SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Board is considering the merits of providing settlement finality on the morning of the settlement day for ACH credit transactions processed by the Federal Reserve Banks. The issue of settlement finality for ACH transactions processed by the Reserve Banks has been a subject of industry discussion since the 1980s. Currently, the Reserve Bank's uniform ACH operating circular gives the Reserve Banks the right to reverse settlement for either debit or credit transactions until 8:30 a.m. eastern time on the morning of the business day following the settlement day. A Reserve Bank can reverse settlement if it does not receive actually and finally collected funds from the depository institution funding the payments (the originating depository financial institution (ODFI) in the case of credit transactions or the receiving depository financial institution (RDFI) in the case of debit transactions) by 8:30 a.m. eastern time on the morning of the business day following the settlement day, with notification to the ODFIs and RDFIs as soon as possible thereafter. In comparison, private-sector ACH operators provide settlement finality either on the settlement day or on the business day after the settlement day, depending on the type of net settlement arrangement the operator uses. The Board expects that all private-sector ACH operators will be able to provide settlement-day finality to their customers once the Reserve Banks fully implement their enhanced settlement service (63 FR 60000, November 6, 1998).

The Board requested comment on proposals to improve settlement finality for ACH transactions processed by the Reserve Banks in 1986 and 1989. The 1986 proposal would have provided settlement finality for ACH credit transactions of $5,000 or less at 1:00 p.m. local time on the settlement day and for ACH credit transactions of more than $5,000 and ACH debit transactions when the Reserve Bank received actually and finally collected funds (51 FR 45043, December 16, 1986). The 1989 proposal would have provided settlement finality for ACH credit transactions at 6:30 p.m. local time on the settlement day and for ACH debit transactions at 10:00 a.m. local time on the business day after settlement. Commenters did not support either proposal because neither provided finality at the opening of business on the settlement day (54 FR 8822, March 2, 1989).
