Draft for Comment

Instructions for Cooperating Sponsor Submission of FY 1996 Title II Development Program Annual Results Reports

I. Background

This guidance applies only to Title II development activities.

Pursuant to Section 407(f) of the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 (P.L. 480), as amended, USAID reports annually to Congress and other interested parties on the impact of Title II food aid in addressing food security. Consequently, USAID management and its field Missions, in consultation with Title II Cooperating Sponsors (CSs), are establishing core results indicators that will ensure consistency and compatibility of information and permit the USAID to demonstrate the impact of food aid resources over a planned period of time.

USAID Missions and the Office of Food for Peace (FFP) have been designated as "Operating Units" under USAID reengineering guidelines. Each is expected to submit a Results Review and Resources Request (R4) report, covering the strategic support and/or program objectives (SOs) identified in its strategic plan. (The draft BHR/FFP strategic objective for Title II Development Programs is provided in Attachment 1.) CSs are requested to contribute to the process by submitting relevant information on their Title II development program(s).

The FY 1996 Title II Annual Results Report is to be submitted to the respective field Missions and FFP. The Mission will integrate findings on complementary activities from this report into the relevant SOs in its R4 report. It will comment on those activities that are outside of the Mission's Strategic Objectives and forward the report to FFP. FFP will use the contents of the CSs' Annual Results Reports and Mission R4 reports to satisfy USAID and Congressional requirements to demonstrate the impact of food aid in addressing food security as well as to justify resource requests for the next fiscal year.

While preparation of the Title II Annual Results Report is the primary responsibility of CSs, they should consult closely with the Missions in the R4 reporting process. For countries in Africa without a USAID Missions presence, CSs should consult with the responsible REDSO. In addition to the information required in these guidelines, the Missions may, within reason, and for the purposes of their own specific information requirements, request additional information from CSs, related to results reporting and the preparation of R4s.

This Title II Annual Results Report request is consistent with the R4 guidance which has been disseminated to Missions worldwide.

II. Purpose

This Title II Annual Results Report is intended to provide meaningful results-oriented information to USAID, as well as the Congress, host governments, stakeholders, and our ultimate customers, the beneficiaries. It will assist USAID Missions and FFP to demonstrate the impact of Title II food aid on food security by serving as an important information source during Mission and FFP preparation of their R4s during the spring of 1997. The Title II Annual Results Report is to focus on the food aid activity's performance indicators and progress towards the achievement of results. It will also include a discussion of any modifications to the approved Title II activity, and a review of anticipated resource requests for FY 98. CSs are requested to follow the guidelines below to the extent possible and report as well as they can on actual performance for FY 1996 and expected results for FYs 1997, 1998 and 1999, noting linkages to USAID activities.

III. Submission Due Date and Review Process

CSs must consult with their respective Missions regarding the submission due date, which should be linked to the Mission R4 preparation schedule. However, the CS must submit one unbound copy of the Title II Annual Results Report to the BHR/FFP officer responsible for the country activity no later than April 15 (March 15 for countries without a USAID Mission presence).

If the Mission R4 has not been submitted to USAID Washington by the deadline for the Annual Results Report submission to FFP, Missions are required to forward comments on the Annual Results Report. In either document, the Mission must provide any necessary clarifications to a CS's Annual Results Report along with Mission assessments of its accuracy and completeness. For countries in Africa without a USAID presence, such as Burkina Faso, Cape Verde, the Gambia and Mauritania, REDSO assumes this responsibility.

To the extent possible, FFP will coordinate the review of the Title II Annual Results Reports with the Bureau reviews of Mission R4s.

IV. Submission Length

The Title II Annual Results Report should be thorough and concise. Reports should total no more than 10 pages for programs with two or fewer program components and no more than 18 pages for programs with three or more program components, excluding annexes. Repetition of information already presented in the relevant approved Development Activities Plan (DAP) or Previously Approved Activity (PAA) document is unnecessary. Reference to the sections in these documents where key issues are elaborated (including page number and/or section references) should be made, as appropriate.
