains would not be used for storage purposes.

13. Construction techniques to avoid or reduce adverse water quality impacts may include scheduling excavation during dry periods or when low or no flow is expected in drainageways or ditches and constructing a temporary diversion channel for any stream flow that occurs during remediation.

14. Measures would be taken to minimize soil compaction and disturbance such as requiring heavy equipment to work in wetlands on mats, use of low ground pressure machines, or extended reach excavating equipment.

15. Other mitigation techniques may include restoring surface and subsurface flow patterns, minimizing easement widths, and selecting dust control measures that minimize adverse impacts to avoid or minimize potential harm to streams or floodplains.

DOE will endeavor to allow 15 days of public review after publication of the statement of findings before implementation of the proposed action.

Issued in Oak Ridge on November 2, 1995.
